Crime Stoppers party Thursday

Ruidoso Crime Stoppers, which is hosting a fund-raising party Thursday with over $5,000 in door prizes, has been commended by the Office of the District Attorney.

The "Policeman of the Year" award party is 8 p.m. to midnight Thursday at Prime Time Restaurant. Tickets are $5, and music will be provided by Ronnie Warner's Random Stop.

The recognition came in a letter from Special Assistant to the District Attorney John Carver, writing on behalf of District Attorney Steven K. Sanders.

"There is little question that the community effort to help stop the increase in criminal activities has been a great success," Carver wrote.

He noted that information gained through Crime Stoppers has resulted in the arrests of several alleged drug dealers in recent weeks. The effort has "put a good dent into local drug pushing efforts," Carver claimed.

"The efforts of the members of Crime Stoppers (are) to be applauded in every circle of the community," the letter concluded. "Your dedication to a cause that is in the very best interest of the entire community is fantastic."

It was noted that a Crime Stoppers tip led to the recent bust of over a pound of marijuana, "which was obviously destined to the open market."

"Please keep in mind that the open market is anyone who can pay the price, and that includes youngsters," the report pointed out.

Crime Stoppers announced the list of prizes for Thursday's party. A $5 ticket gives the bearer a chance of the $5,100 worth of prizes, and extra tickets will be available at the event.

The prizes include:

Council on council

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

When talking about the past year and a half, Ruidoso village council members often mention the future. They believe decisions on water, streets, planning and zoning, annexations and other issues have put Ruidoso in a better position to face the future.

"We're beginning to plan ahead," said councilman Benny Coulston.

In evaluating their performances, the councilmen most often noted advances in the water supply and streets of Ruidoso.

The continuing effort to plan, finance and construct the Grindstone reservoir is obviously the largest undertaking of the council. While council members mentioned the reservoir among their accomplishments, it seemed to be an understated accomplishment.

Coulston said the council's efforts were things that should have been done 10 years ago. He did say, however, that the increased water storage has provided a solution to Ruidoso's water problems for the next eight to 10 years.

"You do not solve water on an immediate basis," said Coulston. "You have to have time to look ahead."

Both Coulston and councilman Al Junge said they are proud of the council's action to revise water rates, which has put the village water department in a much more solvent situation. Since the increase in water rates, the water department has been able to build up a half-million dollar surplus, said Junge, who personally took credit for the review of the water rates.

"That greatly disturbs me that we get entangled in the legal framework," said councilman Frank Sayner of the dispute over the new sewer treatment plant and effluent water credit.

Sayner said the council and the farmers worked hard to come up with a solution to the dispute, but that every solution was unacceptable to one or the other group's lawyers.

"We have tried every avenue to settle this thing peaceably," said councilman Don Dale, who emphasized the great number of hours spent trying to solve the problem.

"This council has really worked hard to be as fair and equitable to everyone as possible," said Coulston. He noted, however, that the council must keep the rights of Ruidoso's citizens in mind. "Our number one priority is to the citizens of Ruidoso."

The citizens of Ruidoso, councilmen say, can now drive on better streets and will continue to do so in the future because of their actions.

"Look what's happened to streets in the past three or four years," said

"We have been able to replace literally miles of leaky pipes and faulty meters," said Junge.

He said water loss has been cut in half, saving the village seven million gallons of water a month.

The surplus has also provided money for the purchase of water rights, said Junge. The council is now in the process of bargaining for additional water rights.

Both Coulston and Junge said they would have liked this council to work harder at purchasing water rights.

The preservation of existing water rights has been another issue before the council, with the valley farmers' water protest. The protest of the change in sewage discharge points into the Rio Ruidoso has put the village's ability to fill Grindstone reservoir in jeopardy.

"That greatly disturbs me that we get entangled in the legal framework," said councilman Frank Sayner of the dispute over the new sewer treatment plant and effluent water credit.

Sayner said the council and the farmers worked hard to come up with a solution to the dispute, but that every solution was unacceptable to one or the other group's lawyers.

"We have tried every avenue to settle this thing peaceably," said councilman Don Dale, who emphasized the great number of hours spent trying to solve the problem.

"This council has really worked hard to be as fair and equitable to everyone as possible," said Coulston. He noted, however, that the council must keep the rights of Ruidoso's citizens in mind. "Our number one priority is to the citizens of Ruidoso."

The citizens of Ruidoso, councilmen say, can now drive on better streets and will continue to do so in the future because of their actions.

"Look what's happened to streets in the past three or four years," said

Sayner. Sayner said it was only a few years ago that one could not drive down Paradise Canyon "without basically having to realign your wheels."

Sayner and other councilmen noted the purchase of a hot mix plant, laydown machine and other equipment bought for the street department.

"We gave him (street department superintendent Jack LaMay) men, money and materials," said Sayner. Coulston and Sayner noted that Ruidoso is the only municipality in the state that can meet State Highway Department standards for street paving.

Junge also noted that he directed the consolidation of the street and solid waste departments into one department, which he said has saved the village at least $20,000 a year.

He said he is also proud of revisions of solid waste collection charges. According to Junge, the department, which was a perennial money loser, is now $55,000 in the black. The cash surplus allowed the department to purchase $8,000 worth of garbage dumpsters, he noted.

The water and solid waste department surpluses make it possible for the village to purchase equipment without having to go to the voters for a bond issue, said Junge.

Junge noted the revamping of the village organizational chart, the institution of time clocks for village employees on an hourly wage, and the construction of a village barn as personal accomplishments during his term. He also mentioned the Gavilan Canyon bypass, more street signs, and the installation of a computer at village hall as council accomplishments.

"There's not an aspect of the city operations I haven't had a foot in," said Junge.

Efforts to better inform the public about Tribal Council candidates' views got off to a fitful start Thursday night in Mescalero.

Of 12 candidates invited to the Mescalero Apache Tribe's first public forum for the candidates, only two showed up. Approximately 25 people went to listen to those candidates address 12 questions concerning the Tribe and its government.

"I know this is the first time for this type of meeting, but I expected a lot more," said Tribal Council member Silas Cochise, who is not up for reelection. "I wish that more people were here."

Tribal Council elections are Tuesday, November 1. Incumbents Berle

Kanseah, Raymond Kirgan, John Shendo Jr. and Evelyn Breuninger will face Frederick Peso, Reginald Tortilla, Vernon Scott and Lewis LaPaz for council seats.

Wyndham Runningwater is challenging incumbent Wendell Chino for Tribal President. Tribal Council member Harlyn Via is challenging Keith Miller for the vice-presidency of the Tribe.

Although Tribal Council member Virginia Klinekole said invitations were sent to all candidates, only Harlyn Via and Tortilla showed up at the Mescalero Community Center.

Tortilla spoke to the small group in the Apache language for five minutes. Although Klinekole gave a rough translation of his speech for attending press members, Tortilla later refuted her translation and said he spoke in Apache because his comments were not for the press.

Harlyn Via addressed two of the 12 questions and spoke in English and Apache. He called for more money for college students, and gambling to a limited extent.

"There's never been enough money allotted to our students," said Via.

He said he helped get the allotment for college students raised from $2,000 to $4,000 per year. That amount is still not enough, especially for those with families, said Harlyn Via. He said there is $2 million in the scholarship fund, which he indicated should be enough to supply students with more money.

"I believe legal gambling is a good business to turn to," said Harlyn Via.

Special Olympics organizing here

by PAMELLA FIELD
News Staff Writer

Area 13 is assigned to Ruidoso Special Olympics. It is part of an international sports and recreation program for the mentally retarded—the first and largest of its kind in the world.

Local members met Thursday night to begin organizational efforts to "let the community know what we are, who we are and what we need," said Mary Lee Cates, area coordinator.

Cates said $600 recently was received from the Elks Club, and steps will be taken in the future to secure donations from other organizations.

Cates said publicizing an upcoming community event is targeted for the middle of November. This is when questions can be answered about it, she said.

Sports available include track and field, gymnastics, basketball, bowling, downhill skiing, cross-country skiing, swimming and soccer.

In the 1983 Special Olympics year-book is this saying: "A game well played is like a life well lived. It takes the same qualities: courage, commitment, generosity, optimism. And it has the same reward: self-respect."

Annual Book Fair on next week

by PAMELLA FIELD
News Staff Writer

White Mountain Middle School librarian Ellie Keeton is gearing up for another book fair.

Keeton said this is the fourth annual book fair at the library. The main goal, she emphasized, is to make books available for purchase at the school. Prices range from under $1 to $15.

"Kids will not go in a store and buy books, but they will buy them here," said Keeton.

Keeton said books will begin arriving this week and library aides will help her in converting the library into a "fair." Books come from Scholastic Books, Los Angeles; the Aspen Tree, and Current Books, Colorado Springs.

She said, "This is a very good thing for the community," and she wants the fair to be a success. Profits from the fair will be used for library materials.

The fair begins next Monday, November 7. Hours for students are from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m., every day. The hours 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. are focused on adults and on students from Nob Hill Elementary School.

Keeton said the evening hours are not completely off limits to White Mountain students, but she prefers they purchase their books during school hours.

The fair will last through Friday, November 11.

"I do all my Christmas shopping here," said Keeton, laughing. "We made $4,000 last year!"

Sayner, Junge and Dale all mentioned increased funding for the park and recreation department and the hiring of director Pam Graves as notable accomplishments.

The councilmen reflected their different personal policies with varying evaluations of annexations accepted and refused during their terms.

"I think the council has erred on some of its decisions on annexation," said Benny Coulston.

Coulston voted in favor of the three major annexation requests presented to the council: Don Dorman's Grindstone land, the new high school property in Bog Springs, and Keith Mills' Sleepy Hollow subdivision. The council annexed the Grindstone land and new high school property. It refused to annex the Sleepy Hollow property.

"The problem's still there," said Coulston of the Sleepy Hollow property.

It has been presented for annexation twice and will be again, said Coulston. He said other councilmen's concerns about water rights with annexation indicate an inadequate understanding of development.

It takes two to three years to develop land, and the village would have time to develop water resources before they are needed, he said. He said he believes Ruidoso has the capability to supply adequate water.

Sayner said current water improvements are just supplying water for land annexed in the mid-'70s. He said older areas of town such as the Town and Country and Forest Heights subdivisions are filling in and putting a burden on the village water supply.

He defended the refusal to annex the Sleepy Hollow subdivision because of the unbearable demand he said development there would put on the Upper Canyon water treatment plant.

Junge said Sleepy Hollow could not have been annexed since it was not going to bring any water rights in with it. It would have been unthinkable for the village not to supply the new high school with water, said Junge.

The new sewer line hooked up to the school will benefit the village by relieving some of the load on the heavily used sewer system in White Mountain I and II, said Sayner.

When questioned about the council's annexation policy, councilman Dale called it "a hard one to answer." He noted, however, that he has voted consistently. He was against all three annexations.

"I've been straight down the line," said Dale.

Dale said he is against rapid growth because the village does not even provide services to many homes already within the village limits. He noted that the village is just now getting around to providing sewer for the Ponderosa Heights subdivision, which he pointed out as one of the council's accomplishments.

Dale and Mayor George White also mentioned the new police complex as one of the accomplishments of this council.

"We've upgraded that department to no end," said White.

Dale also said the council has greatly improved the fire department in the past year and a half.

Although some people are upset with disagreements and dissension among the council and mayor, White said he is not.

"I think we've had a good council," said White. "I've had to give and they have given."

Sayner, however, is not quite so positive.

"I think it's unfortunate the mayor and the council have been bullheaded at times," he said. He said he has been embarrassed some times with the lack of production at some of the council meetings during the past two years. He and Junge both said cooperation between the council and the mayor has improved recently.

"Certainly we have disagreed... which I think is healthy," said Dale.

Cancer Society chapter forming

by PAMELLA FIELD
News Staff Writer

Mayor George White is a member of the American Cancer Society and calls for other members to bring people to join.

White and others met last Thursday at Cree Meadows Country Club. Ken Moore, hospital administrator, emphasized the importance of a growing chapter which he said is organized to "help prevent cancer."

Nancy Kuehne, executive director of District V in the New Mexico Division of the society mentioned some ways people in the community can help the society.

"People can be encouraged to think about the society when they are making out wills," she said. Talking to local attorneys about this is necessary, she added.

"It costs 87 cents to raise a mouse," she said. "One project to raise money is to sponsor a 'Send a Mouse to College' campaign."

Kuehne cited the costs of mice because of their use in research. She said involving children in this project is often successful.

Moore said he wants projects the society takes on to be fun.

Member Dotti Quaid said a non-smoking day is coming up Thursday, November 17, "The Great American Smokeout" asks smokers to quit for that day, and the society hopes it will spur those who do to quit permanently.

"We're thinking seriously of sponsoring an 'Adopt a smoker for a day,' when we can take care of someone trying to stop," said Quaid. The adopter would offer celery, lemon juice and general tender loving care to the person, she added. The society is gearing up for an active year. Member Diane Browning projects an increase of 57 percent in income, making the total $7,100.

A large part of the projected income is due to come from events planned. One described as a "Western party" by Browning is planned for the entire community for next summer. She said a band will be included and it may be over the Fourth of July.

The society hopes to educate people on the seven warning signals of cancer. They are:

- Unusual bleeding or discharge.
- A lump or thickening in the breasts or elsewhere.
- A sore that does not heal.
- Hoarseness or cough.
- Difficulty in digestion.
- Change in a wart or mole.

Library celebrates Halloween

by DARREL PEHR
News Staff Writer

Halloween is a big event at the Ruidoso Public Library.

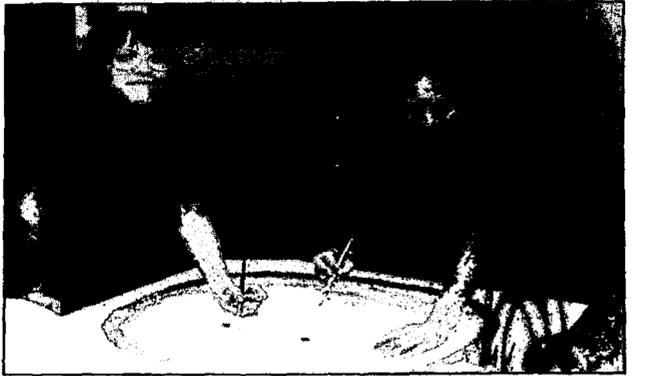

The library windows have been painted with eerie Halloween scenes, and the multi-purpose room has been decorated by local Girl Scouts, according to Mary Lou Gooch, library director.

Also at the library, a continuing event has been the monthly art display.

"A local gallery is invited to bring art from their gallery to put on display in the library," Gooch said. "This month it's Blue Gem gallery and next month will be D'Oros Art Gallery."

A new program at the library is the preschool story hour. Preschoolers three to five years old hear stories read to them by Ingrid Schmitz, coordinator of the program. Five classes of preschoolers come Monday through Friday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30, with each class having a specific day. The program covers eight weeks.

Upcoming events at the library include a Halloween party for the preschoolers from 4 to 7 p.m. Monday, October 31.

Also, New Mexico author Norman Zollinger will speak at the library at 7 p.m. Wednesday, November 16.

Two arrested on drug charges Sunday

The Ruidoso Police Department arrested two Ruidoso men and put out an arrest warrant on another for possession with intent to distribute controlled substances.

Police said they arrested James Ellwood, 27, Sunday after finding more than a pound of marijuana and small quantities of hashish and cocaine at a residence on Oxford Road

Friday. He has been charged with possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance.

Kerry Carver, 23, was arrested Friday for possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance after a search of his residence on Tamarack Road produced a "good amount" of cocaine, scales, and chemicals commonly used for cutting cocaine, police said. Ruidoso Detective Gonzalo Cordova did not know the exact amount of cocaine found but said it was "well over a gram." Carver was also charged with disorderly conduct.

Police also issued an arrest warrant for Tyler Hulterstrum on the same charges as Carver.

HARLYN VIA

Candidates

Gambling could bring new businesses to the reservation and help reduce the high unemployment among Tribe members, said Harlyn Via. He noted, however, that gambling beyond bingo is illegal in New Mexico and thus is illegal on the reservation as well.

After the short program, moderator Klinekole opened the floor to non-candidates. Council members Joseph Via and Silas Cochise addressed the group. Associate Tribal Judge Nathaniel Chee, Miss Mescalero Lucille Rocha and Fort Sill Apache Tribal Chairperson Mildred Cleghorn also spoke to the group.

"Persons who aspire to the position of Tribal Council... should make the effort to be here," said Joseph Via. He questioned the sincerity and preparedness for challenge of absent Tribal Council candidates.

"Maybe they're afraid of the public. Maybe they're afraid of questions," said Joseph Via, who addressed all the questions.

The list included questions on wood permits, fair employment practices, the Tribal Court system, financial disclosures of Tribe enterprises, traditions, education, natural resources, business and gambling.

Joseph Via's speech was especially critical of the present Tribal Council. Via said he thinks there is no such thing as fair labor practices on the reservation and no separation of the legislative, executive and judicial powers.

He pointed out that it takes only a simple majority of Tribal Council members to remove a Tribal Judge. He spoke of one judge who was removed due to "trumped-up charges."

"Tribal politics is at a point where judges are not free to make their decisions," said Joseph Via.

Judge Chee spoke only in Apache. He told the press he spoke in Apache because he had touched on various sensitive issues he did not want publicized.

Joseph Via said Tribe members should know more about the financial status of tribal enterprises. He said the Tribal Council has passed resolutions in the past three or four years requesting disclosure of the financial statements of enterprises such as the Inn of the Mountain Gods and Sierra Blanca Ski Resort but have seen nothing.

"There's no such thing as victimless crimes," said Joseph Via, who is against gambling on the reservation. He said society is the victim of gambling and pays for it with higher crime.

Cochise criticized Tribe members for not becoming more involved in tribal affairs.

"In the last year I have been pretty disappointed in what I have seen," said Cochise, who has been on the Tribal Council for 10 months.

He said many people talk about the problems of the Tribe but only a few actually do anything. He pointed to the fact that only 419 of the approximately 1,200 eligible voters cast ballots in the last tribal elections.

Cochise said if people are not interested enough to become involved in Tribe affairs, maybe they should have to suffer by living with unemployment, alcoholism and other problems.

He and Joseph Via both called for changes in the Tribal Council. "We need more new people on the Tribal Council with no strings attached; who aren't puppets to one person or faction, but are concerned with the general welfare of the Tribe, rather than making a buck," said Joseph Via.

Cochise also said the Tribe is pushing education but is not giving college graduates a chance to share their skills. He said college graduates often come back to the reservation after college, only to be put in a subordinate position under someone who does not have a high school education.

Klinekole said the purpose of the forum was to educate the public about the candidates' views.

"I personally feel it's important to be informed," said Klinekole, who has been on the Tribal Council for 25 years.

She said it is often difficult for candidates to address Tribe members, and incumbents are often in an advantageous position at election time. She asked the audience to remember which candidates showed up at the forum and to tell their friends what they said.

Warrior fresh nipped by Goddard

The Ruidoso High School freshman football season ended on a losing note Thursday night as visiting Goddard High School overcame an inspired Warrior effort to win 20-16.

Ruidoso, which finished at 1-4 on the season, led most of the game until a Rocket running back sprinted 80 yards for the winning touchdown with 1:09 left in the contest. He cut through a hole, swerved to his right and ran down the sidelines for the touchdown, evading a Warrior tackler's lunge near the end zone.

The Warriors came back and drove to the Goddard five before a desperation pass was intercepted with no time left on the clock.

Chuck Daniels provided the big play of the drive by taking a short pass from Jeff Willingham and running 20 yards to the Goddard 25.

In four more plays, Ruidoso got to the five, but the game ended with the interception.

The Warriors opened the scoring on a 74-yard drive in the first quarter. Fullback Billy Harrison, who gained over 100 yards on the night, carried the ball on a majority of the plays, including a 25-yard run to the Rocket three.

Two plays later, Willingham banged over for the score. The Warriors failed to gain a two-point conversion on a pass, but Goddard was charged with a penalty and Ruidoso got a second chance.

This time Harrison slammed over for the conversion and the Warriors led 8-0 with 3:49 remaining in the opening period.

Goddard came back to score early in the second quarter. A run for the two-point conversion failed and the Warriors still led, 8-6.

The Warriors came back with an 83-yard drive in 13 plays to pull further ahead.

Again, Harrison did a good job running with the ball as did Bryan Mack and Daniels. Willingham was sharp passing, hitting Brian Davis, Billy Chadwell and Mack for big gains on the drive.

Harrison took the ball over from the one with 3:58 left in the half to give Ruidoso a 14-6 edge. Bubba Miller scored the two-point conversion and the Warriors lead 16-6 at halftime.

Goddard came back and scored a touchdown and two-point conversion late in the third period to cut the Ruidoso edge to 16-14.

The Warriors had a chance to secure the victory midway through the fourth quarter, driving to the Goddard 15. However, a fourth down pass was tipped away in the end zone and the Rockets took over.

They scored the winning touchdown three plays later.

Warrior coach Ron Geyer was disappointed with his team's loss, but felt the team did a good job.

"I felt the kids played very well," he said. "That was our best offensive game of the season. In the second half, they blitzed a lot more."

Powerful Colts wear Warriors down, 27-7

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

A powerful Silver City High School varsity football team showed why it has won the district 3-AAA championship the past several years when it defeated Ruidoso High School 27-7 Friday night on the Colts' field.

The Warriors, now 0-3 in district action, held the Colts to a 7-7 tie before Silver City turned on the power in the second half.

Silver City scored on its first possession of the contest to take a 7-0 advantage.

After the Warriors had to punt on the opening series of the game, the Colts drove 87 yards in 13 plays for the score. Tailback Tim Perez banged over from the one-yard line for the touchdown with 3:53 remaining in the opening period.

The extra point kick was good and Silver City led 7-0.

The Warriors capitalized on one of four Silver City turnovers in the first half to tie the score in the second period.

After a Silver City fumble, the Warriors drove 57 yards for the tying score.

Sophomore quarterback Russell Easter ran for 20 yards on a third down play to put the ball at the Colt 18. Four plays later from the six, Easter ran around left end to score the touchdown. Gary Gregson kicked the extra point and the score was tied 7-7.

The Warriors kicked off to open the second half and stopped the Silver City return man at his own five.

From then on, however, the Colts were a changed ballclub.

Silver City drove 95 yards for the go-ahead touchdown, consuming 4:23 on the clock. Fullback George Peru plowed over from two yards out for the touchdown. The extra point kick was again good and the Colts held a 14-7 edge.

The Warriors received the ensuing kickoff and lost five yards on their series. Ruidoso held the Colts on the next series and received the ball.

However, Silver City recovered a Warrior fumble on the Ruidoso 25 and scored in five plays, with Perez scoring from three yards out. The extra point kick was wide and the Colts led 20-7 with 11:19 left in the contest.

Silver City added its final touchdown on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Jesse Montes to Perez. The extra point kick was good and the Colts led by their final margin of 27-7.

The Warriors drove to the Colt 25 in the final seconds of the contest, but had to give the ball up on downs. Easter ran the ball well as did George Gresham, Michael Williamson and Eric Strobel.

Easter and junior Mark Flack were defensive standouts for the Warriors. Flack recovered two fumbles and Easter intercepted a pass.

The Warriors gained 152 yards rushing but none through the air, failing to complete a pass in 11 attempts. Silver City gained 275 yards passing and 35 passing for a 310-yard total.

Ruidoso will finish the season with a home game against Deming Friday. The game will start at 7:30 p.m.

NOTES: The other district game saw Hot Springs beat Deming 14-6 ... Hot Springs will probably join Silver City as the district representatives in the state AAA playoffs.

Ruidoso cagers begin practice today

Practice begins today for the Ruidoso High School boys basketball team, with an optimistic outlook by coach Ron Geyer and the players.

Geyer has nicknamed his team, "Warrior 3-D basketball."

"That stands for discipline, determination and defense," Geyer said.

Ruidoso went winless last season, but Geyer is optimistic the team will do better this season.

"We've got a tough schedule, starting with Roswell our first game," he said. "Our first five games will be tough."

Geyer expects about 30 youths out for the team this week, with 25 to 30 more coming out at the end of football season.

Sophomore Dan Ullmann, a 6-4 all-district honorable mention pick last season, is one of the leading prospects on the team. Seniors Gilbert Rivera and Cyrus Simmons both started last season.

Juniors Tommy Crow and Dion Lopez are other experienced varsity-junior varsity returnees from last season. Ricardo Garcia, Jason Bigham and Omar Dix are highly rated sophomores.

Russell Easter, Kenny Espinosa, Patric Pearson, Matt Porter and Jesse Reynolds are other top prospects, but won't come out until football season is over.

Jim Hofstad will assist Geyer and coach the Warrior junior varsity team.

The Ruidoso girls will start practice Monday, November 7.

Spikers lose to Silver City, Cobre

The Ruidoso High School volleyball team lost a pair of matches to Cobre and Silver City Friday to finish the regular district season winless.

Thus, the Warriors will travel to Truth or Consequences Thursday for a 7 p.m. match with the Tigers in the district tournament opener. Hot Springs of T or C finished second in the district.

The Warriors lost a 15-6, 15-13 decision to host Cobre Friday afternoon, before traveling to Silver City and dropping a 15-2, 15-5 decision to the champion Colts.

"The girls played real well, especially in the second set against Cobre," said Ruidoso head coach Pixie Arthur. "I think the girls hustled so much they got in each other's way."

What about the match with Hot Springs?

"To be honest about it, I'm delighted we're going to play them," Arthur commented. "I think we can play with them. They've got one good server and they've got to stop her."

The winner of the Warrior-Hot Springs match will play the victor of the match between Deming and Cobre. Silver City draws a bye in the first round because it's the round-robin district champion.

The Warriors will be led by Veronica Olvera, Laura Trapp, Lillian Lopez and Gia Rose. All have played well this year.

Ruidoso's junior varsity will compete in the junior varsity tournament Saturday.

A Colt player is stopped after a short gain during the Ruidoso Little League football championship game with the Steelers Saturday at White Mountain Middle School. The Colts took a 20-6 decision for their 10th title in a row.

Colts win championship again

The Colts won the Ruidoso Little League football Major Division "Super Bowl" title for the 10th straight year Saturday, topping the Steelers 20-6 at Ruidoso High School.

Using a bruising running game, the Colts jumped to a 14-0 lead in the first half and battled the Steelers evenly in the second half.

Charles Smith scored the first two

Colt touchdowns on long runs and added a two-point conversion run for the winners' halftime edge.

Ralph Gonzales scored the Colts' final touchdown in the third quarter. Kenny Trapp scored on a five-yard run for the Steelers in the final quarter.

The Colts played the second half without starting quarterback Cody Willard, who injured a toe.

After the Steelers scored their touchdown, the Colts controlled the game with their running attack.

"I'd say this team was about equal to last year," said Colt head coach Virgil Reynolds. "The players all had big hearts like last year's team did."

Lynn Willard, Buddy Bundick and John VanZandt assisted Reynolds in coaching the Colts.

In the third-place game, the Broncos nipped the Cowboys 8-6. The undefeated Hornets won the Minor Division title with a 28-0 win over the Lions.

Grizzlies crush Tigers 45-14, to play Tatum in semi-finals

Carrizozo High School earned its first trip to the state A division football playoffs since 1978 with an impressive 45-14 victory over arch-rival Capitan Friday night at Carrizozo.

Carrizozo, which finished the regular season with a 7-2 overall mark and a 3-1 district record, will travel to top-ranked Tatum for a 7:30 p.m. semi-final contest Friday night. Texico and Reserve will play the other semi-final Saturday. Defending state champion Capitan ended the season with a 3-5 record.

The Grizzlies never trailed in the contest, taking a 21-8 halftime edge and pulling away from the Tigers in the second half with a crushing ground game.

Carrizozo scored first when the snap from center on a Tiger punt went over the punter's head into the end zone for a safety early in the opening period.

Capitan then kicked off and the Grizzlies went to work again.

Stevie Stearns, who had three touchdowns and 204 yards rushing on the night, scored the Grizzlies' first touchdown on a 39-yard run. The run for the extra point was stopped short and Carrizozo led 8-0.

Stearns added another touchdown on a 15-yard run later in the first period and the Grizzlies led 14-0.

Quarterback Dewey Keller got Capitan on the scoreboard late in the first quarter with a 16-yard run. Tailback Danny Cummins ran in for the two-point conversion and Carrizozo led 14-8.

But Carrizozo didn't sit still.

John Roueche, who scored three touchdowns and ran for 222 yards, scored on a two-yard run to finish a 70-yard drive. The extra point kick was good and the Grizzlies took a 21-8 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Carrizozo blew the game wide open in the second half.

Roueche scored on a 20-yard run on the Grizzlies' first series of the third period. The extra point was no good but Carrizozo led 27-8.

That score held up for the rest of the third quarter, but the Grizzlies outscored the Tigers 18-6 in the final period.

Carrizozo got touchdowns from Roueche, Stearns and tight end Kenneth Crenshaw, while Cummins scored the final Capitan touchdown on a one-yard run.

Naturally Carrizozo head coach Dennis Sidebottom was pleased with his team's victory.

"You bet I'm happy," he said. "We had about seven guys who played the best they've ever played."

Sidebottom praised the running of Roueche and Stearns and the offensive line.

"The offensive line made it possible for Roueche and Stearns to gain all that yardage," he said. "Kenneth Crenshaw caught a touchdown pass and did a real good job blocking."

"Gilbert Zamora had a great game at middle linebacker. Juan Osorio, Daryl Lindsay and Charley Zamora all did a good job blocking and playing defense."

Stevie Stearns of the Carrizozo High School varsity football team drives across the goal line to give the Grizzlies a 39-14 lead over Capitan in an A division game Friday night.

Stearns scored three touchdowns as the Grizzlies won 45-14 and clinched a berth in the state playoffs. Carrizozo will play Tatum Friday.

Jefferson loses bout

Kevin Jefferson of the Las Piedras Boxing Team (LPBT) lost a decision to Frutoso Lovato of the Albuquerque Police Athletic League in a tournament in Las Cruces Saturday.

It was the third time that Jefferson and Lovato had boxed.

"Kevin did all right, but the other kid did better," said LPBT coach Lucky Mulqueen. "That's why he won."

LPBT standout David Ordorica did not box because there was no one in his weight class.

"There's a new rule that you can't box anyone more than five pounds over or under your weight," Mulqueen said. "There was one kid there who weighed 23 pounds more than Davey, but he couldn't box him and Davey has already beaten him anyway."

The LPBT boxers will compete at Hatch Saturday, November 12. Ruidoso will host "Rumble in Ruidoso" at 7 p.m. Saturday, November 19, at Jerry Dale's.

There will be a $3 entry fee per person. Each entry fee includes a raffle ticket for $100 worth of gas from Midtown Market, courtesy of Jennings Oil Company.

Opinion

Editorial

Most Americans probably are having some difficulty sorting out their feelings about the events of last week in Lebanon and Grenada.

A comment in this space a couple of months back lauded President Reagan for his "guts" in sending American warships to Central American waters. Upon hearing of the massacre in Beirut, the author of that comment thought something like, "It's one thing to have 'guts' when you're simply making a show of force, it's another thing when more than 220 young Americans die."

Bitterness about the nature of the attack is frustrated by the inescapable fact that our troops are an unwelcome military presence in a foreign country—unwelcome to some, at least. I suspect most Americans are glad to hear, as we do occasionally, that Afghani fighters continue to resist Soviet occupation.

Can we totally condemn anyone for resisting our presence?

Then we have Grenada in the same week. Our invasion there also raises a parallel with Afghanistan.

But seeing a photo of an American serviceman guarding a group of Cuban prisoners, I cannot help feeling, "It's about time we showed Castro again we're not going to tolerate his adventurism close to our own shores."

Events of recent weeks, months and years must show clearly to everyone that the Soviet Union and its surrogate states are a very real enemy. The line had to be drawn somewhere, and we can only pray the loss of life on both sides will serve as a warning of the ultimate holocaust the world is flirting with.—TP

Inside the Capitol by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Two high-rankers recently complained that they didn't get enough support from citizens because the media weren't telling what a good job they are doing.

One was Jim Watt. One was Toney Anaya.

The former doesn't have to worry about that anymore. The latter, after that television poll which showed almost two-thirds of those questioned think his performance is either "fair" or "poor," still has a problem.

His response to that poll, however, was not that he would improve his performance. It was that he would improve his public relations.

That may not be enough. Anaya took office with extraordinary support from the media; some even say he "made" him.

He has managed to dissipate that advantage with dramatic rapidity.

If he looks at his own performance in office objectively he has to admit that.

Here are some of the causes of that decline:

—Too tight a rein on genuine information from his office.

Part of that comes from Anaya's reluctance to delegate authority. To put it another way, he wants to be personally involved in every major and most minor decisions of his administration.

When he is on one of his frequent trips, for example, little or no news moves out of his office unless it is practically dictated by him over the long distance phone.

Maybe the recent appointment of Bob Gold to his staff will help cure this and other faults, but that remains to be seen. It won't unless he actually allows Gold to speak for him or represent his views.

—Loss of credibility from too many tries to appear heroic size.

News conferences, for instance, are not called on any regular basis or even because the public has a right to know what the chief executive is up to. They are convened only when the Governor wants to announce what he hopes will sound like a dramatic new development. Such announcements often turn out to be piffle.

Probably the most striking example of that was the one at which he demanded that all construction work on the WIPP project be stopped because he was worried about some potential problem so remote it had nothing whatever to do with development of the project today.

That kind of thing just won't fly.

As Jerry Apodaca, a man with experience in the governor's job, has pointed out, the man at the top doesn't have to "make" news. He is news, though Anaya's bad habits, maybe left over from his days as Attorney General, won't let him admit that to himself.

As for the media's failure to tell the Anaya or Watt story, that isn't as much of a problem as they would like the people to believe.

It's just that media folks and political folks define "the story" differently.

Elected or appointed officials, especially those who plan to continue in public office, want only one thing: That we publicize their positive accomplishments.

Never a whisper of their failures—that's the way they'd like it. They're partially right in their complaint in that no news medium of any capability will ever claim that it always tells the whole story.

But that's not for lack of trying.

It's because the political system, which they run, is structured in such a way as to try to prevent us from getting the whole story, no matter how good we may be at our jobs.

If they had their way, there would never be anything but blue-sky stories.

Some people ask, "Why are you so tough on those guys?" The answer is that if we weren't, you'd never hear anything but what they want you to hear.

additional amount, all of which was accompanied by a reason for the need. The new amount she has requested is probably way below what most courts would use for three months at the most. This is supposed to last the Ruidoso Downs Court eight months. The request should be passed without any more argument over it.

I would also like to comment on the statement Mr. Mansell made in reference to the hiring of attorneys for indigents. Mr. Mansell said the Village could not afford to hire attorneys for indigents but he does not seem to understand that the Village has no choice. He also does not seem to understand that attorneys are only appointed for an indigent if the judge is considering jail time for the defendant. This is not done continually in a small Municipal Court but at times becomes necessary. I would also like to remind Mr. Mansell that Las Cruces has just lost a lawsuit over this very thing and has had to set up a special fund to cover attorney costs.

In closing I would like to say that Judge Smith is a fair, honest and impartial judge and should be getting the backing of the Trustees instead of this constant antagonism she continually comes up against.

SUBJECT: Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School

During the last few months I have been following closely the developments concerning the closing of the Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Center as a facility to treat the developmentally disabled. The hospital is located near Capitan in Lincoln County. I was born and raised in the Town of Lincoln which is approximately 10 miles from Fort Stanton. Fort Stanton, since I can remember, has been the economical lifeline of this area. The proposal to transition the Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Center by Secretary Robert McNeill is not consistent with Governor Toney Anaya's concern for the high unemployment and declining economy of this area.

The current budget for Fort Stanton is approximately $4.8 million of which salaries and fringe benefits amount to $3.5 million. Approximately 60 percent of the employees are female whose earnings are needed to supplement husbands and/or family's income for cost-of-living necessities. Most of these women employees could not possibly fit into an environment such as an alcoholism treatment center.

On August 31, 1983, Secretary McNeill and several of the Health and Environment staff members held meetings with employees of Fort Stanton and also conducted a public hearing at Capitan High School to explain and receive comments on the transitional use of the facilities at Fort Stanton. Interested individuals attending the hearing have indicated that they had no opportunity to hear and/or express input on the pros and cons pertaining to the proposed transition. In fact, Secretary McNeill informed the public that a final decision had been made on the transition and relocation of the Fort Stanton handicapped population. I would consider this decision to be arbitrary and capricious, taking into consideration the adverse impact on the clients, employees and citizens of Lincoln County.

The New Mexico Legislature has appropriated considerable sums of money for renovation of existing and construction of new facilities during the past several fiscal years. The appropriations are as follows:

66th to 69th Fiscal Years - $1,100,000.00 - Renovation of residential cottages.

70th Fiscal Year - $1,326,000.00 - For construction of a multi-purpose facility (swimming pool and gym) - and upgrading of electrical and sewer system.

71st Fiscal Year - $880,000.00 - Construction Food Service Center.

72nd Fiscal Year - $880,000.00 - Water system replacement.

The total appropriations by the Legislature amounts to $4,271,000.00. $2,426,000.00 of the amount has already been completed and the remainder is currently in progress.

The facilities available at Fort Stanton for developmentally disabled clients are medically certified. It becomes very apparent that the Legislature by approving improvement and construction appropriation in the amounts outlined above intend for Fort Stanton to remain as a developmentally disabled facility for New Mexico's handicapped population. To divert the use of this facility for any other purpose is a deliberate violation of legislative intent.

This statement is being made by me as a concerned citizen and taxpayer of this state and not as State Auditor. As State Auditor, I will have an additional news release in the very near future. I shall be addressing such matters as the waiting list at Los Lunas Training School, at Fort Stanton and the under utilization of the Health and Environment facilities at Roswell and Carlsbad.

ALBERT "AL" ROMERO

Reporter's Round with Gary Brown

It all happened so long ago. I'm thinking about it now because today is Halloween.

I was about six or seven, and I'm not sure if it was a dream or just some childhood fantasy. It just seemed starkly real.

All I remember is a winding staircase with large dark figures hovering around it. The staircase wound up into a dark hole that seemed to symbolize something frightening.

Was it death? Or was it just the unknown, man's fear of the unknown that has existed since the beginning of time?

In a sense, Halloween is about fear of the unknown. Goblins, witches, ghosts and vampires all roam the streets of our towns and cities Halloween night.

Of course, those "creatures" are just young kids dressed up in costumes. But the creatures they're dressed up as have always symbolized something evil or powerful.

Halloween itself has existed in some form or another for over 2,000 years.

It began with the ancient Celts and was celebrated in England. But it didn't become popular in this country until the 19th century, when immigrants brought the idea of the holiday here with them.

Kids still celebrate the holiday here. But it has become less popular in the past 10 or 15 years because harmful pranks and, in some cases, criminal behavior have occurred on October 31.

I've always been fascinated with Halloween. I've been interested in the supernatural, haunted houses and the battle between good and evil.

When I was a kid in California, my friends and I used to roam around old, deserted houses. I always found Victorian-era houses to be of particular interest.

These houses represented a time when mystery and romance abounded. Movies about old Gothic or Victorian houses with dark secrets hidden in them have long been one of Hollywood's trump cards in entertaining the public.

I can remember walking near one century-old house near my grandmother's home in California.

The house was two and a half stories high and was dark brown in color. It stood about 300 yards from any other house in the area and was surrounded by trees on one side and a freeway on the other.

If you didn't see the freeway, you'd think you were looking at a scene in some ancient Gothic novel. On an overcast day or in the early evening, you could hardly see the house because of its dark color.

Whenever I walked by the house, I got chills up and down my spine.

The house was lived in by three elderly sisters almost as old as the house itself. They hardly ever came out of their home, so the house seemed deserted and forlorn.

It always appeared more formidable and mysterious in the fall and early winter, around Halloween time!

There was a sense that the house contained many dark secrets. Just by looking at it, I could see the events of the past century pass before my eyes, perhaps even many tragedies.

That house more than any other I've ever seen or been in gave me both a sense of fear of the unknown and an excited yearning to find out what that unknown is.

That is essentially what Halloween is all about.

In ancient Britain, people used to burn fires and make loud noises on Halloween night to drive away the evil spirits they thought were around.

Those people may have been ignorant, but they were merely trying to express their fear of things they couldn't understand and knew nothing about.

My dream or fantasy as a small boy about the dark figures and the dark hole was probably about the same thing—my feelings about the future or things I couldn't understand.

People down through the ages have always been both fascinated and fearful of the unknown.

Halloween is a symbol of those feelings.

Karen Wharton stands by her Decorating Den van, which carries over 3,000 window, wall and floor treatment samples.

Karen Wharton 'untypical' decorator

by DARRELL PEHR
News Staff Writer

"I'm not the typical decorator," said Karen Wharton, decorating consultant for Decorating Den.

Wharton's business is unique in Ruidoso. She operates a decorating service from a specially equipped white van, traveling to clients at their homes armed with over 3,000 window, wall and floor treatment samples.

"I will handle anything to do with decorating a home," Wharton said. She is petite, with sandy blonde hair and green eyes. She conveys an atmosphere of professionalism.

"I work with people. I want to make them comfortable where they live," she said. "I'm not high pressure at all. I want the people to have a lovely home to live in."

Wharton has been in business since January of this year. Her business is a franchise of Decorating Den, enabling her to spend more than 30 days this year attending special Decorating Den schools. She has learned skills ranging from public relations to design. Wharton is confident her business will expand, and she is currently looking for new people to join her.

"You really don't have to have a college education," she said. "All that's really necessary is an inborn talent and interest."

When Wharton is contacted by a client, the first thing she does is get acquainted.

"You have to get to know the people's lifestyle—find out how they want their home to be. If they have a certain color they want or a piece of furniture they want to keep, you work that into the design."

"Then we establish a budget. Once we reach a figure they can handle, I try to show them products they can afford," she said.

The next step is to actually work up a design.

"We go with a design, then I recommend experienced installers to set everything up. I can guarantee all work if the homeowner goes with the recommended people," she added.

"I'll even go shopping with them to help pick out furniture and accessories."

According to Wharton, there is no charge for her service and never an obligation to buy.

"It's a convenience to the customer. I save them a lot of time and effort. I can narrow down the looking a person has to do," she added.

All her products are custom made and of the highest quality, Wharton said. She is available whenever the customer needs her, by appointment only. Her telephone number is 258-4416.

Wharton and a Decorating Den marketing coordinator from Dallas will give a decorating seminar in the Ruidoso Public Library multipurpose room at 7 p.m. Monday, November 7.

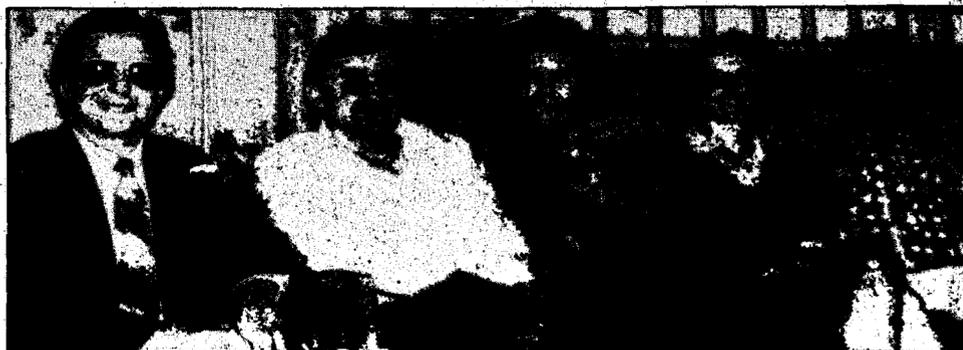

Decorating Den is a franchised operation, giving Karen Wharton access to training programs.

New offices

The main branch of Ruidoso State Bank on Sudderth Drive recently expanded into the building that formerly housed The Ruidoso News. The bank's escrow and mortgage lending departments are in the new offices. Here, Millie Loverin of the bank (left) does some business with Jackie Covington.

Aspen Real Estate expands operation

by PAMELLA FIELD
News Staff Writer

Aspen Real Estate is experiencing growing pains.

Three new members were recently added, making total ownership of the business five people.

Mary Underwood is one of the new members, and she has a background in Ruidoso. She graduated from Ruidoso High School and then from the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

Underwood has several years of teaching experience. Her sales experience varies from real estate to fashion.

R. L. "Dick" Loverin has three years of sales background in Iowa. He attended high school and college in Iowa, graduating from Coe College in Cedar Rapids.

Three years of experience as a sales manager for Today's Fashion

Jewelry in Dallas led the way for his experience in the Southwest. He has spent the past five years working in some aspect of sales in Ruidoso.

Shirley McCormack brings sales experience to the company that spans over the past 20 years.

She attended high school and college in New Mexico and Wyoming. Her sales experience includes Wyoming, New Mexico and Texas and varies from life insurance to real estate.

James Paxton, an original owner along with Rick Evans since the company started earlier this year, said the move also includes a physical expansion of about 3,000 square feet. The present building will extend in the back closer to the bus station and Department of Transportation.

Bicycle safety

Eddie Hill takes his bike through the bicycle safety course, watched by (from left) Dan Bryant and officers Jerry Wart and Mark Paz. The sponsoring Jaycees thanked the Ruidoso Police Department, Rlok's Top of the Raquet Club and the Department of Motor Vehicles for helping out with the event.

The winners

Big buck, happy hunter

Nick Mattson of Ruidoso bagged this 10-point mule deer at Kraut Canyon in the recent black powder hunt. The animal—shot at a distance of 150 yards and dressing out at about 175 pounds, according to Mattson—was good enough to win the Big Buck contest at T. L. Wilson Sporting Goods.

Crime of the Week

On October 9, a residence on Mon-Jeau Drive in the Pine Cliff subdivision was burglarized. Two suspects were arrested near the scene and a third suspect got away. A warrant for arrest was issued by Magistrate Judge Alfred Montes on October 16, for Manuel Nieto for the burglary on Mon-Jeau. Nieto is a Hispanic male. HER FIGURE IS THE ENVY OF HER DRILL TEAM!

Often mistaken for a student ...
 Always at the head of her class as a teacher!

And here stands Huntsville's Susan Turner, vibrant and full of life and self esteem ... proud of her accomplishments as a teacher and leadership model for her students. Feeling good, too, about setting a healthful example with her trim figure.

How does she do it? Let her tell you in her own words:

"I suppose that at 118 pounds I could hardly be considered fat. I know how those extra pounds made me feel. I had just about given up any thought of being skinny after trying several diets and exercise programs.

I tried running, aerobic dancing, jumping rope ... nothing seemed to take it off.

I decided to take advantage of a free treatment at Pat Walker's and my problem has been solved ever since.

After losing 26 1/2 inches I really am skinny and I look and feel better than I ever have before. My dress size went from a 9 to a 4! What makes it even better is that though Pat Walker's I have learned how to eat the things I enjoy eating without fear of gaining back any of my lost weight and inches."

Hill's Waffle House new on 37

"We're breakfast people," said Lawrence and Terri Hill. The two are owners of Hill's Waffle House, located at 1128 Mechem Drive, on Highway 37 across from First City National Bank.

The Waffle House, open since October 17, offers breakfast eaters a complete line of breakfast foods, including five varieties of waffles. Pecan, plain, blueberry, strawberry and apple waffles are available in addition to 23 different sandwiches on the menu.

"We try to get the best quality food for the best prices," Lawrence Hill said. "We use the best meats and largest eggs available. We've got good service and a clean place to eat."

Items on the Waffle House menu range from $1.99-$6.25, Hill said. The Hills opened their first business in Ruidoso, Hill's Pancake House, nearly three years ago.

"Our bread and butter business has been serving breakfast," Lawrence said.

The Hills came to Ruidoso three years ago from Houston, where they had operated a tire business.

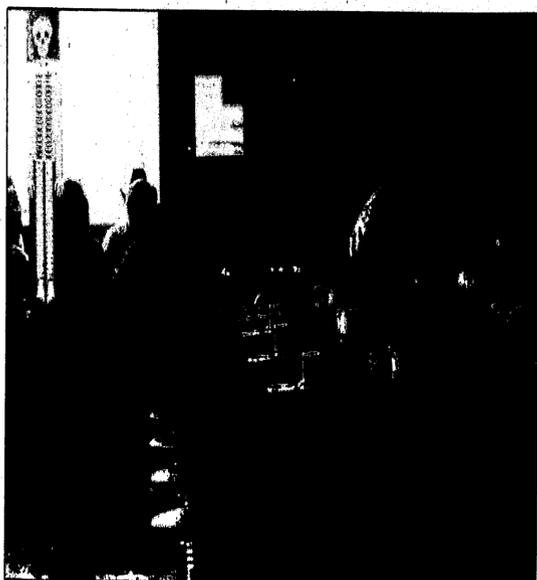

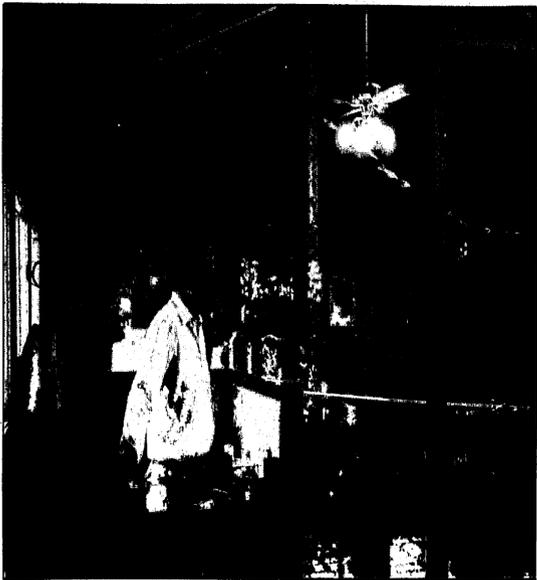

"We came for the Aspenade on a motorcycle. Of course we fell in love with Ruidoso right away," Hill said. "We went home and sold everything and moved out here."

Hill finds the restaurant business agreeable. "We're real pleased with the business here," he said.

The Waffle House is open from 6 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. every day except Wednesday. Six people are employed by the business, including manager Skeeter Freeman. The restaurant also offers a carry-out service. The phone number is 258-5029.

Hill's Waffle House, located at 1128 First City National Bank, features a complete Mechem (Highway 37 north) across from breakfast menu, including five waffles.

"We try to get the best quality food for the best prices. We serve the best meats and largest eggs available," says Lawrence Hill, owner of Hill's Waffle House. "We're doing really good," says Terri Hill of the business she owns with her husband. The husband-wife team moved here from Houston three years ago.

HIGH STYLE IN SWITZERLAND
Switzerland is not, overall, a budget destination. At the same time, the high standard of living there - combined with the absence of taxes - makes it a pleasure to visit. If you really wanted to "live it up" on a Swiss visit, here is how you might do it.
The Beau Rivage Hotel in Lausanne dates back to 1864 and simply reeks of old-fashioned luxury. It's set on ten impeccable lakeside acres, with some lovely formal gardens. Its Wellington Room is an excellent formal restaurant.
In Zurich, a similar place to stay is the Baur au Lac, also in a lakeside location. It's elegant and comfortable.
The Noga Hilton, in Geneva, is a different kettle of fish - modern and cosmopolitan, with pool, casino, health club, sauna, disco, you name it. And, again, a lake view.
For luxury ambience in the ski season, you can't beat St. Moritz. It really lives up to its jet-set reputation, with glittering crowds from the upper social strata.
Whether your travel plans are upscale or "down home," you'll find specialists ready to help you at Ruidoso Travel.
