Airport momentum up

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Momentum for a regional airport on Fort Stanton Mesa continued to grow this week as more politicians committed their support to an airport on Site B while opponents appeared to soften their stance.

Interior Secretary James Watt told U.S. Representative Joe Skeen that he may reconsider his opposition to an airport at Site B, said Skeen Tuesday.

Skeen met with Watt for about an hour Monday to discuss the hazards of the present airport in Ruidoso and the advantages of an airport on Fort Stanton Mesa.

"I put in a case for Site B because I think it is the only site that lends itself to an airport," said Skeen, who operated a flight service out of the Ruidoso in the 1960s.

In August, Watt informed Governor Toney Anaya that he would reject an application for the transfer of land known as Site B from the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) to the Federal Aviation Administration.

That was before the application had actually been submitted. The U.S. Transportation Department has recently submitted the application to the Interior Department.

Site B is the site proposed by the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) but opposed by New Mexico State University (NMSU). NMSU conducts range research on the land and claims that an airport there will disrupt its research.

BLM has backed NMSU in its opposition to Site B, but appeared to be reconsidering its position last week.

BLM director Robert Burford Friday said that he and Watt "are willing to negotiate" their differences over the site for an airport. Burford also said that he has "come up with some ideas that might make it a little more palatable to both sides."

The side advocating an airport at Site B appeared to be gaining more supporters, especially in Washington. U.S. Representative Manuel Lujan recently wrote a letter to Mayor George White of Ruidoso saying he would be most happy to work with Skeen on the airport. Lujan sits on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee.

Skeen is leading the fight for Site B in Washington, according to SBAC chairman Fred Heckman.

"We're happy that Congressman Skeen is moving things on the Washington front," said Heckman.

He reported that Skeen has received word from some Texas congressmen that they will also support the airport at Site B.

Heckman was also very pleased with the support Governor Anaya has given to the airport.

"We're extremely pleased with the actions of the governor," said Heckman.

Anaya is doing something no one else has done for Ruidoso, said Heckman. He called Anaya's support "more than just lip service."

Anaya this spring encouraged SBAC to file an application for the land transfer. He has also advised Attorney General Paul Bardacke to examine a clause in a 1956 deed that may give the State of New Mexico an easement to the land.

The governor and New Mexico Transportation Secretary Judith Espinosa plan to meet with Secretary Watt this week to discuss the airport.

Mayor White met with Anaya at the New Mexico Municipal League Conference last week and said Anaya pledged his support for the airport.

"Action will be taken within the year," White quoted Anaya.

"We're just tickled pink," said Heckman of the growing support for an airport at Site B.

Illness tests inconclusive

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Laboratory tests on stool samples from five persons who were sick produced no evidence of bacteria or parasites in people suffering from a mysterious gastrointestinal disease in Ruidoso.

Although there was an unconfirmed report of a second case of giardia, Environmental Improvement Division (EID) epidemiologist Jeff Sheyka said that would not change his evaluation of the situation.

Sheyka told a group of EID engineers and village officials that he has not been able to make any conclusions about the illness that has been plaguing Ruidoso area residents for more than four weeks.

"We were kind of concerned about giardia," said Sheyka.

Giardia is a parasite that causes diarrhea, abdominal cramps, nausea and low grade fever. It can be carried in water or food. There were 41 water-borne outbreaks in the United States between 1965 and 1980, and the disease has been detected numerous times in Colorado.

One case of giardia was confirmed early in the investigation, but none since. It was reported that state laboratory officials were talking to a local doctor about a positive giardia test on another sample Tuesday, but EID officials said Wednesday they knew nothing about it.

A random phone poll of Ruidoso residents conducted by EID showed a much greater concentration of the unknown malady in the Upper Canyon area, which has a water system separate from the rest of Ruidoso. EID documented around 100 people in the Upper Canyon who had contracted the disease.

The negative test results, however, have made Sheyka believe it is more likely the disease is caused by a virus passed from person to person, he said. The concentration of the disease in the Upper Canyon, however, remains a mystery.

"That is unexplained at this time," Sheyka told the EID engineers and village officials.

In spite of the belief that the water system is delivering clean water to Ruidoso, EID engineers visited Ruidoso water treatment plant number one in the Upper Canyon.

Treated water taken up at the plant was called "quite turbid" by Ruidoso EID environmentalist Hari Mukhoty. Sheyka also thought the water looked more turbid than is generally permissible, but said he could not tell without performing tests.

All tests done on Ruidoso water have produced no evidence of bacteria. Giardia, however, is a parasite and would not show up in the tests.

EID district engineer John Burkstaller said he would normally consider adding a sedimentation coagulant to the plant if concerned about giardia. However, plant one produces only a maximum of 70,000 gallons of water a day, and generally provides about 10 percent of the village's water.

Burkstaller said it would probably not be worthwhile to add the sedimentation coagulant, and said he would suggest closing down the plant if giardia did appear as the cause of the illness.

The relatively small number of test samples has made the diagnosis difficult, according to Sheyka. Why there have not been more test samples remains a mystery.

Sheyka said it is often difficult to get the right people to give samples.

Many call in and tell him that they have been sick, but Sheyka needs samples from people who are acutely ill at the moment. Many are hesitant to give the stool samples, he said.

Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital spokespeople said they had sent at least seven samples to the state laboratory in Albuquerque, but did not know how many more they had sent.

One local doctor said he had sent 10 to 20 people to the hospital for testing, and another reported about 10 samples.

Not all the doctors, however, have been sending their patients for testing. Doctors R. L. Annala and Edward Stalzer said they had not been contacted by anyone at EID concerning testing.

"There's been nothing official about this at all," said Annala Tuesday.

County Health Nurse Hazel English said she had contacted all the physicians in the area. Some of them had been out of the office, however, and English said she had had to leave messages for the doctors.

Whatever the disease is, it appears to be affecting considerably fewer people recently. A number of doctors and the hospital reported seeing many fewer cases than they had a couple of weeks ago.

"It seems to be petering out," said Dr. Michael Stone.

But it will likely appear again next summer. Many residents said the same disease appears in Ruidoso every summer.

Environmentalist Mukhoty said he has heard complaints each of the five years he has been here. He expressed hope that if it appears next year, EID and the medical community will be more prepared to get samples and investigate the disease more closely.

My name is Sue, how do you do? Actually, it's Sweet Sue, and her rider is Jackie Stephenson. Sue and Jackie are in town for the race meet that starts Friday.

Donkey breeds hobby for couple

by TIM PALMER

It was an amorous donkey that got Jackie and Jess Stephenson involved in mule racing.

The Stephensons—who call Wetmore, Colorado, home—raise running quarter horses. Well, one day six or seven years ago, a neighbor's jack (that's a male donkey, if you didn't know) broke into the Stephensons' pasture and mated one of their quarter horse mares.

As a result of that encounter, Jackie and Jess found themselves with a little red mule.

After Sara was old enough to ride, Jackie was working cattle on her one day when she broke and stampeded the herd. In the ensuing roundup, the cowhands noticed Sara was outrunning their horses.

"Hey, you oughta race that mule," they told Jackie.

"I think they really were thinking, 'You oughta shoot that mule,'" she recalled Wednesday with a laugh.

Well, one thing led to another. The Stephensons went over to the Durango mule races "to see what we could do." Now their interest has grown to the point they brought seven head to the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skinners meet that starts here Friday.

"This is about the best race meet that they have," said Jackie. "It's a lot of fun." From Ruidoso, the mule racing circuit—which started in Bishop, California—heads on to Del Rio, Texas, then Globe, Arizona. The Stephensons picked it up in Ignacio, Colorado, last weekend.

Jackie shows her mules a lot of affection, and she believes they respond to it.

"They have to like you to run for you," she said.

She points to Molly, whose racing name is Black Velvet. Molly had about eight owners before the Stephensons and was "kinda ornery" for about a year and a half after they got her.

But now, "Molly's a good girl," Jackie tells her, giving her a friendly scratch on the head. Molly is part of a champion chariot team.

"They worry a lot when we take 'em and haul 'em," said Jackie. "They think they're gonna be sold again."

Do mules have feelings then?

"I think they do—they really do," Jackie believes. She added that some trainers might not think so, but, "We're close to our mules and they work good for us."

The Stephensons still have Sara, and they now have their own jack. Jackie said they bred him to all six of their quarter horse mares, so, "Hopefully, we'll have some mule babies next year."

And if they do, maybe Jackie and Jess will bring some of them back to Ruidoso Downs, where they have been racing for the past four years. "I sure enjoy this town," said Jess.

Examining the water

Environmental Improvement Division (EID) engineer John Burkstaller (left) and epidemiologist Jeff Sheyka examine a water sample from Ruidoso water treatment plant number one in the Upper Canyon. EID and village officials toured the plant Wednesday. Questions have been raised about the effectiveness of the plant's filtering system after an unidentified gastrointestinal disease appeared to be concentrated in the Upper Canyon.

Steven Dobbs National Merit semifinalist

Ruidoso High School (RHS) counselor James Sanchez announced this week that RHS senior Steven Dobbs is among the 15,000 students in the country named semifinalists in this year's National Merit Scholarship Corporation program.

Steven, the son of Joe and Evelyn Dobbs, ranked in the top half of one percent of the 1983 high school senior class across the country according to scores from the PSAT/NMSQT test taken in his junior year.

Of the 15,000 semifinalists, 13,500 will become National Merit finalists eligible for scholarship awards. Finalists will be chosen on the basis of SAT test scores, high academic performance throughout high school, recommendation and endorsement of their principals and information they provide about their interests, accomplishments and goals.

Only 5,300 finalists will become Merit Scholars receiving scholarship money from the corporation and its sponsors. These winners will be announced in the spring.

Ruidoso High School has been represented in the National Merit Scholarship competition for the past three years and is one of about 15 school districts in the state this year boasting a semifinalist, Sanchez said.

Steven plans to continue his education after high school at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces to study electronics engineering.

Four new teachers join staff at Nob Hill Elementary School

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Four new teachers have joined the staff at Nob Hill Elementary School this year, but none of them are new to teaching and only two are new to the Ruidoso School system.

Pernina Martin was hired at Nob Hill last year as a special education aide, but she was given her own class of 18 second-graders this year. Martin had previously taught for five years in Texas, in Title I math, high school math and the migrant program.

She attended Tarleton State University in Stephenville, Texas, where she earned a bachelor's degree in elementary education and health.

Martin said serving as an aide in special education last year was a good experience for her. She was promoted to the rank of teacher this year due to the heavy enrollment in second grade. The teacher said each student will be able to receive a lot more individual attention because of the staff expansion.

"I think we're going to have a good year," she noted. "I've got a good group of kids."

Gloria Pafford joined the Nob Hill staff as a special education resource room teacher. She is responsible for helping identify students with learning disabilities and working with them for an hour each day outside their regular classroom. Pafford has nine students enrolled in the resource room program thus far.

Her eight years of previous teaching experience were in special education at schools in Hondo, Fort Stanton and Roswell. Pafford graduated from Eastern New Mexico University with a bachelor of science degree in special education, and from the University of New Mexico with a master's in the same field. Her home is in San Patricio.

"I'm real excited to be here," the new teacher said. "I have a feeling it is going to be a real good year."

Rick Higginbotham switched this year from White Mountain Elementary School to Nob Hill, where he is teaching a first-grade class. He taught fourth grade for half of last year at White Mountain, before which he was on the teaching staff in Captain for five years, working with third- and fourth-graders and Title I students.

"First grade is quite an experience," Higginbotham said. "The kids are super."

He received his bachelor's degree in elementary education and master's in reading education from Eastern New Mexico University.

LINDA LOTT

Asked about his plans for this year, Higginbotham said, "We certainly hope to prepare the kids for another 11 years of quality education in the Ruidoso School system."

Linda Lott returned from a school system in Saudi Arabia to teach first grade at Nob Hill this year. Her 10 years prior teaching experience were received in Gallina; Raton; San Jose, California; and Saudia Arabia, where she has spent the past seven years.

Lott and her husband were two of the first contract teachers in an international school in Saudi Arabia, with students representing 40 to 50 nationalities. After teaching for one year, they were made administrators, responsible for writing curriculum and building the entire school program, including hiring teachers.

Lott, a native New Mexican, applied to the Ruidoso School system after deciding it was time to return to the United States. Associate superintendent Mike Gladden had been her principal when she taught at Gallina.

Lott earned her bachelor's degree in elementary and bilingual education at Eastern New Mexico University, and a master's in reading at Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo, California. She also has credentials as a reading specialist from Cal Poly.

One of Lott's goals this year is to make her students aware of other countries and cultures. She also plans to concentrate on learning more about the American Indian culture.

"I just want to really work hard and be a good grade one teacher this year," she stated.

Council increase referendum tentatively set for November 8

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso village council received notification Tuesday evening that the petition calling for an increase of the council to six members is valid, and discussed November 8 as a tentative date for a referendum on the question.

Village clerk Leon Eggleston reported that 107 of the 145 signatures on the petition were valid. Some of the signatures were invalid due to people not being registered voters and not living within the village limits.

With 1,982 registered voters in the Ruidoso municipal limits, 99 signatures (five percent) were required to make the petition valid.

"Therefore I, Leon Eggleston, Clerk of the Village of Ruidoso, do hereby certify that there are enough valid signatures of registered voters from the petition presented and therefore it is my opinion that the governing Body, Village of Ruidoso, adopt a resolution calling for a special election increasing the number of councilmen from four to six."

Eggleston read from a letter he sent to Mayor George White and the four councilmen.

Voters will decide at the special election if they want to increase the size of the council. If they approve a council increase, all members of the current council will have to resign and run for election.

Eggleston said he hopes to schedule the special election for council members in March during the regularly scheduled elections. As of now, only two councilmen, Don Dale and Benny Coulston, and the municipal judge are up for election in March.

Councilman Al Junge made a motion to hold the special election November 8. Upon Frank Sayner's suggestion, Junge withdrew his motion and the council decided not to take any action on an election since Dale and village attorney Lee Huckstep were absent.

The council did pass a resolution endorsing past efforts of the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) and Governor Toney Anaya in attempting to secure a regional airport on the Fort Stanton Mesa. The council instructed Eggleston to write a letter of thanks, which will be signed by Mayor White.

"I just think we should say thank you in some form," said Coulston.

White announced that he had received a letter from U.S. Representative Manuel Lujan supporting efforts to build an airport on Site B. Site B is the site preferred by SBAC but opposed by New Mexico State University because of range research it conducts on Fort Stanton Mesa.

Lujan wrote that he would be happy to work with U.S. Representative Joe Skeen, who also supports an airport at Site B.

Lujan does not represent the Ruidoso area but does sit on the Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, which works closely with the Interior Department. A request for transfer of Site B land from the Bureau of Land Management jurisdiction to the Federal Aviation Administration has been submitted to the Interior Department.

White said he also talked to Governor Anaya and U.S. Senator Pete Domenici about the airport during the recent New Mexico Municipal League Conference in Carlsbad. White reported that Anaya reconfirmed his strong support of an airport at Site B.

"Action will be taken within the year," White quoted Anaya.

Domenici was much more evasive on the issue and did not commit himself to support for Site B, said White.

White then named five appointees to the Lodgers Tax Committee (LTC), which were all approved by the council. White named Jim Biggs, Joan Bailey, Rod Adamson, Linda Flack and Gary Hall. All appointees except Gary Hall agreed to serve on the committee, reported LTC member Archer Wilson Wednesday.

The appointments were made to fill vacant spots created by a recent increase of the committee from four members to nine.

For the second meeting in a row, the council overturned a Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) zoning recommendation. The council approved a zoning change from single-family dwellings to light commercial use for two lots in Forest Heights Subdivision owned by Randall Mullican.

"I've been here 10 years and I thought it was commercial all along," said Coulston.

P&Z chairman Greg Masters said the commission denied the light commercial zoning because there was already sufficient commercial property in the area and restrictive covenants designated it as residential property.

Civil engineer Tim Collins said Mullican planned to build a professional office building on the lots where the Forest Heights sales office previously stood.

The council then instructed the P&Z not to grant any road right of way vacations but allow people with extenuating circumstances to use them until the village needs the land for wider roads.

When Masters asked about liability concerns if a motorist hit a building in the right of way, the council suggested obtaining waivers of liability from the landowners. Attorney Ron Harris predicted that would not stop people from suing the village if they wanted to, but suggested the chances of such a case are too slight to concern the council.

The council also instructed P&Z to use the Comprehensive Plan's Land Use Map when considering zone change requests. Masters noted there had been some confusion whether to refer to the Land Use Map or the Zoning Map of Ruidoso, which differ on several points. It was pointed out that the Zoning Map lists zoning as it exists, and the Land Use Map is a guide for zoning goals in the village.

The council agreed to meet with members of P&Z and the Architectural Plans Review Committee to discuss the village sign ordinance.

In other business, the council:

—Approved seven items previously approved by P&Z.

—Approved a liquor license for Southland Corporation to be located at the midtown 7-11.

—Approved Ordinance 83-13, requiring car seats for young children and handicapped parking in all parking lots.

Approved Ordinance 83-13, resolving to apply for a $250,000 Community Development Block Grant. Village manager Jim Hine said the application is for money to be used for repaving streets in Ponderosa Heights that will be torn up with the installation of sewer lines.

—Heard assistant village manager Frank Potter report that he has contacted the State Highway Department about a petition requesting a traffic light at the corner of Sudderth Drive and Juanita Avenue. Potter said a traffic study being done this fall will hopefully include some solutions to the traffic problem at that corner.

—Heard Potter report that the Lincoln County commissioners agreed to turn the construction of the Bog Springs Road to the new Ruidoso High School over to Ruidoso. Under a joint powers agreement between the village and the county, the village will receive state funds appropriated for its construction.

—Heard Potter report that Ruidoso was six inches behind its normal rainfall for the year and that the village is using large amounts of well water for its water supply. He said recent rains have not significantly increased the flow of Eagle Creek into Alto reservoir, which was dropping at the rate of seven feet a week before the village began using the wells.

—Agreed to invite bids for municipal property near the corner of Sudderth and Mechem drives.

—Authorized Hine to negotiate for .22 acre needed for right of way on the Gavilan Canyon bypass.

—Complimented Ruidoso police chief Dick Swenor for being elected first vice-president of the New Mexico Municipal Chiefs of Police Association.

—Heard Councilman Al Junge say he plans to work with Potter to establish a policy and prices for private citizens to pay for paving of streets. Junge said he and many of his neighbors paid for paving of their street, which would not have been paved otherwise.

—Accepted a bid of $22,153.76 for a flatbed truck for the Sanitation Department.

Mules and Arabians lead Aspen Festival

Aspen Festival '83 will get under way this weekend with the annual mule races at Ruidoso Downs Race Track, sponsored by the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skippers.

The mules will begin racing—or whatever they decide to do—Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the track. There will be at least 12 races daily Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 16-18. Roping and arena events will commence Friday and continue Saturday and Sunday mornings.

Live country and western bands will provide entertainment before the races start each day, and clowns will be on hand for the enjoyment of all the kids and young-at-heart grownups.

The purses have been increased again this year, up to an impressive $65,000 total. And the meet is sanctioned by the American Mule Association (AMA).

All the winning mules will receive blankets, and a pair of Tony Lama lizard boots will be presented to the leading trainer, jockey and mule owner, as well as to the winner of the Gold Cup Race.

The fun won't end when the races are over, though. An auction is scheduled following Saturday's last race. Vernie Moening and Tommy Maricle will conduct the auction at the All-American Sales Arena.

Prime Time Restaurant is offering special discounts for all mule people and a country and western band in the lounge beginning at 8:30 p.m. Sunday. This event will serve as a victory party for the winners and a crying party for the losers. Mule Skippers president Melvin Means said.

People who may prefer watching Arabian horses to mules can attend

Chuck Kibler of Scottsdale, Arizona, with his Arabian horse Sun-Sparkle Thursday morning. The two will compete in The Ruidoso All Arabian Show starting tomorrow.

the fourth annual Ruidoso All Arabian Horse Show at Western Highlands, directly east of the race track. The show will open Friday at 9 a.m. and continue through Sunday afternoon. Arabian horses of all classes will participate in the show, which is approved by the International Arabian Horse Association.

On Saturday and Sunday four-wheeled rather than four-legged creatures will be on exhibit, at Pat and Linda's Street Rod Picnic in School House Park. Games, food and fun are planned for all members of the family.

About 80 street rods are expected for the show this year. Sunday morning will be the best time for visitors to admire the machines, during Show 'N Shine time from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

All in all, it promises to be an action-packed weekend to open Ruidoso Aspen Festival '83.

Skies will be mostly fair Friday. Chances of precipitation Thursday and Thursday night are 20 percent, dropping to 10 percent Friday. The extended forecast calls for partly cloudy skies and isolated thundershowers Saturday through Monday with similar temperatures.

P&Z to hear sign appeals

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) will hear appeals on five sign applications denied by the Architectural Plans Review Committee during its meeting at 3 p.m. Monday, September 19, at village hall.

P&Z will hear appeals from Sonya Smith for Nambé Showroom and Gallery, Jim Carpenter for Better Homes and Gardens, Stansell Jones for T. L. Wilson Sporting Goods, Paul Carnes for Gateway Shell and Wesley Martin Oil Company and Terry Whitaker for Ruidoso Rent All.

Also on the P&Z agenda for Monday are:

—Public hearing on request to rezone Lot 8, Block 27, Ponderosa Heights Unit 3, from multiple family dwellings to trailers and mobile homes, for Barbara and Lawrence Paschich.

—Request for a replat of Lots 19, 20, 21 and the south half of lot 22 in Hamilton Terrace for Jon H. and Ina C. Acorn.

—Request for a replat of Lot 1,

Block B, in Red Cedar Subdivision for Nelson G. and Catherine Terry and Paul and Marsha McClendon.

THOMAS BELL AND MISHAWN HENDRICKS

Engagement announced

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hendricks of Ruidoso have announced the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter Mishawn to Thomas Bell. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Bell of Roswell.

The couple will be married at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 22, at New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) Chapel in Roswell.

Both the bride and groom-elect are graduates of Goddard High School, Roswell. Mishawn is currently enrolled at New Mexico State University in Alamogordo and is employed at Ruidoso Wholesale Lumber.

Her fiancé attended NMMI and also is employed at Ruidoso Wholesale Lumber.

First Baptist hosting revival

First Baptist Church of Ruidoso, on Mechem Drive, is sponsoring a revival this Friday through Sunday, September 16-18.

The Reverend Jack Lee of Hart, Texas, will be guest speaker. Music will be led by The Jordans of Amarillo, Texas.

A Sunday morning service at 11 will feature the Singing Farmers Quartet in concert. The group is from Hart. Services begin at 7 p.m. each evening. Everyone is welcome.

Animal control sponsoring mutt show Sunday

Ruidoso Animal Control is sponsoring a mutt show 2 p.m. Sunday, September 18, at School House Park. Animal control officer Buddy Dean invites all dog owners to enter their pets in the show, which will include prizes for the best behaved dog, the cutest and ugliest dogs as well as shortest and longest tails.

Mutt owners must register with Dean by Friday, September 16.

Dean's office is located behind the Ruidoso Police Department. He can be contacted at 257-5296.

Entry fee is $1. Animals must have rabies shots and city tags, which are available from Dean.

Alamogordo MADD sponsoring judges' forum

The Alamogordo chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) will sponsor a "judges' forum" Tuesday at 7 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church in Alamogordo at 14th and Oregon Streets.

Magistrate and municipal judges from Otero and Lincoln counties have been invited to a panel discussion focusing on a number of proposals for DWI (Driving While Intoxicated) legislation.

Moderator of the panel will be Dr. William Boehm.

Judges invited to participate include Judges Prelo, Naylor and Bradley of Alamogordo, Judge Bill Payne of Carrizozo and Judge Jim Wheeler of Ruidoso. The chief of New Mexico's Traffic Safety Bureau, John Fenner, will also be present.

The public is invited and encouraged to attend. Both men and women are now active members of MADD.

For more information call Marlene Malone at 437-1971 or Rocky Galassini at 585-2608. Galassini suggested that persons interested in forming a Ruidoso MADD chapter should attend this forum.

Brownies to meet

The third grade Brownie troop will meet at 5:30 p.m. Wednesday, September 21, at the White Mountain Middle School Library.

A parent must accompany the child to the first meeting.

For further information call Ellie Keeton, troop leader, at 258-4059.

In the Service

Airman Edward J. Koehler, son of Franklin A. Koehler of Ruidoso, graduated from the U.S. Air Force fuels specialist course at Chanute Air Force Base, Illinois.

Koehler will serve with the 513th Supply Squadron at RAF Mildenhall, England.

GOP Women to hear about bone disease

Lois Aldrich will present a program on osteoporosis and Social Security benefits at the Tuesday, September 20, meeting of the Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County.

The business meeting will begin at 11 a.m. at Cousins' Restaurant, with lunch and program following.

All Republican women residing in Lincoln County are invited to attend.

For further information call Dorothy Smith at 354-2499 or Dorothy Barber at 258-3348.

Elks leader recognized at convention

Charles Hall of Ruidoso was recognized as a newly elected Exalted Ruler at the 119th Convention of the Grand Lodge Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks being held in Honolulu, Hawaii July 24-28.

Hall is one of more than 2,300 Exalted Rulers nationwide.

Optimist Club forming, meeting tonight

The Ruidoso Optimist Club will have a second organizational meeting this evening (Thursday) at 7 at Whispering Pines Restaurant.

All civic-minded men 18 years old and older who are interested in joining the organization as charter members are invited to attend.

For more information contact Ruidoso Optimist Club coordinators Craig Whipple at 378-4634 or Ed Miller at 378-4823.

Constitution Week set September 17-23

Next week, September 17-23, is being celebrated as Constitution Week by proclamation of the President. The Sierra Blanca chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) is urging area residents to be aware of and participate in this observance by studying the Constitution.

"The purpose of this observance is to renew appreciation for our Constitution and our country," a DAR announcement states.

"The Daughters of the American Revolution urge that you study our Constitution during this week in order that you may more fully understand its meaning and understand why this document has endured as the great charter of human liberties," it adds.

DALLAS, Texas—Heather Henington of Ruidoso, N.M., an independent beauty consultant with Dallas-based Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc., has just returned from the company's 20th anniversary Seminar held at the Dallas Convention Center, August 29-31.

This year's Seminar was entitled "Celebrate" in honor of the company's 20th anniversary. Founder and board chairman Mary Kay Ash opened her direct sales cosmetic company in September, 1963. The $4 million Seminar is an annual extravaganza comprising three days of training, product education and motivation for the 23,000 Mary Kay representatives who attend.

Daily workshops on product knowledge, business management and sales techniques were taught by top sales directors from Mary Kay's 200,000-member sales force. An upbeat, New York-style fashion show presented the latest in fall fashions for both men and women. A professional makeup artist also performed makeovers featuring Mary Kay's new fall colors and various beauty tips.

Highlighting Seminar was Awards Night—a combination of the Academy Awards, the Miss America Pageant and a Broadway opening. On this evening, Mary Kay personally crowned and congratulated the 1983 "Queens" and their courts, awarding fur coats, diamond rings, luxurious cruises and the famous pink Cadillacs and Buick Regals to the company's highest achievers. Entertainment was provided by singer Johnny Mathis.

Mrs. Henington joined Mary Kay Cosmetics as an independent beauty consultant in 1983. She is married to Michael and they have 2 children.

Mary Kay Cosmetics, Inc. is an international manufacturer and distributor of a premium line of skin, hair and body care products, cosmetics, toiletries and fragrances. Net sales for 1982 were $304.3 million.

Warrior gridgers take battle to Wildcats' lair

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

An old rivalry with a new twist will be renewed Friday night when the Ruidoso High School varsity football team travels to Tularosa for a 7:30 contest.

Tularosa and Ruidoso were in the same district for many seasons, but this year Tularosa dropped down to the AA division, making Friday's encounter a non-district game.

But that won't make the game any less important to either team.

"Tularosa is always tough," said Warrior head coach Darrel Stierwalt. "They're not that big, but they play hard and they should be tough."

Indeed, Tularosa has been tough for Ruidoso to solve in the long series between the two schools. The Wildcats have won 20 games while the Warriors have won six in the 27-game series. One game ended in a tie. Ruidoso has won just once since 1968, that a 14-0 decision in 1980.

But the past is just the past where rivalries are concerned.

Both teams are 1-1 on the season. Ruidoso opened the campaign with a 29-0 loss to powerful Lovington, but came back with an exciting 22-21 victory over Clint, Texas, last week.

Tularosa defeated Cobre 27-21 in its opener but lost to Hot Springs 14-7 last Friday.

The Wildcats are led by quarterback David Sheppard, who has taken over in place of graduated Chris Cerney. Tularosa also has several starters back from last season's squad.

Ruidoso got a big emotional boost from its win over Clint. Last season the Warriors went 1-9, with the one victory (a 20-16 decision over Hot Springs) not coming until the ninth contest.

The Warrior offense showed a major improvement over the season opener against Lovington.

Ruidoso gained 181 yards total offense against Clint, after only picking up two yards total offense against Lovington. The Warriors also picked up 12 first downs in the Clint game. They didn't get any against Lovington.

Sophomore quarterback Russell Easter had an excellent performance against Clint, scoring two touchdowns and throwing two two-point conversions.

The 6-0, 165-pound athlete will probably share quarterback duties with senior Cyrus Simmons again.

Simmons ran the team well in the first half against Clint, and intercepted a pass in the final moments of the game to preserve the win for Ruidoso.

Mike Williamson and Eric Strobel provide the Warriors with some running threats out of the backfield. Patric Pearson, Mike Smith and Justin Smith can also catch and run with the ball.

Guards Craig Carson and George Gresham keyed an improved offensive line performance last week.

Tackles John Antol and Gary Burgess also looked good against the Lions. Bobby Dickinson will probably start at tight end, James Herrera has done well at center.

Defensively, the Warriors have shown an ability to force turnovers in the first two games.

Ruidoso has intercepted four passes in the two contests. Easter has two of them, while Simmons and linebacker Wade Proctor each have one.

Scott Ciraulo and Kevin Jameson will probably start at defensive end, the first time they've started this season. Eric Bell and Chris Woodul will go at tackle.

Dickinson will start at middle linebacker, while Proctor and Justin Smith will go on the outside.

Easter and Williamson will start at safety, while Kenny Espinosa and Mitch Mullican will go at cornerback.

Perhaps the biggest improvement in Ruidoso's play last week was the punting game. Strobel got off one punt of 62 yards and averaged well over 40 yards on the night.

But past records and statistics aren't important when it comes to a Ruidoso-Tularosa rivalry. It will all be decided in 60 minutes of play Friday night.

A group of Ruidoso High School football players get ready to tackle a teammate during Wednesday's practice. The Warriors will travel to Tularosa Friday night for a 7:30 contest. Tularosa is now a non-district game on the Ruidoso schedule, as the Wildcats have dropped down to the AA division.

The Ruidoso High School freshman football team works out Wednesday in their new season at 8 tonight against the Roswell Coyotes at Roswell.

Capitan goes for first victory

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

The Capitan High School varsity football team will be seeking its first victory of the season when it takes on the visiting Hagerman Bobcats at 7:30 Friday night on the Tiger field.

Capitan, 0-2 on the season, will be facing a Hagerman squad that lost to AA division power Dexter 28-0 last week.

The Tigers, defending state A division champions, have had problems moving the football in the first two games. However, the defense showed much improvement last week in a 21-6 loss to powerful Texico.

Linebacker Danny Cummins scored the only Capitan touchdown against Texico on a 50-yard intercepttion return in the first half.

The talented senior is also a standout at tailback. He teams with fullback Sammy Castillo to give the Tigers a tough running duo.

Dewey Keller is in his second season at quarterback. The junior scored Capitan's only touchdown against Tatum in the season opener.

Todd Proctor teams with Cummins on defense to give the Tigers strength at linebacker. Proctor made all-state last season and goes both ways.

NOTES: The Capitan Junior High School team will open its season against Hagerman at 6 tonight on the Tiger field.

Ruidoso frosh, junior varsity open season this weekend

The Ruidoso High School freshman and junior varsity football teams open their season this weekend on the road.

The Warrior freshmen will travel to Roswell High School today for a 6 p.m. game with the Coyotes. Ruidoso's junior varsity will go to Artesia High School Saturday for a 6 p.m. contest with the always-tough Bulldogs.

Ron Geyer is the head coach of the freshman team, and Jim Hofstadt is his assistant.

The two coaches will work with a quality group of players, most of whom played on White Mountain Middle School's 5-1 team last year.

"I assume they (Roswell) are pretty tough since their varsity is ranked among the top AAAA schools in the state. That kind of quality usually finds its way down to the freshmen."

But the Warriors have plenty of weapons of their own.

Jeff Willingham will start at quarterback for Ruidoso. Billy Harrison will go at fullback, Bryan Mack at halfback and Sid Garcia at wingback.

Willingham will be throwing to the likes of tight end Billy Chadwell and split end Brian Davis. Justin Hill gives the Warriors plenty of size in the line at 6-2, 191 pounds.

The Ruidoso junior varsity hopes to have a better season than last year, when it went 0-8.

"We plan to look at a lot of guys," said head coach Jim Ramsey.

The junior varsity Warriors should have more size and speed than they did last season. Last year's team didn't score any points but this season's team figures to be a more potent outfit.

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

Only two weeks of the 1983 National Football League (NFL) season have been played, and already the Dallas Cowboys look like a title threat.

Not that that's unusual. Dallas has had 18 straight winning seasons and has made the playoffs all but one of those years.

Thus, the Cowboys are ranked at the top in my first NFL rankings of the season.

Dallas showed character in coming from behind to beat defending Super Bowl champion Washington on the latter team's home field. Also, the Cowboys rolled to an easy win over St. Louis after a slow start.

The win over the Redskins in the country's capital should give Dallas confidence that it can win the big one.

The Los Angeles Raiders are a narrow choice for second place.

Los Angeles has only allowed 16 points in its first two games and has shown a balanced attack. Quarterback Jim Plunkett looks good and running back Marcus Allen is a game-breaker. The offensive line, despite being hurt by injuries, has performed well.

The Miami Dolphins are ranked third. Miami is undefeated and is playing solid ball. The Dolphins have had erratic play at quarterback, but are strong everywhere else.

Fourth place has to go to the Redskins, despite the fact they are 1-1.

Washington has looked more impressive than unbeaten teams like the Los Angeles Rams and the Denver Broncos. There isn't any way the two latter teams can compare to the defending champions. Washington is still a strong team.

Denver is a slim choice for fifth place. The Broncos have a tough defense and although rookie quarterback John Elway has been a disappointment so far, veteran Steve DeBerg has done a good job relieving him.

The Broncos' running game has also improved and that should keep some of the heat off whoever is playing at quarterback.

There are several teams on my honorable mention list.

The Rams lead the list because they are undefeated and have an exciting running threat in rookie Eric Dickerson.

Dickerson combines with quarterback Vince Ferragamo to give Los Angeles one of the best offenses in the league. The Rams' defense prevents them from being higher ranked at this time.

Other teams on the honorable mention list include San Francisco, New Orleans, San Diego, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Seattle, Atlanta, Detroit and the two New York teams.

All of the above teams are 1-1 for the season. Other teams that are also 1-1 are not ranked because they haven't looked as good in the games they've played.

That's how things look now. However, the rankings are bound to change constantly during the course of the season.

In fact, I may be putting a jinx on the Cowboys by ranking them first. In 1981 I had Philadelphia at the top in my first poll, and Pittsburgh was my top-ranked team in my first poll last season.

Philadelphia was eliminated in the wild card playoffs, while the Steelers lost to San Diego in the first round of the 1982 Super Bowl Tournament.

It's a long season and anything could happen.

MAY MISS TOP PLAYERS

Warrior spikers travel to Cloudcroft

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School volleyball team will take another trip to Cloudcroft Saturday when it tangles with the Indians in dual matches.

The junior varsity match will be at 2 p.m. with the varsity contest following. The Warrior varsity competed in the Cloudcroft Tournament last weekend, winning one of three matches.

Ruidoso is 0-1 in dual-match action on both the varsity and junior varsity schedules.

The Warriors lost their season opener to Tularosa in three sets last week on the varsity level. The Warrior junior varsity fell in two sets.

First-year varsity head coach Pixie Arthur rotated her starting lineup frequently in the Cloudcroft Tournament and has a number of standouts.

However, seniors Laura Trapp and Lillian Lopez may not play against Cloudcroft as they have other engagements. Trapp made all-district 3-AAA last season and Lopez has been a star for three years.

Gia Rose and Cappie King are other standouts on the varsity squad. Kerry Gladden, who usually plays on the junior varsity, is being moved up to the varsity from the junior varsity for the Cloudcroft match.

"Cloudcroft finished third in its own tournament last week," Arthur said. "But we should have been in the winners' bracket with them. I hope we can beat them."

The Warrior junior varsity has been led by the fine play of Pam Parker, Tamara Smith, Keri Thomas and Evanie Wilson.

After the Cloudcroft match, Ruidoso will host Dexter Tuesday, September 17. The Warriors will open district 3-AAA action with home varsity and junior varsity matches against Deming Saturday, October 1.

Harriers to run

The Ruidoso High School boys cross-country team will open the season Saturday at an invitational in Roswell.

There are five runners on the Warrior team, coached by Ronny Maskew.

The runners include Curt McClellan, Cisco Bob, David Ordorica, Steve Snidow and Francisco Olvera.

McClellan and Bob placed in the state AAA division track meet last spring and must be rated highly in the fall cross-country season.

McClellan was third in the 800 meters and Bob took second in the 1,500 meters last spring.

The Warriors will compete in several meets this fall, including the district 3-AAA meet and the state meet.

Booster meeting scheduled

There will be a Ruidoso High School Warriors Booster Club meeting in the teachers' lounge at the high school Tuesday, September 20.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. Football game films will be shown and refreshments will be served.

Anyone interested in helping Warrior athletics is encouraged to attend.

Tigers stay unbeaten in volleyball, will host Magdalena Saturday

The Capitan High School varsity volleyball team will be taking a 3-0 record into its match with visiting Magdalena Saturday afternoon.

The Tigers' latest conquest was an exciting three-set win over district rival Carrizozo Tuesday night in Capitan.

Carrizozo won the first set 15-13 on the outstanding serving of Mary Jane Ferguson and Christetta Chavez. Ferguson scored seven points and Chavez had six. Laura Lee and Ellen Long each had four points for Capitan.

The Tigers came back to win the next two sets and the match. Capitan won the second set 15-12 and the third set 15-9.

Audrey Joiner led the Tiger scoring in the second set with seven points. Ferguson again sparked Carrizozo with seven points.

In the final set, Joiner, Tiffany Huey and Bobbi Rogers each had four points for the winners. Ferguson led the Grizzly attack with four points.

"We were lucky to come out of there alive," Capitan coach Darrel Ray said. "What I did like was the way the girls came back after the first set. They showed a lot of character. Our serve receiving hurt us in the first set."

Capitan also won the junior high match, taking the victory in three sets.

Last week the Tigers defeated Hondo and Lake Arthur.

Against Lake Arthur Saturday, the Tigers took a hard-fought 15-12 win in the first set. Capitan came back for an easy 15-5 win in the second set.

The Tigers will play both varsity and junior varsity matches Saturday, with the junior varsity match going first at 2 p.m. A junior high tournament is scheduled beforehand, at 10 a.m. Capitan Junior High School will host the tournament.

Brave B team to host Carrizozo

The White Mountain Middle School B football team will play its first game of the season at 6 tonight, hosting the Carrizozo A team at the Ruidoso High School field.

White Mountain's A team is taking the week off after dropping its season opener to Dexter 26-14 last week. The Brave A team will resume competition Thursday, September 15, at Hagerman.

The Braves will play all their seventh graders and a good number of their eighth graders tonight, according to head coach Terry Wharton.

"We haven't got that many seventh graders, so we'll have to play a lot of eighth graders," Wharton said.

Some of the top seventh graders include flanker Rees Garner, linebacker-tackle Dusty Beavers, defensive lineman Hayes Allen and defensive lineman Lance LeMay.

Some of the eighth graders who played against Dexter will probably also play against Carrizozo. However, they may be at a different position than the one they usually play.

Against Dexter, Kirk Ryan and Jef Sherwood scored the Brave touchdowns. Lance Willard added a two-point conversion.

"When I'm traveling looking at horses to purchase, with my CMA account I'm only limited by what my assets are. I don't have to arrange financing with CMA — I can just write a check or use my VISA card."

— Larry Leifer, Attorney

"If my Account Executive calls with a stock recommendation, I don't even have to come into the office. It's all done on the telephone — he takes the funds right out of my CMA account and it shows on the statement...It's so darn easy to invest and sell."

— Lawrence Holmes, Retired

We asked a few of our customers to tell us how they feel about their CMA accounts. Over 600,000 customers in the four years since Merrill Lynch invented this brokerage service is a pretty good testimonial in itself. But their own words make it sound even better.

There are lots of reasons. With the CMA program, your funds are virtually never idle. Any cash is automatically invested in your choice of three professionally managed money market funds to earn daily compounded dividends at current money market rates.

In addition, you can write checks, borrow money automatically and have the use of a special VISA® card accepted in 152 countries, enabling you to get a cash advance at more than 100,000 banks around the world. Checking and VISA services are provided by Bank One of Columbus, N.A. All this is available to anyone with investments and/or cash totalling $20,000.

There will be a $225 entry fee per team, which includes use of carts and other benefits.

The tournament will be a best-ball affair and go 54 holes. There will be a players' pool the last 36 holes.

Competition is scheduled for five flights with 10 teams in each flight.

For further information, call the Cree Meadows golf pro shop at 257-5698.

Golf tourney

Crime Stoppers of Ruidoso is organizing a fund-raising golf scramble at Cree Meadows Golf Course Sunday, October 9. The $20 entry fee will cover green fees, golf carts, prizes. Part of the entry fee will also be contributed to the Crime Stoppers fund.

The tournament will be 18-holes long and men and women of all skills are invited to participate. Call the Cree Meadows pro shop at 257-5698 to register. Registration is open until 10:30 a.m. October 9. The tournament will begin at noon.

Jordan wins seniors golf tourney

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

Jack Jordan shot a sizzling three-over-par 74 Wednesday to win the first flight gross title of the Eastern New Mexico Seniors Golf Tournament at Cree Meadows Country Club.

The Alto resident shot a 77 Tuesday in the first round and finished with a 151 total, six strokes ahead of Leroy Gooch and Lloyd Moman, who each scored a 157.

"It was unbelievable, I played way over my head," Jordan said after the final round was over. "I made a birdie on a 30-foot putt on the 10th hole today (Wednesday) and that got me going. I had five birdies today and two yesterday."

There was a shotgun start both days, and Jordan started Wednesday's play on the 10th hole.

Moman won the low net crown with a 133. He shot a 63 Tuesday and a 70 Wednesday. In gross competition, the Ruidoso resident fired a 75 Tuesday and 82 Wednesday.

Donald Whittaker was second in the net competition with a 146. He had an 80 Tuesday and a 66 Wednesday.

R. S. Gaston was third with a 156 and Gooch finished fourth at 157.

Tom Beatty won the second flight low gross title with a 153 total, shooting a 75 the first day and 77 Wednesday.

Ed Roberts captured the low net championship with a 149, while John Smith and Jack Perkowski tied for second at 151. John Townsend was fourth at 152.

In third flight action, John Howard won the low gross title with a 154 total. He shot a 74 Tuesday and an 80 Wednesday.

Jim Reynolds took the low net crown with a 146, one stroke ahead of Ben Lohman at 147.

Jack Walstad was third at 148, and Sid Bernard and Leo Kerby tied for fourth at 151.

Fourth flight action saw John Anderson win the low gross championship with a 168 total. He shot a 91 Tuesday but improved to a 77 Wednesday.

Raymond Worrell won the low net title with a 141, shooting a 69 Tuesday and a 72 Wednesday.

Jim Markel was second in the low net action with a 149. Byrl Harris third at 151 and Lynn Richards fourth at 155.

Cotton Simms won the fifth flight low gross crown with a 167. He fired an 84 Tuesday and an 83 Wednesday.

T. M. Cammack took the low net title with a 138 and J. L. Barnes was second at 144.

Each flight was determined by the age of the golfers. The first flight golfers ranged in age from 52 to 62, and the flights were for older ages from there on.

A total of 45 golfers competed in the tournament, with nine playing in each flight.

NOTES: There were two closest to the pin awards Wednesday. Ed Roberts won a $50 gift certificate for coming closest on the fourth hole. Colin Gerrells was closest on the eighth hole. He won a dozen golf balls for his effort.

John Smith of Carlsbad sinks a putt during Tuesday's first round of the Eastern New Mexico Seniors Golf Tournament at Cree Meadows Country Club. Watching is Tom Beatty of Ruidoso. Smith finished in a second-place tie in the net competition of the second flight.

Q. What do the following have in common?

President Ronald Reagan
Governor Toney Anaya

The National Audubon Society
The New York Times

A. They all favor the decontrol of natural gas.

They may differ on legislative details, but they agree that the present controls are a failure. These complex price regulations are not working for the public benefit.

The success of the American economic system is based on an open, competitive market place. Injecting governmental interference into the process only distorts it. The overall effect of natural gas controls during the past 29 years has been to create fuel shortages, to increase dependence on foreign imports, and to discourage development of alternative energy sources.

New Mexico is the nation's fourth largest producer of natural gas. About 90% of the gas produced here is sold to other states. Gas production and the drilling of new wells have dropped drastically in New Mexico since 1981. The resulting decline in State revenues contributed to the financial crisis that led to this year's tax increases. A recent State study predicts that national deregulation would be followed by increased drilling activity and the development of new gas reserves in New Mexico.

Federal price restrictions have been lifted from all other products, including oil, with positive results. It is time for natural gas to rejoin the American economic system.

Downs trustees discuss sewer

by BARRY GRANT
Staff Writer

Ruidoso Downs trustees Monday discussed how to enforce the part of the village sewer ordinance that requires residents to have been hooked on to the sewer line by June 1. At the previous meeting a resident had asked why all residents have not been required to hook on, indicating lack of enforcement is unfair to those residents who did comply with the ordinance.

Trustees agreed the ordinance should be enforced but acknowledged that many residents cannot afford the charges to hook onto the sewer line. Village attorney Tim Quigley reported that non-complying property owners could be cited into court and assessed a fine of up to $300 and/or 90 days in jail.

Trustee Jake Harris contended that residents voted for the bond issue under the impression they would not have to tie onto the sewer line if they have a septic tank. He said it was voted in to serve those people who needed sewer service.

Village clerk Wilma Webb said she believes loans are available through a bank in Albuquerque to low-income residents who cannot afford to pay for services such as this they are required to have. Community Development Block Grant monies may also be available for similar projects, according to Mayor J. C. Day Jr.

Finally, trustees decided to investigate possible sources of funding for residents who cannot afford the cost of sewer hookups, before citing any residents for non-compliance.

"We need to enforce it, but we need to help the citizens in every way we can," commented trustee Conrad Buchanan.

Action on two ordinances concerning proposed apartment complexes was tabled Monday due to the absence of trustee Laverne Cole. The proposed annexation and zoning of Mountain Top Radio, Inspiration Corporation and Inspiration Heights property, and the proposed ordinance allowing construction of a moderate-income apartment development on the Jess Armstrong tract of land, will be considered at a special meeting tonight (Thursday) at 7 at the municipal building.

Approval was given Monday to plans for a 100-unit motel east of Prime Time Restaurant, to be built by Sam Parker of Fredericksburg, Texas. In response to questions about water supply, real estate agent Bill Pippin reported developers have received a permit to drill a well to serve as a backup supply of water. The well could furnish enough water to supply the motel for four months during the summer, he reported.

According to Pippin, negotiations are also under way for rights to the Turkey Canyon Spring as an additional water supply for the development. Trustee Harold Mansell indicated he favors the project because it will bring revenue into the village from gross receipts taxes.

Plans for the motel were approved unanimously.

Also Monday, the governing body heard complaints from River Park residents claiming their garbage has not been picked up in 19 days. Sanitation commissioner Mansell explained that the garbage truck was behind because the truck was broken down for one day, and then because of the Labor Day holiday.

"I guarantee you we will check into it," Mayor Day promised.

In other business, trustees:

—Tabled a decision on purchase of uniforms for village employees.

—Approved the purchase of several fire hydrants.

—Passed a motion to buy two spare tires and rims for the garbage truck.

Civil engineer Ted Asbury of Albuquerque makes a presentation on the Capitan water system to the Capitan council Monday. The council voted to hire his firm of Andrews, Asbury and Robert to recommend and design improvements to the water system.

Capitan hires Albuquerque water engineers

by TIM PALMER

The Village of Capitan decided to hire the Albuquerque civil engineering firm of Andrews, Asbury and Robert after hearing Ted Asbury make a presentation at Monday's village council meeting.

Early in the meeting, Hubert Quintana of Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District informed the council he is working on a Community Development Block Grant for water improvements for Capitan. He said he was seeking direction, indicating the village could not afford all the proposed improvements under the $5 million grant.

"I think it would be best if I were working with the engineer," said Quintana.

In his presentation, Asbury noted that his firm previously had done work for the village when it was needed in a hurry.

He pointed out that the financial posture of the village always has been such that it had to go through Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) for money, which meant meeting FmHA standards. These standards, he claimed, mean doing something two or three times to get it right, instead of doing it right the first time.

"The problem is that there has never been a concerted effort to give the village a planning manual," said Asbury. He told the council the village has a short-term improvements schedule it needs to get onto immediately, and mentioned a HUD (Federal Housing and Urban Development) grant application.

"You're going to need all the financial assistance that you can get to improve your water system," Asbury told the council.

"Sixty percent of what we do is financing," he stated. He also pointed out that an engineering report is an eligible item under state Environmental Improvement Division rules, meaning matching funds can be applied to engineers' fees.

Asbury cautioned that Capitan should not lock up its bonding capacity, as the village will be required to put up matching funds through various financial assistance programs.

"If you don't get your grant, you don't pay anything (to the engineers)," said Asbury. He added that he would agree to put that stipulation in a formal contract.

Village clerk Virginia Spall reported that in a vote taken after the meeting, the council members unanimously agreed to hire the Albuquerque engineering firm.

Mayor David Cummins said Wednesday the first task of the engineers will be to determine which water system improvements are most needed. The village council will then decide which work will be done first, he explained.

In other business, the council:

—Approved Resolution 83-7, SENMEDD agreement and dues, after hearing Quintana's presentation of profile and plan.

—Approved Resolution 83-8, change of Cablevision ownership.

—Approved Resolution 83-9, Community Development Block Grant application.

—Were informed a Land and Water Conservation Grant application has been filed, for work on the village park and tennis court.

—Voted to sell a pickup truck to David Strickland, who submitted the lone bid of $650.

—Were informed an Interstate Streams Commission Grant application has been submitted for investigation of ground water for the municipality.

—Approved a State Highway contract for purchase of 24 yards of cold mix at $19.31 a yard (total $463.44) for repair of potholes.

—Decided to start charging the Lincoln County Fairgrounds for water and sewer service. It was also decided the village would reimburse the fire department for five months' water bills, and not charge the department for water in the future.

—Reappointed Stan Cox to the Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas board.

—Received a Water Advisory Board report.

—Dissolved the Emergency Water Board.

Ruidoso Schools may hire more teachers

by BARRY GRANT
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Schools may have to hire additional teachers this year if enrollment figures remain at their present level, Superintendent Sid Miller said at Tuesday's Board of Education meeting. A total of 1,700 students were enrolled in the school district as of Tuesday evening, 17 more students than were projected for the year.

Miller said he believes this year is the first time that actual enrollment is higher than projected enrollment this early in the school year. The administration had projected an enrollment of 1,683 based on a high enrollment last year of 1,670, reached around the 60th day of school.

"We're really in excellent shape," Miller stated, "but it does cause problems." Those problems are in the form of overcrowded classrooms and high pupil-teacher ratios.

Nob Hill Elementary School registered a total 332.5 students as of Tuesday, raising both kindergarten and first grade classes above the state's recommended maximum class size. Principal Roger Sowder pointed out the importance of keeping those primary grade classes small, and indicated that additional teachers are needed as soon as possible.

White Mountain Elementary School reported an enrollment of 423, up from 424 at this point last year. Enrollment at White Mountain Middle School was at 437 as of Tuesday evening, increased over the 423 students enrolled at the 10-day point last year. Miller noted that sixth grade classes at that school also are overcrowded.

Ruidoso High School enrolled 490 students as of Tuesday, a jump of seven students over the number enrolled at this point last year.

Miller agreed that additional teachers will be needed if enrollment remains at the present level or increases. He recommended delaying hiring new staff until after the 20-day period, however, to make sure that enrollment will stay high.

"The budget is extremely tight," he stated, "and there really isn't any money to play on."

The school board agreed to permit Miller to hire new instructors if enrollment does not drop after 20 days into the school year.

Also Tuesday, the board approved a new teacher observation-evaluation form and handbook, presented by associate superintendent Mike Gladden.

"I feel like we are taking a step forward in really making teachers accountable and knowing what's expected in the school setting," Gladden commented about the new evaluation procedures.

Non-tenured teachers will be formally evaluated by the principal three times during the year—and tenured teachers twice a year—although principals are encouraged to evaluate and observe teachers at all times. The administrators and instructors will agree on a time for observation of the class and discuss beforehand what is expected, explained Gladden.

Teachers will be rated as professionally competent, needing improvement or must improve in their personal characteristics, professional competencies and instructional management.

"The whole program is designed on the improvement of each teacher," said Gladden. "The outcome of this should provide a higher quality of education for the kids in Ruidoso."

Miller reported he and Gladden are preparing an administrators evaluation form as well.

The superintendents also presented the board with a list of program presentations for future board meetings. Gladden said he believes the presentations, to be made by teachers about various school programs, will help keep board members informed about what is being offered in the schools.

The tentative list of topics for this year's board meetings include the bilingual program at White Mountain Elementary School; athletic period at the high school; Chapter II fine arts program plans; special education offerings and ancillary services; the high school DECA program; career day; report on inservice presentations; computer education direction for the high school; curriculum development in the district; and test results.

An additional change made by the new superintendents and adopted by the board Tuesday is in the policy on use of school buildings by outside organizations or groups. The new policy establishes charges for use of school facilities at $100 per day for the gymnasium, $50 per day for the cafeteria and $25 per day for a classroom. Organizations utilizing the facilities also are required to have adequate insurance coverage.

Groups exempt from the use fee and insurance requirement include "parent and student organizations of an educational nature directly involving the student body of the building." These include such organizations as PTAs and Scouts.

Cultural improvement organizations such as orchestras or drama groups may use the buildings for practice without providing insurance, but they must pay the use fee.

School buildings will not be made available to any partisan political meetings, athletic groups not officially sponsored by a municipal or county recreation program, or for money-making activities not connected with a recognized charity or cultural or educational agency in the district.

Application for use of any school building must be made in writing to the superintendent, the policy states.

In other business, the school board:

—Awarded the bid on a water pressure reducing station for the new high school to Burn Construction of Las Cruces for the low bid of $49,712.50.

—Accepted the resignation of Shannon Brown as sixth grade teacher at the middle school and approved the

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

The Drought Breaks With Signs Of Fall

On Sunday, the eleventh, in the morning, I came out and looked the world over and something was missing. The Swallows had gone back to Mexico; as one of Longfellow's poems goes, had:

"Folded their tents as the Arab,
And silently stolen away."

Then two tarantulas crossed the little dirt road in front of the house, making their way to high ground and cover. This was the "handwriting on the wall" or rather in the sky and on the ground, both unmistakable messages.

Then on the afternoon of Monday, the twelfth, I was driving home and along about Conley's Nursery you could see the sky that dark blue almost black color like a curtain all down the way. Just past Blisett Hill, a cloudburst hit me head on, the water driven by wind in sheets against the windshield. Cars were stopped along the way. Two large trucks splashed small lake-fulls of water all over the pickup as they rolled through the streams of water running like creeks on the highway.

About Fox Cave the rain was in full flood, with water running off cliffs and hillsides onto the highway. A glance at the creek told me I had the high water beat; and just at the place the rain had slowed down to a good steady rain, which tapered off by evening to a lightly-drifting mist. Just before it reached the western hill, the sun broke through sending a golden smile to Mother Earth, who smiled back, dressed in her emerald best.

Apples Begin To Ripen

Thus it was that the September rains came in with the first cool waves of Fall. Today, the thirteenth, just before high noon, the sky is all low clouds — a grey ceiling over a green mountain land. Before this rain the gramma grass had hastened to make its golf-club-shaped heads of grain, and the little greenish-yellow fringes of pollen were already decorating these little flagpoles.

Now today, in the mild, cloudy weather, from the soaked ground, up spring new stem heads, and blades of this marvelous food, this banquet of the grazing creatures.

These two things working together — the cool nights and the heavy rains and moist air — are hastening the ripening of the apples. You can see the bright red among the leaves turning a deeper shade day by day.

Down at San Patricio, Ben Sanchez says that he has a light crop of Double Red Delicious, but that they are of good quality, and ripening fast. This means that the apples down below at Hondo and Tinnie and Picacho will be ripe in a few days.

That is to say, the earlier ripening of the main varieties. Out of the two hundred or more popular varieties nation wide of years past, the local apples have simmered down to five main varieties which have stood the test of time and popular demand:

Double Red Delicious, Golden Delicious, Jonathan, Staygreen, Winesap and other Winesaps, and Rome Beauty. The Jonathan — a world wide favorite — ripens a little ahead of the five. Next the Golden and Double Red Delicious, followed by the Winesap in mid-Autumn and the Rome Beauty, the late apple.

The Double Red is a favorite eating and salad apple. The Golden is all-purpose: pies, cobbles, preserves, applesauce. The Jonathan is a favorite for eating raw and baked, and just about anything that calls for a good apple.

The Winesap and Rome Beauty, being later ripeners, are extra good keepers.

In storing apples, you need the temperature to be just this side of freezing, in a dry, airy place. The best containers were the old-time bushel baskets and apple boxes, because these would allow the air to circulate throughout, allowing the apples to "breathe."

In my childhood, I remember the Jonathan apples which came up to Juneau, Alaska, from Washington, in the apple boxes on the boats, each apple was wrapped in very thin special paper, which was porous enough to keep the fruit from suffocating, and yet thick enough to protect each apple from another which might accidentally go bad.

The apple inhales whatever is in the air near and around it. So do not wrap the apples in newspaper for they will take on the flavor of the ink. Just put them in a wood box or bushel basket or something like that, not too many in one container.

The apples are our long-time friends. The year would not be complete without the apples in the Fall, Autumn, Indian Summer and Winter.

Hondo landfill now open

Lincoln County manager Suzanne Cox announced that the sanitary landfill site in Hondo will be reopened as of today. County residents may resume dumping their trash at that site, located about one mile north of the White Mountain Apple Shed.

The landfill has been closed for the past three to four weeks after the contract agreement for use of the land expired.

Cox said the county signed an agreement this week with landowner Manual Torrez to reopen the landfill.

Marla Silver recently joined the sales staff of Jim Carpenter Better Homes and Gardens. Marla, the daughter of Saul and Barbara Kleinfeld of El Paso and Ruidoso, has been in the real estate business in Ruidoso for five years.

Funding for AAA tour okayed by LTC

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

The Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC) Wednesday approved an expenditure of not more than $2,000 for the American Automobile Association (AAA) Familiarization Tour.

The tour, hosted by the regional tourism organization Sun Country, will bring 37 travel AAA travel writers from around the country to Ruidoso and the other communities of Sun Country for a week long tour.

Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth said the travel writers will spend a day touring Ruidoso and a morning at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. They will arrive in Ruidoso Tuesday, September 20.

The AAA travel writers help AAA members plan their vacations. Jungbluth said the Familiarization Tour will introduce Ruidoso to the writers who will hopefully send tourists here for vacations.

The $2,000 will cover meals and accommodations for the travel writers.

Jungbluth said the Chamber's advertising budget for winter 1983-84 would not be ready for LTC approval until September 28 because the Chamber has not determined its advertising plan for Mexico. He said the Chamber is looking into a program to accept pesos in Ruidoso and is sending a Chamber representative to Mexico to determine an advertising strategy.

LTC member Archer Wilson welcomed new committee members Joan Bailey, Rod Adamson, Richard Sandoval, Jim Biggs and Linda Flack who were recently appointed by Mayor George White.

Since four of the members were notified of the LTC membership Wednesday morning, Wilson suggested carrying on no further business Wednesday.

Wilson acted as temporary chairman in place of former chairman Ed Hyman who has resigned. He called a special meeting for noon Thursday, September 22 at village hall.

LTC members will then determine terms of office, officers and a regular meeting time.

RMC works on details of Aspen Festival

The Retail Merchants Committee (RMC) of the Chamber of Commerce met this week to tie up loose ends on Aspen Festival plans.

The committee had difficulty agreeing on a grand marshal for the October 1 parade but did agree that the selection process should begin earlier in the future. At presstime, the parade did not yet have a grand marshal. Actor Dale Robertson was asked to serve as grand marshal but, according to Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth, regrettably declined due to a previous engagement.

Actress Debra Winger was also to be contacted about serving as grand marshal.

Ruidoso High School staff members met with RMC representatives Wednesday morning to discuss selection of an Aspen Festival Queen.

Other parade plans were finalized with the appointment of Budgie Green as escort for the judges. Judges have not been selected yet, but they will not be local residents.

The committee briefly discussed possible ways to avoid the lapse of time which usually occurs between the motorcyclists and the walking parade, such as putting the motorcyclists at the end. But no action was taken after it was agreed that the time lapse is not that great a problem.

Jungbluth pointed out that tentative dates for the Motorcycle Festival next year are a week earlier than this year. He said RMC will have to decide whether to separate the Aspen Festival parade from the Motorcycle Festival or to hold the parade earlier than usual.

In other business, RMC: —Voted to contact Ruidoso Police officer Barry Smith about setting up a Neighborhood Watch program for businesses.

—Heard the resignation of Morgan Clough, who said the RMC meeting dates conflict with other appointments.

—Heard Clough report on proposed plans to begin a peso acceptance program among Ruidoso businesses.

—Set the next meeting for 5-7 p.m. Thursday, October 13, to meet with representatives of the Roswell Red Coats group. The meeting will be a no-host cocktail party, with the place to be announced later.

Lodgers express visitors bureau interest

by PAM FIELD
Staff Writer

Members of the Ruidoso Lodgers Association (RLA) have expressed an interest in more information about tomorrow's meeting at the convention center at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The group met Tuesday afternoon at the Ruidoso Public Library.

Concern was expressed regarding the necessity of the meeting, which will deal with the idea of a proposed visitors and convention bureau. One member said, "It sounds like a second Chamber of Commerce to me."

The meeting will be at 2 p.m. Friday at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. The bureau would be supported jointly by Ruidoso and the Mescalero Apache Tribe. Representatives from Albuquerque, Las Cruces and Roswell bureaus are expected to attend.

Other discussion Tuesday involved the use of pesos as a money exchange. The lodgers' main concern is about the length of time required to transfer the pesos through a bank.

A book is in the making to be placed in restaurants in Ruidoso, which will list members of the association and provide information about the availability of cabins, condos or motels.

Also, RLA members encouraged other members to volunteer for the upcoming Motorcycle Festival at the end of September.

Ed Jungbluth heads Sun Country organization

Ruidoso may reap even greater benefits than in the past from its involvement in Sun Country USA this year, with Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth as president of the regional tourism promotion organization.

Jungbluth was elected to head the group of representatives from 11 New Mexico, Texas and Mexico cities at its organizational meeting earlier this month.

"I'm flattered to be leading that organization this next '83-84 fiscal year," Jungbluth commented. Sun Country USA is the largest regional tourism organization in the Southwest, he reported.

ED JUNGBLUTH

Jungbluth said he plans to continue the programs begun last year in Sun Country, such as having members attend regional and national tourism meetings around the country, launching regional advertising efforts, publishing a Sun Country Magazine and distributing brochures written in Spanish throughout Mexico.

The new president added that the group will travel to Santa Fe again this year to lobby for additional funding for tourism promotions in the state.

Jungbluth said he believes Ruidoso will gain prominence by having its Chamber director head the Sun Country organization this year, and he is "honored and very pleased to have the opportunity" to do so.

Steve Makowski of the U.S. Forest Service collects a fuel sample to check moisture content. A dry summer prevented the larger fuels from soaking up moisture, increasing fire danger.

Drought affects livestock, fire

by TIM PALMER

Though September has been rainy so far, the Ruidoso area is not out of the woods as far as the effects of an unusually dry summer.

Tom Guck of the U.S. Forest Service in Capitan reported 2.86 inches of precipitation there for June, July and August. That is the lowest total on record for those three months, going back to 1909. Average rainfall for the period is 7.30 inches.

Smokey Bear Ranger Station measured 5.08 inches for the three months, compared to the 35-year average of 10.69 inches. Just 1.60 inches of rain fell at Ruidoso Municipal Airport during August.

Guck said ranchers have been hurt by the drought.

"This year has been especially bad because they didn't make any grass hardly at all anywhere," he said. He explained that ranchers depend on grama grass for winter pasture.

Without it, they are faced with the choice of cutting back their herds or relying on prepared feed. But the hot dry summer in the Midwest is already affecting the availability of feed in

New Mexico, Guck said.

So some cattle are being shipped to market early.

"They're starting to cut their herds down, size-wise," said Guck. "It's about the only thing they can do."

He also noted that many ranchers depend on gully water runoff to fill their earthen stock tanks. With no water in the tanks, cattle have to stay close to the windmills and cannot be spread out.

County extension agent Barry Herd confirmed that many cattle are going to market early. He said ranchers are doing pregnancy tests and shipping those cows that are not pregnant.

"If they don't have any grass right now they're really looking to reduce their numbers," said Herd. He pointed out that if the first frost comes late, ranchers could still make some grass, "but nothing like if we'd had the rains in July."

Guck expressed concern about the ground water supply, too.

"That's the thing that could be bad," he said, noting that unless there is a very wet fall and winter, wells could dry up as the water table drops. "I think we'll lose a lot of trees out of this," Guck predicted, but he added that this is "nature's way of thinning." He also noted that dry conditions affect the availability of water for fire fighting in the woods.

"We're looking at potential of higher intensity fires in the fall," said Steve Makowski of the Forest Service in Ruidoso. He explained that fuels are classified—from one-hour fuels like grass and pine needles to thousand-hour fuels like logs of three inches or more in diameter—based on the time they take to adjust to surrounding conditions.

Normally, he explained, precipitation and high humidity in the rainy season allow the larger fuels to pick up a lot of moisture, "and they are very slow to give it off."

This year they did not get that moisture. As a result, said Makowski, "We're looking at a more difficult fall fire season than we're used to."

On October 1, the fire fighting manpower drops to its year-round level (seven), so a fire that might "get up and go" because fuels are drier than normal concerns Makowski.

"A five-acre fire gets bad to us, just because of limited resources," he said.

Plans finalized for Fantasy Mountain park

Sid Alford, president of Ruidoso Recreation, Inc., announced that plans have now been finalized for a proposed theme park in Ruidoso Downs.

The park has been named Fantasy Mountain, and will be located directly across Highway 70 from the Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

"The facility is designed along the same general format that is used in Six Flags Over Texas, Six Flags Over Georgia and other similar theme parks throughout the United States. Fantasy Mountain will not be as large as those major parks, of course, but we think we have kept most of the major attractions people look for in a family theme park," Alford said.

Construction is scheduled to begin this fall, and a preliminary opening date has been set for June of 1984.

The park as now planned will be built on a turn-of-the-century rustic theme. The plans provide that the park will have two large fountains, a waterfall, a lake and several water-oriented amusements and rides, including remote-controlled boats, a log flume ride and a venture river ride. The lake will be centrally located, and together with the fountains, waterfall, trees and other landscaping, will provide an attractive setting for the park's rides, games and other entertainment activities.

Other major rides planned for the park include antique cars that can be driven on a winding road through forest, punctuated with animated characters; a 15-story high "skyhook" that will elevate passengers high above the park and provide a panoramic view of the Ruidoso area; and a Red Baron airplane ride, canoe swing and yoyo.

The park will also feature a kid-land with an assortment of rides for younger children, a petting zoo and an I.Q. zoo featuring trained domestic animals such as rabbits, ducks and chickens that actually perform.

In addition, there will be an arcade for games, gift and souvenir shops, a candy factory, ice cream parlor, puppet theater, signmaker, woodcarver, glass blowing, electronic shooting gallery and several restaurants and concession stands.

In order to provide additional entertainment, a large amphitheater, seating approximately 2,200 persons, is planned.

A one-charge admission ticket of approximately $8 per person will entitle its holder to unlimited use of all the rides and attractions during the day of purchase. Food and beverages, coin-operated games and gifts would also be available for additional purchase.

Cloudcroft hosts Oktoberfest and Aspencade October 1, 2

Cloudcroft's annual Oktoberfest and Aspencade will take place in Cloudcroft on Saturday, October 1, and Sunday, October 2, in Zenith Park behind the Chamber of Commerce building on Highway 82. The Fall celebration, sponsored by the Cloud-croft Chamber of Commerce, will feature a juried arts and crafts fair and guided foliage tours into the Lincoln National Forest.

Ruidoso artists Lorene Caywood (oils); Paul Crown (wood toys); and Maggie Doyle (hand-woven clothing) will participate.

The arts and crafts fair will feature over 65 of the Southwest's most talented artists and craftsmen. The fair will offer oil paintings, watercolors, ink drawings, stained glass, stoneware and metal sculpture, batik, weaving, leather work, wood toys, jewelry, woodwork, pottery, ocarinas, fold art painting, wind-socks, feather work, pastels, scratchboard, miniature bronzes, quilting, crochet creations, dough art and leaded rock. There will be something for everyone and possibly that special Christmas gift that you've been looking for. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. Local service organizations will have food booths serving a variety of foods and drinks.

The Aspencade foliage tours will be guided automobile tours. The fifteen mile trip will lead through those parts of the Lincoln National Forest displaying the most color. At the outer limit of the tour, a naturalist with the Forest Service will explain the changing season in the forest and the various types of fall colors.

SCHEDULE OF WEEKEND FESTIVITIES

Friday, September 30, and Saturday, October 1 — 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. Square Dance Festival sponsored by Dancin' Bears at the Bears' Den.

Bigger purses at State Fair races

Bigger purses, a new paddock and a sparkling clean, freshly painted grandstand will greet horseracing fans for the 17-day race meet at the New Mexico State Fair which got underway at 12:30 p.m. Friday, September 9.

The added purses have been increased from $1,393,600 in 1982 to $1,529,000 in 1983. More money has been added to the feature races. The 45th running of the New Mexico State Fair Handicap for three-year-old and older thoroughbreds will offer $75,000-added money, making it the richest race of the 1983 New Mexico State Fair. The top purse for quarter horse sprinters will be offered in the State Fair Quarter Horse Handicap which will have $30,000-added purse. With large purses, the best horses in the country are expected to compete on the track September 9 through September 25.

"We have made major improvements to the track and grandstand including the painting of the grandstand and construction of a new paddock area," said fair manager Steve Anaya.

Racing fans will have the opportunity to make quinnella wagers in all but the first, eighth and 12th races. Trifecta wagering will be held in the eighth and 12th race and the daily double in the first and second race.

Post time is 12:30 p.m. each day and 12 races will be run every day except for September 14, 15 and 16 which will have 13 races with the running of the World Wide Appaloosa Consolation, the Appaloosa Gold Cup Invitational and the World Wide Appaloosa Futurity.

For the second year, computerized pari-mutuel equipment will be used to allow race enthusiasts to place bets and cash tickets at the same window.

The new equipment has shortened the waiting lines, and is more efficient than systems used in the past. More than 200,000 race fans are expected to attend the 17-day race meet.

Finlay MacGillivray, director of racing for the 1983 New Mexico State Fair, is expecting the '83 meet to be the most successful race meet ever held at the New Mexico State Fair. He attributes the expected success to Steve Anaya, who is responsible for the increase in purses and improvements to the racing plant. MacGillivray, manager of the New Mexico State Fair for 17 years and general manager of Ruidoso Downs and Sunland Park for two and one half years, will oversee more than 500 employees at the track during the annual race meet.

Hubert Smith, track superintendent, has the track in excellent shape, and with the new improvements to the grandstand and paddock area, racing fans are in for a real treat at the 1983 New Mexico State Fair Race Meet, said MacGillivray.

Reserve seat tickets may be purchased in advance at the New Mexico State Fair ticket office. Admission to the track is $1.10 for adults and teenagers, 60 cents for children under 11. South Section reserve seating is $1 (plus $1.10 track admission); Second Floor reserve seating, $2 (plus $1.10 track admission); Club House Reserve Seating, $4 (plus $1.10 track admission).

All you want to know about "Biggest Show in New Mexico"

The 1983 New Mexico State Fair in September will be the 46th consecutive edition of "The Biggest Show in New Mexico."

The New Mexico State Fair is a totally self-supporting state agency and no public tax money has ever been used for its operation since it began in 1938.

The New Mexico State Fair horse racing track is a one-mile oval.

Queen contestants at the annual New Mexico State Fair furnish their own horses.

Gates at the annual New Mexico State Fair are open from 7 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. daily.

One out of every three persons going to the New Mexico State Fair visits the exhibits, making them the most popular attraction at the exposition. Second most popular attraction is the carnival, third is rodeo and fourth is racing.

There are more than 8,000 parking spaces on the grounds of the New Mexico State Fair.

Residents of every state in the union, plus several foreign countries, attend the annual New Mexico State Fair, with the largest percentage, approximately 80 percent, coming from the Land of Enchantment.

Exhibit halls at the New Mexico State Fair are open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily during the annual 12-day exposition.

The New Mexico State Fair is situated on 230 acres of choice land, located almost in the population center of metropolitan Albuquerque, purchased back in 1936 for $9,950.

The School House exhibit building at the New Mexico State Fair was built in 1953.

The first modern New Mexico State Fair, on its present site in Albuquerque, was held October 9 through 16, 1938. An earlier Territorial Fair was held in Albuquerque's Old Town Area in the late 1800s and until World War I.

The New Mexico State Fairgrounds has more than 100 permanent buildings.

Candidates for New Mexico State Fair Queen must be single girls between the ages of 16 and 21, and they must be permanent residents of the county they represent.

The New Mexico State Fair is ranked eighth in the nation in attendance, on a per capita basis.

The Fine Arts Gallery is one of the oldest buildings on the grounds of the New Mexico State Fair. It was built in 1941 and in the early years doubled as fair administrative offices.

Approximately 1,400 persons are employed by the New Mexico State Fair during the yearly 12-day exposition.

In its 42 years of operation, the New Mexico State Fair has had only five managers. Steve Anaya is the current chief. Bill Humphries managed the Fair in 1981 and 1982. Finlay MacGillivray was at the post from 1969 to 1980. Leon Harms was the first manager, serving from 1938 to 1953 and Quentin Tex Barron was at the helm from 1953 to 1963.

Many of the department superintendents at the New Mexico State Fair are professors on the staff of the New Mexico State University.

The 1983 queen contest at the New Mexico State Fair is now in its 34th consecutive year.

Biggest department at the annual New Mexico State Fair, strictly in terms of numbers, is the Hobby Show. More than 25,000 items, ranging in size from antique cars to postage stamps, are entered each year.

Biggest building on the grounds of the New Mexico State Fair is Tingley Coliseum, which contains 10,656 permanent seats. The large building was opened in 1957 and is named after the late governor, Clyde Tingley.

There are five acres of beautiful green lawns on the New Mexico State Fair grounds.

Horses are a vital part of the annual New Mexico State Fair. More than 2,000 of them, either on the racetrack, in the show ring, or in the All Star Rodeo, are in competition each year.

Candidates for New Mexico State Fair Queen must be sponsored by an organization in their home county.

There are more than 1,300 horse stalls on the New Mexico State Fair grounds.

Each year, Indians select a "Miss Indian New Mexico" to reign over festivities in the popular Indian Village at the New Mexico State Fair.

One of the most popular livestock exhibits at the annual New Mexico State Fair is the FFA Big Red Barn, in which a number of live baby animals and the mothers are exhibited.

The popular Spanish Heritage Program at the New Mexico State Fair will be marking its ninth anniversary at the 1983 exposition.

The 50,000-square foot Horse Arena at the New Mexico State Fair was built in 1970.

The Indian Village at the New Mexico State Fair will be celebrating its 20th anniversary during the 1983 exposition.

The New Mexico State Fair maintains a First Aid Station on the grounds during the annual exposition, with a registered nurse on duty.

The public can get in free to the 1983 New Mexico State Fair by riding onto the grounds on specially marked Albuquerque Sun Tran city buses.

Candidates for queen of the New Mexico State Fair are judged 60 percent on horsemanship and 40 percent on personality.

Royal purple ribbons are awarded to the champions in all competitions at the annual New Mexico State Fair.

The reigning New Mexico State Fair Queen rides nightly in the grand entry preceding the All Star Rodeo in Tingley Coliseum. This year's queen is Mary Brett Darnell of Bernalillo County.

All food booths at the New Mexico State Fair must comply with all State Health regulations. Spot checks of all booths are made periodically during the annual exposition.

An information booth, which provides answers to all kinds of questions relating to the annual New Mexico State Fair, will be open at the 1983 exposition daily from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. It is located just inside Pedestrian Gate No. 4.

A record 1.2 million people visited the New Mexico State Fair in 1982.

A total of 194,994 horse racing enthusiasts joined in the wagering during the 1982 New Mexico State Fair to set an all-time pari-mutuel handle record of $16,193,157.

More than 88,000 persons attended the popular 11-night All Star Rodeo in Tingley Coliseum during the 1982 New Mexico State Fair.

It takes approximately three tablespoons of flour to make one Indian fried bread and there were 26,000 pounds of flour delivered to the Indian Village during the 1982 New Mexico State Fair.

After 75 years, admission to the New Mexico State Fair is still only 50 cents.

Members of the 1983 New Mexico State Fair Commission are: J.T. Turner, Chairman, Moriarity, Odie Echols, Albuquerque; Ina Wilcher, Dora; Benny Atencio, Santa Domingo; Joe Torrez, Angel Fire; Leo L. Smith, Chama; Jennie Day, Albuquerque.

The Chairman for the 1983 New Mexico State Fair Parade is H.H. Hooten of Albuquerque.

The 1983 New Mexico State Fair Championship Rodeo has been increased from 10 to 11 performances.

Prize money for the 1982 New Mexico State Fair Rodeo exceeded $142,000 and is expected to increase this year.

For the first time in the history of the New Mexico State Fair, all 1983 entries by exhibitors will be handled by computer.

The State Championship Horse Shoe Pitching Contest is held annually at the New Mexico State Fair.

The Indian Exhibits Department will issue over $5,000 in premiums at the 1983 New Mexico State Fair.

Twelve Western bands from across New Mexico will be competing for over $1,000 in cash and an all-expense-paid trip to Nashville's Grand Ol' Opry in the Country Music Showdown Finals at the 1983 New Mexico State Fair.

Nearly $4,000 in premiums will be awarded from the Agriculture Department at the 1983 New Mexico State Fair.

The Appaloosa Worldwide Futurity at the 1983 New Mexico State Fair has an estimated purse of $200,000.

The 1983 New Mexico State Fair will host the Truth or Consequences Variety Show, out of Hollywood, California, for which the New Mexico town is named.

Editorial

This weekend marks the start of Aspen Festival 1983, and from the look of things it should be an event for the memory books.

We hope residents of Harmony Valley took time to catch their breath during the short break between the end of horse racing season and the start of Aspen Festival. (The break was last weekend—sorry if you missed it.)

And we hope our "summer people" didn't board up their cabins for good after Labor Day, because Aspen Festival offers a wide variety of activities to complement the natural beauty of this area in early fall.

Mules and Arabian horses have the spotlight this first weekend. We advise everyone to take in at least part of the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skippers race meet at Ruidoso Downs Race Track Friday through Sunday.

You would be hard-pressed to find a nicer bunch of people than the mule skippers who come in from all over for the races. And you'd also have a hard time finding horses more beautiful than those you'll see Friday through Sunday at the Ruidoso All Arabian Show at Western Highlands, east of the main racetrack.

And if cars are your bag, be sure to check out the fancy machines you'll see at Pat and Linda Newell's Street Rod Picnic Saturday and Sunday at School House Park. They'll knock your eyes out.

Save some energy, though—this is just the first of three weekends of Aspen Festival '83!—TP

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE — Hold on to your hats! This column will take a headline nobody has ever seen before: McCAFFREY COMPLIMENTS ANAYA.

Yes, incredible as it seems, this writer has found a gleam of light in the administration of Governor Toney Anaya, and it is the Governor himself who gets the credit for it.

We'll hasten to make clear what it is. Simply this: that Toney demanded, and almost made stick, a ruling that agencies of state government would have their budgets for the coming fiscal year in the hands of the Department of Finance and Administration by September 1.

That's what every governor ought to do. If he doesn't care when budgets get in, at least he ought to enforce the law; and the law says that's when they're due.

Never before in the recent history of New Mexico, however, has anybody in the governor's suite made a demand that the agencies actually deliver as specified.

Oh, there are a couple of little loopholes about the whole matter that one could carp at if one wanted.

The press release put out from the Governor's office said only one or two of the multitude of agencies would fail to fulfill the law. That's a low estimate. In fact, it's more like 30 of them that really didn't make it.

That's still phenomenal. What's more, the Department of Finance and Administration, the recipient of all these budgets, managed to get its own in on time this year — the first such occurrence of that kind in the memory of man or woman.

And there is the fact that some of those budgets, as turned in, are pretty much works of fiction. A lot of people have to have said, "Oh, what the heck. Just pencil some numbers in. The DFA and the Legislative Finance Committee will go over everything with a fine-tooth comb anyway. We don't really have to have a final budget we can defend in every detail till we have to appear before the legislators."

That too is a common attitude, which is not in any way the fault of the Anaya people. It's just a sort of shrug of the shoulders from the old bureaucrats — the kind who were here when Anaya came and will be here long after he has gone to whatever he goes to.

Despite all that, Toney gets credit for telling everybody he meant it when he said he wanted those budgets in on time, and for making most of them believe it.

One additional note, which may have had something to do with the alacrity with which the Cabinet Secretaries got this job done:

Toney told them he would judge the degree to which they understood and gave priorities to his policies by the way they apportioned their money.

"Do it the way I want," in other words, "and you get to keep your job."

That kind of sharpness tends to get people's attention.

So as not to spoil that happy note of compliments to our chief executive, let the writer hasten to say that the gripe he is about to allude to comes from a member of the State Legislature, not from the writer personally.

The Governor knows which one it is — or at least he does if he reads his mail.

The copy of the letter we saw points this out:

Of 80 new appointments to boards and commissions recently made by the Governor (not 100, as some of us carelessly stated), 58 were from the northern half of the state, and a mere 22 from the southern section. (Poor Eddy County, where this lawmaker hales from, didn't get a single one.)

That galls people more in light of the fact that the Governor himself promised to take geographical origin into consideration in these matters.

Maybe in the next 80 appointments, the proportion will be reversed.

You can bet southern New Mexicans will be watching to see if it is.

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

..... WHY?

I have read and reread the article appearing in the September 8, 1983, issue of The Ruidoso News titled "Water Protest Grave Danger?" — and I ask myself — WHY?

When the Council selected Messrs. Schuller, Page and Otteson to make up the Negotiating Committee on 8-2-82 I felt that we had selected the best men suited for the job. I haven't changed my mind on this point.

The Committee did their job and reported their findings and recommendations to the Council.

Since this matter may be decided in the courts, I cannot go into every point made in the published article except to say that the recommendations were presented to the Council which, in turn, presented the recommendations to two qualified water attorneys. After receiving an initial opinion the Council sought the advice of a second attorney. Both attorneys agreed that while the recommendations appeared to be feasible, they would not stand up under legal scrutiny.

The decision of the Council was not easily made and many meetings were conducted with long discussions before the final decision was made.

The irony of this complicated matter lies in the fact that either party — the City or the Protestants — could have discussed the situation PRIOR to the date the Protestants filed their protest with the State. After the protest was filed it was too late to make a handshake agreement which would probably have prevented the situation we now face. Disclosures brought out in the news article serve no purpose and are restatements of comments and observations made previously from time to time.

Again, I ask — "WHY?"

J.A. "AL" JUNG
COUNCILMAN

DEAR EDITOR:

Thank you, Mr. Palmer, for one of your more relevant editorials. I'm referring to the one in the September 12th issue of The News. You are not the first or only person to be offended by the lyrics of today's "popular" (?) country songs.

Another example of the negativity of this music, is a recent "hit" song by Jerry Reed, "The Good Old Boys Will Be Good Old Boys Till Their Good Old Girls Go Bad." It advocates the abuse of women and violence due to drunkenness.

The first time I heard it, I was shocked and appalled. Not only was the abuse of women being made light of in a song, but it was actually being played on the radio.

So, I phoned KREE, the only station in town. I spoke to Roy Norman, the program director, and asked that it not be played. He conceded that it "isn't a very good song," but it is "Top 40," and he would see what he could do about it. I guess he couldn't do too much about it, because I've heard it since.

There are enough victims of senseless violence and alcoholism, without songs that romanticize it and make it sound like the honorable way to go.

The problem is, that in order to hear the local and national (unless you have cable) news of the day and weather, you have to hear KREE's Top 40 format. There is good "country" music that can be played, expansion of their classical hour, a jazz program, or dare I suggest a little folk, bluegrass or rock n' roll. Even a comedy program. Why such limited, negative programming?

Perhaps boycotting the station and its advertisers would help; or hey, investors, how about another RADIO STATION instead of another curio shop?

I, and I'm not the only one, have just stopped turning on the radio. I can always read the paper.

Sincerely,
MARY DANIELSON

Reporter's Round

by Barby Grant

"Life is full of changes," I wrote in a letter to a friend this week. Not a very profound statement, really, but suitable as a lead-in to the news I had to deliver. "I'm moving to Santa Fe," I continued, filling in the details on my new job and new home in the City Different. Christmas and address changes are the two events that motivate me to keep in touch with friends and relatives, it seems.

I'm having to write them all to explain that after 19 months and one week, I'm ending my career as a newspaper reporter (for now) and beginning a new life as an information specialist for the state of New Mexico, more specifically as a technical writer for the Taxation and Revenue Department. I suppose that calls for some retrospection.

I look at my time here in terms of the opportunities I would have missed had I not been at The Ruidoso News in Ruidoso, New Mexico, during the past year and a half plus.

For instance, I would have missed my interview with a celebrity, Michael Murphy, and my day as a "White House correspondent," covering President Reagan's visit to Roswell. These two assignments sound more exciting than they actually were. I interviewed Murphy by way of long distance telephone, and the press was situated so far from Reagan in Roswell that some pretty powerful telescopic camera lenses were required to get photographs.

But friends and relatives across the country are impressed by such assignments, and they were probably two of the highlights of my Ruidoso News career.

Then there's Ruidoso Downs. I can't imagine having missed the experience of Ruidoso Downs. I learned what it was like to feel utter exasperation as I sat through three-hour meetings hearing the same point being argued over and over and over, with no end or resolution in sight. But there were some laughs, too. Towards the end of those lo-o-o-ong meetings, when the discussion centered around garbage or sewer, the whole situation would sometimes become so ridiculous that I found it difficult to suppress an outbreak of hysterics—somewhat unprofessionally, I admit.

I only regret that I won't get to stick around to see whether the Armstrong Tract apartments ever get built. But then, I probably won't live that long anyway.

Being at The Ruidoso News also taught me that ANYTHING can make good feature material. The bookmobile, RV-ers, a school bus ... I never did get around to the "life of a first grader," "life of a second grader," "life of a third grader," and so on series. It was always "next September."

If I hadn't joined the staff of The Ruidoso News I probably never would have been able to relive the college experience of regularly staying up into the middle of the night to get a term paper, I mean article, written by deadline. I even got in one all-nighter. It was great, just like being back in college during final exam week.

Moving to Ruidoso provided me with many opportunities for which I am sincerely grateful, such as getting to explore the Great Southwest. I could have missed Carlsbad Caverns, White Sands National Monument, Billy the Kid country, the Santa Fe Indian Market and Juarez, Mexico—my first venture into a foreign country. That trip gave me the opportunity to practice the few phrases I remember from high school and college Spanish classes—"Hable Ingles?" and "Donde esta ... ?"

And I may never have gotten to attend a horse race or rodeo or develop a taste for Mexican food and adobe architecture if it hadn't been for Ruidoso. My exposure to country-western music would have been much more limited had I not relocated to this part of the country.

And if I hadn't moved to Ruidoso, I probably wouldn't be planning a move to Santa Fe.

There's so much I would have missed. And I suppose there is much I will miss.

But life is full of changes.

(Editor's note: The Ruidoso News will miss Barby, too, and all of us wish her the best on her new "assignment"—TP.)

Warrior play of the week

There were several big plays for the Ruidoso High School football team in its 22-21 victory over Clint, Texas, last Friday.

Several of those plays came on the flying feet of Warrior sophomore quarterback Russell Easter, who scored two touchdowns. One came on an 86-yard kickoff return following the first Clint touchdown, and the other came on a 55-yard run in the third quarter.

Both of these plays put an extra lift in the Warrior offense, so they're co-winners of the Warrior Play of the Week honor.

Easter, a 6-0, 165-pounder, also threw two two-point conversion passes, the latter going to Michael Williamson for the winning points.

Easter is particularly proud of the 55-yard run in the third quarter. "I thought that was the best because I had to run through all those guys," he said. "This game was the biggest thrill of my career so far."

Warrior offensive guard George Gresham also had a big part in Easter's success, as he had a couple of outstanding blocks.

Ruidoso will travel to Tularosa Friday for a 7:30 p.m. contest.

Mule races kick things off

The roar of the crowd and the thunder of racing hooves at Ruidoso Downs Race Track will be heard again September 16-18. Mules with their speed clocked just two seconds less than a quarter horse are putting horse racing fans on their feet.

"Mule racing is the fastest growing sport in the country," says Briscoe West, a director of the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skinners. "Farmers and ranchers aren't the only ones interested in racing mules. Many business executives and professional people are getting involved in mules."

The long-eared sprinters are a breed apart from their ancestors—the beasts of burden on farms and ranches who pulled the wagon and plowed the fields. Today's racing mule is the offspring of a male donkey (jack) and a mare horse; or a stallion horse and a female donkey (jenny). Strong racing genes produce mules that have been known to beat a horse. The mules have stepped up in class with their own trainers, jockeys and racing circuit starting at Bishop, California; then on to Victoria, California; up to Idaho; down to Farmington, Albuquerque and Ruidoso; over to Del Rio, Texas; and west to Glove and Phoenix, Arizona.

The going price for a good racing mule is between $6,000 and $10,000. This may seem like a big investment for a sterile animal, but a mule can run two races a day and race 12 or even 14 years. With a quarter horse priced $30,000 to $100,000 or even more, racing enthusiasts are showing great interest in mules.

Melvin Means, president of the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skinners, which was organized in 1979 to promote mule races, is a manufacturers' representative. He travels five states and uses every opportunity to promote the races at the "Downs". Means' avid interest in mules has left his fishing pole and hunting gear in the closet, but he must be doing something right. From a purse of $3,000 for a three day meet in 1979 to a $55,000 purse in 1983, the mules are coming to Ruidoso. Three hundred and fifty mules arrived for the meet last fall.

"With commercial sponsors getting interested, the only way for purses to go is up," claims Means.

"The richest and best mule races in the country are not chutes, starters and stewards apply for mule racing as for horse racing, but the mules spice up their 14-race program with races without fun," add the Mule Skinners. The same rules, equipment, referred to as Coon Jump, Diaper Race, Pole Bending and a favorite with the fans, the Bloomer Race. Riders climb into bloomers, race down the track and give the bloomers to another rider who has to put them on and ride back to the starting line.

The Balloon Bust race is run past a course of poles holding balloons that the riders must pop as they ride by. Along with the laughs, purses are awarded in these races.

Everyone knows what to expect at a horse race, but a mule race is unpredictable.

"Mules are harder to race. They are not used to running in a straight line as they're more used to dodging and hiding from their enemies. Horses just escape from their enemies by sheer speed," says Means. The stubborn-as-a-mule strain has not been erased with the new scientific breeding, or is a mule just smarter than a jockey?

Define mule: unpredictable

If a mule gets tired, it will stop on the spot and no amount of urging on the part of the jockey can convince the tired mule to cross the finish line. A mule might be 17 lengths in front and see green grass on the other side of the rail, or at the entrance to the paddock, and just like that, the race is over for that mule. Except for an unfortunate accident a horse makes it around the track, but a mule might decide the long way around the track is too long, jump the rail and take a shortcut, and triumphantly cross the finish line.

Mule racing has moved full speed ahead with fans coming to Ruidoso from 35 states, boosting attendance to 12,000 for the three day meet in 1982. Attendance and purses have gone far beyond the first Mule-O-Rama held in a meadow in 1976, just for fun. After an all-day program of races, everyone gathered for a chuckwagon cookout with 1,400 pounds of beef, hundreds of sourdough biscuits, and a barrel full of beans. A fiddlers' contest and dance topped off Ruidoso's introduction to mule racing.

Now the Mule Skinners look for a whole new industry when pari-mutuel betting is approved. The current system of betting is to make whatever deal you can with your friends or the person sitting in the next row. New Mexico's attorney general has ruled that an act of the Legislature is required to allow pari-mutuel betting on the mule races. The Mule Skinners, with the support of the American Mule Association, are readying their request.

The races are a community effort in Ruidoso and everyone benefits. The high school football team handles the cleanup, another high school group, getting an introduction to business through DECA, works the concession stands; the Shriners sell the program. The Lions Club and Boy Scouts lend a hand and all organizations profit from their respective efforts. Visitors' food and lodging totaling half a million dollars boost the tourist industry.

The fiddlers' tunes, the camaraderie of a chuckwagon dinner, the dosey-do's of whirling dancers at the first mule race in Ruidoso may be just a memory, but the mules will be on the track this fall, and enthusiastic Mule Skinners look to the future and an "All-American Mule Futurity" with a sizeable purse as the feature attraction.

Arabian Show for noble breed

More than 100 head of the horse many believe to be the most beautiful in the world will be here for the fourth annual Ruidoso All Arabian Horse Show September 16-18.

The "A" rated show, sponsored by the Ruidoso Arabian Horse Association, will take place at Western Highlands—the Ruidoso Downs Race Track training track east of the main racetrack. Many categories of competition are scheduled.

Friday the 18th will be taken up mostly with halter classes, noted association president Gail Adams. He described this competition as "stand 'em up and let 'em look pretty." Horses are judged according to how closely they meet conformation standards.

Riding classes are the feature attraction Saturday, September 19. One interesting event is the Trail Course. This requires horse and rider to negotiate a trail with obstacles similar to what they would encounter in the wild.

The horse must be able to sidestep and back in a straight line from an obstacle, and must contend with a "distracting obstacle," such as a pen full of squealing geese.

"That really tests how well the horse is trained," said Adams.

A favorite event of spectators, the Native Costume class, is also scheduled. Adams noted, however, that there must be sufficient entries and suitable weather for this competition to take place.

Along with all that, there is a class for youngsters who bring their dogs. Adams called the Show Dog class "just a little add-on fun thing for kids."

Among the states expected to be represented at the All Arabian Show are New Mexico, California, Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma and Wyoming. Adams noted that the Ruidoso event follows a major show in Albuquerque, which helps bring many fine horses to the local show.

The fact that the Ruidoso show is "A" rated means points can be earned toward qualifying for the national Arabian show. The International Arabian Horse Association sanctions the competition.

Adams predicted about 20 horses from the Lincoln and Otero counties area will participate. The sponsoring Ruidoso Arabian Horse Association has about 20 members, he noted.

The group came to be after Ronda Moore of High Country Arabians moved to this area. She was followed by the Adams', Gail and Christa. Gail credits Ronda with getting the show going, noting that he laughed when she first told him Ruidoso would have an "A" rated show.

"This whole thing is principally because of her dedication and hard work," he said.

Adams was asked what it is about the Arabian horse that attracts the interest of owners and horse aficionados.

"Intelligence," he replied. "They seem to learn faster than many horse breeds." He also noted versatility, along with the fact that the Arabian is the oldest recorded breed.

Adams also pointed out that the Arabian is known for endurance.

"People don't think of Arabians as race horses, but they're really the world's greatest race horses," he said. Arabians were bred to run mile after mile on the desert, he explained, and the breed consistently wins the famous endurance test, the 100-mile Teavis Cup.

Racing Arabians on racetracks is a growing pastime, especially in California and Florida, Adams noted.

"Probably the biggest attraction is just their inherent beauty," said Adams of the elite breed. "There's probably no horse that's as aesthetically beautiful as the Arabian."

Spectators are welcome at all the Ruidoso Arabian events Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 16-18. There is no admission charge.

Over 26,000 members in the United States and Canada work together to promote this ancient and timeless breed on the highest ethical plane. All belong to the Organization dedicated to that goal. . . the International Arabian Horse Association. Offering information and guidance for training and camaraderie with other Arabian horse lovers, the I.A.H.A., now more than a quarter of a century old, is growing rapidly with the ever increasingly popular Arabian Horse. Also, because the Arabians' versatility enables the breed to participate in so many events, a comprehensive, well-organized program is essential.

As a Show Horse, the Arabian is ever popular and wins accolades in everything from Park Horse to Cutting Horse Classes. I.A.H.A. maintains the integrity of Arabian Horse Shows by fostering high caliber judging. I.A.H.A. also offers Internationally recognized awards, such as the famed National Championships and the Legion of Merit Awards.

The Arabian Horse excels in a number of specialized fields such as Endurance and Competitive Trail Rides, Racing, Dressage and Stock Horse. International supports these areas through Committee work and specialized programs.

Over 20 centuries of careful nurture, the Arabian Horse has maintained the exceptional conformation, intelligence and affinity for human beings that pleased Desert Nomads, Moors, Conquistadors, Kings, Princes and Generals. History's great and privileged few from Alexander to Napoleon to George Washington have treasured their Arabian Horses in bygone centuries. Today, thousands from all walks of life enjoy ownership of the "Proud Breed". It is the goal of I.A.H.A. to protect and promote this priceless legacy. This "Doing" Organization is worthy of your support.

By joining one of the many I.A.H.A. Affiliated Organizations throughout the United States and Canada, or by joining the parent Organization directly. Arabian Horse enthusiasts have access to services which will make them more knowledgeable and thereby will enhance their enjoyment.

Johnny Williams golf event

The sixth annual Johnny Williams Memorial Partnership Golf Tournament will be played Friday through Sunday, September 30-October 2, at Cree Meadows Country Club.

The tournament is named in honor of the late Johnny Williams, who owned the country club in the mid 1950s. Along with several other people, Williams worked to expand and improve the country club and golf course. He sold the country club to Stormy Edwards in 1958.

Some of the best amateur golfers in the Southwest annually compete in the tournament.

"This is the second biggest tournament on our schedule (after the Cree Meadows Match-Play Tournament)," said Cree Meadows head golf pro Bob Hickson. "No question about it."

There will be competition in five flights, with 10 teams in each flight. A total of 100 golfers will compete in the tournament.

Larry Seligmann and Mo

Turner of Texas won the 1982 championship flight, shooting a 192. Steve Earsley and Charlie Snuggs were second with a 199, while Billy Carson and Mickey Wilson were third at 202. Local golfers Howard Hassell and Doug Bass finished fourth at 206.

Another local team—Tommy Hornbuckle and Ted Martinez—captured the 1981 championship flight, and were fifth in 1982 with a 210 score.

Hornbuckle and Martinez are two of the best amateur golfers in Lincoln County. Both generally finish among the leaders in local tournaments.

The country club was started in the late 1940s with just nine golf holes. The golf course was expanded to 18 holes in 1976-77 and is one of the most popular courses in New Mexico.

Par for the course is 71. The course plays at about 6,000 yards and offers a beautiful view of Sierra Blanca, the tallest peak in the area.

There is a $225 entry fee per team. The entry fee will give the golfers use of a cart, favors, dinner and dance, ladies' luncheon, prizes and a practice round.

Pat and Linda's Street Rod

Before all the motorcycles hit town this fall, a different kind of machine will be revving its engine around the streets of Ruidoso. About 80 street rods are expected to be in town September 17 and 18 for what has now become an annual Aspen Festival event, Pat and Linda's Street Rod Picnic.

Pat and Linda Newell, now of Cloudcroft, first hosted a gathering for street rodders back in 1976, in Las Cruces. Sixteen cars and about 50 people showed up at that event, intended to introduce New Mexicans to the sport of hot rodding. Pat Newell was the state's representative in the National Street Rod Association (NSRA) at that time. The picnic offered games, hot dogs, fireworks and fun for all in attendance, plus a tour to a local museum.

A new activity was off and running after the first Pat and Linda's Picnic.

In 1977, the City of Las Cruces permitted the Newells to host the street rod gathering in Young Park, where it grew to 36 car entries. The following year, a total of 78 street rods from five states, including one from Georgia, were displayed at the picnic.

The street rod picnic in Las Cruces had become a popular annual event, but in 1980 the Newells, who had been the main force behind its organization, moved to Texas. Pat served as South Texas state NSRA rep and later as NSRA South Central Division director.

But due to popular demand, the Newells returned to New Mexico last year and hosted an auto festival in Ruidoso, at School House Park, at the time of Aspen Festival.

"Of all the Pat and Linda's Picnics, this one was one of the greatest," the Newells said. "Participation was at an all-time high."

And they're back again this year. Approximately 80 street rods and more than twice as many rodders are expected to convene at School House Park Saturday, the 17th, for two days of games, competition and exhibition of their machines.

Registration will open at 9 a.m. Saturday at the park. Games will begin in the afternoon, with a can stack set for 1:30 and a children's coloring contest at 2.

Street rodders will take a 16-mile scenic tour of the area at 3 p.m., and then enjoy free time un-

QUAKING ASPEN (Populus tremuloides Michx.)

Also called aspen, golden aspen, quaking asp, trembling popular. Botanical synonyms: P. tremuloides var. aurea (Tidestr.) Daniels, P. aurea Tidestr.

Description: Small to medium-sized tree usually less than 40 feet in height and 1 foot in trunk diameter, rarely 80 feet tall and 2½ feet in diameter, with slender, rounded crown of thin foliage. Leafstems 1¼ to 3 inches long, slender and flattened. Leafblades nearly round, 1¼ to 3 inches long, short-pointed, rounded at base, finely saw-toothed, shiny green above, dull green beneath, turning golden or orange in autumn before falling. Seed capsules in catkins, with many cottony seeds. Bark smooth, thin, whitish or yellowish, on very large trunks becoming thick, furrowed and dark gray. Wood soft and brittle, lightweight, light brown with very thick whitish sapwood.

Distribution: Commonly and widely distributed in upper part of ponderosa pine forest, Douglas-fir forest and spruce-fir forest in high mountains and plateaus, on cool, shaded mountain slopes, in canyons and along streams, often forming pure stands or groves, 6,500 to 10,000 feet elevation. New Mexico: western two-thirds, on all the higher mountains. Arizona: high mountains and plateaus in northeastern half, from Chiricahua Mountains west to Pima and Mohave Counties and Kaibab Plateau. Range very broad, one of the most extensive of all native North American trees, from Labrador across Canada to Alaska, in northeastern United States south to West Virginia and Missouri and south in Rocky Mountains and mountains of Pacific coast region to California, Arizona, southwestern Texas and northern Mexico.

Quaking aspen is so named because the slender, flattened leaf-stalks enable the leaves to tremble in the slightest breeze. The soft smooth whitish bark, which is favored by persons carving initials on trees, makes identification easy. The form in western United States, characterized largely by the deeper, golden color of autumn foliage, is considered by some botanists as varietally distinct.

Aspens are pioneer trees on burned areas, forming thickets of short-lived trees afterwards replaced by conifers. Propagation is chiefly from root sprouts. The wood has been used in the Southwest in manufacture of excelsior and elsewhere also for pulpwood, boxes and crates, food containers and matches. Domestic livestock and deer browse the foliage within reach.

Where to see them

As trees make their annual trek into winter's solitude, vibrant reds and rich golden colors will make for some scenic hiking and viewing. Among the most beautiful is the aspen.

Aspens are the most available specie in North America, according to Mike Funston, timber management officer at the Smokey Bear ranger station in Ruidoso. They thrive at elevations of 8,500 feet and higher so they are most prominent in the Northeast.

However, they are present in the Southwest. Though mostly in the wilderness, some are available and accessible by car. The most scenic spot locally, according to Funston, is Windy Point Vista near Sierra Blanca Ski Resort.

To get to Windy Point, follow

Highway 37 North to Ski Run Road, take a left and drive about 10 miles.

Two other local viewing spots can be reached by unpaved roads. One is via Highway 37 and Ski Run Road to Monjeau Lookout, and another is a very rough road northeast of Capitan. Funston advises using a four-wheel drive vehicle to get there.

Those wanting to drive for an hour can find bountiful aspens in the Cloudcroft area. Drive to Cloudcroft, continue on Highway 245 about two miles and turn right on Sunspot Road.

For more detailed information, call the ranger stations at Ruidoso, 257-4095; and Cloudcroft, 682-2551.

The first week in October marks the peak of the aspens' yellow color. Happy viewing!

Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival

This year's Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival, the "granddaddy of the touring rallies," will begin before people even arrive in Ruidoso. When motorcyclists from all over the country hop on their bikes and head out for Ruidoso, many will be participating in the gigantic U.S.A. Poker Run that offers a $1,000 first prize.

When the pre-registered festival participants roll into town for the festival, September 28 through October 1, with four receipts from Circle K Stores around the country, they will be eligible for any of the five cash awards.

And the prizes won't stop there. Every half hour, contingency prizes ranging from free meals to motorcycle accessories to free nights at local motels will be given away to registered festival participants.

The grand sweepstakes prize ticket for a fully custom-dressed Honda Goldwing and Poly Tron Cargo Trailer, worth about $9,000, will be drawn Saturday evening. The Ruidoso Business Association (RBA), which is sponsoring the festival, will also draw tickets—for an Eagle Cargo II trailer, two helmets with stereo speakers, and new style Honda jackets—Saturday evening in the All-American Sales Arena at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

RBA members are especially excited about being able to host their festival at the Sales Arena.

facility we've got," said RBA president Tom Dorgan.

Last year's festival was split between two locations, which caused difficulties for the organizers and festival participants. This year everything will be under one roof.

Motorcyclists will also have the chance to ride in the Aspen Festival Parade this year. Last year the motorcyclists were here on a different weekend than the parade, and the festival organizers heard many requests for a parade the bikers could ride in.

"That was the only complaint we had last year; that they couldn't ride in the parade," said RBA member Connie Brown.

But this year, the predicted 5,000 to 7,000 motorcyclists will be able to join the rest of the floats, bands and beauty queens in the parade with the theme of the Mountain Mardi Gras.

The Motorcycle Festival Queen and Mr. Motorcyclist will be crowned Friday in time to ride their bikes at the head of the parade. Any festival participant is eligible to enter the contest. The festival queen and Mr. Motorcyclist will be judged on riding ability, poise, appearance, riding experience, activities and personality.

Motorcyclists interested in trying out different bikes will get their chance at the Harley-Davidson booth in the trade show. Harley, which was not at the festival last year, has rented a 1,200-square foot booth this year.

"We really missed being in Ruidoso," Brown quoted Harley representatives as saying.

Harley will bring 12 motorcycles for demonstration rides. The latest motorcycles, motorcycle accessories and arts and crafts will be available at the trade show. It will be open from 3 p.m. until 9 p.m. every day of the festival.

Harley-Davidson is also sponsoring the Muscular Dystrophy Poker Run. For a five-dollar or larger donation to muscular dystrophy, poker runners will be eligible to win either a black leather Harley-Davidson jacket, a Harley-Davidson helmet or a rainsuit.

The RBA is sponsoring its own "Get Acquainted with Ruidoso" Poker Run on Wednesday. It will take bikers through the maze of canyons and business districts of town.

Friday, the RBA is hosting a Poker Party and Barbecue at Bonito Lake. Partiers will be able to earn points toward prizes by competing in several games at the lake. Refreshments and food will be available at the all-day party by the lake.

"It's gonna be a lot of fun," said party organizer Glen Ferguson.

Over 140 trophies will also be awarded to owners of cherished and dressed bikes in 23 categories to be judged every day of the festival. Special awards will also be given to the largest uniformed club at the festival, the long distance club, long distance rider, best dressed, youngest and oldest riders and many more.

If you're good at games such as bite the wiener, hang the wash and sidecar water cup, you can win a prize in those games as well.

For those interested in learning about safety, a safety consultant will give safety seminars two times a day Wednesday and Friday. For just plain entertainment, the RBA is showing "On Any Sunday II," a motorcycling film, at 8:30 every evening at the Sales Arena.

RBA is looking for many more bikes at this year's festival after recognition in national magazines and word of mouth.

"Everybody in the country heard about it and wished they had come," said Brown.

After all, as Roger and Noraine Meng wrote in Touring Bike magazine, the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival is "THE place to be at the end of the riding season."

"Thanks to all our customers in Ruidoso and Lincoln County. We appreciate your business and look forward to serving you with your dry cleaning needs."

Thank you,

Mountain Mardi Gras parade

The conclusion of another successful Aspen Festival will be celebrated in style this year with a parade of motorcycles, floats, Shrine units, bands, queens and costumed individuals.

The theme, "Mountain Mardi Gras," lends a highly festive mood to the 1983 parade. Spectators are encouraged to come in costume and line the main street Saturday, October 1, and be prepared to have a good time.

The Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival Queen and Mr. Motorcyclist will ride at the head of the parade this year, followed by hundreds of cycles of all shapes, sizes and colors.

The 1983 Motorcycle Festival Queen will be crowned Friday evening at the trade show after displaying her riding ability, poise, appearance, wearing apparel and "personality plus" for the judges. Last year's queen, JoAnne Staggs of Hobbs, and her husband Bill will select and crown this year's winner.

Mr. Motorcyclist will also be chosen on similar qualifications.

The parade's color bearers, the Permian Basin Motorcycle Riders Association of Odessa, Texas, will ride behind the King and Queen.

After all the motorcyclists make their appearance, the floats, bands, clowns and Shrine units will roll down the street.

Local bands in the parade will include the Ruidoso High School 24-Karat Gold Marching Band and the White Mountain Middle School

The unit from Big Spring will also put on a free show after the parade for all to go and watch.

Businesses around town will have spent many hours of labor putting together some super floats to illustrate the "Mountain Mardi Gras" theme. Big T Family Restaurant and Carrizo Lodge were two businesses that signed up early, along with William Kyle, who will enter as an individual parade participant.

Also in the parade will be New Mexico Miss Teen, Kelly Purvis of Clovis.

All in all, it promises to be a festive end to another great Aspen Festival season, as Ruidoso celebrates its own Mountain Mardi Gras!

State Chili Cookoff returns

This year's New Mexico State Chili Cookoff will take place Saturday, September 24, in the Ruidoso Downs Race Track parking lot.

The cooks will begin setting up their wares after 8 a.m. and will meet at 10 a.m. to discuss the rules. Judging begins at 3 p.m.

All cooks must follow the rules put out by the Chili Appreciation Society International (CASI). CASI rules specify what can be used in the chili; where it is to be cooked; what can and cannot take place in the showmanship contest; and how the chili is to be judged.

CASI uses Frank X. Tolbert's Secret Judging System, which determines a precise format for judging as well as establishing criteria in the areas of aroma, color, taste, consistency, aftertaste and more. Violations of these rules can result in official probation published in the Goat Gap Gazette, and disqualification from the World Championship Cookoff in Terlingua, Texas, November 5. Dr. Roy Nakayama, horticulturalist at New Mexico State University and the "father of green chile," will head the judging.

Awards will be given to the top 10 chili cooks and the three best showmen. First, second and third prizes in both categories will be pottery loving cups made by Al Potter.

Fourth through 10th places in the cookoff will be awarded wooden plaques made by Paul Crown. Both awards feature the logo of the chile pepper inside the outline of New Mexico.

T-shirts bearing this logo will also be available.

For all the seriousness of the chili judging, there will be plenty of laughter throughout the cooking area. Tex Scofield, "the official mouth of the chili world," will be on hand to emcee the event.

Glen Tucker of the San Antonio Light called Scofield "a king in an activity cluttered with clowns."

Rick Smith wrote in the Austin American Statesman that Scofield is "a garrulous orator of prodigious adroitness, a verbal virtuoso with no peer ... with a non-stop barrage of words that would have left Mr. Webster himself thumbing through a pocket dictionary."

In addition to Scofield, there will be a host of chili cooks competing for the Showmanship Awards during the three hours they cook the chili. Although shooting guns and amplifying are illegal, cooks will try almost anything to win this award.

Many of the competitors decorate their booths with a Western theme. Some may have rattlesnake skins or rabbit carcasses to show as the "secret ingredient" in their prize-winning chili.

Others have been known to have women in transparent blouses help cook the chili. The judges for showmanship will be anonymous, so the cooks will have to keep up a non-stop show the whole time.

All cooking will be done outside in the open air and live music will be played during the day. Beer, soft drinks and sandwiches will be available.

The cooks are not allowed to sell their chili. But once the judges have taken their samples to the judging tables, it is customary for chili cooks to share their culinary concoctions with the hungry crowd.

Not long till ski season

The crisp mornings and tumbling aspen leaves are more than a signal that summer is over. To the anxious fans of winter, they signal that snow will be falling soon.

As the snow floats down, skiers pull out their skis, wax the bottoms and try on their boots. As it piles up on the ground, the crews at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort and Eagle Creek Ski and Recreation Area warm up the lifts and groom the trails in preparation for the fun of winter.

Last year both ski areas opened at Thanksgiving, and old-timers are predicting another snowy winter this year.

Chamber of Commerce gladly serves visitors

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce is an organization of which the local community is very proud.

More than 500 local businesses support the Chamber through their membership.

Centrally located in a beautiful spot at 666 Sudderth Drive adjoining Two Rivers Park, the Chamber building offers visitors a wealth of information about Ruidoso and Lincoln County attractions. During office hours—8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday—friendly staff members are available to answer visitors' questions. The telephone number is 257-7395.

After hours, visitors may utilize the 24-hour "information porch" at the front of the building. Lists of lodging establishments, restaurants, community profiles and other information are available.

Besides providing visitor services, the Chamber works all year long on organization and promotion of special events—like Aspen Festival.

Ruidoso takes pride in its reputation as a very hospitable place. And the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce always puts our community's "best foot forward" to welcome visitors.
