Ski race fever!

Anaya press conference kicks off U.S. Open buildup

by BILLY ALLSTETTER
News Staff Writer

Preparations for the U.S. Open ski race turned from speculative to active at the end of last week with committees beginning work on brass tacks logistics and the announcement of the race by Governor Toney Anaya.

From a planning session with race promoter Paul Carson Friday to Anaya's press conference in Albuquerque Saturday—and from shop talk afterwards—past doubts about the race were substituted with enthusiasm and plans for the next six weeks leading up to the race.

The race, which is billed as the world's richest ski race, is scheduled for March 3 and 4 at Eagle Creek Ski Area. Carson said Saturday he expects 50 to 80 of the world's best skiers to compete for the $70,000 purse.

"This kind of an event could catapult us into national, international prominence," said Anaya at Saturday's press conference. "I am pleased to announce that this U.S. Open race will bring world-class skiers to New Mexico who will help focus national attention on this state's prime winter tourist industry."

Anaya said the advertising Ruidoso and New Mexico will receive through television and print media coverage will be more than the state could afford to purchase.

Representatives from three major television network affiliates and numerous newspapers attended the press conference.

Anaya announced the state's $40,000 contribution to the race. Ruidoso has contributed $25,000 and private local sponsors have kicked in another $15,000.

Anaya played down his own contributions to the race and particularly noted Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth's efforts in bringing the race to Ruidoso. Carson and Jungbluth, however, indicated the governor was instrumental in bringing the race to Ruidoso.

"Without the governor's support, the race wouldn't have been in Ruidoso," said Carson. In addition to backing the state's contribution, Anaya personally called Carson last spring to say the state was very interested in helping put on the race. State Representative Mickey McGuire also was present at Saturday's press conference.

Carson has lined up several sponsors, including clothing manufacturer C.B. Sports, but is still seeking more advertisers for the television broadcast of the race by U.S.A. cable network.

Two one-hour shows will be produced of the races, with each one shown four times on the network. U.S.A. network reaches over 20 million homes nationwide.

The skiers will race side by side on parallel courses in both slalom and giant slalom elimination races. The courses will include two six-foot man-made bumps.

The first racer across the finish line will start a timing clock that will stop when the second racer crosses the line. The two racers will then switch courses and race again. The racer who finishes with the greater time differential wins the match and advances to the next match.

The winner of the slalom and giant slalom races will each win $5,000. Those two skiers will compete against each other in the final two races for a $10,000 grand prize and the title of U.S. Open Champion.

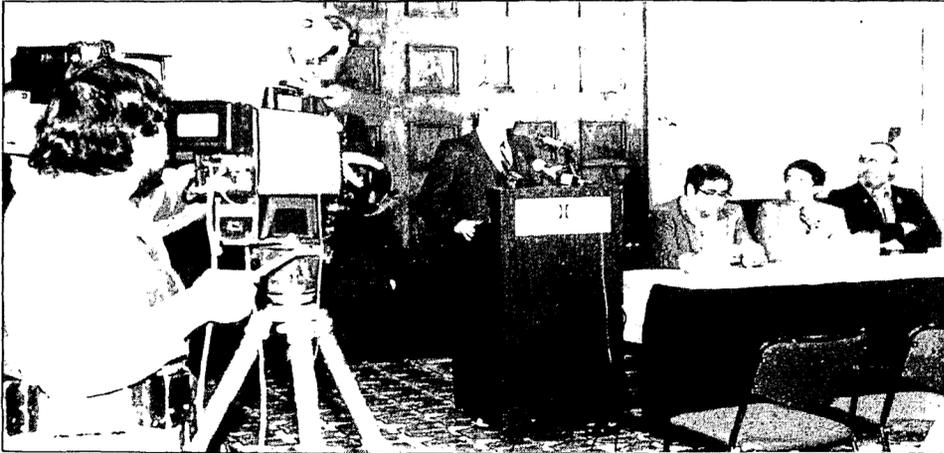

Carson talked about some of the skiers who will compete in the race.

Austrian Georg Ager was last year's Pro Ski International Champion, winning $12,400 on the tour. The 135-pound skier started this year's season in the same style, sweeping the downhill and slalom races at Filzmoos, Austria, in December. That weekend's work earned him $9,000.

Hans "Hollywood" Hinterseer is probably the best known skier on the circuit. The handsome Hinterseer finished third on the Pro Ski International Tour last year and was the World Cup Giant Slalom champion as an amateur with the Austrian national team in 1973. The Austrian skier has finished in the top three overall four out of six seasons as a pro. He placed third in the downhill and fifth in the slalom at Filzmoos.

American David Stapleton finished second overall on the tour last year. The Aspen, Colorado, resident won $14,200 on the tour, including $10,800 for his combined championship at Winter Park, Colorado.

Lonny Vanatta of Steamboat Springs, Colorado, has been the top North

Pro Ski International executive director Paul Carson, state Tourism and Economic Development Secretary Alex Mercure, Governor Toney Anaya and Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce executive director Ed Jungbluth.

American skier two of the last six seasons. He specializes in slalom, but is also very competitive in giant slalom.

Peter Dodge of Stowe, Vermont, was voted "Pro Racer of the Year" by Ski magazine last year after finishing in the top three overall in 70 percent of the races he entered.

In another development, David Mirisch of Hollywood, California, announced that he plans to bring six to 10 television and motion picture celebrities to Ruidoso for the race.

They will compete in the pro-am race Saturday afternoon and help entertain at the awards dinner Saturday night. Mirisch said he will not know for sure which celebrities will be able to come until just before the race, because of filming schedules.

He has worked with Pat Boone, Connie Stevens, Kenny Rogers, William Shatner, John Forsythe, Dick Van Patten and many others on other celebrity events.

In Ruidoso Friday, Carson met with community members who will be organizing the race and social activities. He ran through a list of 30 different areas of responsibility, including transportation, a race magazine, fund-raising, housing, social schedule and race crew.

Amid jokes and high spirits, Carson delegated authority for the race and prerace activities. Local residents Elona Rush, Tommy Morel, Gary and Melinda Hall, Ed Jungbluth, Ted Marolt, Ray Heid, Paul Southwick, Diane Browning, Toni Croxton, Jim Paxton, Duggan Brown and Dick Parker will all be working on race preparations. Rush invited anyone else with time and energy to contact her about helping with the race.

The Chamber of Commerce will be acting as a central communications center for the race preparations.

Racers and press will begin arriving in Ruidoso Tuesday, February 28, with a mandatory racer's meeting Wednesday.

Preliminary qualifications for pro racers not ranked in the top 40 will begin Thursday morning. Carson said any skier can qualify as a pro if he skis within 5 percent of the average times posted by the tour's top three racers. There will be 20 spots open during the preliminary qualifications.

Friday morning Nottingham's Pub is hosting a press buffet before elimination races cut the field to 32 racers. Giant slalom competition begins Friday afternoon with 32 racers reduced to 16 racers.

Opening ceremonies will be at the Ruidoso Inn Friday evening with a "Pick-the-Winner" party later that night. Proceeds from the party will go to the Sierra Blanca Handicapped Skiers Program.

Giant slalom finals will be Saturday morning and the pro-am race is Saturday afternoon. Carson said there are still spots for amateurs among the 27 pro-am teams. An entry fee of $250 will entitle the skier to a clinic from his team's pro, competition in the race, lunch and dinner.

The pro-am awards dinner Saturday night at Jerry Dale's should be one of the highlights of the weekend, said Carson. Tickets are available to non-racers for $30.

The slalom field will be reduced to 16 skiers Saturday morning, with the finals beginning in the early afternoon.

The giant slalom and slalom winners will race for the U.S. Open Championship later Saturday afternoon, with the awards ceremony following. A final pro party will close out the weekend Sunday evening.

Lee proposes Gavilan Canyon state road

by BARBY GRANT
Special to The News

State Senator Charlie Lee said Saturday he plans to introduce legislation to add Gavilan Canyon Road to the state highway system so it can be upgraded to handle traffic diverted from Highway 37.

Lee said severance tax bond money would be used for funding, but he is waiting on a cost estimate from the State Highway Department before completing work on the proposal.

Lee acknowledged that because of current revenue constraints, he may be forced to settle for seed money for a study of the project. He said it is difficult to predict the chances for passage of such a bill.

New Mexico legislators returned to the Capital City last week to face the tough task of voting on the tax increase for education proposal being pushed by Governor Toney Anaya.

The 1984 Legislature officially convened at noon Tuesday when Anaya delivered his state of the state address. And although the session is to last only a short 30 days, the governor included a call for around 200 bills in his executive message.

By the close of the first three days of the session on Thursday, 96 bills and 14 memorials and resolutions had been introduced in the legislative chambers. The 15th legislative day is the deadline for introduction of bills.

"There's going to be an extreme amount of legislation for a short session, and it will certainly tend to add to the confusion," State Senator Charlie Lee noted.

Despite the heavy workload, Lee does not foresee the need for a special session lasting past the scheduled 30 days. He predicted lawmakers will postpone action on some pieces of legislation until the 60-day session next year. Bills warranting more immediate consideration will be acted on fairly quickly, Lee believes.

Lee also is co-sponsoring a joint resolution to amend the state constitution to require a two-thirds vote of both houses for approval of a tax increase. Current statutes allow a majority of both houses to pass a law. Such an amendment would require a statewide referendum.

Much of the debate of this 30-day legislative session will be concentrated on a few "hot" topics, which Senator Lee outlined as follows:

—The governor's tax increase for education proposal. Anaya wants to raise state gross receipts and compensating taxes by one percent to provide salary increases for school personnel and added revenues for other education needs. As a result of the governor's statewide pre-session campaign to generate support for his tax package, Lee arrived in Santa Fe well aware of his constituents' stand on this issue: "adamantly opposed to it."

Eighty percent of the mail he received stated opposition to a tax increase of any kind; and that, the senator said, means he will vote "no" on increasing taxes.

He believes other legislators will have to do the same. "I don't think there is going to be any tax increase unless the attitude of the public changes."

There are two schools of thought among lawmakers on funding education this year, Lee said. One is to grant the governor's entire $173 million tax hike proposal in an effort to upgrade the quality of education in New Mexico. The other is to give teachers and other state employees a five percent raise and hold the line on taxes.

Lee believes the latter attitude, taken by the Legislative Finance Committee, will win out.

—Citicorp. Anaya is backing a request to change the state's banking laws to allow Citicorp, a New York banking firm worth $130 billion, to open a credit card business in Albuquerque. The New Mexico Bankers Association opposes the move, but Citicorp's promise of 1,000 new jobs may be difficult to turn down.

Lee sees the vote in both houses as too close to call on this issue. But he professes skepticism of a proposal to allow multinational banking firms into New Mexico without more information being made available on the possible effects.

—DWI (Driving While Intoxicated) Legislation. Senator Lee believes the state's DWI laws will be strengthened this year, explaining, "People want some action." Proposals for tightening the DWI laws were included in the governor's message Tuesday, along with a request for allocation of funds for support of alcoholic treatment programs.

Lee believes the DWI laws now on the books are adequate, but that enforcement needs to be more stringent, and that the judiciary should be more responsive to the wishes of the public.

—Insurance recodification. The Interim Joint Committee on Insurance Recodification will introduce a 900-page set of new insurance laws. Included in the bill is a controversial "unisex" provision aimed at eliminating alleged insurance rate discrimination based on sex.

According to Lee, the likelihood of this bill getting through the Legislature this session is questionable because it is too copious to study thoroughly enough for serious consideration.

Other bills which may not receive as much attention but which will impact on Lincoln County include a recommendation for additional judgeships, including a third district judge for the 12th Judicial District, and a bill to establish a state lottery. Both pieces of legislation went before state lawmakers last year but never made it into law.

Anaya vetoed the judgeships last year, but included the recommendation in his package last Tuesday. Lee believes it will pass and vowed to support it.

Most of this week will be spent considering legislation in committees, the veteran senator noted. The action is expected to get under way in the full chambers the following week.

Fort Stanton hot topic at the Legislature

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

The proposed transition of Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Center from a facility for the care of the developmentally disabled to the long-term treatment of patients for alcoholism has run into snags in Santa Fe.

According to State Senator Charlie Lee, any increase in the budget this year is being looked at closely by legislators. Governor Toney Anaya is seeking $1.9 million to fund the changeover.

In addition, many legislators have concerns over making the transition. "There are a lot of people in the Legislature that really question moving that hospital," he said. Lee and several other legislators approached the governor last week to tell him of their concerns.

Lee said the governor said at that meeting that he would like to wait until both sides of the issue can be present. Chief of Staff Robert McNeill, who proposed the change while Secretary of the Health and Environment Department, was not present at the meeting.

According to some reports, much of the controversy arose when a delegation of schoolteachers from a Los Lunas preschool for retarded children

Villages' governing bodies to meet this week

The Ruidoso Downs board of trustees will discuss the financing of a garbage truck at their meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, January 23, in the municipal building.

- In other business, the trustees will discuss:
 - Approval of an election board.
 - Resolution 84-1, which concerns transfer of sanitation funds.
 - Specifications for a 40-by-100-foot metal building for the fire department.
 - The 1982-83 audit report.
 - Resolution 84-2, transfer of $439.80 in funds from disaster construction to the general fund.

-Resolution 84-3, transfer of $258.85 in funds from the general fund to the utility fund.

The Ruidoso village council is scheduled to act on Ordinance 84-2, increasing the salary of members of the governing body from $3,000 per year to $5,000 per year, when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, January 24, at village hall.

Tuesday's special meeting replaces the January 31 regular meeting, to avoid any complications with a pay raise being adopted the same day council candidates file. A study session will precede the meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Also on the agenda are:

- Ordinance 84-3, amending Ordinance 77-1, to amend the schedule of rates and charges for Cablevision. Basic monthly service for a first outlet will be $12 under the new schedule.
- Resolution 84-2, reduction of speed limit on highways 37 and 70, with a maximum of 35 miles per hour within village limits.

- Bids and contracts on aviation fuel, steam cleaner and washer for street department, and ground power unit for airport.

-Items previously approved by Planning and Zoning Commission, including replat in Juniper Hills for Charles Crabtree and correction of encroachment, documentation of new boundaries and taking of property by village and State Highway Department in Palmer Gateway.

- Lease of school property for recreational complex.

Great Books program now at middle school

by BETH HALLER
News Staff Writer

White Mountain Middle School recently started a new program to expose children to classic literature.

"The Great Books program, sponsored by the Great Books Foundation, is a program which exposes kids to high quality literature and provides a lot of enjoyment," said Ellie Keeton, middle school librarian and teacher of the program.

The program was started last week. A few times a month, instead of going to a language arts class, the students go to the Great Books program, Keeton said. All the students in the school participate.

The students read the story in class, and then they discuss it with Keeton.

The one-hour class is strictly for enjoyment and learning. There are no grades, no tests and no mandatory participation in the discussions, she noted.

"In the discussions, there are no right or wrong answers to the questions," Keeton explained. "They may interpret it however they want. This allows for freedom and is necessary for true enjoyment."

The object is to try to get students to read on their own, she said. There is shared inquiry and shared questions and answers.

The children will be exposed to such authors as Rudyard Kipling, Leo Tolstoy, Oscar Wilde, Anton Chekhov, Kurt Vonnegut and D. H. Lawrence.

The first day the children started off with a fairy tale, "Jack in the Beanstalk," so they could learn the technique of how the class would be run, Keeton said.

The questions are asked so they stimulate discussion, and so they do not give away any answers because there are no right answers, she explained.

The type of questions are either factual, interpretive or evaluative. "The stories are so motivating; they provoke comment and thought," Keeton said.

To become a certified teacher in the Great Books program, Keeton went to a four-day training course in Albuquerque.

She learned how to teach the course and how to pick appropriate stories for various types of children. She will be training teachers at Nob

Hill and the White Mountain schools.

"I eventually hope to train the teachers, so they can incorporate the program into their classes," she said.

Series two, four and seven of the Great Books program were purchased with Chapter 2 funds.

Keeton hopes with the program, "the kids will realize some of the classics are not so bad after all."

Terry Coe council candidate

Terry Coe has announced his candidacy for one of six seats on the Ruidoso village council to be decided in the March 6 municipal election.

The 36-year-old Ruidoso area native said he would like to serve a two-year term on the council. Two-year and four-year terms will be decided by lot among the winners in the council race.

"I'm interested in just a short period of time just to do a little cleanup," said Coe.

He predicted the biggest campaign issue will be what to do with the $8 million residents voted in bond issues for the Grindstone dam, in light of the valley farmers water protest that has held up the project.

Coe said he wonders why the farmers were not negotiated with before the change in treated wastewater discharge points that led to the protest.

"Anybody with any foresight could have seen that problem," he said.

Coe, who has lived in Ruidoso off and on all his life, believes his familiarity with the town qualifies him for the council.

"I feel like I probably know as much about this town, its problems, the people who run it, its access to water ... I feel like I've paid attention while I've been here," he said.

Coe, who listed building and ranching as his occupations, attended Ruidoso High School and graduated from high school at Silver City. He later attended college in Silver City, Odessa, Texas, and San Bernardino, California.

He pointed to growth as another vital issue, stating that the village has lacked a comprehensive long-range plan for some time.

"We have to control our growth—there's no reins on it," he said. He indicated it is typical for annexations to pass from the "real estate-run Planning and Zoning Commission" to the "real estate-run council" so taxpayers can start paying for services while the value of older lots in town decreases.

Coe also expressed a need in the village for recreation opportunities for young people, and proposed condemning a four-acre tract west of the police station for a large recreation complex.

Terry Coe and his wife Teresa have two children, Chelsea, 6, and Katie, 1.

was sent to talk to McNeill by House Appropriations and Finance Committee Chairman Fred Luna. Luna, a representative for the Los Luna area, said at the meeting McNeill proposed going along with the preschool request for funding if Luna would support the Fort Stanton transition.

Luna reacted angrily to the suggestion and said he would not support funds for the transition. McNeill said Luna was reacting to a misunderstanding and said there was no connection between funding for the preschool and the change at Fort Stanton.

"None of us are opposed to moving those people who can be moved. There are a certain number of people, however, who have to be institutionalized, and I can't think of a better place than Fort Stanton," Lee said.

Representative Mickey McGuire said he needed more information to make a statement on the issue.

"My feeling is that I've got to have more information from both sides," he said. "I am working to see that whatever happens is done in an organized fashion."

Gunman robs convenience store Sunday night; flees on foot with cash

An armed robber threatened a clerk with a pistol at the Midtown Mart on Sudderth Drive in midtown Sunday evening, then fled on foot with an undisclosed amount of money.

Harold Stevens was the clerk on duty just after 7 p.m. when a white male pointed a blue steel revolver at him and demanded all the money, said Ruidoso police sergeant Mike Lovelace.

According to Lovelace, Stevens hesitated at first but quickly handed over all the money when the robber cocked the pistol and threatened to kill him.

The suspect then fled west on foot, said Lovelace. No shots were fired and no one was injured during the incident, said Lovelace.

The suspect is described as five foot four inches, 140 pounds and about 22 years old. He was wearing a dark blue or black stocking cap, a medium or dark blue windbreaker, well-worn blue jeans and a white sock over his hand.

"We cannot and will not override any restrictive covenant in any subdivision," said Ruidoso-Lincoln County Extraterritorial Zoning Commission member Ben Hall at the Thursday meeting of the body.

Carrizo Canyon E.T. zoning recommended

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

In a public hearing that was much shorter than expected, the Ruidoso-Lincoln County Extraterritorial Zoning Commission voted Thursday to recommend zoning for the Carrizo Canyon area to the Ruidoso-Lincoln County Extraterritorial Zoning Authority.

The two-hour meeting drew to a close with the Commission voting to recommend to the Authority that the Carrizo Canyon area be zoned R-1 (single-family residential) in some areas and C-1 (general commercial) in the remainder of the canyon. The C-1 areas would include property which is "one lot deep" along Carrizo Creek Road; the first 200 feet of larger, unsubdivided tracts of land along the road; the property occupied by The Carrizo Lodge; the property belonging to Billy Taylor in the canyon; and property belonging to Van Brown in Section 28. The other lands in the canyon were recommended to be zoned R-1.

The Commission is responsible for recommending zoning for all land within a one-mile radius surrounding the village limits of Ruidoso. Their recommendations will be considered by the Zoning Authority, which is made up of Lincoln County commissioners Kenneth Nosker and Bill Elliott and Ruidoso village councilman Benny Coulston. The Carrizo Canyon area is the first of the areas surrounding Ruidoso to be recommended for zoning.

The public hearing was held before a near standing-room-only crowd in the village hall auditorium. The meeting began with comments from District Attorney Steve Sanders on the origins and powers of the Zoning Authority and the Commission. Sanders said the Authority was created by an agreement between the county and the Village of Ruidoso. He said the Zoning Authority has the powers of a governing body, and can adopt ordinances. One of those ordinances created the Extraterritorial Zoning Commission. The Commission is empowered to make recommendations to the Zoning Authority, he said. Sanders also commented on questions recently raised concerning errors in the ordinance creating the Commission.

"There are a number of typos in there. It will be a chore to retype," he said of the 65-page document. "I personally haven't seen anything in there to affect the validity of it."

Commission member Ray Bishop stressed that the Commission had only made a recommendation to the Authority, and that even if the Authority approves the recommendation, it does not affect the existing restrictive covenants in the area.

He said in areas where the new zoning provides for different uses of the land, property owners who want to change their uses of the land will have to get together and redraw the restrictive covenants. They then have to have them signed by a majority of the property owners to make the new uses legal.

Lincoln ordinance in draft

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

The new Lincoln Historical Ordinance has reached the rough draft stage, it was reported during the Thursday meeting of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission. According to county manager Suzanne Cox, the rough draft is composed of the best parts of the materials available to the rewrite committee.

She said the committee, set up in October by the Planning Commission, will proceed with the rewrite effort by considering written comments from the people of Lincoln. Cox said committee members hope to begin public hearings, necessary before the ordinance is passed, sometime in February.

In other business, the committee:

- Approved a replat of Lot 16 of Blocks I, K and M of the Middle Cedar Subdivision as requested by Paul Pearson.

-Approved a replat of part of Block B of the Red Cedar Subdivision as requested by Paul McClendon.

-Approved a replat of Lots 20-A and 20-B of Block I, K and M of the Middle Cedar Subdivision as requested by Shaw Engineering.

-Approved a conference plat of the proposed Turkey Park Ranchettes Subdivision.

Man injured in hit and run

A man was seriously injured in a hit and run accident on Highway 37 near Innsbrook Village Sunday evening.

David Drain is reported in stable condition at Saint Mary's Hospital in Roswell with head and arm injuries. He was transferred to that hospital because of the serious nature of the head injuries, said Mary Lou Brown, director of nursing at Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital.

Police reports were not available at press time for an account of the accident, but police are looking for a dark red or brown pickup truck that is missing at least one rearview mirror found at the scene of the accident. The pickup might have dual wheels.

Reading group organizing

An organizational meeting of the International Reading Association (IRA) is set for 8:45 p.m. Tuesday, January 31, at the Ruidoso High School library.

The local IRA chapter includes the Ruidoso, Hondo, Capitan and Mesalero areas.

Pre-school screening and parent training programs will be planned at the meeting. Anyone interested in these two projects is invited to attend.

For more information, call Sandy Gladden at 257-7324.

Deliverance seminar this week

Princes of Peace Ministries of Ruidoso will conduct a teaching seminar on deliverance Thursday through Saturday, January 28-29, at Community United Methodist Church.

Hours of the seminar each day are 10 a.m. to noon, 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Child care is available, with Mrs. Beasley in charge.

Bob and Maroline Smith of Ruidoso are organizers of the seminar. "Are you tired of Satan robbing you of your health, your power and your possessions?" they ask. "Come and hear the power packed teaching on your authority and how to use it to live a victorious life."

Also teaching at the seminar, which promises "everything you ever wanted to know about deliverance," are Kelly and Bert Kelso, founders of Christian World Ministries. They have ministered in more than 20 countries.

Jim and Jan Warner, pastors of Cornerstone Fellowship in Rowlett, Texas, will also participate.

Cuckoos practicing

Rehearsals for The Ruidoso Little Theatre's presentation of "One Flew over the Cuckoo's Nest" have begun. All major roles have been cast, although understudies and stage hands are needed. Anyone interested in the theatre is welcome to join evening rehearsals in a vacant office in Charleston Square Tuesday through Thursday.

The play, adapted from the novel by Ken Kesey, is being directed by Thomas A. D. Muhn with assistance from Barbara Vladez.

Cast members include Carl Mori as the leading character Randle P. McMurphy, Rick Glenn as Chief Bromden, Donna Bruss as Nurse Ratched and Richard Barnes as Billy Bibbit.

Other cast members David Morin, Jan Prince, Terry Webb, Bill Don Knox, Bill Smith, John Raulerson, Mitch Rhodes, Randy Bennett, Wayne Townsend, Mike Larkey, Laura Proffitt and Wanita Morin are also practicing their parts.

The play is tentatively scheduled for the last two weekends in February and the first weekend in March at Cree Meadows Country Club.

Don Huband gets Lions' rifle

Ruidoso State Bank won a drawing for a .50 caliber anniversary muzzle-loader rifle, sponsored by the Ruidoso Evening Lion's Club.

Bank president Buzz Browning donated the rifle back to the Lion's scholarship chairman C.L. Wright. The rifle was then auctioned to the high bidder, Don Huband.

All proceeds of the drawing and auction were deposited into the club's scholarship fund.

The 1983 scholarship recipients include an $800 Ray Clarke Memorial Scholarship for Ezelle Clark, a $500 scholarship for Curtis Latham and a $500 Doc Horton Memorial Scholarship for Chris Wynn.

The Ruidoso Evening Lions thanks Ruidoso State Bank and the citizens of Ruidoso for their continued support of Lion's activities.

The Ruidoso Evening Lion's Club will have a drawing for two cords of cedar wood on February 14. Proceeds from the wood raffle will support the scholarship fund. Donations for the wood raffle are $1 and may be purchased from any Ruidoso Evening Lion member.

Big T donates for Rome trip

The Big T Family Restaurant has volunteered to donate one dollar for each enchilada dinner sold during the period of January 23 to February 3 to Saint Eleanor's Legion of Mary.

The money will go toward an effort to send three youths from Saint Eleanor's Parish to Rome in April.

The trip has to be paid in full by February 15, said Jean Stillman of the Legion of Mary.

Donations sought for cemetery fence

Billie Clarke, chairperson of the Cemetery Board, noted that spring will soon arrive and the board would like to finish the fence at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

"For you that have contributed we all say 'thanks' and shall appreciate everyone who would like to have a part in helping make the cemetery more attractive," she said. "May God bless each of you."

Contributions may be made to the cemetery fence fund at Ruidoso State Bank.

Bent students win drawing contest

A fifth-grade student at Bent Mesalero School, Gerald Rice Jr., won first place in a drawing competition for New Mexico students conducted by the Office of Special Events of Save the Children.

Gerald is 11 years old. Patrick Hiles, 11, received an honorable mention in the same contest. He is in the sixth grade at Bent Mesalero School.

On Campus

Two students from this area, Thorá Walsh and Kim Sanchez, were among 63 New Mexico State University students named to Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges.

The honor is given for academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and future potential.

Gracie Ordorica of Ruidoso is among 464 Eastern New Mexico University students named to the 1983 fall semester Dean's Honor Roll. She is a freshman at the Portales campus.

Lady Warriors win

Ruidoso hoopsters lose tight game to Deming

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

The third quarter proved to be fatal for the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team as the Warriors dropped a hard fought 56-50 decision to visiting Deming in the district 3-AAA opener Saturday night.

Ruidoso, now 3-10 overall, led 29-22 entering the third period but scored just four points in that quarter to 16 for the Wildcats. Deming took a 38-33 edge into the final period but had to fight off a Warrior comeback in the final minutes.

Deming increased its lead to eight points early in the final period, but the Warriors fought back.

Dan Ullmann hit two field goals and Patric Pearson hit on a driving layup to pull Ruidoso within one at 44-43. Deming went ahead 46-43, but Pearson hit one of two free throws to close the gap to two points.

Two more buckets by Ullmann and a field goal by the Wildcats tied the score at 48-48 with 2:20 left in the contest.

However, the Warriors were hurt when both Pearson and guard Gilbert Rivera fouled out within a minute of each other.

Deming went ahead 52-48, but Ullmann sank two free throws for a 52-50 score. The Warriors had to foul to get the ball, and the Wildcats scored their final points at the charity stripe.

Ruidoso started out the game like the Warriors were going to pull a major upset on the highly-ranked Wildcats.

Ruidoso led 17-12 at the first period break and increased the margin to 29-22 at halftime.

Ullmann, who scored 23 points on the night, was frequently getting loose under the basket for layups or forcing the opposing players to foul him. Pearson and Rivera were hitting from the outside, and the whole Warrior team was playing good defense.

But then came the third period. The Wildcats forced a couple of turnovers early in the quarter and held the lead most of the way from there.

"I feel it was our best effort of the season," said Warrior head coach Ron Geyer. "They got a couple of turnovers early in the third quarter and took the lead."

"We moved the ball well on offense most of the time. We did a very good job of not letting them get the ball inside. Most of their shots came from about 20 feet out."

"I'm real proud of the way our kids have really improved since last season."

Besides Ullmann's 23 points; Rivera added 11 points, and Pearson tallied eight. Sophomore Russell Easter scored six and Cyrus Simmons two.

Michael Veramontes led Deming with 17 points, and 6-4 sophomore Alpha Adkins added 11.

Ruidoso will play a non-district game against Tularosa Tuesday night on the Wildcats' court. The varsity game will start following a 5:30 junior varsity contest.

Friday the Warriors will resume district action, traveling to Hot Springs.

Geyer respects Tularosa. "They don't have the big man they had last year," he said. "But they hustle a lot and play with lots of intensity."

Hot Springs has two big sophomores and has a competitive team which has won its share of games.

How do you spell relief? As far as the Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball team is concerned, it's making the most out of your free throw attempts.

The Warriors did just that against visiting Deming in the district 3-AAA opener Saturday night, hitting 18 of 27 charity attempts in winning a 57-40 decision. The win was all the more impressive because Deming was ranked fifth in the state coming into the game.

Ruidoso, now 6-8 on the overall season, lost a tight 52-51 decision to the visiting Cloudfcroft Bears Friday night. So the district win over Deming couldn't have come at a better time.

"That was a big factor in our winning the game," said a happy Warrior coach Sergio Castanon about his team's hot free throw shooting. "That's a lot better than we usually have done this season."

Ruidoso broke the game open in the final period, outscoring the Wildcats 26-10. The Warriors led just 31-20 entering the final period, but hot shooting by guard Gia Rose, forward Stacy Ivy and guard Lillian Lopez led the Ruidoso surge to victory.

Rose tallied 17 points and played an excellent floor game. Ivy added 13 points, and Lopez scored 12.

"We got balanced scoring. That's one of the keys for us to win games," Castanon said. "That and hitting over 50 percent of our free throws. I'm real proud of the girls."

The Warriors got off to a fast start in the contest, holding the Deming offense down and taking a 6-2 lead at the first quarter break.

After Deming tied the game at 8-8 early in the second period, Ruidoso outscored the visitors 15-2 to take a 23-10 lead into the lockerroom at halftime.

But the Wildcats refused to quit, and made a strong comeback in the third quarter, closing to within three points twice and finally the one-point deficit entering the final period.

Deming actually led 34-31 early in the final quarter, but Ivy scored on a fast break and Rose hit a field goal to put the Warriors ahead to stay.

In the Cloudfcroft contest, the Bears' Leah Warren hit two free throws with just 50 seconds remaining to give the visitors the victory over the Warriors.

Before Cloudfcroft rallied in the final period, the Warriors had led most of the way.

The Warriors had spurred out to an 18-8 lead by the end of the first period, showing some excellent outside shooting.

Cloudfcroft came back in the second quarter, outscoring Ruidoso 16-11 for a 29-24 Warrior halftime lead.

Both teams fought evenly in the third period, each scoring 15 points for a 44-39 Warrior lead at the quarter break.

Cloudfcroft gradually cut into the Ruidoso margin in the final quarter, but the Warriors hung on most of the way.

The Bears scored the last six points of the game after Rose had hit one of two free throw attempts for a 51-46 Warrior lead.

Rose again paced the Ruidoso scorers with 13 points. Ivy added 12, and Lopez scored 10. Center Diane McClure and Mavis Geronimo each added six points. McClure did a good job on the boards both nights.

The Warriors will continue district action next weekend, traveling to Hot Springs Friday night and Silver City Saturday night.

Russell Easter of the Ruidoso High School boys varsity basketball team fires up a shot against Deming Saturday night. The Warriors lost a close 57-50 decision.

Lillian Lopez of the Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball team puts up a shot during Saturday night's game with visiting Deming. Ruidoso won the district opener 57-40.

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

Now that the Ruidoso recreational sports scene is beginning to pick up, I've got quite a few ideas as to some additional programs and races that could be started.

Of course, whether any of these programs will ever be started is doubtful as some of them border on the "fantasyland" edge of reality.

But it's worth a try and here they are.

The Beth Haller Memorial Bear Race from the Y to White Mountain Middle School. That's Bear as in Baylor University, our intern's alma mater.

Each human contestant would ride one of Lincoln County's smallish black bears the total distance from the Y to the middle school. The first person to cross the finish line uninjured would be the winner. Individuals who enter the race riding grizzly bears would be given special citations for bravery.

As far as the race being referred to as a memorial, Haller is leaving us next week and going to Europe. In these troubled times, (particularly in Europe) the word memorial would seem to fit the title of the race.

The "throw a pie in the sportswriter's face" competition. It could be held annually at Ruidoso High School as a takeoff of the Warrior Booster Club's box supper pie-throwing contest.

Anyone would be allowed to participate in the pie-throwing contest, including coaches and players.

However, the sportswriter (guess who) would get his choice of the type of pies the contestants would throw at him. I prefer cherry and apricot, the latter being awfully hard to find in this area.

This competition would have an excellent chance of turning into a permanent affair, providing the right pies were available and paper plates were used to throw the pies with (paper plates would prevent serious injury to the writer).

Another idea would be the "how to take ski photos while flying through the air off of one of Sierra Blanca's higher slopes" race.

News reporters Darrel Pehr and Billy Allstetter have had plenty of experience taking ski shots while roaming the Sierra Blanca ski slopes. They haven't yet taken photos while in motion, but perhaps we can convince them to do so and set a good example for the other participants.

The ski course would be around 500 yards long through trees and other vegetation. Each contestant would race on the course alone, taking photos.

The skier with the most photos would win the event and be awarded with autographed photos of Pehr and Allstetter.

Participants who did not survive the competition would have their name enshrined on plaques where they met their destiny.

The final idea would be to have weekly "frisbee human" contests at White Mountain Middle School.

This would be a takeoff on last year's frisbee contest in which people had their dogs chase the little round discs.

This time it would be the other way around with the dogs telling their human masters to fetch the frisbees—with their teeth!

Personally, I doubt if any of these ideas will come about.

Not too many people would be willing to ride a bear several miles, take photos while speeding around a ski slope or try to grab a frisbee with their teeth.

But it's something to think about anyway.

Tiger boys finish fifth in Dexter tourney

After a first-round loss, the Capitan High School boys varsity basketball team won the consolation title of the Dexter Tournament Saturday night.

The Tigers, now 3-4 on the season, beat district rival Weed 62-50 Saturday for fifth place and the consolation title. Capitan opened the tournament Thursday with a 61-53 loss to Hatch and topped the Portales junior varsity 62-40 Friday.

In the Weed contest, Capitan jumped off to an 18-11 first period edge and increased it to 35-17 at halftime. However, the Tigers hit a cold spell in the third period, scoring just nine points to 19 for the losers. But Capitan put the game away in the final period, outscoring Weed 18-14.

Consistent Eddie Davis led the Tiger scoring with 19 points. Dewey Keller added 14 points and Sammy Castillo 13.

Against Portales, the game was tied 10-10 at the end of the first quarter.

But the Tigers' attack went into high gear in the second period, and Capitan led 25-17 at halftime.

The Tigers scored 37 points in the second half and breezed to the victory. Davis again led the Capitan scoring with 18 points, and Keller added 15. Danny Cummins and Castillo each tallied 10 points.

In the tournament opener, Hatch jumped off to a 19-12 first period edge and that proved enough for the victory. The teams fought evenly the rest of the way.

Davis tallied 17 points, and Todd Proctor added 16. Cummins scored nine.

"We blew a few chances in that first game," said Tiger coach Kendal Lawlis. "We turned the ball over a few times and that's been our problem all year."

Has the team shown improvement during the season?

"Yea," Lawlis answered. "We've come along. We still have to improve to be tough in district, however."

The Tigers will open district play against Cloudercroft Friday on the Capitan court. Cloudercroft is favored to win the district title. Saturday the Tigers will travel to Hagerman.

Capitan girls lose twice

Capitan High School's girls varsity basketball team lost a couple of close decisions over the weekend.

The Tigers lost to Dexter 54-51 at the Capitan gymnasium Thursday night, then fell to host Jal 47-44 Saturday night.

Capitan, now 8-7 on the season, got off to a slow start against Jal and trailed 16-5 at the first period break.

But the Tigers fought back gradually to close the Panthers' edge to three points at game's end.

Tracy Herd and Becky Phillips led the Capitan scoring with 10 points a piece. Becky Huey added nine points, and Shelly Eldridge had six.

Huey had an outstanding game on the boards, grabbing 16 rebounds. Becky Phillips added nine rebounds.

Against Dexter, the Tigers lost a 10-point lead with less than four minutes left as the Demon press forced several Capitan turnovers.

The Tigers had a chance to tie the game up in the final seconds, but a free throw was missed, and Dexter got two more charity shots for the game's final score.

Eldridge scored 18 points and Herd 16 to lead the Capitan effort. Huey grabbed 14 rebounds, Phillips nine, and Eldridge had eight.

"We handled their press well most of the game," said Tiger coach Darrel Ray about the Dexter game. "There was just a lapse on our part in those last few minutes. They scored eight points before we had a chance to call a timeout."

Dexter led 9-4 at the end of the first period, but the Tigers came back to lead 29-24 at halftime and 40-34 at the third quarter break.

Capitan's junior varsity also lost a couple of tight decisions, losing to Dexter 35-23 and Jal 40-33.

Joan Leslie scored 12 points and Kateri Sanchez had six against Jal. In the Dexter game, Sanchez and Chantille Points each scored seven points.

Capitan will open district play this Friday, hosting Cloudercroft. The Tigers will travel to Hagerman Saturday.

LaRue's fourth place top wrestler effort

Heavyweight Joe LaRue finished fourth to highlight the Ruidoso High School wrestling team's performance in the Carlsbad Invitational Friday and Saturday.

LaRue's finish was the highest place by a Warrior as Ruidoso finished 11th out of 13 teams in the tough tournament, scoring 35 points. The Warriors finished just four points behind the 10th place finisher. The host Cavemen won the tournament and Burgess of El Paso, Texas, was second.

"It was a real tough tournament," said Ruidoso head coach Gerald Ames. "Our kids learned a lot, and they never quit." Scott Ciraulo at 167 pounds and Gary Burgess at 187 pounds each came through with fine efforts for Ruidoso, despite not placing.

Both won three matches and lost two. Burgess lost two matches in the last seconds, one by one point and the other by two points.

Kevin Jameson at 155 pounds and Jeff Slatton at 121 pounds each won one match. James Herrera at 147 pounds didn't win but wrestled against two tough wrestlers.

Ruidoso, which is 2-2 on the dual match season, will host the Goddard Rockets at 5 p.m. Thursday in the final home match of the season. The junior varsity match will be at 5 p.m. with the varsity competition following it.

Brave cagers breeze

White Mountain Middle School's boys and girls A basketball teams swept to easy wins over visiting Hagerman Friday afternoon.

The Brave boys rolled over Hagerman 61-19, and the White Mountain girls took a 17-5 decision over the visitors.

Today the White Mountain boys B team and the girls squad will travel to Hagerman for return contests. The first game will start at 2 p.m.

In Friday's boys game, the Braves probably could have scored 100 points if coach Dean Hood had kept the first string in most of the game.

Hood played his second string players in the second quarter and went more to the bench in the second half.

42-4 at halftime.

Eric Ford led the Braves' scoring with 11 points. Clint Bob added eight points while 6-2 Dennis Ullmann and Kirk Ryan scored six. Adolph Herrera and Lance Willard each added five points.

"We played a pretty good game," Hood understated after the contest. "Our offense worked really well, and we got our press going in the first half."

The Braves are now 8-2 on the season and will travel to Holloman this Thursday.

White Mountain's girls moved their record to 8-3 with the win over Hagerman.

The Braves held the Bobcats scoreless in the first half, leading 8-0 at intermission. The visitors managed to score five points in the second half, but the victors tallied nine.

Warrior girls junior varsity wins

The Ruidoso High School girls junior varsity basketball team raised their record to 5-2 with an impressive 45-30 decision over visiting Cloudercroft Friday night.

Ruidoso outscored the Bears 18-6 in the final quarter to nail down the victory. The Warriors had only led 27-24 entering the final period.

Veralyn Platta led the Warrior scoring with 15 points.

Junior Warriors defeated

The Ruidoso High School boys junior varsity basketball team lost their district 3-AAA opener Saturday night when the Warriors fell to visiting Deming 62-41.

Ruidoso played the tough Wildcats well most of the way before the winners pulled away in the final quarter.

Deming led 37-28 entering the final period but outscored the Warriors 25-13 for the final margin.

The Dreamer

by Dan Storm

The Birthday of Robert Burns
 During these days between the twentieth and thirtieth days of January the old Mexican Jingle often comes to mind.

Enero Viejero, Febrero Loco, Marzo Aleroso, Abril Lluvioso, y salimos a Mayo florido y hermoso.

January the month that carries away the old folks, February the crazy month, Windy March, Rainy April, and we come into May so flowery and beautiful.

A mere strapping of seventy-four, you can call me "Old Folks" if you want. And if January did not want to carry me away, it is not because it did not bring up every weapon in the arsenal.

Below zero nights, snowy blizzards, whole days at a time of freezing mist and fog blown by relentless north wind, days at a time of bone-chilling masses of air making a giant refrigerator of the valley, winds of ice suddenly darting from the ambush of a sunny day.

January this trip has used the still factor, the wind factor, the chill factor and mostly the kill factor.

You wonder oftentimes whether or not January is the month that makes us "look at our hold card"—makes us play all the cards in the deck to survive, makes us remember how precious life really is.

Is there something in the spirit of January like a new birth, a new beginning during which time we call upon all the most deeply abiding resources in our mind, body and soul to rise above the direst adversities of the year, and rejoice?

Has strict, stern old Uncle January made us what we are? And is there a little something special about the people born in January's "Dead of Winter?" From the moment of their birth, was life's vital pulse heating a little stronger within their being, in response to the call of the Spirit of January to be strong, to overcome, and rejoice?

I often think this may be so when I think of Robert Burns, the Scotch poet who is forever carried in the world's heart.

He was born January twenty-five, 1750, in a farm cottage near the town of Ayr.

Last year I bought at the Aspen Tree something I have long wanted: "The complete works of Robert Burns." I have wanted to bring you a little something of Burn's works during the season of his birthday. Then when you go from one poem to the other, you do not know where to begin in picking one out. They are all so full of the author's God-given gift to reach the heart, so fitting for all time in their messages.

Burn's whole life was much like the month of his birth. Most of his youth was spent in "rustic toil" as a ploughman. His life was a struggle all the way. And yet he lived a man who so loved life, and brought happiness to the lives of others. His own hard tolls nourished his inborn reverence for all life, all mankind and all creatures. Later on from time to time we may go over some of Burn's works.

The twenty-fifth is also the birthday of Miss Tommie Sue Dunnahoo, dependent of a pioneer Pecos Valley family, and a true birthday mate of the Immortal "Robbie Burns." We wish Miss Dunnahoo many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Two Great Young Americans To Represent Us "Across The Ocean Wild and Wide."

"Oh, I will take you home, Kathleen,
 Across the ocean wild and wide—
 To where your heart has ever been,
 Since first you were my blushing bride."

So begins the old favorite Irish song, popular before "Lucky Lindy" Lindberg made the trip across in his "Spirit of Saint Louis," and thus led to taming of the Atlantic's "wildness" and also narrowed down its "Wideness" quite a bit.

Yes, the airplane has brought the "foreign strands" much closer to each other.

Any day now, Kerry Tate will go to England as a Rotary Exchange student. And Beth Haller, brilliant little writer for The Ruidoso News, will go to Germany and Switzerland and other points. Kerry will represent her home state of New Mexico, and the proud state of New Mexico, land of ancient culture, and center of the Atomic Age. Beth will represent The Sovereign Lone Star State, land of the Blue Bonnet, land of America's Mustang, land of the Longhorn and the Mustang, our little next-door neighbor, just East of us here.

Our prayers Go Up For Mamie Payton

Last Saturday I was given word by Jeannette Browning that Mamie Payton, long-time well beloved resident of Ruidoso Downs, is ill in the hospital in Roswell. We all pray for Mamie's recovery. Mamie reaches back to pioneer days in the valley, and later we will do something about her life in the early days.

Postal Service conducting Glencoe survey

The U.S. Postal Service is conducting preliminary studies to determine future post office space needs in Glencoe. Postal District Manager Dennis J. Yuhl said.

The studies will include investigation of various alternatives, including the use of the present facility, other existing buildings and sites for new construction. In letters to Kenneth Nosker, County Commissioner, and postal customers, Yuhl asked for community suggestions and offered to meet with local officials to review Postal Service preliminary plans.

At this stage in planning, the Postal Service is reviewing growth factors, size requirements, potential locations, local traffic conditions, geographical conditions and topographical conditions and environmental conditions which should be considered.

Yuhl said the anticipated postal needs are approximately 470 square feet of interior space on a site of adequate size to provide off-street parking for customers, employees and postal vehicles. The area under consideration is along US Highway 70 in the vicinity of the intersection of State Road 214 and US Highway 70.

January 1984

Dear Reader:

As you may have noticed, The Ruidoso News is changing.

For example, recently we have added a weather report and an index, and given them a place on page one so you'll always know where to find them. We have changed our byline, headline and section head styles.

All these changes are designed to make The Ruidoso News a better organized, more attractive newspaper for you, our readers.

But in changing the appearance of The News, we do not want to neglect in changing its content, where changes are needed. And this is where we are asking our readers to help.

Some of you—randomly selected—will be receiving a readers' survey in the mail. The survey gives you the opportunity to rank various types of news we cover and features we carry, according to their importance to you.

One section allows readers to tell us which new areas they would like to see us cover.

The survey takes just a few minutes to complete. Enclosed with it is a stamped envelope to mail it back in.

The Ruidoso News is your newspaper, and your input is valuable to us.

Thank you for participating in our survey. And feel free to write or call anytime to tell us how we can serve you better.

Sincerely,
Nancy Brown, Billy Albritton, Marnie Lane, Beth Haller
 Reporter/Photographers

P. S. If you do not receive a survey in the mail but would like to fill one out, call us at 505-257-4001, or write to the address on the letterhead.

The Ruidoso area will cement its claim to the title, "Year-Round Playground of the Southwest," when we host the world's richest ski race—the U.S. Open—March 1-3.

Organizers of the event are to be congratulated for their persistent efforts to make it happen. The race looked doubtful for a while there, but Governor Anaya's announcement Saturday puts the stamp of officialdom on the U.S. Open.

Now the town needs to concentrate on putting its best foot forward for this nationally telecast event. The nationwide exposure of Ruidoso as a winter sports center will complement that received every summer through the big races at Ruidoso Downs.

Volunteers are needed to help with the actual staging of the pro ski race. Persons interested in helping out should contact the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at 257-7395.

If you get a busy signal, try again. Between promoting the U.S. Open, pioneering the "acceptamos pesos" program and lobbying the Legislature for state tourism promotion funds, Chamber executive director Ed Jungbluth and his crew have their hands full.

But their efforts and those of the Chamber board of directors certainly seem to be paying off. Prospects for the "Year-Round Playground of the Southwest" have never looked better.—TP

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

By FRED McCAFFREY
SANTA FE—It's warm inside, but outside there's the cold, cruel world. That's not a weather report. It's a brief description of what Toney Anaya is coming to understand with increasing clarity as this January rolls on.

When our Governor is home behind the double door on the fourth floor of the Roundhouse, all is apparently snug and serene. He has a staff of almost 60 to serve him there, and his every whim is catered to, whether the whim strikes him during working hours or in deepest night.

When he snaps his fingers, there is someone to jump.

And he can still hear ringing in his ears the applause of all those who were pretty much ordered to attend the pep rallies in all parts of the state to show support for whatever his latest plan for increasing taxes may be. (One wonders who paid the air transportation to those soirees for Toney and his whole entourage.)

Since applause is the mother's milk of politicians, those memories must give off a warm glow in the Anaya mind.

But outside the governor's suite, things do not go well.

There are those Zia polls, for example. Zia is the firm which nose-counts for an Albuquerque television station, and its findings are closely followed by the Governor and those around him.

When it asked citizens in all parts of the state if they were willing to accept a small tax increase, provided the money it generated went to improve education, only 53 percent said yes. That's a pitifully small percentage to respond affirmatively to such a loaded question. And when you consider that the answer was given after the Anaya hoopla, which was supposed to generate grassroots support for his positions, the rebuff appears even sharper.

But that wasn't as bad as the personal rating. When the same company asked respondents to rate Anaya's performance in office, 68.5 percent of those polled gave it a negative rating by saying it was either "poor" or "mediocre."

Not only is that a desperately bad showing, but it has grown worse. In November only 61 percent thought he was doing a bad job.

Reports from that last poll came on the very day he had taken an entirely needless fall by trying to tell the state Senate whom to seat in District 31, which is comprised of Roosevelt and part of Chaves counties.

Why he wanted that battle is hard to see.

Admittedly, Senator Mickey Barnett, who was elected to the seat, is a practical resident of Albuquerque, which is outside the district. But there is no provision for a governor to replace a sitting member of either Senate or House.

Because Anaya could only get 11 Senators to vote for Roger Hardaway, the man he had illicitly named as Barnett's replacement, he allowed a demonstration, on the opening day of the 1984 legislative session, of how thin his support among lawmakers actually is.

Nor was his appearance that same day before a joint session of Senate and House the hit of the day.

One of Anaya's own staff was heard to admit after the State of the State address that it was not hard to keep track of how often the Governor was interrupted by applause. The number of interruptions was zero.

What's more, those who measure such things thought the applause that Tuesday was measurably warmer for former governors who were introduced than it was for Toney.

All that bad news, coming within a couple of days, is bound to discourage even the normally ebullient Anaya.

What's worse, it means that there will be no real leadership from the fourth floor during the current session of the Legislature. You can't have leadership unless there is someone who chooses to follow. Even those who normally like to support their governor, seeing all this kind of hand-writing on the walls, are deserting him in droves.

HELEN KILGORE

DEAR EDITOR:

I guess we are what you might call outsiders - looking in. We live in northern Michigan and receive your news paper regularly.

Two years ago I came to your state looking for a parcel of land to eventually move to, somewhere in the "Sunbelt", where the climate is warmer than here in northern Michigan in the winter time.

Due to my poor physical condition the cold hard winter we have here (so far this winter 80 plus inches of snow and temperature 30 degree below zero) are almost intolerable.

At that time I spent several days criss-crossing your state from Albuquerque to Truth or Consequences to Silver City to Las Cruces - to Alamogordo etc.. I ended up in Ruidoso a couple of days before I was to return home, and I thought this is an area I would like to return to, we bought 125 acres in the Hondo valley.

As a fast growing resort area I would like to congratulate the people on the way you are handling the influx of people coming to your area. Your new school and the hospital are indications of wise and thoughtful planning.

I would like to advise the people of the area to continue to support your local - Chamber - Law authorities - business association - P&Z - School board - church groups etc., and to continue to plan progress carefully.

The short time I was in your area, and information from your local newspaper leads me to believe the People of Ruidoso and surrounding area have a "Gem" to be proud of and by carefully working together will continue to be so.

Maybe sometime in the not too distant future, this old farmer will come and join you and help you enjoy the climate and the facilities available to you.

In the meantime continue to send me your paper.

In the interim if someone with a bundle of money wants to purchase some mid-west real estate with all its charm (lakes-streams-WINTER) send them over.

RESPECTFULLY YOURS
LAWRENCE NEMRCEK

DEAR EDITOR:

It seems that one of the favorite pastimes in Harmony Valley is taking Pot-shots at Al Jungo. Via way of letters to The Editor. I suppose the reason Al attracts so much flak is because he has an opinion on most things Political. Considering that he is a member of The Ruidoso Council and therefore SHOULD have an opinion, I'm surprised he is constantly criticized for this.

I've known Al for 5 years now, and I want to go on record as saying that I like the man. Al works hard at his job as Councilman. He does his homework and usually has facts to support his position. He is not one to be swayed by emotional hysteria, but can be persuaded by reason and logic.

I think this village is lucky to have a Councilman like Al Jungo who is not afraid to stand up and take the heat for the things he believes.

The Deep of Winter.

I was glad Dannie Storm defined the "Deep of Winter" for us last week, saying it lasts from about January 10 to February 2.

This gives those of us who find their thoughts turning to spring and summer a date to hang on to. Whether the groundhog sees his shadow or not, Dan'l seems to indicate, the worst of winter is behind us on the second of February.

Not that this has been a bad winter. But the feeling at our house when the late November snows came was that it was just too soon to be having winter again.

That, of course, was due to the fact the winter before lasted so late, with two feet of snow falling in the village the first week of April.

Being basically a summer person, I just geared myself this time for four months of winter weather—December through March. I told myself that was the way it was going to be, and to accept it.

Well, running along on dry ground in mid-December, feeling the warm sunshine on my face, I could only commiserate with myself over having to suffer through a Ruidoso winter (wink, wink).

Compounding the joke I was having with myself over fooling Mother Nature was news from parts North that they were getting clobbered by winter. In fact, reports in recent days have confirmed that it was a record cold December many places.

I heard the average temperature for the whole month in Sioux Falls, South Dakota, was 2 degrees!

What this winter has confirmed so far is that unless you're of a mind to avoid winter altogether (in which case you should live in the Tropics), you couldn't ask for a better place to be than right here.

The reason, put simply, is that winter in the mountains is beautiful. Cold, but beautiful.

We recently moved out to Cedar Creek, and I discovered an unexpected plus to that location: the night sky. Without the competition of city lights, the stars seen from there are unbelievable in their and clarity.

It gives you a downright spiritual feeling ("Boy, am I insignificant under this") as you stare at the galactic canopy. It also gives you a crick in the neck after a while.

And I've never taken much notice of the phases of the moon while living in town. But I've marked each month in our new house by the full moon.

This last one was really neat for several nights. The movement of the clouds across the sky as seen against the moon, the changing quality of the light on the landscape.

You're looking at a cloud-shrouded mountain panorama familiar by day, but which takes on an other-worldly look by night. It makes you feel like Frodo gazing at the faraway peaks of Gondor.

One night was completely clear, and the moon happened to be at its fullest and brightest. The newly fallen snow reflected its light, and shadows stood out sharply.

It was very cold, but the chill seems to enhance the clearness of the air and the silence in which to appreciate the night.

I walked along, feeling the muted "crunch" of my boots breaking the crust, until I reached the destination of my evening walk, a nearby hilltop that affords a view of Sierra Blanca.

The stars are fewer and dimmer when they share the sky with the brilliant lunar orb. But the snowy mountains look great.

And standing near untrodden snow, I noticed the dancing gleam of myriad points of light on the ground cover. It's like Nature, to make up for the stars being overshadowed in the sky, puts tiny stars in the snow.

And Brun came bounding up and lay down happily in a virgin snow patch, taking bites of snow. Dogs love the snow.

When we run together, he'll be tearing along at full speed and reach down to scoop some up in his lower jaw without breaking stride.

And if we're out in the snow and something catches his eye, or ear, or he scents it, he'll point, advance slowly, leap and push his snout under the snow.

He's never come up with anything that I know of, but he sure has a good time.

And good times are certainly here to be had in the winter—whether an alpine or cross-country ski outing, a tubing expedition, or a walk with your dog.

When I lived in South America for two years, I found I didn't miss winter at all.

But it wasn't until I had lived in Ruidoso for a couple of winters that I knew what I'd been missing.

Hope you're enjoying the "Deep of Winter."

HYPERBOLE DEPARTMENT:

It used to be that press release writers for the government left it to news reporters to come up with the adjectives to describe the subject matter of the release. Now, in releases from Gov. Toney Anaya's office, it seems the governor and his staff are trying to help us out by providing their own characterizations. A recent release from the governor on his proposed 1984 corrections legislation, for instance, described the legislation as "ambitious" and a "bold, new effort." We suspect that if the self-descriptive trend continues, the adjectives are more often than not going to be of the positive sort.—ALBUQUERQUE JOURNAL

CLARK OFF TO GOOD BEGINNING

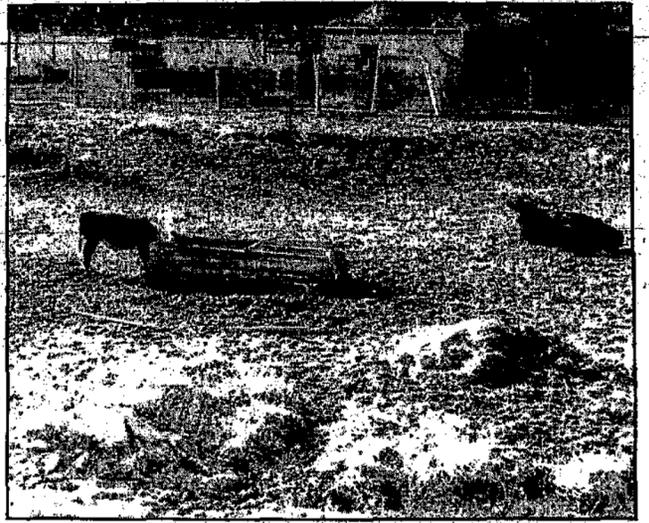

William Clark appears to be getting off to a better start as Interior secretary than did his predecessor, James Watt. Clark is speaking to environmental groups and has promised to avoid confrontation.

That's in stark contrast to Watt's behavior in office. Watt virtually cut off all contacts with environmental groups.

Nevertheless, conservationists and environmentalists probably will temper their relations with Clark. His boss, after all, is President Reagan, without whose blessing Watt could not have become such a foe of the environmental community.—Albuquerque Journal

Shorty and Nancy: a Carrizo Canyon way of life for 30 years

Last summer, I was guided to "the man who sells the worms" on my way fishing. The man and his wife were intriguing—with their old-fashioned manner of selling me two-dozen worms in an old Wolf Brand chili can, big fat worms, all for a dollar.

Their old Carrizo Canyon house, their inviting manners, and the "We've sure been 'round these parts for a long time" atmosphere planted the seed in me to investigate this slice of life further.

The Halls agreed to share some of their history for The News.

Clarence, "better known as Shorty since I's 14," and Nancy Hall, both almost 80, have lived in their self-built home since 1953. Located on a plot of ground that "lacks only two-tents of being four acres," on a stretch of Carrizo Creek, Shorty and "Mom" borrowed $2,300, and with Shorty's brother-in-law, hand dug their first well. Now, the house and property still maintain the Appalachian Mountain flavor.

"Thirty and one-half feet down before we had to quit," he explained, with Nancy filling in details.

"I think it was the Wilson Brothers finally come with a drill, right?" she added.

The front room is warm from a huge glowing fire, the elderly people, sitting in their aged chairs. Shorty and Nancy talk jointly, being two people who have lived together for 57 years. They appear as one, while still separate. Both are clad in rolled-up blue jeans and dusty old sweaters.

Nancy was born in 1907, in Texas. By the time she was ten she had lost both of her parents and her brother. The relatives she was staying with took her in a covered wagon to New Mexico, looking for homestead land. Stopping in Portales ("We helped with a peanut harvest there"), she met Shorty, who was peddling apples.

The Halls history blends with their moves around New Mexico and Texas, spending time in Sweetwater, Roswell, Fort Sumner, Corona and Tularosa. Mostly they said, they were always farmers.

"Yep, there is a lot of water under the bridge," said Nancy, who has clear recall of the smallest events in their lives.

"No it was in '24...No, Pop, it was the year we got word 'bout your father...Yep, that was the year of the big snow..." she adds for clarity.

When Shorty was offered his first job in Ruidoso, he was a carpenter, and the pay was a dollar and a half an hour.

"Worked for Burgess...What was his name Mom?"

"Ernest."

"Built an old rock house, second from the hospital, it was 1945. Then we's sold out and moved the family to Tularosa," said Shorty.

Nancy, using her walker, shuffles over to the huge mantle over the fireplace. She hands over a dusty picture. Four beautiful young girls are posed. They talk about the children, Nancy pointing to each one.

"Auntie here lives in Carrizo, and Ila is in Three Rivers, Louise is by Tularosa, and Helen, they just moved over to Weed."

"Our oldest one, she's be 53, 29th this month," said Shorty.

"Our first born was a son, but he got wrapped in his cord and died at birth," said Nancy, nodding her head.

"Yep, 57 years with the wrong old woman," Shorty kids her.

"Wrong old MANI," she said, they both smile over this joking.

The clock ticking on the mantle is relatively new compared to other items that fill up space. The combination of old and new snuggled closely together is apparent throughout their home.

"Third day in November 1953 we finished this house and moved in. Three lots laying here vacant...Bill Hudson subdivision...nothing here at all, gravel road, only two houses anywhere...the way we wanted it."

"Sell? Yeah everybody wants to buy, specially that Carrizo Lodge. But Dr. Anala told me years ago, "Shorty, ever year raise those chickens, and cows and make sure you's have a good garden to keep ya's going."

He thinks a moment, continues on the subject. "Some folks, they's offered us $150,000. Told us to go live-it-up. Now what the hell is an old crippled woman, and an old blind man gonna do to live-it-up?"

Shorty and Nancy share a tin can spittoon. They both have a rhythm going, never needing the spittoon at the same time.

Shorty suffers from a hacking cough. After a concerned look, he said, "this old cough has been around for a long time, got it back when I's workin' as a smoke checker for the Forest Service."

They agree to have a photo taken outside.

"Outside, old woman, come on now..."

"Hand me my walker."

Outside, Shorty tells a joke. Old guy leading a blind man say's 'there goes a very pretty horse' and the blind guy say's 'I bet that horse isn't skinny!'. Both laugh hardily at this.

The Halls get another visitor, their son-in-law, Claude Hobbs. Back in the kitchen, Shorty begins to stoke the old wood-burning stove. The old Majestic stove was brought in when they built the house.

"Shorty put a butane on the back porch, but I's never used it," Nancy said.

Shorty makes a pot of coffee, his large stubby hands move gracefully for someone with weak eyesight.

Claude rolls a cigarette, and Nancy takes a spoonful of "snuff" that is in a canister on the table. The conversation moves in the pattern of old family talks, inquiries made, sentences left unfinished. New information about some sort of animal hunt has excited them. Nancy explains that all of her daughters are trappers, most of them making a living from it.

"Yep, heard there's a lot of fox this year, usually she gets coyotes...but I's talk'in to Helen and she's out cleaning fox."

"Claude, you's think the coffees done?," asked Shorty.

"Don't know, can't see well"

"Can't see myself, but sure not going to stick my finger in it!" Said Shorty, looking into the hissing pot.

What about the eggs they sell to the local people?

"Bought the first 300 white-legged pullets in '55, pretty soon we had 1,500. When old age creeped up our spines we had to get rid of most of 'em," said Shorty.

"Too much water under the bridge," adds Nancy.

They both said that in the winter-time they have less eggs to sell because the hens slow down with the colder weather.

"Lots of time 'ole Joe comes out and we'll only have a dozen for 'em...sure hate to be short for the regulars," they both agreed.

Shorty pours the coffee, and offers some fresh cream. The cream is stored in a gallon tin can. The thick cream is very sweet and buttery in the coffee, rich looking with the floating coffee grounds. Shorty takes a spoonful of snuff, then shows off the containers of butter that they churned from the cream.

"Yep, ya could eat saw dust with fresh cream on it," he said.

They talk about their dogs, the sun filtering weakly now through the weather-stained windows. Nancy gets up and turns on a light.

"Better get going Pops," she nudges him.

Shorty takes another spoonful of tobacco, puts on his worn coat and century-old hat.

The barns are old, large, but neat and well stocked. He feeds the chickens, and demonstrates how to check the roosts for eggs. After collecting the eggs, he "slopped" the hogs. The feed troughs are muddy looking and after the grule is thrown in, the hogs attack it with grunts.

After making a mixture of grains for his cows, he places their food in the feeding stalls. Shorty hands over a shiny bucket and a stool, and straight faced, points to a big red cow and says, "you kin do 'ole Red."

'Ole Red is patient with the newcomer, more interested in the oats than the slow milking process taking place. On the other side of the stall, Shorty is filling up another bucket, a steady "swoosh" can be heard over his constant story telling.

Shorty comes over for a look, then "finishes her off." There is about a half gallon left in her, but Shorty kindly adds to the novice, "you did pretty good, gal."

Back in the kitchen, Claude and Nancy are still streaming together conversations. Nancy and Shorty, using a cheesecloth covered strainer, pour the fresh milk into containers.

Chores done, and evening taking hold, with two dozen fresh brown eggs to go, I brush straw off my jacket and thank both for their hospitality. Just three minutes down the road, midtown Ruidoso continues to attract tourists.

Eyespace Gallery and Supplies combines store, studio and gallery

By DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

"My goal is to show people in Ruidoso that there is something different," said Paula Hyatt, owner of Eyespace Gallery and Supplies.

The gallery, open since January 4, combines an art studio, art gallery and artist supply store all under one roof. Located in the Appletree Terrace behind the old Bennett's Grocery, the gallery is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday.

"My main emphasis is to supply the artists' needs in town," she said. The gallery stocks a large selection of supplies including watercolors, oils, acrylics, gouache, calligraphy supplies, drawing and painting paper, colored pencils, artist's canvases by the roll or the yard, regular and heavy duty stretcher strips, palette knives, brushes and alkyd.

Hyatt explained that alkyd is a new medium somewhere between oils and acrylics, with the quality of oils and a drying time closer to acrylics. Hyatt said although her selection of supplies does not cover the vast array of artist supplies available, she can order almost anything and receive it within two to three days. Hyatt offers students and professionals a 10 percent discount for supplies.

She said she may expand her offerings and is open to suggestions on supplies to keep in stock.

Hyatt said she would like to establish an artists' slide file. The file would contain slides of area artists' work for customers to look through. She said it is a valuable asset for an artist.

The other two-thirds of the building house the gallery and studio areas. A selection of Hyatt's original paintings are displayed in the gallery. Hyatt characterized her style as somewhere between realistic and abstract.

"It's not abstract but it's certainly not realistic either," she said. "Contemporary is the best description I can give."

She said her background in art includes attending the University of Texas at Austin, where she majored in art.

"I've been an artist for a long time," she said.

She works in the adjoining studio of the building when there are no customers in the gallery or store areas.

"I enjoy the off times, too. I can get a lot of work done then," she said.

Hyatt said she works mostly in acrylics, but has done some work with watercolors as well. Her works in watercolors are often much more realistic.

Hyatt smiled. "Sometimes I like to do something that is really exact. Then people say 'Oh, so you really are an artist.'"

Hyatt and her husband, Jeff, moved here in August with their two small children, Nicholas and Bree. She said they decided to make the move from Austin for several reasons.

"I had been coming to Ruidoso since I was a little kid. We wanted to raise the kids in a smaller city so we moved here. We also wanted a change."

Hyatt said she is very happy with the move.

"I'm loving it. I'm thrilled to be here."

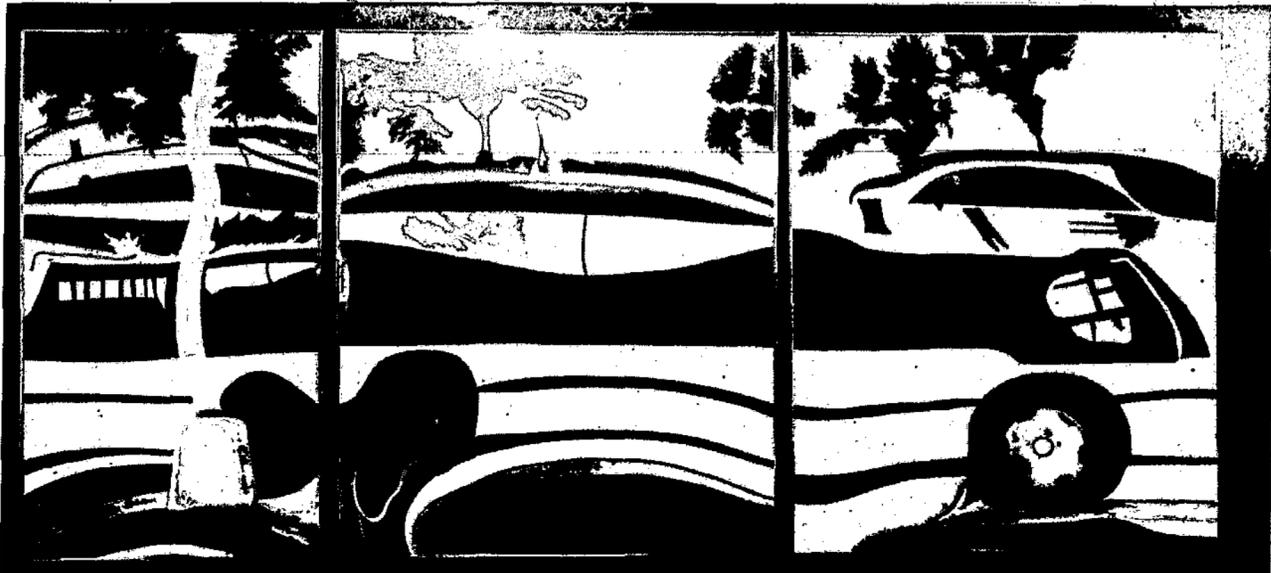

The phone number of the gallery is 257-9570.

Paula Hyatt, owner of Eyespace Gallery and Supplies said she enjoys meeting and talking to people who come to the shop. "I just want people to come and be comfortable in this space," she said.

Eyespace Gallery and Supplies stocks a large selection of painting and drawing materials in the store section of the shop. The shop is located in Appletree Terrace behind the old Bennett's Grocery.

"Journey Underway," an original acrylic by Paula Hyatt, is the largest of the paintings in the gallery of Eyespace Gallery.

CPA's encourage writing of personal financial statements

Taking Stock Now Can Give Financial Direction for 1984

Year-end is a good time to take stock of your financial situation and draw up a personal financial statement. This will give you a good idea of where you stand and get the new year off to a good start, says the New Mexico Society of CPAs.

A personal financial statement can help you with your tax and retirement planning, budgeting, investing and getting bank loans. It's a tool that can help you plan for growth and achieve your goals. After you've done it once, it'll be a cinch to update.

A personal financial statement tells you what you are worth. Your net worth is the excess of what you own over what you owe. If you own more than you owe, as many people do these days, you have a negative net worth. In that case, a personal financial statement is especially important because it will help you design a plan to change that situation.

To start writing a personal financial statement, list all that you own—your assets—in a single column. Items include cash on hand or in deposit accounts, commissions, bonuses, IOUs, investments and any other money that you will be receiving before the end of the year. In addition, include the current value of your home, furnishings, cars and other belongings that could be converted to cash. Similarly, you will also put on that list the cash surrender value of your life insurance and the vested interest you may hold in an employer pension plan.

Alongside each item, list the date and purchase price. This will help you compute any capital gain or loss if you sell the asset.

In another column, list all your liabilities—what you owe. It might be unpleasant, but include all your debts and outstanding bills, such as charge accounts. Don't forget your tax obligations, the unpaid balance on your mortgage and any bank loans outstanding.

Add up the two columns and subtract the liabilities from the assets. The result is your net worth. To get a clearer picture, however, it is necessary to go one step further and determine what changes there have been in your net worth over the past year.

Once again, make two columns. In one column list figures for increases in the market value of your assets or any securities over the last year. List increases in salary, savings, gains on sales of assets, increases in the market value of securities and additions to your equity in profit sharing plans. Now compare it with decreases in assets during the past year to determine any progress. Decreases may include losses in the value of assets, taxes and interest expenses.

In simplified terms, you now have a document similar to what a CPA uses—a two-fold statement consisting of a balance sheet and a funds statement. However, there are some fine points which are worth taking time to review.

For instance, if your financial statement covers not just you but your spouse and other members of your family, be sure to make a clear distinction between those assets and liabilities that are solely yours and those that are shared. Likewise, if property is held in joint tenancy, or as community property, specify that in the statement.

In addition, if you have money tied up in closely held business, show it in single amounts. Don't try to break down a company's financial situation within your statement. That will only blur the picture. If you have an Individual Retirement Account or a Keogh retirement account, list the cash value minus the penalty you would have to pay if you withdraw the money today.

Hopefully, your financial statement won't yield unwanted surprises. With any luck, it should provide a realistic starting point from which you can begin an examination of your investments, insurance, savings and retirement programs.

CHECK LISTINGS FOR EXACT TIME

Ask Kate

By Kate Woods

Would the voice that you hear narrating the Chrysler Laser X-E commercial happen to be the voice of Darth Vader? This has bugged me for months. — T.B.

Actor James Earl Jones is both the voice of Vader and the Chrysler spokesman.

NANCY'S SCREEN DAYS — I always read that Nancy Reagan was a movie star. Please tell me what movies she played in? — S.C.

As Nancy Davis, the current First Lady was a movie actress during the '50s, but never a big star. Among her credits are

James Earl Jones

"Shadow on the Wall," "The Doctor and the Girl," "Night into Morning," "It's a Big Country," "Donovan's Brain," "Crash Landing" and "Hellcats of the Navy," the only film in which she and Ronald Reagan co-starred.

ONE AND THE SAME — On a recent episode of "Scarecrow and Mrs. King" there was an actor who looked very much like the chief Nazi in "Raiders of the Lost Ark." Was it him? What is his name, since they didn't list him in the credits? — L.D.

Bobby Bushard was played by character actor Ronald Lacey on the CBS series. Lacey also played the grinning Gestapo agent in "Raiders."

Send your letters to Kate Woods, United Feature Syndicate, 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, N.Y. 10166.

Week of Jan 22- Jan 28

Bono's Astro-View

© By Lillian Bono

ARIES (March 21-April 20) Your temper could run wild at this time — be careful not to say the wrong things to the right person. You could regret it.

TAURUS (April 21-May 21) Friends and acquaintances may drop in without notice and you may be inconvenienced by their presence.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) Creating newer schedules are par for the course. Heavy burdens get heavier and some of you are learning a long overdue lesson.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) Your partner could be in hot water creating stress and strain in your relationship. This period can consolidate or break it.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) Your charming personality radiates at present. Stay out of harm's way. Don't discuss business.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) Now is the time for all good Virgos to take a vacation and reminisce about old times. Your mate will appreciate you.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) The vast changes occurring now that storm into your life bring new friends, a change in occupation and travel.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This is a time for lingering fatigue and a quest for freedom. Social life is at an all-time high. Love is in the air.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Romantic restrictions will play havoc with your life. The excitement you seek will evade you for some time later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) The winter chill is more difficult to face than your mate's coldness. Unexpected financial gains will come. Don't overspend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) Winter cruises are in the offing as well as big financial surprises.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There are many good things in the wind for you but you must learn to cope. Don't allow chains of love to prevent you from ambitious goals.
