

Year's building activity down after slow second half

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

Local building starts decreased by 13 percent last year, according to the year-end construction permit report. The drop is the result of a six-month decline that began in July.

But, instead of indicating hard times for local contractors, the decrease in permits from 1981 to 1982 may signal a normal dip in housing starts that is to be expected in the construction cycle.

A total of 469 building permits were issued in 1982, a decrease of 72 permits from the '81 figure of 541.

The figures show a substantial slowdown from '81, but watchers of the local construction industry caution against labeling 1982 as a bad year for builders.

"What's normal in Ruidoso?" asks Board of Realtors president Jim George. "It's always been going up here," he added, indicating the recent upward trend was bound to slow down."

George's analysis seems to hit the nail right on the head.

Looking at the construction industry during the four-year period from 1979-82, the much-referred-to building boom in Ruidoso can be seen.

A total of 281 building permits were issued by the village in 1979, carrying an estimated construction value of $10.8 million. The valuation exceeded the previous year's total by $500,000.

In 1980, the permit number went up to 292, but the permits carried a lower valuation at $9.1 million.

Then the figures went through the roof in 1981. The total jumped to 541 permits—an increase of 85 percent. The valuation—boosted by 78 condominium project permits with a price tag of $7.4 million—reached $23 million in '81. Both the valuation and number of permits set records.

"Eighty-one was a banner year for everybody," said Lincoln County Home Builders president Ron Burton. "If it's (1982) 13 percent lower, it's still over the normal."

Burton added, "There's no doubt it has slowed down," but he attributes the drop to a normal pattern of highs and lows in the industry.

The cycle is one that saw 1982 go from record months in March and April to a steady decline in the second half of the year.

Only 17 permits were issued in December, with a valuation of $615,769. It was the lowest number of permits since January 1981.

Asked if the slowdown could indicate a trend that will continue into this year, Burton noted housing starts always slack off in the winter. He expects the national upturn in construction to be felt in Ruidoso soon.

"It's just not as economically feasible to build in the winter," he said, referring to delays caused by unfavorable weather.

Buddy Bundick, district manager of Texas-New Mexico Power Company, related the number of meter connections to new housing over the past year. He noted his crews experienced a "dramatic slowdown" of connections in November and December in what was otherwise a record year for new meters.

Bundick forecasted the slowdown to continue because of the decrease in winter housing starts—noting a lag time exists between beginning of construction and hookup of metered electricity.

But Bundick is not concerned about a lower work load for his crews. In fact, he said a lapse in connections will give his company time to upgrade and maintain the system.

The dip in construction may also be welcomed by some contractors who could use a breather after the furious building of a year ago, Burton speculated.

On the heels of that year-long boom, the industry was bound to slacken, added Burton. Because of the record building year, the village is now flooded with homes on the market.

"There were tons of stuff built last year (1981)," said Jim George. "It's mainly condos that haven't sold," he added, referring to the number of listings on the market.

The difference in condominium starts showed the largest drop between the two years. Twenty-three permits were issued for condo projects last year, down drastically from the 78 issued the year before.

But, as George said, many of the condo units have not sold.

Alton Lane, executive officer of Multiple Listing Service, said he has no breakdown of the types of housing on the market, but he indicated it is common knowledge a lot of condos are for sale.

Lane said the total listings—including all housing, commercial buildings and vacant lots—are now hovering over 1,300.

Commercial building last year was the only area where the permits increased. Building inspector Don Hendricks issued 38 permits for new commercial buildings, up from 27 in 1981.

Planning and Zoning enforcement officer John Cupp hesitated to predict the commercial growth as a trend, but he pointed to projects under way—such as the new Safeway shopping center—and talk of other businesses coming to town that may lead to a higher valuation figure in the commercial column of the permit report.

Cupp also suggests this year's construction starts may signal a stabilization in the industry.

Most of the persons contacted think building will start climbing come spring. Lane referred to a national slump in 1974—when the entire Southwest rebounded quicker than the rest of the country—as an indicator that construction levels out faster here.

Lane said February is traditionally the slowest month in Ruidoso, with many builders waiting for warm weather to start new projects.

As far as forecasting the numbers at the end of 1983, John Cupp phrased it best by saying, "It's anybody's guess."

Permits were issued in 1982 for 337 single family dwellings, 56 residential additions or alterations, 38 commercial buildings, 15 commercial additions or alterations and 23 condominium projects.

The permits reflected an estimated valuation of $27,520,682. The figure is higher than last year because of the change in May by which values are figured. This year, the estimations were based on actual construction costs. Before, the value was set at $20 per square foot.

The December permits are listed by subdivision or location, type of structure and estimated cost of construction.

Villages' governing bodies to meet

Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet this evening (Monday) at 7 p.m. at the municipal building. Business on the agenda includes:

—Discussion of the possibility of hiring a building inspector —Selection of a representative and alternate to the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District.

—Acceptance of resignation of one dispatcher and approval of hiring two dispatchers

—Discussion of payments on a Farmers Home Administration loan and last week's meeting concerning application for funds for water system improvements —Request from the Joint Use Board to purchase a pickup truck for the wastewater treatment plant.

The regular meeting of the Ruidoso council is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at village hall. A study session for councilmen will precede the meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Items on the council agenda include:

—Response from visitors Merle Miller on lease of airport and Jim Ferguson regarding liquor license

—Resolution 83-1, budget changes for 1982-83 fiscal year

—Request for conditional use permit for veterinary office and clinic on Lot 1, Block 2, Palmer Gateway Subdivision for F. P. Tefeller

—Bids on video taping of council meetings

—Mayor George White on appointment to Cemetery Board and appointment to board of directors of Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District for an official representative and alternate

—Police Chief Dick Swenor: report on traffic

—Jim Hine: six-month financial report.

—Lee Huckstep: request for executive session to discuss pending litigation.

Four file for school board

Two candidates will compete for each of the two seats open on the Ruidoso Board of Education in the February 1 election.

Fred Lynn Willard and Charles E. McClellan have filed their candidacy for Position One, to be vacated by current board president Dave Parks. Parks has held that position for 20 years, having been appointed by the state Board of Education in 1963 and re-elected to three successive terms afterwards.

"I felt 20 years was long enough to spend on the board, it's time to let other new-blood get in the system," Parks explained his decision not to seek reelection. "I thoroughly enjoyed serving on the board. It's been pleasant and I feel it's a very, very worthwhile thing.

"I feel everything is really in good shape at the school, and there is a strong remaining board," the outgoing president remarked. "It's as good a time as any."

Incumbent board member N. Lamar Osborn intends to seek reelection to his seat. He will be opposed by Ray W. Gann Jr. for Position Two on the board.

School board members are elected for six-year terms.

WATER AND MONEY

Downs officials try to clear muddy situation

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Lack of communication again surfaced as the culprit in creating unnecessary problems and wasted time, it was discovered at a meeting last week of representatives from Ruidoso Downs, Boyle Engineering and Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

The meeting was called for the purpose of determining what should be done with an application for funding for water system improvements filed with FmHA on behalf of the village almost two years ago.

The Ruidoso Downs mayor and village clerk were informed during the meeting that the application—submitted in March 1981, seeking funds for a raw water storage tank—is totally void if the village is unable to float a bond for loan security. Mayor J. C. Day and clerk Wilma Webb admitted they believed the municipality is currently bonded to capacity but said they were not sure.

"There's no way that FmHA can help you then," responded FmHA district loan technician Lou Andes. She explained that the federal agency has no total grant program and can only allocate funds on a combined grant and loan basis. Loans must be secured with a bond, she noted.

"I don't know why you applied for FmHA funds if you can't take out a loan," Andes remarked. She informed village officials that they will need to request the application be withdrawn if in fact the municipality is bonded to capacity.

Webb told The News Thursday that after contacting the Local Government Division of the state Department of Finance and Administration to determine whether the village is bonded to capacity, she learned there is no bonding limit on general obligation or revenue bonds to fund water or sewer systems. Andes told The News Friday this information means "FmHA is still in the ball game."

One reason the application had not been processed in the two years since its submission, Andes reported, is that FmHA engineers required answers to several questions before they would accept the Boyle engineering report (Boyle had conducted the study on behalf of the village). A letter requesting these answers was mailed to the village and Boyle November 10, 1981, but Boyle failed to provide the needed information, according to Andes.

R. LeRoy Givens, principal engineer for Boyle, commented at last week's meeting that he was unaware of the letter.

The letter asked for evaluation of the possibility of the village's acquiring additional water rights from the Griffith Spring. Ruidoso Downs has rights to half the spring; the other half belongs to Agua Fria.

Webb informed Andes at last week's meeting that it is impossible for the village to purchase additional rights to the spring.

It had earlier been reported that the owner of the spring has indicated he would ask at least $1 million for additional water rights.

Also requested in the letter was a report of all existing debts against the water system and a tabulation of debt retirement schedules, an indication of what security or bond ordinances the village would use to obtain the proposed funding, and an estimate of water use and a rate schedule for retiring debts on the water system.

Andes said Friday that a revised engineering report answering these questions needs to be submitted to and approved by the village and necessary state and federal offices. The appropriate bodies will then agree on the scope of the project to be funded, after which the village will file a formal application, and the loan will be processed.

She explained that the village has already been determined to be eligible for funds pending approval of the engineering report, formal application and loan application. The loan must be approved by March 31 if the village is to be assured of receiving funding this year, however.

"Everybody is going to have to work efficiently and fast," Andes remarked Friday.

The problems the village now faces, Givens told Andes, are that it does "not have a large enough well and not enough storage for existing users during the peak season." He also noted that there is not adequate fire protection in the municipality.

The proposed improvements to be funded by the grant/loan include a new well at the site of the present Denten well at a cost of $50,000, a one-million-gallon storage reservoir estimated to cost $195,000, replacement of existing two-inch pipe with new six-inch asbestos cement pipe at $45,680, new six-inch asbestos pipe costing $19,340, and renovation of existing booster pump controls to integrate with the new well pump, estimated to cost $15,000. Total estimated construction cost is $325,000 with $81,250 needed for incidentals and contingencies, bringing the total estimated cost of phase one improvements to the water system to $406,250.

The engineering firm had earlier estimated phase one to include only the well, reservoir and booster pump controls renovation, at a total cost of $675,000. When the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) rejected an application for funds from that agency because it exceeded the limit permitted for one project, Boyle trimmed down the figures.

Phase two will include a second one million-gallon reservoir, replacement of existing eight-inch pipe with 10-inch, replacement of the remaining two-inch pipe with six-inch and additional installation of new six-inch pipe. Total cost for these improvements amounts to $497,250. That brings the estimated cost of the total recommended improvement program to $903,500.

A $100,000 state water supply construction grant was allocated to Ruidoso Downs in July 1981 but remains unused because the village has been unable to raise matching funds. The village hopes to receive a grant from HUD in the amount of just under $285,000 which could be used as matching funds. That agency is scheduled to make a decision on the application by January 15.

The municipality plans to finance the remainder of the project through an FmHA loan. Andes noted Friday that receipt of funds from HUD could permit the village to borrow sufficient money from FmHA to finance both phases of the improvement program at one time.

Andes expressed concern at last week's meeting that the village will not be able to supply water for future development, especially the Triple Crown Condominium project already approved.

"You have to address future growth very thoroughly to get funding from any agency," she advised those present.

Dial 257-9911 in emergency

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

The new emergency phone number at the Ruidoso Police Department is now in service.

Jim Alston, head of communications at the department, said the new line went into operation Friday.

The number—to be used only for emergencies—is 257-9911.

The other police telephone number is 257-7365. That number is now intended for administrative use and non-emergency calls.

Alston stressed that the 9911 number is strictly for emergencies.

"They will be cut off if it's a non-emergency," he pointed out. "We urge people to use some discretion in declaring an emergency."

The number has the same function as the 911 emergency system, but that three-digit number—which had been proposed by police—was recently ruled out as being too expensive for the village.

Alston noted callers will receive the quickest response possible by calling the new number. He added dispatchers will give priority to the line, which will have a different ring than the other police telephone.

He said the line should never be tied up, but if so, it will only be for a matter of seconds. He advises persons to dial the other number if the line is ever busy.

When reporting an emergency, always give police your name, exact location of the emergency and a return telephone number.

Alston emphasized repeatedly that the number "should be preserved for life and death situations." He noted the time to use the line is when in immediate need of police, the fire department or an ambulance.

"I foresee this to be a godsend in many ways," he said. "We've been restricted to not having a true emergency line before."

Mescalero Apache Tribe's leaders of tomorrow learn from elders

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

"We've come a long way and we need somebody to carry it on. This is your responsibility," Mescalero Apache Tribal Council member Raymond Kirgan told approximately 300 seventh through 12th graders at the first Youth Meeting of the Mescalero Apache Tribe Thursday.

Kirgan was one of more than 20 speakers—including Wendell Chino, President of the Tribe—who addressed the Indian youths at the Mescalero Community Gymnasium on subjects ranging from tribal government to recreation to future goals. The meeting, planned by the education committee of the Tribal Council, was an attempt by elders of the Tribe to impart useful advice to the youths.

The message of the meeting was clear: the youth of today are the leaders of tomorrow and now is the time to prepare for that leadership.

"You, the youth of the Tribe, are a very important resource because you'll be sitting here. You'll be the ones on the Tribal Council," Arlyss Kanseah said.

Many of the speakers stressed the point that education is a major key to leadership tomorrow.

"You need to get educated to make it in life," Butch Blazer, range conservationist for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, told the group.

"In order to get where you want to go you have to go to school. Now is the time you build the foundation," Kirgan said.

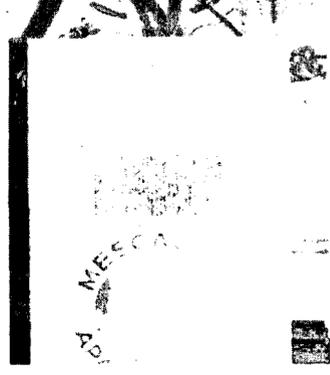

Silas Cochise, newly elected Tribal Council member and great-grandson of the famous Cochise, told the young people that education and attitude are the keys to filling many of the jobs on the reservation that are now occupied by others.

"There are so many jobs and yet some of us sit back and complain. You have to create a winning attitude, an 'I can do it' spirit," he advised. With education and a positive attitude, the youths were told, they can become the nurses, foresters, engineers and administrators of the reservation.

The tribe, its unity and heritage, was also a focus of the meeting.

"We want to avail to our youth what we can to keep tribal unity and tribal goals," said Kirgan.

NEWLY ELECTED Mescalero Apache Tribal Council member Silas Cochise addressed the youths of the Tribe Thursday. Cochise urged the youths to assume a winning attitude in order to meet life's challenges.

heritage," said Berle Kanseah, master of ceremonies for the meeting.

Joseph and Harlyn Via, both tribal council members, told the youths that voting is a powerful means of achieving tribal goals.

"You have to stand up and fight for your rights, but you have to fight by the rules," said Joseph Via.

He reminded the voting age students that school board elections are coming up soon and two Tribe members are on the ballot. Their presence on the school board can mean a larger voice for the Mescalero Apaches in the direction of the school system, he said.

Kirgan and Cochise told the kids the Tribe has come a long way in recent years—no longer do they have to worry about enough food and shelter as their parents and grandparents did. But there is still need for strong leadership of the Tribe to continue and preserve the reservation and tribal heritage, said Kirgan.

Judge Richard Frederick spoke to the students about tribal laws and penalties. He explained the crimes and penalties covered by the Mescalero Apache Tribe constitution. In most instances it is the binding document, except in cases of serious crimes such as murder, which the Federal Bureau of Investigation will investigate.

Five speakers also told the youths about recreation opportunities available today. Bill Streeter encouraged them to take advantage of the beautiful countryside on the reservation.

"Experience the outdoors. You've got to get out and do it!" he said.

Jim Rawhouser, director of community services, talked to the youths about boredom. He called boredom a destructive use of time when hours slip away because the person has no idea how to use the available time.

"Find ways to use your time constructively... look at the resources available to you and make a plan," he advised the students. Wendell Chino wrapped up the speeches with a talk emphasizing the need to plan for tomorrow by developing leadership qualities today.

After the speakers finished, a number of questions from students were answered. Subjects ranged from ski passes for students, to how to become a Tribal Council member, to compliments on the day's program. Clarence Burma, director of education for the BIA on the reservation, organized the event at the direction of the Tribal Council. He commented Friday that overall, he was happy with the program and the speakers. He was concerned, however, that it had been too long for many of the students whose attention wandered during the afternoon.

Wandering attention or not, most of the Mescalero Apache youths could not have failed to comprehend the message of the meeting summarized by Tina Kirgan and Fat Gelsheimer.

"We are going to be the leaders of tomorrow," said Miss Mescalero, Kirgan.

"You are the ones who have to make decisions about your lives," said Gelsheimer.

Crime Stoppers board enthusiastic

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

"We've got a real problem here in this town... we are becoming a victimized community."

Following those words from Police Chief Richard Swenor Thursday night, the local Crime Stoppers Board of Directors began organizing the Ruidoso chapter.

It was an enthusiastic first meeting of the 12-member board, which elected officers and discussed the structure of the Crime Stoppers system.

"The crime rate is going up phenomenally," said police lieutenant Dave Pfeffer, the police coordinator to the board. Pfeffer indicated a citizens' body such as Crime Stoppers is precisely what is needed to help reduce crime.

Noting a situation in which a tip to Crime Stoppers would have been very effective, Pfeffer speculated the December robbery of Ruidoso State Bank could have been solved even quicker if the organization had been available.

Now that the board has been formed, the only items holding up complete implementation of the program are a telephone hookup at the police station and raising money for the reward fund.

Richard Sandoval, elected chairman of the board, emphasized the program, even though totally administered in Ruidoso, will be available to anyone in the region, and, in fact, the entire state.

"We're part of the state Crime Stoppers organization," Sandoval said, adding that informants can call any chapter in the state or the toll-free number at the headquarters in Albuquerque.

Sandoval also said chapters can exchange pertinent information that affects each area. Besides Ruidoso, Carrizozo and Alamogordo are other area cities with chapters.

Pfeffer said the police department is trying to get a phone number that will be easy to remember. He said the phone will be manned during regular working hours. After 5 p.m., a recorder will switch on advising callers to call back in the morning, or, if it's an emergency, to call the toll-free number.

John Howden, who was elected vice chairman, asked how much money the board needs before it can begin giving rewards.

Sandoval suggested the initial goal should be a minimum of $2,500 to $3,000 to kick off the program.

Sandoval told the board the executive officer of Crime Stoppers, Greg MacAleese, said a social gathering such as a cocktail party is one of the most effective ways of raising money.

Sandoval said the board should seek official support for a fund-raising party from the village government and from outlying municipalities that will benefit from the program.

He said he would like the party to be held by the end of the month.

Howden advised the members to be very active in soliciting donations for the reward fund, even if it means standing on the streets.

"Let's mooch," said Howden.

Describing the responsibilities of the officers and the board as a whole, Sandoval noted that Bill McCutcheon—elected as treasurer—will set up an account at a local bank, and will distribute rewards to informants whose tips have led to arrests.

The rewards will be granted upon approval by the board. As police coordinator, Pfeffer will advise the board on which crimes to highlight in the media as the "Crime of the Week," and he will suggest the amount of the rewards.

The final decision on any program activity, however, will rest entirely with the citizens' group. Sandoval said the board "never wants to forget this is a civilian board. It's important people know the police are not doing Crime Stoppers."

Pfeffer noted the board may decide to give rewards for any tip that leads to an arrest, whether the information goes through Crime Stoppers or not. He said he may sometimes suggest rewards for tips received independently by police detectives.

In addition to publicizing crimes in the media, Pfeffer suggested the board also try to reenact the highlighted crimes on Cablevision.

Najla Sluder, elected as secretary, felt the Ruidoso Little Theater "would love to do that."

Sandoval said the board will have to review its bylaws at the next meeting, and send its charter to the state Corporation Commission.

He said the chapter could begin accepting donations before the commission accepts its non-profit status.

Board member Mark Paz said he would like to organize a car wash and a basketball game with kids in his Ruidoso Wrestling and Athletic Program, and donate the proceeds to the reward fund.

Sandoval said persons may begin sending donations to McCutcheon, who works at Gibson's.

Sluder stressed that the board needs a great deal of community support to be successful.

In a final note, Swenor said the generosity of the community "is one thing that never fails to amaze me," and he indicated he felt the fund-raising goals of the board will be easily met.

Other members of the board are: E.J. Fouratt, elected as member at large; Glen Ferguson; Mike Radziewicz; Nelson Buck; Charles Spooner; Ray Bishop; and Paul Davis. John Carver will be liaison to the District Attorney.

Computer firm sues county

by BARRY GRANT
Staff Writer

The Albuquerque computer firm Western Programmers Incorporated has filed a complaint in District Court against the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners for its decision on awarding bids on a new computer system.

Commissioners awarded the bid for a System 34 computer and software to IBM of Roswell and Triadic Enterprises of Deming for a combined bid of $118,159. Western Programmers submitted a bid of $109,535.

In awarding the bid to IBM and Triadic December 3, elected officials cited available training, references, experience with county governments, successful conversion records, familiar computer language and financing arrangements as reasons for their decision.

In its suit filed December 16, Western claims it lost $37,000 in profits by losing the bid and that the county violated the state purchasing act. The computer firm is seeking the contracts awarded by Lincoln County commissioners to "be declared null and void as being contrary to law."

The firm also asks that "defendants be ordered to award the contract to plaintiff" or "in the alternative, plaintiff be awarded judgment against defendants for $37,000 plus interest."

Commissioners had previously signed a contract with Western Programmers for the computer equipment, but rescinded it after being advised that awarding the contract was a violation of the state purchasing act because it had not been bid. Western Programmers president C. A. "Bart" Bartlebaugh argued with commissioners at the time that the state purchasing act had not been violated, but the commissioners moved to call for bids.

The National Weather Service in Albuquerque is predicting mostly sunny weather Monday with westerly winds 5-15 miles per hour. Monday night will be generally clear with light and variable winds. Tuesday will be mostly sunny and a little warmer. With a high pressure ridge building up over New Mexico, the outlook is for continuing sunny weather through most of the week.

Agencies okay Nogal water plan

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

The state offices of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) and the Environmental Improvement Division (EID) have agreed on the scope of the improvements plan for the Nogal water system.

Lou Andes, loan technician at the FmHA district office in Roswell, said both the agencies agreed to the plan itself, but must now okay the cost estimates prepared by the engineer before the project can get under way.

"We have agreed on the scope of the project, but there is no dollar amount now," said Andes.

Andes said she did not know what the project entails because engineer Barry Burke, of Burke, Collins Associates in Alamogordo, bypassed the district office and submitted the plans to the state bureau.

Burke had been granted an extension by EID in November to complete the design. EID had threatened to cut off a grant for the project in November, but gave Burke a two-month extension to finish the plan.

The Nogal water system serves about 40 customers, but its storage tank and filtration equipment broke down about three years ago. The town applied for state and federal assistance in 1979 to upgrade the system.

The repairs have been estimated to cost $155,000, to be paid with an FmHA loan and a grant from EID.

Both agencies gave tentative approval for the money when the Nogal Domestic Water Users Association asked for financial help, but rejected Burke's original design that he submitted in August for being too costly.

Andes said final approval on the project will not be granted until her office reviews the cost estimate.

Downs officials work on water with agency representative

"We need an engineering report that will provide an adequate water system to existing users and the condos coming in plus a reasonable rate of growth," she added. Andes told the engineers to address the problem of supplying water to the planned condominium project in their revised report.

She went so far as to warn village officials that "somebody needs to be real careful before they approve any new projects." It was agreed by all present that any developers wishing to build in Ruidoso Downs should be responsible for supplying their own water.

Ruidoso Downs officials also received both good and bad news concerning payment to Boyle of invoices for engineering services. Recent argument over the village's being required to pay a $3,000 invoice for the 1981 study was resolved when Andes reported that payment is not due until the engineering report has been accepted by the loaning agency.

That study will not be accepted by FmHA, she noted, until all necessary information is provided, thereby making it possible for the village to receive requested funding.

The bad news delivered by Andes was that the municipality unnecessarily entered into a contract with Boyle for a second water system study at a cost of $7,500. This second study accompanied the application to HUD. According to Andes, a revision of the first study—which is being required for FmHA approval anyway—could have been submitted to HUD at no additional cost to the village.

"I'm amazed that officials come into office without knowing so much," Andes remarked at the conclusion of the meeting.

It seems that Ruidoso Downs, as a result of that meeting, may finally receive the funding it so desperately needs for its water system. But it is also evident that funds which have been available to the village for two years could have been utilized much sooner had communication been a little better among all bodies concerned.

Architect on school board agenda

The Ruidoso Board of Education will hear a presentation at Tuesday's meeting from Matt Borowski, landscape architect for the new high school. The meeting begins at 7:30 p.m. at the administrative building.

Other items on the agenda include: —A letter from Nell Trout concerning a new location for the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital Auxiliary.

—A letter from Warren B. Armstrong concerning plans for an off-campus instructional program for Ruidoso.

—Approval of budget increases for textbooks.

—Open bids on fleet insurance.

—Approval of supplementary bus operator contracts.

—Consideration of applying for special use permit of parcel of U.S. Forest Service land at the new high school site.

—Acceptance of resignation of Rosanne Schillales as central office secretary and approval of hiring Ruth Wheeler to replace her.

—Report on dates for the 1983 school ski program.

—Report on spending.

Downs horse ordinance topic for meeting

Ruidoso Downs residents are invited to a town meeting this Thursday, January 13, at 8 p.m. at the municipal building to discuss revision of the ordinance governing livestock and fowl within the village.

An effort by municipal officer Dale Patrick in recent months to enforce a 1977 ordinance regulating the location of horses and other animals within the village upset many residents who received citations. Enforcement of the ordinance would have forced a number of horse owners to remove the animals from their property for lack of required space to house them.

A committee of residents was formed to revise the present ordinance to be more realistic and enforceable. Village trustees rejected the committee's proposed revision, however, sending it back to committee for further work.

Trustees claimed wording of the ordinance was too vague and the public was not given the opportunity for input. They stipulated that at least two public meetings be called so other residents could voice their opinion about changes in the ordinance. The first meeting is scheduled Thursday.

RLA sets meeting

The Ruidoso Lodgers Association will hear from Charlotte Jarratt on plans for the Golden Years Jubilee when it meets Tuesday at 2 p.m. at Ruidoso Public Library.

High school drama performances set

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Ruidoso High School drama students will display their talents for the local audience Tuesday evening before traveling to Albuquerque to compete in the Southwest High School Theater Festival this weekend.

Two one-act plays—a thriller and a comedy—will be performed Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Ruidoso High School gymnasium. Admission price for both plays is $2 and tickets can be purchased at the door. Proceeds will go toward financing the major production of the year—the musical, "Cinderella," scheduled for April—and the trip to Albuquerque.

Peggy Wilson is directing the drama productions, assisted by Dee Sherwood on "The Babysitter" and John Bean on "French Toast."

"The Babysitter" is a thriller written by Laurie Woodward at the age of 15. Cast members include Dee Sherwood as Karen, Laura Wilson as Carol, Stacie Yerrick as Sarah, Theresa Sanchez as Pam and Cathy Tyson as Mrs. Wilson. The play revolves around a series of weird events that occur during a babysitting job.

The second play, "French Toast," is a comedy by Donald Payton. Cast members are Eric Berg as Stoney, Curtis Lathan as Charlie, Jeanette Weems as Nancy, Lois Covill as Mrs. Smith, Kathy Harrison as Nanette and Laura Trapp as Madame DeTour. This comedy is about a newlywed's discovery that he was already married and leads up to an inevitable confrontation between his two wives and their mothers.

This play will be performed at the University of New Mexico Rodey Theater January 15, in competition against other New Mexico high schools. Students will also have the opportunity to participate in several drama workshops during the festival.

Everyone is encouraged to support the school's drama program by attending the plays Tuesday evening.

her mother, Gertrude Hale, the matriarch of the family who is the great-great-grandmother of the child in her lap, Dusty Allison. Next to Dusty is his father, Buddy Allison, the brother of Sharon. Earl Allison (center) is the father of Sharon and Buddy.

RUIDOSO HIGH SCHOOL MUSICIAN Tad Haynes (right) and Kimberly Townsend of La Plata (left) were greeted by Rose Queen Suzanne Kay Gillaspie in Pasadena, California, prior to their performance in the Tournament of Roses Parade January 1 as members of the McDonald's All-American High School Band. The band is comprised of two of the top high school band members from each state chosen each year to play in the Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City, New York, and the New Year's Day parade in Pasadena.

Tickets still available for Chamber Jeep Party

Tickets are still available at the Chamber of Commerce for the Jeep Party, Wednesday, January 10. The $100 tickets include dinner and dancing at Jerry Dale's for one couple as well as a chance at a CJ-7 Jeep and many consolation prizes. The menu for the dinner will include barbecue brisket, chicken and ribs, potato salad, cobbler and more. Cocktails will be served from 6:30-7:30 with dinner beginning at 7 p.m. Dancing to the music of Timberline will begin at 8 p.m.

Taj Mahal to present concert

Well-known blues guitarist/vocalist Taj Mahal will appear in concert at 8 p.m. Saturday, January 15, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Taj Mahal has been performing for more than 21 years and has released 10 albums.

He is known for the diversity of music he performs—from Chicago and New Orleans blues to Caribbean and West African folk rhythms.

Tickets for Saturday's concert are available at the Inn, Flipside records and Adobe Plaza Ski Rental.

Computer course begins tonight

The Computer Literacy Course, taught by Doug Conley, meets for the first time at the Ruidoso Public Library tonight (Monday).

The free course will meet three times this week—Monday, Thursday and Friday from 7 to 8 p.m. The course is open to anybody with an interest in computers, especially those considering purchasing a small business or personal computer.

Monday's lecture will be "The Computer." Thursday's lecture will be on "Peripheral Devices," and Friday's topic is "Software."

Wardrobe workshop scheduled

Color specialist Lynne Wendel will conduct a Color 1 Wardrobe Workshop from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, January 15, at Ruidoso Inn. The Color 1 system allows enhancement of appearance by exciting color combinations taken from one's own body coloring. Personal color schemes are translated onto a color chart and pocket-size guide for reference. Color 1 has been written about in several national magazines.

Wendel has a personalized color consultation service in West Texas—serving Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, Amarillo and El Paso—as well as New Mexico cities.

She is a graduate of Texas Tech University. For more information on Saturday's workshop, call Effie Harle at 257-2065.

McGill an officer in Colorado firm

Gary McGill, son of Ruidoso resident George McGill, is an officer in an equipment leasing firm which recently entered into a contract to purchase Capital Trust Company, a Wyoming savings and loan holding company.

The younger McGill is vice president of Resources Equipment Capital Corporation, based in Denver, Colorado.

Charity line misses hurt Warriors in district loss to Silver City cagers

Around Sports with Gary Brown

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Mistakes and poor free throw shooting proved to be the downfall of the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team as it dropped a 66-43 decision to visiting Silver City High School in a district 3-AAA opener Saturday night.

The Warriors, now 0-8 on the overall season, made just nine of 20 shots from the free throw line, including eight one-and-one attempts.

"That really hurt us," said Warrior head coach Ron Geyer. "We started out poorly but came on strong and closed to within five points a couple of times near the end of the second quarter. We missed some crucial free throws near the end of the half and they (Silver City) came out with a zone in the second half. That hurt us also."

Silver City jumped off to an 18-2 lead midway through the first quarter but the Warriors came back on the strength of some good play by Curtis Palmer and Grady Williamson to close the gap to 20-13 at the quarter break.

Palmer scored four of his game-total 10 points in the latter stages of the first quarter and Williamson added several rebounds.

Ruidoso closed the gap to 23-18 with 4:20 left in the second period. However, the Colts outscored the Warriors by a 9-3 margin the rest of the quarter for a 32-21 halftime advantage.

Silver City gradually increased its margin throughout the second half with a consistent, well-balanced attack.

The Colts led 48-33 at the third quarter break and lengthened its margin in the final quarter.

Besides Palmer's 13 points, H. R. Lueras added eight points and Gilbert Rivera seven for the Warriors. Williamson and freshman Dan Ullmann each scored six points. Ullmann also showed steady improvement rebounding and defensively.

Paul Duge led the well-balanced Silver City offense with 11 points. Six other Colts scored seven or more points.

Geyer was impressed with the Silver City team.

"They don't have a real big man but they're all pretty good size, at least 5-10 or 5-11," he said. "They haven't been together that long because many of their players played on the football team."

Geyer is concerned with the Warriors' upcoming games against Capitan High School Friday night and Truth or Consequences (T or C) Saturday night. Ruidoso must travel to both contests.

"Capitan is a very good A division team," he said. "With Robert Parker (who has been injured lately) they're probably one of the best A division teams in the state. It's an important game for us."

"T or C has improved a lot over last year. I know they've won at least one game and they gave Deming a tough game Friday night before Deming pulled away in the final quarter."

The Warriors have probably one of the youngest teams in the state. Two of their players who scored against Silver City are freshmen. A sophomore and two juniors are also included among the Warriors' first seven players.

SILVER CITY (66)
Duge, 5, 1-2, 11; Sierra, 4, 2-4, 10; Joe Vasquez, 4, 1-2, 9; Osuma, 4, 0-0, 9; Banaydes, 4, 0-0, 8; Jim Vasquez, 2, 3-4, 7; Cordero, 2, 3-4, 7; Glennen, 2, 1-3, 5; Perry, 0, 1-2, 1; TOTALS, 27, 10-21, 66.

RUIDOSO (43)
Palmer, 4, 2-4, 10; Lueras, 3, 2-3, 8; Rivera, 3, 1-4, 7; Ullmann, 2, 2-3, 6; Williamson, 3, 0-4, 6; Easter, 1, 2-2, 4; Sluder, 1, 0-0, 2; TOTALS, 17, 9-20, 43.

GET THE BALL. Grady Williamson (11) of the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team leaps for the ball as it goes on the rim during Saturday night's game with visiting Silver City High School. Silver City won the game 66-53.

Warrior junior varsity falls to Silver City, 73-53

The Ruidoso High School boys junior varsity basketball team dropped a 73-53 decision to Silver City High School in the district 3-AAA opener at the Warrior gymnasium Saturday afternoon.

The game was basically decided in the first quarter when the visitors jumped off to a 28-13 lead. From then on, the Warriors played Silver City evenly.

Silver City led by a 41-23 margin at halftime but Ruidoso cut the Colt lead to 53-43 at the end of the third period. The Warriors got within 13 points several more times in the game but the visitors pulled up to their final 20-point margin with a spurt in the last three minutes.

Ruidoso—now 1-7 on the overall season—was led in scoring by freshman Mark Langston with 12 points. Russell Easter, Stanley Sluder and Tommy Crow each added eight points for the Warriors. Jesse Reynolds had six and Patric Pearson five.

"We're getting better," said Ruidoso junior varsity coach Elmer Chavez. "We're still making some mistakes and they went on a scoring streak late in the first quarter that hurt us, but we are improving."

Ruidoso will tangle with Capitan High School Friday, January 14, in the Tiger gymnasium.

SILVER CITY (73)
Oscan, 7, 1-4, 15; Perez, 6, 1-2, 13; Montes, 4, 2-4, 10; Castillo, 2, 3-9, 7; Acosta, 2, 0-2, 4; Morten, 2, 2-3, 6; McNeil, 2, 3-4, 7; Romero, 1, 0-0, 2; Berry, 1, 0-0, 2; Milvez, 1, 1-1, 3; Rodriguez, 1, 1-3, 3; Chavez, 0, 1-1, 0; TOTALS, 29, 15-30, 73.

RUIDOSO (53)
Langston, 3, 6-6, 12; Easter, 4, 0-1, 8; Sluder, 4, 0-0, 8; Crow, 2, 4-8, 8; Reynolds, 2, 2-5, 6; Pearson, 2, 1-3, 5; Ullmann, 1, 1-3, 3; Lopez, 0, 1-2, 1; Bridges, 1, 0-0, 2; TOTALS, 19, 15-28, 53.

Ruidoso wrestlers do well in Carlsbad meet

The Ruidoso High School wrestling team came through with an impressive performance at the Carlsbad Open Tournament Saturday, gaining five second places.

Henry Rue, Gervase Peso, David Swalander, Scott Ciraulo and Gary Burgess all took second places in the non-team scoring tournament that was dominated by Carlsbad High School matmen.

Rue took second in the 128-pound division, losing an 11-6 decision in the finals. Peso finished second in the 140-pound division. The sophomore won one match by a 17-1 decision but lost in the finals by a 13-6 score.

Swalander, a senior, took second in the 147-pound class. Swalander lost a 13-5 decision to a Carlsbad athlete who was second in the AAAA division state tournament last season and had a 30-2 record.

Ciraulo took second in the 167-pound class and Burgess finished second in the 185-pound division.

Ciraulo was pinned in the finals but the score was tied at 2-2 entering the third period.

Ciraulo, Rue and Burgess competed in the state AAA tournament last season.

James Herrera, Mike Shipman and

Chuck Schmidt each took third places for the Warriors. Herrera competed in the 155-pound division, Shipman in the 100-pound class and Schmidt in the 114-pound division.

Other varsity finishers were Chad Shurmack with a fourth place in the 107-pound class and Randy Pierce in the 121-pound division.

In junior varsity competition, Kerry Jameson and Billy Harrison finished third and fourth in the 134-pound division.

Warrior head coach Gerald Ames was pleased with the way his wrestlers performed.

"The competition was very tough," Ames said. "Carlsbad dominated the meet and it's at least the third best team in the state and possibly better than that. It was a good experience for our athletes. If there had been team scoring in the meet, Carlsbad would have finished first, its junior varsity second, its third, Roswell fourth and Goddard fifth."

The Warriors will travel to New Mexico Military Institute Saturday, January 15, for a 6:30 p.m. dual match with the Colts. Ruidoso will compete in the Carlsbad Invitational Friday and Saturday, January 21-22.

Ruidoso freshmen defeated by Truth or Consequences

A towering Truth or Consequences (T or C) High School boys freshman basketball team gave the Ruidoso High School freshman squad its fourth defeat against two wins this season Saturday afternoon, taking a 62-44 decision on the Warrior court.

Tor Chad had three players over six feet tall in its lineup, while the tallest Warrior player was 5-10.

The Tigers jumped off to an 11-4 advantage at the end of the first quarter break and never trailed in the contest. T or C led 33-16 at halftime and 49-28 at the end of three quarters.

Ruidoso made a run at the Tigers in the final quarter, closing the gap to 58-44 with two minutes remaining. However, the visitors held on and won by an 18-point margin.

Omar Dix led the Warrior scoring with 13 points and Jason Bigham added 10 points. Guard Ricardo Garcia scored eight points, Randy Reynolds had six and Jeff Sladon added five for Ruidoso. Garcia also did a good job running the Warrior offense.

It was the second time T or C has defeated the Warriors this season. Last month the Tigers topped the Warriors 45-31 on the winners' court.

Despite the defeat, Warrior coach Thurman Sanchez felt his team played well.

"They played their big guys most of the time," he said. "This was our best performance of the season."

Ruidoso will travel to Tularosa High School Thursday for a 1 p.m. game with the Wildcat frosh.

New classes taught at academy

Some new classes have begun at the Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy (RGA) gymnasium.

A gymnastics class for boys seven to 10 years old is being held each Monday and Friday from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. There is a $425 monthly fee.

Older boys, 10 to 15 years of age, can attend a class each Tuesday and Thursday from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. The fee for that class is also $25 a month.

A tots class, for children three to five years old, will be held from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. each Tuesday. The registration fee is $12.50 per month.

For more information on the classes, call Nancy Radziewicz at 257-4031 or Bonnie Richardson at 378-4661.

REACHING FOR THE STARS. Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball coach Sergio Castanon is in a happy mood these days. Castanon's team won its first district 3-AAA game in two years Saturday night with a 59-53 decision over visiting Silver City High School. The sky may be the limit for the Warriors as they try for a state tournament berth.

Warrior girls end two-year drought with win over Colts

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

A wait of two years ended for the Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball team when the Warriors defeated visiting Silver City High School 59-53 in a district 3-AAA game Saturday night. It was the first Ruidoso victory in a district game since the 1980-81 season when the Warriors topped Truth or Consequences. Last season, the Warriors went winless in district action. The victory didn't come easily for the Warriors, however. Ruidoso trailed by a 40-39 score entering the final quarter before outscoring the Colts by a 20-13 margin.

Ruidoso's victory wasn't locked up until the Silver City coach was called for two technical fouls with 29 seconds remaining in the contest. The Warriors were leading 54-51 at the time and Kody Taylor sank three of four foul shots for a 57-51 Ruidoso advantage. Claudia Branum then hit a short jump shot to clinch the victory for the Warriors. Ruidoso had used some tough defense to charge into the lead. Lillian Lopez and Gia Rose both stole the ball several times in the rally. Rose, a sophomore, stole the ball twice with three minutes remaining in the game. Taylor added another steal a few seconds later. The Warriors started the game out fast and took a 14-10 advantage by the end of the first period. Ruidoso gradually increased its margin in the second quarter. Branum gave the Warriors a 28-21 lead when she blocked a pass, picked the ball up and hit a shot from 10 feet out. Ruidoso added another bucket and the Colts scored just before the buzzer as the Warriors took a 30-23 lead into halftime. The visitors gradually cut into the Ruidoso lead in the third period. The Warriors held a 37-33 lead with 2:40 remaining in the quarter before Silver City scored six straight points for a 39-37 advantage. Ruidoso scored a field goal and the Colts made a free throw to make the score 40-39 in favor of Silver City at the quarter break. Then the Warriors put together probably their finest quarter of the season for the victory. Taylor led the Warrior scorers with 17 points and Branum added 14. Junior Stacy Ivy added seven points and did a fine job rebounding. Sonja Jefferson also did well for Ruidoso on the boards. Warrior coach Sergio Castanon was naturally pleased with the victory but not completely satisfied. "We could have rebounded better," he said. "Plus we also need three players to score in double figures instead of one or two. Still, it was our best win of the year. It was a team effort." Ruidoso is now 1-1 in district action and 4-4 overall. The Warriors' next contest is at Truth or Consequences Saturday, January 15.

in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades. Youths from Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Hondo are eligible. Any youth who did not turn 13 years old before September 1, 1982, is eligible to play in the league. The exact date for the beginning of the season has not been set but all the games will be played at White Mountain Middle School.

Little League registration to be held this week

Local youths who want to participate in the Ruidoso-Sertoma Little League basketball program can pick up registration forms at their school today or Tuesday. The youths must return their registration forms to their school Wednesday. There will be a late registration from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. Thursday at the White Mountain Middle School gymnasium. The program is limited to boys and girls

Tiger boys and girls finish third in Smokey Bear tourney

The Capitan High School boys and girls varsity basketball teams continued to show improvement as they both finished third in the seventh annual Smokey Bear Classic over the weekend in the Tiger gymnasium.

Reserve High School captured the title in both the boys and girls divisions.

Capitan's boys rolled over Mountainair High School 66-47 in the opener Thursday night. The Tigers fell to a hot Dexter High School squad by a 53-46 score Friday, and Saturday night nipped Hagerman High School 63-57 in overtime.

The Capitan girls belted Mountainair 49-22 Thursday night, lost to Dexter by a 44-33 score Friday and lopped Magdalena 43-31 in the third place game Saturday night.

Grady Lee Eldridge and Danny Cummins of Capitan made the all-tournament boys team while Shelly Eldridge was the only Tiger named to the all-tournament girls team.

The Tigers led all the way in their victory over Mountainair in the boys' opener. Capitan jumped off to a 19-5 lead by the end of the opening quarter and held a 39-21 advantage at halftime. Capitan kept its lead around 20 points most of the second half.

Cummins led the Tiger scoring with 14 points, while the 6-2 Eldridge added 13 points.

Capitan played without leading scorer Robert Parker in the first two games of the tournament. Parker got in limited playing time against Hagerman. The 6-3 senior stepped on a pin last week and it limited his playing time.

Against Dexter, the Tigers hit a cold shooting spell early in the game and could never really get untracked. Capitan shot 26 percent from the field and made just 50 percent of its free throws against the Demons.

The Tigers held a slight 22-20 halftime lead but the Demons outscored Capitan 24-16 in the final quarter for the victory. Dexter took advantage of the free throw line in the final period for the win, scoring 10 points at the line.

Eldridge led the Tiger scoring with 10 points while Cummins and Eddie Davis each tallied eight markers. Bill Reed led the Dexter scoring with 16 points.

Against Hagerman, the Tigers scored six points in the overtime period while holding their opponents without a score.

Eldridge again led the Capitan scorers with 21 points and Jon Todd Aguilar added 12.

The Tiger girls had perhaps their easiest victory of the year in the opener against Mountainair.

Shelly Eldridge led the Capitan scorers with 14 points and Audra Joiner added 10 points.

Eldridge, Patti Huey and Tracy Herd were praised by Capitan coach Mel Holland for their play in the tournament.

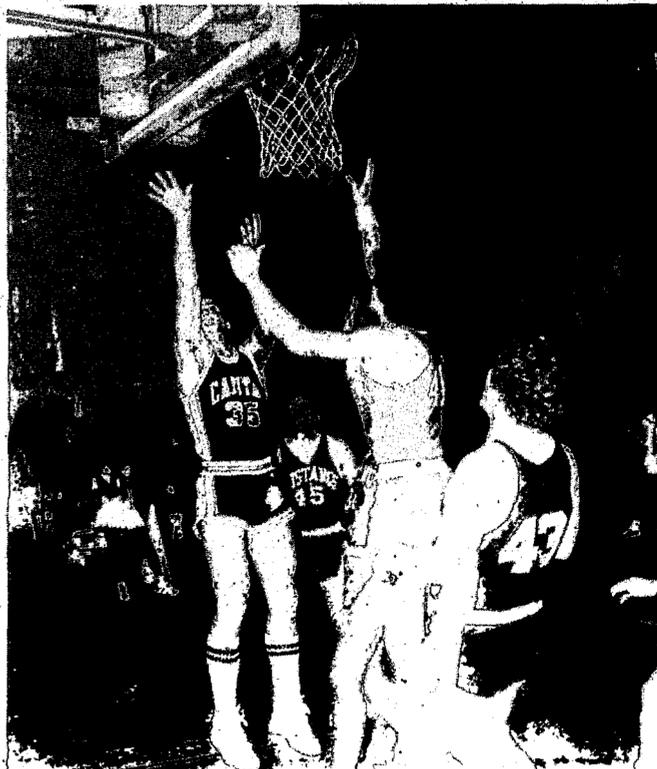

Holland also thought his team was making progress.

"We're showing improvement," he said. "We've still got some more improvement to do but we're getting there."

The Capitan boys are now 6-2 on the season while the Tiger girls are 4-4.

Capitan will host Ruidoso High School in a non-district game Friday, January 14. The junior varsity game will begin at 5:30 p.m. with the varsity contest following.

The Tiger girls will host Jal High School Saturday, January 15. The junior varsity game will begin at 5:30 p.m. and the varsity tilt will follow.

PUT UP A SHOT. Brave girls top Dexter but boys lose second game

The White Mountain Middle School girls basketball team took a pair of victories but the Braves boys lost in competition at Dexter Friday night.

White Mountain won the girls A game by a 32-7 score and the B girls won 18-1. The Brave boys A squad fell to Dexter by a 35-27 score.

"All the girls just played really well," White Mountain girls coach Jean Wright said. "They tried hard and if we had played as well all season as we did against Dexter, we'd just keep on winning."

The Brave girls A team is now 5-4 on the season.

The White Mountain boys, now 9-2 on the season, jumped off to a 6-4 lead at the end of the first quarter. White Mountain led 17-14 at halftime but Dexter crept ahead by a 24-22 score at the end of the third quarter.

Jeff Williamson led the White Mountain scoring with 11 points. Alan Kirgan added five points and Justin Shaw scored four points.

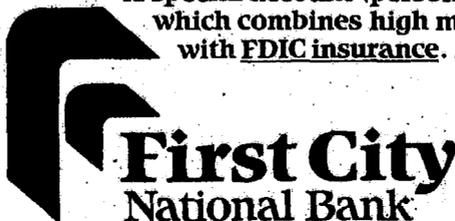

"They're a very good team," Brave coach Dean Hood said of Dexter. "Maybe as good as Holloman (the team which gave the Braves their other loss)."

The Brave boys and girls will play at Capitan Thursday. Friday the White Mountain boys will host Alamogordo.

Improved nutrition an important resolution

Resolve this new year to improve the quality of the meals you serve your family, suggests Mae Martha Johnson, Extension food and nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University.

Take a little time to plan menus before you shop. This time will come back to you in time saved in preparation later in the week because you will already know what to prepare for each meal. You will also have all the ingredients necessary for each dish.

As you write your menus, pick foods for what they will do for you nutritionally. Use the following checklist and you can be sure all your family members get the nutrients they need, the specialist says. Each day include:

—Some protein food such as meat, fish, eggs or cheese. Milk with cereal. Dry peas, dry beans, nuts, pasta or rice with meat or cheese.

—Milk, cheese at all meals for children, two out of three meals for adults.

—Vegetables and fruits. At least one vitamin A and one vitamin C food. At least four servings each day.

—Bread, cereal, pasta (enriched or whole grain). At the same time remember that food is seen before it is eaten. Picture in your mind how each meal will look on the plate and include:

—Variety in color, either in the foods used or with garnishes.

—Variety in shape and size, such as round, square and stick shapes.

—Consider how it will taste and be sure to have:

—Variety in flavor such as sweet, sour, bland, spicy and pungent.

—How food feels in the mouth is also important so consider:

—Variety in texture and temperature. Use foods that are soft, crisp and chewy. Serve at least one hot dish with a cold meal or something cool or icy cold with a hot meal.

—It takes only a little planning to provide meals that are both nutritious and interesting, Johnson says.

If your New Year's resolution is to lose weight, here are some tips from Mae Martha Johnson, food and nutrition specialist at New Mexico State University.

Be careful and conscious of your food choices. Select highly nutritious foods that are low in calories.

A good guide for estimating the calorie count in foods is to think of their water or fiber content. Generally, foods high in water and fiber content are usually lower in calories. For example, green leafy vegetables are lower in calories than spaghetti. Fats, such as margarine, cooking oil, gravy and visible fat on meat are highly concentrated sources of calories. Choose such sparingly.

—Select a variety of foods every day to include meat or meat alternates, milk, fruits and vegetables and breads and cereals.

—Be aware of serving size. Measure foods in measuring cups and spoons until sizes and amounts are set in your mind.

—Watch snacking between meals. Snacking on high caloric foods such as potato chips, french fries, cake or pie is a sure way to add unwanted calories. Choose raw fruits and vegetables and their juices for snacks.

—Be sure to get the protein necessary for growth, maintenance and repair of body tissues.

Remember, carbohydrates are also necessary in your diet. Avoid fat diets that severely restrict or omit carbohydrates.

—Cut down on fats. Avoid fried foods.

—Eat vegetables raw, baked or cooked in water with minimal or no fat or sugar added. Use spices, herbs and lemon for seasonings and interest.

—Drink six to eight glasses of water a day.

—Eat three meals a day. Be sure to eat breakfast.

—Eat slowly. Don't do anything else while you eat. For example, don't read or watch television while you eat.

—Eat only in the kitchen or dining room of your home—never in any other room of the house. This will make you more aware of what and how much you eat.

—Don't restrict yourself so much that you can't live with a diet.

Successful weight loss is a slow process. Plan to lose one to two pounds a week.

—Combine your diet with exercise.

—Write down everything you eat and drink, at least for a week.

Avoid diets that could be harmful to your health. If you have a question about the reliability of a diet, check with your County Extension home economist or a registered dietitian.

Consider money management spending habits in '83

This year make New Year's resolutions that will lead to better money management, suggests Jackie Martin, Extension family finance specialist at New Mexico State University.

Martin says personal resolve can help avoid financial woes. She suggests these resolutions:

"I Resolve To Make A Spending Plan For 1983"

Earning money takes a great deal more time and effort than spending money. "The temptation to spend always seems to be around, so make a spending plan to keep money from 'flying out the window,'" Martin advises.

"I Will Avoid 'Sprurchases'"

Martin says "sprurchases" are spur-of-the-moment purchases or impulse buying. Stop! Think it over. Ask yourself these questions, she cautions: Is it really what I want? Will I still want it if I wait until tomorrow?

"I Will Start Saving For Emergencies And The Future"

When that emergency does come, a nest egg instead of an empty nest may be the straw that keeps the nest from falling apart, the specialist notes. Saving for special wants as well as emergencies has another advantage. The money saved may be invested to draw interest, so the saving fund can grow.

"I Will Not Overload Myself With Debt"

Too much credit can be a back-breaking load. It's wise to compare the cost at different lending agencies when using credit. The differences may be surprising.

"For example, the interest charge on a $500 loan could vary as much as $200 depending on where you borrow and how long you take to pay the loan off," Martin says. "Will the payments last longer than the item you buy?"

"I Will Be A Selective Shopper"

Compare! Big items and small things, too, may vary considerably in both price and quality. Martin suggests asking yourself these questions: Is it really useful? Is there a substitute that would serve the purpose better?

Woman escapes serious injury

A Ruidoso Downs woman escaped serious injury Friday evening when the car she was driving flipped over in Paradise Canyon and pinned her underneath in Cedar Creek.

Joyce Tarang, 28, was thrown from her car and pinned under the front hood after she lost control on the 90-degree curve in Paradise Canyon, according to police records.

According to the police report, Tarang was traveling east on the road about 8:15 p.m. and lost control after she was blinded by the lights of an oncoming vehicle.

Police said Tarang locked her brakes, slid off the road and flipped over into the creek bed.

Shortly after police and an ambulance arrived, Tarang was found under the car. She was taken to Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital.

Tarang was still in the hospital Monday morning undergoing treatment for a possible neck injury. Nursing supervisor Mary Lou Brown said Tarang's injury is not serious.

There were no passengers in Tarang's vehicle.

Yours and Ours

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—No place can be in favor of growth and no growth at the same time.

New Governor Toney Anaya should learn that.

The messages he is sending out suggest he thinks he can get away with making us believe he holds both positions.

That has been one of his problems for some time.

During his campaign for the office he now holds, for example, many of us felt he was speaking one way here and another way there.

That is not a very reassuring belief.

Now that he is in office, he seems to be doing something of the same sort of thing.

This column, for instance, is written after returning from a formal ceremony at which he accepted the recommendations of a special task force on how to create more jobs for New Mexicans.

The document doesn't propose anything startling.

The fact is, however, that it is a pro-growth document.

Governor Anaya sits there and compliments the men and women who prepared it, and indicates he plans to put its suggestions into practice.

That's a good thing. That's probably what most of the citizens of New Mexico would like to see him do.

But with his other hand, what is he doing?

Naming to his Cabinet, his inner circle of advisors, a group of people who pride themselves on their no-growth attitudes.

Denise Fort, his choice to head the Department of Finance and Administration, sort of the "oversee-all" division of state government, has spent most of the time since she got her law degree as an opposer of things.

Even if she says she only opposes the degradation of the environment, not its use for legitimate growth, how does Anaya think business will view his administration with her sitting at his right hand?

It's all very well to have Fantus reports and documents like this latest one, but does the Governor think naming Brant Calkin to high office in his administration is likely to draw companies to New Mexico?

Calkin heads New Mexico Citizens for Clean Air and Water.

In his role as one-time president of the Sierra Club, he has been a party to more suits to prevent economic development in New Mexico than almost any other single citizen.

Does Anaya believe that his name on a letterhead is going to draw new industry to our state?

And whom will Calkin be working for? For Shirley Hill Witt, whom this writer remembers when she ran for the Albuquerque School Board on a slate with Gilberto Ballejos, a leader of the Brown Berets who was almost too radical for his own organization to follow.

These are the kinds of people who will cause the sort of climate which leads to industrial development?

Those poor people who work for Alex Mercure, who will head up Commerce and Industry if he can ever settle his private business affairs and take over the Secretaryship to which he has been appointed. Wait till they bring some industrial prospects to the state and introduce them to the people who are close to our Governor.

And think of the men and women of Labor, who supported Anaya with an all-out drive. How many new jobs will be created for their members with this anti-industrial bias at the top?

Can Toney have it both ways?

I have asked a me if I could tell you anyone asked me if I was ever in the Boy Scouts.

"For one day," I would answer. Then, by way of explanation, "We had a leader who made us stand at attention in the hot sun. I started seeing spots in front of my eyes and decided being a Boy Scout wasn't for me."

The story is true. I guess I was in fifth or sixth grade, going to a Catholic school in Albuquerque. There was a small troop affiliated with the school, and I was going to join.

I remember the leader tried to talk me out of quitting.

Though the story is true, lately I have come to realize I was telling it with a distorted emphasis. I think I wanted the listener to "read between the lines" and think, "Tim was too much of a free spirit to fit into the military-like regimentation of the Boy Scouts."

And I suppose if they thought, "Besides, he was 'too cool' for such a square organization," that was okay, too.

I didn't have reason to give Scouting much thought from that long ago hot day until I went to work for The Ruidoso News. The activities of Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and Brownies are staples of a small-town newspaper.

Twice I have attended Courts of Honor for Boy Scout Troop 59, and the experience left a distinct impression each time.

The first time, last spring, I went with my wife. Part of the ceremony consisted of one Scout reciting the Scout Law while another lit a candle for each point.

One of those points is, "A Scout is kind... He does not hurt or kill harmless things without reason." Cathy was teaching Special Education at the high school at that time. Some of her kids had been talking about how they liked to run over animals for kicks.

After hearing the Scout Law, she said how nice it would be if some of those kids could have guidelines to live by.

The more recent Court of Honor I attended was for the induction of three Eagle Scouts. At one point in the ceremony, all Eagle Scouts present were invited to step forward and recite the oath of the order.

The group included two men I knew to be active in local Scouting, Jim Dickinson and Rudy Flack, and two public figures, Mayor George White and village attorney Lee Huckstep.

When they went up, I felt something weird—I wished I could step forward too.

I talked about Scouting with those four gentlemen in the week after the Court of Honor.

Scouting itself was not too many years old when George White joined in about 1920. (The Boy Scouts of America was legally incorporated in 1910.)

I asked George what he had gotten from being a Scout.

"Honesty, sincerity and the leadership role—which I think I have maintained all my life," he replied. He also cited love of the outdoors and tolerance for others as things he learned in Scouting.

George worked actively in Scouting as an adult for many years. This involvement fulfills the "Eagle Charge," which pledges Eagle Scouts to give back what they have gotten out of Scouting.

One thing Rudy Flack got out of Scouting was more awareness of and appreciation for adults.

"That's one of the big 'I owes' back to Scouts—that's why I'm in it," he said.

What else did Scouting do for him?

"Probably the biggest thing—and it's a result of the merit badge program—was to learn about a lot of things that I never would have had the opportunity to be exposed to."

Rudy said his first merit badge, Surveying, led him to take certain courses in college and indirectly influenced his choice of a major, Forestry.

In pursuit of another merit badge, he went from being afraid of snakes to raising them—milking them for their venom and selling it to hospitals for serum.

Rudy recalled undergoing another change—away from being a loner. "I learned about leadership," he said. Today he sees the same type of changes in boys he works with.

Lee Huckstep's "wouldn't have otherwise" from Scouting involves his choice of a place to live.

"I ended up in New Mexico as a direct result of Scouting," he said. Lee, who is from Missouri, worked six summers at Philmont Scout Ranch and "instantly liked the Southwest."

At Philmont, he learned "invaluable lessons" and gained experience at a young age in things like administrative decision making, budget preparation and basic accounting. Lee credits Scouting with making him extremely independent.

"It gave me a lot more self-confidence," said Jim Dickinson of his trek to Eagle Scout. Jim also spoke of the leadership aspect.

A Scout may be going along, working on rank advancements, Jim explained, when suddenly there is a younger kid around. The older Scout realizes he can help the younger one, and does.

"It sneaks up on 'em," said Jim.

As a teacher, Jim is in a position to observe all kinds of kids. As a Scout leader, he enjoys relating to boys in a non-classroom setting. When Scouts reach their junior or senior year in high school, he noted, they begin to stand out from their peers.

"You can tell the ones that have been involved," said Jim. "Their character, their leadership abilities begin to show up."

Dickinson noted that Scouting can influence boys as a time that is critical in their lives.

"This is a time period when they need all the help they can get," he commented. "This is what Scouting can give them."

And if there were no Scouting?

"If you don't occupy a boy's time constructively, something else is going to occupy his time," said Jim. He feels it is up to the community to see that kids have constructive outlets.

The three objectives of Scouting, as outlined by Flack, are constructive indeed. As Cathy observed, society as a whole would be better if more youths got training in character development, citizenship and physical fitness.

But there is another side to Scouting that explains the organization's enduring appeal: it's fun.

"Scouting attracts boys because it's fun, it's adventuresome," said Rudy.

My conversations with these men reinforced the belief that was germinating when I went to those Courts of Honor—that Scouting can be a great positive influence on a boy's life. A boy who grows up without it, I am now convinced, has missed out on something good.

Editorial

A story that made news last week may serve as a reminder to parents to keep in touch with their children.

There is a verse in a song of some years back that goes, "I ain't no senator's son, I ain't no fortunate one."

The words imply that by accident of birth, some are more privileged than others, and that to be a "senator's son" assures an easy path through life.

Robert Jeff Lujan, age 20, was sentenced to up to four years in federal prison last week after being convicted of cocaine possession and use of the telephone in a drug transaction.

Lujan is the son of eight-term U.S. Representative Manuel Lujan of Albuquerque.

The Congressman showed integrity in refusing to use his public position to help his son. In fact, he bent over backwards to avoid any appearance of trying to influence the case.

Representative Lujan attributed his son's involvement in drug trafficking to a serious problem with alcohol.

"And the first time we knew was when he was arrested," the Congressman said in an interview. "Before that, we had no idea at all."

The job of representing New Mexico in Washington D.C. perhaps puts more demands on a parent's time and makes it harder to keep tabs on one's children than do many other jobs.

But all parents, if not careful and caring, run the risk of losing their children to other influences.—TP

Letters to the Editor

DEAR EDITOR

An article appeared in your Thursday, December 9, 1982, issue captioned "Meeting on Nuclear Weapons December 16th."

I would urge anyone (who attends such meetings) to read an article appearing in the October issue of Readers Digest, "KGB'S MAGICAL WAR FOR PEACE".

In my opinion this article should be required reading for all U.S. citizens, particularly those advocating nuclear freeze.

Sincerely,
B.H. Powell

DEAR EDITOR

The money that our nation is putting into Nuclear Weapon proliferation is appalling. While President Reagan is cutting our budget on every facet, the edge of armament is growing disproportionately.

I agree that the United States must be able to defend her people in a war. I believe that those people would be more willing to fight for a country in which food, housing and medical care were more affordable. So many people today cannot find jobs, cannot afford a home, cannot stay out of debt. These problems take their toll on our national spirit.

More of our tax money needs to be spent on human needs. Some of the defense budget would provide many more jobs if used for another purpose, such as education or medicine. And I believe our national morale would improve.

America is a wonderful country. Better than any I've been to or read about. I know that in a democracy it is every citizen's job to make sure that this continues. It is our job to be informed and speak our minds.

Sincerely,
Randy Bennett

AVOCADO DOGFOOD

It is reported that a dog food being marketed in southern California contains octacosanol, lecithin and natural tocopherols. All those things are thought to be good for conditioning Fido's coat.

marketed first in southern California? Why, because this dog food's chief ingredient is that mellow king of the salad, the avocado. And why waste this delectable fruit on the aforementioned Fido? Because the last avocado crop was so abundant there was talk of selling some for dog food. Which has now come to pass—so far with good results. Lucky Fido.

Now why should a dog food be test-

Rin Tin Tin, as his fans know, was a superdog. There was nothing, it seemed, that this great animal couldn't do. And in the view of many people, that goes for all of his kind. According to one authority, German Shepherds "can be trained to perform any kind of work physically possible for a dog."

That seems like an extravagant statement until you look at the roles that German Shepherds have performed brilliantly for man. They have served on the battlefield and in rescue operations, as police dogs, seeing-eye guides, detectives, sheepherders, and—hundreds of thousands of them—as family pets.

In the 1880's many German dog fanciers were concerned that the country's fine shepherd dogs would vanish as Germany became industrialized. So they set about trying to combine the best traits from several shepherd strains into a smart, strong, utilitarian dog that could work as well in the city as on the farm. A club to standardize the resulting breed was founded in 1889, and the modern German Shepherd had arrived.

During World War I, the Germans used their powerful Shepherds extensively on the front lines, and in World War II, German Shepherds (or Alsations, as the British call them) served with the Allies as well. Along with doing aggressive sentry work, they carried messages (a messenger named Storm once covered three-and-a-half miles in 14 minutes), located wounded soldiers, delivered medical supplies, and found many civilians under the rubble of bombed-out cities.

Although German Shepherds don't have the best nose in the canine world, they are used more than any other dog for sniffing out illegal drugs or explosives—painstaking work for which they are employed by the military, the U.S. Customs Department, and city police. And as trackers, they perform amazingly well, too. In Boston a few years ago, a German Shepherd named King received an award for recovering the money taken in a bank holdup. This was no great accomplishment for King, since he had already helped find more than 500 criminals and missing persons during his career.

But sensational and demanding as some of these jobs are, nothing matches the service that German Shepherds have given as guide dogs for the blind. For it is here, more than in any other role, that they come as close as any dog can to exercising judgment. They can't simply follow the command "forward," but must be certain themselves that it is safe to proceed. There are many stories of guide dogs saving lives by disobeying orders. On the street, guide dogs are always on the alert, and nothing—no other dog or person or noise—can distract them from their responsibility.

Of course, not all German Shepherds are employed in such specialized work. The great majority are simply good watchdogs, ranch hands, and family pets. They adapt well to both outdoor and indoor living. Standing 22 to 26 inches high and weighing 60 to 85 pounds, Shepherds need lots of exercise but don't chafe at apartment life as much as some working breeds. They shed heavily, but grooming their dense, smooth coats (which come in a variety of combinations of black, brown, gold, and white) is an easy, if constant, chore.

In recent years there have been reports of vicious German Shepherds, of watchdogs who suddenly turned violent. In a basically sound dog, the reason for this is almost always poor handling. German Shepherds will not take endless punishment (nor will any dog) and go on being affectionate; they are bright and sensitive and will react when mistreated. People who try to create a more "effective" watchdog by goading their pet into anger or aggressiveness are likely to see that viciousness turned on themselves—or on innocent people.

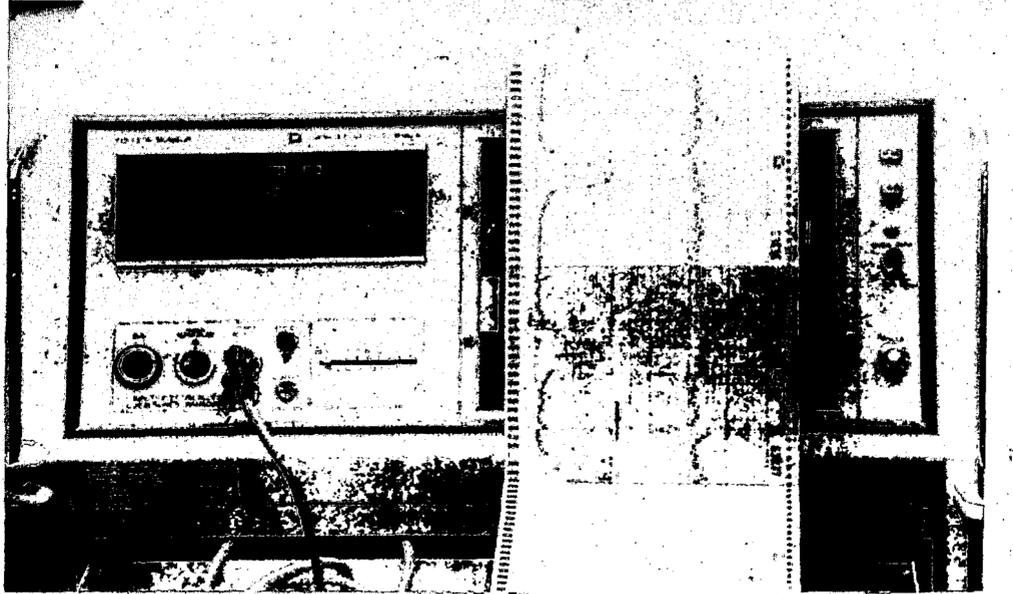

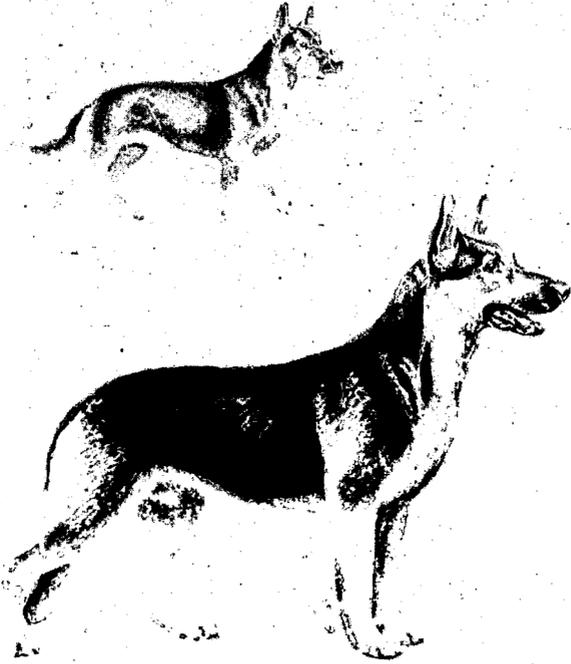

Bad temperament can also be a result of careless breeding, and the German Shepherd has suffered from some of that, too. Buy from a reliable breeder, investigate your puppy's background thoroughly, and then give this magnificent dog the training and companionship it deserves.

TRAVEL INSURANCE
Here's how to protect yourself from loss or penalty when you travel:
If you have a homeowners or tenants insurance policy, you may be covered against theft from your person or hotel room! Check your policy.
Baggage insurance protects you against loss or damage of your baggage in transit. Most airlines include only basic insurance. Check the limit and decide if you need more. Independent baggage insurance is also available.
Trip cancellation insurance is useful if you're booking a charter flight or package that carries a cancellation penalty. It protects you if you have to cancel at the last minute, or come home early, due to illness, family problems, etc.
Flight insurance is basically life and accident insurance. If you're already insured it may be an unnecessary extra expense. Some credit cards provide automatic flight insurance when you charge your plane ticket.
Rest easy about your travel plans. You'll get expert help at Ruidoso-Travel.

NOTICE OF PROPERTY TAX REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Property which was valued in 1982 in this county by the county assessor is not required to be reported or rendered for 1983 or subsequent years, EXCEPT FOR:

1. mobile homes,
2. livestock and
3. land used for agricultural purposes

If, for any reason, your property was not valued last year and it is subject to valuation this year, you are required by law to report to the county assessor on forms provided either by mail or at the assessor's office. In addition, all non-governmental entities (property owners) which claim to be exempt from the property tax must report their property and claim their exemption for 1983.

Reports for mobile homes, livestock, land used for agriculture purposes, property not valued last year and claims for exemptions by non-governmental entities must be completed and mailed or delivered to the county assessor not later than the last day of February. If you made improvements to your real property and:

1. the improvements cost more than $1,000 and
2. a building permit for the improvements was not issued, you must report the nature of the improvements and their cost to the assessor not later than the last day of February. These reports must be on forms provided by the assessor. A signed statement, which:
 1. describes the property affected,
 2. states the nature and value of the improvements, and
 3. states the amount you contend the value has decreased.

This statement must be filed with the assessor not later than the last day of February. If the veterans exemption was claimed and allowed in 1982, no new claim for that exemption is required to be filed. However, if that exemption was not claimed and allowed in 1982 and it is now claimed, claim must be made by the last day of February by filing with the assessor the form provided by the assessor.

If the head-of-family exemption was claimed and allowed in 1982, no new claim for that exemption is required to be filed. However, if that exemption was not claimed and allowed in 1982 and it is now claimed, claim must be made by the last day of February by filing with the assessor the form provided by the assessor. If you are responsible for declaring their property classification to the assessor as residential or non-residential. When the declaration is accepted by the assessor, it shall remain as such and need not be made in subsequent years unless a change in classification changes. If a taxpayer has not declared their property to be residential in 1982 and desires that classification for 1983, they must complete a declaration of residential classification and file it with the assessor. If you wish to review the full contents of these provisions, they can be examined at the office of the county assessor.

SOPHIE'S CHOICE from Universal Pictures Directed and screenplay by Alan J. Pakula Starring Meryl Streep Kevin Kline Rated R * * *

By J.T. YURKO

First things first if Meryl Streep is not one of the finest actresses working today then nobody is. Her performance in this picture overshadows a worthy film but it is she who dominates your perceptions. Taking risks with almost every gesture, every motion, every close-up, she beckons you to find fault, but her performance is nearly flawless.

Meryl Streep is Sophie a Polish daughter of a professor who is now a concentration camp survivor living in New York. She is having a rather strained relationship with her boyfriend (Kevin Kline). Living downstairs is a young, impressionable writer who forms the third part of this peculiar triangle, and who also serves as the chronicler of the tale.

The film, based on William Styron's best-selling novel, was adapted for the screen by Alan J. Pakula. Pakula has had success translating books into movies, most notably with "All The President's Men." That action-filled political thriller, however, was different from this deeply personal drama of inner fears and emotions.

Pakula has also written the screenplay for the film. He manages to stay quite faithful to the events in the book, including long passages of flashbacks where Miss Streep recounts the horrors of the events surrounding her life in Poland and the events that led up to her being sent to the concentration camp.

Where the film fails to match the strength of the novel is the relationship between Miss Streep and her lover. Without giving away too much of the plot, there is a special relationship. At times Kline is cruel and at others he is gallant. What bonds their love is part of Sophie's secret. The relationship should be more powerful, more moving, but we are kept too distant.

Still "Sophie's Choice" is potent moviemaking. Miss Streep is a certain Oscar nominee. The two-and-a-half hour film is often a tough slow with its incessant close-ups, but "Sophie's Choice" is an excellent choice for anyone looking for quality filmmaking.

Television Schedule For The Week Of Jan. 10 Through Jan. 16

Rumors are afloat that Loretta Lynn's "Coal Miner's Daughter" biography will be worked into a weekly series for CBS-TV. Meanwhile NBC-TV is reportedly planning two more specials with Miss Lynn.

David Allen Coe performed on the recent Willie Nelson show at the Summit in Houston. Coe is set for his European tour beginning Jan. 26, starting in Holland. He will complete the tour Feb. 19.

Charly McClain is still celebrating a successful 1982, by wheeling around in a white Rolls-Royce that once belonged to another Memphis native — Elvis Presley.

Mac Davis has signed for an eight-week appearance in 1983 at Las Vegas' MGM-Grand Hotel.

Lacy J. Dalton

Lacy J. Dalton has been seen recently teaming with Bobby Bare and David Allen Coe for duets that will appear on Coe and Bare's forthcoming album projects.

Lacy has been heard with Bare on several recorded duets, including the "Take This Job and Shove It" soundtrack and on Bare's "Ain't Got Nothin' to Lose" LP.

Her teaming with Coe marks the first time she has worked with him in the studio.

For David's new Columbia LP, they've recorded "You Gotta Serve Somebody," a song from Bob Dylan's gospel album, "Saved."

Jimmy Fortune newest member of the Statler Brothers got his first taste of recording during the group's recent visit to Nashville.

Between tour dates, the foursome recorded vocal tracks on three songs, one gospel and two original tunes, at Soundstage Studios.

Before leaving Nashville to resume their final concert tour before vacation, the Statlers were presented with their fifth Gold Album Award for "The Statler Brothers Christmas Card."

The foursome will appear on the American Music Awards Show on Jan. 17.

SCOOPS - Are you ready for this? The USSR has expressed interest in hosting the Miss Universe Pageant this year or next. The Russians have never sent a representative to the pageant, but it looks as if they'd like to get in on the bourgeois fun after all... Danny Thomas and Sid Caesar will team for a sitcom to be shown on ABC next fall. The storyline concerns two elderly former business partners, who, through a strange sequence of events, inherit grandchildren.

TELE-FLICKS - Albert Finney, who has played the title roles in "Tom Jones" and "Luther" and portrayed Daddy Warbucks in "Annie," will headline in another TV adaptation of the life of Pope John Paul II. "The Girls of Starkwater Hall," a pilot film produced by Leonard Goldberg is in development at ABC...

An upcoming NBC-TV film is "Portrait of an Invisible Woman." The film deals with a female newspaper reporter who becomes invisible after a chemical is accidentally spilled on her. The cast includes Bob Denver ("Gilligan's Island"), David Doyle ("Charlie's Angels") and Alexa Hamilton.

NOTES - Singer Laura Branigan ("Gloria"), also sang the title songs for both the recent CBS-TV movie "In Love with an Older Woman" and a special "CHiPs" episode. She'll also sing the theme songs to two other motion pictures - "Come Back" and "Flash Dancers"... Michael Landon and Bryant Gumbel will host the fourth annual "TV Guide Special: 1982," airing Jan. 24 on NBC. They'll take a look back at TV last year and will then look at TV in 1983.
