NO. 38 IN OUR 38TH YEAR

RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

J. B. Osborne's shining 1940 Ford Delivery truck attracted numerous admirers at Pat and Linda's Street Rod Picnic over the weekend. More than 40 street rods were on display at School House Park Sunday.

Street rodders sure do love their 'toys'

by BILLY ALLSTETTER

"I've always liked these since I was a kid building models," said John Berry as he wiped a smudge off the immaculate paint job on his 1939 Ford Coupe. "It's my toy."

His "toy" may be 44 years old on the outside, but the power under the hood pushes it down the road over 100 miles per hour when he wants it to.

John, who was one of 40 street rod owners at Pat and Linda's picnic over the weekend, said he has easily put 2,000 hours into his coupe. The body, with painted flames flowing down the sides, is from the original coupe. Lift the hood, however, and you find an immaculate 1970 Chevrolet 350 cubic inch engine with two four-barrel carburetors and chrome everywhere.

Inside is a combination of old and new. The old metal dashboard is souped up with tachometers, oil pressure gauges and an AM-FM cassette tape player. The black leather upholstery and new carpet invite any rider. This winter John plans to put in heating and air conditioning. "That's what winters are for, to tear down your car and rebuild it," said another street rod owner.

John has already rebuilt his car three times. "It's unreal the hours you put in on these things," said Berry.

But it must be a labor of love. The $14,000 he figures the car is worth accounts for little more than the cost of the parts.

Berry was inspired to move from models to real cars when a friend of his bought a 1939 Chevy Coupe. Following his friend's lead, Berry bought his own 1926 Model T Roadster and began working on it.

The 1939 Ford Coupe is his third street rod. He pointed across the way to another one of the cars he rebuilt, then said, "Once the car is fixed up it is time to buy another, figured Berry. But you can't buy the cars and the parts to fix them cheap."

"It's a pretty expensive hobby," said Berry.

Although he does almost all the work on the cars, the checkbook does get a little low once in a while. That's when his wife gets upset, he said.

The rest of the time, however, his wife and daughter enjoy his hobby. They usually travel with him to all the shows.

Berry and others said street rodding is a family activity. J. B. Osborne said his wife even helps him work on his 1940 Ford delivery truck.

While winter is the time to work on the cars, summer is the time for touring. Berry said he has gone to about seven street rod shows and driven about 5,000 miles this summer.

"If you don't drive 'em, ain't no sense in having 'em," said Berry.

"That's the name of the game," said Osborne.

And while he's driving them, plenty of people are looking, said Berry. It's nice to have people look admiringly at his car or make comments, said Berry, because he knows he put in so much work to make it look that way.

John Berry stands by his 1939 Ford Coupe. Berry put in thousands of hours of work restoring the body and souping up the engine and transmission of his street rod.

Berry didn't do all the work on his car. A friend machined some of the parts for the engine and someone else painted the car. But Berry pays for their work with his. He has wired numerous cars in Albuquerque and done engine work on others.

"I can do just about anything you can do to a car," said Berry.

The engine work is his favorite thing.

"The faster I can make it go, the better it is," Berry said. Berry makes his go fast enough to drag race it against other street rods. But he has put in plenty of time making it look sharp, as well. He said he has won prizes for his car at every show he has attended.

"They gotta be clean," he said as he rubbed the door with a chamois cloth. Clean it is. And with the new engine and drive train hidden underneath the 1939 body, it's plenty fast as well.

Watt to reconsider airport site

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

While U.S. Representative Joe Skeen appears to have convinced Interior Secretary James Watt to reconsider the need for an airport on Fort Stanton Mesa, New Mexico State University (NMSU) regents have called for a study of alternative airport sites.

Skeen met with Watt in Washington for about an hour last Monday to discuss the proposed airport.

"Before that I didn't even know where Ruidoso was," said Watt during a press conference at Carlsbad Caverns Saturday. "Then Professor Skeen went to work. I now have a new appreciation of the Ruidoso area."

Watt said Skeen used facts rather than pressure to convince him to reconsider an application for transfer of almost 1,700 acres from the Bureau of Land Management to the Federal Aviation Administration.

Skeen operated a commercial flying service out of Ruidoso during the 1960s.

Earlier in the summer Watt wrote a letter to Governor Toney Anaya and Ruidoso Mayor George White stating that he would refuse the application. Saturday Watt said he plans to continue communication about the transfer application.

His communication will be primarily with Skeen and not Anaya, who has also been working for the proposed airport, Watt indicated.

"I consider this a very partisan issue and will work with Joe Skeen on it," said Watt. "I'll take care of the governor," Skeen added quickly.

Anaya tried unsuccessfully to meet with Watt earlier in the week. He also sent a letter to the NMSU board of regents urging them to reconsider their opposition to an airport on land known as Site B.

The regents have opposed the airport on Site B because they believe it will disrupt long-term range studies the university performs on the mesa.

During a meeting Friday, the board passed regent David King's motion to request an expanded study of all alternative airport sites, including Carrizozo.

The motion recognized a need for an adequate airport near Ruidoso and pledged to make university resources available to help with the study.

Skeen said he received a letter Saturday from NMSU officials stating that they "were still willing to listen but object to any transfer from the research site."

U.S. Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole received the transfer application last week, said New Mexico Transportation Secretary Judith Espinosa. The Federal Aviation Administration, which is a part of the Transportation Department, supports the transfer.

The Interior Department will receive the application after the Transportation Department, said Espinosa. She did not know when that would happen.

Commission sets zoning priorities

Carrizo Canyon, Gavilan Canyon and Alto were set as the top priorities for zoning by the Extraterritorial Zoning Commission at its regular monthly meeting Thursday.

Enforcement officer Ollie Cuddy and a representative from the county appraiser's office were assigned the field work for the commission. They will drive out to the areas to be zoned to determine the type of structures already erected and to make recommendations on how the property should be zoned. Chief appraiser Paul Baca presented the commission with section maps of all land in the extraterritorial zone, designating current uses of the property.

Using this information and reports from the field officers, the commission will determine how each section of the extraterritorial zone property should be zoned. Public hearings on proposed zoning will be conducted prior to adoption of any zoning designations.

The purpose of the extraterritorial commission is to zone all county property surrounding the Ruidoso village limits in a one-mile radius, in an effort to preserve the integrity of the village.

Carrizo Canyon, Gavilan Canyon and Alto were determined to be the areas with the most building activity, therefore most in need of zoning.

The commission also discussed the possibility that a proposed subdivision in Sleepy Hollow in the Upper Canyon will be presented for zoning. Property owner Keith Mills had requested but was denied annexation into the village for the development. His land lies in the extraterritorial zone.

At its next meeting October 20, the commission will hear a progress report from Cuddy and the appraiser's representative on their field work. The meeting will be at 2 p.m. at the county suboffice in Ruidoso.

No decision on visitors bureau

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

"If we can combine efforts, we can create more tourism," Karen Moore told more than 30 people from the Inn of the Mountain Gods and the villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs Friday.

"What we have to decide is whether we can do it together," said Moore, the Inn's director of sales and marketing. Moore had called the meeting to discuss the creation of a visitors and convention bureau.

No decision was made, however, and people discussed the idea of combining efforts of the villages and the Inn only sporadically.

Bob Poole and Sheri Gibbins told the group of councilmen, Chamber of Commerce representatives, Lodgers' Tax Committee members and others how convention and visitors bureaus operate in Albuquerque and Roswell.

They discussed funding, marketing and structure of the bureaus. Poole, from Albuquerque, advocated a convention and visitors bureau separate from the Chamber of Commerce, while Gibbins suggested working together.

The communities, however, had not agreed to work together, and more than one person called Poole's and Gibbins' presentations "putting the cart before the horse."

Numerous people at the meeting spoke out in favor of combining efforts, but no consensus was reached and no plans for future meetings were made.

The absence of Mesalero Apache Tribe President Wendell Chino was one of the main obstacles to progress.

"We need to know how he feels," said Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board member Joan Bailey.

Others agreed that the Tribe's participation is crucial to the success of a combined promotional effort.

Moore said Chino made an offer of sharing funds and wants to see a proposal for working together. She also implied that the since the meeting was held at the Inn, the Tribe is sincerely interested in a combined effort.

"I think the fact that the meeting is being held here speaks for itself," said Moore.

Moore's assurance, however, appeared not to be enough. Both Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth and former Chamber president Richard Sandoval said they must meet with Chino before committing themselves.

People spent much of the time discussing whether a convention and visitors bureau is necessary or whether the present Chamber of Commerce could do the job with additional money.

While Poole and Gibbins advocated a convention and visitors bureau, Jungbluth wondered aloud if people really knew that the Chamber directs most of its efforts towards attracting tourists.

Poole said local innkeepers should be the ones to organize the convention and visitors bureau. Gibbins, however, said the first step is to approach local village and the Tribal Council for their approval of the idea.

"You've got to convince your local officials," said Gibbins.

Ruidoso retail merchant Budgie Green proposed forming a committee to determine a plan for combining promotional efforts, but no one acted on his proposal.

Later, Pat Breedlove suggested forming a committee to make presentations to the different councils. By then, however, a number of people had already left the meeting and no action was taken on his suggestion.

When it became apparent that no decisions were going to be made, Moore ended the meeting abruptly by thanking everybody for coming and expressing their views.

No decisions may have been made, but Mayor J. C. Day of Ruidoso Downs emphasized the fact that people from the different communities getting together to discuss the idea represented progress.

"I think it'll work if we want it to work," said Lodgers' Tax Committee member Archer Wilson.

White Mountain Elementary School has four new teachers

KATHY CRANE AND CINDY SIMMONS

by PAM FIELD
Staff Writer

White Mountain Elementary School has four new teachers—each unique but all enthused about the new school year.

Cindy Simmons and Kathy Crane will team-teach fourth grade. They are both from Roswell and both attended Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

Kathy Crane spent the last seven years teaching at Capitan, while Cindy Simmons moved from Nob Hill last year.

This will be their first attempt at team-teaching, though it may be the last of its kind at White Mountain. Crane said she believes this change is because of the national trend focusing on "back to the basics."

Simmons agreed and added that having closed classrooms also ties in with a focus on structure. She said she hopes she will add to each fourth grader's "well-rounded" education.

Third-grade teacher Iva Gurule is a newcomer to Ruidoso, but not to teaching. She has lived here approximately one month.

Gurule spent the last six years at Truth or Consequences in a rural school—"one of the few that still remain." She said there were about 100 children from kindergarten through eighth grade at the school.

Gurule said she is impressed with the cooperation she has noticed at White Mountain. When asked how she liked teaching, she said, "I love it."

Nancy Anderson, another third-grade teacher, moved from a northern suburb of Chicago two years ago. She and her husband bought an orchard at Bent.

Anderson has been a substitute teacher the past 13 years, including last year at White Mountain.

"I am delighted to be in a full-time position, here," she said.

She graduated from Val Paraiso, Indiana and is now working toward her master's degree in reading at New Mexico State University.

"I am interested in reading at all levels," she said.

Downs okays apartments

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Two ordinances allowing construction of apartment complexes in Ruidoso Downs were approved by the governing body at a special meeting Thursday. Both ordinances had come before the trustees previously but had not been properly adopted.

Arguments for and against a proposed moderate-income apartment project on property owned by Jess Armstrong were presented again Thursday. Village attorney Tim Quigley informed trustees both opponents and proponents of the development have indicated they will file an appeal in district court if the decision goes against them.

"Just do what you think is in the best interest of the community," advised Quigley, adding that the village will probably be taken to court regardless of the vote.

Wayne Ward and Bill Carpenter, two owners of property near the Armstrong tract who have voiced strong opposition to the project all along, reiterated that they do not want a moderate-income apartment project in their neighborhood. Attorney Don Dutton, representing a number of the property owners, again raised questions about whether all stipulations in the village ordinances regarding planned development projects had been met.

Project developers contended requirements have been met.

Also debated was whether the village water system could handle the additional growth, which trustee Harold Mansell indicated it could not and trustee Jake Harris insisted it could, provided the water supply were properly utilized.

Project architect Carl Reinhardt pointed out that the property is already within village limits and therefore entitled to municipal services. He said if trustees denied the development on the grounds of insufficient water, it would have to declare a moratorium on all building.

He also noted that builders plan to spend considerable money to extend sewer and water lines from the main line to the development, and to install fire hydrants and improve roads.

"Our project cannot serve to resolve the entire community's water problems," the architect declared.

"I feel we have tried to resolve the objections of the neighbors," Reinhardt added, stating he believes the apartments "will look better than any home in that area."

Trustee Harris argued that the only way the village will ever be able to fund needed improvements is to increase its tax base by allowing such projects into the village. He made the motion to approve the ordinance, which passed by a 3-1 vote, with Mansell voting against.

The other ordinance calls for annexation and zoning of 19.692 acres housing Inspiration Corporation and Mountain Top Radio, on which a proposed low-to-moderate income apartment project is planned.

The Inspiration Heights apartments have been approved for financing by the Farmers Home Administration, developer Mary Rich reported. Property owners plan to erect a 75,000-gallon water storage tank that will be available for use by the village in case of emergency.

Internal roads in the apartment project will be paved and approach roads will be all-weather roads, Rich said.

This project was met with no opposition, and the ordinance was passed unanimously.

Crackdown on pets announced

by BILLY ALLSTETTER

Dog and cat owners, you better start obeying the law. If you don't have rabies tags and village tags, or if you let your pet run free in public, animal control officer Buddy Dean is looking for you and your pet.

As of October 1, any dog or cat without village tags or rabies tags on them will be cited, said Dean. According to municipal judge John Cupp, that citation will generally cost you $25.

All pets in Ruidoso are required to wear a rabies tag and a village tag at all times. The rabies tag is available from a registered veterinarian. The village tag is available from Dean if the owner has a certificate of rabies vaccination.

"We are going to strictly enforce this law. No excuses will be accepted," said Dean.

Dean said he also plans to enforce the municipal ordinance that prevents animals from running at large.

"They have got to be in control of their animal," said Dean.

While Ruidoso does not have a leash law per se, control means having your pet on a leash, according to Dean.

In order to have 100 percent control over your pet, you must have him on some sort of restraint, said Dean. Otherwise, there are too many opportunities for an animal to run away. A female dog in heat or a cat may cause a dog to run unexpectedly into the street, said Dean.

Dean said he has lots of trouble with people who do not believe they have to have their animals restrained. But he says that is the ordinance and he plans to enforce it.

As the animal control officer, Dean is an authorized law enforcement officer. He can and will cite you if your animal is not obeying the law.

Dean's office is located behind the Ruidoso police station on Wingfield Street. He can also be reached at 257-5296 or 257-2027, or through the police at 257-7365.

Mule meet judged successful

Despite a decline in attendance from last year, Ruidoso Downs Mule Skimmers president Melvin Means said this year's mule race meet was very successful.

Around 8,500 fans watched a total of 44 races in the three-day meet, said Means. About 275 mules participated in the races.

"Everybody has said this was the best meet we've had and they had the most fun," said Means Sunday. "And they'll be back next year and bring people with them."

Becky Sute—owned and trained and ridden by Sharon Belancourt of Dexter—was named Mule of the Meet. She won four races.

Dale Huckabee and Ed Stockton—both of Payson, Arizona—were named leading jockey and leading trainer. Steve Hancock and J. B. Rogers—both of Ruidoso Downs—finished second in the standings for jockeys and trainers, respectively.

Means reported that during the meet, mule skimmers decided to form

Arabian show has good weather

by PAM FIELD
Staff Writer

With sunny skies the past three days, Ruidoso's fourth Arabian Horse Show went as planned, with over 100 entries from all over New Mexico and some nearby states.

"It rained a little every day, just as we hoped it would," said Gail Adams, president of the local Arabian Horse Association. Adams said the horse show is a specialized event and he would be surprised if there were "overwhelming" crowds because there are only a handful of people in the area who own Arabians.

Chuck Kibler was on hand before the opening on Sunday and said so far he had "done pretty good." Kibler was pictured with his horse Sun-Sparkle in Thursday's News.

"I was sorry I had to take second place to a mule, but I was happy with the coverage," he said, laughing. He won the Snaffle-Bit contest—which, according to a friend, he does quite often. This is a contest open to three-year-old horses only.

Kibler trains horses full time out of Adams Arabians in Scottsdale, Arizona. He has spent the past 25 years as a trainer and his travels take him all over.

"We'll be in Tucson next week," he said.

Santa Fe architect Ed Sandoval shows horses for a sideline and was in town with his trainer, Rosemary Zimmerman. Sandoval, who came from the State Fair to the Ruidoso show, talked at length about Arabians. It is clear his hobby is truly a labor of love.

Sandoval commented on the versatility of Arabians. He said they can be used for roping, jumping and racing, as well as showing.

"They are the best endurance horse," he said. Sandoval's travels have taken him to endurance/cross-country racing, where horses sometimes go through 20 miles of rough mountainous terrain.

Sandoval does not train his horses himself, but he talked about the difficulty of horse training. It takes months and so much of it depends on the horse, he said.

Showing horses is truly a family affair for Mike McDaniels of Alamogordo. McDaniels said he and his family work together and have been in 19 shows since February.

They have six to go, and then they will stop to "get ready for next year." Often they travel separately so they will not have to be in direct competition.

"To give you an example, not long ago my son was in Lubbock while I was in Colorado," Mike said.

Similar to Chuck Kibler, McDaniels makes his living promoting, training and showing horses.

"Yeah, Chuck and I are old friends, and we often run into each other," he said.

Mules tend to use the whole track when they race their short sprints, as shown in this photo from weekend action during the Ruidoso Downs Mule Skimmers annual race.

a New Mexico Mule Association. Purpose of the group will be to promote mule racing and pari-mutuel betting on racing, he said.

The group will meet at a later date to adopt a charter and bylaws and elect officers. Members from New Mexico and other states will be welcomed, said Means.

Other activities connected with the race meet were successful. About 100 mules were offered in Saturday's sale and most of them were sold.

"The mule men's social hour, you might say, was very successful this year," Means added.

Alan Askins of Askins Asses of Dryden, Texas, said he bought two mules in the sale, adding them to the 14 head he brought. Askins is a sheep and goat rancher who uses mules to round up animals for shearing.

He said he has raced mules at Ruidoso Downs every year but one, but he was not sure he will be back next year. The early date of the meet is a problem, he said, because it falls too close to shearing time.

The races have been in October in recent years. They were moved up as part of an agreement with Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Means said the meet will probably continue in mid-September. He attributed the lower attendance this year partly to the fact the State Fair is on.

But, all in all, he judged this year's mule races successful.

"We're well pleased," he said Sunday night, looking a bit tired but contented.

An excess of 500 hours of volunteer work was donated by club members to this project. Women's Club members also donated 1,225 hours of volunteer work during June, July and August to the Ruidoso Hospital.

The state executive board of New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs has voted to endorse and promote "The Chemical People." The production is a television outreach project of the National Center for Youth, their families and society. The two-part program is scheduled for broadcast by more than 200 PBS stations this fall. Broadcast dates have been confirmed as November 2 and 9, but air time will be determined by each individual PBS station. The local club will furnish more details in the near future.

Mistakes hurt Warriors in loss to Tularosa

Russell Easter of the Ruidoso High School varsity football team rambles for yardage against Tularosa High School Friday night. Easter and his teammates lost a tight 9-6 decision to the Wildcats. Ruidoso will host Portales this Friday.

By Gary Brown
Sports Writer

Costly mistakes and Tularosa's ball-control offense proved the downfall of the Ruidoso High School football team as it lost a 9-6 decision to the host Wildcats Friday night.

Tularosa's win thus gave it a commanding 21-6 edge in the long series between the two schools. There has been one tie. Tularosa dropped down to the AA division this season, so the game was a non-district contest.

Ruidoso, now 1-3 on the season, trailed 7-6 entering the second half. However, the Warriors only moved the ball past their 20 once against the tough Wildcat defense in that half.

Tularosa got on the scoreboard first in the contest, scoring on its first series.

After Ruidoso failed to get a first down on the opening series of the game, Tularosa took an Eric Strobel punt and marched 55 yards in 13 plays for the score.

The Wildcats used the power running of Tommy Sanchez, David Sheppard and Bobby Cooley to steadily drive down the field.

Sanchez scored the touchdown on an eight-yard smash through the line. Warren Sidewall kicked the extra point, and Tularosa held a 7-0 lead with 4:34 remaining in the opening quarter.

The Warriors came right back, however, and marched down the field starting from their own 34.

Quarterback Cyrus Simmons ran 14 yards on a keeper to begin the drive. The senior signal-caller and Strobel each carried the ball several times more as Ruidoso drove to the Tularosa 16.

From there, Simmons hit sophomore tight end Bobby Dickinson for 16 yards to the Wildcat one.

But disaster struck two plays later as the ball was fumbled inside the one and Tularosa recovered.

But four plays later, the Warriors got the ball back when senior Gary Burgess recovered a Wildcat fumble on the 11.

From there, Simmons sprinted around the right side for the touchdown with 8:28 left in the first half.

The Warriors tried for the two-point conversion, but Simmons's pass for Mike Williamson fell just short of the sophomore's hands.

Tularosa took the ensuing kickoff and drove down the field. The Wildcats got as far as the Warrior 26 before giving the ball up.

From the 26, Ruidoso started a drive for the go-ahead touchdown.

Fullback Patric Pearson rambled 17 yards and Dickinson took an 18-yard pass from Simmons to move the Warriors to the Tularosa 36.

But a 15-yard penalty put Ruidoso in a hole back at the 50.

Williamson then ran 16 yards to the 34 and Dickinson took a pass for 10 yards to the 24.

But another 15-yard penalty stalled the drive.

The Warriors got back nine yards in two running plays, and on fourth down, tried a bit of trickery that almost succeeded.

At the 35, Simmons pitched the ball to Russell Easter who threw a long pass downfield. The ball was just beyond the outstretched hands of Justin Smith, who had beaten his man.

Tularosa tried to score in one more series before the half ended, but a long pass fell out of bounds.

Tularosa controlled the ball most of the time in the second half, but the tired Warrior defense held firm.

Twice, Ruidoso stopped the Wildcats inside the Ruidoso 10.

Tularosa added the game's final points with 7:34 left in the final period.

Ruidoso had to punt from its own 12, but the center snap went over Strobel's head, giving the Wildcats a two-point safety.

The Warriors got a free kick and the Wildcats took over at their 40.

Ruidoso stopped the Wildcats at the Tularosa 47, but a Warrior player jumped offside as the Wildcats were trying to punt, allowing the hosts to keep the ball.

Tularosa controlled the ball most of the remaining time, and Ruidoso couldn't get good field position.

Ruidoso finished with 140 yards rushing and 39 passing for a 179-yard total. Simmons completed three of six passes, while Easter threw twice with no completions. Simmons led the Warrior rushers with 55 yards.

Tularosa gained 282 yards rushing and 27 passing for 289 total yards. The Warriors had nine first downs and the Wildcats had 13.

Burgess, Craig Carson, George Gresham and John Antol played well both ways. Linebacker Jesse Reynolds did an excellent job for the Warriors in just his second game, making several tackles.

"Our offense kind of sputtered, but we couldn't get good field position in the second half," said Warrior head coach Darrel Stierwalt. "When you can't get good field position, it sort of limits your offense you like to run. You have to play really conservative."

"The defense did a great job as it was on the field most of the second half and held their offense away from our goal."

The Warriors will host Portales in a non-district game at 7:30 this Friday night.

NOTES: In other games involving 3-AAA district schools over the weekend, Silver City fell to Fabens, Texas, 34-0; Deming topped Cathedral of El Paso, Texas, 21-7; Hot Springs lost to Los Lunas 13-9; and Cobre was smashed by Animas 46-6.

Warrior junior varsity falls to powerful Artesia squad

The Ruidoso High School junior varsity football team gave host Artesia High School a tough battle before falling 25-8 Saturday night in the season opener.

Ruidoso only trailed 13-8 with less than six minutes remaining in the contest before the Bulldogs put the game away with two touchdowns.

"I felt the kids played super," said Warrior head junior varsity coach Jim Ramsey. "This Artesia team beat Carlsbad 29-0, and they only led us 13-8 before getting a couple of late touchdowns."

Artesia jumped off to a 13-0 edge in the first half and generally held the Warrior offense in check.

However, Ruidoso came out charging in the second half, and scored after an Artesia turnover.

Russell Easter intercepted a Bulldog pass at the Artesia 35 and returned it down the sidelines to the seven.

George Gresham ran for four yards up the middle. Two plays later, Mike Williamson darted around the right side for the score with 1:50 remaining in the third quarter. Bobby Dickinson then made a juggling catch of Easter's pass for the two-point conversion.

The Warriors held off two Bulldog threats inside the 10 during the rest of the game. But Artesia's two late touchdowns put the game away.

"I felt the kids learned a lot and hung in there, particularly on those defensive stands," Ramsey remarked. "They (Artesia) had an all-junior offense in there most of the second half."

The young Warrior defensive line held off the Bulldog offense much of the game. Ruidoso defensive back Chuck Jarrell also had a fine game, intercepting a pass near the end of the first half.

Ruidoso will host the Tularosa junior varsity at 2 p.m. Saturday, September 24.

Ruidoso freshmen fall to Roswell

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

Despite a strong offensive showing, the Ruidoso High School freshman football team dropped its season opener to Roswell High School 42-8 at the Wool Bowl in Roswell Thursday night.

The Warriors moved the ball well, only to be hurt by penalties and mistakes.

With the Roswell freshmen leading 22-0, Warrior quarterback Jeff Willingham scored the only Ruidoso touchdown on a 45-yard option run. Willingham also added the two-point conversion on an option run.

Ruidoso also had a long touchdown pass from Willingham to split end Brian Davis called back because of an illegal man downfield.

"The offense did real well," said Warrior head coach Ron Geyer. "We didn't keep stats but I think we had between 10 and 15 first downs. Willingham ran the option well, and passed a lot also."

Brian Davis caught eight of Willingham's passes and Bryan Mack garnered two.

Ruidoso's defense played hard, but was outmanned by the bigger

Coyotes, according to assistant coach Jim Hofstad.

"All the kids played well, but we were outmanned," he said. "The kids played their hearts out, but they were much bigger and had better speed."

"They suited up 40 players to our 20."

Bob gains third place, leads Ruidoso runners

Cisco Bob turned in a third-place effort in the varsity competition to highlight the Ruidoso High School cross-country team's performance in the Pecos Valley Invitational in Roswell Saturday.

Bob, a junior, recorded a 16:36 clocking for the three-mile course. David Hood of Goddard High School won the competition in 15:37, and a Hobbs athlete was second.

Warrior sophomore David Ordorica ran a 17:50 for 18th place and junior Curt McClellan was 20th in 17:55.

The Warrior team did not participate in the team scoring since it had only three individuals. A total of 56 runners competed in the varsity race.

Coach Ronny Maskew was pleased with the Warrior runners' efforts.

"The guys lagged behind in the pack at first," he said. "But they came on strong. They learned a lot and won't make that mistake again."

"The course has a lot of hills in it, and the runners didn't really know what to expect. I was very pleased that they did that well."

Ruidoso will compete in several more invitational before running in the district 3-AAA meet.

with Gary Brown

The season is still young, but the Ruidoso High School varsity football team has already shown some improvement over last year's squad.

Ruidoso is 1-2 on the season, coming off a disappointing 9-6 loss to Tularosa Friday night. However, the Warriors have shown steady improvement in each of the first three games.

The loss to Tularosa was marred by mistakes. The Warriors had too many penalties at crucial times, including two major ones in one drive near the end of the first half.

But the defense played an outstanding game, probably the best Ruidoso has played in two years. It did particularly well with its back against the wall.

Twice early in the third period, Tularosa drove near the goal line only to be repelled by the Warrior defense. The Wildcats were forced to kick a field goal both times, but the kicks were wide on each occasion.

Another time in the second half, Ruidoso stopped the Wildcats on the Warrior 10 yard line.

The offense didn't play as well as it had in the 22-21 victory over Clint, but Tularosa is a better defensive ball club than the Lions were.

Ruidoso was in the contest all the way, unlike last year when Tularosa won easily 34-0.

Good defense is the mark of a good ballclub, and the Warriors' defense should get better as the season goes along.

Although Tularosa is now in the AA division, it's still a good team. The Wildcats beat Cobre 27-21 and lost to Hot Springs 14-7 in their first two games this year.

Both Cobre and Hot Springs are in the Warriors' 3-AAA district, so Ruidoso should be more than competitive against those teams.

The Ruidoso offense has been erratic. Still, there are several juniors and sophomores in the starting lineup, and they'll get better with more experience.

Ruidoso probably has one of the best sophomore groups in the entire AAA division, and this should mean good news for the next two seasons.

The Warriors may be struggling now, but improvement should continue the rest of the 1983 campaign.

Capitan High School's football fortunes are also on the rise.

The Tigers won their first game of the season Friday night, taking a 19-6 win over visiting Hagerman. The victory came after losses in the first two games, something Capitan hasn't been used to the past three seasons.

The Tigers are the defending state A division champions, and are starting to show their form of last year.

When the regular season concludes, don't be surprised if Capitan is among the A division's state playoff teams again.

Sophomore sparks Tigers to first win

by Gary Brown

Sophomore Erie Hamm came through for the Capitan High School varsity football team Friday night, and as a result, the Tigers won their first game of the season.

Hamm threw a touchdown pass and did a good job directing the Tiger offense as Capitan defeated visiting Hagerman 19-6.

Hamm took over at quarterback for Dewey Keller, who didn't play because of a death in his family.

The Tigers took the opening kickoff and drove 60 yards for a touchdown, with Hamm firing a 14-yard strike to Tim McElhannon for the score. The extra point attempt failed, but Capitan held a 6-0 lead.

Capitan held the Bobcats on the next series, and got the ball again.

This time the Tigers marched 70 yards with tailback Danny Cummins going 15 yards for the score. The extra point try again failed but Capitan took a 12-0 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Hagerman scored its only touchdown on a 74-yard interception return in the second half.

The Tigers added their final touchdown on a 76-yard run by McElhannon in the final quarter. Todd Proctor kicked the extra point.

McElhannon rushed for 113 yards and Cummins ran for 106 as the Tiger offense had its best effort of the season.

The Tigers have a bye this week, but will host undefeated Dexter Friday, September 30.

Capitan High School cheerleaders yell for the Tiger football team. The Tigers won their first game Friday night, beating visiting Hagerman 19-6. The Tigers have a bye this Friday.

Brave B team explodes in second half for win

by Gary Brown
Sports Writer

The White Mountain Middle School B football team scored 26 points in the second half in taking a 28-0 victory over visiting Carrizozo Thursday night at Ruidoso High School.

White Mountain led just 2-0 at halftime after gaining a safety early in the second period.

The Braves had several scoring threats in the first half, but couldn't put any more points on the scoreboard.

However, the second half was a different story.

Angle Pena ran 25 yards for a touchdown midway through the third quarter to give White Mountain an 8-0 lead. A run for the two-point conversion was inches short.

The Braves scored three more touchdowns to break the game wide open.

Pena blocked a Carrizozo punt and White Mountain recovered on the Grizzly 30.

Three plays later, Jef Sherwood ran 21 yards for the score. The two-point conversion try was again short, but the Braves led 14-0.

The final Brave touchdowns were scored by Wayne Watts on runs of 21 yards and one yard. Matthew Griego added a two-point conversion run.

White Mountain had two others touchdowns called back because of penalties in the final period. "I felt we kind of started out slow," said Brave head coach Terry Wharton. "But the kids came on real well in the second half."

Saint Eleanor's has historical background

by Gary Brown
Staff Writer

The history of St. Eleanor's Catholic Church dates from the time of the Great Depression and even before.

It is believed to be the oldest church in Ruidoso, the original structure having been built in the summer of 1932 under the name of St. William's Mission. The building, which was later used by the Ruidoso Lions Club, is located off Sudderth Drive next to J & L Automotive.

The 50th anniversary of the building of the church was celebrated August 19. A new church was built in 1959 in the Gateway area, but there are plenty of memories of the original church and this area 50 years ago.

Before the original church was built, Catholic services were held in various buildings and homes in the Ruidoso area.

The John Romero home and the Judge Quinn summer home in the Upper Canyon were used as sites for Masses in the late 1920s and early 1930s. In 1931, a Mass was said at the home of Madeleine Burdett and Stella Campbell. That building now houses the Ruidoso Woman's Club.

The only other church in Ruidoso 50 years ago was a non-denominational church that had services in a small building off Sudderth. It is no longer in existence.

The large number of summer visitors swelled the ranks of the Catholic Church-goers in the 1930s.

"We used to come up here, from Artesia in the summer," said Lyndy Samelson. "About 10 to 15 families attended the church year-round. During the summertime, a lot more people attended the services, many of them tourists."

Samelson has now lived in Ruidoso for over 40 years, and attended the church when it became a parish in the early 1940s.

When the original church was first built, it was designated a mission and did not have a priest on a full-time basis.

Father Salvatore Giovanni, the Pastor of St. Rita's of Carrizozo, came to the mission on an irregular basis, along with several other priests.

When the mission became a parish, it was renamed St. Eleanor's.

The church was in debt at that time, with the Alamogordo lumber company that held the mortgage threatening to foreclose. However, the Catholic Extension Service came to the rescue on the condition that the church be renamed St. Eleanor's.

Father Carl Hammer was the first full-time pastor of the church.

Several other priests have followed Father Hammer as pastor of St. Eleanor's.

By the mid-1950s, the parish congregation had grown considerably. There were now two Masses on Sunday, but even that wasn't enough to prevent crowded conditions in the summertime.

So a new church was built through the tireless efforts of parishioners and the community.

It was dedicated in 1959 and Father Robert Aunman returned as pastor. He had been the pastor from 1951 to 1953 before giving way to Father George Markey.

Father Bernard Bissonnette is the current pastor. He is the eighth full-time pastor in the history of St. Eleanor's Catholic Church, the oldest church in Ruidoso.

Saint Eleanor's Catholic Church in Ruidoso has seen a lot of local history, being the oldest church in town. The building in the top photo was the original mission, built in the early 1930s. The building in the bottom photo is the present-day church, built in 1959.

Quit smoking?

There are several ways to go about it

When people think of drug addiction, most often their images are of the hard drugs, such as cocaine and heroin.

Yet Ruidoso resident Monica O'Reilly says cigarette smoking is the most sought-after of all drug addictions.

"What cocaine or heroin user receives a hit 300 or 400 times a day?" she asked.

O'Reilly heads a place called "No Smoking." It has been open about seven months, and so far 18 people have been through her five-day program.

According to O'Reilly, one-third of them are still not smoking.

"I can't guarantee people will never smoke again—or that they will never want to smoke again. I can offer one way for people who want to stop smoking. There are many methods and this is one," she said.

At No Smoking, clients come in for an interview in which they give information about lifestyles, diet, exercise, and generally, why they want to stop smoking. Most of them have tried other methods, said O'Reilly.

Starting on a Monday, clients go in for an hour a day for five days, for what O'Reilly calls "aversion therapy."

She exposes them to what she calls "a very unpleasant smoking environment."

In one corner of her office is a large walk-in compartment. Walls are lined with cigarette ads. A gigantic ashtray is overflowing with stale cigarettes. The air is cloudy and the room reeks of cigarettes.

For however long it takes, each client puffs on five cigarettes—without inhaling—and talks to O'Reilly for about a half an hour, either before or after.

"They sit in there and look at the walls with all the beautiful people in the ads. At the same time their eyes are watering, throats are dry and they are coughing. They see what a lie it is," she said.

Usually people can hardly wait to get out on Monday. Then, because they are told to stop smoking outside of their allowed time, they can hardly wait to get back in on Tuesday, said O'Reilly.

Most of the nicotine is out of the body after three days, said O'Reilly. During the week the person is asked to incorporate changes involving diet and exercise. After the week is over, the person leaves No Smoking and "the real battle begins."

One of the problems, according to O'Reilly, is that clients have incorporated smoking into their lives for 15 or 20 or 40 years. In five days they begin to learn how to be a non-smoker and it's painful, she said.

"It's unbearable," said O'Reilly, who speaks from personal experience. A former "two-pack-a-day-er," she was spurred into quitting when her son began to point out some of his fear and anxiety of her smoking.

O'Reilly added that though this spurred her into quitting, oftentimes people do not want to quit for health reasons alone. Also, this is why she does not have pictures of "dirty lungs" in her office.

Most people who want to quit smoking are in their thirties and forties. What they've discovered is that the reasons they began smoking no longer apply to them, said O'Reilly.

These reasons include sophistication, peer pressure, and wanting to look older.

"They say, 'I don't need to look older—I look old enough,'" she said, smiling.

Charge for the five-day plan is $150. O'Reilly said no one has asked for the money back. She gives a refund by the next Friday if a client requests.

Some try tablets or chewing gum

Four Ruidoso drugstores carry Bantron—a smoking deterrent tablet sold over the counter. This product, along with Breathe-Easy (a chewing gum), seem to be the most popular choices for people attempting to quit.

Pharmacist Jerry Jacobs said business is steady. He said that Bantron contains a substance called lobeline that is supposed to be a substitute for nicotine.

Jacobs said he does not smoke. He added that it takes years for smokers' lungs to return to normal.

Along with the no-smoking aids are several types of tar filters and reduced tar cigarettes used by people in their endeavors to quit.

Benny Coulston broke the cigarette habit with the help of a hypnotist.

One who quit smoking

by Pam Field

Local real estate agent Benny Coulston decided to quit smoking last year after he saw a hypnotist in Lubbock, Texas.

That was in October and he continues not to smoke. But, he noted, "The day is not over yet."

Coulston said he used cigarettes as a "crutch." He indicated he believes he has accomplished a worthwhile goal by quitting. His wife and new baby were the catalysts that caused him to give up his "little over a pack a day" habit.

He said he gets phone calls once or twice a month from an interested person who wants to quit smoking.

Maybe this is therapeutic in itself.

Opinion

Editorial

Governor Torrey Anaya has had to bite the bullet on the bullet train, among many other things, in this first year of his administration.

But perhaps those who have been so quick to criticize the governor are failing to acknowledge his vision.

The idea of a high-speed rail corridor system between Santa Fe and Albuquerque, costing between $700 million and $2.5 billion, admittedly sounded far-fetched when it was first proposed. But a few short decades ago, so did the idea of landing a man on the moon.

Of course, this could lead to the rebuttal: and what good did landing on the moon do us? Just now, 15 years later, are the economic ramifications of the space program beginning to be felt.

Anaya has called New Mexico a "sleeping giant." He evidently sees himself as the man who can lead the state from its underdeveloped present condition to a shining high-tech future.

This and his ongoing effort to place himself in the national Hispanic political vanguard make him an easy mark for critics. But in regard to the latter, it seems hard to fault a politician for seizing the moment, politically.

Is the governor doing the job he was elected to do—govern the state of New Mexico? It is still early in his administration to say.

But he seems to be doing his best to get Ruidoso a new airport, and we may someday reap the rewards of his vision in that respect.—TP

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE— When Katherine D. Ortega, once of Alamogordo, is confirmed as Treasurer of the United States, won't she become the highest-ranking Hispanic in government?

That might merit her an invitation to join Hispanic Force '84—except that she belongs to the wrong political party.

The Governor's national organization is not friendly to Republicans. Its title should more accurately be Hispanic-Force-at-the-Democratic-National-Convention '84.

Those who cannot contribute to its potency in San Francisco are not welcome at its meetings, no matter how exalted their rank and authentic their Hispanicity.

George McGovern wants to run for President. So does Harold Stassen. No-hum.

There's a new song being sung here, to the tune of "The Rain in Spain Stays Mainly in the Plain."

Words to the current number, concocted by Bill Makeel, retired state employee, say, "The Fleas and Cheese Are Causing Our Disease."

Makeel calls it "the Jonathan Mann theme song." Mann, of course, is the state epidemiologist, who, after a valiant summer-long fight against flea-borne plague, discovered a new ailment caused by queso blanco, or white cheese.

Though Mann merely does his job, part of which is warning us of outbreaks of unusual medical problems, some appear to want to apply to him an old principle of "kill the messenger." They hold him personally responsible for the decline in tourism this summer because he spoke out so vigorously on the incidence of plague in the state.

Doctor Mann only deals in facts. He doesn't create them.

Ed Begay, second-ranking man in the Navajo Nation, took advantage of an appearance at that meeting Indian leaders had with Governor Anaya earlier this week to lecture his brothers and sisters a little.

In effect, Begay said Indians shouldn't spend so much time discussing the failure of their relations with white Americans.

They should also look closely, he maintained, at their relationships with one another.

Non-Indian observers at this meeting agreed with the point subsumed in Begay's argument: If Indian people really cooperated with one another, their power would be many times multiplied.

It's already such that energy companies which once tried to acquire or lease mineral rights anywhere else rather than on the Navajo reservation have now reversed their position entirely.

Since the Navajos filed a massive suit which could tie up all questions about land east of the main reservation for years to come, the word now is that only on the reservation itself is there clear title to anything.

Santa Fe radio news man Bob Barth deserves much of the credit for the appearance of the Beach Boys at the State Fair today.

Barth, who still loves to spin rock and roll records on the air when the opportunity presents itself, has been plaguing governors for ten years or more about having some kind of music other than country and western at the big annual extravaganza.

When Governor Anaya's nephew Steve was named to head the Fair, he made the first move to fulfill Bob's dream.

That brought us the Beach Boys, who will have brunch at the Governor's Residence with the Anayas and Barth in the morning.

Now it appears that the state might own the land the BLM claims where a new airport for Lincoln County would be situated. It's almost tragic that

Ruidoso can't get rid of an airport which has claimed a number of lives because it is not safe. If the state owns the land, let's get on with building another, safe, airport—Alamogordo Daily News

Reporter's Round

by Billy Allstetter

At least it's not as bad as it was in the late summer of 1971 or 1972. According to assistant village manager Frank Potter, people were so sick there wasn't even room at the hospital for all of them. Green, positively green, was the way he described the people wandering around Ruidoso that year.

I haven't seen any green people around here this summer but I have talked to a lot of people who have suffered some pretty serious cases of the Ruidoso Runs. And there have been some people in the hospital with this mystery disease that has been plaguing Ruidoso.

I guess no one ever figured out what caused the sickness that year. It doesn't appear that we are going to learn what has caused it this year, either.

It has been more than a month since the illness first showed up, and no one seems to be getting very close to any answers.

I know of only seven stool samples that have reached the state laboratory. Nobody I have been able to reach has been able to tell me exactly how many samples have been sent to the laboratory.

In fact, the whole thing seems pretty vague. I am amazed that only seven samples (maybe more, who knows?) have been sent to the state laboratory. Two different doctors have told me of at least 20 people they sent to the hospital for testing. I know there have been a number of people in the hospital with the problem.

When a couple of doctors said they had not been contacted by anybody about testing people, I was really surprised.

Surprised because EID officials had been telling me that the only way to find out about the disease was to get stool samples from people and run tests on them.

Maybe we have been making too big a thing of a minor illness that will pass in time. I even wondered at one point if The News had not made a media event out of the problem.

But if people are getting as sick as I was (many are getting sicker, as I understand it) and it is a recurring problem every year, it seems we should be able to find out what is causing it.

And it seems like a lot of people have been pretty sick. The EID found 100 people had been ill when they called 20 households in the Upper Canyon. Pharmacies in Ruidoso were having trouble keeping supplied with medicine for the illness for a while.

Granted, it is a difficult thing to figure out and there have been "all kinds of conflicting results," as local EID employee Jim Edwards said.

EID found a concentration of the illnesses in the Upper Canyon which made them wonder about the water treatment plant that supplies that area. But then people who haven't been in the Upper Canyon for months have been sick. People coming in from Albuquerque and Texas have been sick, but Capitan doesn't seem to be affected at all.

It's very difficult to do tests for a virus, Edwards explained to me; and tests for giardia—one of the suspects—range from only 30 percent accurate to 100 percent accurate.

Is it the water? You got me. I've heard knowledgeable and not so knowledgeable people argue both ways.

Jeff Sheyka, the EID epidemiologist in charge of the investigation, said Wednesday five tests had shown no bacteria or parasites. He thought the problem was probably caused by a virus. But that was the same day EID engineers were inspecting the Upper Canyon water treatment plant for the second time.

When they gathered a sample of the water in a small bottle, it was pretty cloudy. Normally that doesn't really bother me. But when I think that there might be giardia cysts in there with the silt, it makes me want to buy bottled water.

There have been a couple of giardias cases reported in Ruidoso. Most recently I was told by someone who should know that the state laboratory was talking to a local doctor about a positive test result for giardia on Tuesday afternoon.

But when I talked to Sheyka and another epidemiologist Wednesday they didn't know anything about it. Seems a little disorganized to me.

Or maybe there's a little passive resistance to letting out information that would scare people and decrease the number of visitors to this tourist town.

Understandably EID is somewhat confused about what is happening in Ruidoso. But I'm not sure they are as confused as the story they have been presenting to me.

Sheyka first told me about the concentration of illnesses in the Upper Canyon just before the Labor Day weekend. He said he did not want to release the results of EID's telephone poll until he had done some mathematical analyses on the results. He also mentioned that he did not want to unnecessarily frighten people before the big weekend.

It turned out that all of the 20 households contacted in the Upper Canyon had reported having the disease, while one of ten in the general Ruidoso area had been ill. How much mathematical analysis does it take to figure out what those numbers mean?

Sheyka said Wednesday he had received the negative test results the Friday before. But I never got a call about it like I was led to believe I would. The return rate on my calls has been getting worse and worse.

I'm confused, like most everyone else, I suppose. But I wonder if all the confusion is necessary. And I wonder will it all fade away again, only to resurface to the same confusion next year.

Prime Time offers dining, entertainment near racetrack

Prime Time Restaurant serves everything from calf fries to prime rib, but its specialty is steaks, said owner Mack Rice.

The restaurant opened July 1 on Highway 70 across from the Ruidoso Downs Race Track entrance. Rice said he chose that location because of its accessibility from the highway and its proximity to the racetrack.

He also mentioned the attraction of having a 100-unit motel being constructed on one side of the restaurant, and Fantasy Mountain amusement park going up on the other.

"I just felt like this was the place to be," Rice commented.

About 45 people are employed at the restaurant and lounge, which seats from 350 to 400 customers.

"We're the only club in New Mexico that doubles its size after 9:30 at night," the owner quipped. The rear wall of the restaurant opens to reveal a large dance floor, band stand and bar that features "the finest D.J. system in Ruidoso." The lounge is open from 10 p.m. to 2 a.m., with a regular happy hour and live entertainment from time to time. Rice said the entertainment is about 75 percent country music and 25 percent Top 40.

Two outstanding features of Prime Time are the handcrafted wooden liquor bar and salad bar, made by Junior Winfield of Ruidoso.

The restaurant serves lunch and dinner daily, from 11 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. The "general line luncheon menu" includes sandwiches, chicken fried steak, chicken strips, salad bar and other lunch items. Steaks are the dinner specialty, but seafood is added to the menu in season.

Breakfast will also be served after the motel next door opens, Rice said. The projected opening date is May 1984.

Rice said he called the restaurant Prime Time because "it was just a name I had in the back of my mind for many years."

He has always been involved in the restaurant business, having first opened the Ruidoso K-Bob's Restaurant. He previously owned El Charro Mexican Buffet. Rice said he also operates two K-Bob's Restaurants in Texas.

Becky Smith is the manager of Prime Time.

VISITING BARBADOS

Barbados is the island furthest east in the Caribbean curve, essentially British, entirely Caribbean. For climate, ambience, and a wide range of resorts, it's one of the most popular Caribbean destinations. Between April and December, rates are substantially lower than in the winter high season.

You can explore the island fairly thoroughly if you set aside one day for a tour. It is dotted with plantations, old mansions, and some stately homes open to the public. Some of the highlights: St. Nicholas Abbey, a 17th-century building that is one of the oldest in the Caribbean, and Drax Hall, the oldest building on the island.

Driving around the island is easy. The roads are among the best of any Caribbean country. Road signs are clear and frequent. Remember, however, to drive left. Alternatively, you can take the reliable bus service which covers most of the island for about 60c.

Whether the island of your dreams is England, Manhattan, Catalina or in the Caribbean, we can help you with all your vacation plans. You'll find us at Ruidoso Travel.

The Dreamer by Dan Storm

Dorothy Cunningham
It was comforting to see so many friends and loved ones at the services held last Thursday, September 15, at Forest Lawn Cemetery for one of Ruidoso's most beloved long-time residents, Dorothy Cunningham, affectionately known as "Dutch," who was called home by Our Lord, September Twelve.

Just a few days before she was called home, I had a little visit with Dorothy just as she was on her way home from Hollywood. She seemed in fine spirits, with her blue eyes lighting up with the same courageous smile which has long been her trade mark.

I reminded her of the time she and I were both in the hospital during the winter of 1971-72, and her husband, the late and beloved "Heavy" Cunningham, would come by to see me every day after his visit with his wife; and how Dorothy herself would leave her bed and come visit me, always cheering me up, although suffering greatly herself.

I told Dorothy that we all loved her dearly.
Dorothy will always hold a fond spot in our hearts; and she will always be an inspiration and encouragement to us, for her life of great helpfulness, faith and courage. And we take comfort in knowing our great friend is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven, where she will be welcomed by many loved ones.

Weldon Garner
At this writing, services are planned Friday September 16 at Forest Lawn Cemetery, for Weldon Garner, who was called home by Our Lord on August fourteen.

A long-time and well-beloved resident of Ruidoso, Weldon and I shared many pleasant experiences of our youth. I first met him at the University of Texas in 1931. He played trombone in the Longhorn Band, and was active in many music circles on the campus. He was a great favorite among the students.

After he moved up here, it was a delight to renew our old friendship, and go over old times. We sat on the edges of our chairs watching many a football game, and we developed a little custom of our own.

Anywhere we would meet we would sing the opening words of the University of Texas song:

"The eyes of Texas are upon you."
He would sing the tenor while I took the lead. We got lots of laughs out of the folks turning their heads in surprise at this sudden outburst in a quiet post office, or out on a busy sidewalk. I will miss our bit of song together, as well as his true friendship.

A measure of how greatly Weldon was loved is seen in the fond devotion through the years of his great wife, Marge, and his faithful and affectionate son, Ronnie.

Father Richard Hall, of the Episcopal Church of Lincoln County, was in charge of the Graveside Services. Pall bearers were: Bill Hart, Romeo Klein, Pat Valliant, Leo Romero, Danny Flores, George Westall, Tom McNeil, and Daniel Storm. We all take comfort in knowing that our beloved friend has gone on to meet loved ones in Heaven with Our Lord.

William Mayfield
Services were held September fifteen in Saint Clement's Church in El Paso, Texas, for one of Mother Earth's greatest friends, a native of El Paso, who later moved to Bent, N.M.

I met Mr. Mayfield when he would attend services at The Church of The Holy Mount. And we would talk over the plant life of the Southwest. I have never met anyone with such a large and wide knowledge of plant life—and what is more a man whose appreciation of Mother Earth's Children amounted almost to a reverence.

Mr. Mayfield was a veteran of World War II, a second lieutenant in the Pacific Theater.

He made history in his native El Paso in preserving the native plants of the region surrounding.

He was the founder of the Lincoln-Otero Native Plant Society.

After a devout Christian life here among us, Mr. Mayfield has gone to his reward, with our Father in Heaven.

A Happy Birthday
To Sarah Hathcock King

On September thirteen I went by and had a great visit with one of the great ladies of Lincoln County, Mrs. Sarah Hathcock King (Mrs. Wade King) and her devoted son, Lloyd Hathcock.

Sarah had come from her home in Maud, Oklahoma, where the heat has been oppressive, to spend the fall in her beloved Lincoln County.

She was born Sarah Elizabeth Robins, in Pauls Valley, Indian Territory, to John Mitchell Robins and the former Susan Carolyn Emerson, September twenty-one, 1902.

Her mother died in 1906 leaving her to care for five younger sisters and a younger brother. In 1910 she married Craven Hathcock, and from this union were born Lloyd in 1911, and Gladys in 1916.

I first met Sarah when she was manager of the White Mountain Inn, back in the mid-twenties.

In 1935 she married Wade King. Shortly after the Ruidoso Hondo Valley hospital was founded in 1950, she and Wade, along with Mrs. Dr. Caylor, and Shirley Halliday, ran the hospital for several years—from 1951 to 1958.

Wade was active in the hospital off and on until 1962, having trained the new manager for his job.

No mention of Sarah would be complete without a word about her heroic daughter, Gladys (Mrs. Alan Beavers). Following in her mother's footsteps of service to people, Gladys was for years a nurse in the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital.

During my one-hundred-day stay in the hospital Gladys was one of my nurses, and I will always be grateful to her for her devoted care.

After Sarah retired from hospital work she took up painting and discovered within herself a gold mine in the form of a god-given ability with the artist's brush.

Her very first paintings had the quality of work done by one with a life-time of experience in the art.

Especially beautiful were her pictures of landscapes with clouds. Peter Hurd once told her that he had never seen more beautiful clouds than those in Sarah's pictures.

"I love clouds," says Sarah. Surely this is because of her angelic nature. The Sunrise and sunset clouds, and the rainbow have always given us a little glimpse of Heaven.

She said that she had left off work on a painting and is going to take it up again on her birthday.

"So I can tell my grandchildren that I was painting on my ninety-first birthday."

These words she said with a radiant smile that you see very few times in a life-time.

Sarah is a lifelong member of the Baptist Church, and member of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

She was presented a fifty-year pin in the Eastern Star in 1960, and still belongs.

Sarah is a living example of what a true Christian life can be; and we wish her many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Barby Grant Leaves
For Santa Fe

Barby Grant, brilliant young writer for The Ruidoso News for the past nineteen months, will put in her last day on the paper she has served so well on Friday, September Sixteen.

Barby has been an all around reporter and columnist specializing in News of all Lincoln County, and particularly of the village of Ruidoso Downs.

Editor Tim Palmer said:

"Barby has become the conscience of Ruidoso Downs. They have sort of adopted her. The Ruidoso School Board has done the same, having sent her a bouquet of red roses."

Barby is a graduate of Carson Newman College of Jefferson City, Tennessee.

Her new position will be as Technical Writer for The New Mexico Department of Taxation and Revenue.

Tim said,

"We here at The News will think of her as our own capitol correspondent. She has been a thoroughly dependable and responsible employee. We will miss her. She took my place when I was away. I didn't have time to train anyone else. It is no more vacations for me."

Barby should feel complimented that she will be so greatly missed. I also will miss her helpful spirit, her cheerful smile, and her kind friendship, always.

We wish Barby all success in her new work, and all God's blessings.

Week of Sept. 18-Sept. 24

ARIES

(March 21-April 20) Disregard rumors about changes that will affect your lifestyle. Business enterprises should be investigated thoroughly before you invest hard earned money.

TAURUS

(April 21-May 21) Offer advice to someone close to you who has a problem. Your feelings towards a colleague may change drastically when hidden facts are unearthed.

GEMINI

(May 22-June 21) Blaming yourself for an incident that was caused by circumstances beyond your control is a waste of energy. Offer comfort and help to stray pets and lost children.

CANCER

(June 22-July 23) Family gatherings keep you busy and force you to confront hidden feelings towards relatives. Short trips add a lift to your life.

LEO

(July 24-Aug. 23) Entertaining close friends gives you the chance to catch up on gossip. Business dealings requiring up front money should be postponed until you can do more research.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24-Sept. 23) Attempting to talk a loved one into changing careers could backfire and discourage this individual. Endeavors involving higher education stimulate your interest.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24-Oct. 23) An amorous colleague could help you professionally. A change in residence might make you calmer and help you to relax when you're at home.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24-Nov. 23) Setting your sights on a goal far beyond your sights could lead to a major disappointment. Reach for the attainable. You'll be happier.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 24-Dec. 23) Love prospers unexpectedly between you and someone you haven't known for long. A new project might bring you to the attention of a powerful associate who can help you advance professionally.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 24-Jan. 20) Assignments at work could demand more of your time and efforts than usual. Acquaintances invite you to evening affairs where just about anything might go.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21-Feb. 19) A blossoming friendship could hit a snag if either of you listens to a jealous third party. Trust your instincts.

PISCES

(Feb. 20-March 20) A love relationship that went sour could be revived providing you are willing to work on it. Family problems should be addressed quickly before feelings are hurt and loved ones become reluctant to talk.

Pernel Roberts

Can you tell me Pernel Roberts' age? — A.C.
Sure. TV's Trapper John is 55.

MISS DIANE — My father, who is desperately in love with Diane Sawyer, insists she was once a Miss America. Please tell him he's wrong. — B.W.

Your father's not the first man to have his judgment clouded by watching Miss Sawyer deliver the news, but he's actually only slightly muddled on this one. The "CBS Morning News" anchor was America's Junior Miss exactly 20 years ago.

Glen Campbell

Glen Campbell's newest single is on Compast Records and is entitled "Letting Go." It's the theme song from the movie "The Golden Seal." Compast is also releasing the soundtrack from the flick. The single was produced by Campbell and John Barry.

"Islands in the Stream," Kenny Rogers' first RCA single release, and his first duet with Dolly Parton, is from his debut RCA LP, "Eyes That See in the Dark."

By Doug Davis

Rogers and Miss Parton have appeared together on TV, but had never previously recorded together.

The LP was produced by Barry Gibb, Karl Richardson and Alamy Galatin.

All 10 cuts on the LP were co-written by Gibb; eight, of them with brothers Maurice and Robin.

Since 1977, Rogers has had 12 RIAA gold-certified albums and seven that went platinum. Nine of those LPs topped the country charts.

He has just been seen in his HBO debut special, with additional airings scheduled through October. In mid-November, he stars in a two-part, four-hour prime-time TV film, "Kenny Rogers As the Gambler — Part II." Linda Evans co-stars.

Through the end of November, he will fill his current concert tour schedule of 50 dates.

Merle Haggard has expanded his co-owned Silverthorn, Calif., resort, which includes a complete marina, cabin and boat rentals, ski school and pro shop.

The expansion project was done because of the increasingly large crowds attracted to the resort by top country entertainers and the resort's natural setting on Lake Shasta.

The resort is also the site of the annual Merle Haggard Bass Tournament, with more than $20,000 worth of prizes awarded each year.

The tournament attracts many anglers and fans from across the country.
