Airport report prefers Site B

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

The Environmental Assessment (EA), long-awaited as the official go-ahead for the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport, was made public Thursday, November 14, the same day members of the Ruidoso Airport Liaison Committee were in Albuquerque to meet with representatives of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

The implementation of the preferred alternative at Site B on Fort Stanton Mesa is the FAA preferred alternative, "was the announcement contained in the inch-thick document, prepared under the direction of the U.S. Department of Transportation, Federal Aviation Administration."

Besides a thorough review of the four alternatives considered during the EA research and investigation stages, the federal document contains extensive information gathered by EnviroSphere, Inc., the company that contracted to prepare the EA. Maps, charts and tables on the proposed airport and the four alternatives are included in the EA.

According to the EA the Ruidoso Municipal Airport does not meet FAA design standards, and efforts to change present facilities have been continuing since 1961.

In addition to the preferred alternative, which has been endorsed by the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission, the assessment lists other choices as: no action, replacement at Site A on Fort Stanton Mesa, expansion at current site and elimination of the airport.

Details for rejecting the no action, expansion and elimination alternatives are explained in the EA. Environmental consequences for all alternatives are also contained in the document.

Positive impacts of the replacement alternative include "increased opportunities to view a highly scenic landscape, more intensive use of the existing airport site, improved air travel opportunities to the region and opportunities for substantial regional economic development," according to the EA.

EA investigators discovered a specimen of an endangered plant species, Kuenzler's Hedgehog Cactus, just outside of the southern boundary of Site B. Even though the plant is not typical of the Fort Stanton Mesa environment, additional information will be gathered before airport construction begins, according to the document.

Although the statement foresees "substantial negative impacts" due to the disturbance of the large area of the new sight, the EA adds that they might be eliminated by careful and consistent application of available construction mitigation techniques, including timely and successful reclamation.

However, it would also eliminate the inadequacies of the existing airport and allow full air service support and contribution to economic expansion of the region."

continues the report.

On the positive side, the EA stated that moving the airport from its current site would eliminate noise impacts there and "allow more space-intensive commercial/residential land use of the existing airport land, the last prime developable site near Ruidoso."

The future of that land was the topic of a Thursday meeting between the Airport Liaison Committee and Bill Howard of the FAA. John Underwood, village attorney, serves as chairman of the committee, but was unavailable for comment late Sunday.

Ruidoso Village Councilors Rick Evans and Bill Karn were present at the meeting along with Frank Potter, assistant village manager, Tim Morris, Ruidoso Municipal Airport manager, Jerry Trujillo, environmental specialist with FAA, and Howard.

"The village has a few options," said Karn, who added that the meeting basically concerned what Ruidoso is expected to put into the new airport. Karn said several options were discussed that will now be presented to the governing body.

Karn said the FAA has a policy under which the village is expected to sell the current airport land at current market value and dedicate funds from that sale to the building of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. Karn stressed that the requirement is a "policy" rather than federal law.

"They (FAA officials) basically indicated that they're ready for us to formulate a plan to dispose of the land (current airport site)," said Evans Sunday. Evans indicated that an appraisal of the current airport lands is the next step for the village.

"They're (FAA) expecting us to come up with fair market values," he added.

The EA listed anticipated costs for replacement of the current airport at $18,205,000 for Phase I, $12,123,000 for Phase II and $18,913,000 for Phase III.

Karn said that the village is expected to pay a certain percentage of those costs, with the FAA paying for the rest. He explained that for some kinds of construction and equipment the village will pay as little as 10 percent, and in some cases the village will be expected to pay as much as 40 percent.

"We want to make sure that we're allowed to fast-track the construction on Phase I," said Karn, adding that village officials may need help from state and federal elected officials in seeing that "discretionary funds are free-flowing."

"We're trying all funding sources," remarked Karn, who stressed the urgency of removing the danger to the Ruidoso schoolchildren of having the airport at its present site.

"We're just looking to be treated as good as other communities," said Karn, noting, incidentally, that the federal government has made grants to foreign nations and then has forgiven the debt.

Evans said the Airport Liaison Committee will meet soon to discuss alternatives and decide on the next step.

Furrs plans supermarket, shopping center here

A 12.5-acre tract of land in Ruidoso was bought recently by Furrs, Inc., said Jan Friedrich, chief executive officer of the company based in Lubbock, Texas.

Dwight Andrews of Alto reported that a company he is a partner in, H. and A. Properties, was the owner of the tract and handled the transaction.

The tract, just north of First National Bank of Lincoln County on Mechem Drive, will be the site of a shopping center of which an "anchor tenant" will be a supermarket of his company, said Friedrich. He said construction is expected to begin within a year.

"We are very optimistic about the future of Ruidoso," he said.

Groups set meetings

Ruidoso Crime Stoppers postponed the regular meeting scheduled for November 14, until 6:30 p.m. Thursday, November 21, in the Lincoln County Sub-office. Meetings are open to the public.

A special meeting of the Ruidoso Village Council has been called for 4 p.m. today (Monday), November 18, in council chambers of Village Hall. Refinancing of general obligation bonds will be discussed.

The Ruidoso Board of Education will have a special meeting at 7:30 a.m. Thursday, November 21, at the school administration building. The subject of the meeting will be consideration of bond refundings.

Hansen is crowned Miss New Mexico Teen USA

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Editor

Miss Mesilla Valley Kerali Hansen was crowned Miss New Mexico Teen USA during the 1986 Miss New Mexico Teen USA pageant Saturday night at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The crowning capped an evening of excitement and entertainment in the Wendell Chino Ballroom before a large audience. Highlights of the evening also included entertainment by Miss USA 1984 Mai Shanley and an announcement by Miss New Mexico USA Pageant Director Helen Kowall that the event will take place again next year at the Inn November 20, 21 and 22.

Hansen led a field of 40 contestants from all over the state, including two from this area, Miss Ruidoso Wendy Cocchiola and Miss Lincoln County Cindy Looten.

Host Carl Mori, of KREE Radio, and hostess Shanley began the evening by introducing the contestants in the "Parade of Cities" in which contestants marched on stage in apparel in tune with the "Winter Wonderland" theme of the pageant. Wagerand co-director Case Kowall then presented two awards—Miss Amity and Miss Pixable.

Miss Amity, an award voted on by the contestants themselves for their fellow contestant they felt to be most congenial, went to Miss T or C Kristen Billings. Miss Pixable, an award chosen Friday by staff members of The Ruidoso News for the contestant most photogenic, went to the winner of the pageant, Miss Mesilla Valley Kerali Hansen.

Other events during the evening included a swimsuit competition, evening gown competition and introduction of the judges. Among the panel of judges were three local residents, Diane Browning, Robert Boverie and Melody Vuich. Inn general manager John Livingston also was a judge of the event.

The first decision of the judges narrowed the field of 40 down to just 12 contestants. The 12 included Miss Mesilla Park JoDitt Danley, Miss La Mesilla Starroula Sakellakos, Hansen, Miss Picacho Hills Angela Williams, Miss Rio Rancho Samantha Owens, Miss Farmington Dana Musslewhite, Miss San Juan County Tammie Coulon, Miss Deming Katherine Phillips, Billings, Miss Clovis Stacey Hassel, Miss Valencia County Michelle Lozano and Miss Bernalillo County Kerri DeRomero.

Each of the 12 then drew a question from a hat and were asked questions by Shanley and Mori. Hansen, who was asked what she would have with her if marooned on a deserted island, replied that she would most want to have something to make music with and a Bible.

Mori and Shanley then opened the judges' decisions and named fourth runner-up Miss Rio Rancho, third runner-up Miss La Mesilla, second runner-up Miss T or C first runner-up Miss San Juan County and winner Miss Mesilla Valley.

"This has got to be the longest minute in my life," Hansen said she remembered thinking as the judges' decisions were read. "Gosh, I hope they call my name. If they don't, you can handle it," she said she remembered thinking.

When she was named Miss New Mexico Teen USA, Hansen said she felt "wonderful."

"I was so excited," she said. Hansen, 16, is a Las Cruces High School senior and is the daughter of Garth and Janice Hansen of Las Cruces. She said she is looking forward to the three weeks she will be in Florida during the Miss Teen USA pageant in January 1986. Hansen said she enjoyed being at the pageant at the Inn.

"This is a perfect place for a pageant," she commented.

Investigation of clerk's office is unnecessary, AG reports

Lincoln County Clerk Fran Siddens has been notified by the Attorney General of New Mexico (AG) that allegations made by two Lincoln County residents "contain no information upon which a criminal investigation could be based."

Stephen Westheimer, deputy attorney general, notified Secretary of State Clara Jones in a letter dated September 17, that "we see no reason at this time to conduct an investigation of alleged violations of voter registration procedures in Lincoln County."

"On the other hand, it is possible that certain administrative procedures may not have been fully followed by the Clerk's office," the letter continued.

Westheimer concluded that an investigation would result in "an un-needed expenditure of resources." He sent a copy of his letter to Siddens.

On August 10, Coleta Elliott and Charlotte Jarratt, Lincoln County residents, reported to the Secretary of State that voters were "encountering obstacles in registering, becoming deputy registrars and in obtaining forms needed to register voters."

Jones reported the charges to the AG, and also sent a representative from her office to investigate activities in the Lincoln County Clerk's office.

Siddens denied the charges in an August 13 letter to the Secretary of State. When contacted by phone Sunday, Siddens said she "was not surprised at all to receive the (Westheimer) letter."

"There was nothing to the allegations," she added.

Jarratt, in a telephone interview Sunday, said she has received no official notification from the Governor, the Secretary of State or the Attorney General.

"It's still hanging," said Jarratt, who added that "I'm still waiting to hear from them ... that's who my contact was with."

Hoyt Clifton of the Secretary of State's office confirmed that a procedural investigation was conducted in the Lincoln County Clerk's office, however he was unable to comment on the results of that review. Jones was unavailable for comment.

Siddens said that Tony Armijo of the Secretary of State's office visited her office in August, but said he came at her request.

Tourism chief seeks private input in ad program

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

"Advertising co-op (cooperative) money should be a challenge to cities and the private sector," said Bob Gold, Secretary of Economic Development and Tourism, Saturday during a reception in his honor at The Bull Ring.

Gold confirmed recent reports that the marketing commission, his department's volunteer advisory group, discussed cancelling the state-wide co-op advertising program.

"They were indeed talking about bringing all the funds in," said Gold. "We absolutely would not approach it that way," he added.

Ed Jungbluth, the state's liaison to the advisory group, reported the discussions to Gold, who met with commission members and squelched any further moves in that direction. Gold said members were very cooperative when he explained his position.

"I think co-op advertising could work more effectively than it does," remarked Gold, as he issued his challenge for every business in the state to participate in promoting tourism.

"I don't care if they just write a $10 check," said Gold. Funds for advertising and promotion would "double or triple overnight if the private sector would take this challenge," he stated emphatically.

Gold said he was impressed with Ruidoso's plans to target specific markets in advertising and promotion, adding that individuals in the private sector have been waiting for leadership in that very area.

"Ruidoso does a good job," noted Gold, who added that not all cities are targeting markets as well as they should.

Gold, who has been in his present position just over a month, served as an executive assistant to Governor Toney Anaya for two years. He was pleased to receive the governor's appointment.

"It's something I really wanted to do," Gold noted.

Gold served for 11 years as executive director and lobbyist for the New Mexico Retail Association, and also has worked as an administrative aide to the Attorney General.

Before entering government service, Gold said he was in public relations and the radio business.

With just 14 months left to serve, the secretary has set a personal goal of getting "every business person in this state to realize that tourism and economic development are vital to New Mexico."

The New Mexico State Corporation Commission has authorized Continental Telephone Company of the West (Contel) to increase its monthly telephone rates beginning November 1.

This increase is in two segments:

- (1) A 10% increase in rates for all in-state long distance calls originating in Contel serving areas, and for all WATS, private line and foreign exchange service, and
- (2) A $4.00 per month surcharge on the basic monthly service rate.

Contel's State Telephone Services Manager, Charles Ferrell, said, "For the time being, the revenues derived by the increase in basic monthly service rates will be held aside by Contel and are subject to refund following a full review by the Corporation Commission at a later date."

The Commission's rulings were made in the course of its investigation of independent company settlements in New Mexico—an investigation prompted by the certain entry of competition in the telecommunications industry in New Mexico following recent actions by the Federal courts, the Federal Communications Commission and the New Mexico State Legislature.

In its August 6, 1985 Interim Order in this investigative proceeding, the Commission eliminated the long standing practice of pooling in-state long distance revenues derived by all telephone companies in the state and distributing funds back to the local telephone companies to help pay part of the costs of local service. This practice was called a "settlements process" and was used to help keep local service rates low.

In its Interim Order ending the settlements process, the Commission said, "The current toll pooling and settlements process is inconsistent with and detrimental to the competitive toll market which exists and will continue to grow in New Mexico." The Order further states, "This Commission has recognized that the pressure for cost based telephone rates in the presence of competition is inexorable and finds that the present settlement process does not conform to the competitive realities of the toll market."

The Commission recognized in its Interim Order that termination of the settlements process would deprive local telephone companies of revenues upon which current rates had been set. The rate increases granted to Contel are designed to allow Contel to recoup those lost revenues.

Similar increases were granted to General Telephone of the Southwest and Western New Mexico Telephone Company.

Contel provides telephone service in Rio Arriba County in northern New Mexico and in the Ruidoso and Truth or Consequences areas of the south-central part of the state.

Tam takes sixth in state harrier meet

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Gabe Tam put on a strong kick in the last half of the race to take sixth and lead the Ruidoso High School cross-country team in the state AAA-division meet Saturday at Albuquerque's Milne Stadium.

Ruidoso finished ninth out of 10 complete teams in the standings with 224 points. Zuni won the title with 37 points, edging Fort Wingate which had 38.

Tam, a junior, was timed in 16:26. Zuni's Albert Chapito won in 15:57.4.

The Warrior ace was boxed in early in the race and had to struggle to get among the leaders. He made his move just before the runners entered the park next to the stadium.

"I passed seven or eight guys in the park," Tam said after the race. "That part of the race is hilly and we've been practicing on hills. So that helped me."

"But I'm not satisfied. I was hoping to finish among the top five runners."

The course was altered a bit from last season's title race, making some of the runners' times slower.

Sophomore Clint Bob was the second Warrior runner to finish, coming in 44th. Daniel Martinez was 64th, Travannon Ash took 65th, Trey Von Trotha took 67th, Mark Reynolds was 69th and Michael Randolph finished 70th.

"I'm pleased with all of them," Warrior head coach Ronny Maskew said of his runners. "We've got a young team."

"I think next year with more experience, it should make a tremendous difference and we can move up."

There are no seniors on the Warrior team. The team consists of three juniors, three sophomores and three freshmen.

Except for Tam, none of the Warrior runners competed in last season's state meet.

A total of 85 runners participated in the boys AAA-division race. There was competition for boys and girls in three divisions.

Zuni also captured the girls AAA-division title. Gallup won the boys' AAAA-division crown and Santa Fe took the girls AAAA-division championship.

Jemez Valley won the boys' AA-A division title and Laguna-Acoma took the girls AA-A championship.

Warrior gridders to meet St. Pius Friday

Ruidoso High School's varsity football team will open the state AAA-division playoffs Friday night, November 22, when the Warriors play St. Pius at 7:30 in Albuquerque's Sports Stadium.

St. Pius earned the right to meet the 9-1 Warriors by topping Lovington, 21-11, in a pre-playoff game Friday night in Albuquerque.

Ruidoso also got an unexpected surprise Friday when Deming upset Silver City, 15-14. That gave Silver City a 3-1 District 3-AAA record, the same as Ruidoso.

However, Silver City still gained the district champions' place in the playoff bracket since the Colts nipped the Warriors, 17-13, in district action.

The Warrior coaches scouted the St. Pius-Lovington contest and came away impressed with the winners.

"They're a better team than I thought they were," said Warrior head coach Cooper Henderson. "They don't make many mistakes and made the big play."

"They do some tricky things with their kicking game like us. They're not particularly large, except for a 270-pound nose guard."

St. Pius missed five players for the Lovington game because of grade problems. Henderson said they probably would be available for the Warrior game.

The Warriors will prepare for the St. Pius game this week. Ruidoso is healthy with the exception of guard James Herrera who has some back problems.

NOTES-In the other AAA-division pre-playoff game, defending champion Artesia was stunned by visiting Grants, 16-13, in overtime. Grants kicked a field goal after the Bulldogs just missed scoring a touchdown. Reserve defended its A-division state title by blanking Tatum, 14-0. In AA-division quarter-final action, Animas dumped Clayton, 36-7. Jal topped Tularosa, 23-17. Dexter crushed Questa, 47-13, and Academy rolled over Dulce, 44-8.

Sports Activities This Week

Wednesday: Informal men's basketball at White Mountain School, 6:45 to 9 p.m.

Tam ran a 16:26 to take sixth. The Warriors finished ninth in the team standings with 224 points.

Around Sports with Gary Brown

As Ruidoso High School sports fans wait for the Warrior football team to begin action in the playoffs next weekend, there're still plenty of things going on at the high school campus.

The Warrior boys and girls basketball teams have begun practice. So has the Ruidoso wrestling team.

Ruidoso's first boys varsity basketball game is Tuesday, December 3, in Roswell. The girls' first game is a home contest Saturday, November 30, against Cloudford.

The Warrior wrestling team will have its first competition Monday, December 2, when the Warriors host Roswell.

Ruidoso's boys basketball team has most of its players returning from last season. A number of them are still playing on the football team, but the other players are practicing daily.

The Warriors have better size than last season and also have picked up some good transfers.

Ruidoso had a 4-18 record last season, the same as the previous year. But things could be better this time around for the Warriors.

New girls head coach James Sanchez and assistant Dennis Davis have 32 players out for the team.

Ruidoso finished with an 8-14 overall record and a 4-4 District 3-AAA record last season.

The Warriors don't have any starters returning, but have some good height and a strong group of juniors and sophomores.

Like the boys, the Warrior girls have picked up some transfers who could help them.

The Warrior wrestling team has most of its matmen returning from last season. It could be a banner year for coach Gerald Ames and his athletes.

Ruidoso finished fourth in last season's district meet. However, with more depth and some top wrestlers back, the Warriors should do better this season.

This fall's Ruidoso High School sports season has been exciting, but the winter season also promises a lot of thrills.

Gladden, McIntosh named to all-district first team

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Although Ruidoso High School's varsity volleyball team only won one match this season, the recent All-District 3-AAA team selections could signal a bright future for the Warriors.

Juniors Kerry Gladden and Ashley McIntosh made the first team. Lana McClure, another junior, was named to the honorable mention list. There were six seniors on the 10-member first team.

The 5-9 Gladden was selected for her excellent spiking and setting. The 5-4 McIntosh was one of the best setters in the district.

Both players were consistent bright spots for the young Warrior team.

Champion Hot Springs and runner-up Silver City each had three players on the first team. Cobre and Deming had one player each on the first team.

"One coach told me we had the two best setters in the district," Warrior head coach Pixie Arthur said. "This builds a good foundation for next season."

Ruidoso only had four seniors on the team this season. So with Gladden, McIntosh and McClure leading the way, the Warriors could be on the verge of better things.

Ruidoso's Ashley McIntosh (left) and Kerry Gladden have been named to the All-District 3-AAA volleyball first team. Both are juniors. Teammate Lana McClure made the honorable mention team.

Take the time during the next few weeks to examine a copy of the Environmental Assessment of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. Then plan to attend a public hearing of the assessment set for 6:30 p.m. December 16 at Ruidoso Village Hall.

The document is packed with information on the proposed Sierra Blanca Regional Airport, a project that is vital to the future of Ruidoso.

Preparers of the document have identified one alternative, that of replacing the current airport with a facility on Fort Stanton Mesa Site B, as the preferred alternative. We agree, and encourage you also to make your agreement known.

Copies of the document may be seen at the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo, Ruidoso Village Hall, Ruidoso Downs Village Hall, Capitan Village Hall and at the Mescalero Apache Tribal Community center. Copies are on file at the Ruidoso Public Library.

Inform yourself of the alternatives under consideration, then plan to attend the December 16 public hearing on the assessment.

Make sure your voice is heard in the final push to secure the home for the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.—DJP

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—The political pollsters oversold their product.

It is as though, once they get used to the TV lights shining in their eyes, their scholarly objectivity goes out the window.

Reason for making that comment now is the miserable job they did on all Albuquerque's commercial television stations during the recent mayoral race in that big city.

"Miserable" in that sentence doesn't refer to the fact that they gave an implied prediction that turned out to be wrong; anybody can make that mistake. What it means is that, by suppressing information that the listening public should have been given, they put forward a product that is essentially phony.

If they had been advertisers, we could have them up on charges of violating "truth in advertising" laws.

We can pass over in silence the fact that some of us old-fashioned fuddy-duddies who still believe in free will are not at all sure their probability theory applies in all its rigor to human beings and their actions. We don't even have to argue from that position in this discussion.

It's enough to say that they present their numbers, or allow them to be presented by others, as though they designate what numbers normally do, a quantity that is measureable and has been measured. Most of us, to put it bluntly, take figures to mean something with exactitude, as in "I only have $48 left in the bank."

That's not what these kinds of pollsters mean by their numbers at all.

Far from indicating something definite, the figures they share with us represent, not an exact point, but a whole range of possibilities. Because they do, it is incumbent on these people to make certain explanations—but how many of them do?

When did you last hear a TV newscaster point out that these statistics are at best merely probable? That they are valid only for the day on which they were arrived at? That there is only a 90 percent chance of their being accurate, no matter how much else is true?

You have heard certain of those smoothly coiffed anchor persons occasionally mumble something about "an error factor of plus or minus four points," or maybe "six points." But when did you hear one of them explain what that means—if indeed they know themselves?

Instead they sit and tell us, accompanied by colorful graphics to make the message all the more impressive, that Candidate A "leads" with a rating of 50 percent, while Candidate B "trails" with only 40 percent, and 10 percent of the voters are still undecided.

Conclusion: Candidate A is winning—right?

Wrong: Maybe he is, and maybe he isn't.

If this survey has that particular six percent plus-or-minus factor (because of its size), what we have just been told actually means Candidate A's rating is somewhere between 44 and 56 percent, not the flat 50 we have been told. Candidate B likewise has a range of support not an exact rating; his support could be anywhere between 34 and 46 percent. As for the undecided voters, they may be as many as 16 percent of the pool or as few as four percent.

Now take a second look at what that says about the candidates. The man you were told led with 50 percent may in actuality only rate at 44 percent. His opposite number, who you were assured was losing at 40 percent, may on the other hand have the support of 46 percent of those questioned—in which case it is he, not his opposition, who is likely to win.

In Albuquerque's recent race, for instance, what the pollsters should have been saying right up to the final minute was simply that it was statistically as probable that one of these men would win as it was the other would—in other words, they didn't know who the winner was likely to be. Instead, all three stations, through their pollsters, made predictions, and all three stations were wrong.

They could have been spared that embarrassment if they had only leveled with the audience fully from the start. Instead, they—or at least the stations' managements—want to fatten the size of their audience by giving us the impression they know something they do not know at all.

No matter how you slice it, that's baloney—and legitimate scholars shouldn't let themselves contribute to the selling of that product.

Real Estate company joins Coldwell Banker

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Editor

Coldwell Banker has come to town. And John V. Hall couldn't be happier.

Sierra Development Company has changed its name to Coldwell Banker SDC, Realtors, effective today (Monday), November 18. Hall said the franchise relationship between SDC and Coldwell Banker will leave the company as a sole proprietorship, still locally owned by him and his wife, Tina.

Hall said Coldwell Banker—owned by Sears, Roebuck and Company—is the nation's largest full-service real estate company.

The local company will be greatly affected by the change in name, Hall said. He said his company will benefit by many Coldwell Banker programs, all of which have been test-marketed in offices owned by Coldwell Banker before being made available to franchises.

"They're proven, they work," Hall said.

Those programs include "the best training program I've ever seen," according to Hall. Continual education to real estate agents through cassettes, video tapes and reading materials will be provided. Hall said his people have so far completed about a third of the Coldwell Banker training program, and already the effect of the training has shown up in improved attitudes.

"The people are taking to it real well," he said.

Hall said he, too, will participate in the training as broker of the company. A class he plans to attend will group many Coldwell Banker brokers to learn together and share

Other advantages to Coldwell Banker SDC, Realtors include benefiting from the $40 million in national advertising Coldwell Banker does and making use of a national advertising agency through Coldwell Banker.

Also a benefit is the Mortgage 1 program through the Sears Financial Network. Hall explained that the computer-assisted system is tied into most financial computers, allowing the local broker to pre-qualify buyers and offer the best financing rates available.

Hall said Sears has "made a commitment to change real estate."

"They're going to affect Ruidoso," he said, pointing out that professionalism in real estate is vital to the buying public.

Hall's company began over 15 years ago in May 1970 as a "small development company." Hall said his company has grown to become number one in sales here the last four years.

Hall indicated that the franchise agreement came only after extensive checking by Coldwell Banker of Hall's company, both financially and ethically. The national company took great care before becoming associated with Hall's company.

Hall said he feels "fantastic" about the change.

"I've never had so much enthusiasm and energy in my life in my company," he said.

The change will include replacing all SDC signs with blue and white Coldwell Banker SDC, Realtors signs.

GARY LYNCH

Lynch receives promotion

Gary Lynch has been promoted to vice president of Coldwell Banker SDC, Realtors (formerly SDC). Lynch also continues as general manager of the real estate and development company, which he has been associated with for almost 11 years.

Lynch carries a long list of accomplishments with him to his new post. Lynch was a state director for the Realtors of New Mexico and a director of the Board of Realtors in Ruidoso, and is a graduate of the Graduate Realtors Institute and a graduate of the New Mexico Real Estate Institute.

Also, he has been a multi-million-dollar producer the last two years and a million-dollar producer since 1976. He twice was named Ruidoso Multiple Listing Service lister of the year, and was SDC salesman of the year three times.

The real estate broker has achieved many other accomplishments as well.

Lynch said he was surprised when named to the new position. He carries an optimism about the real estate market in Ruidoso with him to the vice presidency.

Real estate in Ruidoso is on the road to recovery, he indicated. He predicted the real estate market in this area will continue to be a little slow through the rest of 1985 and into the first months of 1986, but the spring of 1986 will show an upturn.

Lynch, who lives in Alto Village with his wife, Cindy, said a goal he sees for the company is to remain number one in sales here as they have been for the past several years.

Keeping Coldwell Banker SDC, Realtors as a full-service real estate company is important, he said. He stressed the importance of making customers feel comfortable and of meeting their needs when they make such important investments as buying and selling real estate.

Lynch said he is looking forward to the company's association with Coldwell Banker (see related story). The educational opportunities, advertising advantages and research that Coldwell Banker offers will help the local company offer more to the buying and selling public, Lynch indicated.

Coldwell Banker SDC, Realtors president John V. Hall said Lynch's 11 years with the company have been fruitful.

Hall said Lynch "has been very responsible for the success of the company." Hall commended Lynch for his management capabilities.

Lynch also finds time in his schedule to work with the Handicapped Skiers Association and the businessmen's handicapped skiers race each year.

Commissioners show concern for county history

by DORIS CHERRY
News Capitan Bureau

The need for the preservation of historic sites and records in Lincoln County was stressed to the Lincoln County Commissioners at their regular meeting in Carrizozo Tuesday.

In response to the need, the commissioners accepted sponsorship of the non-profit Lincoln Heritage Trust on an application for a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG). The grant will create a comprehensive plan for the restoration of historic buildings at Fort Stanton.

Steve Massey of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District and Rich Reese, representing the trust, reviewed the grant application. Massey, who helped prepare the application, said the overall plan for Fort Stanton is in two phases—historic preservation and the acquisition of funds, and the economic development of the area, working with the Fort Stanton Training School and Hospital and the state.

Reese said the hospital does not have the funds to maintain the unused buildings. The trust hopes to prevent the demolition of the buildings at the fort, the only existing pre-Civil War facility in New Mexico.

"If we lose Fort Stanton we lose tremendous history for the state,"

Reese said.

Because of the impact from the proposed Sierra Blanca Regional Airport, Massey said there is a need to plan for the unknown future use of the state lands around Fort Stanton and to create a buffer zone between commercial development and the historic area if needed.

Donald Lavash, representing the New Mexico Record Center and Archives, told the commissioners that Fort Stanton was first constructed in 1855. Lavash said the Lincoln County area has received too little attention on its historic past.

Lavash, who wrote the New Mexico history book currently used in junior high level instruction, researched Lincoln County history while writing his soon-to-be published book on Sheriff William Brady of the Lincoln County War era.

Lavash, historian at the center, was at the meeting to present three micro-films of the original Lincoln County territorial records to county clerk Fran Siddens. The territorial records, according to Lavash, date from 1876-1912 (when New Mexico received statehood).

Lavash said that the deterioration of the original documents, stored for years in the courthouse basement, prompted his center to offer the microfilming process free of charge to the county. He said the microfilming is available to all the counties within the state. Lavash assured the commissioners that the original records will be returned to the county when the microfilming is completed.

Lavash commended Siddens for her efforts to index and preserve the documents. Lavash added that the counties which do not adequately preserve their territorial records face the possibility of having those records taken to the center for storage.

In April 1889, Lincoln County was incorporated. Before then, the area was part of Socorro County, Lavash said. After incorporation, Lincoln County encompassed the southeastern quarter of New Mexico.

Also on Tuesday, the commissioners approved the proposed Sierra Blanca Airport Improvement Fund's 1985-86 budget. The budget included expenditures for capital outlay, professional services, construction, administration and contingencies totaling $8,961,600. Anticipated receipts are from grants from the Federal Aviation Administration and the state of New Mexico, totaling the expenditures. The projected 1986-87 budget was listed as $8,656,600.

At Tuesday's meeting the commissioners discussed the potential disaster from a ruptured high-pressure natural gas line, exposed by county road maintenance crews.

The discussion prompted the commissioners to direct county attorney Steve Sanders to meet with attorney Gary Mitchell, representative of the Carrizozo-Capitan Gas Company, to make a contractual easement agreement. The agreement will specify where and how deep gaslines are to be installed along county roads.

Erineo Vallejos, manager of the company, told the commissioners that a four-inch, high-pressure line north of Capitan was uncovered by the county road grader. Mitchell said the pipe is the main transmission line to Capitan, Carrizozo and Ruidoso.

The commissioners agreed to halt maintenance on the road until they could view the situation and have it corrected.

In other county business, the commissioners:

—Approved a letter of cancellation of an agreement between Lincoln County and Stephenson Ranch, Incorporated, closing Water Canyon road.

—Approved a joint-powers agreement with Otero County concerning the use of surface and underground waters within New Mexico.

—Approved the closure of a roadway between lots 1 through 5, Block 2, and lots 1 through 5, Block 3 in the Clara A. Skinner Tract, on the recommendation of the road review committee.

—Approved the closure of part of county road A-034, on the recommendation of the road review committee. Phil Kirk of the Bureau of Land Management protested the closure because of the lost access to a 400-acre plot of public land and the loss of access for possible oil and gas exploration.

—Approved the contract with the state Agency on Aging for a grant of $20,000 for an addition to the Capitan Senior Citizens Center, with the construction to be in two phases to prevent cost overruns.

—Approved a lease-purchase of a Caterpillar articulated motor grader from Rust Tractor Company of El Paso, Texas, and approved the request for bids for two more lease-purchased articulated graders.

—Appointed Lydia Krupicka, Sterling Badger, Robert Boverie, Kay Dennis and Rich Seeley to the Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee.

—Designated three successors for each commissioner in case of enemy attack. Bill Elliott designated Jeff Elliott, Mickey McGuire and Ken Cole. Nosker designated Dennis Nosker, Curtis Payne and Bob Miller. A.W. Gnatkowski designated Pete Gnatkowski, John Hightower and Ernest Lueras.

—Approved lending an unused flat-bed trailer, formerly used as a bridge, to the city of Alamogordo to be used as a bridge over the Rio Bonito.

—Approved the engineering services agreement with Joe Shain of Pajo Technical Services, with a two-to-one vote. Nosker voted no because he said he had "no confidence in his (Shain's) opinion."

—Approved a budget increase in the general fund for an insurance payment for damages to a radio transformer.

—Directed Sanders, after an executive session, to write a letter to Mitchell, representing Lewallen-Hobbs Excavation, road contractors for Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates Subdivision. The letter will state that the top two inches of the road base course in the subdivision complies with county specifications and that the road does not meet county road widths and requires widening in areas designated by the county engineer.

—Approved the October Treasurer's report and the payroll and warrants.

Lincoln County employees, elected officials and guests are invited to the annual Christmas Party, starting at 6:30 p.m. Friday, December 6, at the Carrizozo Country Club. After Santa visits, the Country Magic Band will entertain.

Worrell named to school board vacancy

by DORIS CHERRY
News Capitan Bureau

The Capitan Board of Education appointed Tim Worrell to fill the vacancy created when Mark Delgado resigned last month from the board, at their meeting Thursday evening.

The board considered applications from Bob Batt, Hollis Fuchs, Ken Huey, James Russell, James Townsend and Worrell for the vacancy during an executive session. After interviewing Batt, Fuchs, Huey and Worrell, board members Preston Stone, Tom Trost and James McDaniel voted for Worrell's appointment. Member Isidro Peralta voted against the appointment.

After Superintendent Leonard Hays swore in Worrell, the board tabled the selection of officers until the December meeting.

Hays reported that the school met the projected $1.8 million budget because the projected enrollment was met on the 40th day of school.

The budget is based on the number of student units. Hays said special education and high school students rated more than one unit.

Hays said that the state Department of Education has warned the school districts that their budgets might be cut four percent from their projected totals. Capitan school could lose $75,000, Hays said. The cuts are due to a $60 million deficit in the state budget created by the downward trend in the oil, gas and other extraction industries.

The state Legislature must act on the deficit in their next session, Hays said. In the past, the state cut all services and required schools to cut their budgets. Hays encouraged conservative spending until the Legislature convenes.

Hays requested a waiver of the state procurement code so he could continue to serve on the board of directors of the Cooperative Education Services, a private, not-for-profit business. Hays said that without the waiver he could not legally serve on the board because the Capitan school district contracts services from the business. Hays added that he had no financial interests in the business and that the waiver was routine for his situation.

In other business the board:

—Heard a report that the recently completed Capitan Special Education Procedures Handbook is to be used by the Department of Education as a model handbook for the state's school districts.

—Hired Lenore Tenorio as an additional sixth-grade teacher, beginning December 2. Tenorio is a recent graduate of New Mexico State University.

—Hired Sandra Reynolds as a bookkeeper on a daily basis.

—Heard a report on the computer grant for the elementary school.

—Heard a report that the school is unable to purchase liability insurance to cover out-of-state school-sponsored trips such as Future Farmer's of America trips.

—Heard a report from bus driver Roger Garner about the occasional over-crowded condition of the 45-passenger alternate bus that is used when the 65-passenger bus is taken on sports trips. The board approved, until the activity bus is repaired, Garner's plan to inform in-town parents to pick up their children when the situation arises.

—Approved a budget transfer from the overbudgeted purchase services line item to cover legal fees.

Cleanup

School receives computer funding

Capitan Elementary students are excited about the computers coming to their classrooms. Thanks to an appropriation of $1.1 million from the 1985 state Legislature to assist school districts with the purchase of microcomputer hardware and software, the Capitan school district will have $43,522 to spend.

The method of selecting school districts to participate in the program was a competitive process of reviewing applications and proposals. Districts which demonstrated the greatest financial and programmatic needs, with comprehensive plans for computer education, received the highest consideration. Out of 89 school districts eligible to apply for the funds, 65 districts submitted proposals to the state.

The Capitan school district received funding on the basis of their proposal. Capitan Elementary Principal Jerry Newsom said he and Mecca Aldridge, Ann Dark, Mary Shanks, Mary McIlwain, Tom Trost and Sharon Darby worked together on the proposal. Also, students were polled on their needs in the classroom, Newsom said.

The school plans to purchase Apple computers for each elementary teacher and two for the junior high classes. Once the program begins, the district is monitored and evaluated by the Department of Education throughout the first year, Newsom added.

Residents of Capitan are advised to CONTINUE TO BOIL THE WATER for consumption as the turbidity level is still high, said a spokesperson from the New Mexico Environmental Improvement Division office in Ruidoso.

The CAPITAN BOARD OF TRUSTEES will meet at 7 p.m. tonight (Monday), November 18, at the Fire Hall.

The agenda includes:

Spikers lose at state

The Capitan Tigerettes volleyball team lost their bid for the state title in the first round of action, losing to Tatum at the state games Thursday in Albuquerque.

The Tigerettes began the match by winning the first game, 15-12. Tatum had the match from then on, winning 15-8, 16-14 and 15-13.

Coach Bill MacVeigh said the Tigerettes displayed team effort in the game. The Tigerettes' season was a good example of team effort, MacVeigh added.

The Tigerettes placed first in the region at the tournament in Fort Sumner the week before.

The Dreamer

by Dan Storm

Crucita Sanchez Services were held November sixteen at Saint Jude's Catholic Church and the San Patricio Cemetery for Crucita Ybarra Sanchez, who was called Home by Our Lord on November thirteen. The church was filled to overflowing by loved ones and friends, in heartfelt tribute to this dearly beloved lady.

Father David Bergs, in charge of services, said that Crucita was an especially sacred person. "Often when we come into the room of a person who is very ill and near the close of life on this earth, there is a feeling of sadness. In spite of all our faith we feel sorrow."

"When we came into the presence of Crucita to give her Communion, or just as a visitor, you felt the power of this lady—a person so holy and near to God—so strongly that you were lifted into a feeling of hope, of joy, of renewed faith."

"All of us are familiar with the words, 'entrance into the kingdom of God,' 'into Thy hands I commend my spirit,' 'now I am leaving this earth to enter Heaven,' and the many other expressions of our immortal life. To be at the bedside of Crucita made us feel these words with new inspiration, to know in our hearts that these hopes and promises are true."

Crucita, during her long illness at home, told those who came to visit her that she was waiting so that everyone would have a chance to come by before she went to meet The Lord. So it was that during the month or more of her illness, Crucita, by her devout nature and words of Christian kindness, gave a blessing to all who came to see her.

Eulogy Delivered by Granddaughter A highlight of the services, and something long to be remembered and cherished, was a eulogy for Crucita written by her granddaughter, Charlene Radtke, who read her tribute to her "beautiful grandmother."

Charlene was kind enough to give me a copy which I will treasure always.

I would like to bring you a few of Charlene's words: "The last time I saw Grandma I told her that everything was going to be all right whether it be on earth or in Heaven with God. I told her how much I loved her and that she was a beautiful grandma and was going to be a beautiful angel in Heaven. "Our grandma was, and still is, a beautiful person to both her family and friends. Since I can remember she always sacrificed for us all. We all know she was a very loving, caring, understanding person. She had a hard life but it was a life full of love and happiness. When I was younger I was going to write a letter to the Pope of the Catholic Church and tell him that he should make Grandma a saint. To me she was the closest person to God that I knew."

"She has lived her life as a hard worker, a good mother, grandmother, teacher, wife, and Christian. And we are happy that she is now welcomed into the Holy Kingdom of Heaven. I know that she is still looking after us and praying for us all. We should all feel grateful for all the blessings she brought us here, and that she is now one of the most beautiful angels in Heaven."

The Happy Gringo Among the treasures of my life among the Spanish-speaking people was my long friendship with Crucita and her husband, Max, and the children. For many years "Max chapo" ("shorty Max") and I worked on the electric power lines, all the way from Ruidoso down past Hondo. After work, tired and hungry, we would stop by Max's home and have sopapillas, beans, chile verde, and all the other fine Mexican grub. Jokingly I have often told my Spanish-speaking friends that I am "el gringo pobre" (the poor gringo).

One of Crucita's great gifts was the ability to cheer you up, make you feel eight feet tall.

"No," she said, "You are not 'el gringo pobre.' You are 'el gringo alegre' (the happy gringo)."

And I was indeed a "happy gringo" whenever I arrived at Max and Crucita's home. And last Saturday at their home, all the fond memories came flooding back.

Here in the Southwest where Spanish and English sometimes blend, there is a set of jokes that you might call "bilingual." In other words, you have to know both languages to get the point.

One is about a stubborn old gringo who had a grocery store in a purely Spanish-speaking community, and yet who refused to learn a word of Spanish. His attitude was "This ain't Mexico. Let them learn to talk 'merican.' Anyhow, an elderly Hispanic lady came into the store asking for "arroz" (rice), there was great confusion over the meaning of the word, which brings a chuckle.

children, who were all young at the time, burst out in great roars and shouts of laughter. From this they gave me the nickname of "gringo rice" or simply "Rice."

Last Saturday the children, now grown and with children of their own, had not forgotten. They greeted me with "Howdy, Rice. Long time no see, Rice. You're looking good, Rice."

It is a great comfort for all of us to know that all the children of Crucita and Max have made their parents proud, and all of us are grateful to have them as friends. And we rejoice that Crucita has now gone on to meet the Lord, whom she served so well while here among us. And her sacred spirit will remain with us always.

Taking the challenge for local Lions are "Bo" Bohannan (center) of the Noon Lions

School board hears good and bad news

The Ruidoso Board of Education heard some good news and some bad news during their meeting Wednesday night at the White Mountain Intermediate School library.

The good news came in the form of a letter from the American College Testing Program (ACT) Southwest regional office informing the board that Ruidoso High School principal Tom Hansen was an invited participant in a meeting of educational administrators recently at the ACT Austin, Texas, office.

The letter reported that the meeting's purpose was to collect information from "key educators" of what information and services will be most useful in the future on such topics as curriculum planning, resource allocation, student services and monitoring of student academic progress.

ACT vice president of Educational Services Division Donald Carstensen said, "The success of ACT's programs has been due in no small measure to the timely and thoughtful counsel of school administrators and counselors who have advised ACT at regular intervals throughout its 25-year history."

Hansen was termed a "leader among his peers" during the meeting.

The bad news also came in the form of a letter, this time from the state Legislative Finance Committee.

Committee chairman Representative Jerry W. Sandel said in the letter that "state general fund revenues for the current year are not expected to reach the level of appropriations made by the legislature."

He wrote that early estimates show a near $60 million shortfall, after $21.9 million in surplus revenues are exhausted.

The letter asked that school administrators hold expenditures to a "bare minimum until such time the legislature is able to consider steps to balance the budget..."

Also during the meeting, the school board voted to set a special meeting for 7:30 a.m. Thursday, November 21, at the school administration building to consider refunding of school bonds. Earlier, the board had considered refunding of bonds, but postponed any refunding due to an unfavorable bond market.

In other business, the board: —Learned of a letter from the University of New Mexico congratulating the Ruidoso High School band for their performance in the recent Zia Festival.

—Approved several budget transfers.

—Accepted bids for erosion control at Ruidoso High School as recommended by architect Steve Strain of Alley-Connell-Strain and Associates of Roswell and Las Cruces.

—Accepted the resignation of Bonnaheth Thorp, Ruidoso Middle School aide.

—Accepted the resignation of Lillian Miranda, handicapped bus aide.

—Approved the hiring of Virginia Crawley, to replace Miranda.

—Voted to continue the school ski program at Ski Apache.

—Were introduced to the staff of White Mountain Intermediate School by principal Don Weems.

Why did TNP Employee Sammie Redwine inspect her Christmas lights?

Now that the holiday season is fast approaching, make sure you have done everything possible to have a safe holiday by inspecting all of your Christmas tree and holiday lighting. It is quite common to save holiday lighting from one year to the next, so rather than assume that everything is always alright, make it a standard practice to inspect all holiday lighting each year.

TNP Employee Sammie Redwine carefully inspects all of her holiday lighting for worn or decayed insulation, cracked or broken bulbs and receptacles. She even inspects the electrical connections. When it comes to holiday lighting, if in doubt—throw it out. It is much better to replace old or worn out holiday lighting than to take a chance of spoiling the holiday season with an accident.

For more information on holiday lighting safety, be sure to call our office. Helping you have a safe holiday season is just one more way we are...

Milford is Downs enforcement officer

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Staff Writer

As with any municipality, Ruidoso Downs has a myriad of ordinances that someone must enforce. In the Downs, Mark Milford is that someone.

Milford took the position of municipal code enforcement officer in October. His job covers every municipal ordinance, from sewer hook-ups and the removal of junked cars to building codes and health regulations.

Currently, Milford is working to make sure all mobile homes meet with code standards. He said he sent copies of the village's mobile home regulations to Downs mobile home owners. The most common violations are unskirted mobiles, uncovered hitches and junk around the mobiles, said Milford.

Milford said he has gotten "pretty good response" from Downs residents. He said he enjoys working with people and would rather work with someone to correct a problem than issue a citation.

Milford emphasized his willingness to help residents comply with ordinances, such as removing junked cars.

"I'm willing to get dirty, too," he said.

One project that is important to Milford is the placement of house numbers on Downs residences. The village trustees recently approved the project, which Milford said will save a lot of time and trouble in locating people.

A resident of the Palo Verde Slopes area, Milford came to the Downs from Glenwood Springs, Colorado, this summer. He has a degree in animal health technology from Colorado Mountain College. Milford said he enjoys the friendly people in the Downs and finds the pace of life slower here. "There's not so much hype," he said.

Jones is named to state board

Roy "Pinky" Jones of Ruidoso was appointed last week to the state advisory board for the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

Jones was appointed to the five-member commission by Governor Toney Anaya. He will serve District Two, which includes Lincoln County, until 1989.

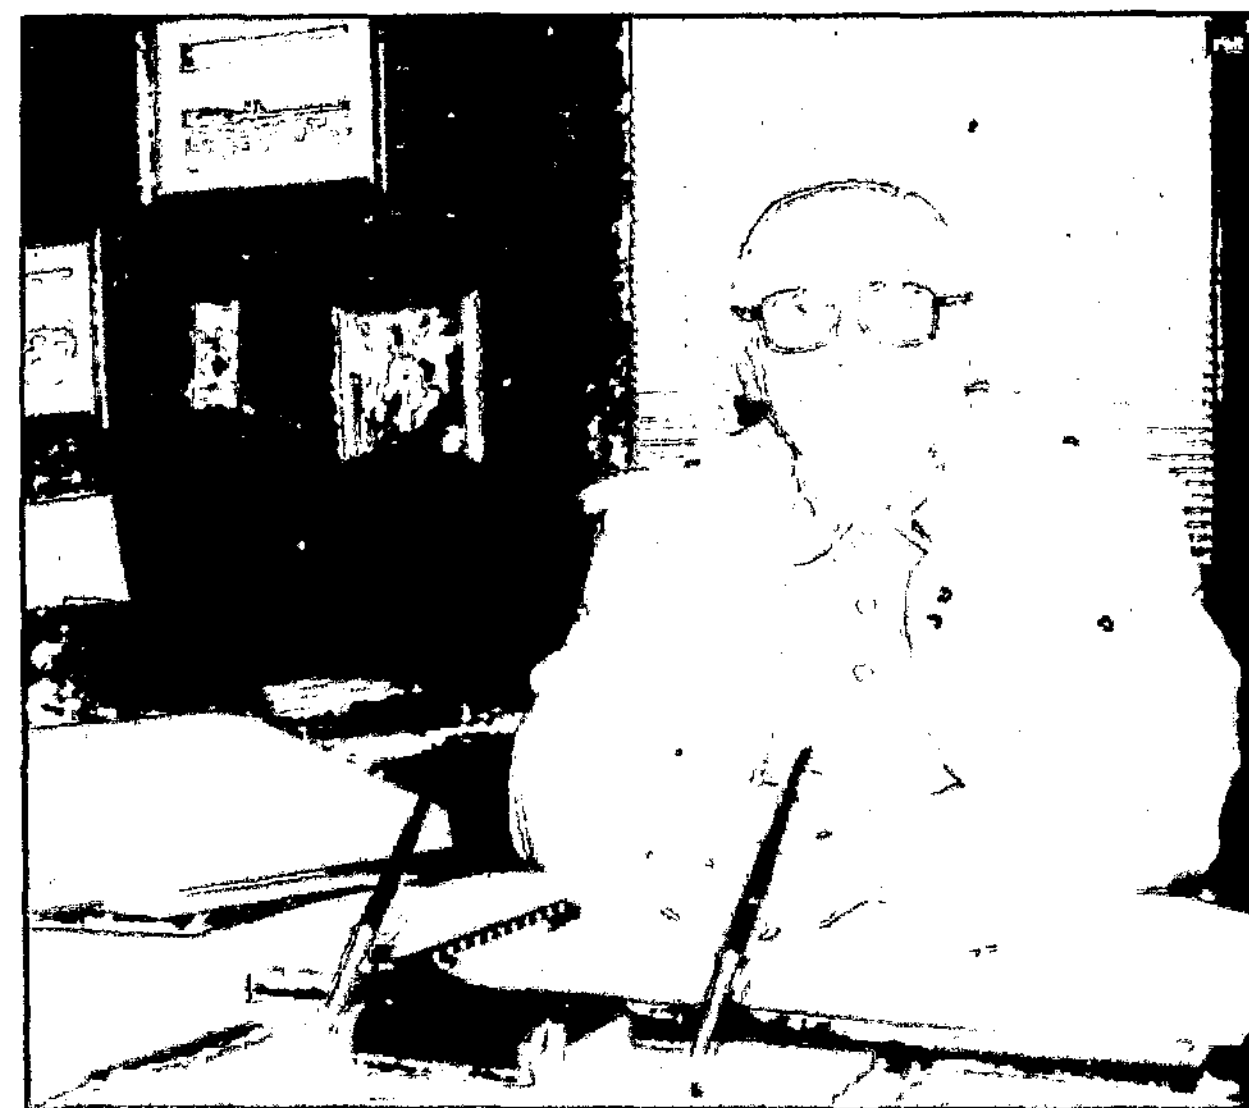

The Ruidoso resident attended his first meeting on November 6. He said that meetings are called by the department director, also appointed by the governor.

Jones served in the 1960s on a governor's commission for an educational survey.

He and his wife have been permanent Ruidoso residents since 1973, but he said he bought his first Ruidoso house in 1966. The couple has two married children who live in Albuquerque.

Jones, a partner in High Country Agency, also serves as chairman of the board for the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital, and recently resigned from the board of Southwest Community Health Services.

He is chairman of the administrative board for the Community United Methodist Church.
