Lincoln pageant problems resolved

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Problems with the state concerning remuneration for use of the pageant grounds in Lincoln have been resolved, according to Betty Shreengost, president of the board of the Lincoln Pageant and Festival Corporation (LPFC), pageant organizers.

The state has apparently decided to revert ownership of the pageant property to the private corporation, and will work out details of the arrangement following Old Lincoln Days festivities this weekend.

The pageant property had been donated to the state in 1962 by the Lincoln County Society of Art, History and Archaeology, which had purchased the grounds around 1955, according to Shreengost.

State Monuments Division director Tom Caperton had informed pageant organizers on July 27 that they would have to pay the state $1,375 or one-half of the gate receipts from the pageant. Caperton explained to The News this week that the state can no longer afford to maintain the grounds and that use of state property by a private corporation is "violating the public trust."

He said the state was willing to discuss several alternative methods for the LPFC to assume some of the maintenance responsibility for the pageant grounds. Due to miscommunication, however, the LPFC was not aware that it was being asked to discuss the matter with state personnel, Shreengost reported.

She said the pageant group had become very upset when demands for payment were made and in an emergency meeting had decided to "declare war" against the state.

Al Romero, director of the local government division of the state Department of Finance and Administration, said Wednesday he became concerned about the problems being presented to the LPFC by the Monuments Division.

"I was born and raised in Lincoln, and I know the pageant is very, very important to the people of Lincoln County," Romero said.

He contacted Dr. George Ewing, head of the Cultural Affairs Department, which administers the Monuments Division. Romero said Ewing gave "his assurance that nothing further would deter going ahead with the pageant as scheduled."

Romero said he also wanted to resolve the matter so problems would not occur again. He intends to schedule a meeting with the LPFC after this year's pageant to arrange for the state to return the pageant property to "the people who are conducting the pageant with it."

"I felt very sad about what was transpiring," Romero stated. "I couldn't see that the bureaucracy should prevail in this instance."

Shreengost said she thinks this is "the only reasonable solution."

She said the pageant and festival corporation would like to use the property for cultural and historic events in addition to the annual Old Lincoln Days festivities if ownership is handed over to it.

Council discusses services

Water and sewer and solid waste were the major topics of conversation at a special meeting of the Ruidoso council Monday.

The council took no action on the proposed new water and sewer rate ordinance, having postponed any action until the August 10 meeting. Discussion centered on revenues and expenditures of the water and sewer department.

Village manager Jim Hine presented a fiscal year-end report, as required under the present rate ordinance, and informed the council that the department had a beginning cash balance of approximately $40,000.

Of that amount, he said, $54,000 came from sewer services.

Assistant village manager Frank Potter reported that he and water board member C. Newton Page had studied the original water rate structure submitted by Boyle Engineering last year.

Potter presented a report noting that the department budget for 1982-83 is $1,182,513, compared with $1,215,925 in 1981-82. Revenues last year totaled $1,516,230.

Potter said the figures show the department has additional money, but that there are certain things the village needs to spend the money on, such as water rights. "It's real difficult to determine if we need additional revenues," he stated.

There is presently $214,000 in a reserve fund, it was reported, with another $146,000 budgeted into the fund for the current fiscal year.

Potter told the council that water loss in the system (water treated but not billed for) has been reduced to 42 percent, after having been as high as 55 percent. The normal amount of expected water loss would be 18 percent, Page pointed out.

At a rate of 18 million gallons a month, it was reported, the Ruidoso system lost 215 to 220 gallons of water over a one-year period.

Page said that one proposed method to combat the loss is to block the water system into units and meter water going in and coming out—thus identifying problems of leaks or faulty meters.

"We have a handle on it—this is the first summer we've been able to get a handle on it with the computer," said Potter. Computerized billing has made it easier to spot faulty meters so they can be replaced.

Page told the council that if expenditures and revenues are the same this year as last, the department will net $330,000 over the $146,000 for the sinking fund.

It was pointed out that connection fee revenue is expected to be less this year. "It's still a fair buffer," said Page.

He added that he is concerned with water rights, noting that Boyle Engineering projected a need of 950 acre feet of rights per year. This did not account for 730-acre feet of effluent credit, said Page, which still leaves 220 acre feet in new rights needed.

Potter indicated that he would like the village to adopt some kind of a standard in rate making, such as Boyle recommended.

In another water-related matter, the council appointed Page, Knud Ottesen and John Schuller as a negotiating committee to deal with a protest over Eagle Creek effluent credit. The protest was filed by owners of land between the old and new wastewater plants.

Councilman Don Dale will serve as liaison between the committee and the council. The council also appointed Hugh Johnston to fill a vacancy on the village water board.

Page, who has been very active in village water matters on a volunteer basis for some time, was commended by Mayor George White and Dale for his efforts.

White told the council he spoke with a representative of Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District about possible assistance with financing of the police-courts building project. The response was favorable, he said, and discussion will continue.

Hine reported that a representative of Farmers Home Administration had requested an answer from the council on its offer of a $1.25 million loan to help finance extension of sewer service to Ponderosa Heights. During discussion, it was noted that a bond issue election (the village would have to match the loan amount) could not take place until December, owing to the primary and general elections.

The council decided to notify the federal agency of that fact and inquire whether the funds might be available then.

Street and sanitation departments superintendent Jack LaMay presented the council with a list of equipment needed for solid waste removal. The list includes one tractor truck (cost $225,000), one dozer ($220,000), one trash compactor ($165,000), one flat bed truck ($15,000). Total estimated cost of the equipment is $625,000, but LaMay predicted that savings achieved with a transfer trash system will pay for it.

Councilman Al Junge pointed out that the village has been renting a dozer at $75 an hour to help with cleanup at the landfill. He indicated a dozer is the one item most needed now.

The council voted to call for bids on a dozer of the type LaMay requested.

Cadillac Party set for August 18

by WILL TURBOW
Staff Writer

It's August, and as it has every August for the past eight years, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce will have its Cadillac Party.

A Cadillac Party is just what the name implies, said Ed Jungbluth, executive director of the Chamber. One lucky ticket holder will go home the evening of Wednesday, August 18, with a brand new Cadillac Coup de Ville automobile worth around $15,000.

The annual party is a fundraiser for the Chamber, Jungbluth said. He explained that dues only comprise about 50 percent of the Chamber's operating budget. So, in order to provide for the many varied services the Chamber offers its members, Jeep and Cadillac parties are put on to generate some extra revenue.

The Cadillac Party returns to the Inn of the Mountain Gods this year and will be held in the Inn's new convention facility, said Jungbluth.

"It's a nice facility ... I've toured it," he added.

Only 200 exclusive tickets will be sold, mentioned Jungbluth. Tickets cost $195. They admit one couple to the cocktail party, dinner and dance, and, for the winner, represent an opportunity to drive one of America's most luxurious cars.

Jungbluth explained that the high cost of the car added to other costs which have increased tremendously during the past year make for a slightly increased ticket price. The Chamber only hopes to make the same $6,500 that previous Cadillac parties have netted, he added.

However, for the lavish affair the Inn of the Mountain Gods is planning in conjunction with the Chamber, Jungbluth feels Cadillac Party goes will certainly get their money's worth.

"The Cadillac Party has been the 'creme de la creme' of the car parties," noted Jungbluth.

Cocktails will be served from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., and dinner will start immediately afterwards. Dancing music for this year's gala event will be provided by the Inn, featuring the Quin-Tiks, Jungbluth said.

In addition to the presentation of the Cadillac Coup de Ville, various consolation prizes will be awarded to other fortunate ticket holders throughout the evening.

"It will be a dynamite party ... an excellent feed," Jungbluth said.

Here's the menu for the 1982 Cadillac Party:

- Separate salmon, crab and shrimp displays.
- Decorated aspics and an international cheese display with fresh fruits.
- Smoked fish and meats.

•Assorted vegetable salads, assorted gelatins, salmon salad, crab salad, shrimp and avocado salad, deviled eggs and pickled eggs.

•Nova Scotia clam chowder and Manhattan clam chowder.

•Braised lamb a la Sengalese, roast fresh hams, breast of chicken chasseur, filet sole mornay, carved prime rib of beef.

•Pommes Parisienne, saffron rice, fresh asparagus and mixed Belgium vegetables.

•Freshly baked breads and crackers, mints and candies.

•A large dessert table with tortes and French pastries.

Tickets may be obtained by stopping by the Chamber or calling ahead at 257-7395 during regular Monday through Friday business hours. Jungbluth suggested that those desiring tickets with certain preferred numbers make their reservations very soon.

Aspen Festival '82 discussed by Retail Merchants

by WILL TURBOW
Staff Writer

The Aspen Festival Queen will be crowned at a Cree Meadows Restaurant dinner party Wednesday, September 15, said Nancy Shaver of the Aspen Festival Queen subcommittee of the Retail Merchants Committee (RMC) of the Chamber of Commerce Monday.

The plan, according to Shaver, is to have the five judges review the queen applicants' applications and photographs prior to September 15. Then, the afternoon of the 15th, judges will interview the girls and make their final decisions. After the interviews, girls will go home to change attire, and return to Cree Meadows for the dinner and coronation.

Queen applicants competing to reign over Aspen Festival '82 must be single, of high school age, and residents of Lincoln County.

Girls vying for the honor must be sponsored by a club, organization or business. The sponsor is responsible for the $10 entry fee and accompanying the contestant to scheduled events.

Applications for the queen contest may be obtained at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. Applications must be accompanied by the sponsor's entry fee and a recent five-by-seven-inch photograph, black and white preferred. All registration information must be returned to the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce no later than Friday, September 10.

Shaver also confirmed that the Aspen Festival Queen and her court will ride in three classic Ford Thunderbirds during the Aspen Festival Parade. The cars have been donated by Dan Shaver and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Chambers.

Chamber director Ed Jungbluth said the Ruidoso village council gave approval for the Chamber to use portions of Sudderth and Mechem Drives Saturday, October 9, for the Aspen Festival Parade. The Chamber will now submit an application to the state Highway Department for a parade permit.

RMC also heard from Aspen Festival Committee chairman Richard Sandoval about the progress of events scheduled for the fall festival. The pro-am bowling tournament is being set up by Roger Marshall and is going well, reported Sandoval.

Jungbluth stated that the Aspen Festival poster has been designed by J. D. Yoakum and the proof will be ready soon.

The Chamber-sponsored, official New Mexico chili-cookoff planned for the Aspen Festival appears as if it could be a bigger event than originally thought and will require some special planning, commented Jungbluth.

Planning and Zoning okays plat with fire measures

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) Monday approved the preliminary plat of the Grindstone Canyon Resort Community, contingent on redesign of several private drives that local fire prevention officers said would create problems fighting fires.

At its regular monthly meeting, P&Z also approved plats for three residential developments on Camelot Mountain.

Grindstone developer Don Dorman brought his proposal on phase one of the Grindstone community before P&Z for the fourth time in three months. At the June and July P&Z meetings, the commission tabled the first stage of the development because of uncertainty regarding the effect of the residential plans on the proposed Grindstone reservoir.

P&Z also discussed Dorman's plans at a workshop July 19, at which time the conflict of whether water transmission lines in the reservoir project would follow streets planned in the development, or cut through planned lots, seemed to be resolved.

Plans for the community call for 222 single family homes, 88 townhomes, 220 condominiums, 32 stacked apartment units and 90 group lodging units. Also included in the master plan is a conference center and a family recreation area with a performing arts center and entertainment village.

Also on Dorman's property is acreage for the planned reservoir, treatment plant and water storage tank that voters approved on July 6.

Dorman said Monday that Boyle Engineering—engineers for the water project—said a transmission line from the planned reservoir to a water storage tank would follow at least one lot line, but the developer indicated that granting an easement for the line would cause no problem.

Fire superintendent Virgil Reynolds, fire prevention officer Ollie Cuddy and Smokey Bear fire management officer Steve Makowski raised objections to several private drives designed to serve single-family housing areas.

Reynolds pointed out on the preliminary plat one 475 feet long drive that would serve several houses. According to his calculation, he said, the drive has a 90-degree turn and a 30 percent grade. Reynolds said he didn't know if fire vehicles could climb the grade, and he noted plans called for a fire hydrant at only one end of the drive.

Makowski noted that no ordinance pertains to the design of private drives, which enables some to be constructed on slopes reaching 40 percent grades. Maximum grades for dedicated streets under P&Z ordinances are 10 percent for major and collector streets and 12 percent for local streets.

Cuddy pointed out that, according to the Uniform Fire Code, any road at least 150 feet long must be provided with a turnaround. He noted that many of the private collector drives are proposed as dead end roads. P&Z member Mike Mulholland asked why a turnaround would have to be provided for fire trucks.

"Because you have to run sometimes," Makowski said. He added that volunteers respond to fires in private vehicles, and if there are no turnarounds, vehicles could become trapped in the event of a conflagration.

P&Z chairman John Schuller concurred with the request for turnarounds, and suggested the plat be approved with the requisite that the drives meet fire code standards. Schuller also asked the fire officers to sit on a committee to oversee redesign of the roads.

Dorman said it isn't his intention to "short cut" ordinances, and said the plan could be changed to provide for turnarounds.

Makowski also pointed out that the heavily forested area of the development and the steep topography creates a fire suppression problem. He noted that much of Ruidoso is in a similar situation.

P&Z approved the plat, contingent on redesign of the drives to comply with fire codes, and agreement of compliance from the fire committee.

In other business, P&Z approved plans for three residential developments on Camelot Mountain. The developments are in Whispering Bluffs, Tiara Del Sol and Camelot Crown Estates.

P&Z approved the final plat of Whispering Bluffs—which calls for 53 condominium units—after hearing from engineer Tim Collins that the preliminary plat was approved two months ago, and that it met planning and zoning conditions. Collins said a road exists into the area, and that he was waiting for a letter of credit from the developer to cover water and sewer hookups. The plat was approved contingent on receipt of the letter of credit.

P&Z also considered the final plat of phase one of Tiara Del Sol. Collins noted that the master plan includes condominium buildings located at the edge of the mountain, overlooking Apache Park Subdivision near Carrizo Creek Road.

Schuller voiced concern over approving structures similar to those on Crown Point on Camelot Mountain that hang over the edge of the hill. Collins said Tiara will not hang over like Crown Point, and he noted the first phase includes no units on the edge of the hill.

Schuller continued on the subject of structures at the edge of hills, and said he would like to see such buildings provided with fire fighting equipment. Cuddy noted that the fire department ladders can reach as high as 35 feet. He suggested the commission closely scrutinize plans for buildings that are supported by posts on the edge of hills—putting access to the buildings at more than 30 feet.

P&Z approved the first phase without stipulating conditions.

The preliminary plat of Camelot Crown Estates Units 2 and 3 includes 158 housing lots on 61 acres. The development, which Collins noted was part of the original Camelot plan in 1975, was never platted, Collins said.

P&Z approved the housing development, which is located between Cummings, Sir Galahad and Elaine Drives.

Also Monday, P&Z discussed possible requirements for property clearances for television satellite tracking antennas. Larry Langford of Village Hardware offered advice to P&Z on the antennas. The commission made no decision on the matter.

P&Z reelected Schuller as chairman, and elected Mulholland vice chairman and George Shoemaker secretary.

The commission also set the date of its next meeting as September 8, and scheduled a workshop for August 31.

In other action, P&Z:

—Placed in committee a request for rezoning from C-1 (light commercial) to C-2 (general commercial) Lot 3, Block 1, in Airport West Second Addition for John Fuchs. Fuchs said he intends a travel trailer and recreation vehicle park and sales area on the lot, which is off Highway 37 at the bottom of Alto Hill.

John Thompson protested the change, saying, "Once you start these things, it rapidly deteriorates the neighborhood." Schuller noted that the area is currently under study to determine what acreage would be appropriate for general commercial enterprises. P&Z placed the request in committee at Schuller's request.

—Approved a petition from Walker McAllister for vacation of a portion of Virginia Canyon Road between Lots 1 and 2, Block 7; and Lots 1, 2 and 3, Block 5; of Hamilton Terrace.

—Tabled a request from J. C. Capps for vacation or road right-of-way adjacent to Tract J in Palmer Gateway Subdivision, until Capps submits a plat from a qualified engineer.

—Approved a request from Bill Kern for vacation of portion of Center Street between Roswell and Alamogordo streets, after Kern pointed out the section is on a steep grade, and has never been maintained by the street department.

—Withdrew a request for side and front lot line variances for Lot 3, Block 5, in Paradise Canyon from Jack Yates, because Yates did not submit qualified drawings of the site.

—Approved replat of Lot 5, Block 4, in Hamilton Terrace for Todd Beckman.

—Approved replat of Lot 9, Block 1, in Camelot Mountain Estates for Sam Moore.

—Approved five-foot side lot line variances on Lot 62, Block 3, in Paradise Canyon for John Gilbert.

—Put in workshop discussion of a sketch plat for Apache Village Townhomes for James Kimrey and Bob Hurt.

—Approved replat of Lots 6 through 10, Block 3, in Golf Course Estates for Glen Riley.

—Approved a rear lot line variance for Clay Adams for a riverside lot in White Fir Subdivision, Upper Canyon.

—Withdrew two requests from the Blaney Land Company—on the final plat for Lost Mountain Estates and preliminary plat of Town and Country North, Unit 3—because Blaney was not present.

Mescalero man killed in accident

Frank L. Weller, 22, of Mescalero died Tuesday as a result of a motorcycle accident on Highway 70 in front of the 7-11 store.

According to a Ruidoso Police Department report, Weller was riding his 1982 model Honda motorcycle east on Highway 70 at 6:24 p.m. when he came upon a vehicle slowing down to make a right hand turn to the store parking lot area.

The report states that Weller swerved to the left to avoid a rear-end collision and lost control of the motorcycle. He laid the bike down and slid into the path of a west-bound two-ton flatbed truck driven by 39-year-old Salvador R. Villa of Juarez, Mexico.

The motorcycle spun off the truck, according to police records, but Weller was killed underneath the truck. The truck dragged Weller approximately 52 feet down the highway before coming to a rest. Weller was pinned under the rear dual axles of the truck.

He was pronounced dead at Ruidoso-Mondo Valley Hospital. Villa was also taken to the hospital, but released with no apparent injuries.

Witnesses told police that Weller appeared to come upon the turning vehicle too quickly, which caused him to errate and lose control of his motorcycle.

Police attributed the accident to "driver inattention" on Weller's part. Road conditions at the time of the accident were dry, and the weather was clear during the daylight accident.

Animal control officer Jack Sniadecki announced that Dr. O. J. Rollag, state health veterinarian, will be at the Ruidoso administrative center auditorium at 9 a.m. Monday, August 7, to discuss animal control in Capitan and Ruidoso Downs. Sniadecki said he encourages residents to have two communities to attend if they have questions about animal control.

Aspen Festival '82 discussed by Retail Merchants Committee

He said local "chili-head" (one who truly appreciates chili as an art form) LaMar Osborn and a chili-head friend of his stated that 100 to 200 cooks should be expected for the first Ruidoso chili-cookoff. The two men are expected to help the Chamber plan for what Jungbluth called "the many definite dos and don'ts" involved in an official chili-cookoff.

With the growing popularity of chili-cookoffs in the Southwest and Ruidoso's marketable attributes, Jungbluth speculated, the Ruidoso chili-cookoff could become the largest chili-cookoff in New Mexico.

The first year is critical to the continued success of any chili-cookoff, Jungbluth remarked. It is now considered that the parking lot of Jerry Dale's may not provide adequate space for the chili-cookoff, and Jungbluth expressed his hope that the chili-cookoff might become as big a Chamber fundraiser as the Ruidoso Art Festival.

Jungbluth told RMC that there seem to be site problems for the tractor pull, too. He's sure a spot where crowd control is possible can be found, he said, and Jim Berry of the New Mexico Tractor Pullers Association will visit Ruidoso to scout for a place to hold the tractor pull.

The Aspen Festival parade float committee reported that two entries have already been accepted. Float committee teams of Bob Gregson and Janet Goodwin and Larry Langford and Richard Sandoval will be visiting local businesses and organizations soon to solicit float entries.

RMC member Jerry Shaw brought up the subject of a Chamber ribbon-cutting committee. With all of the new businesses springing up in Ruidoso, Shaw stated, a ribbon-cutting would be a nice gesture and a good way for the Chamber to make an initial contact with businesses. Shaw's idea will be referred to Joan Bailey, chairwoman of the Chamber's community development committee.

Title insurance man addresses Realtors

by WILL TURBOW
Staff Writer

Researching extensively and gathering different types of title information and then interpreting and relating the information in a meaningful form to homebuyers are the primary jobs of title insurance companies, stated David Lanier of Lawyers Title Insurance Corporation Tuesday at the Ruidoso Board of Realtors (RBR) meeting.

"You can't really trust anybody, and that's why we have title companies," Lanier quipped.

He holds a degree in communications from the University of New Mexico and attended UNM for post-graduate work in communications. Recently, Lanier was promoted and transferred from Lawyers Title Insurance in Dallas, Texas, to Albuquerque. He serves as New Mexico sales and agency manager.

Before closing a transaction, explained Lanier, there are many matters affecting the property which should be known. Some of those things include: current owner of the property; correct legal description; conditions in the sale; sale price; and who is actually buying and selling the property.

People make mistakes, Lanier noted, which could cause problems for other people in the future. Even when an abstract company checks the public records thoroughly, an undetected error could persist from years before.

He indicated that many hidden hazards can arise to cause title troubles like loss of home, business property or mortgage investment. An abstract may be perfect, but the title worthless; or an attorney's examination may be the finest that skill, experience and legal knowledge can produce, but the title may be fatally defective, Lanier pointed out.

Owner's title insurance protects the purchaser as well as his or her heirs from financial loss caused by title problems. The title insurer defends a buyer against attacks on the title to a property as insured. Lanier compared title insurance with fire insurance; both protect property.

Title policy insurance, Lanier told the Realtors, provides for: the fee simple title which proves an individual owns a property; protection against ambiguities, differences of opinion and encumbrances; and access to the stated property. It also guarantees that the property is marketable.

Title policy insurance requires only a one-time premium, stressed Lanier. He added that it tells a homebuyer what he actually holds and doesn't hold; and what a homebuyer is responsible for and not responsible for. Lanier concluded by saying that title policy insurance clearly defines what someone is getting and backs it up.

In other RBR business, president Janet Warlick-Pearson presented members the new slate of officers for 1982-83 to be voted on at the next RBR meeting.

The nominating committee—comprised of Alton Lane, Wayne Whitlock and John Winniford—nominated Jim George for president, Jim Carpenter for vice president and Brad Johnson for secretary. Also nominated were Floyd Buckley, Jane Bartlett and Jackie Covington as directors of RBR.

George also requested that brokers contribute $99 and associates $10 to the Realtors' Political Action Committee (RPAC). By donating money to RPAC, George said, Realtors are insuring that elected legislators share some of their views.

Dark Castle leaves foes in shadow

Dark Castle, running as a 3-2 favorite, closed strongly to score a half-length win in Wednesday's six-furlong feature race at Ruidoso Downs.

The win was Dark Castle's first of the meeting in six starts. The four-year-old filly is owned by Alamo Ranches of Seguin, Texas. Wayne Buehrer was in the saddle.

Going into the turn for home, Lace Image, a 3-1 shot handled by Kenny Roller, almost appeared to have the sprint sewed up. Lace Image was moving at full throttle and held a three-length lead.

But Dark Castle began a prolonged attack in the middle of the track. The filly caught the tiring Lace Image about 100 feet from the wire and went soaring into the lead clocking the distance in 1:15 2/5 seconds.

Although light rain fell steadily throughout the afternoon, the track remained in fast condition. Fans who'd figured Dark Castle's number was about to come up collected payoffs of $5, $3.40, $3.

Lace Image returned $4.20 and $3.60. Belle Plaine got in third under apprentice Casey Lambert and paid $3.20.

Tony Fenack Jr. trains Dark Castle.

Family Campmeeting to continue through Sunday

The annual Family Campmeeting, sponsored by the New Mexico District, Church of the Nazarene, continues through Sunday, August 8, at the District Center at Angus.

Workers include Jimmy Dell and Bill Erickson, evangelists; Ernest Armstrong, Bible teacher; David and Dana Blue, song evangelists; Gary Hasenauer, children's ministries; Conley Henderson, director of teen activities; and Leon F. Wyss, district superintendent.

The daily schedule is as follows: prayer time, 7 a.m.; inspiration time with Ernest Armstrong, children's activities, 9 a.m.; morning service, 10:30 a.m. (Sunday 10 a.m.); teen program, 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.; prayer meetings, 6:15 p.m.; evening service, 7 p.m.; campfire for teens after evening service.

The closing service is set for 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

A nursery is provided for morning and evening services. Meals are served at a minimum cost, with breakfast at 7 a.m.; lunch at noon; and dinner at 5 p.m.

The public is invited to participate in all campmeeting activities.

Angus Church of the Nazarene will not have services this Sunday because of the campmeeting, according to Ken Frey, pastor.

VICAR CHARLES A. ULLMANN

Lutheran Church to install vicar

The Lutheran Church of Ruidoso will hold installation services for Vicar Charles A. Ullmann this Sunday, August 8, at 2 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church.

Ullmann has completed three years at Concordia Theological Seminary in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and will be eligible for a call as parish minister after completing one year as vicar.

He also has a degree in business administration with a major in marketing from Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois.

The installation service will be led by the Reverend Bernard A. Raabe, executive secretary of Missions for the Rocky Mountain District, who will preach; the Reverend O. E. Krohn, pastor of Immanuel Church in Roswell, who will serve as liturgist; and the Reverend Gerald E. Harms, counselor for the Rio Grande Circuit, who will serve as installer.

Rosanne Schillies will serve as organist for the service.

Beginning August 15, the Lutheran Church group will hold services at 8 a.m. each Sunday at the Presbyterian Church. Services are currently being held at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

ASLAN, a contemporary gospel music group from New Jersey, will be performing at the Gateway Assembly of God Church this Sunday at 10:30 a.m. The group runs an outreach ministry for youth in a low-income, high crime rate area of New Jersey and tours the country during the summer giving concerts. The public is invited to the concert Sunday.

Zia Scout Council hosts camp

More than 60 Girl Scouts from all over the United States and six from Germany, Portugal and Venezuela are participating in a camp program at Camp Mary White, near Cloudcroft and Alamogordo, from July 31 through August 11.

The Zia Girl Scout Council, of which Lincoln County is a member, is hosting the camp, called "New Mexico Montage." Gayle Travis, a 1982 graduate of Ruidoso High School, is on the camp staff.

Some of the scheduled activities during the camping experience include visiting with Indians from the Mesquero Apache Tribe, exploring the area on foot and horseback, attending Old Lincoln Days festivities, spending a night at White Sands, and visiting an astronaut at the International Space Hall of Fame in Alamogordo.

"New Mexico Montage" is a special opportunity offered to high school age Girl Scouts to experience the life and culture of another area of the United States.

The last such program offered in this area of the country was 10 years ago.

Reception for retiring pastor to be held at First Baptist

Dr. E. W. Campbell, pastor of First Baptist Church of Ruidoso, and his wife, Virginia, have announced their plans to retire September 1.

Campbell has been pastor of the local church for six-and-a-half years. He has been active as a church pastor for 37 years.

DR. E. W. CAMPBELL

The Campbells plan to move to Mississippi. They will be working with the Home Mission Board after the first of the year.

A come and go reception to honor the Campbells will take place from 2:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. this Sunday, August 8, at First Baptist Church. All members and friends are invited to attend.

Glenn Smith to conduct seminar

The Reverend Glenn Smith, president of International Western World Outreach Center Incorporated, also known as Rodeo Cowboy Ministries, will hold a two-night teaching seminar at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, August 10 and 11, at the Topaz Room of the Ruidoso Holiday Inn. A former rodeo professional and rancher, Smith ministers to the "Western world" throughout the U.S. and in Canada and Australia. He is a member of the Cowboy Chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

The public is invited to the nondenominational seminars.

THE REVEREND GLENN SMITH

Notice on publication of weddings

The Ruidoso News will publish wedding writeups only if received by The News within 30 days after the event.

Quality photographs of the couple, or bride, will be published, with black and white photos preferred.

Obituaries

At the Hospital

Bessie Mae Scott Courville

Memorial services for Bessie Mae Scott Courville of Ruidoso Downs took place Wednesday, August 4, at Clarke's Chapel of Roses in Ruidoso, with the Reverend Kenneth Cole officiating.

Mrs. Courville died August 1 at her home. She was a resident of the Ruidoso area for over 30 years.

Survivors include her husband, Odie Courville of Ruidoso Downs; daughter Melissa Mueller of Houghton, Louisiana; sister Lela B. Scott of Highland, Texas; nephew William Scott of Baytown, Texas; and two grandchildren.

The family suggests memorials be made to the American Cancer Society in lieu of flowers.

Harriett Chico

Mrs. Harriet Chico of Mesquero died August 2.

She was born July 23, 1902, in Otero County. Survivors include two sons, Raybourn Chico of Mesquero and Theodore Rodriguez of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; brother Lewis Chico; and seven grandchildren.

Rosary was recited Tuesday, August 3, and funeral Mass was said August 4 at St. Jude's Catholic Church by Father Justin. Interment was at Mesquero Cemetery. Pall bearers were George Saenz, Faustino Aguilar, Terrell Chico, Sam Loya, Clyde Sege and Freddie Chico.

Vassar Thompson

Funeral services for Vassar Thompson of Ruidoso Downs are pending at Clarke's Chapel of Roses, Ruidoso.

Raymond George Justin

Funeral services for Raymond George Justin of Ruidoso and Odessa, Texas, were Thursday, August 5, at Clarke's Chapel of Roses. Justin died August 2 at Ruidoso.

He was born February 4, 1908, at Ford Dulac, Wisconsin, and was an engineer in the oil industry.

Services are to be held at Snyder, Texas, Friday, August 6, with interment there. Justin is survived by his wife Dorothy; son Bolton Brveyere of Snyder; sister Dorothy Sith of Wisconsin; two grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

Frank Louis Weller

Funeral services for Frank Louis Weller will be 3:30 p.m., today, at the Reformed Church in Mesquero.

Interment will be at 10:30 a.m., Friday, at Dallas Memorial Park, Albuquerque.

"BETTER WATCH YOUR STEP, JACK." Roswell police officer Phil Rubinstein (left) holds his dog "Duke" back, after trainer Jack Miller of Orion Canine Academy presented the pair certificates July 26 for completing 16 weeks of police dog training. Rubinstein was honored for completion of 400 hours of training as a K-9 handler, and Duke—an exceptional student, according to Miller—was trained for obedience, attack on command, provoked attack, crowd control, building search, multiple man control and weapons search.

Eagle Creek concert set

Local concert promoter Carl Mori announced recently that Firefly Unlimited will present Jerry Jeff Walker, Michael Murphy and Gary P. Nunn at an outdoor concert at the Eagle Creek Ski Area Friday, August 20, at 7 p.m.

Mori said tickets cost $10 in advance and $12 at the gate. Selected ticket outlets in Ruidoso are Flipside Records and the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, said Mori. He added that tickets will soon be available in Roswell, Las Cruces, Alamogordo and El Paso, Texas.

Michael Murphy is a popular composer/singer/guitarist who is a native New Mexican. Murphy's work has attained national attention in the past, and he currently has a hit single on three charts called "What's Forever For?"

Jerry Jeff Walker is an old favorite on the country music circuit. Gary P. Nunn is also known for his country music style. Both men are from Austin, Texas.

The interesting thing about this concert, Mori noted, is that it will bring these top three musicians together again. All three have played together at one time and also in paired combinations.

"All signs are pointing to a very excellent concert right now. I am looking forward to seeing the three artists perform together on the stage again," stated Mori.

'Scarf Wizard' to demonstrate skills

"The Scarf Wizard," Willis Hill, will be at A Place in the Sun in Ruidoso 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. August 20 and 21, demonstrating his skill in wrapping scarves.

Hill has wrapped such famous heads as Elizabeth Taylor, Margot Fonteyn, Audrey Hepburn, Natalie Wood, Liza Minelli and the Duchess of Windsor.

He has also enabled countless schoolteachers, homemakers and senior citizens to look and feel like celebrities.

In Hill's hands, two scarves can become a butterfly ascot, a rosette choker or a colorful topknot. He can create some 25 different neckwear adaptations and 50 different headwraps.

The former interior decorator and store designer from North Carolina now makes a career of wrapping scarves.

EASTERN GRADUATE RECEIVES DEGREE. Fred Romero of Capitan is congratulated by Eastern New Mexico University President Warren Armstrong during the summer commencement exercises July 30. Romero received a bachelor of business administration degree in computer science and business information systems.

Baker challenges for Cree Meadows championship flight crown today

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Angus Baker attempted to make the finals and win the title that narrowly eluded him last year when he competed in the semifinals of the 34th annual Cree Meadows Men's Golf Invitational championship flight this morning at Cree Meadows Country Club.

The 20-year-old Baker, who finished second to Mark Jarrett in sudden death overtime last year, met Kelly Eng in one semifinal match play match. The other semifinal match pitted Jeff Serger against Joe Malench.

The winners of this morning's matches will meet for the championship this afternoon.

Baker defeated Buck Lane four and three Wednesday afternoon to make the semifinals. Tuesday Baker toppled Don Wilson, one-up on the last hole, in the first round of the championship flight.

Eng, from Midland, Texas, defeated Tommy Hornbuckle of Ruidoso, one-up, in the opening round Tuesday. Wednesday Eng beat Bob Golightly, four and three.

Malench defeated Jerry Jones, one-up, in the opening round Tuesday. He came back Wednesday to top John Gonzales by a six and five score to qualify for the semifinals.

Serger beat Ben Smith two and one Tuesday. In the quarterfinals Wednesday, Serger topped Don Riley six and five.

In championship consolation semifinal action this morning, Hornbuckle met Wilson and Smith challenged Jones.

Hornbuckle topped Ruidoso High School golf coach Leroy Gooch five and four Wednesday. Wilson took Howard Hassell by a three and two score.

Smith took John Field by a three and two margin while Jones defeated Robert Upham, one-up on the 21st hole. Field had the top mark in Monday's championship flight qualifying with a 69 for 18 holes.

A father-son matchup this morning highlighted the first flight competition. James Pritchett of Midland, Texas, took on his son Pat of Lubbock, Texas, in the semifinals this morning.

Pat Pritchett topped Jeff Stolz, two-up, in the quarterfinals Wednesday. His father beat Bob Lockett, one-up on the 20th hole. "We've never played each other before," James Pritchett said of his match with his son. "We're both relaxed but he's sure he's going to beat me. We've played in the same tournaments before but never against each other."

The other first flight semifinal match pitted former Ruidoso High School standout Kevin Sivage against Bob Heith.

Sivage, a 1981 graduate of Ruidoso, defeated another local player, Doug Bass, two and one, in the quarterfinals Wednesday.

Heith toppled David Blewitt of Roswell, two and one, in Wednesday's quarterfinals.

Dan Osborne met Tom Kent and Stormy Edwards took on Mike Stansfield in the first flight consolation semifinals this morning. The winners of those two matches will also compete this afternoon for the title.

There is also competition in the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth flights today.

A total of 176 golfers are competing in the tournament, the oldest in the Ruidoso area.

Blues, Cardinales stay unbeaten in tournament

The Ruidoso Blues and the Cardinales will put their undefeated records on the line at 6:30 p.m. today when they tangle in a winners bracket game of the Ruidoso Men's Fast Pitch Softball League Tournament at All-American Park Field in Ruidoso Downs.

Each team took impressive victories in games Tuesday night at All-American Park Field.

The Cardinales, American Division champions, edged the National Division champion Mescalero Chips 3-2. The Blues rolled over Brass Fan 9-1 in the other contest.

Ernest Kadayso was the winning pitcher for the Cardinales.

Robert Beavers and David Hutchinson each belted home runs for the Blues in their victory. Beavers clubbed his home run in the second inning when the Blues scored six runs to take a 6-0 advantage.

Hutchinson clubbed his home run in the fifth stanza as the Blues increased their lead. Ray Gann was the winning pitcher for the Blues.

The Blues finished third in a tournament in Hobbs last weekend, winning four of six games. They are scheduled to compete in a Las Cruces fast pitch tournament this weekend.

Inn to hold skeet shoot

A registered skeet shoot will be held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Trap and Skeet Range August 16.

The registered shoots are 100-20 gauge and 100-12 gauge.

Those entering the competition must be registered skeet shooters. Competitors may join the National Skeet Shooting Association at the range before entering the shoot.

Practice rounds and registration will start at 8 a.m. and the shoot begins at 10 a.m.

Trophies will be awarded to the shooters with the highest overall averages in both events.

TOMMY HORNBUCKLE of Ruidoso putts on the second hole during Tuesday's first round of the championship flight in the Cree Meadows Men's Golf Invitational. Hornbuckle lost to Kelly Eng of Midland, Texas, one-up in the first round. However, Hornbuckle came back to defeat Ruidoso High School golf coach Leroy Gooch, five and four in Wednesday's consolation competition.

Warrior Booster Club to hold meeting

The Ruidoso Warriors Booster Club will hold its first meeting for the 1982-83 school year at 7 p.m. Thursday, August 12, in the high school teachers' lounge.

A $5 fee for the year will be charged to each club member. Anyone can attend the meeting.

Edwards, Brockington have long history in Cree Meadows Men's Invitational

Around Sports
with Gary Brown

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Charles B. Edwards Sr. and Lawrence Brockington have been familiar figures at the Cree Meadows Men's Golf Invitational for over 30 years.

The two golfers started playing golf together as youngsters in Lancaster,

Texas, a suburb of Dallas.

"We used to caddy together," said Brockington. "They built a small nine-hole course in Lancaster in 1929 and we started caddying there in 1930. We went through school together and graduated at the same time."

Both golfers have played consistently in the Cree Meadows match play tournament since it first started.

Edwards first played in the tournament in 1949, the first year it was held. Brockington started playing in 1950.

Edwards has won the championship flight title once (in the 1960s) and has taken the first flight championship at least five times. This is the first year he has played in the second flight, having competed every other year in the championship flight or first flight.

"I was in an auto accident in 1962 and was in the hospital for nine weeks," Edwards said. "After I got out of the hospital I came here and won the first flight championship. I also won the Oak Cliff Country Club (Texas) title that year. I've won that club championship seven times."

Edwards first started coming to the Ruidoso area in 1939. He came to Ruidoso for several years before going into the service during World War II. He is also an avid horse racing fan, owning some horses that race at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Brockington used to play regularly in the first and second flight. However, this year he is playing in the seventh flight.

"I'm getting older now and I have arthritis," Brockington said. Both golfers are 63 years old.

Edwards, a retired Ford dealer, and Brockington, a retired department store manager, have been bringing 15 to 20 golfers from the Lancaster area to the Cree Meadows tournament for several years now. When they first started playing golf at Cree Meadows, they brought four or five golfers a year to the tournament.

When the tournament first started, the clubhouse was much smaller than the present one. The clubhouse was two stories high but the second story was living quarters. It burned down four years ago and the present one was built in its place. Both golfers are doing well in the present tournament.

Edwards advanced to today's semi-finals of the second flight consolation bracket by defeating Don Hall, four and three.

CHARLES B. EDWARDS

Brockington took his first two matches of the tournament and competed in the semi-finals of the seventh flight this morning.

Charles Edwards and Lawrence Brockington are as much a part of the Cree Meadows golf tradition as the tournament itself.

Will the Atlanta Braves fold? That's a question a lot of people are asking after the Braves lost four straight at home to the defending World Series champion Los Angeles Dodgers last weekend.

All season long, people have been waiting for the Braves to lose their division lead. Some people have been surprised that Atlanta has been in the National League Western Division lead even this long into the season.

I'm still betting on the Braves, however. They showed flashes of things to come in the last couple of seasons but could never get their act together for an entire season. But this year manager Joe Torre has done an excellent job of putting his team together.

He has the major leagues' leading home run hitter in Dale Murphy and a couple of other power hitters in Chris Chambliss and Bob Horner. Some people feel Horner has the potential to be the best home run hitter in the majors. However, he has a very large ego and that has affected his play sometimes.

Ancient pitcher Phil Niekro is as good as ever and the rest of the Braves' staff is considerably improved over last season.

The only thing the Braves have going against them is pennant race experience. That's something the Dodgers have a great deal of, probably more than any other team in the National League.

Los Angeles is not the team it was last year, though. Most of the Dodgers' starters are over 30 years old and have seen their best days as baseball players.

Even though the Dodgers won everything last season, the split season because of the strike cast some doubts on their achievement. Cincinnati had the best record in the major leagues last year but it was not enough to win either the first half or second half championships in the Western Division.

Reggie Smith and Davey Lopes, both in their upper thirties, left the Dodgers for San Francisco and Oakland, respectively, before the 1982 season started.

These two players were among the established stars on the Los Angeles team for many seasons. Even though they have probably seen their best playing days go past them, Smith and Lopes are certainly missed in the Dodger lineup.

Outside of the Dodgers, there isn't any real challenger to the Braves. San Diego still has too far to go and will probably fade during the last two months of the season.

San Francisco has to play in Candlestick Park and that alone presents a big obstacle to the Giants. San Francisco is also lacking in overall team speed, experienced pitching and hitting.

The Giants do have some power hitters but they don't hit consistently and that is a must for any pennant contending team.

Houston still has one of the best pitching staffs in baseball but not much else. Cincinnati? The Reds let several of their top players get away from them during the off season and is paying the price for those mistakes now.

So it looks like Atlanta still has the inside track in the National League's Western Division. The Dodgers should make it close in the last two months of the race.

But at the end the Braves should have just enough to win their first division title in 13 years.

Ex-Ruidoso High School football and track star Lon Nunley leaves for Albuquerque today to begin grid practice at the University of New Mexico (UNM).

Nunley, who starred in the South All-Stars' 16-7 victory over the North last Friday, is just one of several former Warrior football players who will be attending four-year colleges this fall.

Scott Neal, who made the AAA All-State second team as a defensive back and received honorable mention as a quarterback, will also attend UNM.

Linebacker Darlous Rad will attend North Texas State. Byron Wright, a linebacker and offensive lineman, will go to West Texas State.

Don Nunley, Lon's twin brother, will also attend West Texas State. Don made all district as a tight end.

Meanwhile, the Warriors will begin fall football practice Tuesday.

Tentatively, the varsity players will work out in the morning and night while the freshman players will practice in the afternoon.

Youth soccer league to hold signups next week

The Ruidoso-Sertoma Soccer Association will have registration signups for the fall youth season August 11, 12 and 14 at Ruidoso State Bank.

Every player who competed in the spring season will get a registration form in the mail. The youths should mail the signed form and money back as soon as possible. If they forget to mail the form back, they must register at one of the three above dates at Ruidoso State Bank. Otherwise, returning players don't have to register at the bank.

New players must automatically register at the bank. Each day the registration will last from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. There is a registration fee of $12. A parent or guardian must accompany the youth to the registration.

For further information, contact Butch Grantham at 257-5061.

Graham fifth pro confirmed for pro-am tournament

Lou Graham has become the fifth professional golfer to agree to play in the first Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Golf Tournament October 11.

Graham, who won the 1975 U.S. Open, is a native of Nashville, Tennessee. He has won $1,242,025 in his 18-year career on the professional tour.

The 6-foot, 175 pound golfer won $33,958 last year and has captured five other tournament championships besides the 1975 U.S. Open.

Besides Graham, other professional golfers who have agreed to play in the pro-am tournament are Charles Coody, Dave Hill, John Mahaffey and Dave Eichelberger.

The five pro golfers entered so far in the tournament have won three of the four major championships in professional golf. Besides Graham's U.S. Open victory, Coody won the 1971 Masters and Mahaffey won the 1978 PGA championship. Coody was also a member of the United States Ryder Cup team in 1971.

The only major tournament that none of the five golfers scheduled to compete in the pro-am tournament has won is the British Open.

There will be 12 pro-am teams in the October 11 tournament. Each team will be made up of a pro, probably a celebrity, and three amateurs.

A $1,200 entry fee will be charged for each amateur in the tournament.

NMSU SUMMER STRING WORKSHOP students (from left) Eric Liefeld, Charles Hague and Brad Hoke presented a short musical program Monday evening for a group of Ruidoso residents as an introduction to the type of program which will be offered during the Ruidoso Summer String Workshops, to be held here beginning next year.

ABOUT 50 local residents who have indicated an interest in the cultural future of Ruidoso attended a program Monday evening with organizers of a summer string workshop to be started in this area soon. From left, Mimi Jungbluth; NMSU faculty member and Las Cruces Symphony cellist James Fittz; Las Cruces Symphony conductor and music director Marianna Gabbi; Ken Cole; Jim Law; and Texie Cole discuss their excitement about bringing chamber music programs to Ruidoso.

Chamber music concerts, workshops to come to Ruidoso

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer/Photographer

Ruidoso's cultural horizons are expanding, with the advent of the Ruidoso Summer String Workshop, which will consist of a series of chamber music concerts and annual student workshops in this area.

Currently sponsored by New Mexico State University (NMSU) and the Las Cruces Symphony Association, the summer string workshops have been held near Cloudcroft for the past three years. With the program having outgrown facilities there, directors of the workshop selected Ruidoso as a site for expansion of the program.

The first workshop here is scheduled for the first two weeks in August 1983, at the La Junta Guest Ranch in Alto. Several performances will be presented in conjunction with the classes, and the public will also be invited to open rehearsals during the two weeks, according to James Fittz, NMSU faculty member and principal cellist of the Las Cruces Symphony.

The group is also interested in presenting chamber music concerts during the winter in Ruidoso, from the faculty of NMSU and the Las Cruces Symphony. A performance by Fittz and William Leland, pianist in residence at NMSU, is already scheduled for this October 16.

"Ruidoso has a reputation for being arts conscious," said Marianna Gabbi, conductor and music director of the Las Cruces

Symphony. "We hope to continue the interest the community is showing in music."

A short musical program was presented Monday evening by workshop students and faculty members, for a group of about 50 local residents, "to introduce ourselves to you," Fittz told the audience.

"We want to have an opportunity for gifted students to express themselves in an atmosphere of hard work and performance," Fittz stated about the program. "We have big dreams."

Gabbi informed the audience that "it's a dream of mine to have music in the mountains of New Mexico."

"We want to do more; we want more people; we want more interaction," she said in reference to the move to Ruidoso.

Fittz explained that the summer string workshop organizers "would like to establish a sponsorship here."

He said they are seeking organizational support from Ruidoso residents, in the form of committees to assume the responsibilities of scheduling concerts, organizing publicity, designing programs and addressing logistical problems.

Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth told The News that the Ruidoso Summer String Workshop will be taken on as a chamber sponsored event. He said the cultural committee of the Chamber, which is not currently active, will be "revived" for this purpose.

A Ruidoso Summer String Workshop committee will be formed as a sub-group of the cultural committee, Jungbluth reported. This group will handle organization of the event.

"It's just natural," Jungbluth said about the cultural committee of the Chamber sponsoring the event.

"I think it's gonna be a dynamite program," he concluded.

The Prime of Life.

At 100,000 miles, a vehicle on gasoline is ready for retirement. But with propane motor fuel, that mileage is the "prime of life" for a vehicle.

Propane is clean-burning, so it greatly extends engine life. Oil, filter and spark plug life are increased as well.

But — best of all — propane costs a lot less than gasoline!

TWO OF THE HORSES who qualified from Thursday's three trial races for the Rio Grande Futurity passed through the sale ring at last year's Ninth Annual Summer Sale For Selected Thoroughbred Yearlings at the All-American Sales Arena at Ruidoso Downs. Dragon's Mist, who won the first trial race, was sold for $10,500. Tenny Blade, who captured the third trial race, was a bargain $2,800 purchase. Tenny Blade who turned in the fastest six-furlong clocking (1:16 4/5) of the three winners, is a colt by Plucky Blade, who sired Plucky Hussey, the 1981 Riley Allison Futurity winner at Sunland Park. Draconic sired three horses who will compete in the Rio Grande Futurity, a six-furlong chase this Sunday which will pay the winner $28,032 from the total purse of $56,064. Draconic offspring include Dragon's Mist, Draconic Deck, who won the second trial race, and Code's Draconic.

The complete list of Rio Grande Futurity qualifiers: (First trial heat) Dragon's Mist, Incredible T. and Smart Salute; (Second trial heat) Draconic Deck, Frissy Missy, Code's Draconic and Suzanne; (Third trial heat) Tenny Blade, Cue Me First and Arabist.

GO FOR BUGS, one of the standouts at last summer's Ruidoso Downs meeting, gained his first victory since winning a time trial race last August for the All-American Futurity when he scampered to win by almost one length in Thursday's eighth race. He zipped to a 17.99 clocking over the 350 yards against allowance competition. The three-year-old Bugs Alive In 75 colt won four races with four seconds from 10 outings in 1982 as a two-year-old. He collected $319,223. His best effort may well have been running second to Special Effort in the $1,530,000 All-American Futurity last Labor Day. Trained by Paul L. Walters for owner Mary Watkins of Madison, Mississippi. Go For Bugs again had regular rider Steve Harris for Thursday's victory.

POP'S SPIRIT set a seasonal fastest time when he zipped to a 1:12 4/5 clocking while winning Friday's ninth race by six lengths. It was the three-year-old Red Viking gelding's fourth victory with two seconds in eight appearances this year. Trained by Clifford C. Lambert, he's owned by the Double B. Ranch of Anthony, New Mexico. Casey Lambert rode the speedster. He snapped the six-furlong seasonal mark of 1:13 he and Pride of Loom shared.

APPRENTICE JOCKEY David Lidberg rode the first horse in his career when he guided Tequilla Please to a fifth-place finish in Friday's ninth race. The horse raced as an entry with Honey Counter, who was ridden by Mike Lidberg, David's older brother. Honey Counter finished fourth. The riders are sons of Richard and Jeanne Lidberg. The elder Lidberg is a former racing official at Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park.

JIMMYLIN SCORED his fourth straight win at Ruidoso Downs when he tallied a two-length victory in Friday's 12th race at six furlongs. The 11-year-old Nimette gelding started winning on May 23 when he won by seven lengths against $2,500 claiming horses. Then he roared to a four-length win on June 4 in a five and one-half furlong dash run under starter allowance terms. His next win was by almost one length in another starter allowance at six furlongs on July 5. He's owned by Leonard Ziekle and Jimmie D. Claridge, who also trains him. Joe Martinez has been aboard Jimmylin in his four triumphs.

BOLD EGO, the 1980 Riley Allison Futurity winner at Sunland Park, won his first race under Jack Van Berg. He won a six-furlong allowance race last Monday at Ak-Sar-Ben by a widening four lengths under veteran rider Kenny Jones. He zipped to a 1:08 as the 2-5 favorite. Bold Ego enjoyed a tremendous season as a three-year-old, running second in the Preakness Stakes, the second leg of the Triple Crown. APPRENTICE JOCKEY Casey Lambert rode three winners on Saturday's program. He started with Scots Sissy ($12.20) in the first race for trainer J. Doyal Roberts, triumphed with Roman Jet ($4.00) for trainer C. C. Lambert Jr. in the third and captured the featured Billy The Kid Handicap aboard Double B Express ($6.40) in the tenth for trainer Clifford C. Lambert.

CASH ASMUSSEN, who began his career as a jockey at Sunland Park, suffered a heavy fall on Unknown Lady during the Prix de Minerve last weekend in France. He sustained a dislocated ankle and chipped a bone and is expected to be out of racing for about two months. He is from the well-known horse family from Laredo, Texas. He's ridden previously at Ruidoso Downs.

TWO HORSES who are full brothers competed in Friday's sixth race at six furlongs. Seven R. and Draconic's Boy, who are both sired by Draconic out of Staronade, faced each other in this race for New Mexico-bred running for a claiming price of $7,500. Seven R. won the race while Draconic's Boy ran third as the 8-5 wagering favorite.

HIGHEASTERJET MADE a successful debut to the races by winning his 1982 debut in Friday's seventh race by an easy length. His time was a rapid 17.32 for the 350 yards. It was the eighth straight win for the four-year-old Pine's Easter Jet gelding who became the first quarter horse to ever surpass the $1 million earnings plateau last August when he won the $1 million All-American Derby at Ruidoso Downs. Higheasterjet is also the only horse ever to capture both the All-American Futurity and the All-American Derby. Trained by Johnie A. Goodmah, he's owned by G. D. Highsmith of La Grange, Texas. Regular rider W. R. Hunt was again aboard.

NATIVE GYPSY, Sunland Park's spring horse-of-the-meet, was withdrawn from the World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic due to an accident Saturday morning at the Ruidoso Downs swimming pool for horses.

Trainer Bob Arnett said the five-year-old mare suffered about a half-inch gash on her right rear foot. The veteran trainer said he soaked her foot continually after the accident.

"We tried everything to get it down so we could run her. I'm sure she'll be fine in a couple of weeks, but we didn't want to run her today like that," he said. "I wanted to run her so badly in this race. She loves the mud. It really makes her move."

Native Gypsy was the third-fastest qualifier to the World's Championship Classic. She was clocked in 21.80 while running second behind the top-qualifier Rule The Deck in the third trial division.

IN STEWARDS' RULINGS:
— Jockey Michael Meaux was suspended three racing days (August 5-7) for careless riding aboard Incredible T. in the sixth race on Thursday.

— Jockey Gary Sumpter was suspended three racing days (July 30-August 1) for careless riding resulting in his mount, Bartender, being disqualified from second and placed last during the Rainbow Futurity last Sunday.

— Jockey Alfredo Juarez was suspended three racing days (August 4-6) for careless riding on Miss Discount during the fourth race on July 30.

— Jockey Victor Escobar was suspended three racing days (August 4-6) for careless riding while on Will Be Bold during the fourth race on July 30.

Jockey/Trainer of the week

CASEY LAMBERT

by MARK GORDON
Leroy Coombs and Casey Lambert each enjoyed a fine weekend during the 13th weekend of horse racing at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Each won six races and each rider advanced two places in the jockey standings. Therefore, it is appropriate the two riders share the Jockey-Of-The-Week honor at the mountain track.

Coombs won at least one race each day during the four-day competition. He had double wins on Thursday and Sunday while he won one race on Friday and Saturday. He won the 12th and final race on Saturday and Sunday.

Coombs is now sixth on the top ten rider chart with 27 victories, 25 seconds and 25 thirds from 207 mounts. His winning percentage is .130.

Lambert, meanwhile, had his best day on Saturday as he piloted three winners, including Double B Express in the featured Billy The Kid Handicap.

He prevailed on two winners on Friday and one on Thursday. His season's totals through the first 52 days of this summer's 77-day meeting include 26 victories with 25 seconds and 20 thirds from 198 attempts for a winning percentage of .131.

CLIFFORD LAMBERT

Jacky Martin and Joe Martinez remain in a tight struggle for the leading rider title. Martin, last year's Ruidoso Downs jockey king, is ahead by one winner 44-43.

Martin also has 35 seconds and 23 thirds from 188 mounts. His winning percentage is a fine .234.

Martinez also has 43 seconds with 38 thirds from 270 mounts for a winning percentage of .159.

Other top ten riders include Steve Harris, Mike Lidberg, Vickie Smallwood, Gary Sumpter, Larry Byers and Kenny Roller.

In the trainer standings, Clifford C. Lambert saddled four winners to gain Trainer-Of-The-Week laurels for the first time this season.

Lambert, who is regarded as one of the Southwest's finest thoroughbred conditioners, saddled two winners on Friday and one each on Thursday and Saturday.

Lambert remained in fifth place with 19 winners, 19 seconds and 11 thirds from 132 starts. His winning percentage is .143.

William F. Leach continues to hold a narrow lead over Bob E. Arnett. Leach has 38 wins with 18 seconds and 24 thirds from 172 starts. His winning percentage is .220.

Arnett has 35 winners with 38 seconds and 13 thirds from 152 starts. His winning percentage is .230.

Other top ten trainers include Jack W. Brooks, Jimmie D. Claridge, Fred I. Danley, Gerald E. Marr, Johnnie A. Goodman, Hugh L. Tucker and Jack W. Dube.

Racing resumes Wednesday with three and four-year-old fillies competing in the featured 10th race under allowance conditions. They will travel six furlongs for a purse of $4,500.

Each Wednesday race card in August has been designated Ladies Day and Senior Citizens Day. Ladies and senior citizens will be admitted free to the general admission areas.

Racing continues Thursday with two trial races for the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby. Three-year-olds will travel one mile for a chance to compete in the Derby on August 15. The purse will be $28,980.

Friday's highlight will be the Futurity Prep Stakes at six furlongs. Two-year-olds will race under allowance terms for a purse of $7,500-added.

Saturday's main event will be the Ruidoso Speed Handicap at four furlongs. Three-year-old and older runners will compete under handicap weights assigned by racing secretary Rick Henson. The purse will be $12,000-added.

Sunday's feature will be the Rio Grande Futurity for two-year-olds who qualified from three trial races last weekend. The six-furlong dash will pay the winner $28,032 from the total purse of $56,064.

Post time for each day's 12-race program will be 1 p.m.

Thoroughbred yearling sale very successful

A total of 145 head accounted for total sales of $974,700 in the 10th annual Ruidoso Downs Summer Sale for Selected Thoroughbred Yearlings.

It was, by far, the most successful edition of the Summer Sale.

The two-day vendue wrapped up Saturday night in the All-American Sales Arena on the track grounds.

"The sale was a great success, and we're very pleased," remarked sale manager Rick Henson. "Compared to the 1981 sale, we were up 58 percent in number of consignments, the gross receipts were nearly doubled, and the average price went from $5,571 to $6,722. The latter figure is a gain of 20.7 percent."

A key reason for the success of the '82 Sale, Henson feels, is the fact yearlings passing through the auction ring are eligible for the first running of the $15,000-added Thoroughbred Sale Futurity, which debuts at Sunland Park in the fall of 1983.

The Sale yearlings are also nominated to the Riley Allison Futurity and the Sunland Fall Thoroughbred Futurity at Sunland; the Rio Grande Kindergarten and Rio Grande Futurity (for New Mexico-breds), and the Norgor Futurity and Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, all at Ruidoso Downs.

Indicative of the resounding success of the '82 sale was the fact the top price was $80,000 — a sale record and a tremendous improvement over last year's high bid of $36,000.

The winning $80,000 bid came in Friday night's opening session when Dan Urschel, the well-known sportsman from Canadian, Texas, zeroed in on an unnamed filly by Noble Son out of Tahini. The filly was consigned by Winner's Circle, Incorporated.

The filly is a half-sister to the sensational colt, Tropic Ruler, who raced at Ruidoso early in his career last summer, then went on to earn nearly $400,000 and considerable national respect.

The opening session put 74 head through the auction arena for total sales of $541,600, an average of $7,318. In the second session, 71 head were sold for $433,100, an average of $6,100.

A total of 160 head was catalogued. The top price in the second session was the $37,000 paid for the unnamed filly by Duck Dance out of Harem Lady.

Here's a quick review of the top-selling yearlings:

— $80,000 paid for an unnamed filly by Noble Son out of Tahini. The buyer: Dan Urschel of Canadian, Texas.

— $37,000 paid for an unnamed filly by Duck Dance out of Harem Lady. The buyer: L. G. and Helen Rhodes of Abilene, Texas.

— $35,000 paid for the colt, Turn To Honor (Loom out of Honor Tip). The buyer: Guy M. Bowers of Pampa, Texas.

— $31,000 paid for an unnamed colt by Draconic out of Staronade. The buyer: J. B. Kimbrough of Abilene, Texas.

— $30,000 paid for Fly By Chopsticks, a filly by Well Mannered out of Bold Chopper. The buyer: Dunnigan and Leonard of Abilene, Texas.

— $21,000 paid for an unnamed filly by Cut Shot out of Miss Benny O. The buyer: Sue May of Fort Stockton, Texas.

— $20,000 paid for Queen Elect, a filly by Platoon Leader out of Michael's Minnikin. The buyer: Mack Yates of Cherokee, Texas.

— $20,000 paid for Hula Master, a filly by Master Hand out of Hula Sparkles. The buyer: Patsy Mills of Kermit, Texas.

— $19,000 paid for an unnamed colt by Impressive out of Ki Krew. The buyer: Mack Yates of Cherokee, Texas.

— $15,000 paid for Makum Trimble, a colt by True Balcony out of Crazy Fills. The buyer: Guy M. Bowers of Pampa, Texas.

— $14,000 paid for an unnamed filly by Native out of Caprita. The buyer: Paul H. Salisbury of Midland, Texas.

— $14,000 paid for an unnamed colt by King Of The Castle out of Leo's Bludady. The buyer: J. A. Leonard of Round Rock, Texas.

— $13,000 paid for an unnamed colt by Master Hand out of Gracelala E. The buyer: Nita Brooks of Sweetwater, Texas.

— $9,500 paid for Starfish, a filly by Tinajero out of Two Star Dream. The buyer: Jerry Livingston of Wauweta, Nebraska.

— $8,500 paid for Braveler, colt by Tinajero out of Patty Lou. The buyer: G. L. Willis Jr. of Dimmitt, Texas.

AN $80,000 FILLY. An unnamed half-sister to the stakes star, Tropic Ruler, brought the sale-topping price of $80,000 in the 10th Annual Ruidoso Downs Summer Sale for Selected Thoroughbred yearlings over the weekend. The filly joined her new owners, Dan and Jolene Urschel of Canadian, Texas, in the winner's circle during Sunday's program. Also looking on is Rick Henson (with tie), Ruidoso Downs sale manager. That $80,000 price is the highest in the history of the Summer Sale. The filly is by Noble Son out of Tahini.

Draconic Deck wants to shake trouble

By MARK GORDON

Trouble seems to follow Draconic Deck.

"She hasn't run a clean race yet," noted trainer Bob E. Arnett of his Draconic filly who will face nine foes in Sunday's featured Rio Grande Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

The winner of this six-furlong chase will collect $28,032 from the total purse of $56,064. The race is limited to the 10 two-year-old New Mexico-bred runners who qualified from three trial races last Thursday.

Draconic Deck's trial race victory somewhat illustrates her racing problems.

"The other day, she was third and then I saw her drop to the ground and Vickie went clear back to eighth. I said I'm quitting training horses after this bad luck. I turned away from the grandstand and started walking away," Arnett said. "Just then, I heard 'Here comes Draconic Deck.' I couldn't believe it after all that trouble."

Despite the mishap, Draconic Deck roared through the stretch under jockey Vickie Smallwood for a widening victory by almost three lengths.

It was just the latest in a series of racing difficulties for the spunky filly.

"This filly is awfully nervous. The first time, I could hardly get her saddled. She was so wild. Then she broke badly from the gate," Arnett explained.

In that career debut, she broke seventh and finished sixth in a four-furlong maiden test at Ruidoso Downs on June 13.

In her next race, she collided with a neighbor horse, yet still showed determination.

"She was eliminated by another horse and must have been 10 lengths back at the start. But she came flying back and ran fifth. I knew from that race she could run," Arnett said. "I took her to the gate every day the next week. Then the next week, I took her to the paddock every day so she wouldn't be so nervous."

In her next race, Draconic Deck broke sharply and was third in a five and one-half furlong chase for maidens on July 10. She started to move up on the far turn and then really showed her ability by drawing clear for a three and one-half length verdict over Mister Sexton in 1:08 1-5.

Draconic Deck's trial race victory was her second consecutive triumph in four starts for Arnett. She's collected $2,868 for owners Frank Ratliff and John L. Shepard of Seminole, Texas.

Trainer Cindy Stewart an achiever

By MARK GORDON
It's taken Cindy Stewart a few months to do something some trainers can't accomplish in a lifetime. She's saddled Driven Fire to five consecutive victories.

"He's the best horse I ever had," said the 23-year-old blonde, who has been conditioning race horses for the past two years. "I think he might be an easy allowance horse. He's just improved so much with every out."

"He's naturally competitive. He's really never been in a real close race," she continued. "We claimed him for $5,000 at La Mesa Park (in Raton last August) and started him at El Paso (Sunland Park) and he's been winning ever since."

Driven Fire started his streak on December 13 at Sunland Park with a neck win over $7,500 claiming horses. Then he won by one and one fourth lengths on January 24 at Sunland Park against $8,500 stock. On March 6, he won by almost a length against $10,000 foes on April 11 he won by almost two lengths against $12,500 claiming horses. His Ruidoso Downs opener on July 23 resulted in a win by almost one length against $15,000 runners.

"He's really easy to train. I just have to keep his mind right," Cindy explained. "We have to keep him psychologically ready. He can get rowdy."

Even more impressive than his winning streak is Driven Fire's remarkable consistency. In 27 career races, he has been worse than third just once — he ran fourth two years ago as a two-year-old. Altogether, the four-year-old Grate Fire gelding has won 12 races.

While Driven Fire is the most successful horse Cindy has trained, he is by no means the only winner the 1976 graduate of El Paso's Coronado High School has ever had.

CINDY STEWART

She won about 25 races in 1981 at tracks such as Sunland Park, Centennial Race Track near Denver, Delta Downs in Vinson, Louisiana, and Cheyenne, Wyoming.

This year, she's won nine races at the Sunland Park spring meet and through the first 12 weeks, has saddled four winners at Ruidoso Downs.

Although she has been around equines for much of her life, she really had no interest in race horses until she met her husband, Donnie Stewart, about three years ago.

"Ever since I was a little girl, I've liked horses. I just didn't know anything about race horses. In fact, my parents told me not to hang around racetracks at one time. But they like Donnie now," she kidded.

Donnie previously trained horses and is now a jockey agent for Steve Harris, one of the country's most successful quarter horse riders. Donnie's brother, Ronnie, is the jockey agent for Joe Martinez and Jimmie Hunt, two of the Southwest's more prominent riders.

So with such astute relatives to help her with race horses, Cindy admits her job has been considerably easier.

"I grew up with horses so that's helped. Since everyone here knew Donnie and because of Donnie, I've really had no problems at all," she said.

Donnie, 28, has no misgivings about his wife training horses and being in his occupation.

"I think it's a benefit," he noted. "We share the same feelings about training horses and have the same interests. It also makes it easier to travel since this business requires so much travel. My dad trained horses, my brother did and I have off-and-on for about 15 years."

"Cindy's doing really well. She communicates so well with the horses. She works hard and puts so much effort into it. She deserves to win," he added.

Following the Ruidoso Downs meeting, Cindy said she will take her horses for the fall campaign at Sunland Park. Then, it's off to Los Angeles and Los Alamitos Race Track where she will concentrate on quarter horses for the winter meet.

But competing at Los Angeles shouldn't be any problem for her. When she received her first trainer's license in 1980 at Sunland Park, she reportedly passed the test with the highest score in recent memory.

"Training horses is a lot of work, but it has its rewards, especially when you get one like Driven Fire. You have to train each one differently since each horse is so different. But I've enjoyed it and hope I can continue to do it," she said.

TEENY HORSE GOES IN SUNDAY'S FUTURITY. Teeny Blade, an impressive winner in his first career spin, looks like the one to watch in the Rio Grande Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday, (August 8). The six-furlong sprint carries a purse of $56,064 and hands the winner over $28,000. Teeny Blade, purchased for only $2,800 in last year's Summer Sale For Selected Thoroughbred Yearlings at Ruidoso Downs, is owned by Carlross E. Alexander of Lovington.

Teeny Blade heads strong field for Sunday's Rio Grande Futurity

By MARK GORDON

Teeny Blade, an impressive winner in his first career outing, heads the field for Sunday's Rio Grande Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

The race matches the first three finishers from three trial races held July 29 as well as one fourth-place finisher who won a special drawing the following morning. The winner of this six-furlong dash restricted to two-year-old New Mexico-breds will collect $28,032 from the total purse of $56,064.

Teeny Blade made a big stretch move to score an easy three-length win over favored Cue Me First in Thursday's third trial heat. His time of 1:16 4-5 was the fastest of the three winners.

Teeny Blade was a bargain purchase in last year's Ninth Annual Summer Sale For Selected Thoroughbred Yearlings at the All-American Sales Arena at Ruidoso Downs. He sold for a meager $2,800.

Trained by Gerald E. Marr, Teeny Blade is owned by Carlross E. Alexander of Lovington.

He's by Plucky Blade, who sired Plucky Hussy, winner of the 1981 Riley Allison Futurity at Sunland Park.

Draconic Deck, who posted the second fastest winning time of 1:17 2-5 while winning the second trial race, is also a potent threat.

The Draconic filly experienced a rough trip, but once she found clear sailing, she drew clear to a two and one-fourth length victory over Prissy Missy.

It was the second consecutive victory for Draconic Deck, who took an easy three and one-half length win over Mister Sexton in a five and one-half furlong maiden test at Ruidoso Downs on July 10.

Ridden by Vickie Smallwood, she's trained by Bob E. Arnett for owners Frank Ratliff Jr. and John L. Sheppard of Seminole, Texas.

Dragon's Mist, winner of the first trial division in 1:18 1-5, has competed in two futurities this year.

The Draconic colt qualified for the Phoenix Futurity at Turf Paradise in Phoenix and then rallied to take third in the five-furlong finale on May 8.

Dragon's Mist then ran second in a Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity trial race over four-furlongs at Ruidoso Downs on May 28. In the $63,469 finale, he finished fourth, just three and one-fourth lengths behind winning Impressive Lad.

Dragon's Mist was an easy winner in his trial race. Held off the early leaders by Salustio Burgos, he made a big move on the outside around the far turn and then roared past the field through the stretch to win by almost three lengths.

Overall, he's posted one triumph with two seconds and one third for trainer Victor N. Karns. He's collected $12,910 for John R. Graham of Road Fork.

Cue Me First, who finished second behind Teeny Blade, must also be rated a threat off her fine record.

The First Impression filly has reached the finals of three futurities this season.

She won a trial race for the prestigious then competed in the finale of that race which was the richest ever run at the west El Paso, Texas, track.

Cue Me First won a trial heat for the Rio Grande Kindergarten and then finished second, just a neck behind Impressive Lad in the finale.

Overall, Cue Me First has tallied two victories with three seconds from eight outings for trainer J. Michael Welch. She's collected $20,186 for the 440 Ranches of Aubrey, Texas.

Here's the field: (from first heat) Dragon's Mist, Incredible T., and Smart Salute; (from second heat): Draconic Deck, Prissy Missy, Cue's Draconic and Suzanne; (from third heat): Teeny Blade, Cue Me First and Arabist.

Thoroughbred Derby trials Thursday

Pop's Spirit and Tonkawa Charger head the field for Thursday's Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby trial races at Ruidoso Downs.

The two trial races, which will be run as the eighth and 10th events, will match eight three-year-olds at one mile. The top five finishers in each division will advance to the Derby set for one mile on August 15 with an estimated purse of $20,000.

Pop's Spirit has been sensational in his recent races.

The Red Viking gelding's last race may have been his best yet. He led throughout while drawing out for an easy six-length triumph over Likanaero in 1:12 4-5, the fastest six-furlong reading this season.

He has won three of his last four races with such ease he is certain to be a main contender in this featured event for thoroughbred sophomores.

He faced $7,500 claiming horses on June 26 at Ruidoso Downs and romped home by nine and one-half lengths. His time of 1:13 was at that point one of the two fastest six-furlong readings this season at the mountain track.

Overall, this season, Pop's Spirit has four victories with two seconds in eight appearances for trainer Clifford C. Lambert. He's earned $11,814 for the Double B Ranch of Anthony, New Mexico.

Pop's Spirit will compete in the first division which will be run as the eighth race. Tonkawa Charger has been equally as impressive this season.

The Foggy Road gelding has won three consecutive races. He started by rallying in the stretch for a win over Ferro Fair by almost one length at five and one-half furlongs on June 17.

He then led throughout to post a neck triumph over Germeo in the second division of the Jockey Club Stakes on July 18. He took another neck win against allowance runners in a one mile event on July 24 in a fast 1:42 2-5.

Tonkawa Charger has posted three victories with three seconds and one third from eight trips for trainer J. Michael Welch. He's earned $14,296 for owner Melvin G. Riggs of Fort Stockton, Texas.

Here's the eighth race field in post position order with assigned jockeys and weights: 1 — Mr. Zips Bonny (Randy Leidecker, 115); 2 — Nukildintown (Kevin Scholl, 115); 3 — Sly Tex (120); 4 — Bug Bopper (Ramon Apodaca, 120); 5 — Onejotonerange (120); 6 — Pop's Spirit (Casey Lambert, 120); 7 — Jack The Knife (120); 8 — Abbaeofrable (115).

Here's the 10th race field in post position order with assigned jockeys and weights: 1 — Tonkawa Charger (Vickie Smallwood, 120); 2 — Love N Believe (Wayne Buehrer, 120); 3 — Pocketpursue (120); 4 — Calimechance (Rubin Miranda, 120); 5 — South Pass (120); 6 — Luckily Smashed (115); 7 — Sena Road (Casey Lambert, 120); 8 — Sunny's Rounder (Stuart Dolphus, 120).

Friday's highlight will be the Futurity Prep Stakes at six furlongs. Two-year-olds will race under allowance terms for a purse of $7,500-added.

Saturday's main event will be the Ruidoso Speed Handicap at four furlongs. Three-year-old and older runners will compete under handicap weights assigned by Racing Secretary Rick Henson. The purse will be $12,000-added.

Sunday's feature will be the Rio Grande Futurity for two-year-olds who qualified from three trial races last weekend. The six-furlong dash will pay the winner $28,032 from the total purse of $56,064.

Post time for each day's 12-race program will be 1 p.m.

A DRAGON IN THE FUTURITY. Last year, Dragon's Mist was purchased for $10,500 in the Summer Sale For Selected Thoroughbred Yearlings at Ruidoso Downs. The colt won by three lengths last week and easily qualified for Sunday's $56,064 Rio Grande Futurity at the mountain course. Salustio Burgos is the rider.

Futurity Prep Stakes features Hard And Bold

Hard And Bold, third in the lucrative Land Of Enchantment Futurity in his latest outing, heads the field for Friday's featured Futurity Prep Stakes at Ruidoso Downs.

The six-furlong dash drew eight two-year-olds running under allowance conditions. The purse will be $10,050.

Hard And Bold a Loom colt, will be trying to avenge his poor showing in his last Ruidoso Downs appearance. He finished fourth, beaten by more than seven lengths by Irish Jo Jo in a Norgor Thoroughbred Futurity trial race at four furlongs on June 17.

After that effort, Hard And Bold won a trial race on July 10 for the Land Of Enchantment Futurity over five and one half furlongs at the Mesa Park in Raton, N.M. In the $19,026 Land Of Enchantment Futurity on July 25, Hard And Bold raced a strong third in the northern New Mexico track's featured thoroughbred attraction.

In eight outings this season, Hard And Bold has tallied two victories with two seconds and three thirds for trainer Bob E. Arnett. He's earned $23,700 for owner

Hugh C. Preston Jr. of Burkburnett, Texas.

Vibrant Princess, third in the richest thoroughbred race ever held at Ruidoso Downs, appears to be the most formidable for Hard And Bold.

The General's Prince filly has won two of four races and has not been worse than third this season.

Her best showing was in the $155,320 Norgor Thoroughbred Futurity on June 27 at Ruidoso Downs. She held the early lead, then faded slightly to finish third.

She shows considerable early speed and definitely will be a factor in this chase for juvenile thoroughbreds.

Her last Ruidoso Downs outing produced a front-running four and one quarter-length win over Waco Johnny in the Pocket Coin Allowance Stakes over five and one quarter furlongs on July 16.

Here's the field in post position order with assigned jockeys and weights: 1—Vibrant Princess (Joe Martinez, 119); 2—Octaviano (Kevin Scholl, 117); 3—Hard And Bold (117); 4—Western Saint (Vickie Smallwood, 114); 5—Wm. The Actor (115); 6—Waco Johnny (Gary Sumpter, 117); 7—Rhyme Rullah (Pedro Benitez, 112); 8—Klaus Croft Carl (Kenny Roller, 115).

Saturday's main event will be the Ruidoso Speed Handicap at four furlongs. Three-year-old and older runners will compete under handicap weights assigned by racing secretary Rick Henson. The purse will be $12,000-added.

Sunday's feature will be the Rio Grande Futurity for two-year-olds who qualified from three trial races last weekend. The six-furlong dash will pay the winner $28,032 from the total purse of $56,064.

Post time for each day's 12-race program will be 1 p.m.

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

A NIGHT ON THE TOWN

Chisholm Trail and Monjeau offer a great night out

Anybody wanting to enjoy a well-rounded meal in attractive surroundings should eat at the Chisholm Trail Restaurant in the Holiday Inn.

I ate there Saturday night and enjoyed one of the best meals I've had in a long time.

People who dine at the Chisholm Trail for dinner can choose from a great variety of food.

I could have chosen prime rib au jus, jumbo shrimp, Texas T-bone, broiled filet mignon, shrimp mignon or a number of other tasty entrees.

However, I've always had a craving for broiled New York steak, so I chose that for the reasonable price of $13.95.

With the steak I received a pre-main course dish of potato soup with crackers. I also chose a half carafe of red house wine for $3.25.

The wine was very tasty and I enjoyed it throughout the meal. The restaurant has a wide range of wines for the diner to enjoy.

When my steak arrived, I was served baked potato and pineapple with it. The steak itself was cut to a full 12 ounces and was cooked medium rare.

There are several "pre-meal" specialties on the dinner menu which diners can enjoy. They include sauteed mushrooms, jumbo shrimp cocktail, chips and salsa, nachos, and chili con queso and chips.

Besides the dinner menu, Chisholm Trail also has a fine luncheon menu.

Some of the best luncheon meals include New York steak sandwich, chicken fried steak, ground round steak and fried jumbo shrimp. The fried jumbo shrimp, the most expensive order on the luncheon menu, is golden fried in a special batter with sauce.

Cheese omelettes, combination plates and Comidas Mexicanas are also offered on the luncheon menu.

Chisholm Trail also offers some excellent salads, including stuffed avocado, stuffed tomato, shrimp louie and cottage cheese and fruit.

Both the luncheon and dinner menus of fer iced and hot tea, coffee, hot chocolate, milk and soft drinks.

Holiday Inn was built four years ago and the restaurant is an original part of it. It has paintings and several works of art and carvings on the wall overlooking the tables.

Diners can enjoy a view of trees and plants while eating their meals, and the restaurant has an air of serenity about it. Bonnie Sanchez is the banquet director and manager. She has been with Holiday Inn since the building was built.

The restaurant is open daily from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

After my steak dinner, I walked out the door of the Chisholm Trail and entered the Monjeau Lounge just a few feet away.

While there I enjoyed the music of Danny Austin and the Feather Creek band, featuring Lorretta.

The band has six members, all of whom are from El Paso, Texas.

They will be entertaining at the lounge through Sunday and have already won a large following of fans.

Before the band started playing, several members of the audience started yelling for them to begin. When the music started, a roar went up from a large portion of the audience.

While I sat enjoying two Singapore Sling (an oldtime favorite of mine), the band played such interesting songs as "Blue Suede Shoes" (made famous by Elvis Presley) and "I Am, I Said," (sung originally by Neil Diamond).

They played a variety of other pop and country songs throughout the night before a packed and attentive audience. All the musicians are talented and can play different instruments.

When the evening was through, I had the feeling that it was a night well spent—and a night worth recommending to anybody interested in enjoying a good meal and a good time.

THE CHISHOLM TRAIL RESTAURANT has paintings and other types of art on the wall overlooking the dining tables. Diners can enjoy comfortable surroundings plus a view of the hill overlooking the Holiday Inn. The restaurant is open daily for lunch and dinner.

CHISHOLM TRAIL RESTAURANT and Monjeau Lounge are both located in the Holiday Inn near the Y at Highway 70. The Inn was built four years ago and is a popular dining and entertainment spot for tourists and Ruidoso residents.

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

"THE LAST SHOE" by Gary Myers.

"STUDYING THE CATCH" by Gary Myers.

Gary Myers' work to be published

Three of Ruidoso artist Gary Myers' recent paintings have been chosen to be published by various national publications.

"Studying the Catch" is a 22 by 28-inch watercolor of a seasoned cowboy planning his strategy for training a rank horse. The model is a horse trainer from Scottsdale, Arizona," commented Myers.

The piece will be reproduced on a four-color poster promoting the National Western Artists Show and Sale, which starts Thursday, September 16, in Lubbock, Texas. The exhibit will feature 66 artists from 13 states and Canada, Myers noted.

Another watercolor, entitled "The Last Shoe," depicts Captain farrier Charlie Rich in the process of shoeing his horse, Joker. The painting was commissioned for an upcoming cover of the "American Farriers Journal," published in Harvard, Massachusetts.

"This was real interesting for me to do," said Myers. "I went everywhere with him (Rich) for about a week learning about horseshoeing."

Another of Myers' paintings, "Paseo Monte Cowboy," (not pictured) will be featured on the cover of the September issue of "The Quarter Horse Journal," published by the American Quarter Horse Association located in Amarillo, Texas.

"All of my work is contemporary in nature. In other words, I do people that are real today and not historical. I paint the people of the West the way they are," Myers said.

Myers recently returned from Albuquerque, where he worked in the Naravisa Fine Art Lithographers studio. There, he produced an original lithograph entitled "Second to None."

The 15 by 22-inch image of a jockey wearing red, white and blue silks was produced by hand-drawn images on two stones and two metal plates. Myers stated that an edition of 50 prints will be released Wednesday, August 11.

Artists Featured at preview

Two noted artists will be featured in a collectors' preview of works from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Saturday, August 7, at Smith Ltd Gallery, 622 Sutterth.

They are James Ralph Johnson and Ken Payne. Johnson, a Southerner, uses the horse cavalry as a major subject for his oil paintings.

He and his wife, Burdette F. Hobbs, have written 44 books, many of which he illustrated. Three became Disney productions and several were reprinted in Europe.

Johnson travels a great deal. He has sketched the peoples of Guadalcanal, Vanuatu, Fiji and French Polynesia. His biography is included in "Western Painting Today" and "Who's Who in American Art." His paintings have won two Governor's Purchase Awards from the New Mexico State Fair.

Lindblad Travel will publish a study of East African tribes illustrated by Johnson's "bush" portraits. The artist and his wife have lived in Santa Fe since 1964. Ken Payne spent much of his boyhood on his grandfather's ranch in Lincoln County, in the heart of Billy the Kid country.

He was lured from ranch life to a career in flying. While a pilot, he began sketching Western scenes. Finally, he left his job with Texas International to take up painting full time.

In 1977, Payne turned to sculpture. His bronze have been well received, winning awards at the New Mexico State Fair.

Among his works are "Murphy's Law," "High and Lonesome" and "The Smell of Grizzly." He recently won the gold medal in sculpture at the Western Heritage Art Show in Littleton, Colorado.

The Franklin Mint plans to release Payne's "Bobwhite Promenade" in the near future. His works are exhibited in Santa Fe; in Scottsdale, Arizona; and in California, Colorado and Texas; besides Ruidoso.

Local artists among award winners

Two local artists placed among the top ten artists at the recent Ruidoso Art Festival. They received prestigious red ribbons.

Denise Dorn was awarded for her Southwestern batik work. A young Indian girl whose figure Dorn took from a photograph and used in one of her batiks happened to see the piece and exclaimed, "That's me."

Local photographer Bruce McElyea also impressed the judges enough to be included in the top ten artists. McElyea is a landscape photographer who concentrates on the Sacramento Mountains and surrounding environs.

Other artists receiving ribbons in the 11th annual Ruidoso Art Fair were:

—Harrell Love, wood sculptor from Santa Fe. Love received the blue ribbon of excellence for the second straight year.

—Kathy Morrow, scratchboard, from Las Cruces.

—Sallie and Walt Carlson, batik, from Salt Lake City, Utah.

—Jerry Ellis, watercolors, from Carthage, Missouri.

—Fred Knapp, puppets, from Fredericksburg, Texas.

—Freda Herrera, weavings, from La Luz.

—Trish Adams, stained glass, from High Rolls.

—Mary Dinkins, pastels and etchings, from Fort Worth, Texas.

The Silver Lining

BY
DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Birthday Celebration Of Jim Paul Whipple

I was proud to be present at the sixth birthday celebration of that great little fellow, Jim Paul Whipple, at his home in Glencoe, Sunday afternoon August first.

The son of Craig and Adnell Jones Whipple, the lad is named after his two grandfathers, Paul H. Jones and Jim Whipple.

Jim Paul is a fine little neighbor, a gentleman in every way — helping his grandfather Paul around the ranch, making a good hand even at this early age.

We wish our great little friend and neighbor many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

The Great Juneau Elevator Caper

I guess I have not taken proper notice of the passing of the years; but the kind of elevators I am used to are the kind that have a guy dressed in a snappy uniform with bright brass buttons and a little round cap, who opens and closes the doors, and says "Floors please," and gives you plenty of time to get in and out.

In the hotel at Juneau everything is modern, as Alaska is right in the front in all things; and the elevator is of this newfangled kind that works automatically when you press the buttons, and the elevator goes up and down, opening the doors and closing them automatically.

I thought that they gave you enough time to get in or out — also automatically. But no such thing; there is a rush to get in before the doors close. And I found out to my great pain, terror, and embarrassment that you had better get on in there — or else.

Alphonse and Gaston

Many years back there used to be popular comic strips which have long since gone by the board — like the old makes of cars. Some of these were: The Katzenjammer Kids, Boob McNutt, Rube Goldberg, Mike Mulligan, Moon Mullins, and Winnie Winkle, The Breadwinner. And now we reach away back to the first ones I remember: Buster Brown, Old Doc Yaak, The Foxy Grandpa, and Happy Hooligan.

About midway in time in these old cartoons was one of great popularity called "Alphonse and Gaston." These were super-polite fellows who when coming to a door or anything like that, they would bow, and extending a hand would say, "After you, my Dear Alphonse," and "After you, my Dear Gaston," each returning the compliment until some sort of crisis was reached.

The author of this cartoon was a true genius, creating full page side-splitting episodes Sunday after Sunday on just this one theme of "after you."

I am here to tell you that if you play Alphonse and Gaston with these newfangled elevators, you will live to regret it, that is, if you live. For it is a quick rush to get on board with "every man for himself, and the devil for them all," as the old cattle trail rider used to say about the country north of the Red River.

"... That Kind
O' Stampedin' "

There is an old cowboy ballad that tells about a fellow's experience on the Santa Fe Trail in the early days. Each verse ends with the refrain, "Out there on the Santa Fe Trail."

When this fellow finally got to Santa Fe, he attended a Spanish Fandango. He had always prided himself on being at home at any kind of dancing; but here he soon found himself beyond his depth.

What with the jumping almost to the ceiling, the whirling, the rushing backwards then forwards, the man in the ballad was at times in fear of being trampled, and was only too glad to find his way out of the dance hall. The verse describing this experience ends with the words:

"I ain't used to that kind o' stampedin' Out there on the Santa Fe Trail."

Well, I ain't used to that kind o' stampedin' when you make a run for these man-eating elevators.

The elevator stopped at our floor and I played Alphonse and Gaston with Joe until he finally gave up and went on in. At this moment the doors closed upon me, as I was halfway in, like the jaws of a mammoth shark.

In a mighty effort, I finally fought my way back onto the hotel floor. Just as the doors closed I caught a glimpse of Lynn and Joe starting to grin, in spite of my shrieks of agony and terror.

After several minutes I got up nerve to press the button, and here came the elevator. And the door opened, and you may be sure I hit the other side of the elevator with a great thudding and crunching sound of bone and flabby human tissue colliding with a wall of metal.

When I got out at the main floor, here was a semi-circle of curious folks staring at two Texans, complete with boots and summer straw western hats, rolling on the marble floor holding their ribs, their guffaws echoing all through the lobby, and the tears of laughter rolling down their sun-tanned jowls.

Finally, exhausted by their mirth at my expense, they arose and we went into the dining hall.

I was so shaken I could not eat all of my Alaska blueberry hot cakes, and carried them around in a plastic bag in my suitcase for a few days. I finally fed them to the sea gulls.

And so ended what Joe Redinger called "The Great Juneau Elevator Caper." Ended yes, but I will never hear the end of it, I know.

There were other "capers" on the trip which, as the lawyer fellows say, "more particularly here-in-after will appear."

The Green World

Today, August four, all the mountain world is in glowing green, the magic color, making a native Alaskan feel at home.

Although the majestic Alaska scenery is beyond all words to describe, next time or so we will go into a little of this, as we retrace the journey through Skagway, Anchorage and Valdez.

"The Kids' Last Ride"

Or was it his last? Every year about this time I have tried to bring you a true story or legend about Billy The Kid. Maybe a little later on we can bring you several.

One thing that has haunted me ever since I heard about him when I was a teenager here in the valley, is the question of whether or not he was killed by Pat Garrett in July of 1881, or whether he lived to be an old man. One after another the stories keep coming in about how the Kid mysteriously escaped at Fort Sumner and lived to a ripe old age.

Be this as it may, The Kid, in a very real sense, lives on. He is the most widely known personality among that host of pioneer Western characters. He has many friends today, just as he did in the old days. And he was a true friend to many in his day, here in Lincoln County.

Be sure and come over to Lincoln this weekend and take part in the Old Lincoln Days.

C-ES1 REPEATER SITE PLAN

THIS DIAGRAM was part of the original bid specifications package that project architect John Vanoy Moore said was available to bidders June 29. The diagram shows relationships of repeater stations on Alto Crest. The diagram clearly shows the proposed repeater station to the east of Lincoln Leasing's station (channel 5). The new repeater station should read Ruidoso police, not state police. The question Rick Volquardsen of Lincoln Leasing asked last week on the matter was: Why the need for an addendum, when the original specs show the proposed location?

CONTENDER IN SUNDAY'S RIO GRANDE FUTURITY. Cue Me First, who's reached the finals of three futurities this year, will be going after the first-place prize of $28,032 in Sunday's Rio Grande Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. The filly has already earned $20,186 for the 440 Ranches of Aubrey, Texas.

JAMES CANYON RANCH
An alpine ranch in one of New Mexico's most beautiful mountain areas. A very unusual situation. Ranch surrounds Cloudcroft running to Alamogordo and north to the Mesquero Reservation. 80 deeded acres, 34,000 USFS acres, 146 animal units year long. Deeded land has water rights and is surrounded by subdivisions. Enough grass, in our judgment, for twice the permit. Live in the city and ranch in paradise. Excellent access. $650,000.00.

TOWNHOMES WITH THE "TOUCH OF ELEGANCE"

Last Townhome remaining in the Alto Golf Course Beautiful move-in ready home, 3 full baths, all cedar exterior and spectacular view of the golf course. Call for completion

We recently sold our "Oberhaus Townhome" - a 2 bedroom condominium in the White Mountain area - another Highwood building lot for under $12,000 - one of Innsbrook's most charming one bedroom condominiums, an Alto Village Special - and a beautifully furnished 3 bedroom, 3 bath townhome here at Innsbrook (which was only on the market about a week!) However, we still have many fine properties to show you and would be delighted to sell yours for you!

- ★ Over 3,600 square feet - three levels - three bedrooms with spacious entertainment areas - a superb location within Innsbrook Village - completely and elegantly furnished - and a special "zoo" area! Would you believe under $65 per square foot?
- ★ Breathtaking view of Sierra Blanca - decks all around the house - 3 bedrooms, 2 baths and lot of mountain charm describe this all cedar chalet. If you haven't seen it, you should!
- ★ New home in Alto Village - 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, spacious living area with master fireplace, and all on one level for total accessibility and year around living. Just $125,000
- ★ $49,500 is definitely a realistic price for this three bedroom, 2 bath doublewide. It's permanently situated and even has an added den with fireplace, "bar", and patio! Around 1,800 square feet, on three lots, and there is an existing mortgage! Come see us.
- ★ Condominiums Galore? No, but condominiums in particular:
  1. New Alto Village - Deer Park - condominiums from $98,500
  2. A "darling" 2 bedroom, 2 bath condo at Innsbrook - completely furnished - just $62,500 with possible OWNER FINANCING
  3. Alto Alps 4 bedroom, 3 bath furnished condo - overlooking swimming pool - over 2,000 square feet - under $165,000
  4. Alto Village 3 bedroom, 2 1/2 bath furnished condo - on the golf course - just $139,500
- ★ Building lots from $3,950 - Ruidoso village lots - and Alto Village lots

Pinyon and junipers are local trees with many uses

This is the third in a series of picture pages intended to help both Ruidoso visitors and local residents identify some of the many varieties of trees in the area.

Pinyon (also spelled piñon) and juniper trees are coniferous. Conifers are trees and shrubs which are characterized by their cone-bearing abilities. Conifers are also known by the names of pine and evergreen.

Of the different varieties of pinyon, only one type lives in the immediate environs of Ruidoso, stated range conservation and wildlife officer Larry Anklaam of the Smokey Bear Ranger District of the United States Forest Service. The local variety is simply called the pinyon and is sometimes referred to as the nut pine, pinyon pine or Colorado pinyon pine.

Growing at elevations of 5,000 to 7,000 feet between forests and deserts, pinyons in this area tend to be most abundant in lower elevations, like around Ruidoso Downs. Also, they may be found on south-facing slopes in canyons and on hillsides, said Anklaam.

However, he pointed out that pinyon do grade into ponderosa pine stands at certain points around Ruidoso, and that in lower elevations, the pinyon may grow on north facing slopes.

Timber management specialist Mike Funston of the Forest Service commented that pinyons are very slow growing trees. Along with the slow growth of the pinyon, Funston added, is the slow growth of the famed pinyon nut.

The nuts, he explained, are actually the pinyon cone's seeds. Pinyon cones take two years to develop. Indians and others still gather the nuts as a food source. Nuts can be ground into a butter or roasted, shelled and eaten as a delicacy, said Funston.

"Southwestern Trees: A Guide to the Native Species of New Mexico and Arizona"—a Forest Service publication—states that pinyons are one of the most drought-resistant trees, requiring only 12 to 18 inches of rainfall a year.

Because of the scarcity of moisture, pinyon trees do not form dense forests, but grow scattered in open woodlands, reports Southwestern Trees.

One of the most abundant and widely distributed trees in the Southwest, the pinyon is the state tree of New Mexico.

Although not very durable unless treated, pinyon wood is used for mine timbers and fence posts. And as Anklaam noted, the soft-wood pinyon tree is commonly used in these parts for fuelwood.

Junipers are also widely used as firewood due to their soft wood, said Anklaam. Like the pinyon tree, the one-seed juniper is usually found in lower elevations. The one-seed juniper is common and widespread on plains, plateaus and foothills between elevations of 3,000 and 7,000 feet, states Southwestern Trees.

Funston commented that the scraggy, multi-stemmed, shaggy-barked 10 to 25-foot tall one-seed juniper has the widest range of any juniper and is the most common juniper in New Mexico. The wood is used for fence posts and fuelwood, like other varieties of juniper which grow in the Ruidoso area.

The Rocky Mountain juniper is associated with the ponderosa pine, Funston said. It is known to grow at elevations of 5,000 to 9,000 feet. Southwestern Trees describes the Rocky Mountain juniper as an evergreen growing 20 to 50 feet tall, with a straight trunk up to one-and-a-half feet in diameter. It is this unusually straight trunk that makes the Rocky Mountain juniper attractive as fence posts, Anklaam remarked.

Also called the western juniper and Rocky Mountain redcedar, the Rocky Mountain juniper grows faster than other junipers in the Southwest. It has a deep red wood, and is very aromatic, like a cedar chest, stated Funston. As a matter of fact, the Rocky Mountain juniper is suitable for cedar chests, Southwestern Trees claims.

The alligator juniper is the largest juniper in New Mexico and is usually scattered rather than in pure stands, states Southwestern Trees. These trees develop very large trunks and grow to be very old.

Alligator juniper are often found on hillsides and mountains and in the lower part of ponderosa pine forests at 4,500 to 8,000 foot elevations, according to Southwestern Trees.

Alligator junipers are rightfully named and most easy to identify because of their bark. Southwestern Trees describes its bark as "thick and rough, deeply furrowed into checkered or square plates, gray or blackish, suggesting the back of an alligator."

Pinyon.

THE PINYON is a small, bushy, needle-leaf evergreen tree that grows from 15 to 35 feet tall. It has a short trunk, one to two feet or more in diameter, with a compact, rounded, spreading crown, states Southwestern Trees. The cones of the pinyon take two years to develop, said Mike Funston of the Forest Service, and are egg-shaped, one-and-a-half to two inches long, with thick blunt scales and large brown seeds. These seeds are one-half inch long, oily and edible. The indigenous people of the Southwest have harvested and eaten these pinyon nuts for many generations, added Funston.

THE BARK of an alligator juniper is much rougher than its bite. It's also very distinguishable. The gray or blackish square plates of the deeply furrowed bark give the impression of an alligator's hide.

OLD ALLIGATOR JUNIPERS, such as this one along Highway 37, reach a maximum height of 65 feet and a trunk diameter of seven feet. These trees attain great age and a spooky, mesquite appearance. The crown is rounded and spreading, but becomes irregular and partly dead with age. The wood of alligator juniper, like the other junipers in the Ruidoso area, is soft, lightweight and red in color. The wood is useful as fuelwood and fence posts.

Take a closer look

In the hustle and bustle of everyday life, it is easy to overlook the beauty and wonder of our world.

Taking time to "Stop and Smell the Roses," as the song goes, is something we should all remind ourselves to do.

Nature, if one takes the time to examine it, is amazing to behold.

The buzzing, whirring, hopping, darting dwellers of the insect world don't care about business deals or politics. They're busy surviving.

And watching them go about it is a fascinating pastime.

So if the world you live in is getting you down, take a walk early on a summer morning. Experiencing the other world around you—the dew on the grass and the grace of the butterfly—is bound to make you feel better.

MINIATURES were a popular item at this year's "Christmas in July Bazaar" at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount. Cathy Annala (left) and Harriet Nelson are tending the house.

BAKED GOODS sold like hotcakes at the Christmas in July Bazaar. Billie Shoemaker sets out a cake.

CONTENTS of this cupboard full of goodies were given away in a drawing at the bazaar. Tootie Littlefield was in charge of ticket sales.

BRASS RUBBINGS were demonstrated at the bazaar (seated right) to two visitors. Christmas in July has been happening at the church for about 20 years.

Christmas in July was happy occasion

The "Christmas in July Bazaar," an Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount tradition dating back some 20 years, was a great success again this year. The bazaar took place Saturday, July 31.

"It was very much a success," said Cathy Annala, one of the event's organizers. In fact, Annala was busy making "Fours," when contacted by The News Wednesday.

Seems the demand was so great for the chocolate caramel confections that orders were taken for later delivery. The toffee (100 slabs) sold out also, Annala reported. Winners of the prizes drawn for at the bazaar were: Kathy Rau of Phoenix, Arizona (R. C. Gorman lithograph); Rosie Jones of Ruidoso Downs (goodies cupboard contents); Lucy Rickman of Ruidoso (miniature Christmas tree); and Mrs. C. K. Perera, an out of town visitor (bird house).

Annala noted that everything from miniatures to homemade noodles sold well at the bazaar. The event continues to grow from year to year, she added, "especially this candy business—this is getting to be a big business."

She then went back to making "Fours" for sweet-toothed buyers.

Let Energy Management Be Your Guide To Summer Savings

Wise summer energy management can guide you through a comfortable, energy-saving summer. Start by having your air-conditioning system professionally inspected and serviced to replace broken or dirty parts that can cost you money by wasting energy. Use less energy and save money by setting your thermostat at a comfortable 78°. For additional comfort, install ceiling fans that circulate large amounts of air economically. Keep cool air indoors by caulking, weatherstripping, and insulating. For more information call us today for a copy of our free energy management booklet.

Wilderness Wisdom with Wayne Calloway

Tip From Reader: Late last summer I bought a 35mm camera. It was my first of this kind and I am very impressed by its versatility and the pictures that result. I did, however, experience a problem which other readers may benefit from knowing of.

I had loaded the camera with film and taken three or four shots soon after. I guess the film remained in the camera for six months or more before I had completely exposed it. During this time it had been hauled around in the car quite a bit, with only an occasional picture taken. When I finally unloaded the film and had it developed I was very disappointed by the results. Many of the slides were spotted by orange patches or streaks of light and none of the shots were of good color quality. At first I thought the camera was at fault, but a photo supply dealer said the problem was most likely due to improper care and handling of the film. Assuming the film was not outdated, and mine was not, and if it was properly processed, then the manner in which it was used must be at fault. The dealer offered some insight into film care that may be helpful.

According to him the two worst enemies of unexposed film are heat and high humidity. Any steps taken to reduce exposure to either of these will result in better pictures. Some of the "don'ts" are worth remembering. Don't leave film in camera for long periods of time. Don't leave the loaded camera in high temperature environments, such as cars, for very long. Don't expose the camera to bright sunlight more than necessary. On the other hand, there are some things you should do. Use only fresh film that is not close to its expiration date. Always load the film into the camera in subdued light; never in bright light. Remove the film for processing immediately after completing exposure.

THE GALLERY PAGE...original arts in the High Country

Take A Tour of Ruidoso's Fine Art Galleries

A browse through 20/20 Gallery is both interesting and exciting to the eye as the viewer is exposed to the imaginative, contemporary expressions of local artists. From the stoneware of Tim Wierwille, done in earthy tones and textures, to the fantastic dream world of Karen Gray, one realizes this is not just another gallery. Jo Cunningham demonstrates her drawing expertise in graphite and colored pencils while the batik of Denise Dorn arouse the lookers curiosity to this maglo media. Nancy Fleharty expresses herself through the art of watercolor and colored pencils, showing her fascination for the world around her. David Hall Travis has available drypoints and etchings, the techniques of which go back to the days of Rembrandt. Watercolors depicting the natural beauty of this area are exhibited as seen through the eyes of Kathy Travis. Michael Torrez's brightly colored drawings and paintings beckon to those who enjoy the interplay of color and space. Silkscreens and modern design drawings are becoming J.D. Yoakum's specialty and will also delight lovers of art.

Expose
Yourself
To Art

Saturday, August 7, from 10 to 5, 20/20 Gallery will host an open house featuring new works of art, while also giving the public an opportunity to meet the artists and see by demonstration some of the tricks of their trades. Certainly, this would be an enjoyable, educational and exciting day for those who wish to expose themselves to art.
