Time for a party!

Crime Stoppers board member Mark Paz (left) and President Richard Sandoval display some of the door prizes and auction items that have been gathered for the Crime Stoppers Policeman of the Year award party, set for 8 p.m. to midnight Saturday at the Prime Time Restaurant.

Arson reward at $25,000

A reward of $25,000 has been offered by the business community for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any and all persons involved with the arson fire on John Hall's property the morning of November 5. The fire destroyed a garage and its contents, including a new Porsche automobile and Hall's two dogs. According to chief deputy Charlie Cox of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department, the fire has been confirmed as arson by the state fire marshal and two other investigating units. "At this point, we don't have any leads," Cox said. "But we do have a full-fledged investigation on it."

Cox urged anyone with information to call the department or Crime Stoppers in Ruidoso or Carrizozo. "If they want to remain anonymous, they can call through Crime Stoppers," he said. "That might make them more apt to call in." Mike Lovelace, Ruidoso Police detective and Crime Stoppers liaison, said Crime Stoppers is ready to help in the effort. "As soon as we get the go-ahead from the county," Hall said he had no idea who might have been involved in the deliberately set fire. "I think it's just some nut," he said.

Variations approved on tie-breaker

by DARRELL J. PEHR

A request for several lot line variations at the Tuesday night meeting of the Ruidoso village council came down to a tie vote and a tie-breaker by Mayor George White.

On a vote of 3-2—with councillors Ray Dean Carpenter, Rick Evans and Mayor White voting against and councillors Sherman Atwood and Bill Karn voting for—the council voted not to approve the recommendation of the Planning and Zoning Commission to deny two variance requests and approve another for a lot in Airport West Second Addition subdivision.

Seconds later, the councillors voted to approve the variances: seven-foot, 10-inch northwest side lot line; 16-foot, 9-inch northwest rear lot line; and 18-foot rear lot line for lot 7, block 7, Airport West Second Addition subdivision, as requested by Ouida Leese.

Discussion of the measure was colorful. Representing Billy and Ouida Leese was attorney Gary Mitchell.

The attorney began his comments by outlining a brief history of the lot, noting that a storage building and concrete pad on the lot had been in place for approximately 14 years.

It was learned during the meeting that those structures encroached on a utility easement platted on the lot. Mitchell said Leese proceeded to build a carport cover over the pad without realizing that the encroachment existed.

It was only when Ruidoso building inspector Jimmy Neeley "red-tagged" the structure because no building permit had been obtained for the construction that the Leeses learned of the problem.

"My client didn't even know what a red-tag was," commented Mitchell.

The attorney pointed out that the 15-foot easement is still wide enough to "drive a tractor-trailer through there." Mitchell said the structures only encroach about three feet into the easement, and the utilities necessary for the residents in the area already have been installed in adjacent roadways.

Billy Leese indicated that he would provide signed statements indicating his neighbors' lack of objections to the structure if requested to do so.

In response to a question from councillor Karn, village attorney Lee Huckstep opined that if the variances would be granted, the village would still retain the right to make use of the easement if necessary due to protective wording contained in each variance granted by the village.

Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) vice chairman Ray Bishop noted that the variances had been denied because the reasons stated for the request were insufficient to allow a variance.

"This did not fall within the guidelines our ordinance gives us," he said.

Bishop also pointed out that the variance would affect all utility companies who have rights to use of the easement.

Mitchell's closing statement was direct.

Who gets hurt (if the variance were to be granted)? Nobody gets hurt."

Mitchell and Leese indicated the buildings would be promptly moved if the village ever demonstrated a need for the variance. Councillor Evans added that stipulation to his motion to approve the variances.

In other business, the councillors voted to approve the relocation of an alley easement on lot 3B, block 6, being a portion of the resubdivided east 305 feet of lot 3, block 6, Wingfield subdivision, as requested by John Taylor.

It was pointed out during the meeting that the relocation of the alley easement would conform to the actual use of the alleyway by the public. Speaking against the relocation request was nearby restaurant Victor Alonzo.

Alonzo stated that attempts have been made in the near past to have the alleyway completely vacated by the village. That, he noted, would effectively cut off access to a parking area he has secured for his restaurant.

The businessman said because he was required to acquire the additional parking area to conform to village regulations, it would be unjust to deny access to the parking lot.

Additionally, Alonzo asked that the councillors add stipulations to the request that would secure the alley easement "forever;" take steps to make the alleyway more identifiable as a thoroughfare; and then adequately maintain the alley.

The councillors voted unanimously to relocate the alleyway as requested. The councillors indicated agreement with Alonzo's suggestions and directed him to meet with village administrative officials to effect the changes.

In other business, the councillors:

—Approved the expenditure of $18,836 for billboard advertising in San Antonio and Austin, Texas, with the stipulation that the councillors be supplied information of traffic counts in the areas where the billboards will appear. Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC) chairman Budgie Green announced that LTC recommended the expenditure. It was learned that the funds will come from the council-approved line item of the lodgers' tax budget.

—Heard resident Roy Propsner ask that the village council consider measures to deal with the problem of proper disposal of fireplace ashes.

"We have had loss of life and property," he said of the problem and the fires that have resulted from improperly disposed ashes.

Attorney Huckstep indicated that the problem "could be addressed a little more clearly" than it is now by village ordinances.

"Rest assured, we'll take it under advisement," proclaimed White. Propsner, however, was not satisfied, saying that a similar promise was made when he brought the matter before a previous council, and nothing had been done.

"We'll continue to have loss of lives and property because of our inaction," he charged.

—Approved Resolution 84-28, accepting the engineer's certificate for progress payments to the contractor on the Ponderosa Heights sanitary sewer project and payments for non-construction cost. According to village manager Jim Hine, the resolution is a requirement of the Farmers Home Administration, the agency lending nearly half of the funds necessary for the project.

Board gets the message

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Board of Education Tuesday heard Nob Hill Elementary first graders demonstrate their proficiency in language arts during a simulation of their daily "Morning Message." Teachers Greta Cabot and Nellie Jones explained that the students actually do the exercise in punctuation, capitalization and parts of speech every morning.

Routine financial items also were handled by the school board, followed by the acceptance of a new state-required procurement code. The board agreed to issue a call for bids on track equipment, which, along with the new Ruidoso High School track, will adequately equip the school system to host district track meets.

Resignations from Sharon Kirgan, Sandi Cooke, Jean Wright and Cindy Geyer were regrettably accepted.

Superintendent Sid Miller reported on the timetable for financial requests from the state Office of Education Capital Outlay Committee. He and the board will travel to Santa Fe to request $2.5 million on November 26. Decisions will be announced on December 6, and allocations will be made on December 18.

Mike Gladden, assistant superintendent, announced that there were 1,740 first through 12th-grade students enrolled in the system on the 40th class day. There were 137 kindergartners and 44 special education students enrolled on that day, which is the official count date for state funding.

Other items discussed were the Region IX Cooperative, the ski program for 1984-85 and the official board calendar for 1985. Permission was granted for the Summer Festival group to use the gym or football field on June 9, 1985, for an open-air concert, and for the Chamber of Commerce to use the Ruidoso Middle School parking lot for the 1985 Art Festival.

Miller reported that the Ruidoso schools' management report had been received, and was "glowing." He said the evaluator had commented that "of all the schools I've visited, Ruidoso is the leader of the parade." Miller commended the football team, the band and Cisco Bob for recent achievements.

A request by Jim Dickinson for an exception to the board's policy was denied. Board policy states that no group or individual may use school facilities for personal profit. Dickinson had asked to use Ruidoso High School's computer classroom to teach classes for a fee.

Don Weems, White Mountain Intermediate School principal, introduced faculty and staff. Weems said, of his staff, "They are the best in the state."

A Spirit of Ruidoso request for lodgers' tax funding was approved at the Wednesday meeting of the Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC).

Committee member Phil Hamilton's motion to approve $2,000 of the requested $2,500 was passed with the stipulation that the group can go back to the committee later with a request for the additional $500.

According to Spirit of Ruidoso (SOR) official Cindy Breedlove, the request will provide funds for many upcoming events. Planned is a Holiday Spirit Fest, scheduled for November 22-25 and each weekend in December. The fest will include a "Carol of Lights" made up of carolers and lighting in the midtown area, and a "Winter Wonderland" at School House park, featuring Santa Claus, a deer petting area, and food and other activities planned with the Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department.

Also planned by the group is a Winter Carnival, scheduled for January 25-27 and February 1-3. The carnival will include ice-sculpting, a masquerade ball, and other activities designed to coincide with the All-American Pro Ski Classic.

In addition, the group plans a Memorial Day Classic Art Show, which will feature local artists only.

The requested funds will be used for printing, direct mail and additional newspaper advertising for promotion of the events. The group predicted each event would attract several thousand people to Ruidoso and would become yearly happenings.

Many at the meeting spoke highly of the group and the enthusiasm it has generated in the village. Hamilton's motion to approve the funds passed unanimously.

Also during the meeting, the committee members heard chairman Budgie Green apologize for comments he made at the October 31 LTC meeting of regarding Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce acting executive director Tommy Morel's involvement with Adworks, a local advertising agency. At that meeting, Green voiced his belief that Morel had a part ownership interest in Adworks, and indicated that such ownership might not be a good situation for the village.

"It's totally false," Morel said Wednesday of Green's remark. Morel reported that eight people had called him since the remark for clarification of the situation. Morel said the remark questioned his credibility, motives and dedication to what's best for the village.

"I make a public apology now," Green said.

"I accept," Morel replied. In other business, the committee members:

—Approved the financial report. According to treasurer Rod Adamson, 18 percent of the total budget has so far been spent. Also, he reported that $51,835 in lodgers' tax had been collected in the first four months of the fiscal year, a 2.6 percent increase over the first four months of last year.

—Voted to pay a bill for $1,249 to the New Mexico State Police for the Aspen Festival line item and refer a copy of the bill to the Ruidoso Business Association for reimbursement. Committee members stated that the bill rightfully should be paid by the association since it provided for additional police protection during the Motorcycle Festival.

However, it could not be justified under either Motorcycle Festival line item in the lodgers' tax budget. Also, it was stipulated that the expense be paid by some other means than lodgers' tax funds next year.

—Voted to approach the Ruidoso village council to consider action that would limit unexcused absences from committee meetings to two in a row or three in a year before replacement of a member. Green indicated he would take the request to the council.

Also, the councillors compiled a list of prospective new members for the committee to fill a recent vacancy. They decided to forward the list to the council for consideration.

Additionally, the committee members directed secretary Jack Foster to contact member Linda Flack and find out her future participation intentions. It was reported at the meeting that Flack had not attended a meeting since July.

—Directed member Bill Rawlins to contact organizers of the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival and Golden Years Jubilee and remind them that follow-up reports are due.

—Heard Morel report that the chamber will be printing new brochures for the village. Morel said the brochures are badly needed since those currently in use are about six years old and feature "ladies in miniskirts with bouffant hairdos."

Morel noted that the brochure is planned to be four-color, multi-page publication with a center pull-out map.

"We want it to be a real classy production," he commented. He said bidding for production of the brochure will start soon.

—Heard Morel report on the progress of the upcoming All-American Pro Ski Classic. He noted that six associate $10,000 sponsors are being solicited. Also, several co-sponsors have been determined. Those include KOAT-TV, which has promised 150 30-second television spots, and the El Paso Times, which has promised 800 column inches. The media will be used for promotion of the event, Morel indicated.

Also, he reported that the event will be seen on the ESPN and Metromedia television networks, ensuring an 80 percent exposure of the race to the entire country.

—Heard Morel report on the billboard campaign. He said the signs are already up in Dallas, and signage approved at Tuesday's meeting of the Ruidoso village council will be erected by mid-December.

—Heard Hamilton urge the committee to begin discussions of the next year's lodgers' tax budget as soon as possible.

Variations

—Approved Ordinance 84-27, allowing the approval of certain variances by Planning and Zoning enforcement officer Paul Davis without the prior approval of P&Z or the council. The ordinance was passed with the stipulation that all requests for the variances be accompanied by a "reasonable cause" for approval, and that the party making the request be responsible for all related filing and preparation fees.

—Approved Ordinance 84-28, providing for late-penalty payments on business registration fees. According to Huckstep, those violating the ordinance would be subject to a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100.

—Approved Ordinance 84-29, making it unlawful to deviate from a certified plot plan. The ordinance was passed with the stipulation that a copy of the ordinance be attached to each village building permit application to ensure awareness of the measure. Huckstep also included minor changes for clarification.

—Reviewed a proposed ordinance that, if passed, will provide a procedure for determining probation violations and contempt arising from disobedience or resistance to any ruling of the municipal court, as requested by municipal judge John Cupp.

—Scheduled for the Tuesday, December 11, meeting of the council a workshop session to discuss the animal control ordinance, at the request of councillor Evans.

—Voted to cancel the regularly scheduled meeting set for Tuesday, December 25, due to Christmas.

"Let's take a day off," councillor Carpenter said with a smile.

—Heard councillor Karn report on the progress of the proposed Sierra Blanca Airport. He said the environmental impact statement is making progress, with the contract for a consultant to complete the study due for release in December or January. Karn said Department of the Interior Secretary William Clark indicated at a meeting in Washington, D.C., with New Mexico State University officials that he would favor rapid completion of the statement.

—Heard Karn report that he had approached newly elected State Representative Ben Hall and State Senator James Martin about acquiring a direct appropriation from the Legislature for the village. Karn said the two legislators will help in the effort to obtain the funds, earmarked for completion of roadwork on Gavilan Canyon and Carrizo Canyon roads and bridges on Paradise Canyon Drive and Main Road.

—Heard assistant village manager Frank Potter report, at Karn's request, on the state of the village trash compactor project. Potter said the transfer truck for the compactor is expected within 30 days, but necessary work on the project will not be done until spring, since there is still a great deal of flood-related damage work to be done by village crews.

—Heard Police Chief Richard Swenor report that Hull and Gavilan Canyon roads will be closed most of Saturday due to final roadwork to connect Bog Springs Road.

—Voted to approve the request for a beer and wine restaurant license for K-Bob's Steak House.

—Approved the lease between the village and Air Refrigeration, Inc., for a building in use by the Village Parks and Recreation Department, with minor changes as noted by Huckstep.

—Heard Hine report that the Bog Springs waste water system was recently completed and is a "very good job, in our opinion."

—Heard Hine report that final steps have been taken to realization of the start of the Ponderosa Heights sewer project.

—Heard councillor Evans propose that the council host a reception or small cocktail party for all the newly elected officials to "let every one get to know each other."

Lodgers hear from travel agents

by MATT BOSISIO
News Staff Writer

Reservation service and how to get it were the discussion topics when two travel agents met with members of the Ruidoso Lodgers Association during their regular meeting Tuesday.

Jodie Brightman of Afari Travel and Sue Snidow of Ruidoso Travel Agency told lodgers that their agencies regularly accept reservations from out-of-town callers requesting lodging.

They also assist prospective visitors by providing descriptions of some lodging establishments, enabling visitors to choose a particular type of lodging.

For the service they provide, both women charge a 10 percent commission, which they collect only after a visitor has made use of the advance reservation.

Snidow suggested placing a small advertisement in a Texas newspaper, encouraging tourists to call either agency to make their reservations before coming to Ruidoso. "We thought it'd be an interesting experiment," she said, "just to see if it works."

If it does work, the agents indicated, it could result in more tourist business in the long run throughout the year, since it would provide a central location for reservations.

The two travel agents also suggested that lodgers interested in the reservation service should provide the agencies with detailed descriptions of the lodging, and a list of the room charges.

"Enthusiasm and on-site knowledge sells better than anything," Snidow pointed out.

In other business, the lodgers:

—Heard association president Bill Rawlins report that the Christmas party is scheduled for December 11 at Sutphen's Restaurant. The bar opens at 6:30 p.m., with dinner 45 minutes later.

Guests are asked to bring a gift worth $5 or more to the party as part of an exchange of gifts among the participants. The party will be in place of the regular December meeting of the association.

—Heard Rawlins urge an effort to get a gross receipts tax ordinance through the new Legislature. The bill would be designed to raise the gross receipts tax in lieu of using lodgers' tax for advertising.

Rawlins said such an increase in the gross receipts tax would "spread the burden" of taxation among all the businesses that benefit from advertising-induced tourism.

The new increase, if passed, could raise as much as $350,000 a year, he said, and could be designated solely for advertising campaigns.

—Received a report from Rawlins on the Spirit of Ruidoso and its invitation to lodgers to attend its meetings.

Rawlins said Helen Carr of the Thunderbird Lodge has been representing the association on the board of the Spirit of Ruidoso, and will continue to send in reports of the organization's activities.

Night classes popular with students

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Why would a working woman, with a family to care for, spend two nights a week in class? And why would a high school senior go back to school in the evenings for six or more hours a week?

Students attending New Mexico State University's Alamogordo branch classes at Ruidoso High School were enthusiastic in their response to these questions. Their reasons ranged from mental stimulation and general thirst for knowledge to opportunities for career advancement.

Omar Dix, a Ruidoso High School senior, said he was looking to the future by taking the freshman English course. "It gets me college credit while I'm still in high school," he said.

Many evening scholars are working adults. "I've had my kids and I'm ready to go back to school," commented Carol Pearch. She and her classmates admitted that pursuing educational goals while continuing other full-time responsibilities is not easy.

"The hardest part is to learn to study again," commented a psychology student. "But I learned that I can still think." Another student remarked that she has children in college who encouraged her to return to school.

One change she mentioned is the late hours required to study. "I'm learning to stay up later and later."

Victor Watson, Ph.D., of New Mexico State, says the Alamogordo branch personnel are very pleased with the Ruidoso program.

"We think they're doing just fine. Initially, the response was just a classical pattern of a lot of people inquiring about the classes and many signed up," he said.

Watson explained that the classes have experienced a high percentage of dropouts, but that is expected in a new program. The normal attrition rate is about 20 percent, and it has been close to 30 percent for the Ruidoso classes.

"We're getting good response from the students," Watson said. He has visited with the instructors, he noted, and they say that things are going very well.

Nathalie Reidlinger travels from Alamogordo to teach the freshman psychology class twice a week. She says her students have done a very good job, and that makes the drive worthwhile.

Some students in the psychology class are from Capitan, so Reidlinger isn't the only one who has to travel.

English instructor Carol Hubbard is in much the same position as some of her evening students. She is a Ruidoso High School language teacher.

"I left here at 6:30 and now I'm back," she said as she rushed down the hall at 7 p.m. She, like her students, feels the classes merit the extra effort.

Nearly all students asked plan to take more classes when they are offered.

Charles R. Reidlinger, campus director at the Alamogordo branch, says that plans are being made for more classes to begin in January 1985. "We may be looking to more business courses," he said.

Classes that may be offered are introduction to computer science, financial management, secretarial bookkeeping, literature and a pre-algebra math course. The schedule is not firm, but classes will be announced in early January.

Watson and Reidlinger both urge Ruidoso residents to watch for the enrollment date, and to participate in the evening education program, so that it may be expanded.

They said the greater the response, the more courses they would be able to offer.

Ruidoso Downs village attorney Lee Griffin Monday's regular meeting of the village contemplates the evening's agenda for board of trustees.

Downs residents resist sewer hookups

by MATT BOSISIO
News Staff Writer

A renewed effort to hook residents onto the village sewer system came under some fire Monday during the regular meeting of the Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees.

By ordinance, residents whose properties have access to the sewer are required to tap into the system. They already pay monthly service charges, and have been urged frequently by the village to make use of the system.

But some residents are resisting, claiming their septic systems are in good working order, and objecting to the cost of tapping into the line and extending it across their properties.

The tap itself costs $50, but the extension can cost upwards of $350, depending on the size of the property.

Ed Hazel, a local contractor, told the board that residents he had talked with were not interested in complying with the ordinance, even with the help of state-backed low-interest loans.

"I've never talked to anyone who wanted the loan," Hazel said. "They just want to put it in because they have to. They feel the village is trying to cram it down their throats."

Trustee Jake Harris pointed out that since the ordinance passed two years ago, it has been understood that residents with good septic systems would not be required to tap into the sewer until their systems were condemned.

At that point, he said, no permit would be issued for a new septic system, leaving the resident with only the option of tapping into the sewer.

Mayor J. C. Day added that the village was not "trying to force anything on anybody." For health reasons and ecology, he said, residents were better off hooking onto the system, which is less likely to contaminate ground water than septic systems.

Hazel responded that some residents feel put upon by the village. "They just think they're being set up by the village council," he said.

Day said they probably would feel differently if the village's water supply were affected.

"Those people who are complaining to you will be up here squealing like a pig under a gate if their water gets contaminated," he said.

He noted further that the cost of tapping into the line will rise when the village begins paving streets that were previously graveled.

Trustee Conrad Buchanan warned residents to be aware of their options and realize that some action eventually will have to be taken.

"These are some of the things the people ought to start looking at," he said. "It's like that Fram oil filter commercial: 'You can pay me now or you can pay me later.'"

The board directed village clerk Wilma Webb to prepare pamphlets on the Connection Protection Loan Fund, through which residents may borrow up to $1,200 to help them tap into the sewer.

The available loans will be handled through an Albuquerque bank, and will be directed by the Local Government Division of the state Department of Finance and Administration.

In other business, the trustees: —Accepted McChesney Associates as architects and planners of a master plan for a family park to be developed on Highway 70 across from the municipal building.

The trustees heard from McChesney associate Rex Skellett, who outlined a multiple-use plan for the 7.5-acre park.

Possible inclusions in the master plan would be a baseball field, a new municipal building and separated parking. The park is currently used as a playground and baseball diamond.

—Heard from Bonnie Richardson, board president of the Ruidoso School of Gymnastics and Creative Fitness. She requested space in the master plan of the future park for a 60- by 120- by 20-foot metal building in which to house gymnastics classes and other activities, including a day camp, basketball programs and senior citizen programs.

Richardson said she hoped to raise the money necessary to purchase the building through various fund-raising efforts.

Day expressed concern that the school bears the name of Ruidoso instead of Ruidoso Downs. Richardson said she would be willing to change the name of the school, perhaps naming it after a major contributor to the building fund.

The board directed village attorney Lee Griffin to look into questions of liability and feasibility in granting the space request.

—Accepted the resignation of municipal judge Paula Smith effective today, November 15. She has accepted another position in Albuquerque.

The board appointed as her replacement Martin Valenzuela, a former narcotics police officer from Texas. —Accepted the resignation of Roger Riley as a member and director of the village fire department; and approved the election of new fire department officers.

Those elected were Chet Southard, chief; Cyndi Miller, director; Paul Keith, assistant chief; and Jay Fuselier, captain.

—Changed the scheduled December 24 trustees meeting to December 17 to accommodate the Christmas holiday.

Crime Stoppers fights crime with party

Donations to the Crime Stoppers Policeman of the Year award party, set for 8 p.m. to midnight Saturday at Prime Time Restaurant, have been many.

Among the door prizes to be awarded to lucky ticket-holders are gifts from Ruidoso State Bank, NAPA, the House of Kelham, the Wild Snail, the Roadrunner, Shaver Tire and Auto, C & L Lumber, Tru Value Hardware, Rocky Mountain Boulder Supply, House of Shoes, the Fashion Store, Gibson's Pharmacy, Gibson's, M & S Liquors, John Cupp, Dale's Furniture, the Artisan Shop, Mary's House of Fashion, Roger and Colleen Holmes, Hill's Waffle House, Pam Alston, Ann Beisel, Rainbow Video, Hondo Valley Kennels, Jerry Dale's Bowling Center, Village Inn and Conley's Nursery. The prizes will be awarded throughout the evening, and the Policeman of the Year award will be presented mid-evening. The party also will feature dancing, a country-music band, casino and a midnight champagne breakfast at the restaurant. Tickets are $6.

Sometime within the last three weeks, several residences, known as the domes, located at the Little Creek area of Sun Valley Estates, were burglarized. The following items were stolen:

Four Ben Franklin wood stoves (two of the stoves have broken feet); fifty-eight cabinet door pulls; small copper-tone refrigerator and electric stove; turquoise color washer and dryer; assorted living room furniture; large rug, 12 by 15 feet, mostly blue in color; heavy-duty aluminum pipe with painted ends; passageway locks; white porcelain with gold bases; small sauna, square, black stone; large PVC pipe and stove pipe.

Crime Stoppers is offering up to $1,000 to anyone providing information that leads to the arrest and Grand Jury indictment or Magistrate Court bind-over of the person or persons who committed this crime.

Anyone who has further information on criminal activity is urged to call Crime Stoppers at 257-4545 or State Crime Stoppers at 1-800-432-6933. Persons calling may remain anonymous and still be eligible for cash rewards.

'Good Doctor' heads into final weekend

DUANE BAKER

This is the final weekend to catch Neil Simon's comedy, "The Good Doctor," performed by Ruidoso Little Theatre. The show plays at 8 tonight through Saturday at the Studio Lounge in Carrizo Lodge.

Cherrie Harris has two roles in this humorous show. In "The Seduction," she portrays a discontented wife who is aroused by the interests of her husband's friend.

In "The Arrangement," Harris plays a snappy lady of the evening who is chosen by a teenager's father to give his son a course in sex education.

Although she is a newcomer to RLT, Harris is well-acquainted with both acting and stage performance. Last month, she was named second runner-up in the Miss New Mexico Contest in Hobbs.

Harris also spent a year in California performing in the "Days of Our Lives" soap opera.

Besides her acting ability, Harris has won many awards for her baton-twirling prowess. She is also an accomplished ventriloquist.

A Texas native, Harris currently lives in Ruidoso. She is a real estate associate with Sierra Development Company.

Thomas A. D. Muhn sneezes his way to stardom in "The Good Doctor." In the first vignette of the show, Muhn plays a lowly civil servant who happens to sneeze on his lofty superior. This causes humorous complications for the sneezer and his nose.

Muhn grew up in South America and Europe before studying theatre in California. He spent two years at the Pacific Conservatory of Performing Arts, and studied at UCLA and Santa Barbara. He earned his bachelor's degree from New Mexico State.

Muhn has worked in every aspect of the theatre in both South America and California—acting, directing, writing, stage design and technical work.

Here with RLT, Muhn continues to contribute his multiple-theatre skills. Muhn designed the set and the lights for "Mousetrap," "The Odd Couple" and "The Sunshine Boys." Last year, he directed "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." This spring, he will direct "Fiddler on the Roof."

Muhn has lived in Ruidoso for one and a half years. He owns and operates Mountain Video.

Although it is his first play with RLT, Duane Baker makes up for lost time. He is both the assistant director and an actor in "The Good Doctor."

In the show, he plays a comical tramp who earns his living by acting out drownings for waterfront observers.

As the assistant director, Baker is in charge of the play's operation during the rehearsals and performances. Baker works closely with the show's director, Barbara Valdez.

An Albuquerque native, Baker has lived in Ruidoso for seven months. His parents and brother also live here.

Although Baker does not perform drownings in real life, he did serve two years in the United States Coast Guard.

In "The Quiet War," one of the vignettes of "The Good Doctor," Sherman Atwood plays a retired army officer who keeps his mind active by arguing with a retired naval officer.

Atwood had never acted before he joined RLT when it first started. He loves being involved with the theatre.

"I think everyone should have the experience at least once—it's good therapy," he said.

Atwood enjoys "bringing something worthwhile" to the community. He likes to see the audience enjoying themselves.

Atwood moved here from Brownfield, Texas, with his wife, Shirley, in 1958. He said they found Ruidoso "quite by accident" when returning to Amarillo (their hometown) on their honeymoon in 1947.

They loved it so much that they moved here 11 years later. Atwood owns Atwood Realtors and Atwood Bookkeeping Services in Ruidoso.

Warrior runners hope to improve in state AAA division meet Saturday

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School boys cross-country team hopes to improve on its 1983 performance when the Warriors compete in the state AAA-division meet at Milne Park in Albuquerque Saturday.

The race will begin at 11:30 a.m. Other division races also will be run at the park Saturday.

Ruidoso finished seventh in the team competition last season, with Grants winning the championship.

The Warriors' Cisco Bob was 11th in the three-mile individual competition but should do much better this season. He won the state 1,500 meters and 3,000 meters in track last spring.

"Last year Cisco didn't have that much cross-country experience," said Warrior coach Ronny Maskew. "Plus Cisco has more speed than some of the other runners, and that helps in the shorter races."

This year Ruidoso has competed in more meets than it did in 1983, and that should help the Warriors at state. Ruidoso won one invitational and placed second in several others this fall.

Bob has won most of the meets this year, including the District 3-AAA meet last week.

Ruidoso lost the district meet team title to host Silver City 28-30, but Bob and sophomore teammate Gabe Tam finished one-two.

Besides Bob and Tam, other members of the Warrior team are senior Curt McClellan, junior David Ordorica, senior Wayne Richardson, sophomore Hamilton Carter and sophomore Kevin Yuzos.

In the district meet, Silver City won with its depth, getting six runners among the top nine.

"We should beat Silver City this time," Maskew said. "There will be more teams entered in this meet."

"But it's hard to tell about this meet. We don't know much about the northern teams."

Bob had a 15:23 time in the district meet and Tam ran a 16:02.

"Gabe has been just terrific this year," Maskew enthused. "He's shown real progress."

Maskew thinks Bob has a good chance to finish in the top five, while Tam and McClellan could make the top 10.

McClellan was fifth in the district meet while Ordorica finished 10th. Richardson, Carter and Yuzos give the Warriors added depth.

McClellan was the state runner-up in the 800 meters last spring.

Saturday, December 1. Some of the top teams from Southern New Mexico and El Paso, Texas, will compete. Ames has a number of wrestlers back from last season's 5-5 team.

Hoopsters continue workouts

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

If practices for the Ruidoso High School boys basketball team have seemed incomplete lately, it is because a few familiar faces are missing.

Several of the Warriors' returnees from last season are still playing football and will not join the basketball team until the grid season is over.

Patric Pearson, Tracy Gann, Brian Davis and Jeff Willingham are just a few of the Warrior gridders who probably will turn to the cage court once the football playoffs are over.

Russell Easter, another returnee from last season, broke his collarbone in the Silver City football game two weeks ago and will be out several more weeks.

Meanwhile, head Warrior basketball coach Gene Segura is working his team from 5 to 7 each night. They are currently 22 players out for the sport.

"Things are going slow," Segura said. "We're still going through the basics in these early practices."

Segura is assisted by junior varsity coach Ridge Bowden and freshman coach Mike Speck. All three coaches are also assistant football coaches, so they have been pretty busy lately.

Segura has been impressed with the play of junior Dion Lopez. Lopez probably will be a swingman in the Warrior offense.

"He's looked very impressive in practice," Segura said of Lopez. "He's a leader and he's showed a lot of desire and hustle out on the court. His position is probably the key to our whole offense."

Trent Tolbert is another key player for the Warriors. The 6-3 junior will probably be a strong forward in Segura's game plan. He played on the junior varsity last year and improved considerably over the course of the season.

Another returnee from last year is Ricardo Garcia, a playmaking guard who is an excellent dribbler. Garcia played a lot on the junior varsity squad last season.

Ruidoso will open the varsity and junior varsity seasons Tuesday, December 4, against visiting Roswell.

Warrior sport tickets available

Reserved-seat "Gold Card" tickets are now on sale for Ruidoso High School winter sports events.

The tickets sell for $15 each and entitle the holder to a chair seat in the new Warrior gymnasium. People who buy general admission tickets will be required to sit in the bleacher area.

Holder of the Gold Card purchase a general admission ticket at each game. To take a seat in the reserved section, the holder of the Gold Card presents the card.

Only 154 Gold Cards will be issued. Anyone wanting to purchase a Gold Card should go to the school office. No reservations will be taken, nor will credit be extended.

Proceeds will go to the athletic department.

Warrior girl cagers impress in practice

The Ruidoso High School girls basketball team's practices have been going well, according to head coach Sergio Castanon.

"I've been impressed with our overall organization in practice," Castanon said. "We've got some experienced ballplayers and they've shown that in practice."

"The girls have retained a lot from last season."

Castanon and assistant coach James Sanchez have about 30 girls to work with, including a number of veterans from last season's 6-17 team.

Center Diane McClure, a 5-11 senior, has done well in practice. Other experienced veterans are Gia Rose, Stacy Ivy, Mavis Geronimo and Sheila Espinosa.

Katherine Sanchez and Verilyn Platta, a couple of players who shared time between the varsity and junior varsity last season, should be a big help this season.

Susan Davis, a 5-8 transfer from Oklahoma, is a top prospect, according to Castanon. She is the daughter of Warrior assistant football coach Ed Davis.

Some other players who could help are Judy McCoy and Lisa Chino.

Ruidoso will compete in a jamboree Saturday, November 24, in Alamogordo. The Warrior varsity and junior varsity will open the season Saturday, December 1, at Cloudcroft.

Council okays H₂O ordinance

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Capitan Bureau

At their regular meeting Tuesday night, the Capitan village trustees voted to accept the new water ordinance, which is set to be adopted by the board at their December 10 meeting.

Prior to the new ordinance, which will take effect January 1, 1985, all users of Capitan's water supply have paid a basic rate of $10 per month. Under the new ordinance, residential rates will jump to a base rate of $12.50 each month.

The amended ordinance also provides for commercial and industrial rates, which had not previously existed. Commercial and industrial users will pay a base rate according to the size of their meter.

For commercial users, a three-quarter-inch meter will cost $15 per month. For one- and one-and-a-quarter-inch meters, the base rate will be $25 each month. The base rate will be $50 per month for two-inch meters.

The industrial rates will be $25 for three-quarter-inch meters, $50 for one- and one-and-one-half inch meters, and $75 for two-inch meters. There are currently no industries in Capitan.

At Tuesday's meeting, it was decided that Capitan Schools would pay the commercial rates instead of the industrial rates under which they originally had been classified.

Superintendent Leonard Hays felt that it was unfair for the school, as the only institution using Capitan water, to be singled out for the biggest share of the increase.

The schools are currently paying the present $10 base rate. An increase from that to the proposed industrial rate of $75 for two-inch meters would be "disastrous" to the school's budget, which presently faces a $70,000 deficit, said Hays.

The school currently uses four two-inch meters and two one-and-one-half-inch meters. At industrial rates, their basic bill would be $400 a month.

The council agreed to charge the school the commercial rate as long as the school would work with the village in water conservation efforts. The council will work with the school to re-evaluate its needs and possibly reduce the number of two-inch meters that it uses.

Besides the increased basic rate, the commodity rates will rise. After January 1, it will cost residential users $1.75 per 1,000 gallons for water usage in excess of 4,000 gallons up to 25,000 gallons. Each 1,000 gallons over 25,000 gallons will cost $3 per 1,000.

The industrial-commercial commodity rates are slightly lower than residential rates. Commercial and industrial users will pay the same $1.75 per 1,000 gallons after the first 4,000, but their $1.75 rate will apply for usage up to 200,000 gallons. After that, they will pay $2 per 1,000 gallons.

Mayor David Cummins explained that the reason commercial users will get more water for less money is that there are times when merchants cannot control the flow of water at their businesses. Cummins feels it is easier to conserve water in home usage.

The new ordinance also will provide for standby charges on unused meters. There are currently 78 unused meters on Capitan water lines. The council contended that the village still has to maintain these lines and that it needs the additional revenue to do so. Capitan resident Hilda Young was concerned that the new standby rates would hurt her and other landlords when their houses were not occupied by paying tenants. The council tried to help her find solutions to her problem, but held fast on the standby fees.

"We have to build the water plant based on peak usage," said trustee Bill Allred. "Without the standby charges, the people who use the meters year-round have to pay for the unused meters."

Also under the new ordinance, use of fire hydrant water for purposes other than firefighting (such as when construction companies use the hydrant water) will be metered. The cost will be $3.75 per 1,000 gallons.

This ordinance will be adopted at the next meeting. The next meeting also will serve as the public hearing for a proposed ordinance to impose a security deposit fee of $50 for new water hookups.

Also at Tuesday's meeting, the council:

-Passed resolution 84-14, which will create a new water emergency fund. According to this resolution, $200 from every $500 new tap fee will be put into the fund.

-Heard from attorney John Underwood that there would be further delay in obtaining the village's deed to the Otero Co-op land that was purchased in 1978. Until the deed is obtained, the council cannot make any decisions about the proposed new Fire Department building and city hall.

-Discussed the possibility of allowing people to take yard clearings to the landfill for free because collection of those materials (such as tree branches) is slow.

Capitan Corner

by Sharon Makokian

There are many types of entertainment in the Ruidoso area. There's the ski mountain, the racetrack, the movies and the theatre.

Where is a theatre? you may ask. Despite the lack of a permanent structure or stage, Ruidoso has a quality Little Theatre group that performs quite a variety of plays.

I first became acquainted with the Ruidoso Little Theatre (RLT), as the locals call it) when I was assigned to cover "The Drunkard," a melodrama which they performed in Lincoln during August.

At first, I was skeptical (as reporters sometimes tend to be), but as the show unfolded, I was impressed with the performance.

I should add that I have been involved with theatre since my first year in high school. I love performing and have done many different roles in high school and college.

I hate to give credence to cliches, but acting really does seem to get into your blood. I'm not sure exactly what causes this phenomenon, but there are many possibilities.

For some people, it is the challenge of becoming another person. For others, it enables the actor to do something that he or she normally might not do, and allows the performer to try on a different personality for a while.

And, of course, there's the thrill of the theatre and the encouragement of the applause or a compliment after the show. I think that, for most performers, all of these aspects apply.

I know that they apply to me. After seeing "The Drunkard" in August, my excitement for the theatre was rekindled. I caught the bug and the only cure was to get back on stage. I auditioned and got into "The Good Doctor."

Now that the play is in production, I am sometimes so exhausted that I feel like I need a cure for my "cure." But if I had to do it over again, I probably wouldn't change a thing. When the show closes on Saturday night, I know that I'll wish it weren't over.

Many people ask me what it's like to be in a play. It's rewarding, exhausting, challenging, frustrating and fun. How's that for a varied collection of adjectives? (And that's my narrowed-down list.)

Acting in a play involves a lot of time and energy. Memorizing your lines is only the beginning—the hard part is making your character real and believable. (This is especially hard if you're playing a character that you do not like.)

A good production is the result of hours and hours of rehearsals. It's often very tiring, especially after a day of one's "real" work; and everybody in RLT has full-time jobs. But when we make that final curtain call, the hours of work seem to fade into a glorious sense of accomplishment.

Rehearsals are not all work and no fun. By the end of a rehearsal period, the cast members usually develop a closeness and become friends. Sometimes, it is almost a family feeling because we're all in it together. I have to say that the group at RLT is one of the nicest I've ever worked with.

I have been writing a series about the actors and their roles in "The Good Doctor." Since I don't like writing about myself in the third person, I'll write about myself here.

The play is a very funny Neil Simon comedy in which a writer shares his experiences. No, I did not play a writer on stage, but I am in two of the vignettes which the writer narrates.

"The Surgery" is a skit that confirms everyone's worse fears of going to the dentist. I play an eager dental student anxious to do my first operation (in real life, I will stick to writing).

In "The Audition," I play a nervous actress trying to read for the writer. This part is a little closer to home, but is still quite a challenge because I am the only person on the stage for the whole scene.

I know that I'm biased, but I think the play is very funny. I still laugh through it—and I know all the lines!

I encourage anyone who wants a fun evening to catch the show at Carrizo Lodge this weekend. I know that is a distance for my Capitan readers, but it's worth it. (You'll laugh so much, you won't notice the drive home.)

Performances are at 8 o'clock tonight through Saturday.

Around Town

Capitan's Tiger Guard Marching Band will present a concert at 7:30 p.m. Friday in the multi-purpose building at the school.

During the show, the band will perform such lively numbers as Lionel Ritchie's "All Night Long" and Survivor's "Eye of the Tiger" (the theme from "Rocky III"). The flag leaders will twirl their colors to "Brazilia" and "Five Foot Two, Eyes of Blue."

On Friday night starting at 8, there will be a band potluck and awards banquet in the multi-purpose building. Eighteen trophies will be presented at the awards presentation. Danny Flores, director of bands in Ruidoso, will be the guest speaker.

The community is welcome to the potluck—just bring a dish to share.

On Saturday night, there will be a potluck in Carrizozo to commemorate Lincoln County's emergency medical technicians. November 10-17 has been declared Emergency Medical Services Week throughout the county. For further information, call Devil Bill Adams at 354-2763.

Five members of the Lincoln County Extension Clubs—Phyllis Zumwalt, Orby Neatherlin, Jan Larue, Dottie Quaid and Rosalie Dunlap—attended the State Training Institute recently at the Glorieta Conference Center.

The institute was sponsored by the New Mexico State University Extension Service and the Kellogg Foundation under the Family Community Leadership program.

The program is a regional leadership development project involving six western states. The purpose of the program is to train people to be effective in public affairs activities. People trained at the institute will be able to train other people.

The trainees learned various aspects of public relations, including how to present ideas to the community and how to use visual aids. They also participated in special workshops on handling stress, testifying before legislative groups and working with the news media.

Two Lincoln County residents helped to lead some of the workshops. Phyllis Zumwalt of Hondo taught the media class and Orby Neatherlin of Ruidoso lectured on stress reduction.

Rosalie Dunlap reported that the group had an enjoyable and informative weekend at Glorieta.

"The weather was beautiful and the trees were in their full glory of fall colors," said Dunlap.

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

A Memorable Pilgrimage To The Land Of America's Beginnings
The great explorer, Marco Polo, said:

"He who hath not the wealth of the Indies in him will bring back nothing from the Indies."

After studying this very wise and deep saying for a minute you can see that it has to do with things both material and spiritual.

Let us say a man who is a complete stranger to New Mexico arrives in Santa Fe and is offered a Navajo rug as a gift. To him it is just another rug, of which he has plenty at home. And he says, "Thanks, Friend, but I am traveling a little light this trip." Little did he know that he was being offered something woven on a hand loom, made of home-spun yarn, something handed down from time out of mind by Native Americans.

Or let us say a complete stranger to Texas stands before the Alamo in San Antonio. He will think to himself, "What is this old building doing here in the middle of a city?"

But the native Texan of many generations standing before the Alamo sees the spirits of Crockett, Bowie, Travis, and the rest, passing before his mind's eye. His heart becomes full and the tears start, for the Texan has the "wealth" of Texas in him.

This is all leading up to telling you that in late September and early October, Ken Green made a trip through the Northeastern states, rich in natural beauty and history, visiting many landmarks sacred to Americans, including the site of the Battle of Gettysburg—and brought back many treasures: for he has the wealth of this region in him, in a very real way.

Four Motorcyclists Represent New Mexico In Yankee Land

With him on the trip were his wife, Mary, and Larry and Dorris Langford. The voyage covered in all 7,500 miles, 3,500 of this distance on motorcycles, which were carried along on a trailer.

Ken is a close student of American history, especially the Revolutionary War and the American Civil War. He is high in the appreciation of the children of Mother Earth, and therefore it was a special experience to pass through world-famous leaf colors in their prime. On top of all this, he is a direct descendant of General Nathaniel Greene, one of the great natural-born military leaders of all time, and George Washington's right-hand man.

One thing of which the Father of Our Country was most careful was not to show any partiality to any of the generals under him. But one time after General Greene had saved the day at the Battle of Brandywine, Washington, in a brief note to Greene, let the cat out of the bag:

"You, Sir, are considered in this army as my favorite officer; your division is composed of southerners, my more immediate countrymen ..."

His Parents Wanted No Part Of War

General Nathaniel Green was born August seven, 1742, in Potowomut, in the township of Warwick, Rhode Island, to devout Quaker parents. Yet, through the mysterious workings of our Destinies, this son of parents who were dead set against war turned out to be one of the great natural-born military leaders of history.

For four and a half years the fortunes of the bitter struggle between British and Americans was at a stand-off, with the British bottled up in New York.

In a desperate, all-out effort, the British, under General Cornwallis, turned their full force to the Carolinas, where General Greene, single-handed, had the task of holding off three British armies until Lafayette and Washington could join him.

In addition, the Tories, or British sympathizers, were strong in this area.

In hit-and-run battles, with fewer men than his adversaries, General Greene engaged one army after another in battle, ending in "defeats" on the records, but so costly to the British that they turned in retreat to Yorktown, Virginia. Here Greene held Cornwallis at bay until Washington and Lafayette arrived, and brought about the surrender, October 19, 1781.

Visit to Grave Of His Ancestor
One of the very high points of the trip was Ken's visit to the grave in the country churchyard of his great-great-grandfather, Nathaniel Greene the elder, father of the famous General.

Another high point was the extensive national shrine, the site of the Battle of Gettysburg, the turning point in the American Civil War. Ken said that deep emotion was felt in every spot of this "hallowed ground," especially the location of Pickett's Charge. Ken said he "could not hold back the tears." He painted a vivid picture of this spot famous in history, and described the great pains and loving care that have been taken in preserving this history in monuments and other markings in great numbers.

Biting the Bullet
I had heard the expression "bite the bullet" but had not known the meaning until after hearing Ken tell of the trip. At Fort Ticonderoga, in New York, he was shown bullets mashed nearly flat by the jaw teeth of a wounded man, who was given a drink of whiskey by the doctor and given a bullet to chew on during a severe operation, such as amputation. Even hearing about this sent a shock of admiration and appreciation through you, for our hardy forefathers.

The Enduring Charm Of New England
It would take a couple of books to bring out the full story of these four pilgrims to the land of America's infancy. Ken had a double deck of color photographs, as mementos of the voyage: white churches with the tall steeples; covered bridges; mills on the mill stream; town halls; the sugar maples, the color of a crimson rose; the hospitable people.

We rejoice with Ken at this visit to the land of his illustrious forefathers. He is a chip off the old block in many ways.

After all is said and done we all have "the wealth of America in us"; and when we hear about the trip of Ken, Mary, Larry and Dorris, we can feel a responsive chord chiming sweet music within our hearts.

Penny Art winners named

The Carrizozo Schools Penny Art Show winners were announced last week by the New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs Fourth District. The winners were: Cindi Vinson, Robert Guevara and Traci Ortiz, first place; Carl Lucas, second place; Robert Guevara and Tom Giordano, third. Honorable mention went to Carl Otero and John Saucedo.

Hesse (left) and Hodovan, seen here near the Silver Plume Mine, will act as directors of the film intended to attract Hollywood producers to the area.

From a production vantage point, Hodovan and Baird look down on Hesse and another of some 37 location shots that will be included in the as yet unnamed film on the Ruidoso region.

There's movie money in them thar hills

by MATT BOSISIO
News Staff Writer

After 18 years as a mountain explorer and modern-day prospector, Wally Hesse is going Hollywood.

With the help of Del Ray Baird, Joe Hodovan and Billie Myers, Hesse has begun turning his backwoods savvy into a lively, action-packed feature-length film about Ruidoso and the surrounding area.

"One thing I want to guarantee is that no one falls asleep during this movie," Hesse said recently. "You say 'documentary' and everybody starts yawning."

But not this time, he said. As writer and director, Hesse plans to keep the story line of his movie constantly in motion.

"The gist of the story takes place around 1881 or so," he said. "And it's going to be written about someone on a quest so that all these locations can be woven into the movie."

The locations he refers to are the crucial part of the plan. It is through the filming of these various locations that Hesse hopes to attract to Ruidoso Hollywood movie producers in search of good location shots.

Included in Hesse's "painless documentary," as he describes it, will be 37 locations within a 50-mile radius of Ruidoso.

Some of the spots are popular tourist attractions, such as White Sands National Monument, White Oaks and the Malpais lava beds.

Others are less well-known locations away from the public eye. Among them are the lizard head rock in the Capitan Mountains, an ancient observatory on the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation and a sealed Aztec cave.

Hesse said the estimated cost of the 30-minute videotape will be between $6,000 and $12,000. The film will incorporate Western props and costumes.

He said he hoped to offer it to the three major television networks and public television, in addition to using it to attract film producers.

Tommy Morel, acting executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, said Hesse made a presentation to the chamber board of directors last month that was well received.

He said the board is waiting on a detailed explanation from Hesse of what the movie will include, and how much it will cost for production.

At that time, Morel said, the board will explore the possibility of applying for funds from the New Mexico Film Commission.

The three movie-makers take a break to sip the cool water of Blue Hole and discuss upcoming location shots. The movie will show scenes filmed at sites within a 50-mile radius of Ruidoso.

Texas Open trials Friday at Sunland

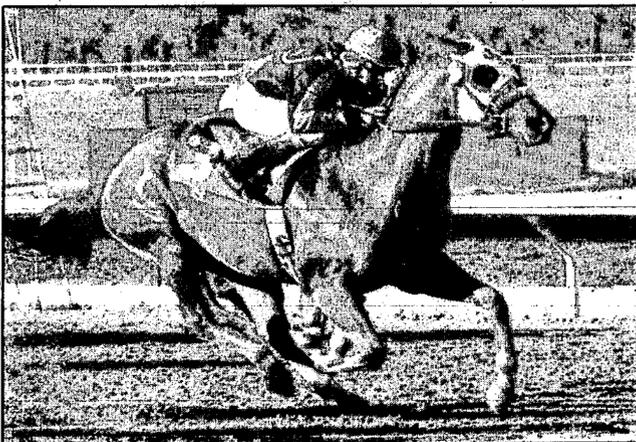

Seventeen thoroughbred hopefuls face off in trials for the Texas Open Futurity at Sunland Park on Friday. The top 12 finishers will earn a berth in the final of that stakes, which carries an estimated purse of $115,528.

Friday's card features two trial divisions for the Texas Open Futurity at 6 furlongs. The sprints for two-year-olds will run as the seventh and tenth races with the first six horses in each division advancing to the finale slated for Saturday, December 1. The 11-race program gets under way at 12:30 p.m.

Net Effect and Present A Toast look like the ones to watch in Friday's feature event. Both contenders are making their first appearance at Sunland Park after major stakes wins in New Mexico and California.

Net Effect, a Scout Leader filly trained by Grady Overton, captured the first trial division of the Land Of Enchantment Futurity last July at LaMera Park in Raton. She went on to earn first-place money of $80,707 in the finale of that 5 1/2-furlong stakes on July 22. Overton has named jockey Richard Bickel to handle his charge in Friday's trial run.

Trainer Thomas R. Bell II has been campaigning Present A Toast on the West Coast, where the Rise Your Glass colt recently collected $13,100 for his conquest of the 6-furlong Beau Brummel Stakes at the Pomona Fair in California. West Coast jockey Chris La Mance will be up for the colt's bid at the Texas Open Futurity.

Jockey Bruce Pilkenton takes Solid Glass across the wire in the $150,705 All-American Sale Futurity trials at Sunland Park. Solid Glass qualified fifth for the Sunday, November 18, finale.

The first trial division of the Texas Open Futurity brings out a nine-horse field in Friday's seventh. Surrey Regiment is the likely favorite in that one. The colt, trained by K.L. Johnson always runs in the money and holds earnings of $37,373. Most of that was collected for his third-place finish to Lord Rubic in the Santa Fe Futurity last August.

Surrey Regiment lost a nose decision to Lord Rubic in his debut appearance at Sunland Park last week. The colt had the lead at the head of the stretch in that 6-furlong sprint, but could not fight off the late surges of Lord Rubic. Jockey Tomey Swan will be up for Surrey Regiment's trial run.

A question mark in Friday's seventh is Will She Run, the filly who won her first career race at Churchill Downs on November 3. Her trainer is flying in East Coast rider Darrell Montoya to handle his charge in Friday's trial.

Here are the lineups for both Texas Open Futurity trial divisions in post-position order.

First division: 1 - Li'l Boy Honor (Pedro Benitez, 120); 2 - Surrey Regiment (Tomey Swan, 120); 3 - Mitto's Folly (no rider at entry, 117); 4 - Will She Run (Darrell Montoya, 117); 5 - T.V. Chablis (Keith Shore, 117); 6 - Near The Artic (Leroy Coombs, 117); 7 - Speedy Turk (R.D. Williams, 120); 8 - Malchi Jonas (no rider at entry, 120); 9 - Lady Lender (no rider at entry, 117).

Second division: 1 - Nat's Trouble (Kevin Cogburn, 120); 2 - Net Effect (Richard Bickel, 117); 3 - Doc's Miss (Salustio Burgos, 107); 4 - Ettore Geisha (Monica Stanley, 117); 5 - Present A Toast (Chris La Mance, 120); 6 - Lady Chanel (Victor Jaramillo, 117); 7 - Billy Cad (no rider named at entry, 120); 8 - Sincerely Yours (no rider named at entry, 117).

Friday is Ladies Day at Sunland, with free admission to the grandstand or clubhouse.

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

A TRIPLE DEAD HEAT occurred in Friday's fifth race at Sunland Park, when the camera was unable to separate A Real Joy, Bank On Bunny and Perfect Saint in a photo for place behind winner War Kip. Although records are not available on triple dead heats for second, the rarity of three horses reaching the wire at exactly the same time is demonstrated by the fact that only two triple dead heats for win have been recorded at Sunland Park during its twenty-six year history. The 1982 edition of the American Racing Manual lists only 17 triple dead heats for win since 1940 at more than a hundred race tracks in operation throughout the United States.

TAKING FULL ADVANTAGE of a blistering pace, Cleber and Patricia Massey's Our Angel scored a stunning upset in Saturday's $12,100 Cutarusty Handicap at Sunland.

Reserved on the rail by jockey Jaimi Maxwell during the early going, Our Angel drove through horses in the late stretch and prevailed by a widening half-length in the eighth running of this stakes fixture.

Our Angel recorded a seasonal best of 1:17 1/5 for the 6 1/2 furlongs and returned $50.00, $10.60 and $5.80 across the board.

The final time was prompted by the rapid early fractions posted by the highweighted Machisma, who was hoping to add the winner's share of $7,260 to her already impressive lifetime earnings of $176,719. Machisma showed the way with a quarter in 21 4/5 and a half in 44 2/5, and raced gamely through the stretch to garner second. As the odds-on favorite in the crowd of 3,171, Machisma returned $3.20 and $2.50.

The stakes-tested Draconic Ship raced evenly to finish third in his seasonal debut at Sunland. Im Mahera, the second choice at post time, pressed the pace and gave way in the stretch to finish fourth.

JOCKEY HARLA WEBB posted her second win of the current meet at Sunland on Bug Bopper in Saturday's fourth race. The gelding, trained by owner Johnie Jamison of El Paso, took the six-furlong sprint by a head to stop the clock in 1:11 3/5 seconds. The time was only one-fifth of a second off the seasonal track record established by Vikingson's Riot on October 21. The victory boosted Bug Bopper's 1984 earnings to $15,333. He has run in the money 13 of 22 starts this year.

Jockey Jerry Burgess prepares to dismount Faise The Gamble following the colt's win as an odds-on favorite in the sixth trial division of the All-American Sale Futurity at Sunland Park November

2. Faise The Gamble, trained by Terry A. Morris, drew out to a one-length victory and posted the second-fastest qualifying time for the $150,705 finale scheduled for Sunday, November 18.

Smoothenufftorum was just that

Acting every bit as a two to five shot in a stakes race should, Lawrence Wilcox's Smoothenufftorum continued her late season domination of Southwestern Quarter Horse racing by making a shambles of the 400-yard segment of the Savannah Swinger Handicap Series at Sunland Park.

Breaking from the rail under highlight of 125 pounds, Smoothenufftorum quickly established her lead and breezed to a 2 1/4 length-victory in 19.69 seconds, and returned $2.80, $2.60, and $2.40 to her many backers among the crowd of 3,634 on hand on the warm and still afternoon at the Southern New Mexico oval.

Smoothenufftorum is conditioned by Jim Richardson and was ridden to her fifth consecutive victory by Larry Chavez. Glorys Magic Miss finished second and Sweet Flashy Seven garnered third money.

The winner, by Moon Lark out of Smooth Coin, earned $7,080 for her afternoon's work and trainer Richardson indicated that her next assignment would likely be the Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Derby, through a supplemental nomination.

Smoothenufftorum began her torrid streak at Santa Fe with an allowance victory. She then took two stakes events during the State Fair meeting at Albuquerque, and prepped for the Savannah Swinger with a resounding allowance win over the Sunland straightaway.

Richardson's enthusiasm over the filly's present form prompted him to compare her to Flight Nine, the redoubtable "Queen Of The Rockies" whom Richardson has successfully campaigned for the last three seasons.

Taking full advantage of a blistering pace, Cleber and Patricia Massey's Our Angel scored an impressive upset in the $12,100 Cutarusty Handicap at Sunland Park.

Reserved on the rail by jockey Jaime Maxwell during the early going, Our Angel drove through horses in the late stretch and prevailed by a Smoothenufftorum breezes to a 2 1/4-length victory in the second leg of the Savannah Swinger Series at Sunland Park Sunday.

widening length in the eighth running of this Southwestern stakes fixture.

Our Angel recorded a seasonal best of 1:17 1/5 for the six and one half panels and returned $50.00, $10.00, and $5.80 across-the-board.

The final time was prompted by the rapid early fractions posted by the highweighted Machisma who was hoping to add the winners share of $7,260 to her already impressive lifetime earnings of $176,719. Machisma showed the way with a quarter in 21 4/5 and a half in 44 2/5 and raced gamely through the stretch to garner second. The filly was conceding fourteen pounds to the winner. As the odds-on favorite in the crowd of 3,171, Machisma returned $3.20 and $2.80. The stakes-tested Draconic Ship raced evenly to finish third in his Sunland seasonal debut. Im Maheras, the second choice at post time, pressed the pace and gave way in the stretch to finish fourth.

The winner, who captured his third lifetime victory in this stakes, began his career during the spring at Oaklawn Park and encountered a broken stirrup and shin problems in his Hot Spring outings. Following a maiden win at Santa Fe, trainer Cecil Crabtree tried Our Angel twice around two turns in late summer before shortening him for a three length win in his Sunland debut over six furlongs prior to his Cutarusty score. Crabtree is noncommittal about

Our Angel's next engagement, but his strong finishing style marks him as a candidate for the December 8 Texas Derby.

On an afternoon highlighted by one of horse racing's rarest occurrences, a triple dead heat, Jane Walsh's Tell's Leader, sent off as the even money favorite by the crowd of 2,082, didn't disappoint his backers as he easily garnered Friday's feature race at Sunland Park.

Under Larry Hunt, Tell's Leader stopped the timer at the end of six furlongs in 1:12 flat, 6 1/2 lengths in front of second-place finisher Ragusa. Fort Bayard finished third. Tell's Leader showed mutual payoffs of $4.00, $3.00 and $2.80.

The triple dead heat occurred in Friday's fifth race, when the camera was unable to separate A Real Joy, Bank On Bunny and Perfect Saint in a photo for place, behind winner War-Kip. Although records are not available on triple dead heats for second, the rarity of three horses reaching the wire at exactly the time is demonstrated by the fact that only two triple dead heats for win have been recorded at Sunland Park during its twenty-six year history.

Tell's Leader's popular win in the feature was the exception to the norm for the afternoon, as for the fourth consecutive racing day longshots in the Pic-Six events resulted in no patron selecting six winners.

IN STEWARDS' RULINGS: Jockey Salustio Burgos was suspended three racing days (November 9-11) for careless riding resulting in his mount, Jiminize, being disqualified from third and placed fourth for interference in the ninth race on Sunday, November 4.

The jockey license of Wayne Buehrer was rescinded without prejudice. He was issued a trainer's license.

Trainers Dave Odum and Kenneth Armstrong were each fined $50 for entering a horse without an owner's license being registered with the State Racing Commission. The violations necessitated late scratches.

DISCO TE set the opening benchmark for this season's fastest 440, stepping the distance in 22:19 seconds in Saturday's fifth race. It was the second 440-yard race for the current meet. Disco Te went postward at nearly 5-1 to return mutual payoffs of $11.80, $8 and $4.40. Jockey Larry Hunt was up for the winning run. Richard Fry trains the gelding for owner Dr. E.T. Standley of Hunt, Texas.

Sunland Park's all-time track record for 440 yards was set by Truckle Feature in 1973. The time was 21:36.

SATURDAY'S EIGHTH-RACE TRIFECTA payoff handed out $6,970 as Stubby Wilson (8-1) won the six-furlong spring followed by Printer's Devil (25-1) and Moonlight Walk (15-1). The payoff established a new high for the seasonal trifecta payoff. The former benchmark was $2,817.60 set on October 14 with Blazekin, Truly A Prince and Macaroon.

LITTLE BRENT, ridden by jockey Angel Jacobo, bested the seasonal record for 1 1/16 miles in Sunday's fourth as the gelding tripped the clock in 1:46 4/5 seconds with a three-length victory. Jacobo saved Little Brent six lengths back of Rich 'n Idle through the first half of the race, before taking control at the top of the stretch and daylighting the field. Racing as the second favorite behind Joey Baba, Little Brent returned $5.60, $3.60 and $3.40.

Tommy Dean dead at 51

Clifton "Tommy" Dean, the well-respected trainer who developed two world champions, died November 8 in El Paso, Texas, following an extended illness.

Dean, a native of Carn Crow, Louisiana, started riding at age 11 for Claude Moran on such contenders as Jimmy, Black Mama and Miss Panama. After years of riding he began training for Stan Snedeger, Harriet Feckham, A.B. Green, Lewis Blackwell, Ed Homen and John Batson.

Since the mid-80s, Dean developed stock for rancher Sam F. "Sonny" Henderson of Odessa, Texas. Henderson commented on the trainer's death.

"He was jovial and fun. A super human being, and a hell of a horseman," Henderson said.

"Everybody loved him, and we'll all miss him."

Henderson praised the 51-year-old Dean for his many accomplishments. The trainer conditioned Jet Comanche, the nation's champion running gelding in 1975, and Bartendress, the quarter-horse filly who took the same title for three-year-olds in 1983. Dean also trained Draconic Ship (champion 2-year-old thoroughbred colt), Sunday's Night (champion 2-year-old filly) and Watch A Native (champion 2-year-old quarter horse of New Mexico). He also developed Native Creek for owner Tommy "Pinkie" Roden, whom he worked for until his death.

A rosary service was held for Dean at Sunland Park on November 10. His body was returned to Cran Crow, a small town outside of Lafayette, Louisiana, for burial.

Opinion

Editorial

"Finest" is a term that traditionally has been applied to policeman—"New York's finest," "Ruidoso's finest," etc.—though not always in a complimentary way.

Ruidoso and Lincoln County are fortunate to have law enforcement agencies of exceptional quality, however, and this weekend the community honors the finest of the finest.

The occasion is the second annual "Policeman of the Year" award party. It is scheduled for 8 p.m. to midnight Saturday, November 17, at Prime Time Restaurant.

Tickets are $6 per person. They are available at Gibson's, the Chamber of Commerce and local banks. Dancing to live country music is the featured entertainment, along with the awarding of thousands of dollars in door prizes.

Proceeds from the party go to Ruidoso Crime Stoppers.

Nominees for Policeman of the Year are:

- Deputy Sheriff Charles Cox, Lincoln County Sheriff's Department.
- Officer Pete J. Esquibel, Ruidoso Police Department.
- Chief of Police G. L. "Skip" Hazel, Ruidoso Downs Police Department.
- Officer Clayton Floyd, New Mexico State Police.

Congratulations to the four men are in order, but the nominations and the individual honor are really a tribute to all law enforcement personnel in the county.

We encourage the support of the community for Saturday's party.—TP

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:
On behalf of the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital, I would like to thank the voters of Lincoln County for their overwhelming support of the hospital mill levy in last Tuesday's election.

All of us associated with the hospital tried very hard to communicate the importance of the levy to the continuation of the excellent health care services which this community has come to rely upon. We recognize that we are dealing with the public trust, and we will make every effort to spend your funds in the most prudent way possible and in a manner which will bring the most good to the entire community.

There were so many people who worked hard for the levy's passage and who helped to communicate the hospital's needs to the community, that it would be impossible to thank them all. However, a special note of appreciation should be extended to the Hospital Auxiliary for their assistance in getting out the vote. The Pink Ladies assisted in registering voters and furnishing absentee ballots, they provided transportation to the polls, and helped to publicize the mill levy.

Because of recent cuts in federal reimbursement, mill levy funding is extremely important to the hospital, as well as to the Carrizozo Health Center and the Corona and Capitan clinics. We are most grateful for the community's support. Thank you, Lincoln County, for your vote of confidence.

Sincerely,
KEN MOORE
ADMINISTRATOR

DEAR EDITOR:
Open Letter to the People of Lincoln County
I am writing this letter to the public to ask for your help.

On Sunday, October 4th, my wife and I left Ruidoso for a brief business trip. Our two dogs, a Chow and a Rottweiler, were placed in the 2-car garage so that they would stay out of mischief and not be harmed while roaming the property. The cleaning lady was to come early the next morning; let our two pets out, and feed them.

Sometime early Monday morning, probably prior to 7:30 a.m., someone entered our property through a closed gate and poured a flammable liquid (according to special investigator, between 15 and 25 gallons) on the storage shed and the back apartment. Additionally, they deliberately threw some of the liquid into the area where the dogs were. Then they set fire to the garage and walked away. All was destroyed.

We lost my new car and a 1400 sq. ft. building containing a 2-car garage, storage area and apartment. But most of all, two innocent dogs that we loved are gone.

The favor I ask of you is—before this maniac does this to someone else's pets, or their children—won't you sit down and think about whether you may have heard someone brag (or complain) about this deed. Did you see something (full cans too-soon empty; an unusual number of containers filled with flammable liquid; someone's clothing bearing a strong incendiary odor; a pickup or car at a puzzling location). Please think.

Concerned relatives, friends and local businessmen are joining with us in offering a sizeable reward.

To the one of you who reads this and is gully—this is a promise. I intend to take every action open to me, within the law, to insure your never doing this again to living and loving creatures. You are surely a very sick person and I call on the right-thinking people of Lincoln County to help so that we can all feel safe from insanities of this sort.

Sincerely,
JOHN V. HALL

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Alex Mercure was commended during his appearance before the Legislative Finance Committee.

Unfortunately, what he was commended for was his ability to sound as though he were answering legislators' questions without in fact providing any real information.

It's a good description of Mercure's speaking style, which, like most other gasses, tends to expand to fill the space available.

There is no evidence that Alex, currently boss of the Department of Economic Development and Tourism, has ever answered a question with a simple "yes" or "no," even when that is the clearly appropriate response. Instead, he produces great gusts of nervous chatter, liberally larded with those buzzwords which are his current favorites. (Money is always "leveraged," "projects" are always "put in place," and so on.) He seems to believe you can appear an expert on any topic simply by mastering a smattering of the technical language pertaining to it.

He ends up sounding simply as though we were fudging the truth.

This day, he had clearly come prepared for a session of show-and-tell.

He was backed by every division and bureau chief from his department, and had brought reams of material of every sort imaginable to support his contentions about the many scores his operation has pulled off.

Clearly, his idea was to sell, sell, sell; and if a brass band and fireworks would have helped, he would have had them.

Unfortunately, it was not the mood of the committee to buy, buy, buy.

They wanted hard answers to questions like these:

—What have been the concrete results from those overseas trips our Governor has taken, measured in dollars and jobs, not promises?

—Why was Governor Anaya in Mexico talking to that country's president about purchasing electric power and gas from there when New Mexicans cannot sell the quantities of those items they can now produce?

—What does the Department of Economic Development do for companies which are presently operating in the state, as opposed to its vigorous efforts to assist those from Japan?

Above all, what they wanted to know was whether or not Mercure can really control the department of which he is in charge. As one lawmaker put it, "Is it possible for you to run that place and not break the law?"

There's a pretty serious accusation implicit in that query. It is to be hoped that Secretary Mercure did not miss its drift in his anxiety to make a good impression.

Conversations with members of the committee after Mercure and staff had gone home make it clear legislators are far from satisfied with the job being done at present. They don't want more pie-in-the-sky promises; they want evidence of competence, business-like management of the dollars they award this department by their actions.

While Fred Mondragon was state Democratic chairman, it was Mercure's operation which discovered he had such (till then unknown) talents as an arranger of overseas tours that it was essential to contract for his services. That cost the taxpayers something on the order of $30,000, just so Fred could smooth the way of Governor Anaya to the Orient and Europe.

Now that Fred has told Governor Anaya exactly how to dispose of the political job he held for his party at that time, what do you want to bet we will discover his once indispensable abilities are no longer necessary?

Oh, well. That's only money—OUR money—they are handing out to their long-time friends.

Note to a young newspaper: You said in your election roundup story that "Democrats have controlled the state for as far back as anyone can remember."

Not true.

By "anyone," you undoubtedly meant anyone of your generation. Please note, however, if only for future reference, that the history of New Mexico politics does not begin in the 1960s.

Reporter's Round

by Frankie Jarrell

Folks at my house watch a lot of television, and lately the major choice has been "Music Television," better known as MTV.

I am a music lover, and my taste actually runs the gamut from Mozart to Rjcky Skaggs—hard to believe, but true. On a cold, winter evening, in front of a fire, I am as likely to listen to Elton John as I am Beethoven.

Nevertheless, I have done a lot of complaining about MTV. Like, "Turn that thing off ... turn it down ... don't you have homework?" Or even, "Have you ever thought of running away from home?" But the "music" plays on.

The old cliché, "if you can't beat them, join them," has never been more appropriate. So I sat down to check it out.

MTV viewers know that the network offers more than just music, but I was surprised to see the excellent advertising. I shouldn't have been surprised, for cosmetics firms, stereo makers, clothing manufacturers and of course record companies know that MTV's young viewers spend billions of dollars a year on their products.

The companies invest billions, too, in producing commercials that are very like the music videos themselves.

Besides commercials, a "video" jockey (I don't know what else to call a television "disc jockey") does interviews or short vignettes with music world celebrities. These musicians don't seem to have a lot to say, and what I've heard didn't always make sense, but they all have one thing in common: they are promoting recordings or tours. They, too, are vying for the youth market's money.

Another MTV feature is announcing tour schedules for the same groups who are so willing to make personal appearances and serve as "guest hosts." I couldn't get real excited about the Hall and Oates tour, but many viewers are. There is even a contest for the privilege of riding in a Lear Jet with one of the two singers.

Again, with concert tickets selling for $18 and more, the emphasis is on the viewer's billfolds. But, enough for being cynical.

I did see some videos in between all the sales pitches. My first impression was of a wide-awake nightmare. I watched in horror as Billy Idol (you know, the one with the perpetual sneer) cavorted among a group of men who seemed to be undergoing tortures, some were tied or chained and some were in water. Yes, I have an active imagination, but I think they were being drowned.

Frankly, I prefer my own nightmares. I was treated to more skulls, starving bodies and the like, and was just about to announce my verdict, "I was right," when a video reminiscent of gentle, Frisbee-throwing days was aired.

I can't say I was hooked, but I was relieved to see that the music network is not totally one-dimensional. The video, "Desert Moon," was a reminder what music really does for me. My life is like a track that can fast forward or rewind at the turn of a radio dial.

Music, from fifties bubble gum rock to sixties protest songs, stops me in my tracks and I find myself in some other time or place. I have my own visual memories, and don't need staged and choreographed ones.

A few more videos, a lot more commercials and way too many promotional gimmicks later, I turned off the tube. I really tried, and have to admit that my quick judgment and early prejudice may have been a product of my age. That isn't too surprising, since I heard from one expert on cable television that viewers of MTV are between the ages of eleven and eighteen.

So, the generation gap lives on at my house. Give me a good book, the radio and please, turn down the MTV.

Published and non-published writers are welcome to attend. Call Cathy Palmer at 257-9835 or Herb Seckler at 671-4597 for information.

Today (Thursday) is the GREAT AMERICAN SMOKE-OUT. The American Cancer Society has set aside this day to urge smokers to quit, if only for the day.

The Senior Citizens Center's annual CHRISTMAS BAZAAR will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. today (Thursday) and Friday, November 15 and 16, in the center behind the Ruidoso Public Library. Arts and crafts made by center members will be for sale.

Ruidoso Little Theatre's production of "THE GOOD DOCTOR" continues at 8 p.m. today (Thursday) through Saturday, November 17, at the Studio Lounge in Carrizo Lodge. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and children, and will be on sale at the door.

A buffet, which starts at 6:30 p.m., is available for an additional $10. Reservations are requested 24 hours in advance for the buffet.

Saturday, November 17

FREE DIABETES SCREENING will be offered from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday, November 17, at the Safeway on Mechem Drive. Rio Ruidoso Lioness Club and Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital are sponsoring the health check.

Eugene Sellers, Ph.D., of the hospital will be performing the minor procedure. A small needle prick is all that is required for the test. Referrals will be made to family physicians on test results.

Call Heidi Gally, Lioness vice-president, at 258-5090 for further information.

Sunday, November 18

The Ruidoso Ministerial Alliance will have a COMMUNITY THANKSGIVING WORSHIP SERVICE at 7 p.m. Sunday, November 18, in the First Baptist Church on Mechem Drive in Ruidoso. The Reverend Ken Cole of the First Christian Church will be the guest speaker.

Ministers from First Baptist Church, Community United Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, First Christian Church, Gateway Assembly of God and Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount are members of the Alliance.

The public is invited to attend.

Monday, November 19

SIERRA BLANCA YOUTH FOR CHRIST will have an organizational meeting at 7 p.m. on Monday, November 19, at Don Victor's Restaurant. Anyone interested is invited to attend.

Contact Russ Karvonen at 378-5461 or 378-4611 for further information.

Tuesday, November 20

The Junior Class of Ruidoso High School will present a TALENT SHOW at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 20, in the Ruidoso Middle School gym. Admission is a $3.50 donation for adults and $1.50 for students. Tickets are available at the high school.

Thursday, November 22

A community THANKSGIVING DINNER will be served at 2 p.m. Thursday, November 22, at White Mountain School. Wendy Knight and Ruth Vail are coordinating efforts to provide the meal, and are accepting donations of food, money and time.

Call Knight at 354-2908 or Vail at 257-2922 to make a contribution or volunteer.

Now until Christmas

The Ruidoso Volunteer Fire Department and the Ruidoso Police Department have begun their annual HAPPY HOLIDAYS DRIVE.

Food, clothing, money and toys will be collected for distribution to needy families in the Ruidoso area for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. This is the third year for the drive.

Donations may be taken to the main fire station in midtown. For information, call the fire station at 257-4115 or the police station at 257-7365.

REYE SYNDROME

Reye syndrome is a rare but dangerous condition that can develop from flu or chicken pox. It occurs mainly in children under 16, usually when they appear to be recovering. Watch for these signs:

- Persistent vomiting
- Fatigue
- Confusion and belligerence.

If you find these signs, consult a doctor immediately.

Some studies indicate that there may be a link between the use of aspirin for flu and chicken pox and the development of Reye syndrome. Further studies are being conducted on this possibility in the most recent U.S.

Surgeon General's report that says that children should not take aspirin for flu or chicken pox.

A message from the Food and Drug Administration that says that children should not take aspirin for flu or chicken pox.

Reye's Syndrome education stressed

Peggy McClellan wants everyone to know about Reye's Syndrome. She and her daughter and son-in-law, Pam and Mike Hough, found out about it too late. Susan Hough, McClellan's granddaughter and the Houghs' daughter, died November 6, 1981, just two weeks before her fifth birthday.

Susan's disease was diagnosed as Reye's Syndrome (RS). In 1981, very little was known about RS, which is usually fatal if not discovered and treated in the early stages.

November 12 through 18 has been designated National Reye's Syndrome Week by Congress and the president. Since flu is often a forerunner to RS, as flu season approaches the American Reye's Syndrome Association (ARSA) would have the public be reminded of the dangers of RS.

RS is an acute disease which affects all organs of the body. It mainly strikes children under the age of 18, although it can strike at any age.

The cause of RS is unknown. Some medical experts believe there is a link between the use of aspirin for flu or chicken pox and the development of RS symptoms. All medications should be used with caution in children.

According to ARSA publications, the main symptoms of RS are unexpected vomiting, sleepiness, personality change and coma. Vomiting, after the onset of a viral illness, is usually the first sign of RS except in children under the age of two, who may exhibit diarrhea or hyperventilation.

These symptoms, along with personality changes, may appear after the child seems to be recovering from the original illness.

Disorientation and inability to perform simple tasks is an early symptom. Seizures and coma may follow.

"Early diagnosis is of the essence," said McClellan. "That is why I want to make people aware of the disease."

ARSA has the following advice for parents: "Taking quick action is the most important thing you can do to assure your child of the best chance of recovery, regardless of what may be wrong. Ask for a blood test for RS. It is impossible to rule out or confirm RS without proper blood tests.

"Under no circumstances should drugs to stop vomiting be given until RS has been ruled out."

A 24-hour telephone number is available for persons who have any questions about RS. It is 303-777-2592.

There is no known cure for RS, so supportive treatment in an intensive care unit is vital. The outcome of each case is related to the degree of brain swelling which occurs. Monitoring of body functions may be required for some time.

Again, ARSA stresses, "Time is the critical factor." The non-profit organization urges parents and other child-care providers to learn the symptoms of RS and know the course of any illness a child gets. Any change from that disease's normal pattern is reason to notify the doctor.

Before a child becomes ill, parents are advised to ask their doctor for more information on RS, or to write the national office at 701 South Logan, Number 203, Denver, Colorado 80209.

While there is no ARSA chapter in Lincoln County, McClellan has distributed literature to health and child-care providers and to schools.

"I'll be glad to talk to anybody about it," she said. For further information, call McClellan at 257-2281 or 257-2365.

On campus

Three students from Ruidoso High School will be among the 800 officers and members to participate in the New Mexico Office Education Association (OEA) 5th Annual State Leadership Conference. Antoinette Lopez, Sean Parker and Rod Wright will attend the meeting November 16 and 17 in Glorieta.

"Building Teamwork that Works" is the theme of the conference. Bill Sanders, president of Alternatives in Motivation, will speak to the group on managing people, optimism, motivation and leadership. Sanders is author of "Great Persuaders."

Workshops on parliamentary procedure, chapter activities, writing news releases, promotional display, fund-raising projects, special service programs and special recognition programs will be a part of the two-day workshop.

Ray Gormley, state OEA advisor, said, "New Mexico OEA is helping thousands of students to a 'pathway of achievement' by developing leadership skills, interest in the free enterprise system, and competency in business and office occupations."

Jean Spurlock sponsors the local OEA Chapter.

Ducks Unlimited sportsmen for the birds

The Ruidoso Chapter of Ducks Unlimited will have its second annual banquet at 6 p.m. Thursday, December 6, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

"The Ducks Unlimited success story," said Emmitt Mundy, chapter chairman, "is really starting to spread around. Banquets much like our chapter event held throughout the country last year contributed towards Ducks Unlimited's national fund-raising effort, which raised $38.2 million during 1983 alone."

"But what's even more important to realize is that this national fund-raising total must increase this year if the North American waterfowl habitat race is to be won."

The sportsmen and conservationists who founded Ducks Unlimited discovered 45 years ago that 70 percent of North America's waterfowl production occurs in Canada. Since federal duck stamp dollars cannot be spent outside the United States, waterfowl funds never reach the big production areas.

Ducks Unlimited has raised over $237 million in the United States since 1937, and much of that has been sent to Canada's Ducks Unlimited organization to reserve some 8.3 million acres of prime habitat encompassing over 2,400 wetland projects.

Biologists estimate millions of additional acres of habitat must be reserved in order to stabilize North America's waterfowl population. Ducks Unlimited is the only non-profit conservation organization involved in the Canadian waterfowl project.

Tickets for the fund-raising dinner are $45 per couple, and include a year's membership in Ducks Unlimited and a subscription to the organization's magazine. Call Laura Hankins at 258-5800 for tickets and further details.

Couple celebrate 68th

Mr. and Mrs. Herman V. Richards of 1815 Lawson Lane in Amarillo, Texas, celebrated their 68th wedding anniversary on October 25 with a family gathering at their home. Their daughters hosted the event.

Richards married the former Lillian Jimmie Allen on October 25, 1916, at Lorraine, Texas. The couple resided in Abilene, Texas, before moving to Amarillo 15 years ago.

Richards is a retired credit manager at Grissoms Department Store in Abilene. Mrs. Richards is a homemaker. The couple are members of Bell Avenue Baptist Church.

Children of the couple are Mrs. James A. Beall and Mrs. James L. Hine, both of Ruidoso; Lillian R. Satterwhite of Amarillo; and the late Herman V. Richards, Jr., who was killed in action during World War II. The couple has eight grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Richards have voted in the last 18 presidential elections.

HERMAN AND LILLIAN RICHARDS

GWEN DuBOSE, MICHAEL AND SUSAN MALIS

Contribution

Pilot Club of Ruidoso donated $200 to the Michael Malis Medical Fund. The fund was established at The Bank of Ruidoso early this year to help defray young Michael's mounting medical expenses.

Michael, the 13-month-old son of Mike and Susan Malis, suffers from a rare liver disease, giant cell hepatitis. Symptoms include an inability of his system to absorb fat-soluble vitamins.

Denver, Colorado, is the closest medical center for Michael to receive the care he requires, so he and his mother have made the trip several times during his short life. He underwent a liver biopsy in March, and another November 1.

While at home, Michael has test and blood work every two weeks, injections twice a week, and takes eight different medicines every day.

Pilot Club president Gwen DuBose said her group hoped others would also contribute to the medical fund, since the medical costs are still mounting.

Club News

Woman's club

The Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club hosted District IV women Saturday, November 10. A "Christmas in November" celebration was the theme.

Hostess Charlotte Jarratt used the Christmas theme with a Christmas tree and holiday decorations throughout her home. Members exchanged gifts and played games.

Special guests included Shirley Garfield of Reserve, state president; Mickey Pierce of Reserve, District IV president, and Sue Stearns of Carrizozo, president-elect. Members from Anthony, Las Cruces, Reserve, Cliff, Carrizozo and Alamogordo attended.

Teachers group

Eta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa, international honorary teachers' sorority, met in November in the home of Barbara Abbott. Other hostesses were Genevieve Duncan, June Caster and Myrtle Williams.

Nellie Jones reported on the October regional conference in Las Cruces, and plans were discussed to host the spring regional conference in Ruidoso April 20. The group decided to make a contribution to 'Girls' Ranch for Christmas instead of exchanging gifts.

Dorothy Guck, who is credited with introducing Smokey Bear to the nation as a symbol for conserving forests, presented the program. She described her life as the wife of a forest ranger.

Guck then presented each member with an envelope bearing a first-day issue of the Smokey Bear postage stamp and a map of Lincoln County. "A Story of Smokey Bear," an original story by Guck, is printed on the map. Schoolchildren throughout the nation have received copies of Guck's play, "Smokey Bear."

Eva Clarke, a Ruidoso kindergarten teacher, was a guest at the meeting.

Singles fellowship

The Christian Singles Fellowship (CSF) Ruidoso chapter will host a regional Christmas banquet Friday, December 21, at Sutphen's Restaurant. Alamogordo, Tularosa, El Paso and Las Cruces singles will travel to Ruidoso for the dinner.

Saturday, December 22, the entire group will be invited to participate in a Christmas shopping spree. Jerry Rogers, regional director of CSF, says the banquet and shopping will be one of the year's major events.

"Not only will the banquet draw a large group of singles, but the shopping spree will give members an opportunity to be together for celebration and fellowship and a chance to shop for gifts that are unique and not readily available in their area," he said.

Interested persons should contact Trent Carver, president of the Ruidoso group, at 257-2980, to find out more about the group and its activities.

Christmas tree cutting on national forest

The Lincoln National Forest Christmas Tree cutting program will begin next month with trees available to individuals or organizations on a personal use basis.

The program will be conducted similar to the one of last year. To cut a Christmas tree on the Forest, one must have a permit. Permits will cost $5 and may be obtained by mailing a completed application, together with a check or money order, to the Mayhill Ranger Station, Post Office Box 5, Mayhill, New Mexico 88339. Christmas tree permit applications are available at all Lincoln National Forest offices. Chamber of Commerce offices in numerous southeastern New Mexico and west Texas communities will also have a supply of applications available. They are Alamogordo, Las Cruces, Clovis, Roswell, Artesia-Lovington, Hobbs, Jal, El Paso, Midland and Odessa. They will be available in post offices at Tularosa and Carrizozo. The J.C. Penney stores in El Paso and Las Cruces have also offered to assist in the distribution of the Christmas tree permit applications. Processing of the permits will begin on November 7, and trees may be cut anytime from November 18 until Christmas. Individuals may also drop their completed applications in a box in the lobby of the Lincoln National Forest Supervisor's Office in Alamogordo. Permits will be issued on a "first-come, first-served" basis until the supply is exhausted.

A total of 3,900 trees will be sold this year, with each ranger district on the Forest having an allotment of trees. District preference may be indicated on the permit application. The Smokey Bear District at Ruidoso will have 1,200 trees in an area south of Glencoe. The Cloudcroft District will have 600 trees in an area just north of Mayhill. Two areas in the Guadalupe Mountains on the Guadalupe District will have 1,500 trees available. Most of the trees to be sold on the Forest this year will be pine. Only the Mayhill Ranger District will have fir trees for sale, due to the damage caused by the spruce budworm on the Cloudcroft Ranger District. During the past three years, the budworm has caused serious defoliation to Christmas-tree size trees in that area.

"Damage to the forest caused by tree cutters in years past is a real concern of the Forest Service," commented Forest Supervisor James Abbott. By damage is meant such things as large trees cut and "topped" for Christmas trees, trees cut and then abandoned, indiscriminate and careless off-road vehicle use, and littering the Forest.

"Those individuals who ignore the few simple rules of the Christmas Tree program jeopardize the future of the program for everyone. The cooperation of Christmas tree cutters is requested to help the Forest Service promote good forest management," said Abbott.

Digging up a Christmas tree for planting at home is permitted. Organization groups may obtain a permit to cut a Christmas tree. Instructions for applying for a permit will be found on the application form.

Crime of the week

On several occasions in the past couple of months, the U.S. and New Mexico State flags displayed at the Ruidoso Municipal Building and the Ruidoso Police, Courts and Adult Detention Facility have been stolen and had the lanyards damaged. On November 5, the New Mexico State flag at the Municipal Building was again stolen, but this time the U.S.

flag was left disrespectfully lying on the ground!

Anyone who has further information on criminal activity is urged to call Crime Stoppers at 257-4545 or State Crime Stoppers at 1-800-432-6933. Persons calling may remain anonymous and still be eligible for cash rewards.

TO THE VOTERS OF OTERO AND LINCOLN COUNTIES:

I would like to thank all of the people who supported, helped, and voted for me.

I pledge to all the citizens that I shall use the authority of my office fairly, impartially, and without fear or favor.

Thanks for your confidence.

Set your water heater for greater energy efficiency.

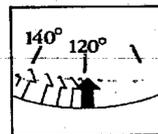

A water heater that is set too high can waste energy. TNP Employee Kenny Richards lowered his water temperature for energy savings and safety too!

By simply setting the thermostat of your electric water heater from a maximum of 140 degrees down to a moderate setting of 120 degrees, you can still have the hot water you need while reducing part of your energy consumption.

TNP Employee Kenny Richards of Pecos, Texas lowered the temperature on his water heater and found out that he also runs less of a risk of accidental scalding because of excessive water temperature. Some appliances, such as automatic dishwashers, may require specific water temperatures, so be sure to check your owner's manuals.

Our energy experts can show you a lot of ways to get the most benefit from your electrical service — that's just one more way we are...

Making their point

Expressions, both facial and body, are often shown during governmental meetings at Ruidoso village hall. During the heat of discussion of topics ranging from property vacation to animal control, speakers and officials tend to voice their feelings in a variety of ways. Caught in the act of expressing their feelings are (counterclockwise from upper left) pen-pointing Lavena Gardner during a rezone hearing; cigarette-gesturing Don Shaw during a Planning and Zoning Commission meeting; contemplative Milt Alcorn during a Planning and Zoning Commission meeting; map-tapping Don Dutton during a public hearing; reasoning Gary Mitchell at a village council meeting; questioning Faye Hogg during a rezone request hearing; and describing Ron Phillips during a sign ordinance request.

October building permits include 25 homes

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

The total valuation of building permits issued in October for the construction of new homes was up from the total in September, but slightly down from the totals in August and most of the summer months.

The Ruidoso building inspector's office in October issued 25 permits for the construction of single-family dwellings (SFDs), with a valuation of $2,016,881. In September, only 17 such permits were issued with a valuation of $1,132,066. So far this year, 246 SFD permits have been issued with a valuation of $20,245,839.

The total number and valuation of building permits issued in October was also up from September, with 59 permits issued in October—valuation $3,060,690—compared to 53 permits issued in September—valuation $2,478,221. A total of 518 building permits have been issued so far this year, with a valuation of $38,026,476.

Other categories included 21 permits issued for residential additions or alterations—valuation $271,911; two permits issued for the construction of commercial buildings—valuation $500,162; and 10 permits issued for the construction of commercial additions or alterations—valuation $198,782.
