Crime Stopper plan for party

by BILLY ALLSTETTER

Tickets are now available for the Ruidoso Crime Stoppers Second Annual Benefit Party 8 p.m. to 12 p.m. Friday, April 27, at Prime Time Restaurant.

Ruidoso Crime Stoppers president Richard Sandoval passed out tickets to board members during their meeting Thursday night. Tickets will be available for $5 from board members or at Ruidoso State Bank, First City National Bank, Bank of Ruidoso, Gibson's Discount Center, Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, House of Shoes and Pizza Hut. Sandoval and Ruidoso Police officer Mark Paz planned to begin soliciting door prizes from local merchants Friday. Thousands of dollars worth of prizes have been given away at other Crime Stoppers parties. Ticket holders must be present to claim their prizes at the party.

Crime Stoppers also plan to auction one large prize during the night.

Sandoval and Paz invited anyone interested in donating door prizes to contact them at either Gibson's or the Ruidoso Police Department.

Cocktails and dancing to the Brown Sugar Country Band will be available at the party. KREE radio disc jockey Pete Hawkins and Paz will be emcees for the party.

The Prime Time Restaurant is also serving an all you can eat Bar B-Que buffet from 5 to 7:30 p.m. to the public for $6.95.

Money raised at the party helps pay successful crime informants. The Crime Stoppers Board also discussed Crime Stoppers membership and weekly drawings as methods of raising additional funds.

Member Bill Rawlins suggested the board sell Crime Stoppers memberships for varying amounts. Those who contributed to Crime Stoppers would receive plaques, pins or other forms of recognition and thanks.

"We could raise a lot of money," said Rawlins.

Board members reacted positively to the idea, but decided to wait until after the Crime Stoppers party to initiate such a program.

Board member Mike Radziewicz said he saw jars at restaurants in other cities into which people dropped a quarter for a chance at a pizza drawn weekly. Radziewicz said he will talk to Pizza Inn and possibly other restaurants about the idea.

The board also agreed to purchase 60 t-shirts with the Ruidoso Crime Stoppers logo silk-screened on it to sell and possibly give away as door prizes at the party.

County investigates suspect subdivisions

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

A column of vehicles snaked through some of the most out-of-the-way areas of Lincoln County in search of dangerous prey Wednesday. Braving strong, dust laden winds and near impossible terrain in their quest, the vehicles and their occupants carried out an inspection of one of the biggest problems facing the government of Lincoln County today—illegal subdivisions.

Participating in the tour of 16 suspected subdivisions were members of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission, Lincoln County government officials, and officials of the Soil Conservation Service and the Environmental Improvement Division of the State Health and Environment Department. The tour began as a meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

That meeting opened at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday, with commission members agreeing to set the date of the public hearing for the proposed new Lincoln Historical Ordinance for 9 a.m. Saturday, April 28. The meeting will be held in the old courthouse in Lincoln. The second item of the agenda was the tour of illegal subdivisions. The commission members and other officials then traveled by automobile to the 16 subdivisions charged by the commission to be illegal in nature.

The caravan began by traveling to two subdivisions southeast of Carrizozo, then continuing to a group of six subdivisions near the Fort Stanton Ranchettes subdivision. The tour also visited three subdivisions east of Ruidoso Downs, several subdivisions east of Alto and one subdivision near the Shangri La subdivision. According to County Manager Suzanne Cox, the tour lasted well into the afternoon.

The subdivisions were labeled as illegal by the commission for several reasons. According to Cox, because the subdividers do not go through the proper county channels regulating subdivisions, many problems commonly arise.

Cox said the county regulations require that a disclosure statement be prepared for every subdivision. That statement, according to Cox, contains comments on the condition of the subdivision from the State Highway Department, the State Engineer's office, the Environmental Improvement Division of the State Health and Environment and the Soil Conservation Service. Cox said the statement helps protect potential buyers of subdivided land.

"It tells things a person needs to know," Cox said of the statement. "It helps them make an informed decision."

In addition, Cox said many of the subdivisions inspected were not following the specifications set out by the county subdivision regulations. Cox said problems such as roads being too narrow, improper terrain management, improper or nonexistent easements, improper road base and cul-de-sacs that extend too far were seen in subdivisions on the tour.

After viewing some of the subdivisions, some of the commission members voiced their feelings on the condition of the subdivisions.

"In my opinion, this is an illegal subdivision, and a flagrantly illegal one at that," commission member Sid Goodloe said at one stop on the tour.

"It's the taxpayers who are being hurt," commented commission Chairman Bill Seelbach.

Another problem with the subdivisions, according to Cox, is that most of the property in illegal subdivisions is still taxed by the county as grazing land. She said many areas of land have been changed, by subdividing, into what the county would classify as building sites. The county is losing money because it is still taxing those lands at a lower grazing land rate, said Cox.

Cox said the commission members decided at the conclusion of the tour on a course of action regarding the subdivisions. She said the commission will contact the owner of each subdivision and give them a chance to rectify the problems the commission recognizes in the subdivisions.

If the subdivider complies in a reasonable amount of time, no legal action will be taken by the county, Cox said. However, if they refuse, Cox said the county will file legal charges.

In addition, Cox said the state Attorney General's office is considering making an investigation into the matter.

During one stage of the tour, the county and state officials were barked at by a dog standing among a desolate hodge-podge of crumbling buildings, mobile homes in disrepair, abandoned cars, scattered junk and a wind-blown horse.

"That's what we're trying to prevent," Goodloe said motioning to the sight.

DWI arrests increasing

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

"We're gearing up for more DWI detection," said Ruidoso Police Lieutenant Dave Pfeffer.

Increased nighttime patrols, continued training in drunk driver detection and heavier summertime traffic should increase the already record breaking numbers of DWI-driving while intoxicated—arrests the Ruidoso Police Department has been making so far this year.

Ruidoso Police charged 13 people with driving while intoxicated during February and a record 15 in March. Pfeffer expects DWI arrests to increase to more than 20 per month in the coming months.

"It's a trend in law enforcement throughout the United States," said Pfeffer.

In the near future, Ruidoso's traffic division will change its shifts so its officers are on duty during the evening hours. The traffic division used to operate only until 8 p.m. Other patrol officers watched for drunk drivers at night.

While the patrol officers will still keep an eye out for drunk drivers, the traffic officers will have specific assigned duties aimed at detecting DWI's from 10 p.m. until 2 a.m., said Pfeffer.

Pfeffer, who is operations commander for the department, said he has already begun stressing DWI detection. The whole department recently had an in-house DWI detection course.

Pfeffer said officers are trained to use a cumulative system to detect possible drunk drivers. When an officer sees a driver crossing a yellow line, driving very slow or fast, or weaving, he adds up points for each mistake. He stops the car once the driver reaches a certain point total.

"There's a lot of observation that goes along with this," said Pfeffer.

Once he stops the car, he usually asks the driver to complete a field sobriety test and observes his appearance. If he still believes the driver has more than a legal amount of alcohol in his blood system, he will arrest him and take him to the station for a breath sobriety test.

If you refuse a breath sobriety test, your license can be revoked for a year. An officer's observations and testimony can convict you without the test.

If the test indicates you have more than .10 percent alcohol in your system, you will probably be convicted of driving while intoxicated. Pfeffer said you can even be convicted with less than .10 percent if your behavior indicates your driving abilities are impaired. If you are under 18, you can be convicted for .05 percent alcohol in your blood.

The New Mexico Transportation Department estimates that a 150 pound person will reach a .10 percent alcohol blood level after drinking five to seven ounces of 80 proof alcohol in an hour. Pfeffer stressed that the amount varies considerably among individuals.

He said the Ruidoso Police Department has failed to prosecute only one or two DWI cases in the last several years.

Whenever you are arrested, your car is impounded, said Pfeffer. Many are often charged with reckless driving as well as DWI. If you have not been convicted of DWI before, you will have to post a $500 bond before being released. A suspect with a previous DWI conviction usually has to post a $1,200 bond, said Pfeffer.

A first time conviction often means having to attend an eight hour DWI school which costs $50. The first DWI conviction can cost you up to $500.

Magistrate Jim Wheeler, who sees most second and subsequent DWI offenders, said those people must serve 48 consecutive hours in jail.

He often sentences offenders to 364 days in the Lincoln County Jail, fines them and orders them to attend an alcohol treatment program. Often, most of the sentence is suspended and the offender serves some time in jail and attends the program.

But if you don't follow the judge's orders, he can call you back into court up to five years later and order you to complete the suspended sentence.

Pfeffer said officers will be watching drivers returning from the race track and those leaving bars more closely this summer.

Officers will take people home if they think they have had too much to drink and request a ride. Police Chief Dick Swenor said some local bars are also considering a transport service for intoxicated patrons.

If you have had a few, maybe a few too many, it could be a good idea to let someone else drive.

Drinking impairs your ability to drive. Of all fatal accidents on the road, approximately half involve alcohol.

Even if you don't have an accident, the chances of being arrested are increasing.

"We'll be watching for them," said Pfeffer.

Even Riker Davis' craziness has limits

Where eagles dare

While most of us were getting sun-burnt for the first time this year, a couple of young crazies were running off the sides of a hill and flying in the skies.

Riker Davis and Scot Trueblood, afflicted with "a disease worse than skiing could ever be," took their hanggliders atop Windy Point for a Saturday flight. As the spring sun warmed the earth, gusts of wind began to blow up the side of the hill.

Tension increased as they assembled the hanggliders and climbed into their harnesses. Finally, a strong wind blew up the mountain. They stood up, ran off the side of the hill and ... silently soared off into the skies where only eagles (and crazies) dare.

Ready, set, go! Riker Davis runs off the Windy Point launching pad, confident that his glider will catch the wind and carry him high into the skies.

Tularosa wins Braves tournament, Ruidoso hoopsters capture third Tularosa Dry Goods won first place while Ruidoso took third in the third annual Little Braves Pee Wee Basketball Tournament at the Mescalero Community Center over the weekend. Tularosa defeated the Alamogordo Boys Club 50-28 in the championship game Sunday afternoon. Alamogordo advanced to the finals by beating Ruidoso 32-31 and the Mescalero Braves 39-31 earlier in the day. The Braves won the consolation championship.

In the championship game, Tularosa led all the way. Miguel Romero led the winners with 16 points and was named most valuable player for his efforts. Delbert Chavez added 14 points.

In the semi-final contest, Alamogordo had to hold Ruidoso off in the final minute.

Ruidoso, coached by Lynn Willard, trailed 32-27 with 1:50 left. However, Dennis Ullmann rebounded on a missed shot and Cody Willard hit two last-second free throws to almost pull the game out for Ruidoso.

Ullmann led the Ruidoso scoring with 10 points and Dusty Beavers added eight.

Ruidoso opened the tournament Friday afternoon with a win over the Braves. Ruidoso then lost to Alamogordo but defeated Hondo Saturday night to earn the semi-final slot.

After the Braves lost to Ruidoso, they beat the Mescalero Hawks and Dulce before losing to Alamogordo.

Larry Geronimo and Ira Sabo each scored eight points to lead the Braves in their Sunday loss to Alamogordo.

In addition to Romero, members of the all-tournament team were Chito Montano of Hondo, Marcello Randazzo of the Hawks, Tera Miller of Ruidoso and Raymond Wheeler of Ruidoso.

Other members were Rusty Silver of the Tularosa Wildcats, Russell Vigil of Dulce, Gerald Tsasite of Window Rock, Arizona, and Sonny Geronimo of the Mescalero Chiefs.

More all-tournament team members were James Aragon of Tularosa Dry Goods, Joe Harris of Alamogordo, Charles Smith of the Braves and Cody Willard of Ruidoso.

Bob, McClellan standouts for Warriors in Roswell meet

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

Curt McClellan and Cisco Bob continued their outstanding performances to lead the Ruidoso High School boys track team in the Roswell Invitational Friday.

Bob broke school records in the 1,500 meters and 3,000 meters while taking second in both events. McClellan finished second in the 800 meters despite being tripped at the start.

Ruidoso was eighth in the 12-team field in boys competition, scoring 17 points. The Warrior girls didn't score, but came through with several personal bests against tough competition.

Bob lost close races to Alamogordo's Paul Morgan. The Ruidoso runner ran a 4:06.95 in the 1,500 meters. Morgan edged him out with a 4:06.39.

Bob then ran a 9:06.67 in the 3,000 meters. Morgan won in 9:06.58. The race was close all the way until the Alamogordo runner nipped Bob at the tape.

Francisco Olvera and Gabe Tam came through with strong performances behind Bob in the 3,000 meters.

Olvera ran a personal best of 9:43.60 for fifth place, better than the state qualifying standard. However, the meet wasn't a state qualifying affair.

Tam, who is a freshman, ran a 10:01.0.

McClellan recorded a 2:02.6 in the 800 meters after his mishap at the beginning of the race. The Warrior junior's best time this season is 2:01.53. Johnny Peck of Roswell won the race in 2:00.78.

"I think Curt would have had a very good chance of winning the race if he hadn't been tripped," said Warrior head boys coach Ronny Maskew.

The Ruidoso relay teams also came through with strong performances, particularly in the 1,600-meter relay. That relay team of Steve Snidow, Tracy Gann, Eric Strobel and McClellan ran a seasonal best of 3:33.80 for fourth place.

Snidow, Strobel and McClellan teamed with Ryan Frost in the 800-meter relay to run a seasonal best of 1:34.2, a second fast than their previous best this season.

The same quartet ran a 45.70 for fifth place in the 400-meter relay. Other strong efforts were a 43.90 by Justin Smith in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles, a 19.3 long jump by Mark Johnston, a 55.2 in the 400 meters by Gann in his first effort at that race, and a 2:11.0 in the 800 meters by freshman Dalton Hamilton.

Manuel Montano and Chip Ramsey turned in good discus efforts. Ramsey threw the discus 96 feet and Montano had a 94-foot throw.

"It was a very good meet for us," Maskew said. "We set some goals beforehand and surpassed some and equaled some."

The Warrior girls had a bundle of seasonal bests in the competition.

Deanna Peso recorded a 2:40.0 in the 800 meters, finishing sixth. Peso also ran on the 800-meter and 1,600-meter relay teams.

The 1,600 meter relay team of Peso, Katherine Sanchez, Laura Trapp and Kim Daniels recorded a 4:26.0. The same quartet ran a 1:54.0 in the 800-meter relay race.

In the medley race, the team of Kerry Gladden, Sanchez, Daniels and Trapp ran a 2:02.0, just under their seasonal best.

Kerry Pate ran a 13.8 in the 100 meters and 29.0 in the 200 meters, good performances since she was coming off an injury.

Gladden and Lana McClure ran personal bests in the 100-meter hurdles of 17.6 and 17.8, respectively.

Daniels ran a 66.0 in the 400 meters. The Warriors had a trio of good efforts in the long jump, despite not placing.

Sanchez, who has a best of 15-5, leaped 14-7 despite having trouble with her steps. Peso added a 14-2 effort and Daniels leaped 13-10.

In another field event, Lillian Lopez had a seasonal best of 84 feet in the discus.

Resort Reservations wins women's keg title

A-1 Resort Reservations won a bowl-off Thursday at Holiday Bowl to win the Thursday Morning Ladies League season championship.

Alto Construction Team Two tied with A-1 Resort Reservations for the team title, both teams having a 60-31 record. However, A-1 Resort Reservations clinched the title by winning the bowl-off.

Der Klocken Shoppen finished third with a 56-36 mark.

Ginger Castaneda bowled the highest individual scratch game of the season with a 200. Sandy Nettles had the highest individual game with a handicap, bowling a 263.

Walterine Hughes had the highest individual scratch series with a 538, and Betty Scarbrough had the highest handicap series with a 684.

A-1 Resort Reservations bowled a 512 for the highest team scratch game of the season. Three Bees had a 651 for the highest team game with a handicap.

Alto Village Construction Team Two won the highest team scratch series, bowling a 1,408.

Hughes had the highest game average with a 156. Renee Taylor was the most improved bowler, improving 12 pins.

The league will have its awards banquet at 11 a.m. this Thursday at Holiday House.

Ruidoso coach Lynn Willard (left) instructs his team during a timeout in the third annual Braves Pee Wee Basketball Tournament Sunday in the Mescalero Community Center gymnasium. Ruidoso finished third in the tournament, winning two games and losing two.

Around Sports with Gary Brown

Anyone who is a golf fan should enjoy the Ruidoso Invitational this Thursday and Friday at the three local courses.

The invitational, which will feature some of the best high school golfers in the southern half of the state, will be a 54-hole tournament.

The first 18 holes Thursday morning will be played at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. Thursday afternoon the golfers will switch to Cree Meadows Country Club. The final 18 holes will be played Friday morning at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club.

Thus, both golfers and spectators will be able to enjoy some of the most spectacular beauty in New Mexico while the tournament is on.

What a contrast this tournament will be—with the golfers playing in the cool pines—to the majority of high school golf tournaments in Southern New Mexico!

Most high school golf tournaments in Southern New Mexico are played on courses near the prairies or desert areas. The Ruidoso Invitational will seem like a vacation paradise to the other tournaments.

The tournament will be divided into two divisions, AAAA and AAA.

With host Ruidoso High School in the AAA division, will be Goddard, Deming, Silver City, Artesia, Lovington, Socorro, New Mexico Military Institute, Portales and Hot Springs. Ruidoso will have both varsity and junior varsity teams.

Teams scheduled to compete in the AAAA division include Roswell, Mayfield, Las Cruces, Clovis and Alamogordo.

Last year Lovington won the AAA crown with a 971 score and Alamogordo do captured the AAAA division championship, shooting a 984. Ruidoso finished eighth in the AAA division with a 1,098 score.

The hosts got off to a slow start this season but showed rapid improvement in their last tournament, the Roswell Invitational April 5.

Ruidoso shot a 343 to finish sixth in the tournament. Junior Tommy Crow had by far his best performance of the season, shooting an 83.

Billy Taylor added an 84, Kenny Espinosa and Jeff Bender each shot 88's and Paul Hamilton fired a 90. Bender, only a freshman, has been the Warriors' most consistent golfer this season.

Why the improvement?

"The kids are able to practice more," answered Ruidoso instructor Chuck Dunn. "The weather held us back at the start of the season but they're practicing more now and playing better."

"We should do fairly well in the tournament."

Dunn thinks that the scores should be lower at Cree Meadows than the other two courses. He thinks Cree Meadows is the easiest course while the scores should be about equal at Alto Lakes Country Club and the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Ruidoso could have an advantage since the Warriors are used to playing on the local courses.

With the improvement the Warriors have shown this season, look for Ruidoso to do better in the tournament than it did last season.

But regardless of the final scores, golf fans should enjoy the two-day tournament. It should be the beginning of a top amateur golf season in the Ruidoso area.

Fast-pitch meeting scheduled

There will be an emergency meeting of the Ruidoso Men's Fast-Pitch Softball League at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Ruidoso Public Library.

All team representatives should attend the meeting, the final one before the regular season begins. New teams must attend or notify the league for enrollment.

Discussions for the league schedule, practice sessions and team enrollments will be finalized.

Team representatives not able to attend the meeting should call Gar Andre at 257-7205 or Joe Ortega at 378-4200.

People interested in umpiring are encouraged to contact the league. Umpire wages have increased to $12 per game.

Ruidoso tennis teams fall to tough Colts

The Ruidoso High School boys and girls tennis teams dropped hard-fought decisions to visiting New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) Saturday at the Sierra Swim & Racquet Club.

Ruidoso's boys lost a 7-2 decision to the Colts to put their district record at 4-3.

The Warrior girls fell 5-4 to drop to 1-6. However, the girls were without top singles players Laura Trapp and Donna Mobley, who were out of town.

In the boys action, Ryan Brown of Ruidoso moved his record to 6-1 with a 6-1, 6-3 decision over Carlos Minville in the top match.

Other singles results had Mike Smith of Ruidoso losing to Paul Rodriguez 6-1, 7-6; Jim Smith falling to NMMI's Frasier Edmondson 6-5, 7-5; and Bart Bowen of the Warriors losing to Victor Ruffo 6-3, 7-6.

Also, Lewis Chandler of NMMI beat Mitch Rhodes 6-1, 6-0; and Cache Mundy fell to the Colts' Mark Alway 6-1, 6-1.

Brown and Mike Smith took the top doubles match with a 6-4, 6-4 decision over Rodriguez and Edmondson.

In the other doubles matches, Jim Smith and Bowen lost to Minville and Alway 6-4, 7-5; and Rhodes and Mundy fell to Ruffo and Chandler 6-1, 6-2.

The boys match was closer than the final score indicated, since the Warriors lost four tie-breakers.

"I felt they were a little stronger than us mentally in the tie-breakers," said Ruidoso coach Mike Crocker. "We just lost our concentration a bit. I think we played better than we did the first time we lost to them."

In the girls competition, Michele Morrow took Trapp's place in the top singles match and lost a 6-0, 6-1 decision to Brenda Valdez. Morrow usually plays in the number three position.

In the second match, Marci Mullican of Ruidoso lost to Molly Cutter 6-0, 6-2.

Other singles action had Ruidoso's Rachel McCoy topping Floy Williamson 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; and Melissa Henderson falling to Mar Daniels of NMMI 6-3, 6-1.

Also, Lori Morel and Candice Makowski of the Warriors took default wins. The Colts were short two girl players.

In doubles action, Morrow and Mullican lost the top match to Valdez and Cutter 6-1, 6-2.

Lori Morrow and Henderson dropped an 8-6 pro set match to Williamson and Edwards and McCoy and Makowski won the other doubles match by default.

The Warriors will take no play during their Easter vacation, then resume competition Tuesday, April 24, against Artesia on the racquet club courts. The matches will start at 2 p.m.

Jim Smith of the Ruidoso High School boys tennis team goes for the ball during the second doubles match against New Mexico Military Institute Saturday on the Sierra Swim & Racquet Club courts. Smith and teammate Bart Bowen lost a close 6-4, 7-5 decision to Carlos Minville and Mark Alway of the Colts. New Mexico Military Institute won the boys competition 7-2 and the girls action 5-4. Ruidoso is 4-3 in boys competition and 1-6 in girls play. The Warriors will be idle over the Easter Holidays and will resume action Tuesday, April 24, against the visiting Artesia Bulldogs.

Capitan thinclads gain some places at Tatum

The Capitan High School boys and girls track teams gained several places at the Tatum Relays state qualifying meet Friday afternoon.

In the boys competition, Tim McElhannon took a first in the javelin with a 161-foot effort. He also finished third in the 200 meters.

Daron Armstrong gained a fourth in a tough 3,000-meter field, running an 11:07.

"The competition was pretty tough," admitted Capitan boys coach E. C. Jenkins. "Tatum was awfully tough."

Becky Huey qualified for the A division state meet in the 400 meters and Becky Phillips earned a state meet berth in the 110-meter low hurdles.

Although they didn't qualify for the state meet, the Tiger girls 400-meter relay team of Joan Leslie, Tracy Herd, Huey and Shawna McDaniel recorded a seasonal best of 55.1. The state qualifying standard for the A division is 54.3.

The Tigers will compete at Tularosa Thursday afternoon. Capitan has several more state qualifying meets this season.

The World Is Getting Ready To Welcome Easter Sunday

With Easter late this year, and the Spring weather even later still, all the Children of Mother Earth, the winged pilgrims of the sky, and the home creatures who sleep the winter through—all these and more are joining in the glad preparations to welcome that Day of Days.

It is late afternoon, on April fifteen, Palm Sunday, and the wind is blowing gently straight out of the North, though it has lost its chill along the way, traveling through the sunny mesas and foot hills and prairies to the East. After a cold morning, the sun all day has been beaming down its golden rays of life, traveling through a sky of purest blue.

You notice that this day is so much longer than the days of a month ago, giving the sun extra time to work its magic.

The pair of Swallows that come up every Spring from Mexico have been here several days, making preparations to raise their young. Another very tame welcomer of the Spring, the Yellow Breasted Fly Catcher, has arrived. These two are the earliest of messengers of warmer days.

And today, rounding the river's bend, just East of the giant Walnut tree, you see high on a power wire, in his favorite spot above a large pool, a faithful Spring-time friend, the Belted Kingfisher, dressed in his best, with pure white collar and coat and head dress of shining Prussian Blue. The river below is deep and amber colored with the flood waters from the snow, rapidly melting from the White Mountain.

Just after high noon today, the little tame Lizard came out from his small winter subterranean house near the door under the flagstones, and stayed a while, blinking at the sun as he lay in front of his door, glad to be above ground after the long winter.

Flower and Blossom Tide Begins

After holding back longer than usual, the fruit blooms are coming out in a rush instead of lining up each in its turn.

The crystal pure cherry, the snow white plum, and the foamy pear, and the rose pink peach are all out together in the Glencoe area. The apple, last of the fruit to bloom is just barely showing crimson and white buds.

Down by the river side, along its sheltered banks, Spring is a step ahead of its pace up on the meadows and hillsides. The Willow and the Box Elder are out in half leaf already with the late afternoon sun shining through the delicate new leaves.

The yellow wild mustard has now been joined by one of the favorite flowers all around the world, the small pink tinted Spring Daisy. And in the warmer sheltered spots, here is a mid-summer favorite of the Southwest shining amidst the new grass, The New Mexico Pink, a month or more ahead of its normal time, a messenger of a glorious Easter Season, and green and flowery Summer.

The year 1983 was important for Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital. It was a year filled with change, challenge and accomplishments.

- We were chosen to participate in a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Rural Hospital Program for Extended-Care to test a new concept called the swing-bed project that allows general acute care hospital beds to be used as long-term skilled or intermediate nursing home beds.

- We made many improvements in our physical plant, including opening a second operating room.

- Approximately $200,000 in new equipment was acquired—including a $15,000 mammographic unit (used in the detection of breast cancer) which was funded by our auxiliary, ultrasound sector upgrade, Coulter counter, and an ACA blood chemistry analyzer.

- New nursery equipment, including a neonatal monitor, a blood pressure monitor, an oxygenator, and a neonatal ventilator were also purchased with mill levy funds.

- Two new physicians were added to our staff, Dr. Guin Pavlovic and Dr. Arlene Brown, in addition to increased emergency room coverage.

- Salaries paid to our employees will generate several million dollars worth of purchased goods and services for our local community businesses.

Swing Bed Program Becomes Operational

A new service was introduced at Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital during this summer. The swing bed program is a concept of patient care in hospitals with fewer than 50 beds. Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital has created a swing bed program in which a specified number of hospital beds may be used as either skilled or intermediate nursing home beds or hospital beds.

Persons who would use the service would be those who have suffered an illness, accident or injury that makes it difficult for them to continue living independently. Some persons may have a physical handicap and others may be awaiting the availability of a local nursing home bed.

Patients may remain a few days, several weeks or even longer until they are ready to go home or other arrangements for care can be made.

Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital is one of 26 rural hospitals in five states that are receiving a portion of $2.3 million in grants from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. Ruidoso-Hondo Valley has applied for and has received a grant of $200,000 for a two-year period to be utilized specifically for this project.

Larry DeBeer, a laboratory technician, demonstrates the use of the hospital's new Coulter Counter, used in hematology.

Francine Bennett-Hedval, a radiology technician, checks out the instrumentation on the $15,000 mammographic unit which is used in the detection of cancer.

Altrusa event chairman Donna Willard shares at the Career Day last Monday in (center) helps straighten some schedule Ruidoso High School.

Altrusa sponsors fourth Ruidoso Career Day

More than 75 speakers presented Career Day to Ruidoso and Carrizozo high school students last week during a huge program organized by Altrusa.

The fourth annual event included potters and special agents, architects and welders, Air Force officers and cosmetologists. The speakers converged on Ruidoso High School last Monday from as far away as White Sands Missile Base and Eastern New Mexico University.

School officials and about 30 members of Altrusa, an international women's service organization, began organizing the event in January.

Donna Willard, chairman of the event for Altrusa, helped solve last-minute schedule problems in the high school library. She called Career Day "one of the nearest service projects you can do."

Ruidoso people working in many fields volunteered to speak, and she praised the day as a community effort.

Students chose a half dozen short talks and demonstrations during the career day, in place of regular classes.

Categories for their choices included business, law, fine arts, communications, social service, engineering and architecture, the environment, science, consumerism and homemaking, health careers, trade and technical work and military jobs.

The theme this year was telecommunications, highlighted by keynote speaker Larry Bradshaw. He opened the day by discussing the options high school students face.

The communications expert from Eastern New Mexico University urged the assembled students to consider their own strengths and weaknesses when picking their life's work.

Bradshaw also urged them to avoid being occupational illiterates who fail to learn about different types of work.

WINGMAN NEWS PAPER

Editorial

Today we have chosen to exercise our semi-annual prerogative of writing a "slow time" editorial.

This traditionally is done to commemorate those two times of year—between ski season and horse racing season and between horse racing season and ski season—when Ruidoso slows down.

Old-timers say the village practically used to go to sleep during the slow times—that you could stand in the middle of the main street talking to your neighbor, and nary a car would go by.

Try that nowadays—whatever the time of year—and you will be taking your life in your hands.

Yes, progress marches on. People are moving to Capitan (some, no doubt, to get away from the hustle and bustle of Ruidoso) in such numbers that that village is forming a planning and zoning commission to put some controls on growth.

I wonder where people will move to when Capitan gets too big.

Before we know it, the summer tourist season will be upon us. Many locals traditionally use this time to get away for a little while.

The concept of a "slow time" soon may be no more than a vestige of a bygone era. But we reserve the right to get away from saying anything substantial whatsoever in an editorial—twice a year.

(Some would say we exercise that right several times a year, or month.)

Have a nice "slow time."—TP

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—This column is not, strictly speaking, about Will Orndorff, but he can be used as an example.

Orndorff is a New Mexico cattleman, born and bred, who probably planned to remain in that way of life all his days.

He is now selling real estate for a living.

That makes him just one more of those who have, with greater or lesser unwillingness, given up the harsh life of the rancher in our state in recent years. There are still many to come.

When you see names like his disappearing from the roll of those who produce food and fiber for the nation, and the talk is of who will be next, we all somehow become a little poorer. A manner of living which has contributed many of its good qualities to our state may be drawing closer and closer to a close.

Oh, the ranches of New Mexico won't disappear. They will simply be gobbled up more and more by the big boys, and the independent operator will no longer be around.

That was the theme behind most of the conversation at the annual meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association, an organization Will Orndorff once headed.

That group was kind enough to honor this columnist for "analyzing the news and its impact on all New Mexico citizens," so an opportunity presented itself to listen to the voice of the men and women from the cattle industry. Most of the songs were at least slightly sad.

And it's not only cattle people who are asking if the game is worth the candle. Like farmers, these are folks who do more than just hold a job. They adopt a way of life. You might say they choose a vocation, not an avocation. And they find that economics is cutting away the ground from under them.

It's been a long time since 90 percent of Americans labored full time in agricultural pursuits, but did you realize the total is now down to 4 percent? Actually, it's not quite that high, so that not even four in every hundred of us till the soil or breed the meat.

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

On behalf of all of the students who attended the Continuing Education Spanish Instruction Class sponsored by the Ruidoso/Hondo Valley Chamber of Commerce conducted once a week over the past twelve weeks at the Ruidoso High School and taught by Mrs. Lynda Sanchez, we would like to take this moment to express our warmest thanks first to the Chamber of Commerce for sponsoring this excellent class and to Lynda Sanchez for her marvelous conduct of the class.

Not only is Mrs. Sanchez a brilliant scholar and historian, she is also a sensationally adept teacher able to gear her instructions to the special needs of each and every one of her students. Her brightness and witty charm made each Tuesday afternoon or evening class something special to which to look forward. Mixing Spanish Culture and customs into classroom exercises with a liberal blend of grammar, vocabulary and conversation, she managed to leave us all with a very special feeling for the Spanish Language.

I have personally benefitted over the years in conducting my profession of architectural design with a first hand working knowledge of French, German and Italian. I am pleased to have a start toward mastering Spanish, thanks to Lynda Sanchez.

Having moved to Ruidoso three years ago from my native Pennsylvania, one of the most spectacular things I noticed about New Mexico, "The Land of Enchantment" were the myriad of sparkling stars to be seen each night with a glance to the heavens...there is also here in the School System of Ruidoso such a star, or ESTRELLA...and her name is Lynda!

MUCHAS GRACIAS,
ALAN E. MCHESNEY

with Tim Palmer

If you're in the habit of buying your Ruidoso News at the post office or any of several other locations, you may have noticed the new kid in town among newspaper vending machines.

A quarter in the dark blue machine gets you a copy of USA TODAY.

What is USA TODAY?

The nameplate proudly proclaims it is "The Nation's Newspaper."

When our business manager, Roland Ramos, and I addressed high school students at the recent Career Day, we found ourselves referring to USA TODAY in response to questions about the future of newspapers.

Long before USA TODAY showed up in Ruidoso, the year-and-a-half-old newspaper started making waves in the industry. Its impact has reached into our own newspaper.

USA TODAY is published by the Gannett corporation. Gannett owns a number of newspapers all over the country, and USA TODAY is printed at some of their plants.

As I understand it, USA TODAY headquarters at Arlington, Virginia, sends the pages of the finished product via satellite to its regional printing plants. The paper publishes Monday through Friday.

So what you have is the exact same newspaper from coast to coast, hitting the streets in a timely manner because it is published near its markets. The USA TODAY we read, I learned, is published at Fort Collins, Colorado.

One look tells you this newspaper is different.

The nameplate itself is a reverse (white letters on dark—in this case, blue—background). It includes the graphic element of a globe with lines simulating motion.

This may have something to do with researchers finding out that millions of Americans are traveling on any given day, and deciding to gear the new publication to that market segment.

Indeed, I heard in Florida last year that people in the Atlanta airport don't have faces anymore—they are all hidden behind USA TODAY.

The front page of the issue I am looking at—Thursday, April 12—practically is shouting at me. It has four full-color photos—two with color borders—two charts in color, and one small story printed on a peach-colored background.

These compete for my attention with four bold headlines and a bold standing head, NEWSLINE. This is labeled "A Quick Read on the News," and consists of a short weather update, brief summaries of major stories and where they can be found inside, and an index to regular sections and features.

Research has shown that newspaper readers want to be able to find the things they want to read, quickly and easily. The Ruidoso News adopted a "menu," as it is sometimes called, for this reason.

The primary chart in Thursday's USA TODAY carries the headline, "West fears '100-year flood'." A picture of a fellow stacking sandbags in a creekbed complements a drawing of a snow-capped mountain range towering over a tiny Salt Lake City skyline.

A map of five Western states is thrown in for good measure, showing cities threatened by expected heavy runoff from snowmelt.

Having listed the elements that make up the complete graphic, I realize the overall effect has been to give me a lot of information before I even start on the accompanying story.

Research has shown that more people read the stories that have a graphic with them. As I told the kids at Career Day, a whole new specialty has opened up in journalism—that of graphic designer/artist.

The four sections of USA TODAY are News, Money, Sports and Life. If you had wondered how a national newspaper could provide localized information to readers, take a look at the weather page on the back of the News section.

A huge four-color map of the continental United States dominates the page. Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are in insets. Temperature highs and lows are given for many cities, and separate blocks have forecasts for major cities and international weather information.

The Money section includes stock market news and quotations and general business and economic news. It's sort of like a miniature version of Business Week magazine.

The sports section, like the news section, includes an "Across the USA" feature with brief newswits from every state. Thursday, the basketball recruits at UNM and New Mexico State were listed.

The last section, Life, has entertainment and lifestyle-oriented news. It includes a crossword puzzle and a TV guide.

All in all, USA TODAY offers a lot for the 25-cent price. I wouldn't advise depending on it as your only source of news, but it offers a way to stay abreast of events of national interest.

The writing could be described as tight, but not colorless.

According to Mary Ann Brody, sales and promotion director for USA TODAY in Denver, the publication is alive and well and exceeding growth projections. It now has the third highest circulation in America.

I personally think USA TODAY has been great for the newspaper industry. If there is anything that can attract young readers and win them to the newspaper habit, it is a bold approach like this one.

And that should have a spin-off effect that will benefit newspapers like ours.

Diamonds Forever a gem of a shop

If diamonds are a girl's best friend, then Diamonds Forever is the place for girls to go. The shop, at 2635 Sudderth Drive, offers a wide selection of diamond, ruby, sapphire and pearl-encrusted jewelry.

Bracelets, gold chains, rings, charms, wedding sets and earrings of 14 and 18 carat gold glitter from the display cases.

Also glittering is the friendly smile of shop-owner Linda Alford. Alford said she co-owns the shop with Barbara Robbins and Janet Hodgins, both of Idalou, Texas. Alford said the shop has been successful since opening November 1.

"Christmas was fantastic," she said. "I couldn't have asked for a better season."

Alford said she is looking forward to an equally successful summer season. Alford said she is developing a good local clientele at Diamonds Forever.

In addition to fine jewelry, the shop offers services such as jewelry repair, remounting, cleaning and ring sizing. The shop also does appraisals on items sold there. Alford said the shop will have loose diamonds and emeralds in stock this summer. The shop employs one part-time employee, Marsha Venable.

According to Alford, jewelry at Diamonds Forever is priced about 50 to 60 percent below common retail prices. She said because they are able to buy merchandise directly from New York suppliers, the prices are considerably lower.

Alford is no newcomer to the Ruidoso retail business community. She worked at Mountain Ski Shop for four years and at a Place in the Sun for two summers. She and her family have lived in Ruidoso for five years. Alford and her husband, Sid, have two daughters, Sindy, 16, and Tiffany, 13.

Diamonds Forever has a layaway and payment plan. The shop is open from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. The shop will be open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. everyday this summer. The phone number at Diamonds Forever is 257-2425.
