

Ordinance changes due

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso council Friday authorized village attorney Lee Huckstep to draw up proposals to make the water and sewer ordinance more equitable.

The much-maligned ordinance, which went into effect October 1 and was amended last week, is causing the water department embarrassment because customers have questioned provisions that give mobile home parks a lower rate on meter charges than that of other residential developments, said Judy Franzer of the water billing department.

Mobile home parks are now charged under the commercial rate structure, which provides a flat monthly water charge according to the meter size serving the park, plus a commodity charge when use exceeds 4,000 gallons a month.

The commercial classification allows several housing units to be placed on a single meter with no additional monthly charge per unit.

As an example of the problem, Huckstep pointed out that 120 trailers in Cherokee Mobile Village are being served by a single meter, with a single monthly bill charged to the entire park.

Mobile homes on private lots, however, as well as condominiums, apartment houses and other multi-family housing developments, are charged the residential rates.

Several units also can be served by a single meter under the residential rate structure. But unlike commercial fees, each residential unit is billed the flat monthly charge for the meter, plus a commodity charge when the amount of water used per month exceeds an average of 4,000 gallons for each unit serviced by the meter.

Huckstep indicated it is not fair to other residential customers to have trailer parks occupied by permanent residents charged the commercial rates.

Councilman Benny Coulston noted some parks rent trailers out on a temporary basis, and he asked how the law could be written to exclude the temporary rentals from residential billing.

Huckstep suggested the test between commercial housing and residential housing could be the collection of lodger's tax. He noted the tax is collected on units that are rented out for periods under 30 days, and he said the same time limit could determine whether housing complexes are billed the commercial or residential water charges.

It was also pointed out at the workshop that the current exception from residential billing for hotels, motels and tourist cabin operations has caused a problem.

Councilman Don Dale complained that some owners of apartment buildings have identified their businesses as rental cabin operations to avoid the per unit charge under the residential classification.

Huckstep said the lodger's tax requirement could also apply to hotels, motels and cabins. He said if establishments begin long-term rentals and no longer collect the tax, then they could be designated as residential.

But Dale said he wants cabins—regardless if they are rented out for long periods—to remain classified as commercial. He indicated cabin owners would be loudly opposed to paying the residential rates.

Huckstep said the purpose for requesting the changes is to put all residential units on residential billing in order to make the ordinance more equitable.

The council also authorized Huckstep to examine the water tap fees and utility expansion charges to multi-family housing developments.

Water Board member Bill Karn said the charges "are not fair to the people of Ruidoso" because, he said, owners of single family homes are carrying the burden of utility expansion.

Karn pointed out that the tap fee for a three-quarter-inch meter—which can serve up to two units—is $750, while the fee for a 2-inch meter—which can serve up to eight units—is only $1,500.

Karn said part of the tap fees are earmarked for the utility reserve fund. The utility expansion charge—which is levied on all new buildings—goes into the same fund.

The utility expansion charge is $200 for a single-family home, $500 for a multi-family lot and $300 for a commercial lot.

Coulston, charging that Karn was criticizing condominiums, said he was "tired of hearing us badmouth condos."

He said multi-family housing is a boom to the Ruidoso tax base, because many owners of condominiums do not live here permanently and create little demand on village services, but are taxed the same as permanent residents.

Coulston noted that he has the same tendency to criticize condos, but he said it is time to realize their benefit to the village.

Huckstep said the tap fee differences may be offset by the fact condo owners who do not live in Ruidoso permanently are still charged a minimum of $12.50 per month for water.

But Karn reiterated the multi-family charges are not equitable, claiming that connecting eight units to a single 2-inch meter requires more cost in expanding utility lines, but that each unit is not charged accordingly.

Coulston acknowledged Karn's argument, and suggested Huckstep look into drafting a meter tap fee that creates a higher charge for meters that are connected to several units.

County acts on roads, personnel

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Two county ordinances were adopted following public hearings and the bid on a data processing system for the courthouse was awarded during Friday's special county commissioners meeting.

Road policy Ordinance 82-2, which establishes regulations for private parties, companies and corporations wishing to perform work on any county road, was adopted without discussion. The regulations were adopted in the form of a resolution during the November 23 commissioners meeting, but it was decided the road policy should be adopted as an ordinance so it can be enforced.

The ordinance requires a permit from county road superintendent Guy Henley before any private party, company or corporation may begin work involving a county road. Title to all improvements made on the road must be transferred to the county upon completion of the work, and any cuts in or damage to the road must be repaired according to the road superintendent's specifications.

The ordinance also states that the road superintendent shall inspect work being performed on a county road as it is ongoing to ensure that such work is satisfactory.

The ordinance was established because of reports from Henley that he often has to repair roads after utility companies cut them up to install lines. Henley also had reported that a number of private property owners have installed culverts improperly, resulting in flooding of others' property.

Also adopted Friday was personnel policy Ordinance 82-1, an update of the personnel policy written during the early 1970s. County manager Suzanne Cox said there was a need to update the ordinance "to present-day needs." A similar ordinance in Chaves County was used as a model, Cox noted.

In drafting the ordinance, Cox said, she discussed the policy with and received input from elected county officials, department heads and employees, and also with county commissioners-elect.

Commissioners made several changes in the ordinance before approving it for adoption Friday. Commissioner-elect Bill Elliott also offered suggestions for changes in the policy.

A paragraph requiring most county employees to have a high school diploma or GED equivalent was deleted after commissioners decided that a high school education does not necessarily ensure that an applicant will make a better employee.

Also discussed, but left in the policy, was the establishment of performance evaluations to be conducted each year by department heads two weeks prior to an employee's anniversary date. Cox explained that these evaluations are to be used as a tool for department heads to decide upon recommendations for promotions, pay raises or firing of employees.

The new ordinance also sets up specific procedures to be followed in firing an employee, except in cases of illegal activity or direct insubordination, which require immediate termination. Establishment of a grievance board is also addressed in the policy and was changed upon the suggestion of Elliott to be comprised of one elected official, one employee and three people not employed by the county. As the ordinance was originally written, the grievance board was comprised of elected officials only.

Dinners offer Renaissance fare

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

The Madrigal Dinners December 7 and 8 at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Convention Center will provide Renaissance entertainment for those who attend, and generate funds for special projects at the Ruidoso Public Library.

The dinners begin at 7 p.m. both nights. Come Tuesday night, the Wendell Chino Room in the convention center will become a Renaissance court where food, drink and entertainment will add to the celebration of Christmas and the winter season. Colorful banners and candlelight will provide a setting for song, dance and drama.

A madrigal group of nine singers will sing madrigals, standard Christmas carols and a few barroom catches. "Sing We Enchanted" and "Silver Swan" will be two of the madrigals sung. Madrigals are five-part songs from the 16th and 17th centuries, sung a cappella.

The group will also sing more familiar songs like "Good King Wenceslas" and "Deck the Hall with Boughs of Holly." "He Who Will an Alehouse Keep" will be one of the barroom catches, sung in rounds, that the group will perform.

"We have such excellent musicians this year," said Churchill Cooke, the music teacher at Capitlan schools who has organized the madrigal group. Among the singers will be Danny Flores, Ric and Cindy Higginbotham, and Carlene and Tim Wadley.

European folk dances will be performed by Juanita Healey, Julie Urech and Marie Covington. The women, all with more than 10 years dancing experience, will perform the line dances in authentic costumes.

The three dances, "Daronee," "Sweet Girl" and "Floricia Oleanesca," will provide a varied and colorful dancing exhibition to the accompaniment of such exotic instruments as a gajda, a Bulgarian bagpipe.

The mummerys' troupe will ring in the Christmas season with their lighthearted spoof of life in Ruidoso. No one is sacred, including the audience, to the group of begging actors.

Toby O'Neil, Carla and Denny Grover, Cindy Townsend, Dan Barrow, Jane Spall, Al Radke, Carl Mori and Billy Allstetter will act and sing for the audience.

Presiding over the evening as lord and lady of the manor will be Carmon and Leona Maye Phillips. At their beck and call will be pages Chris Spall and Dusty Skellett.

Juggling, jokes and acrobatics will be provided by the court jesters Stephen Jentzen and Wendy Elloff.

Tuesday night wine and wassail will be served. Wednesday night's fare is a true feast of heroic proportions, including flaming roast baron of beef, roast galantine of whole suckling pig, steak and kidney pie, bubble and squeak, English earth breads, leeks in poor man's sauce, plum pudding and more.

Tickets for Tuesday evening's affair will cost $10. Wednesday's tickets are $30. Tickets are available at the library.

Last year the Madrigal Dinners raised over $1,300 for Friends of the Library. The Friends allow librarian Mary Lou Gooch to spend the money at her discretion on materials needed at the library. All other funds the library receives are designated for specific uses.

Gooch calls the money from the Madrigal Dinners "frothing on the cake." Last year she was able to purchase cassettes for the audio library, an overhead projector and a microfilm reader, and pay for art exhibits that were on display at different times during the year.

Wednesday Coffee Cart

The Wednesday Coffee Cart, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce so the public can meet Chamber officers and directors, will be from 9-10:30 a.m. at:

THE ASPEN TREE

Task groups to work on flood and evacuation plan

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

The first step toward developing a Flood Warning and Evacuation Plan for Lincoln County was taken Thursday in a workshop among state, federal and county representatives who will help formulate the plan.

The workshop was the first of four sessions during which the plan will be designed.

The main purpose of Thursday's meeting was to review the prototype flood warning plan for the state—which was written in 1981 for the Eagle Nest Dam in Colfax County—and assign task groups to work on specific areas of the plan.

The intent of the plan is to provide warning and evacuation contingencies for the threat to the flood plain below Lake Mescalero—located up Carrizo Canyon at the Inn of the Mountain Gods resort.

But designers of the plan also will be able to include emergency procedures for other water retention facilities in the county, said Tom Closson, an official with the state Civil Emergency Preparedness Division (CEPD).

The other facilities to be part of the plan will be the proposed Grindstone Canyon reservoir, Bonito Lake, and Alto Lake.

The plan for Lake Mescalero is required by federal regulations on dam safety programs, Closson said after the meeting. He said the impetus for the plan came from Ernest Snyder, director of the dam safety program with the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Albuquerque.

The state office of civil preparedness is directing the planning process under a matching grant from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). The grant, provided through the Disaster Preparedness Improvement Program, is available from the federal agency to any state that participates in the program, Closson said.

Closson said FEMA will match up to $25,000 per year with the state to develop county emergency plans.

Closson said the state does not require counties to participate in civil preparedness, but CEPD does encourage participation. He said the state will help develop plans only after political subdivisions appoint emergency coordinators.

Ollie Cuddy, Ruidoso fire prevention officer, is the village emergency preparedness coordinator.

The warning and evacuation plan will be the second in the state designed in cooperation with CEPD.

Asked if the Lincoln County Disaster Plan, developed in the 1960s, could be implemented as the flood plan, Closson said the former plan "goes hand in hand" with the flood emergency concept, but is outdated.

Closson also was asked if other disaster threats in the county, specifically from major forest fires, could be included in the Lake Mescalero plan. He said fires and other threats will not be considered in formulating the plan, but that communities participating in the project could later expand the plan procedures to include any threat.

At the start of the workshop, Closson referred to the plan as a "direction and control vehicle."

He said drafters of the document must decide who will be in control during an emergency. That person, he added, will have to locate emergency resources, personnel and equipment.

Evacuation routes will have to be designated, with strategic locations pinpointed where roadblocks will be positioned.

Other elements of the planning process are evaluating the terrain and the inundation area below dams; devising a public information process; securing evacuated areas and selecting shelter sites; and establishing a monitoring and warning system for the facilities.

Closson advised local representatives to evaluate the prototype plan for guidance, but he stressed it is crucial that the Lincoln County format be made with local resources in mind.

"The resources available exist locally," he said. "There is no magical group that is going to rise out of the ground and help Ruidoso out of a flood."

Closson warned against "turf protection" in drawing up the plan, which he noted is sometimes a problem with government agencies. In emergencies, he said, all segments of the community must cooperate.

Steve Makowski, fire management officer with the Smokey Bear District of Lincoln National Forest, said cooperation in the county is no problem. Makowski (who helped draft a fire evacuation plan for the county) and State Police representatives will work on warning procedures for the Lake Mescalero plan.

The threat analysis portion of the plan will be drafted by Bureau of Indian Affairs representatives from the Mescalero Agency; and the communications work group will be headed by Ruidoso police lieutenant Jim Alston. Local news media representatives will work on the public information setup.

The subgroups are to submit rough drafts of the preliminary work on the Lincoln County plan at the next workshop, scheduled for December 16 at the village main fire station.

Closson suggested that Lincoln County and communities in the county pass laws giving local governments liability protection and assuring insurance coverage for emergencies.

He also noted that federal assistance for disaster relief will be limited to disasters that cause extensive damage to public properties. The state would provide up to $500,000 for disaster relief, he added.

Closson said the most important part of the plan will be a joint statement by the participating bodies on the conduct of operations during a flood.

The procedure, according to the Colfax County plan, establishes a pre-emergency period during which mutual agreements are developed, inspection schedules are set, and reviews of the plan and training exercises are conducted to ensure the plan's effectiveness.

The prototype plan also calls for organizing an operations staff that will coordinate emergency procedures from an emergency operations center.

The staff would be headed by an executive group consisting of governing body representatives, a civil preparedness coordinator, a public information officer, and an attorney to give legal opinions.

The command center would also be manned by an operations group, and by sections for law and order, fire and rescue, search and rescue, public works, health and medical, communications and other support groups.

During an actual warning period, the emergency operations staff would rely on information from different sources concerning a developing threat. Closson said the National Weather Service transmits weather information continuously throughout the country, and the reports can be heard on a special weather radio.

Noting that the main flood threat in the county is from weather-related flash floods rather than dam failures, Closson advised that the weather service warning system would be one of the best sources for early warnings.

He also said emergency personnel should pool mobile radio units in the event of a disaster to ensure a communications network in case commercial telephones are cut off.

Locating the sources of the mobile units, and the availability of local resources and emergency equipment, are top items in the pre-planning stage.

Ron Annala named Olympic Ski Team physician

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Dr. Ron Annala of Ruidoso has been chosen the physician for the United States Olympic Ski Team for three weeks of Europa Cup competition in Europe.

Annala will leave for Europe with the team soon after the first of the year and be with them for slalom, races in Berchtesgaden, Germany, and Valais, France, and downhill races in Santa Katarina, Italy.

Top racers from many nations compete in the races throughout the winter. The Europa Cup is a small step below the World Cup Races and considered a sort of building block tour, said Ray Heid, a former racer. The competition is still extremely intense and the top racers compete in the Europa Cup when there is not a World Cup Race conflicting, he noted.

Annala will be in Europe three weeks to a month. He said doctors Roger Beechie and Bill Harrison will take over his obstetric duties and "all the rest of the guys will pitch in" to handle his other patients during his absence.

In Europe, he will travel with the team and "just take care of the athletes," Annala said. He anticipates that care of the athletes will mean anything from upper respiratory ailments to strains and sprains incurred while skiing.

The skiers will present unique problems, he believes, because of the high-strung emotional nature caused by intense competition.

"Their emotion swings are much more extreme, higher and lower," he said. "They're like thoroughbred horses."

If an athlete is seriously injured, however, Annala will not be able to treat the skier. He is not licensed in Europe and cannot practice medicine in a hospital. He said that he would act as a sort of guardian and make sure the athletes receive proper treatment if they are injured seriously.

Annala was informed of his selection as physician for the Olympic team Wednesday by Dr. Morton Leonard, an orthopedist in El Paso, Texas. Leonard is a longtime skiing friend of Annala's and was the physician for the Olympic team during part of last year's Europa Cup.

The local physician is excited about the job.

"I still haven't come down," Annala said Thursday.

Although this is Annala's first experience as a ski team physician, he hopes to continue to be involved in sports in the future.

"Sports medicine is a big field that is coming on more and more and I want to be a part of it," Annala said. In addition to the big future the field holds, he believes that working with the athletes is good for him.

"It keeps me young," said the 49-year-old doctor.

Last year, when Annala expressed an interest in being the physician for the Olympic team, Leonard wrote a letter of recommendation to the selection committee.

Annala applied for the highly sought after position in June and communicated with Jim Moralt, father of local racer Ted Moralt. Jim Moralt is the chief procurer of services and supplies for the Olympic team.

Annala feels that he is very qualified for the team doctor position.

"I would probably be the most logical doctor (for the position)," said Annala. He believes that his experience in general medicine and skiing injuries, and an avid interest in skiing and physical fitness in general qualify him to be the physician for the ski team.

Annala has practiced family medicine and surgery in Ruidoso for more than 20 years. In addition to treating the common cold and delivering babies, he has treated innumerable ski injuries over the years.

He enjoys a wide variety of sports himself, among which skiing is almost a passion. He is a serious jogger, and lifts weights for muscle tone and stretching.

He enjoys freestyle sky diving, which he did almost every Sunday this fall in Albuquerque. Hacky sack (juggling a small beanbag in the air with the feet) is a sport he does to improve his reflexes.

Frisbee is another sport he enjoys with his three children: Gretchen, 24, Eric, 22, and Scott, 20.

Annala will not be paid for his services while in Europe and has to purchase his own airline ticket to Europe. His expenses will be taken care of once he is with the team, he said. His wife Catherine will be traveling with him.

The doctor is very excited about the trip. He looks forward to skiing at European resorts in the Alps and getting an opportunity to ski with some of the best skiers in the world.

Annala said he is already trying to get maps of some of the European ski resorts so he can pore over them in anticipation of skiing the areas.

He also believes skiing with some of the best skiers in the world may improve his own skiing tremendously.

"When you follow the best skiers, good things will happen," he said.

Annala hopes the position as doctor for the Olympic Ski Team during the Europa Cup will lead to more appointments—possibly even the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia.

"That's what I'm ultimately shooting for," he said.

Whether or not this trip leads to others, he plans to make this one enjoyable.

"This is going to be a class trip," he said with a straight face. Then he broke into a smile and added, "Yaaaaa!"

Andy Trujillo points to medical career

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Andy Trujillo wants to grow up to be a doctor. Andy is different than most kids who want to be doctors, however. Andy, at age 14, has already taken courses and passed all the tests required for an Emergency Medical Technician (EMT).

"I just really like to help people," said Andy. A slender boy, quick to laugh, he wears a hat with Lincoln County EMT printed on it and an orange T-shirt that reads "Emergency Medical Tike."

This past summer, Andy, along with 20 others, took an intensive 81-hour course that taught him the skills he needs to man an ambulance and be a first responder at a medical emergency. If necessary, he can stop bleeding, splint broken bones, or even give cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Andy passed all the tests in the course, but because of state insurance regulations, he will not be certified as an EMT until he is 18.

He helps Nancy Guck, a certified physician's assistant (and an EMT herself), at the Capitan Clinic and at athletic contests at Capitan High School. But he is not allowed to ride in an ambulance with other EMTs on emergency calls.

In spite of the state's reluctance to give him the full responsibility for saving people's lives, people with whom he has worked and whom he has treated are very confident in his abilities and composure.

"I am perfectly comfortable with Andy," said Guck. Although he plays saxophone in the school band, whenever there is an injury on the field, Andy puts down his musical instrument and rushes to help Guck and other EMTs with the injured athlete.

In fact, his music teacher, Churchill Cooke, came to Andy one day when he cut himself with a chainsaw. Andy bandaged the finger and diagnosed a need for stitches which Cooke later received at the Capitan Clinic. When asked if he would trust 14-year-old Andy to attend to more serious wounds, Cooke said "Believe me, I would."

Andy said he got interested in medicine when his father, Salomon Trujillo, was suffering from chest pains and Andy was worried about his health.

Andy began asking Guck medical questions when she was attending athletic contests as an EMT. Guck said she was pleased by his interest but that many kids ask questions and then drift off. Andy, however, remained interested.

When the Capitan Clinic opened at the first of the year, Andy began hanging around there, asking more questions and helping Guck where he could.

He took a course in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) this summer, then started the EMT course two weeks after that.

At first he was allowed to attend the class just as an observer. But he showed so much interest that the teacher allowed him to participate in training exercises.

Mary Woodard, a fellow student, said that Andy was accepted just like any of the older students. In fact, many of them asked Andy's advice when they were studying CPR because he was so good at it.

He did receive some special treatment because he was the smallest in the class, said Woodard. The rest of the students often ganged up on Andy and made him be the dummy for their bandaging and treatment exercises because he was too little to object.

Andy said the terminology in the course gave him some trouble but he still passed all the tests. Guck wrote a letter to the Lincoln County commissioners trying to convince them to overlook the age requirements and allow Andy to be certified, but it could not be done.

Although he cannot ride in the ambulance this year, he plans to try again for certification next year when he is a ripe old 15.

He did ride in an ambulance once this summer. During the New Mexico Junior Rodeo there were 14 injuries in two days. Andy was out there helping with the rest of the EMTs, and when a friend, Patrick Means, was injured, Means asked that Andy be allowed to ride with him.

Andy also participates in activities more common for kids his age. Besides playing saxophone in the band, he plays on the junior varsity basketball team.

He also reads a lot, he said. However, it is not Hardy Boys and Tom Swift, but medical journals and EMT manuals. His most recent reading, he said, has been on different types of athletic injuries.

During the fall Andy spent most of his afternoons after school at the clinic. His basketball practices have recently cut into the time he spends there, but he still goes to the clinic evenings if Guck is working late, and often goes in on weekends. He acts as a medical aide to Guck and helps sometimes with the lab work.

"A lot of the time he just asks me questions. He really keeps me on my toes," said Guck.

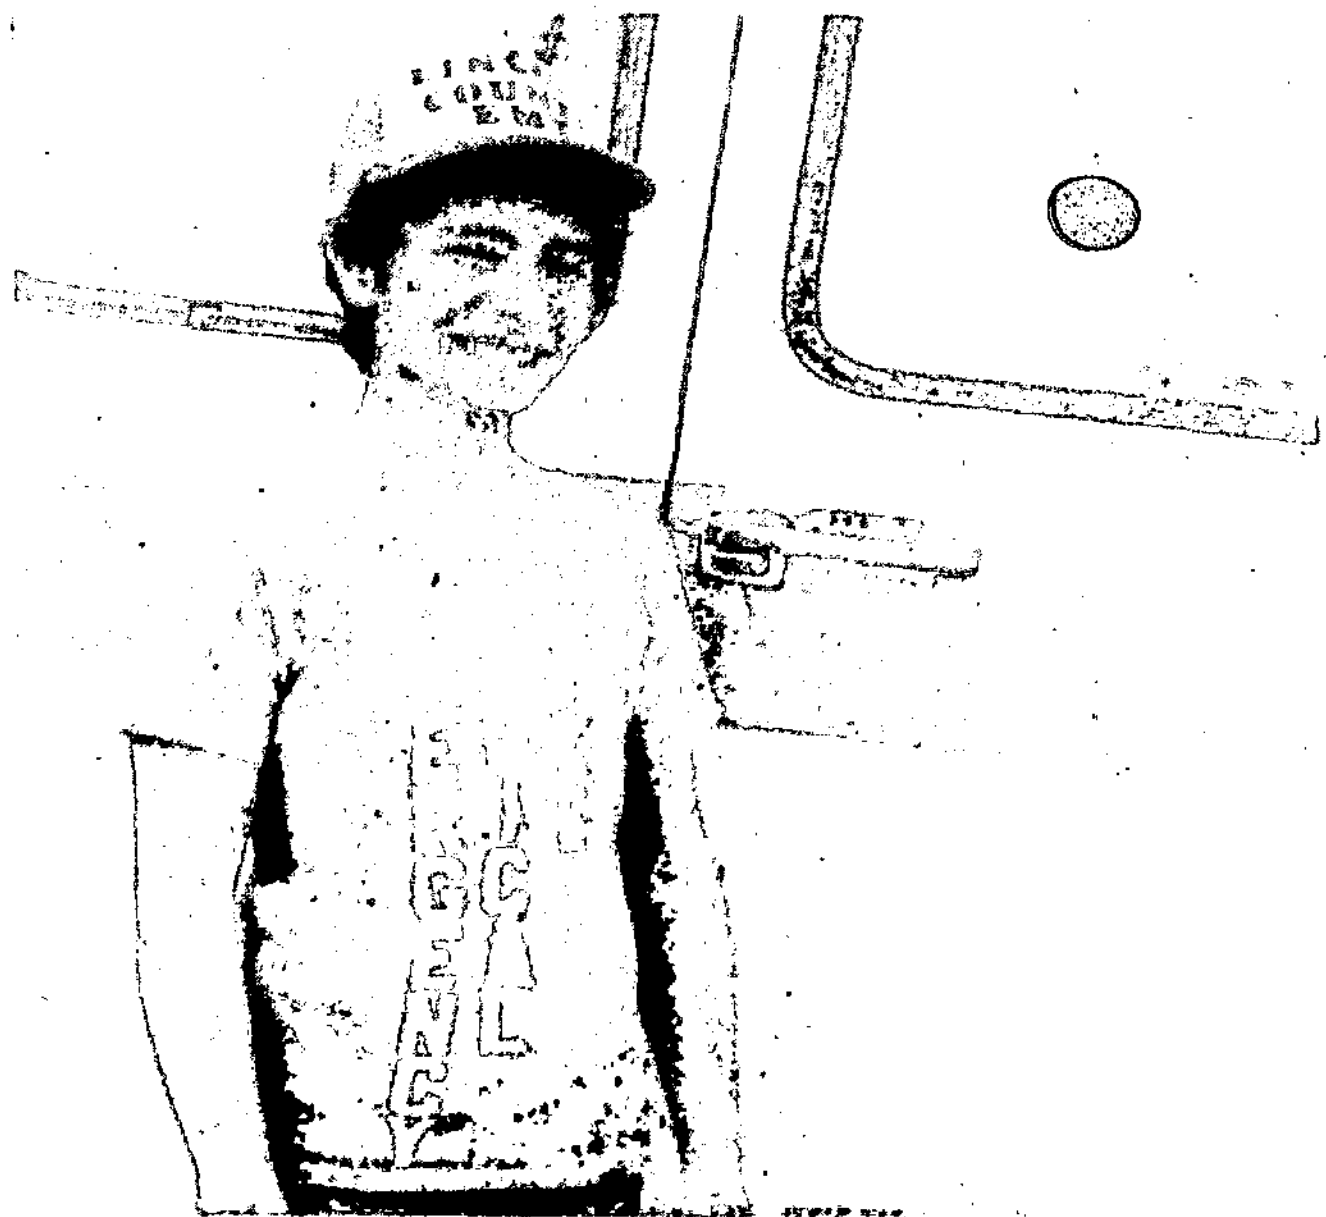

Anyone who knows medicine is subject to his questions. Andy gives credit to many people for helping him learn as much as he has. He mentioned EMTs Woodard and Mike Points; Guck; doctors Roger Beechie, Paul Whitman and Lance Kirkegaard; and his aunt and uncle, Tommy and Martha Guevara.

Andy said his parents are happy with his interest in medicine.

"They like it. They're glad I'm interested," Andy said.

But Andy said in truth he really doesn't like medicine.

"I don't like it. I love it!" he exclaimed.

SMILING ANDY TRUJILLO, 14, stands in front of a Lincoln County ambulance he plans to drive someday. The young man has already passed all the tests required of an emergency medical technician but has to wait until he is older before he can be officially certified by the state.

County acts on roads, personnel

The sick leave policy for county employees drew the most discussion from commissioners, who finally agreed upon permitting an accrual of 100 days of sick leave per employee. A recently adopted policy to permit employees to take sick leave to care for ill family members was rescinded, however.

Also covered in the personnel policy ordinance is the issuance of pay raises, with commissioners deciding to permit cost-of-living but no merit raises. Commission chairman Thomas P. "Cotton" McKnight argued that all department heads would request merit raises for their employees if one department head did, so no merit pay raises will be considered.

The largest part of Friday's meeting was taken up with presentations from computer firm representatives after bids on data processing equipment were opened. The bid was awarded to two companies—IBM of Roswell for a System 34 computer at a total bid of $74,159, and Triadic Enterprises of Deming for computer software for a bid of $44,000.

Cox and other elected officials who studied the bids recommended the two firms on the basis of their offers of training; good references; experience with county governments; successful records of conversion from one computer system to another; use of a computer language familiar to the county data processor; and financing arrangements. The county plans to lease purchase the equipment, Cox noted.

A contract had previously been signed with Western Programmers of Albuquerque to lease purchase computer equipment under state contract. The contract was rescinded, however, after Cox was notified that the firm was not authorized to do business under state contract.

Commissioners then called for bids on the data processing equipment, which is being purchased to provide additional functions that cannot be handled on the present system.

THE NEW HOME for Emergency Medical Services (EMS) is this mobile home situated behind Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital. The staff completed its move into the trailer in mid-November. The mobile home, which has two bedrooms, an office and a large kitchen, was purchased by the village as part of its agreement to subsidize EMS in return for turning over management of the operation to the hospital.

Local Special Olympians sought

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

The newly organized Area 13 (Lincoln County) Special Olympics advisory council is working on contacting all persons in Lincoln County who are eligible to participate in Special Olympics. The program is open to any person with an IQ of 70 or below.

Special Olympics is an international, non-profit organization designed to offer opportunities to participate in sports activities to the mentally retarded. Programs are organized on the local level to give as many mentally retarded as possible the chance to get involved.

Any parent or guardian of a mentally retarded individual in Lincoln County is urged to contact registration chairperson Robbie Matthews at 257-5436 or 257-5021 for additional information about the program.

Registration for the Special Olympics Winter Games for Southern New Mexico at Eagle Creek Ski Area is open until December 31. Anyone needing additional information about these Games or wanting to sign up can contact Jeanne Culbertson at 257-7225 or 354-2211.

Any person who would like to get involved in helping out with Special Olympics events can contact Culbertson, or call Glen Ferguson at 257-4018.

Special Olympics depends upon the volunteer efforts of members of the community. The mentally retarded in Lincoln County will have the opportunity to participate in Special Olympics only with the support and cooperation of area residents.

Downs bodies seek better communication

Lack of communication between Ruidoso Downs trustees and Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) members was addressed at Thursday's P&Z meeting.

Trustee Bob Power attended to request that more effort be made to inform trustees of action taken by the commission. Trustees must approve Planning and Zoning decisions before they can be enacted.

Often trustees have no information upon which to base their decision on a certain matter other than a recommendation from the commission for or against.

Power requested that a P&Z representative attend trustees meetings if possible to answer questions trustees may have about Planning and Zoning requests. He also suggested a copy of minutes of P&Z meetings be made available to trustees.

Commission members agreed to work on improving communication between the two groups by trying to attend trustee meetings when P&Z business is on the agenda. Members also agreed to ensure that minutes of meetings are complete and are presented to village officials.

THIS FELLOW doesn't seem to mind the snow at all.

SORTING CLOTHES that have been donated to the Happy Holidays drive conducted by Ruidoso police and firemen are (left to right) Brownie leader Elaine Gately and Brownies Teresa Burgess, Rachelle Holstein and Kansas Miranda. The drive for clothing, food and toys continues until Christmas.

RGA bake sale set

The Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy (RGA) will hold a bake sale at Safeway from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday.

Money from the sale will pay for equipment the RGA needs.

For further information, call Robin Garrett at 378-4070 or the RGA at 257-5957.

Rue top matman as Warriors win first tourney

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School wrestling team warmed up for tonight's match at Roswell High School by taking first place in a tournament with host New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped (NMSVH) and the New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) Saturday in Alamogordo.

Henry Rue of Ruidoso was named the top wrestler as he won the 132-pound division. The talented Warrior senior took 30 seconds to win both his matches by pins.

He pinned teammate Zack Swalander in the first match before pinning a wrestler from NMMI in the finals. Swalander was third in the division.

Other Warrior first places went to 105-pound Mike Shipman, 98-pound Bronson Rue, 118-pound Chuck Schmidt and 145-pound Gervase Pesco.

Ruidoso's junior varsity finished third behind the Warrior varsity and NMMI.

Rue led a one-two-three Ruidoso sweep in his weight class. Martin Espinosa finished second and Jeff Schmidt was third.

State meet competitors Scott Ciraulo in the 167-pound class and Gary Burgess in the 185-pound division each finished second and Warrior head coach Gerald Ames felt the duo would do better in the future.

"Both can probably beat the guys they lost to," Ames said of Ciraulo and Burgess. "I told Scott to go out and try a few new things. He tried them and failed at some of them but they will help him to become a better wrestler."

Randy Pierce finished third and Kerry Jones fourth in the 119-pound division for the Warriors. Chris Sanchez finished second in the 138-pound class and Kevin Jameson was second in the 145-pound division.

David Swalander, who competed in the state tournament two years ago, was third in the 155-pound division.

"The caliber of competition in the 155-pound division wasn't bad," Ames said. "There were some tough kids in there and David will do better in the future."

Ames had mixed feelings about the tournament, despite the fact his athletes won it.

"We found out where we're strong and where we're still learning," he said. "We've got five guys who can be strong contenders. They are Rue, Ciraulo, Pesco, Burgess and Chuck Schmidt. The rest of the kids are still learning but will get better."

The match with Roswell will start at 6 p.m. The Warriors will have their first home match Thursday when they host Goddard High School of Roswell at 6:30 p.m. Both the varsity and junior varsity will compete.

Braves to host tourney, boys undefeated

The White Mountain Middle School boys basketball team will go into the third annual White Mountain Tournament today with a perfect 4-0 record.

The Braves took a fairly easy 44-32 victory over visiting Tularosa last Thursday, but the White Mountain girls fell to the Wildcats by a 25-12 score.

Tularosa led briefly in the first quarter of the boys' game. However, the Braves got hot and took a 19-18 quarter break lead.

In the second quarter, White Mountain held Tularosa scoreless while scoring eight points of its own. Brian Davis, 5-9, scored 10 of his game-high 14 points in the first half.

Jeff Willingham added five points and Kirk Taylor had four in the first half for the winners.

White Mountain continued the hot hand in the second half and built up a 35-20 advantage with 3:48 remaining in the contest. At that point, the Braves regulars left the game for the reserves.

Besides Davis' high point total, Willingham added nine points while Taylor, Kirk Ryan and Toby Rue each had four points.

Local fishing report

Ruidoso River: The fishing is fair to good for rainbow trout using cheese, corn and salmon eggs.

Alto Lake: There are several limits of rainbow trout being taken using fireballs and floating cheese bait. Some trout are also being taken on spinners.

"They were hot early in the game," said Brave coach Dean Hood of Tularosa. "I think they led by four or six points at one time. They had one guard who would break when we put up a shot and they got their fast break going that way."

"In the second quarter, we put a guard on their guard and stopped their fast break. In the second half, we settled down and played well. At first I didn't think we had played as well as we did when we beat Chaparral, but afterward I decided that we might have. Tularosa played us a better game than Chaparral did."

The Brave girls started out slowly and that proved to be fatal as they lost their third game in four tries.

Tularosa led 16-5 entering the final quarter but the Braves got their offense untracked a bit and scored seven points in that period.

Kerry Gladden led the White Mountain scoring with five points.

In today's action of the two-day tournament, the White Mountain boys A team will play Tularosa at 5:30 p.m. while Captain and Holloman will tangle at 4 p.m.

Girls' action will see the White Mountain B team play Captain at 1 p.m. and the A team tangle with Tularosa at 2 p.m. Late games will have the White Mountain A and B teams playing each other at 7 p.m. and Captain meeting Tularosa at 8 p.m.

Around Sports

with Tim Palmer

The year 1982 in men's professional tennis has been a year for heroes. And the year wound toward a close with a heroic performance from the guy who had to take a back seat for most of '82—John McEnroe.

Mac led the United States to a 4-1 triumph in the Davis Cup final against France at Grenoble the weekend before last. His come-from-two-sets-to-one-behind win over Yannick Noah in the opening singles match actually determined the outcome of the entire tie.

I personally sensed an upset in the making when the American team went to France. The host country constructed a special indoor clay court at Grenoble so her players would be on their favorite surface.

Noah, one of tennis's emergent heroes, proved this year he can play with the best. The 22-year-old from Cameroon beat Ivan Lendl for the deciding point in France's 3-2 win over Czechoslovakia in the Davis Cup quarter-finals.

When the Frenchman stormed back against McEnroe to win sets two and three decisively after dropping a close first set, things looked grim for the Yanks. But Davis Cup rules allow a 15-minute break after three sets in singles, and this was Noah's downfall as he lost his momentum and the match.

If Noah had been able to beat McEnroe and give the French a 1-0 lead, anything might have happened in the number two singles. Davis Cup history is replete with unheralded players rising to the occasion when playing for their country.

As it was, young Henri Leconte was on the losing end of two 6-2 sets to Gene Mayer before he knew it, and the American eventually won in four sets.

Our victory was a foregone conclusion by then. McEnroe and Peter Fleming are one of the world's top two or three doubles teams and are undefeated in Davis Cup doubles play. Their Cup-clinching straight set win over Noah and Leconte was routine.

Now I'm not a big fan of John McEnroe. I have long marveled at his racket control while lamenting his lack of behavior control.

But his willingness to play for his country in Davis Cup—and his knack for winning the big matches when he does—are admirable. This is especially true in light of the refusal of other top players (notably Jimmy Connors for the U.S.) to play Davis Cup.

Led by McEnroe, the United States has won the Cup four of the past five years, after breaking a five-year drought in '78. The Davis Cup carries a great deal of prestige in the tennis world—more so in other countries, unfortunately, than here at home.

The year 1983 should be very interesting in men's tennis. There is the question of whether McEnroe can reassert himself after losing the number one ranking to Connors and being dominated all year long by Lendl.

There is the question of whether Bjorn Borg, who is playing tournaments again, can again ascend to the top of the sport.

Tennis fans will also be wondering: •Will Lendl finally win a major title? Will Noah?

•Will Sweden's Mats Wilander follow up on his French Open triumph of this year by moving into the world's top five?

•Will Connors successfully defend his Wimbledon and U.S. Open titles?

But the answers to those questions won't be known for many months. Meanwhile, there is time to savor 1982, and McEnroe and Company's victory at Grenoble.

Ruidoso junior varsity plays well but loses

The Ruidoso High School boys junior varsity basketball team gave host Portales High School a battle before losing by a 58-35 score Friday night.

Ruidoso only trailed 38-38 entering the final period but Warrior coach Elmer Chavez took out several players who were to compete in the varsity contest and the hosts padded their lead.

"I thought our guys played well," Chavez said. "Particularly Tommy Crow and Mark Langston. Crow has a lot of heart, something a coach can't teach."

Portales took a 13-2 lead by the end of the first quarter but the Warriors outscored the hosts 12-11 in the second period to close the gap to 24-14 at halftime.

Ruidoso continued its improved play in the third quarter as Russell Easter and Stanley Sluder did a good job rebounding and scoring.

Easter led the Warriors with nine points and seven rebounds. Sluder added five points and five rebounds. Langston scored eight points on four field goals while Crow hit two field goals for four points and played a fine all-around game.

Ruidoso, now 0-2 on the season, will travel to Goddard High School of Roswell next Friday. The junior varsity will play before the varsity game.

TUNOVERS, FOULS HURT TEAM

Warrior cagers fall to Portales, 73-34

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Foul trouble and turnovers proved to be the downfall of the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team as it dropped a 73-34 decision to host Portales High School Friday night.

The Warriors stayed with the hosts evenly in the first period as both teams scored 10 points.

However, in the second quarter 6-3 Curtis Palmer and guard Tommy Crow got in foul trouble and the Warriors began to fall behind.

Palmer, the Warriors' tallest player at 6-3, didn't score but managed to grab five rebounds while he was in the game. When Palmer was out of the contest, Portales dominated the boards and the Warriors lost ground.

Portales led 31-19 at halftime and increased that lead in the third quarter, scoring 19 points to just five for Ruidoso.

"We started making turnovers and our shots stopped falling while they got hot," said Warrior head coach Ron Geyer. "It really hurt us when we got into foul trouble."

The hosts pumped in 22 more points while holding the Warriors to 10 in the final period. However, Geyer put in some young players in the final period to give them experience.

Senior wing Grady Williamson and junior guard Gilbert Rivera again led the Warriors' scoring as they did in the first game against Roswell High School. Williamson scored 11 points and led the Warrior rebounders with six boards. Rivera scored nine points and took four rebounds.

Freshman Danny Ullmann did a fine job against the rugged competition as he scored six points and grabbed four rebounds. Sophomore Stanley Sluder added five points and two rebounds. Freshmen Mark Langston and Russell also did well on the boards as each grabbed two rebounds.

Both Crow and junior Cyrus Simmons got some experience playing at guard.

"We're improving," said Geyer. "We hung tough against Portales until we got in foul trouble and I think we're going to get better. It'll probably be a long haul but both the players and I know that."

Ruidoso will travel to Goddard High School of Roswell Friday night in another non-district game. Goddard topped Roswell 61-36 Saturday night in a tournament game. Roswell handed the Warriors their season-opening loss by a 71-37 score last Tuesday.

"Goddard is a big, strong team," Geyer remarked. "They're bigger than Roswell but not as quick. They're disciplined like Portales, a lot more than Roswell was."

The junior varsity game at Goddard will begin at 5:30 p.m. with the varsity contest to follow.

RUIDOSO (34)

Williamson, 4, 3-4, 11; Rivera, 2, 5-7, 9; Ullmann, 2, 2-3, 6; Sluder, 2, 1-2, 5; Bell, 1, 0-0, 2; Langston, 0, 1-3, 1; Palmer, 0, 0-0, 0; TOTALS, 11, 12-19, 34.

PORTALES (73)

Walker, 9, 4-5, 22; Aguilar, 6, 3-3, 15; Gossett, 4, 0-0, 8; Laehrfed, 1, 3-4, 5; Stevenson, 2, 2-3, 6; Hasse, 0, 4-6, 4; Durham, 1, 2-2, 4; Griffin, 3, 3-4, 9; TOTALS, 26, 21-37, 73.

A HOT SHOOTER. Danny Ullmann, shown here going for a shot, has been a positive part of the Ruidoso High School boys varsity and junior varsity basketball teams this season. The 6-3 Ullmann, only a freshman, is a fluid shooter and good rebounder.

Warrior fresh finish second in own tourney

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School boys freshmen basketball team took second in its own season-beginning tournament Saturday afternoon in the Warrior gym.

Ruidoso lost to a powerful Truth or Consequences (T or C) team by a 62-34 score after beating Cloudcroft, 56-40 in the first round.

Jason Bigham was the top offensive star for the Warriors. The 5-10 athlete scored 23 points in the victory over Cloudcroft and added 17 against T or C. He also did a good job on the boards.

The Warriors led most of the way in the Cloudcroft game. Bigham was able to get inside well on feeds from Ricardo Garcia, Randy Reynolds, Jeff Slatton and Richard Burgess.

Garcia scored nine points and played an outstanding floor game, stealing the ball several times.

In the second contest, Slatton scored 10 points to aid Bigham's offensive efforts. Slatton also did a good job on defense.

However, T or C had too much height for the Warriors. The winners had two 6-2 players and another at 6-0.

"They had great height and talent and kept their team intact," Ruidoso coach Thurman Sanchez said of T or C. "We have three freshmen up on the junior varsity and varsity teams."

"Our team is doing well considering most of the players don't have much playing experience. We're probably a little bit ahead of what I thought we would be at this time."

Ruidoso will travel to Tularosa High School Thursday for a 1 p.m. contest with the Wildcat frosh.

Tigers show improvement, take fifth at Cloudcroft

The Capitan High School boys varsity basketball team showed steady improvement in taking the consolation fifth place championship at the Cloudcroft Tournament over the weekend.

Capitan lost to defending state A division champion Cliff 61-52 in the opener Thursday. The Tigers came back to top Hondo 71-57 Friday night and then defeated Anthony, Texas, 73-45 Saturday for fifth place.

"We got better in each game," Capitan head coach Kendall Lawlis said. "Against Cliff we didn't rebound well but they are the defending state champions."

"We improved in each game and I liked our aggressiveness and defense. We also used our fast break real well against Anthony."

Capitan held a slim 13-8 first quarter advantage against Anthony but gradually pulled away after that for an easy victory.

Robert Parker led the Tigers with 26 points and also hauled in 23 rebounds. Todd Proctor added 12 points.

Parker scored 82 points for the three games. He had 28 points against both Cliff and Hondo. Grady Eldridge had 10 rebounds against both Cliff and Hondo and scored seven points in the Hondo contest.

Cliff won the tournament title with a tight 46-44 win over Weed. Parker was the only Tiger named to the all-tournament squad.

Capitan will resume play Friday with a home game against Dexter High School. The varsity game will begin at 7:30 p.m., following the junior varsity contest.

Local boxers lose bouts

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Three members of the Las Piedras Boxing Team (LPBT) lost questionable decisions at the Albuquerque Police Athletic League (PAL) gym Saturday night.

State junior 70-pound champion David Ordorica and Kevin Jefferson and Jo Jo Romero all lost to tough opponents, but many of the spectators disagreed with the decisions, according to LPBT coach Lucky Mulqueen.

"Kevin embarrassed his opponent," Mulqueen said. "It was the best he's ever looked and he's worked really hard the past two weeks. Still, they gave it to the other guy."

Ordorica and Romero also lost tough decisions. It was Romero's first fight in months.

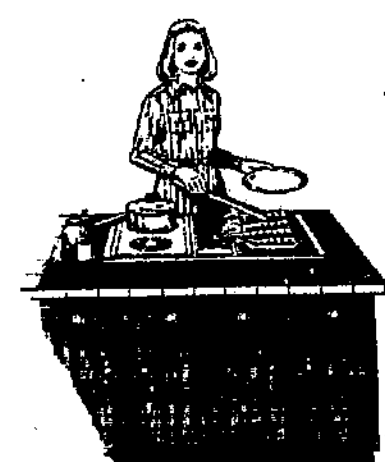

The LPBT boxers will probably fight at the PAL gym again next Saturday.

"We're going to ask for the same three fighters we fought this week," Mulqueen said.

Watch the Jenn-Air Grill-Range in action. See what good taste is all about.

The amazing Grill-Range that does so many things so well is being demonstrated at your Jenn-Air dealer. See steaks sizzle up plump and juicy on the Char-Flavor grill. Watch chickens and roasts turning golden brown on the rotisserie, while eggs and pancakes cook to perfection on the non-stick griddle. The Jenn-Air demonstration will show you how to roast meats—faster, juicier, and at lower temperatures. And you can see how easily Jenn-Air's convertible cooktops slip in and out—great for clean ups as well as cooking! # Lady Warriors finish second in Weed cage tournament

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball team gave Jal High School all it could handle before losing 55-51 in the championship game of the Weed Tournament Saturday night.

Ruidoso had qualified for the championship game by rolling over Carrizozo High School 66-43 Thursday night and beating Cliff High School 59-52 in overtime Friday night.

Jal led most of the way in the championship game but the Warriors made several runs at the defending state AA division champions.

The Panthers jumped off to a 10-4 lead early in the opening period but the Warriors closed the gap to 13-10 at the quarter break.

Ruidoso's Kody Taylor, who made all tournament and was named the top defensive player, hit a 15-foot jump shot 15 seconds into the second period to close the Jal margin to 13-12. The Warriors pulled ahead 19-17 on an Erin Rad field goal with 4:40 remaining in the second quarter.

However, Jal then scored two straight field goals for a 21-19 advantage. Ruidoso's 6-0 center Jan Huey hit a free throw with 3:46 left to close the gap to 21-20 but the Panthers then outscored the Warriors 14-5 to take a 35-25 edge into the locker room at halftime.

Ruidoso began to cut into the Jal lead early in the third period with some good outside shooting.

Junior Jackie Jefferson hit a bucket to pull the Warriors within six at 39-33. Jal then hit a free throw for a 40-33 lead and there was no more scoring the rest of the quarter.

With five minutes remaining in the contest, Lillian Lopez of Ruidoso hit a short layup and was fouled in the process. She made the free throw and Jal led by a slight 42-38 margin.

That was to be the closest the Warriors got until the final buzzer, however, as Jal hung on for the victory.

Taylor led the Warriors with 19 points. Stacy Ivy added nine, Claudia Brannum six, Jackie Jefferson four, Lopez three, Rad three, Huey three, Sonja Jefferson two and Gia Rose two.

April Adams, a brilliant all-around player, led the Jal scoring with 20 points.

The semi-final contest against Cliff was probably the most exciting game of the tournament.

Ruidoso led most of the game but Cliff rallied to take an eight-point advantage with three minutes left in the game.

However, the Warriors put on a full court man-to-man press, forced some turnovers and tied the game up in regulation time at 51-51.

Ivy had two field goals to spark the Ruidoso comeback.

In the overtime, it was all Ruidoso as Taylor scored four points while Rad and Sonja Jefferson each scored two points.

Taylor led the Warriors scoring with 18 points. Ivy added 12 and Jackie Jefferson had nine.

Ruidoso had little trouble with Carrizozo in the opener. The Warriors got a balanced attack as Ivy scored 16 points to lead the way. Jackie Jefferson added 14 points and Taylor had 12.

Brannum and Ivy joined Taylor on the all-tournament team. Taylor was also one of the top free throw shooters in the tournament.

Warrior head coach Sergio Castanon was disappointed that his team lost the championship but pleased with the way it played.

"They controlled the tempo of the game," Castanon said of Jal. "They played really well. We weren't shooting as well as we liked outside so we started to go inside and they stopped us there."

"But we're getting warmed up. We came back well against Cliff and I especially liked our aggressive play and hustle. I'm very pleased with the way we played in the tournament. We're getting the rough edges smoothed out before district play starts."

Cliff took a 42-30 victory over Cloudcroft for third place. Host Weed downed Capitan 51-27 for fifth place.

Capitan lost its tournament opener to Jal by a 55-29 score. Shelley Eldridge and Tracy Herd each had seven points for the Tigers in the opening contest.

Capitan then came back Friday night and topped Animas by a 37-35 score. Eldridge led the Tigers with 10 points. Eldridge also led Capitan's scoring against Weed as she popped in 12 points. Herd added four.

Ruidoso will host Cloudcroft Friday, December 10. Capitan will play in the Floyd Tournament Thursday through Saturday and will play Jal in the opener.

NOTES: Castanon also gave thanks for the dinner the team was given by Grandfather Pizza of Ruidoso before the championship game. He said he was appreciative of the parents who helped bring it about.

A BATTLE ON THE BOARDS. Sonja Jefferson (21) of the Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball team battles for the ball with a player from Jal High School in the finals of the Weed Tournament Saturday night.

Jefferson and her teammates lost to the defending state AA division champions by a 55-51 score. The Warriors beat Carrizozo 66-43 Thursday and Cliff 59-52 Friday to advance to the finals.

Dam design work ahead of schedule

Design work on the Grindstone Canyon dam is four weeks ahead of schedule, while preliminary work on the water line to the dam and on the treatment plant is running behind schedule, according to a report from Boyle Engineering for November.

The full report from R. Leroy Givens, principal engineer on the project, follows.

The progress for the first month of the project has been delayed due to the resolution of the Bond sales. However, we have proceeded with the soils investigation and the aerial mapping. Aerial mapping is 95 percent complete. An alignment change in the raw water line has required us to develop new aerial photography for that section of the water line going into the proposed Dorman Development and on into the dam. This is expected to be accomplished within the next week.

The drilling has been completed for the Grindstone Canyon Dam. Preliminary results have indicated that there may not be sufficient material to construct a totally earth-filled dam without importing substantial borrow material to complete the dam. The drill logs also indicate the area beneath the proposed lake may be quite pervious and the rate of seepage could be excessive. This will be confirmed later in more detailed testing. The investigation has also indicated that there are several pits that have sufficient material for roller compacted concrete. Samples have been obtained from these pits and subjected to several tests including cement reactivity which showed negative.

Currently we are in the process of locating all existing utilities within the route of the proposed raw water line and developing profiles for that water line. The design reports are in progress with considerable detail being developed as to the flows in the Rio Ruidoso and percentage flows available to divert into Grindstone Canyon. We feel that this detail is required to make a presentation to the State Engineer for the possibility of additional diversion into the Grindstone Canyon to take care of seepage and evaporation from the lake surface itself.

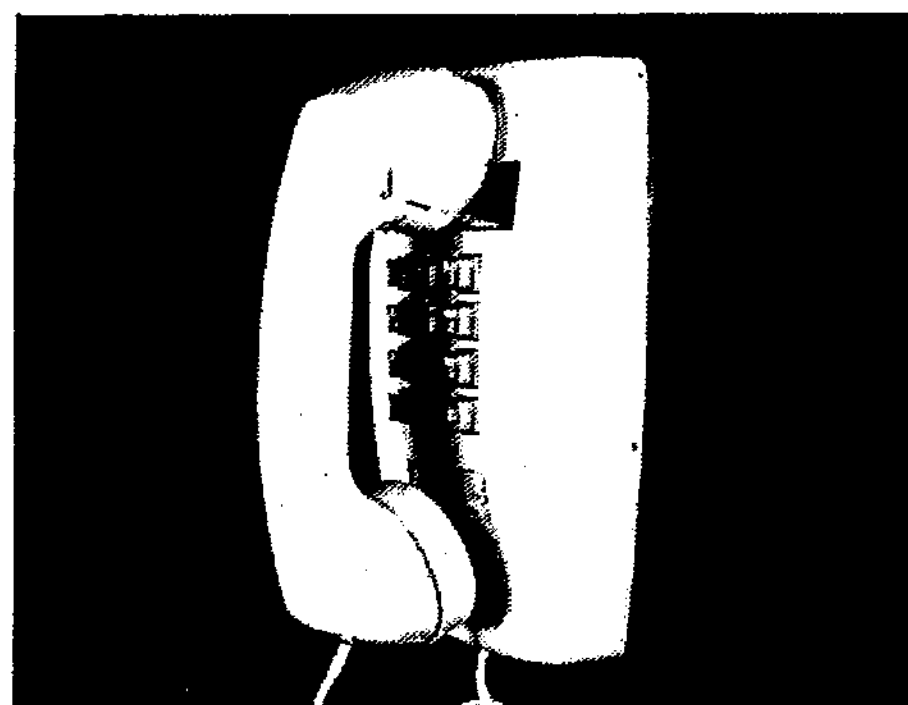

At this point in time it is estimated that we are approximately four weeks behind schedule on the Raw Water Transmission line design and treatment plant. The design for the Grindstone Canyon Dam is proceeding and we are approximately four weeks ahead of schedule on this project. It is anticipated that by mid-January we should have the design reports for the total project completed, and work is continuing on the detailed design.

The Dreamer

BY DANNIE STORM

Roy Lewis Reed Services were held in San Jon, Texas, Thursday, December two for Roy Lewis Reed, who was called home November twenty-six from El Paso, Texas.

Roy is the son of Ray and Vergie Reed, well beloved couple and long-time residents of Lincoln County.

San Jon is located midway between Tucumacari, New Mexico; and Amarillo, Texas "just under the Cap Rock, and out on the Prairie." Here Roy's father, Ray, was born of pioneer ranching people, in a half dug-out; and Roy's mortal remains were laid to rest in the San Jon Cemetery along with those of his grandparents and great grandparents.

Roy was born in La Joya, California, January five, 1946. Later the family moved to Dexter where Roy graduated from Dexter High School where he was an outstanding student and athlete.

After graduating from high school, he joined the New Mexico National Guard from which he was honorably discharged after distinguished service.

When the family moved to Ruidoso, Roy

911 meeting set

A meeting to discuss the proposed 911 emergency telephone system for Ruidoso is scheduled for 2 p.m. Thursday at village hall.

Continental Telephone Company representatives will give a presentation on how the system works, what it takes to provide it, and how much it costs.

Village officials are expected to attend, and interested members of the public are also invited.

went to work along with his mother and father for the well-known horse-owner and trainer, Jim Curry.

He was named after his two grandfathers: John Lewis Aikm, and Roy Lee Reed, pioneer ranchmen of West Texas. He had been working as a Jockey and agent and farrier at the Sunland Park Race Track, and was highly regarded by his employers and fellow workers.

Two brothers, Royal Edward Reed, and Raymond William Reed, were called home ahead of Roy in years past. Beside his mother and father, he is survived by two sisters: Susan Evelyn Allen and Virginia Reed.

All his life, Roy has been everything a good son can be, always a great comfort and joy to his parents.

We all take comfort in knowing our splendid young friend has been welcomed by loved ones who have gone on before, in Heaven with Our Lord.

Eddie T. Sanchez
Services were held Thursday, December two, at Saint Eleanor Catholic Church and the Forest Lawn cemetery for one of Ruidoso's favorite people, Eddie T. Sanchez, who was called home by Our Lord November twenty nine.

A large gathering of friends and loved ones attended the services, under the direction of Father Barnard Bissonnette, and the Holloman Air Force Funeral detail and Honor Guard.

The cemetery was resplendent in a decoration of snow, and the bugle notes of the military detail echoed softly in honor of this veteran of World War Two.

EARLY SEASON SKIERS enjoyed the snow at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort this weekend.

Yours and Ours

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Here's one reason New Mexico Republicans lose: money.

Those who picture the GOP as a lot of mink-coated figures writing an endless series of checks to support their party must be thinking of Republicans in some other state.

All you have to do is consult the figures the parties file with the office of the Secretary of State to see that isn't so here.

As a matter of fact, during this election year, while the Democrats were raising $121,687.78 for their party, the Republicans did a measly $37,157.95 for the same purpose.

Everyone understands, of course, that there are more Democrats than Republicans in New Mexico, but there aren't three times as many.

The biggest contribution to be found on those Republican reports so far filed came from Tom Bolack. He gave $3,500.

Robert O. Anderson, hardly a pauper, gave $1,000.

Yet on the Democratic side, one single family, that of Fred Hansen, now president of Southern Union, gave $10,000 (One entry, for $4,000 apiece from Hansen and his wife, shows them as residents of Hobbs; a second entry for an additional $1,000 apiece, shows them as residents of Dallas—but wherever they now live, they do send in their money.)

Now admittedly, people like Bolack and Anderson were probably also kicking in for specific candidates as well as for the party itself; but so were lots of Democrats who gave.

The Seafarers' union, for instance, which gave the Democrats $5,000 (though we have no seaports in our state), was also supporting individual Democrats. So were Ray Powell, Dorothy Runnels, Ann Bingaman, Eileen Clifford, Larry Ingram, Frank Papen and Walter Gerrells, each of whom gave the Dems $1,000.

When the state chairman of the Republican party is down for a measly $50 contribution, and then a few days later gets reimbursement of $463.73 in expenses, you've got to think his party's fund-raising activities are not operating at a fever pitch.

Maybe Republicans just don't ask anybody for money.

What they describe in their report as a "mass collection" at their state convention only yielded $380.73—which is not very massive.

Even Harvey Yates, an oilman you might think would want to get in good with Secretary Watt, is down for a mere $500 contribution.

(The Republicans do spell better than the Democrats, who, all the way through their series of reports, seem to believe the man they had running for State Treasurer was named Earl Heartley.)

We could go on to embarrass the Republicans further by citing the miserly sums some of the party's more outstanding members actually kicked in, but it would serve little good to do so.

It is a temptation, however, to spread on the public record how little they pay their executive director—if only in the hope they would then give her a raise to something like what she really deserves.

And there's one final note which calls those who know something of New Mexico politics. The Republican Legislative Campaign Committee gave $500 apiece to each of a series of legislative candidates, like Tandy Hunt in Roswell. But for Frances Shipman, equally a legislative candidate and a woman who has served their party unselfishly for a generation, all they could find was $250. That's heartless.

Letters to the Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Reference the article on the pros and cons of a ski package, I've been skiing Sierra Blanca several times a year for 10 years and usually bring 5 other members of my family.

We come in on Sunday and leave by Saturday to avoid the crowds. A ski package wouldn't affect our decision to ski there since we know and enjoy the town and a number of people.

What does affect our decision is convenience.

Since Sierra Blanca has quit taking credit cards it has become very inconvenient. For 5 days skiing I need around $600 cash just for lift tickets.

I know credit cards aren't without problems and expense for the purveyor, but the competition in northern New Mexico and Colorado are still taking them and it's becoming more and more convenient to go there.

Sincerely,
Sly Polunsky

Clipped Comment

TEXAS NEEDS WATER LAWS

Participants in the recent 1982 Water for Texas Conference agreed to one major item — an item that should be obvious: Texas has no water laws and needs them desperately.

Because there are no laws, farmers, ranchers and other landowners draw as much ground water as they wish. Whoever has the biggest pump gets the most water. Thoughtless individuals may take more than they need, depriving their neighbor.

And because the few surface water regulations are rarely enforced, Texans often pump from lakes and rivers at will.

But our recklessness is catching up with us. El Paso, particularly, anticipates water shortages in the not-so-distant future, unless something is done.

Texas legislators could learn about water law from New Mexico, which has some of the best water regulations in the country. Yet, despite the obvious need, many Texas legislators avoid the issue for fear of offending the farmers and ranchers such laws would affect. Politics, as usual.

El Paso's state Sen. Tati Santisteban is a man in a position to do something worthwhile on water laws. Since he has seniority — he has been in the Senate since 1972 — he now has a top job as chairman of the state's Natural Resources Committee, which is concerned with water and energy.

We hope in the forthcoming 68th Legislature that Santisteban will speak out for his El Paso constituency and help write some viable water law — before our state's most valuable resource dribbles away. — El Paso Times

Editorial

The town of Los Alamos will vote January 11 on a strict smoking ordinance.

We hope the ordinance passes, and that it sets a trend which other municipalities in the state will follow.

The law would ban smoking in a number of public places, including retail food and drug stores, libraries, schools, hospitals and other health-care centers. It would also require restaurants to provide non-smoking areas.

The tobacco industry has argued that smoke from another person's cigarette, cigar or pipe has not been proven harmful. Of course, that industry does not even acknowledge that smoking harms the person doing it.

Questions of health aside, non-smokers have a moral right to eat a meal at a restaurant without someone ruining it by lighting up at the next table. This right should be recognized by law everywhere.

And, in Ruidoso, citizens should be able to attend a meeting of their governing body and sit close enough to see and hear what is going on without coming out of the meeting with their clothes reeking of smoke.

Progressive-minded business owners and village officials could accommodate non-smokers without being required to by law. If they fail to do so, there is no reason that a citizens group cannot bring about a smoking ordinance here, as has happened in Los Alamos.—TP

Reporter's Round

by Gary Brown

It's hard for a sunny weather guy to get used to a snowy climate.

Not that the snow we've gotten here in the past two weeks hasn't been a beautiful sight to look at. It has.

But it's awfully hard for someone like me—a person who has driven most of his life around 60 feet above sea level—to control my car on the streets of Ruidoso.

I mean, I took my life in my hands several times within the past week when I got into my car and drove to work.

The day after Thanksgiving, I left for the News office around 7:30 a.m. and suddenly skidded on Mechem Drive. I skidded at about a 50-degree angle and came fairly close to being hit by another car driving on Mechem toward Sudderth.

After I had regained control of my car, I skidded again going down Sudderth. It was then that I decided to get snow tires, something I probably should have done about a week before.

I bought the snow tires and it cost me $132.

But that wasn't the end of my troubles! Last Thursday morning I tried to drive up the hill near my apartment. I thought I had warmed the car up enough but I guess it takes a little bit longer than a minute or so to get the engine sufficiently warm in a cold climate.

I couldn't make it up the hill, so I put the car in reverse and backed down. However, my rear view mirror was covered with ice and I couldn't see where I was going. I backed off the road and got stuck in a ditch that was covered with snow.

I couldn't back up and I couldn't go forward. Since it was Thursday, we were putting a paper out and I had to get to work soon. I let out a loud roar of frustration and wondered how I would be able to escape this trap I had gotten myself into.

Fortunately a man stopped and used a chain on his car to pull me out.

It wasn't before I almost ran over a pillar in the ground, however.

I finally got out of that mess and managed to make it to work. I had had my fill of snow for the day.

Last winter was my first in Ruidoso and we didn't really get any snow in the village area until New Year's Eve. I remember dozing off while watching one of the college football bowl games that night.

When I woke up, I looked out the window and saw the ground covered with snow. "Oute sight!" I thought to myself. I'd only been in the snow four times in my life before this and I thought the sight was beautiful.

I soon found out that the white stuff was awfully tough to drive in, especially if your car is not properly equipped.

It's particularly hard when you're driving down Sudderth in the morning after snow-filled night. The sun is directly your eyes and the front windows are so covered with ice and some snow. I expect some morning I'll be the first customer to store on Sudderth when I blindly drive my car off the road and through the store entrance.

I've only used chains once in my life that being about nine years ago when I went with my cousin and a couple friends to the Lake Tahoe area in California.

I didn't drive the car up there. If I had we probably wouldn't have made it there alive. My cousin drove and he had plenty of experience in the snow. He had lived in Michigan when he was a boy and he always driven in the stuff.

I remember trying to put the chains on one tire and constantly fumbling around because my hands were too cold to handle anything.

We finally got the chains on and made it to our destination, where I spent a good deal of time freezing, trying to ski, and taking warm showers.

I hope I won't have to use chains here soon. I'd probably put them on wrong a drive off Ski Run Road into the empty freezing air.

I'm looking forward to Christmas here because we'll probably have snow and I've never had a White Christmas before.

When I lived in the San Francisco Bay Area, we usually celebrated Christmas under sunny or cloudy skies and a temperature of about 50 degrees.

But there's little chance we'll have a temperature of 50 degrees in Ruidoso this Christmas. We'll probably have plenty beautiful white stuff on the ground.

I'm just hoping I can drive my car well enough in the snow to make it through Christmas.

SPEAKING OF TRAVELING...
 Knowing a little of the language can make a trip to a foreign destination more fun. Cheapest way, if you're ambitious, is to pick up a basic language book—Berlitz puts out good ones. A trick for maximizing a minimum vocabulary: don't bother to learn verb tenses. Memorize the infinitives. Then learn the first person singular for "I want" and make combinations.

Recorded tapes are another good way to get a language into your head. Listen to them in your spare time, even while driving. Some libraries even have tapes you can borrow.

Some resorts are bilingual and offer daily language lessons. Many Club Meds, for example, give French lessons.

If you know a little of the language already, try taking some kind of class abroad. A cooking class in Paris, for example, not only will brush up your French but turn you into a French chef.

We speak the language of travelers at Ruidoso Travel. Let us help you with all your travel plans.

CASTLE HOMES

Ridgewood Manor

"Ridgewood Manor" is an original Castle Homes design to be built one time only. The design combines a touch of "Mountain Chalet" with traditional Tudor Manor styling to provide the feeling of an elegant English country estate. Located atop the ridge on prestigious Willie Horton Drive, it boasts a magnificent view of Sierra Blanca Peak and surrounding mountains from the front, and Hull and Gavilan Canyons from the rear. Situated back from the street with a circular drive, it permits privacy and easy access in all four seasons. From the spiral staircase in the rock entry tower to the English pub type lounge, cathedral beamed ceilings, rock fireplaces and raised whirlpool bath in the master bedroom, this is truly a castle in the pines. $290,000.

FIVE DAYS ONE SUMMER from Warner Bros. Directed by Fred Zinnemann, screenplay by Michael Austin. Starring Sean Connery, Betsy Brantley, Lambert Wilson. Rated PG ★ ★

Director Fred Zinnemann has firmly entrenched himself in film history with such films as "High Noon," "From Here to Eternity," "A Man for All Seasons" and most recently, "Julia." His newest film, which he produced and directed, is based on a short story he read more than 40 years ago, long before he made any of those movies.

"Five Days One Summer" has many of the same themes and concerns as Zinnemann's other efforts, but it will not be ranked as one of his or film history's classics. Having much the feel of a short story, the film is slowly paced and of one tone. It hasn't the rhythms of modern movie-making and TV shows where a car has to blow up every 15 minutes to keep you interested.

The mood is as important as the events here, so one man's slowly paced movie may be another's easy and elegant movie. Decide for yourself, but know what you're getting into.

Sean Connery plays a doctor who is on holiday with his wife in the Swiss Alps. His wife is young, which causes some talk among the townfolk. This is the 1930s after all. It seems the townfolk are right — the woman is not his wife, and in fact, turns out to be his niece.

Together with a young (and handsome) guide, they set out to do some mountain climbing. The grandeur of the Swiss Alps makes for some great scenery, and also acts as a triangle/mountain metaphor for the relationship that develops.

There are some fine shots of mountain climbers clinging to the face of a vertical precipice, and that's about as exiting as the film becomes. Nor is the film as engrossing as it is meant to be.

If you're tired of all the blood-and-guts horror movies and want to see a well-made, relaxed little movie that seems like an extended episode of "Masterpiece Theater," this film's for you. As for the mountain climbing sequences, it seems as if the movie made about the making of this movie would be more exciting than the movie itself.

COMING TO TERMS — Debra Winger and Shirley MacLaine have been signed to star in "Terms of Endearment," which James L. Brooks will direct and co-produce with Martin Jurov for Paramount Pictures. The film, adapted by Brooks from a novel by Larry McMurtry, author of "Hud" and "The Last Picture Show," is a comedy-drama that explores the relationship between a mother and daughter and the evolution of their feelings over the course of 25 years.
