RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

THURSDAY, AUGUST 18, 1983

Justanold Love looms as the favorite in the $1,500,534 All-American Gold Cup at Ruidoso Downs Race Track on Sunday, August 21. The victory slice of one of the world's richest horse races is $750,267. Justanold Love, owned by J.E. Jumonville Jr. of Ventress, Louisiana, set the top qualifying time.

Just an old $1.5 million

by MARK GORDON

Justanold Love, one of the brilliant competitors from the barn of trainer Charles W. Cascio, looms as the horse to beat in Sunday's second running of the All-American Gold Cup at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The Dash For Cash mare heads a sensational field of 10 four-year-olds who turned in the fastest times of the 48 entrants who competed in five trial heats last Saturday. The winner of the world's richest race for four-year-old quarter horses will collect a remarkable winner's purse of $750,267 from the total purse of $1,500,534.

A special early post time of 12:30 p.m. will be used on Sunday to accommodate the live half-hour telecast of the All-American Gold. The Gold Cup, to be run as the ninth race on Sunday's program, will be telecast by Winner Communications of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

The 440-yard dash clearly drew several of the sport's finest runners. Justanold Love, however, had the fastest qualifying time with a rapid 21:49 while winning the fifth trial heat by almost three lengths. It was the second fastest 440-yard reading this season at Ruidoso Downs and one of the fastest in recent seasons.

Justanold Love has won three of four races this season with one second in four outings. She's earned $35,935 for owner J.E. Jumonville Jr. of Ventress, Louisiana.

She enjoyed a superb three-year-old campaign, winning five races with three seconds and one third from 11 outings. Her major win occurred in the $1 million All-American Derby in late August at Ruidoso Downs as she collected $388,352 in 1982.

Overall, in her three-year racing career, the Texas-bred miss has won 13 races with five seconds and two thirds in 24 outings. She's earned $594,737, putting her 14th on the all-time list of quarter horse money-winners.

Dashingly has even more impressive credentials.

The Dash For Cash mare stands fourth on quarter horse racing's all-time money list with winnings of $937,156 on 17 victories and four seconds from 22 appearances. If she finishes eighth or better in the Gold Cup, she will join Higheasterjet, Special Effort and Mr Master Bug as quarter horse racing's only millionaires.

Dashingly won the third trial heat by a half-length in 21:66, the fifth-fastest qualifying reading.

In 1981 as a two-year-old, she won seven races. Her major wins included earnings of $397,100 for taking the prestigious Skoal Dash For Cash Futurity, one of the Triple Crown races for two-year-olds at Los Alamitos near Los Angeles. She concluded her juvenile year by winning $123,900 for taking the Golden State Futurity at Los Alamitos.

She won six races in 1982, and has won four of five races this year with one second and has collected $152,585 this year.

She's also trained by Charles W. Cascio for owner J.E. Jumonville Jr. of Ventress, Louisiana.

Another California invader like Justanold Love and Dashingly will be War Star Wrangler, a Rocket Wrangler gelding.

He recorded the second-fastest qualifying reading with a swift 21:58 while drawing clear for a one-length victory in the fourth trial heat.

That was his first win with three seconds this year in seven trips for trainer H. Don Farris. He's earned $39,934 for owner Larry H. Hughes of Salida, Colorado.

In 17 starts in 1982 as a three-year-old, the New Mexico-bred dasher gained five wins with six seconds and one third and earnings of $130,518. His major win was taking the prestigious Budweiser Derby last November at Turf Paradise in Phoenix as the 3-2 wagering choice.

The outstanding runner, Johnny Vittoro, had the third-fastest qualifying clocking with a 21:58 while tallying a nose win in the opening trial race.

Considering it was just his second race this season, it was a superb effort for trainer Alfred Fontenot and owner Ronald D. Marney of Houston, Texas.

The Vittoro horse had a magnificent two-year-old season in 1981, winning 11 races with one second and one third from 15 appearances and earned $350,755.

His major paychecks included earnings of $125,618 for winning the Firecracker Futurity over 400 yards at Delta Downs in Vinton, Louisiana; $101,067 for taking the Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Futurity; and $91,455 for taking the Old South Futurity at Delta Downs.

Overall, in his career, Johnny Vittoro has won 13 races with three seconds and two thirds from 23 trips and winnings of $451,913.

Other entrants may not have the moneylines as those fine horses, but they certainly have won several major races.

Cute Investment, a Good Investment mare, had a brilliant year in 1982.

She won four races with three seconds from nine tries and earned $302,604. Her biggest win was tallying a nose victory in the $668,620 Rainbow Derby at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

She ran third behind Johnny Vittoro and Turn Bugs Loose in the opening trial heat. Her time of 21:75 was the ninth-best reading.

Trained by W. Larry Stevens, she's owned by Fletcher J. Huskey and Sam D. Womack of Poolville, Texas.

Hempens Jet, a Hempen gelding, posted the biggest victory of his career when he registered a nose win over Lightfooted in the Rainbow Silver Cup on June 19 at Ruidoso Downs. He ran a June 21:68 while winning one of the country's top attractions for four-year-olds.

In seven 1983 starts for trainer C. Dwayne Gilbreath, Hempens Jet has won four races with one second and one third. He's earned $91,745 for owner James E. Hezler of Mansfield, Texas.

Here's the complete Gold Cup field and their qualifying times: Justanold Love (21:49); War Star Wrangler (21:58); Johnny Vittoro (21:61); Turn Bugs Loose (21:62); Dashingly (21:66); Shawne High (21:71); Mr Easy Ed (21:72); Hempens Jet (21:72); Cute Investment (21:75); and Viva El Seis (21:80).

Protest hearing Friday

by BILLY ALLSTETTER

"Water comes from two sources: God and the state engineer," said Ruidoso village manager Jim Hine recently.

Lacking access to the former, village officials and protesting valley farmers will meet in Santa Fe Friday to discuss their dispute over water rights before representatives of the State Engineer's Office.

The meeting is set for 9:30 a.m. Friday in Room 316 of the state capitol building.

A group of farmers who have water rights on the Rio Ruidoso have filed a protest against the Village of Ruidoso's application to the state engineer to change the discharge point for sewage effluent.

The protest has put into jeopardy Ruidoso's right to water with which it plans to fill the Grindstone reservoir.

The protest arose out of the construction of the Biscuit Hill sewage treatment plant. The new plant is six miles downstream from the former treatment plant. Ruidoso wants to discharge sewage effluent at the new plant.

The protesting farmers live between the old plant and the new one. They say the change in discharge points will reduce the flow of water past their irrigation ditches and endanger their access to water.

They officially protested the change in effluent discharge points last May.

Because of the protest, the State Engineer's Office has suspended Ruidoso's effluent credit rights on the Rio Ruidoso and will not reinstate them until the protest is resolved, according to R. B. Collins, State Engineer's Office District II supervisor.

Effluent credit rights give Ruidoso credit for a percentage of the water it puts back into the river. The village can draw that credited water out of the river. It is the effluent credit of 623 acre feet a year that the village plans to use to fill Grindstone reservoir.

Friday's meeting is a pre-conference hearing. The meeting is an attempt to establish the positions of the disputing parties and to find out what facts and legal issues are in dispute, according to Neil Stillinger, Ruidoso's attorney in the case.

"It basically gets the parties together," said Harold Saunders, assistant engineer in the State Engineer's Office. Although no decisions will be made at the hearing, Saunders said the hearing is sometimes an "avenue for compromise."

Representatives of the disputing parties seemed to hold little hope of reaching an early compromise.

"Efforts in that direction have failed," said Ray Sage, attorney for protesting farmer Leonard McCutcheon.

The Ruidoso village council passed a resolution July 12, stating its position on the issue. The resolution states that the village has no legal obligation to discharge effluent into the Rio Ruidoso above the farmers' properties. It does, however, state that the council will make "all reasonable effort" to assure the farmers they "will continue to have as much water as they had in the past."

"It affords the protestors no protection at all," said Sage. "It's meaningless."

McCutcheon also called it a "handshake thing" that makes no assurances of future water supply.

Councilman Al Jung said he thinks the dispute will end up in court no matter what the state engineer rules. He said attorneys have told him court disputes could last easily two to six years.

Councilman Frank Sayner was a little more optimistic. After the Friday meeting would be a good time to sit down and reach a compromise, he said.

"Nothing would tickle me more than reaching a compromise with the protestors," said Sayner.

The village council also drafted an agreement whereby it promised to ensure a flow of water over the Avant dam on the Rio Ruidoso that would supply water to the farmers. Attorney Stillinger said he advised against that agreement because the village would forfeit some of its water rights.

He said the effluent credit rights are instantaneous. Ruidoso gets credit for water as it puts it back into the river. If the village had to stop using the effluent credit water for Grindstone in order to supply the farmers, the credit would be lost down river. The village cannot store up effluent credit for a number of months, then use it later, said Stillinger.

Stillinger said he plans to refer to a case in Roswell as part of his case. In that case the city of Roswell decided to reuse its effluent water instead of discharging it into the river. Protesting water users downstream lost that case.

Although the Roswell case is somewhat different than Ruidoso's, Stillinger cited a paragraph in that ruling which referred to another Colorado case. The Colorado case stated that the downstream water user does not have the right to rely on the same point of discharge or return of effluent.

"We're saying the system remains balanced," said Stillinger.

He also said off-hand he sees no means of compromise, but added that a compromise could be possible after the pre-conference hearing.

If no compromise is reached, the two disputing parties will meet in a hearing in Ruidoso, said Stillinger. He said he plans to request November 16 and 17 for the hearing because he knows that is an open date for the State Engineer's Office.

Councilmen Frank Sayner and Benny Coulston plan to attend Friday's meeting, as do village manager Hine, assistant manager Frank Potter and village clerk Leon Eggleston.

June McCutcheon said several of the protesting farmers have talked about attending the meeting. She said her husband Leonard McCutcheon and attorney Sage will attend. She was not sure which others would be in Santa Fe Friday morning.

Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival to headquarter at Sales Arena

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Ruidoso Business Association (RBA) members were excited to announce this week that the second annual Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival will be at the All-American Sales Arena at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

"I can't emphasize enough how good a facility we've got," RBA president Tom Dorgan exclaimed. Problems created last year by motorcycle festival events being separated in different locations "are all behind us," Dorgan noted, "because we have a central facility to run the program out of."

Dorgan made the announcement at a meeting Monday during which plans for this year's festival were discussed. Dates for the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival are Wednesday, September 28, to Saturday, October 1. Registration is about 60 people ahead of last year at this point, with 211 motorcyclists already signed up and paid, reported Nancy Radziewicz. "We're in good shape," she commented.

"I don't think it will be difficult for us to hit 5,000 to 7,000 people this year," Dorgan predicted. "I think we're going to fill up the town. It will be an event as big or bigger than Aspenade."

RBA members were encouraged by interest in the festival shown thus far. A number of motorcycle-related businesses have contributed prizes and/or rented booths at the trade show.

Custom Dressers of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, is contributing dressing and a matching cargo trailer for the touring motorcycle to be given away as the grand sweepstakes prize. The bike will be worth about $9,000 dressed. Dorgan pointed out.

The second grand prize, an Eagle III cargo trailer, has been donated by Smitty's Manufacturing of Ames, Iowa. Also, a Tucson, Arizona, sound systems firm wants to rent two large trade show booths; give away several trophies; place a half-page ad in the program; plus donate two helmets with speakers and microphones as contingency prizes, RBA member Connie Brown reported. She estimated the value of that firm's support at about $1,000.

In addition, Brown said Harley-Davidson contacted her about renting a 1,200-square foot booth at the trade show. Harley-Davidson will also sponsor a poker run for Muscular Dystrophy on Thursday of the festival.

RBA will sponsor two other poker runs this year. A "Get Acquainted with Ruidoso" run on Wednesday will feature a "maze" tour of the village, Brown explained. On Friday motorcyclists will ride to Bonito Lake, where they will participate in carnival-style games to draw their poker hands, and also enjoy a barbecue lunch.

Other activities during the four-day festival include field events, sidecar events, bike judging, pinstripping, presentation of contingency prizes and special awards, and a mini dinner tour. Also this year, seminars on pulling a trailer and hypothermia are scheduled, plus showing of the movie "On Any Sunday II."

A total of 35 vendors have already paid to rent food and merchandise booths, it was reported. RBA will host the beer concession this year, to prevent discord among various service organizations that have requested it. Also, a photo album of the motorcycle festival will be assembled, to be sold for $10 each. Ruidoso Motorcycle

Festival pins will be given to all cyclists attending, and the first 3,000 to register will receive RBA Tour pins.

About 140 trophies to be given away are now being made and engraved with contributors' names. The New Mexico Mounted Patrol will provide security at the Sales Arena, and the Ruidoso High School Band will be responsible for maintenance of the grounds.

RBA discussed the need to decorate the town for the motorcycle festival this year and agreed to put up street banners welcoming cyclists to Ruidoso. Mayor George White and Chamber of Commerce president James Paxton have volunteered to write letters of welcome to the festival participants, as well, it was noted.

The Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival will not be sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association (AMA) again this year. Last year AMA chose to sanction a festival in Durango, Colorado, instead of the Ruidoso event. RBA opted to refuse the sanctioning this year, although it was reportedly offered.

Another indication of the expected success of the motorcycle festival is a request from the BMW National Rally Commission for Ruidoso to host the BMW National Rally in May. RBA voted Monday against hosting such an event, because of the organization and time involved and the amount of money that would have to be solicited from the community.

RBA is still seeking donations for contingency prizes for the fall festival. Anyone interested in contributing prizes or money should contact Charolette Hill at 258-3254 or 257-7825 or Rosemary Gann at 258-5000.

RBA is a totally volunteer organization, formed last year for the purpose of sponsoring the motorcycle festival. Members voted Monday to continue working on a voluntary basis this year, since the motorcycle festival received some lodgers' tax monies. Dorgan said the issue of compensation to RBA members may be addressed at a later date, especially since it was indicated this year may be the last to get lodgers' tax funding.

Another open meeting to discuss final plans for the festival is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, August 29, at the public library. Anyone interested in helping with the motorcycle festival is invited.

Ruidoso police officers learn how life is for Mexican policemen

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

What would you think of working as a police officer for $3.10 a day and sharing five cars among 120 officers? And what if you had to buy 45-cent bullets out of that meager salary?

Two Ruidoso police officers who visited Mexican police departments last week had different experiences but came back with many of the same opinions.

"I think people should be really glad they live in this country," said investigator Gonzalo Cordova.

"I can appreciate what I have," said patrolman Oscar Villado.

From officer pay to protection of civil rights, those on both sides of the law in the United States get a better deal, said both officers. Many aspects of law enforcement are similar, however, and Villado and Cordova were impressed with professionalism of Mexican officers in their positions.

Academy and enforcement agencies in the state of Chihuahua.

Villado spent much of his time in Parrao being wined and dined, and touring the local sights. Cordova, on the other hand, investigated a murder on his first day in Chihuahua and was actively involved in other investigations while he was there.

"It was an eye-opening experience," said Cordova. "People have a lot of misconceptions about how things are done."

Cordova said the common image of corrupt policemen persecuting whomever they want is a false one. On the other hand, civil rights are not as strongly protected in Mexico as they are in the United States, Cordova discovered.

The police don't pick up just anybody off the streets. In most cases they have an arrest warrant, said Cordova. But not having one doesn't necessarily stop the officers from taking somebody down to the station for questioning.

Questioning can get a little rough, said Cordova. If psychological intimidation doesn't bring the desired effect, officers can resort to physical means of drawing the confession out of a suspect. Cordova was hesitant to divulge exact techniques, but he indicated the Mexican police do have their ways of coercing a suspected criminal behind the closed doors of the interrogation room.

Gross violations of human rights, however, are prosecuted, said Cordova. The chief of police in one town and some of his officers are serving time in prison for letting three people die in the desert.

The penitentiary was one place where the Mexicans may have a better system, said Cordova. He said conjugal visits are very common for prisoners, as well as visits by whole families. Cordova attributed a much more relaxed atmosphere in the penitentiary and lack of homosexual activity to the family and conjugal visits.

Villado was impressed with the speed of trials in Mexico. The courts and the prisons are at the same place and it can take as little as three days from the time a suspect is picked up to the time he is convicted and in prison.

Coercion and three-day trials raise the question of whether or not justice is actually done. Cordova said he is frustrated sometimes by rulings in the United States that free a criminal because of a technical or procedural error on the part of the arresting officer.

He said he wishes he had some of the freedom to act as investigators do in Mexico. He pointed to the homicide case he investigated. Within 10 minutes of arriving, the investigators had a suspect in custody, which was much quicker than would have been possible in the United States. The officers were able to enter the house of the suspect without having to wait for a warrant.

But he still believes the United States system is better.

"The framers of the constitution had the right thing in mind when they wrote it," said Cordova, who explained that the checks and balances as well as strict interpretation of the constitution have protected society from overzealous crime fighters.

Cordova emphasized that the investigators use discretion about who they pick up and when they use coercion. It is only uncooperative and strong suspects who get rough treatment. Generally, the investigators are very professional, especially under the circumstances, said Cordova.

"With the resources they have, they do a pretty good job," said Cordova.

Police in Mexico have very limited facilities and training, not to mention pay. Villado said the 120-officer Parrao force patrols a city of approximately 200,000 residents with only five cars. They have 10 cars, said Villado, but only five were working when he was down there.

For security, the officers ride three to a car during the day and four to a car during the night, said Villado. While no incidents occurred during the two days he rode with officers, Villado said, three policemen have already been killed in that city this year.

"Down there they have no respect for the police officers," said Villado.

As a part of the attention to officer security, Villado said dispatchers are not allowed to have any magazines, books or other distractions with them when on duty. He was impressed with the dispatchers' attention to officer safety.

Pay for officers is very low. Patrolmen are paid approximately $3.10 a day and the chief gets only $32 a week, said Villado. Such wages make the mordida, or bribe, a "part of life," said Cordova.

Training for officers is also very different in Mexico.

"All the training they get is on the streets," said Villado.

Both Villado and Cordova agreed that common sense and street experience are the most valuable things to a police officer.

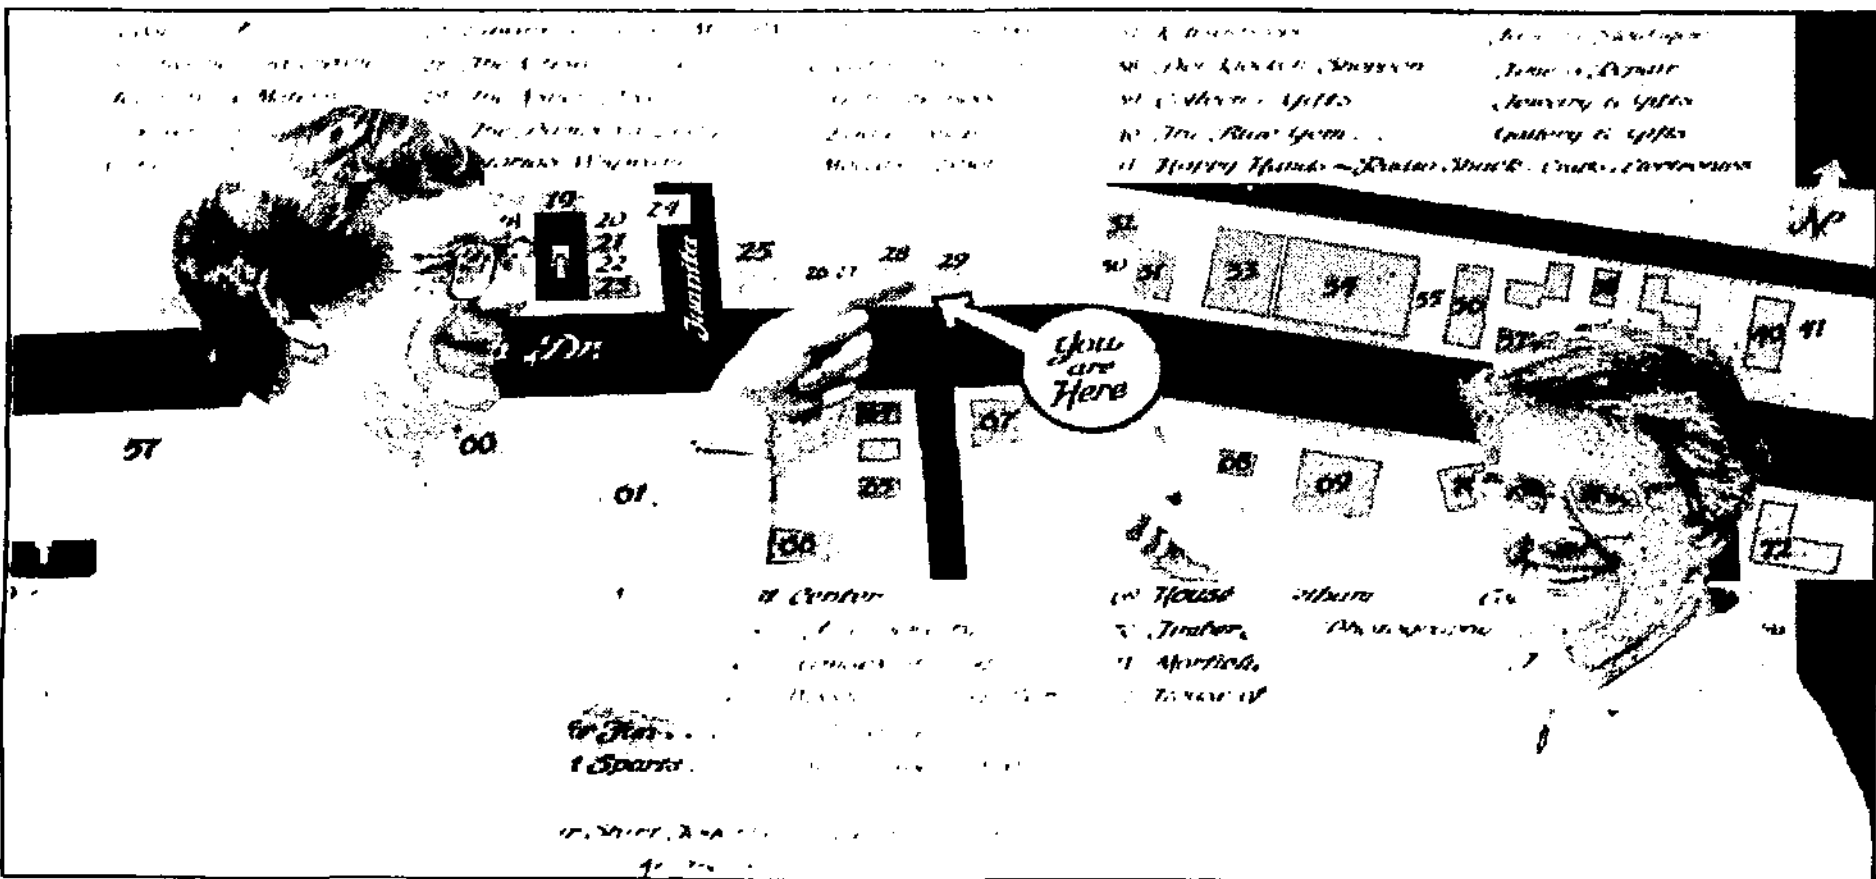

Cordova said the officers were very sharp "streetwise" and knew how to conduct investigations.

"It impressed me. They really got things going," he said of the homicide investigation.

Many officers, however, have only a limited time to get that street experience. Cordova and Villado said the political atmosphere has a large effect on the police force. Every time a new politician is elected, much of the police force is replaced. Villado said even the secretaries were being replaced in Parrao.

Both men said the exchange was a valuable experience. Villado said he was glad to learn that police in other areas fight many of the same problems that he faces in Ruidoso. The program helped improve the rapport between enforcement agencies in the two nations, said Cordova.

"Since we're so close to the border, it's good to know what's going on," said Cordova.

Chamber emphasizes print ads

by TIM PALMER

The Advertising Committee of the Chamber of Commerce decided Tuesday to emphasize advertising in the print media — with Texas Monthly and Southwest Airlines magazines to each carry six ads per year.

Also, the committee discussed funding a "goodwill ambassador" for skiing, who would visit ski shops in all major cities in Texas and distribute Sierra Blanca Ski Resort brochures.

The Chamber has decided on roughly a 60/40 split of its $51,000 advertising budget, noted committee chairman Tommy Morel. Plans call for $31,000 to be spent on ski season and $20,000 on summer season promotion.

"We felt newspapers was the way to go," said Morel. He presented a list of nine cities — Dallas, Houston, El Paso, Albuquerque, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Amarillo and Tucson — and costs to advertise in their newspapers.

Morel indicated those markets were determined with the help of a report on American Express credit card purchases here. The report tells where people who make the purchases come from. He said he believes the study reflects the whole of visitors to this area.

Cost for running an ad in a Sunday travel section one time in the eight papers would be $5,224 for a three column by 5.25 inch ad and $6,536 for a two column by 10.5 inch ad. It was pointed out that the $31,000 would not go very far — running the smaller ad six times would exhaust it.

"That's our biggest single problem — we just don't have bucks," said Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth.

Rates for Texas Monthly and Southwest Airlines In-flight magazines — one-third page one time — were given as $2,650 and $1,300, respectively. Committee member Morgan Clough said he would favor ads in Texas Monthly on a continuing basis in a "class" way.

Members Bill Happel and James Paxton said they have had good response to real estate ads in those publications. It was noted that running an ad six times entitles the advertiser to a discount, so the group decided on three ski season and three summer ads in each publication.

Clough brought up the idea of sending a person, preferably a female ski instructor familiar with Sierra Blanca, to visit ski shops in Texas. He pointed out that the shops have bulletin boards with skiing conditions, and the names of Ruidoso and Sierra Blanca could be in front of customers all the time.

It was determined that the goodwill trip could be done for around $3,000. Asking the ski area to contribute to the venture was discussed.

The committee also talked about advertising in Mexico. "I think ignoring Mexico is a bad mistake," said Jungbluth. He indicated the Mexican market should be reminded Ruidoso is here, so they will remember when economic times are better.

It was decided the Chamber's advertising agency, Mithoff of El Paso, will be consulted for advice on ads for the Mexican market.

The committee also discussed advertising in Tucson and Phoenix. The Arizona cities are considered "possible test markets" along with the Los Angeles, California, area.

It was suggested that local lodgers and restaurants conduct an ongoing survey to gather information on the type of visitors to Ruidoso and where they are from.

Morel said he will ask Mithoff for a formal advertising flow chart the committee can review at another meeting to take place soon.

More fencing on Lincoln links

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Disagreement over enforcement of the historic district ordinance in the town of Lincoln surfaced again at Tuesday's Lincoln County Commissioners meeting. At issue is chain link fencing erected two years ago by resident Cille Dockery, who has been cited by the Historic Review Board for violation of the ordinance. The historic district ordinance regulates building in Lincoln and five miles beyond the town.

Dockery had previously protested the board's action before the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission, and subsequently appeared before the review board in Lincoln. At that meeting in May, Dockery was granted permission to keep her fence up if she covered it with boards to hide it from view, which she announced she would not do.

At last month's county commissioners meeting, the Historic Review Board met with the district attorney about enforcing the ordinance. Dockery attended Tuesday's meeting with attorney Jack Whorton in response to an invitation from the county.

Whorton reviewed Dockery's situation for commissioners and argued that the ordinance fails to specifically address whether chain link fencing is permitted in the historic district.

"If you want to get rid of fences ... then say so in the ordinance," the attorney argued. "You can't have a different history every time you have a different chairman of the Historical Review Board."

District Attorney Steve Sanders indicated that the ordinance's failure to specify whether chain link is permitted places the responsibility for doing so with the Historical Review Board, a body elected by Lincoln residents.

Dockery complained the board had set a double standard by approving other structures which do not comply with the ordinance's intent.

She expressed a willingness to take the issue to court if the ordinance is not clarified.

County commissioners' chairman John Allen Hightower announced he would not "sit as a judge and hear testimony from both sides." Sanders, asked to advise the Historic Review Board whether to take the matter to court, agreed with a suggestion that Dockery meet again with the Lincoln board in an effort to reach a compromise.

Dockery agreed to appear before the board, but said, "I will not put up boards around my fence."

The parties were advised to return to the county commissioners if an agreement is not reached at the Lincoln meeting September 7.

Also Tuesday, commissioners authorized county manager Suzanne Cox to apply for grant monies for a trash dumpster system in the county. A state Environmental Improvement Division representative from Santa Fe recommended the system for Lincoln County, to replace the present sanitary landfill system of trash disposal, Cox reported.

Currently county residents are responsible for dumping their garbage at county-maintained landfills in Fort Stanton and Hondo. The county faces continuous problems with blowing trash and trash being dumped outside the pits, as well as insufficient land available for landfills.

Under the proposed system, six dumpsters would be placed around the county and residents would dispose of their garbage in those. A truck and hoist, operated by one employee, would pick up the dumpsters and dispose of the trash at a single landfill site, Cox explained.

She estimated cost of installing the system at $95,000 to $115,000, and said state grant monies are available for funding such programs. Cox said she plans to visit Catron and Union counties to discuss similar systems there.

Cox said applications for funds must be submitted by September 30. Commissioners also discussed a proposed agreement for lease of land in Hondo for a landfill. Property owner Manuel Torrez asked for $5,000 a year for lease of 10 acres.

After some discussion over terms of the lease, commissioners voted to approach Torrez about leasing the land only for six months, at a cost of $2,500.

In other business, commissioners:

—Authorized road superintendent Guy Henley to go to the State Highway Department auction to purchase equipment.

—Signed an agreement to join the Southeastern New Mexico Development District.

—Signed an agreement with the Otero County Mental Health Association for funding already approved.

—Advised R. A. Canning to work out an agreement with the Department of Game and Fish and the U.S. Forest Service for closing of a road through Canning's property.

—Approved a 20-mill levy for Sun Valley Sanitation District.

—Agreed to reconsider adoption of an ordinance that would make it possible for county residents to obtain flood insurance.

—Denied a request from Ruidoso to pay half the overrun costs on construction of the river crossing on Gavilan Canyon Road.

—Agreed to pay half the costs for uniforms for the road department.

—Approved the proposed transfer of franchise for Cablevision of Lincoln County.

—Decided the county will sell a Huber Motorgrader that Captain bought from the county but did not make the final payment on and remit to Captain the amount for which it is sold minus the amount of the final payment owed.

Chamber enthused about pesos

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Mexican pesos may soon be as well accepted a currency as American dollars in Ruidoso, if a plan discussed at Wednesday's Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors meeting comes to fruition.

The idea to generate more tourist business from Mexico by advertising Ruidoso as a resort that accepts pesos was brought up by Arturo Lojero of Mexico City, new owner of the Texas Club in Ruidoso. Chamber directors jumped on the suggestion, appointing a committee to investigate the proposal and begin a campaign to educate the community about trading in pesos.

"Mexico is full of rich people," Lojero told the group. He said it is very difficult for Mexicans to buy dollars in Mexico to bring to the United States. And since pesos are not accepted here, they spend their money in their own country.

"Ruidoso offers to all Mexican people the closest place of snow," he said, predicting the winter business here would increase significantly if Mexicans could buy with pesos. Also, Lojero pointed out, many goods sold throughout the United States are not available in Mexico, so Mexican tourists would purchase items here that other visitors can find at home.

Mexico City, Guadalajara and Monterrey, Mexico, have populations of 25 to 35 million that Ruidoso could tap by advertising skiing and acceptance of pesos, Lojero said.

Morgan Clough of Morgan's Mountain Sports said pesos have been accepted at his shop for the past five years, and he has no problems getting the currency exchanged.

Tom Kelham suggested the need for assurance that local banks will accept pesos from area businesses. He also pointed out the importance of having a majority of the community participate, and stressed the need to advertise that pesos are accepted. It was suggested that special decals be made to place in windows of businesses that will take pesos.

Lojero noted that most people in Mexico vacation during the period from December 1 through February and will be planning their trips soon. He pointed out the need to advertise in September and October in order to get that vacation business.

Tommy Morel, who heads the Chamber advertising committee and sits on the board of directors, suggested the possibility of spending the entire lodgers' tax advertising budget in Mexico.

"We would be sticking our necks out; it would be a radical move," he acknowledged. But he pointed out the dollars spent in Mexico would be valued at five times as much as dollars spent in the United States.

Clough raised the possibility of requesting additional funds from the village for advertising in Mexico that Ruidoso takes pesos.

"It could be the smartest thing we've ever done," commented Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth about the overall proposal.

Kelham, Morel and Chamber president James Paxton volunteered to serve on the committee to research and push the idea of getting Ruidoso businesses to accept pesos from Mexican patrons.

In other business, Chamber board members:

—Voted to have a Chamber employees contact all members who are delinquent paying dues. Jungbluth reported about 40 percent of the membership has not paid dues yet for the year.

—Heard the net profit from the Ruidoso Art Festival totaled $14,181 this year.

—Passed a motion to bill the Ruidoso Business Association for damage to the electrical system borrowed from the Chamber last year.

—Presented plaques of appreciation for help with the Art Festival to Paul Crown and Flodie Wilson.

—Heard the net profit from the Cadillac Party amounted to $5,600; and discussed ways to generate more interest in the party next year.

—Were told the Chamber has received a copy of the contract with Pro-Ski International for hosting the U.S. Open pro ski race at Sierra Blanca in March. Jungbluth reported he plans to meet with state Commerce and Industry Secretary Alex Mercure this weekend to find out how much money will be available from the state for the ski race.

—Heard an update on plans for the Aspen Festival. Jungbluth urged local merchants to participate in the parade and reported Aspen Festival posters are now available.

—Voted to replace board members Joe Loving and Dr. Richard Farris with the two Chamber members who received the highest votes (after present board members) in the last board election. Loving resigned due to scheduling conflicts. Farris was dropped for absences at meetings.

—Heard an advertising committee report from Morel. He said the committee has decided to advertise for the winter three times in Texas Monthly and Southwest Airlines In-flight magazines. Other winter advertising money will be spent in the Texas cities of Dallas, Houston, El Paso and Fort Worth, with any remaining funds to go for advertising in Texas in Midland, Odessa, San Antonio and Lubbock.

—Heard president Paxton report on his and Jungbluth's meeting with Ruidoso Mayor George White concerning appointments to the Lodgers' Tax Committee. Paxton said White invited input from the Chamber about nominees.

Crime of the week

On June 12, 1983, numerous valuable items were stolen from the trunk of a white Cadillac parked at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Stolen were a lady's yellow gold ring with a one-carat diamond surrounded by six smaller diamonds; a lady's white gold ring with a cluster of diamonds and rubies; four gold chains; a Smith and Wesson .357 magnum revolver; a Smith and Wesson .38 revolver; and a Colt .38 revolver.

Anyone who has information on criminal activity is urged to call Crime Stoppers at 257-4645.

Fire fighting plan

Richard Sandoval of Gibson's Discount Center (second from left), points out the location of the store's gas and water lines to members of the Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department. Fire department members are currently outlining firefighting strategies at many of the larger businesses and schools. Watching Sandoval are fire department members (from left) Barry Cole, Jack Kannady and Greg Griffin, and Bill McCutcheon of Gibson's.

Local eighth grader experiences space camp

David Bushlow of Ruidoso recently attended the United States Space Camp at the Alabama Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville. He is the son of Karen Mills and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mills, all of Ruidoso.

Next year Bushlow will be an eighth grader at White Mountain Middle School. He plans to become an astrophysicist and, when his mother heard of the camp, she immediately sent for further information.

Of 14,000 applicants, only 1,200 were admitted to the camp. One of Bushlow's teachers, Page Hubbard, helped him prepare for the event—an experience Bushlow said meant a great deal to him. He began studying model rocketry and making rockets.

At the camp Bushlow learned various techniques used by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to train its astronauts. Included were computer lessons, rocket building, zero-gravity simulations, eating freeze-dried food and trying on a space suit.

A highlight came when the campers and team members were divided into astronaut crews and mission-control personnel for a simulated countdown and launch of a space shuttle. The outcome depended on how the team applied principles learned throughout the week.

"We learned a lot about aerospace," said Bushlow of the experience. "It was great."

New alcoholism office opens

The Lincoln County Alcoholism Association (LCAA) has opened its new office at 122-A, Highway 70 East, Ruidoso Downs. Six alcoholism counselors are available during regular hours—8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.—and after hours if necessary.

"Alcohol dependency destroys marriages, families, careers and lives," said Ray Hayhurst, executive director of the association. "If this is happening to a friend, a relative, a co-worker or you, the time to get help is now."

"Alcoholism is a disease, not a moral weakness," he continued. "LCAA provides effective, affordable treatment for alcoholics. We encourage family participation. We maintain the highest standards of professional care with respect for your confidentiality at all times."

The state-funded program is designed for people who can attend meetings on a regular basis. For more information, call 378-8030.

4-H's attend conference

Twelve Lincoln County 4-H members attended the 1983 State 4-H Conference at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces July 18-22.

Attending were Shannon and Denise Byrd, Leanna and Ann Larremore, Steve Copeland, Lynn and Gray Gallagher, Melody Hefker, Mary Jane Ferguson, Mike Curtiss and Alice and Cecilia Booky.

Curtiss was high point individual in horses. Ferguson and Lynn Gallacher were the first place meats team. Leanna Larremore was tenth in public speaking. Gray Gallagher was sixth in entomology and eighth in land and crops.

The conference was the largest ever, with 703 4-H members, leaders and agents attending. Participants competed in several contests and attended various workshops.

Pilot seminar set

There will be a free pilots' seminar on "Communications" at 7 p.m. Monday at Ruidoso Municipal Airport, in conjunction with the Civil Air Patrol.

For further information, contact instructor Bob Iozia at 257-5000.

Fund drive started

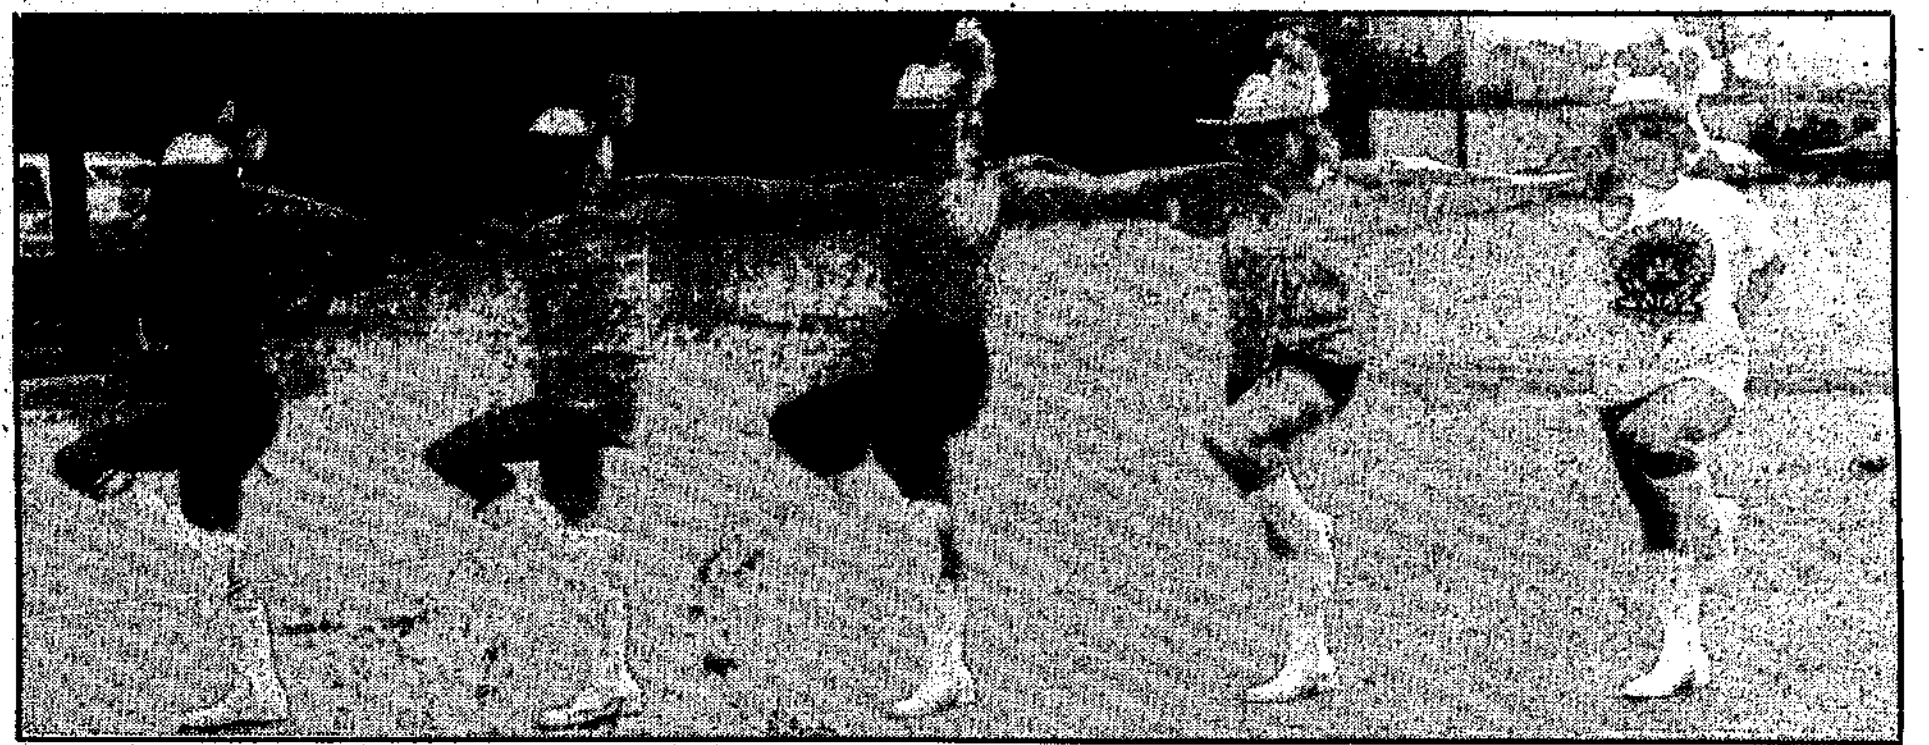

The Conquistador Council initiated its annual Boy Scout fund drive with a breakfast at the Village Restaurant Tuesday. Seven teams and their captains attended the function and set a goal of collecting $5,000 during the drive.

Judge Wheeler was scheduled to speak but was unable to due to an engagement. Chairman of the council, Chuck Davis, gave a short talk on the drive. Mike Turk, assistant executive of the district, showed slides revealing the use of the funds collected.

The "Sustaining Membership Drive" collects donations from local businesses. The funds are used to train local county Boy Scout leaders in Mesalero, Capitán, Corona, Carrizozo, Hondo and Ruidoso.

Funds also offset the salary of district executive Steve Massey. The Council uses some of the money for supplies and record keeping.

People

High kickers

A newly formed Ruidoso High School drill team is sponsoring a car wash Saturday, September 3, to raise money for lefts and trips to games. Members (from left) Antoinette Lopez, Laura Rank (captain), Kim Copeland, Kathy Alston, Liesel Fleck and (not pictured) Ginger

Stickney and Lisa Carrillo will be soliciting sponsors to pay 10 cents or more for each car washed, up to 50 cars. Cars will be washed free. The drill team sponsor is Lee Rhodes. Rita Flores is helping with routines.

Campground hosting arts, crafts fair

The River Ranch Campground is hosting an arts and crafts fair this Saturday and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Oil paintings, needlework, silk flower arrangements and crochet work, all made by people staying at the campground, will be on display. Some of the arts and crafts will be for sale.

River Ranch is located 5.5 miles east of the racetrack on Highway 70. Campground manager Sherry Gosdin said the arts and crafts fair will probably become an annual event. This weekend will be the second year of the fair.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Obituaries

William A. Robinson

William (Bill) A. Robinson of Las Cruces died suddenly Sunday, August 14, in the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital.

Robinson was born November 6, 1921, in Glorieta and was a retired teacher from the Las Cruces public school system. He was a member of Episcopal Church of Las Cruces. Robinson was a part-time resident of Alto.

Survivors include his wife, Margaret Robinson; son, Jay Robinson; daughter, Barbara Robinson; and one grandchild—all of Las Cruces.

Graveside funeral services were held 2 p.m. Tuesday, August 16, in the Forest Lawn Cemetery in Ruidoso with the Reverend Charles Ullmann officiating.

Arrangements were by Clarke's Chapel of Roses.

Eddie H. Chavez

Eddie H. Chavez died August 16 in an Albuquerque hospital. Chavez was born January 11, 1931, in Fort Stanton. He retired after 20 years of service in the U.S. Army.

Chavez had received a Good Conduct medal, Occupation medal, Korean Service medal, United Nations Service medal and National Defense Service medal.

Since his retirement, Chavez had been residing in Capitán.

Survivors include daughter Michelle Ann Chavez of Capitán; son

Eddie, Chavez, Jr., of Yakima, Washington; mother Anita Chavez; sisters, Helen Richardson of Socorro and Maria Schneider of Albuquerque; brother Eustacio Chavez of Capitán.

Services will take place in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Capitán with rosary at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, August 18, and Mass at 10 a.m. Friday. Father David Bergs will officiate. Interment will follow in the Capitán Cemetery.

Funeralbearers will be Albert Zamora, Bill Morris, Jimmy McTeigue, Jimmy Padilla, Jesus Cervantes and Leo Montoya.

Arrangements are by Clarke's Chapel of Roses.

Anniversary celebration scheduled

A 25th wedding anniversary reception will be held for Guy and Arnell Lewis Saturday, August 20, from 2-5 p.m. The event will take place at the home of Jesse and Babe Evans at West and D Streets in Ruidoso Downs. Arnell Lewis grew up in this area. Friends of the family are invited to the reception.

St. Eleanor's to celebrate anniversary

The 50th anniversary of Saint Eleanor's Catholic Church will be celebrated Friday, August 19. Mass will take place at 6 p.m. followed by a potluck dinner in the church hall.

Father Bernard Bissonette and previous priests who served at the church will participate.

For further information call Ellie Keeton at 258-4059 or Lyndy Samelson at 257-4388.

Cemetery fence fund drive nets results

Ruidoso cemetery board chairman Billie Clarke reported she is pleased with results of a drive to raise money to finish the fence at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

"I'm real pleased so far," said Clarke. She said contributions have been received from financial institutions and from some individuals, but more money is needed to finish the fence.

For information, call Clarke at 257-7303.

Warrior gridders to scrimmage this weekend

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School football team will get a good test of how far it has progressed during practice when it plays host to two scrimmages this weekend.

At 6 p.m. Friday, the Warrior junior varsity will play the Artesia High School junior varsity. Saturday the Ruidoso varsity will tangle with Las Cruces High School.

"That's what we're trying to get the kids ready for now, the scrimmages," said Warrior head coach Darrel Stierwalt. "Our practices have been good all week, and the kids have been working hard."

Artesia has one of the top football programs in the state at any level. The Bulldog varsity won the state AAA division crown last season.

Some people have said Artesia may be in for a down year this season, but Stierwalt and the rest of the Warrior coaching staff think the Bulldogs will be tough again.

Las Cruces is an AAAA-division school that ended up 2-8 last season. Las Cruces has had its problems the past few seasons, but should still be a good test for the Warriors.

Ruidoso will add an assistant coach next week when former Portales High School assistant coach Jim Hofstad comes to camp. He will work with assistant coach Jim Ramsey on the offensive and defensive lines.

The Warriors have between 40 and 45 players currently working out at practice twice a day. Several players still haven't come back from vacation, but are expected soon.

Junior lineman Manuel Montano may join the practices soon. He's had several tests for a possible heart problem, and should know within a couple of days whether he can play this season or not.

The 5-0, 145-pound athlete started several games in the defensive line last season. If he's able to play this year, he may go out for fullback.

Stierwalt and the other coaches have been busy putting the players through contact drills and offensive plays this week.

"I'd say we've got about 35 to 40 percent of our offensive plays worked out," Stierwalt remarked.

Junior lineman George Gresham and junior fullback Wade Proctor suffered injuries this week.

Gresham, a 188-pound athlete, had a slight leg bruise but is all right now. Proctor has a slight hyperextension of his elbow, but worked out Wednesday.

Offensive coordinator Vince Collins is trying Proctor and several other players at the fullback position.

Senior Jesse Reynolds started practice this week. The 150-pound linebacker should give Ruidoso experience and depth at that position. Reynolds started at linebacker last season.

The Warrior varsity will open the regular season Friday, September 2, with a home game against Lovington High School.

Inn pro-am tourney cancelled

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

The second annual Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Tournament scheduled for Monday, September 19, has been cancelled.

"There was a conflict of dates with the tournament and many of the players," said Inn golf pro Jack Warlick. "We had some players lined up, but the name players we felt we needed were not available."

"We're still optimistic about holding the tournament next year, however."

Associated Press golf writer Bob Green, who acted as a go-between for the tournament organizers and the pro golfers, was disappointed the tournament won't happen.

"I had 17 players lined up to play," he said. "They were all disappointed when I told them the tournament wouldn't be held."

Among the players who had agreed to play in the tournament were defending champion Dave Eichelberger and Lanny Watkins, who has won two tournaments this season. Several other golfers who had competed in last year's tournament had also agreed to participate this year.

Green also tried to get Lee Trevino for the tournament. However, the popular Texas golfer has a scheduled benefit for the University of Texas at El Paso the day of the tournament.

Tom Watson, generally considered the top golfer in the world, also wasn't available, according to Green.

Unlike last year, there wasn't an open date on the pro calendar for the golfers to play. However, the pro tour has a tournament scheduled in Las Vegas, Nevada, September 16-18, and most of the golfers could have made the Inn tournament in time. The next tournament on the pro tour was scheduled to begin Thursday, September 22.

Last year the tournament drew a gallery crowd of around 500 people. Tournament organizers were hoping for a crowd of 1,000 to 1,500 people.

Braves have 15 players out

White Mountain Middle School football coaches Terry Wharton and Mike Crocker are working with 15 players in the first week of practice.

The Brave coaches expect some more players to come out soon.

"We're expecting a few more players to come out after their vacations," Wharton said. "Eventually, we hope to be working with at least 20 players."

Currently four returning veterans are in the Brave camp.

Mike Dickinson is a flanker and Aaron Von Rosenberg a halfback. Von Rosenberg played fullback last season.

Returning linemen are David Swanner and Sonny Whitey. Another veteran, Rusty Shelton, is sidelined with a cracked jaw and will probably miss much of the season.

Wharton and Crocker are putting the players through a week of non-contact drills before beginning work in pads next week.

The team is going through the basic fundamentals this week and learning the White Mountain offense.

White Mountain will again have an A team and a B team this season.

The A team will open the season with a home game against Dexter Thursday, September 8. The B team will begin the season with a home contest against Carrizozo Thursday, September 15.

White Mountain A had a 5-1 record last season, while the B team was 2-0.

Ruidoso High School football players do jumping jacks under the watchful eye of line coach Jim Ramsey during a recent practice. The Warriors will have a junior varsity scrimmage against Artesia Friday night and a varsity scrimmage against Las Cruces Saturday night. Both scrimmages will be at the Ruidoso stadium.

Colts-Fillies tourney set next week

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

The second annual Colts-Fillies Golf Tournament will be Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 26-28, at Cree Meadows Country Club.

Tony Lama will sponsor the tournament. It will be a 54-hole competition, with a best-ball scotch handicap.

There is a $150 entry fee per couple. Closest to the pin awards will be given out each day. A shotgun start will begin the first day of the tournament.

Participating golfers are also invited to the horse races at Ruidoso Downs Race Track Saturday and Sunday.

A total of 17 couples have signed up for the tournament so far. Tournament organizers are hoping this will become one of the most popular golf tournaments in the area.

Williams tourney set next month

The sixth annual Johnny Williams Memorial Partnership Golf Tournament will be September 30-October 2 at Cree Meadows Country Club.

There will be a $225 entry fee per team, which includes use of carts and other benefits.

RATED: FUN FOR EVERYONE!!

WHY WAS I AN ATHEIST?
 (Until November 27, 1962)
 He proved to me His existence. In half an hour, I became His follower and great believer. Before I had a small mind. I thought he liked to see us in pain. Now I know he who deserves it, gets it! God only created good things, no hell, no devils; we are the creators of evil.
 Many people ask these questions: Why were we born in this or other planets? What is reincarnation, karma, dharma, 18th dimension, 8 universes, spiritual evolution? Why of sickness, our 7 energies or chakras and their effect in our bodies and auras? How to transmute bad energy into good?
 These things are not a mystery any more. Learn to forgive and love then reach His hand easily, through quiet connection (meditation) with God.
 When the pupil is ready, a teacher appears. I can help you. If you don't understand it is because it is not your time yet. One search for evolution when one is ready for it. Meanwhile read Matthew 11-14, Psalm 23 and analyze its meaning.
 No charge. Send phone and box to Miss Castro, Box 1963, English and Spanish spoken.

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

Recreation adult softball is far from dead in the Ruidoso area. Anyone who saw last Sunday's final games of the Ruidoso Men's Fast-Pitch Softball Tournament would readily agree with the above statement.

The seats and parking space at All-American Park Field in Ruidoso Downs were filled, and at least 150 people saw the final contests between the champion Blues and the runner-up Cardenales.

Most of the games in the two-day tournament were close, and the spectators got to see a very good brand of ball.

The only things lacking at the tournament were more seats and better facilities.

With the rise in softball popularity in this area, more fields are badly needed.

A total of four softball fields are in the planning stage for an area near White Mountain Middle School.

"Right now the contract is with the school's lawyer," said Pam Graves, Ruidoso parks and recreation director. "Then we're going to the state for more funding."

Graves is not sure when the fields will be started. She hopes to get a lot of work done on them this fall and next spring.

The fields could also be used for Little League baseball and adult baseball.

Besides the four softball fields, two soccer fields and a football field are also in the plan.

Hopefully, the fields can be completed as soon as possible.

The show of fan support at the fast-pitch softball tournament last weekend proves the fields would be well worth the expense of building them.

Staying on the subject of softball, Attic and Friends have built an amazing record in the Lincoln County Women's Slow-Pitch Softball Association.

Attic and Friends finished the regular season with a sparkling 14-0 record Monday night, defeating the Fire 15-8. The team has compiled an astounding 30-0 record over the past two seasons.

The team features a balanced hitting attack with plenty of pitching.

Dave Warren and Tim Eckerdt are the team's coaches, and they have done a fine job molding a championship squad.

Just another reason to build some more softball fields.

Working out

Members of the Ruidoso High School volleyball team go through some exercises during Tuesday's practice in the Warrior gymnasium. The Warriors have a new coach in Pixie Arthur. The team will open the season Tuesday, September 6, with a home match against Tularosa High School.

Tigers making progress

Capitan High School's football team is slowly rounding into shape.

The Tigers, defending A division state champions, began contact work Monday. Capitan has about 20 players out, but only around 10 have pads.

"That's one of our problems right now," new head coach E. C. Jenkins said. "We don't have enough of them in pads yet."

"Once school gets started, we should be getting ready."

Several of the Tiger players are also participating in the Lincoln County Fair, and that has kept some of them from practicing a lot.

Still, Capitan has a good nucleus back from last season's 7-2-1 squad. Senior Todd Proctor, a 6-1, 195-pound all-state tackle, and senior tailback Danny Cummins are the top returnees from last year's team.

Proctor is an outstanding two-way performer, while Cummins should be one of the top running backs in the state's A division.

Other top players include lineman Leroy Page, quarterback Dewey Keller, wingback Tim McElhannon, guard-split end Sammy Castillo and tight end-linebacker Eddie Davis.

The Tigers will open the season Friday, September 2, with a home game against Tatum High School.

Get the ball

Action like this will soon be seen in the Ruidoso Soccer Association youth league. Signups for the fall league will be Friday and Saturday, August 19-20, and Saturday, August 27, at KREE radio station. The signups will be from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., August 19. On August 20-27, signups will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. There will be a $12 entry fee, and all youths must bring a birth certificate and parent or guardian. Both returning and new players are required to register. Boys and girls from four to 19 years old are eligible to register. There will be a league for four- and five-year old youths this season. All the age-group matches will be played at White Mountain Middle School, most of them on the weekends.

Apache Open set this week

The Apache Open Adult Tennis Tournament will be Saturday and Sunday at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Competition will begin at 8 a.m. Saturday. There will be men and women competing in several divisions in both doubles and singles competition.

The tournament is drawing players from all over the Southwest.

Booster sales

There will be a cake and ice cream sale for the Ruidoso High School football team, volleyball team and cheerleaders at 6:30 p.m. Monday, August 22, at W. D. Horton football stadium.

Sports briefs

The Warriors Booster Club is sponsoring the event. All people interested in helping Ruidoso athletics should attend the event. The Booster Club helps all Warrior athletic teams.

Season tickets for all home football games are on sale. The total cost for the five home games and membership in the Booster Club is $23.

For further information, contact Larry Frost at 257-5669.

Booster meeting

The Ruidoso High School Warriors Booster Club will hold a meeting at 7:30 tonight (Thursday) in the teachers lounge at the high school.

Anyone interested in helping Warrior sports should attend the meeting. A number of subjects will be discussed.

Alto tourney

The Lonesome Pine Men's Member-Guest Tournament will be Monday through Thursday, August 22-25, at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club.

For further information, call the Alto Lakes golf shop at 336-4231.

Local drivers race at Roswell

Several local drivers competed in auto racing at a Roswell speedway last Sunday.

Steve and Linda Mallett took second in the pro-dragster division. Wayne and Jeff Brown of Sierra Automotive finished third in the professional ET class with their Novacain car.

Other local drivers who competed were Don Jones of Mountain Automotive and Roy Seay of Shaver Tire and Auto.

Rick Armstrong of Mountain Automotive will join the above drivers in competition at Holloman Air Force Base next Sunday.

The eliminations begin at 1 p.m. Spectator admission will be $1 per person.

Attic and Friends 14-0

Attic and Friends finished the Lincoln County Women's Slow-Pitch Softball Association season Monday night with a perfect 14-0 record, beating the Fire 15-8 at All-American Park Field in Ruidoso Downs.

Sandy Marshall clubbed three home runs and Sandy Pollock added two four-baggers. J. D. Yoakum was the winning pitcher and Vickie Eckerdt earned the save.

Attic and Friends is now 30-0 over the past two years. The Fire ended the regular season with a 9-5 mark and third place.

In other association contests Monday night, the Rebels clubbed the Shady Ladies 15-0, the Angels defeated the Cobras 15-12 and the Apache Tears took a forfeit victory over the Dusters.

The Rebels finished with a 12-2 record for second place. Patsy Almaguer was the winning pitcher for the Angels, who finished with an 8-6 record.

The league tournament will be Saturday and Sunday, August 27-28, at All-American Park Field and Fort Stanton. The men's slow-pitch tournament will be this weekend at All-American Park Field.

Junge thinks petition 'dangerous'

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Ruidoso village councilman Al Junge Wednesday labeled Ralph Rush a "thorn in the council's side," and called Rush's petition to enlarge the council "a dangerous thing."

"You mention his name and it's almost synonymous with a problem," Junge told members of the Sertoma Club meeting at K-Bob's restaurant.

Junge chronicled a history of disputes between the council and Rush, then discussed potential problems with enlarging the council.

Rush is circulating a petition calling for a voter referendum on increasing the size of the village council from five members to seven. If the referendum passes, all the present council members—including the mayor—would have to stand for election to the seven council seats.

"It's possible we may end up with seven completely new council members," said Junge.

He expressed concern over that possibility because of the current council's involvement in the valley water protest and Grindstone dam. He indicated a new council would not understand the issues as well, and would have more difficulty dealing with them.

Junge also said he had talked to representatives of other villages in New Mexico that had similar referenda. In the two villages that replaced their councils, Junge said he learned, "It caused a horrendous situation."

Rush has said the recall of all the present councilmen was not the intention of his petition. Junge, however, questioned Rush's motives.

"I think this is really a vendetta by him against the council," said Junge after his speech to the Sertoma Club.

Junge told Sertoma members about numerous disagreements between the council and Rush. He said Rush has been before the council more times than any other two or three businessmen in recent years. The council has had to take Rush to court twice over a permit and unpaid bills, said Junge.

Rush has also said he believes seven council members would better represent the village than five. Junge said Wednesday additional seats might give special interest groups another chance to elect a special interest candidate.

Junge also disagreed with Rush's statement that citizens are tired of dissension on the council.

Junge said he believes the councilmen are doing a good job; and that discussion on some issues is not dissension.

Junge said he has lived up to his campaign promises of bringing better business practices to village government; building a city barn; and improving the solid waste system.

The village has built the barn. Junge pointed to budget surpluses in the water and solid waste departments as improvements in which he has been instrumental. He also claimed credit for setting up an accounting system for the lodgers' tax fund and thus accumulating the $55,000 that will be put into a new recreation complex near White Mountain Middle School.

Getting organized

A local chapter of the Association for the Gifted and Talented was formed last week as part of the new program for gifted students in the Ruidoso schools. Parents and other community members are encouraged to get involved and are invited to the next meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, September 20, at the public library. Gail McIntosh (left) and Anne Brunell are serving as temporary chairman and secretary.

Hepatitis threat here downplayed

by CATHERINE PALMER
Staff Writer

The recent death of a Ruidoso woman has led to some concern among townspeople about hepatitis. The woman delivered a baby at Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital and reportedly had been working at a local restaurant.

Mary Lou Brown, Director of Nursing at the hospital, and Hazel English, Lincoln County Health Nurse, both confirmed that the woman had been carrying the hepatitis B virus at the time of her death.

English stated there is no need for concern over possible infection or epidemic in Ruidoso. Hepatitis B, unlike hepatitis A, is not highly infectious, she pointed out.

"I really am not worried about it at all," she said.

The virus is transmitted through blood transfusions and intimate contact—usually sexual—and not through food, although it can survive for days on environmental surfaces. Infection may occur when the virus is transmitted by infected body fluids and is implanted via mucous surfaces or through accidental or deliberate breaks in the skin.

Groups having a higher than average risk of exposure include health care workers, hospital staff workers, homosexual men and illegal drug users.

Brown feels that none of the nursing staff at the hospital is at serious risk, however, and those who may have had minimal risk have been identified and treated.

Hepatitis B is "classically associated with drug users," said State Medical Epidemiologist Harry Hull. Seventy percent of drug users carry antibodies of the virus, Hull explained.

The incubation period for type B hepatitis is relatively long. Six weeks to six months may elapse between exposure and the onset of clinical symptoms.

Symptoms of an infection include tiredness, indigestion, light-colored stools, dark urine, yellow eyes and skin, and sometimes nausea and vomiting. Treatment involves either a special gammaglobulin injection or a hepatitis B vaccine, Hull said.

English stated that 200,000 cases of this strain of hepatitis are reported nationally each year.

The local case, however, is not considered to be any cause for concern, health officials feel. "I don't think that [it] is a major health problem," Hull said.

Citizens urged to join Neighborhood Watch

Ruidoso citizens are organizing a Neighborhood Crime Watch Program to prevent crime in residential areas. With the aid and encouragement of the Ruidoso Police Department, citizens will be asked to report any unusual activity in neighborhoods—such as strange cars or people or moving of furniture.

The Neighborhood Crime Watch Program needs the help and cooperation of every homeowner to be successful. In order to pay for neighborhood warning signs and other materials, program organizers are asking each member to pay annual dues of $12. For just one dollar a month, homeowners can have someone watching their homes. Anyone interested in joining the Neighborhood Crime Watch Program may fill out the form and mail it to Neighborhood Crime Watch, P.O. Box 2758, Ruidoso, NM 88345. For more information call Ruidoso police officers Barry Smith or Mark Paz at 257-7385.

Woman solicits clothing donations to take to Mexico

"I am a volunteer who carries the word of God to these people and know first hand how much your gift will mean to them," she said.

Though she does not represent an organized charity, Hanson says she has a letter of identification from the head of the jail in Chihuahua, Mexico.

Alicia Hanson is calling for donations of old clothes to distribute to children in jail and orphanages and to older people in mental institutions in Mexico.

To contact her, call 257-4693 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. She will receive donations at Lamplighter Motel, 420 Mechem Drive, next to First Baptist Church.

Adios Hendricks, hello Haddenland

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Local builders are seeing a new man inspecting their construction sites these days. Starting last Monday, Karre Haddenland began inspecting construction sites for the Village of Ruidoso.

Haddenland took over the job from Don Hendricks, who resigned after two years as building inspector. Hendricks will stay in the area as owner of Ruidoso Wholesale Lumber and Carpet.

Haddenland comes to Ruidoso from Portales, where he was building inspector for three years. Before that he was building inspector for several years in Eden Prairie, Minnesota. He built homes for almost 20 years before that.

Haddenland has been in Ruidoso only since Sunday, but has already discovered the bewildering maze of streets in the area.

"It's hard to find all the places," said Haddenland Tuesday.

Other than finding his way around, he expects no problem adjusting to his new job because building codes are the same throughout New Mexico. Most inspectors have their particular emphasis when they visit a building site.

"Life safety factors are the most important thing to me," said Haddenland. He said he pays close attention to things such as fire exits, smoke detectors and stairways.

This should not be a great shift from Hendricks' policies. Hendricks also said he paid attention to safety factors such as fire exits.

In his two years as inspector, Hendricks said he has seen a change in the building rate and patterns of most contractors, as well as a surprising variety of homes.

"You see everything in the world," said Hendricks.

He explained that Ruidoso has a higher percentage of homeowner-builders who have little experience in the building trade. Two-thirds of his office time was spent advising homeowner-builders how to construct their homes. But he has been happy to do it.

"I would suggest owner-builders work real closely with the building inspector," said Hendricks.

Haddenland also is available for advice to novice builders.

"I'm sure willing to help any people like that," said Haddenland.

Hendricks said the tremendous rate of building he saw when he first arrived has slowed down, but believes Ruidoso still has a "good, steady growth." Today's homes are also smaller than the ones being built two years ago, said Hendricks.

He is ready to take on the challenge of his own business, but he said he will miss working with the people at village hall.

"The people in city hall are just great to work with," said Hendricks.

All-American Sale starts Wednesday

Regardless of your price range, if you're in the market for a quarter horse yearling, the place to be is the 22nd All-American Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale.

The sale, the nation's most prestigious place for quarter horse yearlings, has 640 yearlings catalogued for the four sessions. The first 250 will be sold at the opening session, Wednesday, August 24.

A total of 130 will be sold at each of three night sessions on Thursday, August 25; Friday, August 26 and Saturday, August 27. Each night session will begin at 7 p.m. in the All-American Sales Arena on the Ruidoso Downs track grounds.

One of the greatest bargains in the sale's history occurred last year when Double Dutch Bus was sold for $14,000. Overlooked by the buyers, the colt earned more than $215,000 when he won this May's Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Dashingly, who was sold for $50,000 in the 1980 Sale, has earned nearly $1 million; Hot Idea, a $4,000 purchase, earned $330,000 for winning the 1977 All-American Futurity.

Denim N Diamonds, who sold for only $32,000 in the 1978 Sale, won $728,866 during her racing days.

This year begins the $100,000 consignor's bonus plan. The bonus of $100,000 will be divided equally among any or all Sale graduates who qualify for the finals of the All-American Futurity. The bonus goes to the owner of record at time of consignment. The first bonus is planned for distribution in the 1984 All-American Futurity.

In addition, all yearlings entered in the Sale are nominated to the 1984 All-American Futurity, the 1985 All-American Derby and the 1986 All-American Gold Cup. Yearlings passing under the gavel in the 1983 Sale may be nominated to the $50,000-added ($250,000 estimated) 1984 All-American Sale Futurity at Sunland Park.

As usual, some of the sport's greatest sires are represented in the Sale.

Among the better-known sires in the Sale and the number of Sale entrants include Azure Te (9); Buge Alive In 75 (15); Bunny Bid (15); Dash For Cash (5); Easy Jet (13); Hempen (17); Ichibon (7); Jim J. (9); Master Hand (18); Mighty Deck (7); Mighty Te (9); Mito Paint (11); Mito Wise Dancer (4); Moon Lark (11); Pass Em' Up (20); Pin Pie In The Sky (5); Pine's Easter Jet (6); Raise Your Glass (15); Real Easy Jet (30); Rocket Wrangler (42); Roma Charge (15); St. Bar (6); and Super Sound Charge (12).

Valton Cox is the largest consignor in the sale with 12 yearlings. Consignors with 10 in the Sale include League, Incorporated, of Dallas, Texas; Wayland and Donna Lovorn of Portales; and Milton A. Wagner of Weatherford, Texas; while those with nine include the Allied Brothers of Mesa, Arizona; Gordon or Juanita Crone of Lakin, Kansas; and Phenix Shaw, John and Debby Shaw of Jackson, Florida.

Last year's sale saw a record 983 yearling sell for total sales of $9,221,300. The average selling price was $9,381.

The top price in last summer's Sale was $300,000 for Perfect Cash, a filly by Dash For Cash out of the stakes-producing mare, Perfect Fit.

Tom Hammond of Lexington, Kentucky will return as the Sale announcer, while the veteran auctioneers Bill Tackett of Collinsville, Oklahoma and Keith Babb of Monroe, Louisiana, will again be at the sale.

Ringmen include Bob McCullough of Owasso, Oklahoma; Jack Johnson of Ft. Gibson, Oklahoma; Ray Martin of Ft. Worth, Texas; Dale Rouk of Amarillo, Texas; Danny Green of Ft. Worth, Texas; John Stricker of Ringwood, Oklahoma; Billy DeWalt of Lacon, Illinois; Mack Jones of Denver, Colorado; and Bobby Frank of College Station, Texas.

Downs P&Z okays annexation, zoning

by Barby Grant

Ruidoso Downs Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) Wednesday approved the annexation of Inspiration Heights, Inspiration Corporation and Mountain Top Radio property, along with zoning to permit construction of a planned apartment project and radio station.

Final approval must come from the board of trustees.

Charles Adams, developer of the proposed Inspiration Heights low-income apartment complex, reported Farmers Home Administration funding has been approved for the project and construction should begin in the fall.

Adams also said the water tank to be erected at the site will probably hold 60,000 to 80,000 gallons rather than the 40,000 gallons originally promised to the village. Adams previously told trustees the water tank would be available for village use in case of emergency.

In other business, P&Z:

—Granted permission to P. Gonzales to place a mobile home on his property, with the stipulation it be placed on a back lot.

—Voted to propose ordinance amendments establishing setback requirements for residential buildings. If adopted, setback requirements would be 20 feet on front and back property lines and 10 feet on side lot lines. Structures on corner lots would have to be set back 20 feet from each road. Also, the proposal stipulates that builders requesting variances on these setbacks would be required to submit a lot survey and plot plan showing placement of the planned building.

Prime Time license okayed

Ruidoso Downs trustees voted Monday to approve a liquor license transfer for the Prime Time Restaurant.

The action followed a brief public hearing at which Mack Rice, who had applied for the transfer, said the business had "tried to be in total compliance" with state Alcoholic Beverage Control requirements.

Mayor J. C. Day Jr. commented before the vote, "I think the governing body is about to improve the village of Ruidoso Downs." He noted that with 45 employees, Prime Time could be the largest year-round employer in the village.

"This is super," said trustee Conrad Buchanan, who noted that Rice has hired local people for the restaurant.

No opposition to the license transfer was voiced at Monday's meeting. The hearing and the special meeting were concluded and adjourned after six-and-a-half minutes.

A-A Derby trials Thursday

Mr Master Bug and Miss Squaw Hand, both coming off major derby victories, head the field for Thursday's All-American Derby trial races at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The two powerful runners, who finished one-two in last Labor Day's All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs, will be solid choices to earn a spot in the All-American Derby, the third and final leg of the Triple Crown series for three-year-olds.

A total of 110 three-year-olds has entered the 12 trial heats. Each race will be at 440 yards with a purse of $3,800.

The 10 fastest runners will advance to the Derby set for Sunday, August 28, at 440 yards. The purse is estimated at $1.5 million.

Mr Master Bug has done everything asked of him by trainer Jack W. Brooks.

The Master Hand colt was sharpest in the Rainbow Derby, the second leg of the Triple Crown on July 4 at Ruidoso Downs. He rallied strongly through the final half of the 440-yard dash and scored a driving half-length victory.

His time was a superb 21.38, the fastest reading at the distance this season and one of the swiftest 440-yard clockings ever recorded at Ruidoso Downs.

Mr Master Bug's greatest accomplishment was earning $1 million first-prize check in last Labor Day's $2,530,000 All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. That capped a brilliant two-year-old season in which the Oklahoma-bred dasher posted eight triumphs with one second and one third in 10 trips and winnings of $1,138,798.

Miss Squaw Hand, also owned by Marvin Barnes and trained by Jack Brooks, will face the outstanding filly Bartendress in the ninth race.

Miss Squaw Hand posted an easy widening win by two and one fourth lengths in the Rainbow Derby Consolation on July 1 in her latest appearance.

She ran second in the All-American Futurity last year, less than one length behind stablemate Mr Master Bug, and ended 1982 with five wins and four seconds in 11 trips and won $447,506.

Bartendress, meanwhile, is coming off a fifth-place effort in the Rainbow Derby. In her fine career for trainer Clifton Dean and owner Sam F. Henderson of Odessa, Texas, she's tallied 12 victories with four seconds and one third in 22 runs. She's collected $214,855.

Miss Squaw Hand will break from the eighth post position while Bartendress will leave from the seventh post position.

Other key horses include San Rosa Leah in the first, Painted Bug in the third, Dynago Victory, Lucks Lucky and Kita Blue in the fifth; Make Mine Cash in the seventh; Chicks Etta Wind, Call Me Favorite and Glo Billy Sims in the eighth; Amy Jo Mito in the tenth and Flamboyant in the twelfth.

Classy Loom and Go Exclusive Go, both winners of major New Mexico futurities this season, head a 35-horse field for Friday's trial races for the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The four trials have been carded as the fifth, seventh, ninth and 11th races. Each trial will be at six furlongs with a purse of $3,800.

The first two finishers in each trial will automatically earn a berth in the Futurity. There will be a special drawing among the four third-place finishers for the final two spots in the Futurity.

The Futurity is set for six furlongs on Saturday, September 3. The purse is estimated at $100,000 for the 10 two-year-olds.

Classy Loom's efforts this year have been sensational.

The Loom colt has won three of four tests, including a smashing win by one and one fourth lengths in his latest outing. He led almost throughout in the four-furlong Norgor Futurity on June 26 at Ruidoso Downs.

That victory was worth $62,875 to Classy Loom's bankroll.

Trained by Bob E. Arnett, Classy Loom has collected $128,316 for the Preston Farms of Burkburnett, Texas.

Go Exclusive Go is also coming off an impressive triumph in a major event.

He took a one and one fourth length win over Mr. Twice Worthy in the prestigious Land of Enchantment Futurity on July 24 at La Mesa Park in Raton. By running the five and one half furlongs in 1:04 3-5, he collected $86,098.55 for owners Elwood and John Meyer of Wharton, Texas.

A Plenty Old gelding out of an Exclusive Native mare, Go Exclusive Go has captured four races this year. He won two events this spring at Sunland Park, including a Riley Allison Futurity trial heat.

He was sent off as the 8-5 second-wagering choice in the Riley Allison Futurity, but finished sixth.

He then won his Land of Enchantment trial heat and earned a berth in the Land of Enchantment finale.

Trained by William F. Leach, Go Exclusive Go will face eight foes in the ninth race.

Other key horses include Charlie Mike and Annie's Dancer in the fifth, Fly By Chopsticks, Sinful Kingdom and High Bounds Dance in the seventh, Delta Way in the ninth and Loom's Fantasy in the eleventh.

Saturday's program will feature 12 races.

Sunday's major attraction will be the second running of the All-American Gold Cup at 440 yards. The winner of the world's richest race for four-year-old quarter horses will collect $750,267 from the total purse of $1,500,534.

Early post time Sunday

The regular first-post of 1 p.m. will be in effect at Ruidoso Downs on Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week.

But an early starting time of 12:30 p.m. is carded for Sunday, reminds general manager Donald F. Smith.

Sunday's early kick-off time is due to the live half-hour telecast of the $1,500,534 All-American Gold Cup at 440 yards.

The Gold Cup—one of the world's richest races—will be carded as Sunday's ninth race.

Jockey / Trainer Of The Week

by MARK GORDON

Jockey Jerry Nicodemus and trainer H. Don Farris are at their best when it comes to quarter horses.

Each is recognized as a master with quarter horses, so it's really no surprise each did so well over the last five days of horse racing at Ruidoso Downs. Three of those days were devoted almost exclusively to All-American Futurity trials and one day had almost half the card filled with All-American Gold Cup heats.

Nicodemus captured six races to win his first jockey-of-the-week honor, while Farris earned his second trainer-of-the-week award for the 15th weekend of competition at the mountain track.

Nicodemus rode three of his winners for Farris over the weekend. His best day was Saturday when he piloted three straight winners during the Gold Cup trials. The veteran rider also won two races for Farris on Wednesday and one on Thursday.

Nicodemus has now ridden 22 winners, 18 seconds and eleven thirds from only 62 mounts. His winning percentage is an outstanding .354.

Salustio Burgos continues to lead the jockey standings with only three weekends remaining this season. He has 49 victories with 39 seconds and 30 thirds from 346 mounts for a winning percentage of .141.

Other top ten riders include Joe Martinez, O.A. Martinez Jr., Jacky

Martin, Larry Byers, Casey Lambert, Mike Liddberg, Alex Baldillez Jr., Pedro Benitez and Leroy Coombs.

Farris, meanwhile, saddled two winners on Wednesday and Thursday and then won single races on Friday and Saturday. He has 24 winners with 19 seconds and 11 thirds from 80 mounts. That's a fine winning percentage of .300.

William F. Leach continues to pull away from his foes. The veteran Brady, Texas, horseman has won 47 races with 36 seconds and 28 thirds from 198 mounts. His winning percentage is an excellent .237.

Johnny Vittoro

Johnny Vittoro bullets across the Ruidoso Downs finish line in the trials for the $1,500,534 All-American Gold Cup. The win, the 13th of his career, was negotiated in 21.61 seconds over the 440 yards. That made Johnny Vittoro the third-fastest qualifier. His career money line is $451,913.

Cute Investment

Cute Investment, a mare who's won $388,297, is included in the lineup for Sunday's All-American Gold Cup at Ruidoso Downs. Despite her top-heavy earnings record, she looms as a longshot against the likes of Justanold Love, War Star Wrangler, Johnny Vittoro and Dashingfly.

Trainer Fontenot very high on Johnny Vittoro

by MARK GORDON
Alfred Fontenot has been training quality race horses for 27 years. And he's not afraid to term Johnny Vittoro as among the two or three best horses he's ever had in more than a quarter century of supervising equines.

"It's nip-and-tuck who's the best I've every trained. Alamitos Angel was the champion three-year-old filly in 1972. She won the Miss Princess in California and the Kentucky Futurity and was second in the Kansas and Rainbow Derbies (at Ruidoso Downs Race Track). But he's certainly a good one," admitted the veteran Raywood, Texas, conditioner.

Johnny Vittoro proved how good he really was in his trial heat last Saturday for the second running of the All-American Gold Cup. He dashed to a game nose win in the opening Gold Cup trial race. His time for the 440 yards was 21:81.

It earned him a spot in the world's richest race for four-year-old quarter horses, the All-American Gold Cup over 440 yards at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The winner will collect a staggering $750,267 paycheck from the total purse of $1,500,534.

A special early post time of 12:30 p.m. will be used on Sunday to accommodate the live telecast of the All-American Gold Cup. The Gold Cup, to be run as the ninth race on Sunday's program, will be telecast by Winner Communications, of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Johnny Vittoro's time was the third fastest of the 48 trial entrants. Even more remarkable, it was only the Texas-bred runner's second race this year.

Following a fine three-year-old season in 1982, Johnny Vittoro was sent to the breeding pastures. He serviced 97 mares over the winter and then returned to the races on July 28 at Ruidoso Downs.

He showed he hadn't lost his racing touch, roaring to a one and one-half length win in 17:49 for the 350 yards. That translates into a fantastic 109 speed index.

"He's probably the only stud in the world who can come back and run like this," beamed Fontenot. "He's like a yearling. He's better this year than ever."

"He'll go back to stud eventually, but as long as he keeps running like this, he'll be at the race track," the trainer said. "When I got him on June 1, he couldn't even swim three minutes at my ranch at Haywood. But when he left to come to Ruidoso, he was swimming 23 minutes."

Despite those impressive feats, Fontenot isn't resting on his laurels. "He really didn't get ahead of the track today. There's still room for improvement," he cautioned.

Still, it's hard to fault the sensational accomplishments the Vittoro horse has posted in three years of racing.

He was one of the sport's finest juveniles during his two-year-old season in 1981. Johnny Vittoro captured 11 races with one second and one third from 15 starts. He earned $350,755.

His major victories included winning $125,818 for taking the Firecracker Futurity at Delta Downs in Vinton, Louisiana; $101,067 for winning the Fall Quarter Horse Futurity at Sunland Park; and $91,455 for capturing the Old South Futurity at Delta Downs.

As a three-year-old in 1982, he was raced only six times, gaining two seconds and one third with winnings of $95,818. He ran third in the Golden State Derby at Los Alamitos near Los Angeles and was fourth in the $1 million All-American Derby, the third and final leg of the Triple Crown series for three-year-olds at Ruidoso Downs.

This year, he's won both his starts, giving him a career record of 13 victories with three seconds and two thirds from 23 appearances. He's collected $451,913.

Even with those prestigious efforts, Fontenot knows Johnny will have to be at his best to win the second richest winner's purse in quarter horse racing.

"He has his work cut out for him. It's an excellent field in the Gold Cup. Justanold Love and Dashingfly certainly are great horses. You can't take anything away from such fine mares. He'll have to be at his best to win," he noted.

Justanold Love had the fastest qualifying time with a 21:49 reading while capturing the fifth trial race by almost three lengths.

Mr Easy Ed

Mr Easy Ed has won four of eight races this year and earned $13,832. But the gelding, ridden by Roy Brooks, was good enough to earn a qualifying berth

In Sunday's All-American Gold Cup at Ruidoso Downs. The gelding is trained by Walter Merrick for George Suthers of Sayre, Oklahoma.

Dashingly

Dashingly is the richest quarter horse mare of all time and the sport's fourth all-time money-maker. Owned by J.E. Jumonville of Ventress, Louisiana.

Dashingly goes into Sunday's All-American Gold Cup at Ruidoso Downs with a money line of $973,156.

Too early to tell, but Dick Alwan has picks for seasonal champs

by DICK ALWAN

There are only three weeks remaining to the '83 season at Ruidoso Downs, but it's still premature to begin guessing who the seasonal champs might be.

Those three weeks contain three of quarter horse racing's hottest jewels: the All-American Derby, the All-American Gold Cup and the All-American Futurity. The first two, believe it or not, will unload about $1.5 million apiece, while the All-American Futurity, as per the precedent set last year, will tip the scales at $2,500,000. The winner gets $1 million.

But don't underestimate the Gold Cup, the four-year-old fixture that comes up on August 21. That little beauty, according to the balance sheet worked up by nominations secretary Dorothy Dillard, will embellish the winner with about $750,000.

The next three weeks also offer a run of prominent thoroughbred races, including the Ruidoso Mile (which, starting this year, gets an added-money infusion of $40,000), and the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, the meeting's culminating hundred-grander for the juvenile.

In the face of all these developments, this writer would still like to offer some guesses as to the eventual champions of the Summer of '83.

We might as well start at the top — which at Ruidoso Downs clearly means two-year-old quarter horses. This writer was first impressed with Meganette at Sunland Park last spring, when he happened to look up as she was charging down the stretch in a maiden race, looking like the Real McCoy. Later, she snatched a nose victory in the $688,800 Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso. She looked equally sharp in the first-round trials for the All-American Futurity a few days ago, so we'll go ahead and call her the projected two-year-old champ, assuming the All-American Futurity will be hers.

Our favorite when it comes to three-year-old quarter horses is everybody's choice — Mr Master Bug. Last year, he proved himself as a two-year-old with his fine conquest of the All-American Futurity. Somehow, it seemed an even greater accomplishment when he won the $621,630 Rainbow Derby early last month. He looked awesome while winning by a half-length in a dazzling 21.38 seconds for the 440 yards. We'll go ahead and predict Mr Master Bug will get his way in the All-American Derby, which ought to make him the season's three-year-old champ as well as the quarter horse of the meet.

Call Caleb, who finished second in the Rainbow Derby and third (against older horses) in the World's Championship Classic, looks like a safe bet as the top three-year-old gelding. Bartendress won us over as the meeting's best quarter horse filly. We like her spirit, her talent, and the way she keeps making money.

When it comes to picking the season's top older quarter horse, that's easy. Higheasterjet has become the institution at Ruidoso Downs. Who could forget his tingling win in the All-American Futurity as a two-year-old? Or his win in the All-American Derby? Or the All-American Gold Cup? This season, he wrapped things up with a three-fourths length win in the $118,364 World's Championship Classic. The fans had him down at forty cents on the dollar.

In the race to decide the Thoroughbred of The Meet, matters are pointing toward Fill Mackis Cup and Curriobot. Fill Mackis Cup has won four races, including the Sierra Blanca Handicap (at six and one half furlongs) and the Ruidoso Sprint Championship (six furlongs).

Curriobot is a three-time stakes winner: Inaugural Handicap at six furlongs, Governor's Handicap at seven and one half furlongs, and the Billy The Kid Handicap at one mile. Our vote goes to Curriobot.

The two most prominent contenders among three-year-old thoroughbreds are Running Bucket (a winner of over $300,000) and Some Other Brother. The issue may well be clarified in the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Derby, but we'll go with Some Other Brother, impressed as we are with his five wins at the meeting — including the Jockey Club Prep and the Jockey Club Handicap.

Much interest is likely to be attached to the decision-making among two-year-old thoroughbreds, with the swing vote expected to come in the Ruidoso Futurity. We have two well-qualified claimants: Classy Loom, who had no difficulty as a huge favorite in the $125,750 Norgor Futurity, and the game and gutsy filly, Machisma. The latter has taken three major events: the $43,875 Kindergarten Futurity, the $8,575 Pocket Coin Handicap, and the $55,072 Rio Grande Futurity.

So there you have it — some raw guesses as to some of the royalty-to-be of the '83 season. Just don't hold us to anything.

Wagering favorites performance 'tremendous'

by MARK GORDON
Wagering favorites continued their tremendous performances at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.
Over the last five days of horse racing at the mountain track, favorites won 25 of 60 races for a superb winning percentage of 41.6. It was the second straight weekend that 41.6 percent of the public choices prevailed.
In addition, nine favorites ran second and another nine ran third to bring the season's mark through 15 weekends of competition to 279 winning favorites with 159 seconds and 106 thirds from 739 attempts.

That's a fine winning percentage of 36.5, slightly better than the national average of 32 percent for winning favorites.

Favorites had their best day last weekend on Thursday when nine won. Five won on Friday and Saturday while four won on Wednesday and only two found the winner's circle on Sunday.

Odds-on favorites (those horses who left the starting gate with odds of less than even money) also had a successful weekend. Seventeen won with four seconds and one third from 25 attempts for a fine winning percentage of 68 percent.

Overall this season, 104 odds-on favorites have won from 191 starts with 38 seconds and 19 thirds for a 54.4 winning percentage.

Both of the weekend's biggest favorites performed as expected. On A High tallied a one and one-half length win in Friday's 11th race and Dashin Angel won by one length in Thursday's eighth race. Each paid $2.20 as an overwhelming $10-1 choice.

Viva El Seis

The role of All-American Gold Cup outsider figures to be played by Viva El Seis in Sunday's showdown over a staggering purse of $1,500,534 Viva El Seis, owned by Cimarron Ranches, Inc. of Marble Falls, Texas, gained the bottom qualifying berth by zipping over 440 yards in 21.80 seconds. He's earned only $3,022 so far. But his career earnings are an impressive $146,409 from a 9-5-0 scorecard from 24 starts. Richard Bickel is the rider.

Star Wars

It would be apt to call Sunday's All-American Gold Cup at Ruidoso Downs a case of "Star Wars." The field is literally loaded with stars. The earnings of the 10 finalists are $3,107,535. A good hunk of that amount—$191,094—belongs to War Star Wrangler (above), who won brilliantly in the trials and set the second-top qualifying time of 21.58 seconds. The gelding, ridden by Jerry Nicodemus in the trials, is owned by Larry Hughes of Salda, Colorado.

Hempens Jet

Hempens Jet has already earned $91,745 this year ($161,703 so far in his career) and goes after a tremendous victory purse of $750,267 in Sunday's All-American Gold Cup at Ruidoso

Downs. The gelding was purchased for only $8,000 in the 1980 All-American Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs. The owner is James Helzer of Mansfield, Texas.

Shawnee High

Shawnee High figures to have her hands full on Sunday as she tackles some of the nation's top quarter horses in the $1,500,534 All-American Gold Cup. Shawnee High, a mare, has earned $1,259 so far this year; $33,289 in her career. Jimmy Hunt is up. Shawnee High is owned by Jim Gore and Charles Thorberry of Locust Grove, Oklahoma.

SUMMONS AND NOTICE OF PENDENCY OF ACTION

THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO TO:

The following named or designated Defendants:

GROUP I:

Unknown heirs of the following named deceased persons: Ezekiel Biggs; Benjamin F. Brown; James G. Cash; Burgess L. Gordon; Floy W. Skinner; and Chole W. Skinner;

GROUP II:

And unknown claimants of interest in the premises adverse to the Plaintiffs.

GREETINGS:

You, and each of you, are hereby notified that Jack R. Forsythe and Sara Forsythe, his wife, and Ralph W. Forsythe, a single man, as Plaintiffs, have filed an action in the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico, Civil Docket No. CV-83-206, Div. I, wherein you are named or designated as Defendants, and wherein the said Plaintiffs seek to obtain constructive service of process upon you. The general objects of said action are the establishment of the estate of the Plaintiffs, in fee simple in and to the property described in the Complaint for Quiet Title in said cause, against the adverse claimants, the Defendants, and each of them, and everyone claiming by, through or under them, and that the Defendants, and each of them, and everyone claiming by, through or under them be barred and forever esopped from having or claiming any lien upon, or any right, title or interest in or to the said real estate adverse to the estate of the Plaintiffs, and that the title of the Plaintiffs thereto in fee simple be forever quieted and set at rest, said property being in the Complaint for Quiet Title will be granted.

Lots 7, 10 and 11, Block 18, Townsite of Nogal, as shown by the plat thereof on file in the office of the County Clerk and Ex-officio Recorder of Lincoln County, New Mexico;

TOGETHER with all improvements situate thereon, including the well with pump and piping;

TOGETHER with all water rights, including Nogal Water Users Association Water Right No. 5;

SUBJECT to easements of record.

You, and each of you, are further notified that unless you enter your appearance in the said cause on or before the 29th day of September, 1983, judgment will be rendered against you, and each of you by default, and the relief prayed for in the Complaint for Quiet Title will be granted.

The name and post office address of the attorney for the Plaintiffs is:

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF REAL PROPERTY FOR DELINQUENT PROPERTY TAX

PROPERTY TAX DIVISION OF THE TAXATION AND REVENUE
DEPARTMENT OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO
SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of §7-38-67, NMSA 1978, the Property Tax Division of the Taxation and Revenue Department will offer for sale at public auction beginning on SEPTEMBER 7, 1983, at 10:00 a.m. at the LINCOLN county courthouse in Carrizozo, New Mexico, the following described real property, the sale to continue until all the described property has been offered for sale.

The terms of the sale are as follows:
1. A sale properly made under the provisions of §7-38-67 constitutes full payment of all delinquent taxes, penalties and interest that are a lien against the property at the time of sale, and the sale extinguishes the lien. The property is sold subject to the lien for property taxes for the year of the sale, provided those taxes are not yet delinquent. The buyer at public auction, or his successor in interest, will be liable for those property taxes when they become due.

2. The description of the following real property is required by §7-38-67, to be sufficient to permit the identification and location of the real property by potential purchasers. The State of New Mexico warrants no title to properties purchased at public auction sale.

3. Section 7-38-74, NMSA 1978, prohibits officers or employees of the state or of any of its political subdivisions engaged in the administration of the property tax from directly or indirectly acquiring an interest in, buying or profiting from any property sold by the Property Tax Division for delinquent taxes, except that an officer or employee may purchase property sold for delinquent taxes if he is the owner of the property and was the owner of the property at the time the taxes became delinquent. Any officer or employee violating §7-38-74 is guilty of a fourth degree felony and shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000) or imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than five years, or both; and he shall also be automatically removed from office or have his employment terminated upon conviction. A real property sale in violation of §7-38-74 is void.

4. Successful bidders are required to make payment in full of the amount bid before leaving the premises on the day of the sale. Payment is required to be by money order, certified check, cashier's check or personal check which is accompanied by bank letter of credit for the amount of or in excess of the amount of the personal check drawn to the order of the Property Tax Division of the Taxation and Revenue Department.

5. Upon receiving payment for the real property sold for delinquent taxes, the Property Tax Division shall execute and deliver a deed to the purchaser. The deed conveys all the former property owner's interest in the real property as of the date the state's lien for real property taxes arose in accordance with the property tax code, subject only to perfected interests in the real property existing before the date the property tax lien arose. The property tax lien against real property arises January 1 of the tax year for which the taxes are imposed.

6. After two years from the date of sale, neither the state nor the real property owner shall have the right to set aside the sale or to bring an action challenging the conveyance. Subject to the year time limitation stated above, in all contracts and suits involving title to real property held under a deed from the state issued under this section, any person claiming title adverse to that acquired by the deed from the state must prove, in order to defeat the title, that he or the person through whom he claims had title to the real property at the time of the sale, and that either: (1) the real property was not subject to taxation for the tax year for which the delinquent taxes for which it was sold were imposed; or (2) all taxes, penalties, interest and any cost due for the years involved were paid by him or the person through whom he claims title prior to the sale.

7. The sale price of real property at this public auction sale is not to be taken or considered as being the value of that property for property taxation purposes.

8. All persons intending to bid upon property are required to register and obtain a bidders number from the auctioneer and to provide the auctioneer with their full name and address. Deeds will be issued to registered names only. Conveyances to other parties will be the responsibility of the buyer at auction. Persons acting as "agents" for other persons will register accordingly and must provide documented proof as being a bona fide agent at time of payment for property purchased.

9. The auctioneer reserves the right to withdraw from sale any of the properties listed below; to sell any of the properties listed below together; or to sell only a portion of any of the properties listed below. If any dispute arises between or among the bidders, the auctioneer's decision with respect to the dispute is final, and the auctioneer may auction the property again, in his discretion. The auctioneer reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The real property listed below may not be sold for less than the listed minimum price.

Done at Santa Fe, New Mexico, this 22ND day of JULY, 1983.

FOR AN INQUIRY CONCERNING THE EFFECTS OF THE MODIFIED FINAL
JUDICIAL ACCESS CHARGE
ORDER UPON MOUNTAIN STATES
TELEPHONE AND TELEGRAPH COMPANY
AND THE INDEPENDENT COMPANIES OF
NEW MEXICO.

DOCKET NO. 1062

ACCESS CHARGE ORDER NUMBER 3742(b)

PURSUANT to the General Counsel's Original Petition for an Inquiry concerning the effects of the Modified Final Judgments ("MFI") and the Federal Communications Commission Access Charge Order Common Carrier Docket Number 78-72 ("78-72") upon Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company ("Bell") and the Independent Telephone Companies of New Mexico, and being fully advised in all the premises,

THE COMMISSION FINDS:
1. That Bell and the Independent Companies are qualified to do business within the State of New Mexico.

2. That these companies are certificated and authorized to conduct a general communications business within the State of New Mexico.

3. That the General Counsel petitioned this Commission concerning an access charge inquiry.

4. That petition is well grounded and based on law and fact.

5. That the petition requested hearing schedules be set to consider all material and relevant issues.

6. That all New Mexico telephone companies should cooperate and devote sufficient resources toward determination and establishment of an access charge.

THE COMMISSION CONCLUDES:
1. Mountain Bell and the Independent are authorized to do business within the State of New Mexico.

2. The Commission is charged with the duty of fixing, determining, supervising, regulating, and controlling all charges and rates of telephone companies within the State pursuant to Article XI, Section 7 of the New Mexico Constitution.

3. The Commission has jurisdiction over Mountain Bell, the Independents, and the subject matter herein.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED:
1. A public hearing shall be held to consider the following issues:

a. The appropriate structure to replace the separations and settlements procedures to compensate telephone companies providing joint services.

b. The capital structure, cost of capital, rate of return, etc., which should be used.

c. The establishment and administration of a universal service fund for the subsidization of high cost areas. Define universal service.

d. Whether the intrastate toll rate structure is to be determined using average or deaveraged costs.

e. Which companies will be required to file access charge tariffs? Should access charges apply to cellular radio and other like services?

f. Is there a maximum acceptable non-discretionary rate for basic service? If so, is there an alternative for obtaining supporting revenues in a more equitable manner than the access charge mechanism?

g. Who is the dominant intrastate toll carrier?

h. Should a premium access charge apply on an intrastate basis?

i. What is an appropriate transition period?

j. What is the pooling structure and goals be?

k. Is competition on an intrastate basis in the public interest and should it be permitted?

1. What will be the cost identification rules?

2. The Commission Rules of Procedure shall apply to this proceeding except as provided in this Order or by further Order of the Commission.

3. All pleadings and testimony shall be submitted on 8 1/2 x 11 inch paper. All exhibits, when folded, shall not exceed 8 1/2 x 11 inches in dimension.

4. All groups desiring to intervene in this proceeding shall file a Motion to Intervene with the Chief Clerk on or before August 8, 1983.

5. The last day for filing Comments concerning the above-mentioned issues shall be September 2, 1983.

6. The last day for filing Reply Comments is September 16, 1983.

7. Public hearings concerning the Comments and all relevant and material issues shall commence at 9:30 a.m. at the Commission Hearing Room on September 21, 1983.

8. Testimony shall be filed during the period from September 7 to October 21, 1983.

9. If necessary, further hearings will commence on November 3, 1983, at 9:30 a.m. at the Commission Hearing Room.

10. Comments shall be filed with the Chief Clerk on the date due.

11. All discovery requests shall be responded to within twelve (12) days after served in person or received, if served by mail. Discovery requests shall be in pleading form. Copies of all discovery shall be filed with the Commission.

12. Each telephone company shall cause this Order to be published twice in newspapers so as to achieve publication throughout the service territory no later than August 5, 1983.

13. Any party filing pleadings or testimony shall file the original and seven copies with the Chief Clerk except for responses to discovery requests where only three copies need to be filed.

14. All persons who have filed written testimony in this matter shall be present at the scheduled hearings and shall submit to direct and cross-examination.

15. The filing of any written testimony shall in no way prevent or limit the right of any party to full and complete cross-examination of the witnesses of other parties.

16. All interested persons shall have the right to inspect all pleadings and testimony filed with the Commission in the Commission offices during normal working hours.

GOOD AS NEW — Two-story home on large corner lot with excellent tree cover and good access, but still has the seclusion and quiet area you've been looking for. Completely furnished, tastefully coordinated throughout. There are 3 bedrooms and 2 1/2 baths so you won't have to stand in line when the teenagers are doing their hair! Priced right at $92,500. Call Ovella for a showing and more information.

DARLING LOG HOME CONSTRUCTION — Haven't you always wanted a log cabin? This one's super clean throughout and well maintained from top to bottom, so you won't have to ruff it here. Level lot is fenced in back, enjoys easy access when the snow flies. (I know, I know! You say it's August and everywhere in Ruidoso has easy access now — but have you forgotten those April snows? Realistically, look four months behind and four months ahead, and there's good chances of white stuff on the ground! So access really is important.) With 3 bedrooms plus a sleeping loft and 2 full baths, this might be just what you have in mind. Come check it out, and let Ovella tell you more. Listed at only $65,000.

BEAUTIFUL 17 ACRES — with 3 bedroom, 2 bath home. Located between Ruidoso and Capitán. For the real beauty of country living you should see this one. Also have view that really holds your attention.

THIS ONE YOU MUST SEE TO BELIEVE — Three bedroom, 1 1/2 bath mobile on paving with all the goodies. Very nice covered front deck also. Priced below replacement value.

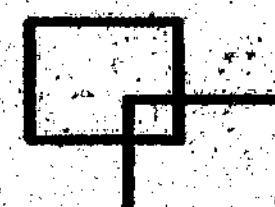

SPACIOUS HOME, SECLUDED LOCATION — Approximately 2,000 square feet of quiet living in this Upper Canyon area home. There's even a pool table, plus the price just dropped $10,000. (It was priced right to begin with, but now you can steal it!)

EXCELLENT COMMERCIAL SITE — located on Sudderth Drive and Carrizo Creek next to Pizza Hut. Ready to build on. Call us for details.

MOBILE UNIT ON WOODED LOT — Approximately 1/2 acre wooded lot with nice mobile home with 3 bedrooms, 1 1/4 baths, furnished. Has been completely remodeled inside, new carpet in bedrooms. Property has its own water well. $6,000 down and owner will carry balance for 15 to 20 years at 12% interest. Total price is $32,500.

OLDER — Three bedroom home in Ruidoso Pine Lodge may be just what you are looking for. You can't beat the price, $35,000.

ALTO VILLAGE-DEER PARK WOODS — Two plus acres with all underground utilities, and paving. Social membership and trees everywhere. Assumable loan.

Fishermen (and fisherwomen and fisherchildren) dot the banks of Alto Lake recently after a cool rain refurbished the lake.

Alto Lake a favorite fishing spot

The lazy days of summer bring forth one popular summer sport—fishing. The area around Ruidoso has a wealth of fishing possibilities. For the novice or the skilled fisherman, there is Alto Lake and the Rio Ruidoso. A little farther away is Bonito Lake. For those who want a sure-fire method to catch a fish, there are several fishing ponds where one can pay for the thrill of catching a fish.

However, availability of fishing waters does not mean luck in catching the fish.

A fisherman from Las Cruces related the story of his fishing experience. He said he had a friend who would always come home from the lake with a trunk full of fish. So in an effort to catch his own trunk full of fish, he decided to do everything his friend did—same bait, same lure, same type rod and reel and the same spot.

However, he had no luck. He said there is an art to fishing, and his method now is just to "sit and hope."

Barney Telles, who caught two fish in two minutes at Alto Lake Tuesday, said he caught his fish "on persistence and a worm."

Young and old and male and female tried their hand at catching some fish out of Alto Lake recently.

The consensus was that fireballs are good bait for catching trout, and the place to be was near the pipe that dumps water into lake. However, people were reeling in things other than fish—such as crawdads, weeds and sticks.

But relaxing in their lawn chairs, barely holding their fishing poles, the people showed that patience is the greatest advantage a fisherman can have.

Various fishing reports tell people what baits the fish are biting in certain lakes, but it seems many times someone forgot to tell the fish.

Ron Dowell: preacher to author

by CATHERINE PALMER
Staff Writer

"Minister's novel on adultery stirs controversy," proclaimed the headline in The Dallas Times Herald. Ruidoso writer Ron Dowell's first novel, "Sunday and the days which followed," initiated a dispute within Baptist church circles when it was first published in 1975.

Dowell, a licensed Baptist minister, began writing the book in 1973 "for an experiment." He had originally planned to tell the story of a minister who commits adultery. Dowell later shifted the act from the husband to the wife at the suggestion of his own wife.

The tale is told from three points of view: those of James Fisher, the minister; Phyllis Fisher, his wife; and Bob Roberts, a local physician.

The novel has received various reviews since its publication. Dr. John Hurt, editor of the Baptist Standard—official publication of the Baptist General Convention of Texas—found it "worthless and unnecessarily vulgar." He strenuously objected to what he considered foul language in the book.

Other Southern Baptists, however, did not miss the point Dowell intended to make. The Reverend Gary West, pastor of Royal Lane Baptist Church in Dallas, Texas, wrote: "In a frightening, yet somehow needed way, Ronnie Dowell pulls the veil back to reveal the human struggle and quest for some kind of meaning... He brings us again to the unfathomable truth that nothing alters God's acceptance of us or separates us from His love."

Nat Tracy, a retired chairman of the religion department at Howard Payne University, said the story would "stir deeply those who are sensitive to the real issues of life."

Dowell recalled some of his favorite criticisms. A local reader remarked, "I love the book. I love you. I'll never be the same." One publisher he approached with the novel told him, "It changed my life. I'm not going to get a divorce now."

The book clearly provokes thought. It portrays a man seeking personal honesty and a woman struggling with her own identity. It documents a marriage in all its stages—growth, failure, selfishness, fulfillment.

James Fisher, the protagonist, constantly seeks after God's will and truth in his life. A passage from the novel reveals the minister's understanding of his wife, and of women in general:

"James knew Phyllis to be one of those frightened, frustrated women who look to their husbands for their own fulfillment. They do not realize God's intention for husband and wife is that they complete one another, each enabling the other to participate in the enterprise of living, to touch when touching is needed, to love as each is loved, and to give freely of themselves to lives in need."

He intended to end the tale in "rather dreary circumstances," Dowell said. But a friend suggested he conclude with someone being redeemed—changed for the better. Dowell followed through on the idea, although he said he found writing the redemptive story to be much harder.

Growing up in Hurst, Texas, in a home he referred to as "nothing approaching a devout or strict position theologically," Dowell first became interested in the ministry when his younger brother was born. At that time, when he was 17, his father began taking him to a Baptist church.

Dowell remembers himself as "the straight A honor student-athlete." His brother was "the black sheep growing up, and then I became the black sheep later."

Honored with an appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland, Dowell journeyed north to attend plebe summer. He had taken Civil Service exams, filled out numerous forms, and passed a physical that was "the toughest physical you can imagine... You can be disqualified for 'extreme ugliness.'"

But between the appointment in January 1964 and the trip in June, Dowell had been "profoundly influenced by a desire to minister to my fellow man." He felt he had the capacity to speak to large crowds. "I wanted to do something good for the world, individual by individual," he remembered.

Leaving Annapolis before the end of the summer, Dowell immediately got a scholarship to Howard Payne. There he was a youth evangelist and did a lot of preaching. In 1968, he graduated with a bachelor of arts in Bible and a minor in preaching.

Dowell married after graduation and applied to Stephen F. Austin University at Nacogdoches, Texas. "They told me I had the highest GRE (Graduate Record Exam) of any student they'd ever admitted into the program," he said. "They were real disappointed when I dropped out after six months."

Unable to meet financial demands, he went to work at a foundry in Lufkin, Texas, while his wife finished her undergraduate degree.

For five years Dowell worked at many different jobs to support his wife and their young son and daughter. But in 1973, he began to write.

"I had always had this feeling that I could write," he explained. "So I wanted to find out if I could sustain—if I could be good for 50,000 words and say anything that anyone would benefit from."

After finishing "Sunday," he began to promote the book and to act in a local dinner theater. He appeared on television in Columbus, Ohio, to discuss his novel, and sold many books through that and other media.

In 1977, he got a job as an extra in the movie, "Semi Tough," starring Burt Reynolds. Dowell had just written a screenplay. "With a little chutzpah," he laughed, "I managed to talk Reynolds into reading it."

Reynolds enjoyed the script immensely, according to Dowell. He recalled the actor's words: "It's funny! I read a lot of scripts. People kept coming back to the back of the trailer to see what I was laughing about and I said, 'This script!'"

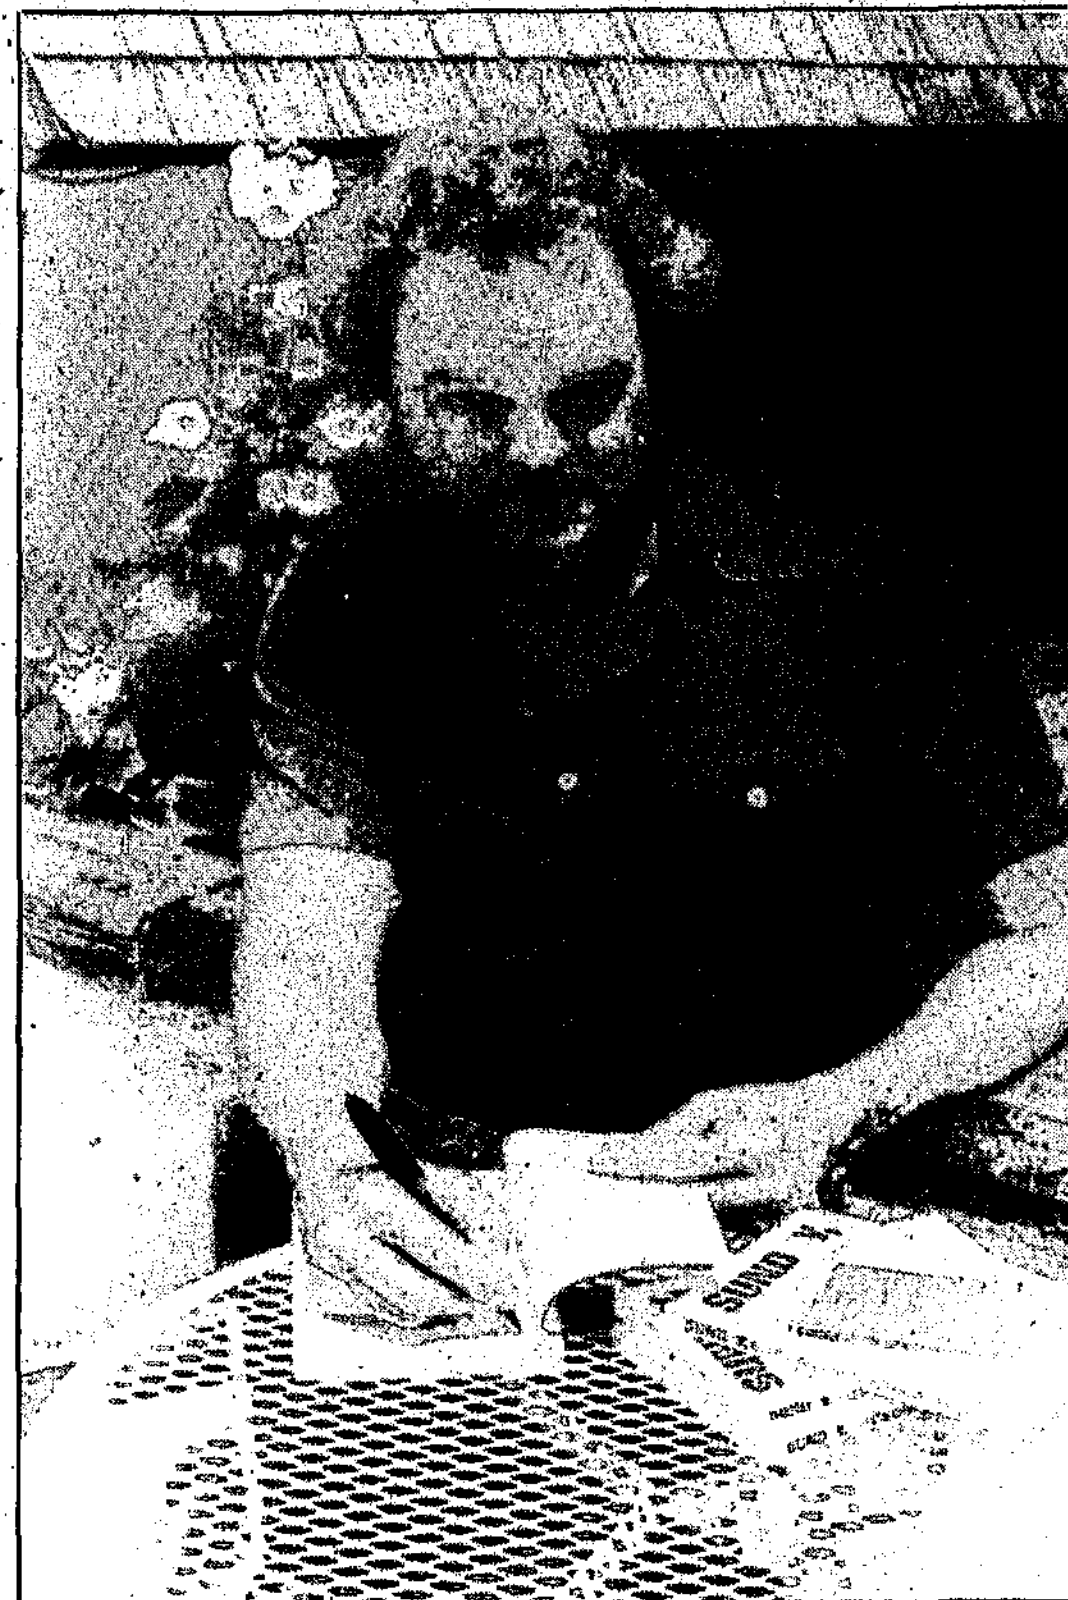

Unfortunately, Reynolds could do nothing with the piece as he was busy with other projects for five years into the future.

Dowell then went on to write two other screen comedies called "Trash Truck Bandits" and "The Goatsucker and the Girl." Though producers have shown interest, none have actually followed through on the projects.

"It's tougher than books," Dowell said of the screenwriting profession.

Although he has written in many forms, Dowell considers himself a poet above all. "If you want challenge, there's challenge," he commented. "You can't get poetry read or published."

After his marriage ended in Local author Ron Dowell autographs copies of his controversial novel, "Sunday and the Days which Follow" recently. The novel is about the adulterous wife of a B minister.

divorce, Dowell met his second wife, Cay, an actress. They were married in 1981 and began living in Cloudercroft, where her family had a home.

They bought a restaurant in Ruidoso and named it Jeremiah's. "The poet's soul who lives in me is named Jeremiah Moon," Dowell reflected seriously.

Since then he has been writing a psychic horror tale. "It's my Stephen King trip," he laughed. Lately, however, he has decided to abandon the project. "It's not beneficial. It's not going to do anybody any good."

He now has plans to begin another redemptive story. As far as his Baptist background is concerned, however, Dowell stated: "I no participate in organized Chris... I don't give myself any label."

"I don't go to church at all," he added. "I feel real close to God. My religion is extremely individual... It's between Him and me."

Of his novel, which may be published at The Aspen Tree, Dowell said that it was "something that came to me. It was sort of a 'Here's a gift. Give it away somebody else.'"

The day the book was published he wrote a poem in which he sums his feelings: "I only wrote the book 'He loves you' and so do I."

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

Thirtieth Anniversary
For Paul And Nellie
Ruth Jones.

The Great Spanish
Colonial Corral Caper

Last Sunday, August fourteen, was the thirtieth anniversary of the wedding of Paul H. Jones and Nellie Ruth Lucas Jones, both born in Lincoln County and both descendants of a long line of pioneers.

As a landmark feature in celebration of this milestone of love and devotion, Paul, at the eight-thirty service at Saint Anne's Chapel, read the sermon.

Paul was very much at home in the pulpit, and his contribution was much appreciated by the congregation which filled the church to overflowing. Services were under the direction of the Reverend Richard Hall.

Nellie Ruth is great-granddaughter of the pioneer Lincoln County couple, Frank and Helena Coe. She has followed the career of primary school teacher, along with being a homemaker, raising three fine daughters, along with the devoted help of Paul. Nellie Ruth will complete twenty-eight years as a teacher after this fall semester.

Paul, a descendant of the prominent early pioneer family of Jones, is a life-long rancher, and a decorated veteran of both World War II and the Korean Conflict.

Paul and Nellie Ruth are a greatly beloved couple, and we know The Lord will continue to bless them Always.

In mid summer of last year, Lynn, Joe Redinger, and myself were going through some Alaska "Capers" and just last week another one took place here at the place.

Three brothers were present, the youngest is known in cattle circles from coast to coast, Australia, Africa and the British Isles, as "Lindy, the Corral-building Kid."

Also present was "Auld Sandy MacLaughlan, who holds a doctor's degree in Philosophy, history, lore, and color of the horseback American West.

Right now I am not sure from which school he got his degree, but as near as I remember it was that prestigious institution: The University of Hard Knocks.

The Kid has built modern pens and loading chutes next to the old corral. (I think he is under contract to build cattle shipping corrals in those space stations out in the thin air where we are going to have to live when this Earth gets too crowded.)

So now it was up to Sandy to take charge of restoring the old upright cedar-and-juniper-post Spanish colonial Corral. No one is sure how long it has been here; but my great friend, the late Rube Gonzales, who was born about 1904, says it was an old corral when he was a boy.

Completing the trio was an over-the-hill ridge runner, known by the Hispanic people up and down the valley as "El Gringo Alegre" (The Happy Gringo). They are kind enough not to say the "Slap-Happy Gringo." First order of work was to plant new gate posts and hang the double gate. Sandy, a true Scot, does not like to waste anything, least of all time. So things went at a galloping pace.

The Kid, whenever we would get a little off the beam, would say:

"Arl a mo'. Arl a mo'!" Which is English sea-going lingo for "Half a moment" or "Wait a minute."

He learned this from a colorful Lithuanian named "Mexico Dutch" who had learned his brand of English from the British Merchant Marine where he had spent most of his life. The Kid met Mexico Dutch while working as a teenager in the East Texas Oil Field in the summer of 1931.

As we were filling the dirt in around the final gate post, Sandy pulled from his pocket a little folding business card with a one-hundred dollar bill inside.

"Bury this in there," he said, "Just for luck."

The Ridge Runner protested, but Sandy said,

"Bury this stuff or I'll put you in there."

Comes finally a two-by-six beam must be put up to keep the poles apart. The Gringo carried one end up the ladder and began driving the nail through the board into the post.

There were cheers of encouragement from those on the ground:

"You are doing great. You hit the nail on the head once out of ten swings with the hammer! We're proud of you. You haven't shattered the board yet."

All this praise went to the Gringo's head; with a mighty swing he missed the board, post and all and went catapulting turning flips in the air, and landing near the snubbing post in the middle of this historic corral, long known to fame in legend, song, ballad and story.

All day Sandy and The Kid were having a hard time holding back their giggles at the sight of this old guy stumbling around, and by this time they were spoiling for a laugh.

The high dive into the corral was all they needed, and set them rolling on the ground red-faced and gasping for breath, helpless in their compulsive guffawing. The Gringo wishes to send up a vote of thanks to The Kid's wife, Maxie. I have always worked lucky enough to have plain water. She sent down gallon jugs full of Cherry cider, Orange juice, Hawaiian Pineapple juice, Mango cider from Central Mexico, Peach nectar from Central Texas.

After Sandy and The Kid were good and gone, the Ridge Runner ran down to the corral. He was going to dig up that "C Note" and flash it all over town, in a final effort in his life-time ambition to "get up with the White People."

He was a shade late. There had been digging around the post. Just in the last glimmering of the gloaming, he saw a Coyote, looking back over his shoulder, holding the one-hundred dollar bill in his mouth.

With the bitter, salty tears of disappointment rolling down his flabby jowls, the Ridge Runner watched, wondering where the Coyote was going to spend the bill.

Then he remembered what an old Mexican farmer down in Sinaloa, Mexico, once told him:

"Next to God, the Coyote is the smartest of all."

And so ended that three-ring circus, that side-splitting episode, that highly-enjoyed chapter of family history, the great Spanish Colonial Corral Caper.

County Fair time

The Lincoln County Fair got under way at Capitan Wednesday, and Jay Eldridge's buckskin horse Rusty Jere was ready to defend her title as Lincoln County 4-H Champion Mare.

Walter Rawley carves Saint Michael out of this twisted tree.

Saint Michael created by Walter Rawley of Ruidoso. He did the wood carving and the bronze work.

Rawley creates religious art

by BETH HALLER
Staff Writer

Walter Rawley has combined wood and bronze for a new life-size carving of Saint Michael the Archangel.

The eight-foot woodcarving, which is based on Revelations 12:9, is carved from a juniper tree.

The spear and the snake are made of bronze, Rawley said. The spear has a clovis point, one of the oldest spearhead forms. Rawley subtly made the snake circling Saint Michael's leg a rattlesnake.

Rawley used a clay sketch to establish the movement and anatomy of the piece. He explained that he uses the clay sketch to get the mechanics of the piece. "I have to make sure the elbows will be inside the log."

However, in the actual woodcarving, "the wood suggests something to me."

"It is not something I conceive and impress upon the wood; it is something outside of me," he explained.

It is the opposite from a coat of arms or something that comes from somewhere else, which is like building a house to plans, he said.

In a piece like Saint Michael, he went on, "I organize it in the clay to get an orderly form, with the purpose of executing it into the other piece of wood."

"Me and the wood work together," he explained. "The wood shows me how. The wood gives to me."

Known for doing crosses and religious art, Rawley began woodcarving when he lived in Dallas, Texas.

"I did a little piece here and there, and I got interested in it," he said.

He came to Ruidoso 10 years ago; he met artist Tom Knapp and got interested in bronze casting because "I thought it was faster," he said.

Bronze casting is also more commercially viable, he noted. He does casting for other sculptors and for his own sculptures.

He has 12 to 15 artists he does casting for, from Tom Knapp to people doing their first piece.

He does most of his own work. He said he probably has one of the smallest foundries in the world.

"But that suits me fine, I want to do my own work, not manage a factory," he explained.

Rawley said he tries to work in one or two pieces a year of his own.

Other casters use wax for their molds; he uses wood because he says he can control it better.

He also likes the look of the wood grain in the metal.

Last summer he did an 18-foot cross.

He has done a lot of church design work. As he said, "Nobody else wants to do it, so there is no competition; however, you don't get much money."

"The church has always been an important part of my life," he noted.

"Most of my work is based on the cross form."

He began with a piece for his church in Dallas. A new church was built and the priest wanted a carved Celtic stone cross, but the church could not afford it.

Rawley was in the commercial construction business, and he figured out a way to make a simulated carved stone cross out of various building materials.

Then the minister of the Methodist church across the street from that church asked him to do a cross for his church.

"It went from there by word of mouth," Rawley said.

"I was interested in it (church designs). There was no one else to do it. I am knowledgeable in Christian symbolism, and I have a background in construction," he pointed out.

"The church is my medium for art, and the church is my community obligation," Rawley said.
