Council still stymied on rezone

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Planning and zoning issues dominated the three-hour Tuesday meeting of the Ruidoso Village Council.

Councillors grappled with two unsuccessful motions in an attempt at a solution on an administrative review to rezone a tract of land in Palmer Gateway subdivision, then finally tabled the matter.

Also Tuesday, the council heard a report from Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) chairman Greg Masters on planning and zoning matters.

Since councillors Ray Dean Carpenter and John Underwood and Mayor George White were absent, the rezone request needed a unanimous vote of the four councillors present.

It was noted that P&Z had recommended that the east end of block 15 be changed from a residential zoning (R-1) to a light commercial zoning (C-1). The west end of the lot was recommended to remain R-1.

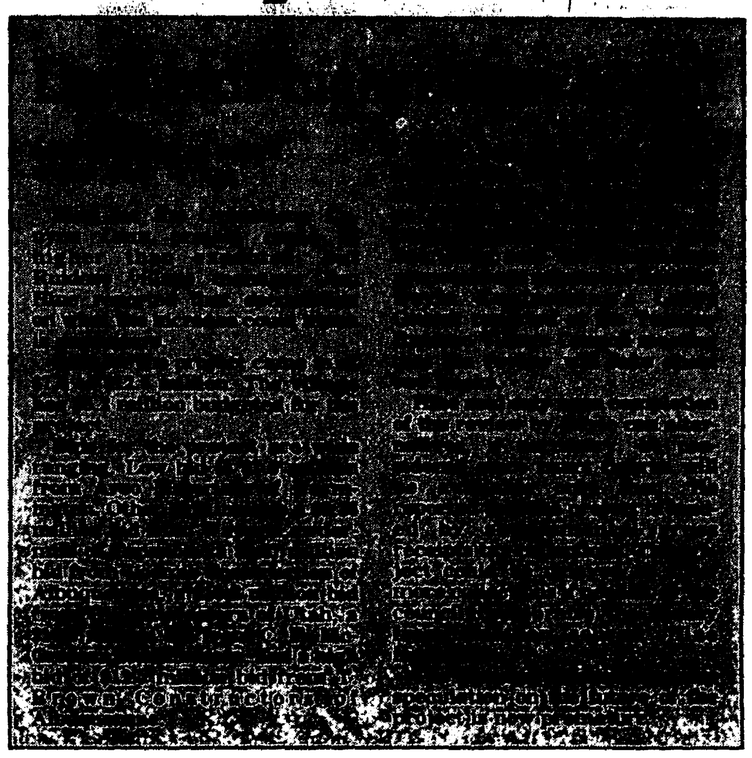
P&Z vice chairman H. Ray Bishop explained that topographical and land use considerations led the commission to split the zoning of the block. Councillor Victor Alonso expressed his belief that, ideally, the land should be zoned all one way.

Planning and Zoning enforcement officer Paul Davis informed the group that the land had been up for a rezone in 1978. He said approval for a change from R-1 to C-1 was given by P&Z but denied by the village council. He said a mistake was made, however, and that it had been believed for many years that the land became commercial in 1978.

On the possibility of lawsuits against the village, village attorney Lee Huckstep said that since many owners bought land in the area believing the property to be commercial, those purchasers had "grounds to be upset."

Audience member Barbara DiPaolo said she would be comfortable with the rezone only if lot 8B were added to the proposed commercial area.

In supporting the rezone of the entire area to C-1, Councillor Rick Evans noted the fact that so many people had believed the land to be commercial, and that few protests were received on an all C-1 zoning.



Alonso made a motion to rezone the property as recommended by P&Z with the addition of lot 8B. He stated his belief that the whole area eventually will become C-1.

The motion was supported only by councillors Alonso, Jerry Shaw and Bill Karn. Evans' negative vote was enough to kill the motion.

Evans moved to rezone the property all C-1, but a negative vote by Karn killed the motion. Evans then moved to table the matter until more councillors were present. That motion passed.

The council agreed with Masters' request to seek input from BRW, the firm doing the village comprehensive plan, on zoning of the area.

Masters then answered councillors' questions about the workings of P&Z, especially concerning administrative review zoning requests.

He explained that when the 1976 master plan was adopted, it provided for a C (all commercial) classification. It was not until 1981 that the village approved the use of both C-1 and C-2 (general commercial) classifications.

At that time, an update of zoning in the village became necessary to bring all commercial areas into either a C-1 or C-2 zoning.

Masters recounted that the administrative review process began north, covered some of the Upper Canyon, then was directed to the east end of Sudderth Drive to deal with recent development there. He noted that the process must proceed "block by block," and legally cannot proceed in larger sections.

Evans stated his opinion that the process is a waste of time since the comprehensive plan process may include a rezoning of the same areas of land. Masters disagreed, saying P&Z works closely with and consults BRW when conducting all administrative reviews.

The councillor said the review process had not provided for enough C-2 land in some areas. He expressed concern that too few C-2 areas could restrict necessary services allowed on such land.

Masters disagreed again.

"We're not blind to the fact that C-2 zoning is necessary to this community," he remarked.

Most councillors indicated their support of continuation of the process, and Masters accepted the direction to continue the reviews.

In response to a question by Alonso, Masters reported that a "tree ordinance" protecting large trees probably will be in the comprehensive plan. Councillors expressed concern that recent development in the Palmer Gateway area, which resulted in the felling of large trees, be addressed in the plan.

Evans assured the Planning and Zoning Commission members present that council disagreements with P&Z decisions are not personal, and that the council respects the efforts of the commission. Masters then proposed that a council member be present at all P&Z meetings and that a commission member be at all council meetings to improve communications.

Masters also reported that he will correspond with Huckstep on several legal questions the commission has.

In other business, the council:

—Tabled awarding of bids for the Grindstone Canyon Dam project to allow Boyle Engineering to review the six 131-bid-item proposals and explore cost reductions. Boyle's Leroy Givens reported that bids of $7.8 to $12.5 million were received. Estimated cost of the project was set at $6.2 million.

—Heard State Representative Ben Hall present Shirley Atwood with a State of New Mexico House of Representatives Memorial commemorating Sherman Atwood's service to Ruidoso.

—Voted to approve the request for vacation of one foot of right of way adjacent to a Skyland Addition lot for Ed Hyman at the rate of $4 a square foot.

LTC plans cautious budget for new fiscal year

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Lodgers' Tax Committee (LTC) finalized its budget for the new fiscal year at a regular meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The committee based its budget on a projected total collection of $110,000 in lodgers' tax. Members said they were being cautious to avoid a shortfall such as they experienced this year.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce was the only entity to appear before LTC requesting funds. Chamber executive director John Jeffers represented the chamber.

LTC will recommend the following budget to the Ruidoso Village Council on April 22: $8,500 for contractual services; $9,000 for trade shows; $1,500 for the Ruidoso Art Festival; $2,000 for Sun Country dues; $10,000 for printing; $6,000 for postage and copies; and $11,450 in the contingency fund.

The remaining $61,000 will be used for advertising.

LTC chairman Budgie Green told Jeffers to determine itemized expenses for the Aspen Festival. Money for those needs will come out of the contingency fund.

Jeffers said he would like to see the chamber sponsor some additional activities, such as a barbecue, during the Aspen Festival.

Green reported that LTC might have a little more money this fiscal year than previously anticipated. So far, $90,784 has been collected in lodgers' taxes.

A total of $23,000 is projected for the months of April, May and June combined, making the total projections between $113,000 and $114,000 for this year.

The additional money will be used for the cooperative advertising program with Ruidoso Downs Race Track. LTC originally had budgeted $25,000 to match with the racetrack, but unpaid bills reduced that figure to $20,000. The additional funds will go to make up the $25,000 originally budgeted.

Green said lodgers' tax collections are running approximately $400 ahead of last year.

Jeffers discussed the need to promote Ruidoso in major Texas cities such as Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Austin. Jeffers said many high-technology corporations and well-paid employees have moved into those areas.

"Those are legitimate markets. People (there) have the discretionary funds to take two vacations a year," said Jeffers.

Jeffers also suggested the possibility of conducting "ground blitzes" in major Texas cities. These advertising campaigns would include visiting ski shops and holding wine and cheese parties for ski clubs to introduce them to Ruidoso.

Jeffers also said he wanted to see the creation of a three-year advertising plan for Ruidoso and a brochure highlighting art in Ruidoso.

"We need to promote as many things we have in the community as possible," said Jeffers.

EMT shortage shuts down Alto area ambulance

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Staff Writer

The Alto ambulance service desperately needs emergency medical technicians (EMTs) to remain in operation.

Judy Tyson, a registered emergency room nurse at Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital and the head of the Alto ambulance service, said many of the service's key people had moved out of the area during the past six months. This has left the crew too small to operate properly.

"We're concerned because people don't realize that there's no local ambulance service in Alto," said Tyson.

The Alto ambulance has been inactive for the past month. Ruidoso Emergency Medical Services has taken the calls.

The volunteer group is calling for licensed EMTs and people interested in becoming EMTs in the Alto area. They invite everyone to join them at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 16, at the Sun Valley Station of the Bonito Fire Department.

Yvonne Lanelli said being an EMT was a way to help one's neighbors in a rewarding and tangible way. She feels her activity as an EMT was the single most rewarding thing she has ever done.

Lanelli recalled an incident when she and her crew responded to an accident call on Highway 37. They found a car wreck with one young man thrown from the vehicle and one stuck halfway. They stabilized both and transported them to the hospital.

One of the victims had cervical damage, the other had intestinal bleeding. The cervical patient had to be transferred to Roswell for neurological treatment.

He had a complete separation (fracture) in the sixth vertebra, but his spinal cord was not damaged, said Lanelli. The doctors told his parents that any mishandling in transport would have made him a quadraplegic.

Due to the proper treatment by the ambulance staff, said Lanelli, he was not paralyzed.

"It's stuff like that that makes it (being an EMT) worth it," said Lanelli.

"They do it (volunteer as an EMT) because they get hooked on it—one time like that does it," said Tyson.

To become an EMT, one must have a training course and certification. Refresher courses and continuing education are ongoing requirements.

Lincoln County has a paid-volunteer system. EMTs are paid $10 an hour when they are out on a run. They are not paid for being on call.

EMTs are equipped with pagers. When an emergency is called into the Sheriff's Office in Carrizozo, the EMTs on call are paged. When on call, they must be within 10 minutes of the ambulance station.

The Alto ambulance not only services Alto and the ski area, it serves as a backup service for Ruidoso. Alto recently acquired a four-wheel-drive ambulance to cover rugged terrain.

"To get rid of the ambulance, so close to Ruidoso, would be sad," said Tyson.

County manager Suzanne Cox expressed similar sentiments. "I hate to think about that ever happening," she said.

Cox said the county will keep trying to get EMTs in the area. They will hold a training course, if needed.

Right now, however, Alto needs trained EMTs. Tyson said average volunteers have regular 40-hour-a-week jobs. People are asked to be on call only when they say they are available.

"We're prepared to be really flexible in scheduling," said Tyson. "We're hoping for community turnout and support."

Council

—Heard a report from Parks and Recreation Commission chairperson Kathy Norlander regarding the progress of parks projects. Also, the council directed Huckstep to redraft the parks and recreation ordinance to include the director of the department as a member of the commission. Norlander also requested that a presently vacant position on the commission be filled.

Ruidoso Village Councillor Victor Alonso listens to discussion during the Tuesday meeting of the group.

—Heard assistant village manager Frank Potter report that the research on having a full-time engineer employed by the village is continuing.

—Approved up to $6,000 to Wright Engineering for extra engineering services to reset "monumentation" for the Ponderosa Heights sewer project. Engineer Givens reported that an unexpected delay in the project contributed to the loss of monumentation construction staking markers set a year ago.

—Heard Bill Karn protest a municipal provision that allows the village to charge individual property owners, without their consent, for maintenance of roads adjoining their property. Huckstep reported that the provision is included in state law, and thus cannot be withdrawn.

Karn, citing the need for more paving crews and machinery to accommodate residents wanting to form paving districts (in which property owners voluntarily request and agree to pay for paving or maintenance of roads), asked that the possibility of leasing a lay-down machine and operator be explored.

—Approved the bid of Layne Western of $57,966 for test pumping of the Eagle Creek/Sierra Blanca wells.

—Approved, with Alonso dissenting, the bid of Rust Tractor of $3,495 monthly for the rental of a motor grader for the Street Department. Department head Jack LaMay noted that a large volume of work ahead justified the need for the grader.

Alonso said increased use of the two graders the village currently operates could negate the need for the third grader. The approval was for two months, with the provision that the council review whether to continue with the rental or purchase the grader in two months.

—Learned that no bids for legal representation of indigents were received, and directed the administration to solicit quotes for such representation.

—Heard Architectural Plans Review Committee chairman Milt Alcorn report that the committee's functions have been largely assumed by other groups. He stated that the committee serves little use now, and asked the council to consider disbanding it.

—Heard Shaw report that the schedule of 1985-1986 budget hearings has been released. She noted that the April 19 library hearing had been switched with the April 22 cemetery hearing.

—Heard Evans request that the administration prepare a report for the council detailing the employee classification and merit pay systems.

—Voted that department heads explore all alternatives before considering expense for capital outlay.

—Heard Hine report that all department heads will present their budgets to him prior to appearing before the council.

—Heard Davis report that BRW will have a public hearing at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 17, to discuss the progress of the comprehensive plan.

—Heard Shaw read a letter protesting the installation of a car lot on Sudderth Drive. The councillors agreed that the situation was regretable.

They pointed out, however, that the fault was not theirs or P&Z's. They laid the blame with area property owners, saying the owners broke their own restrictive covenants in allowing commercial development.

—Conducted an executive session to discuss personnel matters.

Committee hears of senior centers

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Success of senior citizen centers in areas surrounding Ruidoso was the major topic of discussion during the Monday meeting of the Senior Citizens Study/Advisory Committee.

The committee was set up by the Ruidoso Village Council to study the issue of senior citizens' needs in the village. Monday's meeting was the second on the committee's six-week meeting schedule.

Members heard reports from Lincoln County Zia Senior Citizens Center program director Barbara Ward and Betty Cuddy, who visited the Tularosa and Alamogordo Older Americans Centers.

Cuddy reported that the Tularosa and Alamogordo centers' programs are very successful. Particularly impressive are the centers' meals and transportation programs.

Tularosa's center operates on a $53,000 budget of local, state and federal funds. It employs seven full-time and four part-time people, and has 22 active volunteers.

The two center vans serve about 80 people a week, transporting center members to doctor visits, shopping visits, church affairs and area trips.

Other programs include phone reassurance, information and referrals, in-home visits, chore maintenance, community legal services, a nutrition plan, crafts, sports and recreation, according to Cuddy. The meals program at the Tularosa center serves about 76 people daily.

Cuddy noted that the Alamogordo center has a budget of over $100,000 of local, state and federal funds, employs about 22 people, and is the site of a high level of activity.

Zia Senior Citizens Center director Barbara Ward speaks to the Seniors group Monday.

The meals program at the center feeds about 325 people daily, Cuddy said. Vans at the center are in constant operation, shuttling senior citizens back and forth from appointments and errands.

Audrey Stevens, who accompanied Cuddy on her fact-finding trip, echoed the sentiments of her co-researcher after the meeting.

"I thought they were terrific and they were offering excellent services," Stevens said of the centers. She also pointed to the success of the centers' transportation and meals programs.

Since many senior citizens are unable to provide their own transportation, and since many might not have at least one hot meal a day without the center, Stevens said the programs are meeting great needs.

"I was very impressed," she said.

Also during the meeting, Ward reported on the success of the Zia Senior Citizens Center. The center, with branches in Carrizozo, Capitan and Corona, is sponsored by the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners and receives over $100,000 in local, state and federal funding, Ward reported.

The center at Carrizozo serves lunch to about 50 people a day—35 at the center and 15 at their homes, Ward said. The 10 employees help conduct the wide range of activities available at the center.

Ward noted that volunteer help is utilized also. The center uses five vans to transport senior citizens to and from various places they need to go.

A major area of concern to the committee was additional funding avenues for Ruidoso senior citizens programs. Ward informed the members that a complete needs assessment probably will be necessary for success at applying for public and private funding sources.

Committee chairman Ross Richardson appointed members Verna Adams and Bette Romans to research the steps necessary for formulation of a needs assessment and report back at the next meeting.

Also stressed was the need for better communication with senior citizens in Ruidoso. Members Jerry Shaw and Burdette Stampley were asked to study communications sources that could be utilized in Ruidoso.

Adams reported to the group on a survey of senior citizens that she recently completed. The survey results showed that greatest interest lies in the needs of transportation, meals, chores and maintenance, and phone reassurance.

Richardson identified transportation and meals, and the securing of funding and grants, as future topics of discussion.

The group will meet again at 2 p.m. Monday, April 15.

Downs employees to get raise

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees Monday approved a preliminary seven percent cost-of-living raise for village employees this year.

According to village clerk Wilma Webb, the employees requested a 10 percent raise. Since the inflation rate is four percent, the board decided to split the difference, thus arriving at the seven percent figure.

The board gave Webb approval to work up a budget proposal based on the seven percent rate. Trustees expressed interest in keeping the pay scale comparable to other municipalities in order to retain good employees.

Last year, Ruidoso Downs village employees received a 10 percent raise. Mayor J. C. Day said he would like to continue that tradition, but that it was not feasible.

Also Monday, the board accepted a bid by Dennis M. Tracy for site preparation for the new water storage tank. Village attorney Don Dutton reported there had been a snag—Tracy was unable to secure a bond because he had formed a new corporation.

Dutton said Lieutenant Governor Mike Runnels helped the village through the bureaucratic red tape necessary in the administration of a state grant. The state Department of Finance and Administration will accept a letter of credit from Tracy's bank.

Dutton will take the letter to Santa Fe this week. The second phase of the project will be done by a Texas corporation.

Representatives from the men's and women's slow-pitch softball leagues returned to the board, after Day told them at the last meeting to meet among themselves. The slow-pitch leagues requested the use of the field on Monday through Friday nights.

Day and the trustees had been hesitant to grant the request because of a $500 outstanding electric bill from last year and because the field often was left dirty. Doug Burgess of the men's slow-pitch league said the problems came from the fast-pitch league.

"Both slow-pitch leagues kept their part (of the cleanup and electric bill)," said Burgess.

The trustees agreed to let the slow-pitch leagues have their nights, provided they present a schedule and cleanup plan at the next meeting. The fast-pitch league will be required to pay the bill if its teams want consideration to use the field this summer.

Opal Armstrong reported that the Ruidoso Downs Ladies Auxiliary had scheduled April 10 as park cleanup day. The last week of April will be cleanup week in the Downs.

Armstrong requested permission to hold a "swap and shop" on the property behind her store. She said the event would operate like the flea market on the fairgrounds in Albuquerque. After each swap, the lot would be cleared of everything but the trash cans.

"We want people to mingle and circulate in Ruidoso Downs," said Armstrong.

The board approved her request, granting a one-year permit for her project. The Planning and Zoning Commission already had approved the request.

Rex Vaughn approached the board with a problem with a sewer line running across and damaging his land. Dutton told him it was not the village's responsibility.

"You didn't cause the unnatural runoff, you're not liable," Dutton told the board.

Vaughn also expressed dismay that the Ruidoso Downs Gardens area is known as "Spaghetti Flats." He offered to pay for a sign to say "Ruidoso Gardens" on it.

"I live there and I'm proud of it," said Vaughn. The board approved his request.

In other business, the village trustees:

—Appointed George Smith to the Planning and Zoning Commission.

—Tabled a proposal to have legal descriptions done on the streets needing pavement, pending a special legislative session. Presently, it was noted, there is a question on the fate of Highway Department funds.

—Approved a request by George Smith to move a trailer and add on to an existing structure.

—Approved the plans for Jake Harris' mobile home park.

—Approved an easement and vacation of easement at the racetrack.

—Approved the yearly resolution regarding open meetings.

—Accepted policeman Roger Riley's resignation.

—Heard Dutton report that he had ordered title reports and property descriptions on the Smith and Beyers properties.

Rotary enchiladas remain a local tradition

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Brian Cupp apparently holds the title for eating the most enchiladas at the Ruidoso Rotary Club's semi-annual dinner. Nobody is sure in which year Cupp ate 21 or 22 enchiladas to become the record holder, but Cupp's mother confirmed that he ate a lot.

Alan Hazel and Gary Scott both have challenged Cupp's record, but neither succeeded. Scott probably will try again when the dinner gets under way from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 16, at the Elks Lodge.

The Rotary Enchilada Dinner has become a village tradition, and Rotarians have some funny memories about the past eight years' events.

"We were broke and looking for ways to make money," Pinky Jones recalls. "Well, I opened my mouth at a board meeting years ago and we've been doing it ever since."

Alden Deyo said the attendance at the first enchilada dinner was a shock to the Rotarians. That year the club was small, with only about 20 members, and they planned the dinner in the Cree Meadows dining room.

"We didn't have any idea what we were doing," Jones said. "It was a financial success but it sure was hectic."

Both Jones and Deyo remembered running out of food several times and having to go out for more groceries. They found out they needed a much larger dining room.

"We even had table service that first time," Jones said with a chuckle.

"We've learned over the years that people don't mind waiting in line as long as the line keeps moving," Jones added.

Deyo explained that Rotary has an extremely high percentage of club members who help. One reason is that members are called upon to work very hard all day twice a year, but the funds raised support club projects all year.

"It keeps us in good financial shape," Jones noted. The fund-raiser brings in about $7,000 a year.

Even though most dinner-goers don't consume 20 or more enchiladas, buying groceries for the huge dinner requires an enormous shopping list. Charlie Spooner has this chore down to a science.

Spooner is doing the ordering for the fourth time. His list includes 280 pounds of hamburger meat, 30 pounds of pork, 75 pounds of onions, three cases of lettuce, five jugs of tomatoes, 75 pounds of grated cheese, eight gallons of oil, 100 pounds of tortilla chips and 1,872 corn tortillas.

He also will have on hand 1,500 paper plates, 75 aprons and many, many dish towels.

"I have to make sure everybody gets what they need," Spooner said. The day of the dinner, he'll be around as trouble-shooter to pick up last-minute groceries or supplies.

Jones said the men will begin cooking at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday. The meat has to be ready for the "tortilla rollers" to wrap it in the warm corn tortillas beginning at 11 a.m.

Sauce and beans are started early the morning of the dinner, too.

"Our wives bake pies and cakes," Jones said.

Evidently wives and other women aren't exactly welcome in the kitchen, though. When a female enters the kitchen during the enchilada dinner, a chant goes up, "Woman in the kitchen, woman in the kitchen!"

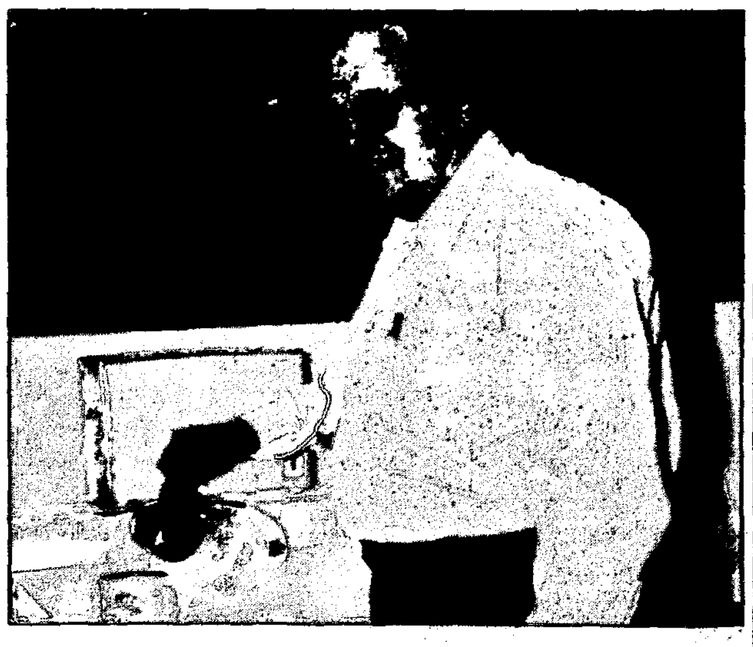
Current Rotarians don't know how that got started, but Deyo said they weren't really barring women from the kitchen. It's all in fun.

When enchilada eaters get together Tuesday for Rotary's big event, they become part of a growing tradition for fun, food and good fellowship. Many people like to attend because "you see everyone you know there."

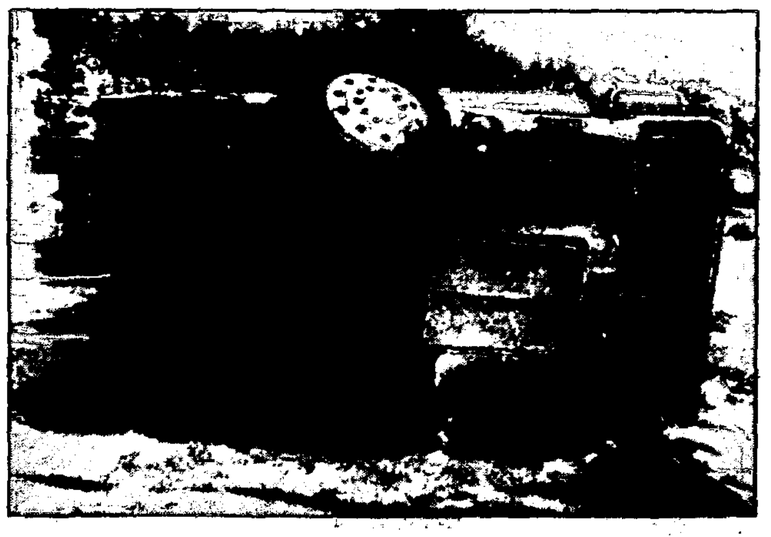
Cupp, who is in the service now, won't be here to protect his title, but Scott will be on hand to challenge.

Rotarians, who use funds raised for scholarships and other projects, are glad that most customers' appetites are not quite that hearty.

Tickets will be available at the dinner, or may be purchased from any Rotarian.



Alden Deyo is ready to serve coffee to dinner guests at the Rotary Enchilada Day. The dinner is scheduled from 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. and from 5 until 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 16, in the Elks Lodge on Highway 70.



Misteak

This beef-filled tractor-trailer overturned Wednesday about 3 a.m. on the Highway 70 detour near Mescalero. According to driver Raymond Mackey, of Wallington, Texas, the brakes of the vehicle became heated while negotiating the steep grade of the highway. When the brakes failed, Mackey was unable to negotiate a curve and the semi overturned.

Ruidoso P&Z meet Monday

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission will meet at 3 p.m. Monday, April 15, at village hall. Items on the agenda include:

—Review of the annexation petition for the Ruidoso Land Company at the N/2 NE/4, N/2 N/2 S/2 NE/4, N/2 S/2 N/2 S/2 NE/4 of Section 9, T11S, R13E, NMPM (Tanglewood subdivision).

Pets Are Wonderful Month proclaimed in Ruidoso

Ruidoso Mayor Pro Tem Jerry Shaw recently proclaimed April as Pets Are Wonderful Month, in cooperation with Lincoln County Humane Society and Ruidoso Animal Control.

"Dogs and cats have been special friends to humans for centuries and have offered us constant companionship, love and loyalty," Shaw said in the proclamation. "Pets provide many important benefits to their owners, including companionship, friendship, loyalty, love and affection."

The mayor pro tem noted the need for new homes and more humane treatment for animals. The Humane Society, Animal Control and Pets Are Wonderful Council will promote the numerous benefits of pet ownership and responsible pet care during the month.

Lucky, pet-of-the-month during April's Pets Are Wonderful (PAW) events, is happy to be with Cyndy Livingston, president of the Humane Society of Lincoln County. Lucky was found homeless by village animal control and is available for adoption. Call 257-9128 for more information or to adopt Lucky.

Bill Rawlins retains top lodgers' post

Bill Rawlins was re-elected president of the Ruidoso Lodgers Association at the group's meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The election was for the association's board of directors and officers. Vernon Petty was elected vice president; Anita Carpenter, secretary; and Dixie Brown, treasurer. Helen Carr, Clara Wenner and Frances Puckett were chosen as directors.

Only 11 of the more than 50 members were present to vote at the meeting. The new officers and directors will be installed at noon Tuesday, May 14, at Prime Time Restaurant. The association will have its June meeting at the Flying J Ranch.

Rawlins announced that the board of directors voted to give a $200 scholarship to a graduating high school senior. The association approved the board's decision.

John Jeffers, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the lodgers about the purpose of the chamber. Jeffers said the chamber's major responsibility was to the community's economic well-being.

Jeffers stressed the need to bring new markets to Ruidoso. He said a travel agent from Mexico City recently brought more than 375 Mexican visitors to Ruidoso.

Lodger Mac McDougal expressed three concerns to Jeffers. McDougal said he was concerned with the ski resort's name change from Sierra Blanca to Ski Apache because of the expense it would cause local businesses in changing signs, logos and T-shirts.

McDougal also said he felt September activities should be moved to October to decrease the amount of time in the "slow season." He also suggested that a market survey be done.

Jeffers said he appreciated McDougal's concerns.

"We're here to help, but we need your help," said Jeffers.

Warrior thinclads may have changes for relays Saturday

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

There may be some changes when the Ruidoso High School boys track team competes in the Dona Ana Relays at Las Cruces' Mayfield High School Saturday.

The meet will be a morning-afternoon affair. The first events will start at 9 a.m.

Ruidoso tied for fourth in the Portales Invitational last Friday, and head coach Ronny Maskew was not happy with the results.

"We hope to improve on our last two poor showings," he said. "We may have some changes in the 400-meter and 800-meter relays.

"Our kids were kind of tired. I think they needed a break and I think we'll do better this week."

Curt McClellan, Michael Williamson, Tracy Gann and Brian Davis have run the two relays this season.

The quartet won the 800-meter relay at Carlsbad with a 1:33.50 time, helping Ruidoso finish second in the team standings. They have a best of 45.20 in the 400-meter relay. The 1,600-meter relay team has run a 3:37.60.

Davis did well in the 100 meters last week, taking fifth in the finals.

Defending state AAA-division 3,000-meter and 1,500-meter champion Cisco Bob should win his races again.

Bob has won all his 1,500 meters races and lost one 3,000-meter race this season. He ran an 8:43.90 in the 3,000 meters at the White Sands Relays two weeks ago, but lost to Alamogordo's Paul Morgan.

The Warrior senior came back in the same meet to win the 1,500 meters in a school-record 4:03.92.

Bob won both races easily at Portales. Maskew thinks he will have more competition in the Las Cruces meet.

"We're hoping he might go under four minutes flat," Maskew commented. "There might be an El Paso (Texas) runner who could pressure him."

Francisco Olvera and Gabe Tam will join Bob in the two races. Olvera was second in the 3,000 meters and third in the 1,500 meters at Portales. Tam took third in the 3,000 meters.

McClellan missed the 800 meters at Portales because of a slight muscle pull. However, he should be able to run that race at Las Cruces.

The state 800-meter runner-up has a seasonal best of 2:02.77. He ran a 1:59.95 in last year's state meet.

Mitch Mullican, Justin Smith and Manuel Montano will compete in the 110-meter high hurdles. Smith, Mullican and Russell Easter will run the 300-meter intermediate hurdles.

Gann, Easter and Smith will compete in the long jump. Gann and Justin Shaw will participate in the high jump..

Billy Harrison, Jeff Maxwell and Montano will compete in the shot put. Jason Hill and Matt Evans will join Maxwell in the discus.

Jeff Willingham will compete in the javelin and Verlan Edwards probably will compete in the pole vault.

Willingham finished sixth at Alamogordo with a 145-8 effort. He is a sophomore and should improve as the season progresses.

Host Mayfield could be the favorite for the boys team championship. Mayfield is strong in the sprints and relays. Some Albuquerque and El Paso schools also have tough teams.

"I'm hoping we can finish fifth or sixth," Maskew said. "The competition there won't be as tough as it was at Alamogordo (White Sands Relays), but it should be tougher than last week.

"The key to where we finish probably will be how we do in the field events and relays."

The Warrior girls are off until Friday, April 19, when they compete in the Roswell Invitational. Ruidoso's boys also will compete.

Justin Smith (right) of the Ruidoso High School boys track team heads down the backstretch of the 300-meter intermediate hurdles at the White Sands Relays two weeks ago. The Warrior senior qualified for the state meet in the intermediate hurdles last spring. Smith and his teammates will compete in the Dona Ana Relays Saturday in Las Cruces.

The local softball season will begin soon, and 1985 could be a very interesting year.

The Ruidoso Men's Slow-Pitch Softball League, Lincoln County Women's Slow-Pitch Softball Association and Fort Stanton Men's Slow-Pitch Softball League all should have a full slate of teams and schedules.

Competition probably will begin in each league late this month or early next month.

The Ruidoso Men's Fast-Pitch Softball League most likely will have a season this year, although nothing is definite at this point.

The fast-pitch season probably will begin in June to avoid some of the bad early spring weather.

But there should be plenty of action at All-American Park Field in Ruidoso Downs and Fort Stanton earlier than that.

The Ruidoso men's slow-pitch league will play all its games at All-American Park Field.

Games in the women's league will be played at All-American Park Field and at Fort Stanton.

The Fort Stanton league will play games at Fort Stanton and Carrizozo.

Last season Perteet Parks won the Ruidoso Men's Slow-Pitch Softball League tournament title. Gateway Assembly of God Church captured the regular-season championship.

Daily Plant-It-Attic won both the regular season title and the tournament title of the women's league. Daily Plant-It-Attic has a perfect 60-0 record over the last three regular seasons—probably the most impressive mark of any local sports team.

The Bombers captured the Fort Stanton league title in both regular-season and tournament play.

Softball is probably the most popular team sport among Lincoln County adults. And sport fans probably will be able to see softball action almost every night of the week this spring and summer.

Play ball!

Mikki Roller (left) and Marnie Warlick are two of the talented eighth graders on the Ruidoso High School tennis team. There are seven eighth-graders on the Warrior boys and girls teams this season. Ruidoso is off this week, but will resume action Tuesday, April 16, against the visiting Artesia Bulldogs.

Jones wins Carlsbad race

Don Jones just keeps on winning.

The Ruidoso driver won the pro division at Carlsbad Sunday, and set a record in the process.

Jones covered an eighth of a mile in 5.35 seconds. He won $350 and a trophy for his efforts.

Roy Seay and Tony Swafford of Ruidoso also competed Sunday, but both lost in the first round.

Seay competed in the pro-dragster division and Swafford was in the modified division.

Local drivers will compete at Carlsbad the first Sunday of every month. The meets will be changed to the first Saturday of each month later on. Drivers will participate in Roswell drag racing the second Sunday of each month.

League sets meeting

The Fort Stanton Men's Slow-Pitch Softball League will have an organizational meeting at 7 Wednesday, April 17, at the Fort Stanton firehouse.

Representatives from each team should attend the meeting. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss scheduling and regulations.

Tournament set

Carlsbad will host a Class D softball tournament Friday through Sunday, April 19, 20 and 21.

There is a $115 entry fee per team. The entry deadline is Saturday, April 13.

Any team wanting to compete can call Jim Munoz at 885-3751 or Mort Martinez at 887-9128.

Young tennis players give Warriors bright future

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

There's a youth movement on the Ruidoso High School tennis team, and it spells good news for the future.

Seven eighth-graders are on the boys and girls teams, the most coach Mike Crocker has had in his three years as coach.

"They're all neat kids," Crocker said. "I'm really looking forward to the next four years."

Eric Collins, Clay Grimes and Dusty Skellett are the eighth grade boys. Amy Thornton, Marnie Warlick, Cassie McIntosh and Mikki Roller are the eighth grade girls.

The whole squad is young. There are only five seniors on the team: Jim Smith, Mike Smith and Mitch Rhodes on the boys squad, and Donna Mobley and Michele Morrow on the girls team. Jim Smith is the top boys singles player and Mobley is the top girls singles player.

So that makes the Warriors' 2-2 boys record and 3-1 girls record in district action all the more impressive.

All of the eighth-graders have seen competitive action this season.

Collins, Grimes, Warlick and Roller have been regular starters in the singles lineup. The other kids have seen action at either the singles or doubles level at one time or another.

"I think the main reason the young kids have been beaten by older kids this season is because the older kids are bigger, not better than them," Crocker remarked. "The older kids are stronger and more mature."

But that should not be so for long. The Warrior eighth-graders have improved greatly in the past few weeks.

"It's really hard to say who has the most potential," Crocker said. "One day one kid beats another. The next day, another kid wins. It changes all the time."

Why does Crocker have so many eighth-graders on the team this season?

"The kids have all played together and know each other," Crocker answered. "They're good friends. It's kind of like a social thing."

Crocker is a little concerned about next season, but he is highly optimistic about the following year.

"The boys team might be a little weaker next season, but start to go up after that," he said. "The girls team should be about the same, and then improve."

So the youth movement should make Ruidoso a big factor in prep tennis for the next few years.

Water bond issue sparks heated trustee meeting

by DORIS CHERRY
News Capitan Bureau

Capitan residents packed the village hall Monday night as the board of trustees once again reviewed priorites for the proposed bond election.

Ted Asbury, village engineer from the Albuquerque firm of Andrews, Asbury, and Roberts, Incorporated, suggested several priorities. He told the group the filtration plant was not at question.

The village now has $593,000 from two different grants to replace the existing plant. The money cannot be spent for any other purpose because the grants were made on the basis of the unhealthy quality of the water, Asbury said.

Asbury said the filtration and treatment plant is the first priority on the list of water system improvements. The village of Capitan must, by law, make the system safe, Asbury stressed. The money to replace the filter will put no cost burden upon the taxpayers, he added.

The actual cost of the plant will not be known until the design is bid on. A basic filtration plant, the cost of which will not exceed the grant money, is being designed, Asbury said. The plant will not begin operating until 1986 at the earliest.

Improvement of the water pressure and water storage were listed as goals by Asbury. He said water system improvement is a slow, expensive process.

In a discussion of the distribution system, Asbury said the costs of pipe repair and distribution should come out of the village's general maintenance fund. The village recently increased water rates to help cover the costs of maintenance.

He stressed the bond issue would be used for capital improvement projects, in addition to the filter plant.

The trustees discussed the problem of water sources. Presently, the village purchases water from the Eagle Creek Water Association. Water from Eagle Creek, predominantly formed by snow melted from Sierra Blanca, is shared with Ruidoso.

Trustee Benny Coker said he felt the creek was not a reliable source of water.

Residents' fears included the possible loss of water if Ruidoso were to begin pumping underground water in the Eagle Creek area. Arguments from residents centered around obtaining additional water sources and water rights.

Presently, the village is having a well drilled. The residents at the meeting expressed their desire to see the results of the drilling before any priorities are set on the bond resolution.

The controversy over the bond priorities arose after the trustees voted 3-1 to approve the bond resolution. The resolution stated a bond of $600,000 should go for water storage in the form of a 500,000 gallon storage tank. It will also go towards additional water sources, transmission lines and reconstruction of present lines.

Trustees Bill Allred, Coker (acting as Mayor pro-tem) and Norm Renfro voted for the resolution. Trustee Kelly Beavers voted against it because he felt the drilling should be completed and tested to determine if money will be needed to provide water from the site.

The trustees told the residents that the resolution did not mean they called for the bond. The residents insisted the bond would not pass if the trustees did not give the exploratory well time to be tested.

At the residents' insistence, the trustess withdrew the resolution. The resolution for the bond will be discussed at a later date.

Ben and Tom Hall requested village sewer hook-ups to the 43 lots to be developed in their subdivision west of Capitan.

The Halls proposed to pay all installation expenses up to the main sewer connection. Hook-up fees and monthly sewer fees will be paid to the village after hook-up.

Beavers told the Halls that the village faced the problem of a 250 percent overload on the present sewer system. He suggested the Halls investigate the estimated amount of sewage which would be produced by their lots.

Beavers said the Halls should consider building a lagoon to handle their sewage. They agreed to investigate the possiblity.

The first rough draft of the 1986 budget was presented by village clerk Gini Spall. The proposed budget for the general fund was $178,562.

Water fund revenues were listed as $239,600 and expenditures were $200,838. $10,000 of the water budget is attributed to the increase in water fees.

The trustees gave the road department an additional $5,000 from revenue sharing funds, half of which is to be used for culverts.

In revenue sharing, Spall budgeted the two remaining Entitlement 16 payments which totalled $5,774. Funds are requested by the federal government to be spent for capital outlay projects. Revenue sharing is expected to be cut by the Reagan administration, Spall said.

$300 was budgeted into the juvenile recreation fund for the Boy Scouts. The village also budgeted $300 to the junior riding club and $300 to the little league. The Lincoln County Fair Board requested $1,300 for operating costs.

The next draft of the budget will be reviewed at next month's regular meeting.

Other village business included:

—Approval of a rental agreement with Dave Merrill for the Co-op building. Merrill will pay $100 a month, four times annually, subject to a 30-day notice. Merrill agreed to repair and maintain the building.

—Estimates to repair the rain-damaged fire house roof were turned over to Jimmie Wright, fire chief, for review.

—Sharon Horton requested a letter from the village attorney John Underwood concerning a "grandfather" variance on water lines to her rental property.

—Bids on a backhoe tractor were tabled so Underwood could investigate the specifications. The low bids supplied by two companies were for tractors that did not comply to the bid specifications. Tractor company representatives confirmed that the prices bid would still hold at a later date.

—Trustee Allred will attend the District Municpal Meeting to be held in Tularosa on April 17.

—A letter from Tillman Bannister, former owner of a weekend home, requested he not be charged for water that came from broken lines within his home. The trustees voted to charge Bannister the fee because the broken lines were not the fault of the village.

The trustees said they did not want to set a precedent of not making users pay for water when the pipes were broken on the user's side.

The free workshop will be conducted by Charolette Hill, Lincoln County Extension Home Economist. The workshop is open to anyone interested, as well as Extension Club members.

Several microwave ovens will be available, courtesy of Village TV and Appliance.

Hill plans for everyone to get "hands-on" experience and a chance to taste-test several recipes.

Hill will explain how a microwave oven works and the basic ways to use one.

All those who are interested should pre-register by calling Rachel at the County Extension office in Carrizozo at 648-2311.

Whether you have a microwave or are planning to purchase one, this program is designed for you.

For information on other programs offered by the Capitan Extension Club, call Jan LaRue at 354-2668.

The TRINITY SOUTHERN BAPTIST CHURCH recently dedicated their building, site off Highway 47. They also celebrated their first anniversary as a church in Capitan.

The church now has 87 members and plans to begin construction of a building soon. Currently, they meet at the fair building.

The Silver Lining

Estolano Sanchez

Services were held Monday, April eight at Saint Jude Catholic Church in San Patricio and at the Hondo Cemetery for Estolano Sanchez, who was called home by Our Lord on April five.

Estolano and his wife, Tillie, have been well-liked, long-time residents of Hondo. At one time Estolano had a filling station at Hondo Junction, and made many friends from coast to coast.

Estolano was a disabled veteran of World War II, having served over three years in the Coast Guard in the Pacific theater. Father David Berg was in charge of services.

Graveside, military honors with color guard and rifle squad were performed by members of American Legion posts 57 of Capitan and 79 of Ruidoso. Members from Capitan were: Tranquilijo Silva, Margarito Trujillo and Commander Roger Garner.. Representing Ruidoso were: Romeo Klein, Merrill Peet and Daniel Storm.

The American flag which draped the casket was presented to Estolano's wife Tillie by Romeo Klein.

The services were well attended by many friends and loved ones. Estolano will hold a fond spot in our memory always. After a Christian life here among us, Estolano is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

Happy Anniversary to M.R. and Pat Delhotal

M.R. Delhotal, widely known as "Del", and his wife Patricia, known to us as "Pat", celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on April five.

M.R. and the former Patricia Faler were married April 5, 1960, in Alamogordo. They have lived here in Ruidoso most of the time since then.

They have raised four very excellent children of whom we are all proud: Lisa, Dennise and the twins, Marc and Jennifer.

M.R. and Pat are one of Ruidoso's very favorite couples. M.R. is owner-operator of Aspen Pharmacy, just up from the hospital on the left. Pat is a lay reader in the Episcopal Church of Lincoln County, and also adds her golden voice to the rest of the angel voices in the choir. She also does valuable work in the office of Juvenile Probation.

This Saturday, April 13, at 4:00 in the Church of the Holy Mount, Pat and M.R. will renew their wedding vows.

We wish this well-beloved couple many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Happy Birthday to "The Okie from Muskogee"

In the early afternoon of April 8, on a perfect spring day, I went by the Robert and Ernest McDaniel ranch between Glencoe and San Patricio. To make the day more perfect still, the large sweet cherry trees were in full bloom. All the fruit trees in bloom are welcome in the spring, but somehow the cherry trees have a special charm all their own. For one thing, the sweet cherry is the largest of the fruit trees when full grown. Suddenly to behold its giant form completely covered in a mass of close-blooming blossoms gives you a feeling of what Heaven must be like.

With the crystal white trees as a great blossom archway, you could see beyond the large irrigated pasture, level as a floor and shining in the emerald of new green. Red and white polled Hereford cows were here and there, their tiny replicas, the new calves, lay soaking up the sun. Suddenly they would jump up and begin running races, full of the pride of new life and the magic of the spring. Surely this was the next thing to calf heaven.

Unusual Birthday Greeting Card

Inside the house here was a strip of paper a foot and a half thick and about twenty feet long, extending all along the top of a sofa and beyond. In these dizzy-looking computer words it said, "Happy Birthday, Ernie."

It was a birthday card sent to Ernest by his good friend, Stanley Irvine, who is a big wheel in the computer world. Stanley was a member of the University of Texas swimming team back in the early thirties, along with Ernest.

I asked Ernest when his birthday was, and with something of a poker face he said, "April first." I know with good reason that in his seventy-three years, Ernest has heard many a joke about his birthday. To me, this is the "original April fool joke," because Ernest is one of the most brilliant and gifted men I have ever known.

He was born April 1, 1912, in Muskogee, Oklahoma to Ernest McDaniel and the former Liontine Whitehead. The McDaniel family moved to Austin, Texas about the time the Storm family moved there for the winter; we became close friends.

At the University of Texas, Ernest studied anthropology. From about 1933 to 1940, he worked for the University of Texas Archeological Museum. During this time he acquired countless priceless artifacts for the Museum while working in west, central, east and south Texas.

At the University of Texas, Ernest was a member of the University's first swimming team, starring in the 220 and 440-yard middle distance swims in 1931.

The family began coming to Ruidoso in 1930 when they acquired the first summer cabin on the upper Ruidoso, formerly owned by Judge Medder. They bought their present ranch in 1949. Besides his ranching, Ernest is active in the soil conservation service and many other organizations. He is an artist in woodcarving, the making of Indian arrowheads and a number of other fields.

We wish the boyhood pal of the Storm brothers, Ernest McDaniel (alias "The Okie from Muskogee"), many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

FACTS OF LAW

by SAM A. WESTERGREN, ATTY.

A lease which give a tenant a right to use a property for a specific time period remains binding on any purchaser of the property who buys during that time period.

"The life of the law has not been logic: it has been experience."
—Oliver Wendell Holmes Jr., United States Supreme Court Justice

In olden times, when a woman was married, she was "endowed at the church door." This meant that she received the rights to one third of her husband's land as long as she lived.

An EMBLEMENT is a crop, such as corn or wheat, which is produced by a person who is usually leasing land. The tenant has a right to keep the crop even if his tendency expires before time of harvest.

'Landlubbers' hit the open seas!

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

When you ask Jackie Branum's science students about their research trip through south Texas, stand back. They can't wait to talk about it.

The landlubbers turned sailors poured out superlatives like "wonderful," "outstanding" and "great" in describing their tour that included Corpus Christi, Port Aransas, Houston and Galveston.

"They got so much more out of it than I ever thought they would," Branum said. She and the students already are planning next year's trip.

Nobody could pick out just one thing as the high point of the trip. They all agreed that going out on the University of Texas research vessel, The Longhorn, was something they will never forget.

Students enjoyed laughing about some of the unexpected events—like taking the wrong boat to the whooping crane nesting ground.

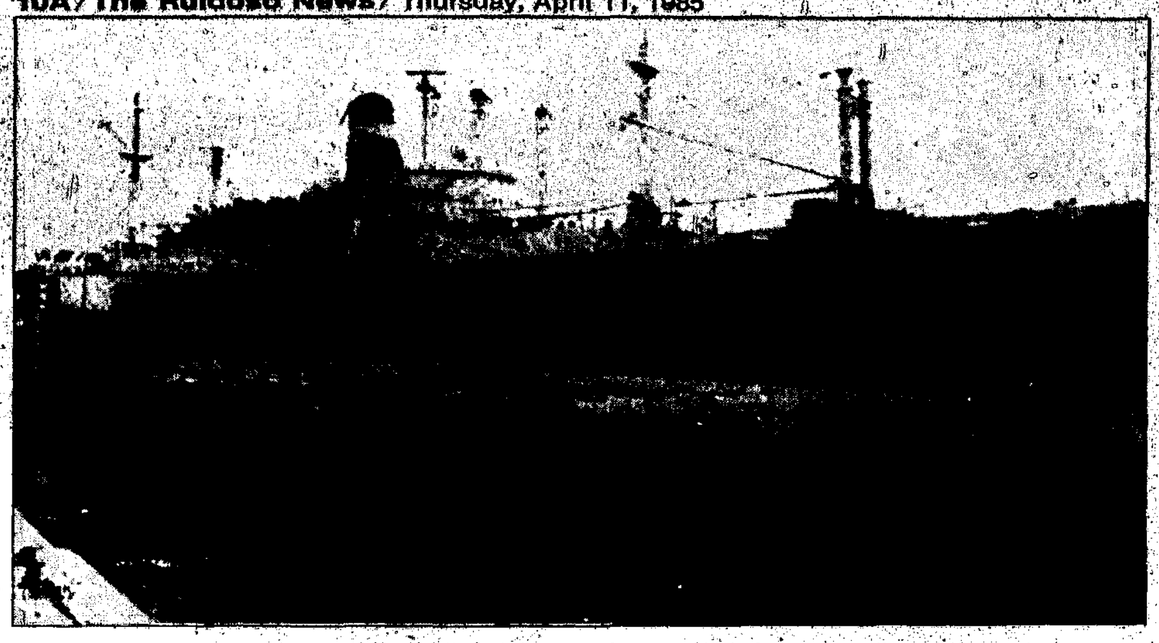
"Everything that happened like that happened for the best," Branum noted. For instance, the group was able to sail on The Longhorn because The Katy, a much smaller vessel, was broken down.

Travelers included Chris Bergeron, Sara Hamilton, Kerensa Blanchard, Brenna Jones, Tracey Garlisi, Amber Nunnally, Lesley Lopez and Cassie McIntosh.

Others on the trip were Margaret Cano, Billie Strohmeyer, Julie Dolgener, Toby O'Neil, Jackson McIntosh, Bobby Fowler, David Mitchell and Rod Pior.

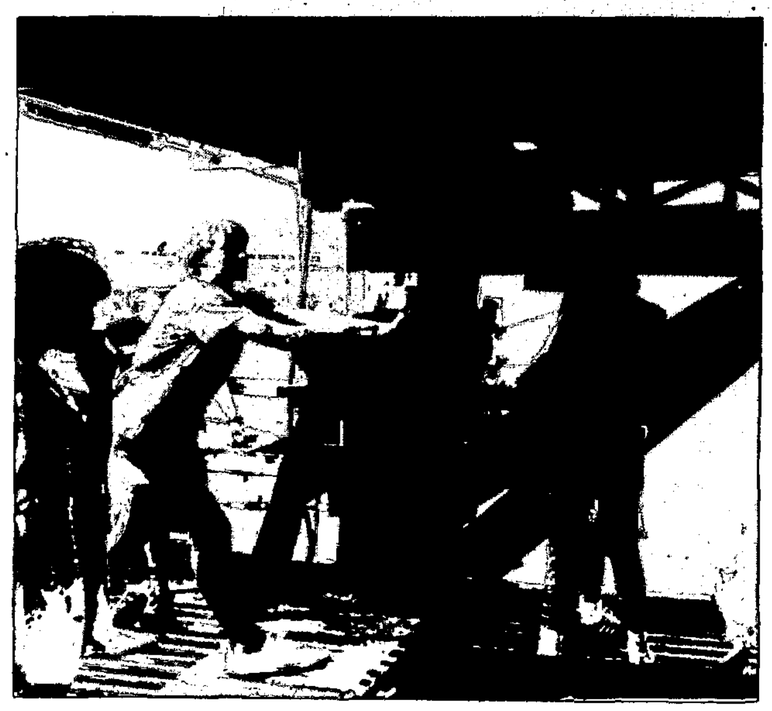
Also in the group were Leonard Bowden, Shay Sims, Brandon Wagnon, Matt Beatty, Matt Bailey, Tate Dougherty and Perk Heid.

Sponsors and guests were Mary Clutter, Terri Lynn, Larrianne Rose, Jackie Branum, Dennis Alward, Jim Hofstad, Gail McIntosh and Margie Mitchell.



Jackie Branum's marine biology students enjoy talking about their tour of The Texas Clipper. It is the ship Texas A&M marine biology graduates sail on for hands-on experience.

Texas or bust! The whole crew lines up for the big trip.



Matt Bailey (left) uses research instrumentation at the Port Aransas pier lab, as David Mitchell looks on. Students brought back marine samples from all their stops.

Matt Beatty drops the Van Dorne bottle from aboard a University of Texas research vessel, The Longhorn. The bottle is used to collect samples for salinity and temperature tests.

Shawns Pawn surprises in West Texas Derby

The 14th running of the $81,000 West Texas Quarter Horse Derby at Sunland Park on Sunday produced an upset victory as Shawns Pawn left the gate at 13-1 to post a half-length win. The winning time for the 400 yards was :20.13.

Sure Casady, 15-1 in the wagering, took the early lead out of the gate with Shawns Pawn catching the colt about 100 yards from the wire and pulling away for a grand prize of $40,551. Jockey Tomey Swan held on for runnerup money of $13,787, finishing a neck ahead of Sissy Salls, who collected $8,110 for her third-place finish.

The winner returned across-the-board payoffs of $28.20, $13.80 and $5.80. Sure Casady's second was worth $4.80 and $3.20. Sissy Salls paid $3.80 for the show.

Miss Mitedo, the overwhelming favorite of 3,487 fans on hand for the Easter Day program, broke sluggishly and was never in contention for the Grade II stake crossing the wire fifth in the seven-horse field.

The fourth-through seventh-place finishers with purse money earned were: 4th - Josies Cash, $5,677; 5th - Miss Mitedo, $4,055; 6th - Impressa, $3,244; and 7th - Scoop N Easy, $2,433.

Callaway's Knowles Road saved ground to take advantage of a swift early pace and post a three-quarter length win in Saturday's mile-long feature race at Sunland Park.

Racing as the second choice of 2,982 fans on hand for the 12-race card, Knowles Road led the second flight to the 3/16th pole with jockey F.O. Martinez aboard before taking control of the route and driving home for mutuel payoffs of $7.20, $4.40 and $3.60. The final time was 1:40.1.

Dancing Holiday, a 30-1 outsider ridden by Leroy Coombs, surprised many with a strong stretch kick after racing an even sixth throughout to finish second and return $20 and $7.20.

Olden Hills, another 30-1 dark horse, showed similar form to pay $13.60 for the show.

Jockey Tomey Swan turns Shawns Pawn toward the winner's circle following the filly's upset victory in Sunday's $81,000 West Texas Derby at Sunland Park. The winner's share was $40,551.

All of the early fractions in the mile chase were set by Trade Dancers who matched strides with Sherry's Ace three furlongs from the wire before the duo tired at the top of the lane and faded out of contention.

Favorite Trade Dancers finished last in the seven-horse field, with Sherry's Ace 19 lengths ahead in sixth place.

Sunland's Pic-Six carryover climbed to $26,311 on Saturday, when for the seventh consecutive day racing fans were unable to pick the winners of the fifth through tenth races. Sunday's Easter Day program, which features the $81,000 West Texas Quarter Horse Derby, will kick off with the hefty carryover pool.

Storming to his fourth win in his last five Sunland Park starts, Reverend Blu Jeans made easy work of a field of $10,000 claimers in taking Friday's main attraction over 6 furlongs.

Installed as an overwhelming 1-2 favorite, the six-year-old lived up to his backers' expectations as he posted a seven length victory, covering the distance in 1:11 1/5 with Mike Lidberg in the saddle.

The winner returned $3.00, $2.40 and $2.10. Senor Ralph was the best of the rest, paying place and show prices of $2.80 and $2.40. Double Hope finished third.

The co-featured 400 yard allowance race saw Gallant Red Wing, winner of his last two against stakes competitors, romp to a 1 1/2 length win over allowance company, stopping the timer in 19.59 seconds. In scoring his fifth in a row, the Salustio Burgos gelding returned his many backers a $2 win payoff of $2.80.

In Friday's Pic-Six, 20 handicappers selected five of the winners of the fifth through tenth races, but no six-winner tickets were purchased, which resulted in a six day carryover for Saturday's card totalling $19,942.37. The consolation ticket holders each earned $223.20.

Sunland Park Hoofbeats

KNOWLES ROAD stamped himself as one of the favorites for the April 21st Riley Allison Derby with an impressive score over allowance rivals April 6 at Sunland Park. Lightly raced as a two-year-old, Knowles Road was making only his seventh lifetime start, and his first trip around two turns. By Screen King and out of the Amberoid mare Wilson Highway, Knowles Road showed that he can handle the Riley Allison distance (also a flat mile), easily running down pace-setters Trade Dancers and Sherry's Ace, then holding off longshot Dancing Holiday.

Knowles Road is trained by Billy Hitt for owner Virgil Callaway of Hobbs. Jockey F.O. Martinez was up.

TWO HORSES KEPT long winning streaks intact over the weekend of April 5. Skipper Road, a ten-year-old thoroughbred gelding, won his seventh in a row for owner Phyllis McCarthy of Ruidoso and trainer Gerald Marr. Regular rider Leroy Coombs was in the irons as Skipper Road toyed with a field of $4,000 claimers over 5-1/2 furlongs. The Texas-bred has now captured 30 wins in his long career, and has been in the money for 61 of his 94 starts.

Meanwhile, quarter horse Gallant Red Wing, a five-year-old Oklahoma-bred, was winning for the fifth straight time when he downed a good allowance field April 5. Gallant Red Wing began his skein last December against allowance company, then defeated a band of $15,000 claimers before coming from well off the pace to win the Juarez Handicap at Sunland Park January 20. The Fred Danley trainee then went wire-to-wire in the 400-yard John Phillips Handicap, leading to his most recent success. Dr. Johnny French owns Gallant Red Wing in partnership with J. Gary Welch; both are from San Angelo, Texas. Salustio Burgos was up.

JOCKEY O.A. MARTINEZ rode six winners the weekend of April 5 and appears in good position to turn the tables on Casey Lambert, last season's leading rider. Martinez, runner-up in 1984, has visited the winners circle 67 times this meeting, and leads Lambert by 10 winners with 12 racing days remaining.

Trainers Bob Arnett and Fred Danley have each saddled 33 winners through April 6, and will likely go down to the last weekend of the season to decide the training title.

Simulcast enables betting on Kentucky Derby

With enabling legislation signed on Friday by New Mexico governor Toney Anaya, the management of Sunland Park Race Track has announced that the Southern New Mexico oval will offer on-track wagering for a simulcast of the historic Kentucky Derby on May 4.

Anaya penned his approval of Senate Bill 337 late Friday evening, which for the first time in the history nf New Mexico horse racing permits simulcasting and wagering within the state on nationally televised races.

The 111th running of the classic from Churchill Downs will be a part of a "Derby Day" program at Sunland Park, said General Manager Rick Henson. The card will feature win, place, show, and quiniela wagering on the first and most prestigious leg of the Triple Crown.

All of the wagers placed at Sunland will appear on the local tote board. The fans on hand will generate their own odds on payoffs for the Derby, which will be run as the sixth race on the May 4 program.

Post time for the Derby is scheduled for 3:37 p.m. MDT. Wagers on the Derby will be accepted at all terminals in the plant beginning at 12:45 p.m.

The Derby entries will appear in the Sunland Park official program in the same order they will appear in the Churchill Downs program, and past performances will be available in the Daily Racing Form.

Ample television monitors will be in place so all in attendance can view the live Derby telecast.

In keeping with Derby tradition, the day of the most coveted race in America will feature mint juleps in authentic 1985 Kentucky Derby glasses which patrons can take home as a souvenir of the most famous race in the world.

In addition to wagering on the Kentucky Derby, the first Saturday in May will feature a complete racing program, with the Riley Allison Futurity Consolation and the Sunland Park Handicap scheduled over the Sunland oval.

Laser rock at Space Hall

If the early tunes of the Rolling Stones and Led Zepplin bring back fond memories, then the all-new, all-old Rock/Laser Show at the Space Center in Alamogordo will be on your list of things to do soon.

Premiering this weekend, "Ten Years of Rock and Roll: 1965-1975" features the music of an unprecedented era in history. Included in the repertoire will be songs from the Rolling Stones, the Doors, Jimi Hendrix, Steppenwolf, Credence Clearwater Revival, the Beatles, Led Zepplin, Jethro Tull, Edgar Winter and Bruce Springsteen.

As with all Space Theater Rock Shows, patterns and flashes of brilliant laser lights will dance to the beat of the music. Rock/Laser shows are presented at 9 p.m. every Friday and Saturday night in the Space Center's planetarium. Admission to the Rock Show is $3.50 per person.

Opinion

Editorial

People who want to get in more skiing this season have only through this weekend to do so.

Sierra Blanca Ski Resort is winding up what from all reports is the most successful season in its history.

Mother Nature has been kind to skiers this winter. It seemed that every time a good snow was needed to replenish the ski slopes, a storm arrived.

The prayers of skiers—and those of non-skiers whose shops, restaurants, motels and other businesses benefit from skiers—were answered.

It would be difficult to overstate the importance of the ski area to Ruidoso's wintertime economy. That impact could carry over to other times of year. It is hoped that TV viewers around the country who learned of Ruidoso by watching the All-American Pro Ski Classic will consider our area in their vacation plans.

As this ski season ends, no doubt manager Roy Parker is planning the usual ambitious program of summer improvements at the ski area.

When Sierra Blanca Ski Resort is reborn in the fall of 1985 as Ski Apache Resort, it surely will be bigger and better than ever.

For now, skiers and townspeople can count their blessings that the ski resort is there, that it had a good snow year, and that skiers think well enough of it to have come in record numbers.—TP

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—An editorial in Socorro's Defensor-Chieftain said what most of us were probably thinking.

It put the thought like this: "By all means, let the State of New Mexico call a special legislative session. Let's bring back to Santa Fe all those politicians—but let's ask them to leave their egos and coalitions behind. Make it short and sweet, a quick-repair session, one which would mend wounds and fund those projects which were left behind, like so much confetti after a particularly long parade."

That puts very succinctly what we want. Too bad we aren't going to get it.

In the first place, the egos and coalitions are already out in force. Anaya, even as he was announcing that he planned to call such a session, was describing the last one as a "fiasco" that "wasted time and the taxpayers' money" and "created rancor and divisiveness."

His choice of words, at a time when calmness and statesmanship was in order, did exactly what he criticized his legislative opponents for having done.

And the head of the biggest coalition was also showing his colors.

He is, of course, Senator Les Houston, the Democrat who likes to boast that he controls the votes of all Republicans in the upper chamber. He was pouting about Anaya's suggestion that he call a separate session to take up the matter of prolonging the life of interim legislative committees. Do that, Houston said, and I'll boycott the meeting.

He won't, because he can't feed his hunger for publicity by staying in Albuquerque when all the rest of the legislators are up here legislating.

(Some observers were pointing out that any legislative meeting would run more smoothly without him. There is, they say, legislative life after Houston.)

Gene Samberson, head of the coalition on the House side, was about the only one making much sense. He looked at Anaya's unrealistically long agenda for the called get-together and said: "It sounds like he wants another general session. By the time you get all those issues in and opened up, you'll have so many bills it will be a huge workload one more time."

If it strikes you that all this does not bode well for the special legislative session which will soon be upon us, you are thinking along the exact same lines we are.

• • •

The words about Senator Houston above may sound a little acerbic, but don't worry about him. He can defend himself very capably.

For instance, he calls this writer "an ungrateful political parasite."

We've given some thought to the accuracy of that description and are inclined to agree totally with only one word of it.

The writer pleads guilty to being completely "political." As for "parasite," we'll accept that, not because we consider it accurate (it means one who lives on others without making any useful and fitting return), but because the Senator deserves a chance to get his own back after some of the things that have been said about him here.

But "ungrateful"? Never.

No one could be more grateful to New Mexico politicians than this man. Without them, you wouldn't be reading these words and we wouldn't be writing them.

Those numerous Republicans who have already let us know they want to run for governor in 1986 might make a genuine contribution to their own cause if they talked sense to the members of their party who will be coming back here for that special legislative session.

For one thing, they might explain to their confreres that the GOP does itself little good by delivering itself into the hands of the Democrats, no matter how conservative, who presently run things in both House and Senate. It's a simple fact that these men are of another political persuasion, and Republicans are not expected to provide them the votes they need for power.

For another, they might tactfully point out that at the moment their conduct is such that it sometimes manages to make even Toney Anaya look acceptable.

Tough Rats

Rats are tough. How tough? According to International Wildlife magazine, rats can: plummet five stories to the ground and scurry off unharmed; swim half a mile and tread water for three days; wiggle through a hole no larger than a quarter; and even survive being flushed down a toilet as well as enter building by the same route.

High ideals and high fliers

There is much to the argument that allowing professional athletes to compete in the Olympics, a possibility reported in this newspaper the other day, would erase the high ideals associated with that sporting extravaganza: athletics for athletics sake and not for the dollar or for politics.

Notable ideals, despite their distance from reality.

Now. Picture Julius Erving weaving his way through five husky Slavs, grasping the basketball in one hand like a tomato, launching his body at the free throw line, soaring in the air while the clock ticks a full three seconds, and slam dunking the 7-foot, five-inch, 275-pound center to smithereens.

That's a darned attractive argument, too.

—Albuquerque Journal

Some Bargain

Before coming down too hard on the Air Force for spending $1,496 for two pairs of pliers from the Boeing Military Airplane Co., standard duckbill pliers similar to a pair found in a hardware store for $7.61, consider:

Boeing first wanted $5,096 for the two pairs of pliers. But some sharpie in the Air Force finagled the price down.

Gee. That's some piece of bickering, all right.

With price negotiators like this, who needs the Russians?

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Will wonders never cease? According to an article printed a couple of weeks ago, the Chamber of Commerce personnel had a brilliant idea. Bring our fair city to the attention of the Hollywood movie makers!

They even spent an entire afternoon taking 72 photos to send to Hollywood. What did this venture cost them or the local taxpayer?

It was common knowledge that I had many photos available taken by two experienced photographers. These photos were of many locations visited over a period of two weeks, not one afternoon. The developing and travel costs had all been paid for by myself and would not have cost any citizens of Ruidoso one penny. No one contacted me.

So I guess the little bureaucracies that exist here in Ruidoso are as guilty of "cronyism" as many others in the country. I suspect also a large amount of petty snobbishness exists, at least that was my gut feeling while presenting my proposals to do a film here to show our obvious scenic advantages. My experience in dealing with "tunnel vision committees" leads me to firmly believe the following. If the big frogs in this little pond called Ruidoso were interviewing applicants for the job of budget director, the following would occur. "Albert Einstein" would arrive in an old pickup truck, dressed in a pair of Levis. Right behind him "Bozo the Clown" would arrive in a new Lincoln, dressed in a $500 suit. "Bozo" would get the job!

Reporter's Round

By Frankie Jarrell

"Just throw it away."

"Toss it."

Those are familiar words in our disposable society.

Disposable is the keyword in consumables. No wonder trash compactors, waste disposal systems and the like have become major agenda items for governing bodies everywhere.

I've spent a lot of time around hospitals lately, and everything from gowns to thermometers is designed for one-time use. I like the idea of tossing out medical supplies, but I'd hate to take out the trash.

Babies are big users of disposables. When shopping for groceries I've noticed that if there's a baby in the basket, invariably there's a HUGE box of LUVs, Pampers or Huggies there, too.

Disposable diapers have become the norm for new parents, but proper disposal has become a state legislative item. Baby changers don't always dispose of these boons to babies' comfort properly.

The reason lawmakers became interested in diapers is because they were turning up on highways and nearby farms and ranches. The Texas Legislature found that many cattle had eaten disposable diapers and died.

The plastic that keeps baby dry destroys a bovine digestive system.

Baby bottles have evolved from glass to plastic to disposable. The little plastic sacks that hold liquid fit into a plastic holder. No more sterilizing bottles because the little baggies are already sterile.

They can be used just once, naturally. Then into the trash they go.

Disposable bibs, which were introduced by restaurants catering to families, have made their way into the home. Evidently, it saves on laundry.

Offices are filled with items designed for once-only use. Typewriter ribbons, adding machine ribbons, pens and pencils can be purchased in disposable form.

Once-around pens have been around a long time, but they now come in cases that look like they were meant to last. My beautiful pink Valentine pen with hearts around the top lasted just two weeks. Alas, it couldn't be refilled. It was disposable.

Disposable razors come in all shapes and sizes. First we had razors with blades that were used a few times and then tossed, and now the whole instrument goes into the trash.

Don't misunderstand, this column is a reflection, not an indictment of a throw-away society. What does bother me is that the throw-away philosophy has seeped over into areas beyond consumables.

How about waste materials that can be tossed but that will be with us for generations to come? Nuclear and chemical waste is being generated at an alarming rate.

Nobody really knows what to do with it and nobody wants it. The one thing everyone seems to agree on is that it can't be tossed out like a dirty diaper. Once generated it is here to stay.

The facts don't really scare us, though, for our society has adopted a throw-away mentality. We'll get rid of that dangerous stuff (somehow)!

Abandoned animals are a symptom of this throw-away society. Dogs and cats that are unwanted are often dumped without a backward glance.

Very few of us ever see the results of abandoning an animal. Animal control takes care of that waste for us.

To go one step further, how about throw-away relationships?

Marriages, friendships and even close family relationships are expendable.

This past decade's alarming divorce rate tells a story of disposing of troublesome relationships rather than working through them together. Three out of five married couples ended up divorced in the 1970s.

We have a growing number of throw-away children, too. It may be easier to let go and turn young people loose than to deal with the fragile parent/child dynamics.

Friendships are easily tossed out. How much easier to walk away than build a solid relationship with another person. I read that a lack of close friends is a major contributor to stress and a feeling of isolation.

It seems that keeping priorities straight can be a problem in a throw-away society. So how about hanging onto what's important, like family and friends, and letting go of the disposables like razors, pens and pencils?

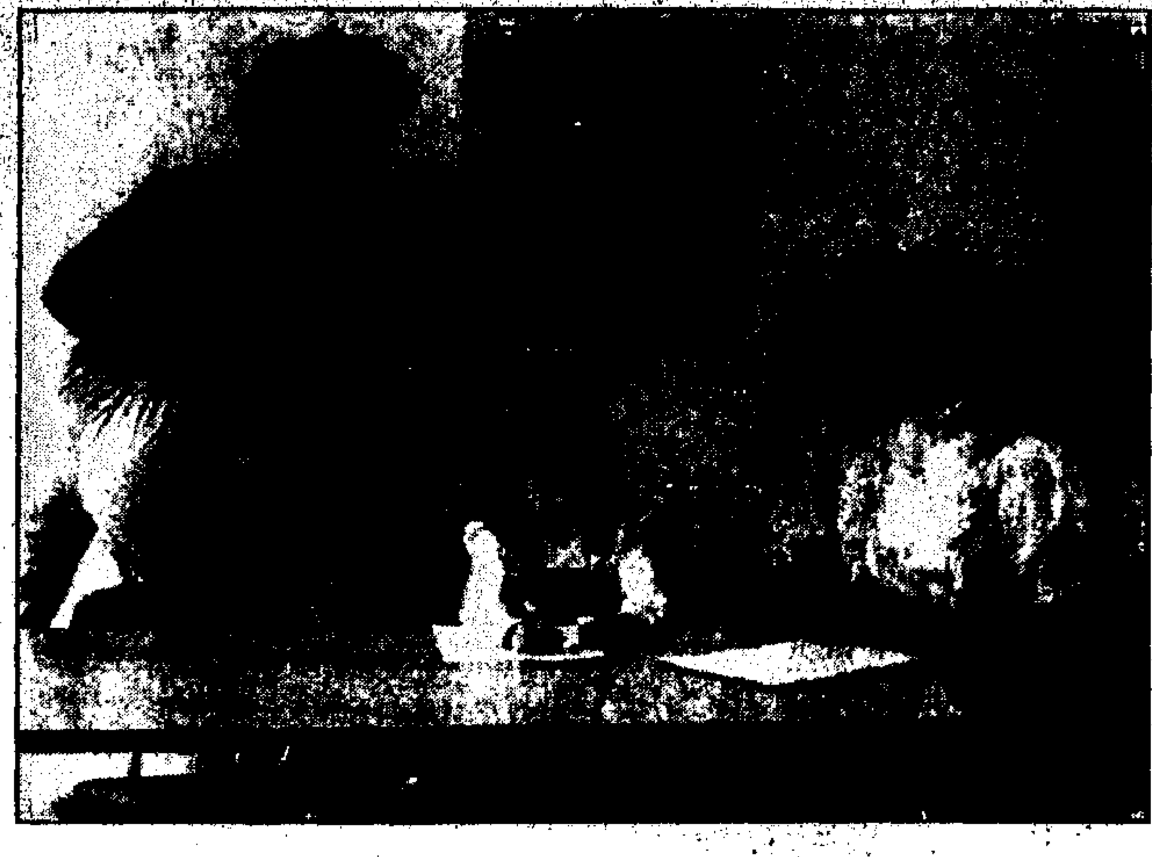
Youngsters register for kindergarten



Shirley Cliff hangs a poster advertising early registration for area kindergarteners as Likis Bowden (right) works with preschooler Rebecca Echols. Cliff and Bowden are coordinating the registration and preschool screening.

Next year's kindergarten students will get a preview of classroom life during early registration. The whole family, especially younger children, is invited to Ruidoso's second annual pre-registration and preschool screening event.

The Ruidoso Municipal Schools along with Region IX Cooperative Center (RIXCC) has planned a variety of experiences for parents and children from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. Saturday, April 27, at Nob Hill Elementary School. (See boxed schedule for times throughout the county.)

"This is an excellent opportunity," RIXCC director Sandy Gladden stated. "Many parents have reported feeling reassured learning that their child was developing on time."

Screening can identify developmental problems so they can be diagnosed and evaluated.

"When the physical deficiencies and developmental lags of preschool children are identified early, and remedial steps are taken before the child enrolls in school, the goals of curriculum, programs and projected needs for the school—and thus the entire district—can be advanced," Roger Sowder, principal of Nob Hill, said.

He and his staff are all for early registration, which was initiated last spring. Kindergarten teachers Eva Clarke and Connie Forrest found the early introduction to school surroundings and personnel very beneficial for young students.

Besides registration for kindergarteners, screening for all youngsters will be available in the areas of speech, hearing, motor skills, vision, dental, nutrition and pre-academic skills.

Kindergarten teachers Clarke, Forrest, Pat Tate and Marge Cannella will administer testing in pre-academic skills. Shirley Cliff and Julie Urlich will provide motor skills tests.

Audiologist Skip Morrison has volunteered to provide hearing tests, and Carol Rasimus will administer language tests.

Local dentists Sally Waters, Joseph Tam and Vincent Straley will be on hand for dental screening. Optometrists Greg Leadingham and T. T. Marquardt also have volunteered to participate in the screening.

"Early registration also allows time to clear enrollment discrepancies and decrease the anxieties of children and their parents, when starting kindergarten," Sowder said.

"There is just an overall positive effect on the child, parent, school and the community," he added. "We hope for an even larger participation this year."

Springtime is here...time for gardening

Monica O'Reilly (lower picture) begins spring maintenance of her flower garden. Her common sense approach to gardening results in sturdy blooms (above) that withstand high winds and late freezes.

Local woman offers gardening tips

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

When Monica O'Reilly's flowers bloom, that's my signal that spring is really here. Her hearty flower garden withstood the recent weeks' wind and snow, so it's time for garden hobbyists to get to work.

I stopped by and asked Monica for some gardening hints. We sat on a sunny ledge beside her flower garden while she leafed through her daily journal.

The journal, in which Monica records her garden's progress, is probably one of the secrets to her success.

Late March is the time to begin cleaning up and cultivating, according to Monica. Since I'm not a gardener, I asked for specific instructions. The gardener explained, patiently, that cleaning means just that.

She said she gets rid of "dead junk," and then takes a little rake and breaks up the garden soil.

Monica also recommends a good watering after high winds such as those experienced during March. She washes down the leaves on trees and shrubs then, too.

This is also the time to fertilize all perennials. Monica uses Miracle-Gro because it is a good strong booster. It is 15-30-15 (nitrogen-phosphorous-potash) and gives perennials a good start for spring.

Monica gives her irises a dose of super phosphate in early spring. That must work since her 80 species (she knows every name!) of iris are her major claim to fame.

Everything else in her garden gets a boost of iron. The iron promotes healthy green leaves.

"I like liquid fertilizer because you can put it right on the leaves and it won't blow away," Monica said.

Perennials get fertilizer every two weeks. As the season wears on, O'Reilly decreases the strength she uses.

"I wait until a month after irises bloom and feed them with vegetable food," Monica noted.

Another thing to watch for when growing irises are thrips, nasty little garden pests that "get all over iris." Thrips look like "little bitty blond hairs, about 1/16 of an inch long." O'Reilly gets rid of them with Malathion.

Now is also the time to plant gladiolus.

Monica demonstrated how to pull off the heads of daffodils and jonquils after they have bloomed and dried. Leaving the bloom on the stem until it dries and then pulling it off promotes continued blooms.

Another tip she offered for daffodils and jonquils was to tie down the green leaves after the blooms are gone. The little knots will turn brown later and can be picked up easily and thrown away.

Monica keeps her soil fed with "home-grown garbage compost." Making it by the "O'Reilly method" is much simpler than the old-fashioned compost heap.

"It's really easy," O'Reilly said. She takes all her "wet garbage" (no meat or grease), processes it, and puts the small packages in the freezer. When she has a few packages, she digs a hole in the garden and buries the frozen garbage.

"It's great if you don't mind having garbage in your freezer," she said with a laugh.

Monica O'Reilly has found gardening in Ruidoso to be far different from some other areas, partly because "our soil is so different." Her techniques have evolved through trial and error, but her beautiful flowers are testimony to successful gardening.

Forest Service offers tips on prevention of house and forest fires

IT CAN'T HAPPEN TO MY HOME!

Annually about 112,000 fires start on forest, brush and grasslands, burning 4.8 million acres, destroying countless structures and killing an average of 29 people.

This spring and summer, people will be visiting their summer mountain homes in the areas adjacent to the Lincoln National Forest. There are many things homeowners can do to fireproof their house and property to prevent house and forest fires.

Protect the roof—treat wood shingle roofs and siding with retardant chemicals. Have enough garden hose available to reach all parts of the roof. Clean gutters and roof of all needles and leaves.

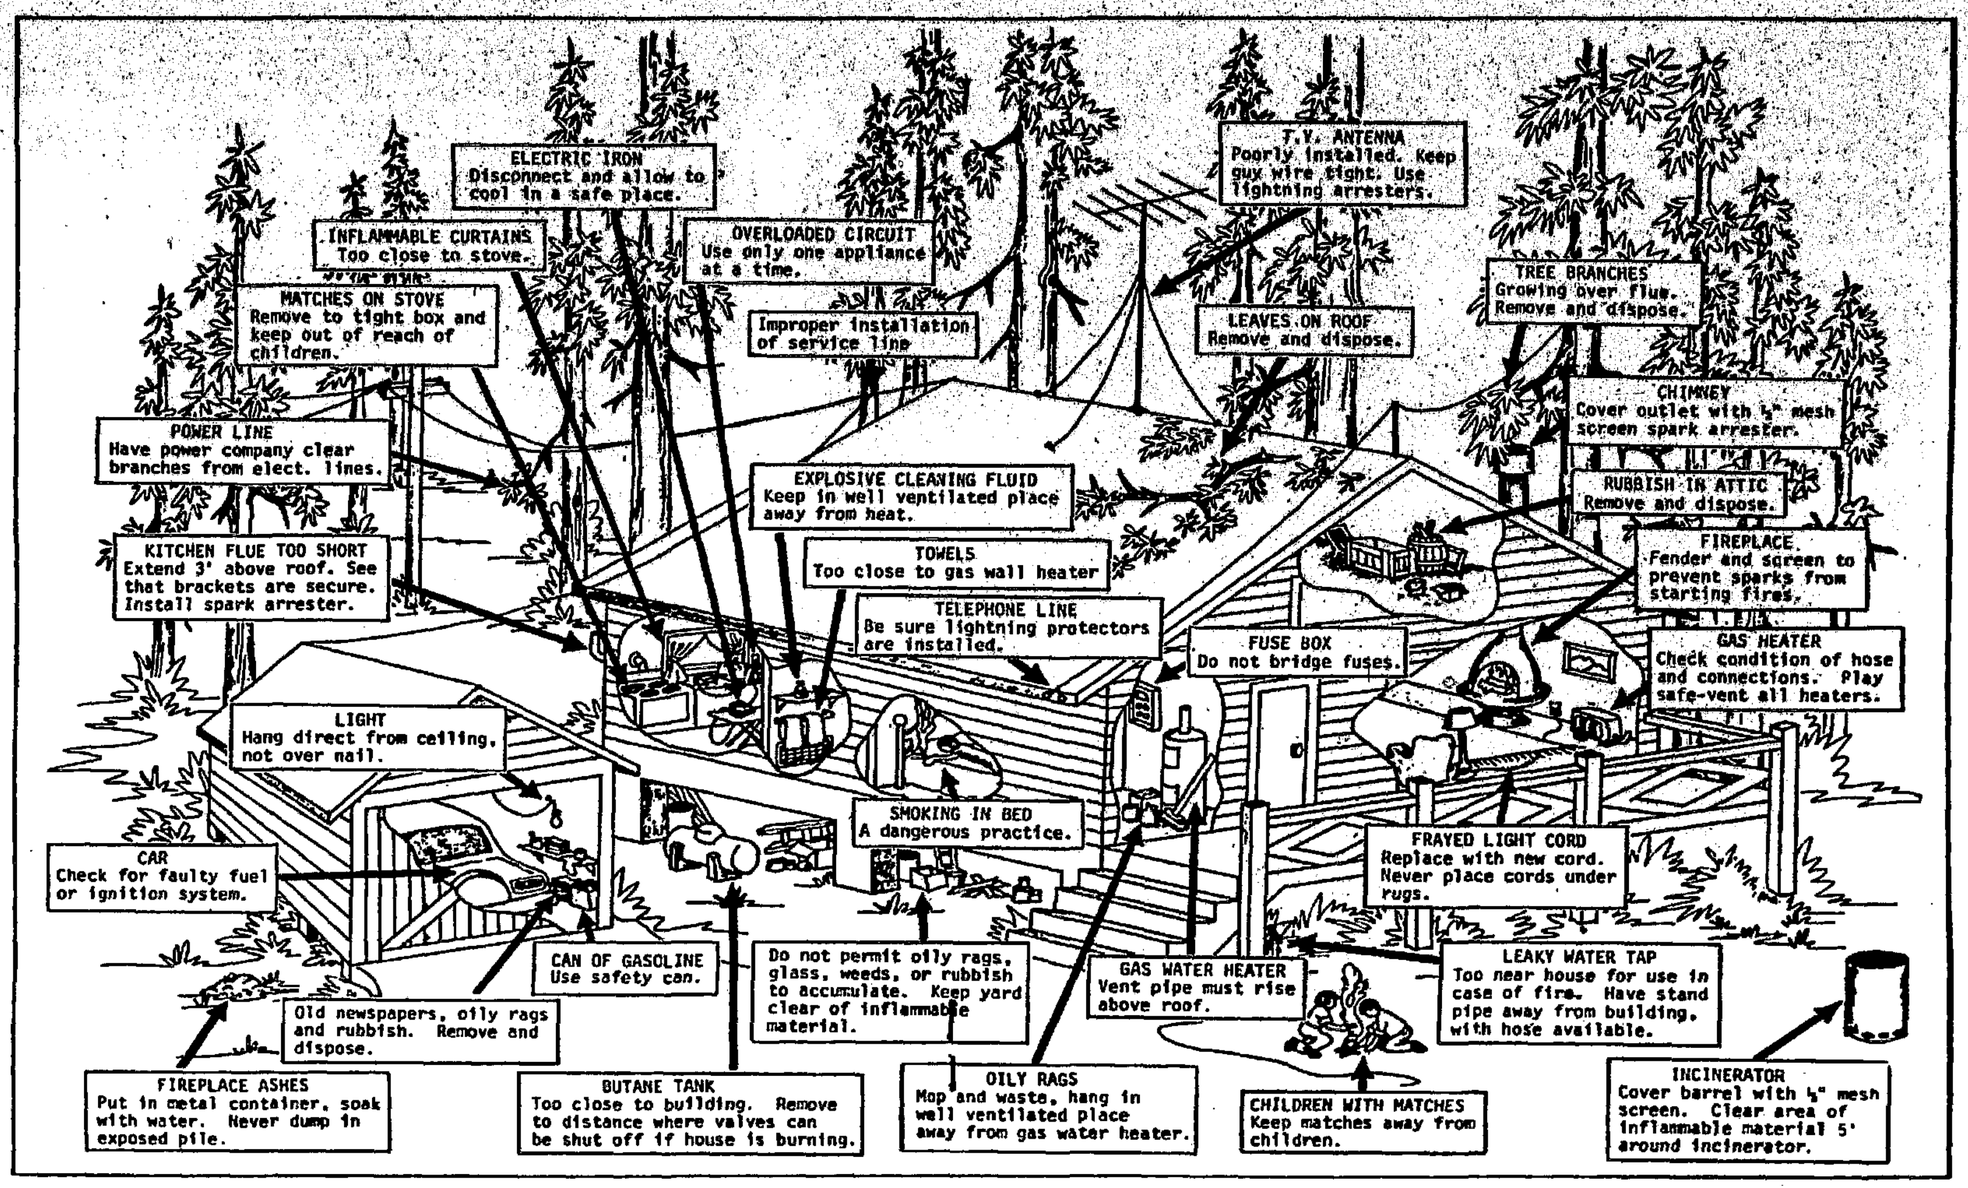
Prevent chimney and flue fires—check for accumulation of soot. Keep dampers in good repair. Put fires out in fireplaces prior to leaving home. Soak hot ashes in a covered metal container. Have an adequate spark arrestor on your fireplace chimney.

Prevent attice fires—install a fine metal screen over attic vents and louvers to prevent burning brands from entering the attic.

Clean storage areas—don't allow newspapers and rags to accumulate. Keep flammable liquids in unbreakable containers.

Remove dead limbs from any trees adjacent to or overhanging your house or garage. They catch fire easily from sparks—as does firewood. Don't stack firewood under your porch or house or next to your house.

All open under-floor and overhanging floor or deck area should be either enclosed to prevent embers from blowing under, or kept free of all inflammable material.



Check and correct every hazard with extreme care
