All that jazz

The Sierra Blanca Jazz Band plays during the Ruidoso High School Music Department spring concert last week. Leroy Gooch directs the ensemble,

Cattle fatalities

Bureau of Indian Affairs police reported 35 calves were killed as a result of the crash early Friday morning of this tractor-trailer near Mescalero on Highway 70. Police said the driver, Dennis Mitchell of Friona, Texas, received minor injuries after he apparently fell asleep at the wheel and the truck overturned. The situation was compounded when the trailer split open, releasing 150 calves onto the roadway.

The National Weather Service in Roswell has predicted partly cloudy skies and isolated thundershowers today, with variable winds from 10 to 20 miles per hour this afternoon.

Tonight's prediction calls for mostly fair conditions with light and variable winds.

Tuesday's forecast calls for variable high cloudiness with light northerly winds.

The extended forecast for Wednesday through Friday calls for fair with near normal temperatures. Highs will be in the middle 60s to the middle 70s; lows will be in the upper 20s to the upper 30s.

Budgets face reality

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Ruidoso village councillors heard the last of the department budget presentations last week as the difference between the amounts called for in budgets and the amount expected in revenues began to narrow.

And the effects of reduced village revenues this year became a stinging reality as councillors were forced to make stiff budget cuts in some cases.

The largest cut came in the budget of the Street Department. Street superintendent Jack LaMay earlier had presented a budget of $1.7 million, and at that time was instructed by councillors to submit a lower budget amount.

A concerted effort by LaMay and village administration officials resulted in house-cleaning and rearrangement of the budget. It was resubmitted Wednesday night at $1.1 million.

Primary cause of the inflated first budget were interwoven contractual roadwork costs—work that the department performs and is paid for by other departments. Other cuts came in hiring of just five workers where 10 had been asked, and a lowering of funds for snow removal from $140,000 last year to $50,000.

Assistant village manager Frank Potter suggested that councillors accept the lower snow removal figure for now, and then see what happens when winter arrives. He said $50,000 probably would not be enough money to adequately clear the roads.

It was learned that the village generally clears every road in Ruidoso after a snowstorm. Many councillors were of the opinion that the village may have to restrict snow removal to major roads this winter.

Councillors also discussed the possibility of seeking state funding for some of the removal, since much of the work is on Sudderth and Mechem drives, both state highway.

Councillors voted to cut funding for construction of the upgraded Paradise Canyon Drive bridge, saving $106,000, and gave preliminary approval to the department budget at $994,438.

With the addition of the contractual roadwork, the department will perform $1,253,588 worth of work on village streets next fiscal year, village manager Jim Hine reported.

Potter assured the council that a much-questioned vehicle maintenance line-item in the budget will be investigated. Potter said as much as 40 percent of the costs of parts for village vehicles should be saved if closer attention is paid to prices and verification of installment.

The budget of the Ruidoso Police Department, although re-submitted at a lower figure, also was cut back Wednesday night by the council.

Police Chief Richard Swenor presented a budget that included no new positions, leaving the department strength at 36 officers. Swenor had asked for five additional officers in his original request.

A "certification maintenance allowance" line-item that would have added about $1,000 to each officer's pay drew much discussion. Swenor explained that the money would go for reimbursing policemen, all of whom must be recertified yearly to retain their jobs.

Swenor said police put in about 200 hours yearly in the recertification process, something required of no other village employees.

But councillors looked on the allowance as overtime pay. They voted to create a $30,000 overtime line-item and to delete the allowance.

Councillors gave the budget preliminary approval at $1,045,730, with the stipulation that a vehicle purchase be delayed for another year.

Swenor promised to return to the council for additional funding if the village financial situation improves.

"We're right on the fine line about having adequate coverage out there," the chief told the council.

Also Wednesday, councillors gave preliminary approval to the budgets of the Wastewater, Building Maintenance and Emergency Medical Services departments.

Friday night, councillors heard the budget of the Ruidoso Fire Department. Earlier, councillors had asked Fire Chief Virgil Reynolds to submit a shortened version of the department's five-year plan—asking what it would take to accomplish the plan in three years.

But with Reynolds coming in at the end of the budget process, councillors were faced with considering his expansion plans with just $406,000 left to spend.

Soon after Reynolds announced the $630,000 price tag of the first year of the three-year plan, councillors voted to delay approval of the fire budget and go back through other departments' budgets with a close look at all capital outlay projects.

"If it's a choice between copying machines and a (fire) station ..." councillor Victor Alonso commented.

Highlight of the first year of the fire expansion plan includes a fire substation in the Upper Canyon, equipped with a "Class A" pumper truck.

Also Friday, councillors voted not to accept the preliminary budget of the Ruidoso Municipal Airport as submitted by airport manager Tim Morris.

Morris had asked for partial funding of the air traffic controllers program at the airport. The council agreed that the program is needed, but instead chose to raise revenues at the airport to cover the cost of the controllers. Morris agreed to return with the budget changes as requested.

Councillors gave preliminary approval Friday to the revenue sharing, supplemental gross receipts tax, debt service and contractual roadwork segments of the budget.

Council has lengthy agenda Tuesday

Altrusa offers help for students making career choices

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Ruidoso High School students recently got a clear picture of the large number of careers open to them during Career Day. Altrusa Club sponsored the annual day of demonstrations, workshops and speeches.

Altrusa gathered a huge array of professionals and vocational experts to present information on career preparation, expected salaries and chances for finding a job.

Senior students attended a special session and learned how to prepare a resume, write a letter of application and fill out a standard job application.

"We want to give these kids something they can really use," Altrusa member Kathy Echols said. That's one reason the club always provides evaluation sheets for students to offer input for next year's career day.

Keynote speaker was Marge Vallejos, assistant director of the Alamogordo Branch of New Mexico State University. She told students not to be concerned if they haven't chosen a life career yet. Those decisions take time and thought.

She warned them to take responsibility for making that choice, though.

Charlie Kemp (right) teaches a modeling stance to Ruidoso High School students during Career Day. Giving it a try are Michelle Coulston, Shannon Lynn Churchill, Tisha Hall, Janet Sunderland and Denise Barnes.

Recruiters for all branches of the military brought films and information to the event.

Leaders for career workshops included Emilio Varcarel, aerospace engineering, John Shaw, civil engineering, Barbara Edwards, psychology, George Gregory, electrical engineering and Charlie Kemp, modeling.

Others sharing career information were Linda Lott, primary education, Gerald Ames, secondary education, Verna Adams, nursing, Sharon Gustafson, x-ray technology, Pat Huckins, art and Vince Straley, dentistry.

Telling about their careers were Bill Kogler, emergency medical technician, Rob Steinmetz, physical therapist, Robert Lovato, pharmacist, Jim Hopper, physician and Bruce McElyea, photographer.

Also speaking at career day were Rudy Loya on auto body work, James and Cindy Hobbs and Churchill Cooke on musical careers and Glen Crane on real estate.

Other speakers were Kerry Boyd on banking, Dr. Cecilio Barrero on biological science, Terry Jones on accounting, Bernice Vonsteeg on secretarial careers and Jane Terrell on floral design.

Leading other sessions were Randy Russell, forestry, Lynn Willard, veterinary science, Warren Krueger, mathematics and Doug Leja, a pilot.

Speaking on law enforcement careers were Bob Kenney, Robert Achterberg, Susan Pfeffer, Dave Pfeffer and Richard Swenor of the Ruidoso Police Department and Special Agent Tony O'Rona of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Herb Brunell told students about careers in retail sales, Karen Wharton spoke on interior design, Paul Vordermann made a presentation on computer science and Sam Westergren gave information on the legal profession.

Matt Bosisto, Frankie Jarrell and Sharon Makokian gave talks about journalism careers, Dale Alexander told about opportunities in chemistry and Lois Bender told about cosmetology as a career.

Ruidoso High School teachers Edie Parker and Jean Spurlock led the special senior seminar.

Cash Hill can't believe that he's the winner of a brand new bicycle! Optimist Club member Steve Stillman (right) presents the young cyclist with the small bike he won recently in a drawing at the club's Bike Safety Rodeo.

Club sponsors bike rodeo

Cyclists 2 to 16 years of age recently competed in the Ruidoso Optimist Club Bike Safety Rodeo. Close to 50 youngsters took advantage of an afternoon of competition in cycling events.

Most youngsters arrived at Ruidoso Middle School with two-wheelers, but two little ones competed on tricycles. Cash Hill, 2, arrived with a tricycle, but went home the proud owner of a brand new bicycle complete with training wheels.

The Optimists, whose slogan is friends of youth, gave away four bicycles during the event. Winners of the larger bikes were Marisal Lucero, Monica Calderon and Allison Chadwell.

Optimist organizers declared all the participants as winners for coming out and giving their best efforts in tests of skill, speed and agility.

In tricycle events for the 5-and-under category winners included Tawnya Reynolds and Cash Hill.

Winners on two-wheelers in the 5-and-under category included Gabriel Calderon, Mindy Hill, Drew Day and Brian Phillips.

Winners for agility 6 to 9 years old were Gunner Johnson, John Crawford, Frankie Leigh Reynolds, Cisco Knox, Teri Hall and Mindy Reynolds.

Agility winners in the 10-to-11-year-old division were Jeremie Livingston, Tinnie Coons, Pee-wee Coons, Robin Payne, Allison Chadwell and Amy Reynolds.

Winning agility entries in the 12-16 group were Heath Whited, Alan Spurlock, Nick Whited, Jerry Norvell, Heath LaMay and Marisal Lucero.

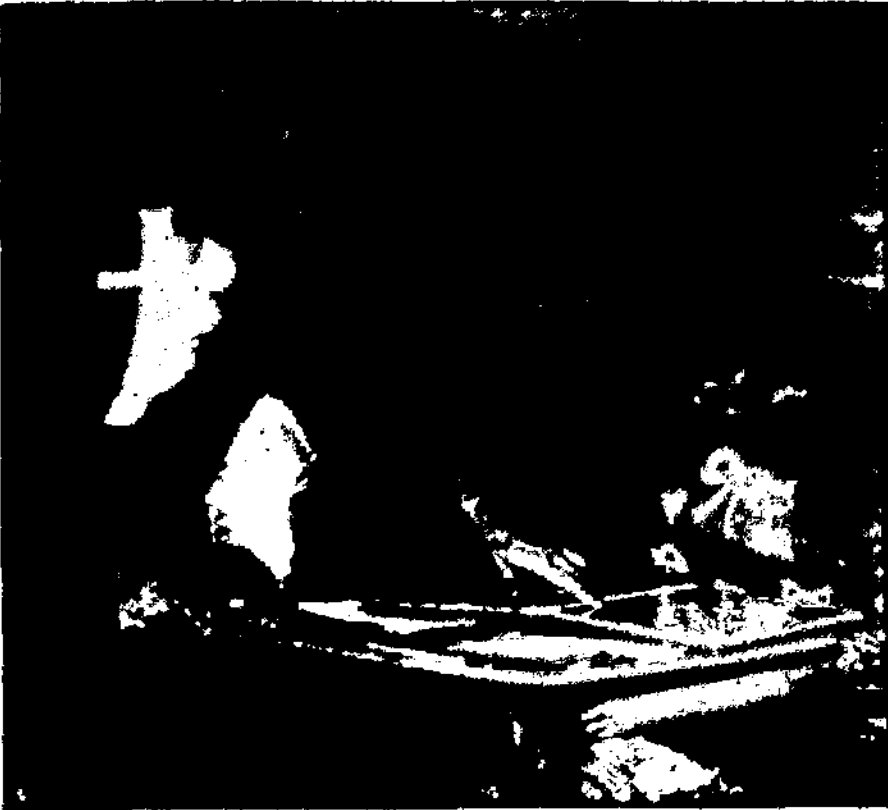

Balancing category winners from 6 to 9 were Frankie Leigh Reynolds, John Crawford, Gunner Johnson, Delana Smith, Jim Paul Whipple and Lindy Reynolds.

Winners for balancing in the 10-to-11 group were Tinnie Coons, Robin Payne, Rose Doyle, Jeremy Livingston, Amy Reynolds and Charlie Whited.

Winners of the balancing competition from 12 to 16 years old were Heath LaMay, Alan Spurlock, Jerry Norvell, Shalla Gosdin, Amber Perry and Heath Whited.

Contestants winning the circle race in the 6 to 9 division were Gunner Johnson, Delana Smith, John Crawford, Jerry Hall, Cisco Knox and Monica Calderon.

Circle race winners from 10 to 11 years old were Pee-wee Coons, Charlie Whited, Jeremy Livingston, Tinnie Coons, Weldon Smith and Amy Reynolds.

Lois Bender (left) of the Roswell College of Cosmetology shows RHS student Jennifer Hamilton the latest hairstyles. Bender talked about careers in cosmetology during Career Day.

Career Day speaker Herb Brunell shares his enthusiasm about retail sales as he talks of the "highs" and "lows" of being in business.

Studio artist Pat Huckins gives a sculpture demonstration during the Altrusa Club Career Day at Ruidoso High School. Huckins is telling students about her career as a studio artist.

Three tracksters qualify for state; Warriors finish fourth at Artesia

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School's boys track team qualified three individuals for the state AAA division meet as the Warriors finished fourth in the Artesia Invitational Friday.

Ruidoso scored 42 points to finish behind winner Lovington (104), Artesia (53) and Goddard (47). New Mexico Military Institute had 34; Jal had 22; Portales had 20; Eunice had 12; Dexter had 11; Hagerman had nine; and Lake Arthur had four.

The Warrior girls had less luck, scoring seven points and not qualifying anyone for state. However, several Warrior girls had good efforts.

But it was defending state 1,500 meters and 3,000 meters champion Cisco Bob who again led the way for the Warriors.

Bob broke his own school record in the 1,500 meters, running a 3:57.88. His previous best was 3:58.12. Bob's time is one of the fastest in the country.

Cisco cruised to an 8:49.76 victory in the 3,000 meters, beating team-mate and runner-up Gabe Tam by 32 seconds. Tam joined Bob as a state qualifier with his 9:21.54 time. Tam has a best of 9:17.77 this season.

Sophomore Jeff Willingham was the third state qualifier, throwing the javelin 164-4 for third place and breaking his school record.

Willingham had three other throws over his old school record of 151-2, including throws of 159 and 158 feet.

"He's just the type of guy who responds to pressure," said Warrior head coach Ronny Maskew. "It was the first qualifying meet and he came through."

Senior Francisco Olvera did not qualify for the state meet, but had good efforts in the 1,500 meters and 3,000 meters.

Olvera took third in the 1,500 meters with a 4:23.33 time and was fourth in the 3,000 meters in 9:33.98.

Another good effort was turned in by Tracy Gann in the long jump. Gann broke the school record with a 20-5 leap. He had two other leaps better than the previous school record (20-0) set by Mark Johnston last season.

Curt McClellan was second in the 800 meters in 2:04.64; Verlon Edwards was fifth in the pole vault with a personal best of 11-6; and Justin Smith finished fifth in the 300-meter intermediate hurdles in 43.66.

A couple of Warrior relay teams also placed.

The 400-meter relay team of McClellan, Michael Williamson, Tracy Gann and Brian Davis ran a seasonal best of 44.98 for fourth place.

The same quartet ran a 3:37.64 for third place in the 1,600-meter relay, three seconds off the Warriors' seasonal best.

"I think we had some very good efforts from the kids," Maskew said. "A number of guys had their personal bests."

Gia Rose had the top placing by the Warrior girls. The senior took third in the long jump with a 16-1 effort, five inches off the state qualifying standard. Rose's leap was a foot better than her previous best.

Yelena Seelbach had a fourth in the 1,500 meters with a 5:44.0 time, 10 seconds better than her previous best.

Sherri Alexander took fifth in the 3,000 meters, running a 12:40 and improving her previous best by 40 seconds.

The Warrior 1,600-meter relay team of Shannon Lee, Amanda Samuels, Sheila Shelton and Rose ran a 4:49.0 for fifth place. The team has a best of 4:40.0 this season.

Ruidoso's 800-meter relay team ran a 2:01.0, and was hurt by two bad handoffs. The team ran a 1:58.38 last week, but was without standout Stacy Ivy this time. Ivy has a sore leg.

Eddie Rose improved her times in the 100 meters, 200 meters and 800 meters. Tabby Williamson ran a 14:54.0 in the 3,000 meters, two minutes faster than her previous best.

"As a team, we didn't do well," said Warrior girls coach Sergio Castanon. But several girls did well individually.

"We were hurt by the loss of Ivy, but she should be back to help us next week."

Lovington won the girls meet with 116 points, beating out Goddard, which had 50. Ruidoso finished ninth in the 10-team meet, beating Hagerman, which had four points.

Ruidoso's boys will compete in the Lovington Invitational next Saturday. The Warrior girls will go to Mayfield High School in Las Cruces Saturday for a meet.

NOTES. The Warrior freshmen took second in a three-way meet in Roswell Saturday. Goddard won with 64 points, Ruidoso had 60 and Roswell 27. More results will be in Thursday's News ... The Warrior boys and girls varsities still have two more chances to qualify for state, with next week's meets and the District 3-AAA meet Friday, May 10, on the Warrior track.

Doubles play helps boy netters win

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Getting some clutch doubles wins, the Ruidoso High School boys tennis team topped visiting Portales 5-4 Saturday at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The Warrior girls lost to Portales 8-1. Ruidoso is 4-4 in boys dual-match play and 5-3 in girls play. The Warriors will host New Mexico Military Institute at 2 this afternoon at the Inn.

In Saturday's boys competition, the score was tied 3-3 at the end of singles play.

However, the Warriors' top doubles team of Mike Smith and Zach Swalander beat Johnny Gonzales and Dan Buzard 6-1, 7-6. Ruidoso's Jim Smith and Glen Westergren topped Kim Willis and Tony Willis 7-6, 1-6, 6-2, and Ruidoso had its victory.

"That was the biggie," Warrior coach Mike Crocker said of the second doubles match. "That did it for us."

The Smith brothers had a big hand in the Warrior victory.

Jim won the top singles match, defeating Gonzales 8-5 in pro-set action (all singles matches were played in pro-sets because of cold weather).

What made his victory so impressive was that Smith had to rally from a 5-0 deficit for the win.

Mike Smith topped Kim Willis 6-6 in the second singles match; Westergren lost to Buzard 8-6; Swalander beat Darren Grant 8-3; Mitch Rhodes fell to Daniel Tsai 8-4; and Eric Collins was nipped by Tony Willis 8-6.

The other doubles match saw Collins and Rhodes fall to Grant and Tsai 6-0, 6-4.

In girls action, the doubles team of Lori Morrow and Mikki Roller defeated a Portales team (no names were available) 3-6, 6-2, 7-5, for the Warriors' only victory.

In the other doubles action, Donna Mobley and Melissa Henderson lost to Maria Clark and Ann Timmons 8-2. Timmons and Clark have qualified for the state tournament the past two seasons.

Ruidoso's Michele Morrow and Marnie Warlick fell to Denise Tarango and Lori Elliott 8-4.

Singles action saw Mobley lose to Tarango 8-2 in the top match.

Other action had Warlick losing to Clark 8-4; Henderson falling to Timmons 8-0; Roller losing to Elliott 8-4; Michele Morrow losing to Kerry Ennis 8-2; and Lori Morrow defeated by Twila Fowler 8-5.

Ruidoso's Cassie McIntosh and Misty Strickland won non-scoring singles matches. The Warriors' Debbie Tulapani and Sarah Hamilton took a non-scoring doubles match.

"I don't think our boys played as well as they did against Goddard (in a tough defeat last week)," Crocker said. "But they did pretty good. The weather was bad and that didn't help."

"Portales' girls team is excellent. They dominated the district for years before Goddard entered the district."

Following the New Mexico Military Institute match, Ruidoso will host Santa Fe Prep Saturday in a practice match.

Youth soccer season begins

The Ruidoso Soccer Association under-10 and under-12 spring seasons opened Saturday at White Mountain School with three matches.

In under-10 action, the Raiders nipped United 1-0 and the Wranglers topped the Tigers 3-1.

In the Wranglers-Tigers match, Cory Hood scored two goals and Daniel Espinosa had one for the winners.

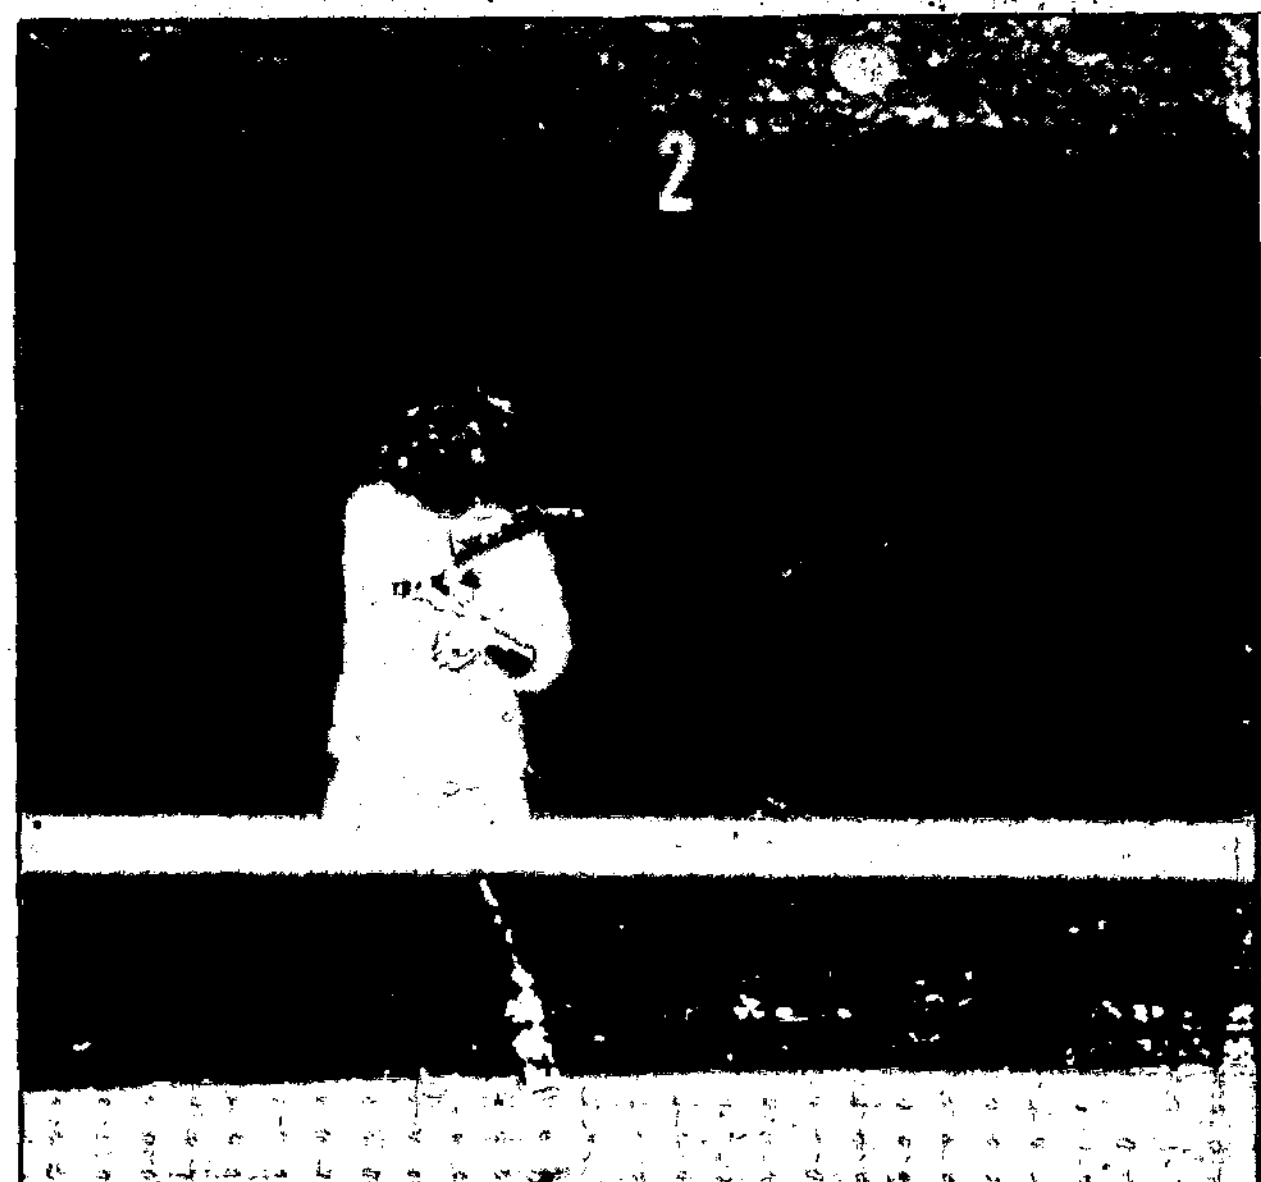

Matthew Norbury scored the only goal in the Raiders-United match.

Under-12 action saw the Bandits outscore United 4-1.

Jose Marquez scored all four goals for the Bandits. Scott Stricklin was in goal for the winners.

The Bandits and United are the only teams in the under-12 division, so they will play each other during the weekend. The two teams might play some teams from Alamogordo this season.

Next Saturday's under-10 schedule will have United playing the Tigers at 10:30 a.m. and the Wranglers meeting the Raiders at 11:30 a.m.

Ruidoso's Michele Morrow hits a forehand during competition against Portales Saturday. Morrow lost her singles match 8-5. Ruidoso lost the girls match 8-1, but won the boys competition 5-4.

Action like this abounded during the Ruidoso Soccer Association under-10 match between the Radio Shack Raiders and Coulston and Associates United Saturday at White Mountain School. The Raiders won 1-0.

Alexander wins J-4 ski race

The Ruidoso-Sierra Blanca Ski Racing Team's Kenan Alexander took first in the J-4 class in giant slalom competition at the Prater Memorial Invitational Race in Crested Butte, Colorado, March 23-24.

Alexander was first out of 40 skiers in the J-4 class. The local skier was eighth overall out of 114 skiers.

Chris Harris took 30th in the J-3 class and was 41st overall in giant slalom competition.

Harris was 39th in the J-3 class slalom competition and 73rd in overall slalom action.

The giant slalom competition was Saturday and the slalom competition was Sunday.

Around Sports with Gary Brown

What's David Ordorica doing nowadays? The outstanding Las Piedras Boxing Team (LPBT) athlete has not been able to box in over six months because he weighs less than 100 pounds.

Amateur boxing rules prohibit a boxer from competing if he doesn't weigh 101 pounds by his 16th birthday.

The 5-11, 85-pound Ordorica turned 16 last November and has been trying to reach the 101-pound mark since then.

But Ordorica remains optimistic.

"I think I'll reach 101 pounds by next September," he said. "I've gained some weight. If I don't do it by then, I'll do it later."

If anyone deserves to box again, it's Ordorica.

The Ruidoso High School junior has won a bronze medal in the National Junior Olympics Tournament the past two years. He has taken the National Police Athletic League championship, plus a number of regional and state championships.

What does Ordorica miss the most about his absence from the competitive ring?

"I guess traveling and meeting my friends," he answered. "Going to places like Albuquerque and stuff."

But Ordorica is still keeping active, preparing for the day when he returns to the boxing ring.

He and LPBT teammate Kevin Jefferson work out occasionally at coach Lucky Mulqueen's gymnasium. They also run and play basketball.

"I've been playing basketball a lot lately," Ordorica said. "It helps me keep my air up."

Ordorica has plenty of competitive spirit, having played on the Warrior junior varsity football team and track teams besides competing in boxing.

Let's hope David can get his wish and box again.

A couple of people who made names for themselves at Ruidoso High School are now coaching at Albuquerque's Eldorado High School.

Former Ruidoso High School football offensive coordinator and assistant basketball coach Vince Collins has been hired by the Albuquerque high school as varsity receivers coach and head junior varsity football coach.

Ex-Warrior three-sport standout Scott Neal is an assistant track coach and freshman football coach at Eldorado. Neal graduated from Ruidoso in 1982.

Congratulations, guys.

Warrior golfers finish sixth in own tournament

Socorro wins AAA title

by GARY BROWN
New Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School varsity golf team fired a 1,065 three-round total to finish sixth in the AAA division of its own Ruidoso Invitational Thursday and Friday.

The first round was played Thursday morning at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. The second round was played Thursday afternoon at Cree Meadows, and the final round was played Friday at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club. Cold and wind bothered the golfers, particularly in the last round.

Socorro won the AAA-division with a 954 total. Following the winners were Silver City at 979; Goddard at 1,001; New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) at 1,036; Lovington at 1,037; Ruidoso; Portales at 1,081; Hot Springs at 1,127; Deming at 1,138; Artesia at 1,141; and the Ruidoso B team at 1,281.

Mayfield won the AAAA-division championship, shooting a 990. Las Cruces was second at 995; followed by Roswell at 997; Clovis at 1,014; and Alamogordo at 1,140.

Ted Waldrip of Goddard was the AAA medalist, shooting a 230. He had a 75 in the first round, a 76 in the second round and a 79 at Alto.

Roswell's Dee Green had a 227 to win the AAAA-division medalist honors. He had a 78 in the first round, a 77 in the second round and a 74 in the final round.

Senior Tommy Crow was the top performer for the Warriors.

Crow had a 255 total. He showed improvement during the course of the tournament, shooting an 89 in the first round, an 85 at Cree Meadows and an 81 at Alto.

Crow barely missed two par putts and a birdie putt in the final round. If he had made those, he probably would have been among the leaders in the AAA division.

He carded a 40 on the front nine at Alto, and added a 41 on the back nine.

Crow admitted the weather bothered the golfers.

"The wind was unbearable," he said.

Garret Henson and Paul Hamilton tied for second among the Warrior golfers, each shooting a 268.

Hamilton fired a 94 in the first round, a 90 in the second round and an 84 at Alto.

Henson had an 85 in the first round, a 91 at Cree Meadows and a 92 in the final round.

Martin Espinosa shot a 274 for the tournament. He had a 93 at the Inn, a 91 at Cree Meadows and a 90 at Alto.

Patric Pearson had a 285 total. Pearson fired a 95 in the first round, a 96 at Cree Meadows and a 94 at Alto.

Darryl Clements led the Warrior B team with a 306 total.

Clements had a 102 in the first round, a 100 in the second and a 104 at Alto.

Phillip Wright shot a 323, including a 98 in the final round.

Scott Perceat had a 328 and Jody Pillar had a 332.

Warrior coach Gene Segura was satisfied with his team's play.

"The kids did well," he said. "We beat everybody from our district but Silver City."

"It was real cold. I think if it hadn't been so cold at Alto, the kids would have really enjoyed it there."

"Cree Meadows was probably the toughest for the kids because they had to come right back in the afternoon after 18 holes in the morning."

The Warriors will compete in the NMMI tournament Thursday in Roswell. Ruidoso will conclude the regular season Tuesday, May 7, in the Goddard Tournament in Roswell.

The Warriors still have a chance to qualify for the state tournament.

Ruidoso's Tommy Crow sinks a putt during second-round action of the Ruidoso Invitational at Cree Meadows Thursday afternoon. Crow had a three-round score of 255. He shot an 89 at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, an 85 at Cree Meadows and an 81 at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club.

Ethel Carroll recalls Ruidoso bank career

ETHEL CARROLL

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Business Writer

Banking in Ruidoso has changed a lot in 30 years, said Ethel Carroll, assistant vice president at Ruidoso State Bank (RSB). Carroll, who joined the bank on May 1, 1955, will retire from her job at the end of this month.

RSB opened in December of 1953, making Carroll almost a charter employee. She recalled how she came to work at the bank.

In 1955, she and her husband, Ogden Carroll, owned a restaurant and filling station on the land off Highway 70 (now the site of Sierra Blanca Motors). Ethel ran the local branch of the State Motor Vehicle Department from her store.

One day, she said, the bank officer and cashier came and asked her to work at RSB. At that time, the bank had only three officers (it now has 12), she said.

Over the years, Carroll has done "everything and anything," with the exception of teller work. She began as a bookkeeper and was the secretary to the first three bank presidents. Her present duties include accounts receivable, and keeping the minutes of the board meetings.

Bobbie Gay Williams, secretary to RSB president Buz Browning, said Carroll's versatility stemmed from her "old-time" training. Before the days of computers and specialization, everyone did everything.

Executive vice president Preston Isaacs expressed similar sentiments. Isaacs said he hated to see Carroll—a "good, loyal, longtime employee"—leave the bank.

"She's got lots of old friends. Lots of customers walk in and want to see Ethel," said Isaacs. Williams said many out-of-town visitors ask for Carroll every time they are in the bank.

Carroll has lived in Ruidoso since 1946. In that time, she has seen it change from a town with very few businesses and unpaved streets to the growing village it has become. She said her work at RSB became more complicated as the village grew.

For a while, RSB was the only bank in town. Carroll recalled the first time she ever set the bank vault.

"I mis-set the timer, and we had to go to Alamogordo to get change for the day," she laughed.

Carroll said she she felt banking was the "best type of work you could do." She said she loved every minute of her 30-year career at RSB.

The RUIDOSO BOARD OF REALTORS will sponsor a PROPERTY TAX FORUM at 2 p.m. Thursday, May 2, at the Ruidoso Public Library.

A panel of Lincoln County officials will be available to answer any tax-related questions. Panel members will be county manager Suzanne Cox, county commissioner Bill Elliott and county appraiser Paul Baca.

According to Gary Morris of the Board of Realtors, Lincoln County residents paid a total of $1,380,392 in property taxes last year.

The tax forum is part of Private Property Week, observed by Realtors nationwide from April 28 to May 4.

The New Mexico Real Estate Commission announced recently that STEPHEN FEY of Ruidoso Downs and CLYDE A. McDONALD of Ruidoso received passing grades in the real estate broker's exam held on March 23, 1985.

George W. Mitchell, president and chief executive officer of Pioneer Savings and Trust, F.A., announced the recent promotion of GRANT E. GIST to the position of vice president of the association.

Gist joined Pioneer in September 1978 as an appraiser. He assumed the position of branch manager at Pioneer's Ruidoso office in January 1978. Currently, Gist supervises both Ruidoso branches.

Prior to joining Pioneer, Gist was employed as a loan representative and later as the loan officer-branch manager of the Thunderbird Branch of Pioneer Mortgage Company in El Paso, Texas.

Gist received a bachelor's degree in business administration from New Mexico State University in Las Cruces.

Gist and his wife, Crystal, live in Alto. He is a member of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Rotary Club.

A.H. "Mac" McIlwain, manager of the RUIDOSO K-BOB'S, announced that the restaurant will celebrate their fifth anniversary on May 1.

McIlwain said he will observe the anniversary by going back to the menu of five years ago. Each day, for 15 days, he will feature a special steak at 1980 prices.

The Capitan Range

Monday, April 29, 1985

The Ruidoso News / 7A

Capitan finally has its own well of good running water. Celebrating the find are (from left) village trustee Benny Coker, Gary Keys of Roswell Drilling, Mayor David Cummins, Water Advisory Board chairman Vernon Goodwin and engineer Bill Atkins. The men are standing in front of the new well.

Capitan well produces good water at 650 gallons per minute

Atkins Landfair Engineering Company of Roswell discovered a "fantastic" well for the village of Capitan, said Vernon Goodwin, chairman of the Water Advisory Board.

The well, four miles east of Capitan, was drilled by RWS of Roswell. An underground stream was tapped at about 500 feet.

On April 25, Atkins directed the well be pumped. From the pump depth of 277 feet, the well produced about 650 gallons per minute.

"The well is of excellent quality water," said Goodwin.

"The village trustees are to be highly commended for their pioneer stamina to venture into a new field of discovery," Goodwin added.

According to Goodwin, the well could provide water to the lower pressure zone in downtown Capitan.

The village has two pressure zones. There is a difference of 350 feet in elevation in the distribution system. Eagle Creek water coming through the proposed filter plant will serve the upper zone and supplement the lower.

The village has $600,000 in grants to construct the new filter plant. The engineering firm of Asbury, Andrews and Roberts of Albuquerque drew up plans and helped Capitan procure the grants.

The problem now is getting the money to pipe the well water to Mayor David Cummins draws the first jug of water from Capitan's new well. The well pumps water at a rate of 650 gallons per minute.

town and distribute it, said Goodwin.

"Water is the life line of any community," said Goodwin.

Ken Reamy and Benny Coker are also water board members.

P&Z questions subdivision assessment

by DORIS CHERRY
News Capitan Bureau

The Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) held a special meeting with the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners Thursday night to discuss the assessment of subdivision lands and variances for noncomplying subdivision roads.

P&Z discussed how to assess the Karrville acreage in Carrizozo. P&Z chairman Ben Hall said the land was assessed as grazing land.

Hall said he felt the property owners in Karrville did not want to be classified as a subdivision because it would increase their property taxes.

P&Z member Walt Wilson said that under the state tax code, Karrville was still an illegal subdivision.

On March 28, the county commissioners rescinded the subdivision status of the Karrville properties. The property had been classified as a subdivision after Johnson Sterns of Carrizozo complied with a request from the attorney general to file a plat with the county.

Sterns had sold the properties separately, not as a subdivision. Because Sterns sold more than four parcels within three years, the properties became subject to subdivision classification.

Karrville property owners wanted to retain the grazing land tax status, even though the land was developed, said Hall. P&Z member Betty Schreengost asked if the parcels in Karrville were large enough to support grazing animals.

P&Z members said they felt it was unfair to taxpayers in legal subdivisions to pay higher taxes than taxpayers in illegal subdivisions, with properties assessed as grazing land.

According to state tax codes, the property owner must produce evidence, such as a Polaroid photograph, to support a claim of agricultural use, said county attorney Steve Sanders. The state statutes do not limit the size of subdivision parcels, he added.

P&Z suggested that in the future, the assessor's office should make property owners prove, with a picture, that the land will be used only for grazing. P&Z also suggested the office conduct on-site inspections whenever a landowner files for a grazing land assessment.

County manager Suzanne Cox said the assessor's office tried to check most requests.

"I feel like we have a good assessor's office," Cox said.

P&Z can offer only suggestions to the assessor's office, Hall said.

For Karrville to comply with state subdivision regulations, Sterns must have an approved plat of all the parcels within the subdivision, Sanders said. The plat must be signed by all property holders.

Property owners did not sign the plat that had been submitted previously, Sanders said. In order to get the plat recorded for Karrville, the county might have to go to court.

A problem with Stern's plat was the land descriptions, said Cox. Subdivisions are described as lots and blocks, but the Karrville land is described in metes and bounds.

P&Z directed Sanders to write to the state attorney general about how the Karrville land should be described, and report to P&Z at their next meeting, May 16.

Hall said P&Z did not want to see the other illegal subdivisions in the county refuse to comply with subdivision regulations because the county did not make Sterns comply.

In other business, P&Z unanimously recommended Joe Shain, of Pajo Technical Services, be retained as county engineer. P&Z commended Shain for his on-site inspections that have led to the discovery of many non-complying roads.

Hall questioned if variances should be granted to subdividers with cul-de-sacs that are platted 100 feet in diameter but actually measure less than required. Lincoln County subdivision regulations require cul-de-sacs to have 100 feet driving area, Cox said.

According to Sanders, the subdivider does not have to buy land from lot owners surrounding the cul-de-sacs if the turnaround is platted for 100 feet.

The lack of on-site inspections in the past has created the current variance problems, P&Z concluded.

Keller, other athletes reinstated

Otero County District Judge Sandra Grisham granted a preliminary injunction against the Capitan school district Friday, allowing Dewey Keller to participate in the remaining meets of the track season. The action took place at a hearing in Alamogordo.

Court reporter Janine Hallen confirmed Monday that Grisham had signed a preliminary injunction allowing Keller to participate in track. The hearing was requested by Richard Askew, attorney for Keller's mother, Gloria Wheeler, after the Capitan Board of Education upheld Keller's suspension at a public hearing last Tuesday.

Keller and two other athletes were suspended from participating in track events by Capitan school administrators two weeks ago. The suspension resulted from an incident on the return trip from a track meet at Dexter.

Superintendent Leonard Hays said Monday the two other athletes would be allowed to compete along with Keller. The Capitan school district was represented by attorney John Kennedy, Askew said. Principal Jay Dark testified. Superintendent Leonard Hays and board president Mark Delgado were present, but did not testify.

Keller, a senior, will be allowed to participate in the remaining track events this season, Askew said. Keller participated in a meet at Tularosa Friday, after the injunction was granted. According to Askew, Keller was taken to the meet by his parents and broke a school record in the javelin throw.

Capitan student Erik Fuchs (right) pets Muscles, the Boa Constrictor, as Zoo to You visits Capitan schools. Zoo volunteer Fran McGill holds the snake as the students venture to meet it.

Zoo to You brings animals to school

Fran McGill and Sue Sauer, Rio Grande Zoo volunteers, brought the Zoo To You program to Capitan schools recently.

The Zoo To You programs are sponsored by the New Mexico Zoological Society for the Rio Grande Zoo in Albuquerque and the Phelps Dodge Corporation.

After a slide show identifying animal species, the students were introduced to the animals in the program.

Birdley, the mina bird, made various noises ranging from a sneeze to the word "hello." Sarge, a marine toad that could grow to eight inches across, came from the Rio Grande valley.

Gertrude, a hedgehog from England, is like a porcupine because she has quills, but she's not related to the porcupine family.

The boa constrictor was named

Muscles. The children were told that the snake was six months old and would bite if anyone got too near his face.

The students were able to view the animals closely and touch them. The boa brought mixed reactions, but no one called him "slimy" after feeling him. He coiled himself on McGill's arm while the students felt him. Sauer held the hedgehog in a towel as the students felt her.

The Zoo To You program was presented to all the Capitan classes

LUBBOCK COULD GET MOUNTAIN BY BUCKET FROM NEW MEXICO
Editor, Avalanche-Journal:
I'm for the riverwalk. I'm for a mountain, too.
Actually, if West Texans really pulled together, we could steal one-half a mountain from New Mexico a few buckets at a time. They are so busy laughing at the tourists, they would never notice that we were bringing one-half a mountain home.
The federal government would do its usual matching grant or attempt to build its half. They would waste a lot of money. That would be terrific for the local economy.
We could demand their half face away from town because it would take a long time, generate cost overruns and end up looking very strange.

The New Mexicans have entrapped us, fleeced us of money, sneered at us, caused us gastric disorders, sold us Japanese rugs, rented us freezing rooms, convinced us of unneeded car repairs, enjoyed our broken legs and mocked our accents far too long. Let's bring home a mountain.

PAN AND PRI BOTH OUT OF TOUCH
During the past decades, the PRI government has largely abandoned the border region to its own fate.

Both PRI and PAN economic programs almost never take into account the multifaceted nature of border life. In fact, it is said that a Mexican point of view is nonexistent in the border region due to the enormous influence exerted by U.S. culture. The influence of the dollar in Mexico is not limited to buy/sell transactions. Its influence is felt in the work place, entertainment centers, food habits and fashion of border residents. As a result, the powerful influence the U.S. exerts on frontier life is a longstanding one. It is the consequence of a long history of neglect by the government and one that will not be easy to change. Political and economic neglect of the border region is practically historic. Therefore, a social program that will reactivate the border region is essential; one that will employ those out of work and provide the means to break the strong interdependence between the two countries.
—El Universal
U.S.-Mexico Report

There is one area that has been untouched, however, and it may well be untouchable: The free mail perks of senators and congressmen. Senator Charles Mathias (R-Md.) last month told Congress its members will use $111 million in free postage for mass mailings to constituents this year and the sum will reach $144 in 1986. That's almost $200,000 per officeholder, but Mathias said 12 senators were responsible for 50% of the Senate's mail output.
Since most of it is used to perpetuate an incumbent in office, it is an intolerable abuse of the privilege.

COPPING A PLEA
Plea bargaining—two words that are used day after day in our court system. Two words that have become nightmares for victims of violent criminal acts and a godsend for vicious and hardened criminals. Two words that can save money and time in a courtroom, but add years of frustration and fear in a victim's life. Two words that should be barred from our court system's vocabulary.
This writer is fed up with all of the criminals getting the breaks and all of the victims paying the price. When Bernard Goetz shot four kids on the subway in New York for trying to rob him, he became an instant hero. This obviously shows that the public is concerned with the lax attitude in our court systems. The message perceived here is "If nothing is going to happen to them after they are arrested, then we'll take care of it ourselves on the street." People are tired of being victimized.

Inside the Capitol by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Barbara Tuchman, in her latest book, called "The March of Folly," says words that might have been written about some who are running things in New Mexico today.
They go like this: "Wooden-headedness, the source of self-deception, is a factor that plays a remarkably large role in government. It consists in assessing a situation in terms of preconceived fixed notions while ignoring or rejecting any contrary signs. It is acting according to wish while not allowing oneself to be deflected by the facts. It is epitomized in a historian's statement about Philip II of Spain, the surpassing woodenhead of all sovereigns: 'No experience of failure of his policy could shake his belief in its essential excellence.'"
Does that sound like anybody you know?

David Roybal, press secretary to Governor Anaya, makes a good point about the man he works for being the lightning rod for all dissatisfied voters.
He bases the theory on a column written by David Ethann Greenberg for the Denver Post.
To adapt the Greenberg theory to local conditions: There's nothing you can do about your anger if it's aimed at the President Pro Tem of the Senate unless you live in his legislative district. But everybody in the state lives in the Governor's district, so everybody feels justified in coming down on him.
That's undoubtedly true.
This particular observer of the foibles of human conduct, however, has noted that no governor objects to being given credit for everything good that goes on in the state, no matter what its real source. It's only when the blame is being passed around that these guys start to weep about injustice.
Santa Fe landlords have an advantage over those in other parts of New Mexico. They have state government, and its need for space, as their pigeon.

Some work hard to turn that to their personal advantage.
For instance, ordinary citizens might not understand why the Energy and Minerals department, already short of room, would elect to move to smaller quarters. Even more perplexing, the rent will rise as a result of the move, and it can't be accomplished without spending an estimated $40,000 (our dollars) for moving the telephone system.
Clearly, there must be an explanation for such unbusinesslike procedure.
It could well be because the present landlord is an out-of-state corporation, while the new one will be Dickie Montoya, local politico who once ran the Public Service commission and still clearly has enough clout to make his building look desirable despite all logic.
Or take the case of the Tapia building, a small structure less than a block from the capitol that houses the Department of Education. It has been thought suitable for that purpose since 1975, but there was a sudden flurry of activity this year that appeared to be aimed at getting it outlawed.
After surprise examinations of the building by the Fire Marshal and an electrical engineer, Garfield Gutierrez, associate director of the Office of Education, recommended a move to more expensive (and considerably more luxurious) quarters in Santa Fe's La Esquina building.
The recommendation was not approved, for several reasons. One is that the Tapias had committed to improve everything the Fire Marshal ruled deficient. Another is the differential in rents. A third is that the building Mr. Gutierrez wanted to move to is half a mile from the capitol and hardly has adequate parking for its present tenants. The major one, however, is that the electrical engineer chosen to give an objective opinion on the Tapia set-up is the owner of the building into which the department wanted to move.
Not smart at all—but you can bet it won't keep the bureaucrats from trying more tricky stuff in the future.

Free mail perks
When Congress cut the U.S. Postal Service adrift and told it to become self-sufficient and apy its own way, it marked the beginning of the end for the theory on which the Postal Service was founded: The cheapest and fastest means of distribution and exchange of information for the benefit of the public. It was on that basis that Congress had underwritten as a public service the cost of the many postal services, particularly second class for newspapers and magazines. The services remain with varying degrees of efficiency but users are being called upon to pay more and more as the responsibility for public service is being denied.

"I wanna be a football DECA hero."

The lyric to that old song may have to be changed. Recently, Ruidoso DECA members have been getting the attention usually reserved for athletic heroes.

And deservedly so. If a high school football program had the kind of track record Eddie Parker has established in his 12 years with DECA here, Eddie would have one of those $100,000 a year coaching jobs you hear about in Texas (and Artesia).

Unfortunately, the system does not reward DECA teachers so liberally. Parker does have the satisfaction of knowing that through DECA, he has helped prepare many, many students for life beyond high school.

A contingent of two dozen Ruidoso High DECA students departs this afternoon for San Francisco, California, and the national finals of Distributive Education Clubs of America competition.

With them goes Ruidoso News reporter Frankie Jarrell, who will file stories on the event from the Golden Gate city.

How well our representatives do at nationals is almost beside the point, however. The fact that Ruidoso High School makes up fully one-third of the New Mexico delegation to nationals, that the students earned the right to go and earned the money to go themselves—that is reward enough.

To Eddie Parker and his national DECA team, we say congratulations on a job well done. Ruidoso is proud of you.—TP

Reporter's Round

By Frankie Jarrell

I really didn't think it would happen to me. I'm a careful driver. Some of my friends have even heard me boast that I always adhere to traffic laws.
Well, nearly always.
Lately, though I've scheduled some of my days so tightly that speeding has been a real temptation. A deserted road made the temptation just too hard to resist the other day.
I gripped the steering wheel a little tighter, firmly depressed the accelerator of my little Eagle, and off I flew. As the mother of a teenage son, I should never admit this, but it felt pretty good.
It didn't feel so good as I rounded a curve to see a brown-and-white suburban with lights on top parked beside the road. The lights began to flash even before I passed the police car.
That really didn't feel so good. My heart dropped to my toes, and I steered the car onto the side of the road and stopped. Should I leave the motor running?
I know it sounds silly but running away crossed my mind. That's an especially absurd idea in an Eagle—floorboard the poor little thing and it will make 50 miles per hour.
Do I have my driver's license? I rummaged through my camera bag. My hands were shaking (really!) Will he take me straight to jail if it's not here?
The flashing lights reflected off my rearview mirror as the officer pulled up close behind me and stopped. Why does it take him so long to stop, get out of his car and arrest me?
He's probably trying to scare me ... it's working. At least I have more time to find my license.
Here it is, right where it belongs. Thank goodness.
Here he comes. I'd better roll down the window—should I get out? Maybe not.
Gulp! I turn my head, look out the window and right into the eyes of "Tootsie" Tiano. In case you missed the recent Ms? Ruidoso Pageant, Traffic Officer Joe Tiano was a contestant and competed in a Playboy bunny outfit.
Since "Tootsie" was my favorite for Ms? Ruidoso, I was amazed to see this tall, tough looking policeman with her/his eyes. I felt better for a second.
"Hi, Tootsie," I said with a big smile.
This "Tootsie" was all business. He stood behind me so that I had to turn sideways to see him.

Officer Tiano instructed me to hand him my license. He wasn't smiling.
"The reason I stopped you, ma'am, was because I clocked you driving (I'll never tell) in a 35 zone," he said.
What could I say?
He inspected my driver's license. "Do you have proof of insurance," Tiano asked politely.
I quickly reached across and opened the glove compartment to show the insurance card. That was another tense moment. Tiano backed up a step and watched carefully.
The card was right on top, I handed it over, he took a quick look and returned it to me.
As our get-together was coming to a close, I reached for my license. Tiano pulled back. Oops! He wasn't quite finished with it.
When Tiano gave back my license, cautioned me to be careful and returned to his unit, I took a deep breath. My heart was still pounding.
You may have figured out by now, that I have had few encounters with traffic officers—none for the past four years. It occurred to me that Tiano seemed a little nervous, too.
And why shouldn't he be?
Dave Pfeffer of the Ruidoso Police Department told me that the "highest area of officer shootings is everyday traffic stops." Captain Pfeffer explained that those guys have good reason to be nervous.
I asked Pfeffer to give some advice on the best way to behave if stopped by an officer. He said the first thing the officer watches for as he or she approaches the car are "any strange movements."
Maybe my nervous rummaging through my camera bag looked suspicious to Tiano. Pfeffer said I did the correct thing in staying in the car, though.
Here's his advice:
1. Sit quietly in your car.
2. Put your hands on the steering wheel.
3. Wait and follow the officer's instructions about when to hand over driver's license and insurance papers.
Pfeffer also explained that officers are trained to stand back so that a driver must turn sideways to converse with them. You never know when you may have stopped a "bad guy with a gun."
As for me, I won't be needing Pfeffer's advice for a good long while. I'm slowing down.

Ruidoso is proud of DECA students

by FRANKIE JAHRELL
News Staff Writer

Ruidoso is proud of the Ruidoso High School (RHS) chapter of Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA). The program has an excellent reputation with educators, parents and employers throughout the village.

Buz Browning, president of Ruidoso State Bank, said the financial institution had been hiring DECA students for at least 12 years. He plans to continue that tradition.

"I'm a tremendous proponent of the DECA program," Browning said. "I think it's great."

"We've been so high on DECA that we've always helped ... we supplemented them a lot financially in the first few years, but they've become more self-supporting now."

Browning said the bank hires DECA students because "they are kids that are interested in business." He added that the students always have been dependable employees.

Dependability is a quality listed by other firms that hire DECA students as part-time employees.

"You'll find that they're the most dependable teen-aged employees you can find," said Greg Snyder, manager of McDonald's.

"They have a lot more drive and want to advance," Snyder observed. He said RHS DECA teacher Eddie Parker instructs students on what bosses expect, and that makes a big difference when they enter the work force.

Jim Atwood, president of Moncor in Ruidoso, says the "DECA program does wonders for students." Moncor hires DECA students, and is paying the expenses for a current student employee to attend the national meeting in San Francisco this week.

Atwood went to the state convention in Albuquerque as a parent sponsor. He endorses DECA as a businessman and a parent.

"I wish everyone could have been there," he said enthusiastically. "Ruidoso absolutely swept that thing away."

Atwood gives Parker credit for preparing students extremely well and then getting them enthusiastic enough to to their very best.

"He's three times the best DECA instructor I've ever encountered," Atwood said.

Other parents are as impressed with DECA as Atwood. Lee Rhodes, an RHS teacher and the mother of Mitch and Robin Rhodes, says the course is the best thing a person can take to prepare for college and employment.

Robin is an RHS graduate, and Mitch is headed to DECA nationals for the third straight year. Eva Clarke attributes much of her son's success to DECA. Eva Clarke is a Nob Hill Elementary School kindergarten teacher, and her son Mike Clarke was a national winner when RHS DECA competed in Anaheim, California.

Mike completed his bachelor's degree at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Texas, and is in Naval Officer Candidate School. He worked for a Lubbock television station while still in school.

"I really give DECA and Eddie Parker a lot of credit for Mike's ability to speak in front of groups," Eva Clarke said.

Debbie Clarke was a DECA student in 1976, and went to nationals as a voting delegate.

"It was one of the best things that ever happened to me," Debbie said. Debbie is working in Ruidoso now after receiving a bachelor's degree from New Mexico State University.

An advantage Debbie listed for students is "being able to work and go to school."

"It gets you ready for the business world," she added.

RHS principal Tom Hansen is proud of the group going to San Francisco. "Any other school has the same opportunity we do," Hansen said.

Why does RHS do so much better than schools much bigger?

Editor's Note:

Fourth in a continuing series.

"WHAT IS DECA?"

ter than schools much bigger?

"At RHS it's special primarily because of Eddie Parker," Hansen said. College-bound students as well as working students with no college plans learn to perform in front of others. That skill is an asset in DECA interviews, college classes and adult life.

"DECA continues to provide technical and practical experience for the youth of today who will be the business leaders of tomorrow," commented Mike Gladden, assistant superintendent of Ruidoso Municipal Schools.

Students, ex-students, parents, educators and businessmen all agree that RHS DECA is an enhancement to Ruidoso and Ruidoso High School. They all join in saying, "Good luck in San Francisco to Ruidoso High School DECA!"

Year of the Apricot?
Often I have mentioned "the largest apricot tree" and, if you will forgive me, I will briefly go over its history once more.

Offentimes if you will notice closely, hidden down in the trunks of the large cedar bushes you will see tiny pinon saplings growing, patiently waiting year after year for their chance to grow up—for something to happen, really, to the cedar bush.

Once in a great while you will see other tiny trees, no bigger than twigs, hidden among the cedar trunks or low-growing branches, seeming to be coming right out of the ground.

About 1945, it must have been, a grass fire broke out just south of the house and burned a large cedar bush to the ground before the fire could be brought under control.

Somehow, by a miracle, a little sprig of an apricot sprout about nine inches high, that had been hiding in the center of the cedar bush, had survived the fire. Through the years it grew until now it is fifteen or twenty feet high. Every spring it is a picture of solid blooms. And yet, in all these years not one apricot bloom made it through the late frosts.

This year, all the Children of Mother Earth had unusual strength, due more than likely to the abundant snow and other moisture during the past winter.

Sometimes this apricot tree will send out all its blooms at once—especially if an unusually hot spell comes along. Once in a while, though, it will send out blooms in waves, no doubt thinking that if this bunch does not make it through maybe the next will.

This spring the tree sent out wave after wave, as the warm days were followed by a cold snap. Finally, after it seemed that the last wave of the blooms had been laid low by the frost, here, high and way out on the end of a limb, all by itself, long after the normal blooming season, appeared a little spray of white blooms, looking strangely lonely and seeming to say, "Let's win one for the Ridge Runner."

And sure enough, here are two small apricots, swinging proudly in the western gale, high on their waving branch, the first in the entire life of the forty-year-old tree.

Mable Wimberly
It was comforting to be present at such a fond tribute for Mrs. Mable A. Wimberly, held at the Ruidoso First Presbyterian Church on Thursday, April twenty-five.

The Reverend Winston Presnell took his text from the Book of Proverbs, in the last chapter, where reference is made to a Godly Wife, that "her children rise up and call her blessed."

Indeed Mable was a blessing in all our lives: as a charter member of the Ruidoso First Presbyterian Church; as postmaster of the Hollywood post office for twenty-seven years; and as a true Christian friend.

Especially inspiring was the prelude music played by organist Donna Willard; and a solo, "The Lord's Prayer," sung by Louise Harrah, was a very beautiful touch to the services.

Two hymns were sung by the congregation: "Just A Closer Walk With Thee" and "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

I have known Mable and her husband, Lee, and her sons, Jim and Ed, for many years, and have counted them great friends.

When either Lee or Mable would see me at the store there near their home, they never failed to ask me in to dinner. I will always remember their stories about their early pioneer life out on the plains of West Texas when they lived in a dugout not very distant from Lubbock, which in those days was just "a handful of houses and a store."

I met Mable at the Hollywood Food Mart the day before she was called home. She had just returned from a visit down in Texas and was in great spirits. She gave me an affectionate hug, saying she was glad to be back home.

And now Mable has gone on to Our Heavenly Home where she has been reunited with Lee, and has met Our Lord whom she served so faithfully while here among us.

Jim Paul Whipple Begins his Career as an Acolyte
It was a very special day at Saint Anne's Chapel in Glencoe on Sunday, April twenty-eight.

Jim Paul Whipple, eight-year-old son of Craig Whipple and Annette Jones Whipple, after having been a faithful member of the Episcopal church all his life, began his career as an acolyte in the church.

I could not help but feel that his great-grandmother, Mrs. Mary Louise Whipple, who was recently called Home by Our Lord, was happy, looking down from Heaven, to see her fine little great-grandson taking this step so early in his life. The early members of Saint Anne's Church, the Tullys, the Storms, the Bonnells, the Coes and all the others, are also rejoicing in Heaven.

Jim Paul is a direct descendant of the pioneer Coes through his mother, Nellie Ruth Jones, and his grandmother, Helena Coe LeMay.

Jim Paul is acolyte number three to begin serving at Saint Anne's Chapel, the other two being Jessica and Brand Bonnell, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Nosker. We are all proud and grateful that these young people, all descendants of the founders of Saint Anne's Church, have brought this blessing.

Obituaries

Milton Morris Parkhurst

Milton Morris Parkhurst of Ruidoso Downs died Friday, April 26, at his home, following a lengthy illness.

Other survivors include a brother, S. B. Martin of Sweetwater, Texas, plus 14 grandchildren and many great-grandchildren.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday, April 29, in Clarke's Chapel of Roses, with Mr. Buell Lindley officiating. Interment will be at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Her grandsons will be pallbearers. Arrangements are by Clarke's Chapel of Roses Mortuary.

Police organization forms

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

Area police officers have formed the first local chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police, announced New Mexico State Police officer Steve Standridge.

Sierra Blanca Lodge 26 was formed April 16. Chapter president Standridge said the non-profit group is made up of members of law enforcement organizations from all over Lincoln County. Its first goal will be to make the public aware of the organization and its services.

Standridge said sponsoring youth sports and activities and improving relations between the community and police organizations are emphasized by the group.

The president said expanding the membership will be stressed. Officers from all police agencies and of all ranks are encouraged to join the organization.

The Sierra Blanca Lodge will attempt to help law enforcement agencies work well together, Standridge said. Supporting lobbyists in state and federal government workings is a function of the nationwide organization.

Standridge reported that about $40,000 was spent on lobbyists in New Mexico last year for support of police-related legislation. The recent toughening of DWI (driving while intoxicated) legislation resulted from such efforts, the officer said.

Business owners, too, can join the organization. Standridge said an associate membership is available for $25. The membership includes a door sticker and a certificate stating the member's participation in the organization.

Standridge said public support of the organization is vital. Support from members of local law enforcement groups is building.

"I was surprised at the enthusiasm of all the agencies," Standridge said. The group will meet the first Tuesday of each month at 7 p.m. Meetings for now are being held in the Ruidoso Police-Courts Complex, but Standridge said a permanent meeting place is sought.

NOTICE is hereby given that on April 8, 1985, the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico, in Cause Number CV-84-317, styled "Ruidoso State Bank v. Alfred D. Dillingham and Pauline Dillingham," entered its Judgment and Decree of Foreclosure in favor of the Ruidoso State Bank, the Plaintiff in said cause, and against Alfred D. Dillingham and Pauline Dillingham in the amount of $25,871.09, plus interest thereon at the rate of 17%, attorney's fees in the amount of $2,587.20, costs in the amount of $162.50, together with interest thereon at the rate of 17% per annum from date of Judgment until paid; and further decreed foreclosure of the mortgage of Plaintiff and ordered the undersigned as Special Master, to sell at public sale the property covered by said mortgage to satisfy the aforesaid judgment, said property being situated in Lincoln County, New Mexico, and being more particularly described as follows:

Lot 8, and 7, Block 1, PAWN RIDGE SUBDIVISION, Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico, as shown on the official plat filed in the office of the County Clerk and Ex-Officio Recorder, Lincoln County, New Mexico.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that on the 24th day of May, 1985, at 2:00 P.M. on the steps of Village of Ruidoso Administrative Building, the undersigned, as Special Master, will sell the above-described property to the highest bidder for cash to satisfy the judgment of the Ruidoso State Bank against the Defendants Alfred D. Dillingham and Pauline Dillingham, in the amounts above set forth to which shall be added at the time of the sale the balance of the costs of the action, if any, and the costs of sale, including a Special Master's fee. The time of said sale may be postponed in the event that the Special Master, in his judgment, deems it advisable.

Dated this 18th day of April, 1985.

Week of April 28-May 4

© By Lillian Bono *****

ARIES

(March 21-April 20) Your instinct to protect yourself may be so strong that you block out some potentially beneficial elements. Try to find the middle ground. Don't be a patsy, but don't be too harsh either.

TAURUS

(April 21-May 21) You will find yourself attracted to someone who shares in many of the same interests that you have. Ease into a budding romance. Don't overwhelm a potential lover with questions.

GEMINI

(May 22-June 21) Be open and up front with your feelings to avoid a misunderstanding. Be willing to answer questions without first becoming defensive. You will have time to yourself at the end of the week.

CANCER

(June 22-July 23) Your customary cheerful disposition will be on the outs this week. Try to accomplish tasks which require independent work. You will get back to your old self by the weekend.

LEO

(July 24-Aug. 23) The week will feel long as you look at all you have to accomplish in such a short period of time. Make a list and mark off your accomplishments as you go along for best results.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24-Sept. 23) This is the week to confront realities and make decisions to act where action is needed. Remove blinders that have been keeping you from discovering some important truths.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24-Oct. 23) Outside circumstances will stifle your creativity early in the week. Do not become too discouraged. Your imagination will be as good as new come Thursday.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24-Nov. 23) You will begin to seek out a new area of study in order to broaden your own horizons. Examine all options before making a choice. Seek out a friend's advice over personal matters.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You will feel the urge to resolve a long-time quarrel that has existed between your sibling and yourself. Pain will ultimately lead to pleasure later in the week.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22-Jan. 20) Try to avoid a sticky legal confrontation if it can be helped. You may find that a resolution can be made through rational thought and reasonable conversation.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21-Feb. 19) You may be inspired to pick up and take off for a quick vacation. Try to be practical and weigh the consequences of your behavior. If it fits into your current schedule, do it.

PISCES

(Feb. 20-March 20) Don't spend the week looking over your shoulder. Feel confident in past decisions. Begin to plan for your future. Watch for opportunities later in the week.

Walters visits Lunden

By Amanda Bruce

Broadcast journalist Barbara Walters joins Joan Lunden on cable this week to talk about her relationship with her daughter. The Walters-Lunden "Mother's Day" episode will air May 10 on Lifetime. Halfway through the show, host and guest switch roles, and Miss Walters interviews Miss Lunden and Miss Lunden's mother, who drops by to talk about their mother-daughter relationship.

Believe it or not, the sunny, smiling co-host of ABC's "Good Morning America" was once a rebellious child.

The Arts & Entertainment Network has announced the acquisition of 13 operas, six of them by Mozart, from the annual Glyndebourne Festival. Some of the divas slated to appear are Kiri Te Kanawa, Dame Janet Baker, Ileana Cotrubas and Frederica von Stade.

Later this month, on May 30, "I Live for Art - Tosca" will present profiles of some of the women who have played Tosca. Robert Merrill hosts the program, in which clips of 16 divas, including Maria Callas and Montserrat Caballe, will be featured.

Last, but hardly least,

Lena Horne

cable viewers get another chance to catch the video version of Lena Horne's Broadway show, "Lena Horne: The Lady and Her Music," which airs May 5 on The Arts & Entertainment Network. (It aired on Showtime in March of 1984.) The award-winning singer (she won a Tony, a Drama Desk award and honors from the New York Drama Critics Circle for this performance) sizzles through an amazing three hours in this one-woman show.

The songs she performs as she talks about her life and career include "Stormy Weather," "From This Moment On" and "Can't Help Lovin' That Man." She's a formidable performer and can switch from the comic to the dead serious in moments. And she's still gorgeous.

This is entertainment at its best.

Deborah Raffin in "Lace II" role

By Wendy Wallace

In last season's hit, "Lace," young international sex symbol Lili (Phoebe Cates) discovered which of three boarding-school chums was her mother. This Sunday, May 5 and Monday, May 6 on ABC, "Lace II" picks up where "Lace I" left off.

Lili's mother, Judy Jordan, is kidnapped by rebels in a war-torn country, and a penniless Lili desperately turns to her mother's closest friends. Together, they launch a search to determine which of three wealthy men — an American astronaut (James Read), an Arab king (Anthony Higgins) and a distinguished European conductor (Patrick Ryecart) — is Lili's father. Their only hope is to wheedle — or blackmail — the ransom money out of him.

Four of the story's original stars — Brooke Adams, Arielle Dombasle, Anthony Higgins and Miss Cates — will re-create their roles. Deborah Raffin joins the cast as Lili's mother, Judy.

As the newest cast member, Miss Raffin had fewer problems than she had feared filling the role previously played by Bess Armstrong.

"Initially, I was worried that they wanted me to emulate the character from last year. But I did my own interpretation and found it wonderful that I was given that kind of freedom.

"I found Judy to be a terrific character. She's very different from anything that I've ever done."

And while Miss Raffin's co-stars had previously worked together, she managed to form a close relationship with them.

"I've always admired Brooke Adams and her work. And although I did not know Phoebe Cates beforehand, I got to like her. I hope that our friendship is reflected on the screen."

Movie Nostalgia

By Lynn Hoogenboom

The Hollywood musical was on a decline in 1962 when "The Music Man" was produced, but it doesn't show on the screen.

"The Music Man" is the story of a fast-talking traveling salesman who convinces the good folks of River City, Iowa, that only a boy's band — with himself as the leader — can save their sons from the evil influence of a pool hall.

The problem? "Professor" Harold Hill doesn't know one note of music.

The story may be a trifle wispy, but it's bolstered by a terrific score. Composer Meredith Willson pulled out all the stops, and songs like "76 Trombones," "Marian the Librarian," and "Trouble" pop up all over.

The cast includes Robert Preston as the band leader/con-artist, Shirley Jones as the librarian with a reputation; Buddy Hackett as Preston's confederate, Paul Ford as River City's pompous mayor and Hermione Gingold as his self-righteous wife.

But the best thing about "The Music Man" is that somehow — even though it was produced in an era in which the bloated musical was becoming commonplace — it doesn't have an ounce of pretension.

Question: What "Music Man" duet was recorded by the Beatles?

Answer: "Till There Was You"

NEW TO 'LACE' — Deborah Raffin plays Judy Jordan in "Lace II," Sunday, May 5 and Monday, May 6 on ABC.

Clarke doesn't mind taking a few gambles

By Peter Meade

Actors sometimes have to gamble, and no one knows that better than Brian Patrick Clarke. About three years ago, he was offered a role on daytime's "General Hospital." His agents urged him to turn it down.

"They felt it was a step backward," explains Clarke, who had already been a regular on two nighttime series — the short-lived "Delta House" and "Eight Is Enough." "But I felt that my career was in trouble, so I took the gamble."

Clarke's stint at "General Hospital" turned out to be considerably more than he had bet on.

Take the eight months the handsome Yale graduate spent portraying two characters. It was enough just to play Grant Andrews, whom Clarke refers to as "Mr. All-American Nice Guy." Switching back and forth between Grant Andrews and evil look-alike Grant Putnam was exhausting.

"It was originally only supposed to last one month," Clarke says, "then it was two. I was glad when the other guy was put in the nut house. I just hope he stays there — forever."

But Clarke doesn't plan to stick around "General Hospital" quite that long. When 1985 ends, Clarke says, so will his three years on daytime television. He's ready to gamble again.

"I'm antsy," admits the Gettysburg, Pa., native, who now lives outside Los Angeles with his wife, Kaye, and their 5-year-old son, Cary Ryan. "I'm ready to compete for other roles."

One thing Clarke isn't considering is a switch from daytime to nighttime soaps.

"They're not what I want to do," he explains. "I want a two- or three-person show where I have to carry more of the ball. I'd like to do a comedy, but there aren't a lot of possibilities since my type of comedy isn't a sitcom. It's sophisticated comedy."

"Who knows, I may be unemployed. Now that would be the ultimate challenge."

CAT'S EYE (PG-13-MGM/UA) Starring Drew Barrymore, Robert Hays, Candy Clark. ★ ★

By J.T. YURKO

There are probably hundreds of little tales of wonder, horror and fantasy — the kind that aren't quite rich enough for a full-blown screenplay but are fully capable of chilling your bones for 30 minutes.

"Cat's Eye" is a collection of three of these sorts of tales, all written by suspense-master Stephen King. They are loosely tied together by a cat, who finally gets into the center of the action in Part 3.

If you ever really wanted to quit smoking, you'll be glad you never went to a place called Quitters, Inc., a clinic that practices a very different form of anti-smoking therapy. Alan King is the maniacal Dr. Donatti, the head of the clinic who doesn't quite live up to the Hippocratic oath.

Do heights sometimes scare you? The second segment, in which Robert Hays matches wits with Kenneth McMillan, is an acrophobic's nightmare.

Hays is a former tennis player with a more-than-casual interest in McMillan's wife. McMillan offers Hays his wife under one condition. "Walk around the outside of this apartment on a 5-inch ledge, and if you make it I throw in a small fortune as well."

This one will have you gripping the armchair in the theater, even though King takes a few light moments to dispense with a pesky pigeon.

By now a veteran Stephen King performer, child-star Drew Barrymore is the star of tale No. 3. She plays a girl who can't quite convince her parents that there's a 6-inch beastie who comes out of her wall every night. (And he's not coming out to read her bedtime stories.)

King and director Lewis Teague let you know they mean business in "Cat's Eye." (One of the tales includes a rather gory beheading scene.) But the characters are finely drawn and acted, and King strikes the right balance between fun-house horror and "dead"-pan humor.

And that cat's performance deserves some sort of feline Academy Award.

Soap Beat

Meek hopes 'Search' is start of something big

By Nancy M. Reichardt

Jeffrey Meek

"Being in New York City is like the beginning of something wonderful," says Jeffrey Meek, who joined the cast of "Search for Tomorrow" as Quinn McCleary two months ago.

For Meek, who was born in Fairfield, Calif., but grew up all over the United States and Europe, landing his first recurring role on a New York-based soap was something of a dream come true.

"I'm hip on California's weather, but I like living and working in New York City a lot," says Meek, who has found more of a community feeling among the actors he's worked with on the East Coast.

And for an actor whose first love is the theater, New York is the place to be.

"I would absolutely love to do some theater in New York when the right time comes," Meek enthuses. "I think that right now I have a job (on "Search for Tomorrow") that might allow me to work in the theater. I've had a 20-year dream about doing that."

In the meantime, Meek is spending his spare time taking dance classes, studying voice and staying in touch with his wife, Jana Bruce, who stayed behind in California where she owns and runs a business.

Of his character, Meek says: "Quinn might be the black sheep of the family, but he's not a black-and-white character. Quinn has a lot of strength. He's worked hard for what he's gotten out of life, and yet he comes out of things with a sense of humor. He's a forward-moving character, which is good for a half-hour show."

Because of a head-writer and producer change, Meek had to revise some of the character choices he'd made for Quinn when he first started playing the role. "I do have a lot of freedom with my character," Meek says, "But I hope that Quinn will soon have a new love interest to spark things up a bit."

Jeffrey Meek seems to be in the right place. And he's certainly willing to give it his all.

★ FAME ★

CHILLER — Michael Beck, Beatrice Straight and Paul Sorvino star in the supernatural suspense drama "Chiller," which airs Wednesday, May 8 on CBS.

Michael Beck

Beck plays Miles Creighton, a cryogenically frozen man who is brought back to life after 10 years. But as Miles resumes life, those who were closest to him are disturbed by certain sinister changes.

"I think 'Chiller' is along the lines of Alfred Hitchcock," Beck says of the drama. "I found it challenging because I've never done anything near Hitchcock."

To avoid stereotyping, Beck picks his roles carefully. "It's up to the actor to be selective," he says.

JEANNIE RETURNS — Barbara Eden will return as the magical, enchanting Jeannie, and as her conniving genie sister, Jeannie II, in an NBC TV movie, "I Dream of Jeannie: 15 Years Later." The movie, scheduled to be broadcast later this year, will pick up where the popular 1960s NBC series left off — with Jeannie struggling to save her mortal marriage from the schemes of her supernatural cohorts.

After 15 years of "mortal" marital bliss, Jeannie is forced to use her magical powers when her sister and Hajj, chief of the mystical Djinn, try to break up her marriage. This upsets her 'famous astronaut husband, Tony, to no end, and against Jeannie's wishes, he takes just one more space mission. But before he leaves, the couple agrees to a trial separation.

Left a single working mother at age 2000, Jeannie can't keep her powers in check, especially when her son, T.J., discovers his true ancestry.

Barbara Eden

BEL GEDDES TO RESUME ROLE — Barbara Bel Geddes, who left "Dallas" after she had open-heart surgery and was replaced by Donna Reed, will return as Miss Ellie when the top-rated series begins its eighth season on CBS this fall. Her role in "Dallas" won her an Emmy Award in 1980.

VIDEO SCENE

A new Frankie Goes to Hollywood song

By Barton Weiss

On Beyond 'Relax'
 After bombarding us with five versions of "Relax," Frankie Goes to Hollywood has finally moved on to another song.

The band's new clip, "Welcome to the Pleasure Dome," opens with some boys stealing a car outside a nightclub from which — guess what? — "Relax" is blaring. The next sequence resembles the road-hogs scene from "A Clockwork Orange," and the finale looks like a combination of several Fellini films mixed with some old "Relax" clips.

This band's creativity seems to be diminishing as its budgets expand.

jeans he donned in his Creedence Clearwater Revival days, and he gets his message — that things may have changed a bit, but his music is basically the same — across quite nicely.

Different worlds

"Voices Carry," the first video from 'Till Tuesday, captures the spirit of a doomed relationship. (He's a stuffed shirt; she's a free-spirited rock 'n' roll girl.) If you've ever dreamed of shouting out against high culture, you'll love the finale, in which our heroine, in defiance of her nervous boyfriend and the stuffed shirts in a concert hall, sings out — loudly.

Around the dial

On Saturday night (May 11), MTV will unleash two hot-rocking bands — Los Lobos and the Blasters. They were recorded live at New York's Ritz last April. This concert is worth staying home to catch.

Still the same
 John Fogerty's new clip, "Rock and Roll Girls," is a no-nonsense studio performance. It starts out in black and white, implying old footage, and slowly turns to color. Fogerty wears the flannel shirt and

Jim Price of ESPN talks college baseball

By Adam Beckerman

You don't have to be a fanatic to watch college baseball on ESPN. Maybe you're an alumnus of the scheduled team. Or maybe you've got a brother on the squad. Or maybe you're just curious — although curious owners of fantasy-league baseball franchises, eager to scope out young, aluminum-wielding talent, represent a novel brand of fanaticism.

If you do tune in on Sunday, May 5, watch Pete Incaviglia swing the bat. The muscular Oklahoma State senior leftfielder is a good bet to be a No. 1 pick in the upcoming amateur draft. He and his Cowboy teammates will host the Nebraska Cornhuskers in Stillwater. Jim Price, a catcher on the 1968 World Series-winning Tigers and now ESPN's college baseball analyst, has watched Incaviglia improve during the last four years. Price attributes Incaviglia's sharpened skills to the exemplary coaching now found around the college ranks.

"When Pete first came to OSU," says Price, "he was strictly a fastball hitter. Now he's an offspeed hitter as well, who can adjust to breaking balls and changeups. He doesn't just hit. He knows why he's hitting, or why he isn't. He's learned enough along the way so that on the next level, when he goes into a slump, he'll be able to monitor himself and detect any changes in his swing."

Price has covered college ball for ESPN since 1981, when the station began airing the double-elimination College World Series from Omaha. Now that ESPN's regular-season package has expanded to 15 games, Price could be considered higher education's most regularly scheduled college baseball spokesman. He compares the quality of ball played in college to that of the minors this way:

"The best college teams could step in and hold their own against Double A squads. They don't have the all-around abilities most Double A teams do. But a Ron Frazier team from Miami, or a Gary Ward OSU team would not beat themselves. You watch these men train athletes; they're running baseball academies. In the pros" — Price was a product of the Pirate farm system before being traded to Detroit in '67 — "there's little time for real teaching. You're so busy playing games, traveling to games, and playing more games. But in college, teaching has evolved into a science. Gary Ward could talk three or four hours on hitting technique, explaining something like the inner-flow of the power base. That would leave you scratching your head."
