RUIDOSO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO 88345

THURSDAY, APRIL 12, 1984

Bye, Mom

Sons hugged family members and daughters called a last good-bye to mothers as more than 100 people left Ruidoso High School for Hawaii at midnight last night. Blue and yellow pom poms studded band members' luggage. Chaperones counted heads. Parents stood quietly or joked about days without teenagers. Three buses left the parking lot just after midnight. Behind them, automobiles also headed for Albuquerque, looking like cars in a train being pulled by three locomotives.

Downs trustees toss around softball

Softball was the topic again at the Ruidoso Downs trustees meeting Monday.

Garnet Andres, of the Men's Fast Pitch Softball League, requested four nights including Tuesday for use of the village's ballfield. However, trustees told him they had decided during their last meeting how to divide the seven nights this summer.

The Women's Slow-Pitch League plays on Mondays, the Men's Slow-Pitch League plays on Tuesdays and Fridays, and the Fast-Pitch league gets Wednesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Slow-pitch representatives asked for those nights at the last trustees meeting. A fast-pitch representative did not attend then.

Andres said after the meeting Monday that the fast-pitch league had tried and failed to be listed on the agenda last time.

During the Monday meeting, he said, "We've done quite a lot of improvement on the field, and we've had it (Tuesday as a playing day) for the past five years."

Trustee Conrad Buchanan countered, "We've given you more nights than any other team." He later added, "I think we've been pretty fair."

Trustee LeVerne Cole asked Andres if he had discussed play days with the other teams. He told her he had not done so.

Practice and games have begun for many teams.

In another matter, trustee Jake Harris announced a village water well pumped 160 gallons a minute during a 24-hour test. That would more than double the supply of water previously available.

The trustees voted unanimously to accept a quote of $3,588 from Ranchers Windmill and Supply of Roswell. The low quote was for pump work on the well.

In other action, the trustees listened to Jim Wimberly's proposal for a mobile home park near the Quality Inn Motel and Prime Time Restaurant.

They discussed access for fire equipment, and water and zoning of the development. Wimberly said the units would be large, relatively new homes, and all would be skirted. The 20-acre development would use its own well during peak water use periods.

"I'd like to have this ready to go by the time the horses are ready," Wimberly said.

Also, the trustees would like to investigate building a police complex. It could include a new police building, a new village hall and a maintenance shop.

The structures would be built on about seven acres of land the community already owns north of Highway 70.

Because of an emergency, Judge Paula Smith could not attend the meeting to discuss pay for the court clerk. The council skipped that item on the agenda.

The next trustees' meeting is scheduled at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, April 18. They plan to open bids on a fire station. The next regular meeting is scheduled at 7 p.m. Monday, April 23. Both will be in the village hall.

'No' to more P.O. boxes

The Ruidoso village council decided Tuesday this was not the time to lift the moratorium on placement of neighborhood box units (NBUs) by the U.S. Postal Service.

Postmaster Bernie Lechman told the council at its regular meeting the Postal Service would be willing to work with the village to determine "pleasing locations" for NBUs. The council, however, told Lechman to request that his superior from the district office come to Ruidoso for an on-site study of the mail situation.

Assistant village manager Frank Potter acknowledged "a very good working relationship" with Lechman. Potter expressed doubts about the workability of NBUs in Ruidoso, citing traffic and encroachment problems in the village.

Asked about alternatives to NBUs, Lechman mentioned a "contract station" on Highway 37 north, and an unmanned station or stations where standard post office boxes could be used.

Councillor Ray Dean Carpenter said the council would be willing to work with the Postal Service, but that he wanted to see some concrete proposals.

Also Tuesday, the council approved a compromise on a proposed sign for the planned Taco Villa restaurant, although a spokesman for the business said the compromise was unacceptable.

Architect Kenneth Taft had asked the council to overrule the Planning and Zoning Commission and grant two variances to the new (and as yet unadopted) sign ordinance. The first would have allowed a sign on the building front as well as on the street, and the second would have allowed the signs' total square footage to exceed the allowable limit in the ordinance.

The restaurant site on Sudderth is technically a corner lot, because of an access right of way running next to it, so it was allowed a building sign on the side. Taft wanted that sign to be on the building front.

"A sign ordinance should have a human element to make it work," said Taft, arguing for the variances. Councillors expressed concern about granting a variance before the sign ordinance was adopted formally, however.

Evans' compromise would have allowed the front and street signs, but only if their total square footage was within the allowable limit for one sign. His motion passed 4-2, with Sherman Atwood and John Underwood voting against.

Taft had said the compromise would force the business to reduce the size of its signs to below the standards needed to compete, and that such a reduction was not a possibility.

The council also heard a presentation from Al McChesney and Rex Skellett, who were contracted by the village to draw up plans for a proposed community recreation and cultural center. The center would be built around the present municipal swimming pool at School House Park.

Council drops three committees

by BILLY ALLSTETTER

The Ruidoso village council cleaned house Tuesday afternoon, abolishing several village committees and requiring better accountability from others. The council also gave the Planning and Zoning Commission broader powers.

The council dissolved the cemetery board, the Ruidoso water board and the business registration committee because all three were inactive. Village manager Jim Hine assured the council that former cemetery board chairman Billie Clark would keep him informed of cemetery needs.

The council passed councillor Sherman Atwood's motion that all village boards and committees be requested to submit minutes of their meetings to the council.

"Who are they advising if we don't get the minutes?" asked councillor Ray Dean Carpenter after councillor Jerry Shaw brought up the subject.

Shaw also requested better accountability from the Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC). She said she was bothered that portions of the public lodgers' tax funds were being spent without proper documentation or approval by LTC.

She said she did not think the funds were being misused, but that she wanted LTC to see actual invoices and approve expenditures before village clerk Leon Eggleston wrote a check. She also moved that original invoices be submitted to Eggleston.

Shaw also moved that bids be invited whenever possible, such as for printing-on lodgers' tax expenditures.

Her motion, which passed unanimously, included a per diem limit for any trips funded by lodgers' tax funds. The limit would be the same as required for any village officials.

The Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) ordinance also will be changed to give the commission broader powers and bring it in conformity with state statutes.

The council agreed to give the commission final authority on all planning and zoning matters except annexations, vacation of rights of way, and appeals. Currently the commission has final say only on platting and planning matters, said village attorney Lee Huckstep.

The ordinance also will be changed to require a majority vote of the complete village council, not just a quorum, to overrule any P&Z recommendations.

The council also agreed that since P&Z member Ray Bishop has moved within the village limits and has a term that does not expire until March 1985, he will remain a member in good standing.

P&Z members are required to live within the village limits. Bishop formerly lived in Alto and had been suggested for replacement by Mayor George White.

Approval for sign permits will be shifted from the Architectural Plans Review Committee to the Planning and Zoning enforcement officer. P&Z enforcement officer Paul Davis recommended the change to speed up the permit process. Applicants may still submit sign permit appeals to P&Z and the village council.

Councillor Bill Karn requested that Sierra Blanca Airport Commission chairman Fred Heckman submit a written report updating the council on progress toward obtaining a new airport on Fort Stanton mesa. The council reapointed Heckman to the commission.

Huckstep was also instructed to rewrite the village ordinance concerning the library board, changing it from a controlling to an advisory board. Huckstep also will add a clause to the personnel board or ordinance requiring that its members live within the village limits.

Four groups seek lodgers' tax funds

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC) Wednesday accepted 1984-85 budget requests from four groups, and discussed possible ways of increasing advertising funds for Ruidoso.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Ruidoso Business Association, the American Contract Bridge League and the Gerald Tully Team Roping Contest all submitted requests.

LTC will be conducting several workshops in the near future to determine a budget that it will submit to the village council for approval next month.

The Chamber of Commerce submitted an official request for $56,960, with a request to consider an additional $5,000 to $6,000 to cover lobbying efforts for such measures as matching state funds for promotional expenditures.

The request includes $2,000 for membership in Sun Country regional tourism organization; $15,000 for printing costs directly related to tourism promotion; $7,500 for travel agent familiarization tours; $12,500 for trade shows; and $12,460 for contractual services.

The request is for $21,460 more than the chamber received last year for the same items. The request does not include funds for Ruidoso advertising that are funneled through the Chamber.

The largest increase is for familiarization tours, which were not budgeted for last year.

Chamber president James Paxton said he thought the personal contact involved in the familiarization tours and the trade shows were very effective in promoting Ruidoso.

Printing costs also increased to $15,000 from last year's allotment of $10,500. Printing costs cover the Ruidoso brochure, lodging guide, restaurant guide and other community brochures.

Contractual services covers expenses for a tourist counselor at the chamber who handles phone, mail and personal inquiries, according to a chamber note attached to the budget request.

The request for contractual services has been increased from last year's allotment of $7,500, to $12,460.

Cut your fuelwood early, Forest Service suggests

by TIM PALMER
News Editor

Spring is here, so it's time to oil up your chainsaw and go out firewood for next winter.

"Wait a minute," you might say. "I never cut my firewood until the frost is on the pumpkin."

U.S. Forest Service Timber Management Specialist Mike Funston wants people to get into the habit of cutting fuelwood early. And he can cite several good reasons for doing so.

Cool weather is nice to work in, he pointed out. Also, the fact that the roads and the forest floor are dry means woodcutters' vehicles do less damage to soil and vegetation.

Cutting early also gives green wood time to dry, Funston noted. He noted that the wood cutting public gradually will have to get used to cutting and burning commercial soft wood—ponderosa pine, white fir, Douglas fir—as the supply of accessible pinon and juniper on the Lincoln National Forest runs out.

The soft woods need four to six months' drying time, while pinon and juniper can burn "green" (the same day they are cut).

All wood cutting on the Lincoln Forest requires a permit, which is available at the Smokey Bear Ranger Station in Ruidoso. Funston compares the permit to a hunting license—calling it a "down dead wood hunting permit."

A permit does not guarantee that the bearer will find wood on every acre of land in the permit area, he pointed out.

The Forest Service does what it can to help wood cutters succeed, however. Along with the permits, people are given a map of the fuelwood area for which they are permitted.

Wood cutting is concentrated into certain areas for several reasons, Funston noted. Because Forest Service manpower is limited, limiting the areas helps allow interaction of the agency and the public in the field.

This interaction is something Funston values. He said that when wood cutters understand what the Forest Service is trying to do in managing wood resources, they are better about complying with the rules.

Areas are rotated on a one year on, one year off basis. This limits impact on the land and improves relations with private landowners whose property might be impacted by wood cutters seeking access to the National Forest.

A tree that falls in an area closed to wood cutting will not have time to rot before the area is open again, Funston pointed out.

Also, designating specific areas makes persons who are cutting in other areas more noticeable. Funston acknowledged a serious problem of illegal cutting, and said the Forest Service catches relatively few offenders.

Stiffer fines imposed recently put more teeth in the laws against illegal cutting, however, and he hopes this will help. Persons who notice suspicious activity in the forest are urged to report it to the Forest Service.

The limit on wood taken from the forest is 10 cords per household per year. Funston, who heats his own home with wood, said he used less than three cords per season.

Efficient use of wood as a fuel is something else the Forest Service seeks to educate the public on. According to Funston, wood goes three times further as a fuel in a woodstove than in a fireplace.

Emphasis is also placed on cutting efficiency. Cutters are asked to take everything down to a two-inch diameter, and to cut stumps as close to the ground as possible.

Funston pointed out that most people—better than 95 percent—do try to comply with what the Forest Service asks of wood cutters.

"It's very gratifying," he said.

Those people gather wood to help heat their homes, they have a fun recreational experience on the forest, and they help the Forest Service manage a very valuable resource.

School board handles personnel, finances, school names

by C.E. REUTTER

During a three-hour meeting Tuesday, the Ruidoso Board of Education named the new middle school, rehired most district employees, and handled financial matters.

The board voted unanimously on the monetary items, including moving about $4,000 from one part of the budget to another to help pay for Cooper Henderson, the new athletic director.

The middle school will move to the present high school building near Suderth Drive and be called Ruidoso Middle School.

Superintendent Sid Miller reported on budget progress to the board. He suggested a pay raise for employees of about four percent next year, which could amount to more for some individuals because of the salary structure.

Miller also outlined tentative plans for hiring eight more certified employees and four non-certified workers.

"I can never remember hiring more than four additional teachers in a year before," he said.

However, it was pointed out that the district must keep pace with ballooning enrollment. Miller said the district waited to add personnel until completion of the new high school and other facilities.

Possibilities for added teachers include a second-grade teacher, a physical education teacher for lower grades, a middle school counselor, English and shop teachers, a high school teacher and a special education teacher. An assistant principal at Ruidoso High School also might be added.

Additional non-certified employees could include a library aide and three custodians. Miller stressed the proposals were tentative. "We may have to drop this back," he said.

During the April meeting each year, school boards handle many personnel matters. Tuesday was no exception.

The board named Sarah Austin a new bus driver. She expects to go to bus driving school this summer.

Board members also accepted the resignation of Pat Torrez as White Mountain schools custodian. They named Josephine Para to replace her.

In addition, third-grade teacher Mark Kashmar resigned effective at the end of this year. He plans to teach in Santa Cruz, Bolivia, next year.

High school secretary Debbie Owen also resigned. She and her husband, Wayne, are opening a nursery. "I would be doing less than my best at both jobs," Owen wrote in her resignation letter.

Judy Shaw, high school speech and drama teacher, also resigned at the end of the year. Her one-year certificate is expiring.

Programs for younger children

In response to growing enrollment, the Ruidoso Municipal School District plans one Spring Registration and Screening Program for kindergarten and younger students.

The program is set for Saturday, May 5, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Nob Hill Elementary School.

The screening will include assorted free physical check-ups, including hearing tests.

District experts say hearing loss can harm a child's ability to speak and adjust to other people.

One in 1,000 infants has hearing defects, and one in 20 school children has hearing loss, they said. A sign of hearing loss is irritable, inattentive behavior.

Also, many Ruidoso students took home Pre-School Census cards, to be filled out and returned. The cards ask for basic information for each child age six years or younger, including birthdate, sex, names, addresses and telephone numbers for parents.

For more information about the Saturday program or the census cards, call Nob Hill Elementary at 257-9041.

than two hours, the board announced the employees they plan to rehire for next school year.

Two teachers whose contracts were not renewed were Ron Geyer and Nancy Holland. Both are coaches who teach science at the high school.

Miller said, "There will be no reasons given" for the decision not to rehire the pair.

A teacher who decided against returning next year was Bonnie Coe of the middle school. Miller said district officials recommended that she be rehired, but that Coe resigned during her evaluation meeting.

Also after the closed meeting, the board selected names for use at schools beginning this fall. The new high school near Gavilan Canyon Road will be called Ruidoso High School.

The upper elementary grades will move to the current middle school building near the airport. It will be called White Mountain Intermediate School.

The locations and names of White Mountain Elementary School and Nob Hill Elementary School will remain the same.

Before the closed meeting, the board members voted 5-0 to increase per diem allowances for teachers who travel outside the district.

Miller asked for an in-state allowance increase of about 14 percent to $50 per day. Out-of-state allowances were also raised, but mileage pay stayed at 22 cents per mile. Employees use the allowances on school business trips.

The board also discussed district attempts to get three additional school buses for 1984-1985. Although orders have been put in, the buses will not arrive by the beginning of the school year, transportation head Don Weems warned.

The school officials discussed the merits of having one contractor running all buses for the district. Presently, five contractors split the buses. Most have one bus, but Rick Simpson runs 10.

Miller said having just one contractor would increase efficiency. Board member Don Swalander countered, "That seems kind of like a restraint of trade."

After some discussion, Swalander said, "I kind of changed my mind." He moved to direct the staff to form a policy about bus contract arrangements. He also moved for approval of the three new buses. The board agreed unanimously.

Permission also was granted to KTNZ-TV to broadcast school athletic events next year. The station is expected to go on the air soon.

In two matters of cooperation with the Village of Ruidoso, the board agreed the district should pay $50,000 per year for three years to help pay for sewer on Gavilan Canyon.

The board also reviewed a lease with the village that had been approved by the state Board of Finance. About 22 acres of land will be leased for three years, with an option for up to five more years.

The village plans to use the land for recreational purposes. It will pay a fee of $1 per acre.

High school diagnostician Sandy Gladden gave a brief presentation about Career Day, which was Monday. She and board members warmly thanked members of the Altrusa Club of Ruidoso for their work on the project.

"I can't express appreciation to Altrusa enough, and to the presenters," Gladden said. The fourth annual event featured speakers from 60 fields. This year's focus was telecommunications.

In other action, board members opened three bids on football uniforms. Miller, Ruidoso High School principal Tom Hansen and new coach Henderson will review them.

In addition, the board called for bids on instructional supplies.

The next school board meeting is a special session planned for Tuesday, April 24. Members expect to open bids on athletic equipment and supplies and on site improvement.

Robbery of cabin clerk reported

"What a way to start a week off," Donna Garlisi said after lunchtime Monday. The office clerk at Sherwood Forest Cabins reported she was robbed of about $55 by three Hispanic men in their late teens to early 30s.

The cabins are on Main Road in the Upper Canyon.

"One guy came up with a gun. It looked like a cannon," she said. She said he held it to her head and twisted her arm behind her back to get her to open the office cabinet.

The armed robber and the other two men spoke in Spanish and broken English, according to Garlisi. "I've never seen them before," she added.

"One guy opened the cabinet with a switchblade," she said. The men took $40 from the office and $15 from her wallet, Garlisi reported.

The trio left on three three-wheel all terrain vehicles, she said. One was red, one yellow, and one was blue and white. The vehicles had New Mexico license plates, she said.

The robbers rode in three directions, she said. "The one with the money went toward town."

"The police were here in seconds," she said.

Ruidoso police searched the surrounding area extensively, said Ruidoso detective Gonzalo Cordova. The department also set up roadblocks at the intersection of Suderth and Mechem drives, in Ponderosa Heights and on 5th Street, said Cordova.

Officers found no suspects.

The police are now searching for three Hispanic males in connection with the armed robbery. One suspect is described as being in his early 30s, six-foot tall and thin, with brown eyes, long kinky brown hair in a pony tail, and a large scar near his left elbow.

The second suspect is described as being in his late 20s or early 30s, five-foot two inches with a heavy build. He is believed to have brown eyes, short brown kinky hair and dark pockmarks.

The third suspect is described as five feet tall and thin, with hazel eyes and brown hair.

Garlisi was the victim of a robbery in Roswell before moving to Ruidoso, she said. She has lived here since January.

"You can be sure I'm going to keep the doors locked from now on," she said after the robbery.

It would include an all-purpose room, a cover over the pool, a theatre and four racquetball courts. Total cost of the project, planned in four phases, was put at slightly more than $3.5 million.

The council took no action on the presentation.

In other business Tuesday, the council:

—Heard from engineer Tim Collins that sewer construction projects would be starting next week at Alto Crest and Gavilan Canyon. Gavilan Canyon Road from Meander to Bog Springs will be closed for two to three months, it was reported.

—Discussed lack of water pressure for fire fighting in Ponderosa Heights. Kay Hatcher, who saw two neighboring houses burn down Saturday night, brought up the matter.

Potter said there were plans for a water storage tank in Ponderosa Heights, but no money to pay for one. It was decided the village administration would investigate recent rulings of the Legislature that allow for supplemental gross receipts taxes to finance infrastructure improvements.

—Approved Ordinance 84-5, for the Ponderosa Heights sewer project.

—Approved Ordinance 84-6, setting fines for the penalty assessment program for traffic misdemeanors.

—Approved Ordinance 84-7, changing the designation of councilmen to councillors, increasing the governing body from five to seven members, and removing items from the Municipal Code that were duplicated in the Uniform Traffic Code.

—Heard from councillor Evans that the BRW planning firm would develop guidelines for an annexation policy in its work on a new comprehensive plan.

—Agreed to have Potter negotiate with the school system on having the village do some paving work at the new high school, to help the school deal with its revenue shortfall created by the Legislature. Atwood wondered if the street department had time to spare.

"I don't like government competing with private enterprise," Atwood added.

Potter said other municipalities, particularly Hobbs, have worked with school systems to good results. He noted that any agreements would be taken to the council for approval.

—Approved hiring of McChesney Associates and Tim Collins to write bid specifications for the White Mountain recreational complex.

—Approved the lone bid of Barnett Carpet for carpeting for the public library, $3,066.35.

—Approved the bid of Lewallen Hobbs for water lines labor, noting that the previously awarded bidder did not have the license to do the work.

—Approved the bid of Ed Black Chevrolet, Albuquerque, on a dump truck for the sewer department, $11,929.68.

—Approved board and committee appointments with the exception of Personnel Board and Planning and Zoning Commission. Mayor George White was asked to present his choices for those committees at the next regular council meeting.

—Set a public hearing on an annexation request for land adjoining Alpine Village Road and Forest Heights subdivision for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 1, at village hall.

—Approved various Planning and Zoning items previously approved by Planning and Zoning Commission.

The Ruidoso Business Association (RBA) submitted a request for $4,792 based on expenditures for travel to trade shows, a slide presentation exhibited at the shows, and advertising in national magazines.

RBA was originally allotted $2,000 this year for aid in producing the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival. LTC approved an additional $2,000 at Wednesday's meeting to cover trade show and advertising expenditures.

RBA president Glen Ferguson was instructed to submit the $4,000 expenditure to the state for possible matching funds. Any of the funds provided by the state will be returned to the lodgers' tax fund.

The Alamogordo Unit of the American Contract Bridge League requested $1,000 to help promotion of its annual Sectional Bridge Tournament. The tournament will be at the Inn of the Mountain Gods November 2-4. It attracted 700 to 800 people last year.

The Gerald Tully Team Roping Contest requested $1,400 to purchase two saddles for the contest, which is expected to attract over 1,000 two-man teams early in June.

After all budget requests had been submitted, LTC member Rod Adamson said he hoped the committee would receive some unusual advertising requests outside of conventional newspaper and magazine advertising. LTC member JoAnn Farris said she would like to see Ruidoso purchase billboard space for advertising.

He also said he would like to see better monitoring of response to advertising.

Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth said Ruidoso ranked fourth among 61 advertisers in response to a Texas Monthly magazine travel planner. He also said he has requested some sort of response monitoring for Ruidoso's ads from the Epstein advertising agency.

LTC member Clark Carpenter also lamented the amount of money Ruidoso has for advertising. The LTC had a budget of $159,235 for 1983-84.

"We really have an embarrassingly small amount of money for media advertising," said Carpenter. He suggested a one-quarter percent increase in the local gross receipts tax to be used for advertising. He predicted the tax would generate in the range of $400,000 for Ruidoso.

Chamber president James Paxton said LTC could generate approximately $60,000 immediately by raising the lodgers' tax from the current two percent to three percent. The quarter-percent gross receipts tax would have to be authorized the state Legislature.

DECORATING IDEAS

QUICK TIPS

It's Spring — a time when colors come alive! Few people realize how intimately color affects us — so here are some ideas on how you can put color to work!

Color is an aspect of light and all colors are a breakdown of light. Colors you select in your clothing help you express your personality — they are generally either colors you feel comfortable with or colors you select to make a statement or impact.

The same goes for colors you may select to decorate your home plus one more important aspect — colors you use in your home should help to set the mood for you and your family in the rooms they are to be used.

When you start your decorating, we suggest you do some preplanning — start with the predominant color you wish to use, and then think through.

Once you've got some basic ideas — why not give me a call? I'll be happy to help you make all your final color decisions!

Private Property Week • April 8-14

You know what an important investment home ownership can be. You know that when enough new homes are built, badly needed jobs for many of our unemployed are provided. Those are just two ways homes contribute to the strength of our nation.

Just as important, we feel, is the sense of pride and involvement that comes with owning a home. As homeowners, people establish roots. A sense of stability and a stake in the future lead to greater care for one's community. Owning a home carries with it this special sense of belonging.

During Private Property Week, local REALTORS® — Members of the NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF REALTORS® — salute you, the people that own homes in this area. Thank you for letting us serve you — and for contributing so much to our community and nation.

Geyer relieved of coaching duties

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball coach Ron Geyer has been relieved of his coaching duties effective the end of the 1983-84 school year.

Geyer, who was the Warriors' head coach for two seasons, also will be relieved of his teaching duties at the end of the school year. That announcement was made at Tuesday's monthly school board meeting at the Ruidoso school district administrative office. Girls assistant volleyball coach Nancy Holland also was relieved of her coaching and teaching duties effective the end of the 1983-84 school year.

"I'm very disappointed in not being rehired as basketball coach after only two years of being head coach, because I feel there has been tremendous improvement in the basketball program," Geyer said. "I have become very close to all of the boys and we are now competitive with all the schools in our district."

Ruidoso High School principal Tom Hansen would not comment on the decision not to rehire Geyer and Holland.

Geyer had a 4-38 record in his two seasons as head coach. In 1982-83, his record was 0-20, and this past season the Warriors posted a 4-18 record.

However, the 1983-84 Warrior varsity was competitive in most of the games, with the majority of

RON GEYER

Ruidoso's losses coming by less than 10 points. Ruidoso also won the consolation title of the Smokey Bear Classic in Capitán.

Geyer worked with young teams both seasons. Most of his players were junior and sophomores, and the majority of his players are returning next season.

Geyer coached the Warrior boys junior varsity in 1981-82, his first year at the Ruidoso campus.

He was also a member of the Warrior football coaching staff, last fall being the head coach of the freshman team.

Before coming to Ruidoso, Geyer was the head coach of the boys and girls cross-country teams at Jefferson High School in El Paso, Texas. He was also assistant boys basketball coach there.

Holland coached at Ruidoso for two years. She also coached the Warrior girls junior varsity basketball team in the 1982-83 season.

Roswell competition important for Warriors' track teams

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

The Roswell Invitational can be called a stepping stone during the long high school track season.

When the Ruidoso High School boys and girls track teams compete in the Roswell meet Friday afternoon and evening, the Warriors will be hoping to improve their times to state-qualifying level. The first state-qualifying meet will be next Thursday at Artesia.

"This week's meet is very important," said Warrior boys head coach Ronny Maskew. "We can use it to get primed for all the state qualifying meets."

"It's also a good confidence builder. There is usually good competition and we usually have good times and distances."

Trials will begin at 1 p.m., with the running finals at 6 p.m.

The Warriors will be shooting for the state qualifying times in most events.

In the boys division, junior Cisco Bob hopes to dip below the state record in the 1,500 meters. Bob has run a 4:08.90 this season and is aiming for a sub-4:05.0 time at Roswell. The state AAA division record is 4:07.5. Bob finished third in the state meet last season.

Bob also will run in the 3,000 meters. He has a best of 9:13.30 in that event and is looking to go below nine minutes.

Francisco Olvera and Gabe Tam are also looking for personal bests in the 3,000 meters. Both are aiming to equal the state qualifying standard of 9:46.0.

Curt McClellan, another junior, has a best of 2:01.30 in the 800 meters this season. Maskew thinks he can go below two minutes at Roswell.

The Warrior two-lapper won the 800 meters at the Las Cruces Invitational last weekend in 2:05.50. However, heavy rain and winds slowed McClellan's time.

Ruidoso also expects to improve times in the relays.

The Warriors 400-meter and 800-meter relay teams of Steve Snidow, Eric Strobel, Ryan Frost and McClellan could near the state qualifying standards.

Ruidoso has a best of 45.6 in the shorter event and a 1:35.20 in the 800-meter relay. The team is shooting for a 44.9 and 1:33.7 at Roswell.

The 1,600-meter relay team of McClellan, Snidow, Strobel and Tracy Gann is aiming for a 3:34.0 time. The first three runners plus Rodney Rose ran a 3:36.30 last week at Las Cruces. Snidow and Strobel are good short-distance sprinters and also have good endurance for the 1,600-meter relay. Gann is also a high jumper.

Frost could do well in the 100 meters and 200 meters. The sophomore was second in the 100 meters and third in the 200 meters at Portales two weeks ago.

Russell Easter and Justin Smith are improving in the intermediate hurdles. The two join Mark Johnston to give Ruidoso a talented trio of long jumpers.

In the girls competition, head coach Sergio Castanon hopes to get some good times out of his injury-laden group.

Rachel Kaydahzine, Berdine Smith, Jackie Jefferson and Gina Cochise are injured. The Warriors will have just 11 girls in the meet.

However, several Warriors could do well.

Freshman Katherine Sanchez could be a threat in the long jump. She finished fourth at Las Cruces with a personal best of 15-5. Sanchez also improved her hurdles time by three seconds. Deanna Pese has been consistent in the 800 meters and will probably run on the 1,600-meter relay team. Other members of the team will probably include Laura Trapp, Sanchez and Kim Daniels.

Daniels, Sanchez, Trapp and Kerry Gladden will probably make up the medley relay squad.

At Las Cruces the Warriors finished fourth in both relay events but had the services of Jefferson.

Daniels is a good sprinter from 100 meters to 400 meters and could be tough there.

Felicia Childress might run in the 300-meter hurdles and 400 meters.

Lillian Lopez and Diane McClure have done well in the shot put and discus and stand a chance in those events.

"We're going to improve our times," Castanon commented. "There'll be some good competition there and we're looking for good races."

Volleyball dates changed

The Ruidoso Park and Recreation Department has changed the dates for the coed adult volleyball program at White Mountain Middle School.

Volleyball nights are now Tuesday and Thursday, starting at 7. Previously, matches were played on Thursday and Saturday nights.

The department will have a Parks and Recreation Commission meeting every third Thursday at 10 a.m. in the Ruidoso Village Hall. The public is welcome.

Joan Leslie, Tracy Herd, Shawna McDaniel and Becky Huey ran a 55.15 for second place.

Capitán's 800-meter and 1,600-meter relays also took second, running a 1:55.7 and a 4:50.0.

Huey took a second in the 400 meters with a 66.4 time. Becky Phillips added a second in the intermediate hurdles and a second in the low hurdles.

Leslie Guck took a second in the discus with an 86-foot effort.

The Capitán boys scored 23 points in finishing behind Tatum, New Mexico Military Institute, Dexter, Cloudcroft and Hagerman.

Danny Cummins, Tim McElhannon, Ben Wolfe and Sammy Castillo made up three relay teams that placed.

The 400-meter relay was third in 48.15; the 800-meter relay finished fourth in 1:42.0; and the 1,600-meter relay took third in 3:54.0.

Todd Proctor was third in the javelin with a 150-foot throw and took fourth in the shot put with a 40-9 toss.

McElhannon finished fourth in the javelin with a 147-foot effort. He was also fourth in the 400 meters in 53.74.

Daron Armstrong was fourth in the 3,000 meters for the Tigers' other points.

The Capitán Junior High seventh-grade girls finished second in Tuesday's Tularosa Relays, getting a host of places.

Carrizozo's boys have a strong sprint team led by Stevie Stearns and John Rouche. They combined with James Guevara and Joseph Candelaria to win the 400-meter relay at the Grizzly Relays in 46.4.

Stearns also won the 100 meters and 200 meters in the meet.

Christetta Chavez leads the Grizzly girls. She won the 100 meters, 200 meters and both hurdle events in last weekend's meet.

Liz Beltran won the discus and was second in the shot put, and Mary Jane Ferguson was fifth in the shot put.

Private Property Week, 1984

Individual freedoms Americans hold dear are the bedrock on which our democracy is anchored. One basic freedom in this country which contributes to our national unity is the right of all citizens to own, transfer, and sell private property. As President Abraham Lincoln said, "The strength of a nation lies in the homes of its people."

Private Property Week provides an opportunity for all Americans to reflect upon the fundamental values of private property ownership and its essential importance to the stability of our society. The basic right to own and convey private property regardless of race, creed, color, or sex strengthens the bonds of community and unity throughout our country.

Private property ownership encourages citizens to participate in the allocation of civic resources and the localized decision-making that truly make our democracy work. Nearly two-thirds of American families now own their own homes, and the right of the other one-third to pursue this goal is an important part of America's commitment to progress in the future.

The right to own private property has several important components: the right to peaceful, non-criminal use of property that does not violate the right of others; the right of privacy; and the right to exchange, transfer, or bequeath property to one's heirs. I encourage all Americans to join with members of the National Association of Realtors in their observance of Private Property Week, April 8-14, 1984.

Each of these principles is essential to our nation's continued advancement.

Ruidoso boy netters win, girls beaten

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School boys tennis team took a 5-4 win over Portales while the Warrior girls lost 7-2 in action Tuesday on the Sierra Swim and Racquet Club courts.

Ruidoso is now 4-2 in boys action and 1-5 in girls play. The Warriors will host tough New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) at 9 a.m. Saturday on the Racquet Club courts.

The Warriors were never in serious trouble in the boys' victory over Portales, their second win over the Rams this season.

Number one Warrior Ryan Brown took a decisive 6-3, 6-2 win over Sean McDonald to highlight the singles competition. Brown is now 5-1 in singles competition on the season.

Other singles action saw Johnny Gonzales of Portales top Jim Smith of Ruidoso 7-5, 6-0, in the second singles match; Mike Smith beat the Rams' Danny Holand 7-5, 4-6, 6-1; Zach Swalander of Ruidoso top Kim Willis, 6-1, 6-1; Glenn Westergren of the Warriors fall to Dan Buzard 7-5, 6-3; and Mitch Rhodes defeat Joseph Ortiz of the visitors 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles competition saw the Smith brothers nipped by McDonald and Gonzales, 5-7, 7-5, 7-6, in the number one match.

The other doubles matches had Brown and Swalander beating Holland and Ortiz 6-2, 6-3; and Westergren and Rhodes losing to Willis and Buzard 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

In girls action, Laura Trapp and Donna Mobley gained wins in the top single matches for the Warriors.

Trapp raised her record to 4-1 with an easy 6-3, 6-0 victory over Maria Clark in the number one match.

Mobley defeated Denise Tarango 7-6, 6-4, but the rest of the matches belonged to Portales.

Michele Morrow of the Warriors fell to Ann Timmons 6-1, 6-2; Marcie Mullican was beaten by the Rams' Sindt Smith, 6-2, 0-6, 6-0; Portales' Lori Elliott topped Rachel McCoy 6-1, 6-2; and Ruidoso's Melissa Henderson lost a 6-3, 6-4 decision to Kami Madina.

Mobley and Michele Morrow lost a 6-2, 6-2 decision to Clark and Timmons in the number one doubles match.

In other doubles action, Trapp and Mullican were nipped by Tarango and Smith, 6-3, 7-5; and Henderson and Lori Morrow fell to Elliott and Madina 6-4, 6-4.

Ruidoso coach Mike Crocker also had the White Mountain Middle School girls and boys team play the Portales junior varsity at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Tuesday.

The Brave girls took a 4-2 decision and the White Mountain boys lost 9-0. However, the Braves were competing against players older than them. Crocker was pleased with the way his athletes played.

"They're coming along real well," he said. "I think most of our girls matches were real close. I was also real proud of the White Mountain girls."

Crocker liked the way Mobley played in her singles win over Tarango.

"She was real sharp," he remarked. "I think she won the tiebreaker (7-6) by hitting it backhand over the net and the other girl missed it."

Now comes NMMI, one of the better teams in the district.

The Colt boys beat Ruidoso 5-4 in the first meeting between the two teams last month in Roswell. NMMI's girls won 8-1.

However, high winds hurt the Warriors in those matches.

"We don't have high winds here like they have down there," Crocker said. "I hope we can play better this time. However, a few of my kids are going on vacation then."

Michele Morrow of the Ruidoso High School girls tennis team strokes a backhand in her singles match Tuesday at Sierra Swim and Racquet Club. Morrow and the Warrior girls team lost to Portales, but the Ruidoso boys won.

Brave boys win Tularosa track meet

White Mountain Middle School's boys eighth-grade track team won their division at the season-ending Tularosa Relays Tuesday afternoon.

The Brave boys scored 73 points to beat out second-place Socorro by 21 points.

White Mountain's eighth-grade girls finished third in their division with 35 points, and the seventh-grade boys were fifth with 17 points.

Clint Bob took a first in the 800 meters and a second in the shot put to lead the Brave eighth-grade boys. He had a 2:26.8 time in the two-lap race and threw the shot put 31-0.

Other individual Brave firsts went to Adolph Herrera in the 400 meters (50.4), Wayne Watts in the high jump (5-2) and Sean Moore in the discus (114-8).

The White Mountain 800-medley relay team of Stagger Pittman, Brent Walsh, Watts and Moore won in 1:56.6.

Besides Bob's second in the shot put, other runner-up spots went to Don Denny in the 800 meters (2:29.6), and the 400-meter relay team of Rusty Shelton, Watts, Moore and Herrera (53.0).

Third places went to Shelton in the 100 meters (13.3), Walsh in the high jump (4-10), Denny in the low hurdles (17.3), and the 800-meter relay team of Shelton, Watts, Herrera and Moore (1:52.4).

Pittman was fourth in the 200 meters in 27.7, and Mike Dickinson took fifth in the low hurdles.

The eighth-grade girls team was paced by Linder Rad, a seventh-grader. Rad won the 75-meter low hurdles in 14.4.

Capitan closer to establishing P&Z

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

The Capitan village council took a few steps closer to the establishment of a planning and zoning commission for the Village of Capitan.

During the Monday night meeting of the council, Capitan trustees heard Mayor David Cummins name David Strickland and Bill Allred to the proposed Capitan Planning and Zoning Commission. Cummins said he would meet with three other Capitan residents before the next meeting of the council, and complete the five-member commission at that meeting.

In other planning and zoning developments, trustees heard a presentation from Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission chairman Bill Seelbach and county manager Suzanne Cox.

Seelbach outlined the development of the county's planning and zoning organization, from reliance on a vague, two-page document 10 years ago to present efforts at further defining the detailed Subdivision Regulations. Seelbach suggested that the future Capitan Planning and Zoning Commission first do a complete inventory of the village.

"You may be very surprised at what's out there," he said.

Seelbach also stressed the amount of information and technical help available to the village from such groups as the Soil Conservation Service, the Environmental Improvement Division of the state Health and Environment Department, the State Engineer and the State Highway Department. He also mentioned the importance of zoning in the county and in Capitan.

"Some very good planning and foresight can really make the difference down the road," he said.

Seelbach offered the help of the county Planning and Zoning Commission to the efforts of the proposed Capitan commission.

County manager Cox then discussed the county's capabilities in map-making and computer collection of data about county landowners. Cox also described the county procedure of subdivision acceptance to the trustees.

She suggested that the Capitan group and the county Planning and Zoning Commission set up a joint workshop to go over the process of establishing a planning and zoning commission for Capitan.

"I'm sure that we're going to need your help," trustee Kelly Beavers said.

Also during the meeting, Beavers moved that plats or replats be presented to the council at least one meeting prior to review or acceptance of those plats. Beavers said that would allow the trustees to become better informed about areas to be platted or replatted before making a decision. His motion passed unanimously.

In other business, the trustees:

—Approved, then reversed their decision to increase the number of members of the Capitan Cemetery Board from five to seven. Village attorney H. John Underwood said the action taken by the council early in the meeting to increase the size of the board was invalid because of a state statute requiring that cemetery boards consist of five members.

—Voted to vacate a road as requested by Leon Eggleston.

—Voted to table a request by Jerry Lobb to replat an area of Thunderbird Hills until further study can be done.

—Voted to hire McKay and Company of Clovis to perform the audit of the village for $3,339.53.

—Voted to advertise for bids for the village's insurance.

—Heard comments from Capitan resident Virginia Pogue on the water situation. Pogue complained that she had been left without water several times recently, and suggested that the trustees not consider any capital improvement expenses until the water situation is resolved.

She also said she would bring a lawsuit for discrimination against the village if she were again left without water while other parts of the village had water.

"I want water up there if you have water down here," she said. "I am just fed up with this."

Pogue also complained that she had had to pay for water never received, alleging that her water meter continued to run even when there was no water reaching her home.

"I've paid for a lot of hot air from this village," she said.

—Heard a report from Cummins on several proposals the village has received for a new village hall. He said offers to sell property to the village have been received from Tommy Allen, Olan Booher and Pat L. Huey.

Cummins also outlined a proposal of enlarging the present village hall, as submitted by the village administrative staff. The trustees voted to make arrangements to view the subject properties.

The mayor stressed that these were only proposals, and that the council would probably not take any action soon on expenditure of capital improvement funds.

—Heard Mayor Cummins offer tree branches that have been cut down in Capitan to anyone that wanted them for firewood.

—Heard a report from Water Advisory Board chairman Vernon Goodwin on a meeting held by that board on March 20. Goodwin reported that bids for testing of a well on the Pearson property were considered by the board to be excessive.

He said the board decided that finding water of good quality would be given more emphasis than finding water in quantity. Goodwin said the board had voted to recommend that the bid of Keys Drilling of Roswell be accepted. The trustees did accept Keys' bid.

Goodwin also reported the arrival Friday in Capitan of Jim Millington of the Albuquerque firm of Andrews, Asbury and Robert, the firm that has been hired by the village for work on the water situation.

According to Goodwin, Millington began working to bring the 100,000-gallon tank into commission. Goodwin also reported that a Forest Service helicopter pad was being considered as a site for the future filtration system.

"We believe this site is splendid," he said.

—Approved the appointment of Jimmie Stewart as alternate judge.

—Voted to donate a disc to the fairgrounds as requested by Harvey Martin.

—Approved the appointment of Cummins to the Eagle Creek Water Association due to the resignation Friday of Don Stark from that board.

Ruidoso Lodgers Association members Clark Carpenter (right) and Don Wenner tally officer election results.

Lodgers group elects officers

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

New officers for the Ruidoso Lodgers Association (RLA) were elected at Tuesday's meeting of the group in the multi-purpose room of the Ruidoso Public Library.

Elected were Bill Rawlins, president; Phil Hamilton, vice president; Ida Koehler, secretary; Betty Mize, treasurer; Juanita Bratcher, board member; and Charles Johnson, board member. Former president Robert Ivy received an automatic appointment to the board of directors as immediate past president.

The candidates were all part of a slate organized by the nominating committee, according to RLA member Clark Carpenter. In addition, Pat Roberts, owner of Sherwood Forest Cabins and Motel, was nominated from the floor as a presidential candidate, the only floor nomination made.

Also during the meeting, the lodgers heard a suggestion from Koehler that a delegation from the group be sent to the Wednesday meeting of the Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC).

"We are the ones that are collecting the money for this thing," she said of the tax.

"I think we should definitely show an interest," said Carpenter, who is also a member of LTC. "The more you can be there to represent yourselves, the better."

Newly elected president Rawlins suggested that the group appoint a specific group of people to attend the meeting, instead of just urging members to attend. The members then voted to send Rawlins, Koehler and Bratcher to the meeting.

Carpenter gave the group an update on the progress of LTC. He said the committee is getting more out of the lodgers' tax funds this year than ever before.

He said this year's committee was the best ever. Carpenter also outlined an LTC proposal that a person be hired who would oversee the expenditure of all lodgers' tax funds.

"This person will direct the flow of funds to the advertisers," he said of the proposed position.

Carpenter said the feeling on LTC is favorable to having such an employee. He said LTC would have to recommend the change to the Ruidoso village council, and that body would have to approve the measure before such a position would be created.

Also during the meeting, the lodgers heard a presentation by Koehler on maps showing emergency evacuation routes of Ruidoso. She asked the association to consider taking up the project of mass-producing the maps for use in area lodging establishments.

"We're in the fire season right now," she said. Koehler's suggestion was tabled for further study.

Also during the meeting, it was announced that RLA membership dues were now payable. The group also decided that the next meeting would be a luncheon meeting. Statements listing dues owed and the location of the next meeting will be sent to all members, according to Koehler.

Dale Light new IMG tennis pro

by TIM PALMER
News Editor

Like many tennis players, Dale Light has taken a wandering route to where he is now.

The new tennis professional at the Inn of the Mountain Gods has played and taught tennis from Pennsylvania to Puerto Rico. He spent four years as head tennis coach at New Mexico State University.

Now he is faced with the job of waking up a sleeping tennis program at the Inn, and he sees the Ruidoso tennis community as a key element in his plans.

"My feeling is that I want to see those courts occupied," he said, referring to the six outdoor and two indoor courts at the Inn.

Light, who hails from Hershey, Pennsylvania, took up tennis at an early age. But he played baseball well enough to start college with a baseball scholarship.

Walking by the tennis courts one day, he decided the racquet sport was more for him.

"My real love was really tennis," he said. Light played collegiate tennis at Shippensburg State University in Pennsylvania, holding down the number one position on his team for two years.

Following college, he had a go at the pro circuit, playing money tournaments along the East Coast. A shoulder injury and a desire to make a more dependable living than pro tennis offered led him to a tennis teaching job in Pennsylvania.

Two years later, Light went to Puerto Rico to take a pro's job at The Caribbean resort. He was employed by Peter Burwash International, an organization that places tennis pros all over the world.

Light was very impressed with the Burwash teaching method.

"I consider (Burwash) to be the foremost teacher in the country today," he said.

In 1979, Light went to Las Cruces. He coached the men's and women's teams at NMSU through the 1983 season.

Today, Light lists the psychology of competition, along with fitness through tennis, as areas of interest to him as a teacher. He wants to see players get a lot of physical workout while playing tennis, through what he calls "aerobic tennis."

Light points out that his first concern here, however, is promoting his tennis program. He said it seemed a lot of local people were not aware of the "beautiful bubble" (the Inn's two-court indoor facility).

Light wants to encourage year-round tennis, through programs like round-robin doubles leagues for local men and women players. He invited any tennis players—or persons who would like to learn the game—to contact him to discuss ideas for programs.

The pro plans a "Tennis Kickoff Week" April 23-30 to help familiarize the public with the tennis program at the Inn.

Wednesday, April 25, will be Ladies Day, with free clinics and play for beginners (9 a.m. to 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.) and intermediates (10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. to 7 p.m.).

Saturday, April 28, will be Youth Day. Beginning at 9 a.m., clinics for kids will run all morning.

On Sunday, April 29, there will be a men's tennis clinic and doubles play with Light from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

A spring clearance sale in the pro shop will coincide with the week of clinics. Light also plans a tournament for local players in May.

There will be no charge for any of the kickoff week tennis activities, Light said, but he asked that players sign up beforehand by calling the tennis shop at 257-5141, extension 7425.

Light's enthusiasm for his favorite sport is something he wants others to share.

"The fun is there," he said. "It's just a question of getting the people out there."

At the Sunday services at Saint Anne Chapel in Glenwood, Paul and Nellie Ruth Jones presented to the church Two Cruets in commemoration of the ninety-seventh birthday of Nellie's Aunt, Winnie Coe Hunt of Norman, Oklahoma.

The Cruets are the small glass vessels which hold the water and the wine for the communion service.

Along with her sister Edith Coe Bigsby, Winnie is one of the two living of the six daughters of Frank and Helena Coe.

Nellie Ruth is the daughter of Helena, youngest of the Frank Coe sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coe were two of the founders of Saint Anne Chapel which was named in honor of Ann Tully, Helena Coe's mother. All the Coe sisters have been devoted members of Saint Anne Chapel.

A bright spot in the service was a sermon by lay reader Ann Gaddy on the subject of "The Light of Our Saviour Christ in Our Lives." Ann also made a talk about the Cannon eight, Preacher Lewis School, which teaches ministry in the Episcopal Church.

Winnie Coe Hunt was at the service in spirit and brought a blessing to all of us.

Editorial

"The strength of a nation lies in the homes of its people," said Abraham Lincoln.

The National Association of Realtors has adopted that saying as the theme for national Private Property Week, April 8-14.

It has always been part of "The American Dream" to own one's home, and our right to do so is another of those freedoms we tend to take for granted—but shouldn't.

Private property rights can be defined as an aggregate of rights guaranteed and protected by the government. It generally includes the rights to dispose of property in every legal way, to possess it, to use it and to exclude everyone else from interfering with it.

According to the United Nations, the U.S. has more home ownership than any other nation, with 64 percent of the adult population owning homes. Comparative figures are 54 percent for the United Kingdom, 51 percent for France and 37 percent for West Germany.

Count that as one more affirmation of our good fortune to be Americans.

The contribution of the real estate industry to the economy of Ruidoso is something else that probably tends to be taken for granted. More than $70 million in property changes hands each year through Board of Realtors-affiliated offices alone, and the industry's work force helps support the entire business community.

When you sit back in your "castle" tonight, or when you dream of someday owning one, be thankful for private property.—TP

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—There's an irate reader out there who wants this column to lay off Toney Anaya.

Stick to the issues, she says, and stop trying to psychoanalyze the Governor.

That would be easy to do: Issues, after all, are abstract, and not likely to offend anybody. But to do it would be to ignore one reality: Toney Anaya is an issue. If you don't believe that, stick around. You'll see it in almost every political campaign from now to November.

That did not become a fact because of this correspondent. Anaya himself made it that way.

Just take public education, if you want an example. It would be good if we all considered that topic in a calm and intellectual manner. Not only does that approach befit the subject matter, but it might also lead us to rational conclusions, to be supported coolly and calmly.

Did we get that this year? No—because of Toney Anaya. He "captured" the topic, made it his own, and we ended up discussing him instead of it.

Ask your favorite sensible educator and he or she will tell you privately that Anaya's sponsorship turned what should have been sensible debate into a disaster. School people would be happy if he never mentioned their problems again—or they wish they could get him to come out against them.

Proponents of dozens of other issues are practically hiding in the swamp, hoping he will not notice them. They don't want their problems picked up and made part of an Anaya crusade. They know that can kill the greatest ideas.

How can any observer keep from asking, "What is there about this guy which causes that to happen?" In short, how can anyone resist trying to psychoanalyze him?

Here are some of the things those of us who follow him around have watched him doing repeatedly which lead to his sponsorship generating disaster: —Living on impulse.

From making announcements to hiring staffers to adopting programs, our Governor seems to act as often as not on the spur of the moment. He evidently produces a larger than average supply of adrenalin daily, which accounts for his compulsion to work and work and work.—Unfortunately, that same unchanneled energy prevents much of the work from being effective.

—Talking too soon. You can watch those close to him flinch as the mouth goes into action. They know his pattern: Once he starts, he gets so enthralled with what he is saying there is no telling where he will conclude the sentence.

By now, reporters know his pattern well. Ask him a question, and he will set deadlines and make promises he cannot possibly meet. He will bluster and threaten about things he cannot possibly deliver. And if you don't like the answer you get in the news conference, catch him after it. He'll go on building up from where he left off, till you are bound to get a story.

Great for us. Bad for him. He has to live with those stories.

—Needlessness. This appears to be a man who knows only one way to go at a problem—head on. He cannot let others carry his programs, though that is an absolute essential when dealing with legislators and a bureaucracy. He has to be the center of it all.

And he does not listen to the many advisors he has gathered around him, as they will ruefully admit. He tells us his favorite advisor is the face he sees when he looks in the shaving mirror in the morning. That would be great if that advisor had proved successful. On the basis of the Anaya record, you'd have to recommend he start listening to someone else.

But what's the use? He won't listen to this advice either.

Maybe the reader is right, though not for the reasons she listed.

It's not that it's mean, unkind and unfair to keep talking about what sort of man Anaya is. It's just that it's pointless.

Why speak if nobody listens?

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I am writing this letter in support of the feelings expressed by Leighayn Green in her recent letter to you. (4-9-84) I also feel that the Festival is turning into a "high society" event. The initial idea of the festival was to bring a vestige of culture to the people of Ruidoso. However, each year the price of tickets has risen and most of us "common people" cannot afford an evening at the symphony. My husband and I attended last year at the $25 each price, but at $35 each this year, as much as we enjoy these performances, and although it is not beyond our means, we cannot justify spending that amount for one evening's entertainment.

I was brought up on the classics, and am not, as Leighayn confesses to be, not very knowledgeable about the different works. I wholly enjoy a symphony performance and wish that others, whether or not they know the classics, but who enjoy them, could afford to do so here in Ruidoso. I share Leighayn's wishes for more informal performances by the symphony and hope that others who feel the same will make their wishes known to the Festival board. Let's turn the Ruidoso Summer Festival into a time that everyone can enjoy again; not just a "high society" clique for the fortunate few.

ELLIE GEIGER

DEAR EDITOR:

I wish to thank Mike Gladden of the Ruidoso Municipal Schools for participating with the Lincoln County Red Cross in making it possible for us to train a number of the Ruidoso school teachers in C.P.R. I wish to thank the community instructors and Ruidoso E.M.S. for its cooperation in this training program.

We urge all citizens of Lincoln County who are interested in becoming trained in first aid and C.P.R. to contact the Lincoln County Red Cross at 237-5189.

It is truly a pleasure to be associated with a volunteer organization that is able to muster such fine community support and volunteers.

FIRST AID CHAIRMAN
LINCOLN COUNTY

DEAR EDITOR:

I'm writing this letter in order to applaud the fine letter of Richard Shellyn (4-2-84) on Lincoln's situation.

That the man truly cares about and loves the town of Lincoln, the surrounding area and its residents comes shining through in each line of his letter.

His appreciation of the "unique freedoms" of America is self-evident; and his hope that these freedoms will not be "completely eroded and finally taken away ordinance by ordinance" should stir each of us in our hearts and souls.

Mr. Shellyn sets a fine example that each individual should not be afraid to voice his opinion and should feel an obligation to do so.

Yes, Mr. Shellyn, your letter was of immense value to us who wish to keep alive the spirit of rugged individualism which makes America the great country it is today.

SINCERELY
SUE GOBER

Citicorp Scores in Las Vegas

The Nevada Legislature proved itself willing where the New Mexico Legislature was not, and Citicorp's planned giant credit card center will be going to Las Vegas, Nev., instead of Albuquerque.

Time will show whether the move will put Nevada on the ground floor of national bank expansion or whether it will prove to have been a mistake.

Nevada today is largely a one-industry state because of a 1931 legislative act legalizing gambling. Nevada's venture into uncharted legislative waters was at least partly a move to break the state's dependence on the gambling industry.

We don't begrudge our fellow Sunbelt state the chance to be the one to gamble with inviting in the giant Citicorp to help turn the national banking landscape upside down. They were more willing than we to put their local financial industry at risk on the green felt of the changing regulatory climate. Albuquerque Journal.

Say it ain't so

Some of the nation's heroes certainly have furnished images. Joe Namath at one time could do no wrong in the eyes of his fans. He was a fantastic athlete. Now, the former all pro quarterback has been fined and placed on probation after pleading guilty to a DWI charge. Many other athletes, in most major sports, have faced drug charges or alcohol abuse charges, which reduces the number of heroes in the eyes of the younger generation. Athletes, especially, should be conscious of their actions on the field. They make major mistakes in conduct involving morals. Alamogordo Daily News

News Malady

As if we don't have enough to worry about, a new human malady has been invented, according to Professor Joseph Weizenbaum, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He says that just as the makers of patent medicines in the past invented illnesses such as "tired blood" in order to create a market for their products, now it's computer illiteracy which is affecting people. There is a bright side. The malady is harmless unless you happen to be a computer operator or programmer. Alamogordo Daily News

Reporter's Round

by Darrell Pehr

Signs, signs, signs. The Ruidoso area is well populated with nearly every description of signs, ranging from squatty real estate signs that spot the front yards of many homes and businesses in Ruidoso, to mammoth billboards that broadcast the ooohs and aahs of lower Lincoln County.

Among the multitudes, however, are some signs that are more complex in meaning than first glance will tell.

Take, for example, a sign along a lonely stretch of Highway 70 in Ruidoso Downs. It reads, "Do Not Throw Trash." Sounds simple enough, right?

But what about motorists who simply "toss" their trash on the roadside? Does this sign imply that it is okay to "dump" trash or "pitch" trash? And what about people who "jettison" their trash?

Imagine, if you will, two police officers carefully watching the stretch of road protected by this sign. A motorist passes by, and left-handed, flings a balled-up brown bag of unknown contents into the roadside ditch.

"Looked like a hook-shot to me," one officer might say. "I think it was a throw, whaddya think, Sam."

"Oh, I don't know, Joe. There was a lot of wrist action there," the other officer might respond. "I'd say it was a toss."

Then there's the sign, also on the side of Highway 70, that reads, "No Parking Between Signs." The next closest sign—reading 17-10—is about three feet away. The signs are in an area that is bounded within five feet on either side by Highway 70 and a sidewalk.

The signs make it very clear that no parking shall take place in that three-foot by five-foot space. These signs are doing an excellent job of preventing congestion in this prime parking area.

Even farther down Highway 70, one finds the sign for the "Back Forty Mobile Park." This is apparently a park that can move at will, and is sometimes found across the street, or on the other side of Alto, or perhaps somewhere in Minnesota, depending on how mobile the park is on a given day.

Another sign, situated in front of a local gas station, reads, "Tacos Chilled and Burrit." What is this, the sign of some South American law firm? The other side of the sign clears up the mystery. It reads "Tacos Chilled and Burritos."

This reporter's favorite, however, is the sign found posted on the doors of most public buildings. There is one, in fact, on the entrance door of the Ruidoso Post Office. It reads "No Dogs Allowed (Except Seeing Eye Dogs)."

Part of this sign is meaningful to most people. "No Dogs Allowed" gives a message to most of its readers that Rover has to stay in the car.

But who is the second line intended for? When a person being led by a seeing-eye dog approaches the door, who is supposed to read that it is okay for the dog to lead the blind person in? The dog?

The Silver Lining

A Grand Daughter For
Floyd and Helga Haake
Speaking of April birthdays, this morning, April Ten, I received a phone call from Helga Haake "The Nordic Queen", saying she had returned from Albuquerque where she had been present at the arrival, April two, of her granddaughter Heather Alice Haake.
Little Heather is the second child of Floyd D. Haake Jr., better known as Terry, and his wife, the former Galyn Barney. Their eldest child is Jack Gabriel Haake, age twenty-two months.
Terry was raised in Ruidoso and attended Ruidoso High School, and later New Mexico Institute. He met his wife Heather while attending Brigham Young University. Terry and Galyn and Heather and Jack now live in Albuquerque where Terry is attending the University of New Mexico Law School.

We rejoice with the well-beloved Haake family at the arrival of little Heather who will gladden all their hearts and be a blessing always.
Birthday Of Eldest Of Storm Brothers
On this idyllic Spring day, April Ten, I am remembering our eldest brother, John Whippo Storm, born in Denver, Colorado, April Fifteen, 1907, in the home of Grandpa and Grandma Kenney.
He was named after his grandfather, John Calvin Kennedy, Captain in the Thirteenth Illinois Cavalry in the Civil War, and later Adjutant General of the state of Colorado.

At the age of one year and ten months he set sail from Seattle with our Mother on the steamship, Yucatan, to join our father in Valdez, Alaska.

With Mother he arrived in Valdez in mid January during one of the heaviest snows in the history of that snowy region. The following October I joined the family, and John took over the job of looking after me. On the visit to Valdez, in 1982, many memories returned vividly.

John and I used to go looking for white rocks out on "the government road". He said some of the rocks had gold in them, but I did not know what he meant. I like the white rocks anyhow and had a great stack of them in the yard. This was when I was about eighteen months old.

Along about the same time Mother and Father and John and I were out in the front yard. One side of the yard was full of California Poppies and Iceland Poppies, the first flowers I had seen. They were to me like small trees full of large blooms, bright with the pure northern colors.

On the other side of the yard was a large rain puddle, in which John had a toy sailboat. Out of a cocoa can, about the size of present day coffee two-pound cans, he had made a wharf, by putting four sticks in the mud near the edge of the puddle, and turning the can upside down upon them. He then said: "If you gimme a cocoa can, I'll make a wharf for Dan." With that he laughed at the rhyme he had accidentally made up.

We would go down for taffy in three flavors, Strawberry pink, Vanilla white, and chocolate brown at the candy and drug store. In the winter the sled Malamutes would be lying all over the sidewalk in their harness, and John would lead the way, shooing them out of our way by shouting "Mushi!" If they did not move he would threaten them with chunks of coal which he carried in his pocket.

Always my protector, John was with me whenever we left the house. The spirit of our guardian brother is fondly close to me during the approach of his birthday.

The swallows arrive
Today, April ten, the pair of Swallow who come up every year from Mexico, to raise their young under the eaves of the house, have arrived.

Now you know that Spring is truly here.

Heavy Rail derails Derby foes

Easy Demand and Kingdom Jet, the two favorites in Sunday's $92,636 West Texas Derby at Sunland Park, slugged it out with one another during most of the prestigious 400-yard dash.

The two, running in side-by-side positions, were practically on even terms from start to finish.

But neither was able to hold off a wilting onslaught from the 30-1 longshot, Heavy Rail.

Heavy Rail rushed up powerfully in the final two or three strides and surged to a head victory before a seasonal-record crowd of 4,196. Larry Hunt, who was able to wring every ounce of energy out of his mount, was the winning pilot. First place was worth $46,318.

Easy Demand, a 4-5 favorite owned by the Easy Demand Partnership of El Paso, Texas, finished second and pulled in $15,748. Jerry Nicodemus was up. Kingdom Jet, piloted by Lawrence Young at 7-2 odds, hit the wire only a nose behind Easy Demand. Third was worth $9,263.

Heavy Rail refunded mutual prices of $62.80 to win, $10 to place, $5 to show. The colt—who held the seventh-best qualifying time—is the property of Kenneth and Charlotte Hutchison of Pine, Colorado. Charles Knight is the trainer.

His conquest of the West Texas Derby marked his second outing of 1984, and his first triumph of the year. As a two-year-old in 1983, he was a crack performer, running up a 4-2-1 record from 11 starts and banking $50,629.

Sunday clearly a red letter day for the owners of Heavy Rail, but it was also a special occasion for the Sunland Park management. Wagering on the 12-race program ballooned up to $475,253. That was the highest handle so far in the '83-84 season (the previous high was $457,665 on Sunday, March 4). Sunday's handle was also the tenth-best in Sunland Park history.

Easy Demand, a gelding, earned the role of West Texas Derby favorite on the strength of his impressive length win in the trials, and his top qualifying time of 19.645 seconds. Fans who backed him in the Derby collected mutual payoffs of $3 and $2.60. H. Don Farris is the trainer.

Kingdom Jet, the third-top qualifier at 19.770, handed out $4.20 to show. The colt is owned by David Young of Belle Glade, Florida.

Both Easy Demand (coming out of the number 9 post) and Kingdom Jet (number 10) broke alertly, but just off the lead. The two quickly dug in and began fighting it out. In the early going, Heavy Rail (who came out of number 7) was about one and one-half to two lengths off the lead.

On A Stormy Day, a 5-1 shot, wrangled the early lead from the 50-1 outsider, Amazing Prophecy. At the midway point, On A Stormy Day was still in front, and still moving at a rapid clip.

Easy Demand and Kingdom Jet gained steadily in the final portions of the dash, but Heavy Rail swept by the two of them with a remarkable acceleration. The move came near the wire and left little doubt as to Heavy Rail's superiority.

Heavy Rail was clocked in 19.66 seconds (with a slight tailwind).

On A Stormy Day held on for fourth and earned $8,484. The rest of the field checked in this way: 5th—Truly A Bunny, earning $4,631; 6th—Amazing Prophecy, $3,705; 7th—Sassy Wrangler, $3,779; 8th—Warm Thoughts, $1,852; 9th—BCR Hempens Baby, $926; 10th—Patti Dash, $926.

Heavy Rail is by Angel's Jet Rail out of Heavy Copper (a thoroughbred).

Here's how owner Hutchison sized up the win: "I knew he could run that kind of race. That trial race was his first of the year, and he ran a poor race. We knew if he broke well he'd have a shot. He has a heck of a late kick."

Jockey Hunt observed: "In the trials we were four lengths behind at the start. This time, we were only a length behind. I didn't think we had won it until we got to the wire."

For trainer Knight, the West Texas Derby marked his 19th start of the Sunland season—and his first win.

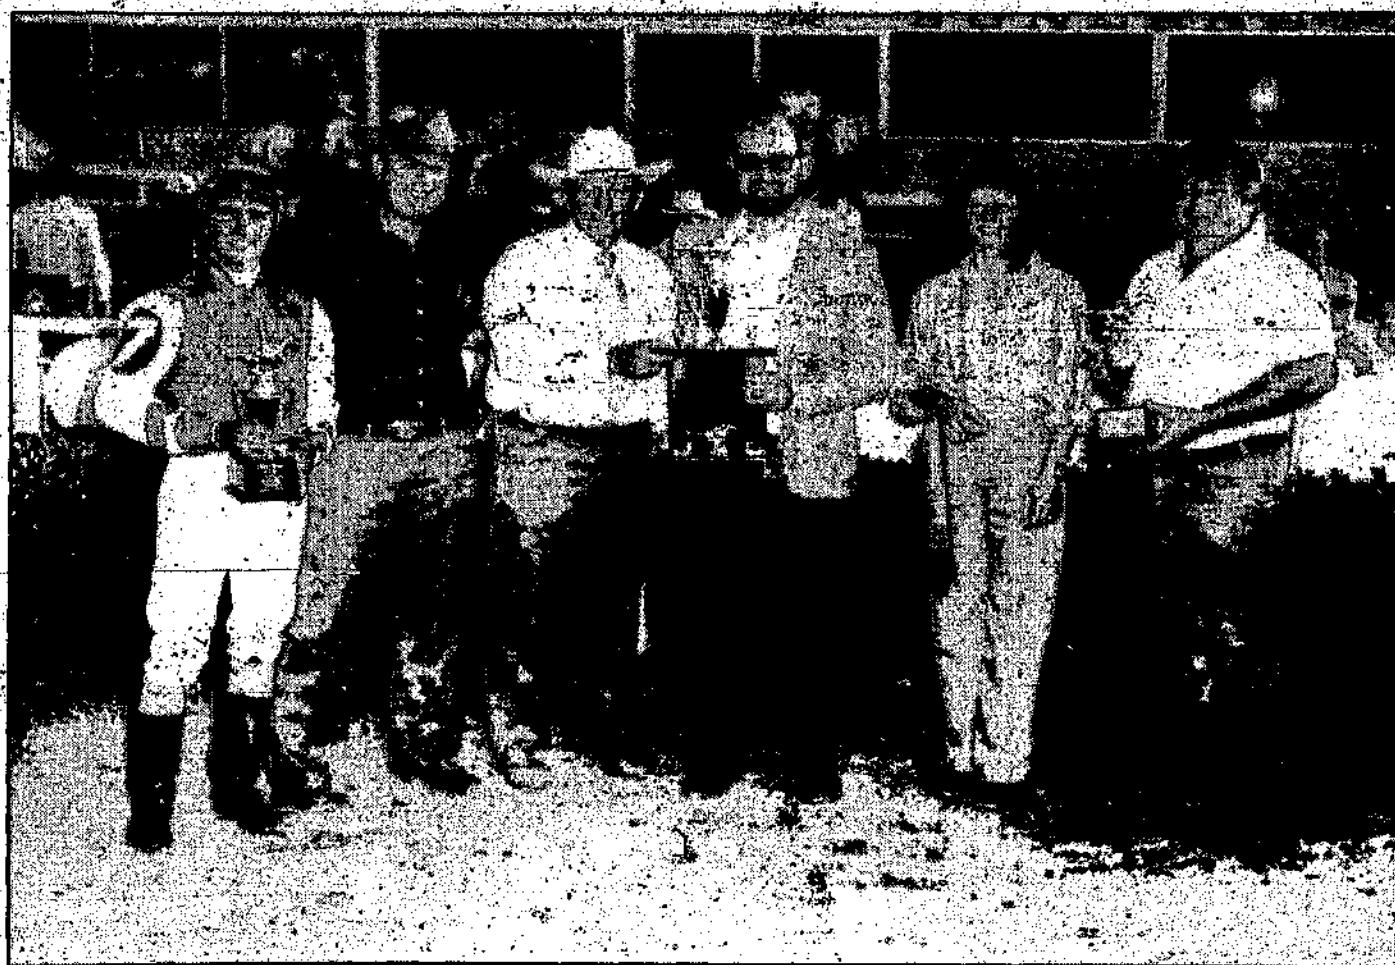

Hutchison indicated the colt would be shipped to Los Alamitos on the West Coast, then to Ruidoso Downs.

The path to the West Texas Derby began on Friday, March 23, when five trial heats were held. The star of that day was Easy Demand, who turned his sixth-career outing into the top qualifying performance for the Derby. Heavy Rail wound up fifth in that same heat (one and one-quarter lengths behind) as a 16-1 shot.

Shortly after the trials, a partnership headed by El Paso Insurance executive Don Luciano was formed to purchase Easy Demand from owner-trainer H. Don Farris. The sale price was not disclosed.

Here's the way the field went together in the trials: Easy Demand, 19.645; Sassy Wrangler, 19.765; Kingdom Jet, 19.770; Warm Thoughts, 19.810; On A Stormy Day, 19.850; Truly A Bunny, 19.850; Heavy Rail, 19.875; BCR Hempens Baby, 19.900; Patti Dash, 19.910; Amazing Prophecy, 19.910.

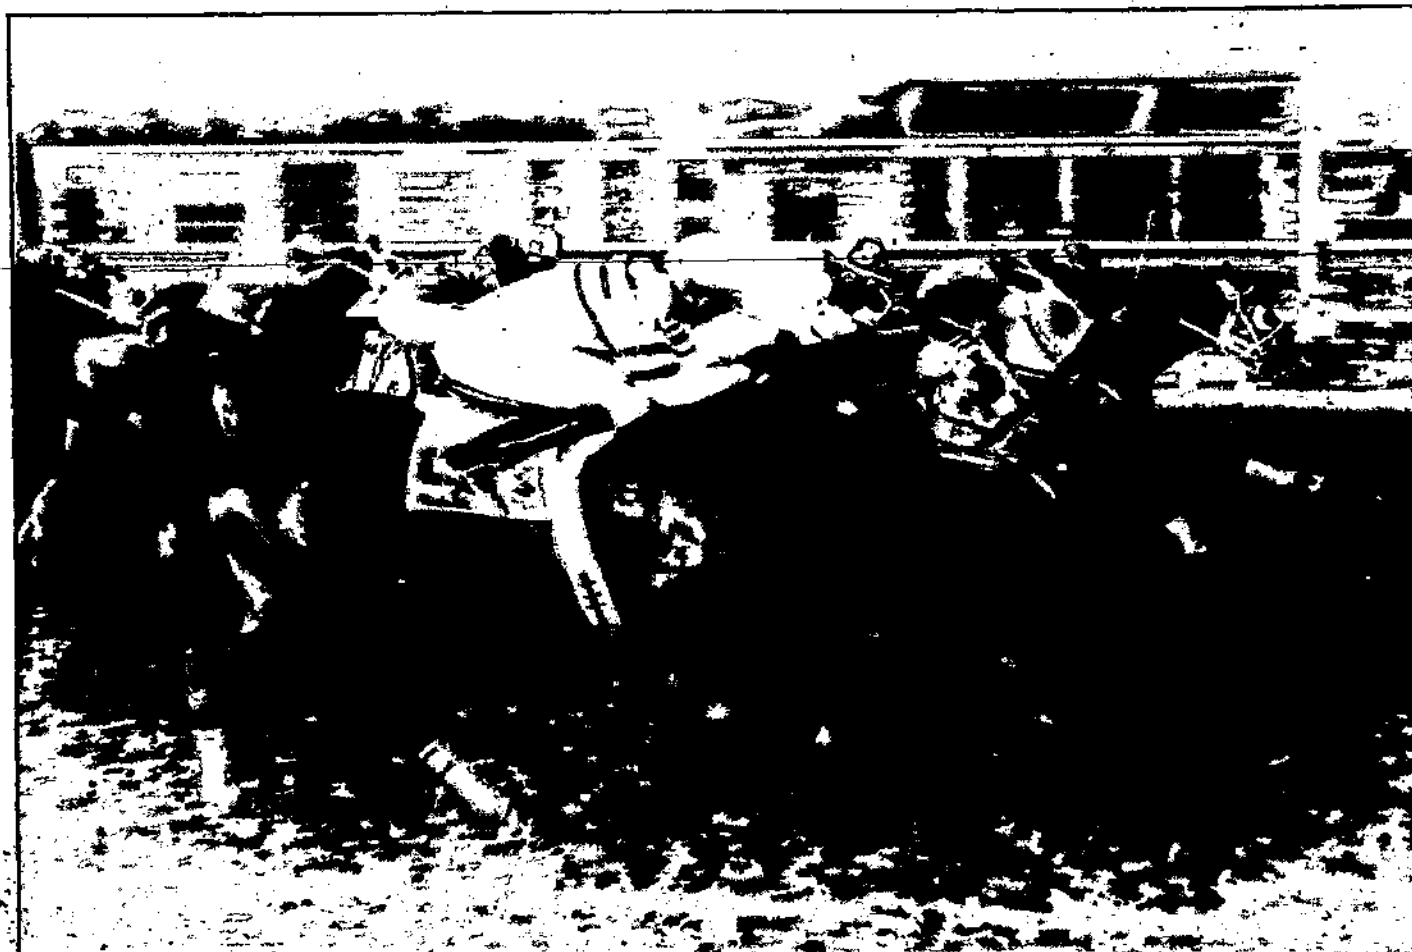

Kingdom Jet was a supplemental nominee at a cost of $5,000.

West Texas Derby Trophy

Rail. The trophy was presented by Bud Cox (white hat), chairman of the racing committee of the Quarter Horse Association of West Texas. At right, trainer Charles Knight. At left, jockey Larry Hunt.

Heavy Rail storms into the lead on the final jump of the $92,636 West Texas Derby Sunday at Sunland Park. The colt's hard-driving finish was worth a victory paycheck of $46,318. Larry Hunt was up. It was a close finish, with favored Easy Demand (No. 8) and second-favorite Kingdom Jet (nearest to camera) also in the thick of it. Heavy Rail went off a better than 30-1 odds.

Heavy Rail derails Derby foes

Easy Demand and Kingdom set, the two favorites in Sunday's $92,636 West Texas Derby at Sunland Park, slugged it out with one another during most of the prestigious 400-yard dash.

The two, running in side by side positions, were practically on even terms from start to finish.

But neither was able to hold off a willing onslaught from the 30-1 longshot, Heavy Rail.

Heavy Rail rushed up powerfully in the final two or three strides and surged to a head victory before a seasonal-record crowd of 4,196. Larry Hunt, who was able to wring every ounce of energy out of his mount, was the winning pilot. First place was worth $46,318.

Easy Demand, a 4-5 favorite owned by the Easy Demand Partnership of El Paso, Texas, finished second and pulled in $15,748. Jerry Nicodemus was up. Kingdom Jet, piloted by Lawrence Young at 7-2 odds, hit the wire only a nose behind Easy Demand. Third was worth $9,263.

Heavy Rail refunded mutual prices of $62.80 to win, $10 to place, $5 to show. The colt—who held the seventh-best qualifying time—is the property of Kenneth and Charlotte Hutchison of Pine, Colorado. Charles Knight is the trainer.

His conquest of the West Texas Derby marked his second outing of 1984, and his first triumph of the year. As a two-year-old in 1983, he was a crack performer, running up a 4-2-1 record from 11 starts and banking $50,829.

Sunday clearly a red letter day for the owners of Heavy Rail, but it was also a special occasion for the Sunland Park management. Wagering on the 12-race program ballooned up to $476,253. That was the highest handle so far in the '83-84 season (the previous high was $457,665 on Sunday, March 4). Sunday's handle was also the tenth-best in Sunland Park history.

Easy Demand, a gelding, earned the role of West Texas Derby favorite on the strength of his impressive length win in the trials, and his top qualifying time of 19.645 seconds. Fans who backed him in the Derby collected mutual payoffs of $3 and $2.60. H. Don Farris is the trainer.

Kingdom Jet, the third-top qualifier at 19.770, handed out $4.20 to show. The colt is owned by David Young of Belle Glade, Florida.

Both Easy Demand (coming out of the number 9 post) and Kingdom Jet (number 10) broke alertly, but just off the lead. The two quickly dug in and began fighting it out. In the early going, Heavy Rail (who came out of number 7) was about one and one-half to two lengths off the lead.

On A Stormy Day, a 5-1 shot, wrangled the early lead from the 50-1 outsider, Amazing Prophecy. At the midway point, On A Stormy Day was still in front, and still moving at a rapid clip.

Easy Demand and Kingdom Jet gained steadily in the final portions of the dash, but Heavy Rail swept by the two of them with a remarkable acceleration. The move came near the wire and left little doubt as to Heavy Rail's superiority.

Heavy Rail was clocked in 19.68 seconds (with a slight tailwind).

On A Stormy Day held on for fourth and earned $6,484. The rest of the field checked in this way: 5th—Truly A Bunny, earning $4,631; 6th—Amazing Prophecy, $3,705; 7th—Sassy Wrangler, $2,779; 8th—Warm Thoughts, $1,852; 9th—BCR Hempens Baby, $926; 10th—Patti Dash, $926.

Heavy Rail is by Angel's Jet Rail out of Heavy Copper (a thoroughbred).

Here's how owner Hutchison sized up the win: "I knew he could run that kind of race. That trial race was his first of the year, and he ran a poor race. We knew if he broke well he'd have a shot. He has a heck of a late kick."

Jockey Hunt observed: "In the trials we were four lengths behind at the start. This time, we were only a length behind. I didn't think we had won it until we got to the wire."

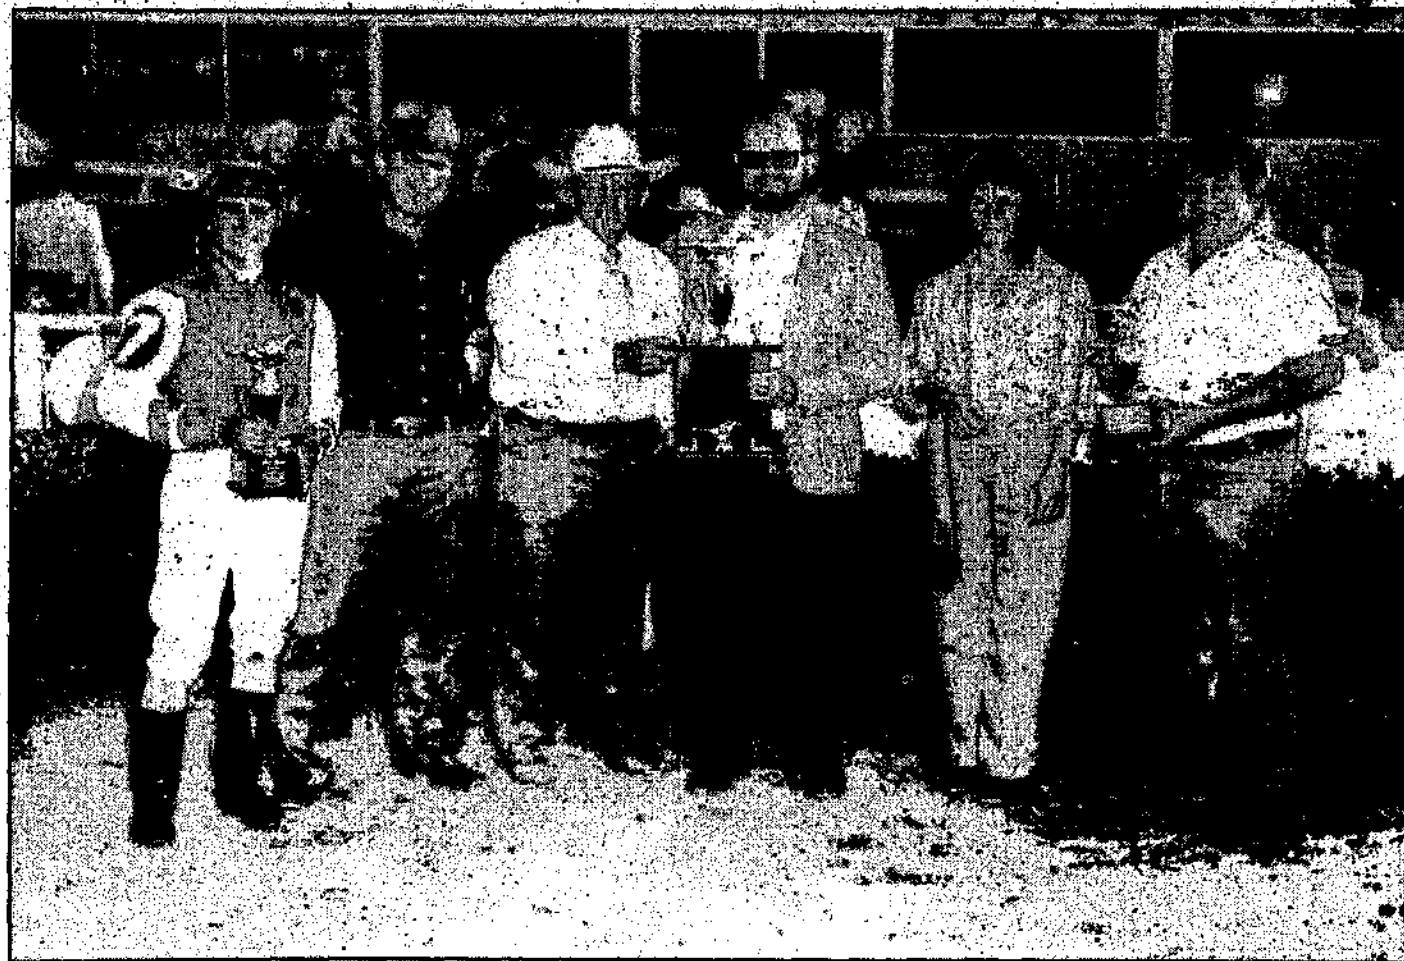

For trainer Knight, the West Texas Derby marked his 19th start of the Sunland season—and his first win. Hutchison indicated the colt would be shipped to Los Alamitos on the West Coast, then to Ruidoso Downs.

The path to the West Texas Derby began on Friday, March 23, when five trial heats were held. The star of that day was Easy Demand, who turned his sixth career outing into the top qualifying performance for the Derby. Heavy Rail wound up fifth in that same heat (one and one-quarter lengths behind) as a 16-1 shot.

Shortly after the trials, a partnership headed by El Paso Insurance executive Don Luciano was formed to purchase Easy Demand from owner-trainer H. Don Farris. The sale price was not disclosed.

Here's the way the field went together in the trials: Easy Demand, 19.645; Sassy Wrangler, 19.765; Kingdom Jet, 19.770; Warm Thoughts, 19.810; On A Stormy Day, 19.850; Truly A Bunny, 19.850; Heavy Rail, 19.875; BCR Hempens Baby, 19.900; Patti Dash, 19.910; Amazing Prophecy, 19.910.

Kingdom Jet was a supplemental nominee at a cost of $5,000.

West Texas Derby Trophy

Heavy Rail storms into the lead on the final jump of the $92,636 West Texas Derby Sunday at Sunland Park. The colt's hard-driving finish was worth a victory paycheck of $46,318. Larry Hunt was up. It was a close finish, with favored Easy Demand (No. 8) and second-favorite Kingdom Jet (nearest to camera) also in the thick of it. Heavy Rail went off a better than 30-1 odds.

Quapaw quonquers field in headliner

Quapaw, a three-year-old filly owned by H.L. Beddo and Dr. Joseph Miller of El Paso, Texas, caught the lead late in the stretch and surged to a half-length win in Friday's windy headliner at Sunland Park.

O.A. Martinez Jr. got the riding assignment from trainer Margie Renfro.

Launched as an odds-on favorite in quest of her second win from four career starts, Quapaw refunded low mutual returns of $3.60, $2.80, $2.40. The 5-1 shot, Dance Jan Dance, took charge at the turn for home and gamely tried to fight off the people's choice. Dance Jan Dance had less than a half-furlong to go when she finally relinquished the lead. David Lidberg was up.

Dance Jan Dance returned $3.60.

$2.80. Skip Bo Nell, an 18-1 outsider piloted by Larry Hunt, got in third and returned $5.80.

For the second straight race day, there was no Pic-Six wagering ticket with six winners. That put the total carry-over fund for Saturday's Pic-Six pool at $9,739.12.

Friday's Pic-Six wagering did produce two tickets with five winners apiece, and each of these two tickets was worth $2,174.40.

The biggest "spoiler" in the Pic-Six races (5th through 10th) was Chauncey Gardner, who went off at nearly 9-1 and won the 8th race.

Despite the blustery weather, it was a big business day for Sunland Park. A total of 2,351 fans were on hand and wagered $322,481, a seasonal high for Friday racing. The previous record was $306,545 on Friday, November 25.

Unknown fan cashes big Pic-Six ticket

A racing fan who preferred not to disclose his name picked all six winners in Saturday's Pic-Six wagering at Sunland Park and collected $16,513.20.

The lucky patron took his winnings home in cash.

The object of the Pic-Six is to pick the winners of the fifth through 10th races. Those who accomplish this feat get half the net Pic-Six pool. The other half goes to those fans who pick the next highest number of winners.

In Saturday's case, the consolation payoff was $967.60. This went to the holders of seven tickets with five winners apiece.

The race which set up Saturday's big payoff was the 10th, in which Rocky Country, carrying odds of just over 8-1, nosed out the 5-2 favorite, Five R's Tequila. Favorites or near-favorites dominated the rest of the Pic-Six races.

If no fan picks six winners, that half of the pool is carried over to the next racing day's Pic-Six wagering. Saturday's Pic-Six pool was in the third day of its build-up.

In Saturday's featured Riley Allison Derby Prep at a mile, Golden Ribet—winner of the prestigious $15,275 Sunland Park Derby—got the job done impressively. The colt lunged out of third place deep in the stretch to overcome the hard-running 21-1 longshot, Makum Trimble.

Golden Ribet won by a length in 1:44 1/5 seconds, earned $2,100 and returned mutual payoffs of $4.40, $4.60, $2.80. David Lidberg was up. Golden Ribet is trained by Victor Karns for John Graham of Lordsbury.

Makum Trimble (with Gary Sumpter) refunded $10.60, $7.60 Mr. Twice Worthy rallied in the final stages to beat out Cajeme for third. The show price: $3.60.

The high-flying business trend at Sunland continued Saturday as 3,266 fans wagered $440,704. This was the fourth highest handle of the 1983-84 season.
