Four superstars sign Summer Festival contracts

Individual performers for the 1983 Ruidoso Summer Festival (RSF) have signed and returned all contracts to the Fort Worth Symphony, reported Peter Strobel, RSF board member.

The signed contracts ensure that some of the world's top classical and popular musicians will perform at the festival June 3-9. Strobel said he talked last week by telephone to Ann Koonsman, executive director of the Fort Worth Symphony, who said she was holding the contracts of Roberta Peters, Dionne Warwick, Daniel Heifetz and Pepe Romero. The Fort Worth Symphony, led by conductor John Giordano, will also perform during the week-long music festival.

Roberta Peters has sung with the Metropolitan Opera in New York City for over 30 consecutive years. Most of the great artists who sing at the Met debut only after years of artistic development and experience in smaller houses. Not so with Peters.

At the age of 19, just five hours before the 1950 Met debut of "Don Giovanni," she was chosen for one of the leads when the regular performer fell ill.

"I knew the part," recalled Peters, "but I had never sung onstage with an orchestra." The bravos and four curtain calls at the finale proclaimed that a star was born.

Since then, Peters has performed well over 500 times with the Met. She has sung all over the world, including the first performance by an American singer in the People's Republic of China. She has recorded 36 albums, and made five command appearances at the White House and a record 66 appearances on the Ed Sullivan show.

Dionne Warwick has been one of the top popular singers in the world since she first teamed up with songwriters Burt Bacharach and Hal David in the 1960s. The winner of five gold records and four Grammy awards, Warwick has a list of hit songs longer than most performers even dream of.

"Walk On By," "I Say a Little Prayer,"

"Do You Know the Way to San Jose?" and "Then Came You" are just a few of the songs she has made popular over the last 20 years.

"I couldn't help noticing her. Dionne had something—it was there when I first met her: a kind of elegance, her flow and feeling for the music," Bacharach once told Ebony Magazine.

She was the first singer to be named "Woman of the Year" by Harvard's Hasty Pudding Club in 1970, and the only performer to win simultaneous Grammys in both popular and rhythm and blues categories in 1980 for "I Know I'll Never Love This Way Again" and "Deja Vu."

Daniel Heifetz is widely acclaimed by audiences, conductors and critics as one of the most fiery and charismatic violinists of our time.

The 33-year-old violinist regularly performs with many of the world's major orchestras and has won prizes in the Sixth International Tchaikovsky Competition in Moscow and the Merriweather Post Competition in Washington D.C.

The Chicago Tribune once wrote, "His playing combines an easy maturity of style and generosity of heart in just about the ideal proportions. Rarely has Ravel's sophisticated gypsy-Schmalz ('Tzigane') sounded more beguiling, less self-conscious, or more entertaining."

Classical guitarist Pepe Romero has performed at the Ruidoso Summer Festival every year of its existence. Last year, his performance sparked a sustained ovation from the crowd that brought on an impressive encore.

The critic of the Madrid A.B.C. called him "one of the greatest masters the guitar has ever known." The Stuttgarter Nachrichten declared, "he is one of the greatest virtuosos, thrilling. The public had every reason to be so extremely enthusiastic."

Strobel said he was also very enthusiastic to have such world renowned musicians for the Ruidoso Summer Festival.

Wind machines will protect orchards

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

Shiny new appendages have sprouted out of Wes and Myrna Grigsby's apple orchards recently, and they are unlike anything that has adorned the Bonito Valley soil before.

The Grigsbys have just installed four 125-horsepower wind machines in their Los Chozas orchards, located about three miles up Route 380 from the Highway 70 turnoff in Hondo.

The machines are the state-of-the-art in frost protection. Developed more than two centuries ago and used for the first time against frost in the early 1900s in California citrus orchards, the wind machine is now an indispensable tool for many farmers.

"We're not trying anything that's not proven," responded Wes Grigsby when asked about the machines' effectiveness.

The four machines on the Grigsby estate dot some 40 acres of orchards. A fifth machine was erected down the road from Los Chozas in a 10-acre orchard owned Bert and Myrtis Pfingston, Myrna's parents.

Each machine, with the propeller turning at a maximum 600 revolutions per minute, can blow a swath of frost-preventing air 350 feet in all directions.

Revolving atop a 35-foot steel tower, the prop swivels 360 degrees around its shaft every five minutes. The props themselves span 17 feet.

As explained by Myrna Grigsby, the wind machines work by redistributing warm air. On chilly nights when the apple buds are at their most vulnerable, Wes will switch on the stately fans when the mercury reaches about 33 degrees Fahrenheit. Wes said the machines will be effective down to 21 degrees.

By churning the air through the trees, the machines will prevent cold air from descending into the orchards and gripping the buds, which are the first parts of the tree affected by frost.

Myrna said this technique works because warm air stored in the trees and soil during the day will be recirculated as it escapes at night. She also noted that the rising warm air will be forced back into the orchards by the fans.

Come spring, Wes will depend on a thermostatically-controlled alarm by his bed that will wake him when the temperature dips. Once roused, he will drive out to the orchards covered by the machines and crank on the engines.

Each blade is powered by a propane-fueled 460-cubic-inch engine.

If the wind is blowing more than 15 miles per hour, Wes said, he will not be able to use the machines, because the force against the long blades could damage the drive shaft.

But a natural wind can be a blessing for fruit growers because frost usually does not develop when the air is turbulent—the same principle behind the wind machines.

Asked why they decided on the expensive investment for their orchards—each machine costs over $14,000—Wes pointed to the rising cost of diesel. That fuel fires the smudge pots used in the past to protect the trees, versus the relatively cheap propane for the wind machines.

Last year, when a deadly late April frost wiped out blossoms in the Bonito and Hondo valleys, one of the Grigsby orchards was the only one in a wide area that produced apples, because it was protected by smudge pots.

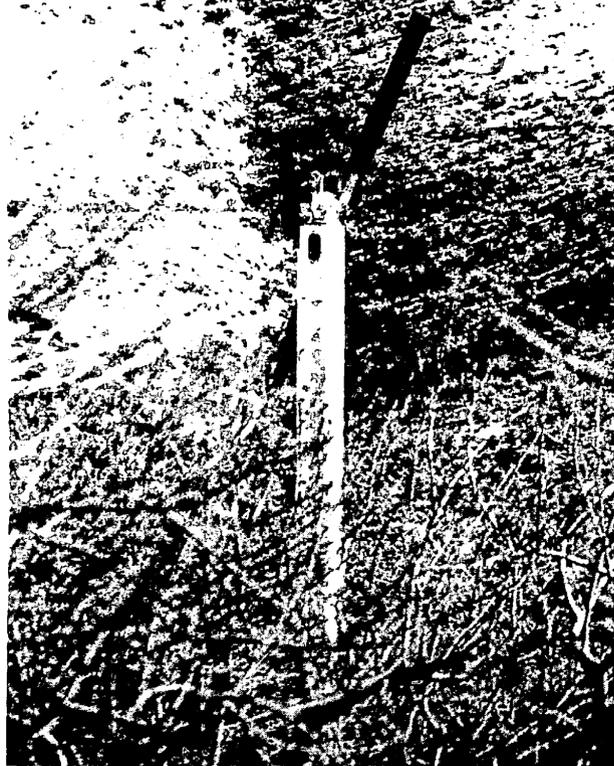

The Grigsbys fired up 400 pots, which warm the air with fire fed by diesel fuel, in a single 10-acre orchard. Wes estimated it took 400 to 500 gallons of diesel an hour to keep the pots burning.

All five wind machines will use only about 50 gallons of propane an hour and will protect 50 acres of trees, Wes noted. Considering the extra protection, the conservation of energy and the cheaper cost of propane compared to diesel, the machines will pay for themselves in the long run.

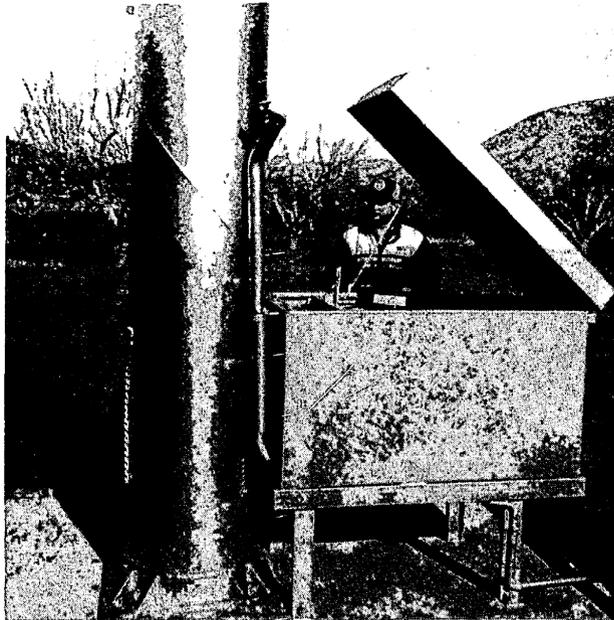

Wes said Friday while touring his orchards that the machines represent dependable insurance for an apple grower, who cannot afford to continue to lose crops from frost damage.

In the last four growing seasons, area orchards have been hit by two blossom-killing freezes. The losses forced some valley growers out of the business. But for the Grigsbys, whose lives are centered on the orchards, the deadly frosts increased their resolve to win out over the cold.

If the Grigsbys can save four times the number of trees as last year when the next frost comes, and save on fuel costs to boot, the wind machines will prove to be formidable and cost effective weapons.

DWARFING THE APPLE TREES is one of the four stately wind machines installed in Wes and Myrna Grigsby's Los Chozas orchards recently. The machines, able to turn at 600 revolutions per minute, stand vigil over some 40 acres of apple trees, ready to fend off killing frost.

WARMING UP the 460-cubic-inch Ford engine on one of his wind machines is apple grower Wes Grigsby. The machines rest on 35-foot high steel towers that are solidly anchored in cement.

Gasoline prices drop

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Local residents are finally benefiting from decreased gasoline prices—most service stations in town dropped the prices on their pumps at least seven cents per gallon over the weekend.

The sudden decrease was the first change in gasoline prices in this area for a number of months, according to several station owners.

Regular gas, which was selling at most stations in town for $1.28, is now priced at $1.19 or $1.21.

Competition is apparently to be credited for the good news for consumers. A seven cents per gallon decrease at the pumps at the Circle K store in Ruidoso Downs set off a chain reaction at other gas stations in the area.

Although Circle K first lowered its prices February 12, the other stations failed to catch on until this weekend. Dirk Fox, manager of the 7-11 Store in Hollywood, said he noticed the price change last Friday and was advised by his supervisor to follow suit "just to stay neck and neck with the competition."

Several stations in town supplied by Fina Bell Oil Company, including Fina, Kerr-McGee and Minit-Mart, reported they were advised by a Bell representative Friday afternoon to lower their gasoline prices also.

Fina Station owner Dick Cull said the Bell Oil Company representative indicated that 7-11 had dropped its prices seven cents a gallon and suggested he do the same.

Although this is certainly a positive move for local gas buyers, some people feel the prices are still higher here than they should be. Sam Rodar, president of the Service Station Dealers Association of New Mexico, said he feels many suppliers take advantage of the lack of competition in rural areas.

He explained that suppliers will often charge high prices to dealers in rural areas to make up for selling at low prices in more competitive markets.

"The price spread is just absurd," Rodar stated.

He was also surprised at the seven cents per gallon drop in one day experienced here over the weekend. He said there was not that large a decrease in gas at the refinery and probably never has been.

Rodar said the only reasonable explanation for such a large price drop would be as a means of boosting volume. He said local gas stations may have been saddled with low sales volume because consumers were driving to Roswell or Alamogordo to buy cheaper gas.

Circle K franchise owner Owen Copeland reported that sales have not increased noticeably since the price drop there over a week ago. In the first five days that he was selling gas for seven cents less, he said, only six customers seemed to even notice the decrease.

Copeland predicted that he will be able to hold prices at or near their current level, although the Circle K Corporation based in Phoenix, Arizona, sets the prices on gasoline for his station.

Whether Ruidosoans will continue to see declining prices in gasoline or whether costs will escalate again remains to be seen, but at least there has been some respite from the high costs of living in this rural resort community.

Zoning to wait on planner

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso-Lincoln County Extraterritorial Zoning Commission took another step Thursday toward completion of the ordinance regulating zoning of the area surrounding the Ruidoso village limits in a one-mile radius. The commission decided to hold off on zoning of that land, however, that may be hired by the village.

The extraterritorial commission was set up last summer in an effort to control growth of the area surrounding the village so it will be compatible with the environment of Ruidoso.

A second draft of the zoning ordinance was reviewed by village attorney Lee Huckstep and assistant district attorney James Richard Askew prior to Thursday's meeting. Changes suggested by the two attorneys were discussed by the commission Thursday and incorporated into a third draft.

The final draft will be presented to the Extraterritorial Zoning Commission—made up of one village councilman and two county commissioners—for approval and adoption. Extraterritorial Zoning Commission chairman M. R. "Milt" Alcorn reported that he will attend a village council and county board of commission meeting to update the governing bodies on the activities of his commission.

The group then decided that the task of designating actual zoning districts is one which will take two or three years and require professional assistance. As the village has indicated it may hire a professional planner to prepare an updated comprehensive plan for Ruidoso, the commission decided to put off zoning until such professional assistance is available, or until a specific need for zoning in the extraterritorial area arises.

The commission also welcomed new member Ben Hall to the group. He replaced Wesley Grigsby, who resigned. Hall was appointed by the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners to represent the county.

March 24 was set as the next meeting date for the commission.

CAPITAN GYM/AUDITORIUM

Look what's new!

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

"We built this for the purpose of being a community center," said Capitan school superintendent David Lee as he walked across the maple parquet floor of the recently completed gym and auditorium complex Friday.

The 19,500-square-foot building is the most recently completed facility at the Capitan school campus. Construction began in April 1982, said Lee, and classes moved into it Monday, February 14.

The building cost $1,030,000 dollars to build. Capitan paid $400,000 through a municipal bond and the state pitched in $630,000 from the Critical Capital Outlay Council.

The school will host an open house at the complex Monday, February 21, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Those attending the open house will find the most dominant feature of the building is the basketball court. Reminiscent of a well-lit airplane hangar, it has an arched ceiling that was set in place with the help of a laser beam, said Lee. It is intended primarily for physical education classes and basketball practice instead of competitive games.

The extra practice space will be heartily welcomed. Coach Mel Holland said it allows more physical education classes to take place at once. Before the gym was completed, Holland said, he had to schedule physical education classes until eight or nine at night.

Opposing football teams will also benefit from the new facility, said Lee. Since the old gym and stage burned down some years ago, visiting football teams have not even had a place to shower, he explained.

The new locker rooms and showers will finally provide a dressing room for visiting teams. While looking through the locker rooms and nearby coaches' office, Lee pointed out an innovative feature.

The showers have no temperature controls. Instead, the water temperature is controlled from the coaches' office, which prevents some of the potentially dangerous horseplay that goes on in school locker rooms, said Lee.

Near the lockers and coaches' office, there is also a laundry room and whirlpool room.

At one end of the court there is a stage that will be used for musical presentations and school programs. Lee hopes the community of Capitan will find uses for the auditorium as well.

Some more work on the acoustics will be required, however, before any programs are scheduled in the auditorium. While the band and choir were practicing on stage Friday, their music echoed loudly through the auditorium. Lee expects that acoustic tiles placed around the ceiling and walls will dampen the echoes.

When they discovered difficulties with the acoustics in the gym, Churchill Cooke's band and choir classes just moved into the music room next door.

"This room is great," exclaimed Cooke, who had a large hand in its design. There is one large room in which classes can practice, and a series of storage and individual practice rooms connected to it.

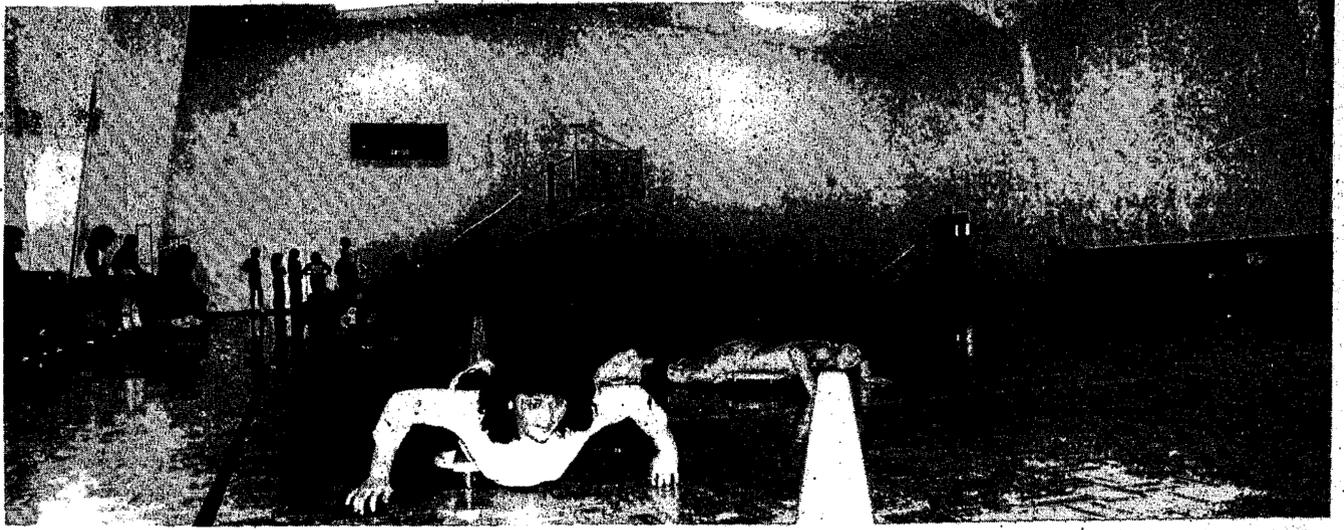

In the large room, one wall is mostly covered by mirrors. Cooke said he wanted the mirrors to help students practicing dance, voice and elementary self-expression. Friday, the choir practiced a song and dance routine in front of the mirrors. The band and choir will perform in the music room during the open house.

Cooke's office is in a room adjoining the music room and has a large window through which he can monitor the activities in the music room. There are two other windows in his office that look into two of the five small, soundproof practice rooms.

At the entrance to the building, there is a large lobby that will be used for dances, said Lee.

In the future Lee plans to use the lobby for a dining area as well. The library which is attached to the lobby will be converted to a kitchen. The school has applied to the state for funds for the construction of a new library but Lee expects current economic conditions will postpone those plans for at least a year.

In the meantime students of Capitan school will be benefiting from the facilities already completed.

FLYING LOW. These students now have their physical education classes in the hangar-like gym that has just opened at Capitan school.

MUSIC DIRECTOR of the Capitan Schools, Churchill Cooke, plays the piano in the music room of the new auditorium and gym at the school. The piano was in the old gym when it burned down but was restored for use in the new building.

LOOKING TOWARDS BROADWAY. Members of the Capitan choir practice a song and dance rendition of the song "Broadway" in front of mirrors in the music room of the newly completed Capitan auditorium and gym.

ComFIRE discusses dumpster fires

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

Village of Ruidoso fire prevention officer Ollie Cuddy put the word out Thursday that village personnel are looking out for anyone dumping hot ashes in dumpsters, and the first person caught will be liable for a stiff fine.

Cuddy brought up the recurring problem of dumpster fires at an afternoon meeting of the Committee For Insuring Ruidoso's Environment (ComFIRE).

The fire prevention officer sought committee suggestions for any strategy that could help douse the problem of dumpster fires.

Cuddy said last week the number of trash fires in dumpsters has not dropped from last winter, when he initiated a community awareness campaign concerning the hazard.

Despite conspicuous fire warning decals glued on every dumpster in town, frequent radio spots, and signs posted on fireplaces in motels and rental cabins, Cuddy said people still are very careless about discarding hot ashes into the trash.

The number of dumpster fires so far this winter has climbed over 30, while from November 1981 through last January, 27 dumpster fires were logged. Not only do the fires have the potential of spreading out of the metal containers, Cuddy noted, but they also are costly. Fire superintendent Virgil Reynolds said each dumpster fire is about a 30-minute call for one of his firemen.

The dumpsters also need to be taken to the village shop for repair after fires, which means at least attaching new lids and repainting them, said Cuddy.

"I just don't know what I'm going to do," lamented Cuddy in explaining the situation to the committee.

"Boy, if we could just catch one person and fine him, that will stop it," answered ComFIRE chairman Rich Seeley.

The maximum fine for starting a fire is $300.

One suggestion that was offered was to place metal cans for ash disposal only next to dumpsters. But Cuddy pointed out that the sanitation department, geared only for dumpsters, could not pick up metal cans.

The recommendation Cuddy decided to pursue concerned the Neighborhood Watch program being organized by the Ruidoso Police Department. It was pointed out that neighborhood "captains," who keep an eye out for suspicious activities, could assist the fire department by reporting anyone who dumps ashes Cuddy said he would contact the police department to see if it is practical to ask neighborhood captains to report the incidents.

In other business, the committee discussed the upcoming spring cleanup campaign.

ComFIRE scheduled the area-wide cleanup, known as Operation Trash, for the last two weekends of April.

Operation Trash organizer Barbara Duff said she would work out details for the cleanup over the next month and make a report to ComFIRE at its March meeting.

Cuddy, noting the effort to establish a lack of interest, suggested the committee approach Ruidoso service clubs for volunteers. Duff said she plans to address the clubs within the next month.

"We want to involve everybody—the schools, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts. We should try to come up with an innovation to encourage enthusiasm," Duff said.

Duff recommended that Cuddy help publicize the event in the next month by writing weekly articles relating the importance of cleaning the village of litter to fire prevention and the environment.

The next ComFIRE meeting is scheduled for March 17.

Downs P&Z considers mobile home regs

by BARBY GRANT
Staff Writer

Ruidoso Downs Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) Thursday discussed and revised an ordinance first drafted in 1981—but never adopted—which regulates mobile homes and trailers in the village.

The ordinance requires owners of mobile homes in Ruidoso Downs to purchase a permit at a cost of $25, and lists stipulations on the appearance and maintenance of mobiles.

Removed from the ordinance as originally proposed was a requirement for each mobile home to have a porch or patio; setback requirements; and the stipulation that mobiles be placed on lots with the front entrance facing the street.

Commission members added the requirements for mobile home owners to purchase a blocking permit and to have their mobiles tied down.

The proposed ordinance will be presented to the board of trustees for adoption at its next meeting.

Commission members noted problems existing in the village now because of the lack of regulations on mobile homes. They indicated they hope passage of this ordinance will help to clear up some of those problems.

The ordinance includes a grandfather clause, which prevents the ordinance from being enforced for mobiles already in the village.

P&Z members also worked on completion of a zoning map for the village and voted to present it to the governing body for approval.

Commission members and village officials attending the meeting expressed optimism about the future of Ruidoso Downs and potential growth of the municipality. Village clerk Wilma Webb reported that construction on the Triple Crown Condominium project is scheduled to begin March 1, and that a planned amusement park is to be started in August.

Capitan, Ruidoso councils to meet

"Water meters—extensions and/or proposition of water amendment" will be discussed at the Capitan village council meeting 7 p.m. Monday, February 21, at the city hall.

A controversy has been brewing for several months over the municipal ordinance requiring each residence to have a separate water meter. The law has been on the books since 1978 but the council has only recently announced that it will enforce it.

A number of residences in Capitan share water meters and owners of those residences have been strong in their opposition to the ordinance.

At the last meeting, Capitan village attorney Gary Mitchell said he would further research the ordinance, 80-8, to certify the status of mobile home owners and those who had been told by village employees that multiple hookups would be acceptable.

Also on the agenda for Monday night's meeting are:

- Resolution 83, budget increase.
- Resolution 83-1, New Mexico Rural Development Bill.
- Decision on auditor for 1982-83 audit.
- Consideration of salaries and personnel practices for next year's budget planning.

Mayor George White will issue a report to the rest of the village council at Tuesday's council meeting on the status of the water protest committee that was dissolved during a recent council study session.

White has contested the committee's dissolution because it was done without his consent.

Other items on the agenda for the regular council meeting, starting at 7:30 p.m. in village hall, are:

- Ruidoso Business Association—request to use School House Park May 18 for the Golden Years Jubilee.
 - Request for liquor license for the Safeway store to be located at 721 Mechem Drive.
 - John Cupp—request for rezoning several lots located on north Highway 37 (from commercial to light commercial). Approved by Planning and Zoning Commission.
 - Don Dale—regarding the fire safety code as related to the resale of commercial property.
 - Jim Hine—report on Lookout Tower permit.
 - Hine and Lee Huckstep—suggested revisions to water and sewer ordinance.
 - Frank Potter—contract with Boyle Engineering regarding the Ponderosa Heights sewer project.
 - Frank Potter—request for executive session to discuss pending litigation on the Grindstone dam project.
- The meeting will be preceded by a study session starting at 6:30.

Ruidoso State Bank announces appointments of six new officers

Richard D. Browning, President and Chief Executive Officer of Ruidoso State Bank, recently announced several new officers elected by the bank board of directors at its February meeting.

New officers include: Bobbie Gaye Williams, Assistant to the President; Andree Cohen, Branch Operations Manager and Consumer Lending Officer; Ann

Phillips, Loan Administrations Officer; Rita Martin, Banking Officer; Eleanor Shockey, Banking Officer; and Margie Morales, Escrow Officer.

Williams attended Texas State College for Women, Denton, and has had banking experience in Oklahoma, California, Arkansas, Texas and New Mexico. She just recently returned to Ruidoso State Bank (RSB) after coming to Ruidoso from Texas Commerce Bank, Odessa.

Morales, a native of Ruidoso, joined RSB in October, 1974, as a teller and advanced to Head Teller. In January 1979, she joined the Escrow Department becoming supervisor of that department in 1980.

Martin has been affiliated with RSB for the past three years. She has had previous banking experience with Security National Bank in Roswell. She graduated from North Texas State University with a Bachelor of Business Administration.

Shockey, a Lincoln County native, began working at RSB in April, 1982. She has had five years previous banking experience as branch manager and installment loan officer. She majored in liberal arts and business administration at the University of New Mexico, New Mexico State University and Indiana University.

Cohen is a graduate of Southern Methodist University. She has attended the New York University Graduate School of Finance and has been employed by RSB for the past two years, with eight years previous banking experience with the Dry Dock Savings Bank in New York City.

Phillips is a native of Floydada, Texas. She joined RSB in August, 1982, with six years loan and finance experience gained through the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Farmers Home Administration in Ruidoso and 18 months with the Federal Housing Administration in Vernon, Texas, as District Loan Assistant.

Roadrunners view films, plan March poker run

The Ruidoso Roadrunners Motorcycle Association (RRMA) viewed two films and discussed a March poker run at their meeting February 15, reported RRMA president Glen Ferguson.

The club viewed a film on motorcycle safety and one about grand prix motorcycle racing in Europe. Members also discussed the Mule Shoe Poker Run, scheduled for March 19, Ferguson said.

about 15 club members plan to attend the event in Mule Shoe, Texas. Members also looked at and purchased club pins and patches at the meeting. RRMA meets 2 p.m. the second Sunday of every month. Meetings will be held in the back room of the Ranch House Restaurant in the future, announced Ferguson.

RLT board meeting scheduled

The public is invited to a board meeting of Ruidoso Little Theatre (RLT) at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, February 24, at Nob Hill Elementary School.

members hope to read and adopt a constitution at the meeting. There will also be a general discussion of progress of the play currently in rehearsal, "Never Too Late," said Knox.

Piano students to present recital

A piano recital will be presented this week by students in private study with Paul Tapp. The recital will be held in the sanctuary at First Baptist Church of Ruidoso at 7 p.m. Thursday, February 24.

Students at various levels of study will demonstrate transposition skills and improvisation during the recital. The public is invited to attend, at no charge.

Care Center to honor Mills

Residents and staff of the Ruidoso Care Center will host a tea honoring former administrator Betty Mills from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday, February 24.

Refreshments will be available and the public is invited.

FFA Week to be celebrated this week

The Capitan chapter, along with over 8,000 other FFA (Future Farmers of America) chapters across the nation, will celebrate 1983 FFA Week February 19-26.

George Washington's birthday in respect for his great leadership and pioneering practices in agriculture.

Extension Club hears reports

The La Junta Extension Club listened to three presentations during their meeting February 16 at the home of Mrs. Hazel Arthurs.

During the week the state's 64 chapters are planning to carry out activities in support of this year's FFA theme—Vocational Agriculture Educating Through Experience.

FFA was formed in 1928 to promote leadership, cooperation and citizenship among high school vocational agriculture students. Vocational agriculture education in high school prepares students for a vast array of careers in agriculture—from production to processing, service to marketing.

Capitan student earns award

Capitan High School senior David Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Keller of Fort Stanton, was named winner of the annual Bausch and Lomb Science Award at the Capitan Schools.

According to Todd Proctor, president of the Capitan chapter, local members will print a chapter newsletter.

It's all go for the second annual Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Tournament.

The tournament will be Monday, September 19. Last year's first pro-am tournament was on October 11, and this year's earlier date may make for better crowds in the gallery.

"We think it will help us draw a better crowd," Inn golf professional Jack Warlick said. "September 19 was the only open date on the schedule which didn't interfere with the golfers' schedules. We're more apt to catch some of the summer crowd because of the earlier date."

Last year's tournament only drew about 300 spectators, but Warlick is optimistic there will be a much bigger crowd this year.

"I think we can get around 1,000 people," he said. "We've got a lot more time to get it ready and publicize the tournament."

The tournament should draw a much bigger crowd this year since it comes right after the Labor Day weekend, usually Ruidoso's busiest time of the year.

Last year's tournament featured 11 professional golfers and actor Dale Robertson. Dave Eichelberger won the pro championship with a course record seven-under-par 65. Brad Bryant's team and John Mahaffey's squad tied for the pro-am title. Most of the amateur golfers who played were from the Lincoln County area.

Eichelberger's mother has a home in Alto Village, so he wasn't a stranger to these parts.

Several pro golfers and celebrities cancelled out of last year's tournament, including former Dallas Cowboy standout Don Meredith.

With a year under its belt, the tournament should have more drawing power with pro golfers and celebrities this time around.

The pro golfers who competed in last year's tournament spoke highly of the course and the surrounding area, and will probably inform their fellow players on the pro tour about the Inn.

"We expect to have some more details about the tournament in a couple of weeks," said Warlick. "But the tournament is definitely on."

If the pro-am tournament is a big success this year, it should make a name for the Ruidoso area in pro golf circles.

Staying on the subject of golf, Cree Meadows Country Club is hosting an "Eskimo Scramble" Sunday, February 27.

There will be a shotgun start at noon for the 18-hole tournament. The entry fee of $15 can be paid up until the time of the tournament.

Softball league to have meeting

An organizational meeting of the Fort Stanton Men's Slow Pitch Softball League will be held in the Fort Stanton Hospital staff room at 7 p.m. today.

The meeting will include discussions about the 1983 league organizational structure; rules and regulations of the league; use of the Fort Stanton field; and possible use of the Carrizozo field.

The league will again sponsor an umpires clinic. The date of the clinic will be set at the organizational meeting. The clinic will be conducted through the Amateur Softball Association.

Anyone interested in entering a team in the league—or in playing or becoming an umpire—should contact James Kirker, Mark Delgado or Barney Mancha at 354-2211, or attend the organizational meeting.

TEAM LOSES TWICE

Warriors just miss first victory

Two points and a few seconds were all that kept the young Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team from winning its first game of the season Friday night in the Warrior gymnasium.

The Warriors dropped a cliffhanger 30-28 decision to Truth or Consequences (T or C) Friday. On Saturday, Ruidoso traveled to Deming High School and dropped an 85-42 game to the host Wildcats.

But it was the T or C contest which had Warrior fans praying for a victory.

Junior guard Gilbert Rivera hit a short jump shot with two seconds remaining in the game to narrow the Tiger edge to two points. The Warriors tried to call time out but time ran out before they had a chance to do so. Ruidoso was hurt by a couple of missed free throws in the last few minutes of the contest.

The Warriors had battled back from a seven-point deficit twice to almost pull the game out. The Warriors trailed by a 20-15 margin at the third-quarter break and gradually cut into the T or C edge in the final period.

It was a close game all the way. After T or C took a 3-0 advantage in the first minute of the contest, Ruidoso scored a field goal to cut the margin to 3-2.

Then the Tigers saw the Warriors in a zone defense and went into some stalling tactics, passing the ball around and not shooting until an easy shot could be had.

Ruidoso made a free throw and the first quarter ended in a 3-3 tie.

The pace quickened a bit in the second period. T or C took a five-point lead but H. R. Lueras of the Warriors hit a field goal to cut the margin to three at 10-7.

The two teams traded baskets and the Tigers took a slim 12-9 advantage into the locker room at halftime.

T or C took a seven-point lead twice in the third period as both teams continued their stalling tactics. Ruidoso closed the Tiger margin to 20-15 at the quarter's end and the crowd got ready for the Warriors' most exciting quarter of the year.

Rivera led the Warrior scoring with 14 points on five field goals and four free throws. Lueras added six points, Cyrus Simmons tallied five and 6-3 Curtis Palmer had three.

No T or C player scored in double figures but the Tigers had five players hit the scoring column.

Ruidoso was hurt in the first half by poor free throw shooting. The Warriors missed five front-enders of one-and-one situations.

The game at Deming was never really in doubt as the Wildcats jumped off to a 21-6 first-quarter advantage and cruised in from there.

The Wildcats led 46-18 at halftime and 67-33 at the end of the third quarter. Deming hit 68 percent of its shots from the field in the first half.

Rivera again led the Warrior scoring with 12 points. Palmer, Lueras and freshman Dan Ullmann each added seven points. Mike Nunley led the Deming scoring with 18 points.

"We just couldn't handle their press," said Warrior head coach Ron Geyer about the loss to the Wildcats. "They've got a very good basketball program in that town and they shot very well in the first half."

"Against T or C, we played our best game of the season. When they went into that stalling offense, it worked to our advantage."

"The kids have improved a lot this season. Everywhere we go, people are telling us how much better they've become."

The Warriors were hampered by the absence of senior Grady Williamson. Williamson was suspended for two games for disciplinary reasons.

Ruidoso is now 0-6 in district 3-AAA action and 0-17 overall. The Warriors will conclude the district regular season with home games against Tularosa High School and top-ranked Cobre High School this weekend.

The Warriors will tangle with Tularosa Friday night and take on Cobre Saturday night.

Cobre defeated Ruidoso 50-22 nine days ago and Tularosa toppled the Warriors 73-41 two weeks ago.

Lady Warriors drop a pair, ready for district tourney

The Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball team closed out the district 3-AAA regular season on a frustrating note over the weekend, losing close decisions to Truth or Consequences (T or C) High School and Deming High School.

Ruidoso, which finished at 4-6 for the regular district season, was nipped by T or C 56-55 in overtime Friday night on the Warrior court. Saturday, the Warriors traveled to Deming and dropped a 51-48 decision to the Wildcats.

Thus, Ruidoso finished the regular season in fifth place and will travel to either Silver City or Deming Tuesday for the first round of the district playoffs. Silver City and Deming tied for third place behind T or C and Cobre High School.

"We're playing good ball even though we're losing now," Warrior head coach Sergio Castanon said. "All of our games have been close. Our girls will be ready for whoever they play."

The game against T or C was especially frustrating for Ruidoso.

The Warriors led most of the way against the Tigers, but a poor shooting game in the third period cost them the contest.

Ruidoso led 33-24 at halftime, but the visitors outscored the Warriors 21-12 in the third quarter to knot the score at 45-45 by the period's end.

Both teams tallied eight points in the final period and the game went into overtime tied at 53-53. The Warriors built up a four-point lead twice in the final quarter before losing it.

In the overtime period, T or C won the tip and controlled the ball about a minute and a half before making a field goal.

Sonja Jefferson of Ruidoso came back with 30 seconds remaining and made a difficult under-the-basket layup that tied the score. She was fouled on the play but missed the charity attempt.

One of the Tiger girls was fouled with less than 10 seconds remaining and made a free throw to give T or C the ultimate margin of victory.

A desperation pass and shot by Ruidoso bounced off the backboard as the buzzer went off ending the contest.

Kody Taylor led the Warrior scoring with 14 points while Claudia Branum added 10 points. Jefferson and Jan Huey each scored seven points while Stacy Ivy had six points and Lillian Lopez five for the Warriors.

Against Deming, the Warriors trailed most of the game, and again were hurt by a poor third period.

Deming led 16-11 at the first-period break and 31-23 at halftime.

Then came the fatal third quarter as Ruidoso could only score five points while the hot-shooting hosts put in 12.

The Warriors regained their shooting touch in the final period and made the game close, scoring 19 points to just eight for Deming.

"That third period hurt us again," Castanon said. "In the final quarter, we made a couple of costly turnovers and that was that."

Branum, who has played excellently basketball the past month, paced the Warrior scoring with 12 points. Taylor added nine while Sonja Jefferson scored six. TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES (56)

JUNIOR WARRIOR OF THE WEEK. Kirk Ryan (holding plaque) was honored before the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball game Friday night as the Junior Warrior of the Week. With him on the right are his parents, Wes and Jeannie Ryan, along with Ruidoso High School basketball coach Ron Geyer and Warrior H. R. Lueras. Ryan is a member of the White Mountain Middle School team and is in the seventh grade.

Ciraulo, Rue win as nine Ruidoso matmen make state

A total of nine Ruidoso High School wrestlers qualified for next weekend's state AAA division tournament as the Warriors finished in a third-place tie at the district 3-AAA tournament Friday afternoon at Deming High School.

Ruidoso scored 93 points along with Cobre High School in the team competition. Host Deming won the championship with 175 points while Silver City High School was second with 148 points. New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) was fifth with 46 points and New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped (NMSVH) was last as it didn't score.

Scott Ciraulo at 167 pounds and Henry Rue at 126 pounds led the way for Ruidoso as they each took first place in their weight classes.

Other Warriors to qualify for the state tournament included Chad Surrnick at 105 pounds, Chuck Schmidt at 112 pounds, Randy Pierce at 119 pounds, Gervase Peso at 138 pounds, David Swalander at 145 pounds, James Herrera at 157 pounds and Gary Burgess at 185 pounds.

Rue took an easy victory over a wrestler from Silver City in his first match and won the championship match when his opponent from Cobre was called for his fourth penalty point, an automatic default victory for Rue. Henry was leading at the time by an 8-3 score.

Ciraulo pinned a wrestler from Cobre in his first match and took a 3-1 victory over Alfonso Vigil of NMMI in the championship match.

Ciraulo took a 3-0 edge over the NMMI wrestler in the finals and controlled the match throughout, according to Warrior head coach Gerald Ames.

It was the fourth time this season Ciraulo and Vigil had wrestled each other. Ciraulo has won twice, Vigil won once and the other ended in a 1-1 draw.

Schmidt, Pierce and Swalander each finished third in their weight divisions while Peso, Surrnick, Herrera and Burgess each placed fourth.

Schmidt almost advanced to the finals and at least a second-place finish, but he lost a very close decision in the semi-finals.

Peso defeated a wrestler he has lost to twice before. But in another match, he fell to a matman he had beaten twice before.

This year the top four places qualified for the state tournament instead of just three, as an extra team (NMSVH) was added.

"We had a very bad second round," Ames said. "We lost three very close decisions and we could have quit then but the kids didn't. We regrouped and came out fairly well."

"We should do better at state. I think Rue and Ciraulo have good shots at placing. This is the first time we've ever had two district champions."

The state championships will be held at Aztec High School in the northwest part of the state Friday and Saturday. There will be a meeting to determine seeding Thursday night.

Capitan cagers win a pair, rest up for district finals

The Capitan High School boys varsity basketball team got ready for the finals of the district tournament next Saturday by rolling over non-district foes Estancia High School and Tatum High School this weekend.

Capitan, now 17-3 on the overall season, will get a bye until the district finals at Hagerman High School because the Tigers were the top-seeded team in the tournament with a perfect 6-0 district record.

The Tigers had to struggle a bit at first but used a strong third quarter to rout visiting Estancia 76-53 Friday night. Saturday Capitan traveled to Tatum and topped the hosts 50-36.

Against Estancia, the Tigers led by just two points, 16-14, at the first-quarter break. Estancia took a slim 29-28 advantage into the locker room at halftime but then the Tigers got going.

Capitan outscored the visitors 24-6 in the third quarter to take a 52-35 advantage into the last period. The Tigers equaled their third quarter scoring output with another 24-point burst to put away the victory.

Capitan got excellent balance in its scoring attack. Robert Parker poured in 18 points and grabbed off eight rebounds. Eddie Davis added 16 points, while Danny Cummins and Gid Allen each added 10 points, the latter coming off the bench. Todd Proctor led the Tiger rebounders with nine grabs off the boards.

The contest against Tatum saw Capitan jump off to a 19-14 edge in the first quarter and increase that margin to 32-25 at halftime. The Tigers again came through with a big third quarter, scoring 18 points to just 11 for the hosts. Capitan led 50-36 going into the final quarter and continued to pad its margin.

Davis led the Tiger scoring with 20 points and also picked off 11 rebounds. Cummins scored 16 points and Proctor 13. Parker added eight rebounds.

"We didn't really play that well against Tatum," said Tiger head coach Kendall Lawlis. "Still, we had an excellent effort from our bench in both games. I think our bench is better than any other in the district."

Capitan will now wait until Saturday to see who it will play for the district championship. Tuesday fourth-seeded Carrizozo High School will host seventh-seeded Hondo School while fifth-seeded Weed School will host sixth-seeded Lake Arthur High School.

Thursday the tournament will switch to Hagerman for the quarter-finals.

Second-seeded Hagerman will play the winner of the Weed-Lake Arthur contest while third-seeded Cloudfcroft High School will meet the winner of the Carrizozo-Hondo game.

Friday the winners of the quarter-final games will play for the right to meet Capitan for the district championship.

Ruidoso junior varsity cagers split

The Ruidoso High School boys junior varsity basketball team split a pair of games over the weekend.

Ruidoso held on to nip Truth or Consequences High School 45-44 Friday night in Ruidoso. However, the Warriors fell to powerful Deming High School Saturday by a 53-33 score on the winners' court.

ELKS INVITATIONAL

Jefferson named top boxer

There's something about the Elks' Invitational that brings out the best in Las Piedras Boxing Team (LPBT) boxer Kevin Jefferson.

For the second year in a row, Jefferson was named Most Outstanding Boxer at the invitational, which took place Saturday night at the Elks Club before around 150 fans. Jefferson shared the Most Outstanding Boxer title with Albert Montoya of Roswell.

Jefferson took a hard-fought decision over Hector Paez of Dexter in the fourth bout of the evening. The White Mountain Middle School student suffered a bloody nose but came back to win the bout as all five judges voted in favor of him. Jefferson threw the majority of punches in all three rounds.

"Kevin still frets about using his right," said LPBT coach Lucky Mulqueen.

"However, his footwork and left were great. He's never fought this guy before." While Jefferson enjoyed his victory, his LPBT teammate David Ordorica was again denied a chance to box as no one with his experience and weight was available.

"He's too well known now," Mulqueen said of Ordorica. "They even know about him now in Albuquerque."

Montoya took on Laurence Castillo in an exhibition 88-pound bout and looked impressive.

But perhaps the best bout of the evening was another exhibition, this one involving Ray Castillo of Clark's Boxing Club in Hatch and Greg Salas of Roswell.

Both fighters weighed 120 pounds. Castillo showed lightning quickness and punching ability and floored Salas once. However, the Roswell boxer got up and finished strong.

Other competition on the evening saw Steve Gonzales of Roswell decision Javier Marquez of Dexter in a 70-pound bout; Simon Sais of Roswell decision Terry Conley of Dexter at 75 pounds; Salvador Briseno decision Saul Perez of Dexter at 80 pounds; and Gene Guterrez of Roswell decision Bobby Armendariz of Clark's in a 115-pound bout.

In other exhibition bouts, Albert Sais of Roswell and Bobby Hodges of Dexter boxed at 65 pounds, Jerry Rodriguez of Roswell and Joe Alvarez of Dexter competed at 105 pounds, and Ernest Carajal of Clark's boxed Sean Mansell of Magdalena at 120 pounds.

Jefferson and Ordorica will compete in Dexter this Saturday.

TRADING PUNCHES. Kevin Jefferson (right) of the Las Piedras Boxing Team and Hector Paez of Dexter trade punches during their bout in the second annual Elks' Invitational Saturday night at the Elks Club. Jefferson won a decision and was named Most Outstanding Boxer along with Albert Montoya of Roswell.

Warrior golfers practicing

The Ruidoso High School golf team has started practice, and coach Leroy Gooch hopes his team can do a lot better than it did last season.

"I sure hope we'll be better," Gooch said. "We've got 15 players out for the high school team and 12 for the middle school."

Among the 15 high school players are the four golfers who composed the Warrior team last year: Tommy Crow, Virgil Reynolds, Dion Lopez and Billy Taylor. Reynolds is a junior while the other three golfers are sophomores.

Last season, the Warriors were always at a disadvantage because the teams they competed against usually had five golfers and could drop the score of their worst player.

Gooch is hoping that several players from the basketball team will come out for golf when the cage season is over.

The team is practicing on the Cree Meadows Country Club course during the afternoons.

Ruidoso's first tournament of the season is at Alamogordo, Thursday and Friday, March 3-4.

Highway 37 Across From Cousins'

SMOKE BILLOWS OUT of the attics of three condominium units at Aspen Run Condominiums Saturday afternoon. The end unit, number 25, caught on fire in the kitchen and the smoke was drawn through the attics of at least three units. The Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department confined the fire to unit 25, which received extensive damage. The ceiling collapsed on several firemen, but they were all protected by helmets and were uninjured. The fire department also was called out to a fire that damaged a condominium unit at Pinecliff Village Saturday evening. No further information on that fire was available at presstime.

Robbery suspects sought

Area law enforcement officers are looking for three male suspects in connection with an armed robbery that occurred on the Ski Run Road early Saturday. According to the Ruidoso police report, the three men, all with shoulder-length hair, stopped a motorist at Mile Marker 5 on the Ski Run Road, held him up at gunpoint and stole his wallet. The incident occurred about 2:30 a.m. The suspects were reportedly driving a brown pickup with an utility bed. No other information was available.

Washington, born with prophetic vision, left us many guide lines as a nation, among which is: "In God we trust." And George Washington will ever remain "First in War; First in Peace; and First in the Hearts of His Countrymen."

Birthdays Of Washington And "Honest Abe"

The Birthdays of Washington and Lincoln are to be celebrated together February 21, the day this message reaches you. I guess this is all right as far as it goes — better than nothing, maybe; although Lincoln's birthday is the twelfth and Washington's the twenty-second. There will be danger of the true birthday date of our great men being lost in the shuffle.

Let us always remember the true birthdays of Washington and Lincoln, especially; and as many others as we can, such as Thomas Jefferson, April 13; Ulysses Grant, April 27; and Teddy Roosevelt October 27.

There was hardly a mention of Lincoln's birthday in the papers or the T.V. Therefore it was good to hear President Reagan's Tribute to Lincoln on his ten o'clock broadcast on Saturday February twelve.

President Reagan said that from one side of the statue in the Lincoln Memorial you could see an expression of strength and courage, and from the other side kindness and compassion.

"To know the greatness of America we need only look at the life of Abraham Lincoln," said President Reagan.

Here in Lincoln County the spirit and the memory of "Honest Abe" has a special meaning.

The state just barely missed being called "Lincoln". And a large county, comprising one fourth of the state, was the original Lincoln County, in size the equal of the state of Indiana, later divided up into seven present-day counties.

New Mexico itself is a state after Lincoln's own heart — you could hardly find a place where the ideal, "all men are created equal" is more perfectly lived from day to day.

The phrase in our pledge of allegiance to the flag, "one nation under God" comes from Lincoln's Gettysburg address: "... that this Nation Under God shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Washington's Life A Lasting Inspiration

Remembering the birthdays of Lincoln and Washington during the "Birthday Month" always leaves us feeling with our heart and step lighter as our thankfulness in being Americans receives a "new birth."

Together, the lives of the two men form a complete picture of America.

Lincoln, on the one hand, was born into the deepest of poverty and hardship; and Washington, on the other, was born of wealthy parents, ancestors of nobility — and Washington became the wealthiest American of his time.

And yet, Lincoln's poverty did not keep him from rising to be one of the greatest men in history; and Washington's wealth did not keep him from dropping all the comforts of his vast estate to give all of himself into the long and difficult task of bringing our nation into being.

Lincoln was born a farmer and long remained one by necessity; while Washington, also born a farmer, remained one from choice — as far as his tremendous responsibilities in the Military and the Presidency, would permit.

All the out of doors and all of rural life was dear to the heart of Washington, and horses were his pride and joy. A giant, six foot four, with massive muscles to match, he was an expert at gentling the wildest horses, by gentleness and patience.

He was also a great lover of trees, nurturing the native trees and importing every kind of tree, vine, bush or flowering shrub from all over the world so as to have as wide a variety of plant life on his estate as possible.

Yours and Ours

Inside The Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—"If you don't have the votes before the hearing begins, don't even bother going before the committee."
That's the kind of wisdom you can hear espoused any day in the Bull Ring, Santa Fe eating and drinking establishment next door to the State Capitol.

The place is so popular with politicians and those who deal with politicians that its name has become almost generic, as in the phrase, "Ah, that's only a Bull Ring-type rumor."

Why does one place become exceptionally popular with one group of people, while others, equally attractive, never draw quite the same type of trade?

Well, there's the location, of course. Being the first place up the street from the Roundhouse at which food and drink are available doesn't hurt.

But that doesn't account for everything either.

To attract certain people, you need a certain ambience.

That this place must have, which is why you can look around on any given day and see not only state employees by the score but also those from organizations like the Municipal League, the Retail Association and the Oil and Gas Association, as well as other lobbyists and favor-seekers of all kinds.

Yes, there are ordinary people too — citizens from all over the state and tourists as well.

But the atmosphere is definitely political.

If to some that sounds forbidding, it isn't really. One of the things about those who take up politics as a full- or part-time profession is that they normally are people who like other people. You couldn't do the things such jobs require unless you like people.

So there is here something of the atmosphere of a club — an outgoing, effusiveness; a sense of being insiders, who recognize one another and one another's interests; a way of belonging.

All that helps to create a warm atmosphere, all year round.
Do big deals get cut here, as is sometime rumored?

Maybe so. Maybe not.
Much of the conversation seems to have as much to do with past political triumphs as with present ones.

At the table next to you, when somebody talks about House Joint Resolution 8, he's as liable to be talking about the measure with that designation back in the 1978 session as the one so described this year.

There's a lot of "Remember when . . . ?" going on here.

It has been suggested that the ladies who conduct tourists and other visitors through the Roundhouse, giving their gentle lectures as they roll along, should add the Bull Ring to the tour.

Not to see this place, some claim, is not to understand the way New Mexico Politics is practiced.

A regular reader of this column in southern new Mexico, up here on official business last week, confessed she is often disturbed by some of the things she reads here.

Vexation seemed to be the feeling she was describing.

"Now why does he say that?" she admits has often been her reaction.

Now all that's changed. She has been here and watched how things work. Now, she says, she knows why the writer says the things he does.

And part of her visit was an experience of the Bull Ring.

CLONED CALVES BRING $$

A pair of unborn calves, "cloned" at Colorado State University, recently brought $47,000 at a Kentucky cattle auction. The calves, to be born next year, were bought by Claus von Franzius of Schwartz Creek, Michigan, during a sale in Kentucky. A doctor who helped develop the cloning process, commented on this first sale of its kind, "People would prefer to buy two good animals instead of one." Von Franzius actually will have his choice of three pairs of calves now implanted in six recipient cows. The cows will be impregnated in the laboratory and then they will be shipped to Kentucky and the calves will be born there. — N. M. Cattle Growers Newsletter

CAT ATTACK

STOP! STOP! No more cat attacks, please. The Leader has been besieged with the Heathcliff vs. Garfield debate. We made a bad mistake starting a cat fight, and it has raged out of control for five days.

We thought that this would be a good way to make an editorial decision with direct reader involvement. Really, who could imagine anything more civilized than a ballot taken on which is the most popular cat? After all, the electoral process is the way we try to run things in this country.

But we never guessed the emotional involvement this would trigger. You have never heard such outbursts of indignation, nor seen such fistshaking as we have been exposed to. The 124 written ballots we got on the subject are only part of the story. It was that tide of emotion on the subject that bowled us over, and we got it in person and on the telephone.

Well, you will want the results, whether you like them or not, so there they are:
Heathcliff — 67
Garfield — 57

CRASH PORTENDED

There is a specious and self-serving aura about the official Soviet claim that a "preplanned operation" accounts for peculiar shifts in its Cosmos 1402's orbit. The greater likelihood is that the nuclear-powered military reconnaissance satellite's erratic behavior portends a crash.

This is the position first taken by our government on the basis of observations by the North American Aerospace Defense Command. Initial Norad information was followed by reports that the satellite continued on a course indicating it would hit the atmosphere and break up by the end of the month. For the time being that remains the official view.

There is cold comfort in the Soviet insistence (until something happens to bear it out) that Cosmos 1402 is okay. Even if it is, the episode stands as a reminder that a ban on nuclear-powered satellites, first proposed by President Carter after a similar episode in 1978, is in order. — Alamogordo Daily News

Editorial

We have a new and, we think, innovative suggestion for the use of the $52,000 and some odd dollars in lodgers' tax revenue currently gathering interest and dust in Certificates of Deposit.

The suggestion? Establish a foundation to investigate causes of and cures for "the Ruidoso crud."

"Crud" is defined by Webster's Third New International Dictionary as "a usually ill-defined or imperfectly identified bodily disorder."

The latest wave of this malady has decimated entire offices, filled doctors' waiting rooms to overflowing, and left those who have thus far escaped wondering, "Will I be next?"

Of course, the question arises whether lodgers' tax revenue, which ostensibly must be used to promote tourism, could be applied toward the establishment of a crud foundation.

If the foundation became world-renowned, however, it would certainly generate a lot of publicity for Ruidoso. Doctors would flock here to join the vanguard of crud research, bringing their golf clubs and American Express Gold Cards.

And more, importantly, perhaps this yuckiest form of human suffering would be alleviated. —TP (crud victim)

On the Village beat with Tim Palmer

Dave Nordstrand of The Albuquerque Tribune did a column recently on the theme, "You know you're living in Albuquerque when . . ."

Former residents of the Duke City—like me—and others familiar with our state's largest city would find a lot to chuckle about and say "amen!" to in Nordstrand's piece. For example:

"You know you're living in Albuquerque when . . .
You can hit the golf or tennis ball until 10 a.m. and be skiing by 1 p.m.
You're third in line at a stop sign behind two tumbleweeds the size of 18-wheelers.
You can't eat a hamburger or pizza unless they have a heap of green chili on them.

You understand 'The Pit' is not the best place to take your out-of-town relatives for barbecue ribs."
Interestingly, the item Dave chose to lead off with applies to Ruidoso better than it does to Albuquerque—"You know . . . when 'Formal attire' means putting on pressed jeans and polished cowboy boots."

But I think Mr. Nordstrand did a fine job of capturing the essence of Albuquerque, and he inspired me to attempt a similar list for Ruidoso. So here goes.

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
You drive along the main street with no idea where the center stripe or lane stripes are.
It grates on your ear to hear someone pronounce the name of your town, "Reeth-dosa."
You can't go to the post office, bank or grocery store without bumping into one or several people you know.

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
You can go trout fishing before work, after work or at lunchtime, in the mountain stream that runs through town or the mountain lake that is the village water supply.
The "spring thaw" happens five or six times in one winter, making it a hopeless proposition to try to keep your car clean.
Schoolchildren can take an afternoon every week and go skiing.

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
You grumble about Texas drivers when one makes a dumb move in traffic, then notice the offending vehicle has New Mexico plates.
You spend the latter part of summer waiting for racing season to hurry up and end, then notice kind of an empty feeling when it does.
You get phone calls from relatives or vaguely remembered family friends that start, "We were passing through town and thought we'd give you a call."

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
You can leave your house 10 minutes before you have to be somewhere and make it with time to spare.
The police force displays a professionalism that would do any department proud, but its members are on a first-name basis with everyone.

Your paper girl (Carroll Miller) drives her route in a jeep, and gets The News to readers whatever the weather.

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
You can go jogging and relish the fact that you're inhaling deeply of clean air.
You can go to a smoke-filled village council meeting and wish you were out jogging instead.

You see the same people's picture in the paper over and over. (Smile, Richard.)

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
No one stays mad at anyone for too long. No one has seen the latest movies people everywhere else are talking about.
No one is sure whether those movies have played here and left, or not.

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
You never fail to be awed by the sight of Sierra Blanca, dominating the skyline.
You have favorite trees around town that you always make it a point to look at as you walk or drive by.

Once in a while you look around you and think, "Wow, I live in the mountains."

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
Your good looks are enough to let you write a check some places, while others want a thumbprint in blood.
Your house is for sale.

The status mode of transportation is the Jeep Wagoneer with fake wood trim, and the "people's car" is the Subaru station wagon.

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
One person abdicates as champion letter to the editor writer, and others appear to contend for the title.
You forget it's not wise to drive fast leaving the post office parking lot.

First you get a dog, then you wonder how to get the truck for him to ride around in the back of.

You know you're living in Ruidoso when . . .
You keep waiting for gasoline prices to follow the national trend and go down . . . and waiting . . . and waiting . . .
Everyone supports the high school football team, and everyone ignores the high school basketball teams.

People send singing valentines to friends whose university they want to put down.

Well, I'm sure you can think of others. If you do, please feel free to send me a letter with your own "You knows."

In closing, let me again borrow from Dave Nordstrand, who wrote, "You know you're living in Albuquerque (Ruidoso) when you're perfectly satisfied staying right where you are for years to come."

IT'S INCOME TAX TIME

The lines are forming at the income tax preparers' offices. A new form, labeled as "Simplified 1040," is being passed around town, and is getting a few chuckles and some meaningful groans. Bob Brody handed one in to us, and we have seen several others.

At first glance it looks like a truly official IRS tax form. Then you begin to read it. There are only two places in which to write figures. One of them follows the inquiry, "How much money did you make last year?"

The other blank follows the instruction, "Send it in." — Hop Graham, Lovington Daily Leader

Carlsbad site ideal for nuclear waste storage, UNM professor says

The dry salt bed near Carlsbad, selected as the site for WIPP, the Waste Isolation Pilot Project, is one of the safest places on earth to store nuclear waste, says a University of New Mexico professor.

Dr. Harold Anderson, an assistant professor of chemical and nuclear engineering, is conducting research on the long-term storage and isolation of radioactive wastes. He recently visited the WIPP site and descended 2,000 feet into the salt beds that will serve as a repository for low and intermediate-level radioactive wastes.

"The waste is buried 2,000 feet underground in a massive dry salt bed. There's no mechanism to carry the waste away, and no place for it to go at that depth," Anderson said. "These factors make this an ideal disposal site for radioactive waste."

Anderson hopes his research on radioactive waste, which is applicable to the WIPP project, will not only help solve the problems of disposal, but will also provide factual information useful in the current ongoing nuclear debate.

"I'm interested in the safe disposal of radioactive waste over the next 10,000 years," Anderson said. "I'm not involved in the nuclear energy debate, and I'm not trying to shove anything down the public's throat. But whether the public likes the idea of nuclear energy or not, the fact is that in this country we already have a great deal of radioactive waste stored in temporary, surface-level storage sites. These sites are much less suitable — and less safe — over the long term than disposal sites located underground."

"We can't ignore the problem. The waste is already with us, and we have to develop suitable nuclear waste disposal sites now, or possibly face future pollution problems greater than the toxic waste problems at Love Canal."

The WIPP site near Carlsbad was chosen for the radioactive waste disposal pilot project because of the geological characteristics of the area. A 2,000-foot zone of bedded salt lies 1,000 feet below the surface of the earth at the site. The WIPP storage chambers are being excavated in the middle of this salt formation, insulated by 1,000 feet of salt on both sides. This bedded salt remains from the time 400 million years ago when New Mexico was covered by an inland sea. As the earth changed and the sea moved, this salt bed dried up and was covered with layers of soil.

"WIPP is strictly a permanent storage site for contact and remote-handled radioactive waste resulting from defense activities. These types of waste emit a low level of radiation," Anderson said. "Neither reactor cores nor nuclear bombs are going to be dumped in WIPP. It literally would take an act of Congress to change the designation of WIPP to include high-level radioactive waste."

Transuranic compounds, which are radioactive for as long as 10,000 years, will be stored at WIPP. The safe disposal of these long-lived isotopes, which include uranium and plutonium, requires extreme caution and intensive research.

"Above-ground disposal in storage drums is not suitable for this waste," Anderson said. "The drums will disintegrate over time, and the radioactive contents could leach out into the environment. That's why disposal sites like WIPP are imperative for the environmental safety of future generations."

Although high-level radioactive waste won't be stored at WIPP, experiments involving such materials will be conducted there. One goal of WIPP is to study the effect of high-level radioactive waste on the salt beds.

"Apparently there is public concern about the high-level radiation experiments to be conducted at WIPP," Anderson said.

"We're trying to solve waste problems, and solutions can't be found without experimentation. Today's surface storage of this waste is not safe over a long period of time."

Anderson is involved with Sandia National Laboratories in research to develop the optimum containment system for high-level radioactive waste. The container design being studied consists of a glass container enclosed in a titanium metal canister. A third layer of protection is a bentonite clay mixture which swells when in contact with water.

"If these containment systems were buried in a salt bed similar to the WIPP site and water somehow migrated through the salt barrier, it would first contact the clay barrier. The bentonite clay would swell and form another shield for the canisters, preventing water from entering the canisters," Anderson said.

"Sandia has designed a containment system that is multiply redundant. This system has a salt barrier, a clay barrier, a metal barrier and a glass barrier. Glass and metal alone form a very protective barrier to the release of radionuclides, but our present conceptual design has the added protection of clay and salt isolating the radioactive waste. We believe it to be the optimum radioactive waste storage system that will prevent radionuclides from escaping into the environment."

Computer simulation will be used in the safety analysis Sandia uses to study the long-term effect of radioactive disposal. Researchers will build a mathematical model, measure pertinent properties with short-term experimentation, and then the computer will simulate what will happen over a long period of time.

Anderson predicts his research on this storage system will be complete in the 1990s. "We're talking about 10,000 years of safety, so we have to study at least a five- or ten-year period of storage to make projections that are valid. It takes months to complete one radionuclide experiment, and we want to experiment with a number of species and varying mixtures of species. This requires years of study."

NEW MEXICO STATE UNIVERSITY (NMSU) music professor James Fittz and two other NMSU professors presented a program at the elementary and middle schools last week to expose students to classical music. The program included some musical selections and discussion of the music and instruments. It was presented under the auspices of the Chapter II fine arts program funded by a federal block grant this year. The NMSU professors will also be involved in a summer string workshop for young people from around the country to be held in this area in August.

Political communication studied at UNM

Governor Toney Anaya and U. S. Senator Jeff Bingaman, both winners in last year's voting, received more publicity in 12 New Mexico newspapers than did their Republican opponents in the two months that preceded the general election.

That is one finding of a computer-aided study conducted last fall by 12 University of New Mexico (UNM) honors students enrolled in a one-hour interdisciplinary course on "Political Communication in New Mexico."

Under the direction of Clark Edwards, UNM assistant professor of journalism, the students studied political symbolism as it was used in the newspapers by Anaya and Bingaman and their respective opponents, John Irick and Harrison Schmitt.

Edwards said the newspapers surveyed included the Albuquerque Journal, the Albuquerque Tribune, the Santa Fe New Mexican, the Las Cruces Sun-News, the Grants Daily Beacon, the Las Vegas Daily Optic, the Lovington Daily Leader, the Hobbs Daily News-Sun, the Deming Headlight, the Lordsburg Liberal, The Ruidoso News and UNM's student newspaper, the Daily Lobo. "We used the newspapers from the students' areas, where they came from," he said.

One finding of the study, Edwards said, revealed that photographs of Anaya were published a total of 183 times in the newspapers and stories about him averaged 24 inches in length.

Photographs of Irick, he said, appeared 97 times and stories about him averaged 18.8 inches; photographs of Bingaman appeared 53 times and stories about him averaged 15.63 inches while photographs of Schmitt appeared 48 times with stories, averaging 11.49 inches.

"There really were no long stories of 100 inches or more," said Edwards, a former political consultant in Florida.

He said the study showed that some news stories about the Bingaman-Schmitt race were characterized by "mudslinging," whereas "Irick and Anaya did not really go after each other."

Public spending, he said, was the dominant issue in both races and "women's rights did not show up until the end of the campaign and was an almost insignificant issue." Health and related areas, such as social security, followed public spending as a campaign issue, he added.

The study also revealed that "Anaya did not make a big deal about how ineffective state government and the previous administration had been, probably because he is from the same party. Irick did not make a big deal about that either, which seems kind of unusual," he said.

Edwards, who hopes to continue the class although it is not being offered this semester, said he plans to conduct a similar study on the upcoming presidential race.

Downs firemen attend training

During the month of January, members of the Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department attended training in Wildfire and Civil Liability for Fire and Rescue Services.

David Berbon of New Mexico State Forestry instructed the firefighters in the Wildfire Management course on three different nights for a total of 12 hours of instruction. The course involved fire behavior, dispatching, responding, weather factors, use of hand tools, and pump tactics.

Also during January, Assistant Chief Paul Keith, Director James Riley, and Firefighter Renee Keith attended a quarterly meeting of the New Mexico Fire

Chiefs Association in Albuquerque. Also attending were fire officers from throughout the state, and a training session on civil liability was presented. Business at the meeting included new OSHA requirements for fire departments, the "Learn Not To Burn" program and future happenings of the International Fire Chiefs Association. It was decided the Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department will host the next meeting to be held in May.

This training and participation in state organizations assists in the upgrading of personnel and understanding of fire and rescue services, Riley said.

Robinson, Riley get advanced training

During January and early February, Chief Charles Robinson and Sergeant James Riley attended advanced training at the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy.

Robinson took a course entitled, "Civil Liability for Law Enforcement Administrators," which dealt with the questions of liability during regular and other emergency police situations. Topics included equipment, training, risk management, and other aspects of liability.

Riley attended a course entitled, "Police Sergeant," which involved main aspects of the sergeant's duties. Topics included personnel development, civil liability, supervising training, supervising communications, evaluation of personnel, and case studies in individual personnel situations.

The Ruidoso Downs Police Department feels that these courses will provide better services and efficiency to the community, according to Robinson. Also, both men are having their training evaluated for advanced level certificates.

Story depicts need for foster homes in this area

Mrs. J. has just fallen asleep when the phone rings. She glances at the clock as she reaches for the phone. It is 1 a.m. The voice on the phone identifies himself as Officer O. of the police and describes the situation he has just found. The little girl is seven years old and has been left alone to care for her two younger sisters, ages three and one. Her parents have been gone for two days and there's no food in the house. This has happened before, and an alert neighbor became concerned when she didn't see the children outside for the second day in a row.

Mrs. J. tries to clear the sleep from her mind and start thinking of available foster homes. Mrs. J. is a social worker with the New Mexico Department of Human Services. The officer gives her the address and asks her to hurry. She can hear children crying in the background.

Mrs. J. goes down her list of foster homes licensed for at least three children up to seven years of age. As she begins to dial, she notices her notes in the margin indicating the P's are away on vacation. Her notes on the G's indicate they are already being utilized for several children and are full. Mrs. J. calls the F's and after numerous rings, a sleepy voice answers. Mrs. F. explains that her husband is quite ill, recovering from surgery, and they couldn't possibly take any children at the present time. Mrs. J. receives the same answer from the B's due to Mrs. B's sister and family visiting with them.

Mrs. J. has just run out of foster homes who usually take these ages of children. She now looks at her list of families who take older children and quietly prays one of them will be willing to help out even though they do not usually like parenting toddlers. After several more tries, Mrs. J. finds a sympathetic ear after promising it would only be for a few days.

When Mrs. J. arrives at the children's house she finds a very scared, guilt-ridden seven-year-old who feels somehow it is her fault her mommy left. She can't remember what she did, however. She doesn't want to go with Mrs. J. because she says her mommy won't be able to find her when she comes home. After an hour of talking to the children, Mrs. J. manages to calm them down and promises to try and find their mommy.

By the time Mrs. J. arrives at the foster home with the three tired children, the two little ones are asleep. After getting them tucked into their beds, the foster mother reaches for the seven-year-old and holds her gently while she strokes her hair. Mrs. J. says a soft "thank you" to this compassionate, gentle woman who can reach out to a child in need and help her make it through this living nightmare.

This story is fictitious, but reflects the desperate need for foster homes for abused and neglected children in Otero and Lincoln Counties. Please find out how you can help children in their time of need. Become a foster parent! Call the New Mexico Department of Human Services at 437-9030 and ask for Susan Washam.

ROAMING AROUND ROME
 Rome is romantic, historic, exciting—but it's also a big city. Here are hints for finding your way around.

...
 To really see any place, of course, walking is the best option. But Rome's buses are a good alternative. They're frequent and inexpensive. If you'll be in Rome for any length of time, you can buy a bargain commuter pass at tobacco shops or in front of the main railroad station.

 Most important is to get a detailed map of the city, one that shows bus routes by number. Buses are easy to use once you have the map; street signs list the buses that make each stop.

...
 You'll save a lot of money by taking a bus from the airport into town. You can wheel your airport baggage cart right to the bus; departures are every 15 minutes.

...
 If you're driving, use the via Flaminia or the via Salaria to get from town to the major ring road. Avoid the via Cassia and the via Tiburtina, which are narrow and heavily trafficked. And from in town, don't try to follow the green Autostrada signs to get out; they're inconsistent and you'll get lost. Instead, find the most direct way to the ring road—it's longer, but less confusing.

...
 Whether you're wandering the world or weekendend nearby, get help from your travel experts at Ruidoso Travel.

ENTERTAINMENT

COMPLETE TV LISTINGS FOR THE AREA

This Is Ruidoso

"The Duke" is back

"The Duke" is back on the CBN Cable Network in the new series, "The John Wayne Theater," airing every Saturday from 7 to 8 p.m. (EST). Some of John Wayne's most memorable performances will be showcased. On Feb. 26, Wayne stars in "West of the Divide," the story of a rough-and-tough cowboy.

The same day at 1 p.m., Vera Hruba Ralston and Anthony George are featured in a story of stagecoach passengers in trouble in "Gunfire at Indian Gap." "California Trail," about a compassionate cowboy, airs from 3 to 4 p.m. Buck Jones plays the individual with a sense of duty to the oppressed.

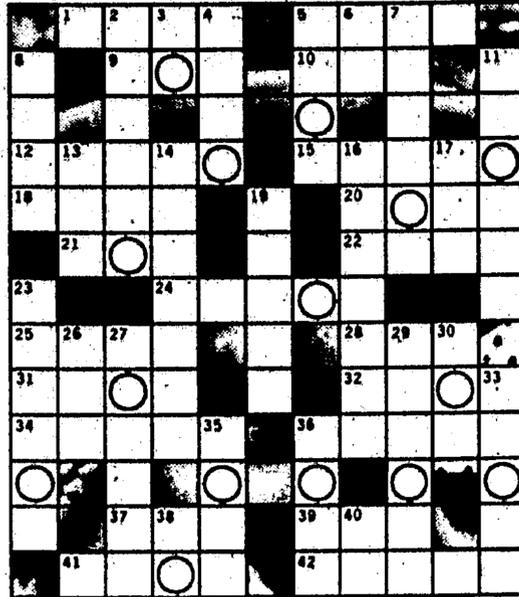

Along with these great Western drama and adventure movies, CBN Cable offers a selected package of America's favorite Western classics.

"Wagon Train" is one of the network's most popular programs. Each show stars a guest character with whom the regulars meet along the trail from Missouri to California. The show airs from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

"The Monroes," airing from 4:30 to 6 p.m., shows the trials and triumphs of a frontier family battling dishonest land dealers, outlaws and other wrongdoers.

This "Best of the West Hall of Fame" also includes "The Westerners" (noon to 12:30 p.m.) "Wild Bill Hickok" (12:30 to 1 p.m.) "Judge Roy Bean" (2:30 to 3 p.m.) "Wyatt Earp" (4 to 4:30 p.m.) In March, "Death Valley Days" replaces "Wyatt Earp."

ARIES _____ ♈

(March 21-April 20) Family problems may disturb you to the point where you may want to relocate. Investigate the pros and cons of such an undertaking.

TAURUS _____ ♉

(April 21-May 21) It is possible to find love with a total stranger. A person you meet by accident could turn out to be the one you have been wishing for.

GEMINI _____ ♊

(May 22-June 21) Beautify your home. This is a good period to express inner feelings through environmental splendor.

CANCER _____ ♋

(June 22-July 23) You will be drawn to another as if by magic. Pursue your heart's desire and find yourself in another's eyes.

LEO _____ ♌

(July 24-Aug 23) Someone from the past is having a difficult time reaching you. Make every effort to help those who ask for aid.

VIRGO _____ ♍

(Aug 24-Sept 23) Important matters will be brought to your attention. Act on them as soon as possible and get trouble out of the way. You need to identify with great success now.

LIBRA _____ ♎

(Sept 24-Oct 23) Academic skills could be put to the test, so brush up on your studies and hit the books. Those who favor going back to school will find this a good time to do so.

SCORPIO _____ ♏

(Oct 24-Nov 22) Listen to a friend's suggestion about someone you've been seeing and who has hurt your feelings. Don't allow that person to persecute you any longer.

SAGITTARIUS _____ ♐

(Nov 23-Dec 21) There will be much merry making with friends who travel a long distance to see you. Find areas of compatible conversation to share with those you love the most.

CAPRICORN _____ ♑

(Dec 22-Jan 20) Join a discussion group or get involved in a lecture series. Your mind is working around the clock and needs good healthy brain food.

AQUARIUS _____ ♒

(Jan 21-Feb 19) Reach a decision regarding in-laws or some family members who may be getting under your skin. Be diplomatic toward them and their problems.

PISCES _____ ♓

(Feb 20-March 20) Fix up something that has been out of order, especially if it's your car. Slight problems could cause big headaches later. Be alert to danger signals at home.
