Double Dutch Bus scores upset Kansas Futurity win

by DICK ALWAN

DOUBLE DUTCH BUS, a colt who was purchased for only $14,000 in last summer's All-American Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale at Ruidoso Downs, swept to a half-length victory in Sunday's Kansas Futurity.

It was a financial windfall of major proportions, since the first-place purse amounted to a portly $216,654.

The gross purse of the first leg of the famed Triple Crown was $655,615 (including the two consolation races). The amount divided in Sunday's finale was $506,178.

Ruidoso patrons responded to the quality of horseflesh in the Kansas finale and bet a whopping $114,867—which was probably the most money bet on one race, this early in the season, in Ruidoso history.

Double Dutch Bus was ridden by Henry Uriegas for the M & F Cattle Co. of Carrizozo. William F. Leach does the training.

Overlooked in the wagering, Double Dutch Bus handed out mutual returns of $33.40, $8.60 and $4.60. The colt, a son of Rocket Wrangler (an All-American Futurity winner) out of Something Smooth, zipped over the 350 yards in a seasonal record time of 17.65 seconds.

Easily A Twelve, part of a three-horse entry carrying odds of 3.5, was unable to summon up enough speed during the middle portions of the race, but closed willingly to finish second. Although the filly was never within hope of victory, that final closing surge was a vital one since it put her a neck in front of Firewater Fan

(a 10-1 shot). More importantly, that second-place finish produced a hefty purse of $90,435.

Easily A Twelve is owned by H. Don Farris of Sunland Park and Don E. Keith of Bakersfield, California. Jerry Nicodemus was up. The mutual payoffs: $2.80, $2.40. Farris is also the trainer of Easily A Twelve.

Firewater Fancy, piloted by Nicky Wilson for Joe A. McDermott III of Madisonville, Texas, earned $42,289 and refunded a $5.40 show price.

Firewater Fancy tossed his hat in the Kansas ring from the outset, grabbing an early lead. But Double Dutch Bus also got off to a heads-up start. At no point in the early stages was the colt any more than a head away from Firewater Fancy. Easily A Twelve, coming out of the outside post, broke cleanly and without incident. But the filly didn't appear to accelerate when she really needed it.

Double Dutch Bus quickly set his sights on Firewater Fancy and had that one under control before the midway point of the sprint. Once Double Dutch Bus assumed the lead, he continued to pile up his advantage. He was under no threat in the second half of the race.

Double Dutch Bus went into the Kansas Futurity with a record of one win from three starts. His money line was only a $1,500, which made him the poorest of the Kansas finalists. He came out of the Kansas Futurity with a national reputation, earnings of $218,154, and a kingpin image among the current crop of two-year-olds.

Meganette, who finished fourth, collected $29,928. Here's how the rest of the field got in: 5th—Fine Looking Man, earning $24,072; 6th—Alotta Dial, $22,771; 7th—Bar Forth, $21,470; 8th—Raise A Dandy, $20,819; 9th—Jest Real Easy, $19,518.

Sassem Easy elected to pass up the Kansas Futurity but earned $18,217, nonetheless.

Meganette and Jest Real Easy were coupled in the betting with Easily A Twelve.

Of the 10 Kansas Futurity finalists, five are graduates of last year's All-American Sale. Besides Double Dutch Bus, they are Fine Looking Man (who was purchased for $55,000), Jest Real Easy (purchased for $8,300), Sassem Easy (purchased for $11,000), Bar Forth (repurchased for $42,000).

Although the Kansas was run under cloudy skies, the conditions were ideal. The track was fast and there was no wind.

TEN DAYS AGO, Yallah Zip enjoyed a fat four-length lead in the late stages of a six-furlong Ruidoso Downs sprint, but surprisingly blew his lead and finished second.

Ruidoso patrons were probably expecting the same sort of performance in Monday's renewal of the Memorial Day Handicap and made Yallah Zip a 10-1 longshot.

This time, though, Yallah Zip fended off his attackers with remarkable ease. Rather than folding in the stretch, he responded to a few light whacks of the whip from jockey Paul Jaramillo and pumped more muscle into his stride.

Golden Years Jubilee may try again

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

The Golden Years Jubilee did not draw many people to Ruidoso, but organizers are pleased enough with this year's results to try again. The jubilee also spawned many single day events that may go on with or without another jubilee.

"It's in the embryonic stage. We can abort it or we can nourish it and help it develop and grow," said Nancy Radziewicz, organizer of the event for the Ruidoso Business Association (RBA). Radziewicz said she and other organizers have learned a great deal that will help them put on a more successful event next time.

When the RBA received $6,500 in lodgers' tax funds to publicize the jubilee, RBA treasurer Michael Radziewicz predicted 4,000 people would attend. The RBA did not spend all the allotted funds, but registrations for the event totaled only 64 people. Half of those came to Ruidoso from outside Lincoln County.

Organizers believe timing of the event was its main downfall.

"Sue Craig felt we picked the very worst month," said Nancy Radziewicz. Craig was the leader of a group that came from Andrews, Texas.

Radziewicz said Craig and others told her that graduations, Mother's Day and worries about bad weather kept people away from the festival in May. People stay with their families for graduation and Mother's Day, said Radziewicz.

May is also Older Americans Month, which jubilee organizers originally thought would be a plus for the event. "It worked against us instead of for us," said Radziewicz.

"We thought when we started out we were the only ones doing it," said RBA member Glen Ferguson.

However, many competing events were scheduled during May. Both El Paso and Albuquerque staged a week of activities for senior citizens at the same time as the jubilee. Texas had their senior citizen olympics during the jubilee, and there was one such event in Roswell the following week.

Craig said her group from Andrews had activities planned for both the week before and after the jubilee and were lucky to be able to fit the jubilee in their schedule.

Nancy Radziewicz and Ferguson said the fall may be a better time for the jubilee.

A late start may have also affected publicity for the event, although Radziewicz believes they reached a large number of people. The Chamber of Commerce first sanctioned the event in November, but real work on the event did not get going until after the first of the year.

"We worked against time," said Radziewicz. The group did send out thousands of letters and brochures to chambers of commerce in 11 states, plus ministerial alliances, senior citizen centers, chapters of the American Association of Retired People, retired teachers associations and other organizations in nearby states.

News articles about Ruidoso and the jubilee ran in 30 newspapers. Advertisements also appeared in 14 senior citizen newspapers. Publicity chairperson Katherine Finley appeared as a guest on two television shows.

"I think we reached a whole lot of people," said Radziewicz.

Radziewicz said some of the publicity reached people only a month in advance of the jubilee. Next year Radziewicz said she would like to get publicity out six months in advance of the event.

Due to the small registration, three tours and three dinners had to be cancelled. However, younger residents boosted the attendance at remaining events.

Organizers of two of the major events, the Health Fair and Frontier Days, were pleased enough with the response to consider staging them again, regardless of the fate of the jubilee.

"I'm definitely game to do it again," said Verna Adams, director of Home Health Services of Lincoln County Home Health Services. RBA and Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital sponsored the Health Fair.

Approximately 125 people attended the Health Fair, which offered health education and screening tests. Leala Newsom, director of nursing education at the hospital, said all the exhibitors except one were happy with the Health Fair and would be willing to return. The only complaint was from one exhibitor who was not pleased with her placement.

Newsom and Adams both said there was a tremendous amount of work involved in organizing the Health Fair. Newsom said that much of this year's work was background work that will not have to be done in the future. Radziewicz echoed this sentiment for the jubilee in general.

Newsom and Adams both indicated they would like to put a bigger emphasis on attracting a wider age group to the Health Fair if they do it again.

Ferguson, who organized the Frontier Days in School House Park, was pleased with that event and indicated he is considering organizing it again.

Vendors who were at the Frontier Days did not sell much, but they all are game to do it again, said Ferguson. The Flying J Wranglers also indicated they are willing to perform again, he added.

Money will of course be a big question when looking to another jubilee. The Lodgers' Tax Committee may be wary about allocating funds to the event after its limited success this year.

Aware of this, organizers are looking at other sources of revenue which may be available next year. Radziewicz did not want to discuss where money might come from until plans are firmer.

She remained positive about this year's jubilee and optimistic about the future. She said she was very pleased with support she got from the community.

The mule races, motorcycle festival and other events did not draw huge numbers of people their first time, Radziewicz pointed out.

She also pointed to the fact that much of the groundwork for the jubilee was done this year, and said it will be much easier to organize next time.

"The greatest risk is not to risk at all," Radziewicz said emphatically.

Ruidoso seeking paving funds from windfall

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

A spokesman for the State Highway Department District 2 office in Roswell said Thursday the district is trying to secure funding for a cooperative paving agreement with Ruidoso.

But he added, "As of today, Ruidoso will not get cooperative funding."

The district office appropriated no matching funds next year for Ruidoso through the 50 percent state matching program for paving projects. The village was notified in April about the cut in funding for the 1983-84 fiscal year.

Tony Lara, District 2 technical support engineer and overseer of the matching program, said last month the only way Ruidoso would receive some of the requested money would be if the Highway Department receives additional funding for the year.

It was announced last week that the Highway Department will receive $100 million of the $277.29 million paid to the state by the U.S. Treasury in the settlement of a 13-year tax suit.

Lara said he has "no idea what they're going to do with that money," adding he doesn't know if District 2 will receive a portion of the windfall.

Assistant village manager Frank Potter said Thursday the village is continuing to lobby for the matching funds. He said village officials met with District 2 representatives recently to discuss the Highway 70 bypass link to Gavilan Canyon Road and asked then about the status of the matching money.

"It's been totally wiped out," Potter said. "Everything's gone down the tube."

With the elimination of the paving agreement, village manager Jim Hine said the village anticipates spending just $175,000 of the street department budget for maintaining and repairing streets. He said the money in the proposed 1983-84 budget will pay for some paving.

But that is a big drop from the $461,320 the village originally proposed to spend. Half that amount was requested of the state.

In a letter to District 2 in November, Hine outlined the proposed projects and costs for the 1983-84 cooperative program. Included in the proposal were 20 resurfacing projects totaling $303,600 and two road improvement projects for $110,994.

The improvements removing existing pavement, laying base course and asphalt—were scheduled for 1.4 miles of Foothill Road, Coronado Drive and Rim Road and 8 miles of Gavilan Canyon.

Potter said all the projects will be postponed unless the state provides funding.

District 2 representatives will lobby the State Highway Commission at the commission's June meeting to allocate at least part of Ruidoso's request for next year, Lara said.

Higher education report reviewed

by BETH HALLER
Staff Writer

A draft of a report based on the needs assessment study for higher education in Ruidoso and Lincoln County was presented to the Community Development Committee of the Rotary Club Thursday.

The Ruidoso Post Secondary Education Report consisted of the tabulation of surveys from business people, parents and high school students on the potential for a post secondary educational facility for Lincoln County.

The report was prepared by Dr. Everett Frost and Dr. Orlo Sundre of Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

The report basically tries to state a case for the need for post secondary education in the area, Sundre said.

Three areas were used to develop convincing evidence for the need, he said.

The demographics of the area were used to build a case, Sundre said. Age groups and income groups were factors.

The question was asked on the survey, "If it (a post secondary facility) is available, will you use it?" he said. The convenience of a facility in the area was the reason many favored the idea on the surveys.

Ruidoso Police Department adopts new policy on alarms

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Police Department (RPD) has been a real nice guy to burglar alarm companies and their customers over the years.

Police dispatchers monitor residential and commercial alarms wired into the station 24 hours a day, and duty officers are taken off the street and sent to investigate whenever an alarm shows trouble.

One local company even promotes the police monitoring of its alarms in an advertisement.

But because the number of private company alarms monitored at the station and the number of false alarm calls have gotten out of hand, RPD has notified the companies it will not accept any new systems unless required by law.

Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor also has told the companies the department will phase out all private alarms hooked into RPD. Swenor said the department will continue to monitor financial institution alarms as required by law, and others that are required under insurance policies.

Also, the police department is dropping its lenient charge for false calls and, starting July 1, will assess $25 for each operator error alarm.

Swenor requested and received the village council's approval of the policy last month.

In a March letter to the council, Swenor noted that from March 1982 through February of this year, 64 residential and 78 commercial alarms were monitored by police. Officers responded to an average of 130 alarm calls per month, requiring a total of 867 man hours over the 12-month period.

The cost for responding to the alarms—which takes two officers for each call—figured out as high as $10,000, while RPD collected only $5,000 in monitoring and excessive alarm fees. The cost excludes fuel, vehicle and administrative costs.

For the past two years, the department's policy has been to charge companies $2.50 per month per system, which allows for two false alarm calls each month per alarm. RPD levies a charge of $20 for every false alarm after the first two.

"That was fine with 15-16 alarms, but we've got hundreds now," Swenor said.

He continued, "It's basically a growth factor. In small towns you have them wired in to the police, but sooner or later you get to our situation. Basically, we can just no longer handle it."

The big problem faced by RPD is the number of false alarm calls. Swenor estimated that 60 to 70 percent of all calls are related to operator error.

Some of the alarm modules—monitoring devices connected to the department—show trouble so frequently that police automatically suspect a false alarm when they go off.

Nevertheless, whenever an alarm shows trouble, police are required to respond, even if the system operator calls the station and reports an error.

"We still have to respond to the call ... we don't know if someone's got a gun to their head," Swenor explained.

"One of the big things is liability. We have to respond to any alarm wired into us."

The police chief also pointed out that each alarm call is responded to as a full-fledged alert. Dispatchers must treat a buzzing alarm as a priority, meaning they temporarily shut down the radio to other police calls. Also, responding officers have to approach each place with a tripped alarm as if it is the real thing.

Considering the loss of revenue and the waste of valuable police time responding to false alarms, Swenor decided it had to be stopped.

"We still have to look at protecting other taxpayers too," he said.

The only alarms the police department is discontinuing are the modules, which require visual monitoring. Also wired into the station are "dialer" alarms. The dialers ring a telephone at the police department when they are activated, and a recorded message tells the dispatcher where the alarm is located.

Dialer alarms also can be tripped by operator error, Swenor said, but it happens less frequently, and they involve less trouble for dispatchers.

The same false alarm charge will be levied on dialer alarms also, he added.

The $25 charge is intended to make alarm system owners realize the trouble involved whenever they trip an alarm through improper use.

"It's a discipline thing," says Swenor. "If they take care of the system, they will not have a problem. But we'd like to stress upon them, an alarm is not a joke."

Swenor emphasized the charge will not be assessed because of telephone line problems or equipment malfunctions outside the control of alarm companies. In addition, there will be no charge for responses involving crimes.

In his letter to the village council explaining the change in policy, Swenor noted one alarm service will be allowed to continue connecting alarms at the department because the service cannot monitor its own alarms.

The company he referred to is Mountain Alarm Systems of Ruidoso. Swenor said Tuesday Mountain Alarm has the most systems connected to the department, and, if he required the company to remove all its modules, the company could not survive.

Jack Halbrooks, owner of Mountain Alarms, has used the police monitoring as a promotional tool in advertising. Halbrooks said he promotes the service because he feels "no private firm can give the expertise" police can.

He said he doesn't feel he takes advantage of the service because he contends the placement of alarms in homes and businesses also benefits police.

"It's a two-way street," he said. "It's one less building or house they have to worry about. Sure, false alarms are a pain in the rear, but you also have to consider the cost of burglary and higher insurance to taxpayers," he added, pointing to the value of having alarms.

Halbrooks said he sympathized with the police department about the waste of time and dollars in responding to false alarms. In an effort to cooperate with RPD, he said he will soon replace his modules at the station with a computer answering device that prints out information on tripped alarms.

Swenor said the computer is preferable to modules because it requires less space and monitoring time. Like a dialer alarm, the computer will take calls over a single telephone.

The computer device also will result in fewer false alarms because the mass of incoming phone lines to the modules will be eliminated, said Halbrooks. It will not eliminate the need to respond to operator error alarms.

Halbrooks said he eventually will remove the computer from the police station and monitor his alarms from a central station.

The other major alarm company with systems wired into the police station already has its own central answering station.

Fred Volguardsen, owner of Skyland Security Systems and Service, said he thinks the new police policy is necessary.

"I don't think it's in the police department job description to be answering alarms," Volguardsen said.

Other than some of his business alarm customers that are connected directly to the police department, Volguardsen said he monitors and responds to all his alarms. He noted that he educates his customers in use of the alarms and that the operator error rate is less than five percent.

Alarm owners paying higher rate

Home and business owners who invested in burglar alarms in the past few years because of the escalating burglary rate are now faced with skyrocketing charges for the alarm service.

Billy Hendrix of Big Spring, Texas, had an alarm installed in his vacation cabin here two years ago after the cabin was burglarized.

Like most burglar alarms, the system was connected via a telephone line to a central monitor. In addition to the charge from the alarm company, Hendrix paid a monthly bill to Continental Telephone for the line charge.

The line charge averaged about $13 per month until Continental's recent rate hike and a tariff increase from Mountain Bell went into effect.

Hendrix' last bill from the phone company came to $46.

The vacation home owner said he will continue the service, but he has appealed to Continental to lower the charge.

"I just feel insecure without somebody taking a look at (the cabin)," Hendrix said.

According to a Continental spokeswoman, the rate increase to $15 is representative of the increased charge for most alarm system customers in town.

Margie Dacy of the Ruidoso Continental office said the reason customers were hit all at once with the 250 percent increase was partly her fault.

She noted that she failed to pass on to local customers two tariff increases charged by Mountain Bell on burglar alarm circuits. The increases occurred last fall and in February.

In addition to the Mountain Bell charges, Continental's 52 percent rate increase approved in March by the State Corporation Commission also was applied to alarm bills last month.

"Why it went so far out of sight was the 52.25 percent increase on top of (Mountain Bell's charges)," Dacy said.

Dacy said the tariff increases boosted average monthly bills to about $29, and Continental's increase raised the charge by another $15.

For customers in the White Mountain area the situation is even worse. Because circuits there are "looped" to the White Mountain switching station, then to Continental's central office and finally to the monitoring station, the bills average almost $20 more.

Dacy said only a few burglar alarm customers have dropped the service since the increase.

Higher education

The third area considered was, "What is the enthusiasm level for a school?" Sundre explained.

"We think the data is relatively convincing," he said.

A series of conclusions were developed to show those who control funding that a facility should be funded.

The only negative aspect of the report, Sundre said, is that he would have liked to see more of the business and professional people respond to the survey. Only 37 percent responded.

The majority (95 percent) of those surveyed felt a post secondary educational facility is a good idea, Sundre pointed out. However, when asked if they would participate the percentage dropped off—the commitment to taking courses was somewhat less.

"The enthusiasm level was high; however, those surveyed did not know what courses might be offered or what the cost might be," he said.

Committee member Richard Swenor said tourism in Ruidoso might be falling off. "We need to build an educational community," he said.

The type of facility envisioned would house an off-campus instructional program like Taos has, Sundre said.

Committee member Richard Sandoval said he sees no problem with a school district election being in favor of a facility, because there is enthusiasm for higher education.

"The people who would normally get out and vote would be for it," committee member Rod Adamson said.

The committee will now go over the report, and bring up any inconsistencies and make suggestions. The report will also be given to the Ruidoso Board of Education for comments and suggestions.

After the final draft is drawn up, it will be sent to the state Board of Educational Finance for funding approval.

Double Dutch Bus

The gelding loafed across the finish with a three and one-half length lead, set the second-best seasonal record of 1:13 2/5 seconds for the six furlongs, and collected $5,235. The ease of the triumph clearly established Yallah Zip as the ranking three-year-old at this early juncture in the season.

Owned by L.G. and Helen Rhodes of Abilene, Texas, Yallah Zip refunded mutual prices of $22.40, $7.60 and $3.60. The gelding is trained by J. Doyal Roberts. The win was his first of the year out of three starts. He hauled the low load of 110 pounds in the seven-head field of sophomores.

Code's Draconic, the even-money favorite ridden by Wayne Ruehrer, settled in the middle of the pack during the backstretch run, not too far out of striking range. But Code's Draconic was unable to make much headway when Yallah Zip caught his second wind in the stretch.

Code's Draconic moved up well enough to finish second, earning $1,919 and returning $3.40, $2.30. Code's Draconic was top weighted at 120 pounds. Some Other Brother, a 10-1 outsider carrying Joe Martinez in a 114-pound load, contributed to the early pace before weakening and dropping back to third. Some Other Brother returned $3 to show.

The previous current six-furlong record of 1:13 1/5 seconds was set by Promised Kingdom on Friday (May 27).

Monday's program also included the $9,500 Fine Loom Handicap at 870 yards. The victory went to the top spring star, Special Hank, who pulled ahead in the final half-dozen strides to win by a half-length. The gelding was clocked in 46.02 seconds, knocking a full half-second off the seasonal record.

Special Hank, ridden by Salustio Burgos in the high weight of 124 pounds, earned $5,540 and paid $3.40, $2.20, $2.10. My Going Jesse ($2.60, $2.20) held on for second. Shecky Who ($2.20) took third.

Ruidoso racing resumes Thursday at 1 p.m.

JUST BEFORE the horses loaded into the starting gate for Saturday's running of the $94,989 First Consolation of the Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs, a cloudburst broke loose.

The weather conditions were perfectly apt since the chestnut filly, On A Stormy Day, proceeded to make a shambles of her competition in the 350-yard dash.

Ridden by Richard Bickel, On A Stormy Day broke crisply, easily put away some early arguments from the even-money favorite, Vital Link, then opened up powerfully. The sudden heavy rains didn't bother the filly in the least.

It was strikingly a one-horse race all the way. On A Stormy Day flashed under the wire with a hefty one and one-quarter-length lead, covering the distance in a rapid 17.74 seconds. This was only a few ticks short of the seasonal mark set by Coal Creek Lady Bug on May 14. The time was also only a half-second away from the track record established by Van Too Too (as a five-year-old) in 1973.

A tailwind was blowing during the First Consolation.

On A Stormy Day, owned by Larry Stephenson of Wichita, Kansas, collected $17,605 to go with the $17,082 she brought into the race. The filly came out of the affair with a fine record of 4-2-0 from eight starts.

Trained by Fred Danley, On A Stormy Day is by the All-American Futurity winner, Rocket Wrangler, out of an Easy Jet mare, Easy Blush.

Ruidoso patrons weren't completely sold on the filly and made her just over 5-1 in the First Consolation. This triggered mutual returns of $12.40, $4 and $2.40.

Vital Link, much to her credit, held on for second and earned $14,404. That pushed her money line up to $37,457 and also set up modest mutual returns of $3.20, $2.20. Vital Link is trained by H. Don Farris for Clarence Scharbauer Jr. of Midland, Texas. Jerry Nicodemus was up.

Pass Em Up Kid, with Larry Byers in the saddle, hit the wire in third place, a half-length behind Vital Link. Third was worth $13,604. The show price was $2.20.

The remaining order of finish (with purse money earned): 4th—Can Passen By, $12,003; 5th—New Years Special, $11,603; 6th—Eagles Flight, $10,803.

The following horses were scratched but each earned $3,741; Sum Lil Budget, Mr. Crimson Bug, Steppin Lightly, On A High.

HOPESHEZIN, a 6-1 shot ridden by Roy Brooks, survived some solid bumping in the early stages of Friday's Kansas Futurity Second Consolation at Ruidoso Downs.

Despite the rocky going, Hopeshezin refused to give in, and fought her way to a game nose victory in the 350-yard dash.

The purse of the Second Consolation was $49,446, of which $6,873 went to the winner.

Hopeshezin is leased by Dale A. Adix of Lexington, Oklahoma. The filly by Game Plan (out of Banker Smith) is trained by C. David Drake. Fans who'd pinned their wagering hopes on Hopeshezin collected $14.40 to win, $9.40 to place, $5.20 to show. The spring was staged under overcast skies and drizzling rain, but the track was still fast. A tailwind was blowing.

The Second Consolation winner negotiated the distance in 17.86 seconds, which was quite an improvement over her top-qualifying time of 18.19.

Hopeshezin got a heads-up start from the rail post, opening a quick half-length lead. But Racy Roman, a 3-1 shot coming out of the number four post, veered in sharply, bothering both Captivate and Warm Thoughts. Next, Racy Roman slammed into Hopeshezin. But the latter recovered her balance and finished with lots of zip, holding off the fast-closing 7-2 shot, Barbarys Pokey. Wesley Smith rode the latter for John Kitzman of Cypress, Texas.

Barbarys Pokey earned $6,519 and handed out $5 to place, $3,800 to show. Easy Warrior, a 12-1 outsider, stayed in third all the way, hitting the tape only a nose behind Barbarys Pokey. The third place purse was worth $6,235. The show price was $4.60.

Easy Warrior was ridden by Tim Williams. The owner is Gary Pogue of Kenedy, Texas.

THE BANK OF ALARM MODULES takes up a good portion of a wall in the Ruidoso Police Department communications center. When the department's new policy not to allow any new modules goes into effect July 1, the number of alarms monitored by dispatchers will begin to decrease.

Morel elected president of state association

Tommy Morel, director of sales at the Inn of the Mountain Gods (IMG), was elected Tuesday night as president of the New Mexico Hotel Sales Management Association.

The New Mexico chapter of the international association has nearly 40 members from all over the state. The marketing association offers educational programs, access to marketing research information, and meetings with other sales executives.

"It feels good to be recognized for your accomplishments in the marketing field," said Morel.

Morel said his election marks the first time a southern New Mexican has been chosen president. He said he sees the election as recognition of southern New Mexico, Ruidoso and the Inn as well as himself.

Morel thanked the Mescalero Apache tribe and IMG general manager Helen Zink for allowing him to participate in the organization which takes him away from his job a few days each month.

Preparations are under way for an international Pen Pal Club for interested persons of all ages and a story writing contest.

The New Mexico Zoological Society will bring its "Zoo to You" to the public library June 13.

The annual pet show will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. July 30.

Pilot Club officers installed

The Pilot Club of Ruidoso, an international women's service organization, installed its 1983-84 Executive Board May 17 at Cree Meadows Country Club.

The new officers are president Rose Mary Gann; first vice president Judith Howard; second vice president Charolette Hill; recording secretary Ruth Ann Carner; corresponding secretary Laveeta Snyder; treasurer Connie Loomis; and directors Rosemond Mundy, Gwen Dubose and Deanna Wright.

Five new members were also accepted. They are Ruth Ann Carner, Angelina Davis, Jani Grider, Gládena LaGrone and Laveeta Synder.

Seafood sale scheduled

It's seafood sale time again. The Ruidoso High School DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) chapter is sponsoring its semi-annual truckload seafood sale Friday, June 10.

The truck will be at Gibson's parking lot from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. No pre-orders are necessary. Seafood available during this sale includes red snapper and cod filets, walleye and salmon steaks, shrimp, king and snow crab legs, whole salmon, lobster tails, scallops plus seafood hot mix.

Prices range from $2.95 to $14.50 per pound.

Little Theater meeting Wednesday

The Ruidoso Little Theater is having a general meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Ruidoso village hall council room.

Business includes presentation and adoption of charter and bylaws and the nomination and election of officers.

Mothers of Twins schedule meeting

The Mothers of Twins Club will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday at First Christian Church.

Business will be to elect officers for a short term, plan future meetings, clothing and equipment exchange and exchange of ideas.

Chino tournament has biggest field ever

The annual Wendall Chino Golf Classic at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Saturday and Sunday was host to the biggest turnout in its seven-year history.

A total of 138 golfers competed in the three-day tournament, which became a twilight affair as the competition did not end until 8 p.m. Sunday. Only 80 golfers competed in the tournament last year.

Paul Ortega of Albuquerque and the Mesclero tribe won the championship flight crown with a fine 158 score. He shot a 78 Saturday and an 80 Sunday.

Jay Lente won the championship flight low net title with a 141 total, edging Harold Brokeshoulder, who fired a 142.

Alvin Baca captured the first flight with a 165 total, and Freddie Bear took the second flight crown with a 161 score. Pete Kazhe won the second flight low net title with a 142 score.

Bill Leads won the third flight with a 173 score. Norman Wilcox took the low net title with a 143.

Gerald Lucero won the fourth flight title with a 178, and Emerson Eckiwady took the low net chamampionship with a 138.

Calvin Tafoya shot a 191 to take the fifth flight crown. Edward Brewer and N.R. Begay tied for the low net title with 187s.

Jay Moore won one Calloway flight (for people without handicaps) with a 169 score. Carl Moore captured the other Calloway flight with a 176.

Nora Birdshead won the ladies' low gross championship with a 190. Cindy Warrior took the low net championship with a 153 total.

There was a three-way tie for first place in a scramble Friday before the main part of the tournament started.

The team of Tony Owing, Richard Henson, Walter Sloan and Margaret Knighton fired a 63, winning the title by virtue of a playoff by the scorecard.

The team of Paul Ortega, North Wallace, Ed Smith and Cindy Warrior also scored a 63, as did the squad of Jess Sixkiller, James Tuff, Tommie Sopcut and Calvin Tafoya.

Vince Knight, George Starr, Lew Rainbolt and Gilbert Tafoya finished fourth with a 65 total.

The next major tournament to be at the Inn will be the Pro-Am Celebrity Golf Tournament September 19.

Here it is in the thick of the fishing season, and I haven't fished once yet.

In fact, I haven't gone fishing in over five years. I just don't have the patience to wait for the fish to bite.

It wasn't always that way. When I was six or seven years old, I couldn't wait to go fishing with my father and grandfather. We would spend endless summer mornings fishing at a pier off the California coast.

I would catch many perch, sole, cod and even some bass, a couple of times.

I didn't go trout fishing until I was 11 or 12, and I found out then I just didn't have the patience for that type of fishing.

Fishing off an ocean pier was a lot easier than fishing in a lake or stream. At the pier, it seemed like all the fish were lined up waiting for my pole to drop with the bait, which was usually sardine or shrimp.

One time my cousin and I caught over 100 fish in a single day. Most of them were small, weighing less than a pound. But the thrill of reeling the fish in more than made up for their lack of size.

It was a different story fishing for trout, however.

It seemed like I would wait for hours until I got my first fish, or even a bite.

If I didn't catch a fish within the first hour, my mind would usually drift off, and I wouldn't be able to concentrate on fishing. I'd get restless or hungry and decide to quit.

Probably the biggest trout I ever caught was one weighing about a pound and a half in a Northern California lake.

I was about 16 then, and I caught the fish less than five minutes after I first put my pole in the water.

After I caught the trout, I became even more motivated to get more. I stayed at the lake for three or four more hours, but didn't catch any more fish.

I tried the next day for a couple of hours but came away with nothing.

Since then, I've gone fishing maybe 10 times at the most.

The last time I went, a party of about six of us camped out near the Klamath River in California. I was with my cousin, a couple of friends and two younger brother-in-laws of one of my friends.

As usual, I failed to catch anything, losing interest after about an hour.

However, my cousin caught a rainbow trout weighing at least two pounds about a half hour after we started. One of the other men caught a rainbow almost as large about 20 minutes later.

By this time, I was getting frustrated with myself and jealous of the other fishermen. I tried several other spots along the river, but only got about two bites.

We stayed at the river for about 10 hours that day, eating occasional snacks. My cousin caught another trout weighing about a pound, while a couple of the other guys also caught some small fish.

But I had quit trying about two hours into the day.

The next morning we fished for about three hours. However, this time nobody caught anything.

We packed up our gear and left the river area that afternoon. All the way back home, my cousin and one of the other guys talked about the fish they had caught and how much fun they had.

And all this time I was seething that I had again come up short.

Since then, I've stayed away from fishing, fearful of coming away with nothing again.

Someday I'll probably try the sport again. Maybe by that time, I will have developed enough patience to wait for the fish to be caught.

UP IN THE AIR after the ball goes Scott Yeatman (right) of the Tornado in an under-14 soccer match with the Strikers Saturday. The Strikers won 1-0. The two teams will play for the Ruidoso Soccer Association championship at 10:30 a.m. next Saturday at White Mountain Middle School.

Strikers edge Tornado, 1-0

The Strikers of Pioneer Savings used a strong defense to nip the Tornado of Morgan's Mountain Sports 1-0 in the regular-season finale of the Ruidoso Soccer Association spring under-14 season Saturday at White Mountain Middle School.

Both teams ended the season with 4-1 records and will play for the championship at 10:30 a.m. at the middle school next Saturday.

The other under-14 match saw the Rowdies of Burke-Collins Associates win their first match of the season, surprising the Cosmos of Schlotzky's Sandwich Shop 4-1. The Rowdies ended the season with a 1-4 record and the Cosmos also finished at 1-4.

In the Tornado-Striker contest,

Dylan Roan scored the only goal of the contest from 10 yards out on an unusual assist from Mike Keaton with two minutes remaining.

Keaton kicked the ball and it hit Roan, going off him into the net for the score.

Todd Morris did a good job as goalie for the Strikers. Scott Pilgreen also did well as the Tornado's goalie. The Tornado were hurt by the absence of four players due to injuries or vacations.

In under-10 competition Saturday, United of Coulston and Associates won the championship with a 1-0 victory over the Celtic of Security Bank. United finished the regular season with a 4-1-1 record and the Celtic ended up with a 1-2-3 mark.

The other under-10 match saw the Bandits of McDonalds defeat the Cobras of the Incredible 2-0. The Bandits completed the season with a 3-1-2 mark and the Cobras ended up 0-4-2.

The Bandits will play United for the crown at 11 a.m. next Saturday.

The league all-star matches in both age groups will be played Sunday. However, the exact times for the matches are not yet decided.

Shady Ladies topple Cobras

The Shady Ladies handed the Cobras their first loss of the season with an impressive 25-8 decision in Lincoln County Women's Softball Association play Monday night at All-American Park in Ruidoso Downs.

The Cobras are now 3-1 on the year.

and the Shady Ladies are 2-2.

In action last week, the Rebels beat the Fire 15-11, the Cobras rolled over the Dusters 25-10, Attic and Friends defeated the Shady Ladies 22-7, and the Angels knocked off the Apache Tears 25-0.

Ordorica qualifies for finals

David Ordorica has one more step to go on his way to a national Junior Olympics boxing championship.

The Ruidoso-Lincoln County Police Athletic League boxer qualified for the national tournament June 12-19 in St. Paul, Minnesota by winning the regional 80-pound senior division title Sunday in Albuquerque.

Ordorica won an unanimous decision over Timmy Trujillo of Colorado for the championship.

The Ruidoso High School freshman was pleased with his performance.

"I felt I did pretty well," he said. "I think my best punches were the jab and my right. I think I was in control most of the way."

"This is definitely the high point of my athletic career."

Besides his regional title Sunday, Ordorica has won four state championships in a year. He has the state Junior Olympics title, the Silver Gloves title, the Silver Cup crown and the United State of America-Amateur Boxing Federation 75-pound championship.

Pumas win in slow-pitch

The Pumas stayed undefeated in Ruidoso Men's Slow-Pitch Softball League competition with an exciting 18-17 victory over Concrete Products Friday night at All-American Park Field in Ruidoso Downs.

Trailing 12-3 in the third inning, the 3-0 Pumas rallied to take the win, scoring 11 runs in the sixth stanza. Concrete Products is now 2-1 on the season.

Precision Plumbing also remained unbeaten with a 15-12 victory over First City National Bank. Precision Plumbing and the Pumas will play a week from Friday in one of the biggest games of the season.

Other games saw Perleet Products beat Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital 15-2 and Homes of Tradition outscore Bentley Construction 16-11.

Adult soccer set for Tuesday

There will be an informal adult soccer scrimmage at 5:30 Tuesday night at White Mountain Middle School.

A previous scrimmage was Sunday,

May 22, attracting just five people. However, Darrel Gateley, one of the scrimmage's organizers, said he thinks the Tuesday night time is more suited for people.

will be played at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Warrior gymnasium. There will be a $1 admission fee for adults and all children eight years old and younger will be admitted free. The proceeds will go to the PAL program.

MAKING A GOOD CATCH is right fielder Steve Dankert of the Security Bank Little League team in the Thursday night game against First City National Bank. Security Bank won the game 13-3 to move its record to 4-1. Sunday night Ruidoso State Bank edged the Elks 3-2 to raise its record to 5-1.

MANY RECREATION PROGRAMS AVAILABLE

It should be a busy summer in Ruidoso

People who want to stay active in Ruidoso this summer will have plenty of activities to choose from.

There will be 12 programs offered by the Parks and Recreation department and other groups in the upcoming months.

Activities such as tennis lessons, swimming lessons, competitive swimming, frisbee, swimming aerobic classes, volleyball, horseshoes, Police Athletic League (PAL) programs and a library program will be among the activities offered.

"It's probably the best I could do since I only started this job in March," said Pam Graves, Parks and Recreation director. "Next year we hope to expand to more programs."

The municipal swimming pool will be probably the most active location during the summer. Beginning swim classes, a competitive swim team, an aerobic class, an adult swim class and open swimming will be offered at the pool.

The pool will open for the summer Friday. It will be open seven days a week from 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. There will be a $1.50 cost for a day of swimming, 75 cents for one ride on the slide and $5 for a day of swimming and using the slide. Season passes are also available.

Tennis lessons will be given at the School House Park courts by Ruidoso High School coach Mike Crocker and The Ruidoso News editor Tim Palmer.

The lessons will be divided into two classes: one for youths six to 16 and the other for adults 16 years old and over. The classes will begin June 13.

Informal volleyball games have already started and are being played at 7 every Tuesday night in the White Mountain Middle School gymnasium. The games are open to both men and women at no cost.

A Frisbee Day will be July 16 at the White Mountain Middle School field. It will start at 10 a.m. and will involve teams.

There will be a $10 fee per team and a $2 entry per event (accuracy games and best frisbee dog). A frisbee football game will be the main event.

The PAL will begin general athletic programs Saturday, May 28 at White Mountain Middle School. The program will involve both outdoor and indoor activities. It will last from 10 a.m. to noon each Saturday. There is no fee, and the program is open to anyone three years old and older.

Horseshoe courts are also available for use.

The courts are located on the east side of the Ruidoso Public Library, and horseshoes may be checked out at the Adult Recreation Center behind the library.

Play Time at the Park will involve two weeks of scheduled events such as games, crafts, nature walks and other events for children six years old and older.

It will be August 1-12, lasting from 9 a.m. to noon each day.

The library summer program will involve activities both inside and outside the Ruidoso Public Library. Crafts, book-reading contests and other activities will take place for anyone three years old and older.

The library program will last from June 20 to July 31. Call the library for further information.

Anyone needing further information on any of these programs should call Graves at 258-4343.

Inside the Outdoors

Investigations are currently being conducted by officers of the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish into the fraudulent purchase of resident hunting and fishing licenses by non-residents. In all areas of the State, officers are reviewing the licenses that were sold during the past 1982-83 license year and checking to make sure the purchaser was indeed a resident of New Mexico.

The purchase of resident licenses by non-residents is a major problem in the State. According to a study conducted by the Game Department, over $500,000 in income is lost each year by the department due to the fraudulent purchase of resident licenses.

To deter the fraudulent purchase of resident licenses, the State Legislature has established a $400 fine for giving a false statement in order to procure a license.

lowball net division. There will also be a junior division champion.

The tournament will begin at 8:30 a.m. the first day. About 60 to 70 golfers are expected to compete.

For further information, call 257-5698.

Golf tournament

The Cree Meadows Ladies Invitational Partnership Golf Tournament will be June 16-17.

There will be an entry fee of $100 per couple, which includes the cart. Anyone wishing further information should call 257-5698.

Sports briefs

Swim signups to begin June 6

There will be signups for a Ruidoso competitive swim team June 6-13 at the municipal pool.

Anyone eight years old or older can sign up. Practices will begin June 13 and last for eight weeks. There will be special instructions in all strokes, racing dives and turns. There may also be competition against other teams.

The summer rates are $96 per swimmer. Team members are eligible for a 50 percent discount on the price of a season pass to the pool.

For further information, call Leslie Seckler at 671-4597 or Parks and Recreation director Pam Graves at 258-4343.

Golf tourney

The Cree Meadows Country Club Golf Championships will be June 11-12.

Only members of the club can compete in the tournament. There is a $30 entry fee, and the tournament will be a 36-hole medal event.

The club championship will be decided in the low gross division. There also will be champions in the low net division and partnership

Roping event

The second annual Gerald Tully Roping event will be June 11-12, at the Tully Ranch in Glencoe.

The competition will begin at 10 a.m. both days. There will be competition in four divisions both days.

Categories will include B roping, one over 40, boy-girl and open Saturday. There will be AB roping, century, boy-girl and open competition Sunday.

A buckle will be given to the high-money winner of B ropings and age ropings. A concession stand will be on the grounds.

Racing Commission unhappy with stable area at Ruidoso Downs

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Ruidoso-Sunland general manager Don Smith was chided for the condition of the stable area at Ruidoso Downs' Race Track, during Thursday's meeting of the New Mexico Racing Commission at Ruidoso Downs.

"I find it deplorable," said commissioner Sharon Janecka, who asked when work would be done to improve the stable area.

"I'm not proud of the barn area," said Smith, who has been general manager since last October.

He said plans have been drafted for improving drainage of the stable area. A plan for routing water into a settling pond and then into the Rio Ruidoso has just been approved by the Environmental Improvement Division and work should begin in the fall, he said.

Commissioner Pete Casados also questioned Smith about complaints of rocks on the track.

Smith said there are some rocks in the barn area and on the path to the track, but none on the track. He said he has had Ruidoso High School Band members out three times to remove rocks, and that he will continue efforts to remove them.

Smith was also asked by Janecka why there have been a number of races with just six horses running. Smith said the longer and more elite races have not drawn entries as well as other races, but that they need to be run to offer an attractive race card to bettors.

Janecka said owners need to be given a chance to run their horses and suggested running more claiming races.

Commission members also heard Governor Toney Anaya's representatives suggest measures to tighten racetrack security, improve commission-staff relations and improve management by the staff.

The commission agreed to hire a management analyst to study operations of the commission.

They also agreed to adopt a system for reporting and paying taxes on pari-mutuel betting that will reduce the time and number of people handling the figures and money.

Lee Peters, representative of the Attorney General, said he has sent the commissioners memoranda outlining provisions of the Conflict of Interest Act.

Anaya representative John Ramming also said the governor has recommended that standing committees be formed to address areas of concern such as stalls and assignments, capital outlay and differing practices at tracks around the state.

Commissioners continued their efforts to update and clarify the rules governing horse racing. The commission considered changes of 16 rules and acted on 11.

Among the rule changes was an amendment to rule 23.10, which states that any horse claimed in a claiming race cannot start in a selling or claiming race for a period of 90 days from the date of the claim for less than 25 percent more than the amount for which it was claimed. The old rule referred only to winners of claiming races.

The commission also changed rule 4.07, which previously stated, "The licensee shall give preference to a New Mexico Bred or Foal horse in allocating stall space among horses of comparable quality." The commission deleted "of comparable quality" from the rule.

Through an interpretation of rule 11.07, the commission refused to allow horses stabled off a track to race.

The commission did not allow a temporary use of the drug lasix, requested by veterinarians Joe Miller and Richard Galley.

Lasix is used to prevent bleeding from the lungs and sinuses by horses. One horse entered in the Kansas Futurity Trials died from bleeding, it was noted.

"Probably we have more bleeding problems than any other state in the nation," said Miller, who called it the number one problem. "We feel it's inhumane not to be allowed to use lasix," added Miller.

While commission members agreed that lasix is a beneficial drug with no apparent effects on the outcome of a race, they did not want to take any temporary action on such a sensitive issue.

They indicated they plan to reevaluate all the rules and penalties governing drugs in the near future.

PALLBEARERS lift Sam Nunnally's casket onto a fire truck Saturday at First Christian Church. Nunnally, former municipal judge, died Thursday. He was buried at Forest Lawn Cemetery Saturday afternoon.

Judge Sam Nunnally dies peacefully

by DAVID SHEPPARD
Staff Writer

Municipal Judge Sam Nunnally died Thursday afternoon at the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital after fighting a long battle with cancer.

Ruidoso hospital nursing supervisor Mary Lou Brown said Nunnally "died peacefully from cardiac arrest" at about 1 p.m. He had been admitted to the hospital May 14.

Funeral services were at the Ruidoso First Christian Church Saturday afternoon. Nunnally was buried at Forest Lawn Cemetery, Ruidoso.

He is survived by his wife Dona, sons Greg and Jeff, and daughter Amber. He also is survived by his mother, Lucille R. Nunnally of Roswell.

Nunnally was elected to his first term as municipal judge in 1972 and was reelected in 1976 and 1980, said village manager Jim Hine.

Virgil Reynolds, Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department superintendent, served as a fireman with Nunnally for about 15 years.

Reynolds said Nunnally was voted into the fire department in 1966. He served as assistant chief in 1968 and 1969, and as chief from 1970 to 1973. He served on the Ruidoso Fire Commission from 1973 to 1983.

Nunnally was honored for his service to the fire department at the last annual firemen's ball.

"He was a great man, a great friend," said Reynolds, who said he also knew Nunnally as an avid sportsman who liked to hunt and fish.

Ruidoso Mayor George White had known Nunnally for 20 years. "He has been a favorite of mine," said White. The mayor said he knew Nunnally when he operated the House of Shoes before becoming judge.

Nunnally also was involved in a mining partnership called Mon Jeau Mining Company.

Village manager Jim Hine said about Nunnally, "The only way I can sum up Sam Nunnally is that he was one of those rare individuals that you enjoyed knowing and enjoyed working with."

Hine said John Cupp will remain acting municipal judge and that he anticipates Cupp to be appointed by the village council to serve in the position until the next election.

Dub Holt, who helped Nunnally with speech therapy after his first cancer operation last year, said Nunnally "could bear pain better than any man I ever saw. He was a very courageous man."

Nunnally was born December 8, 1929, in Abilene, Texas. He attended Hardin-Simmons College. He moved to Ruidoso in 1963.

Neighborhood mail delivery starting

by BETH HALLER
Staff Writer

Neighborhood postal delivery will begin in various parts of Ruidoso Wednesday.

Neighborhood delivery and collection box units have been installed at the 2900 block of Main Road, 100-2900 blocks of Sudderth Drive, 100 block of Begonia Road, 100 block of El Paso Street, 100 block of Horton Circle, 100 block of King Road, 100 block of Reese Drive, 100 block of U.S. Highway 70, 300-400 blocks of Walnut Drive and 100 block of Willow Drive.

Anyone who lives on these streets should fill out a change of address card, Elwood Gradine, Ruidoso postmaster, said Thursday.

The Postal Service will transfer mail free of charge for one year from the date of change, Kenneth Primrose, Roswell postmaster, said in a letter to postal customers.

The post office is now issuing keys to people who intend to use the boxes, Gradine said.

There is no charge for this service, and the Postal Service will provide maintenance, including replacement of lost or broken keys and new locks and keys when necessary, Primrose said.

Gradine said one of the biggest assets of the neighborhood delivery is that it will open up some of the post office boxes for people who are now receiving mail through general delivery.

"This is the whole reason behind the neighborhood delivery," he said. At this time there are at least 100 permanent residents waiting for boxes. The Ruidoso Post Office services 10,000 to 12,000 people, he estimated.

The post office box rates will only go up for those who are now able to receive neighborhood delivery and still want to keep a post office box, Gradine noted.

No carriers will be hired at this time, the postmaster said. "I have no authority to hire a carrier."

One of the present post office employees will become the carrier, he said.

It will alleviate problems in the long run, but "it will slow us down a little bit at first," according to Gradine.

"It will take time to develop speed and accuracy, but in a week to 10 days the carrier should become proficient," Gradine explained.

He said he guesses it will be a few years before all of Ruidoso has neighborhood delivery.

PEPE ROMERO will be performing in the Ruidoso Summer Festival at 8 p.m. Tuesday, June 7, in the Inn of the Mountain Gods convention center. The Dixieland Jazz Band will kick off the week of music at Casino Night, Friday, June 3. Daniel Helfetz will play Saturday, June 4. The Dixieland Jazz Band will perform a free concert at Cedar Creek Recreation Area Sunday afternoon. Maurice Loiriaux will auction 18 of the best entries in the Ruidoso Summer Festival Art Contest Monday night, June 6. Roberta Peters will sing Wednesday night and Dionne Warwick will wind up the week with a concert Thursday night.

Pepe Romero reaches for feeling with guitar

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
Staff Writer

Pepe Romero is a musician who believes one has to do more than read a score of music to play it properly.

"You see, I think that for a performer to give the best possible interpretation of a work, he must look as deep as possible into the details of the composer's life and try to see life as the composer must have seen it. You have to get as close to the feelings they had," Romero has said.

Romero's strong feelings about the music he plays, accompanied by his tremendous technique, makes his favorite wherever he plays.

"Romero won all hearts with his subtly shaded yet tense and impetuous performance," wrote the Los Angeles Times.

"He builds grand climaxes, possesses one of the most beautiful pianissimos I have heard on guitar, constructs phrases of the utmost grace, clarity and elegance ... With Romero there is pleasure and art everywhere," wrote the Seattle Post-Intelligence.

Romero was born in 1944 in Spain. By the age of three, he was already learning the guitar from his celebrated father Celedonio Romero. At the age of six, he was said to play flamenco as well as anyone in the country.

By the time the Romero family moved from Spain to southern California in 1958, Romero was already a seasoned performer. Since 1960 his two brothers and his father have performed as Los Romeros. They have performed as quartets, trios, duos and soloists for over 20 years.

Pepe has performed with virtually every major symphony orchestra in the United States and many in Europe.

When he plays for the Ruidoso Summer Festival Tuesday, June 7, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods convention center, he will be accompanied by the Texas Little Symphony. The Texas Little Symphony is composed of the principal members of the Fort Worth Symphony.

In March of this year he premiered "Concierto Para La Fiesta," a piece written especially for him by Joaquin Rodrigo. The Fort Worth Symphony accompanied him during the premiere. He will perform the piece at the Summer Festival.

Romero has been able to understand the feelings of Rodrigo when the composer wrote "Concierto Para La Fiesta." He personally knows Rodrigo and has spent time talking to him about the pieces he was writing. "I feel especially fortunate to have been able to know masters like Rodrigo and Torroba, and to be able to learn directly from what has inspired them," Romero said.

Romero will also play Respighi's "Ancient Airs and Dances, Suite Number 1." The Texas Little Symphony, conducted by John Giordano, will perform Beethoven's Symphony Number 4 in B-flat major, Opus 60, the same evening.

Tickets for Romero's concert are still available at the main branch of Ruidoso State Bank. Table seats will cost $20 and theatre seats are $15. For more information call 257-7929.

Downs budget $375,000

by BETH HALLER
Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Downs trustees approved a $375,036 proposed municipal budget Thursday night.

They have estimated revenues of $375,099.

The police (public safety) department received the largest part of the budget—22 percent—as $160,970 was allocated for public safety.

C. E. Robinson, Ruidoso Downs chief of police, said he would like to see $2,000 allotted in the budget for training of officers.

If the department is ever sued for lack of training, he said, it can be shown money is allocated for training in the budget.

In revenue sharing funds, the village will receive $19,073.

In solid waste disposal (sanitation department), the village has $37,000 estimated revenues, and $53,192 is allocated in the budget.

Ruidoso Downs needs a new garbage truck, Wilma Webb, village clerk, said.

A total of $16,192 of the revenue sharing funds were transferred to the sanitation department.

The water department has $115,470 estimated revenues with budgeted expenditures of $141,222.

The sewer fund has estimated revenues of $40,500 with budgeted expenditures of $37,248.

The parks and recreation department will receive $2,795 from the budget.

Webb said they would like to get some play equipment for preschoolers for the park.

The Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department will receive $29,645 in state fire allotment.

Financial administration will be allotted $70,930. Streets and highways will receive $72,037.

Executive-legislative has been allotted $46,807, and $9,351 has been allocated for judicial.

The fire department will receive $3,324, and elections have $1,121 allotted.

The ambulance service will receive $6,500, and $700 has been deemed miscellaneous.

In other business, the trustees discussed the need to enforce the ordinance of no drinking of alcoholic beverages in public parks.

The Ruidoso Downs trustees will meet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to discuss the annexation of property.

Thursday racing resumes this week

RAAZOR BLADE, a tough competitor on the West Coast, returns to New Mexico when she faces nine foes in Thursday's featured race at Ruidoso Downs.

Thursday's card begins the start of regular Thursday racing at Ruidoso Downs. Through the rest of the meeting, there will be Thursday through Sunday racing on a regular basis except for two Monday holiday cards and two Wednesdays.

Thursday's main attraction, to be run as the 11th race, is restricted to three-year-old fillies running five and one half-furlongs. The purse will be $4,100.

Raazor Blade won two races in New Mexico last summer before heading west. She staged a neck victory against maiden fillies on August 7 at Ruidoso Downs over six furlongs, then she drew clear for an easy nine and one half-length win in a five and one half-furlong allowance chase last September at the New Mexico State Fair in Albuquerque.

She was then taken to Santa Anita

Park where she finished a strong second, beaten just a half-length after leading throughout against fillies running for a $40,000 claiming price. That was a six-furlong dash on October 22.

She then went to Hollywood Park in Inglewood. Following an eight-place effort against fillies running for a $50,000 claiming tag, she lead throughout to register a two-length win as a $1,90-1 wagering favorite against fillies running for a $40,000 claiming price at six and one half-furlongs on December 8.

Raazor Blade, a Kentucky-bred filly, is by the speedy Blade out of the Al Hattab mare, Happy Hour. Trained by Paul A. Smith, she's owned by Henry Cota and Ron Sugamoto of Alamogordo.

Another well-bred filly appears to be Raazor Blades' toughest foe. Celsa is by the outstanding former Silent Screen out of a Blade mare. Countess Blade, who was one of the finest mares to compete in the Southwest.

TONY LAMA JR. shows one of the many styles of boots represented at the new Tony Lama Boot Store on Highway 70 east, which opened Friday.

Tony Lama store opens here

The Tony Lama Factory Store, on Highway 70, had its official bandana cutting Friday.

This is the second Tony Lama outlet in New Mexico, Steve Thompson, who is in charge of Tony Lama's New Mexico stores, said.

Louie Lama, son of Tony Lama Sr., explained why Ruidoso was chosen as a store location. He noted that years ago his father had a retail store in Ruidoso, and so they decided to come back here.

He said they like their new location in Ruidoso because it is on the highway.

Fuel wood available now

Mike Funston, timber specialist for the Smokey Bear Ranger District, announced there will be a limited amount of down wood available for two more weeks along the Ruidoso fuel break behind Town and Country Subdivision North. Those with firewood permits are welcome to collect the wood.

For permits and information contact the Smokey Bear Ranger District on Mechem Drive or phone 257-4095.

TAKE A BREAK By Staff Of Ruidoso Travel
A TASTE OF TAHITI
Tahiti is the main island of French Polynesia, halfway between California and Australia. Several other islands close to Tahiti—Morea, Bora Bora, Huahine, and Rangiroa in particular—are often included in a Tahitian holiday.
Papeete, on Tahiti, is the capital, and Faaa, the main airport, is located here. Papeete has the bulk of the islands' hotels, shopping and nightlife; everything else has more of an "out-island" feel. The famous "Le Truck" offers unscheduled bus service between Papeete and outlying towns; more traditional guided island tours are also plentiful.
Moorea is just 11 miles from Tahiti, served by plane or several ferries. It's spectacularly scenic, and small enough to be toured by bicycle.
Bora Bora is also well-known, but 165 miles away; reach it by plane. Many good packages offer a sampling of several islands, with inter-island transportation included.
Looking for an island holiday? From Tahiti to Manhattan, from England to Catalina, get help with all your vacation needs from your travel experts at Ruidoso Travel.

Pets To The Rescue

In the Albuquerque Journal of May 5 there appeared an article illustrated by a small white cat wearing a gold medal while resting calmly in the hands of her owner.

It turns out the cat, "Pussycat", saved the life of her owner by waking him up in time to put out a fire that had started in the home of Royal Cuccia in New York.

The article said:

"One the night of April 27, 1982, some oily rags in Cuccia's East Hampton home caught fire, apparently as a result of a spark from a refrigerator. The cat repeatedly jumped on Cuccia's bed and scratched and cried until the caterwauling roused her master.

The medal was presented by the American Society For Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in honor of the founder of the organization, Henry Bergh.

John Kullberg, executive director of the organization said:

"Cats do a lot for us. They are our companions, and sometimes save our lives." Right he is — and so are other of our pets also.

Shady Logan "Hears About The Grass Fire."

There used to be an old back-woods saying, expressing how someone look flight from approaching danger: "He heard about the grass fire; and hit out for the high ground."

Years ago the little Storm Ranch half collie and half coyote, Shady Logan, developed a habit of jumping up on the piano and lying there looking out to the east. His claws had marked the finish a little, and I tried to break him of the habit.

One evening in early winter — a dry and windy winter it was — I had a fire in the fireplace and was dozing off about to go to sleep. Shady was sleeping in front of the fire near my feet with his coyote nose almost touching the coals.

All of a sudden he jumped to his feet, and then leaped up on the piano and stood looking out the window, standing very still and pointing outside with his Coyote nose.

"Get down, Shady Boy," I said. But he remained like a gold and white statue of a dog.

I repeated the request to get down, and he looked at me and pointed again.

He finally got his point over and I went outside. In the long dry grass right next to the hose, the flames of a fire were licking up past the rock foundation to the wood. The powder-dry weather would have made it easy for the fire to catch the house. A spark from the chimney had been fanned by the wind into a blaze.

After that I made a pallet on top of the piano for Shady, and today as I look at the marks of his claws, I send up a prayer of thanks to the spirit of Shady.

He stepped in front of me twice, pointing the same way, keeping me from stepping on a rattlesnake.

Solo Vino, today's Storm Ranch Dog, did the same saving me from a monster rattler who had wandered into the yard.

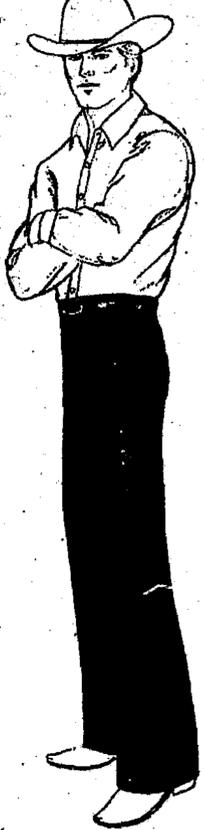

Man Return the Favor For The Animals

At the same meeting of the ASPCA, awards were given to men for heroic work in saving animals. Ronald Fergusson an ASPCA ambulance driver was given an award for trying to save a cat and plunging down an elevator shaft. Fire fighter Daniel J. Murphy won a similar award for saving a cat who was hiding behind a refrigerator in a burning building.

Also Officers Paul Ragonese and Al Sheppard were given recognition for jumping into the East River and saving a stray dog who had been sucked into an intake duct.

By a coincidence of names, our own Dave Sheppard, halfway across the continent, recently performed an act of heroism and mercy that I will call "The Rescue of the Year."

I will let Dave "The Archbishop", tell you of this incident in one of his pieces in The Ruidoso News some time soon, about a very young and helpless creature.

Young child pulled from river

A one-year-old boy fell in the Rio Ruidoso and floated three quarters of a mile in the swollen river before being pulled out and saved Monday morning.

Randy Boies Jr., son of Randy Boies of Ruidoso, was playing in Teepee Trailer Park when he fell in the river and floated downstream, according to Ruidoso police. Two 10-year-old boys, Vic and Matt Hill of Lubbock, Texas, spotted him nearly three quarters of a mile downstream and shouted for help.

An unidentified man pulled the boy from the river and began cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) on the child. Ruidoso police officer Dave Pfeffer said the child had no pulse and his pupils were dilated when he arrived on the scene.

Between efforts of people at the river and the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital, the child was revived. He was sent to University of New Mexico Hospital in Albuquerque, where he was in stable but guarded condition Tuesday morning.

"I'm just amazed," said Pfeffer. He said this was another example of people who know CPR saving a life.

Asbestos bid to Roswell firm

Holloway Construction Company of Roswell was awarded the bid on asbestos encapsulation at Nob Hill Elementary School, at a special board of education meeting Tuesday.

The firm submitted the low bid $21,400, of four bids submitted. Awarding of the bid is subject to approval by Alley-Connell architect Steve Strain.

The school board in February authorized a call for bids on the work, after Strain presented results of a national lab analysis showing a one to five percent concentration of asbestos in the Nob Hill ceiling. The federal government recently mandated that all public buildings be tested for asbestos, which has been linked to lung cancer.

Nob Hill was the only Ruidoso school building found with a high enough concentration of the material to require treatment. Strain reported in February that the situation does not present any immediate danger, as the asbestos has not flaked off the ceiling into the air.

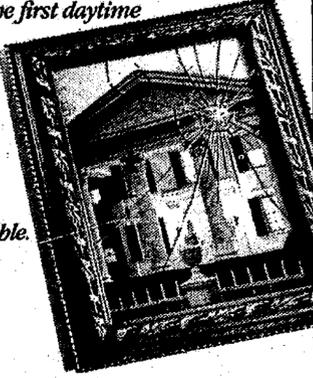

The ceiling will be encapsulated with a penetrating sealer to prevent any future health danger. Work will begin when school recesses for the summer.

SANTA FE—Hey, isn't it nice for the State of New Mexico to be setting new records?

The latest one gave us the highest award ever from the General Judgment and Claims Fund of the United States government.

We got exactly $277,293,000 by electronic delivery at 9:20 a.m. last Tuesday, after Senator Pete Domenici pushed a key in Washington and sped the money to the state's fiscal agent in Santa Fe.

That will do a lot to relieve some of the money problems of the state.

For instance, $100 million of the total will go to the Highway Department, for uses already decided upon, including $10 million for work on roads in counties which are also plagued by a shortage of funds.

That will let us avoid issuing bonds in that amount—something some people think we've been doing too much of lately.

Bonds, after all, are a way of borrowing against the future of the state. That's like buying on the installment plan, while banking this money allows us to shift over instead to buying for cash.

We earned the money by a long and lonely fight, in which the state claimed that even though the federal government owns the facilities at Los Alamos and Sandia National Laboratories, such installations are not exempt from paying the same sales tax you pay at the grocery and other stores.

The state fought that battle all the way up to the Supreme Court in Washington, and we won.

For a long time after we did, it appeared the feds might say, "Well, we don't have the money to pay that judgment. We'll have to go back to Congress and ask them to appropriate that amount."

That would most likely have taken years to collect. Congress, after all, doesn't look upon demands of that kind as taking first priority.

Instead, largely, we are told, through the efforts of Domenici, the Attorney General of the United States ruled the payment would be made from that General Judgment and Claims Fund. That meant the money was already on hand to be transferred to New Mexico.

So, in addition to the $100 million for the Highway Department, we got $66,725,000 for the state's battered and bruised general fund, from which comes most of the money to keep state government running.

We were also able to pump $93,140,000 into the operating reserve fund, which we had drawn down by a large amount just to pay the bills during the completion of our current fiscal year.

That left $17,428,000 to be divided between 21 local and county governments. Most of that—$8,230,483—goes to the city of Albuquerque, with Los Alamos getting $4,940,504 and Bernalillo county $4,113,358.

Like the state, those governments are all smiles as a result.

Others which will share the remaining $144,092 include Artesia, Carlsbad, Corrales, Dona Ana county, Espanola, Estancia, Farmington, Grants, Hobbs, Las Cruces, Los Lunas, Rio Arriba county, Roy, Santa Fe, Santa Fe county, Taos, Taos county and Tijeras.

None of those will get a whole lot of bucks; but, as the saying goes, it's better than a poke in the eye with a sharp stick.

Once in a while even a small state like ours can best the feds and live to crow about it.

FELONY MOTEL

The public believes that punishment should follow the conviction of a crime. With a few exceptions, the people who run the criminal detention systems do not. They are nearly all rehabilitationists.

The new Secretary of Corrections for our state is a rehabilitationist and made that very clear in his first public appearance before the media Saturday. He believes that a secure, comfortable rehabilitation setting is more effective in changing a criminal than a punitive atmosphere.

New Mexico has recently committed $100 million to building just that kind of an institution, after prisoners tore up the state pen not long ago. Now we have the rehab philosophy to go along with the new Felony Motel.

— Hop Graham Lovington Daily Leader

INTERVIEWEE

It was an eye-opening experience to be interviewee, and not the interviewer, for a change.

On a nearly daily basis, interview subjects entrust their public beings in the hands of newspaper writers. It's a basic prerequisite for having communication through newspapers.

Like Bern Ganter last week, and I'm sure Charlie McCandless many years ago, hopefully we can handle the information from our sources in a responsible manner and provide fair, accurate reports on the news. — Raton Ranger

QUACKER

Bernie Green, a Duck Race chief quacker emeritus, wants to know whom to sue. Bernie was mentioned in a letter to the editor as a winner in the FOP's bowling-pin shoot. The title: adult, big bore.

Wife Pat says she thinks that's one of the better compliments Bernie has received lately. Bernie's not so sure. At least it wasn't in the small-caliber competition! — Harold R. Coustand, Deming Headlight

$25,000 SUB PARTY

There's a bit of custom riding on ceremonies marking the commissioning of the USS Albuquerque nuclear submarine in Connecticut May 21 that should be continued, even if it does cost the city $25,000.

Mayor Harry Kinney has asked the City Council for that amount to pay for festivities at the commissioning. Other cities have hosted similar parties when vessels named in their honor have been commissioned.

In some cases, the submarines have even visited their city namesakes—something that won't happen here due to Rio Grande navigational hazards.

Those expenses might best be obtained from the budget of the Albuquerque Convention and Visitors Bureau, which could charge them to its promotion budget. The amount, $25,000, is not excessive for promoting our city. — Albuquerque Journal

EDUCATIONAL STUNT

That live televising of a heart operation in a Phoenix hospital was a stunt, all right.

It was an educational stunt, though, as one observer commented, "a formidable learning experience."

The value of that learning experience must be weighed against: other somewhat hokey aspects of the show. Exactly that it was done live, for example, with a titillating chance that something might go wrong.

The chief surgeon, Dr. Edward Dietrich (himself referred to by the anchor as Ted) introduced personal in the drama, including the nurses Patti and Cindy and "Dick, the overhead photographer on the boom." At one point the surgeon, still engaged in his lifesaving task, responded to listeners' telephone calls.

It was an educational stunt. But many a viewer could have done without the TV frills on a deadly serious proceedings. — Alamogordo Daily News

Editorial

A pillar of our community was taken from us last week.

Judge Sam Nunnally was a devoted family man, sympathetic friend and understanding colleague who left a warm impression on everyone he met.

Committed to community service, he was a long-time member of the Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department, and was elected volunteer chief by his fellow firemen several times.

Nunnally was highly respected as municipal judge, a post he first was elected to in 1972. Magistrate James Wheeler, who worked at Nunnally's side for seven years, remembers him as "a very compassionate human being and a very compassionate judge."

The courageous and positive attitude he demonstrated in his last battle provided an example that we could all do well to follow.

Sam Nunnally will no longer be presiding in municipal court, but he will always be a part of this community and the lives of those he touched. We are better for having known him.

Good-bye Sam.—DS

Letters to the Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

To say we were made truly homesick is an inadequate pair of words to describe our feelings at seeing Peter Hurd's paintings in the prestigious art museum in Phoenix yesterday on a visit we made there.

He was featured as one of a continually changing series of Southwestern artists in a special exhibit—unknown to us until, to pass a few hours while we waited for an appointment, we decided to tour that facility.

We didn't count the number of canvases on view—but there were enough to occupy quite a bit of time before we needed to be at some other place. Strolling along and drinking in the nostalgic views of the area below and around Ruidoso and the Hondo Valley—there had to be almost 50 (if not more) of his works—was a most enjoyable experience. The show had attracted a good sized crowd for that part of one day we popped in the museum. Regards to all ya'll...

 VIC LAMB

DEAR EDITOR:

I want to thank all the people who worked so hard to put on The Golden Jubilee. I am sorry no more people came but I enjoyed it. I want to extend a special thanks to the doctors, nurses and all who gave the tests at the Health Fair. I tried to remember to thank each one but I'm old and forgetful and am sure I forgot some of them.
 Yours truly,
 MRS. F.E. (BEA) ADAMS

Reporter's Round

by Beth Haller

Some of my big city snobbishness was smashed after attending a meeting in Carrizozo Monday night.

At the meeting the Town Council, prompted by irate townspeople, voted against a resolution that would have allowed Zia Steel Company to locate a "mini" steel mill in the vicinity of the town.

The mill would have provided over 75 local jobs, and definitely would have given an industrial boost to Carrizozo.

But in a unique turn of events, the people of Carrizozo chose quality of life over money.

Coming from a metropolitan area (the Fort Worth-Dallas metropolis), I know what pollution haze hanging over a city looks, smells and feels like. However, when I came to Ruidoso, it was refreshing to see mountains and trees away from an industrial climate.

I do not know if it was right or wrong, but I applaud Carrizozo's reasoning for not wanting the mill.

They were afraid of the pollution the coal-burning mill might produce. Although Zia Steel assured the townspeople it would be able to get a permit from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the EPA standards just limit the amount of pollution; they do not eradicate it.

Another fear of the townspeople was the effect on the water, both contamination and amount of usage.

There would have been water residue that would have been put in a tailings pond. However, the exact content of this residue was not clearly established.

Also, Carrizozo has a certain problem with water usage. The town can only store 500,000 gallons of water, and no more out-of-town water hookups are allowed.

Zia Steel would be using about 200 gallons of water per minute, so the town had reason to worry. Although Zia Steel would have had to use ground water, the amount of water available to Carrizozo in the future seems uncertain.

Another impressive fact came to light at the meeting. The people in Carrizozo had done their homework about the mill and were ready to fire probing questions at the men from Zia Steel.

Their concern for their little town was refreshing. In today's society, where most people consider voting too much of a hassle, it is good to see people take the time to go to a town meeting and voice their opinions.

However, the people in Carrizozo were lucky to be in the position to have the luxury of deciding whether they wanted potential pollution or 86 jobs.

Carrizozo does not seem to have the high unemployment rates that plague the rest of the country.

Woody Schlegel, president of the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce, said in an Associated Press story that the town does not suffer high unemployment, but many residents work 30 to 80 miles away.

"The joke around here is that when the town drunk is sober, the unemployment rate is zero," he said.

Apparently, the people of Carrizozo would rather work far away and be able to come home to clean air than vice versa.

The townspeople of Carrizozo are definitely people to be reckoned with, as Zia Steel president Edward Bottinelli found out.

They seem to know what values are important to them to keep the quality of life the way they want it in Carrizozo.

BEST VIEW of race track possible! This 2000 square foot, 4 bedroom, 2 bath home has a 230 degree view that is almost unbelievable. And it is a solar heated adobe for low utility bills and low maintenance. If you're looking to move up to something with more room and the best view in town you'd better look at this one.

WE STILL HAVE that 3 bedroom house near the track. Needs a little work but is a good value at $49,500. On 1/2 acre lot.

CONDOS on the golf course? You bet. Lots of acreage tracts also.

Give us a call. We're friendly people!

Bill Pippin REAL ESTATE
 1 Mile East of The Chaparral on Highway 70
 P.O. Box 966 — Ruidoso Downs, N.M. 88346

ALPINE SETTING. This beautiful lodge type home is located on 54 choice acres located in the mountains. Wildlife in your front yard. Extra nice 2 bedroom home can be used for guest home. One of a kind. A home with privacy, yet one to be proud of.

JUST REMODELED. Three bedroom, two bath, spacious master bedroom, new carpet, new drapes, furnished. $8,000 down, owner financing.

CORNER OF SUDDERTH AND EDWARDS. Choice, high traffic count, commercial property. 3,000+ sq. ft. and is located on 1/2 acre. Has a driveway. Plenty of parking and lot goes from street to street. SOLD But We Have Another!

JUST EAST OF RUIDOSO DOWNS. Several small tracts from 2 to 4 acres. Owner financing available.

ACREAGE. Located in valley. 200 acres with road frontage and well. Owner says sell at $500 per acre. Would consider some financing.

RANCHES. We have several ranches we feel are among the best in the State of New Mexico. Example: 50,000 acres of deeded land, numerous springs—one runs approximately 400 GPM, quail, antelope, and mule deer, not to mention fine home for cattle operation.

HONDO VALLEY. 57+ acres of choice property with water rights and approximately one mile of river frontage. Approximately $6,000 per acre with owner financing.

PRICE REDUCED. Owner said reduce price to $54,000 and "Get It Sold!" Two bedroom, 1 bath, open kitchen and living area with nice large deck commanding a beautiful view. Lots of room underneath for expansion or storage. Can get immediate possession.

ACREAGE NEAR LOMA GRANDE. Approximately 230 acres with frontage on Hwy 37. Nice trees, nice access, nice views. Owner recently agreed to sell in smaller tracts. Hard to beat at $2,500 per acre.

ALTO VILLAGE. Lot at $12,000. Has social membership. Owner financing available.

SUN VALLEY. Brand new 3 bedroom, 1 1/2 bath home with Cathedral ceiling and fireplace. Large pine covered lot with good access. A bargain at $69,000.

PONDEROSA HEIGHTS. Two bedroom, 1 bath, completely furnished and located on wooded lot. A good buy at $35,000.

CLOSE TO TRACK. Two story modified A-frame with 3 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths. Money talks on this one.

WHITE MOUNTAIN II. Approximately 1,600 sq. ft., 3 story A-frame with 5 bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, fireplace and tastefully decorated. Large corner lot provides majestic view of Sierra Blanca. Room to expand if one desires. The price will surprise you! Owner would consider trading up or down for home on one level.

On Thursday, June 2, on USA's Thursday Night Baseball, fans will have a chance to see Reggie Jackson and the California Angels in a matchup that always gets Jackson heated up — a game with the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium. Last year, Reggie was batting around .200 with no home runs until the Angels' first game at New York. But he broke out of his slump during that series, so perhaps this year's contests will help Jackson break out of his current hitting malaise.

MTV will feature a concert video of Greg Kihn on Saturday, June 4. Kihn is a straightforward rocker who predated and to a large extent anticipated the first wave of punk bands in the late '70s. None of Kihn's records are that good, but in concert he can be one of the best. The problem is the material he uses doesn't live up to the intensity of his performance.

Two teams that are in the running for the title of the United States Football League Central Division's title, the Tampa Bay Bandits and the Michigan Panthers, will meet each other in a game televised by ESPN on Monday, May 30.

Tennis player Mats Wilander of Sweden will defend his title in the French Open, during the end of May and the beginning of June. USA covers this tournament, which is considered by many to be the most grueling on the circuit, starting with the early rounds on May 29, 30 and 31.

More movies on Spotlight: "Winter of Our Dreams" (May 31) — Still another interesting new Australian drama. Featuring the stars of "A Town Called Alice" and "My Brilliant Career," this film describes romantic disillusion in urban Australia (unlike most of the films, which all seem to be set in the Outback). "Fighting Back" (May 30) — A terrible movie about vigilantes that takes people's good instincts, such as concern for their community, and their fears, and exploits them for a few bucks. Even as this kind of movie goes, this is a bargain basement edition. "Tribute to a Bad Man" (May 29) — A Western starring the great James Cagney. As you can imagine, the charm of this film lies mostly in the novelty of seeing Cagney in a Western. But no matter what the vehicle, you can't ignore him.
