STUDENTS ACCEPT FACT

DWI school an 'eye opener'

BY TIM PALMER
Staff Writer

DWI school instructor Bill Streeter recently posed an interesting question to his students, all of whom were there because they had been arrested for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He referred to the heavy coverage by the news media of the recent plane crash in Washington, D.C. in which 78 persons died. About 28,000 Americans lose their lives each year as a result of drinking drivers—an average of 77 per day, he pointed out.

"Where's the TV?—where's the news media?" Streeter asked.

An awareness of the problem of drunken driving nationwide, and a personal awareness that each student could easily become or cause a statistic if he or she continues to drink and drive, is what the DWI school teaches.

The school is given in Ruidoso about once every six weeks to an average of 20 students, Streeter said. Students are referred by the municipal and magistrate courts.

If a person found guilty of driving while intoxicated does not have a prior DWI offense, Municipal Judge Sam Nunnally explained, the court may offer the option of attending the school.

Since Municipal Court penalties for driving while intoxicated are a fine of up to $300, a jail sentence of up to 90 days, plus a mandatory loss of driver's license for one year, most people choose DWI school.

New Mexico was one of the first states to have such a school. Ed Riordan of Albuquerque started the DWI school in that city in 1971, modeling it after a program in Phoenix, Arizona.

Under the Department of Motor Vehicles, it has since spread statewide, with DWI schools given regularly in more than 20 communities.

"The idea of the school is to educate the public so they won't drink and drive again," said Riordan.

According to Streeter, the first task of the instructor is to convince the students that a drinking driver problem exists. He noted that the groups are invariably hostile at first.

After all, Streeter pointed out, American culture through its television and magazines says it is okay to drink.

"People do what's accepted, get in their cars to go home, and get busted for it," said Streeter.

"First thing, I tell them, 'We're not going to stop you from drinking,'" said instructor Roger Kendall.

"We don't talk down to anyone," said Riordan. "We just present the information—it's up to them to do something about it."

Some of that information consists of statistics. Students learn the sobering facts that drunk drivers rank with heart disease and cancer as leading killers in America, and that more Americans die on the highway each year (with half of those fatalities alcohol related) than died in the 12-year Vietnam War.

Other countries deal much more severely with drunk drivers than the United States does, students are told. South Africa imposes a 10-year prison term, and in Bulgaria and El Salvador, offenders have been executed!

Students also see movies and participate in what Streeter called "simulation games." In these games, students play the roles of judges and juries in DWI cases.

"They come up with some pretty good ideas," said Streeter. He noted that the students generally judge the imaginary offenders harshly.

Among measures suggested by students to combat the problem of drunk drivers, Streeter listed greater responsibility on the part of establishments which serve liquor; stricter enforcement of the laws against DWI; and restitution to the victims of accidents caused by drinking drivers.

The DWI school program includes information on the effects of alcohol on the body. This is partly to let students know how much they can drink over what period of time without their blood alcohol content going over .10 percent—the level at which they are legally drunk.

According to Riordan, studies have shown that about half of the persons who attend DWI school have a serious drinking problem. Thus the school gets into the areas of alcoholism and alcohol as an addictive drug.

The success of the DWI school program can be measured by its widespread use throughout the state. A recent study showed that slightly more than six percent of 500 persons completing the school one year before the study had been re-arrested for DWI.

"We were encouraged by that figure," said Riordan. "But even more important, student evaluations and feedback have been extremely encouraging."

As Riordan and Kendall had predicted in the morning of the recent school in Ruidoso, the students seemed to have undergone a change of attitude by the late afternoon.

"It got my attention," said one. "It'll open your mind up," said another.

It was pointed out to Streeter that it seemed the students do an about-face on the issue.

"Most Americans don't realize the magnitude of what's going on," he said. "Once you know, if you have intelligence and compassion, you can't help but turn around."

New Safeway store planned here in 1983

Karl Franzer, manager of Safeway in Ruidoso, Friday advised The News that groundbreaking for a new store, to be located at the site of the former outdoor theatre on Highway 37 north, is scheduled sometime in March.

The new building, to contain 38,500 square feet of usable space, will be located on four acres of land. "The store will cover almost one acre of ground," Franzer said,

"and will feature a wood shingle exterior, to blend in with the natural beauty of the mountains."

The store, Franzer said, will feature a fresh bakery and deli, grocery, meat and produce departments, an expanded seafood section and an off sale liquor and wine department.

Franzer said the store is scheduled to open in March 1983.

Local men will attend special legislative clinic

Seven local businessmen will attend the Fifth Annual Statewide Business Leaders Legislative Clinic in Santa Fe January 28 and 29. The New Mexico Retail Association and the state's Chambers of Commerce sponsored clinic brings the entire New Mexico business spectrum together with the legislative leaders for the only time during the year.

The clinic is designed to educate state business leaders in the legislative process. Participants will receive an up to the moment review of what is in the legislative hopper and how the many pieces of legislation will affect state businesses, said Ed Jungbluth, Chamber of Commerce administrator.

Chamber president Richard Sandoval said that the Ruidoso contingency would meet with John Adams, director of the Department of Tourism and Travel for New Mexico. "We haven't been treated fairly by that department, and we're going to ask why," said Sandoval.

The clinic will also give businessmen attending a chance to mix socially with all 112 legislators and many state officials. Ruidoso men taking part in the Business Leaders Legislative Clinic will be Jungbluth, Sandoval, Archer Wilson, Bill McCutcheon, Aiden Deyo, Frank Sayner and Benny Coulston.

ComFIRE contemplating fire awareness program

Several ideas for creating fire danger awareness in the area were discussed at Thursday's Committee for the Improvement of Ruidoso's Environment (ComFIRE) meeting.

Village Fire Prevention Officer, Ollie Cuddy, was on hand to offer some suggestions. Currently, Cuddy is working on acquiring books for the schools to aid in teaching students about fire safety. Each book creates a complete curriculum with lesson plans for the classes. Four different books supply the information for grades kindergarten through eighth.

Steve Makowski, fire management officer with the United States Forest Service approved of the project. "We push the Smokey Bear program, but after the third or fourth grade, you're just spinning your wheels."

Cuddy also suggested a fire packet of information regarding hazards, safety and ways to avoid fires, be put together and made available at the Chamber of Commerce and visitors and for those people buying or building homes in the area.

Herb Brunell, ComFIRE chairman, pointed out the cost of the project could be expensive, especially if the material has to be translated into Spanish. "I like the idea of direct contact through the abstract office, though," Brunell said.

Cuddy then reported that 100 signs the city has ordered to be placed on village dumpsters will be ready to be put up sometime this week. The signs, 12 x 24 inches, are white with red lettering, which warns people dumping trash not to dump live coals or building materials.

Some concern was expressed that some people may dump such materials to the side of the dumpster instead, creating an even greater fire hazard.

Cuddy is also in the process of trying to build up the village's library regarding fire. "There is no library whatsoever. I'm trying to build it up for our own use," Cuddy said. Since there is not a budget for the newly-created office, general funds are being used to buy a few books to get the library started.

Although ComFIRE had been asked to take a stand against the issue of using cedar shakes for roofs in the area, the group decided there are too many other problems creating fire hazards that are as important. "Decks and zero clearance fire places are also fire hazards," said Rich Seeley.

"We can recommend strongly that the cedar shakes are treated," Brunell suggested. Members emphasized that one of ComFIRE's main purposes is to strongly support everything in the state's fire code.

Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees will meet tonight at 7, at Municipal Hall. Agenda items include:

- Revision of flood insurance study and a proposed ordinance concerning the insurance.
- A response to proposed State Highway 70.

Ruidoso trustees will hear a proposal from Lincoln County to lease airport land for a county substation when they meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at the Village Administrative Center.

Makowski announced that the forest service plans to conduct a Command Center Fire Simulation exercise sometime during February. The exercise is to help prepare those in command for a disaster should one occur.

The next ComFIRE meeting will take place February 18 at 4 p.m., at the Chamber of Commerce.

Other items on the trustees' agenda are:

- Report on auction of village equipment.
- Comparative report on receipts, expenditures and assessed valuation.
- Resolution 82-1 for certain budget revisions.
- Recommendation of persons to serve as officials for the March 2 municipal election.
- Report on number of persons filing for office.

Deadline for licensing vehicles is March 2

The state's Motor Vehicle Division has announced that the deadline for re-registering motor vehicles for 1982 is March 2.

A mail-in program is available until February 20, by returning all copies of the renewal statements with check or money order, to the Motor Vehicle Division in Santa Fe. Information is available by phoning 1-800-432-2013.

Vehicle licenses may be purchased at all Motor Vehicle Field Offices. If owners do not have a renewal statement, presenting the 1981 vehicle Certificate of Registration or title suffices.

After March 2, vehicles driven on New Mexico highways without the 1982 validation stickers will be subject to a penalty of $1 for each day (not to exceed $100) that the vehicle has been not unlawfully operated or transported.

Highway 70 improvement funds stalled

The state Highway Department has asked the Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs trustees to approve its recommendation for improvements to Highway 70, but no one is sure when the work will begin.

Members of both governing bodies received a summary of comments from last year's public hearings on the draft environmental statement for the Highway 70 project issued in late 1980.

A recommendation was fairly easy to arrive at, according to Duane Gray of the Highway Department, because the only alternatives were improve Highway 70 along its existing route or do nothing.

The work is to consist of widening the existing highway from two to four lanes from the Mescalero Reservation to state Highway 37, and from four to six lanes from Highway 37 to east of Ruidoso Downs Race Track, as well as improvement of the existing four-lane highway east of the race track.

Major improvements at the intersections of Highway 70 and 37 and at the main entrance to the race track are also called for.

Funding for the Highway 70 project was to have come from the federal Discretionary Priority Primary Funding Program, said Gray. But the department learned recently that this source of funds has been closed for the fiscal year, he added.

According to Highway Department spokesman Tony Gonzalez, funding may become available in fiscal 1983 (which starts October 1).

"We do have some funds in the program for 1983 for U.S. 70," said Gonzalez. "At this time, we don't know where it would be spent."

He noted that Highway 70 projects in the Roswell and Mescalero areas may end up competing with the Ruidoso area project for available funds. The department has not yet set priorities for the different projects, he said.

Scouts cancel annual big game supper

Due to a shortage of wood, and wild game, Boy Scout Troop 59 has cancelled their annual big game supper, scheduled January 31.

"We wish to thank," a troop spokesman said, "Safeway, Bennett's, Big John's, El Charro, Gibson's, Ben Franklin, Schlitzky's, Circle K in Ruidoso Downs, High Country Janitorial, Eddie Nichols, Merle Miller, KRFR and The Ruidoso News, for their assistance in the formation of this project."

Summer Festival concert series under 'OmniShell'

BY WILL TURBOW
Staff Writer

The star attraction of this year's Ruidoso Summer Festival may not necessarily be the Fort Worth Orchestra's Texas Little Symphony, but rather the appearance of the OmniShell.

The OmniShell is an acoustical concert shell that has been donated to the Ruidoso Summer Festival by Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Ward of Fort Worth, Texas, said Ann Denton, chairwoman of the festival's board of directors. Members of the symphony will sit in front of the ten section acoustical shell allowing concert patrons to better hear the performers' lowest and highest notes.

The portable, indoor-outdoor concert enclosure can be used for orchestras and bands, in theaters, auditoriums, arenas or parks, wherever live entertainment is performed. The concert shell allows each different ensemble to create their own particular environment. Since each OmniShell section is free standing, only a few sections may be needed for a solo performer, or all ten sections can be used to house an entire orchestra.

Denton said that the shell is extremely durable and that it stacks compactly for travel. "It stacks like egg cartons, except they're not egg cartons. It's so tough, you couldn't smash it with a hammer," she said. The lightweight, plastic band shell can be assembled and disassembled by two or three men.

Denton reported that the village has agreed to store the OmniShell at no cost. She said, at the discretion of the Festival's directors, the shell may be utilized by other performing groups.

"We're very excited. We have a wonderful program in store for the Third Annual Ruidoso Summer Festival. We're planning six evening performances and two afternoon concerts. We're also looking into a couple of outdoor shows," Denton said.

She said that the Texas Little Symphony would be wearing royal blue outfits which have been donated by a beneficent patron. They'll put on a Dixieland night and have made arrangements to present a "Hooray for Hollywood" number. Other nationally known musicians, to be announced, will perform at the June 4 through 11 festival, Denton said, with indoor performances being staged in the Ruidoso Downs Race Track's Sales Arena.

Ski Report

Sierra Blanca—Undisturbed snow depth midway on the mountain is 46 inches. Skiing conditions are good and all lifts and trails are open. Surface conditions are packed and packed powder.

Eagle Creek—Average snow depth is 20 inches. Lower Boot Hill, Box Canyon, Chisholm Trail and the beginners' slope are open. Skiing conditions are good to excellent. There is night skiing Friday and Saturday from 6 to 10.

HERE IS THE OmniShell as it might look in its outdoor environment. The striking appearance and high acoustical performance of this light weight, yet durable concert shell will add greatly to the 1982 Ruidoso Summer Festival, as well as future concerts.

DECA sweeps competency test

The Ruidoso High School chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) dominated the list of those qualifying for the state convention in Albuquerque this March.

The competency test for the regional testing took place Friday, with 36 local DECA students participating. Of the five schools comprising the district, Ruidoso High School qualified 25 students. Six Socorro students, two Mayfield students and three Alamogordo students also qualified in the district to attend the state convention.

"We did about what I expected," said Eddie Parker, DECA sponsor and business instructor at the high school. "We worked all year getting ready for this. It makes us look good statewide."

The test is divided into 12 different business areas, including such categories as advertising services, finance and credit, general merchandise, restaurant and food marketing. The test consisted of 150 questions for seniors and 125 questions for juniors and took approximately one and half hours to complete.

Thirty six students in the district were able to qualify to attend the state convention, where they will compete against other districts throughout the state in another test. The three highest scoring students in that competition will then attend the national DECA convention in Chicago this June.

"I guess you could say we swept regionals. I think it's going to be another banner year for DECA," Parker said.

Ruidoso High School students qualifying include, under Service, Station Master Employee level, Shawn Shaw, Terry Brown and Robby Hall. Under Service Station Supervisory are Steve Jarvis, Ken Bradley, John Hale and Cliff Morrison.

Qualifying under Restaurant Master Employee level were Bob Power, Raynor Baca, Sheri Dennis and Lisa Rorchart. Those qualifying in Restaurant Supervisory are Kim Langston and Sam Mize.

Apparel Master Employee level qualifiers are Robin Roberts, Jeanette Weems and Sharon Uihlein. Apparel Supervisory qualifiers are Carrie Cothran, Cathy Montes and Debra White. Those qualifying under advertising services are Robin Rhodes, Colby Cole and Robin Houck. Under finance and credit, qualifying students include Russell Isaacs and Mitzl Atwood.

In the General Merchandising Master Employee level, Carman Muse and Kevin Thomas qualified while Andy Romero, Eva Johnson and Mark Gowdy qualified under general merchandising supervisory.

Tami Valdez, Lee Ann Valdez and Todd Lopez qualified under Food Marketing Master Employee level while Dawn Osbourn, Russ Veronda and Duchess Morrison qualified in Food Marketing supervisory.

APPROXIMATELY 36 RUIDOSO High School juniors and seniors took the regional qualifying test Friday for the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA). Twenty-five students qualified to attend the state convention in March.

Security Bank president to Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE—A. A. Hamilton, president and chief executive officer of Bank Security Inc., (BSI), today announced Robert J. Dyer, current president of Security Bank in Ruidoso, a BSI affiliate bank, will be moving to Albuquerque as Senior Vice president of American Bank of Commerce.

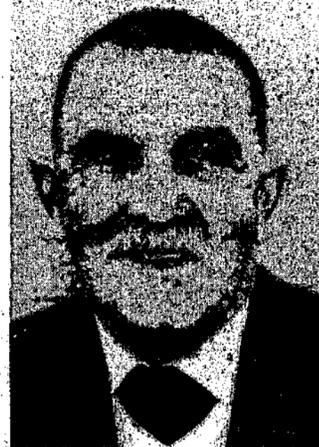

Until Dyer's successor is appointed, acting chief executive officer of Security Bank will be James W. Stewart who currently serves on Security Bank's Board of Directors and is also chairman of the board of Security Bank and Trust in Alamogordo, another BSI affiliate bank.

Hamilton stated, "Mr. Dyer's extensive financial background and professional expertise will provide American Bank of Commerce with additional strength in meeting its goals and objectives."

Bank Security is a statewide bank holding company, holding nine banks in New Mexico, a trust company, Security Trust Company, and a leasing company, American National Leasing Company. Consolidated assets of the company as of December 31, 1981 exceeded $600 million.

GEORGE WHITE

George White candidate for mayor

George P. White announced last week that he will be a candidate for mayor of Ruidoso in the March 2 municipal election.

White served as mayor from 1970 to 1972. He is presently serving his second term on the village Board of Trustees.

A native of Wisconsin, White came to New Mexico in 1950 to earn a master's degree at the University of New Mexico. He moved to Ruidoso in 1963 to assume the post of superintendent of schools, which he held until 1970.

White has set orderly and controlled growth as the number one priority for the village.

"To get this objectively," he said, "we need water and the other utilities to be ahead of development and annexation."

White also noted in his campaign announcement that acquisition of additional water rights by the village is very important.

If elected mayor, said White, he would have regular office hours in order to be available to constituents.

Lake Lucero caravan January 30

An auto caravan to Lake Lucero, a part of the area that is the source of the white sands, is scheduled for January 30.

The caravan is limited to 30 cars and reservations must be made by telephoning the monument headquarters at 437-1058.

The caravan will leave the Small Missile Range road intersection with Highways 70/82, 25 miles west of White Sands National Monument headquarters, promptly at 10 a.m. No one may enter the area after 10 a.m.

The group will spend about two hours at the lake site, with events including a one mile conducted walk, time for photography, sightseeing and lunch.

As Lake Lucero is a primitive area, with no sanitary, or other facilities, those making the trip must be prepared with enough gasoline, a spare tire, drinking water, stout walking shoes, suitable dress for the weather, sunglasses and bring their lunch.

Cameras are welcome at the lake area, but cannot be used while passing through the missile range.

Power seeks position of Downs' mayor

Incumbent Ruidoso Downs trustee Bob Power Friday announced his candidacy for mayor.

Power, a Ruidoso Downs resident for six years and a trustee for two years, said he wants to "clean up the whole town. I know it's going to be harder than just saying it, though."

Roads, the water situation and development are some major issues in which Power hopes to involve himself should he be elected mayor.

"People have asked me to run. I don't know if I'm smart enough. You have to be able to talk to people. I just want to try to make the place a better place to live," Power said.

Power is a trainer at the race track and is a member of the Horseman's Association. He has been a resident of New Mexico for more than 30 years. He and his wife, son and daughter live in Ruidoso Downs. Another son is in the service, stationed in Florida.

The election of a mayor, two trustees and municipal judge is scheduled March 2 in Ruidoso Downs. Each of the elected will serve a four-year term.

BOB POWER

Seedlings available for spring planting

Seedlings are still available for spring planting through the New Mexico Division of Forestry Tree Seeding Distribution Program.

Containerized conifer and bareroot deciduous can be purchased through the Division of Forestry, Post Office Box 2167, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87504.

The deciduous seedlings cost $23 per hundred, with the minimum order being 100 seedlings in multiples of 50.

Austrian Pine, Douglas-fir, ponderosa pine and white fir seedlings are priced at $42 for a minimum order of 98 trees, which must be purchased in multiples of 49 trees per species.

The major uses for the deciduous species are windbreaks and erosion control. Windbreaks, when planted around homes, will provide protection from hot, dry winds of summer and relief from winter winds and snow. They also reduce noise, protect soils, and provide food and shelter for wildlife. Green ash, skunkbush sumac, native plum, Russian olive, Lombardy poplar and hackberry are excellent for windbreak plantings, according to the Division of Forestry.

High school seeks accreditation

Ruidoso High School is in the process of preparing for a North Central Association (NCA) evaluation program for the third time in the school's history.

Once the evaluation has taken place, the school then applies for accreditation at the Association's annual meeting in March. Ruidoso was last evaluated in 1975. The NCA requires that each member school take a comprehensive evaluation once during each seven-year cycle as an incentive for school improvement.

Different phases involved in the evaluation includes an analysis of the school's community followed by a determination of what the school's governing goals and purposes should be. Then the programs and procedures are studied to see how successfully the school is meeting these goals. During the evaluation, every aspect of the school will be reviewed—student activities, personnel services, health services, instructional materials, staff, physical facilities, financial support and control. The evaluation will result in suggestions for those modifications and changes that will help the school improve their educational goals.

The high school has spent 10-12 months preparing the self-evaluation. Faculty reports from the various subcommittees will summarize the respective strengths and weaknesses of each segment of the school. Each of these reports will then be discussed by the total faculty. The final self-appraisal will be of the school as a whole.

A team of educators from various institutions across the state will visit the high school to confer with students, teachers and parents; observe the teaching/learning process; and study the materials the school has prepared in its self-study. The team's report will offer its conclusions regarding the strengths and limitations of the school and its various departments.

Then the staff will review and analyze the recommendations contained in both the self-study and team's report, agreeing on the areas of the program needing strengthening and devising a schedule of planned steps that will implement the needed improvements.

The NCA, the nation's largest regional accrediting agency, is a voluntary association of nearly 4,300 schools and 750 colleges and universities in a nineteen-state region. Its purpose is to seek improvement in the quality of education at all levels through a program of accreditation and evaluation.

If it hadn't been for animal antics 1981 would have been duller year

Those field mice infected with bubonic plague that threatened President Reagan on his California ranch and the stranded shark that got roped by Vice President Bush on a Maine beach were not the only wild creatures that made news in 1981.

An assortment of animals that Noah would be proud of crept into headlines around the world by causing trouble for some humans, helping others, and by just struggling to survive—sometimes unsuccessfully—in a world dominated by humans, the National Wildlife Federation (NWF) found in its annual survey of animal antics during the past year.

Medflies on the West Coast, gypsy moths in the East, a duck with an arrow through her breast, a baboon that turned in a false fire alarm, and a deadly snake that pulled duty as a night watchman were among non-human newsmakers.

Donna the Duck was the victim, and then heroine, of one of the most bizarre wildlife stories. The tiny mallard became a national celebrity when she appeared at a Las Vegas, Nevada, country club with an arrow through her breast. After two weeks of trying, veterinarians finally caught her, removed the arrow, and released her. At last report Donna was continuing her charmed life on a pond in the middle of the club's golf course.

Nipper, a ferret, made news—and ferreted out some news—by lending a hand, or paw, to the British Broadcasting Corporation. The tiny weasel-like creature pulled TV cables through a twisted underground duct connecting Buckingham Palace to commentators outside and thus enabled BBC to broadcast to the entire planet a part of the commotion surrounding the wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana.

Not all animals were so helpful, the NWF survey found. Alexis, a baboon, brought six fire trucks racing to the scene when she grabbed the lever on a fire alarm box next to her quarters in a Baltimore research lab. Trouble is, there was no fire. Jonathan, a horse in Del Mar, California, turned in two false alarms before his owner stopped the horsing around by fencing off an alarm box.

All kinds of critters tangled with electricity. An owl knocked out a power system in Klamath Falls, Oregon, when it landed on a hot line with a snake in its beak. The snake caught fire and 5,200 homes went dark. In a prison at Dallas, Texas, a hungry four-foot king snake, looking for prey, knocked out three generators for three hours. In Washington, D.C., it was an errant squirrel that caused a blackout on Thanksgiving Day.

Another invention of man, the drainpipe, nearly cost the life of a black and white cat named Squeaky in Reston, Virginia. Instead he cost his owner $1,500 when it took two crews of plumbers two days to dig Squeaky out of an underground trap into which the drainpipe—and his curiosity—had led him. On the other hand, a 45 pound alligator got out of his outdoor pen at the Denver Zoo without any help from humans. The gator, inevitably named Albert, was captured 28 days later in a park pond.

A mess of reptiles made news when a Georgia dealer in protected wildlife handed over a bag containing a dozen eastern indigo snakes in exchange for $1,200. His customer turned out to be a federal agent who had videotaped the "snakecam" transaction. Other reptiles illegally traded and seized by the feds included Indian pythons, Gila monsters and a Jamaican boa.

It was in London that a "very venomous" cobra was placed inside a showcase containing the world's third largest star sapphire to discourage theft of the rare gem from Sri Lanka. Other animals that did people's work included two dolphins named Lady and Molly whose services were sought by a Florida ship salvager to locate silver bars in the wreckage of two Spanish galleons that sank off Key West in 1622.

Several species of wildlife made news for their roles in scientific research. At Athens, Ohio, biology researchers transferred the genes of rabbits to mice and then to their offspring—a breakthrough in genetic engineering that could lead to the transfer of traits from one species to another. In an Oak Ridge, Tennessee, laboratory, crickets gave scientists some clues to dangerous side effects of contaminants in synthetic fuels by sprouting extra eyes and heads.

Not all lab critters enjoyed their assignments, the NWF report showed. In an experiment reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, a ferret injected with a respiratory virus got even with experimenter when the scientist bent over to check the animal for watery eyes and other symptoms. The ferret sneezed and researcher caught the virus. A California brain surgeon sued the University of Oklahoma and others for $2.75 million, claiming he was "permanently disabled" when a chimpanzee named Washoe bit off the middle finger of his right hand during a visit to the University's Institute for Primate Studies.

In Montgomery County, Maryland, a medical researcher was fined $3,015 for failing to provide adequate care for six monkeys in his lab. But in Ann Arbor, Michigan, another medic operated on a three and a half-pound Boston terrier named Sweetie Pie and removed half a pound of metal, including 80 cents in coins, from stomach.

The National Zoo in Washington, D.C., imported a male panda named Chia-Chia all the way from London to mate with its famed but shy female, Ling-Ling. All that happened was that Ling-Ling got beat up. But in Green County, Wisconsin, a judge had to sign a court order to restrain a bull owned by Glen Schmid from mating. Schmid's bull, his neighbors charged, jumped their fence and "immaturely impregnated" eight of their heifers. And in Miami the pink flamingos that ornament the infield at the Hialeah race track mated successfully for the first time in nine years.

An amorous bird thought to be extinct made news by reappearing in the mountains of New Guinea. Ornithologist Jared Diamond first heard a birdcall that sounded like "someone shoveling gravel," then spied a bird that more than a dozen expeditions had failed to find since the turn of the century—a yellow-fronted gardener bowerbird.

Courting a female perched nearby, the rare bird had built a four-foot-high bower of sticks and fronds in the shape of a maypole around a sapling. Stacked in the bower were three piles of brightly-colored fruit. To express his ardor, the orange-crested male held a bright blue fruit in his bill, pointing it toward the female.

The 20 minute wooing ended sadly for the bower builder. The female, apparently unimpressed, flew away. A Yale biologist called the bowerbird's behavior "without parallel in the animal world." But Dr. Diamond saw some parallels between the exotic birds and domestic playboys with expensive pads and vans.

"The males with the dullest plumage build the fanciest bowers," he said. "It's like the dull young man with a fancy sports car."

Courier's robber sought

It was just another routine overnight bank deposit, one that thousands of armored car guards make every day throughout the United States.

Only on December 19, 1981, a deposit about to be made by a Purolator Armored Truck courier turned out to be not so routine.

At about 7:30 p.m., guard Steven Wunker drove up to Citizen's Bank in Las Cruces with the night deposits from Furr's Supermarket.

As he inserted his key into the overnight depository, Wunker said a man armed with a chrome or nickel plated revolver came around the corner of the bank and ordered him to handcuff himself to the bank door.

The offender took a brown canvas money bag containing some $8,938 cash and $840 in food stamps, as well as $15,357 worth of checks.

To add insult to injury, the offender also took Wunker's service revolver, a Colt 4-inch, .357 magnum Lawman.

Investigators say the offender was described as a white male, about 25 years of age, 5-10, 180, with black hair. He was wearing a dark blue shirt and jacket and white pants at the time of the robbery.

This week the State Crime Stoppers Commission is offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and indictment of the offender in this case.

Anyone having any information is asked to call the State Crime Stoppers Commission at its toll-free number, 1-800-432-6933. Callers do not have to reveal their identities.

Last week three commercial burglaries in Albuquerque were solved with the help of a State Crime Stoppers caller.

Las Vegas Crime Stoppers received a call that helped them solve nine burglaries with the arrests of two adults and five juveniles. A total of $2,600 worth of stolen property was recovered.

And a tip from El Paso Crime Stoppers helped Dona Ana County investigators arrest two men who have been charged with the January 3 armed robbery of Billy Crews Restaurant in Anapra. An employee was shot in the leg and beaten during the robbery.

Meanwhile, Hobbs-Lea County Crime Stoppers, at 393-8005, is offering a reward of up to $10,000 for information leading to the solution of a burglary to the Gary Weed residence on November 21, 1981. A total of $940 worth of stereo equipment, a television and some money was taken by the offenders.

Focus on Small Business

by E. Maine Shafer

Dear Mr. Shafer: Several government agencies help small businesses develop their export markets by offering advice and assistance. But quite a few small businesses still make costly mistakes when dealing abroad. Any suggestions?

The government does offer good and proper help. But it is not the "ugly" American who messes up international trade but the "hasty" American, according to a DePaul University professor, J. Irwin Peters. He lists these most common errors made by United States firms in foreign marketing: — Underestimating foreign language intricacies which can result in costly communication and contract mistakes. — Cutting corners in research and planning, leading to faulty knowledge of foreign consumer needs

- Sticking to rigidly-held prejudices and not getting to know a customer country or its people.
- Failing to modify a product to suit a particular market or starting out with too wide a product line.
- Overestimating the business risks abroad but failing to take proper legal safeguards.
- Making unreasonable demands on foreign clients because of perceived or overestimated risks.
- Treating a foreign country as a dumping ground for surplus inventory.
- Failing to provide follow-up service, such as replacement parts, training or consumer information.
- Inflexible pricing policies.
- Disregarding local social conditions and the mechanics of local distribution systems.

Mid Schoolers study portraiture

Day used a new concept in teaching this year by following the ideas in a book entitled, "Drawing From the Right Side of the Brain," written by Betty Edwards. In the book, a combination of psychology, philosophy and physiology is used to teach students how to draw.

Students are taught to ignore the left side, or the more rational and scientific side of their brain, and concentrate with the right side, which controls the irrational, creative and imaginary portion of thoughts.

Students began by drawing some of their childhood sketches of people and houses. Through a series of exercises, they came near the conclusion of the book which includes the portrait drawing exercise.

"The majority of the students were disappointed in their final drawing, but I think when they get out their first drawings and see the improvement, they will feel better," Day said.

Although Day wasn't able to quite complete the book, she said if the students keep up with the ideas presented in it, they will continue to improve. "It's just like with a football player. If they don't keep practicing, they will get flabby," Day said.

Day learned along with the class and hopes she will be able to gain more ground with her next group of students. "I know so much more now. I'll have more to tell the next group," she said.

Day emphasized that, by following the book closely, "anybody can learn to draw."

Woman's Club discussed plans

The executive board of the Ruidoso Woman's Club met January 11 to discuss future programs and the state convention, which is scheduled to take place in Alamogordo in the spring.

A treasurer's report showed an altruistic expenditure for 1981 totalling $1,336.04.

The club will host the Chamber of Commerce Coffee Cart February 10 at the Woman's Club building. The club will meet that afternoon with the Barbara Minnick presenting a program concerning free enterprise.

MEMBERS OF BETTY DAY'S art class at White Mountain Middle School work on their final project a portrait. By using a book entitled "Drawing From the Right Side of the Brain," Day's class learned a new technique in learning to draw. The model is Barbara Dotson.

HAPPY REUNIONI — Walter D. Rickard, center, recently returned to the "Lower-48" from Alaska, and, last Monday proudly stood with his grandparents Claude and Clyde Peterson of Ruidoso Downs. Rickard unexpectedly dropped in on his grandparents, to visit them for the first time in 18 years. Yes, introductions were the order of the day.

Howard Tate heads Friends of Library

The Friends of the Library elected Dr. Howard Tate to succeed Kathy Flanary as president of the board at the annual business meeting January 18. Richard Hall will assume the vice presidency and Betty Cuddy will take over as secretary. Flanary will serve as treasurer.

The board has been expanded from four members to ten to garner more community support. Other members elected to the Friends of the Library's board are: Shirley Neuhaus; Jane Gale; Ellie Keeton and Delton Estes. Two positions have yet to be filled.

The board's first order of business was to authorize Galen Farrington to proceed with planning the 1982 Ruidoso Roundabout Bike Tour. Although only $93.75 was made on last year's bike tour, the project's groundwork has been established and it promises to be a big money maker in a few years, said Farrington.

Head Librarian Mary Lou Gooch thanked the Friends for the purchase of a slide projector, a film strip projector, the two new chairs in the reading room and the programming funds for the library. She reported that the children's programs are well in hand, but Gooch said, "I'd like to see much more adult participation in the library."

In response to that, Hall suggested that the Friends of the Library look into a lecture series. Such a series of lectures would benefit the library and the community, especially since there is no post-secondary schooling in Ruidoso, said Hall. Anyone wishing to help on a series idea and speakers should contact Hall.

Keeton suggested that the Friends of the Library sponsor a book fair to spur interest in the library and generate money. Keeton, the librarian at White Mountain Middle School, said that book fairs have been successful at Ruidoso schools in the past and is a no risk effort.

A final motion was made to earmark the money netted from the Madrigal Feast directly to the Ruidoso Public Library. The Friends of the Library will meet again on February 1, at 7 p.m., in the public library's multi-purpose room. Those interested in helping the Friends and their projects should attend.

Body Reflections Body Wrap Process How and Why It Works

The reason a client will lose inches, but not necessarily weight is because fat weighs about 1/2 as much as muscle tissue.

The solution this is a unique formulation of many minerals, one of which has a special function.

For instance Magnesium, one of the minerals, opens the pores of the skin allowing the other minerals to penetrate the skin, thus aiding in breaking down the fat, developing the muscle tone, activating the glands & enzyme systems and controlling water balance.

The activating of the glands & enzyme systems requires energy. This energy comes from the closest source which is the fatty tissue. In order to create energy, the fat is broken down. Since the glands of the skin are not designed to eliminate fatty material, it must go into the bloodstream to be removed by the body's normal waste removal system.

NOTE: Failure of the client to drink the required water will result in the fatty material redistributing itself elsewhere in the body. The drinking of water is the only effort the client must make, so its importance should be stressed. Also remember that the solution keeps working for hours after the wrap unless they take a bath or shower.

WARRIOR SENIOR MATMAN

Schmidt has near-perfect record

BY GARY BROWN Sports Writer

Doug Schmidt is taking on all comers this season and having a lot of success. Schmidt, a senior on the Ruidoso High School wrestling team, has achieved a 9-1 record this year competing mainly in the 126 pound division.

He won the championship of the Deming Tournament January 15 with a 14-2 decision in the finals and was voted Most Outstanding Wrestler of the tournament for his efforts.

"That was really an outstanding effort by Doug," said Warrior coach Gerald Ames. "His best effort of the season."

Although he competed mainly in the 126 pound class Schmidt has done well when he has wrestled in the 132 pound division also.

"My toughest match was when I competed against a guy from Goddard (Roswell) before Christmas vacation," Schmidt said. "I won the match 10-9." Schmidt's only defeat came against a wrestler from Las Cruces, an AAAA school, in the Silver City Tournament two weeks ago. He lost in the semi-finals and finished third in the tournament.

Doug is confident of winning the 3-AAA district championship since he has beaten all his district rivals so far this season.

"My toughest rival for the district crown should be Mike Stienzi of Silver City," Schmidt said. "The only time I've met him this year was at Deming and I beat him 10-6. He wasn't that tough last year but he's improved a lot."

Schmidt finished fourth in the district tournament last year after being seeded second. With any kind of improvement he should be tough to beat out for the championship.

The wiry Warrior senior plans to continue his education at New Mexico State University (NMSU) next year but he's got other things on his mind nowadays. "We've got a real good shot at winning the district team title," he said. "Wade Torres, Don Gwyn, Ray Montes and I all have good shots at winning individual titles."

AIM FOR DISTRICT GYM MEET

Mountaintops third at Alamogordo

In some very close competition Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy's (RGA) Mountaintops team finished third in a three-way meet at Alamogordo Saturday.

Alamogordo won the meet with 131 points, the Gold Cup Gymnastics Club of Albuquerque was second with 130 points and the Mountaintops were third with 121.9 points.

"I was pleased with our performances," said Mountaintops coach John Eberle. "Alamogordo has a really good team and their scores were quite high, so we had some tough competition."

Although no Mountaintops athlete took an individual first place there were several fine performances.

Amy Thornton was fifth in all-around competition with 32.5 points. Thornton also finished third in the bars with a 9.0 point third in the balance beam with an 8.20 score and fourth in vaulting with an 8.4 total, her best performance of the season.

Hillary Heid also turned in a fine all-around effort. Heid was fifth in the balance beam with an 8.05 total and was third in the floor exercise with an 8.25 score. Hillary also qualified for the district tournament February 6 with an all-around score of 29.25.

Karen Gann also qualified for the district all-around competition with a 28.35 total. Amy Richardson scored 27.01 in all-around competition Saturday but has already qualified for district.

Other Mountaintops girls who competed were Daphne Duncan with a 25.9 all-around score and Stephanie Garms with a 29.1 total.

"We did quite well in the balance beam competition in particular," said Eberle. "We won it as a team and averaged 7.4 points a girl."

The district tournament will be held in Alamogordo and will feature teams from all over the southern half of New Mexico. The state meet is February 20.

Brave cagers split games

White Mountain Middle School's B boys' basketball team took a 29-22 victory over Viki Carrizozo Thursday afternoon at Warrior gym.

Or Dix and William J. Willingham added six points.

In the girls' B contest Carrizozo took a 19-13 decision over White Mountain. Berdine Smith had six points and Marci Mullican added four.

"It was the best game of the season by Smith and Mullican," said coach Jean Wright. "We won gradually."

White Mountain's B teams will travel Clovis today. The boys' B team will play at 7 p.m. The Braves' boys' B team topped Cloudercroft 41-19 in a game two weeks ago at the White Mountain gym.

The Braves' boys' A team will host Father B. Hay of Alamogordo tomorrow in a 3 p.m. contest. The A team is 11-1 on the season.

SPORTS

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

Saturday, January 16, was a record breaking day at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort. The resort was host to 5,553 skiers, the most people to visit it during one day in its 19-year existence. The previous high was 5,357 two years ago during the Christmas holidays.

And the ski season at Sierra Blanca has been a boom for more than just one day. "We're currently at a record pace," said Denny McCoy, a member of the Sierra Blanca staff. "We've had other good days too, particularly during the holidays."

People came from all over the southwest on the record breaking day. "We had a lot of college students from Texas here that day," said McCoy. "At least some of the colleges in Texas had their break during last week."

What's amazing about Sierra Blanca's brisk business this season is the fact the first heavy snow didn't fall until New Year's day. With February usually bringing the heaviest snowfall of the year in these parts, skiers should continue to make Sierra Blanca's ski season a successful one.

That'll make a lot of people in Ruidoso very happy. More skiers at Sierra Blanca mean more business for the merchants in the area. Skiing is the biggest tourist attraction in Ruidoso except for horse racing.

It doesn't always pay to be the coach of a losing team in the National Football League (NFL).

That's always been evident. But this season it's even more apparent.

The New England Patriots and the Baltimore Colts got rid of their coaches after both teams had 2-14 records, the worst in the league.

That was to be expected. However, the Chicago Bears, not exactly the most talented offensive team in the league, got rid of Neil Armstrong recently and replaced him with former Bear star Mike Ditka. Chicago had a 6-10 mark this season but knocked off Oakland and Denver in the last two games of the season and lost to Dallas by just one point.

The Bears have a strong, aggressive defense but outside of running back Walter Payton, are lacking on offense. They go through quarterbacks more often than New York Yankee owner George Steinbrenner goes through managers.

With that kind of offense, Armstrong did well to get even a 6-10 record. His defense has generally been one of the NFL's best but it can't move the football.

But professional sports owners are fickle and coaches like Neil Armstrong losing their jobs is part of the nature of the business.

It's just too bad good coaches have to let go some of the time.

Turning to the college coaching circles former University of Pittsburgh coach Jackie Sherrill has accepted the head coaching job at Texas A & M.

Sherrill guided the Panthers to an 11-1 record and a Sugar Bowl victory over Georgia this season but he could find the going rougher in the Southwestern Conference.

He'll have to contend with the likes of the University of Texas, Houston and Southern Methodist University, generally tougher foes than he faced while at Pittsburgh.

Texas A & M's fans are also very fickle and if Sherrill doesn't establish a winning program quickly they could be after his job.

Sherrill should have a competitive program at Texas A & M but he'll have a hard time matching his record at Pittsburgh.

CAPITAN TOPS HATCH FOR TITLE

Warriors sixth in Dexter tourney

Inconsistency plagued Ruidoso High School's boys' varsity basketball team as it took sixth place in the Dexter Invitational Tournament over the weekend.

The big surprise of the tournament was Capitan's march to the title with victories over Ruidoso, Dexter and a 72-69 decision over Hatch in the final game Saturday night.

Ruidoso fell to Capitan 52-48 in the opening game Thursday, came back to crush Weed 62-43 Friday night and lost to New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) 61-28 in the consolation final Saturday.

"It's the same story," said Warrior head coach Barry Nelson. "We just didn't make our shots. We only scored one point in the third period. We can beat the bad teams but we haven't been able to beat the good ones."

Ruidoso had its coldest shooting game of the season against NMMI Saturday. The Warriors only trailed by five points at halftime, 20-15, but the third quarter brought disaster as the Colts scored 10 points to the Warriors' one.

The Warriors found part of their shooting eye in the final quarter, scoring 10 points. However, the well-balanced Colts countered with 29 points of their own to put away the victory.

Bill Richardson, the only Warrior to make the all-tournament team, led Ruidoso's scorers with 17 points.

Against Weed on Friday the Warriors got their fast break going and romped to an easy victory.

Ruidoso led almost the entire game after taking a 6-5 lead early in the first period. The Warriors held a 14-8 margin at the end of the first quarter and increased it gradually from there. At the third quarter break Ruidoso held a 52-23 advantage. Nelson put in the reserves in the final period and Weed made up some lost ground.

Steve Sluder led the Warriors with 17 points and Scott Neal added 14. Richardson had 10 points to round out the Warriors in double figures.

The Ruidoso-Capitan game Thursday saw the Warriors jump off to a 15-5 lead after the first quarter.

However, the Tigers began to cut into the Warriors' margin in the second period as both teams got on a hot streak. Ruidoso led 31-23 going into the lockerroom at halftime.

The third quarter saw Ruidoso hit a cold streak, scoring only four points while Capitan hit for eight.

The Tigers finally took the lead in the fourth period as the Parker brothers, 6-5 center Jim and 6-3 forward Robert, started putting their shots in.

Capitan outscored the Warriors 21-13 in the final period for the victory. Jim Parker had 15 points and Robert Parker added 12 for the Tigers. Eddie Davies also was hot for Capitan, scoring 13 points.

Richardson was tough inside for Ruidoso, leading all scorers with 21 points. Pete Garcia added nine points. Garcia and Sluder fouled out in the fourth quarter, which hurt the Warriors' cause.

CAPITAN HIGH SCHOOL basketball players huddle around head coach Jim Bizzell and assistant coach George Haile (back to camera) during Saturday night's Dexter Tournament championship game with Hatch. The Tigers defeated Hatch 72-69 for the title. Ruidoso finished sixth, beating Weed and losing to Capitan and New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI).

Capitan took a tight 59-55 decision over Dexter in the championship semi-final game. The Parker brothers combined for 26 points to again lead the way.

The Tigers took a 16-7 lead after the first quarter but host Dexter gradually cut into the Capitan margin the rest of the game. Both teams got hot in the final period, scoring 18 points apiece as the Tigers advanced to the finals.

In the championship game Capitan led almost all the way, taking advantage of its superior height and the 30-point scoring of Robert Parker, his seasonal high.

The Tigers took a 16-11 edge after the first period but the spunky Hatch team forced several turnovers in the second period and cut the margin to 29-28 at halftime.

Both teams went to the fast break better in the third period as Capitan canned 28 points and Hatch 20 for a 57-48 Tiger advantage going to the fourth quarter.

Robert Parker hit for 10 points in the third period, most of them coming from inside. He also stole the ball a couple of times and played a fine all-around game. Hatch never got closer than four points in the final period before a last-second basket.

Besides Robert Parker's 30 points Jim Parker had 16 points and Billy Page eight for the Tigers. Both Parker brothers made the all-tournament team.

In the third place game Hagerman nipped Dexter 59-58 in overtime. The seventh place game saw Jal top Weed 38-31.

Ruidoso, now 3-10 on the season, travels to Silver City for a district 3-A game Saturday night. Capitan, now 10-4, hosts Cloudercroft Friday night.

Lady Warrior cagers beaten twice

Ruidoso High School's young girls' varsity basketball team continued to be beset by inexperience and bad breaks as it lost to Dexter and Cloudercroft Thursday and Friday nights in the Warrior gym.

The Warriors, now 2-9 on the season, fell to Dexter 48-36 Thursday and Cloudercroft, a team they have beaten twice this year, 45-35 Friday night.

"It's the same old story," said Warrior head coach Sergio Castanon. "We're young and we're making the same kind of mistakes we've made all season."

Ruidoso stayed with Dexter for one quarter, trailing just 9-8. However the Warriors fell behind in the second period as the Demons scored 16 points while holding the Warriors to just seven for a 24-16 halftime advantage.

But the Warriors came back in the third quarter, outscoring the Demons 12-7 to trail just 31-28 at the end of the period.

Ruidoso took a 34-33 lead with 6:24 left when Jan Huey made a basket but then Dexter scored 12 straight points to put the game away.

Huey led the Warriors with nine points.

In the junior varsity contest Dexter took a 39-16 victory. Keri Thomas led the Ruidoso scoring with six points and Sheila Espinoza added five. Patricia Ordorica added three and Judy McCoy two points for the Warriors.

Friday night the Warrior varsity jumped off to a 10-2 advantage over Cloudercroft but was unable to keep the hot pace going.

Lillian Lopez, who led all the Warrior scorers with 19 points, scored six in the opening period as Ruidoso looked like it was going to make it three wins over the Bears.

However, the visitors got hot and closed the Warriors' edge to 17-14 at halftime.

The second half was all Cloudercroft as the Bears forced the Warriors into numerous turnovers and dominated the boards.

The Bears led 27-23 at the third-quarter break and pulled away in the fourth period, taking their largest lead at 42-27 with four minutes remaining in the game.

Besides Lopez's 19 points Claudia Branum had nine points for the Warriors. Sheri Winston had 19 points for the winners.

In the junior varsity contest Ruidoso fell just short with a second-half rally in losing 29-24.

The Warriors trailed 23-9 at halftime but outscored the victors 15-6 in the second half.

"Our girls are really improving," said junior varsity coach Jim Ramsey. "We were a lot shorter than they were but we still rebounded well against them. They had two girls around 6-2 but we still did well against them."

Ruidoso will host Carrizozo in a 5:30 p.m. game Wednesday. The Warriors will play Silver City on the Colts' court Saturday before the boys' varsity game.

Warrior matmen 7th in Carlsbad tourney

The Warriors, who were the only AAA school in a field dominated by AAAA schools, scored 67 points. Host Carlsbad won the tournament with 170 points and Irving, Texas, finished second with 135. Las Cruces was third with 120 points and Bowie of El Paso, Texas, was fourth with 103 points. Coronado, another El Paso team, was fifth with 77 points and Roswell sixth with 68 points.

Ruidoso High School's wrestling team finished seventh in a tough field in the Carlsbad Invitational Friday and Saturday.

Although no Warrior wrestlers won a weight class three of them placed third. Heavyweight Ronald Bell, who has wrestled very well in recent weeks, took third against some very tough competition. Ray Montes at 105 pounds and Don Gwyn at 155 pounds also took third places for Ruidoso.

Doug Schmidt, a 126 pounder who won the Deming Invitational last week, won one match and lost two against some of the top wrestlers in Texas and New Mexico. Wade Torres, who wrestles at 145 pounds for the Warriors, was bothered by some torn ligaments in his shoulder.

"We did fairly well, said Warrior coach Gerald Ames. "I'd like to have done better but we wrestled against some very tough competition. Sometimes it's good to go against the very best. It gets you better prepared."

Ruidoso will host its own tournament Saturday with seven other schools entered. Silver City, Cobre, Deming and New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) from the Warriors' district 3-AAA will be entered. Other teams scheduled to compete are Goddard, Roswell and the Carlsbad junior varsity.

The tournament will begin in the morning and last until late afternoon. There will be three different sessions.

Bang! You're dead! . . . A nice, clean kill

(Editor's note:

The following column, entitled "Bang! You're Dead! A Nice, Clean Kill," appeared recently in the Albuquerque Journal. It was written by Jim Arnholz, staff columnist on the Journal. The News is presenting it as a public service to readers not only for the excellence of the writing, but because of the last paragraph, which probably says as much in the fewest words ever written about violence on television and its effect upon the children who watch it.)

The best photos are in Time and Newsweek: The men jumping from the truck, throwing grenades, firing into the crowd, leaving Anwar Sadat and others dead, still others with shattered bodies, staring the hypnotized stare of the unbelieving. These are the best photos.

School teachers should cut out these photos and show them to the children. Explain to them that this is death at the end of a gun. No music. No commercials. Nothing is clean. Tell them what happened was no movie: It was real. Someone should tell the children this.

Show them the picture of the man with the AK-47, standing in front of the reviewing stand. Tell them what that man is doing. Tell them what is happening to the people in the reviewing stand.

Show them the picture of the young woman, pleading for help as she helps a wounded man. Show them her blood-smeared hand and the bloody handkerchief she is holding.

Remind them of the agonizing television videotape of the bloody hand reaching up, trying to pull itself out from under the tangle of chairs and bodies. Tell them no movie director told the man to move that way. No director said it would make a good slow-motion shot and make people wince and say, "Oh! Wow! Gross!"

Tell them it is real, and what they see on television is not—because what they will soon be seeing on television will be shootings, lots of them, in slow motion. Television has been cleaned up.

Some people said sex was ruining America and must be taken off the air. These people said the jiggle shows corrupted morals. They are right when they say jiggle shows are horrible, but the shows had a better chance of boring morals to death than corrupting them. But they will be done. In their place will be better shows. Shows suitable for the family. Shows like "Strike Force."

Isn't that an exciting name? "Strike Force." Law and order. In the first episode the children will be able to see law and order in slow motion, with music, and commercials. Robert Slack, who makes a big deal about his real-life guns, is the hero. This hero, and the other heroes, in the very first show, gun down a pair of robbers. Blow them away. Waste them. In slow motion. The robbers die, bloodier than hell, in slow motion. Because the director said they would die that way. Not because their bodies have been shattered and they are trying, with bloodied hands, to pull themselves up. They die in slow motion because television has been cleaned up.

And there will be shows about bounty hunters and private detectives and public detectives and they will gun down people like crazy. But they have only an hour or so. They must do it quickly and cleanly.

Tell the children this. Then maybe we can talk about a study at the University of New Mexico: One of the questions asked of children concerned the job of a police officer. Twenty-four percent of the children said the police officer's job was to shoot at or kill people. — Jim Arnholz, Albuquerque Journal.

The Pattern is Set For a Good Winter

This message is being sent to you on Friday, January the twenty-second, still in the "Deep of Winter." And this morning you look out upon a snowy world all up and down the vale. After two days of west wind, here came a snow in the night after the wind had stopped — true to form, the way it if the weather works nine times out of ten.

The west wind soaked a lot of snow into the ground, and left patches of solid snow all under the shade of the evergreen trees. And now on top of it all comes this new snow, making the snow birds, mother earth, and all the rest of us rejoice.

The Old Mexican saying "With more comes more" is especially true of the snow. This time of the year, with the sun making a shorter journey, lower down on the horizon, the snow stays on the ground longer. So now Jack Frost is bringing us snows just at the right time, one after the other. And remember it can snow in this section of the world right up into May. Knowing this you can see that we are headed for one of the best winters we have had in a long time.

After the last snow before this one, a warm wind moved in from the desert to the southwest, and lo and behold, over at the crossing the stream was tan colored and foaming along the banks — running snow melt water in mid winter. Cool weather followed, and the melting stopped. It is fortunate that now we have a good pack of snow on the mountain which keeps the weather cool which holds the snow in place.

The benefits of the snow to Mother Earth are many. The snow and cold makes the fruit trees of the orchard and the wild go into a deep sleep getting good winter rest. Also the blossoms are held safely back by a cold winter. And the snow soaking into the ground replenishes the water in many ways, soaking into the ground to revive the springs, the underground water; and the shallow moisture of the ground by freezing and thawing does wonders for the fertility of the soil. So already the winter has given us a promise of a green and flowery Spring, a glorious summer and a fruitful Autumn.

His poems have blessed the world with their beauty and vital messages, and are of special meaning to us today.

The next to the last verse in his great work "The Cotter's Saturday Night" in which he pictures the solid virtues of the family which make any nation great — this next to the last verse he forms into a prayer for his native Scotland.

"Oh Scotland! my dear, my native soil!
 For whom my warmest wish to heaven is sent!
 Long may thy hardy sons of rustic toil
 Be blest with health, and peace, and sweet content!
 And, oh, may Heaven their simple lives prevent
 From luxury's contagion, weak and vile!
 Then, however crowns and coronets be rent,
 A virtuous populace may rise the while,
 And stand a wall of fire around their much-loved isle.

The twenty fifth is also the birthday of Miss Tommie Sue Dunnahoo of Roswell, a true birthday-mate of the immortal Burns. She is a poet and musician of great talent, and we wish her many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

A Great Little Champion

The grand daughter of Willard and Althea Brownson of Roswell, two long time friends of the Storm family, has recently made an outstanding record in both athletics and scholarship.

Anisa Kasuboski, daughter of Wayne and Judy Kasuboski of Roswell, recently won the Roswell Championship in the free throw basketball contest for ten and eleven year olds. Then at Tucuman she went on to win the regionals for the free throw. Soon she will go to Albuquerque for the state finals.

In addition to this, Anisa won the spelling bee in her fifth grade class in Military Heights Elementary School. We are all proud of this great little lady and we wish her continued success and all God's blessings.

QUESTION - I have enjoyed the sport of fishing for several years, and for most all of that time have used some version of spinning reel. When I was a youngster my father used a revolving spool casting reel for surf fishing, probably not because he liked it, but it was the only thing available. Many times I was embarrassed for him when he would build an awesome bird's nest of line from a backlash. I tried the darn reel several times and about the best average I had was fifty percent of the time without a backlash.

When spinning reels came along I swore off revolving reels for good. Or so I thought. Then three seasons ago I was so lured by the new generation baitcasting reels, I bought one. Well, I've used the thing enough to improve my fifty percent average, but it's still too easy to create a bird's nest worth crying about.

My question is simple. What is the secret to casting a revolving spool reel? I know it can be done because I have seen people who are expert at it.

Windy T., N. Carolina

ANSWER - The secret is as simple as your question. It is practice, practice, practice. The problems with baitcasting reels surface when the reel spool is allowed to revolve faster than necessary to unwind the line. The loose wraps of line around the spool then become snarled. The resulting bird's nests are often about as easy to unravel as is the Rubik's Cube. The secret, of course, is to apply just the right thumb pressure on the spool at precisely the right time. And that requires much practice.

After more than 75 years of revolving reels, it appears that there is finally an anti-backlash system that works. These reels are very new. Some are just being introduced, and they are receiving a lot of attention. The backlash is controlled by a magnetic damper built into the reel that keeps the spool from overrunning. The magnetic effect is adjustable to suit different lure weights and casting conditions. The angler can still maintain the casting distance he is accustomed to. Sounds almost too good to be true, but there are a lot of testimonials that say it is.

The only thing I'm sorry for is that I haven't tried one yet. But I'll bet I do as soon as spring hits this part of the country.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — It was only a sentence in the Governor's message to the Legislature of 1982.

It said: "I ask you to consider funding a study of better methods of transporting our coal resources to other states and foreign markets."

That's very carefully put. The fact is that we now have almost no methods of transporting our coal — as the Governor of New Mexico knows well. We haven't even begun to get our coal out of the ground.

Until there are buyers for New Mexico's coal, the companies who own the rights to mine it are not likely to bother doing so. And what is it that keeps buyers from being literally lined up for such a purchase? The fact that there is no "better method" of transporting it, to paraphrase Bruce King.

Do you follow all that?

— No mining till there is transportation.
— No transportation until there are sales.

— But no sales until there is mining and transportation.

What that comes down to is this: Nobody moves until the other two other parts of the equation move.

So State Senator Jack Morgan, a solid and hidebound Republican from San Juan county, has decided he will break the linkage paralyzing those three potential sources of movement.

What he has hit upon is something which may not be too practical.

He's for an Energy Transportation Authority, and he has a rough draft of a bill to bring it into being.

That Authority, as he envisions it, would have wide and mighty power.

It would be able to affect all methods of transporting energy-producing material inside our state. That means it could have things to say about railroads, pipelines, slurry lines and even over-the-road transportation of those elements from which we draw BTU's.

What Morgan's idea is really all about in this proposed bill is an effort to cause Santa Fe Railways to build a line which connects its present system, between Albuquerque and Gallup, with the coalfields of northwestern New Mexico.

Will that work? Well, it's a good gamble. We don't need a study — the thing the Governor called for.

What we need is some leverage which would bring an act of faith into being. (Faith that there are producers up there around the Bisti badlands; faith that, if there are producers and transporters of coal, there will be buyers.)

Now we need somebody to put down some money on the table and say, "I'll take the gamble..."

Morgan can't produce that. The Governor's "study" probably won't produce that either.

But many of us are looking for such a person — or such a company.

The time is ripe.

Somebody could make beaucoup bucks. The country could profit from the coal which would be mined, and transported, and sold, and used.

But are the Governor's "study" and Morgan's Authority the way to get from where we are now to where they want us to be?

Probably not.

But we ought to be searching for the route from here to there.

If we don't, the need for our coal — and the profit from it — could pass us by.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:
Must Civilized Man Always Attempt To Destroy The Goose That Lays The Golden Egg?

I wish to take issue with the Ruidoso News editorial of January 7, in which K. G. and C. D. state: "Should the tribe gain title to and thus complete control over the public forest lands they COVET then the tribe could close those lands on Chino's whim."

Let's look at this issue from a different perspective. Why would the Indians covet some thing that they freely/shared with non-Indians in the first place? I wonder just who is doing the coveting... this seems a lot like the psychological phenomena known as projection. The aggressor gets defensive when the oppressed (Indians) decide to draw a line and say you cannot step on me anymore. While we, the whites, have the audacity to pump up our own egos by saying it is the Mesalero Apache Tribe (MAT) and Chino's fault. Poor little suffering (or is it scared?) white (right... at least in our vision) man.

How would you like it if someone was invited on your land or lot and then forced you to occupy only a small area and proceeded to regulate even your use of that? I'm sure some reading this will say, that couldn't happen, not here in America, no way! Well, it has and is happening right now with our brothers the Native American Indian. A current example is the "PUBLIC FOREST LANDS THEY COVET (?)"

Chino has proven in the past to be a strong advocate of local business, yet a strong adversary when necessary, (i. e.) tribally owned water, license to dispense alcohol, handicapped skiers and Sierra Blanca Ski Area. Through inter-community co-operation we can all benefit. Let the goose drop a few golden eggs our way. Without co-operation we may end up with no community. And I don't consider K. G.'s repeated attacks on Chino's plans to be co-operation. If you think the Indians, represented by Chino, can't squeeze us out, perhaps you need to reevaluate your thoughts.

If Chino is such a bad guy why is it that he fights only when backed into a corner? Yet repeatedly people like K. G. and C. D. attack him, and manipulate the reporting of his speeches to make him look like a — who is against Ruidoso. I have heard him speak and never spoke up before because I felt it was obviously untrue, the things implied in The Ruidoso News, now I find that some people actually believe the dribble that came out in the January 7 News editorial, if you doubt what Chino has said, ask him yourself, or attend one of the meetings where his opinion is expressed. They are often public. Don't swallow the mush without finding out if it is poison or truth first. Who is actually coveting what land?

If you think the Indians are too lazy or weak to fight back, think again my friends, and fellow whites. The Indians may have been beaten by the white man before, but now they have President Chino and know our rules. They will not be beaten (or beaten down) anymore.

C. Cattel

editorial

We're eagerly awaiting the announcement by the candidates for mayor and trustees' positions, in the March 2 election, of public meetings to air important issues facing the voters.

Regarding the proposed dam in Grindstone Canyon, to be built from the $8 million bond issue, we'd like a full disclosure of ownership of the property that will have to be purchased by the village to construct the dam.

We want a complete breakdown of the plans for the $8 million bond issue, to provide waterservices, and information on the previously announced second bond issue totaling in the neighborhood of $6 million.

Misunderstandings resulting from circumstances leading to the cancellation of the Eagle Creek Dam, to be financed from the 1974 $5 million water bond issue, and the subsequent expenditures of money within the provisions of the bond issue, we can do without this time around.

We expect to be given the bottom line figure from the profit and loss statement of Ruidoso Natural Gas Company for the past year, and perhaps for another five years.

If the purchase of the gas company is economically feasible, and it can be successfully operated by the village, we need to be told this, supported by substantiated facts.

At this juncture, we neither support nor oppose the bond issue or the gas company purchase. However we do not want to see the village saddled with liabilities that we can easily do without. — CD

SKEN ON LAND USE

Anyone living in the 11 Western states needs a good working knowledge of public land policy. Most of us don't have it.

Ranchers do, and that is by dint of necessity, because the vast majority of them in the West operate wholly or mostly on public land. The rest of us, however, languish in general ignorance.

Joe Sken should be recruited to speak to every civics class, every chamber of commerce, and every sorority in the district on this one subject.

That is logistically impossible, of course, but the U. S. Congress can give a more comprehensive review of public land policy in 10 minutes than anyone we have ever heard. Maybe he could be videotaped and played back from a videocassette recorder. We wished for one at his "town hall" meeting in Roswell last night.

Joe, being a rancher, was pretty well up on the subject before he went to Washington. His experience in Congress has focused that knowledge and he can speak authoritatively on the subject.

More than one-third (33%) of New Mexico "belongs" to the federal government. The figure is even greater in some other Western states. In Nevada it's over 90%.

This gigantic chunk of real estate held by Uncle Sam is worth billions, if not trillions, of dollars. Judiciously auctioned off, it could probably pay the national debt.

Sken isn't in favor of doing anything like that, but he thinks we could well put some of it to better use in private hands. That was the whole idea when the Western states were coming into the Union: the federal government was to hold the lands in trust until the territories developed.

Today that is happening, but we see virtually no movement to make public land available for private development. The Eastern states — which still have the votes — have an intractable hangup about public lands in the West. They are even less well informed than we are out here. When they hear the word development they think of national treasures such as Yellowstone Park. They don't think of the vast acreages in New Mexico for which there will never be any bonafide public need.

—Hop Graham, The Lovington Daily Leader

ON MAT'S SKIING

One interesting thing about the MAT wanting to seize land from the Forest could be some extra revenues in their coffers.

As a for instance... there's the occupancy fee the MAT currently pays the Forest Service... amounted to $74,350 in 1979-80... add to that the state Gross Receipts Tax for the same period... amounted to $114,117... which totals $188,467... which'd make a sizeable stack of two-bit pieces.

Now... way things listen... it's likely the MAT... if'n they got little to all that acreage on Old Baldy... would possibly come up with some ideas on how to utilize the occupancy fee/gross receipts tax... which, even on first thought, does seem likely... yes?

But... things'll get more interesting before they gets duller in this business of the MAT attempting... as Smokey Bear District Ranger Paul Gordon called it... a "land grab."

Yup... there ain't nothing about this deal that ain't gonna get worked out... it's just a case of folks cooperating for the common good of everyone concerned... which could take a smidgeon of time... depending upon what kinda "time" we're talking about... no?

ABOUT DWI'ERS

The State Transportation Department has released some figures saying that... during a 12 month period... DWI suspects tested showed a blood alcohol content of .176... and in New Mexico .10 means the driver's snookered.

Now the median age of the drivers tested for DWI... and nailed down because of that .176... was 29.95 years old... which sorta tends to disprove the theory that it's old drunks as is a hazard on the highways and byways.

And... if'n you want to drive where the action is... no problem... 63 percent of the state's DWI arrests occurred betwixt 10 p.m.—4 a.m., Friday through Sunday... in the big Duke City.

Now... that should help get Lincoln County off the hook as a hot bed of drunk drivers... no?

GO GET 'EM JOHN

Sure gonna be interesting... watching new P&Z chairman John Schuller going after those goals he's lined up for P&Z to operate under.

John wants to make certain everyone gets a fair shake under P&Z's regulations... and, by jinkies, I sure hope he gets with the program... and gets the job done... so as to keep most of the folks involved satisfied... an undertaking that could lead to some sleepless nights for John... no?

NO SCOUT GAME FEED

The annual Boy Scout big game feed... scheduled January 31... is caput... there ain't gonna be one... it got cancelled.

Seems as though there were problems connected with getting the meal for the feed... the six cords of wood to turn into coals to cook the meat... and even some discussion about preparation of the pit to turn the wood into coals to turn the meat into chunks sure to provoke gustatory delights for those chomping same.

Maybe it was a case of someone expecting someone to carry the ball... and it wound up that there were no ball carriers.

Kind of a shame... that... 'cause Troop 59 Scouts have always pocketed some money from these big game feeds... money that could be used for various programs/outings/equipment... whatever... that the local troop had to raise the funds for.

'Cording to way I heard it... the problems reached an impasse... and folks was mighty busy... and people were looking for "George"... to do things as had to be did... but, alas, "George" turned up as unavailable... maybe, even, somewhat unwilling to bear the burdens.

Ah, well, it ain't the end of the world... 'cause people involved will get started working things out... once everyone concerned realizes that a good deal for the Scouts went down the drain... maybe because no one got around to getting involved.

ON RISING TAXES

You must've read where Brucey Baby's wanting to take away some of those property tax breaks he signed into law last year... which'll for sure cut into your take home money.

Then there's Rompin' Ronnie... he's sorta achin' to get some tax increases in 1983... and let the states finance some of the federal programs as he wants to get the government outta paying... and, besides, make the federal deficit for 1983 the biggest ever.

How's them apples? 'Course where Brucey's figuring on getting some action is along the lines of less tax relief for business interests... which should attract quite a gathering of lobbyists.

As to Rompin' Ronnie's ideas... tain't likely he'll be deafened by shouts of praise.

BRIEF BIT: Those as liated Til Thompson's motorcyclists can be happy... Til's putting it on in New York this year... CD

Ways to buy a home

In the past, mortgages had fixed interest rates and monthly payments running 25 or 30 years. Now interest rates fluctuate and monthly payments are far above what was common a short time ago. That's why over half the homes sold today include some form of adjustable, so called creative financing. According to the New Mexico Society of Certified Public Accountants (CPA) not all of these adjustments are for comparable benefits, and some may be as inexpensive as they first seem. One common solution is for a buyer to assume the seller's mortgage. A pitfall in assumable mortgages, CPAs note, might be a large down payment. If you don't have a necessary cash you might need a second mortgage—which could put the house out of your reach. But assumable mortgages are not usually welcomed by the banks involved, because of the low interest rates they sustain.

Another problem with assumable mortgages is their legality. Although all VA and FHA-guaranteed mortgages and many written prior to the early 1970's are assumable, others carry "due on sale" clauses. There are court suits in over twenty states on the enforceability of these clauses, however, so check the ruling in your area.

Costly mortgages result in high interest rates. To pay this interest to their depositors, banks raise loan charges. Because inflation leads to volatile interest rates, lenders lose money with fixed mortgages. You may still be able to get a low mortgage rate guaranteed for a few years, but a refinancing agreement would probably be at a higher rate. If, however, you will have the lump sum when it falls due, these short-term loans may be your best bet.

But, if your finances dictate a long-term loan, CPAs advise you to compare the different graduated mortgage rates that are offered. A graduated payment mortgage may define exactly when and how much your payments increase over the years. An adjustable rate mortgage (ARM) or adjustable mortgage loan (AML) usually ties the rise in your mortgage rate to an economic index.

Because of the restrictions on national banks, ARMs can rise no more than one percent every six months. AMLs from savings banks are not restricted at all. But regulation, CPAs warn, could work against you. If an index rises beyond the allowed rate increase, the difference may be tacked on to your principal. In a situation of negative amortization, your monthly payments stop making headway against your borrowings, and your debt actually increases.

Some mortgages offer lower rates but require the loan to be paid back sooner. There are options in such a mortgage, like the rollover mortgage where the loan may be refinanced at the end of a determined period. In some instances, such as a renegotiable mortgage, this period can be as short as three years. The new mortgages may seem simpler than they are. CPAs say you should know exactly what is expected of you before you sign an agreement. For example, if a rate is adjustable, how often will it be changed, how often can it be changed and by how much? Short-term indexes are usually more volatile, and some indexes tend to rise more than others, so be sure you know what index pertains. If you use a mortgage that requires balloon payments or has to be refinanced every few years, make sure you know how much money is due and when.

In addition to creative mortgages, there are other ways to hold down costs, such as a lease purchase agreement. You rent the house until you decide either to move or buy. In some cases, rent can be applied against the price. Or you might be able to buy the house but rent the land it sits on.

Efficient use of land, capital, is essential

When it comes to productivity and profit, there's no ranch or farm without some room for improvement.

Farmers and ranchers should develop a system of priorities to improve the use of all their resources. As the system is developed, consider every possible cost and investment, says James Libbin, Extension agricultural economist at New Mexico State University.

Libbin believes a good place to begin is evaluating land use. The physical and chemical characteristics of land have to be maintained for peak performance.

Good conservation practices and soil analysis are essential, he said. Idle acres should be activated and low producing acres should be improved whenever it's feasible, and clearing land with production potential will also rate high on a priority list, Libbin said.

Crop systems should be planned far enough ahead to get the greatest benefits from crop rotation. Match agricultural enterprises with land characteristics and capabilities for the highest net earnings from the land while maintaining the best conservation practices.

However, all plans should be kept flexible so the farmer or rancher can take advantage of price changes that affect his operation, Libbin said.

Effective labor management is another item that should be high on a priority list. Labor requirements should be analyzed months ahead, where possible, and work should be scheduled so the most labor-intensive work on different enterprises doesn't fall at the same time.

Labor saving equipment should be bought whenever it is economically sound.

Remember when you lease, the payments are not tax-deductible as are mortgage interest payments on a house. Also, if you don't own the land, you may have trouble selling the house.

Finally, CPAs say, look into shared appreciation mortgages and equity sharing. In the first case a lower mortgage is offered in exchange for a share of the profits. In the second, and outside investor loans you the money. Because this is a relatively new concept, the tax question of repayment has not been resolved. If the repayment is merely a loan plus interest, the borrower may deduct the interest payments and the investor has to report this money as income. If the repayment is classified as a return on investment, the capital gains rate would apply, and the borrower could not deduct the money. Check with your CPA for more details.

Cooperative efforts with neighbors to share labor and equipment are also worth considering.

The most productive labor is usually full-time help. It may be more cost effective for a farmer or rancher to adjust his operation to get along with fewer full-time employees, rather than trying to make constant adjustments to utilize part-time help.

It also pays off to train, supervise and encourage employees, and to remember the basic needs of their families. Always provide the equipment that employees need to work efficiently.

Also compare the real costs of so-called cheap and expensive labor in terms of productivity, work quality, dependability, and maintenance of machinery and equipment. Anyone with a rapid labor turnover should take a careful look at the economic losses this situation can cause, Libbin said.

Capital falls into three functional categories — money for general operations, investments for varying time periods, and cash for consumption uses. To reach any goal, each of these categories has to be kept in the proper perspective.

Study financial records to find the actual contribution of each agricultural enterprise to the total farm or ranch business in relation to capital investment and other resources. A high return per acre might not be as good as it looks when considering capital investment, labor inputs, risk and management time needed.

"Always look for ways to get maximum use from all investments," Libbin said. "Some examples include double cropping, grazing weaned calves on crop ground, and salvaging waste products."

Vietnam vets gain extension for education

As many as 39,000 Vietnam-era veterans in New Mexico and elsewhere are expected to take advantage of a one-time, two-year extension of their GI Bill delimiting date, estimates the Albuquerque Veterans Administration Regional Office.

Extended eligibility for certain training programs was included in the Veterans' Health Care, Training and Small Business Loan Act of 1981 signed into law by the President last November 3, said director Joe Cordova.

The extension period, which opened January 1 and runs through next December 31, applies to educationally disadvantaged or unskilled Vietnam-era veterans who allowed their 10-year delimiting date to expire before using all their entitlement for educational training.

Eligible veterans may use their remaining entitlement to obtain a high school diploma, or its equivalent, or pursue a program of apprenticeship, other on-the-job training or a program with a vocational objective, Cordova said.

Enrollment in college degree, flight or correspondence courses isn't included in the extension.

The VA is urging all potentially eligible veterans to get complete information on this program by telephoning the Albuquerque VA Regional Office toll free 766-3361 in the Albuquerque area and 1-800-432-6853 elsewhere in New Mexico.

THE PET CORNER

BY JACK SNIADOCKI
Animal Control Officer

Dear Sir:

It is very true that dogs do save peoples lives in certain situations. I was wondering why we can't do the same for them? I personally feel that we, as dog owners, should have our dogs sterilized, unless they have pedigrees, etc. I believe that it is cruel to let strays run all over our community to survive on their own, scrounging around for whatever morsels it can find out of the trash bins, etc.

I also believe that when an animal is picked up by the Animal Control people, that it should have a place to be taken to see if it does have an owner, or if there is someone looking for a dog, that would graciously take the animal home with them.

Do not misunderstand me, I'm not trying to say it is up to the Animal Control Officers to do all of this, but just giving my personal opinion in this matter. This should be a matter of concern to the entire community as far as I'm concerned.

Sara S. Taylor
Ruidoso, N.M.

Dear Sara S. Taylor:

Every day dogs are being picked up throughout Lincoln County, and many are being saved. When a dog is picked up, it is assigned a case number, with description, location, time and any information that can be had. At the end of the day it is transported to the Animal Shelter to be held. The information on each animal is then aired on Cable TV, channel 11, 24 hours each day, and is also aired on KRRR radio station each morning at 9:30. These programs also air the animals that are up for adoption and any that are reported missing.

If the animal is not reclaimed, it goes up for adoption. If not adopted in a week or so, it then must be destroyed.

There are 6,000 dogs born each hour in the United States, if a dog must be destroyed, in a sense, it is saving the puppies it would have, from the same fate. Some day I hope to have a spaying and neutering clinic here in Ruidoso.

Fire prevention precautions needed in mobile homes

Extra precautions to guard against fires are needed by people who live in mobile homes. About 25,000 mobile home fires take place each year and they cause about 500 deaths, 1,000 injuries and $100 million in property loss.

Fire related deaths in mobile homes occur at twice the rate of fire deaths in traditional houses, according to JoAnn Less, Extension housing specialist for New Mexico State University.

Victims in mobile home fires are more likely to be trapped by the fire than victims in other house fires, and young children from one to four years old account for more than one-fourth of the deaths in mobile home fires, Less said.

The usual precautions against home fires apply to mobile homes, but there are some extra precautions that may save lives in the event of a fire.

If a mobile home does not have smoke and fire detectors, now required in all new mobile homes, buy at least two and install them according to the manufacturer's instructions. Test detectors at least once a month.

Plan a family fire drill, then decide what to do and what not to do if a fire starts. Practice the family fire drill from time to time to minimize confusion if a real fire should start.

common in mobile homes, but must be specially equipped to swing out before they can be used as an escape window. Also, many new mobile home designs have bedroom windows that are more than 36 inches above the floor, and these are not good escape routes.

Don't put portable heaters close to flammable materials such as drapes or clothes. Install fireproof materials where fires are likely to spread easily, such as behind the cooking stove and around the water heater.

Clean mobile home furnaces at least once a year, and keep to a rigid heating system maintenance schedule.

Never put too many appliances on a single electrical circuit. This will overload electrical wiring and could cause a fire.

Install skirting materials around the mobile home to keep out leaves and other debris that will accumulate under the mobile home and add to a fire's combustion.

Add Spice to Low-Fat Diets: Fat and cholesterol are major concerns in diets of people with heart conditions and nutritionists are urging most other people to moderate their intake of these substances, too. But fats are major flavor enhancers, and often when food is low in fat it can taste pretty flat. Plus the fact that the same people who need to cut down on fats and cholesterol are usually asked to lower their salt intake—another factor associated with flavor in food.

Spices, however, are naturally low in fat, sodium and sugar, and can return the pleasure of eating to meals which are restricted by reduced calories, sodium and fat. Chicken, for example, cooked without skin—and made flavorful using herb seasoning—can be reduced in calories by almost half.

Dill and Lemon Fish Bake is a low-fat, low-sodium, low-calorie dish. The trick here is rubbing the fish filets with a mixture of dillweed, black pepper and lemon peel before baking.

DILL AND LEMON FISH BAKE
2 teaspoons dill weed, divided
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 1/2 pounds flounder filets (6)
1 cup water
1/2 cup dry vermouth or apple juice
3 tablespoons fresh lemon juice

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine one teaspoon of the dill with lemon peel and black pepper, rub into both sides of each filet. Roll up filets from the narrow ends; secure with toothpicks if needed. Place in a shallow 1 1/2-quart casserole. Combine water, vermouth, lemon juice and remaining one teaspoon dill. Pour over fish. Cover with foil. Bake until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork, 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with sauce spooned over fish.

EVEN THOUGH PATIO DINING is popular in Ruidoso, and the sign plainly announces, to passers-by as well as those that might be hungry, that the establishment is open, it's doubtful if outside service was much in demand this snowy morning. Ah, well, it offered the photographer an early morning challenge.

WHEN THE SNOW COMES vehicles that are parked out in the open wear aerodynamically streamlined mantles of snow. Though the cover is pristine in its whiteness, it's doubtful if the owner of this particular vehicle was especially impressed as it required a lot of scraping before it could be driven.

QUESTION—I have followed your column for several years and have noted that you still use a recurve bow for hunting, rather than the newer compound bow. I remember you saying the basic reason was because the recurve looked more like a bow should than did the compound. I also remember you indicating recently that your resistance to the compound was weakening.

I was wondering if you had given in to the change yet, and if so, how you like the change? Roy T., Oregon

ANSWER—Yes, I have yielded. But my old recurve is still on the rack, ready to go. This is the first year I have hunted with a compound bow. I'm favorably impressed with some of its attributes, and somewhat critical of other features.

The compound bow has some important factors that make it worthwhile. A person can pull and hold a compound bow at full draw considerably easier than an equal draw weight recurve bow. This means a bow of more power (heavier pull weight) can be used, which results in flatter arrow flight and increased accuracy. These virtues are very important to the bowhunter.

There are also some features that are less than desirable. First, the compounds are not pretty. They will never be as aesthetic as the sleek recurves. But more important, they are bulky and heavy. Much more so than the recurves. This means they are more difficult to carry and handle after you get on a stand. This is my biggest objection. And I'm always a little afraid of being found in the field someday, hopelessly tangled in the endless maze of bowstring.

I will admit, though, the compounds have enough good qualities to keep me going afield with them. But I will not soon part with the old recurve that has served so well.

State's alcoholism death rate is high

"Recent health data shows that the death rate in New Mexico from alcoholism is five times above the national average. Alcoholism is a destructive form of stress control and a menace to the work industry," said Leo Yates, family life specialist at New Mexico State University.

"About 10 percent of adults in the United States have a drinking problem. Twenty percent of all purchasers consume 80 percent of the total alcohol sold," Yates said. Consequently, alcoholism costs the job industry approximately $40 billion annually, the specialist said. This high cost is the result of the impact alcoholics have on co-workers, in addition to increased absenteeism and losses in productivity.

One of every four families reports that drinking interferes with homelife as well as occupation. More cases are cited in high income rather than low income families.

Symptoms of alcoholism usually appear in the home after four years of drinking, but don't show up in the work place for another seven years, Yates said.

Most alcoholics drink to tune out stress from self-doubt or work pressures. In order to relieve these stresses from alcoholic employees, supervisors and co-workers should assume some of the responsibility for helping the alcoholic. Co-workers should not ignore the fact that the person has an alcohol problem or cover up for his behavior, Yates said.

To prove to the individual he has a problem and needs assistance, Yates recommends that supervisors record unacceptable habits, such as continuous absenteeism, long lunch hours and drinking on the job.

From this point, the team approach should be used to help terminate the problem, not the employee, the specialist said. The team consists of supervisors, employee-assistance programs and community services.

BERMUDA TIPS
Bermuda has a wide range of accommodations—from deluxe hotel resorts to small, friendly guest houses, with small hotels, housekeeping apartments, and cottage colonies in between. Something for everyone.

The island has a great deal of charm. Local people mingle easily with tourists, and there are no highways or high-speed cars. Atmosphere and accents are slightly British.

Bermuda is more formal than the U.S. Jackets and ties are required in most restaurants for dinner. Bathing suits and beachwear are not acceptable in public.

Car rentals are not available. There is good public transportation, including buses and ferries, and plenty of taxis. A popular option is cycling, either by rented bicycle or via the popular mopeds.

Credit cards are not widely accepted, but U.S. currency is. The Bermuda dollar and the U.S. dollar are equal, and can be used interchangeably. Vending machines even accept U.S. coins.

"Happy hours" at downtown Hamilton pubs provide good, free snacks with your drinks. If late breakfast and late dinner appeal to you on vacation, late "lunching" on free cocktail-hour hors d'oeuvres is a cordial way to break up an afternoon.

Details about your destination are just one of the many services we offer our clients at Ruidoso Travel, Pinetree Square, phone 257-7361.

The year's ten best films

by J.T. Yurko

If I were to give 1981 an overall rating for films it would probably get around two and half or three stars. It was a year that saw some remarkable films but no truly outstanding soon-to-be-classics. Hopefully the glut of horror movies has abated somewhat, and it's anyone's guess as to what movie trend will take its place. Seasonally, 1981 had one of the best summer seasons in a long time, and one of the worst Christmas/holiday seasons in recent memory.

Here, then, in no particular order, are the films that I feel are the most viewworthy of 1981:

"Chariots of Fire" As the story of what makes two men run, this film also hints at what makes each of us tick, even if we're not world champions. "Chariots of Fire" has been criticized for being a movie version of "Masterpiece Theater," but what's wrong with that?

"Atlantic City" Why is it that a French director has to make one of the best films about America in recent years? Louis Malle and Burt Lancaster combine to present what might easily be the film of 1981.

"Body Heat" If nothing else, 1981 was the year of Lawrence Kasdan. He wrote "Raiders of the Lost Ark," "Continental Divide," and wrote as well as directed the steamiest, most atmospheric movie of '81. This film along with "Raiders of the Lost Ark" are films I can watch over and over again.

"Raiders of the Lost Ark" See above. This is a movie movie.

"Prince of the City" Sidney Lumet attacks one heck of a story with his considerable talent at telling stories. Add a bravura performance by Treat Williams and an ensemble company of New York's finest actors and you have memorable movie making.

"The Last Metro" Truffaut does for theater in this film what he did for films in his classic "Day For Night." Catherine Deneuve is an actress I could watch over and over again.

"Ragtime" Why is it that a Czechoslovakian director has to make one of the best films about America in recent years? OK, so he didn't get all of the novel, but no one ever does. And bravo to James Cagney.

"The French Lieutenant's Woman" Here's a case of a movie being quite different than the novel, yet being very faithful to the novel's intentions. Harold Pinter's script may have sacrificed a bit of passion for a look at changing sexual politics, but Meryl Streep proves she can handle anything from Harold Pinter to Woody Allen. Someone may be handing her an Academy Award.

"Reds" Warren Beatty gets in to the top ten because his epic film of the life of John Reed wins the "degree of difficulty award." Lasting three hours and twenty minutes the film covered two decades, the Russian Revolution, the rise of the American left, and one heck of a love story. He not only co-wrote the script but directed and starred in the film as well. And at last, an American director makes a great film about America.

"Pennies From Heaven" This is a film I would not suggest everyone rush and see, but it is a brave venture. Herbert Ross took chances by creating a depressing musical, and Steve Martin took chances playing a role that alienates the audience. Betty Boop, er, Bernadette Peters is just perfect, and the musical numbers are simply superb. See you at the movies.

Floodlit from the ground, columns of Luxor Temple glow beneath a full moon.

Eternalizing the Pharaohs

National Geographic filmmakers walked among the ancient ruins of astonishing monuments to photograph "Egypt: Quest for Eternity," the second in a new season of National Geographic specials on Public Television. The documentary, scheduled to air Wednesday, February 3, on PBS, looks at major archaeological projects which are uncovering and preserving the spellbinding legacy of the pharaohs. (Please check local listings for date and time in your area.)

Producer Miriam Birch highlights the works of Ramses II, a great pharaoh who lived during the most glorious period of the Egyptian nation. Probably the greatest builder in history, Ramses created monuments as testimony to the ancients' belief in and quest for eternal life.

At two Ramses sites—the majestic ruins of Luxor Temple and the temple of the sun god at Karnak—viewers will be intrigued with the detailed Egyptological work that has proceeded continuously for more than 50 years. The Luxor and Karnak projects are directed by Chicago House. The oldest permanent American Egyptological mission in Egypt, it is the headquarters here of the Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago.

It is difficult to imagine the enormity of ancient Egyptian works. The temple at Karnak is a notable example of their size. When it served as Ramses' principal temple, the religious complex covered 60 acres. It remains the largest place of worship ever built.

The interiors of every temple wall once glowed with exquisitely carved and painted scenes. With loving exactitude, the Chicago House staff has created volume after volume of beautiful facsimile drawings of the now damaged and obscured carvings. This documentation is an urgent task for modern Egyptologists—rather than attempting to uncover more priceless antiquities and expose them to potential decay and deterioration, they hope to learn from what is already before us.

Television Schedule For The Week Of Jan 25 Through Jan. 31

through channels

by Joey Sasso

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT: Lovely Valerie Bertinelli promised to stay with rock star Eddie Van Halen "until death do us part"—but America's sweetheart didn't reckon on the jinx that haunts "One Day at a Time." It's an unavoidable fact that neither of her co-stars of TV's popular series—Bonnie Franklin or MacKenzie Phillips—have been lucky in marriage. Both were divorced in record time—Phillips after only seven months and Franklin after a scant three years! "I tried to warn Valerie," Franklin said in a recent interview. "But she wouldn't listen. She's only a baby, and marriage is so damned difficult," Franklin added. Val's ex-TV sister, MacKenzie Phillips, so briefly married to rocker Jeff Sessler, must also have cautioned Val about being sucked in by the rock world of drugs and wild partying as she herself had been. But Valerie was in love and felt that Eddie was Mr. Right, so she closed her ears to the warnings. And now, slightly more than six months after what Valerie called "the happiest day of her life," there are already indications that the jinx is starting to work. She and her husband are frequently separated because his band is always on tour. She sometimes flies out on weekends to meet him, but more frequently she skips his show because he claims, "her presence makes him too nervous." On the road, Eddie, like any rock star, is surrounded by sex-crazed groupies and by dangerous drugs. Valerie knew all this before she married 24-year-old Eddie, but she says she had to do it. "I fall too easy and too hard when I see a man I like," she told me. But the young starlet, who won the heart of America during her six years on the set of "One Day at a Time," insists that somehow, she's going to make it work. "Everyone around me may be going crazy, but I'm determined to keep my values," Valerie said bravely. And Val, hopelessly in love, insists that her new husband "isn't your typical drug-crazed rock star. Except for his long hair, he's normal," she said. "And I'm crazy about him. I've never felt better or more happy."

SPORTS CHANNELS: Unique in the history of televised sports programming, "Sugar Ray Leonard's Golden Gloves" represents the first time that national team boxing competition has been officially sanctioned by the National Golden Gloves Association for TV. Shot on location at various Golden Gloves clubs across the United States, "Sugar Ray Leonard's Golden Gloves" offers hard-hitting, wall-to-wall boxing action. Sugar Ray Leonard, World Welterweight Champion, Olympic Gold Medalist, three-time Golden Gloves winner, now enters the arena of televised Golden Gloves competition where he will act as star and host, assisted by veteran sports announcer Verne Lundquist. Together they will view and comment on the best amateur fights in the nation today as they—and the viewing audience—witness the birth of promising boxing careers and future Olympic contenders. "Sugar Ray Leonard's Golden Gloves" is a production of Trans World International (TWI). MCA-TV is the exclusive distributor.
