Chemical task force draws 10

There were only 10 people at the task force about chemical use Monday night at Ruidoso village hall. "Is this indicative of the lack of the problem in this area?" asked one resident. "No, I am afraid it is more indicative of the extent of apathy there is," answered her husband. Mickey McGuire, who headed the group, said he remains positive even though large numbers were not there. "Sometimes you can get a lot more done when you have fewer people," said McGuire. He asked that each person at the meeting watch the second broadcast of "The Chemical People" Wednesday. Middle school teacher Karen Tillman said the Ruidoso Education Association wants to back a resource system for people to get education if they want it. Kathy Echols, a member of Altrusa Club, said the club would be interested in making information available also. McGuire said the emphasis of the two-part broadcast was on adolescents and chemical use, but that he believed it was also to be focused on making everyone more knowledgeable. Ruidoso police chief Dick Swenor said the "average parent needs to know as much as his or her child does." "I don't like this paranoia," said one parent. "I want to know what my child knows." Tillman said the service clubs may be contacted before the next meeting. The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, November 15, at village hall. Mickey McGuire expressed a personal interest in chemical awareness. His phone number is 378-4151.

Pro ski race may not happen

by BILLY ALLSTETTER

Ruidoso may host only one "world's richest race" next year—a horse race. Contract negotiations for the U.S. Open ski race—billed as the world's richest ski race—have bogged down. Sierra Blanca Ski Resort manager Roy Parker said Wednesday he thought the ski area would not host the race. "I've pretty well made the decision that we're not going to do it," said Parker Wednesday. Parker said he and Pro Ski International executive director Paul Carson have not been able to see "eye to eye." Carson is the organizer of the ski race. Parker did not specify which parts of the proposed race contract he is unhappy with. He did, however, mention "too many stipulations," concerns about liability, and future races. Parker also said the ski area already plans to host four races in March, and he indicated that is plenty for that time of year. Parker said the area will host the El Paso Cup, the Texas Cup, the Lubbock Cup and a media race in March. Parker also said those recreational races are important to the ski area's market, which comes predominantly from west Texas. The U.S. Open is tentatively scheduled for the weekend of March 24 and 25. Carson, organizer of the race, acknowledged there have been difficulties in contract negotiations. "We are having problems with Sierra Blanca," said Carson. He said, however, that he remains confident the race will happen in the Ruidoso area, and he hopes to have all plans finalized by next week. Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth said he and Chamber president Jim Paxton plan to meet with Parker Thursday to discuss the race. Jungbluth said the Chamber has already signed its contract for the race, with stipulations that the contract is valid only if Sierra Blanca Ski Resort signs its contract. The contract will also become void if no agreement is signed by January 1, 1984, said Jungbluth. The village of Ruidoso has allotted $25,000 for the race. Private individuals and businesses have pledged approximately $10,000 and the state of New Mexico has agreed to provide up to $40,000 in matching funds.

More matching ad funds sought

by BILLY ALLSTETTER

Having received pledges for $65,000 in matching funds from the state of New Mexico, Ruidoso will soon apply for another $30,000 to match the proposed winter advertising budget. The Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC) Wednesday recommended that Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth apply for the funds and try to organize a Ruidoso familiarization tour for Mexican travel agents. "It's there. Let's take it," LTC member Joann Farris said after Jungbluth outlined matching funds available through the state. Jungbluth said two programs have been established by the state to match money spent for promoting tourism in New Mexico. He said the state has set up one fund that will match money spent by communities for special projects. That fund will supply the $40,000 pledged by the state to help with the U.S. Open ski race and the $25,000 for advertising in Mexico. The other fund is for matching specific advertising proposals. Jungbluth said he thought the state might match Ruidoso's planned $30,000 winter advertising budget. "We do have additional funds available," said Jungbluth. Jungbluth and Tommy Morel, chairman of the Chamber advertising committee, reported on recommendations they have received about advertising in Mexico. Jungbluth said Lee Hageman, co-author of a study on tourism from Mexico, suggested hosting a familiarization tour in Ruidoso for Mexican travel agents. Morel reported that Hageman's study showed that Mexicans rely heavily on travel agents and that most Ruidoso lodgers do not pay commissions to travel agents. Morel said travel agents he talked to generally did not favor Ruidoso because they could get no commissions for their work. He indicated they may change their minds if they think Ruidoso lodgers would pay commissions. LTC chairman Archer Wilson said it is important to emphasize good working relationships with travel agents for the Mexican advertising program to work. Much of the resistance to commissions may just be a matter of misunderstanding, said Jungbluth. He said representatives of two local travel agencies are willing to lead seminars explaining the workings of travel agencies. Gary Hall, co-owner of Nottingham's Pub, said his restaurant is hosting a party for local lodgers in December. He said he would donate the food for the party if the village wants to combine the party for the lodgers with a familiarization tour for Mexican travel agents. The committee liked the idea and recommended Jungbluth work as fast as possible to organize a tour and present budget requests at the committee's next meeting. Jungbluth said he thought the tour would cost approximately $2,500 to organize. Morel reported that advertising copy for both Mexican and United States campaigns is being prepared. He said ads will appear in Texas Monthly, Southwest Airlines and Aero Mexico inflight magazines in mid-December. Newspaper ads will be ready as soon as the beginning of December and will be placed as soon as skiing begins. After receiving advice from Hageman, Morel said the Mexican advertising will concentrate more on cities closer to Ruidoso than Mexico City. He said Hageman told him Ruidoso's recognition already exists in cities such as Chihuahua and Guadalajara and that advertising there would be better than trying to open a whole new market in Mexico City where recognition is low. In other business, LTC: —Denied a request from the Chamber for $487.88 to cover unbudgeted printing costs for an Aspen Trail Map. —Heard chairman Wilson say he had talked to Inn of the Mountain Gods sales and marketing director Karen Moore about the proposed convention and visitors bureau. Wilson said he recommended that Mesalero Apache Tribe president Wendell Chino talk to Ruidoso village council members about a joint project. —Heard Wilson ask committee members for recommendations for people to fill the vacancy on LTC. Wilson also suggested members begin to think about next year's LTC budget. —Heard LTC member Clark Carpenter say Ruidoso should work on formulating a ski package to increase mid-week business. Jungbluth and others agreed and suggested starting to plan for a ski package in the winter of 1984-85.

Animal control, EMS council topics

by TIM PALMER
News Editor

Animal control was the primary topic of discussion at Tuesday's village council meeting, but the council was also informed the village subsidy to Emergency Medical Services will have to be increased. Diana Meyer told the council a nearby resident in her county subdivision took her dog to Ruidoso animal control officer Buddy Dean October 26, and that Dean destroyed the animal about two hours later. She said Dean told her husband Buck Meyer by telephone that the dog, a 16-year-old female cocker cross, was suspected of being rabid so he shot her. "I would appreciate some investigation in this matter," said Mrs. Meyer. Dave Jones, who took the dog to Dean, said the animal was not ill when he delivered her to Dean. He added he would not have left her had he known she was to be destroyed. Councilman Al Junge said Mrs. Meyer's story was "horrible," but added the council would be unable to do anything definitive. He pointed out that animal control is a contracted service, and that Mrs. Meyer could conceivably sue over the incident. "All we can do today is patiently listen to your story and then turn it over to management to handle," said Junge. Assistant village manager Frank Potter read a letter from Dean. "This dog was very sick when I put it in the truck," he quoted Dean. The letter also cited village and state ordinances relating to dogs running at large. Meyer had cited part of the ordinance stating an animal shall be kept for three days before being destroyed. Dean, who was present at the meeting, said no word of rabies was spoken when he called Buck Meyer. Dean said the dog was regurgitating and foaming at the mouth. Vicki Eckerdt said the dog should have been held the required period of time in any case. She claimed the incident was "handled totally wrong and against the ordinance," and echoed Meyer's call for an investigation. Jim Wooldridge, who has the animal control contract, said Meyer is entitled to an investigation. He acknowledged being contacted by the Meyers the day of the incident. "I was kind of threatened," he said, adding that he did not mean threatened in a personal way. Wooldridge said he lost a dog in the same way several years ago. "This is something I do not believe in at all," he said. Wooldridge added that he wanted the matter brought in to the open. He said he felt Dean was trying to do his duty, and that the officer meant injection when he said "shot." Tim Eckerdt asked what animal owners and animal lovers are to do in the future. "What's going to protect us?" he wondered. Mayor George White said that with Mrs. Meyer's permission, the matter would be turned over to Potter. She agreed. Wooldridge said the council will have to consider allocating money to take animals to a veterinarian in such circumstances. Another animal control matter—cats next door to Mary Kleine's house on Nogal Place—was also discussed. Kleine had expressed concern about the cats at a previous meeting. She said the score is six are left, two were trapped. Potter said an honest effort has been made to trap the cats. He reported Wednesday that three more had been caught. Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital administrator Ken Moore and EMS director Jim Stover made a presentation to the council on the financial status of the ambulance service. Moore said the actual cost to the village of having the hospital run EMS through the end of the fiscal year will be 53 percent higher than projected. He attributed most of the increase to salary expenses, noting the hospital was informed it has to follow Wage and Hour Board regulations in paying EMS employees. Possible solutions given by Moore were raising the basic charge for ambulance calls from $56 to $90 and establishing a patient transfer service. He said adding a surcharge to traffic tickets, as suggested by Stover, would be another way of increasing revenue. The council took no action on the presentation Tuesday, but village manager Jim Hine predicted Wednesday the council will amend the village budget to allow for the increased EMS costs. Hine added that a bid for a new emergency vehicle—to be purchased in lieu of a new ambulance that was budgeted for this year—has been awarded. In other business, the council: —Approved a subdivision plat in Camelot for Tim Collins. —Heard a report from Mayor White on the economic development meeting he attended in Roswell (see related story). —Canvassed and approved the results of Tuesday's special election (see related story). —Heard Junge compliment Jim Alston on being named assistant police chief. —Agreed to name the new police-courts complex after the late Sam Nunnally. —Heard Hine report that a property redemption has been paid off and the village attorney will prepare a quitclaim deed. —Went into executive session to discuss possible litigation and personnel matters. An appointment to the Lodgers' Tax Committee and action on lease of school property were postponed.

Council increase wins

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

Ruidoso voters Tuesday set the stage for a busy campaigning season in the next few months by soundly approving an increase in the number of village council members from four to six. In an election many thought would be very close, voters approved the council increase 345 to 220. "I didn't expect that big a difference," said Mayor George White. All current council members, and possibly the mayor, will have to resign within 120 days. All six—or seven—council positions will be filled during the elections in March 1984. Although White is confident he will not have to resign, some council members have said they thought he will. Attorney General Paul Bardacke said Monday his unofficial opinion was that White is not included in the recall. White has said he will go to court, if necessary, to prove that he is not included in the recall. He also said he will definitely run for reelection if he is recalled. Village manager Jim Hine called the 27 percent voter turnout "above average for a special election." Councilman Al Junge, however, considered the 565 votes cast "pitiful." More than 800 voters turned out for the special election on a one percent sales tax and two bond issues to finance water system improvements in July 1982. The previous high for special elections had been 439 when Ruidoso voters approved restaurant beer and wine licenses in September 1981. Over 1,200 voted in the last village council elections in March 1982. "The voters have spoken," said councilman Benny Coulston soon after learning the election results Tuesday night. "One thing you don't argue with is the voters. They pay the freight." Coulston, whose four-year term ends in March, said he does not know if he will run again for council. He said he thinks the election will not affect the council's actions during the lame duck period until March. Junge, whose term has been cut short by the election, also said he does not know if he will run. Councilman Don Dale was unavailable for comment. Frank Sayner, whose term has also been cut short, said he will not run again. A number of others, however, appear ready for the race for six open council seats. Bill Karn and Milt Alcorn said Wednesday morning they intend to run for council. Many others have said they are considering running for office.

Schools to ask for more buses

by PAMELLA FIELD
News Staff Writer

"We have more students per bus than any other district in New Mexico," said Sid Miller, superintendent of the Ruidoso school district, following a school board meeting Tuesday night. Miller asked the board to approve a preliminary measure that would ask the state for allowances for six or eight additional buses starting next year. Miller said several reasons prompt a necessity for adding buses. Ruidoso schools are growing at a rate of six percent a year, he said, and this along with routes needed in the outlying areas is causing most of the increased need for buses. He said the present number of buses has children waiting in the playground early in the morning because of the bus shortage. He added that "with the recent demands for increased classroom time specified in the report 'A Nation At Risk,' the school demands a more efficient transportation system." The board approved Miller's request, which he intends to present to the Department of Transportation. In other business, the board: —Acknowledged a letter from Peggy McClellan, wife of Charles McClellan, who was a member of the school board. —Was introduced to personnel working in ancillary areas by Karen Tillman. Tillman said people in the community may not be aware of the types of services available to help children with problems such as speech, language and hearing problems. Carol Rasimus, speech and language therapist, said she works with students ranging from age five through high school. She said she works with students who have difficulty expressing themselves (called fluency, which used to be referred to as stuttering), and with students having problems with receptive speech (understanding). Rasimus said she will be involved in a developmental screening process that will start in the spring and that she hopes will "catch" some of these types of problems earlier. She said the problems are most severe for children with language difficulties if they are not detected soon enough. Rasimus is one of what Tillman refers to as an "excellent caliber" of people who work with people with special problems, but who also work with other students as time permits. —Discussed the ski program, which will begin the third week of January, according to Miller. —Heard a plan presented by Tillman about an upcoming workshop about study skills. Tillman said she hears parents complaining about children not knowing how to study. She said the time will be publicized later for a one-hour workshop that will be oriented toward parents.

First peso seminar conducted

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

"Our purpose is to try as simply as we can, with the banks' help, to understand dealing with pesos," said Ed Jungbluth, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and organizer of Wednesday night's peso seminar. The seminar was directed by a board consisting of Jungbluth, Buz Browning, president of Ruidoso State Bank; Don Shaw, president of Security Bank of Ruidoso; and Bill Maynton, vice president of First City National Bank. The first topic of discussion concerned the determination of the current rate of exchange of pesos for U.S. dollars. "What we need is a central point of information," Jungbluth said. "We're going to set up a peso hotline at the chamber where you can call and we'll tell you the current exchange rate as we know it." Jungbluth said their phone, which is equipped with a recording at nights and on Sundays, will record the last rate the chamber is able to obtain. "Today's rate is 160 to one," Jungbluth said. "It's devaluing at a rate of 13 centavos a day." Jungbluth said business owners may want to "pad" the amount they charge Mexicans to cover the devaluation. "They understand completely," Jungbluth said. "They expect it." Seminar board members agreed that about a 10 percent pad was adequate. "We should standardize what we all charge so no one's gouging them," Jungbluth added. Seminar board members also discussed the handling of Mexican personal and travelers checks. According to Browning, a processing time of two to six months can be expected on any check drawn on a Mexican bank. In addition, a check written in pesos would devalue during the time it takes the check to clear. He also said there was no problem with Mexican personal and travelers checks drawn on U.S. banks. The board members encouraged businesses to take no coin Mexican money, no paper money in denominations of less than 50 pesos and no paper money issued before 1960, because it was recalled and is now valueless. The bank directors said they would not deal with coins, and that notes of less than 50 pesos could not be credited immediately. The seminar board members also advised that business owners make change for Mexicans in U.S. dollars. They said Visa and Mastercard for Mexicans have been cancelled, but may be coming out again, newly issued.

P&Z sets committees

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

After a meeting with village council members Monday, the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) formed committees and made plans to investigate numerous zoning problems in the village.

P&Z chairman Greg Masters said council feedback encouraged him to make a formal request for a new Comprehensive Plan and hiring of a professional planner at a future council meeting.

P&Z formed committees to study zoning in Ponderosa Heights Unit III and Bog Springs and parking in the midtown shopping district.

Ponderosa Heights Unit III is currently zoned for multi-family dwellings, but is predominantly occupied by single-family homes. There are also a few mobile homes in the area, and a request is before the council to allow another mobile home to be placed in the area.

Although most people agree that the area is not suited for multi-family dwellings, there is debate whether to restrict it to single-family dwellings or allow mobile homes in the area. P&Z members Jim Paxton, Masters and Tom Kelham will study the area and make zoning recommendations to the council.

The Bog Springs area includes the White Mountain schools, the new high school and the municipal airport.

P&Z members have come out in the past favoring a study of the area, especially the airport in case it is abandoned. Martin Rose, Margaret Gaddy and Ray Bishop will study the area.

Bishop, Masters and Kelham will also study the problem of midtown parking. Masters said the council and P&Z members discussed the possibility of assessing a fee to businesses in the area unable to provide the required off-street parking. Those fees would be put toward the purchase of a midtown parking lot. The group will look at that proposal, consider other ideas and make recommendations to the village council.

Chairman Masters also directed P&Z enforcement officer Paul Davis to present a map of existing zoning and uses of property at the east end of Paradise Canyon during the commission's next workshop. The whole commission will consider what to do with the area, which has seen two zoning battles in the last few months.

P&Z member Gaddy suggested seeking the advice of a professional planner on the Paradise Canyon area. Masters said Tuesday at least one council member has indicated there may be money available to pay a professional planner to help with planning problems.

Masters said he received enough positive feedback from the joint council and P&Z meeting to make an official request for a new Comprehensive Plan and the hiring of a professional planner.

The 1976 Comprehensive Plan, a guide for future development of Ruidoso, has come under increasing fire in recent months. Critics say the plan is no longer valid for a Ruidoso that has grown tremendously in recent years. They also say P&Z and the council have been only sporadic in their adherence to the plan.

Councilman Frank Sayner said he thought the emphasis of the joint meeting was on the eventual production of a new Comprehensive Plan. He noted that the council already budgeted money for a new traffic study of Ruidoso that would eventually be a part of a new plan.

Sayner warned, however, that a new Comprehensive Plan would take approximately 18 months to produce even after it is started.

In other business Monday, P&Z:

—Advised Architectural Plans Review Committee (APRC) chairman Bill Carrigan to reduce the overlap of his committee and P&Z from four to two members. With four members serving on both P&Z and APRC, there was concern APRC members could control any appeal of the committee's decisions.

—Recommended a change in the village setback requirements to require temporary buildings to be built as far from property lines as permanent buildings. Temporary buildings are currently exempted from setback requirements.

—Recommended an increase in charges for conditional use applications from $15 to $25 to offset increased mail and labor costs.

—Heard that the sign committee will need two more meetings before seeking public input on amendments to the sign ordinance.

—Approved existing signs for True Value Home Center in spite of the store having more and larger signs than allowed under "current ordinances. Carrigan said existing ordinances required the committee to deny the sign application, but that the committee recommended approval of the signs due to the large size of the store.

—Approved plans for Painted Lady Square after Tommy Morel presented revised plans including adequate off-street parking.

—Rezoned lots 1-3, block 3, of Airport West, and lots 9 and 10, block 3, of Airport West First Addition from general commercial to light commercial use. Rezoned lots 1-5, block 4, Airport West First Addition and lots 5-10, block 4, of Airport West from light commercial to mobile home and trailer use.

Enforcement officer Davis explained that the commission made a mistake in early 1983 when it rezoned the area along Mechem Drive from the top of Alto Crest toward town. The commission rezoned a block off Mechem when it intended to rezone the block on Mechem in which the old 3 Bees convenience store sits. Monday's action corrected the mistake.

—Approved a replat of lots 31 and 32, block 17, on Alamo Drive for Steve Perry.

—Approved for one more year the temporary placement of the mobile home Emergency Medical Services headquarters on hospital property.

—Approved preliminary drawings for the rearrangement of Springs Condominiums contingent upon proof of adequate green space and parking spaces.

—Denied a replat of lot 17, block 20, in Ponderosa Heights because the owner of the adjacent lot was not at the meeting to confirm his approval of the replat.

—Tabled a request for road vacation of El Paso Road near Nob Hill Restaurant until Cliff Anderson responds to a proposed swap of land between the village and Anderson.

Downs water

by TIM PALMER
News Editor

Ruidoso Downs trustees were told Monday the village is eligible for a $192,000 loan from the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) for water improvements, but must have its water rights in order first.

The trustees met in special session to discuss water.

Gil Gallegos of FmHA in Albuquerque said the agency concurs with a report from Boyle Engineering calling for a $316,000 water improvements project. He said the village has a commitment from the state for a $124,000 water supply construction grant, and the FmHA loan would cover the remainder.

Gallegos explained that Ruidoso Downs appears to have water rights totaling 265 acre feet. Rights to Griffith Spring amount to 234 acre feet, and rights to the Denton well amount to 31 acre feet.

The village has been advised to request permission from the State Engineer to supplement its rights to Griffith Spring water with water from a new well. This would allow the village to supplement water it takes from the spring with well water during summer peak demand, explained Leroy Givens of Boyle Engineering after the meeting.

Gallegos expressed concern over the current water department budget of the village. He pointed out the budget is over $148,000—broken down to $60,000 for salaries, $80,000 for operating costs, and $8,200 for fuel.

"For a municipality this size, that's about triple what it should be," he said.

In discussion, it was brought out that all salary costs assigned to water should not have been, and that $38,000 of operating costs was money set aside for digging a new well.

Gallegos said there are presently 481 water users in the village. He stated that the average monthly cost per user could be $32.19 if the improvements program is implemented.

The average cost drops to $24.77 per user when planned condominiums and apartments are figured in, Gallegos said. He noted the agency makes a rate schedule for municipalities that borrow from it.

Trustee Harold Mansell expressed concern over any hike in water rates. "It's a trying situation for a great majority of our population to pay the $10 minimum," said Mansell.

"You're taking food out of their mouths."

He said raising the minimum to $15 would "really be astronomical."

"We can't look out for the rich and leave the poor alone," said Mansell.

Referring to last summer's shortages, trustee Conrad Buchanan said he would rather pay a little more and have a guarantee of water than pay $10 and possibly be denied water.

Village clerk Wilma Webb said she was told by the State Engineer's Office the village will have to meter its water from Griffith Spring in order for its supplemental credit application to be considered. The village is also applying for effluent credit.

Mayor J. C. Day said Wednesday a meter has been ordered for the spring.

It was noted that a protest of the water rights applications could delay approval. Also, the village must apply to and be turned down by a private lending institution in order to be eligible for the FmHA loan.

Day emphasized the need to improve the water system as soon as possible.

"We want the growth—we need the growth to get the revenue," said Day. "It's kind of like the chicken and the egg, you know?"

"We're sitting here on the edge of a crisis in the next few years if we don't get something done."

Merchants

Christmas trees and lights and Santa Claus highlighted the discussion at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Retail Merchants Association meeting Tuesday morning. The breakfast meeting, chaired by Budgie Green, was held at the Village Inn Pancake House.

The first item of discussion was the annual lighting of the Christmas tree at the "Y". Members decided to coordinate their efforts with village officials and set a date to cut the tree.

The association decided to set Saturday, November 19, as the day to raise and decorate the tree.

"We need volunteers to cut the tree and decorate it," Green said, "and they don't have to be Retail Merchant members."

The tree will be lit by local dignitaries at 6:30 p.m., according to Green. According to Ed Jungbluth, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, "Jim Paxton will fly to the North Pole in his plane and pick up Santa Claus."

Association members also discussed a proposal from Forest Service district ranger Paul Gordon that the village instead plant a living tree and decorate it each year.

The yearly lighting and decorating contest judging dates were also set. The commercial lighting and decorating will be judged Tuesday, December 6, and the residential judging is Wednesday, December 7.

Members were informed of the plans for local businesses to stay open late on December 8, 15 and 22. Businesses who stayed open late on each of the three days were eligible for a 15 percent advertising discount from the Ruidoso News, according to Carmen Edwards, Ruidoso News advertising manager.

"They have to take a minimum of three ads, one each week, and they have to remain open until 9 p.m.," Edwards said.

The association also heard a presentation from Nancy Radziewicz, of the Ruidoso Business Association. She spoke on the need for some organization to take over the Golden Jubilee program they organized last May.

"We need someone to be key person," Radziewicz said. "Our committee people are willing to work again. All these people did the work, we just need someone to bring it all together."

Members discussed her request and decided to table any action until the December or January meeting when a more representative number of Retail Merchant members can consider the request.

"Immediately allow all property owners in the Carrizo Canyon area to hook onto the sewer pipeline your company installed," read a letter the Lincoln County commissioners voted to send to Billy Taylor, president of Carrizo Lodge, Incorporated.

The letter came as a result of the commissioners' decision to support county residents' requests to be allowed access to a sewer line running through Carrizo Canyon.

"If they would just live up to their contract, that's all we want," Carrizo Canyon property owner Jim Wooldridge said.

According to Wooldridge, an agreement was offered by the corporation to property owners along the pipeline, advising them that hookups were available at a certain fee. Wooldridge said there was no time stipulation in the agreement.

The county based its decision on that agreement, and on representations Carrizo Lodge attorney Dan Bryant made last February to the commissioners, stating that all county residents would be allowed to tie onto the pipeline if they so desired. The commissioners also referred to the easement, granted by the county, that read "(the sewer line will be beneficial to and will provide sewer service to residents of Lincoln County at their option," as evidence for their decision.

In other actions, commissioners:

—Gave approval to the replat of lot 23 in Magado Creek estates.

—Gave approval to an amendment to Lincoln County Ordinance 82-2, which will provide that a fee of $25 will be charged for a road work permit for each separate location.

—Gave approval for the purchase of a repeater for the Sheriff's Office.

—Gave approval for a budget increase to pay a final bill to the National Health Service Corps.

—Gave approval to H. N. Larue and Sons to set up a rock crusher in a state gravel pit leased by the county.

Lodgers

by DARRELL J. PEHR

Power splitters, trunk amplifiers, low noise converters and coaxial cables were the subjects of discussion at the Ruidoso Lodgers Association meeting Tuesday.

The association heard a presentation from AdCom representatives Phillip Threadgill and Tonya Bullard on the pros and cons of installing a private television cable system for hotels, motels and cabins.

Threadgill said that although most of their systems were designed for lodging establishments that consisted of 100 or more rooms, they could deal with local lodgers individually.

"We could go and look over each separate lodger's situation and custom design a system for them," Threadgill said.

Threadgill said his systems cost between $21,000 and $39,000, depending on the system.

In other business, the association:

—Heard comments from M. A. "Milt" Alcorn, who said he was not officially announcing his candidacy for public office, but was present to get to know the lodgers and their needs.

—Discussed Christmas party plans, voting to dispense with the December meeting in favor of the party, which will be held Tuesday night, December 8.

—Discussed the Lodgers Association member book that will be distributed to 12 local restaurants. The book will contain descriptions of members' lodging establishments who pay the $10 advertising fee.

—Continued plans to send Phil Hamilton and Buddy Carter to represent the lodgers' views on the gross receipts tax at the next village council meeting.

Smokey Bear

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Smokey Bear will have his day after all. The Capitán Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday to set May 28 as Smokey Bear Day.

Smokey Bear Day committee member Rose Theidt said the committee had support from the Forest Service, the Capitán village council, U.S. Representative Joe Skeen's office and the Capitán schools in the campaign to make the date a nationally recognized day.

"The word is go," Theidt said. "We've run into no problems anywhere getting help and support from people. We have the schools, permission to use the fields after the

Activities suggested for the day included an arts and crafts show, parade, square dance, dog show and a band with dancing.

"The parade will have a theme," Theidt said, "and this year we're going to put the horses behind the band."

Theidt said anything could be entered in the parade as long as it was decorated.

Chamber members also proposed a marching band made up of members of bands throughout Lincoln County.

Members also discussed sending a representative from the group to go to other Lincoln County chambers of commerce to seek their support.

Plans to send Capitán resident Dorothy Guck to the Square Dance Club of America's Smokey Bear float in the upcoming Tournament of Roses parade in Pasadena, California, were also discussed. Guck was present at the original fire where Smokey was found, and she has been instrumental in projects surrounding Smokey Bear since then. Members proposed setting up a special bank account to collect contributions for Guck's plane fare and to support Smokey Bear Day.

"If we don't get Dorothy on the Tournament of Roses float, we're at least going to get her on ours," committee member Martha Theidt said.

Members also discussed the choice for grand marshal of the parade, listing former President Gerald Ford, a long-time friend of Guck's; Skeen; and State Senator Charlie Lee as possible choices for the honor.

"We're going to invite Gerald Ford, but he's going to have to pay his own way," Theidt said, laughing.

In other action, the Chamber voted to postpone Clean Up Day until April.

"The schools decided to wait, so it's cancelled until then," chamber president Pat Shear said. "That way, we'll have the town all cleaned up for Smokey Bear Day."

The chamber also elected David Strickland as president-elect to take over in May. Martha Theidt was appointed as a new board member.

Ben (Don Swalander, center) tries to bring a little sunshine in to the lives of retired vaudevillians Willie (E. Duane Byars, left) and Al (Sherman Atwood).

RLT comedy opens Friday

How about a little sunshine in your night? Let the Ruidoso Little Theatre (RLT) production of "The Sunshine Boys" put a little warm humor in your heart this weekend.

If you are over the age of 12, you know at least one Willie and one Al. These two lovable yet cantankerous retired vaudevillians will make you laugh in the Neil Simon tradition.

The cast, which includes E. Duane Byars and Sherman Atwood as the warring Willie Clark and Al Lewis, has been working diligently under the direction of Carl Mori and his assistant Jerry Jacobs to bring you as many laughs as the original Broadway production. Don Swalander certainly has his work cut out for him in playing the straight man.

Other cast members include RLT veteran Bill Don Knox and newcomers Carla Anderson, Mary Lou Brown and Randy Bennett. Tom Munn is adding his expertise as technical director for the play.

"The Sunshine Boys" will show at Cree Meadows Restaurant November 11, 12, 13, 19, 20, 25, and 26. Dinner will start nightly at 6 p.m. with curtain at 8 p.m. There will also be a 2 p.m. matinee Sunday, November 20.

Tickets are available at Hospital Pharmacy and Schlotzsky's. Tickets for dinner and the show are $15; for the show only $5.

Schools snow day procedures explained

When snow or ice creates hazardous driving conditions in Ruidoso, your cooperation in observing the following information is appreciated:

—1. If weather conditions develop to require an early dismissal from school, KREE, our local radio station, will broadcast the bulletin as soon as a decision has been made. In order to eliminate telephone calls to your child's school, please listen for information on the radio.

—2. KREE will begin broadcasting any changes from the regular school day at 6:30 a.m. At that time, it will have been determined whether school will be cancelled or have a delayed start. If a particular bus cannot run its route, that will be announced at this time also. When a bus does not run its route in the morning, it will not run in the afternoon.

—3. All cancelled days must be rescheduled according to state law. Make-up days will be scheduled for the second Saturday after the missed day. In the event that school is cancelled for more than one day during the week, parents will be informed when make-up dates have been scheduled.

Tiger, Grizzly spikers could tangle in state A semi-finals

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

There could be an all-Lincoln County match in the semi-finals of the state A division high school volleyball championships Friday in Albuquerque.

Carrizozo and Capitan will meet in the second round if both teams win their first-round matches this afternoon.

Capitan will tangle with Tatum at 3:30 in the opening round. Carrizozo will take on Coronado at 4:45. Both matches will be at Valley High School.

The semi-finals and finals will be at West Mesa High School. The finals will be Saturday, as will the third-place contest.

Capitan, which is 15-6 on the overall season, will be meeting a Tatum team which lost its regional final to three-time defending state champion Melrose.

"They're definitely a good club," said Tiger head coach Darrel Ray of Tatum. "They're a big team."

"We're going to have to control the net and serve well in order to win. Actually, I think the team that makes the fewest mistakes will win the match."

The Capitan starters will include Kennetta LaMay, Becky Huey, Laura Lee, Audrey Joiner, Tiffany Huey and Helen Long.

Shelly Stowe, Stephanie Stowe and Bobbi Rogers will probably see a lot of action coming off the bench.

Ray feels the Tiger volleyball program has improved greatly this season. The combined record of the varsity, junior varsity and junior high teams is 30-13.

Carrizozo is coming off an impressive victory in the regional tournament last week. The Grizzlies took a decisive 15-8, 15-4 decision over powerful Fort Sumner in the regional finals.

Coach Ron Becker's team is sparked by all-district picks Mary Jane Ferguson and Christetta Chavez.

Other top Grizzly players include Lynn Gallacher, Debbie Najjar, Julie Vega and freshman Karen Baroz.

"We're ready to play," Becker said. "There are eight teams entered in the tournament and they're all aiming for the championship."

There will also be competition in the AAAA, AAA and AA divisions.

Warrior banquet set for Tuesday

The first Ruidoso High School fall sports banquet will be at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 15, in the Warrior gymnasium.

The Warrior football, cross-country and volleyball teams will be honored at the banquet.

Warrior harriers compete in AAA state meet Saturday

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

The competition will be a mystery when the Ruidoso High School boys and girls cross-country teams compete in the state AAA division championships in Albuquerque Saturday.

This is the first year of competition for the Warrior harriers, and the Ruidoso coaches admit they don't know much about the competition. The meet will begin at 9:30 a.m. at Milne Stadium.

"I'm not sure who the toughest teams might be," said Warrior boys coach Ronny Maskew. "This is our first year of competition and there will be just 10 teams competing. Possibly Grants and Goddard might be tough."

"We're going up there mainly for experience," Warrior girls coach Sergio Castanon said. "This will only be our second meet and we're going to try and improve our times. Hopefully, we can build on this and get some more girls to come out next season."

The Warriors will have five boys and six girls in the state competition. In the district meet last Saturday at the Inn of the Mountain Woods, Ruidoso lost the two-team competition to Silver City.

Silver City won the boys title 23-36 and the girls crown 17-42. However, Cisco Bob of Ruidoso won the boys individual championship with a 16:11 time, beating runner-up Sal Garcia by over a minute.

Other Warrior boy finishers included David Ordorica, fourth; Francisco Olvera, ninth; Gabe Tarn, 19th; and Curt McClellan, 12th. It was the Ruidoso boys' third meet of the season.

Maskew is optimistic about Bob's chances in the individual race.

"He has an excellent chance of placing high," Maskew remarked.

One of Bob's top competitors should be David Hood of Goddard. Hood has beaten the Warrior ace twice this season and has run in the 15-minute range several times.

Several of the northern schools also have top runners. However, Bob finished second in the state track 1,500 meters last spring and has improved with each outing this fall.

The Warrior girls should be paced by freshman Rachel Kaydahzlane. Kaydahzlane finished fourth in the district meet with a 21:05 time and should improve on that in the state meet.

Other Warrior girls who will compete in the state meet include Deanna Pesco, Stacy Ivy, Rosemary Tkacsik, Gia Rose and Mayra Geronimo.

Pesco and Rose competed in the state track meet last spring, so both have been in big "pressure" meets before.

Pesco was eighth in the district meet, Ivy ninth, Tkacsik 10th, Rose 11th and Geronimo 12th.

Both Warrior teams will be aided in the team competition because several other runners will be competing as individuals only.

If a team didn't finish in the top two places of its district meet, it didn't qualify for the state meet. However, individual runners who placed in the top five at the district meet get to compete in the state meet as individuals.

NOTES: Maskew and Castanon want to thank the Inn of the Mountain Woods and its golf professional, Jack Warlick, for the use of its facilities Saturday. Milne Stadium is located about two or three blocks from the Duke City sports complex area that includes the University of New Mexico stadium and basketball arena and the Albuquerque Dukes baseball team park.

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

The Washington Redskins and Dallas Cowboys are again tied for the top position in my weekly National Football League (NFL) poll.

Both teams won last Sunday, Dallas stopped a pesky Philadelphia Eagles team 27-20 and Washington rolled over St. Louis 45-7.

The Cowboys and Redskins are probably the most consistent of the NFL's quality teams.

Dallas is more of a big-play team, while the Redskins rely more on a bruising ground attack and the accurate passing of quarterback Joe Theismann.

In third place are the Pittsburgh Steelers. Pittsburgh has won six straight games and has an 8-2 record, tying it with Washington for the league's second best record behind Dallas.

Pittsburgh's defense has been awesome and its offense has shown improvement since the beginning of the season.

The Steelers' defense is equal in many ways to its "Steel Curtain" defense of the 1970s.

Fourth place is a tough choice. I'm going with the Miami Dolphins and the Los Angeles Raiders in a tie.

True, the Raiders defeated the Dolphins fairly easily early in the season. However, Miami has improved greatly since then and rookie quarterback Dan Marino has been very impressive.

Los Angeles is still a tough team that makes its own breaks and wins the close games. The Raiders showed that in a come-from-behind 28-20 victory over the Kansas City Chiefs last Sunday.

There are a host of teams on my honorable mention list.

A total of eight teams in the NFL have 6-4 marks and all of them are on my honorable mention list along with the 6-6 New England Patriots.

Minnesota, San Francisco, Baltimore, Buffalo, Denver, Seattle, New Orleans and the Los Angeles Rams are all 6-4. The Patriots make the list because they have generally played good football and have a good points scored-points allowed record (220 points scored and just 196 allowed).

And here are just a few observations on the NFL division races this season.

There are good races in every division except for the American Conference (AFC) Central Division, where Pittsburgh leads by three games over Cleveland.

The closest race is in the National Conference (NFC) Western Division where San Francisco, New Orleans and the Rams are tied for first place. Even Atlanta at 4-6 (and with a big Monday night football game against the Rams coming up) is still in the division race.

The 49ers have looked either awesome or mediocre this season. They've lost three of the four games they've played in which the final margin was by less than a touchdown. San Francisco is among the league leaders in both offense and defense but can't win the close games.

New Orleans has looked very good at times but seems to be "fined" by its losing history. The Saints can't seem to win the close games either.

Los Angeles has exciting rookie running back Eric Dickerson and talented quarterback Vince Ferragamo. But its defense is a bit old and suspect.

Still, this division could be the league's toughest in a couple of years, if not sooner. All four franchises have fairly young teams and should get better.

I'm going with San Francisco as the Western Division champion, but timidly. The 49ers' history except for its Super Bowl title two years ago has been one of disappointment.

The AFC Western and Eastern divisions races are also close. I look for Miami to win the Eastern Division and the Raiders to take the Western Division crown.

Warrior hoopsters have large turnouts

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

Both Ruidoso High School head boys basketball coach Ron Geyer and head girls basketball coach Sergio Castanon have a lot of candidates to choose from in pre-season practice.

Geyer has around 50 boys to choose his team from, while Castanon has about 25 girls working out. The Warrior coaches have started a slogan of "defense, discipline and dedication" in an effort to help get their teams ready.

"We haven't decided on a varsity team yet," Geyer said. "The guys who played football have just come out and the other guys have only been practicing for about a week."

Geyer and assistant coach Jim Hofstad will coach the varsity, junior varsity and freshman teams this season.

The Warrior coach says he has been impressed with the way his players have looked in practice.

"What I like best is their intensity," he commented. "The players are definitely ahead of last year at the same time."

"We've been doing ball-handling drills, shooting drills and defensive drills in our practices."

Although the Warriors were winless last season, Geyer and Hofstad have several returnees who did well last season.

Sophomore Dan Ullmann and senior Gilbert Rivera both made honorable mention on the District 3-AAA team last year.

Cyrus Simmons, Patric Pearson, Tommy Crow, Russell Easter, Omar Dix, Jesse Reynolds and Kenny Espinosa also had plenty of playing time last season.

Some of the top freshman prospects who played for White Mountain Middle School last season include Brian Davis, Jeff Willingham and Kirk Taylor.

Castanon and assistant James Sanchez have four players back from last season's 9-13 team.

Stacy Ivy, Gia Rose, Jackie Jefferson and Lillian Lopez all started at one time or another last season and they give the Warriors a solid base from which to build. Ivy made the honorable mention all-district team.

Athletes who saw a lot of playing time on the junior varsity last season include Kerl Thomas, Judy McCoy and Yelena Seelbach. Diane McClure, a 5-11 transfer from Texas, should also help out.

"The kids have looked tough and aggressive in practice," Castanon said. "Having James Sanchez as my assistant is going to help a lot. He was the head girls coach before I was." Castanon is optimistic about his team.

"If they can play with intensity, we can have good results," he said.

The Warrior boys will open their season Tuesday, November 29, at Roswell. The Ruidoso girls will begin Friday, December 2, at Cloudcroft.

Celtics finish perfect season

When the Radio Shack Celtics won the Ruidoso Soccer Association under-seven championship last Saturday, they put the caps on a perfect 5-0 season.

The Celtics dominated play most of the match, scoring the only goal in the second period. Ezra Roan scored the goal on a fine pass from Jesse Fromknecht.

The Celtics' defense was one of the keys to their victory, only allowing two shots on goal the entire match. The Celtics' offense fired seven shots on goal.

Coached by James Stephens and Jody Fromknecht, the Celtics scored 13 goals on the season and only allowed one, that coming in the final regular-season match against the Sting.

What was the reason for the Celtics' success?

"Hard work, we just outplayed the other teams," said Stephens. "We practiced a lot."

Look for the Celtics and the other youth soccer teams to do well again next season.

Are You Looking Into a Solar System

HERE'S WHAT THE EXPERTS SAY:

October 14, 1983

Mr. Ralph Lermayer
Alamo Solar Heating
1580 N. White Sands Blvd.
Alamogordo, N.M. 88310

Dear Mr. Lermayer:

As you well know from your own extensive testing of various Domestic Hot Water Systems over the last few years, there is no known system as well adapted to our local conditions as the excellent marriage of components which you have engineered into your Ultima II.

Our rather extensive technical investigation of hot water systems, under Southern New Mexico water and weather conditions, initially led us to specifying the system characteristics that, happily, we found your firm had engineered into the Ultima II system. We wanted separate closed loops (hot water and transfer liquid separated), an integral heat exchanger/hot water tank, high output collectors, and, the final touch, low operating cost circulation pump and controls.

The balance of these elements and the elimination of complex and unnecessary drain-back, drain-down hardware makes, in our opinion, for an ideal installation. We are experiencing proportional flow from the collectors to the heat exchanger that is "automatically" optimized by the photovoltaic current to the pump motor. We have recorded copious collector flow under full sun load and proportionately reduced flow speed through the collectors, allowing more insulation time under limited solar input periods (ie: clouds, low incidence angles, etc.).

The Ultima II system is fully appropriate to the technological aims we attempted to design into our nearly self-sufficient earth-integrated/passive solar home.

Congratulations on an excellent design that has in our opinion made all others obsolete.

Very truly yours,
M. E. Givens

Mr. Givens is the designer and owner of Kiva-sol, a 3,000 sq. ft. home located on Thunder Road, in Alamogordo. Kiva-sol is the most monitored home in America today and is setting standards for ALL Passive Solar Homes NOW and in the Future. He is also the President of the Alamogordo Solar Energy Association.

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

A Blessed Celebration For Lula Runnels

Last Sunday, the Capitan Church of Christ sponsored a birthday dinner for Lula Runnels, who celebrates her ninetieth birthday on November nine. I am writing this message to you on November nine.

A beautiful house plant was presented to Lula by all those in the gathering, which filled the activities building of the Lincoln County Fair. A little Message came with the plant:

"Bloom where you are planted." Pastor of the church, Rex Lane, said that Lula had lived up to this little motto.

The blessing for the dinner was offered by Howard Shenk.

In keeping with the tribute to a pioneer lady, an old custom was revived, going back to the days when we had no T.V., radio, phonographs, and few books. In those days it was very much in style to recite poems, or quotations from famous literary works or speeches.

The reverend Mr. Lane recited a poem entitled, "Just an ordinary member," adding a verse of his own at the end.

"Just an ordinary member of the Church"

I heard her say,
But you'd always find her present,
Even on a rainy day.
She had a warm hand-clasp
For the stranger in the isle,
And a friend who was in trouble
Found sunshine in her smile.
When the sermon helped her
She told the preacher so.
And when she needed help
Few would ever know.
She always gave so freely
And always did her share.
In the ordinary tasks
For which some have no care.
Her talents were not many
But her love for God was true

Her prayers were not in public
But she prayed for me and you.
"An Ordinary member" did you say?

I think I should say,
She was "extra ordinary"
In a humble sort of way.

Another poem was recited by Mr. Stanley Few of Capitan entitled:

"My Mother's Old Checked Apron."
This was highly appreciated by all the well wishers. And Stanley has promised to send me a copy. And I would like to pass it on to you.

We are thankful for all those who made this celebration for Lula such a great blessing. And we thank Lula for the inspiration which she has always been to all of us.

Birthday Present For Judy Beavers

Up town on the eighth a beaming Judy Beavers showed me her birthday present—a beautiful maroon President Van. I suggested that she name this present "Teddy" in memory of Teddy Roosevelt whose birthday falls on the same day as Judy's, October twenty-seven. Now the family can really "go a-foolballing."

Diana's Dog, Christian
Tim Palmer's story in the Ruidoso News struck a responsive chord when I read Diana's words, "It was as if a child of mine had been shot."

Our mother used to say:
I do not want to live in a town any larger than one where everybody knows my dog."

Every pet I ever had came to the house by itself, starving, hurt, lonesome or to help me.

I know my little Coyote-Collie, Shady Logan, who was never out of my presence for fourteen years except during my one-hundred days in the hospital, was sent to me.

I will always send up a prayer to Ed Hebert for caring for Shady during this time. Shady was a bodyguard, the next thing to a brother.

My dog, Solo Vito, came to the house starving. And the Cat, Corina, both starving and almost dead from injuries. While I am away, I worry about these two as if they were my children, and there is no more welcome sight than to see Corina waiting for me in the corner of the window in the door.

Teddy Roosevelt once said:
"I will not be happy in Heaven unless the horses are there." He went on to say that he was sure they would be.

The spirit of my Dog, Shady, often comes to visit me. So, cheer up, Diana, you have given your dog the finest home any creature could have for sixteen years. And your beloved Christian is safe and happy in Heaven.

An Anniversary
If you will forgive me, I would like to tell you one more time that this November ninth was the twelfth anniversary of my being run over by a dirt mover, and making a miraculous escape from death.

I saved myself by keeping in mind the lightning quickness of my brother Lynn, in emergencies—and made the leap of my life winding up with leg injuries only. During the birthday months of my people I try to draw to myself their qualities of character. Lynn's birthday is November twenty-eight.

The kindness of the countless folks during my one hundred-day stay in the hospital will be gratefully remembered always.

Opinion

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Running a state sometimes involves a little fakery.

Or, if that last word's too rough, let's say it takes a little prestidigitation—making what isn't true look like it is, as a stage magician does.

Take the Governor's plan for getting schoolteachers more money.

He's told us all along that can only be done in times which are tough if the people themselves demand that it be done.

That plan he unveiled in Albuquerque last week didn't come from the people upward to the top. It was invented above, and now an effort will be made to make us down below think we thought of it.

At that speech he implied strongly that he would make his proposal (details below) because it had been recommended to him by the citizens on his Commission on Public Schools.

They did in fact make these suggestions in their preliminary report to the Governor, but that doesn't mean they were arrived at independently.

The whole Commission was hand-picked by Anaya, and he has made clear that he doesn't name people to such boards unless they agree to represent his views there.

To be doubly sure the group did what he wanted, he staffed it with employees of the Office of Education. That's the part of the educational establishment the Governor already controls. Jim Miller, for instance, who runs it, is an Anaya appointee, presumably governed by the same commitment Commission members must have had to give.

What's more, just to make sure of total control, Miller and his people are drafting the final proposal; and Miller writes all the speeches the Governor goes around giving on the topic.

Commission members are, in large part, school people, who will benefit from any raises granted as a result of their recommendations.

And Jim Miller, ubiquitous in this process, will be named to head up the massive new Education Department the Governor will ask the voters to give him.

Where do the members of the public come into all this?

In that speech in Albuquerque, Anaya told members of the National Education Association that it was now their job to go out and stir up the public to demand what he wants to give them.

Doesn't that seem a little backwards?

Do you get the impression some people are trying very hard to manipulate us, to get us to do their will?

Here's what the Governor says he will propose to the Legislature, as needed to improve the quality of education in the state:

—That beginning teachers, who now average an annual wage of $14,800, be given a series of progressive raises until the beginning salary is $25,000 in 1990. What raises will be proposed for other members of the teaching profession has not yet been said.

—That the school year, which presently contains 180 working days, be extended to 190 days. Anaya calls that a "modest change," which it is, as far as achieving excellence in education goes. Cost of even this modest move, however, is estimated at $15.8 million for next year alone.

—That teachers be allowed to retire at the end of 25 years instead of having to wait till they have completed 30 years, as is the case at present.

—And, above all, that the Constitution be changed to combine all elements of educational oversight in a single entity, which would be under the direct control of the governor.

Estimates on what it will cost to raise salaries for educators should be released sometime soon. The amount will be a large one.

Sense & Nonsense

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici

On Veterans Day, November 11, there will be a few more to remember. A few more brave young American men have shed their blood in the defense of freedom. On the tiny island of Grenada in our own hemisphere, our words, our speech defending peace, freedom and human rights were put to the ultimate test.

America did not back down from its responsibility as the world's strongest and staunchest defender of freedom. Historically, it is a role that America and Americans have accepted reluctantly, but when the crisis arises, when the call for help comes from the world community that freedom and peace and stability are threatened, it is America that has been watchful and ever-vigilant, and has responded.

Our democratic system of government allows a freedom few can enjoy anywhere else in the world. It is hard for our people to understand what it is like to have no freedom or to have to fight for that freedom because it has been with us so long, it almost seems as natural to us as breathing.

We are free to be critical and skeptical of our government's actions and deeds and we do analyze each deed with a standard of moral conduct far above that which the world community expects of a nation. But we do that to improve ourselves, to make ourselves more aware of the imperfections, the occasional wars and blemishes that even the best of systems of government have.

But these regular trips to the national confessional should not blind us as a people to the fact that America does a lot of good in the world. Our generosity to other nations, our offers of assistance to those countries of the world in need, exceeds that of any other nation in history.

The Soviet Union, Cuba, and their satellites who sow the seeds of terrorist and revolution in the world have by far the easier task. It is easier to break down a system of government than it is to build it up. There is something inherently unfair and insidious about the Soviet Union and Cuba when they use the poverty and problems of small nations as an opportunity to establish their form of Marxism in that country.

America has shown its firm resolve though, in its stand for peace and freedom in Grenada that it will no longer allow these nations in our hemisphere beset with internal strife to be badgered by Cuban and Soviet infiltration and communist-supported terrorism.

President Reagan deserves the greatest credit in this resolve for history will show that when the tough decisions had to be made in these matters, he had the courage and had the guts to make them. The President is a more sensitive person than many realize from his public image, and I know personally that the decision to go ahead with the rescue operation in Grenada was agonizing. It was an even tougher decision than normal because he had to give his approval to this rescue mission right after the massacre of more than 200 Marines in Lebanon.

There were those who criticized the President on his decision to go into Grenada. One major television network even went so far as to interview a Cuban family and filmed what many consider a propaganda event which showed the family waiting for news of their relative on Grenada. The grandmother of the large family criticized President Reagan and called him a "fascist assassin." The grandfather asked for the family to be allowed to sing the Cuban national anthem, which the whole family sang while the network rolled the tape.

While I do not agree with this kind of television news reporting, it shows how free we are for it was only in America that our media could have the freedom to interview a family in the enemy country and air their criticism of our President and their national anthem on our television network. The Cuban government would most certainly not have allowed one of our families to be interviewed criticizing Fidel Castro and singing our national anthem on their government-controlled network.

So on Veterans Day we will have a few more brave men to remember. We will have a few more bereaved families we will mourn with, pray with, and comfort in our communities. We have defended the cause of freedom and human rights, taken our responsibility and paid for it with the lives of our young men. But we have been steadfast, and have remained, in the words of that brave young wounded Marine, "Semper Fidelis." — Always Faithful.

Editorial

The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights did a study in 11 Southern New Mexico counties and found that minorities and women are under-represented in locally elected offices.

For some reason, Lincoln County was not included in the study. But its findings seem to hold true here, and minority members and women interested in gaining some political clout should take note of them.

Researchers found that local elected officials—school board members, city and county commissioners and state legislators—are in the best position to correct community problems. But in this end of the state, elected officials are not representative of the population patterns, which show a large percentage of women and minorities.

Locally, there are no women or Hispanic-surnamed school board members, village council members or county commissioners. Ruidoso Downs does have one woman, LaVerne Cole, on its board of trustees.

Though the federal study was prompted by complaints about prejudice and discrimination, the under-representation of women and Hispanics here probably reflects a lack of organization more than anything.

With Ruidoso electing at least six new councilpersons in March, members of those groups who seek representation would do well to start organizing now.—TP

by Pam Field

I've wrestled over what I wanted to write for this column ever since the slaughter in Beirut. Then came Grenada.

Do I write about militarism? Do I write about pacifism without fear of being branded a Communist? How can I narrow it down? How can I put into words what I feel about press suppression? Am I not protecting an American right guaranteed by our constitution founders by expressing OUTRAGE at the military dictating our government?

Even more amazing to me is the acceptance of press suppression in Grenada by large numbers of people. Last Sunday's letters to the editor section in a major paper was filled with people endorsing this action and questioning how anyone could be upset with it.

Blocking out the press, has frustrated White House press officers, and as a result Les Janka, deputy press secretary for foreign affairs, has resigned.

Blocking out the press is serious enough, but since when does the military dictate it?

Among the most obvious signs of military influence in the administration are:

The three top officials of the National Security Council are professional military men. This is unprecedented. Top man is Robert McFarlane, a retired Marine colonel. His top deputy, John Poindexter, is a rear admiral. McFarlane's executive secretary, Robert Kimmitt, is a retired Army major. The administration's strategic arms negotiator, Edward Rowny, is a retired general; and Jonathan Howe, one of the State Department's top arms control advisers, is an admiral.

The military has been given increased authority. President Reagan gave Army General John Vessey Jr. control over Grenada, including responsibility for management of the news. Vessey chose to keep out reporters.

I'm not saying the invasion wasn't necessary. I don't know. I would feel better if reporters were there rather than receiving the information from the government. When does information received like this become propaganda and not news?

"Being concerned about the safety of the press" is a weak and humorous excuse to me. To use a phrase often used by another president who gave the Pentagon full charges in the sixties: "You won't have me to kick around anymore."

No one can say the "media" distorted coverage. Scary, isn't it? Monica O'Reilly called me this week and said, "I need to feel like I am doing something positive. I can't sit around and feel depressed about nuclear war anymore."

She talked about an "insane arms policy" that is accepted by this administration and the country.

"I just have this feeling that the world is going to end soon by nuclear war. What right do we have to end civilization?"

Monica had received information about two organizations that she had written to. She is interested in talking with other people who are interested.

The names of the organizations are Peace Links and Women Against Military Madness. Both are geared toward involving women in efforts toward the prevention of nuclear war.

Peace Links originated from Betty Bumpers, wife of Senator Dale Bumpers of Arkansas, a former teacher and leader of a national immunization campaign. She invited 35 women representatives of a range of political, social and religious groups to a meeting in Little Rock, Arkansas. One year later she had personally spoken with over 18,000 women in 14 states. Now all 75 counties in Arkansas have Peace Links coordinators; it has active statewide organizations in several states; and organizing is under way in 10 other states.

It is unique in its structure. Mainly it empowers women to have a voice and to take actions they are comfortable with in helping find ways to lessen the threat of nuclear war. Women work through service organizations, churches, garden clubs and other professional organizations. Address of the group is Peace Links—Women Against Nuclear War, 723 1/2 8th Street, S.E., Washington, D.C. 20003.

Women Against Military Madness is much more of an active protesting group. This is a group that chooses to draw the link between the loss of jobs and vital human services and the growing military budget. Often members of this group can be seen on the freeways passing out leaflets to people.

Address of this group is: Women Against Military Madness, 3225 Hennepin Ave., S., Minneapolis, MN.

I agree with David Broder who said in a column that the following phrase should be imprinted on the heads of anyone who occupies the Oval Office of the White House. It is a sentence once written by Dwight D. Eisenhower when he was questioned about the necessity of nuclear build-up.

"When we get to the point, as we one day will, that both sides know that in any outbreak of general hostilities, regardless of the element of surprise, destruction will be both reciprocal and complete, possibly we will have sense enough to meet at the conference table with the understanding that the era of armaments has ended and the human race must conform its actions to this truth or die."

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Evidently, according to Judge Cupp, we have the right to fill stream beds on our land and not be at all concerned about the consequences to other property. Surely any intelligent person realizes that by filling in a natural stream bed we are in essence only diverting it. Nature will in time create her own ditch.

Considering some of the heavy rains we have in the summer, our front yard now bears a close resemblance to the Colorado River. This is caused by a road put in by Whispering Bluff Condominiums — with no attempt whatsoever to accommodate the obvious need of a ditch.

We did make an attempt to communicate this possible problem to the contractor before the road was paved. Numerous attempts for reconciliation through the city have been made, but to no avail.

Ours is not the only property affected by this circumstance. Our neighbor's sturdy fence is in danger of being washed out, probably by next summer. If you have an unsightly stream bed on your property you might just go ahead and divert it to your neighbor's property. There's not much he can do about it.

Fishing at my house.

JULIE YOWELL

News' policy on letters to editor

The Ruidoso News welcomes "Letters to Editor," and will publish them on the Opinion Page, with all letters being subject to editing for length.

The name of the writer must be printed. A telephone number must be included with the letter for verification of the writer's identity.

Adequate insulation helps pay for itself in long run savings on energy costs and it's the number one way to save energy all year round. Every floor, ceiling, and wall that joins an unheated or uncooled area needs to be insulated to prevent summer heat gain and winter heat loss. If your home already has insulation, check to see that it has the recommended "R" value for this area. Adding just enough insulation to meet the recommended "R" value for this area will help make your home comfortable and energy efficient at the same time. For more information on insulation for your home, call our office for all the details.

Bob Arnett: the view from the top

By DICK ALWAN
Special to The News

Back in the early 1950s, Bob Arnett was a young man fresh out of high school.

Eager to work, eager to get ahead, Arnett landed a job with the railroad, and worked the Galveston area, repairing signal lights and maintaining track.

The pay was $375 a week, and that was big money back then. A man could live well, and have a fat nestegg—plus a gold-plated pocket-watch and a wardrobe of bib overalls—when it came time to retire.

But there was a problem. Arnett hated the work. Why else would he jump in his car, just after punching out Friday afternoons, and drive 90 miles to Ruidoso Downs? Even worse, he had to high-ball it back another 90 miles and check in for work on Monday mornings.

The lure which sucked him to Ruidoso in those early days was the horses his father, Claud Arnett, was training at the mountain track.

After two years of railroad life, the younger Arnett had all he could stand. Hang the $375 a week, he thought. So he coughed up the fat-paying job in lieu of a $50-per-week paycheck as assistant to trainer R.D. Hay. It was a move, despite its lack of economic underpinnings, that he never regretted. Now 50 and one of the most successful trainers in Southwest racing, Arnett advises: "If you're not happy with the work you're doing, do something else. I made a lot less money when I started out in horse racing, but I was a lot happier."

As the current Sunland season continues to unwind, Arnett was certain to record his 1,500th Sunland win. (After the first three weeks of the season, Arnett's total had stood at 1,491). He's won the Sunland trainer crown nine times, and he's been ranked among the top ten just about each year since Sunland opened in 1959. His best output, in terms of number of wins, came during the 1974-75 season, when he logged 75 wins. That's the second-best win production by a trainer in Sunland history. (The top mark was set at 92 by W.A. Thompson in 1970-71.)

Over the years, Arnett has built a reputation as a solid trainer who wins plenty of races. His strong suit has been claiming and allowance races. But Arnett's attack strategy—in spite of himself—has changed in the past few years. "I used to avoid two-year-olds, they were a lot of headaches and a lot of worry," he says. "But when I started training for Preston Farms (Burkburnett, Texas), and they began coming up with one good stakes two-year-old after another, I had to change my thinking."

BOB ARNETT

Ironically, Arnett—the man who used to brag about his aversion for two-year-olds—now finds himself with "more two-year-olds than anything." But he admits the situation is a lot more palatable when you've got top-caliber animals. "Those big purses certainly give you a lot of incentive," he allows.

For example: Arnett has bagged the prestigious Norgor Futurity at Ruidoso Downs three years in a row. He started with Pride Of Loom in 1981, followed up with the brilliant Sundays Payday in 1982, then took the 1983 version with Classy Loom. Classy Loom, incidentally, also took the runner-up slot in Sunland Park's high-profile $323,705 Riley Allison Futurity early in 1983.

The history of modern thoroughbred racing in the Southwest is spotted by Arnett milestones. One of his first big stars was Abba's Bull, who toiled in the 1958-61 time frame, and won Ruidoso's Inaugural Handicap three years running, plus the Speed Championship three times straight, plus the Ruidoso Mile—as well as "a bunch of handicaps in Tucson."

Just the mention of Abba's Bull is enough to put a warm resonance in Arnett's all-business voice. "J.C. Watson and I claimed him for $3,000 in Phoenix, and at that time, that was the most money I'd ever paid on a claim," he goes on. "Abba's Bull went on and earned almost $80,000—which was an impressive money-line back then."

A few years later, Arnett was in California, and purchased Nevada Phil in partnership with the late Delbert Basden of Amarillo. Nevada Phil turned into a giant among Southwest handicap horses, finally running up about $50,000. The most imposing part of the story, though, is the purchase price of Nevada Phil: $500.

Another handicap horse closely associated with Arnett is the mare, Crazy Frills, who still co-holds the six-furlong record (1:11.3-5) at Ruidoso Downs.

But it wasn't until Arnett joined forces with Preston Farms some four years ago that he began making the move from a savvy allowance and claiming trainer to a developer of top stakes talent. The horse most identified with this transformation is Sundays Payday, a winner of about $300,000 thus far.

But the racing future of the colt is now ended, through no fault of Arnett's. The owners of the colt had decided to ship him to California earlier this year, where he suffered an injured hoof. A steel plate was installed on one side of the hoof to protect it, but the plate got rusty, and an infection developed. The wound finally cost Sundays Payday his life.

The winding yellow-brick road which brought Arnett from a railroad dropout to horse-racing pre-eminence really began long before his two-year stint with the railroad. "I was raised around horses, and always loved it," he says.

The family homestead, where a 640-section spread in Carlsbad, was his father (who passed away four years ago) raised cattle. "Every Sunday, he would race horses in match races, and during the summer, he would be off racing horses all over Texas. I watched them run such great early quarter horses as Wonderland and No Cat. One time at McCamy, Texas, I saw Wonderland and No Cat run in three match races one day, going three eighths of a mile each time."

After leaving the railroad, and taking the plunge in racing, he didn't get his first break until his father went in to partners with Tom Clark of Tucson. The venture was "hauling cattle out of Mexico." Coincidentally Clark was also an owner of quarter horses, and one of his properties was Painted Joe, a top competitor in the Tucson area in those days. With the elder Arnett now busy with the cattle business, Bob was recruited to train Clark's racing stable. "It's so hard to get started, but that was the break I needed," Arnett says.

Arnett's early racing experience on the Arizona fair circuit provided the hard-knocks education you needed back then. "You had to learn your lessons well," he says. "There were some old men on that circuit who knew what they were doing, and you learned by watching them. You learned to run your horses 'crippled'—or you didn't survive."

Arnett wound up as the leading trainer at Tucson five years in a row, then was ready to expand his horizon when Sunland Park opened in 1959. During Sunland's first years, Arnett would race at Sunland in October, November and December, then spend much of the rest of the year in Tucson, Sonoma, Duncan, Safford and other Arizona locales.

But after his third year on this schedule, he decided Sunland had more of a future than the Tucson circuit, so began staying for the entire season. Now in the afternoon of his racing career, Arnett can take satisfaction in being regarded by his peers as one of the most respected talents in the hard-driving circuit consisting of Sunland Park, Ruidoso Downs and the New Mexico State Fair.

He has this view on Sunland: "The competition is tremendous and the public really benefits in the winter, but it's tougher on the trainers to survive. All the top trainers from La Mesa Park, the Downs at Santa Fe and Ruidoso Downs are here. You're competing with the better trainers from all those tracks in New Mexico. In the summer, everyone's split up. It makes it that much tougher to win at Sunland Park."

More frequently than he probably cares to admit, Arnett is thinking more and more of retiring. Not that it's exactly around the corner. "I'd like to phase out in about five years, and turn everything over to my son (trainer Jon Arnett). You get to thinking it would be nice to do some traveling and fishing. You kind of want to get out from under the pressure of maintaining horses in top form, running a large stable, and having a lot of owners to answer to."

Arnett's thoughts of retiring may also be prompted by the fact he's a diabetic, and requires a daily injection of insulin. The effect, he says, lasts about eight hours, then leaves him "peaked out." "I don't have the energy at the end of the day like I used to have when I was younger," he says.

But don't get the idea Bob Arnett gets up in the morning with all the dread of an eight-to-five getting ready to punch a railroad timeclock and repair signal lights all day. "I'm eager to get to work," he says. "I often think, what would I do if I didn't have my own barn to go to every day?"

Ajarutu aces Futurity

Ajarutu, a filly making the second start of her career, allied through between horses at the top of the stretch and scored a surprisingly easy conquest of Sunday's first running of the $28,339 Thoroughbred Sale Futurity at Sunland Park.

It was a romp down to the wire as Ajarutu, well guided by Pedro Benitez, ended the six-furlong jaunt with a two and three quarter length lead and enriched herself by a handsome $14,669.

In her only previous try at racing (at Delta Downs in Louisiana), Ajarutu quit badly as a 21-1 shot and ran 10th.

Sunland patrons weren't impressed by the filly's chances and made her nearly 12-1. That set up mutual returns of $25.80, $7.20, $4.20. Ajarutu is owned by Gilbert Rainosek of San Marcos, Texas. Rainosek had shelled out $3,500 to purchase the filly in the 1982 Ruidoso Downs Summer Sale For Selected Thoroughbred Yearlings.

The Thoroughbred Sale Futurity gets its name from the fact it's open only to those two-year-olds who were purchased or re-purchased in the previous year's Summer Sale.

Never Bend Three (re-purchased in the Summer Sale for $14,500) turned in a good closing attack in Sunday's outing. Although the roan colt was unable to menace the winner, he was clearly the best of the rest, and picked up second-place money $8,464. The mutual returns were $8.20 and $4.20. Never Bend Three, owned by Harold Barnes of Altus, Okla., went off at 9-1. F.O. Martinez was up.

Famous Sparkle, the second favorite at 9-5 (a $4,000 Sale purchase), hit the wire in third place, a half-length behind Never Bend Three. The show price was $3,400. Casey Lambert was up. Famous Sparkle is owned by Glenn Lambert of Ruidoso.

Everything went Ajarutu's way as the filly broke on her toes, then settled in third place on the rail during the backstretch run. She appeared to be lagging and drifted into fourth, but jockey Benitez alertly roused the filly and steered her to the outside for the swing into the homestretch. She lost some ground, but had plenty left for the final drive when Benitez asked her for her best at the head of the lane. The filly moved out eagerly and was never put to her limit in the stretch. She's trained by Fred J. Hardy.

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

by MARK GORDON
Special to The News

BUBBLY BOBBIE has started to really impress Sunland Park patrons and officials with her determined running. The two-year-old Raise Your Glass filly opened her local campaign on October 23 with a half-length victory over favored Native Cookin in an allowance race at 400 yards. She was a 37-1 outsider that day. But on Friday, during the seven trial races for the fourth running of the Sunland Park All-American Sale Futurity, she was an overwhelming 1-2 wagering favorite. Bubbly Bobbie didn't disappoint her followers as she scooted to a one and one quarter length win in the fifth trial heat. Her clocking of 19:94 over the sloppy track was the fastest of the 63 hopefuls and will place her among the favorites for the finale set for 400 yards on Sunday, November 20. The winner will collect $87,342.28 from the total purse of $174,684.56. Bubbly Bobbie is trained by Simon J. Buechler for owner Gordon B. Howell of Sunland Park. She was ridden by Mike Lidberg in Friday's trials. The key horse to watch will probably be Tinys Rose Bud, who scored a nose victory over Native Cookin in the second trial heat. A daughter of the outstanding sire Tiny's Gay, Tinys Rose Bud was a participant in Labor Day's $2,530,000 All-American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs. She has the most wins (eight) of any Sale Futurity entrant and also has the biggest moneyline with earnings of $139,644.

She was a bargain purchase for $28,000 in the 1982 All-American Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs. Tinys Rose Bud is trained by Jack W. Dube for owner Willie R. Talley of Athens, Texas. She was ridden by veteran rider Larry Byers in the trials.

TRAINERS THOMAS A. RILEY and Elmer L. Shepard each qualified two horses into the Sunland All-American Sale Futurity. Riley has Feathers Plan, the second-fastest qualifier with a 19:98 reading for owner James D. Kerley of Ruidoso, and Dapper Dancer, the fifth-fastest runner with a 20:04 clocking for owner A.W. Moursund III of Round Mountain, Texas. Shepard has Kingly, the third-fastest qualifier with a 19:99 time, and Score, the ninth-fastest qualifier with a 20:13 effort.

Shepard owns Kingly with Jess Burner of El Paso while Burner owns Score, the winner of the New Mexico Quarter Horse Futurity during the recent New Mexico State Fair meeting in Albuquerque. Burner is the only owner with two horses in the finale.

THE COMPLETE LIST of Sunland

Park All-American Sale Futurity entrants and their qualifying times: Bubbly Bobbie (19:94); Feathers Plan (19:98); Kingly (19:99); Miss Hearts Alive (20:01); Dapper Dancer (20:04); Tinys Rose Bud (20:06); Native Cookin (20:07); Noble Pride (20:11); Score (20:13); and Keepcomingback (20:17).

TRAINER THOMAS A. RILEY won two races on Friday's program. He started with Dapper Dancer ($10,000) in the third for owner A.W. Moursund III of Round Mountain, Texas, and then captured the ninth with Feathers Plan ($8,000) for owner James D. Kerley of Ruidoso. Both horses were ridden by Tommy Riley.

THE SUNLAND PARK Speakers Bureau would be happy to talk to any civic or service organization in the El Paso or Las Cruces metropolitan areas. An interesting program complete with tapes of major races run at both Sunland Park and Ruidoso Downs will be shown. To make arrangements, please contact the Sunland Park Publicity Department.

BUBBLY BOBBIE who set the fastest qualifying time for the fourth running of the Sunland Park All-American Sale Futurity, also set the season's fastest 400-yard clocking when she won Friday's ninth race.

The two-year-old Raise Your Glass filly was timed in 19:94 over the sloppy track. That snapped the season's previous swiftest 400-yard reading of 19:96 set by Lil Motor Scooter on October 15. Ridden by Mike Lidberg, Bubbly Bobbie is trained by Simon J. Buechler for owner Gordon B. Howell of Sunland Park.

CROW'S REQUEST set a seasonal fastest time when he roared through the stretch to gain a widening three and one quarter length win over Dusty Intent in Saturday's seventh race. The eight-year-old Jerry Crow gelding toured the 870-yard course in 46:25 over a track rated as good. The victory was the New Mexico-bred's first lifetime 870-yard triumph. Ridden by O.A. Martinez Jr., Crow's Request is trained by Simon J. Buechler for owner Gordon B. Howell of Sunland Park. As a $4,700-1 outsider in the field of seven horses running for a $12,500 claiming price, Crow's Request returned $11.40 to win.

GONETRUCKIN set a seasonal fastest time when he roared to an impressive one and one quarter length victory in Saturday's ninth race at 440 yards. The three-year-old Tiny's Gay colt was clocked in an excellent 21:84 reading under veteran rider Richard Bickel. That time was better than the previous best 440-yard reading this season of 22:13 set by Steve Crosson on October 16. Gonetruckin is trained by Oscar Vogt for owner George G. Adams of Wichita Falls, Texas. He returned $8.60 to win as the $2.40-1 wagering favorite.

POP'S SPIRIT recorded his third consecutive triumph when he showed determination through the stretch in outrunning favored Ferro Fair in Saturday's featured 11th race at five and one half furlongs. The four-year-old Red Viking gelding started his streak by scoring a half-length win in a mile race designed for $10,000 claiming horses on September 25 at the New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque; then took his Sunland Park debut on October 15 with a front-running one and one half length win, a six and one half furlong chase for $15,000 claiming horses. Saturday's race drew 10 allowance runners. Pop's Spirit time was a rapid 1:05 3-5 on the track listed as good. Ridden in all his wins by Casey Lambert, Pop's Spirit is owned by the Double B Ranch of Anthony, New Mexico, and is trained by Clifford C. Lambert Sr. As the $2.10-1 second wagering risk, Pop's Spirit paid $6.20 for his win by a half-length over Ferro Fair.

OWNER HARRIET C. PECKHAM, trainer H. Don Farris and Jockey Jerry Nicodemus combined to win two races on Sunday's program. They started with Everthings A Waltz ($3,400) in the fourth and then captured the seventh with Top Moons Gay ($3,200).

TOP MOONS GAY set a seasonal fastest time when he scooted to a 17:83 reading while taking a three quarters length decision over outsider Sparkling Lil Star in Sunday's seventh race. The three-year-old Top Moon colt snapped the previous best 350-yard reading of 17:89 set by Six Doubles on October 16. Ridden by Jerry Nicodemus, Top Moons Gay is trained by H. Don Farris for owner Harriett C. Peckham, Inc. of El Paso. As the 3-5 wagering favorite Top Moons Gay returned $3.20 to win.

WORD WAS RECEIVED of the recent death of the outstanding horse Sundays Payday, who died in Albuquerque after foundering. The three-year-old Loom colt's last race indicative of his talent as he roared to an 11-length triumph in an allowance race on August 26 at Ruidoso Downs. In his brilliant career for trainer Bob E. Arnett and owner Preston Farms of Burkburnett, Texas, Sundays Payday won eight races with five seconds and earned $235,996. As a two-year-old in 1982, Sundays Payday won seven races with three seconds from 11 outings and earned $215,496. He was named Ruidoso Downs' top thoroughbred for 1982 after winning the $146,496 Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity and the $153,767 Norgor Thoroughbred Futurity, the meet's two biggest thoroughbred events.

TRAINER FRED J. HARDY won two consecutive races on Sunday's program. He won the featured $29,339 inaugural running of the Thoroughbred Sale Futurity with Ajaratu ($25,800) and then took the 12th event with Ollie King ($17,400). Pedro Benitez rode Ajaratu ($25,800) and then took the 12th event with Ollie King ($17,400). Pedro Benitez rode Ajaratu who is owned by Gilbert Rainosok of San Marcos, Texas, while Ramon Apodaca was aboard Ollie King, who is owned by Carl T. Anderson of Wichita Falls, Texas.

Pop's got the Spirit

Pop's Spirit, a four-year-old gelding who had dropped down to $7,500 claiming competition during the recent State Fair meeting in Albuquerque, outraced a strong band of allowance sprinters in Saturday's feature event at Sunland Park.

But the gelding's victory was no surprise to the 3,232 fans who made him a 2-1 second-favorite in the five and one half furlong struggle over a $3,400 purse.

The fortunes of Pop's Spirit (a former stakes star at Ruidoso Downs) rose sharply on the final day of the Albuquerque meeting (September 25) when he easily overturned $10,000 claimers. He enforced his renewed prestige by easily defeating $15,000 claimers in his Sunland seasonal debut on October 15.

In Saturday's outing, Pop's Spirit proved he could run with the best sprinters in town by fighting hard throughout the stretch to post a half-length win over the 9-5 favorite, Ferro Fair.

Pop's Spirit, ridden by Casey Lambert, returned mutual payoffs of $8.20, $4.60 and $3.20. The winning time, on a track listed as good, was an excellent 1:05 3/5 seconds. Pop's Spirit, who went into Saturday's tilt with career earnings of $42,405, collected $2,040. He's owned by the Double B Ranch of Anthony, N.M.

Ferro Fair, piloted by Victor Escobar, hit the wire three-quarters of a length in front of the 9-2 shot, Bet On Me, and returned $3.60, $2.60, Bet On Me, with Dale Cordova aboard, returned $2.60 to show.

Bubbly Bonnie top Sale Futurity qualifier

Bubbly Bobbie, a filly making the third start of her career, overpowered her competition in Friday's seventh race at Sunland park and set the top qualifying time for the rich All-American Sale Futurity.

The Futurity finale, when it comes up on November 20, will offer a purse of $174,684. First place will be worth almost $90,000.

The All-American Sale Futurity covers 400 yards and is open only to horses either purchased or repurchased in the 1982 All-American Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs.

Bubbly Bobbie, with Mike Lidberg in the saddle, vaulted to the top of the class with that powerful one and one quarter length win in Friday's seventh race. (The spin was one seven elimination heats for the Sale Futurity.)

Bubbly Bobbie was clocked in 19.94 seconds. A tailwind was blowing. The outcome was no surprise, since Sunland patrons had made the filly a 1-2 favorite. The filly's only previous experience consisted of a half-length win at Sunland last month (at 37-1 odds) and a second at Ruidoso at 3-1.

The mutual returns on Bubbly Bobbie were $3, $2.40, $2.20. Simon J. Buechler trains the daughter of Raise Your Glass (out of Trucking Bobbi).

Here are the other qualifiers:
—Feathers Plan, 19.98, owned by James Kerley of Ruidoso.

—Kingly, 19.99, owned by Jess Burner and Elmer Shepard of El Paso, Texas.

—Miss Hearts Alive, 20.01, owned by B.L. and O.L. Callaway of Montrose, Colorado.
