SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE AT ASPEN FESTIVAL '82

This is the weekend we've been waiting for!

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Aspen Festival '82, which has been gaining momentum for the last three weeks, will reach a climax this weekend with the parade through town, the Chili Cookoff, Mule Races, the Antique Auto Festival and the Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

Thursday at 10 a.m., the Cutting Contest and Mule Show will kick off the weekend mule events at Beavers Arena. Mule races will begin at 1:30 Friday afternoon and continue throughout the weekend.

As Melvin Means, president of the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skippers, said, "You never know what a mule is going to do." The smart but stubborn creatures can be expected to do anything from run almost as fast as quarterhorses to jump off the track or just plain stop.

To make things even more unpredictable, the Mule Skippers have scheduled a variety of unconventional races that would test any animal's patience. The chariot races, Bloomer Race, Balloon Bust Race and many others will have the mules running through some very different paces—if they want to.

Saturday morning, the parade will begin through town at 10:30. There are close to 50 groups entered in the parade. Among the entrants will be Shrine units, cheerleaders, more than 10 floats, bands, antique cars, kids on decorated bicycles and much more.

Fern Sawyer, rancher, former champion cowgirl and political activist will act as Grand Marshal of the Festival and lead the parade on her horse.

Pat Healy, whose brief description on his parade application said only "Wild," will be on hand also.

The theme of the parade will be "Building a Better Ruidoso." Judges Dave Miller, Benny Shacklett and Phil Roberts will be watching from the balcony at the Wild Snail.

The Official Chili Cookoff for the State of New Mexico will begin at noon Saturday in the parking lot west of Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth said he is expecting 60 to 75 cooks from all over the Southwest.

Judges will award trophies in two categories: chili and showmanship. The cookoff is sanctioned by the Chili Appreciation Society International (CASI) and winners in both categories will be eligible for the World Championship Cookoff in Terlingua, Texas.

Chili judging is done according to Frank X. Tolbert's Secret Judging System, which takes into account aroma, color, taste, texture, aftertaste and more.

Showmanship evaluations will be done by anonymous judges over a three-hour period. Not knowing when they are actually being judged, the cooks will have to entertain passersby continuously while they prepare their chili.

Where the chili cooks leave off, emcee Tex Scofield, "the official mouth of the chili world," will pick up with his own unique style of carrying on.

Live music throughout the afternoon and games such as jalapeno punt, pass and kick will fill out the afternoon creating a "carnival atmosphere," said Jungbluth.

Throughout the weekend, antique cars will be visible in town. The cars will be at least 25 years old and restored to their original state. They have been acquired by their owners everywhere from out in a farmer's field to an auction for antique cars.

Most owners have put in hours and hours of labor restoring these cars to their original beauty. The cars will be on display from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon at School House Park with awards given out at 2:30.

The Pro-Am Golf Tournament at the beautiful and challenging Inn of the Mountain Gods golf course will begin Monday morning at 10. Television star Dale Robertson will be on hand as well as golf pros Charles Coody, George Archer, Fuzzy Zoeller, Tom Purtzer, Lou Graham, Dave Eichelberger, John Mahaffey, Bob Bryant, Lon Hinkle, Mark Hayes, Bob Murphy and Dave Hill.

All in all, Aspen Festival '82 shapes up as a super weekend of activities for Ruidoso residents and visitors.

THINKING ABOUT THE RACES. Black Cat Cassie and jockey-trainer Greg Leclair seem to be thinking about the mule races starting Friday as Leclair brushes Cassie Tuesday afternoon.

Pro-Am tees off Monday

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

The final countdown to the first Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Tournament Monday has begun with the entire field almost completed.

About 30 to 32 amateurs have signed up for the tournament, which will be coordinated by the Ruidoso Rotary Club.

There will be 12 pro-am teams with one pro and three amateurs to a team. The remaining amateur spots on the teams will be filled by top junior golfers from New Mexico. The tournament will be an 18-hole affair and the golfers will tee off at 10 a.m.

Actor Dale Robertson is the only celebrity who has agreed to compete in the tournament so far. Robertson starred in the "Wells Fargo" television series, was a guest star in the new "Matt Houston" detective series recently and will become a regular on the popular "Dallas" television show soon.

Pro golfers who will compete include John Mahaffey, George Archer, Charles Coody, Lou Graham, Mark Hayes, Lon Hinkle, Dave Hill, Tom Purtzer, Brad Bryant, Fuzzy Zoeller, Bob Murphy and Dave Eichelberger.

All are accomplished and experienced pros.

Zoeller, Archer and Coody have each won the coveted Masters, the world's most prestigious golf tournament. Zoeller won the famed Green Jacket in 1979. Coody in 1971 and Archer in 1969.

Archer, 42, has won $1,161,847 in his 18-year career on the pro tour. The California native has won 12 tournaments during that time.

Zoeller, 30, has won $689,400 in his seven-year career. He has won three tournaments and brought home $151,571 last year.

Coody, a resident of Abilene, Texas, has won $1,164,010 in his 19-year career. He has won three tournaments and earned $32,628 last year.

Mahaffey, 33, and a resident of Houston, Texas, has won $1,040,979 in his 11-year career. He won the 1978 Professional Golfers Association (PGA) tournament and has taken first in five other tournaments. He won $128,795 last year.

Graham, 44, is a resident of Nashville, Tennessee. He has won $1,242,025 in his 18-year career. He won the 1975 U.S. Open and has captured five other tournament titles. He won $33,958 last season.

Mule events begin, races Friday

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

The mule men are here and they are ready to race. Melvin Means, president of the Mule Skippers of Ruidoso Downs, said that as of Wednesday afternoon there were about 250 mules on the grounds at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track and more were on their way.

Mules and mule men have come from throughout the Southwest and as far away as California, Nebraska and Louisiana to compete for the estimated $55,000 purse.

The Mule Show, cutting contests and jackpot events will begin Thursday 10 a.m. at the Beavers Arena in Ruidoso Downs. There will be nine categories of mules shown including mares with foals at side, youth showmanship and ugly mule at halter.

The cutting contest will feature mules in the arena separating cattle from a herd in a timed event.

The jackpot events will follow the cutting contest. These should be some of the most unconventional and entertaining events of the weekend. The events will be Western Pleasure, Reining, Balloon Bust, Barrel Corral, Coon Jump, Pole Bending, Diaper Race and Barrel Races.

Friday at 1:30 p.m. the races will kick off at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track. 1982 Aspen Festival Queen, Marian Cadena, will lead the post parade before races begin. Eleven races from 220 yards to five and a half furlongs will be run. There will be two chariot races that afternoon as well as two both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Saturday post time will be 12:30 p.m. with 12 races to be run that day. Two of the richest races, The Ascencade Stakes and The Long Ears Derby will be run that afternoon.

Auctioneer Bill Hernandez will conduct a select mule auction after the races Saturday at the All American Sale Barn.

Sunday the third and final leg of the All Distance Championship will be run, which along with The Long Ears Derby is the richest event of the races. The Mini Mule Race and Bloomer Race will also be run that day.

It is hard to tell just what the mules will do in any given race but there is sure to be plenty of entertainment for all who attend the mule races this weekend.

"I CAN'T WAIT TO GO," said Ruidoso High School senior Tad Haynes (with trumpet) upon learning that he has been selected as a member of the McDonald's All-American Band, which will march in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day and Rose Bowl parades this year. Two students from each state are chosen for the

Council supports full-time parks and rec director

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso council Tuesday night gave its support to hiring a full-time parks and recreation director if village manager Jim Hine can locate funds in this year's budget for the director's salary.

Hine is to report on the budget figures at the council's regular meeting Tuesday.

The council consented to the recommendation from the Parks and Recreation Commission (PRC) to hire a director, which the commission has proposed since last month. The motion asking Hine to check the budget came after both governmental entities criticized former PRC member Dave Anderson for making a separate proposal without the knowledge of his commission, and for encouraging a large turnout for Tuesday's special meeting.

Anderson, who announced his resignation from the commission at a council meeting September 14, said Tuesday he wanted to resign only if the council hires a director so he could apply for the position. He was told by the council his appointment to PRC in August did not comply with the bylaws of the commission and that he cannot continue to serve on PRC. The bylaws state the commission consists of four members, and Anderson was appointed as the fifth.

The status of the commission and Anderson's membership was brought up because PRC and the council were displeased with Anderson's handling of the parks and recreation issue.

The start of Tuesday's meeting was beset by bickering over announcements Anderson distributed publicly urging a large turnout for the special session. The council moved the meeting from the large auditorium at village hall to a smaller room because the big room had been scheduled by another group. About 20 persons who turned out to listen to the discussion were forced to stand in the small room which is used by the council for its pre-meeting study sessions.

Councilman Don Dale said radio announcements and locally distributed flyers on the meeting blew the session "out-of-proportion," and he said he took offense to Anderson announcing the session on his own.

PRC member Dick Shaw said his commission had no part in announcing the meeting.

Councilman Frank Sayner said the purpose of the session was for the council to meet with PRC for a roundtable discussion on the budget. Sayner also challenged Anderson because Anderson "caused a multitude of folks to show up," which Sayner said demonstrated an interest in parks and recreation, to work with him on acquiring government grants to build new ballparks.

Anderson accepted the challenge.

Sayner said the council and the commission could get a lot accomplished, but he added "it's not going to be done by showing up in mass force and making us look like fools."

Anderson said he distributed the announcements because several people are interested in the outcome of the PRC proposals. When the arguing subsided, he explained a proposal he drafted along with Dave Warren, a local athletic league organizer.

Anderson's proposal asked for council sanctioning of a volunteer director and assistant who could work with local schools in coordinating several athletic programs. Anderson said he met with school officials, and that they agreed to opening their facilities if the programs are under a village-sanctioned director.

Anderson said he and Warren came to the conclusion that the village does not have enough money to hire a director, after they examined this year's parks and recreation budget. He said he has lined up several volunteers who would help rejuvenate present recreational facilities and get programs under way.

But PRC disagreed with the volunteer setup. Chairman Bill Morrison said, "Until tonight, we didn't know we had anything different for parks and recreation." Morrison added the commission was maintaining its recommendation for a director and a fully funded department, as originally proposed.

PRC members agreed with Morrison. Shaw noted that the original goal was to get the position of director created, and he added the village could find the money somehow for a director's salary. Shaw said the department should be set up right, and not with volunteer help because it cannot require the motel to conform.

Mulholland and Martin Rose voted for the motion, while members Tom Kelham, Milt Alcorn and Jim Paxton were opposed.

Kelham noted that according to Huckstep's opinion, P&Z could not enforce the building code on a change of ownership request. But he said the Uniform Fire Code and building code include the same provisions regarding emergency exits, and he said he did not want to approve the request without requiring enforcement of the applicable code.

P&Z chairman John Schuller noted that the Uniform Fire Code has been adopted as ordinance by the village council. Mulholland asked fire prevention officer Ollie Cuddy if the fire code could be imposed even on existing structures. Cuddy indicated it applies in all cases.

Mulholland argued the commission should grant the request, and rely on the fire department to enforce the code, but he said P&Z could not require the changes in exits.

After P&Z denied the request, Schuller suggested Apache Village owners return to the commission after changes are made. He noted that emergency exits must be at least 5.2 square feet, and that windows in individual cabins at the motel do not meet that dimension.

In other business, P&Z:

—Approved a six-inch side lot line variance on Lot 27, Block 14, in Alto Crest Unit 2 for John Addington. Addington requested a front lot line variance for a house he wanted to build on an existing foundation that was built too close to the road. The commission pointed out he could move the house back on the foundation to conform with P&Z regulations.

—Approved a replat of Lots 16, 17 and 18 in Block D of Singing Pines Subdivision for George G. Adams and Suzanne M. Vasile.

—Approved a replat of Lot 18 and replat of Blocks I, K, and M in Middle Cedar Subdivision for Otis Pearson.

—Approved a replat of Lot 4, and replat of Blocks I, K and M in Middle Cedar Subdivision for Jackie N. Davies and Harry J. Copey.

—Approved a replat of Lot 2 in the C. A. Eiland Tract. The replat is for a lot adjacent to the new Safeway being built on Mechem Drive. Civil engineer Tim Collins said the lot was redesigned for another store to be located in the new shopping center.

not be done on a part-time basis.

PRC member Dub Holt said the recommendation of the commission remains hiring a director. He noted the council instructed PRC at last month's meeting to work up a salary and department budget and present the figures in a special joint meeting.

Member Ken Moore said many people support the idea of a parks and recreation director, and that it "behooves the council to listen to the people." He said the committee stands by its original recommendation.

Dale asked if the suggestion was for the village "to dig up funds" for the position. He also asked Hine about the process of hiring a director.

"Let's hire us a director, let's get the job done," Dale said.

Hine said he would check the budget to see if funds are available. He added that, if the council wishes to employ a director, the position will have to be advertised for 15 days.

Hine said Wednesday morning that, if money is available, it will have to come out of the village's general fund.

Councilman Benny Coulston asked if the council was giving its consent to the recommendation, subject to Hine's findings on the budget. Council members indicated they would create the position pending Hine's approval.

On another issue, PRC and council also discussed the council's decision to pursue purchase of the slide at the municipal swimming pool.

The council decided at its last meeting to buy the slide for $35,000 plus a percentage of future revenues if Ralph Rush, the present owner of the slide, will agree to the terms of the proposal.

Shaw said he was dead against village ownership of the slide, and he argued the council should not pay $35,000 for it and assume liability for the slide's operation.

Sayner defended the council's decision. He said the council "got rid of a thorn in our side" by approving the purchase, and that lawyer fees could be higher than the $35,000 if the village brings Rush to court to remove the slide.

Junge argued that revenues from the slide will help the village recover yearly losses incurred from operating the pool, which will result in more parks and recreation money for athletic programs.

TOM PURTZER putts the ball in a recent golf tournament. Purtzer, 30, of Phoenix, Arizona, is one of 12 pro golfers who will compete in the first Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Tournament Monday. Purtzer shot a 273 in the Texas Open last weekend, the best performance in that tournament by any golfer who will compete in the Inn's pro-am tournament.

Pro-Am Monday

Eichelberger, 38 and a resident of Fort Worth, Texas, has won $66,179 in his 15-year career. He has taken four tournament victories in his career and brought home $59,927 last year.

Hinkle, 32 and a resident of Dallas, Texas, has won $756,852 in his 10-year career. He has won three tournaments including the 1979 World Series of Golf. He won $144,307 last season.

Hayes, 32, lives in Edmond, Oklahoma. He has won $799,791 in his nine-year career and has captured three tournaments. He won $91,624 last year.

Purtzer, a resident of Phoenix, Arizona, has won $520,997 in his seven-year career. He won the 1977 Los Angeles Open and won $122,812 last season.

Murphy, 38, lives in Delray Beach, Florida. He has four tournament victories in his 14-year career on the pro tour and has won $1,143,472 in that time. He won $87,191 last year.

Bryant, 27 and a resident of Amarillo, Texas, is a graduate of the University of New Mexico. He has won $175,549 in his six-year career and took home $52,070 last season.

Hill, 45 and a resident of Lakewood, Colorado, has been on the tour for 24 years and has won over $1 million. He has been a member of the United States Ryder Cup team three times. He won the Vardon Trophy in 1969. The Vardon Trophy is annually awarded to the golfer with the lowest stroke average on the tour each year.

Tommy Morel, the Inn's director of sales and marketing, feels this year's tournament should be a big success and next year's should be even better.

"We've got a lot of good golfers and the interest has been good," he said. "For a tournament that's being held for the first time everything's gone great. Next year we'll have more time and should be able to get more pro golfers and celebrities."

"Most of the people we contacted said they would have been glad to come this year but that we had contacted them too late and they already had something else on their schedule."

Gallery tickets can be bought for $20 a person. They are on sale at Village Hardware, Ruidoso State Bank, Security Bank, First City National Bank, the Chamber of Commerce, KRRR radio station, The Ruidoso News, The Inn of the Mountain Gods golf shop, Cree Meadows Country Club golf shop, Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club golf shop or from any Rotary Club member.

Tickets can also be bought at the Inn Monday before the tournament.

The Rotary Club members are helping to organize the tournament and will aid in seeing it through until the end Monday.

There will be 16 Rotary Club members manning each leader board. They include Al Junge, Archer Wilson, Jim Paxton, Ron Harris, Ken Cox, Wayne Sivage, Jack Reed, Ollie Cuddy, Jim French, Mike Hainer, Larry Langford, Nelson Buck, Paul Gordon, Robert Boverie, Charles Spooner and Mike Radziewicz.

Handling the scoreboard will be Ken Carr, Robert Donaldson, Frank Crown and Jim Wheeler.

Alden Deyo, Doug Cluff and George Smith will handle course communications while Al Lane, Rod Adamson and Otis Spears will handle program sales. Ticket sales will be taken care of by Bob Dugger, Rex Skellet and Ken Moore.

Tylenol taken off

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

Bottles of extra strength and regular Tylenol capsules were pulled from the shelves of Ruidoso stores following the national scare resulting from the deaths of persons in the Chicago area after taking capsules laced with cyanide.

The New Mexico Health and Environment Department has formed a Tylenol Task Force to coordinate information about the problem for New Mexico. The department recommends that no Tylenol capsules—including extra strength and regular—be taken at this time.

Ruidoso grocery stores and pharmacies were contacted this week to find out if they had removed Tylenol from their shelves.

Ray Nutley, of Nunley's Hospital Pharmacy and Ruidoso Drug, said he found two bottles from lot 1910MD on the shelf. Capsules contained in bottles from that lot, and from lot MC 2880, were the ones contaminated with cyanide that killed seven people in the Chicago area.

Nunley said he removed all the capsules from the shelves. Don Swalander of Don's Prescription Pharmacy said he found no bottles from the suspect lots, but that he removed all extra strength capsules and pills from the shelves and returned them to the wholesaler.

Carl Franzer, manager of Safeway, said all bottles of extra strength capsules were taken off the shelves last Friday.

An employee at the midtown 7-11 store said the area supervisor ordered all bottles of Tylenol removed from the shelves in area stores.

The state Tylenol Task Force has issued daily bulletins this week on the problem. Lionel Richardson of the Roswell health department office said that based on the findings of strychnine in two bottles of Tylenol in California, the manufacturer of the product has asked that no Tylenol capsules be used.

For more information, contact the New Mexico Poison Control Center at 1-800-432-6866 or the task force at 1-800-432-4464.

Fish kill money collected

Bob Patterson of the state Game and Fish Department said this week the department has collected $6,245 for losses in the Rio Ruidoso fish population resulting from a February gasoline spill into the river at Sudderth and Mechem Drives. Patterson said details will be released later about the collection of damages. It was estimated that the spill killed 2,500 fish in the midtown stretch of the river.

Joint Use Board briefed on Downs sewer

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

Ruidoso Downs Mayor J. C. Day told the regional wastewater plant Joint Use Board (JUB) Monday his village has approved a new sewer rate ordinance and will submit it to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for consideration this week.

The EPA cut off funds two weeks ago for completion and continued maintenance of the Biscuit Hill plant, which is presently adding a new clarifier at the site, because the federal agency felt sewer charges were not applied fairly to residential and commercial users in Ruidoso Downs.

Presently, residential users pay a flat rate of $6 a month; and restaurants, trailer parks, motels, service stations, washaterias, horse care and/or training facilities (except Ruidoso Downs Race Track), are charged $15 plus a 10 percent surcharge for all metered water. Other businesses are charged a flat rate of $15 a month.

The EPA objected to the flat rate being charged to residential and some commercial users, while other businesses and the racetrack are charged according to the number of sewer taps. The current charge to the racetrack is $75 per month for the first five taps and $50 for each additional tap.

The agency also wanted users charged according to their volume of use.

The new ordinance keeps the minimum monthly charge to residential users of $6, and $15 for commercial users, but it adds a commodity charge of 50 cents per 1,000 gallons of water used in excess of 4,000 gallons.

Sewer customers not connected to the municipal water system will be charged higher flat rates. The residential charge will be $9, and commercial users will pay $22.50.

The ordinance establishes a minimum monthly fee of $50 for Ruidoso Downs Race Track, and a volume charge of 50 cents per 1,000 gallons of water used in excess of 50,000 gallons.

Day said his village passed the ordinance under an emergency clause, which will put it into effect five days after publication October 7.

Quinton Daniel of Daniel Engineering said the ordinance will have to be approved by both the state Environmental Improvement Division and the EPA before the federal government will restore funds for the plant, which he said could take up to three weeks.

The JUB also heard from clerk/treasurer Jim Hine that the state Game and Fish Department has billed the board $1,652 for a fish kill in June that the department said resulted from excessive chlorine discharged into the Rio Ruidoso shortly after the treatment plant went into operation.

Game and Fish estimated that 600 fish were killed, and is charging JUB $2 per fish and $452 for personnel expenses, Hine explained.

Hine said he made a counter offer to the department that the board will buy and replace the fish on its own. He said he thinks the department will agree to replacement of 300 fish, at a cost of $600. Hine said it would be good advertising if JUB replaced the fish.

Daniel asked for authority to check with the insurance company of the plant contractor to see if the fish loss would be covered by insurance. The board granted him permission to do so.

Ruidoso Downs amends sewer ordinance

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees passed five amendments to the Downs sewer rate ordinance during a special meeting Monday at the municipal building.

The amendments were passed in order to meet Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) standards and resume federal funding for the construction of the Biscuit Hill Wastewater Treatment Plant. Funding was recently terminated by EPA for lack of an acceptable sewer ordinance.

Acting upon a motion by trustee Bob Power, the board adopted an amendment to charge Ruidoso Downs Race Track a $500 monthly base rate for up to five sewer taps, and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons of water going into the complex over 50,000 gallons per month. The board also stipulated that water to all facilities except the barns is to be metered with easy access to the meters for village employees.

Before the amendment the racetrack had been charged $75 per tap for the first five taps and $50 for additional taps, with no charges tied to water used.

The board also decided to charge all residential, commercial and industrial units 50 cents per 1,000 gallons of water used over a 4,000 gallon per month minimum. Users had been charged flat rates before the amendment.

Residences with private wells not using municipal water will be charged a flat rate of $9 per month for sewer hookup. Commercial units will be charged $22.50 and industrial units $30.

Using a Ruidoso ordinance as a model, the board adopted two other amendments concerning sewer connections serving multiple units and tank truck discharge of septic tank waste.

Sewer connections serving more than one unit shall be charged a base rate for each unit serviced, and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons over 4,000 gallons of water used per unit serviced per month.

Companies or individuals engaged in the commercial enterprise of septic maintenance will be required to obtain a permit from the village before discharging any waste within the village limits. They will be able to discharge only into designated manholes at a charge of $5 per 1,000-gallon truckload or part thereof.

Mayor J. C. Day declared the amendments to the ordinance to be an emergency measure on the grounds of urgent public need, meaning they will take effect five days after their publication Thursday, October 7.

A copy of the amended ordinance has been sent to E. E. Snow in Santa Fe, who is in charge of grants administration of the Environmental Improvement Division of the EPA. If he approves the ordinance, federal funding, which finances 75 percent of the construction costs of the treatment plant, will resume.

According to a letter dated August 31, federal funds for the Biscuit Hill Wastewater Treatment Plant have been cut off by the EPA because Ruidoso Downs was not charging large volume users enough and the method of calculating users' costs was inconsistent.

The special meeting was called because trustees could not come up with an amended ordinance at two previous regularly scheduled meetings. Trustees wished to have federal funds restored before the villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs had to start paying for the construction of the treatment plant completely out of their own coffers.

Retail Merchants discuss Aspen Festival, Christmas

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

The Retail Merchants Committee (RMC) of the Chamber of Commerce listened to last minute progress reports on Aspen Festival '82, then looked ahead toward Christmas in their monthly meeting Monday.

Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth reported that 43 different groups had signed up for the Aspen Festival parade, which will include antique cars, firetrucks, Shrine units, cheerleaders, politicians, at least 10 floats and many other entries.

Judges of the parade have been chosen. They are Dave Miller, city councilman from Alamogordo; Bennett Shacklett, former band director from Roswell; and Phil Roberts, also a former band director.

Liability insurance required by the state for the parade could not be avoided, Jungbluth reported, and has been paid. He also said the village has agreed to lend officials of the festival two-way radios for communication throughout the weekend.

Jungbluth said he wanted to remind kids of all ages to enter their bicycles in the parade. There will be awards for the best decorated bikes in the parade. Those who want to ride in the parade should be at the Mountain Ski Shop parking lot at 9:30 Saturday morning.

Chili Cookoff preparations are also moving along smoothly, reported Jungbluth. "It's just coming along super," he said. He said he had been to two cookoffs in the last two weeks to see if he could learn anything from them, and came away pleased.

"To date we have already done more than they have and we haven't even had ours," said Larry Langford, RMC chairman.

Coors beer company will be working with the committee, providing beer at the cookoff, plus publicity and aprons for the cooks. Richard Sandoval said Coors agreed to help with very short notice this year and will be able to lend even more support next year.

The Inn of the Mountain Gods has the Celebrity Pro-Am Golf Tournament well organized, it was reported. The Inn set training sessions for tournament marshals and communications people Wednesday and Sunday afternoons.

The Tractor Pull and Pro-Am Bowling tournament have both been cancelled, reported Jungbluth. He said no suitable site for the tractor pull could be found and that there had been inadequate interest in the bowling tournament.

In new business, Janet Goodwin reminded members that there will be only two more RMC meetings before Christmas. She brought up the subject of stores staying open late during the holiday season and asked if the committee wished to make any sort of plan for holiday operating hours.

It was decided that the committee will leave it up to individual merchants to set their own policies since extended hours are more suitable for some businesses than others.

Jungbluth said there are only seven weeks until the lighting of the community

Christmas tree. Committee members decided they should do something to improve arrangements for putting up the lights and not spend as much money as was spent last year.

In other business, the committee: —Received copies of recommendations for changes in the ordinance concerning seasonal and outdoor sales.

—Heard a request by Roger Marshall that he be replaced on RMC. Chairman Langford told the committee to consider if the committee needs to replace him and bring suggestions to the next meeting.

—Listened to a request by Langford to think about length of terms for the chairman of the committee and whether members desire a change in leadership.

—Talked about responsibility for Aspen Festival Queen Marian Cadena as she attends events throughout the year. It was decided all requests for her appearance will be channeled through the Chamber and chaperones to the parents liking will be arranged for all her appearances.

Phone company launches $2.8 million project

Continental Telephone of the West will spend more than $2.8 million for new digital telephone switching equipment, announced John Van Tussenbroek, District Customer Services Manager.

The equipment will make several new types of telephone service available to residents and businesses.

Van Tussenbroek said that equipment is arriving daily and construction has begun. By next summer, installation of four new digital switches for Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan and Mesalero will be complete.

These will allow call forwarding, which is the ability to forward calls to another number; call waiting, which provides an audible signal when a call comes in to a phone that is in use and allows the first caller to be put on hold; conference calling; and touch tone dialing.

A total of 6,250 lines will be installed at the four locations, Van Tussenbroek noted. Other equipment for additional long distance service and extended area service is also included in the $2.8 million project.

The project is part of a $20 million 1982 and 1983 construction program in New Mexico by Continental. Van Tussenbroek said the expenditure was originally scheduled for 1984, but that an assessment of current needs and forecasts for continued population growth showed it is needed now.

Van Tussenbroek mentioned that the new equipment can be added to with additional software in the future.

"When we're all through, we'll have the most advanced telephone system in the U.S.," he said.

No drinking at games

Ruidoso High School principal Tom Hanson has gathered 40 volunteers who have agreed to file complaints against anyone seen drinking alcoholic beverages at Ruidoso High School football games.

There have been drinking problems with some adults at recent Warrior football games. Two policemen will be assigned to the game Friday night against Cobre High School.

Anyone who sees people actually drinking at the game is encouraged to report them to the police and sign a complaint. The school needs more than 40 people who will file complaints.

According to the state detoxification law, a person cannot sign a complaint against someone else unless that person is actually seen drinking alcoholic beverages. People who just appear to be drunk cannot have a complaint filed against them.

Downs P&Z okays cabin

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Ruidoso Downs Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) Wednesday approved a request from Kay Hatcher and Opal Armstrong, owners of Grannie's Storehouse, to put a cabin on their property. The two plan to open a Grannie's Kitchen to serve "old-fashioned cooking" if approval is granted by the state Environmental Improvement Division.

If a restaurant is not opened the cabin will be used for a showroom, Hatcher said.

"I think it would be something great for the village," said commission member Jim Tidwell. Hatcher and Armstrong were advised to present the request to the village board of trustees for approval also.

P&Z members voted to change their meeting night to the first and third Thursday of each month at 7:30 p.m. The commission has been meeting on the first and third Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

New P&Z member Jackie Branum was welcomed to her first meeting by the other members.

The Ruidoso News annual ski insert is being readied for distribution as soon as Sierra Blanca Ski Resort opens.

The deadline for advertising to be included in the issue is Thursday, November 11.

For information and advertising rates, telephone 257-4001 and ask for Carmen Edwards or Judy Frost.

The insert will be included with the regular edition of The News when it is released, with additional distribution scheduled during the peak of the ski season to acquaint skiers with Ruidoso's attractions and services.

Little Theater conducting logo contest

The Ruidoso Little Theater (RLT) is looking for a logotype and is conducting a contest for the best design.

The creator of the logo judged to best represent RLT will be given a lifetime pass for two to all future plays presented by the theater group.

All entries must be in black and white and must fit in an area four inches by four inches, though they can be any size or shape within those bounds. All entries submitted will become the exclusive property of RLT and will not be returned.

Founding members of RLT will judge the entries without knowing the identity of the artists. Entries may be submitted to the Chamber of Commerce or mailed to Box 1963 Ruidoso. The contest closes October 31 and the winner will be announced at the opening night performance of "The Penultimate Problem of Sherlock Holmes" November 12 at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

All area residents are encouraged to participate in the contest.

Local banking, railroading histories topic of program set for October 15

The White Oaks Historical Association (WOHA) will present an historical program on Friday, October 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Carrizozo School Conference Room. Johnson Stearns will present his perspectives on the histories of banking and railroading in Lincoln County, and their contributions to the development of the county. His love of Lincoln County has caused him to be a natural homegrown historian and collector of related artifacts. He has worked in both banking and railroading, and because of his regard for them he is especially well versed in historical data relating to them.

Johnson was born into a railroad family. His father, Orsa Stearns, was employed by the El Paso and Southwestern Railroad at Carrizozo as a switchman in 1904, later becoming a general yardmaster at Carrizozo with the Southern Pacific. Johnson went through and graduated from the Carrizozo schools in 1936, going to work for the railroad that same year as a clerk-stenographer. During World War II he transferred to train service as a brakeman and served as a terminal trainmaster at Carrizozo, later transferring back to office work. In 1948, while still employed at the depot in Carrizozo, he began working part time for Citizens State Bank. In 1952 he accepted full-time employment with the bank at Vaughn until 1957, when he resigned from the bank and became town clerk at Carrizozo, in 1961 going back into the bank full time again.

He plans to retire from active banking on December 31, 1982.

The public is invited to join WOHA members for this entertaining program. Refreshments will be served by Edna Littleton and Dolly Ward.

Kite contest scheduled Sunday

The Aspen Festival Kite Contest '82 is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Sunday, October 10, at White Mountain School.

Awards for Best Flyer and Best Looking Kite will be presented to first, second and third place winners in four age groups: nine and under, 10 to 13, 14 to 17, and 18 and older. There will also be a grand prize. Gift certificates from Mr. and Mrs. Wizard hobby shop at Sierra Vista Mall, which is sponsoring the event, will be first place awards.

All kites must be hand made—no factory kites will be allowed. Free kite sticks are available at Mr. and Mrs. Wizard.

Story hour to start at library

Full sessions for Pre-School Story Hour will begin Monday, October 25, at Ruidoso Public Library. Children between the ages of three and five are invited to participate.

The children will learn how to get along with each other and how to follow simple directions. They will practice listening skills and motor control through stories, song, dance, creative dramatics and arts and crafts. Added enjoyment will be provided by puppet shows and movies.

Two sessions will be offered on Mondays and Wednesdays, 10 to 11 a.m., continuing once a week through the week of December 17. Registration is going on now at the library.

Special program set at library

A special program will be presented at Ruidoso Public Library Saturday, October 16, when the Magic Man presents Mr. Yuk. Time of the entertaining program is 1:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Mr. Yuk is the new symbol for poison, and the Magic Man's presentation will deal with awareness among children of dangers of poison.

All children are invited to attend.

Sorority meets

Alpha Delta Kappa International honorary teacher sorority met October 3 at the home of Angie Provine in Capitlan, with Fronie Ramey, Louise Ferguson and Inez Pacheco as co-hostesses.

State historian Iva Beth Hartranft of Rio Rancho was a visitor. A program presenting Alpha Delta Kappa ideals was presented by Hartranft with assistance of chapter members president Darla Lathan, Dorothy McVeigh, Ferguson, Nelle Jones and Lyndy Samelson.

Plans were made for commemorating the 1947 founding of the organization. Luncheon was served by the hostesses.

NETTIE HUG, chairwoman of the local Kidney Foundation fund drive, displays the stained glass sun catchers and bags of candy that are being sold to raise money in this year's drive. The items will be available at local banks and businesses from October 8 through November 5.

Kidney Foundation fund drive to begin

Stained glass sun catchers and bags of candy are being sold this year during the annual Kidney Foundation fund drive, scheduled for October 8 through November 5.

Almost $1,400 was raised last year, according to local fund drive chairperson Nettie Hug, and she hopes to exceed that amount this year. Hug said that 81 percent of the money raised will remain in New Mexico and that less than nine percent is used for administrative costs.

The primary use of the funds is for research to aid in early diagnosis of kidney problems. Funds are also used for education and seminars for doctors and nurses in the field of kidney disease and for direct patient financial assistance.

Hug, who is involved with the program because she has had a kidney transplant, said there are three patients in Ruidoso who are currently receiving kidney dialysis treatments. A grant has been awarded to the Kidney Foundation by Atlantic-Richfield Company for Hug's volunteer work in this area.

The sun catchers, to sell for $3 each, and candy, to sell for $1 a bag, will be available at local banks and businesses during the fund drive. Everyone is encouraged to donate to the Kidney Foundation by purchasing these items.

Parenting and Sex Education program to begin Tuesday

A Parenting and Sex Education program will be presented at First Baptist Church of Ruidoso Downs beginning Tuesday, October 12, sponsored by the Parent/Teacher Fellowship of Ruidoso Christian School.

The program will consist of four informal sessions to include movies (rated PG), lectures and question and answer periods. Local family physician Michael O. Stone, Ph.D., M.D., will present and moderate the series.

The object of the program is to assist parents in the task of educating their children about sex by allaying some of the anxieties, uncertainties and possible areas of ignorance.

The series will run for four consecutive Tuesdays, beginning at 7:30 p.m. October 12. There is no charge and all area parents are invited to attend.

Baked goods to be sold during parade

The Ruidoso Garden Club plans to set up a booth on Sudderth Drive this Saturday to sell baked goods and coffee to Aspen Festival parade watchers.

The booth will be located near 2205 Sudderth, next to Madre's, and will be open from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Everyone is invited to stop by before or after the parade, which is set to begin at 10:30 Saturday morning.

Old-timers dinner set for Saturday

Saturday is the day for the Annual Old Timers Covered Dish Dinner, set for 6 p.m. at the Ruidoso Public Library multipurpose room.

All residents of this area for 15 years or more are invited to attend.

Parade to be televised Saturday

Saturday's Aspen Festival parade will be televised live on channel 11, beginning at approximately 10:45 a.m., for those who are unable to watch the parade in person.

ENJOYING A FEAST provided by the hospital in their honor Tuesday are Pink Ladies (from left) Jodie Keyes, Stormy Kirby-Smith; and Lou Horton, the hospital's host for the Pink Ladies; Ruth Shockey; and Lena Horton. The 40 Pink Ladies present took the occasion to present $40,600 they have raised at their Pink Shop and Thrift Shop to the hospital for 20 new beds. They also showed off a new afghan sent to them by Mrs. Dennis Blakely of Odessa, Texas. Donations for chances to win the afghan will be accepted and added to the Thrift Shop Building Fund.

Obituaries

Gladys W. Westall

Mrs. Gladys W. Westall of Ruidoso, Downs died Tuesday, October 5, at Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital. She was born October 27, 1893, in Lawrenceville County, Illinois, and was the widow of Glenn C. Westall. She was a member of First Baptist Church of Ruidoso.

Survivors include sons George Westall of Ruidoso Downs and Garel Westall of Artesia; daughter Glenadean Aldredge of Lovington; brother Vern Griggs of Fort Gibson, Oklahoma; eight grandchildren; nine great-grandchildren; and one great-great-grandchild.

Funeral service will be at 2 p.m. Friday, October 8, at First Baptist Church of Ruidoso, with the Reverend Dale McCleskey officiating. Interment will follow at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Pete Lackey, John Close, George Swift, J. P. Bobo, Lowell Nosker and T. C. Delaney.

SPORTS

Around Sports
with Gary Brown

Okay, I'll eat crow. The Atlanta Braves are for real.

Several weeks ago, I picked the Los Angeles Dodgers to win the National League Western Division title, not because I wanted them to win but because I felt they were the best team.

I didn't think the Braves had enough experience to win the title, but they showed what they were made of last week.

Atlanta played seven games on the road to end the season and won five of them. Two weeks ago, I felt sure the Braves would fall out of the race on the last road trip.

Going into the last week, the Dodgers held a one-game advantage over the Braves and San Francisco Giants. I felt the Giants had a slight advantage going into the last games because all of their games were at home. They hosted both the Braves and Dodgers at Candlestick Park.

But the Giants could only win three of seven games, thus knocking themselves out of the pennant race. After sweeping the Dodgers in Los Angeles two weeks ago, the Giants lost twice to the Braves and two out of three to Los Angeles in San Francisco's own ballpark.

Still, the Giants' last victory of the season was a big one as they beat the Dodgers 5-3 and knocked Los Angeles out of the playoffs.

Now for the playoffs. I look for the Cardinals to nip the Braves in five games for the National League title and the Angels to surprise Milwaukee in four games.

St. Louis was the first team to clinch its division championship and has had a chance to rest its players and set a pitching rotation.

The National League Eastern Division was probably the toughest in baseball this season and the Cardinals won it with possibly the best eight-man lineup in the league and a solid pitching staff.

Atlanta is probably tired from its tight pennant race. The Braves should make a go of it but the Cardinals should prevail in the end.

Why California over the Brewers?

Well, any team with Reggie Jackson on it has a lot of things going for it. The 36-year-old Jackson belted 39 home runs to tie Gorman Thomas of the Brewers for the major league title. "Mr. October" is probably the best clutch hitter in baseball during the playoffs and World Series.

The Angels' pitching staff is better than most people realize and California has played better over the past month than the Brewers have.

So it should be the Cardinals and Angels in the World Series.

And the winner will probably be St. Louis. The Cardinals have a slight edge in pitching and as the National League champions would have a psychological edge. The National League champions have won the last three World Series and the senior circuit has won 11 straight All-Star Games.

That does make a difference and the American League teams know it. Look for the Cardinals to win it in seven games.

Turning to high school football, the Ruidoso Warriors appear to be beginning the district season at the right time.

The Warriors' offense was excellent against New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) last week despite the Warriors' 41-21 loss.

NMMI was probably the Warriors' toughest opponent so far this season. Cobre, Ruidoso's opponent tomorrow night, probably isn't as tough as the Colts.

Look for a close, exciting game when the Warriors and Cobre tangle.

Capitan draws a bye this week but will play defending state A division champion Reserve next week.

Reserve has won the state title for the last two seasons. Capitan finished second to Reserve two years ago and made the semi-finals last year, losing to Texico 7-6.

The Tigers will play Lincoln County rival Carrizozo at home Friday, October 29, in the last regular season game.

Carrizozo is a much improved team this year and the game with the 3-1-1 Tigers should be a dandy. The winner of that game will probably make the playoffs while the loser will more than likely watch from the sidelines.

Assistants' tournament set

The Sun Country Section Assistants' Golf Tournament will be October 14-15 at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

At least 20 assistant professionals from the Southwest will compete in the tournament. It will be a 36-hole tournament.

Warriors open district against Cobre

The Ruidoso High School varsity football team can put its 0-5 non-district record behind it when it opens the district 3-AAA season with a home game against Cobre High School at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Ruidoso defeated the Indians 20-8 last season at Cobre. Cobre finished in the cellar of the district last season and had a 1-9 overall record. This year the Indians are 0-3-1.

The Warrior junior varsity will also have a home game, hosting the Goddard Rockets at 6 p.m. today.

The Ruidoso varsity showed vast improvement in its 41-21 loss to New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) last week and head coach Darrel Stierwalt is hopeful the Warriors can continue to improve against Cobre.

"The kids looked good in quite a few areas against New Mexico," Stierwalt said. "We'll be starting a clean slate with the district games and our young kids have gained some playing experience."

The Warriors will be missing a few players due to injuries and illness against the Indians. Linebacker Jesse Reynolds has a jammed neck and won't see duty tomorrow. Offensive halfback Eric Strobel will take his place at outside linebacker.

Sophomore linebacker Tommy Crow is ill as are starting offensive tackles Chris Wynn and Kip McClellan. Guard Tracy Morlack has a hip pointer.

On the brighter side, Cisco Bob, who has missed several games with an injured knee, could see some action at linebacker.

The Warriors' starting offensive backfield should again have Billy Woodul at quarterback, Strobel at halfback, Grady Williamson at wingback and freshman Mark Langston at fullback.

Dave Swalander will again go at center while Craig Carson and George Gresham should start at guard. Robert Swanner and Kevin Jameson will share one tackle position while Scott Ciraulo will probably start at the other tackle spot.

Mike Douglass and Gary Burgess will see a lot of playing time at tight end while H. R. Lueras, Justin Smith and Curtis Palmer will go at split end.

On defense, Ciraulo and Manuel Montano will go at tackle while Swanner and Burgess will start at the ends. Greshman and Strobel will start at outside linebacker and also shut off Kyle Flack will go at middle linebacker.

Cyrus Simmons and Russell Easter will start at safety while Mike Williamson and either Grady Williamson or David Lardrum will go at cornerback.

Cobre has lost two games and tied one by a total of seven points so its record is misleading.

Quarterback Jerry Herd, a 6-3, 184 pounder, is probably one of the best passers in the district.

The Indians also have several fine running backs and a good defensive line.

"We'll have to put pressure on Herd," Stierwalt said. "We'll have to get a good rush on him and also shut off the draw. Our secondary is going to have to play a heck of a game."

"Their offense is similar to NMMI's although they're not as big."

The Warrior junior varsity has lost several players due to injuries or quitting. The junior Warriors, coached by Jim Ramsey, are 0-3 on the season. However, two of those losses came on close 6-0 decisions to Carrizozo and Roswell.

"They're a big team," said Ramsey of Goddard. "Bigger than us. Last year they were also bigger than us but our kids just out toughed them."

Bobby Dickinson will start at tight end on the junior varsity offense. Tony Garcia and Chip Ramsey will go at tackle while Kyle Jameson and Mark Flack will start at guard. James Herrera will go at center.

Kerry Jameson and Steve Gonzales will go at split end.

Kenny Espinosa will start at quarterback and Brett Maul will go at fullback. Randy Reynolds will be the halfback and Mitch Mullican will go at wingback.

Defensively, Garcia and Ramsey will go at end while Woodul and Herrera will start at tackle. Dickinson will start at middle linebacker while Maul and Kerry Jameson will man the outside linebacker positions.

Tracy Gann and Mullican will go at safety and David Ordorica and Mike Williamson will start at cornerback.

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR RONNIE MASKEW, (right) of the Ruidoso High School varsity football team looks on in a recent game with some of the players. The Warriors' defense, made up largely of sophomores and freshmen, has improved over the span of the season. Ruidoso hosts Cobre at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the district 3-AAA opener.

Brave gridgers travel to Tularosa

The White Mountain Middle School A football team returns to action today with a 6 p.m. contest at archrival Tularosa.

White Mountain is 2-1 on the season, having beaten Carrizozo 30-0 and Hagerman 6-0. The Braves lost to Dexter 22-0 in the season opener.

The Braves have shown a versatile offense so far with Kirk Taylor and Jeff Willingham sharing the quarterback and halfback duties. Billy Harrison and Brian Davis have alternated at fullback and carried the greater load of the White Mountain ground game. Bubba Miller has done well at flanker.

The Braves have gotten good blocking from their offensive line and the defense has played well, especially against Hagerman.

Against Tularosa, Taylor will start at quarterback while Willingham will go at halfback. Harrison, a transfer from Texas, will start at fullback and Miller will go again at flanker.

The offensive line will have Mike Grant at tight end, David Jacobson and Tim Darden at tackle, Sean Parker and Ruben Herrera at guard, Jason Hill at center and Scott Perreut at split end.

Defensively, Grant and Mike Keaton will start at the ends. John Kennedy and Hill will go at tackle.

Harrison will be the middle linebacker while Davis and Willingham will man the outside linebacker posts.

Bryan Mack and Taylor will start at cornerback while Miller and Toby Rue will go at safety.

Brave head coach Terry Wharton says he doesn't know much about this year's Tularosa squad.

"Their coach told me they're kind of weak this year," said Wharton. "But they say that every year. Both teams will be up for the game, that's for sure."

"We're pretty healthy for this game. We didn't have a good practice Monday, largely because of our week layoff, but we're coming around."

The Brave B team, which defeated Cloudercroft 8-6 two weeks ago, will play the same team again at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Cloudercroft. A game scheduled for last Saturday with St. Clements of El Paso, Texas, was cancelled due to a wet field. It will not be made up.

Warrior Booster Club to hold box-supper dinner

The Ruidoso High School Warrior Booster Club will host an old-fashioned box supper party Saturday, October 23, at 7 p.m. in the high school gym.

All women and girls are invited to make a box supper for two, decorate the box, and bring it to the gym before 6:30 p.m.

Games like bobbing for apples and pinning a feather on a Warrior coach will be played. Party-goers will also have a chance to throw a pie at their favorite coaches.

Money raised will be used to purchase uniforms for the Warriors.

Warrior spikers to host Colts, Cobre

Hoping to get back on the winning track, the Ruidoso High School volleyball team will host Cobre and Silver City in a district 3-AAA doubleheader Saturday at the Warrior gymnasium.

The Warriors are 0-2 in district play and 4-4 overall this year.

Ruidoso lost to visiting Deming in three matches last Saturday and head coach Elmer Chavez thinks his team has improved since then.

"We're going to use more players this week," Chavez said. "We're trying to get more depth and some of our players are improved."

"Lisa Williams has done a good job and Claudia Branum has improved her setting up 1,000 percent. Our whole team is setting up better now."

Besides Williams and Branum, Lori Morel, Lillian Lopez, Dottie Baldonado, Laura Trapp and Kody Taylor have continued their fine play for the Warriors.

Ruidoso finished third in the Capitan

Tournament two weekends ago but has lost by narrow margins to Dexter and Deming since then.

Chavez rates Silver City as "very tough" as Deming and Cobre as "about as good."

The Warriors' junior varsity, coached by Nancy Holland, will also play the Colts and Cobre. The Ruidoso junior varsity is also 0-2 in district competition.

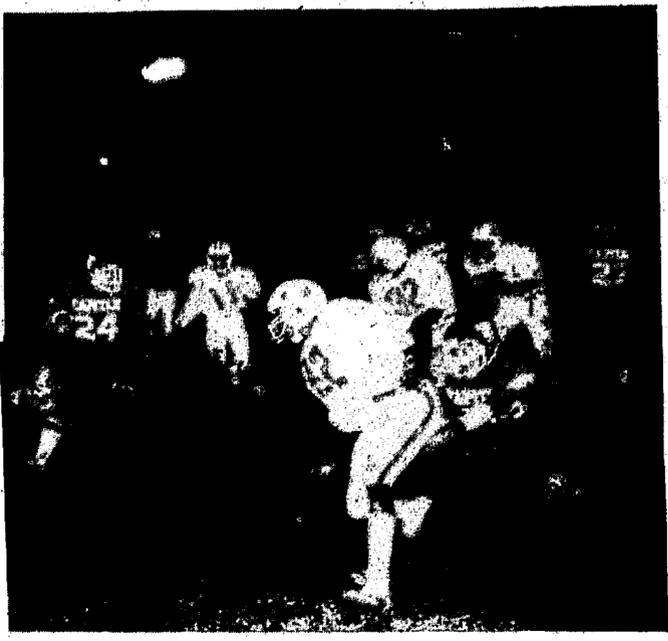

Ruidoso plays each of the other district 3-AAA teams twice in double round-robin competition. Saturday's games will begin at 1 p.m.

Tamara Smith has been a standout for the Warrior Jayvees.

NOTES: The Warrior R Club played the faculty for the 25th year in volleyball Wednesday. The teams split the first two matches and tied the third so the faculty maintained its 25-year unbeaten record, according to girls basketball and track coach Sergio Castanon. Students paid 50 cents to view the match and raise money for cystic fibrosis.

LET'S WIN THE GAME. Ruidoso High School head volleyball coach Elmer Chavez looks on during a recent Warrior game. The Warriors will host Cobre and Silver City in a district 3-AAA doubleheader Saturday. The first contest will start at 1 p.m.

GOING FOR YARDAGE. Danny Cummins (24) of the Capitan High School football team goes for yardage against Texico in a game earlier this season. Cummins has been one of the Tigers' top rushing threats this season but missed last week's game with Dexter because of a bruised foot. He should be healthy for the Tigers' next game at Reserve Friday, October 15. Capitan, 3-1-1 on the season, has a bye this week.

Capitan draws a bye, chance to rest injured

The Capitan High School varsity football team has a bye this week, and head coach Mel Holland thinks that will help his team.

"We're pretty beat up right now," he said. "The bye should help us rest our injured and get ready for Reserve."

The Tigers travel to Reserve, the defending A division state champions, Friday, October 15, for a 3 p.m. game.

Capitan, 3-1-1 on the season, tied Dexter 6-6 last Friday. The Tigers were without the services of running back Danny Cummins in that game. Cummins bruised his foot two weeks ago.

Cummins should be back for the Reserve contest but Holland is not sure about quarterback Grady Lee Eldridge, who has a back injury.

"They're not sure how serious his injury is," Holland said. "His status is up in the air right now." Capitan has 21 players this season and Holland is concerned about depth.

"We had more depth last year," he said. "The key to our making the playoffs is staying healthy, and executing well."

After the Reserve and executing, the Tigers play Mountainair and Carrizozo. Mountainair is down this season but Carrizozo, the Tigers' Lincoln County rival, is improved over last season and has its eyes on the state playoffs.

Todd Proctor has been outstanding for the Tigers this season. The 6-0, 190 pound two-way tackle had a very good game against Dexter, according to Holland.

The Capitan Middle School team, also coached by Holland, will travel to Hagerman today. Capitan Middle School is 0-2 on the season.

Ruidoso cagers begin practice at gymnasium

Practice for the Ruidoso High School boys basketball team started this week at the Warrior gym.

About 20 players are participating in the practices and new head coach Ron Geyer has been pleased with the way his players have looked.

"They've all worked really hard and have been enthusiastic," he said. "They've all improved over the summer. Most of the players who are working out now are freshmen and sophomores."

Some of the players who have looked good are 6-2 Stanley Sluder, 5-7 Dion Lopez, 6-2 Bill Bomar, 5-11 Dallas Draper. Bomar is a transfer from Weed.

Several football players will probably come out for the team when the gridiron season is over.

Elmer Chavez, the Warriors' head volleyball coach, will be Geyer's assistant this season and has helped the new head mentor during the week's practices.

The Warriors have scheduled a scrimmage with Carlsbad High School and Kermit High School of Texas Saturday, November 13. The Ruidoso girls team will begin practice next month.

Baton twirling classes held

Youths interested in signing up for baton twirling classes at the Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy (RGA) gym can do so through the end of this week.

Classes are held Tuesdays and Thursdays. Youths ages five to seven years old have classes at 3:30 p.m. Tuesdays; and children eight to 13 participate in a 4 p.m. class Thursdays.

For further information, contact Charlotta Stewart at 258-4400.

Youth sports on tap for Saturday

A full slate of youth soccer matches and Little League football games is scheduled this weekend.

The Little League football games will be played at either White Mountain Middle School or Ruidoso High School Saturday afternoon.

The games will have a late start because of the Aspen Festival parade. The Minor Division Hornets and Lions are tentatively scheduled to play at 2 p.m. Following that game, the Steelers and the undefeated Colts will play at 3 p.m. and the Cowboys and Broncos will play at 4:45 p.m.

The youth soccer matches will begin at 10:30 a.m. at White Mountain Middle School and last through the afternoon.

GO TEAM GO! Cheerleaders for the Hornets Little League football team cheer for the team during Saturday's game with the Lions. The Lions won the contest 14-0. The Hornet cheerleading group is made up of Karla Kaster, Amy Sitzler, Myda Garcia, Melissa Friberg, Nikki Knox, Tiffany Snow, Neeley Schwab and Krishna Entringer.

Bowling league needs players

Any women wanting to join the Thursday Morning Ladies' League at Holiday Bowl have 10 days left to do so.

The league only has six teams at present and has room for more people. Those interested in joining the league should call Sally Farris at 257-7330.

The league bowls every Thursday morning.

Local boxers to host fights

The Las Piedras Boxing Team of Ruidoso will host "Saturday Night at the Fights," Saturday, October 16, at the Ruidoso High School gym.

Some of the best amateur youth fighters from around the state are expected to compete. The event will begin at 7 p.m. Ticket prices are $5 for ringside seats and $3 for general admission. Children under 12 will be admitted free.

Hunter safety classes to begin

Conservation officer Chuck Franco announced that Hunter Safety Class will be conducted four consecutive evenings beginning Saturday, October 9. The class is from 6 to 9 p.m. Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in room 13 at Ruidoso

High School. The class is required for youths who have not had it, but adults are also welcome to participate. There is no fee and pre-registration is not necessary. For further information, call Franco at 378-8465.

Computer age arrives at Ruidoso High School

Computers have veritably invaded all of our lives—from nine-year-old Pac-Man addicts to bank presidents and newspaper publishers. It has become nearly impossible to escape the influence of computers in our technological society.

In fact, the words you are reading right now were composed on a computer terminal. Sometime in the not-too-distant future we will all do our shopping and pay our bills by computer.

Ruidoso High School has accepted the challenge of helping to prepare its students to enter the world of computerization by offering computer math classes.

The classes were available beginning last year, with about nine students enrolled to share one computer. Two additional computers were purchased in January, two more were installed this year, and class enrollment jumped to 18.

Prerequisites for the computer course are completion of algebra I and typing and enrollment in geometry. "The math background of algebra and the logic in geometry are necessary to computer programming," said instructor Jim Dickinson.

Programming is the key word in this course. Students are learning how to write their own micro-computer programs and take apart and modify others' programs, besides learning to operate the computers. Each student is writing a program that will actually be usable by the school and will also be salable to other school districts, Dickinson explained.

Included among the programs being developed for use by the school system are weight lifting, attendance, inventory control, gradebooks and report card printouts. Such programs can be sold for prices varying from $15 to $500, Dickinson reported.

The men who delivered the computer terminals to the school this year mentioned that they had not seen a similar program at any other school, said Dickinson. Most schools are teaching students to program computers from pre-written programs in books rather than to design original programs.

Dickinson, who devised the curriculum for the course, said he prefers having students work on something that is useful and "a challenge to them and me."

"I'd rather not do things over and over," he noted. "That's why we have computers."

Dickinson had not worked with computers himself until the first one arrived at the high school, to be used for the special education students. He taught himself how to master the machine from the manual and other books and then decided to try offering a computer math class.

"I'm really excited about this program and what the students are able to do," Dickinson said. Though the class will not fully prepare students for a career in computer programming, there are significant benefits to be gained by taking the high school course. Dickinson listed developing good logical thinking skills necessary for computer work, and a better realization of what it is possible to do with a computer—valuable assets to any business utilizing computers.

He said his students will also learn not to be afraid of computers. The initial reaction of most people to computers is fear, Dickinson explained.

"These kids are finding out computers are dumb," he said. It can only do what it is instructed to do, so if a mistake is made, it is the student's fault.

Dickinson said he encourages his students to continue formal studies in computer programming after high school graduation to build upon what they have learned. Sophomore Stacy Dolgener said she has not yet made post-graduation plans, but that the class has already helped her in other math courses. Her decision to sign up for the class was mainly due to the encouragement of Dickinson.

Dolgener also said, "I thought it would be interesting to at least know how (to operate a computer) when I got older." She said she has already learned a lot—"I didn't even know how to turn it on" when the class began.

Senior Eric Berg is in his second year of computer studies at Ruidoso High School, but was first introduced to computers as a sixth grader in a gifted program in Houston, Texas. "I've always been fascinated by them," he said.

Berg said he always thought computers were fun, but did not develop a real interest in them until ninth grade. He worked on teaching himself to use the first computer put in at the high school at the same time Dickinson did. He has decided to major in computer science in college and would like to work at IBM or Control Data afterwards.

"Everybody ought to take (the computer course) because computers are more predominant today; sooner or later everybody is going to come in contact with them," Berg stated.

As a second year computer math student, Berg works on his own in a directive study course, with assistance from Dickinson when needed.

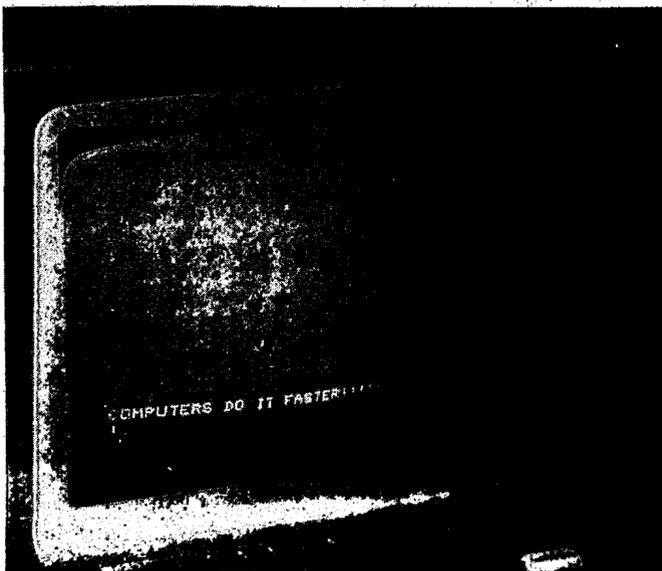

Dickinson said he has found out that his class is as demanding or more demanding than introductory college level courses.

Plans are being made to utilize computers to an even greater extent when the new high school is completed. A computer center is being planned which will offer computer-assisted instruction to other teachers and computer-managed information for administrative functions, such as the library, counselor's office and principal's office.

There are also plans to develop a program to assist in classroom instruction, such as giving drills in math, spelling and reading comprehension, Dickinson explained.

Asked whether teachers may someday actually be replaced by computers, Dickinson said no. "A computer can assist a teacher in giving drills that are tedious and repetitious, but one to one contact and knowledge as to what a student needs—a computer can't do that; it can't think."

And that is something we can all be thankful for.

THEY MAY DO IT FASTER, but at least they still need us to tell them what to do. It is comforting to know that computers can accomplish a lot of amazing feats, but have yet to learn how to think.

PUNCHING THE RIGHT BUTTONS is the key to computer programming, as Ruidoso High School computer math instructor Jim Dickinson demonstrates to first year computer student Donna Mobley.

LEARNING TO TACKLE the complexities of a micro-computer can be frustrating, but the knowledge is a valuable tool for success in our technological society, as Kim Copeland (foreground) and Willie Dean are discovering in the computer math class at the high school.

ELECT
LEANDRO VEGA JR.

Leandro Vega Jr. is Republican candidate for Lincoln County Sheriff, a position for which he is very highly qualified. He was previously elected Lincoln County Sheriff in 1965 and served in that capacity for four years; again re-elected Lincoln County Sheriff in 1972 and served in that capacity for an additional four years.

The following are some of Leandro's qualifications for the Sheriff's Office:

- *Graduate of the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy
- *Fully certified to serve as a law enforcement officer
- *Served four terms as Lincoln County Sheriff
- *Served eight years as Deputy Sheriff with Lincoln County Sheriff's Department.
- *Served one year with district Attorney's office as criminal investigator in Lincoln and Otero Counties.

The County Sheriff is the chief law enforcement officer in the county, a very heavy and significant responsibility. Leandro is extremely competent, knows the county and its people and will fairly administer this office. Leandro Vega would greatly appreciate your vote and support on November 2, election day.

Anticipation high for Oklahoma horse sale

Following the overwhelming approval by Oklahoma voters on a pari-mutuel wagering referendum, anticipation is expected to be high Saturday (October 16) for the first Ruidoso Super Select Sale of broodmares, weanlings and stallion shares.

A total of 161 consignments will be offered in the one day of bidding at the Jerry Wells Ranch, located four miles west of Purcell on Route 39. The sale starts at 11 a.m.

Included in the sale will be a special session featuring the complete dispersal of the Saket Racing Stable. The families of world champion Higheasterjet, million-dollar winner Higheasterjet and 1979 All American Futurity winner Pie In The Sky will be well represented in the Saket Consignment. Also featured in the Saket Consignment is Coya's Ego, the dam of 1980 Preakness runnerup Bold Ego.

"The passage of the pari-mutuel referendum will certainly be a boost to the already thriving quarter horse breeding business in Oklahoma," noted sale manager Richard Thompson. "And we are proud to offer an excellent group of broodmares and weanlings in one of the state's first sales since the approval."

Many of the mares in the sale are in foal to world champions Dash For Cash, Super Sound Charge and Easy Jet. New sires with a limited number of crops — such as Easily Smashed, Streakin Six and Pie In The Sky — are also represented. Other covering sires include Master Hand, the sire of the first two finishers in this year's All American Futurity, Victory Stride, Raise Your Glass and Timeto Thinkin.

There will be six stallion shares offered, including Super Sound Charge, Special Effort, Easy Jet, Easily Smashed, million-dollar winner Sail On Bunny and St. Bar.

Three of the broodmares consigned by the Saket Racing Stables expected to draw considerable attention are Alamitos Doll Two, Miss Jelly Roll and Coya's Ego. Alamitos Doll Two is the dam of Higheasterjet, recent winner of the All American Gold Cup and the all-time richest quarter horse with earnings of $1,495,312. Alamitos Doll Two sells in foal to Pine's Easter Jet for a full brother or sister to Higheasterjet.

Miss Jelly Roll is the dam of three All-American Futurity finalists, including Pie In The Sky, a winner of $600,828 in his career. Coya's Ego has produced Bold Ego, a winner of over $484,000 who recently set a track record for five and one-half furlongs at Ruidoso Downs. Coya's Ego is in foal to Easy Jet for a quarter runner but there is a weanling three-quarter sister to Bold Ego available in the sale.

Some of the other outstanding mares offered are stakes winner Bobby's Angel and Rubys Gold and Sprint Medley, the dam of All-American Derby winner Medley Glass.

Among the yearling offering of the Saket Consignment will be a half brother to Higheasterjet, a full brother to Pie In The Sky and a half sister to Medley Glass. Of the 39 weanlings available 20 have been consigned by the Saket stables, including a half sister to All-American Derby winner Native Gambler, a half brother to Special Effort and a half brother to Pie In The Sky.

Other weanlings offered include the first foal from champion Lady Juno and a filly out of stakes winner Stoa Mings.

Sail On Bunny set to sail

by MARK GORDON

Here's a warning to horsemen at Sunland Park — Sail on Bunny is almost at full strength.

"Right now, he's nearly 100 percent," said the two-year-old quarter horse's trainer Jake Cascio. "He's on a walker twice a day. He's been at Sunland Park since after Labor Day. We've looked at his X-rays and thank God, there were no broken bones. He's really looking good."

The 75-year-old trainer, who has been training race horses at the west El Paso track for 22 years, will have a 12-head stable of quarter horses when Sunland Park opens its 85-day campaign October 15.

Two of his better runners will include My Kids Trouble, a career winner of more than $112,000, and Blazing Jo Bar Jet, who dead-heated for third in last April's $101,850 West Texas Derby at Sunland Park.

But there's no denying the stable standout will be the Bunny Bid colt, who is this year's second richest quarter horse runner and the fourth all-time leading quarter horse money-maker.

Sail On Bunny has enjoyed a spectacular season. His first major win was the $172,386 West Texas Futurity on March 28 at Sunland Park.

He then ran second to Glo Billy Sims in a Sun Country Futurity trial race on April 9 at Sunland Park, although it was a costly race.

He was bumped soundly in the race and sustained a sore shoulder. "We X-rayed him from 11:30 until 4. That night he was so sore, he couldn't put his foot on the ground," explained Cascio.

Sail On Bunny was taken to California despite his crippled condition. But Dr. Ed Hill of Anaheim was contacted and the doctor tried laser acupuncture on Sail On Bunny.

"He told me he thought he could do some good," Cascio recalled. "So he worked on him about 40 minutes one day and then another day. We did it two or three times on him before we ran him."

The method apparently worked wonders.

Sail On Bunny won two legs of the West Coast's Triple Crown series for two-year-old quarter horses at Los Alamitos near Los Angeles. He captured the $715,000 Kindergarten Stakes and the $1,075,000 Skool Dash For Cash Futurity.

"In the Faberge-Special Effort Futurity (the third and final leg of the Triple Crown), he drew the 10 hole. He stumbled badly at the start, shook himself off and then started running. We lost by three inches and one more jump past the wire, he would have won. I'd bet, he ran second," Cascio noted.

Overall, this season, Sail On Bunny captured six races with 10 wins and one third from 10 outings. He's collected $908,981.

Sail On Bunny was owned by Jake Box of Portales and Ray Starbuck of Clovis. But late this summer, Oklahoma City horse agent Don Tyner purchased Sail On Bunny for a $4.5 million syndication deal.

The colt had gone through the 1981 All-American Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs. Surprisingly, he was repurchased by Box for $10,000.

"I trained four or five years ago for Mr. Box and when he showed me the colt, I saw that he looked like a race horse. When the bidding went to $7,500, they decided to take him back," Cascio said.

Despite his success in California, Cascio said he somewhat regretted not taking Sail On Bunny to Ruidoso Downs for a chance at the $2,530,000 All-American Futurity.

"In a way, I'm sorry I didn't take him back. But at the time I knew it was raining there (in Ruidoso) a lot. We already had him in the Faberge-Special Effort race. With just five trials for a million-dollar race and since he already was accustomed to his surroundings, we decided to leave him there," he said.

After I saw the All-American, I want to run against Mr. Master Bug (the winner of the Labor Day classic at Ruidoso Downs). They said they were going to continue to run him. So I hope we get a chance to face him," he noted.

Although the veteran conditioner has had his finest season ever, basically because of Sail On Bunny's exploits, he stopped short of terming the brilliant colt the best horse he's ever trained.

"I don't say he's the fastest, but he's certainly made more money than any horse. I've had because the pots are so much higher. Sail On Bunny doesn't like another horse to get ahead of him. I've had horses as fast as him, but never one that refuses to let other horses get ahead of him the way he does," he explained.

The El Paso trainer is financially secure so that he isn't training horses for a livelihood. Still, he has no immediate thoughts of retirement.

"I really don't have to train horses, but I want to keep working with them. I'll keep training as long as my health holds up. I'm going to take it easier. I'm not going to do so much myself. I've brought six nice babies (two-year-olds) to Sunland for the new meeting. When I get that I'm not excited about babies, then I'll quit. I just do what I know and all I know is horses," he said.

Obviously, Jake Cascio is an expert at what he knows.

SAIL ON BUNNY in an appearance Labor Day weekend at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Many eligible for Fall Derby

A total of 52 three-year-olds remain eligible for the Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Derby.

The fall campaign's featured attraction for sophomore quarter horse contenders will be staged December 5 over 40 yards. The 10 fastest entrants from the November 19 trial heats will battle for the estimated purse of $25,000.

Topping the list of nominees is Summer Encounter, a swift Hemen filly who had a fine summer at Ruidoso Downs. Her best showing was a second-place effort, just a nose behind Cute Investment in the $668,620 Rainbow Derby, the second leg of the Triple Crown for three-year-olds quarter horses.

She also posted two victories at the mountain track in derby trial divisions.

In 1981, she tallied five victories with one third from eight trips and earnings of $103,601. She earned a berth in the $1,550,000 All-American Futurity.

Owned by Jerry Wells of Purcell, Oklahoma, Summer Encounter is trained by Jack W. Brooks. Viva El Seis, a career winner of more than $130,000, is also a possible entrant.

The Easy Six colt won seven of 11 tests as a two-year-old in 1981 and competed in the All-American Futurity. He collected $122,739 in a superb first racing season.

This summer, he tallied two wins and two seconds in eight outings at Ruidoso Downs. Trained by Ronnie Ferguson, he's owned by the Cimmaron Ranch Venture VI of Houston, Texas.

Just A Play Mate, a Beduino filly, is also nominated to the Derby.

Her biggest career triumph was a nose win the $256,896 West Texas Futurity in 1981 at Sunland Park. The filly also captured the $41,755 New Mexico Quarter Horse Derby on September 19 at the New Mexico State Fair meeting in Albuquerque.

In her brilliant career, Just A Play Mate has earned more than $121,000 for owners Victor and Jose Diaz of Sunland Park. She's trained by Jesse Valdez.

Other potent nominees include Winkum, Kracker Kas, Maskeo Rocket, The Heat Is On, Daring Wonder and Splashing Bunny.

Last year's Derby saw Runnin Barre post a half-length triumph and collect $12,962 from the gross purse of $25,925.

Sunland Park's 85-day fall-spring season will begin Friday, October 15. Post time throughout the 30-day fall campaign will be 12:30 p.m.

Horsemen and interested personnel may now obtain the first issue of the Sunland Park condition book.

The 85-day Sunland Park horse race season will begin Friday, October 15, and will continue through Sunday, May 1. Post time for the entire 30-day fall campaign running through Sunday, December 19, will be 12:30 p.m.

The first condition book written by racing secretary Dean McKinney covers the first six race days.

Highlighting the first day's card will be trials for the Shue Fly Stakes for two-year-old New Mexico-bred quarter horses. Each trial will be at 400 yards with a purse of $1,800.

A total of 51 juveniles are still eligible for the trials. The 10 fastest runners will earn berths in the Shue Fly Stakes finale over 400 yards October 23.

The meet's first Saturday card October 16 features the Fast Gas Handicap at five and one half furlongs. Three-year-olds will compete under handicap weights for a purse on $5,000-added.

The minimum claiming price for thoroughbreds will be $2,000 while the minimum claiming price for quarter horses will be $2,500.

The first day of entries will be October 12.

ART, DINING AND ENTERTAINMENT GUIDE

Fall Futurity to climax fall season at Sunland

A total of 174 two-year-olds remain eligible for the Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Futurity, one of the major quarter horse events this fall at Sunland Park. The 400-yard dash is scheduled for Sunday, December 19, the final day of the 30-day fall season which begins Friday, October 15, at the west El Paso track. With $82,650 already on deposit, the total purse will again surpass the $100,000 mark.

Heading the list of nominees is Don Tyner's Sall On Bunny, who is quarter horse racing's fourth leading all-time moneymaker.

The Bunny Bid colt has won six races this season with three seconds and one third for earnings of $908,981. He was purchased by Tyner, an Oklahoma City horse agent, for $4.5 million this summer from Jake Box of Portales and Ray Starbuck of Clovis.

Sall On Bunny won the $172,386 West Texas Futurity in March at Sunland Park and then captured the first two legs of the West Coast Triple Crown at Los Alamitos near Los Angeles. In the third and final leg of the Triple Crown, the Fabrege-Special Effort Futurity, he finished second after stumbling badly at the start.

Sall On Bunny is trained by veteran conditioner Jake Cascio.

Realeasy Chick, a Real Easy Jet colt, is also a prime contender.

The colt has posted four wins with seven seconds and one third in 12 outings this season running against the state's finest juveniles.

He won the Sun Country Futurity Consolation Last April at Sunland Park and captured the $62,404 New Mexico Breeders Futurity on August 7, at the Downs at Santa Fe.

He ran second to Call Me Favorite in the Rainbow Futurity's First Consolation on July 24 at Ruidoso Downs and was second to Bartendress in the New Mexico State Fair Quarter Horse Futurity on September 21 at Albuquerque.

Trained by Fred Danley, he's owned by Greg and J.A. Drake of Farmington.

Chicks Etta Wind, winner of the Kansas Futurity this May at Ruidoso Downs, is also nominated. The Chick's Etta Deck filly took the first leg of the Triple Crown for two-year-olds at Ruidoso Downs by one and one fourth lengths.

She's owned by Billy G. Francis of Lafayette, La. and is trained by Johnny Bustamante.

Bartendress, winner of the New Mexico State Fair Futurity, is also a contender. The Beat A Native filly has won six races with three seconds and one third this season for trainer Clifton Dean and owner Sam F. Henderson of Odessa, Texas.

Another prime contender may be Kita Blue, who enjoyed a superb season at Ruidoso Downs this summer. The Kitaman colt won all three starts at the mountain track including a frontrunning win in the $290,000

All-American Futurity's First Consolation on Labor Day.

Prior to his Ruidoso Downs races, he won five of six starts for trainer Jack W. Brooks and owners Sonny and Betty Terry of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

Other key nominees include Call Caleb, Deal the Cards, Heza Hombre and Brown's Dasher.

Last season, Johnny Vittoro sped to a one-length victory and collected $101,067 from the gross purse of $202,135 for the 18th running of the Fall Quarter Horse Futurity.

Sunland Park opens its 85-day 1982-83 horse race meeting on October 15 with a 12:30 p.m. post time. The west El Paso track has conducted thoroughbred and quarter horse racing since it opened in 1959.

Curly Smith's objective: a first class show

by MARK GORDON
Don (Curly) Smith has one major objective for Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs — giving the public a first class show.

"The only way we can get more people into the racetrack is to put on a first class show," said the new general manager for Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs Race Tracks. Smith replaces R. Wood Erwin, the long-time Southwest racing executive who has been serving as Ruidoso-Sunland interim general manager.

"Sunland Park has great potential for growth with the phasing in of the new Jockey Club and just the general growth of the El Paso metropolitan area. It's our job to get the people out here and that will take a team effort," he added.

"One person can't change the situation, but everyone working together can," he said.

Smith said cooperation between all aspects of the racing industry will boost Sunland Park's attendance and hopefully, mutual handle averages.

"I've always felt the breeders, owners and the tracks themselves have to get more people involved in the racing industry. We can put on a first-class show if we get 100 percent cooperation from all parties. Then we'll all benefit from a larger attendance," Smith explained.

Although he hasn't had a chance to carefully analyze Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs, Smith said he's heard nothing but fine things about both Southern New Mexico race tracks.

"I see it as a great challenge to run two fine operations such as Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs," said the 54-year-old executive.

"I've followed both tracks closely through the years and they've both had tremendous success.

"After a while, we'll take a look at both of them and see if we can phase in some of the Smith ideas with other ideas which have been used for years and years," he said. "I really don't foresee any major changes, however."

Smith comes to Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs with vast experience in all aspects of the horse racing industry.

Born in Fredonia, Kansas, he moved with his father to California in 1940 to San Ysidro, on the Mexican border near Agua Caliente Race Track in Tijuana.

His father, Fred B. Smith, was a jockey and trainer all his life. He raced primarily in the Midwest at tracks such as Ak-Sar-Ben in Omaha, Nebraska, Oaklawn Park in Hot Springs, Arkansas and occasionally in the Chicago area. He also attended the last race meet at Arlington Downs in the Dallas-Fort Worth area before Texas ended pari-mutuel racing in the 1930s.

From 1945 through 1949, the younger Smith served in the United States Navy at bases in San Diego and on the east coast, and participated in two or three trips to the Mediterranean area.

Upon his discharge in 1949 from the Navy, Smith obtained his trainer's license and conditioned horses at Agua Caliente, Oaklawn Park, Ak-Sar-Ben and in Colorado.

"I didn't have any really great horses, but I made it there and back and didn't owe any bills," he kidded.

He then became a jockey agent and spent two summers on what is termed the "Prairie Circuit" in Canada. He worked race meets in Calgary, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, Regina and Edmonton.

In 1952, he traveled south to Los Alamitos, a quarter horse track located south of Los Angeles, and spent the next eight years as a jockey's agent. Among the better known riders he worked for were Jackie Robinson, L. G. Littell, and Ron Banks, now a regional representative for The Jockeys Guild.

In 1960, he went to work as a paddock judge at Los Alamitos and various other California tracks. He became racing secretary at Los Alamitos in 1968.

Later on, he was named a vice president of Los Alamitos and director of racing.

After spending more than 20 years working at Los Alamitos, Smith said it was difficult to make the change to Southern New Mexico.

"A lot of people have asked me why I left. It's really a hard question to answer," he said. "Let's say it's a new challenge to run two entirely different racetracks in an area of the country I haven't been before."

Smith said he probably would be aligned closely with the racing aspect of the two New Mexico race tracks, since he has spent so many years in the racing end of management.

"Anybody in management who has been as close to the racing aspect as I have is bound to spend more hours with that than other aspects of the track. I came up in the racing end and that's what we're putting on — horse racing. But that's only natural. If I came up in publicity, I'd naturally spend more hours in that," he said.

"But our main job, and it will take everyone's cooperation, is to get people here to Sunland Park. We're sure once they get here, they'll want to come back," said the new chief at Sunland Park.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Whereas, handicapped persons deserve and need greater accessibility to convenient public and private parking facilities; and
 Whereas, specially marked parking spaces for handicapped persons are identified by the international symbol of access; and
 Whereas, finding an accessible parking place can be very difficult for a handicapped person; and
 Whereas, many non-disabled persons disregard parking spaces reserved and identified for handicapped persons thereby causing unnecessary hardship to the handicapped; and
 Whereas, the 750,000 members of the Disabled American Veterans and 90,000 members of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary desire to create a greater awareness of the needs of handicapped persons;

Now, therefore, I, George P. White, Mayor of the City of Ruidoso, do hereby proclaim the month of October 1982 as

Vendor ordinance change suggested

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
 Staff Writer

The Business Registration Committee decided to make one change to their suggestions for an amended ordinance concerning seasonal or intermittent conduct of retail business during a meeting Wednesday morning at Village Hall.

The committee decided that applications for sales permits should be submitted five working days in advance of anticipated need, instead of 10 days as they had originally planned to suggest to the village council.

The change was made because members thought that requiring submission of an application 10 days before anticipated need was excessive and might be viewed as discriminatory by vendors and the courts. They believe five days is more reasonable and still allows enough time to perform the procedures necessary for granting of the permit.

Along with the five working day requirement it was decided to include that permits must be applied for during normal village hall working hours.

The committee will meet again at 8:30 a.m. October 20 at the Chamber of Commerce once the village attorney has had an opportunity to go over the ordinance and put it in proper legal language.

Village councilman Don Dale suggested that a copy of Carlsbad's ordinance covering the same subject be brought to the meeting for comparison.

Ruidoso Downs mayor J. C. Day will be invited to the next meeting. Committee members hope that Ruidoso Downs will adopt a similar ordinance.

If members of the committee are satisfied with the revised version of their ordinance they will submit it to the Village Council at its meeting October 26.

Special Ed students selling fruit

Students in the Special Education Program at Ruidoso High School are taking orders for apples, grapefruits and oranges from now until November 10. The fruit will be available after November 15.

Lee Rhodes, coordinator of the program, said 13 students are participating in the sale. She said the program gives the learning disabled children a chance to learn about business.

Prices for the fruit are: $12 for a 40-pound bag and $6.50 for a 20-pound bag of grapefruit; $19.50 for 40 pounds and $11 for 20 pounds of apples; and $14 for 40 pounds and $8 for 20 pounds of oranges.

"It's unusually good fruit," Rhodes said. She said the fruit will arrive November 15 from the Mr. Jennings Company of Amarillo, Texas. She added that she can arrange for home delivery after then if necessary. Rhodes said there is no limit to the amount ordered by each customer.

Anyone wishing to order some delicious fruit is asked to contact Rhodes at the high school.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

Mack D. Pior Services were held in Roswell October four for Mack D. Pior, long-time resident of Lincoln County, who was called home by Our Lord on October two, after a well-spent life, at the age of eighty-five.

Mack was born March nine, 1897, in Woodland, Texas, of pioneer Texas parents. He was a veteran of World War I, and a devout member of the Baptist Church.

He was a resident of Ruidoso for thirty-two years, taking a leading part in the development of this community. He owned the Valley View Motel below Ruidoso Downs, and later The Timberline Motel in Hollywood.

Mack was a great believer in Lincoln County and was deeply fond of this mountain community.

A Christian gentleman born with a friendly personality, Mack was widely known and beloved. He had a great sense of humor and always looked on the bright side of the world.

A radiant smile and a kind word were his trademarks; and he was a great philosopher, always ready to help folks with their problems of everyday life.

We will always remember our good friend, Mack Pior, with gratefulness for the true friendship he extended to us during his long and happy stay here among us. And we take comfort that he is now happy with loved ones he has gone on to meet, with Our Lord in Heaven.

Our Prayers For DeAun Browning

Our prayers go up for the recovery of DeAun Browning, youngest daughter of Dude and Jeannette Browning, who was injured seriously in a car wreck on October two near Capitan.

At this writing, October five, the latest word is that DeAun is under the best of care in Roswell, and is gaining in her battle for recovery. I have known DeAun all her life, as I have her parents, and I pray to The Lord, that this beloved young lady may be restored to health.

October Birthdays

I always feel grateful for my birthday falling in October — the twenty-seventh. This is also the birthday of Theodore "Teddy" Roosevelt. Among other famous folks with October birthdays are Jewell Bonnell, October twenty-six, and Craig Whipple, October thirty. Oh Yes, Judy Beavers is another October twenty-seven birthday celebrator.

This birthday is special because of the wonderful trip that Lynn took me and Joe Redinger on, back in July. Or Joe Redinger and Lynn took me on the trip.

On this enchanted October day of October five, there is the same spell of contentment in the air as always, and everywhere, October takes over the world in a way all its own.

One of the greatest thrills in this once-in-a-lifetime trip was that I saw from the air, the land and water over which our father, Lynn W. Storm, traveled to be present at my birth.

He made the trip on foot from Cordova to Valdez along with his partner, a giant Swede named N. P. Olson, known as "North Pole" Olson on account of his initials.

North Pole's motto and by-word was "Have no fear. Have no fear." According to our father, a tee-totaller, Olson would drink whiskey like water with no other effect upon him than to have his already ruddy complexion turn just a shade brighter. But never did he take a drink without first saying, "Have no fear."

I do not know why they started out on foot. Maybe there were no boats going to Valdez, or something.

Our father asked Olson if they could make it to Valdez on foot: Did he know the way?

Olson said he knew the way. "Have no fear."

Like all men of the north, Olson would not touch a drop when going on a trip especially in cold weather.

There were hundreds of inlets around which a foot traveler would have to go. Father was for going around not trusting the October ice. But Olson said, "Have no fear."

They crossed the first ice all right, but about the third or fourth inlet, the ice broke and down went Olson. Father had a hard time getting him out, extending him his coat as Olson pulled himself, breaking the ice several times until he came to thick enough ice to hold him.

A fire was built and Olson dried out and on they went.

Father got to the house in Valdez a few hours after I was born, October twenty-seven, 1909.

From Anchorage we went to Cordova where we touched down briefly, and then off to Valdez. Never was the ground more thoroughly searched from the air as this stretch. The most rugged terrain you could imagine! Surely it was beyond human power to make this trip.

And yet, knowing father, he would be up to the task. I had seen him in his fifties and sixties make trips on foot that would have me puffing to keep up.

He came by his stamina honestly. His father, Francis David Storm, had near superhuman strength. He swam the Ohio River where it was a mile wide, saying it was a pleasant little swim. Father's mother, Althea Ellen Reno Storm, used to tell how she handled half-broken horses harnessed to the buggy, pulling them back on their heels when they tried to bolt or run off the road.

Imagine if you can how I felt making the trip by air, looking down over the same course, where seventy-three years ago, father hastened his steps, while North Pole Olson said, "Have no fear!"; and mother in Valdez prayed to The Lord rejoicing that her second child soon would see the light of day.

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Can the Republicans hold on to New Mexico?

The portions of this column in quotes are from that article, written by Albert R. Hunt. The parts in parentheses are the musings of the writer of this column as he read the Wall Street Journal.

"The U. S. Senate contest here . . . is receiving a lot of attention from the national parties. They are sending money and heaps of advice."

"The Republicans are sending the money. The Democrats are sending the advice."

"Jack Schmitt is no Senate superstar like the state's senior senator, Budget Committee Chairman Pete Domenici. The 47-year-old conservative's chief claim to fame is that he walked on the moon as an astronaut. His legislative accomplishments are meager."

"That's okay. Simple old New Mexico probably couldn't handle two superstars. Most people here haven't yet realized Domenici is one."

"In New Mexico, the Democrats are making a major effort, sending in political consultant Matt Reese to help coordinate the campaigns of Mr. Bingaman, the popular gubernatorial candidate Tony Anaya and congressional aspirants."

"In New Mexico, anybody who is 'sent in' is automatically suspect and probably not at all knowledgeable enough to be helpful."

"Sen. Schmitt will spend at least $1.5 million, or almost double his opponent's expected outlays. The incumbent already has received $300,000 of political action committee money from oil, banking and other corporate interests; this is more than four times the amount of PAC money Mr. Bingaman has received."

"(Here you may have hit on the heart of the problem. See remark above about what Republicans are sending and what Democrats are sending.)

"This Sunbelt state is suffering 10.2% unemployment as the mining industry has nearly collapsed."

"(If there is anything a couple of boys from Silver City would not do it is to hint that the mining industry has 'collapsed.' The word, sad to say, is accurate. When the Wall Street Journal declares you've collapsed, you've collapsed.)

"This isn't to suggest this is an exciting, give-and-take campaign."

"(That remark could have been put into boldface and larger type. The excitement emanating from these guys is about equal to that given off as you watch an egg boil.)

"In speeches, the incumbent drones on about his geological expertise or his role in the legislative veto of multi-year appropriations. But the dullness of the challenger — who sounds like a younger more pedantic Jimmy Stewart — may matter more. It's widely agreed here that Sen. Schmitt has a tenuous lead now and is vulnerable — but only if a forceful case is advanced against him."

"(Who needs Matt Reese after advice like that? You've said it all. In recent days Bingaman has seemed to be trying to follow it. He may, however, have started too feebly and too late.)

"Democrats want Mr. Bingaman to hit hard not only at Sen. Schmitt's conservative voting record but also at what they say is his aloofness from New Mexico. 'Schmitt isn't thought of as one of our own, like Domenici,' says Zora Hess, the state's Democratic national committeewoman."

"(That's not only one of the most graceful compliments ever paid Domenici by a New Mexico Democratic leader, it's also a contradiction of the very theme of the Schmitt advertising campaign. The words in that effort say he's one of our own, one of our best. A lot depends on how many New Mexicans believe that and how many believe the opposite.)

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

The old saying goes something like this: "You can't fight city hall."

Trouble is, many people believe that. To fight the federal government with its unlimited funds for legal defense meant to fight a losing battle.

In many cases, it was simply cheaper to abide by an unfair directive from Uncle Sam rather than taking him to court over it. Court costs alone are often staggering.

I heard these arguments from people I talked with when I was a lawyer in private practice in Albuquerque and again when I was elected to the Senate in 1972. I vowed then that if there was any way I could change that attitude and give the "little guy" a chance to fight back against the unjust actions of the federal government, I would do it.

Eight long years of legislative work to get a bill passed finally succeeded in 1980 near the close of the 96th Congress. The Equal Access to Justice Act of 1980 became the law of the land. Now, if an individual or a small business believes that a regulation or directive of any government agency, including the IRS, is wrong they can challenge it in court and if they win, the court can order the federal government to pay their court costs.

We are fast approaching the two-year anniversary of Equal Access to Justice. The first company to be awarded compensation by the courts was Photo Data, Incorporated, of Washington, D.C., a small printing company, which took the giant Government Printing Office to court and won.

Photo Data was the lowest bidder on a two-year contract with GPO but GPO contractors ruled that the company was not responsible and gave it to the next lowest bidder. After Photo Data sued the govern-

The federal judge, noting that the GPO never attempted to justify its action, said this was precisely the type of government action that small businesses don't ordinarily have the resources to contest and is what the Equal Access to Justice Act is intended to prevent. He ordered GPO to pay Photo Data $5,710 for court costs.

This is just one example of Equal Access to Justice at work. More than the concrete examples of individuals and small businesses taking the federal government to court on unjust directives is the subtle effect his one law is having on reining in the excesses of big government.

The federal government is no longer making arbitrary decision because they have the power to do so. Federal agencies are constantly being warned to check and recheck their decisions out of concern that a wrong decision could backfire and they would have to pay the court costs.

The Internal Revenue Service sent a memo to its auditors, telling each of them to make sure they had a case before issuing a directive. The reason, the memo stated, was Equal Access to Justice, which meant that many individuals or businesses who would not have taken an unjust ruling to court might now do so.

The Equal Access to Justice Act will be reviewed in 1984 to determine its effectiveness. If present trends continue, this bill will have achieved its purpose. It will have reined in the excesses of a big federal government by making it more responsible for its directives and regulations.

And, best of all, it gives the "little guy" a chance to fight back.

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

Last weekend we were in Ruidoso to attend the Jal-Ruidoso football game. After the game a hit-and-run driver struck our parked car and our six-year-old son, who was miraculously not injured at all. We praise God for His protection of our son, and we would like to use this letter to publicly thank all the kind, concerned, and caring persons who helped us. In particular, we were most impressed with your fine police department, ambulance attendants, the principal and the other people in the high school office. Mr. Flores (the band director), and many other citizens and students who expressed their concern, but whose names we do not know. You should be extremely proud of each of these persons and of your town. Thank you again.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Mrs. Danny Skaggs
Kermit, Texas

Dear editor:

"God has always taken care of us in the past. We will depend on Him again this year."

The Chili-cook-off Committee was discussing the merits of flour tortillas over corn tortillas, the durability of canned jalapenos and fresh jalapenos and the scheduling of an egg toss, all in the context of playing. After discussing the fees to be charged for participation in these indecent events, the weather came up as a factor and the above quote was made.

I was raised in a family with Christian values, foremost among these was the attitude towards food. We were strictly discouraged from playing with food due to its sacred nature in the eyes of God!

Sincerely,
Monroy Montes

Editorial

One of the hardest things for any police department to get across is that it exists to serve the public.

Most citizens of Ruidoso are aware that we have a fine police department. And 37,500 calls to the department in a single year indicates that people here do not hesitate to call the police when their services are needed.

But the department makes an ongoing effort to educate the public to the fact that there is a crime problem in Ruidoso—particularly residential burglaries—and that certain measures can help alleviate the problem.

Among the services offered by police which residents should consider taking advantage of are:

- In-depth examinations of homes and businesses by police, with a written report on what can be done to improve security.

- Close patrols of homes when residents notify police that they will be out of town.

Also, residents are encouraged to start neighborhood watches. This simply consists of being alert to what is going on, and calling police whenever suspicious persons or activities are noticed.

As police chief Dick Swenor has said time and again, it does no harm when a call turns out to be no cause for concern.

But a call can save property or lives.—TP

Reporter's Round

by Dave Sheppard

When I was a kid, I could only dream of owning a fancy motorcycle.

My older brother used to give me rides on his choppered Yamaha 550 when I was barely tall enough to touch ground from the seat. I remember the thrill when he tried to teach me how to operate the machine, and the disappointment when I continually popped the clutch and stalled the Yami.

I dreamed that someday, I would master the hand clutch and throttle, and drive my own cycle down the highway.

But that day has yet to materialize. My first driving experience was on a friend's Honda Super 90—the same bike that my mother spilled onto a neighbor's front yard the very day our friend wheeled it home from the dealer. A few weeks later I was in the driver's seat, and I'm pleased to say I had better luck than my mother.

The short jaunts on the Super 90 fueled the craving to someday possess my own bike—a desire that had remained mostly dormant until last weekend.

Gawking at the sparkling machinery at last weekend's Motorcycle Festival, the itch to mount my own cycle resurfaced. Although it was personal torture to admire and stroke the varied bikes, it was fortunate for this town that so many showed up.

There was apprehension in the air throughout the summer that the motorcycles, trikes and contraptions in between would farego our town in favor of Durango, Colorado, and the American Motorcycle Association sanctioned event held there during the same weekend.

But any soul on the streets the end of last week could tell you the cyclists were here in full force. Indeed, just watching traffic over the weekend produced enough attractions for even the most experienced voyeur to develop weary eyes.

Gleaming, plush custom models and veteran Harleys from cycling's esoteric days joined forces and claimed the blacktop that winds through the heart of town to the delight, or dismay, of pedestrians and automobile drivers alike.

A promenade down motorcycle alley at the Hospitality Tent near the Holiday Inn was a featured event of the festivities. Literally hundreds of models were on display, from diminutive scramblers to mighty V-8 powered trikes, from ancient street bikes with side-mounted "suicide sticks," to the fanciest custom jobs with accompanying sidecars and tag-a-long trailers.

Wondering about the amount of money and labor put into some of the models, I asked a proud Yamaha owner what it took to customize his rig, for which he won three awards.

The glittering dark blue machine and matching two-seat sidecar with a convertible hood won third place for their light displays, and firsts in the motorcycle and sidecar division and cycle and trailer division.

Mike Girton, a cabinet maker and motorcycle accessories dealer from Great Bend, Kansas, and his wife Lila were the magicians who took the raw material of the Yamaha "Midnight Special" and Motorvation Formula II sidecar and created an objet d'art.

"The motorcycle masterpiece is the fifth—and best—customizing job the duo has undertaken. All have won trophies at rallies, but the seven trophies the Midnight Special has won makes it the creme of the crop.

"We started out just riding motorcycles, then we got into the business," explained Mike. "Up until '79 it was just for pleasure."

The Girtons certainly had pleasure designing and building the present custom rig. Lila began the project about a year ago by sketching the design for the final product. The subsequent handiwork was Mike's contribution to the project.

The final design includes an appealing combination of both cosmetic and practical features. Mike painted the outfit with a sparkling twilight blue. The interior of the sidecar is carpeted in a coordinating color and is appointed with nautical trim on the dash and sides.

The fairing on the cycle is also accented with nautical trim, and the entire exterior of the cycle and sidecar is highlighted by ornamental pinstriping and blue "grain-a-wheats" strip lighting.

For a ride as cushiony as the leather seats, Mike installed air shocks on the front and rear of the motorcycle and an adjustable torsion bar suspension.

"I can get this ride about as soft as you can get it," he mentioned. Indeed, the ride from Great Bend to Ruidoso was so smooth, the bumps and twists in the highway didn't even bother Lila, who has back problems.

Mike Girton, who has been coming here for Aspendace since 1979, compared this year's fete with those of the past. "It's a lot better than Aspendace. There are more things to do this year," he said. He especially liked the number of prizes awarded to cyclists this year. He said the plaques and trophies are incentives that attract dedicated riders.

An added bonus for Mike may have been the sale of his adorned carrier. He put it on the block for a cool $18,000 before he won the awards, and was still waiting for a taker by late afternoon Saturday.

I can only dream of owning such a rig, and with prices like that, the dream will have to be dormant for some time to come.

JUST $8,500 FOR A LOT ON PAVING — Yes, and if you recognize a good deal when you see it you won't delay another day! All city utilities are a bonus.

ALTO VILLAGE LOTS — $8,000 to $18,000. For speculative buying or secluded location for that place you've always wanted to build. We have an excellent selection for you.

BUILDER SAYS SELL — Super, well built, no hidden cheap materials covered up with "cosmetics" to fool you on this 2 bedroom, 2 bath house. In town but secluded area offers you more for your money than most comparably priced properties on the market today.

RENTAL PROPERTY? — Ruidoso's continued record-breaking growth makes being a landlord one of today's soundest investments. We have several listings with exceptional rental potential. Maybe you could use a tax shelter.

COMMERCIAL LOTS ON SUDDERTH — Recent traffic count verifies this location is one of Ruidoso's most desirable. Highly visible from all directions, priced below appraisal. Let your imagination and creativity fly, have your own business on this choice commercial site!

NO CREAM PUFF LUT PRICED RIGHT! — Close to downtown, overlooks Ruidoso River but just outside city limits. $13,000.00 total price.

UNDER $10,000.00 — Another place that needs some (would you believe lots?) of work but it will keep you out of the rain. At this price you can sure afford to do your own fixing-up.

NEW AND IN ALTO VILLAGE — Different styles, floor plans and locations, but each of these homes enjoys memberships in Alto Village. We have several to choose from, one will surely meet your needs.

$125,000.00 — 3 bedrooms, 2 baths
$149,500.00 — 3 bedrooms, 2 baths
$225,000.00 — 4 bedrooms, 2 1/2 baths
$217,600.00 — 3 bedrooms, 2 baths

NICE TWO BEDROOM HOME plus 2 bedroom mobile on large fenced lot. Water well and all city utilities. Some financing available. SEVERAL ATTRACTIVE BUILDING LOTS in Buck Mountain, Big Country and Mt. Capitan subdivisions, some with owner financing. 10 ACRES, fenced, with irrigation well and sprinkler system. In Tularosa area. 29% down, balance owner financed. COMMERCIAL PROPERTY fronting onto Hwy 70, 10 mobile hookups and 3 small apartments. Owner financing available.

JAMES CANYON RANCH
 An alpine ranch in one of New Mexico's most beautiful mountain areas. A very unusual situation. Ranch surrounds Cloudcroft running to Alamogordo and north to the Mescalero Reservation. 80 deeded acres, 34,000 USFS acres, 146 animal units year long. Deeded land has water rights and is surrounded by subdivisions. Enough grass, in our judgment, for twice the permit. Live in the city and ranch in paradise. Excellent access. $650,000.00.

SAND TRAPS are one of the hazards golfers will encounter Monday in the Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Golf Tournament. Here, Inn sales manager Tommy Morel blasts out on the sixth hole as assistant pro George French looks on.

PREPARING TO HIT his drive at the 409-yard, par four 17th hole is assistant pro Dode Forrester. Dode has been at the Inn since the course opened in 1976.

His father, the late E. E. "Dode" Forrester, was the first golf professional in Ruidoso.

Golf course at Inn of the Mountain Gods beautiful, challenging

The golf staff at the Inn of the Mountain Gods is looking forward to seeing the reaction of the touring pros in Monday's Pro-Am to the golf course at the Inn.

A little more than six years have passed since the 6,819-yard, par 72 links opened for play—meaning it is just coming into its own as one of the great golf courses in the Western United States.

Jack Warlick, who has been head professional at the Inn since it opened, is predicting a great tournament. As tournament chairman, Warlick has overseen preparations for the event.

"It's an awfully big job," said Warlick. "I would say we'll utilize close to 100 persons in a volunteer capacity." He added that the volunteers deserve a great deal of credit for donating their time.

Many of those helping with the tournament Monday will be youth golfers, and proceeds from the event will go to junior golf in New Mexico.

Warlick sees the event as an opportunity for all golfing enthusiasts in this region to see world-class golf. But he is especially pleased that young golfers will have the chance to be inspired by watching the pros.

Prize money for the Pro-Am is $10,000. Warlick pointed out, however, that it is not money which attracted the fine field of pros participating.

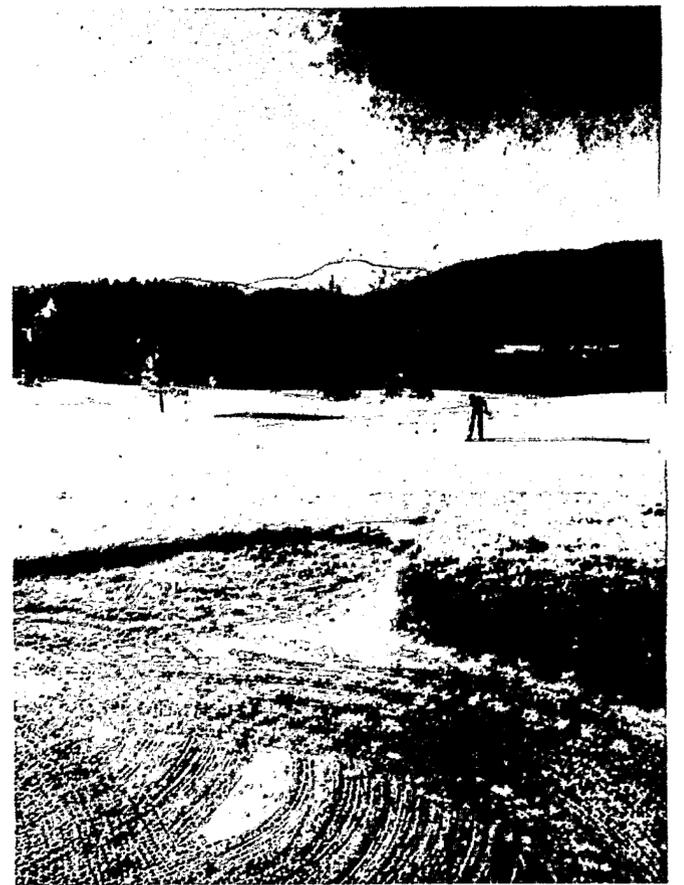

"They're playing because it's their way of paying back what the game has given to them," he said.

Warlick believes the tournament will benefit Ruidoso, the Inn and the state of New Mexico with national publicity.

In the meantime, Jack and assistant pros Dode Forrester and George French will be busy getting ready to welcome spectators and golfers to the first Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Golf Tournament.

THE PAR THREE, 227-yard eighth hole at the Inn course features terraced tee boxes far above the green. Here, George French prepares to hit an iron shot. George will be competing in the Sun Country Section (New Mexico and El Paso, Texas) assistant pros' tourney later this month at the Inn.

SIERRA BLANCA provides a scenic backdrop to much of the golf course at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. The area of the 18th green, shown here, will be crowded with spectators Monday for the Pro-Am Tournament.

TEEING OFF on the 10th hole is Inn of the Mountain Gods head professional Jack Warlick. Warlick predicts that some of the pros will drive the green on the 348-yard, par four hole. Lon Hinkle, in particular, is known for hitting a long ball. Lake Mescalero (at right) comes into play on number 10 and several other holes.

FESTIVAL A BIG SUCCESS

Cyclists arrived

"Beyond our greatest expectations," is how Connie Brown, secretary and treasurer of the Ruidoso Business Association (RBA) summed up last weekend's First Annual Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival.

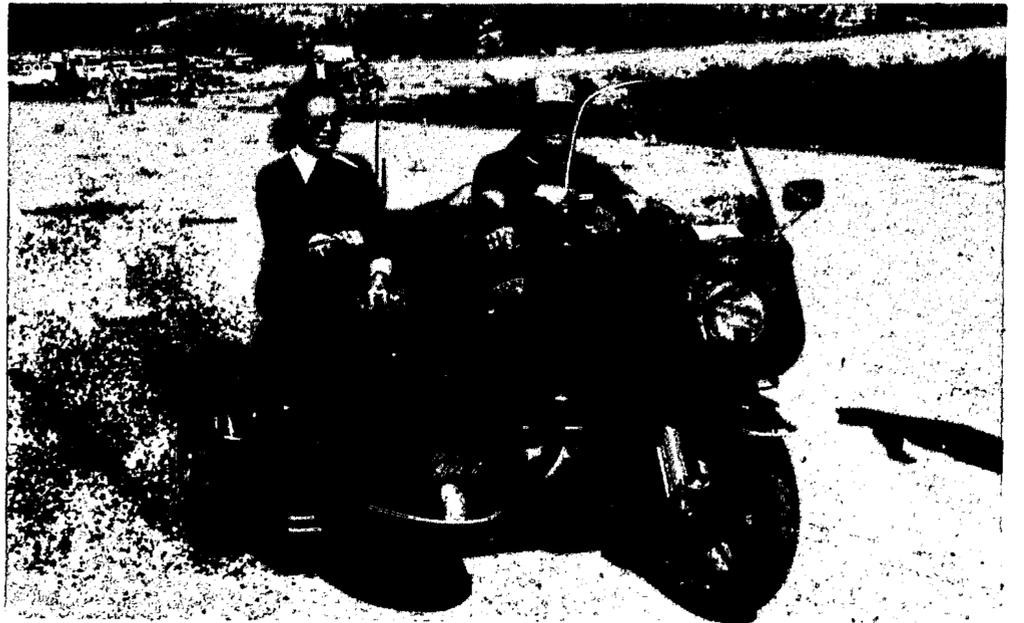

She said she considered the festival a success on all fronts and wished to thank all members of the community who donated their help and money, without which the festival would have been impossible.

Brown did not have final figures for attendance at the festival when contacted, but she said Dick Swenor, Ruidoso police chief, told her he estimated 3,600 motorcycles were in town over the weekend. With passengers, Brown said, that means approximately 5,000 to 6,000 visitors all together.

All the receipts have not been tallied yet but Brown said the RBA had taken in enough money to pay all the bills and have a little seed money for next year's festival.

She said people were congratulating her all weekend for the beautiful job the RBA did in their first year organizing the event. A great many people said they will be coming back next year and bringing more people with them. All the vendors at the festival also said they wanted to return next year.

Sunday, the day after the festival was over, members of the RBA were already organizing next year's festival. Tom Dorgan has been named president of the RBA, replacing Lawrence Hill at that position.

BLIND MAN'S WEAVE. Janet Lund gives instructions to her blindfolded husband, Larry, as they try to navigate a weaving course of pylons at the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival.

Outshine Your Competition With Outdoor Leased Floodlighting

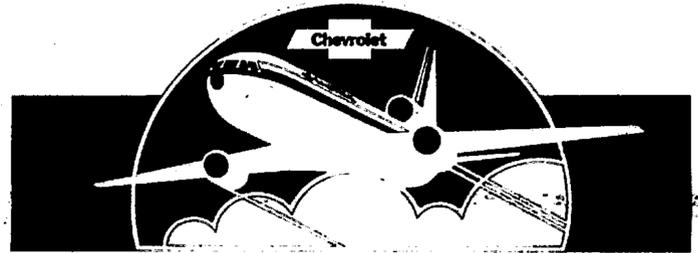

Outdoor leased floodlighting gives your business a competitive advantage during after-dark store hours. Light can be directed at areas like entrances and parking lots to help your valued customers and employees feel safe and secure. Well-lighted property helps prevent costly accidents and vandalism that can cut into your profits. Your convenient outdoor leased floodlighting automatically turns on at dusk, off at dawn. And you can save money because the efficient metal halide unit gives you more light per watt than standard incandescent bulbs. Make a wise business decision today — call and ask to have outdoor leased floodlighting installed on your property.

Toney Anaya is Content to be Labeled A Puppet of Big Labor Officials.

Are You Content to Have Him as Governor?

Roswell Daily Record
"Toney Anaya, seeking the Democratic Party nomination for the U.S. Senate, Friday told labor delegates here that he does not mind being referred to as a 'puppet of organized labor.'"

Big Union money is pouring into New Mexico in an attempt to elect Toney Anaya as the next Governor. During his primary election campaign, Toney Anaya took in over $72,000 from union special interests. This may represent only the tip of the iceberg of the cash union fatcats will spend to get Anaya elected as their Governor in New Mexico. You can be sure that union bosses expect something for the money they're spending on Toney Anaya. And the price may be paid out of your tax dollars, and the health of your state's economy.

Toney Anaya.

Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival has fun in store

If you know motorcycles or even if you don't, there should be plenty to catch your eye at the First Annual Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival. The latest in equipment; cherished out "dresser bikes;" gifts given away every hour; and crazy contests will all be a part of the festival Wednesday, September 29, through Saturday, October 2.

All the latest equipment will be shown by dealers for major companies at the trade show in the Chaparral Convention Center on Highway 70 at the west end of Ruidoso Downs from 4 p.m. to 8 p.m. daily. There will also be riding leathers, jewelry, motorcycle parts and much more for sale at the show.

A little older than the dealers' models, but probably at least as shiny and fixed up fancier, the dresser bikes will be on display in the field next to Holiday Inn. Judges will be considering electrical systems, accessories, mechanical setup and general appearance to determine the best bikes in a variety of categories.

In addition to standard models, categories to be judged will include Best Dressed Chopper, Best Dressed Trailer Rig, Best Dressed Sidecar Rig and Best Night Light Display. People who enter these contests have put in hours and hours of work fixing up their bikes. The bikes will no doubt reflect their efforts and impress any who see them.

While the Trade Show and Dressed Bike Contests may be of more interest to those who ride and enjoy motorcycles, contests such as the Water Balance, Bite the Wiener and Blind Man Weave should provide entertainment and laughs for all.

The Water Balance is a sidecar event in which a half a cup of water is placed on the head of the passenger in the sidecar. He then trusts his driver to drive the motorcycle over three two-inch by six-inch planks and guide the wheel of the sidecar over a 10-inch by 18-inch plank without spilling any water.

Many of the teams won't make it, but no doubt they will all have their own special methods for getting over the obstacles.

Can you tell where you are going when you have your eyes closed? Or how far? In both the Blind Man Weave and Blind Man Distance Guess riders have to drive their bikes blindfolded.

In the Distance Guess the driver rides his motorcycle with a blindfold until he thinks he has traveled 50 feet. Starting with 100 points, two points are subtracted for every foot short he is and one point is subtracted for every foot long. If a driver goes too far and comes close to the crowd, an official blows a whistle disqualifying the driver.

For registrants in the festival, there will be many chances to win a variety of prizes. Two fully accessorized Hondamatic 450 motorcycles will be given away during the festival.

Over 150 contingency gifts, from free meals at local restaurants to a $2,500 gift certificate at Custom Dressers in Oklahoma City, will be given away. Drawings for these will be held at least once an hour throughout the festival.

Headquarters for the festival is the Holiday Inn on Highway 70, near the "Y." Registration is in the La Paz Room. The hospitality tent or "tire kicking room" is in the field next to the Inn. Many of the contests are taking place in the same field.

Motocross race new Aspen Festival event

Motocross is coming to Ruidoso in a big way.

The first High Country Motocross Championships will be held Sunday, October 3, at Eagle Creek Ski Area.

The ski area is located one-half mile west on Ski Run Road off Highway 37 north.

About 400 to 500 riders from all over the Southwest are expected to participate in the competition. Races are scheduled to begin at 9 a.m.

The competition will all be run in one day. There will be 125cc, 250cc and open bike classes.

The 125cc and 250cc bike classifications will have novice, intermediate and expert competition. The open class will have intermediate and expert competition. At least 50 riders are expected to compete in each race.

Lots of obstacles and jumps on the track, which some of the riders may not be used to, should make for tough competition. The course will also be longer than most motocross tracks—around two-and-one-half miles in total distance.

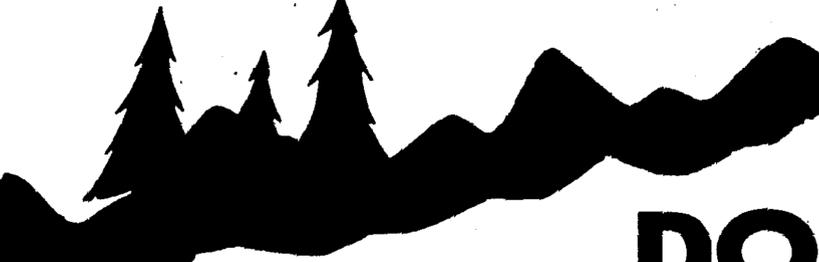

Riders will run two races in their division, with the combined score determining the final winners.

There will be a $1,200 total purse for the three expert classes. Trophies will be given out to the first, second and third place finishers for the intermediate and novice races.

Joe Worthen, one of the race's organizers, thinks the October 3 competition is a hint of better things to come.

"We hope to make this an annual affair," he said. "We're planning to raise money from this event to help build our own track. We'd like to stage a pro event next March or April."

Worthen and Al McChesney, a local architect, are co-partners in High Country Productions Limited, the sponsor of the motocross races.

Unexpected to be expected at Mule Races

"You never know what a mule is going to do," said Melvin Means of the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skinners. There will be close to 450 of those long-eared creatures competing in a wide and wild variety of mule races Thursday, October 7, through Sunday, October 10.

Means says mules are smarter than horses and a lot more stubborn.

"A mule has a mind of his own," he explained. "Racing around the track at Ruidoso Downs, it's not sure what will happen once they get around the far side. They might just decide to abandon the race and head for the barn. One time a mule took a shortcut, jumped the fence and ran across the infield to the finish line."

The mules are well trained, however. When they run well they can run surprisingly fast. Mules have times in races only two or three seconds slower than quarter horses.

The owners and riders take racing seriously, travelling on a circuit that takes them to towns around the Southwest. The races at Ruidoso Downs will draw mules and riders from all over the United States and Canada to compete for total purses estimated at $55,000.

In addition to standard races of an eighth of a mile to five-and-a-half furlongs, there will be numerous less conventional races that should provide plenty of thrills and laughs. The Bloomer Race on Sunday will feature riders climbing into bloomers racing down the track, giving the bloomers to another rider who has to put them on and ride back to the starting line, if the mule will stand for all this quick changing.

There will be chariot races Friday, Saturday and Sunday with a variety of homemade and decorated chariots pulled by two mules. Some of the charioteers have even been known to dress in uniforms of the original Roman racers.

The Balloon Bust Race will be held Thursday. In that race riders will urge their mules past a course of poles holding balloons that the riders must pop as they ride by. What the mules will think of this 's anybody's guess. The Coon Jump, Diaper Race, Pole Bending and plenty of other races should be equally as fun. "We've had almost everything happen," said Means.

Mule races began for the fun of it

This year's mule races may have the largest purse in the United States, but they have always been big. When Ray Reed staged the first Mule-O-Rama in 1976 he offered the biggest purse in mule racing history.

Reed insists, however, that money was not the main attraction. Fun is what it was all about.

"The whole damn thing was laughter," he said recently while looking through a scrapbook of those first races.

The "hide races," with a mule and rider towing a person on a cow hide, provided plenty of laughter. The non-winners races, El Macho Juerte and polebending races were all meant for fun.

Reed was working in the promotional department at Ruidoso Downs Race Track at the time he organized the first Mule-O-Rama. He had been staging single mule races as an added attraction to the horse races since the mid-sixties. In 1976, he went to the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce with the idea of running two full days of mule races in the fall when the track was closed.

Chamber manager Richard Cothrun liked the idea and Reed

"We liked each other. We were the same kind of people — go, go, go," said Reed. The Chamber gave Reed the go-ahead to organize the event although many in town thought it was a crazy idea.

Reed garnered $10,000 from a beer company to add to the purse for the races and eventually produced a $25,000 purse.

Atmosphere, however, was what he was really after. He arranged to run the races at Gateway Meadows, a much more open site than the Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Around the track he and friends constructed aspen pole fences to create a rustic feeling.

He organized a dinner cooked at a chuckwagon that had been built in 1900 and had actually fed cowboys on the range in earlier years. They cooked 1,400 pounds of beef, hundreds of sourdough biscuits and a barrel full of beans.

In addition to food and races, Reed produced a fiddling contest that attracted some of the hottest fiddlers in the country and paid more money than the world championship contest in Oregon.

Reed organized the event "so you could race mules all day and dance and sing at night," he said.

There were 30 races and crowds of 2,000 people each day who viewed those races. The races this year will attract more people and pay more money but Reed would argue with you whether they will be any more fun.

"We used to have a lot of fun," he remembered.

Aspen Festival Queen captivates judges

"We were all captivated," said Ellen Miller, one of the judges who chose Marian Cadena, 17, Queen of Aspen Festival '82. Indeed, the pretty young lady can charm you easily with her enthusiasm and bright smile.

"I like to be friendly. I guess it's my nature," said Marian. Her friendliness comes from growing up in small towns, she believes, and her nature will keep her out of the big cities.

"I am happy in small towns ... a country mouse, I guess," said Marian.

Here in Ruidoso she is free to enjoy the people and the countryside. She likes to hike in many areas of the Lincoln National Forest and rattled off a list of mountains she has climbed near Ruidoso.

Another of her favorite activities is going to Ruidoso Downs Race Track. "I like to go to the races and look at people. There is such a variety," said Marian.

She also likes to cook. She likes spicy food, but, she added, "I make a mean chocolate chip cookie." She recently made a batch of those mean cookies for Dr. Paul Whitwam on his birthday.

Marian works as an assistant for Whitwam afternoons and attends Ruidoso High School in the mornings as a part of a work study program.

It was Whitwam and workmate Mary Lou Moore who convinced her to enter the contest for the Aspen Festival Queen. She was not too enthusiastic at first, thinking she had no chance to win, but was eventually convinced to enter the contest.

"They bribed me. They bought me a new dress," she said with a laugh.

Marian performs a variety of tasks at surgeon Whitwam's office, from filing patients' folders to doing prep work for small operations. She is excited about all that she has learned and hopes to attend college next year to study either nursing or counseling.

With the busy schedule of work and school Marian worries that she might become too serious. But that is doubtful, according to friends. Moore explained, "She's just real bubbly. She's crazy."

Growing sport of tractor pulling requires

"No other sport makes use of brute horsepower like tractor pulling," wrote professor George Foster in a recent issue of Pulling Power magazine.

Tractor pulling, relatively new to the Southwest, is attracting increasingly large crowds. People come out to see extraordinary examples of mechanical excellence and creativity in the form of the highly modified tractors and four-wheel-drive pickups. The machines compete against each other, gravity and friction.

For those who don't know, tractor pulling is not four burly farmers trying to pull a tractor. It is souped-up tractors and pickups pulling a sled loaded with 40,000 pounds of weight down a track as far as possible until spinning out or stalling. The winners are the ones who pull the sled the furthest down the track.

The sled is a complex mechanism that has a pan which rides flat on the track, and a trailer on wheels. When the pull begins, the weight is centered over the trailer, allowing the tractor to get a start. As the tractor progresses down the track, the weight shifts to the pan, creating a much heavier drag on the tractor.

The weight is shifted from trailer to pan using a transmission with 16 to 20 possible speeds of weight shift, depending upon the weight class of the tractor pulling and the conditions of the track.

There is one man who is responsible for the setting of the transmission on the sled. He can make all the difference in a race. If he adjusts the gears on the sled correctly, spectators get to see longer pulls with two or three tractors or pickups pulling the complete length of the 300-foot track. Then the contest is decided by a "pull off" between the tractors that completed the full pull.

Lest you think you can just hop down to the track with the tractor or pickup you use every day, be warned that these rigs out at the pull bear the same resemblance to your wheels as Richard Petty's car does to an old Dodge Dart.

The engines in these machines often deliver up to 1,200 horsepower and run at about 6,500 to 8,500 rpm. In spite of the tremendous work the engines do, most of them do not even use any water for cooling. They are all supercharged to force air and alcohol into the cylinders.

An engine alone can cost $8,000 to $18,000. The biggest pullers have more than one engine. Add $1,100 for each tire, $2,000 to $3,000 for the best gear boxes, and innumerable hours spent building them and you have quite an investment, as well as a different breed of machine.

The National Tractor Pullers Association (NTPA) will be overseeing the tractor pull at the old drive-in across from Ruidoso Downs Race Track October 9 and 10. They have disked, watered and packed the 300-foot by 50-foot track to make it as hard as possible.

All the machines pulling are required to have a variety of safety features. These include approved clutches and flywheels and kill switches that stop the motors should the tractors and sleds break apart.

So if you want to see some pretty amazing machines performing at their peak capacities from start to finish, head down to the Tractor Pull October 9 and 10.

Antique auto festival to entertain car lovers

Antique auto restoring is a hobby that brings people of all backgrounds together. During the Antique Auto Festival (Saturday and Sunday, October 9 and 10), Pat Newell, promoter of the event, believes it will be common to see gas pump jockeys sitting with lawyers "bench racing" earnestly.

Bench racing, Newell says, is talking about antique autos, the shows and all the efforts and adventures owners of the antique cars have had buying and restoring them.

Newell believes it is the common bond provided by the purchase and restoration of these antique autos that brings together people from such different walks of life. They have experienced the same joys and frustrations and share a common language.

The 30 or more antique (25 years or older) autos that will be visible around town all have histories the owners will gladly tell you. Simply finding the cars and buying them can provide stories to tell. It is not uncommon to see an old wreck in a field only to find out that it is a rare and valuable car—or will be once it is restored.

On the other hand, Newell tells of a lady who had owned and driven a 1951 Ford since 1952 but could not get a driver's license anymore and sold the car to him. There are also many antique auto auctions where the cars are bought and sold, although not at the price one might get from the farmer who has one rusting out in his field.

Restoring the cars is a process that can take years and provide hours of bench racing material. Many of the owners do much of their own work.

Newell believes much of the joy of owning a fine antique auto is in doing the restoring work oneself, even if it does take three times as long for the amateur to do it as a paid professional. Many an owner will show with pride the upholstery, paint job or machine work he or she has done on a car.

Any owner will also have a story of the painstaking search undertaken to find one elusive part for a car. They may have combed catalogue upon catalogue full of parts for antique cars finding nothing, only to stumble upon the rear tail reflector at the bottom of a pile in a swap meet.

For many people antique autos are more than just a hobby. As Newell says, "It is a way of life with us." Newell owns six antique cars and says that chances are that if a person has one antique car at a show he has another at home that he is restoring.

Newell's whole family is involved. His children often come home and excitedly tell him about some "vintage tin" they saw. Or they are the first to point out an antique car when the family is driving together.

Newell's oldest son has taken up the hobby himself and recently bought a 1935 Ford. Newell believes many families are like his and that is why the antique auto festival will be a family-oriented event.

Registration for the festival will be at School House Park from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday, October 8, and from 8 to 9 Saturday morning. Many of the autos will be in the parade Saturday morning.

Lunch is planned for the festival registrants with games in the afternoon. Sunday will be the Show N Shine, when all the cars and their owners will be on display at School House Park. Judging in many categories will be done during the Show N Shine and awards presented at about 3:30 that afternoon.

State Chili Cookoff promises hot time for all

If you want to compete in the New Mexico State Chili Cookoff in Ruidoso Downs October 9, you need to be pretty familiar with the five pages of rules put out by the Chili Appreciation Society International (CASI).

At the same time, you had better have a good sense of humor to listen to the continuous commentary by emcee Tex Scofield and the carrying on of fellow chili cooks vying for showmanship awards.

The CASI rules specify what can be used in the chili, where it is to be cooked, what you can and cannot do as part of the showmanship contest, and especially how the chili is to be judged.

CASI uses Frank X. Tolbert's Secret Judging system, which determines a precise format for judging as well as establishing criteria in the areas of aroma, color, taste, consistency, aftertaste and more. Violations of these rules can result in official probation published in the Goat Gap Gazette and disqualification from the World Championship Cookoff in Terlingua, Texas.

For all the seriousness of the chili judging, there will be plenty of laughter throughout the cooking area. Tex Scofield, "the official mouth of the chili world," will be on hand to make sure of that.

Glen Tucker of the San Antonio Light called Scofield "a king in an activity cluttered with clowns." Rick Smith wrote in the Austin American Statesman that Scofield is "a garrulous orator of prodigious adroitness, a verbal virtuoso with no peer ... with a non-stop barrage of words that would have left Mr. Webster himself thumbing through a pocket dictionary."

In addition to Scofield, there will be a host of chili cooks competing for the Showmanship Awards during the three hours they cook the chili. From these chiliheads you can expect almost anything short of amplification or shooting guns, which are outlawed by CASI.

Many of the competitors decorate their booths with a Western theme. Their booths may have chilis or wagon wheels hanging in their booths and some have built full Western store fronts for their booths. Others may have rattlesnake skins or rabbit carcasses they swear are key ingredients in their prize-winning chili.

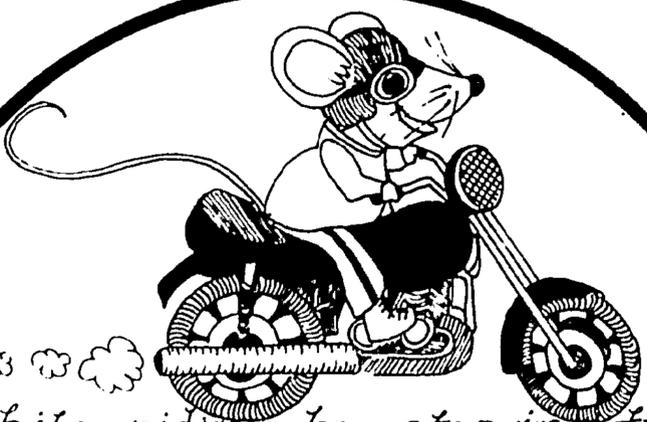

Still others have been known to have women in see-through blouses help cook the chili. The judges for showmanship will be anonymous, so the cooks will have to keep up a non-stop show the whole time.

Whether or not you are a true chilihead, it is bound to be a fine day out at the parking area west of Ruidoso Downs Race Track. As specified by the rules, all the cooking will be done outside in the open air.

There should be 50 to 75 teams cooking over portable stoves at their booths. Live music will be played during the day, and beer, soft drinks and sandwiches will be available.

The cooks are not allowed to sell their chili. But once the judges have taken their samples to the judging tables, it is customary for chili cooks to share their culinary concoctions with the hungry crowd.

First Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Golf

The first Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Golf Tournament will have celebrities as well as top touring professional golfers among its participants.

Monday, October 11, is the day. Among the celebrities scheduled to compete are "Dandy" Don Meredith, the former Dallas Cowboy quarterback and presently color man on ABC-TV's Monday Night Football, and actor Dale Robertson.

Meredith will participate in the tournament unless some unexpected development with regards to the Monday night National Football League game forces him to withdraw.

Robertson starred on the television series "Wells Fargo" and will be in a new role on the popular "Dallas" television series this fall.

There are presently 12 professional golfers scheduled to compete in the tournament. They are John Mahaffey, George Archer, Dave Hill, Lon Hinkle, Bob Murphy, Charles Coody, Fuzzy Zoeller, Brad Bryant, Tom Purtzer, Mark Hayes, Lou Graham and Dave Eichelberger.

Zoeller, Archer and Coody have each won a Masters title. Archer won the Green Jacket in 1969, Coody in 1971, and Zoeller in 1979.

Coody, from Abilene, Texas, has won $1,064,010 in his 19-year career on the pro tour. He has won two other major tournaments besides the 1971 Masters and took home $32,628 last year.

Zoeller, only 30 and with seven years on the tour, has won $689,400 in his career. He has won two other tournaments besides the 1979 Masters. He won $151,571 on the tour last year.

CHARLES COODY

Archer, from Gilroy, California, has won 1,161,847 in his 18-year career and has won 11 other tournaments besides the 1969 Masters. He won $111,093 last year.

FUZZY ZOELLER

Purtzer won the 1977 Los Angeles Open and has earned $520,997 in his career. The Phoenix, Arizona, resident won $122,812 last year.
