El Paso Street now C-1

by TIM PALMER
News Editor

The Ruidoso village council Tuesday helped pave the way for future expansion of the midtown business district when it approved commercial rezoning of El Paso Street from Center Avenue to Juanita.

Several persons attending the public hearing on the R-1 (single family zoning) to C-1 (light commercial) rezoning request spoke in favor of the rezoning.

Two persons spoke in opposition. Marian Treat, owner of Covered Wagon gift shop, and Budgie Green, owner of The Wild Snail. Green said El Paso Street is not wide enough for commercial activity and that traffic congestion could hinder access for fire fighting equipment since the main fire station is at the west end of the street.

He suggested waiting for the results of a traffic study now under way, and added that he would like to see a study of the street all the way from River side to the telephone company.

"This is purely spot zoning," said Green.

Treat said commercial development would aggravate an existing problem of vehicles using the parking area behind her business.

Lindsay Rusler, who noted she has owned property and run a business on Sudderth Drive for 15 years, said Ruidoso is striving for a commercial area in which to expand, and called El Paso Street a logical and natural expansion.

She said development there would draw shoppers to off-street parking now seldom used.

It'll just enhance our total downtown area, said Mike Rednewicz of West Winds Lodge, who pointed out the block is in a "run down" condition now.

Tommy Morel of the proposed Painted Lady Square said he and his partners hope their project will set a trend in revitalization of downtown. He added that the village has shown itself capable of enforcing parking requirements for businesses.

Archer Wilson of the Roadrunner also endorsed the rezoning. "I've got everything I have sunk down there," and I'd like to see it prosper," he said.

Also favoring the rezoning were Bob and Margie Reeh of Alamogordo, who own property on the block. Bob Reeh said the action would facilitate later conversion of the block into a one-way street or part of a walking mall.

He added that similar development of Ohio Street in Alamogordo was one of the best things that city has done for its central business district.

Gary Hall of Nottingham's Pub said he pays to lease parking space for his business, but that if people park and shop downtown the money is well spent.

Benny Coulston's motion to approve the rezoning was seconded by Frank Sawyer. Those two and Al Junge voted aye. Don Davis was absent.

In other business Tuesday, the council approved the low bid of $251,000 from Lewallen Hobbs for Sewer Assessment District 5. A public hearing on the district was set for the 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, January 24, council meeting.

Decided to cancel the January 31 regular meeting and have the January 24 special meeting instead to avoid possible conflict between action on the council pay raise or finance and the filing day for council candidates the first.

Received the semi-annual report from the Police Department. Mayor George White complimented police chief Dick Swenor on the report.

Heard village manager Jim Hine note that Ruidoso is one of 32 Southeastern New Mexico communities that received no Community Development Block Grant money, though the village had applied for a grant. "We're being penalized I guess for not being impoverished," said Junge.

Approved Ordinance 84-1, annexing property of J. B. Close. The property was annexed May 10, 1973, but due to an oversight, an ordinance was never drafted and approved.

Approved the bid of $16,500 from Southwest Sewer Service for sewer digester cleaning. Junge pointed out that this is the first step in the cleanup of the old sewer plant, which has been in the works for several months.

Approved replat of three lots in Palmer Gateway for Bobby D. Cox after hearing a satisfactory driveway easement has been incorporated. Coulston abstained.

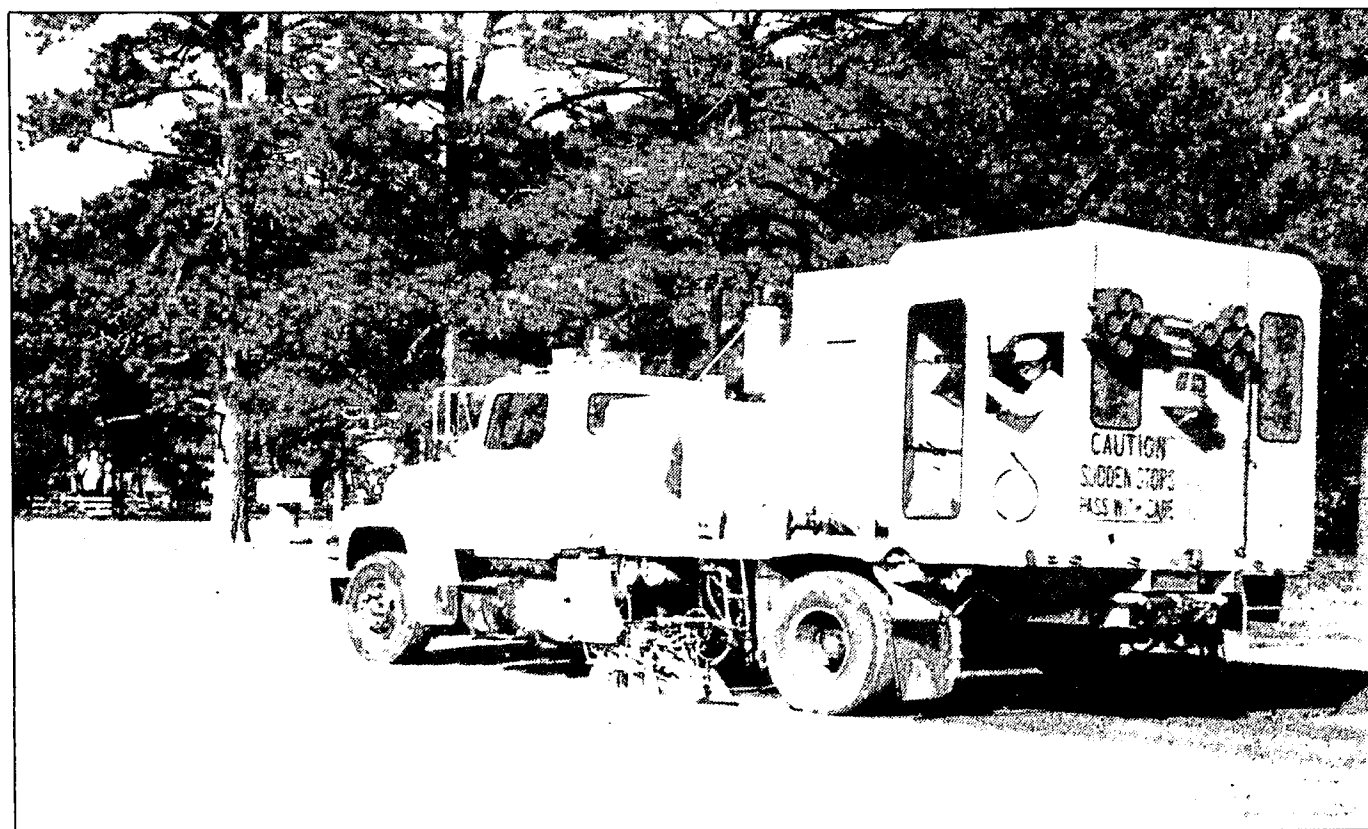

Approved lot line change in Hamilton Terrace for Ronnie Hemphill. Coulston abstained.

Approved rezoning C-1 to C-2 general commercial of four lots in Cree Meadows Heights for Nick Griffin.

Approved first replat in Airport West third addition for Blackwell Industries.

In an executive session, the council reversed its action of December 13 and approved a commercial rezoning for the Bob Johnson property in Paradise Canyon, citing extenuating circumstances.

The rezoning was approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission in 1982 but was not acted on by the council until December 1983.

Downs trustees approve bond sale to finance fire equipment

by BETH HALLER

The Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees accepted bids for a pumper tanker and approved the sale and issuance of $160,000 in tax revenue bonds for the fire fighting equipment at their meeting Monday night.

A bid of $96,394 was accepted from Artesia Fire Equipment. They will deliver a 1,250-gallon capacity standard transmission Ford C8000 pumper tanker. It has a 750-gallon per minute pump.

The board approved Ordinance 84-1 for the issuance and sale of the Village of Ruidoso Downs sales tax revenue bonds, series 1984.

The $160,000 bond would make $152,000 available for the new fire department building and pumper tanker.

The maturity schedule is 1995 at an interest rate of 9.81 percent with an option to refinance in 1988.

The State Fire Marshal Allotment will contribute $15,000 of a bond.

Estimated use of the bond proceeds breaks down into $151,700 for estimated construction and purchase costs of the building and pumper tanker, $1,500 for bond counsel, $5,600 for the 15 percent bond discount by Quinn and Company, and $1,200 for estimated bond printing and registration agent.

The bonds could be ready within 35 days.

The board also approved a bid of $65,726 for a garbage truck and its delivery from Contractors Equipment and Supply.

It was decided that bids for a 40- by 100-foot metal building and the erection of it should be rebid as a turnkey job. Roger Riley of the Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department also wanted to change the specifications slightly.

He wants a ceiling with "in" panels, and he wants the overhead door to be insulated to prevent freezing of the tanks.

The board drafted a proclamation to request that the New Mexico Highway Department reduce the maximum speed limits on state maintained highways within Ruidoso Downs to 35 miles per hour unless otherwise posted and or restricted by statute.

They requested the Highway

Department change the speed limit as soon as possible, but not later than May 31 of this year.

The board also discussed a village water well. Mayor J. C. Day explained that they need to find someone to expedite specifications for a new water well.

"We already have a problem because we can't produce enough water," he emphasized, and added it needs to be looked into before the summer.

The Denton Well now pumps 40 to 45 gallons per minute.

Ray Parnell, who has worked with the village water well, said when the well was drilled it made 200 gallons a minute, and a larger pump cannot be put on it. The pump on it now cannot achieve more than 50 gallons per minute.

Mayor Day pointed out that the control system is not obsolete, it just does not work.

The board approved a motion to draw up specifications for the drilling of a well.

The board also approved Ordinance 84-3, relating to the Mandatory Financial Responsibility Act of the State of New Mexico.

Council, airport, water dominate in '83

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

A special election to increase the Ruidoso village council size set the stage for a full slate of candidates in March. Long-term quests for a new airport and more water continued their dominance of news in 1983.

Local businessman Ralph Rush began circulating a petition in August calling for a special election on the question of increasing the council from four councilmen and the mayor to six councilmen and the mayor.

Rush said he thought a larger council would better represent the varied interests of Ruidoso. Many questioned his motives, however, when it became known that all current council members would have to resign if the larger council were chosen by the voters.

Within two weeks, Rush had collected signatures from five percent of Ruidoso's voters, and the election was set for November 8.

Council members and the mayor expressed opposition to the measure, mentioning problems that would be created by a completely new council dealing with complex issues such as Grindstone reservoir and the valley water protest. Their opposition was only mild, however, and they were generally silent on the subject.

Around town, people seemed to be considering two different aspects of the special election. Some people were displeased with the council and were planning to vote for the increase just so the present councilmen would have to resign. Others were against the increase for the same reason—that it would mean a recall.

Others believed a larger council would indeed be better representative of Ruidoso. They thought more council members would have more ideas for solutions to a growing Ruidoso's problems.

It was unclear if the mayor would have to resign if the council were enlarged. Mayor George White insisted he would not be included in the recall, but it appeared some council members thought he would.

The whole issue stayed fairly quiet in contrast to hard feelings raised in other towns that had faced the same question.

As election day approached, but coffee shop debates increased, neither side could predict an easy victory.

But come election day, voters soundly approved the increase, 345 to 220. One month later, the council set March 6 for an election that did not include the mayor.

Councilman Frank Sawyer said he plans not to run for reelection, but the other three have kept quiet on the subject. Regardless of which council members seek reelection, there appear to be numerous citizens ready to run for the six open council seats.

Candidates must all register on Tuesday, January 31, and it will probably be a busy political season for the five weeks after that.

The soon after the special election, a hearing before State Engineer's representatives brought the valley water protest to a head.

A number of farmers filed a protest in 1982 against the village's application to move its point of sewage discharge six miles downstream to the new Biscuit Hill treatment plant.

The farmers, whose irrigation ditches lay between the old and new discharge points, argued that the change in discharge points would be detrimental to their water rights.

The State Engineer took the protest seriously enough to hold up the application and suspend Ruidoso's effluent credit. The effluent credit allows Ruidoso to draw additional water out of the Rio Ruidoso based on Eagle Creek water it uses and eventually discharges into the river as sewage. Ruidoso plans to use the effluent credit, amounting to over 600 acre feet per year in recent years, to fill the Grindstone reservoir.

Attorney Neil Stillinger argued Ruidoso's case.

The village appointed a three-man committee to seek a settlement of the problem with the protesting farmers. Negotiations appeared to be proceeding well at first, but a disagreement arose between the protest committee and the council over access to an attorney.

The council decided not to retain an attorney for the protest committee and chose Santa Fe attorney Neil Stillinger to handle the protest.

Committee members John Schuller and Newton Page wrote the council a letter suggesting the dissolution of the committee "if we cannot have certain services afforded us which would be acceptable to the Protestants."

The council took this as a letter of resignation and accepted it during a study session in February. Although the committee was reestablished, Page was later removed from the committee during a skirmish with the council. The committee faded from view.

The village council passed an ordinance in July stating "all reasonable effort shall be made to assure that the persons that heretofore have depended upon the treated effluent water from the old sewer plant will continue to have as much water as they had in the past." The ordinance, however, is not binding upon future councils, and farmers did not consider it an acceptable compromise.

A pre-hearing conference before the State Engineer's representatives brought the sides no closer, and a hearing was set for late November.

Lawyers for both sides brought graphs, maps and expert witnesses to village hall, and argued their positions for two days before State Engineer's representatives.

The farmers claimed they already experienced water shortages almost every year. They contended that with the new sewage discharge point below their irrigation ditches and with Ruidoso claiming its effluent credit, they would experience even worse and more frequent shortages.

Attorney Stillinger argued the water shortages are relatively rare and would be only slightly affected by Ruidoso's plan to fill the Grindstone reservoir.

The State Engineer should rule on the protest near the first of February, but it seems likely the losing side will appeal the decision to District Court. Please see Council, 2A.

Capitan gets big water grant

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Capitan's water problems may be on the road to being quenched. Mayor David Cummins reported during the Monday night meeting of the Capitan village council that the village has been awarded $193,000 in funding from the Water Supply Construction Act.

"We're on our way," Cummins said with a smile as he told the trustees of the funds. Cummins also expressed optimism about Capitan's chances for further funding from the Communities Development Block Grant (CDBG) hearing that will be held sometime in the spring or early summer. The village has applied for over $500,000 in CDBG funds.

The money will be initially used to formulate a complete five-year plan for Capitan, according to engineer Jim Millington of Andrews, Asbury and Robert, the Albuquerque engineering firm working for the village. Millington said a detailed engineering report, the five-year plan, and design of the system will be the first projects to be funded by the money.

Much of the money, along with the anticipated CDBG money, will go towards actual construction of the water system improvements, Millington said. He said initial work will include construction of a new water treatment facility and booster pump.

Also during the meeting, the trustees:

—Accepted the resignation of former village attorney Gary Mitchell.

—Appointed John Underwood as the new village attorney.

—Tabled a proposal from Paul Crown of the Utility Council that the village join the council. Trustees decided to do further research before making a final decision.

—Approved Resolution 83-12 for $8,836 for a water fund increase and other revenue sharing projects.

—Approved Resolution 83-13 for a budget increase of $1,075 in Emergency Medical Services Grant funds for the purchase of equipment for the rescue truck.

—Approved a replat of lot 2, block 4, of the "C" Hill Subdivision.

—Approved an application for a beer and wine license for the Hotel Chango.

—Voted to table a decision on purchase of a new telephone system until presentations from Contel and Gordon Dye can be heard.

—Voted to adopt the same legal holidays as those adopted by the state.

—Voted to adopt the state regulations requiring motorists in Capitan to carry proof of financial responsibility in their automobiles.

Officers from the Ruidoso Police Department and State Police joined forces for drug raids early Tuesday morning.

New officers

Fire alarm system streamlined

Effective immediately, persons residing in the Alto, Angus or Bonito areas who want to report a fire or other emergency will dial 258-5607, announced Howard Puckett, chief of Bonito Volunteer Fire Department, and Suzanne Cox, Lincoln County manager.

"This number will be answered 24 hours a day by the Sheriff's Office at either the sub-station in Ruidoso or the office in Carrizozo," said Puckett.

"Our volunteer firemen will then be

This system replaces the previous method of calling individual firemen on the telephone by three local volunteer dispatchers, and brings the department in line with state guidelines.

"Having our firemen summoned all at once will eliminate delay in getting to the fire. It also guarantees that callers will have 24-hour response to their emergencies. Although the Bonito VFD number, 336-4308, will continue to exist for business purposes, it will no longer be answered 24 hours a day," emphasized Puckett. "Persons residing in our fire district should record the new number, 258-5607, in a prominent place until a new phone book is issued."

To facilitate the change, flyers with the new number will be distributed to area schoolchildren and through community organizations. In addition, legal notices will be printed in Ruidoso, Roswell and Lincoln County papers, said Cox.

Even if the farmers' protest is settled, Ruidoso may still have trouble filling its reservoir. The Carlsbad Irrigation District filed a protest in October against Ruidoso's application to change its point of diversion from the Mescalero Apache Reservation boundary downstream to a pipeline for the Grindstone reservoir.

In spite of uncertainties caused by the protests, Ruidoso continued work on the $8 million Grindstone dam and reservoir project.

The council agreed in April to pay developer Don Dorman $525,000 for 45 acres of land in the Grindstone Canyon to be used for the dam and reservoir.

Along with purchase of land, the council agreed to annex 148 acres of Dorman's land bordering the reservoir site. Dorman has begun construction on a planned residential development on that land.

Dorman agreed to dedicate five acres of land on the proposed reservoir shore to the village for a public park.

The purchase contract also includes a clause giving Dorman the right to reclaim the land if the village does not use the land as a reservoir for three consecutive years.

Questions were raised about the "reverter clause," possible leakage out of the reservoir, and expenses of building the reservoir in Grindstone Canyon as opposed to other sites. Councilman Don Dale and Mayor White opposed the purchase because of the annexation condition, but White signed the purchase contract in July.

Supporters of a regional airport on the Fort Stanton Mesa rode a roller coaster of ups and downs throughout the year.

When a National Academy of Sciences study concluded in the fall of 1982 that an airport and New Mexico State University range research could not coexist on the mesa, advocates of the airport suffered a setback. But according to an agreement worked out between New Mexico State University and the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC), the study was only one part of a two-part process.

The second part of the process involves a political decision on the fate of the airport.

In June, Governor Toney Anaya told SBAC to apply to the United States Interior Department for the transfer of 1,600 acres on Fort Stanton Mesa from Bureau of Land Management (BLM) jurisdiction to Federal Aviation Administration jurisdiction. Anaya wrote a letter to the Interior Secretary James Watt asking him to approve the transfer.

This signaled the first time any New Mexico governor had come out strongly in favor of the airport at Site B. Optimism ran high among supporters of the airport.

New Mexico State University remained opposed to the airport at Site B. The land is right in the middle of 26,000 acres the university leases from the BLM for experimental range research. The university claims an airport would disrupt important long-term research.

But in August, Watt wrote Anaya and Mayor George White a letter saying he opposed the transfer, dashing previously raised hopes.

U.S. Representative Joe Skeen, however, remained hopeful and began to actively campaign for an airport on Site B.

It turned out that Watt had not received the application and had not officially acted on it. Skeen began trying to convince Watt to reconsider his decision by educating him about the dangerous conditions at the present Ruidoso airport.

Just as it appeared that Watt was reconsidering his opinion, he verbally blundered for the last time and was forced to resign.

His successor, William Clark, has not yet acted on the application, but both Skeen and Anaya have urged him to approve the transfer. A decision is expected in the near future.

In other big stories of 1983, zoning battles in Ruidoso heated up with two council decisions now headed for District Court. McCarty Construction and Lincoln County Investments have appealed the council's refusal to rezone land on Hull Road and Paradise Canyon for light commercial use.

During the course of the zoning battles, it became clear Ruidoso's Comprehensive Plan, which is a guide for much of the village's development and zoning, has become outdated and no longer reflects the actual nature of the town.

The village council commissioned a comprehensive traffic study, which began in late November. Recently, the council agreed to look further into the possibility of commissioning a full Comprehensive Plan.

Horsemen also flexed their muscles for the first time by threatening to strike against all New Mexico trucks if unclaimed winning parimutuel tickets were not paid into purse structures. Although the strike never occurred, an arbitration panel did award the out-tickets to the horsemen.

A mysterious gastrointestinal disease struck residents and visitors to Ruidoso late in the summer. The disease was characterized by severe diarrhea, some vomiting and low-grade fever. Two cases of giardiasis were confirmed in the area, but no cause was ever positively identified.

Water and an airport will no doubt continue to be major issues in the area in 1984. Six open council seats should provide for plenty of political rhetoric. But other issues of 1984 will no doubt surprise all observers.

Bond election explained

The Ruidoso school district is in the process of trying to gain funds for the completion of the new high school through a two-mill tax levy, and a bond issue.

In addition to the local bond issues that have passed, the major amount of funds have come from state capital outlay, superintendent Sid Miller pointed out.

The state capital outlay program is a state program designed to help schools that do not have the bonding capacity to complete building projects. The Ruidoso school district has received from this fund $4,719,313. This spring they will request $2,075,511 to help complete the building projects.

On February 3, 1981 the voters of the Ruidoso school district took the first step to improve the schools by authorizing a two-mill levy for capital improvements, Miller said. This authority expires in 1984.

Voters are being asked to extend this tax for an additional three years, he said. The levy has been on tax bills for the past three years and by approving the extension of this levy, taxes will not be raised.

For each $1 that the two-mill levy produces in local taxes, the district will receive approximately an additional $1 from the state for capital improvements, Miller noted.

The approval of the two-mill levy will not increase taxes, but will provide the schools with much needed revenues for capital improvements, he emphasized. The improvements will include erecting, remodeling, making additions to, providing equipment for and furnishing school buildings, purchasing and improving school grounds and maintenance of public school grounds and public school buildings.

There will be two propositions on the ballot on February 7: approval of the extension on the two-mill levy and authorization of the issuance of a $1,000,000 bond issue.

Phase III of the new high school is now under construction and is expected to be completed in the spring of 1984, Miller said. If approved, this $1,000,000 bond issue will be used to complete the construction and equip the new high school and to remodel the old high school to accommodate grades six through eight.

The approval of the $1,000,000 bond issue will increase the district's debt service by $80,000 per year, he explained. This increase will be offset by increased assessed valuation and the pay-off of old bonds. Therefore, there will be no tax increase for a $1,000,000 bond issue.

The assessed valuation of the district increased about $5,000,000 in 1983 and $9,000,000 in 1982, he said. It is estimated this kind of growth will continue.

If the district is not bonded to capacity, the funds from the state will not be received, Miller emphasized. Therefore, the bond issue must be approved in order to receive state capital improvement funds.

Bible policy complaints aired

by BETH HALLER
News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Board of Education heard two complaints Tuesday night about the recent decision not to allow members of the Gideons to give out free Bibles to Ruidoso fifth-graders.

Roy Propsner said he was protesting the removal of a book that was to be given free. He said he terms the Bible the number one book in the nation.

He contended that the free distribution of Bibles is not religious instruction.

Propsner also protested the fact that the pledge of allegiance is not customarily said in class.

"Democracy stands in little regard," he commented. Propsner said he protested for six hours, as is his right as an American citizen, and claimed he was harassed by the police.

He concluded his complaints by saying to board members, "I despise each and every one of you for your part in this." He then hastily left the room.

Simon Gomez also voiced a complaint. He said he feels the only way to come to know God is by reading the Bible.

"I just pray that you'll pray very hard and stop stepping on God," he said. "I'd love to see God being passed out in our schools."

"Don't take that chance away from them, for the children to know God. God is for real, not Santa Claus."

Board member Don Swalander professed his religious conviction, but said "we can't have it both ways. The Supreme Court said it is illegal."

He made note of a passage in the Book of Romans that says authority comes from God, and the authorities say it is illegal to pass out Bibles in the public schools.

In other business, superintendent Sid Miller explained the promotional plan for the bond issue for the new high school. The bond issue and Senate Bill 9 election fall under a state law that allows local school districts to levy a tax of two mills to get money for specific purposes. The money is matched by the state.

The administration plans to schedule tours of the new high school building for different groups, every Thursday if possible.

Brochures will be printed to advertise the bond issue, and everyone will be encouraged to vote for it, Miller explained.

Don Weems, principal at White Mountain Elementary School, presented a report on the reorganization of bus routes for 1984-85.

He proposed all students should be picked up at one time, and the times in the afternoon would be staggered. The route reorganization would require 10 new buses to add to the 13 buses the district has now.

"This is not too many for a district our size," Weems noted. With more buses, double runs will no longer be needed.

Depreciation of the buses would amount to about $75,000 per year. Weems said the route reorganization could be ready by September 1984.

The board approved the route reorganization request.

Board members also heard a report from Karen Tillman about federal public law 94-142, which has to do with funding of special education.

New Mexico is the only state that does not accept the funds, she said. Ruidoso could get $40,000 to begin with, based on the number of students.

She recommended taking the funding. It would provide more freedom of assignments for people, and there would be money for diagnostic work and hearing tests, she said.

The board approved Tillman's suggestion to accept the funding if available.

The board accepted a bid of $3,882 on fleet insurance from Pertee-Parks Insurance.

They approved two budget transfers and approved the hiring of Lucy Services, special education aide at White Mountain Middle School, to replace Diane Fey.

Mike Gladden, assistant superintendent, discussed a School Board Administration workshop on January 27-28 in Cloudercroft. The purpose of the workshop is to inform board members of what is happening in the district.

The board made a statement supporting the efforts of the Ruidoso Gymnastics Academy in building its own building.

They also heard a presentation about the Distributive Education program by Eddie Parker.

Lodgers to hold off on GRT bid

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Lodgers Association (RLA) voted during their Tuesday meeting to delay any action on their efforts to boost the gross receipts tax one-quarter of one percent for advertising purposes until after the upcoming March village council election.

"I think we should be very cautious," association board member Phil Hamilton said in response to association members' fears that any agreement that could be worked out regarding the tax increase with this council would not be honored by the next council.

According to Hamilton, any increase in the tax would go into the village general fund, and could not be earmarked specifically for advertising. Therefore, an agreement between the association and the council members would be necessary to ensure that those funds collected were spent for those purposes.

Association members also reaffirmed their opposition to an increase in the lodgers' tax.

The lodgers also decided to invite all council candidates to the next RLA meeting, set for Tuesday, February 14. According to association president Robert Ivy, a question and answer forum will be set up for the candidates.

"We ought to be politically aware," he said.

In other business, the lodgers:

—Voted against setting a date for a meeting with Mexican businessman Arturo Lojero due to lack of interest. Lojero had earlier approached Ivy to set up a special meeting for a presentation of the Mexico advertising campaign that Lojero is spearheading.

—Decided to project a budget for the association and to set dues based on costs of running the organization.

The ordinance states that every owner of a vehicle subject to the requirements of the act shall carry evidence of financial responsibility in the vehicle at all times while the vehicle is in operation on the streets, public ways and highways of the municipality.

Evidence of financial responsibility means evidence of the ability to respond in damages for liability; on account of accidents occurring subsequent to the effective date of the evidence; or arising out of ownership, maintenance or use of a vehicle of a type subject to registration under the laws of New Mexico.

This includes a certified motor vehicle liability policy, a surety bond, or evidence of a cash deposit with the state treasurer.

The board tabled Resolution 84-1, which would transfer monies from revenue sharing to a fund for the sanitation truck.

A motion was passed to start proceedings to purchase two acres of water rights from Pappy Johnson for $10,000.

Trustees approved Ordinance 84-2, adopting the New Mexico uniform traffic ordinance and amending related provisions.

The board also voted to join the Utility Council for dues of $150 per month.

Efforts to organize Smokey Bear Day—and to have the first Smokey Bear stamp issued in Capitan—continued as the Capitan Chamber of Commerce had their monthly lunch meeting Monday at the Smokey Bear Restaurant in Capitan.

According to Chamber president Pat Shear, petitions are still being circulated around Capitan and area communities to build support for the drive to have the stamp issued there.

Shear said the petitions will be collected by Wednesday, February 15, and will be sent to the office of U.S. Representative Joe Skeen. Skeen's office promised earlier to support the effort however they could.

Shear also said forms were being sent to area organizations interested in participating in the Smokey Bear Day parade. Deadline for registration for the parade has been set for April 30.

It was also reported during the meeting that liability insurance for the parade has been purchased and the route is set for the parade. The parade will begin on Highway 48 near the fairgrounds and continue to Forest Street, in front of Capitan Elementary School, according to Rose Garner of the Chamber Smokey Bear Committee. Garner said the reason plans had been changed from the original route was that the State Highway Department will not allow Highway 280 to be blocked.

The next Chamber meeting is set for 11:30 a.m. Monday, February 6, at the Smokey Bear Restaurant.

Coming up...

Sheriff's Reserve benefit dance

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Reserve will hold a benefit dance at the Prime Time Restaurant at 9 p.m. Saturday, January 28. The dance will feature door prizes and an auction.

Others in attendance were Bruce Haynes of Ruidoso, brother of the bridegroom; Nancy Schmidt, Doug Schmidt, Chuck Schmidt, Denise Delhotal, Rachel McCoy and Ezell Oarhe, all of Ruidoso; and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Haynes of Hobbs, parents of the bridegroom.

Warriors hope last win will help them against Bulldogs

Coming off what was probably their most important victory of the season, the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team will travel to Artesia Friday night for a game with the Bulldogs.

The junior varsity contest will begin at 5:30 p.m. with the varsity game following it. Ruidoso is 3-8 in varsity competition after winning two of its last three games and three of its last five.

Ruidoso finished third in the Smokey Bear Classic last Saturday by defeating Dexter 68-67 in overtime. The win was especially impressive since Ruidoso was without Dan Ullmann and Tommy Crow in the overtime. Both players had fouled out before regulation time ended.

Ullmann, a 6-5 sophomore, is one of the leading scorers in the state with a 19.4 average and is also a top rebounder. Crow has been a steady performer and scored eight points in the first half against Dexter.

"Hopefully we'll be able to use that game as a springboard for the Artesia game and district," said Warrior head coach Ron Geyer.

"Artesia is having a rebuilding year. But they've split with Tularosa, beaten TOC (Hot Springs) and beaten Silver City."

Artesia has also lost to Roswell by nine points. Ruidoso has played Roswell twice, losing both times. The Warriors lost the first game by 14 points after playing the Coyotes tough for three quarters. Ruidoso almost pulled out the second game, losing 60-57.

Besides Ullmann and Crow, Geyer has gotten good efforts from Cyrus Simmons, Tracy Gann, Gilbert Rivera, Russell Easter, Patric Pearson and Kermy Espinosa.

The Warrior junior varsity is 2-9 on the season.

Warrior girls take big victory over Roswell cagers, 54-34

There's nothing like a victory over an AAAA division team to break out of a slump.

That's exactly what the Ruidoso High School did Tuesday night when the Warriors belted visiting Roswell 54-34 to move their record to 4-6. Ruidoso has lost six of its last seven games before Tuesday night.

The outcome was never really in doubt as Ruidoso parlayed a strong press and improved shooting to blow the Coyotes away.

Both teams were tied at 2-2 early in the first quarter before the Warriors outscored the visitors 10-2 for a 12-4 first quarter advantage.

The Warriors controlled the boards—particularly in the first half—as Stacy Ivy and Jackie Jefferson garnered the lion's share of the rebounds.

Ruidoso's press continued to force Roswell into turnovers in the second period as the Warriors outscored the Coyotes 19-12 for a 31-16 halftime advantage.

The Warriors' edge in the second half never fell below 12 points, and the hosts pulled away to their final margin in the final quarter.

Gia Rose led the Warrior attack with 14 points on five field goals and four free throws. Jefferson and center Diane McClure each added 10 points. Mavis Geronimo tallied eight points and Lillian Lopez scored seven.

Linda Smith sank six field goals for 12 points to lead the Roswell scoring. The Warriors sank 23 of 64 shots from the field (35.9 percent), a vast improvement over the 10-for-61 effort they had against Capitán last weekend. Ruidoso's players also made 33 percent of their free throw shots, another improvement over previous games.

Ivy grabbed 13 rebounds and stole the ball seven times. Jefferson added 10 rebounds and Lopez eight.

"It wasn't our best game, but it was a good win," said Warrior head coach Sergio Castanon. "We got good hustle from Gia and Stacy and leadership from Lillian. Jackie also did a good job."

The junior varsity Warriors also took a win, topping Roswell 40-29.

Kristal Enjady led the Ruidoso attack with 11 points. Veralyn Platta added 10 points, and Becky Lester scored seven.

Ruidoso, now 2-3 on the season, led most of the contest.

The Warriors will travel to Capitán Friday night for varsity and junior varsity games. Ruidoso and Capitán have already split a pair of games in varsity competition this season.

"We'll be a different team from the way we played last time," Castanon said.

NOTES—The Warriors won the sportsmanship award for the girls division of the Smokey Bear Classic last weekend.

Junior varsity wins, freshmen lose

What's the Ruidoso High School boys junior varsity basketball team's gain is the Warrior freshman team's loss.

Freshman stars Jeff Willingham and Brian Davis were moved up to the junior varsity last week, and they were a big part in the Warriors' 48-42 victory over the host Alamogordo sophomore Monday.

The Ruidoso freshmen played the Tiger B freshman team in the first game and dropped a tight 41-38 decision.

Both the junior varsity and freshman teams will travel to Goddard today for afternoon games. Saturday both teams will go to Capitan with the first tilt starting at 5:30 p.m.

Willingham led the Warrior scoring in the junior varsity contest with 12 points while Davis added eight points. Randy Reynolds also scored eight points, and 6-3 Trent Tolbert added six.

No Tiger player scored in double figures.

The victory was revenge for a 39-35 loss Alamogordo handed the Warriors last month.

The Alamogordo freshmen outscored the Warriors 18-8 in the last quarter to take the victory.

Ruidoso had leaped out to a 15-5 first period edge and a 22-16 lead at halftime.

The Warriors had a 30-23 advantage at the third quarter break before the Tigers put a press on and forced Ruidoso into several turnovers.

Toby Rue led the Warriors scoring with 13 points, and Carl Lueras added 10.

"Yes, it was definitely our best game of the season," said Ruidoso junior varsity coach Jim Hofstad. "The kids moved the ball well on offense and played super."

Tigers, Grizzlies will be busy

The Capitán and Carrizozo boys' and girls' basketball teams will be busy this weekend.

Capitán's boys' team will travel to Mountainair Friday night, and the Tiger junior varsity and freshmen will hope Ruidoso Saturday night.

The Tiger girls' varsity and junior varsity will host Ruidoso Friday and travel to Jal Saturday. Capitán is 1-1 against Ruidoso's girls this season.

Carrizozo's boys' and girls' varsity teams will travel to Socorro Friday night.

Eagles take easy victory in men's hoop action Tuesday

Bill Richardson and Pete Montano found the hoop often in leading the Eagles to a 68-34 victory over Team Number Eight in Ruidoso Men's Basketball League action at White Mountain Middle School Tuesday night.

Richardson, a former Ruidoso High School star, canned 24 points and Montano added 22. Several players scored well for the losers, who do not have a team name yet.

In another contest Tuesday night, the Chiefs toppled Reynolds Electric 57-48.

Gordon Howe scored 14 points, and Mark Williams added 12 for the winners. Dave Matier and Clyde Reynolds each tanked 16 points for Reynolds Electric.

There will also be games at 5 p.m. every Sunday at the middle school. The Tuesday night games begin at 7:30 p.m.

Teams may practice in the White Mountain gymnasium from 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. every Sunday.

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

It's nice to watch a winner on television. Even if it is a tape-delayed basis.

I'm talking about the University of New Mexico (UNM) men's basketball team. The Lobo games are televised on Albuquerque's KOB-TV each night they play at home, usually at 10:30 p.m. after the late news.

UNM is now 12-3 on the season, and late night viewers can see some good basketball when the Lobos are on television.

The only problem I've had in watching the games that late at night is trying to stay awake, even if the game is exciting.

The broadcast usually isn't over until after midnight, and by that time I'm usually dozing off or already asleep.

It would be nice if the games could be broadcast live from the "Pit" (UNM's arena), but I suppose that would cut down on the Lobos' attendance.

Still, the Lobos are an entertaining team to watch if you don't have to get up very early in the morning.

Head coach Gary Colson has molded an excellent team from a group of players with average abilities.

UNM doesn't have great height, with T. J. Drake being the tallest player at 6-8. And the Lobos don't have a lot of experienced depth. Most of the non-starting players are freshmen.

But Colson gets the most out of an experienced and team-oriented starting five.

Senior guard Phil Smith is only 5-10, but is a good scorer, team leader and playmaker. Forwards Tim Garrett and Alan Dolensky offer consistent, if not spectacular play. Guard Nelson Frahnse has shown improvement over the course of the season.

UNM has an excellent chance of making the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament (NCAA) or the National Invitational Tournament (NIT) this season if it can continue its fine play.

The Lobos play in the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) and Brigham Young University has dominated the conference the past several seasons.

However, both UNM and the University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) should offer Brigham Young some tough competition this season.

UTEP, in fact, is ranked eighth in the country by the Associated Press and has a perfect 13-0 record.

The key to the Lobos' chances in the WAC will probably be whether the young reserves can continue to show improvement, particularly former El Dorado High School all-state standout Mike Winters.

If the young players come through, then the Lobos should be able to get a berth in the NCAA or NIT tournaments.

Just the thought of UNM making a post-season tournament makes the idea of watching Lobo games on KOB more exciting.

I just wish the games were on earlier.

Warrior matmen to host Colts Saturday

There is both good news and bad news for the Ruidoso High School wrestling team as the Warriors prepare for a home match against New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) Saturday.

The good news is that the Warriors have had an excellent practice this week and hope to improve on their 1-2 dual match record.

The bad news is that 140-pound matman Zach Swalander has a back injury and could be out for two weeks. Swalander has been one of the more promising Ruidoso wrestlers this season.

"I'm not sure who we'll have to replace Zach," said Warrior head coach Gerald Ames. "We don't know yet. Maybe Richard Ankiam, maybe one of the twins (Kerry and Kyle Jameson)."

Despite the loss of Swalander, the Warriors may regain the services of 119-pound Jeff Slatton. Slatton has also been out with an injury.

Gervase Pese at 155 pounds and Joe LaRue at heavyweight have been top performers for Ruidoso this season. Pese captured first place at the Los Lunas Tournament last month.

Ruidoso is coming off a double defeat at the hands of Roswell and the Carlsbad junior varsity last Saturday. The Warriors' only dual match victory was a 42-29 decision over Goddard last month.

NMMI competed in the Warriors' invitational tournament at the beginning of the season and did not do well, finishing sixth out of seven teams. Ruidoso was fifth.

But NMMI should be stronger this time. The Colts were at their semester break then and had several wrestlers missing. They should have a larger squad this time around.

"I really don't know what they have," Ames remarked. "If we wrestle to our potential, we should beat them. I think if we wrestle to our potential, we can beat just about anybody except for maybe Carlsbad's varsity."

The junior varsity match will start at 5 p.m., and the varsity match will follow at 6 p.m.

White Mountain hoopsters take big wins over Capitan teams Monday

The White Mountain Middle School boys' B team took a couple of convincing victories, and the Brave girls' team also won against visiting Capitan Monday afternoon in basketball action.

White Mountain won the first boys' game by a 33-12 decision. The girls played next with White Mountain taking a 29-14 decision. The second boys' game was played in the nightcap, and the Braves won 42-8.

The Brave boys' and girls' A teams will travel to Chapparral of Alamogordo today for afternoon games. The first game will start at 4 p.m.

Against Capitan in the first boys' contest, White Mountain jumped off to a 13-6 first quarter lead and led 18-6 at halftime. The game was more even in the second half, but the Braves had enough to win easily.

Doug Frieberg led the White Mountain attack with 11 points. Anthony Sanchez and John Castillo each tallied six points for Capitan.

The second boys' game saw the Braves shoot to a 5-0 lead early in the contest and an 8-1 lead at the end of the first quarter.

White Mountain led 17-5 at halftime and blanked the Tigers 30-0 in the third period. The visitors scored three points in the final period while the Braves tallied 17.

Rusty Shelton swished the nets for 15 points to lead the Brave attack. Jeff Sherwood added six points, and Albert Platta scored five. Dennis Ullmann, a 6-2 seventh grader, added four points and blocked a shot.

In the girls' game, White Mountain used a big second period to win the game.

The Braves led just 9-5 at the first period break but blanked Capitan 16-0 in the second quarter for a 26-5 halftime lead.

The Tigers came back and held the Braves scoreless in the third period while scoring nine of their own. But Capitan was unable to score a point in the final period as White Mountain put the game away.

Lori Walker and Ellen Graham each had six points for White Mountain.

"I was real proud of the players," said Brave girls coach Jean Wright.

New racing group formed

Drag racers from Southeastern New Mexico have formed a new club called the Southeastern New Mexico Timing Association.

There are about 30 members in the club, and they have elected an executive committee consisting of Ronnie Capps and Rick Calloway.

Season competition for the club will begin in March. Competition will be on the second Sunday of each month. The drivers will be competing for cash prizes and points to be credited towards the National Hot Rod Association, division four, bracket racing series.

Volleyball matches continue this week

Adult coed volleyball action will continue at White Mountain Middle School this week.

There will be informal matches at 7:30 tonight (Thursday) at 7 Saturday night and at 4:30 Sunday afternoon.

For further information, call Pam Graves at 257-2795.

County plans road assessment districts

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Subdivision residents living on county roads will be able to decide for themselves whether or not their roads are to be paved, pending approval of a statement of policy being drafted by District Attorney Steve Sanders for the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners.

During their Tuesday morning meeting, the commissioners decided to set up special assessment districts according to the property owners' wishes.

If a group of property owners were to get together and decide they wanted their roads resurfaced, they could request that the County designate their area as a special assessment district, according to the policy. A total cost for the project would be estimated, and the property owners would be equally taxed to cover the cost of the project.

Sanders said he will put the policy in legal form and present it to the commissioners for approval at the next commission meeting, set for 10 a.m. Tuesday, January 31.

In other business, the commissioners:

—Adopted their meeting dates for 1984.

—Adopted official holidays for county employees. The county will be following the same holiday schedule as the state.

—Appointed members of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission. Appointed for two-year terms were Bill Seelbach, Walt Wilson, LaMoyné Peters, Wesley Grigsby and Ben Hall. Appointed for one-year terms were Alton Whittaker, Betty Schreengost, Sid Goodloe and Mack Bell.

—Approved an agreement between the county and Triadic for computer services, pending the resolution of contract disagreements between Sanders and the attorney for Triadic.

—Decided to submit Bog Springs Road as the primary road to be funded through the State Highway Department School Bus Route Program. After that road is completed, leftover funds will go toward the school bus route in the Loma Grande Subdivision, and then to the school bus route in the Capitan North Subdivision.

—Heard a report from Dr. Dan Blodgett of the Capitan clinic that he is searching for a rent-free facility in Capitan. Blodgett said this would greatly help in assuring the future of the project.

—Voted to help the Zia Senior Citizens Center branch of the Carrizozo Woman's Club in any way they can in the club's attempt to secure two vans that were promised from the state Agency on Aging.

—Heard a report from Sheriff Tom Sullivan on the past year's progress of the Sheriff's Office. Sullivan reported that recovery of stolen property in the county was up to a yearly average of 88.4 percent. The national average for that statistic is closer to 32 percent, according to Sullivan.

—Decided to approve a cooperative agreement with the City of Carrizozo to participate in the effort to resurface the city airport runway.

—Voted to purchase a sand-spreader for the County Road Department for $3,600, provided commissioner Kenneth Nosker's request that the spreader not be used to spread salt be honored. Nosker said the spreading of salt on area roads is contaminating the water supply and should be stopped.

P&Z to meet

The Ruidoso Planning & Zoning Commission will meet 3 p.m. Monday, January 16, at village hall. On the agenda are:

—Replat of Lots 18 and 19, Block 9, Juniper Hills for Charles Crabtree.

—Lots 7, 11, 12, 13 and 14, Block 6, Palmer Gateway Subdivision.

1. To document taking of property by Village and State Highway Department for road.

2. To correct encroachment.

3. To document new boundaries.

Deadline nears for voters, candidates

New Mexico Secretary of State Clara Jones has noted that a critical election deadline is on January 30, 1984.

"As Chief Election Officer of the State of New Mexico, I am taking this opportunity to notify candidates and voters that Monday, January 30, 1984, is the day that Governor Anaya issues his Proclamation for the 1984 primary election. Candidates are required to reside in their respective districts and be a member of their party as shown on their affidavits of registration on or before January 30, 1984. Further, a candidate's name will appear on the ballot exactly as it is shown on his affidavit of registration. Anyone wishing to change his party affiliation on his present affidavit of voter registration must do so on or before that date," said Jones.

However, due to the closing of registration books 42 days before the March 6 regular municipal elections, the registration rolls in municipalities will be closed on January 24, 1984, at 5 p.m. Any voter who wishes to change political party affiliation who resides within a municipality must do so not later than January 24.

Five nabbed on drug charges

Police officers from several agencies arrested five people in the Ruidoso area on various illegal drug distribution charges during raids in the predawn hours Tuesday morning.

The raids, conducted simultaneously with raids in Otero county, culminated four months of undercover investigations by the Alamogordo Department of Public Safety, State Police, Ruidoso Police and the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, said Ruidoso detective Gonzalo Cordova.

The Lincoln County arrests were based on arrest warrants issued by Lincoln County magistrate Betty Dean. The Ruidoso Police Department, Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, State Police and District Attorney's Office combined efforts on the raids. No drugs were confiscated during the raids, said Ruidoso police chief Dick Swenor.

Arrested in the Ruidoso area were Jackie L. Wilson, 22, for distribution of marijuana and conspiracy; Jason L. Meyers, 24, distribution of marijuana; Kurt R. Miller, 26, distribution of a controlled substance (marijuana); Johnny L. Caillouet, also known as Jeep Jagger, 34, distribution of marijuana and conspiracy; and Virginia H. Brown, 37, distribution of methamphetamines and conspiracy.

Anna Lima, 23, was also arrested in Three Rivers based on undercover work done in Lincoln County. She was charged with distribution of methamphetamines and conspiracy.

Wilson, Meyers, Miller and Brown have been released after posting bonds of $5,000 to $20,000. Caillouet and Lima were still in the Lincoln County Jail in Carrizozo Thursday morning.

MLS helps simplify a complex business

by BETH HALLER
News Staff Writer

In Ruidoso the sale of real estate is a profitable business, but it is also very complex.

The real estate brokers in Ruidoso have banded together to help themselves and their clients. The Ruidoso Board of Realtors is a non-profit trade association of licensed real estate brokers in town.

One major service the board provides is the Multiple Listing Service. MLS lists all properties available, which amounts to about 1,515, from a total of 50 member real estate offices and 211 individual affiliated salesmen.

"The primary function of the MLS is the dissemination of information on the listings," said Alton Lane, executive director of the Board of Realtors.

The MLS book comes out every two weeks and is brought up to date two or three times a week, he explained.

"The big advantage of the MLS is that it shows everything that is available in the village, and it is all compiled into one book," Lane remarked. The book is published in San Diego, California.

Member Realtors get together and take tours of the new properties so they can get acquainted with them.

Mike Larkey, chairman of the MLS committee, explained how Realtors work together to make sales.

If the real estate is listed with one Realtor and another Realtor sells it, the Realtors work out the percentage each receives of the commission.

"A part of the pie is better than none at all," Larkey explains. "The more information you have, the better your chances to sell the real estate are."

All the Realtors will have keys to listed houses. If a client drives by a house and wants to see it, a Realtor can quickly pick up his MLS book and get the information about the house if he had not planned to show it, Larkey mentioned.

"A Realtor has to know everything about a property, and any kind of real property is listed in the MLS," he said.

The Realtors pay a nominal fee when they submit a listing and when a transaction is completed, and they buy the MLS book, Lane said.

"Knowledge is power, and that's what makes MLS important," Larkey pointed out. "Realtors in order to better serve the public can share the information. This makes the chances for finding a buyer better."

He also explains the selling climate in Ruidoso makes MLS even more important.

"We try to match the people with the house, and the people want the best buy," he said. The average house in Ruidoso costs $118,000.

MLS represented $75 million in real estate sales in one year, Larkey said.

"Eighty percent of the market is buying a second home," Larkey noticed. "It's different because people don't have to buy a house here."

Lane said houses in Ruidoso have appreciated 15 percent a year in the last 10 years, and Ruidoso has more repeat business than anywhere else.

Larkey explained that the next step to make MLS more effective will be going to computers.

"We're three days late now because of the hand system," he noticed. Computers would enhance the use of MLS even more.

On Wednesday the board listened to a presentation from the National Association of Realtors about the use and cost of computers for MLS use.

Each Realtor would have a terminal that would be connected by telephone lines to the main computer at the Board of Realtors office. Realtors would be able to quickly update listings and print out information about property for their clients.

In addition to the MLS, the Board of Realtors offers educational programs through the Graduate Realtor Institute.

The Ruidoso board will be offering the second in the three-course curriculum soon. The GRI classes teach various facets of the real estate business.

Also, the Board of Realtors enforces a code of ethics.

Larkey explains that licensed Realtors have to adhere to many rules and regulations.

"The code of ethics tells us how we're going to do it," he said. "In real estate 'buyer beware' is not true; you have to be ethical."

One committee of the Board of Realtors hears complaints and can suspend members for violations of the code of ethics, he remarked.

"The successful members of the real estate business have to be honest," Larkey concluded.

Lodgers' tax collections up, committee learns

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

Lodgers' Tax collections are close to $10,000 ahead of last year, and Ruidoso will probably receive about $55,000 in matching funds from the state, the Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC) learned during its meeting Wednesday.

State matching and promotional funds may be cut back sharply, however, during fiscal 1984-85, reported Chamber of Commerce Advertising Committee chairman Tommy Morel.

December's Lodgers' Tax collections, which reflect November's lodging income, were $3,019.75, up from only $2,488.42 in December 1982, reported treasurer Rod Adamson. December's collections also included approximately $2,000 owed on prior months, said Adamson later.

That brings the 1983-84 fiscal year's collections to $62,942.20, up from $57,787.80 last year at the same time.

Morel said estimates of how much the state will match Ruidoso's promotional expenditures are still fluctuating, but appear to be in the range of $55,000.

This money does not include the $40,000 the state has pledged for support of the U.S. Open pro ski race, but does include matching funds for advertising in Mexico, said Morel after the meeting.

Morel said the Chamber and the advertising agency Epstein Enterprises have not relied on the matching funds while planning promotional expenditures.

Morel distributed copies of Ruidoso's advertising plan for 1983-84, which totals $86,500.

Ruidoso will advertise for three consecutive Sundays at the end of January and early February in newspapers in Albuquerque, Dallas, El Paso and Houston. Ruidoso will advertise five times in January and February in Mexican newspapers in Juarez, Chihuahua, Guadalajara and Torreon.

Ruidoso will advertise in Southwest Airlines, Texas Monthly, Southern Living, Travel Weekly, Aero Mexico, Pasaporte 2000 and Club de Gourmetz magazines.

Morel estimated Ruidoso could have as much as $150,000 available for advertising with the state funds.

After the meeting, he said the Chamber would likely double summer advertising and try to carry some of the money into fall advertising if the matching funds come through.

Ruidoso may need to carry as much money as possible into the next year. Morel said the Legislative Finance Committee currently lists state promotional expenditures at $0, as opposed to $3 million budgeted this year. Ruidoso will get its state matching funds this year from the $3 million.

"We've got a big battle ahead of us in the Legislature," said Morel. "We have to do some lobbying."

Morel said Sun Country, a regional tourism organization of which Ruidoso is a member, has plans to visit Santa Fe at least twice for lobbying efforts.

In other business, LTC:

—Received invitations from Nottingham's Pub owner Gary Hall to a party for visiting Mexican travel agents.

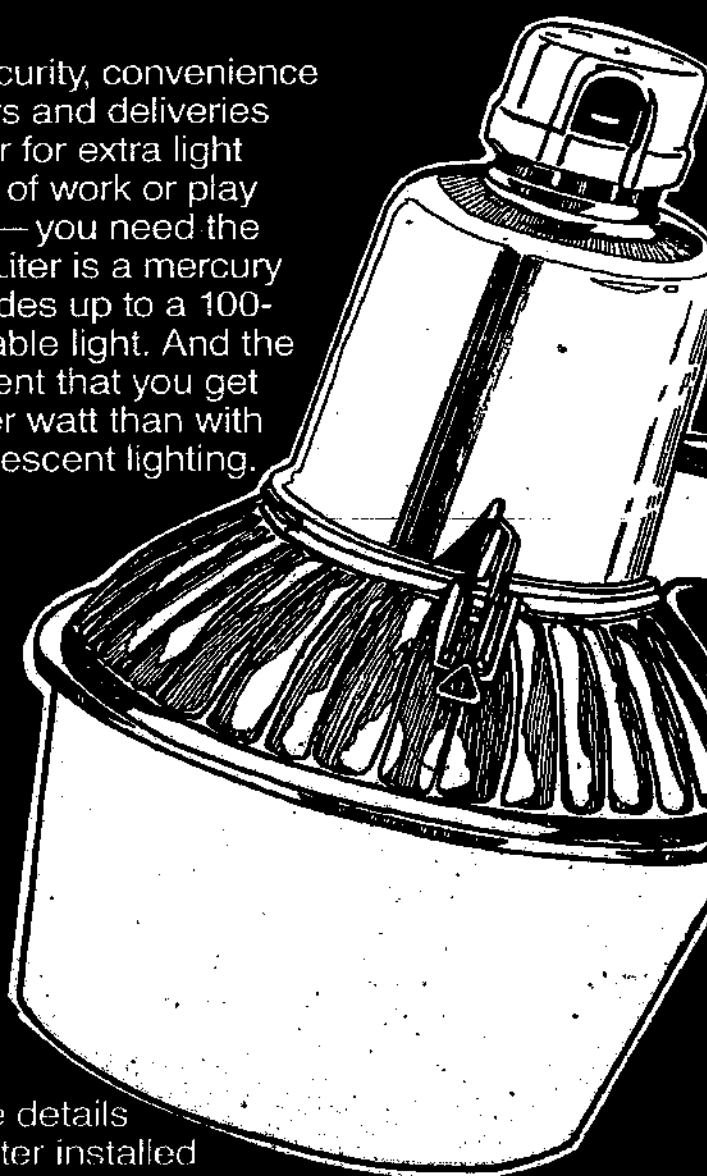

Clarification

C. R. Patterson of Alto, who was quoted in a story in the January 5 issue of The News on distribution of Bibles in the elementary school, asked that his comment be clarified.

Patterson said the "they" he said robbed kids of the opportunity to accept a Bible were the people who complained about the practice, not the school board or schools administration as the quote implied.

Dear Reader:

As you may have noticed, The Ruidoso News is changing.

For example, recently we have added a weather report and an index, and given them a place on page one so you'll always know where to find them. We have changed our byline, headline and section head styles.

All these changes are designed to make The Ruidoso News a better organized, more attractive newspaper for you, our readers.

But in changing the appearance of The News, we do not want to neglect changes in its content, where changes are needed. And this is where we are asking our readers to help.

Some of you—randomly selected—will be receiving a readers' survey in the mail. The survey gives you the opportunity to rank various types of news we cover and features we carry, according to their importance to you.

One section allows readers to tell us which new areas they would like to see us cover.

The survey takes just a few minutes to complete. Enclosed with it is a stamped envelope to mail it back in.

The Ruidoso News is your newspaper, and your input is valuable to us.

Thank you for participating in our survey. And feel free to write or call anytime to tell us how we can serve you better.

Sincerely,

Tim Palmer
Editor

P. S. If you do not receive a survey in the mail but would like to fill one out, call us at 505-257-4001, or write to the address on the letterhead.

All non-governmental entities (property owners) which claim to be exempt from the property tax must report their property and claim their exemption for 1984, if the exemption was not claimed in 1983.

Reports for mobile homes, livestock, land used for agricultural purposes, property not valued last year and land for agricultural purposes must be completed and mailed for delivery to the county assessor not later than the last day of February.

Opinion

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Are the liberals already routed?

That's one way you could read that total reversal by our Governor of his plans for raising more taxes.

His first travelling circus cum dog-and-pony show to whip up the enthusiasm of the native in Las Cruces knocked all his previous proposals into a cocked hat. He has now decided, he told us in effect, that both the total amount of new money he needs and the way he planned to generate it are totally wrong.

The need has suddenly been reduced to a mere $173.2 million (plus about $30 million more he forgot to mention in Las Cruces.) In addition, he isn't any longer for closing all those tax loopholes that were going to solve all our problems. He's been converted by somebody to raising the money from that good old stand-by—the sales tax. One of the most embarrassing portions of this change was the news conference being held in Albuquerque the same day by House Speaker Ray Sanchez, at which he tried to prove the sales tax in not really regressive.

Anaya and Sanchez, both of whom like to be looked upon as leading liberals, must have been co-opted by the conservatives.

It only shows what raising enough noise can do.

After the Governor's young assistants drew up that laundry list of taxes they said he proposed to raise, the phone lines almost melted on their way into Santa Fe. Every special interest on the list was on the horn telling Toney exactly why he couldn't do that to them.

They won.

Toney has now decided to do it to the common folks, who have no known lobbyists and nobody to speak up for their interests.

Hence the return to the gross receipts tax as the source of all that money.

After Collin McMillan successfully guided through the last big tax cut, named "Big Mac" in his honor, he admitted we would have to go back and raise taxes again in five to eight years. He also predicted the sales tax would be the method of choice when the time came.

McMillan failed to predict the slump in the oil and gas business which made that tax raise necessary before some of us looked for it. But he was on the money with his notion that the sales tax would be the scene of the action.

But what are Toney Anaya and Raymond Sanchez doing following a script by Collin McMillan?

Well, as we have said here before, Anaya's plans really don't make much difference.

The governor may propose, but only legislators can dispose.

Besides, Anaya will still be revising his recommendations (and holding dramatic news conferences to announce them) right up to the last available minute.

Don't be too impressed by the turn-outs at those Anaya Flying Circus appearances.

It's not enough just to count the house and say, "Wow! Look how many citizens showed up!"

What needs to be counted is how many citizens who are not going to make more money if the Anaya program is adopted take the time and trouble to come and listen to the presentations.

As one of the people in the Anaya office said, "If I can't get out those crowds, my job is on the line."

If the Anaya's couldn't turn out employees of universities, school districts and the state for such revival meetings they would be incompetents indeed.

They aren't—at least not at show biz. The last Anaya political campaign showed that, and the same people are in charge of these show-and-tell sessions.

But the ability to fake mass enthusiasm is a whole lot different from the ability to produce legislators' votes when they are needed.

It remains to be seen whether 30,000 blue ribbons, 10,000 bumper stickers and 20,000 brochures will get that latter job done.

If you want to bet on Anaya's success, demand some very long odds.

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I do not believe education is served properly by denial, or censorship of my children's learning. I know my American freedoms are jeopardized. Your office recommended to the Ruidoso Schools that giving the Bible to children is possibly against the law. The Ruidoso Schools no longer give "books" away.

For my children to fully understand what separation of church and state means they must know what a church is or what those people read that is so dangerous for a free society.

My children go to school to learn. In the dictionary learn is defined — to gain knowledge or understanding.

To censor (delete material considered harmful) can include much material, i.e. philosophy, psychology, religion, scientific, political, etc.

Religious instruction in a public school is not separation of church and state. Free books in public schools is not religious instruction.

The censorship of this book or any other of good taste is a return to Hitlerism, Communism and/or at least a return to the dark ages.

This action is one more insidious step in the destruction of our American Freedoms.

Any person or organization that does not rise to counteract these steps has lost the spirit of our founding fathers and possibly the future of this great country.

J ROY PROPSNER

DEAR EDITOR:

I suppose folks from a small village should not voice their opinion on state and federal dumb moves but a few million are paid good money to think, and don't. Someone somewhere slipped up on this Jesse Jackson deal. My memory may be wrong but I think Jackson went to Libya to see the madman leader, whatever his name, Qaddafi or something, about what I don't know. But I do know Syria is also Libya's friend and they both get help from Russia, this was in the past years when I admired Jackson for helping young and poor people and now it seems he has changed into telling his race of people to hate other people. I always thought we are all Americans and should hang together. Anyhow Syria released that airman to embarrass our government and I did not fall for it, I guess I am too cynical but I sure like the bare truth.

DEAR EDITOR:

Every now and then I get all stirred up and write about people doing bad or dumb things so today I will back off and tell a story. About 62 years ago I was 8 years old my daddy died and mama had 8 dollars and Christmas was coming, this is not a Christmas story because all we had that day was a bowl of potatoes with lard rubbed on them to make them look better and a pie mama had baked, she started to cry and it broke my little heart, that day I grew up in one day and started running every day after school, door to door selling eggs, in the desert to sell rabbits I had caught there. Thank goodness I could talk maybe 6 languages, my neighborhood had every race and color there was and they all liked each other and they would invite me in to eat and send mama some rabbit stew, spaghetti or beans to lots, boy did we eat a lot of beans. There was a depression on, no welfare, no food stamps, so it was work or starve. That day I had run all day hunting rabbits and was so tired I had to rest by a water pond with trees, I leaned against a tree to rest, after a while I heard a tiny, very tiny little voice that said please get off my house door so I can come out, I moved a bit and there stood a little worm dressed in red coat and yellow pants, I said do you have a name? My name is Jerry and that hole in that tree is the door to my house, I bent down and there it was, a little house inside the tree and I could hear more voices. Is there other worms in there I asked, Jerry said sure there is Sally my wife and my children Eeny, Meenie, Mine and Moe, Jerry asked why are you so sad looking and I said I guess there is no Santa Claus because here it is 3 weeks after Christmas and no toys, Jerry said well who said Santa has to be big, I stood there think with my eyes wide open, I could almost dream of seeing 8 little reindeer come running out of that hole, I wanted so bad to believe in Santa, Jerry said come now I must go soon and gather berries for my family, now you see that crooked tree over there you dig around it and find your Christmas. As I walked away I looked back but the beautiful little family had gone, 10 and behold when I dug by that tree there was a small leather sack of gold dust, not much but some. A dust storm had started blowing and when I went back to thank Jerry and his family I could not find a hole in any tree anywhere, after I had bought mama a pretty dress and bracelet and lots of food and myself a red wagon I returned to where I thought the little worm house was and never could find it. Years later I wondered did I go to sleep that day and dream all that and just by chance found some gold. If it was a dream it was sure a nice one and I will remember it forever.

If you're a Lincoln County voter, you probably got a letter in the mail this week that left you feeling somewhat puzzled.

We're a little puzzled about why the county continues to operate as if Ruidoso did not exist—despite the fact we are the largest municipality and make up the greatest part of the tax base.

The letter starts out simply enough, noting it is in reference to address changes on voter registration forms.

After that it gets confusing. What the letter attempts to say is that if your address has changed since you registered to vote, you have to register again.

You do not have to go to Carrizozo to do this. As the letter points out, you can go to any bank and ask for the registration officer.

Or, and the letter fails to tell you this, you can go to Ruidoso village hall and register with one of three deputy registrars there.

What you cannot do is go to the new county suboffice, because they do not have a registration officer there.

This seems strange, since we were told the suboffice was going to allow Ruidosians to do their business here instead of traveling to the county seat.

But even if residents cannot take care of their registration at the suboffice, it would be nice if the county clerk's office had issued some understandable directions.—TP

Reporter's Round

by Billy Allstetter

I had been in too many college dormitory rooms with illegal substances passing from hand to hand to be comfortable.

I tossed and turned the night before. What if they got people I knew? Would they think I had turned them in? Would I want to see the expression on their faces as the police slipped on the handcuffs?

Then again, maybe it would be the big one. A roomful of marijuana, pounds of cocaine, guns, "dangerous" people. "Major drug ring broken in Ruidoso," was the headline I envisaged.

But in my preoccupation I forgot to turn on the alarm and awoke horrified at 5 a.m. Oh my God! I'm supposed to be there. They'll think I'm out telling everybody in town and ruining the bust. They'll be after me!

In one of the quickest morning acts in history I had dressed, grabbed camera and pad, and was on the road in five minutes.

"Predawn raid." The cliché occurred to me as my headlights shone on fifteen police cars parked in front of the Ruidoso Police Department.

I walked into the building to find officers from the Ruidoso Police Department, the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, State Police, and the District Attorney's office standing around in small groups drinking coffee, talking quietly.

Lots of cops, early in the morning. It was still dark outside and the rest of the state world was still asleep.

I drifted around listening to snippets of conversation. Jokes, old war stories.

After a while Ruidoso detective Gonzalo Cordova called everybody together. He assigned officers to groups and handed them packets of material with arrest warrants and pictures.

Officers began examining the packets, apparently recognizing some suspects and not others. They mentioned past offenses, friends, connections and possible residences.

Possible residences. It seems many of the suspects were pretty mobile and hard to keep track of.

Ruidoso lieutenant Dave Pfeffer told me to come with him and we headed, with two other officers, through the night to a mobile home near Carrizo Canyon.

Dave, who had the warrant, knocked on the door as the other two officers stood at the sides of the trailer.

Early morning knock on the door by police waking you up. I saw a curtain pulled aside, then dropped. What a frightening way to start the day.

I tried to imagine what it would be like. Darkness, knocking, trying to wake up. Police? Trouble, a sinking feeling in the stomach. Thoughts of running, lying, hiding.

Somebody answered the door and Pfeffer asked for "Ken" (not his real name). Not here. The warrant was an arrest warrant, not a search warrant. Pfeffer couldn't go in. The guy said Ken lived somewhere else.

We climbed back in the car and headed for the other residence. On the way, we passed other police cars moving slowly, just about the only ones on the road at that time of morning.

A light was on at the second place. Same knock. Same delay but Ken was there. Pfeffer read him his rights, told him to get dressed and handcuffed him.

Some confusion, wandering around, questions about charges, but not too much concern. It seemed this was not Ken's first acquaintance with local cops.

The arrest warrant for distribution of marijuana was based on the purchase of a bag of pot in September. I was a little disappointed.

How many bags of pot had been sold in this town since September? Is it worth the effort of all these officers to arrest somebody for the sale of one bag of pot?

At the station a woman was being brought in at the same time. As opposed to Ken, she looked very worried. She had no identification and said she wasn't the one they were looking for.

Officers continued to come and go. No one seemed to be living where the police expected. Numerous false tries. Lots of discussion about people they had seen, cars they drove, where they might live.

Out and back again. Officers brought in a suspect here and there as the day dawned. Five were eventually booked at the Ruidoso Police station. A simultaneous raid in Otero County netted 10 people.

While the prisoners sat in the middle of the room being booked, officers laughed louder at more jokes. They seemed more at ease. They had done their job.

The prisoners sat mostly silent in the middle of the room. Except Ken. One officer asked him how his life was going, aside from this morning's details.

"Crossbar motel? All right, I'm ready to check in," said Ken.

But he made me think about him and the bag of pot police allege he sold almost four months ago. How about all those arrests in the fall that netted paraphernalia and small amounts of marijuana? Is this an effective war on drugs?

But all the people picked up Tuesday in Ruidoso were arrested for distribution of illegal substances. A number were arrested for distribution of methamphetamines.

Two were arrested out of a house that Cordova said was dealing methamphetamines on a daily basis. A subsequent search warrant, however, only produced small amounts of marijuana.

Detective Michael Lovelace seemed to think the effect of the busts would reach further than just those arrested.

"I'll make them paranoid for a while," said Lovelace of others involved with drugs.

The detectives explained the difficulties they face due to a lack of money. Without the bucks it is hard to pay the imported undercover agent or make the big buys.

"Our goal is to do whatever we can, whenever we can, to keep the pressure on these people."

SLOW DOWN, GOVERNOR, SLOW DOWN

Taxing the citizens is a system of revenue raising that has been around since before the time of Christ. Taxation as we know it is centuries old. It will be around for many more centuries—with or without modifications. So what's your hurry, Governor? Why do you want so much, so fast? You say much of it is to raise by some $2,000 the starting salary of new teachers. We have no quarrel with that, but think we, the taxpaying public, deserve something in return—quid pro quo. We doubt that it will improve visibly the quality of education in New Mexico, since there is no incentive for improved educational quality tied to an across-the-board tax package.—De Baca County News

DEAR EDITOR:

Some nice man called my home while I had a cold and could not talk, he told my wife he wanted me to run for trustee of the water dept. and she told him I would not be interested and thank you anyhow. A friend of mine in Colorado accepted a thankless no pay job to help his community and some character in his office stole some money and it took him two years to prove he was not guilty. He quit our volunteer fire dept. because of this, we stood behind him but most residents did not, this sad incident sure scared me away from getting involved.

Ski at night!?

Sure—at Eagle Creek

Tall, softly lit ponderosa pines reach dimly into the star-sprinkled black sky. The chairlift moves you slowly up the hill out of the dark area to the next chairlift support-mounted floodlight. The starry sight disappears, and your gaze turns to the orange glow of the slopes of Eagle Creek Ski Area.

As you unload from the lift, you notice that every movement of your skis and poles is reflected in 20-foot shadows. You start down the slope cautiously. It is not as bright here on the run as on the lift, but after a few turns you find that visibility is not a problem.

The moguls and bumps are sharply outlined by their shadows, and so are easy to see. The crisp night air feels good against your face and the turns come easier and easier as your confidence builds.

Night skiing at Eagle Creek may not offer the warmth of the New Mexico sun, but there are several unique features of the nocturnal sport.

Lift lines are non-existent. And according to area owner Paul Southwick, after a good snow, the powder conditions at night can't be beat.

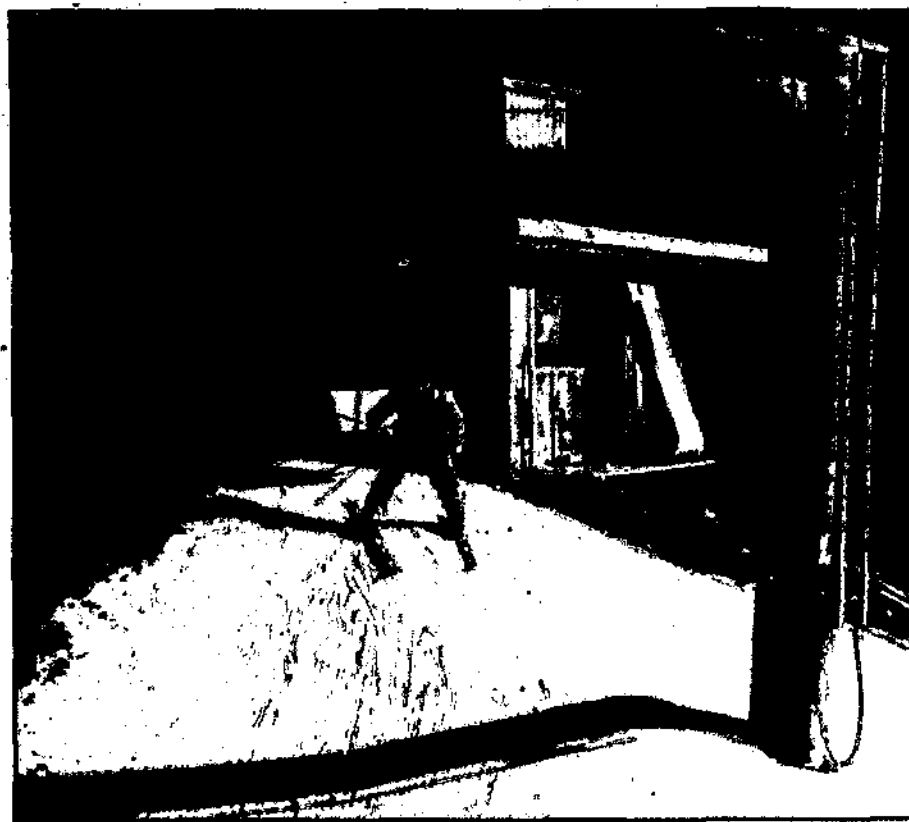

"It's just a different experience," he said. The skiing is also a lot more "mellow," according to one skier. Other skiers agreed that the atmosphere at night is less hectic, and more easy-going.

Another benefit from night skiing is just that. It is at night. For many people who, for example, go to school during the week, and work on weekend days, nights may be the only time they can ski.

Cost at night is also less—$10 for adults and $7 for children—but the hours are also shorter. The area is open for skiing on Friday and Saturday nights from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Rentals at night are $7, the same as during the day.

According to Southwick, the numbers of night skiers at the area have increased over last year. He said night skiing will continue as long as the area is open, which will be probably into March.

So the next time you are looking for something different to do on a weekend night, think night skiing at Eagle Creek.

Quin-Tikis please audiences at Inn of the Mountain Gods

Hailing from New Zealand, the musical group the Quin-Tikis has been keeping Ruidosoans and tourists entertained for several years.

Formed in New Zealand more than a decade ago, the Quin-Tikis have been playing in the United States for about 18 years, band member Weazel Talaroa said.

The original Quin-Tikis played behind such names as the Everly Brothers and Chubby Checker when they toured New Zealand.

Weazel said they came to America for Las Vegas, and there was no place further to go musically in New Zealand.

The band has changed members frequently, and none of the original members are now with the band, he said.

Weazel is from New Zealand and plays the guitar and fiddle.

On drums is Mark Metcalf from London, England, who just left a promising group in England, according to Weazel. He also sings.

New Mexican Lee Sanchez plays keyboards. The Quin-Tikis picked him up in Florida. He has been with road shows and has a degree in music.

Their girl singer is Keri Sugamosto from New Zealand. She also plays saxophone and bass, and Weazel said "sings like a bird." She recorded on her own in New Zealand.

The newest member is Dennis Mier from Albuquerque who also plays keyboards. He will be doing a lot of singing, Weazel remarked.

"Everybody in the band sings pretty well, for a change," he noticed.

The Quin-Tikis are now playing in the Ina Da Lounge at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. When they first played in Ruidoso years ago, they performed at Kings and The Chaparral.

"It's like home up here; everybody knows us that lives around here," Weazel explained.

They perform mostly in Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe, New Mexico and Texas, but they have played all through the United States and Canada.

"Our music is basically whatever anybody wants to hear," Weazel said. Their music ranges from the 1920s to the 1980s, from rock n' roll to country, no disco, a little bit of funky and no

Spanish music because no one speaks Spanish.

Weazel hopes "we're going to make the bigtime in 1984. We gotta start sometime."

They plan on recording this year. The Quin-Tikis have never recorded in the United States.

"We're all getting around to writing," Weazel explained.

Their name comes from the New Zealand Maori language, and it means five tikis, which are gods or good luck charms, Weazel remarked.

This is the last week for the five good luck gods' potpourri of music at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. They may return again next summer.

New Zealanders Keri Sugamosto and Weazel Talaroa carry on the tradition of the New Zealand-formed band, the Quin-Tikis.

Newest member Dennis Mier on keyboards delights the crowd with his rendition of "Maniac."

The Quin-Tikis entertain guests and locals at the Ina Da Lounge in the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

County and village saw varied issues in '83

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Ruidoso and communities around the county were sites for a host of activities during the final three months of 1983.

The Board of Lincoln County Commissioners wrestled with road problems throughout the period. During the October 19 meeting of the commissioners, it was decided that the county could no longer afford to maintain Gavilan Canyon road. Commissioners sent a letter to state highway officials requesting that the road be designated a state road. The decision is still pending.

Road troubles continued for the county as the commissioners reviewed a recommendation during their meeting Tuesday, November 28, from the county Planning and Zoning Commission. The Board decided then to initiate an amendment to the county subdivision regulations declaring that the county would no longer accept any paved roads into the County Road Maintenance System. Then, during the public hearing for the amendment on Tuesday, December 20, so many questions were raised on the subject of roads, paving and the cost of maintenance that the commissioners voted to table the matter until further study could be done.

The county also helped spearhead the effort to rewrite the Lincoln Historical Ordinance, with the framework for the ordinance completed by early December and public hearings on the ordinance to begin in February.

Other concerns within the county were raised in the community of Capitán. The question of water was a big issue in that village during the last three months of the year. With serious water shortages and water quality problems facing Capitán, good news was well received during the Monday, December 12, meeting of the Capitán village council that an application for funding from the Interstate Streams Commission was successful. The $18,000 the village was granted will help a great deal in the drilling of exploratory wells, but falls far short of solving the overall water problems villagers still face.

Meanwhile, Capitán Chamber of Commerce members were pushing for support of a nationally recognized Smokey Bear Day. Because the U.S. Postal Service will issue a postage stamp commemorating Smokey Bear this year, Capitán residents decided to attempt to have the first stamp released from the Capitán Post Office. The Chamber also decided during its meeting on Tuesday, October 18, to set up an annual Smokey Bear Day to be held in Capitán each May. The day will include a parade through town and several other activities celebrating the memory of Smokey Bear.

In Ruidoso area scouting, the big news was growth. Cub Scouts Packs 59 and 60 grew by 35 new cubs each, while the Brownies added Troop 4 with 11 new brownies. Boy Scouts, meanwhile, searched for a new scoutmaster for Troop 59.

While more and more young people were moving into scouting, other folks were moving out of Fort Stanton. Support grew to change Fort Stanton from a facility for the care of the developmentally disabled to a facility for long-term alcoholic rehabilitation. By Monday, November 7, eight clients had been moved to the New Horizons group home in Carrizozo. By Thursday, December 1, a total of 17 clients had been moved to New Horizons, other group homes around the state, or to their family homes. Officials estimated 53 of the remaining 117 residents would be moved by July, 1984.

The Ruidoso Board of Realtors welcomed new Board officers for 1984 into office at a ceremony Tuesday, October 25. By the end of the year, Realtors had totaled over $75 million in sales as reported by the Ruidoso Multiple Listing Service (MLS) in a "red-letter" year, according to MLS executive officer Alton Lane.

Precedents were also set in the Lincoln County District Court with the guilty verdict of two Ruidoso Condoshare Vacation Club officers in connection with fraud charges. The marathon three-week trial found club manager Jim Vincent guilty on seven charges and club sales manager Dean Shade guilty on three charges of various third and fourth degree felonies. According to state Attorney General Paul Bardacke's office, it was the first time nationwide that a conviction had been made for fraud in connection with time-share operations.

A busy time across the county, the final three months of 1983 will not soon be forgotten. In several of these stories, 1984 will be a year of decisions, discoveries and determinations.

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

Colby Lee Browning

Services were held last Sunday afternoon at the George Coe Cemetery at Glencoe for little Colby Lee Browning, who was called home by Our Lord January six.

Colby Lee is the six-week-old child of Joe Bob Browning and the former Cindy Hartrant, and the grandson of Dude and Jeannette Browning and Sue and Don Hartrant.

The George Coe Cemetery, located in a very inspiring spot on the Perry Ranch, was the scene of a very heart-warming gathering of friends and loved ones.

The services were under the direction of The Reverend Wyman Scarborough, President of the Lincoln County Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The Reverend Mr. Scarborough took his message from certain special words of Our Lord:

"Suffer Little Children to come Unto Me. For Such is The Kingdom of Heaven."

The Reverend Mr. Scarborough said that Colby Lee was a very angelic child in this world, and is now a little Angel of The Lord in Heaven, that we will see him again.

By coincidence I was reading that very day of an account of His Holiness The Pope, John Paul II, speaking to a group of very young children.

"These are my favorites," said Pope John Paul, "The purest, most sacred of all God's children." "Amazing Grace" was sung by Mrs. Carol Martin, accompanied on the guitar by Dale Patrick.

The still and quiet day, there in the peaceful valley, lent an especially sacred tone to the voice of the singer, and to the notes of the musician.

The favorite song of Colby Lee's brother, seventeen-month-old Casey Coe Browning, is:

"Yes Jesus Loves me. The Bible tells me so."

This song was begun by Dale and Carol; and all the folks at the services joined in the singing.

In closing the services, Dale Patrick, Second Counsellor to the Reverend Wyman Scarborough, gave the prayer of dedication to Colby Lee's grave.

And so, although Colby Lee's stay among us was brief, yet he received the fondest love from his parents, and was sent "on his way rejoicing" by the great outpouring of love at his services.

We all take comfort in knowing this little angel is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

After the services Paul and Nellie Ruth Jones were hosts for the friends and loved ones of Colby Lee at their home, where coffee, cake, and a very fine dinner was served. And the magic touch of true friendship and Christian fellowship closed the day with a blessing.

Tonkawa Charger wins second straight

Tonkawa Charger led throughout to register his second consecutive impressive triumph at Sunland Park in winning Saturday's featured race.

The five-year-old Foggy Road gelding posted a widening two and one-quarter length win over Farmer County Kid in the mile chase, which lured eight four-year-old and older horses running under allowance conditions for a purse of $3,600.

It was the same one-two finish which occurred in a six and one-half furlong allowance race at Sunland Park on December 30. In that race, Tonkawa Charger won by almost seven lengths while running the fastest six and one-half furlong reading of the season.

In touring the mile in 1:38 2-5, Tonkawa Charger also snapped the season's best clocking for a mile. The previous fastest mile reading was 1:38 3-5 set by Pop's Spirit on November 19.

Tonkawa Charger was again ridden by O. A. Martinez Jr. As the 8-5 wagering favorite, Tonkawa Charger returned mutual payoffs of $5.20, $3.00 and $2.60.

Farmer County Kid, a well-backed 5-2 choice under Wayne Buehrer, closed rapidly on the inside but was no match for the winner. He paid $3.20 and $2.60 for place.

Stone Ruler, a 9-1 risk under Dale Cordova, ran third, one and one-quarter lengths behind Farmer County Kid. He paid $3.60 for show.

Tonkawa Charger is trained by J. Michael Welch for owner Melvin G. Riggs of Fort Stockton, Texas.

Racing resumes with an 11-race program on Sunday, beginning with a 12:30 p.m. post time.

Another easy win

Tonkawa Charger zooms across the finish line with a two and one fourth length victory in Saturday's featured race at one mile. It was the second consecutive race Tonkawa Charger set a seasonal fastest clocking. He did the mile in 1:38 2-5 under jockey O.A. Martinez Jr. Trained by J. Michael Welch, Tonkawa Charger is owned by Melvin G. Riggs of Fort Stockton, Texas.

TONKAWA CHARGER CONTINUED his fine running at Sunland Park by leading throughout for the second consecutive weekend as he swept to a win in Saturday's featured 10th race. The five-year-old Foggy Road gelding, tallied a two and one-quarter length victory over Farmer County Kid, and for the second straight race, established a seasonal fastest clocking. The New Mexico-bred gelding was clocked in a rapid 1:38 2-5 for the mile distance, which snapped the season's previous fastest time of 1:38 3-5 set by Pop's Spirit on November 19. A week ago, Tonkawa Charger tallied by almost seven lengths over Farmer County Kid in 1:37 3-5, the best six and one-half furlong clocking this season. Under a fine ride by O. A. Martinez Jr., Tonkawa Charger broke swiftly from the fourth post position, set a :22.3-5 reading for the quarter-mile, did a :47.1-5 for the half-mile and accomplished the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5. Farmer County Kid stayed closer this week than in the December 30 allowance race when he trailed early and closed much ground in the latter stages. Jockey Wayne Buehrer tried hard with Farmer County Kid, but Tonkawa Charger had more than enough reserve strength in the final furlong. Tonkawa Charger is trained by J. Michael Welch for owner Melvin G. Riggs of Fort Stockton, Texas. Sunland patrons made Tonkawa Charger the wagering favorite at 8-5 and he returned $5.20 to win. The race drew eight four-year-old and older horses running under allowance conditions.

JOCKEY LEROY COOMBS CAPTURED two consecutive races on Friday's program. He started with Speedy Moon Deck ($110.80) for trainer Claire B. Coombs in the fifth and then took the sixth with favored Singing Blade ($4.20) for trainer Gerald E. Marr. SUNLAND PARK WILL BEGIN presenting 12-race programs this Friday. The track began with 12-race programs but cut back to 11 races each day as the daylight hours decreased in the later stages of 1983. With daylight hours lengthening, 12-race cards will again be employed. SPEEDY MOON DECK BROUGHT joy to longshot backers in Friday's fifth race. The three-year-old Deck Be There gelding scored a head victory at odds of $54.40-1 and paid $110.80 to win. It was one of the largest win payoffs this season, although it wasn't the top win return. That honor belongs to Ethel's Physique, who paid $173.00 while winning on October 16.

Speedy Moon Deck met nine three-year-olds running for a $10,000 claiming price at 350 yards. Ridden by Leroy Coombs, Speedy Moon Deck is trained by Claire B. Coombs for owner Charles H. Robinson of El Paso. TOP LEVAN'S AMAZING VICTORY streak finally ended with the first race on Saturday. The 10-year-old Top Moon gelding had captured all five of his races this season at Sunland Park and was trying for his sixth consecutive triumph against nine three-year-old and older foes running for $8,000 claiming prices at 400 yards. Sent away as the 7-2 second-wagering choice, Top Levan tried desperately, but finished a close fourth under regular rider Larry Chavez. The race was taken by Badest Bug Alive, who returned $4.20 to win as the $1.10-1 wagering favorite. Top Levan is trained by Donald E. Mooney for owner Donnie E. Stewart of Fort Worth, Texas.

THE NEW BOARD OF DIRECTORS and officers for the New Mexico Horsemen's Association were saluted after Saturday's seventh race. The new officers include Gerald E. Marr, president; Barry Germany, vice-president; and Dan Lucas, secretary-treasurer. Other directors include Ray Reed, general manager; Don Marr; Charlie Allison; Bob Arnett; Ike Danley; L. B. Johnson; and J. Michael Welch.

LADY OF SIN WON her fourth straight race by sweeping to an easy two-length victory in Sunday's seventh race at 400 yards. The four-year-old Sinn Fein mare defeated eight three-year-old and older quarter horses running under allowance conditions in 19:85. The Texas-bred miss began her streak at Val Verde Downs in Del Rio, Texas, on November 19, then won three straight chases at Sunland Park. She defeated allowance competition at 350 yards on December 17 and 31. Mike Lidberg has been aboard all three local appearances for trainer Bob E. Arnett and owner Jesse L. Hankins of Rocksprings, Texas. As the 4-5 wagering favorite, Lady Of Sinn returned $3.60 to win.

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

KING VAGABOND BECAME the season's highest-priced claimed horse when he was taken from Sunday's ninth race for $12,500. The four-year-old Say Speed colt was taken by trainer Cecil Crabtree for new owners A. D. Bowen and Gil Brewington of Abilene, Texas. He previously was trained by J. Doyal Roberts for owner Verla M. Wilson of Choctaw, Oklahoma.

APPRENTICE RIDER EUGENE O'NEILL won two consecutive races on Sunday's program. He started in the eighth with Dancing Jill ($6.40) for trainer Eliseo G. Herrera and then took the ninth aboard favored Dofna's Boy ($3.40) for trainer April S. Ward.

DONNA'S BOY CAPTURED his fourth straight race by taking Sunday's ninth event at six and one-half furlongs. The five-year-old Hall To The Pirates gelding is undefeated this season at Sunland Park. He took a six-furlong dash for $8,000 claimers on November 11, then defeated $10,000 horses at a mile on December 3. He beat $15,000 horses on December 18 at six furlongs. Sunday's race was against $12,500 horses. The Kentucky-bred gelding was ridden by Eugene O'Neill for trainer April S. Ward and owner William R. Burgess of Alto.

SATURDAY'S EXCELLENT TURNOUT of 3,256 wagered the season's highest one-day mutual handle of $397,319. The previous best handle this season was $384,128 on November 12. It was another fine weekend as far as attendance and mutual handle were concerned. On Friday, a crowd of 2,101 wagered $257,931. The handle was 2.75 percent higher than the corresponding day a year ago ($251,009) and the attendance was 11.69 percent better than in 1983 (1,881). On Saturday, the handle was 5.34 percent higher than the 1983 handle of $377,643 and the crowd of 3,256 was 20.90 percent better than the 1983 turnout of 2,693.

Platoon Star scores upset Saturday

Platoon Star led practically throughout in recording an upset triumph in Friday's featured race at Sunland Park.

Under a well-judged ride by Pedro Benitez, the five-year-old Platoon Leader horse defeated eight four-year-old and older foes running for a $10,000 claiming price.

Platoon Star had to withstand early challenges from Over Hand, ridden by Salustio Burgos, and from Bug Bopper, ridden by Kevin Scholl. But through the stretch, Platoon Star showed courage as he posted a half-length victory over Never Love, the 2-1 second-wagering choice under Casey Lambert.

Platoon Star toured the six furlongs in 1:11 4-5.

As an $11.20-1 outsider, Platoon Star paid $24.40, $7.80 and $3.60. Never Love placed for $3.40 and $2.40 while Five R's Tequila, the 8-5 wagering favorite under F. O. Martinez, was third, a half-length behind Never Love, and returned $2.40 to show.

The victory was a redemption of sorts for Platoon Star, who ran third last Sunday in a five and one-half furlong race for $8,000 claimers. He was a solid 9-5 second-wagering choice in that event.

Trained by Kenneth M. Grisham, Platoon Star is owned by Grisham and John W. Renner of Friona, Texas.

Five R's Tequila trailed early, started passing horses from the outside on the far turn, and then closed willingly while on the outside through the stretch run in a good effort.

It's 'can do' for Miss Aggie Lue

Miss Aggie Lue rallied strongly through the stretch to capture Sunday's featured race at Sunland Park.

The four-year-old Banker Bud filly was ridden by Harla Webb in the six-furlong jaunt, which lured 12 four-year-old and older horses running under allowance conditions.

Miss Aggie Lue made her move on the far outside as Gazapo, an invader from California, took the early lead down the backstretch. Webb patiently moved Miss Aggie Lue past horses around the far turn.

As the field entered the stretch run, Miss Aggie Lue was moving fastest of all. She zoomed past Gazapo in the final strides to claim a half-length victory over Gazapo.

As part of a $6.50-1 field betting interest, Miss Aggie Lue returned $15.00, $5.00 and $2.80. Gazapo, the 5-2 second-wagering choice under Dale Cordova, paid $4.40 and $3.40 for running second.

Mora Man, a 5-1 risk under Larry Chavez and almost three lengths behind Gazapo, showed for $3.80. In touring the distance in 1:11 4-5, Miss Aggie Lue was making her first start since running a closing second in the George Maloot Handicap on July 24 at the Downs at Santa Fe.

Unraced as a two-year-old, she won two of six starts with four seconds in 1983 as a three-year-old and earned $10,180. Trained by Billy H. Hitt, Miss Aggie Lue is owned by Lonnie O. Bates of Kaufman, Texas. Racing resumes on Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Sunland Park. Post time for each day's 12-race program will be 12:30 p.m.
