Sales booths raise ruckus

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Without a quorum, the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) couldn't convene a special meeting called for Friday to hear a request from Tiara Del Sol.

When P&Z Chairman Mike Callaghan informed Tiara Del Sol representatives William Wyland, Wanda Popika and Victor Popika that the meeting would not take place, they argued at length that they already have approval on the information booths they have constructed throughout Midtown.

Victor Popika claimed that Paul Davis, former village enforcement officer, gave approval before the booths were built.

However, P&Z secretary LeeAnn Boswell was unable to find any substantiation of that claim in department records.

Village enforcement officer Sandy Hall said Davis granted permission for one Tiara Del Sol booth before his resignation. She said her office was receiving calls and letters from people objecting to the booths.

Popika asked Hall to call Davis to confirm that permission was granted.

"You're not dealing with Paul (Davis) now," said Hall. "I'm the one who placed it on the agenda—I'm not backing down," she added.

Callaghan stressed that guidelines are set and will be followed for every requestor.

Wyland voiced concern for his employees who would be arriving to work in the booths.

"They won't walk the streets," said Wyland.

Wanda Popika recalled that Davis was very impressed with Tiara Del Sol's plans to eliminate street soliciting, and instead utilize information booths. She added that the booths will be "mini chambers of commerce" with tourist information about the Ruidoso area.

"I'm not the one to plead the case with," advised Hall. She told the Popikas and Wyland that their request to utilize the booths will be heard during the next regular P&Z meeting.

In the meantime she advised against using the booths.

A Midtown businesswoman was on hand for the meeting to testify on behalf of Tiara Del Sol's request.

Callaghan and P&Z member Martin Rose were the only two members at the specially called meeting. Rose said he would have been unable to vote on the request anyway since he works for High Sierra, a competitor of Tiara Del Sol.

Ambulance services dispute territory

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

In a meeting filled with emotional speeches and heated discussions, the Lincoln County Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Council Thursday hashed out a tentative boundary agreement between Lincoln County EMS and Ruidoso EMS.

Disagreements between Ruidoso EMS personnel and members of the county EMS began when the council listed possible types of ambulance calls that would require some type of Advanced Life Support (ALS) intervention.

Jim Stover, director of Ruidoso EMS, explained recently that ALS personnel are certified at a higher level than county volunteers who are certified for Basic Life Support (BLS).

Stover, who served Thursday as chairman of the five-member council, read what might be considered

ALS calls from protocols provided by ambulance services in Denver, Colorado, and Albuquerque. County ambulance volunteers said the lists were too broad.

"What's left?" asked several members of the audience.

The three physicians on the council agreed that problems listed can occur in varying degrees, and might or might not require ALS.

"A lot of people would be better off to be hastened to the hospital and let the Emergency Room doctor establish the problem," opined Dr. Fred Holzworth, medical director for EMS Region III.

The council finally instructed the medical doctors on the council to meet and establish protocols in written form to be provided for both the county and city dispatchers.

Bill Adams then distributed a draft of a mutual aid agreement, but declined a request from The News for a copy.

Much of the remainder of the four-and-a-half hour meeting was spent in reviewing the draft document and establishing boundaries between the Alto ambulance service and Ruidoso EMS.

Some members of the council described an area between Ruidoso and Alto as a "gray area" to be used as a test to compare response times of the two services.

Stover said he notified Ruidoso EMS dispatchers of the gray area after the last council meeting.

However, county dispatchers said they were not informed of the "gray area."

"I think we need a concrete boundary," said Wayland Hill, dispatcher supervisor for the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office.

It was learned during the meeting Please see Ambulance, page 10A

Village budget proposed

Ruidoso village manager Jim Hine Thursday presented a preliminary village budget of $3,814,889, down $50,472 from last year.

The Ruidoso Village Council, meeting as the Finance Board, heard Hine's recommendations for the fiscal year that begins July 1, discussed portions of the preliminary document and said they'll act on the budget Tuesday.

Hine reported to councillors of accomplishing measures they requested last year, including cuts in operating expenses, a freeze on salaries and reductions in capital outlay spending.

"We were told that we would look at salary increases if we did that," recalled Hine.

He said the budget proposal included salary increases of about three to four percent except in cases where supervisors recommended that certain individuals not receive any increase.

"It would be my recommendation that the new (salary) proposal not go into effect until September," said Hine. "We'll see if summer economy measures up," he added.

Hine told the council that no new positions are included in the budget, and several departments have fewer employees than last year.

Councillor William A. "Dub" Holt asked if Municipal Judge John

Cupp was allocated the half-time position he requested to oversee the community services alternative sentencing program, and learned that the position wasn't created.

"I would like to see you consider cutting the assistant director at the Senior Citizens Center to half-time and allow the half-time position Cupp has requested," said Holt.

"I believe we'd get our money's worth," he added.

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. asked Holt if he was recommending that the same person fill both half-time slots. Davis said finding two different people for the part-time jobs might be difficult.

Holt said he had no plans to get involved in the actual hiring.

Councillor Victor Alonso questioned the proposed budget's impact on a reorganization plan being considered, and Hine said the plan's philosophy is possible with the funding proposal.

Hine said the budget was formulated to include a $1 per month hike in the minimum sewer charge rate. "I don't think that you have any choice," noted Hine.

He said the additional sewers in Ponderosa Heights contribute to the need to increase minimum rates.

Councillors will again consider the budget during a regular council meeting Tuesday.

Council to meet

The Ruidoso Village Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 27, in council chambers of Ruidoso Village Hall.

Items on the agenda include: —Discussion by Barbara Duff on appointment of an oversight committee.

—Presentation of resolution calling for an economic development task force.

—Proposal by Dr. Arlene Brown regarding alternate sentencing for people assigned by the court to perform public service.

—Discussion by Jim Baker regarding letters from Sheriff Tom Sullivan.

—Report from Tim Morris on the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission.

—Public hearing on an appeal by Carrol W. Collier of the Planning and Zoning Commission's denial to rezone lots 1-4 and 26-28, Block C, Ruidoso Springs Subdivision from multi-family residential (R-2) to light commercial (C-1).

—Discussion on proposed Ordinance 86-7, an amendment to an ordinance on building permits.

—Presentation by James L. Hine, village manager, of a preliminary budget.

—Consideration of bids for construction of traffic signals.

All meetings are open to the public.

Flanagan was a printer, 'good friend'

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Editor

The printing industry in Ruidoso lost a cornerstone when H.B. Flanagan died Friday.

Flanagan died in the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital after a lengthy illness. He was 58.

After a First Baptist Church memorial service Sunday, Flanagan was interred at Forest Lawn with full military honors.

Flanagan's military experience took place in 1945 to 1948, when he served as a baker and tailgunner in the Navy's Avenger aircraft.

His sea duty was spent on the U.S.S. Wisconsin and U.S.S. Albany.

But Flanagan's life work was to be spent in the printing industry.

He worked as a linotype operator and sportswriter at a newspaper in Muleshoe, Texas. Disenchanted with a change in ownership, Flanagan began to look for work elsewhere.

In 1961, Flanagan and his family arrived in Ruidoso, where he began a quarter century career of printing in the mountains.

He worked for The Ruidoso News, as a linotype operator and sportswriter specializing in football coverage.

Flanagan worked for a succession of Ruidoso News owners, beginning with Vic Lamb. Al Lane, later the owner of the paper, remembered Flanagan as a "real nice guy."

Charles McClellan also worked closely with Flanagan when he owned the paper. Peggy Mc-Clellan said her late husband considered Flanagan one of the best linotype operators in the business—fast and accurate.

Flanagan was considered an expert in the preparation of the programs McClellan produced for the Ruidoso Downs, Santa Fe Downs and Sunland Park racetracks.

Peggy McClellan said the mild-mannered Flanagan worked well with the many youth he trained in the printing business.

"All the young people loved him," she said. She remembered Flanagan as a "super man, good friend."

Flanagan served his church, too, working at one time as the First Baptist Sunday school superintendent.

Flanagan was born October 18, 1927, in Spur, Texas, and married the former LaDell Black on May 14, 1949, in Amherst, Texas.

Flanagan is survived by his wife, of the family residence; two children, Rodney of Ruidoso and Laquita Wasson of Oceanside, California; and two grandchildren.

The Rev. Cleve Kirby officiated at the Sunday ceremony. Flanagan's nephews served as pallbearers.

Honorary pallbearers were Dr. R.L. Annala, Dr. Lance Kirkegaard, J.B. Close, Lionel White, J.E. Riddle, T.C. Delaney, Ken Green, George White, George Westall, J.H. Cooper, R.J. Murray, Dub Williams and Rolland Ramos.

Arrangements were by LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

Boz pulls away at final turn to make it four for four

Riley Allison Futurity winner Big Bold Boz kept his undefeated record intact while breezing to a 3-length victory in Friday's trials for the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

The mountain track hosts an extended schedule this holiday weekend with 12-race programs slated Saturday through Monday beginning at 1 p.m. each day. Ruidoso Downs presents the first two stakes events for its 1986 season on Saturday with quarter horses and thoroughbreds sharing the marquee in a double-header.

Saturday's main event brings out a full field of 12 veteran sprinters in the $15,000-added Barlaris Handicap run over 5 1/2 furlongs. In the co-feature, nine seasoned dashers match their abilities down Ruidoso's 400-yard straightaway in the $8,500-added Mr. Jet Moore Allowance Stake.

Friday's racing program featured four trial divisions for the Kindergarten Futurity, with the top three finishers in each 5-furlong heat advancing to the final of the $41,690 stake on May 31.

Big Bold Boz was sent out in the 4th division for his first assignment since capturing the $250,000 Riley Allison Futurity on May 4 at Sunland Park. Veteran rider Larry Byers wasted no time in taking the Bold Ego gelding to the front of the nine-horse field, stepping the half-mile in 45.1 seconds. After hitting the top of the stretch with a narrow lead, Byers stormed through the final furlong to stop the timer in 59.4.

It was the fourth straight victory for Big Bold Boz, who is owned by Jackie Spencer of Alto and trained by Terrell Davidson. Spencer purchased the New Mexico-bred in the Ruidoso Downs Summer Thoroughbred Sale last year for $14,500. He has already earned more than $121,000.

The Kindergarten trials were a strong proving ground for the sire Bold Ego who won the Riley Allison in 1980 and then went on to run second in the Preakness. Three of Friday's four divisions were won by his first crop to go to the track.

Double B Ranch's Sid's Ego accounted for the second Kindergarten trial with Casey Lambert aboard for trainer Cliff Lambert Sr. The father-and-son team fired back in the next Kindergarten heat with another Bold Ego colt - Egor.

The late Southwest sire Draconic was well represented in the qualifying field for the Kindergarten. His daughter Amanda's Speedster raced to a one-length victory in the opening division with Kevin Cogburn at the helm for trainer Fred Danley. Danley's Quillasman, a son of Draconic, finished second to Sid's Ego in the second division to join the list of qualifiers. Draconic's V.J., another Draconic colt, made the final finishing third in the same division.

The young sire In Totality found three of his offspring also qualifying for the Kindergarten. Defending champion trainer Bill Leach qualified the In Totality filly Tiponetta with a second in the opening trial division. Conditioner Elmer Shepard scored with two In Totality offspring - Total Proof and Shep.

Rounding out the field for the Kindergarten Futurity will be: Silver Saint, a James Richardson trainee.

How good is Big Bold Boz? Owner Jackie Spencer of Alto does not know how far "Boz" can go, but she knows she has a horse with the lines of a champion. Track insiders are wondering if Big Bold Boz, shown here with jockey Larry Byers aboard after the gelding's fourth win in a row in Friday's Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity Trials, is bound for fame. But the two-year-old is still a mystery to regular railbirds. Should "Boz" set the pace—or keep pace—and charge to the finish line? Handlers say Big Bold Boz is easy in the paddock, easy in the post, easy in the gate and lightning in a race.

Veteran Special Hank runs spectacular race in featured Barlaris Handicap Saturday

Sprint specialist Special Hank downed a good field in Ruidoso Downs' first thoroughbred stake of the 1986 season on Saturday, racing unchallenged through the final furlong to easily capture the Barlaris Handicap.

Special Hank was backed down to the even-money choice to win Saturday's featured Barlaris Handicap, which spotlighted 11 seasoned sprinters racing for $18,150 in prize money.

Regular pilot Salustio Burgos took Special Hank to the front of the pack a short distance out of the gates in the 5 1/2-furlong stake. After hitting the top of the lane with a clear one-length lead, the 9-year-old son of Special Secret drew out to a widening 1 3-length margin in 1:04.2 seconds.

Special Hank is a long-time veteran of the Southwest stakes circuit, adding a winner's share of $10,890 for the Barlaris to his $70,545 lifetime bankroll. Doyal Roberts Sr. trains the Texas-bred for owner Lowell Hankins of Rocksprings, Texas.

Dust To Riches, a 10-1 outsider ridden by Victor Quintanilla, closed strongly around the far turn to make his bid for runner-up money with Flemish Slipper, who had raced just off the pace throughout the sprint under Glenn Lowry. Quintanilla got Dust To Riches up in the final strides to best Flemish Slipper by a neck at the wire.

Francisco Gonzalez of El Paso, Texas, collected $3,993 for Dust To Riches' impressive second-place showing. Jose Jaime Fuentes trains the Master Derby gelding. Ellen Hambrick, of Canutillo, Texas, took home $1,815 for Flemish Slipper's third. James Hambrick Jr. saddled the Jerimi Johnson colt.

In Saturday's co-feature Barlaris' Pokey devastated a strong field of quarter horses in the $10,050 Mr. Jet Moore Handicap.

Trainers and jockeys fight to light up those boards

J. Doyal Roberts Jr. went to the winner's circle six times over the holiday weekend, including a mild upset in the $18,000 Memorial Day Handicap, to climb to the top of the standings and earn Trainer of the Week honors at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Darrell Blevins and Casey Lambert each rode six winners to share Jockey of the Week, while Alex Baldille Jr. maintained his lead over Jacky Martin in the rider standings on the basis of a stronger win percentage.

Roberts took over the lead in the trainer standings with his win in the Memorial Day Handicap, which went off as the 11th race on Monday's program. Johnny Bustamante had three wins during the extended weekend of racing to move into second with five wins.

Dwayne Gilbreath, who also has five wins, takes the third slot in the trainer standings with a slightly lower win percentage than Bustamante.

Cliff Lambert Sr., Bill Leach and Jack Brooks hold down the next three spots respectively, based on percentage while each having four wins. Rounding out the standings are Lewis Germany, Jerry Lazenby, Fred Danley and Bobby Willis.

Blevins rode three winners on Monday to rally and tie for the weekly riding honors with Lambert. Their respective performances put Lambert fourth in the standings, while Blevins moved into fifth.

Baldille, who led last week's standings, kept the lead with only one win, which came in Saturday's Mr. Jet Moore Allowance Stake.

Track Talk

A permanent change in the Pic-Six and a temporary change in the opening post time will be in effect next weekend at Ruidoso Downs.

Track General Manager Rick Henson announced that the 5th through 10th races would be the events included in the Pic-Six for the remainder of the season. The 3rd through 8th races had been used for the popular wagering format the first two weekends of the season.

The Pic-Six carryover for Friday's program is $16,182.

First post for Saturday and Sunday's programs will be at noon due to the telecast of the Kansas Derby and Kansas Futurity by Winner Communications. Friday's card opens at the regular first post of 1 p.m.

Lewis Germany Jr. had a big weekend riding for his father, trainer Lewis Germany. On Saturday he won his first race on a recognized track when he took Treasymaker to the winner's circle in the 12th race. On Sunday he came back with two more wins aboard his dad's horses.

Apprentice jockey Quyet Bui holds off a strong charge from Forever Ruler (No. 1) to capture the $18,000 Memorial Day Handicap aboard Cupids Prospect (No. 2) on May 26 at Ruidoso Downs. It was the first career stakes victory for Bui, who posted a half-length margin in the 6-furlong Memorial with a final time of 1:12 flat. Bui's effort was worth $10,800 to G.R. Russell of El Paso, Texas, who campaigns Cupids Prospect under the direction of trainer Doyal Roberts Sr.

Memorial Day Handicap features Quyet Bui in first stakes win

Apprentice jockey Quyet Bui notched his first career stakes victory riding Cupids Prospect to a half-length margin in Monday's Memorial Day Handicap at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The $18,000 race highlighted Monday's holiday card at the mountain track, featuring the first 12-horse thoroughbred field ever assembled at Ruidoso Downs.

Draconic's B.G. went postward as the overwhelming favorite to win the 6-furlong Memorial Cap, with the William Burgess owned entry of Forever A Ruler and Gina Dignity second in the wagering at 2-1.

Cupids Prospect was dismissed at more than 7-1 odds despite an impressive spring campaign at Oaklawn Park, the Downs at Aqueduct and Santa Fe.

time was 1:12 seconds.

Cupids Prospect carried the colors of G.R. Russell of El Paso, earning $10,800 for her effort. Doyal Roberts Sr. conditions the daughter of Be A Prospect.

Forever A Ruler collected second-place money of $3,960 for Burgess, who has Jimmie Claridge saddling his stable. Draconic's B.G. walked off with $1,800 for third, with Emmitt Burelsmith Jr. conditioning the filly for Virgil Callaway of Hobbs.

In Monday's co-feature Bui's Pat upset even-money favorite Shoe Bull with a commanding victory in the $10,100 Fine Loom Handicap.

Racing at more than 7-1 odds in the 870-yard stakes race, Geer's Pat matched strides around the final turn under Mike Lidberg with 40-1 longshot Real Tau Thing. Shoe Bull was forced to make his bid on the outside after coming out of the No. 9 post position.

Lidberg drew away from Real Tau Thing in deep stretch to post a one-length victory in 45.59 seconds.

Shoe Bull, with Larry Chavez aboard, closed strongly in the final going to nose out Real Tau Thing for second-place.

Geer's Pat earned $6,060 for the Fine Loom Handicap victory. Jake Cascio trains the 4-year-old son of Mito Wise Dancer for owner Cecil Pearson of Dallas, Texas.

Shoe Bull's second was worth $2,222 to Jerry Lea of McAlister. Jimmy Jones conditions the Go With The Wind gelding. Real Tau Thing, ridden by Debbie Freeman, earned $1,010 for owner/trainer James Watters of Cheraw, Colorado.

Racing resumes this weekend at Ruidoso Downs with 12-race programs scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday. A special noon post time will be in effect for Saturday's and Sunday's cards, which feature the finals of the Kansas Derby, Kansas Futurity and the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity. Friday's program gets under way at 1 p.m., opening with a Pic-Six carryover of $16,182.

Ruidoso hosts a special holiday program on Monday with the Memorial Day and Fine Loom Handicaps sharing the marquee on a 12-race program that gets under way at 1 p.m. Monday's program opens with a Pic-Six carryover of $10,250.

A much touted showdown between Heavenly and Miss Mitoedo failed to develop in Sunday's Gotogether when the latter was out a step slow on the break for the 350-yard race.

Heavenly went postward as the heavy 3-2 favorite with Miss Mitoedo second in the wagering (5-2) and Flow Of Cash third (9-2).

Jockey Jacky Martin got Heavenly away from the gates in good order when the 10-horse field broke for the Gotogether, taking a half-length lead out of the No. 6 post position.

Ms Edition, an 8-1 outsider, made a surprisingly strong bid on the rail under rider Rudy Bustamante, getting a jump on Flow Of Cash who broke next door to Heavenly from the seven hole.

Ms Edition began to fade in the final 100 yards, leaving Heavenly and Flow Of Cash to a match race for the winner's share of the $10,300 Gotogether purse. After an extended viewing of the finish picture, the stewards had Heavenly's number posted in the win position with a narrow nose margin.

The stakes win got Heavenly's 1986 campaign off to an impressive start for trainer Jack Brooks. She closed out the Ruidoso season last summer with a one-length margin in the million-dollar All American Derby.

With five wins and two seconds in eight appearances, the daughter of Pie In The Sky ran out more than $409,000 in 1985 carrying the colors of rancher Roy Browning of Fort Worth, Texas. Browning collected $6,180 for Heavenly's winning effort in Sunday's Gotogether Handicap. The final time was 17.26 seconds - only two-hundredths of a second off the track record held by Van Too Too since 1973.

Trainer Dwayne Gilbreath saddled second-place Flow Of Cash for the partnership of Anne and B.F. Phillips Jr. and Minnie Wood of Frisco, Texas. The trio earned $2,266. Ms Edition, a Johnny Bustamante trainee, banked $1,030 for her third. John Baughman Sr. of Seguin, Texas, owns the mare.

Here's the remaining order of finish for Sunday's Gotogether Handicap: 4th - My Sweet Ten; 5th - Miss Mitoedo; 6th - Game Doll; 7th - American Moon Fun; 8th - Joyous Bug; 9th - Gulfport Queen; and 10th - Susans Pie.

Regular rider Salustio Burgos is all alone at the wire in posting about a two-length victory aboard Special Hank in the '86 renewal of the Barlaris Handicap on Saturday, May 24, at Ruidoso Downs. Special Hank was backed down to the even-money choice to win the 5 1/2-furlong stake, which offered $18,150 in total prize money.

LANCE AND PAULETTE LARSON

Couple wed in April

Paulette Sanchez and Lance B. Larson, both of Ruidoso, were wed on April 5 at Saint Eleanor's Catholic Church with Father Dave Bergs officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Sanchez of Ruidoso.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Larson of Roscommon, Michigan.

The bride wore a satin ivory gown with imported lace and pearls and a one-foot train.

She wore a tailed lace hat with a veil, as well as imported earrings.

All garments worn by the bride were hand sewn.

She carried a bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

The maid of honor was sister of the bride, La'Nette Sanchez of Las Cruces, who wore a teal color tea length dress with a hat to match.

Bridesmaids were Kody Coker of Ruidoso, Lori Morel of Silver City and Kim Larson of Big Rapids, Michigan.

Friend of the groom, Greg Jones of Ruidoso, served as best man.

Max Larson of Ruidoso, Greg Larson of Roscommon and Leonard Sanchez served as groomsmen.

Brother of the bride Christopher Sanchez served as ringbearer.

The flower girl was Adriana Chavez, cousin of the bride.

Cree Meadows Country Club served as hosts for the wedding reception.

Cousin of the bride Karl Crown presided over guest tables.

A three-tier white cake with pearl grape clusters was featured at the wedding reception.

The bride is a 1983 graduate of Ruidoso High School and is employed by Security Management Corporation.

The groom is a 1982 graduate of Roscommon High School in Roscommon and is employed by Lincoln Cablevision.

The couple had a honeymoon in California.

They plan to live in Ruidoso.

The Dreamer

by Dan Storm

Bruce Griffith
The last I heard—this is being sent to you on May twenty-fifth—family services were planned for Bruce Griffith, who was called Home by Our Lord on May nineteenth.

As a boy, back in his native Rhode Island, Bruce Griffith read stories by Zane Grey and other western writers; and there was born in him a longing to come out west. Little did he realize how many lives he blessed in becoming widely beloved out here in one of the most typically western sections of our country.

After graduating from the University of Rhode Island with a degree in engineering, he wrote letters looking for a job out west. In 1926 he became an instructor in mathematics at New Mexico Military Institute, where he taught several years. After a few years he began the life of a rancher at the old Tod Browning place, just down from biscuit hill. And later on, moved up to Agua Fria, his pride and joy, which became the location of happy homes for many people through the years.

Bruce and his wife, Georgia, lived in their castle up on the top of the hill, happy with each new home built on the "Palo Verde Slopes" below.

Bruce, as an official of the Ruidoso State Bank, used to get a chuckle when I would ask him to "walk one more mile with me". He never failed to walk the extra mile, in the bank or in his every day life.

From his Welsh forefathers he inherited a great gift for music. The first time I saw him as at one of the dinners and dances at the Bonnell Ranch, where he sat in with Wilbur and Louise Coe's Coe Ranch Orchestra, playing guitar. Later for the crowd he sang in Spanish the old beloved Argentine tango, "Adios Muchachos, Companeros De Mi Vida". This was in 1928 or along there somewhere. Later on he played with the local music groups.

His daughter, Sue tells me that he worked his way through college with his own band, playing the trumpet.

He also played the piano and composed at least twenty very good songs, some which really struck a chord and revealed his deep love of his adopted home, The West.

One was about Billy The Kid entitled "Sleepy Lincoln Town". He played this often as a feature at the historical pageant, "The Last Escape of Billy The Kid".

Two more which came out on records and made a big hit are: "Old Dan" (about a horse), and "Sagebrush and Sand".

Several years ago, Bruce gave me a tape of all his songs, and also a tape recorder.

Bruce and Georgia sort of adopted the folks who built homes on the Agua Fria, seeing after them and helping out in many ways.

Troy and Phyllis Parker are long time friends of the Griffiths.

Troy remembers that when he bought the lot for his present home, he did not have quite the full price, and Bruce let him pay out the balance without interest "anyway you want to".

After Troy and Phyllis built their home, Mr. Griffith came by and said:

"This place needs some trees." Different members of the Griffith family brought trees back through the years. And today the place is a wonderland of trees of many kinds.

"Every tree on our place means something," said Troy, naming over the different members of the Griffith family and other families who gave them trees.

White returns to judge race

Former Ruidoso Mayor George White has announced that he's re-entered the race for the office of probate judge.

"I'm back in the race," said White Thursday.

Mayor White was hospitalized for a short time soon after he announced for the office of probate judge subject to the Democratic Primary, and withdrew from the race.

However, White said his withdrawal came after the deadline, so his name was included on the ballot.

Since then his doctor has given him a "clean bill of health," so White is back in the running.

"I just want the job," said White, who is back on the campaign trail. "It's your God-given right to vote—so get out and vote," advised White.

News Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School's boys basketball team will conclude spring practice with the Blue-Gold game Wednesday, May 28.

The game probably will start at 2 p.m. Both teams will have a mixture of varsity and junior varsity players.

Head coach Gene Segura has been fairly pleased with the practices so far.

"At times, we've looked pretty good, and at other times, you'd swear we had never touched a basketball before," he said. "We've had about 21, 22 players at spring practice."

Some of the top returning Warrior players are 6-2 1/2 forward-center Brian Davis and guards Jeff Willingham and Kirk Ryan.

All three started last season. Willingham made the All-District 3-AAA first team. Davis and Ryan made the honorable mention list.

Ruidoso finished with a 10-14 overall record and had a 3-5 district record.

Other top returnees include John Walker, Chris McAdams, Toby Rue, Alan Kirgan, Garret Henson and Justin Shaw.

After spring practice, the Warriors will participate in a team camp at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces June 16-20.

Around Sports with Gary Brown

It was bad enough that we once had to listen to and watch the "Obnoxious One" on ABC-TV's Monday Night Football, we now have to try to avoid reading him on the country's sports sections. I'm speaking about Howard Cosell, of course. The "Mouth" is now writing a syndicated column in a number of newspapers, including the Albuquerque Journal.

And he's as biased and opinionated as ever. He tries to interject politics into sports, saying in effect that that's what his children's generation wants to hear. Well, I'm a member of his "children's generation," and I don't want to hear his opinions. His children and their peers are a spoiled, hypocritical, cowardly lot who claim they speak for everyone in their age group, and Cosell apparently thinks they do. Cosell became known for covering boxing, but he now rejects the pro version of it. Talk about biting the hand that feeds you! He has criticized his former colleagues on the Monday Night Football telecasts, and is biased against just about every athlete who has become a broadcaster. Admittedly, a lot of ex-jocks don't belong in the broadcast booth, but some are excellent, like Merlin Olson and Frank Gifford. Both of these men are far more qualified to broadcast pro football games than Cosell. Even O.J. Simpson and Joe Namath are. We don't need Howard Cosell's usually outrageous opinions, either on the sports page or in the broadcast booth.

Sports activities this week

Monday: Ruidoso Little League baseball games at Little League field, starting at 5 p.m., continuing through Friday.
Tuesday: Ruidoso Little League games at Little League field, starting at 5 p.m.
Wednesday: Ruidoso Little League baseball games at Little League field, starting at 5 p.m.

Friday: Ruidoso Little League baseball games at Little League field, starting at 5 p.m.

Little League results

The Ruidoso Little League baseball's major-division begins its second half tonight (Monday), May 26, with first-half champion Bank of Ruidoso playing Pioneer Western Construction at 7.

In the minor-division game at 5, the league-leading Padres will play the Noon Lions.

Bank of Ruidoso won the first-half championship with a 5-1 record. The Elks and Pioneer Western Construction both had 3-3 records. Sierra Blanca Motors had a 1-5 record.

If Bank of Ruidoso wins the second-half championship, it is the overall champion. If another team wins the second-half crown, it will play Bank of Ruidoso for the overall championship.

Tuesday night's (May 27) slate will have Cochera playing Alto Village at 5 in the minor-division game, and Sierra Blanca Motors taking on the Elks at 7 in the major-division contest.

Wednesday, May 28, action will see Rotary play McDonald's at 5 in a minor-division contest. There will be no major-division game that night.

The major-division season will end Friday, June 13, and the minor-division season will end Tuesday, June 17.

Fishing report

Rio Ruidoso: The fishing is slow. Some trout are being taken on fireballs and worms.

Alto Lake: The fishing is good. Some good-sized trout are being taken on fireballs and floating cheese bait. The lake was recently stocked.

Bonito Lake: The fishing is good. Trout are being taken on marshmallow-fireball mixes, Kastmaster and Z-ray lures. The lake was recently stocked.

Ruidoso Little League has had plenty of action this season, like this minor-division game between the Padres and Cochera last week. The Padres are at bat. The Padres are leading the minor division.

Friendly T.V. owner is experienced

Ron Bergeron, of Friendly T.V., opened his television and appliance repair shop in April to serve the people of Ruidoso with all of their electronic repair needs.

Bergeron said he not only tries to offer prompt, reliable and guaranteed service, but also courtesy when he deals with the people of Ruidoso and Lincoln County.

"I try and feature promptness without procrastination," Bergeron said.

He has been in the electronic repair business for the last 12 years.

Bergeron repairs video cassette recorders, turntables, synthesizers and all types of musical equipment. He tries to keep a large selection of parts on hand.

He even repairs guitars and other musical instruments.

"But television repair is my true bread and butter," Bergeron said.

Bergeron specializes in all types of television repair.

He is originally from Woburn, Massachusetts.

To work with electronic equipment in Massachusetts, it is necessary to go through an extensive training program, Bergeron said.

Bergeron has a Masters License in electronic repair in Massachusetts.

No special license to work with electronic equipment is required in New Mexico at the present time, Bergeron said.

Bergeron has over 4,000 hours of training in the field of electronics.

P&Z contemplates low water crossing

by LINDA PONDER
News Capitan Bureau

Mountain Lakes Subdivision's low water crossing was the main topic at the regular meeting of Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Committee Thursday.

Studies by engineers indicate the road over the low water crossing will be flooded during certain times. The main question raised by committee members Mack Bell, Sid Goodloe, Walt Wilson, E.J. Fouratt, Alton Whitaker, Betty Schrecengost, Modesto Chavez and Ben Hall, was whether the culverts would divert enough water during these storms to protect the surface of the crossing.

A stream profile indicating a lowered overall stream level through the crossing was presented by developer Gary Callahan.

He asked the commission to approve the new plans with two 48-foot culverts and asphalt paving on the road.

"The water during a heavy storm is going to top the road no matter what. That's why we need a good solid crossing, otherwise we'll have to repair the road after every heavy storm," Goodloe stated. "No matter how many culverts are there, there's still going to be water over the road. It would be better to put the money into the surface," he added.

The commission approved three 24-inch culverts, topped with 200 feet of concrete with a depth of six inches. Uphill and downhill from the crossing will be rip-rap and wire. The road will be 20 feet wide with a four-foot shoulder on each side. Shoulders will be reinforced with heavy B mesh wire. Approval of the subdivision was given, subject to changes discussed.

In other business, the commission:

Hands Across America

We did it! Ruidoso residents Sheila Chavez, Liz Ramos and Jean Stillman are among the many who fulfilled the village's goal of stretching out along two areas of I-40 Sunday during the Hands Across America event. Stillman organized a group that lined up beside mile marker 293, and a Ruidoso High School group gathered at another spot. Ruidosoans who participated in the nationwide fundraiser to aid the homeless were pleased with the local response.

Ambulance

that a previously established procedure calls for notifying both ambulance services if a call is in the "gray area."

However the county dispatcher said that is not happening, and offered documentation showing the Ruidoso ambulance has been dispatched up to four minutes before the county ambulance is notified. Stover offered his own figures and denied the charge.

"I want the ambulance that can get there fastest—I care about patient care," said Dr. James Hopper, a member of the council and medical advisor to Ruidoso EMS.

"What you're going to have is two ambulances racing to a scene," said Hill. "Someday you're going to run over somebody," he added.

Both the audience and council joined in the loud discussion that followed as cases were recalled and notes were compared.

While Stover averred his ambulances will roll whenever a call is received, the Alto volunteers decried their lack of business.

"Our skills are going to deteriorate and it's going to be hard to keep EMTs," noted one EMS volunteer.

Although an "arbitrary" boundary line was finally established, Stover revealed that some callers specifically request Ruidoso EMS. He added that some are even saying they don't want the county ambulance.

Stover continued to voice concerns for "turning over a call in Fawn Ridge" where he's sure the Ruidoso EMS could arrive faster.

"We haven't lost a patient," remarked Yvonne Lanell of Alto ambulance. "We get to the scene—we stabilize the patient and we run like hell," she stated emphatically. She added that she, too, could get emotional about patient care and referred to an "emotional outburst" by John Q. Webb, a Ruidoso EMS paramedic.

"We'll agree to this boundary on BLS calls and we'll run on our own on (all) ALS calls," said Stover.

In response to the communications problems cited, it was agreed that a radio line will be established between the two services.

"Everything I've heard is still oriented to patient care," noted Adams after the boundary agreement was settled.

Mayoral spat goes to court

Who was the legal winner of the March 4 mayoral election in Ruidoso Downs?

Was it Carlton L. "Bones" Wright with 93 votes or Jake Harris who had 92 votes?

Official sources said District Court Judge Richard A. Parsons would begin to tackle the legal questions in the hotly contested race at about 9 a.m. Thursday, May 29, in District Court at the courthouse in Carrizozo.

Harris filed a complaint with the District Court on March 24 which charged there were at least six election violations in the mayoral race.

An official for the New Mexico Supreme Court, who asked not to be identified, said the municipal election laws in New Mexico are so complicated they may eventually be tested in federal courts, possibly by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Sources close to both of the candidates say the final results may hinge on the eligibility of certain voters in the Downs, as well as the proper method for casting a vote for a write-in candidate in a New Mexico municipal election.

Ruidoso attorney Gary Mitchell will represent Wright and Ruidoso attorney Charles Hawthorne will represent Harris in Parsons' courtroom.

Wright has been the mayor of Ruidoso Downs since early March.

CPR classes are planned

Ruidoso Emergency Medical Services (EMS) is offering two opportunities for area residents to learn cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR).

The first of the two free classes is co-sponsored by the Ruidoso Athletic Club (RAC), and is scheduled from 1-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 31 and June 1, at the RAC.

Free CPR training also is scheduled from 3-7 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, June 9-10, at the First Presbyterian Church on Nob Hill.

To recertify with cards expiring after March 1, participants need only attend the second day of either class.

Besides CPR training, the class will deal with the signs and symptoms of heart attacks and how to care for someone who may be having a heart attack. A lecture on cardio-vascular disease, including risk factors and lessening those risks, will be presented.

For further information call Ruidoso EMS at 257-7381, extension 290.

Eighth-grader teaches about King Tut

A semester assignment turned in to a teaching challenge for Ruidoso Middle School eighth-grader Joey Stampley.

As an alternative to a term paper, students at the middle school developed a media program that must be presented to a group of their peers.

The project combines research, writing and communications skills to satisfy multiple requirements for language arts, social studies and library skills classes.

Stampley chose to do a slide program on the burial customs of ancient Egypt because she has been interested in the treasures of the ancient Egyptian King Tut since she was in second grade, she said.

The title of her slide presentation was "Whispers from the Past."

More than 100 middle school students recently presented their media programs to each other and staff members at the middle school.

Stampley's presentation was considered as an outstanding effort by most of the staff at the middle school, according to her teachers.

Middle school librarian Ellie Keeton just happened to get a request from White Mountain Intermediate fourth-grade teacher Nan Wierwille for library resource materials on King Tut.

Since Keeton did not really have any material on King Tut, she made arrangements for Stampley to present her slide show to Wierwille's

Airport land task force seeks council support

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

A group of citizens will ask the Ruidoso Village Council Tuesday to negotiate with the Federal Aviation Administration to secure the existing airport land and to empower them to act as a task force for recruiting some revenue producing agency to occupy that land.

"Basically we'll be going to the council with who we are and what we're asking for," said Rick Evans, chairman of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Economic Development Task Force.

Evans and his group will present the council with a resolution, outlining their goals, and ask for an endorsement of their plan.

The task force will not be alone in its quest. The resolution has been adopted by many area organizations including Rotary Club, Spirit of Ruidoso, Ruidoso Lodgers Association, Multiple Listing Services, the Ruidoso Valley Greeters and the Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club.

Many area business owners have signed a letter of support for the resolution, said Evans.

Although the task force has already been actively seeking support, studying the local economy and gathering facts on possible uses for the airport land, Evans said the group can't do anything without the support of the council.

He said it is the council's responsibility to draft a plan. If the task force gets cooperation from the village governing body, Evans said then the group can go forward.

"We'll go out there and start prospecting for interested parties," said Evans. He said the focus will be on schools.

"I think it's positive," said Melody Vuicich, a member of the Economic Development Task Force.

She hopes the group will get the go-ahead.

"The task force needs to be an aggressive entity," noted Vuicich.

"Basically we'll be taking the airport land and trying to use it as a carrot to get individuals here," said Vuicich.

"Apparently it's got a lot of community support," said John Jeffers, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. He said the chamber Board of Directors endorsed the resolution in special meeting.

Evans said Friday he hopes area citizens will be on hand for Tuesday's council meeting to make their wishes known on the future of the airport land.

Spring Wing raises $3,000 for recreation center

"By the end of the year, before my term is up as president of the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association (RGA) in January, we will know the future site of the multi-purpose recreational center," Carla Tam vowed.

The recent RGA fundraiser, the Spring Wing Ding Fling Thing (SWDFT), raised about $3,000 for the proposed facility.

The organizers for the much heralded recent event at the Sierra Mall were not disheartened by the final figures.

"We have about $18,000 to go for the land and the building, and we are nearing our goal of $25,000," Tam said.

"We don't want to take out a loan for the land, we want to pay for it and not be in debt," Tam said.

Tam said though the money raised at the SWDFT fell short of some RGA members' expectations, everyone agreed the turnout showed there was support for the RGA project.

Tam said she "conservatively" estimated about 3,000 people turned out for the two-day event.

"We want to thank the public for their support this year. It was a great show. If we have anywhere near the same cooperation next year, we will learn from our mistakes, and do a lot better," SWDFT co-chairman Wally Wilson of KREE radio station said.

SWDFT events coordinator Nancy Radziewicz said she hoped the public understood the RGA wanted to build a multi-purpose recreation center, and not just a well-equipped gymnastics building.

Radziewicz said donations could still be made to the RGA by anyone who was interested in seeing the multi-purpose recreation center built.

"Some people, especially some of the teachers in town, don't believe we really want everyone to use this facility. We have commitments from exercise people, karate instructors and even the Ruidoso Police department, all of them want to conduct activities at our building," Tam said.

"And we want the public, especially young people, to feel free to use it as well," Tam said.

Tam said the purchase of the land would be the RGA's major expense.

Tam said the RGA is looking at two sites for their facility. One of the sites is near the Ruidoso police station and the other one is near Ruidoso High School.

Kathy Craig, of PK Real Estate, has taken a personal interest in helping the RGA acquire land for the building at a reasonable cost.

Tam said. "With Kathy helping us, things seem better. Most people don't understand we have people willing to give us building material, equipment and labor for free or at cost. Our real expense is the land," Tam said.

Tam said the dunk tank and the petting zoo at the SWDFT raised the most money for the RGA.

"All those events helped make people aware of our goals. People shouldn't give up on us or become impatient. We are going to spend the money. But we are going to do what we planned to do, and do things the right way. The gymnastics program is very wonderful and worthwhile," Tam said.

Tax reappraisal will have mixed results

Taxation and Revenue Department representatives brought good news and bad news to citizens who attended a public meeting Wednesday at Ruidoso Village Hall.

Victor Baca and Domingo Martinez were in Ruidoso to describe a statewide property reappraisal mandated by the state Legislature.

The bad news is that the Lincoln County Tax Assessor has estimated a 100 percent increase in valuation for most county properties.

The good news is that such a huge change in valuation probably won't cause a large increase in taxes.

To ensure against overwhelming increases in taxes that could be caused by bringing property valuations up to date, legislators included a "yield control" provision.

Without yield control property owners, such as many in Lincoln County who will see 100 percent increases in assessment values, would suffer 100 percent increases in taxes, said Martinez.

But the yield control factoring process, which also limits any tax rate increase by local governments, will offer some protection from hefty tax hikes.

Martinez told the 10 people gathered in Village Hall that the reappraisal was ordered to bring "equity" to the state's property tax system.

"The Supreme Court took us to task," said Martinez, who described a landmark court decision which found that some properties in New Mexico were over-valued in comparison to other like properties.

The Legislature ordered that reappraisal be accomplished by 1988, said Martinez. He said the 1985 law also instructed assessors to use "current and correct" values.

The Taxation and Revenue Department wrote a regulation establishing the 1980 market level as the current and correct value for purposes of the appraisals, said Martinez.

Martinez and Baca stressed that the assessor has only the task of appraising properties, and governing entities are the agencies responsible for setting tax rates. Baca said citizens should contact the assessor with questions on the value set for property, but should talk to lawmakers about tax rates.

A mass appraisal technique will be used for the 1986 reappraisal, said Martinez. He said neighborhood information and comparable sales will be used to set values rather than a "house to house" process.

On reappraisals, the assessor considers the market value of the land and adds to that improvements with consideration being given to size and quality. From that total depreciation is figured and subtracted.

In New Mexico the full value is then divided by three to find the net taxable value of a property.

Martinez said a property owner in disagreement with the net taxable value may contact the assessor and offer proof of an overvaluation.

If no agreement is reached between a property owner and the assessor, an appeals process is provided through a County Protest Board.

The net taxable value times the local tax rate results in taxes owed.

During Wednesday's meeting, Baca said New Mexico ranks second lowest in the nation for property taxes. He said figures provided by the Tax Foundation in Washington D.C. indicate that New Mexicans pay $16 per $1,000 of personal income, while the national average is $45 per $1,000.

He reminded listeners that property taxes are usually imposed by the citizenry upon themselves to pay for needed services.

"Only those taxpayers who were undervalued prior to reappraisal would see more than a 10 percent increase in taxes," according to release from the Taxation and Revenue Department.

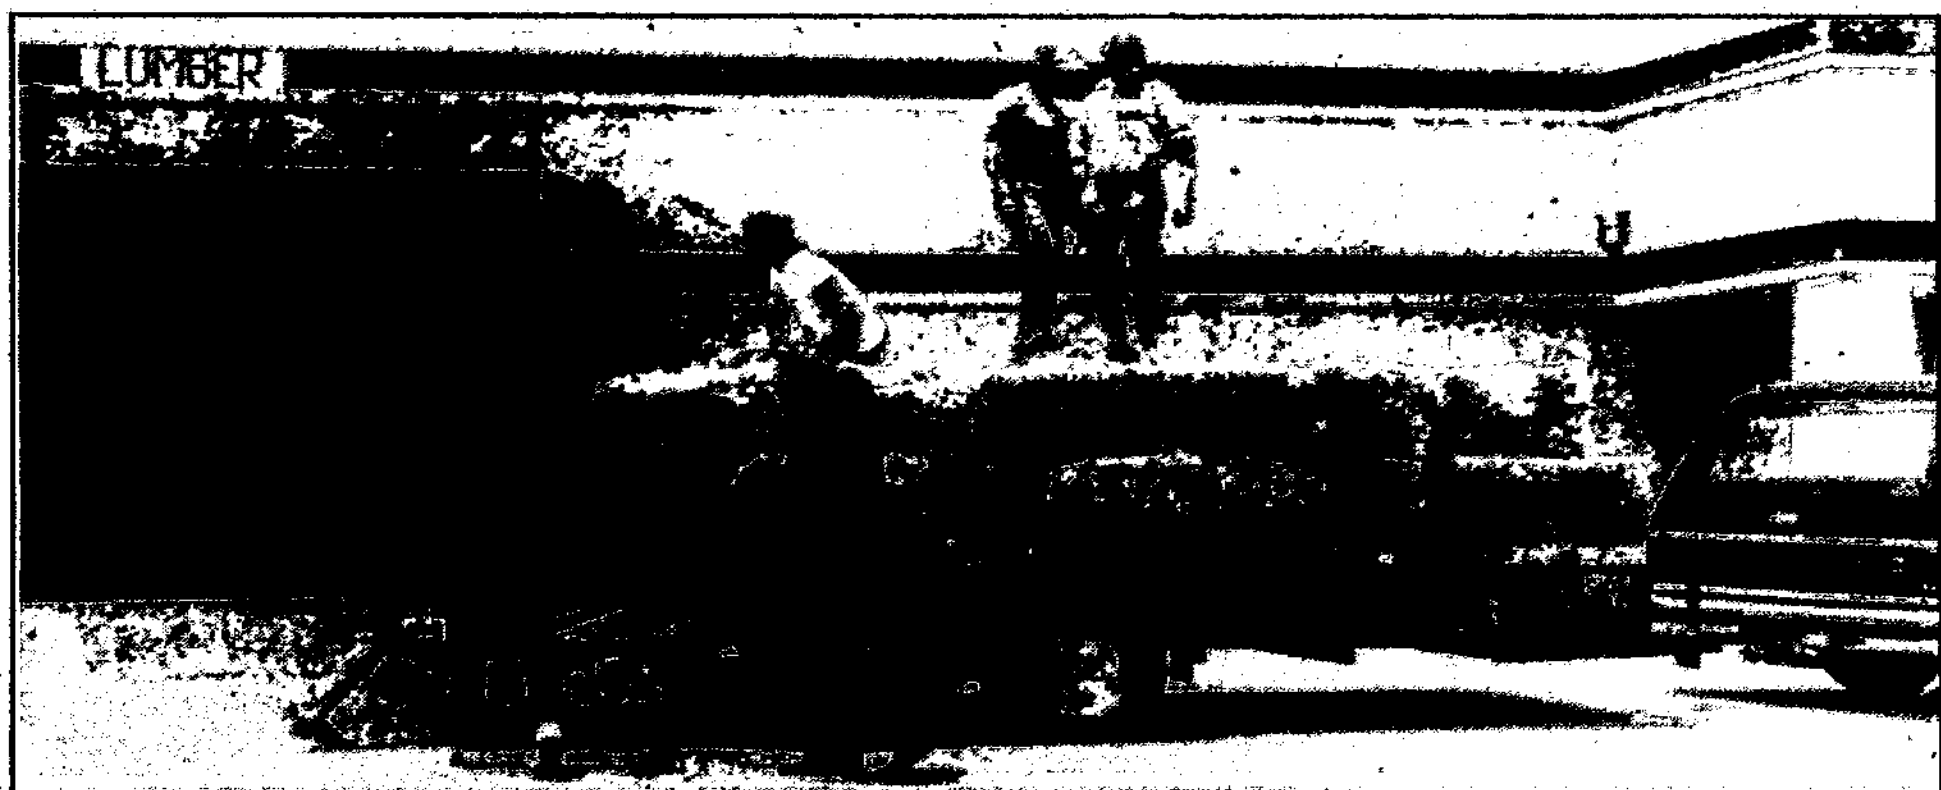

"Those taxpayers who were overvalued would probably experience less than a 10 percent increase and in some cases would see no tax increase or possibly a tax decrease," continued the release.

Ruidoso residents now pay $56.7 per $1,000 valuation of property. The taxes are distributed among the following taxing entities:

- state debt service-1.05
- county operations
- and debt service-9.31
- city operations- 2.225
- city debt service-24.165
- school district

- operations- .50
- debt service- 13.25
- capital improvements 2.00
- hospital levy- 4.25

Since the village is at the maximum allowed by the state for operations, village manager Jim Hine said Thursday that no additional taxes will be imposed unless a taxing entity asks the voters to approve a bond issue.

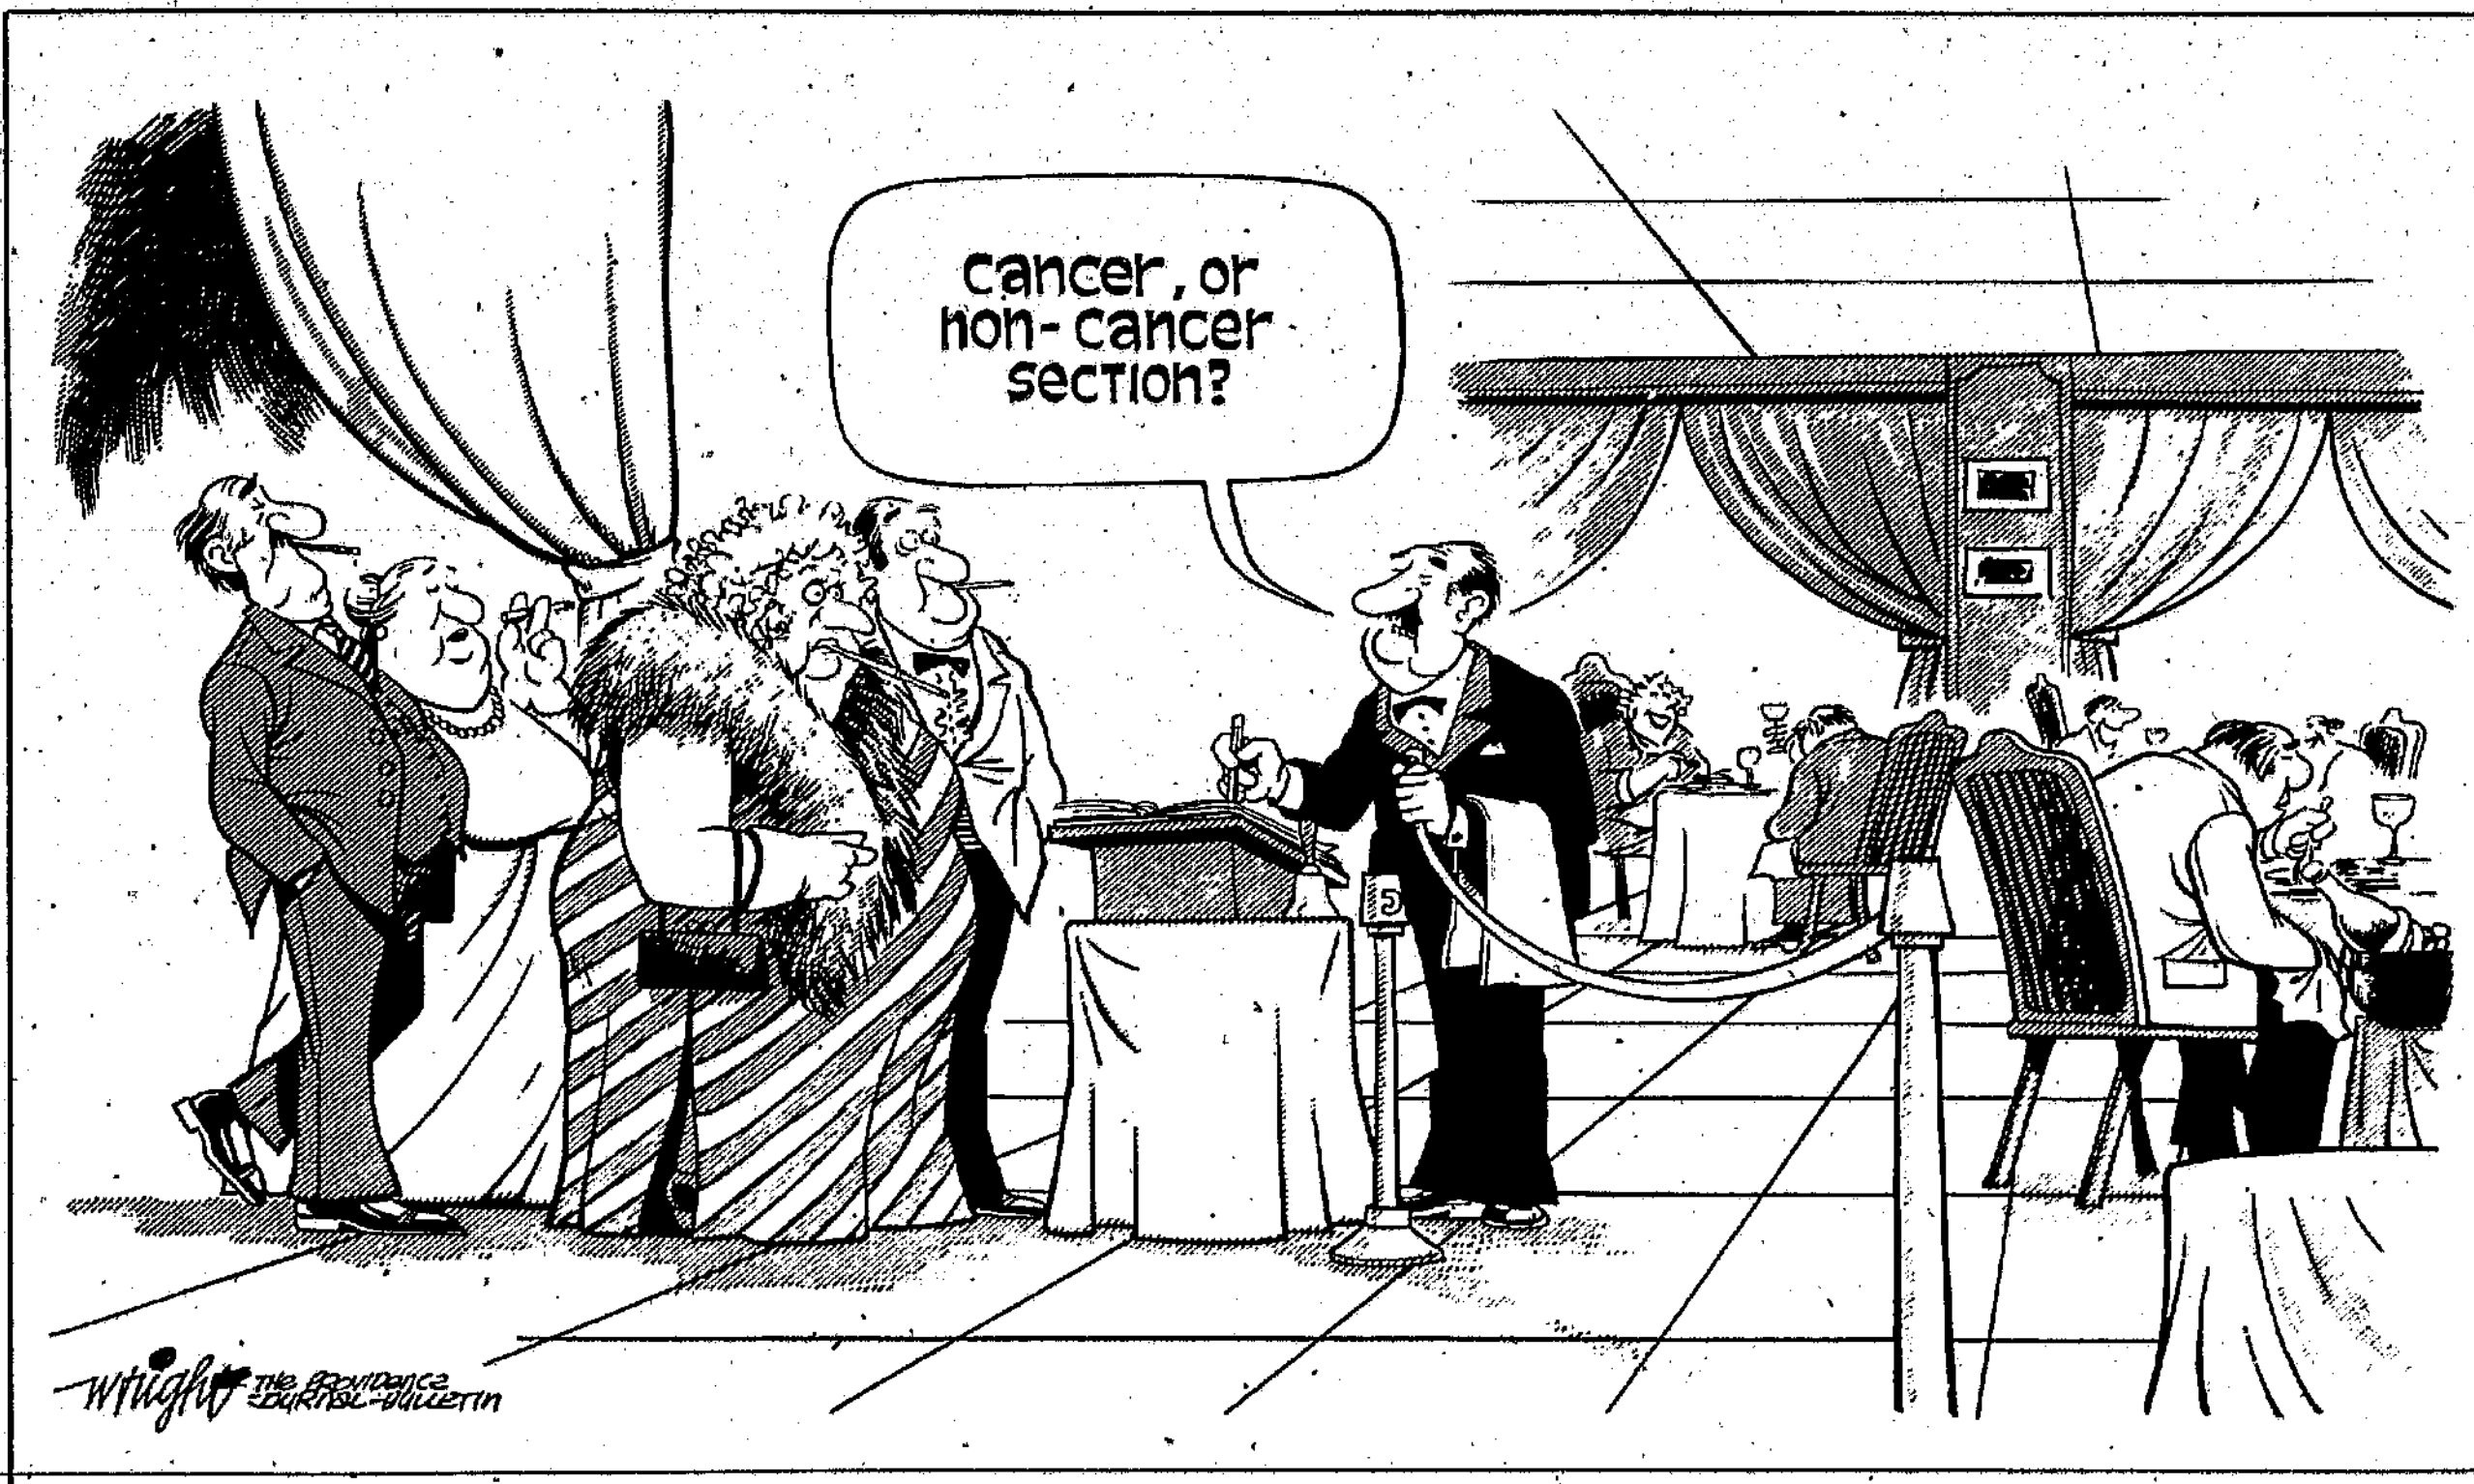

Making hay

Dub Holt and members of the Ruidoso High School basketball team unload bales of hay Saturday in preparation for the Welcome Back Horsemen party in the Sierra Mall parking lot. The Welcome Back Committee served barbecue and all the trimmings to well over 1,000 people. KREE Country Band provided dance music, and Dub Williams and Ed Hyman were masters of ceremony for the evening.

Last Thursday Ruidoso Middle School eighth-grader Joey Stampley (by projector) presented an instructional unit she prepared on the burial customs of ancient Egypt to Nan Wierwille's White Mountain Intermediate classes, who are studying King Tut.

Opinion

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Sure, sure, Governor Anaya announces big plans for paring back government spending, and what do you do? Yawn and walk away, most probably.

Do you get stirred up by thoughts of what all this flurry of words will turn into? No, no, not you. You're bored with all this repetitious talk about deficits, now aren't you? You wish all of us who prate about such topics would just shut up and go away.

Well, it's not quite that simple. Some of us just can't let the subject die. We insist on trying to scope out what all this new money-saving plan signifies.

Not very much, as it turns out. Here's our latest conclusion: The program the Governor has propounded is guaranteed to give us the same number of state employees that we now have, with each one being paid more money to do less work.

Here's how that figures: "Same number of state employees." Neither the Governor nor legislators could face the dismal prospect of making a significant cut in the size of the payroll. Outside of the 400 people they inaccurately boast about having already gotten rid of, the number of employees remains the same even if the books won't balance.

"Being paid more money." This becomes true as each of those working for the state gets in turn at least a 5 percent raise, just for having lasted another year on the payroll.

"To do less work." What makes that true is the fact that if we don't cut the workforce or subtract from the salaries, practically the only place to save that 2 percent in overhead the Governor wants all agencies to accomplish voluntarily is by cutting programs—that is, service to the public. Now when you cut back on service, everyone involved has less work to do, right? Thus the result is to turn these folks into higher-priced employees who now have lowered their output.

Does that sound like a completely satisfactory solution to you?

All New Mexicans should cross their fingers and wish very hard that the price of West Texas Intermediate Crude works its way up into the higher teens and stays there. What we lose at the gas pump we will gain in tax avoidance.

No one will wish that more fervently than the state's fearful leaders, whose response to previous declines in oil and gas prices was little more than to trust that they would rebound quickly.

Please understand, however, that price changes upward, while much to be desired, do not show themselves in revenue to the state for weeks after they happen. It still looks like the state will spend $122 million in July, with only $38 million in income, no matter what price oil is the day you read these words.

July's when the first big constriction hits us, and it won't much matter what has happened to the price of oil futures in the meantime.

One senior oil analyst is now telling us (as if anybody knew) that the market "is trying to find a suitable trading range of about $16 to $20." Bullly for the market; may it be highly successful in its hunt. That won't change the fact that the gross mistake of building next year's budget around a belief that the average price of oil would be more than $22 has already been made.

And that 2 percent cut Toney Anaya is calling for will only save about $14 million, according to the Department of Finance and Administration. We're a long way from out of the woods yet.

Is there any reason other than chronically poor management for our Corrections Department to fall so far behind in paying its bills that some creditors have resorted to turning their accounts over to collection agencies to get their money?

Unfortunately, some who have grown so impatient are arms of the same government Corrections belongs to. The Grants branch of New Mexico State University, for instance, recently hired collectors to put the muscle on Corrections for unpaid tuition and fees run up by prisoners at Western New Mexico Correctional Facility.

That's hardly a good example from the keepers to the inmates.

Let's start doing something about it right now.

Sincerely

Editorial

Congratulations are due the Village of Ruidoso administration and Street Department for their prompt attention to a traffic concern in two Ruidoso locations.

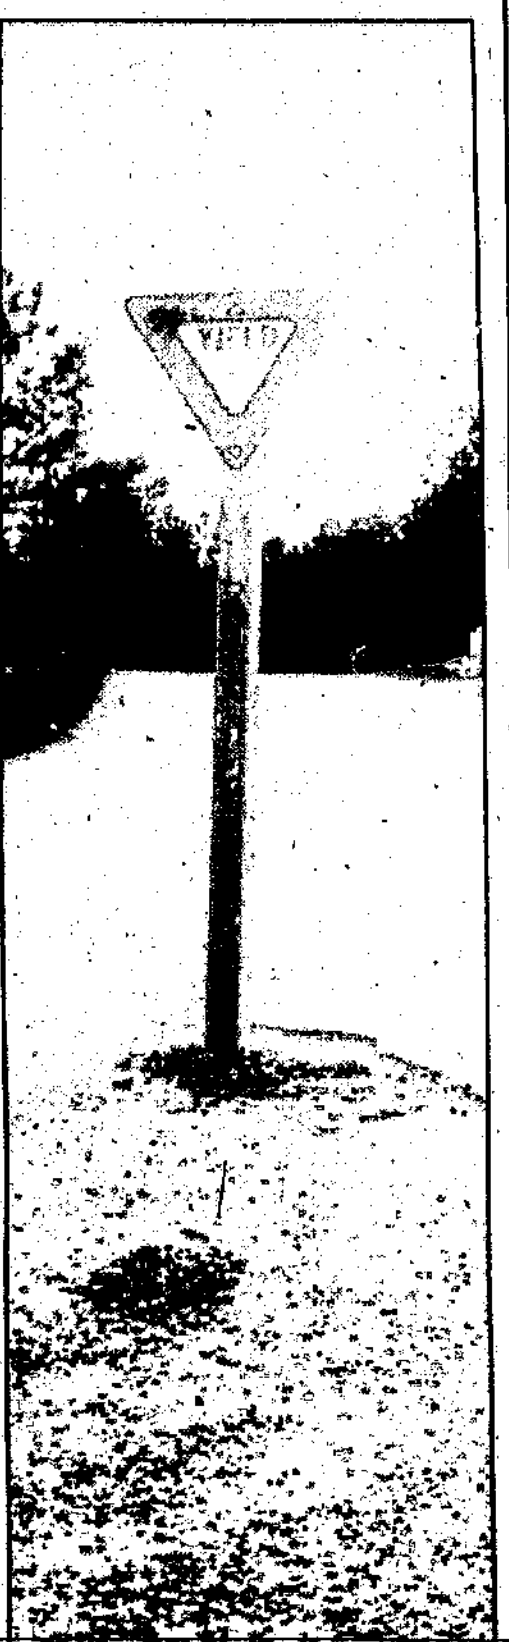

A Monday, May 19, Ruidoso News editorial pointed out the need for yield signs at the "Y"s in the roadways at the Porr Drive/Mechem Drive and Fifth Street/Sudderth Drive intersections.

Assistant village manager Frank Potter said he and Bob Jarvis, Village Street Department signage expert, visited both sites and determined the signs were indeed needed.

By Thursday, bright red yield signs were in place at both intersections.

We believe the signs will bring an added measure of safety to the intersections as drivers will know who is to yield and who can continue at the "Y"s.

Congratulations, guys, for a job well done.

Congratulations also are due Don Samuels. His knowledge of the "Heimlich Maneuver" may very well have saved the life of News sportswriter Gary Brown.

At a luncheon he was covering, Brown began to choke on a piece of meat. As the choking continued, Samuels wasted no time in coming to Brown's aid by administering the Heimlich.

Thanks to Don's knowledge of the maneuver and his quick response to the situation, Gary is still with us, alive and well.

From The Ruidoso News, thanks Don.—DJP

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

SADD would like to thank the following businesses and organizations for all of their help and support throughout the 1985-86 school year.

Sierra Sinema, KREE & KOAW Radio, Ruidoso Flower Shop, Art & Flower Nook, Crazy Horse Salon, Finish Line Boutique, Elegante Beauty Supplies, Sierra Books, Tapes & Records, The Crystal Pistol, For His Eyes Only, Harrison's House of Flowers, Wohlgemuth's Hair, The Tree House, Dave Pfeiffer, Ruidoso Police, Ruidoso Fire, E.M.S., Wrecker Service, State Police.

SADD is not an organization which condones drinking, it is an organization that insists if teenagers are ever in a situation in which they or the people they are with have been drinking and are not able to drive safely they promise to seek a safe way home.

SADD is trying to develop proper attitudes toward drinking and driving so that both as students and as adults we can stop the carnage and death on our highways.

Remember half of the people in the United States will be affected by a DWI in their lives.

Most students at Ruidoso High School are members of SADD. We would also like the parents to be involved. Please talk with your child and discuss the dangers of drinking and driving. Also assure your child that under any circumstance you are willing to come and get them anytime at anyplace. That one phone call may mean the difference between life and death.

Sincerely,
KRISTI DOUGLASS

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

It was very gratifying to open the May 12th edition of The Ruidoso News and read your editorial on the public littering of the Ft. Stanton Road.

It is indeed a disgrace, and certainly could be remedied by your suggestion of having sheriff's deputies and State policemen patrol the road and enforce existing laws which require that all loads must be covered.

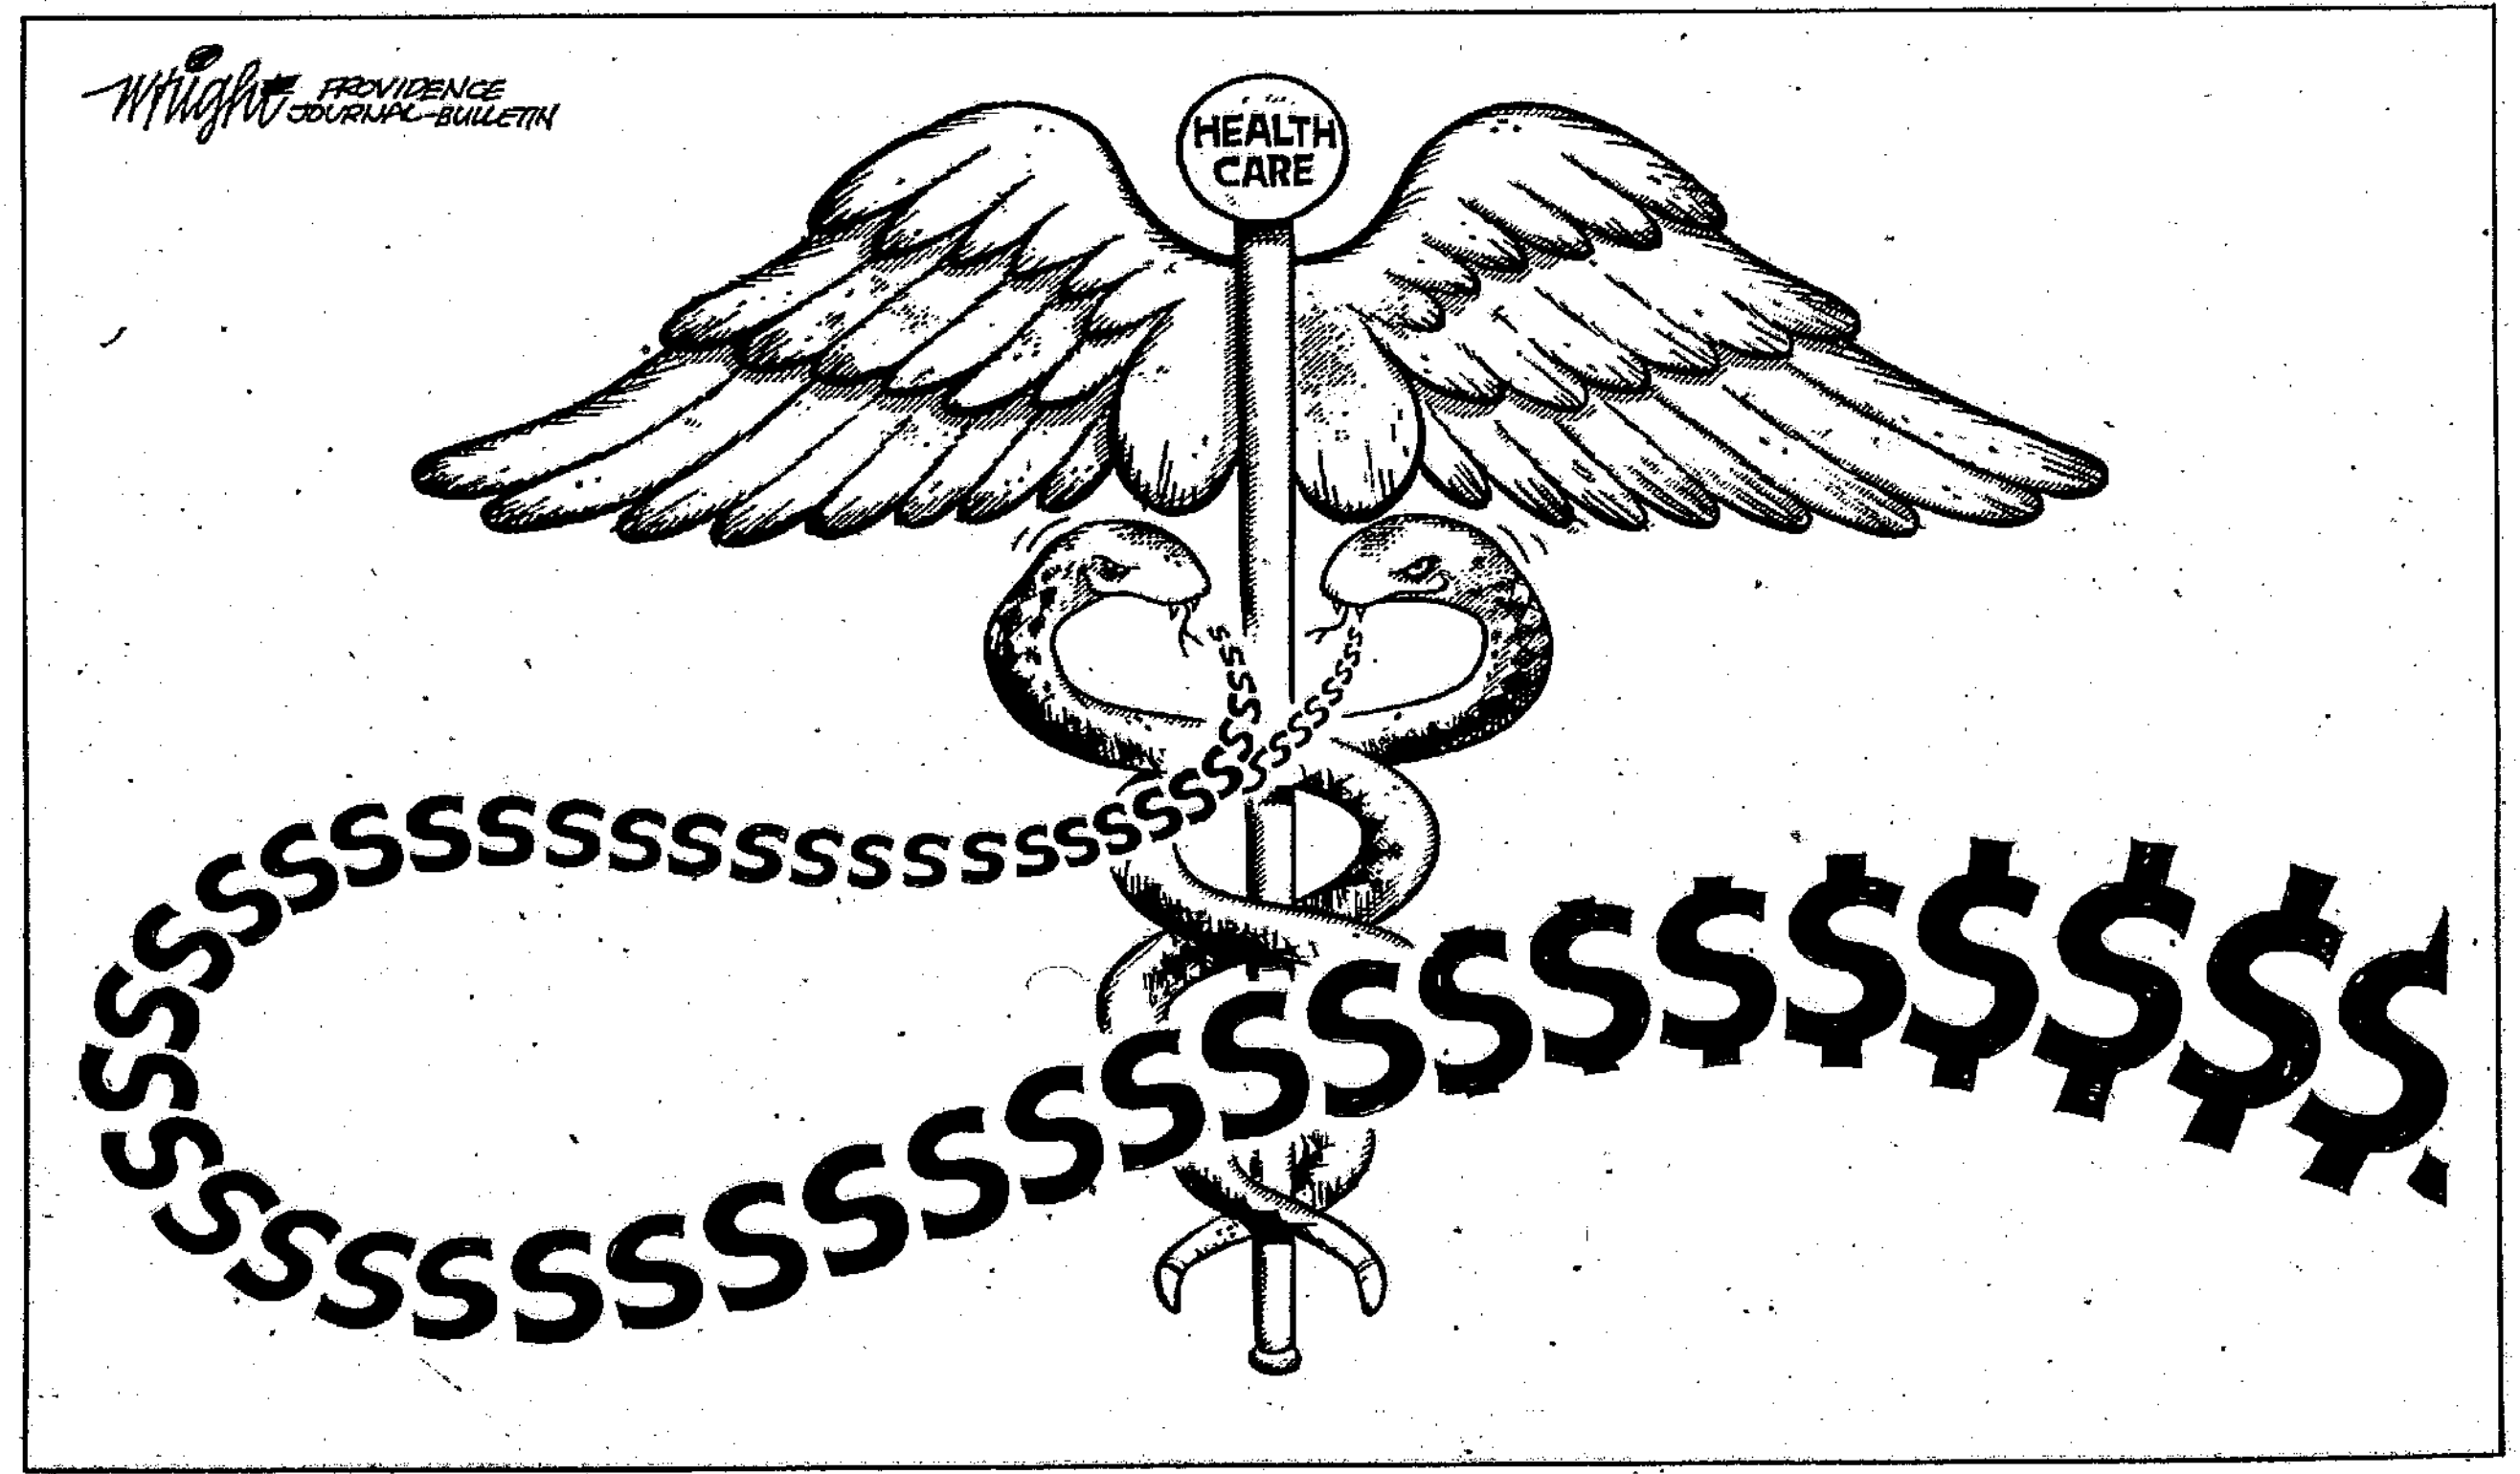

Besides, I can tell you from sad personal experience—it's no fun getting a flat tire and becoming stranded on that lonely stretch of road. (I've had two blowouts in recent months, both times from running over large hunks of debris. Some residents of the area have had it far worse and damaged their cars.)

They say first impressions are lasting impressions, so I wonder what will go through people's minds when they fly in to our new airport and encounter such dismal littering and roadside garbage.

Let's start doing something about it right now.

Sincerely

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that on April 22, 1986, Bill McCarty Construction Co., Inc., P.O. Box 637, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345, filed application number 1-2028 with the STATE ENGINEER for revision of permit to appropriate 570 acre-feet per annum of shallow ground water of the Hondo Underground Water Basin.
An existing discharge well drilled under permit number H-2025, located in the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, called R-1, was drilled by Ward Drilling Co. of Ruidoso, NM. It is 80 feet deep with an outside casing diameter of 8 5/8 inches. One or two more discharging wells are proposed, depending on the performance of the double pump systems in each well to recover floating petroleum products from the water table. The discharging wells are located in the NE 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, on land owned by Bill McCarty Construction Co., Inc. These additional pumping wells are proposed to contain a double-pump system that is essentially the same as the one employed currently at well R-1. The new system would utilize a deep depression pump much the same as in R-1, but the upper pump could either be a large diameter floating skimmer pump or a submersible, as in R-1. Therefore the well construction details are proposed as follows. The upper 30 feet of steel well casing and screen could be as much as a 24 inch diameter. From 30 to 80 feet below land surface the casing and screen might be 8 5/8 inch diameter steel. The anticipated withdrawal rates for each well may be on the order of 100 acre feet per year. With a possible three wells in operation there would be a total diversion of as much as 570 acre feet per year.
The discharge from the depression pumps in each of these wells is proposed to be reinjected into an existing well up-gradient of the product plume. This well, H-7, located in the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, is owned by the Village of Ruidoso as a supplemental water supply well. Since the contamination of well H-272-S nearby, located in the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, this well has not been used. The Village has granted permission to use H-7 and/or H-272-S as injection wells. If either or both of these wells cannot support the flows needed to create a circulation cell with the depression pump discharge piped directly into these wells then two other alternatives are proposed. Either another injection well will be drilled in the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East and will be drilled by Ward Drilling Co. to a depth not greater than 90 feet and/or an infiltration gallery will be constructed in the NW 1/4 NE 1/4 of Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East and will not exceed 100 feet in depth; to handle the additional flow. In the hydraulics of this system work out such that we cannot inject the same amount of water as is discharged and still maintain hydraulic containment of the floating product, then a portion of the discharge water may be directed to the Village sewerage system, as is already being done at the site with the well R-1 discharge.
The quantity of water to be diverted is approximately 570 acre-feet per annum. This amount will be discharged via 2 or 3 pumping wells and reinjected on site through injection well(s) and/or an infiltration gallery. This discharge/injection circulation cell scheme is proposed to enhance recovery of floating petroleum products that have contaminated the alluvial aquifer at the site. The place of use of the discharge waters from the depression pumps will be diverted into an injection well(s), and/or an infiltration gallery, or a small slip-stream into the Village sewerage system with an outfall into the Rio Ruidoso downstream from the site. Most of the discharge water is proposed to be reinjected into the Village sewerage system, as is already being done at the site. All of the discharge water will remain in the Rio Hondo Drainage Basin.
No consumptive use of water will result from this diversion. Pumped water will either be returned to the aquifer near the site by injection wells and/or an infiltration gallery or returned to the Ruidoso River downstream from the site.
Any person, firm or corporation or other entity objecting to the granting of the application will be contrary to the conservation of water within the state or detrimental to the public welfare of the state and showing that the objector will be substantially and specifically affected by the granting of the application shall have standing to file objections or protests. Provided, however, that the state of New Mexico or any of its branches, agencies, departments, boards, instrumentalities or institutions, and all political subdivisions of the state and their agencies, instrumentalities and institutions shall have standing to file objections or protests. The protest or objections shall be in writing and shall set forth the reasons why the objector's reasons why the application should not be approved and must be filed, in triplicate, with S. E. Reynolds, State Engineer, P.O. Box 7177, Roswell, New Mexico 88001, within ten (10) days after the date of the last publication of this Notice.

The Lincoln County Show of Art
May 30—June 1

Show of Art features top area artists

The best of art from Lincoln County will be featured during the Lincoln County Show of Art, May 30 to June 1.

The Spirit of Ruidoso sponsored event will feature more than 50 of the county's top artists. Everything from batik to watercolor and western art to wood sculptures of rustic buildings will be on display during the event.

The show will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 30, at Cree Meadows Country Club. A viewing of the artwork and reception honoring the artists will take place until 10 p.m. at Cree, with hors d'oeuvres and a cash bar.

The exhibition continues Saturday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Cree. An auction of art at 7:30 p.m. by auctioneers Bennie Reagan and Merv Evans will be accompanied by a cash bar.

The exhibition will continue Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

In this special section of The Ruidoso News you'll find short biographies of many of the artists who will display at the Show of Art. In addition to those discussed here, artists scheduled to attend include Glen Dennis, Gail Hall, Walter Henn, Pat Huckins, Carol Rogers Hurd, Michael Hurd, Poncho McKnight, Gary Miller, Jerry Rice and Dot User.

Spirit of Ruidoso plays a big part in promoting Ruidoso

The Spirit of Ruidoso was started in the fall of 1984 by Tom Kent and Pat Breedlove sitting at a table in Coehera Restaurant. Summer had just ended and most of the visitors to the Village of Ruidoso had gone home for the season.

Realizing that fall is the most beautiful time of the year here with warm days and fireplace nights, ideal for golfing, fishing or just lazing around, they also knew that the village needed to develop into a year round community.

With the excitement of a new idea and the desire to make things happen, not unlike Don Quixote, they charged out to make Ruidoso a year round playground.

At the first organizational meeting at Whispering Pines Restaurant, the name Spirit of Ruidoso was born along with a goal of working with the Village, the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations to create additional events and things to do on an annual basis, to promote and advertise Ruidoso in the broadest sense and to work as volunteers to benefit tourism in our community.

Time was short for the first Spirit of Ruidoso (SOR) project, entering a booth in the first privately hosted Chili Cookoff in the village. Members of SOR were quick to participate with their booth placing third in showmanship. A community-wide project followed, the first Halloween Fest for children and families, lots of fun, games and food at the Gazebo Center. Then by Thanksgiving, the first Winter Wonderland was constructed, complete with Mr. and Mrs. Santa's house, refreshment stand, petting corner for children and bonfire. The festivities opened with a parade—in the rain! The Winter Wonderland continued every weekend until Christmas with tremendous community involvement.

Shops were open late and served a variety of Christmas treats, with big candy canes hung outside to indicate their participation. Regional newspapers, radio stations and television stations carried information about the weekend Winter Wonderland, and shops, restaurants and motels were decorated like never before. The Christmas Village has been an ongoing project, with the addition last year of the Nutcracker Suite; it is helping Ruidoso become the place to come on weekends before Christmas.

Noting the need to let visitors, potential visitors and locals know of what was happening in the region that would be fun, informative and different, a first community-wide calendar of events was coordinated and printed by the Spirit of Ruidoso, an ongoing project with printings twice each year. Thousands of the calendars of events are printed each time so there are ample complimentary copies for businesses, the Chamber of Commerce and out-of-town distribution.

A first project in 1985 for the Spirit of Ruidoso was the Winterfest, another weekend happening in a traditionally less busy time of the year, offering fun for locals, visitors or an incentive for those looking for a reason to come. Just after the Winterfest, the Spirit of Ruidoso brought the Dallas Cowboys to town for the Pro Ski Race sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

In 1985, the traditional Ruidoso easter egg hunt was cancelled the week before Easter due to shortages in staff at the Parks and Recreation Department who had planned to host the event. The Spirit of Ruidoso and the Chamber of Commerce quickly committed to handling the usual fun event which it was, thanks to lots of community volunteers who again lent a helping hand.

Memorial Day Weekend was selected by the Spirit of Ruidoso for the first very successful Annual Lincoln County Show of Fine Art to display work of some of the finest artists in the Southwest, our own. A style show helped raise the funds for the art show, another fun evening for locals and a showcase for local clothiers.

A special project for the Spirit of Ruidoso has been the School of Tourism dedicated to encouraging tourists to stay a day or two longer in order to visit some of the outstanding attractions in the region. It has been an awareness school of the positives for tourists and how negative attitudes affect tourism.

With the summer of last year came the first Texas Appreciation Day, a big thank you to our neighbor state and our most frequent visitors. One family was selected as they entered Ruidoso for many complimentary gifts, and the Spirit of Ruidoso hosted a Texas-size dance with contests and food booths for everyone's enjoyment. A second Texas Appreciation Day is approaching for 1986 with a dozen families to be honored this year.

Whew! The Spirit of Ruidoso has a busy agenda, adding a Barbershop Quartet Convention and a Wurstfest for the fall of this year. These events are planned to be ongoing, drawing additional numbers of visitors and locals with succeeding years.

If you feel you want to help make Ruidoso the fun spot of the Southwest, please get involved. It's fun, self-rewarding and really neat for your community.

The artists ...

Teri Sodd

Specializing in pastel, Ruidoso artist Teri Sodd portrays the realistic expressions and feelings of the people of the Southwest. Her work appears in numerous public and private collections, including those of Larry Gatlin, Roy Rogers, B.J. Thomas and Marty Robbins.

Self-taught, Sodd favors depicting the Plains Indian Tribes. Other subject matter includes still lifes and landscapes of the Southwest.

She has conducted workshops and demonstrations throughout the Southwest. Her work is honored with countless awards from shows.

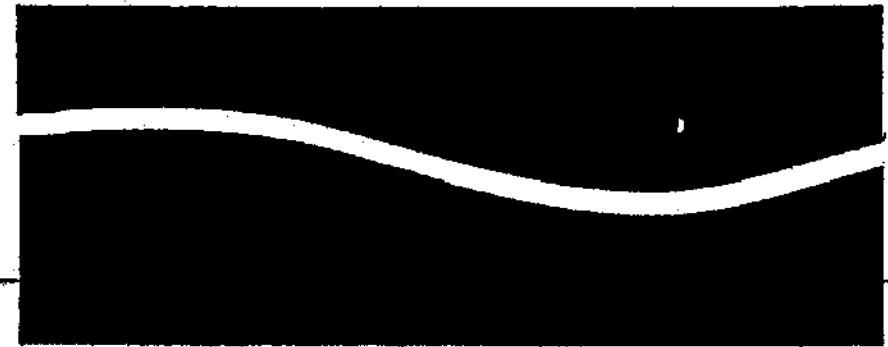

A clarity of color and depth of emotion are evident, even trademarks of Sodd's portrayals.

Martin Rose

Landscape artist Martin Rose works in oils and acrylics.

He graduated from the Kansas City Art Institute in 1961, then was an art instructor and advertising agency owner before coming to Ruidoso. He has had one-man shows in Kansas City, Dallas, Midland and Ruidoso.

Southwest landscapes are a favorite of Rose's, particularly old barns and houses. His work is on display in galleries throughout the Southwest.

Joe Dunlap

Joe Dunlap is a traditional, representational painter who at an early age had a consuming desire to draw and paint.

He is equally at ease in all mediums. He paints what he knows and sees.

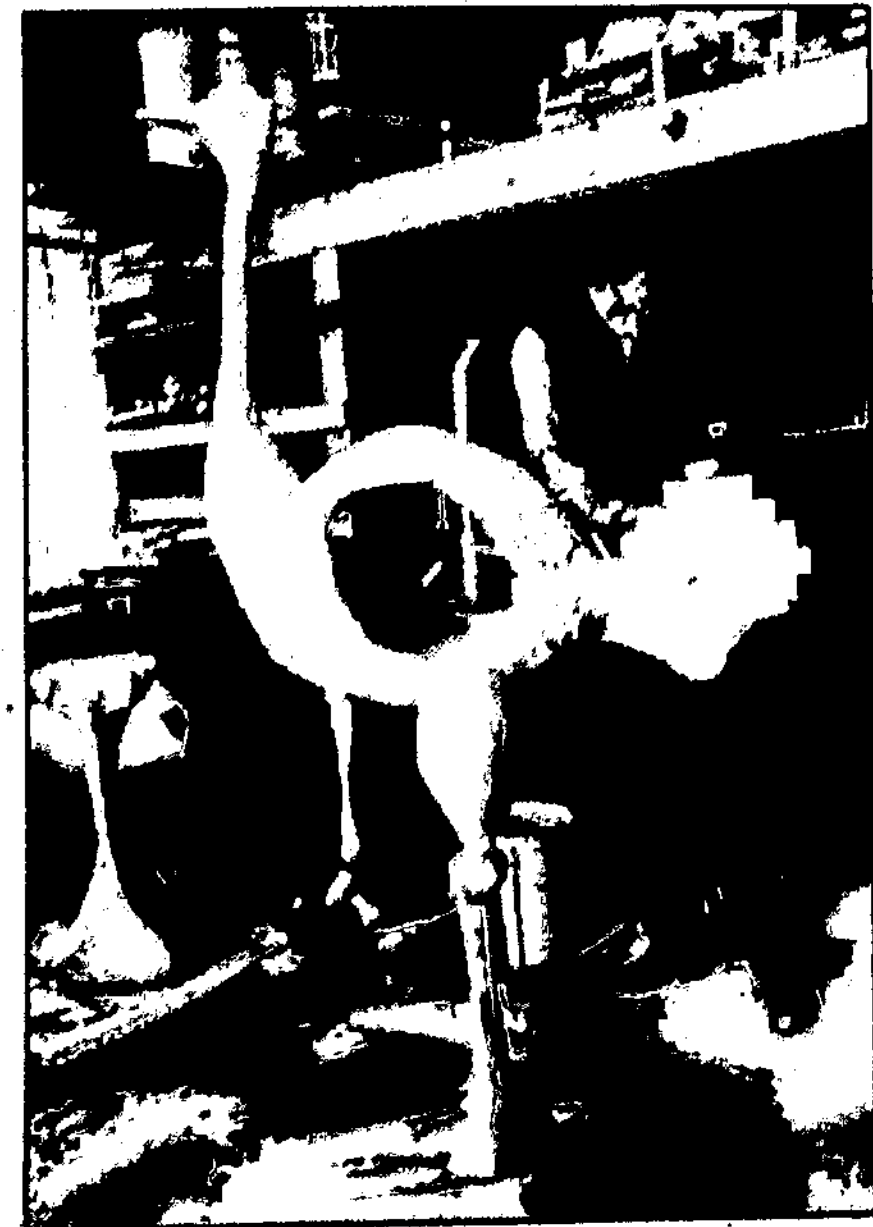

Dunlap's works have been greatly influenced by the late Peter Hurd and the late Nat Kernall who encouraged him to express his feelings, emotions and ideas and transfer that feeling to the viewer. His works may be seen at Smith, Ltd. Gallery.

Gordon Snidow

Gordon Snidow is a charter member of the Cowboy Artists of America, founded in 1965. His works portray the contemporary cowboy, and have included the famous Coors Cowboy Collector Series.

He is the top medal winner of the Cowboy Artists of America (CAA).

He works for two annual shows, producing five works and a miniature for the CAA and six works for the Western Heritage Sale in Houston, Texas. Snidow exhibits in his own gallery, Gray Fox Gallery. He has not exhibited in another gallery for five years.

Skip Stepleton

Sculptor Skip Stepleton is shown chipping away at "Suzie's" tail in preparation for the Lincoln County Art Show.

Stepleton is a new arrival in the Ruidoso art scene. He spent 1985 on his largest sculpture, "An Adobe for Nella B" at the fifth hole on Cree Meadows.

With a philosophy that form and function can be integrated to a point where one does not have to follow the other, Stepleton's one-of-a-kind creations become unique functional sculptures. They are displayed at Studio III.

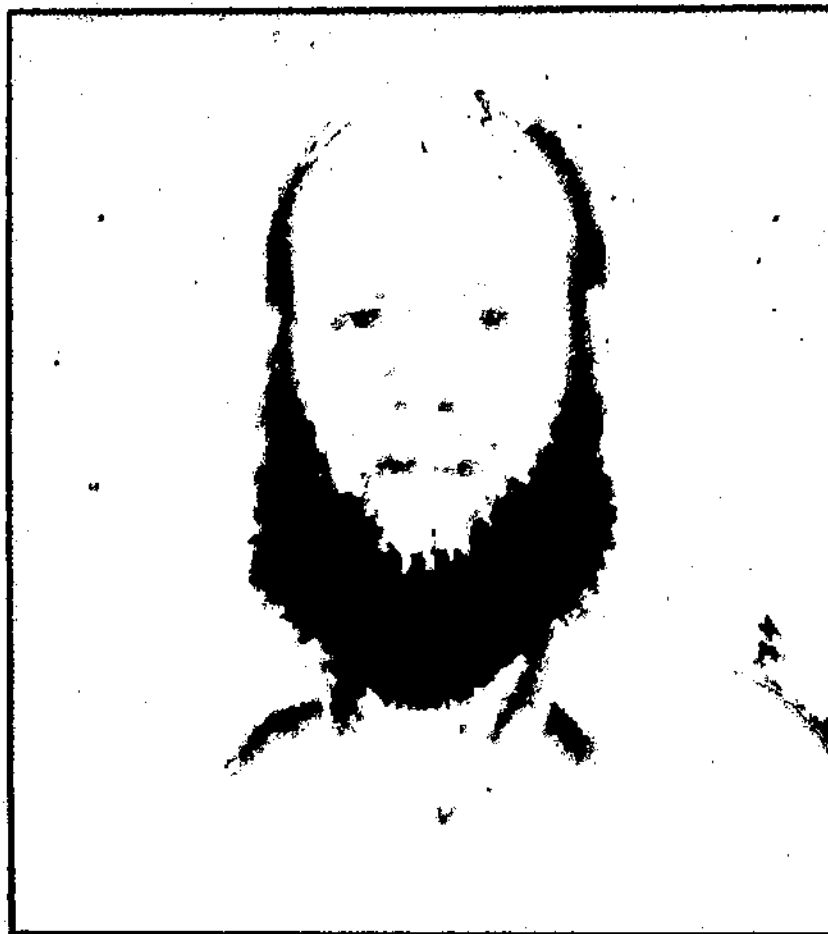

Karen Barrow

Art seems to be the most important part of each aspect of Karen Barrow's life. Her drawings deal in fantasy and surrealistic areas. Colored pencils are her favorite medium.

Barrow has taught art classes at Ruidoso High School for the last four years.

She tries to carry her artistry into various aspects of her dress shop, Kaleidoscope, located in the mid-village area.

She has been involved with several galleries and many of her works are now in private collections.

David Hall

David A. Hall was born and raised in New Jersey and has traveled in Europe and around the Pacific. He studied at Amherst College with minors in painting, drawing and stage design. He received an MFA in sculpture and metallurgical engineering at Ohio State.

Hall completed summer studies at Haystack in pottery and jewelry. He taught seven years at Ohio State, Washington and Lee University and the University of Guam as Technical Director of Theatre, Art Gallery Director and Assistant Professor of pottery, jewelry and sculpture.

He managed a craftsman's market in Oregon. Currently he is designing and building custom homes and accepting three-dimensional design commissions in Ruidoso.

Ernie Roche

One of the most prominent wood sculptors and carvers in the Southwest, Ernie Roche has introduced to collectors of art something they had not been exposed to previously—his unique style.

All this is accomplished through his experienced use of chisels and gouges which reflect his own original style with a most western flavor.

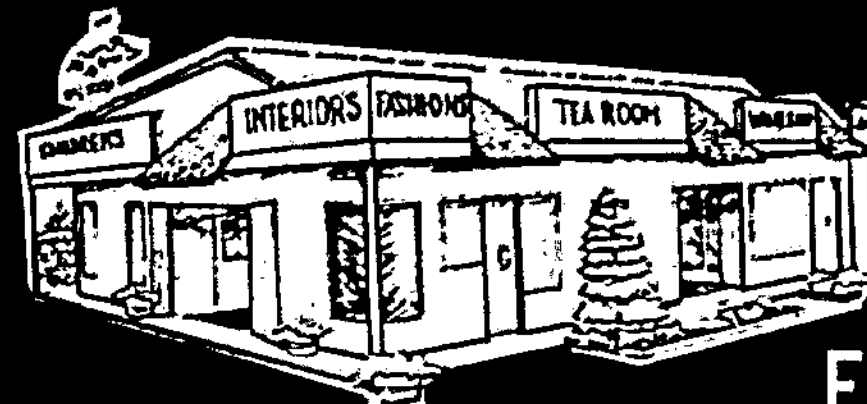

Even though Roche is recognized in fine art circles as one of the foremost woodcarvers in the Southwest, he constantly strives for perfection in an effort to see serious woodcarving maintained as fine art rather than a craft.

He loves his work and considers wood the most exciting and challenging medium in which to express himself.

Denise Dorn

Denise Dorn, a self-taught batik artist, has been producing batiks in the Southwestern style for the past 14 years. She majored in art while attending the University of Texas at Arlington.

Dorn's poster for the 1984 Ruidoso Summer Festival sold out completely.

She has participated in the Ruidoso Art Fair for the past seven years, and has been honored with a "Top Ten of Show" prize.

Dorn considers herself a housewife, mother and fulltime artist.

Her art, mostly batiks, is available at Mountain Arts Gallery and The Artisan Gallery.

David Smith

David Smith is both an architect and sculptor with a private practice and studio in Ruidoso. His background includes teaching art and architecture at the University of Texas at Austin.

Smith's sculpture work ranges from portraiture and figurative pieces to larger, non-objective and architectural art such as gates and sundials.

His work is shown in galleries in Texas and New Mexico, including Studio III, his own gallery in Ruidoso.

As an architect, Smith seeks to integrate fine art and crafts into the design process of human environments.

Lorraine Caywood

Lorene Caywood works in oils and pastels. She is known throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico for her unique style of oil painting on aspen chip boards. The boards provide a rustic background for the oil paintings of wagons, windmills and adobes.

She and her husband, Larry, (her frame maker) travel throughout the Southwest exhibiting and selling their artwork through juried arts and crafts shows and festivals.

The Caywoods are the proprietors of Lorene's Hilltop Gallery & Frames, Capitan.

Mary Jane Haley

Mary Jane Haley, born in West Virginia, began art studies at a Washington D.C. university. She later studied at Easton Academy of Art in Easton, Maryland, on the eastern shore of the Chesapeake Bay. She is a member of the Maryland Federation of Art.

A Ruidoso resident since February, Haley works for the law firm of Underwood, Dutton and Griffin.

The mother of six and grandmother of five, Haley also is a published and prize-winning poet.

James Wagnon

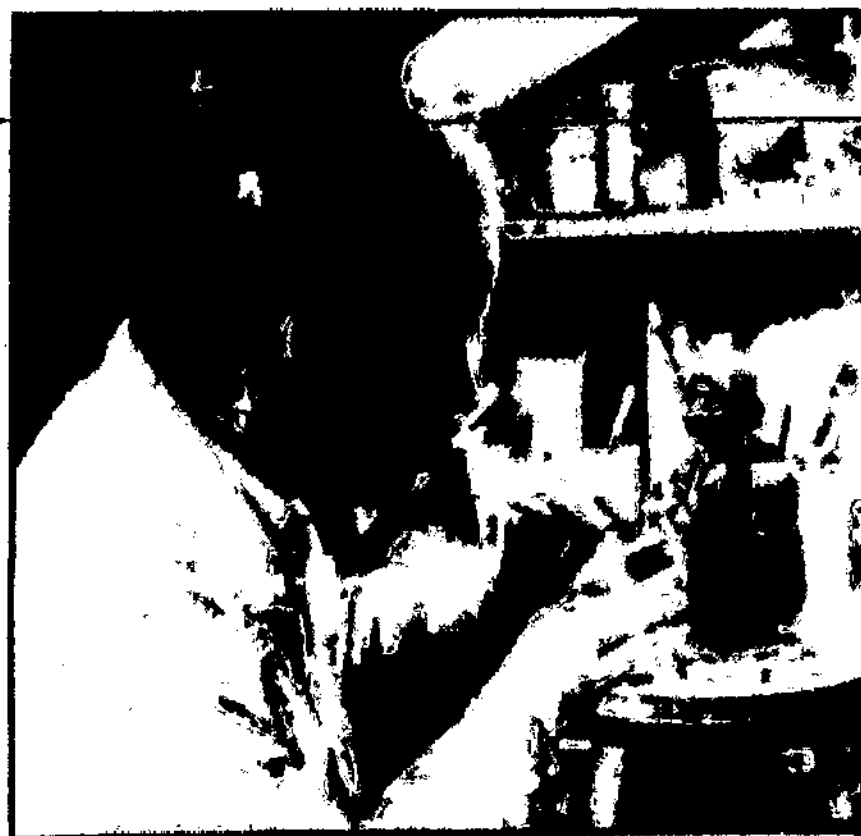

James J. Wagnon was born in Mississippi in 1943. He moved to the Southwest in 1957.

Upon graduation from Texas Tech University and the University of Texas at El Paso, he has pursued a career as a painter, printmaker, teacher and movie set decorator.

Wagnon has lived in the Ruidoso area for three years.

"In pursuit of aesthetic and endeavor, I find watercolor applied with brush or airbrush and lithographic printing the most challenging of mediums.

"Subject matter of my work is secondary to environmental influence according to color, shape and motion, basically light and its reflection."

Vick Winner

Through the efforts of Texas artist Conny Martin, Vick Winner was accepted as an apprentice at Tom Knapp's studio-foundry a few years ago.

She learned sculpture from the technical side, helping with all phases of bronze production and experimenting with pieces of her own.

Winner continued her training with a workshop with Glenna Goodacre at the Scottsdale Artists' School, learning the value of working with live models and boosting her self-confidence.

In her own studio-gallery in Ruidoso, Winner continues her studies with Patricia Ogilvie Huckins, an accomplished portrait artist and teacher, whose work also is featured in this show.

Winner's work is of a more classic style, one that she feels allows her to express herself while portraying realistically the people she chooses as models.

Larry Jernigan

Larry Jernigan is a distinguished Southwest artist born of pioneer heritage.

He is a native of New Mexico with an extensive background in ranching and extensive education in art. He studied at New Mexico State University, Texas Tech University, in New York at the National Academy of Art and the Art Students League and privately with John Koch, internationally known realist of New York.

Jernigan is renowned for his depiction of the working cowboy and the quiet grandeur of the landscape of his native Southwest.

Ted Robertson

Ted Robertson works in oil, pastel and watercolor with subjects ranging from still life and landscapes to portraiture. With numerous awards to his credit, the artist was recently invited to juror the Pastel Society of the Southwest's Annual Exhibit in Dallas, Texas, of which he is a member.

Robertson's works are in public and private collections throughout the U.S. and some works are on display at Smith Gallery, Ltd.

The artist conducted art workshops at the Carrizo School of Art and lived for a time in Lincoln.

Janey and

Jerry Perry

Janey and Jerry Perry work in stained glass, beveled and etched glass. The artists do original designs in glass, or construct designs submitted by clients.

Janey was a schoolteacher and Jerry was a psychologist and forensic evaluator before they began to work in stained glass. The Perrys have owned and operated Armadillo Stained Glass Studio since 1977.

Their glasswork is located in homes, businesses and churches across the Southwest.

Mack Elder

Mack Elder was raised in West Texas and educated at the University of Texas at El Paso, and the Chouinard Art School, in Los Angeles, California.

Elder currently markets decals that are reproductions of recent works which are painted on glass-multiple layer transparent reflective paintings.

His works include all phases of fine art.

He has been a prop builder for Wolper Productions and worked on the film "Birds Do It, Bees Do It."

He has also worked with the fabrication and the installation of vinyl inflatables for the "Magic Circus" in Hollywood, California.

Elder has also designed as well as constructed "liveable sculptures" (foam houses).

Charles Newland

Charles E. Newland's unique conceptual acrylic paintings have received awards in prestigious national shows and are featured in public and private collections nationwide. An invited member in the exclusive National Society of Painters in Casein and Acrylic, Newland's painting career follows a distinguished one in advertising and graphic design.

George Shawver

George Shawver came to New Mexico to paint full time, after taking an early retirement option.

Prior to leaving Virginia, he was a member of the Allegheny Highlands Arts Center and had been by the Old Salem Gallery in Salem, Virginia, and Gallery III in Roanoke, Virginia.

John Meigs

Artist John Meigs' work has been known for decades in New Mexico and galleries across the country. His watercolors and temperas are in many major museums and private collections. The inspiration for his work relates to his long association with the Southwest and his friendship with Peter Hurd and Henriette Wyeth.

Gary Morton

Gary Morton's work reflects his goal of leaving a historical view of the modern day cowboy from the viewpoint of a cowboy.

The Lincoln artist works mainly in watercolors, with other work done in oils, drawings and sculpture.

The realist is self-taught and has always been interested in art. He spent 10 years as a working cowboy, developing his artwork as he worked. Morton has been a professional artist for eight years, but still manages to spend a lot of time on ranches.

The artist has had many distinctions, including being named Best of Show, Gold and Bronze Watercolor awards at the National Western Artists Show in Lubbock, Texas.

Arden Hosetosavit

Arden Hosetosavit grew up on the Mescalero Apache Reservation. He went to school in Ruidoso, advancing to the Institute of American Indian Arts in the 1960s.

Inspired in 1983, Arden has found his love—in sculpting in alabaster.

His work, which features a variety of animals as well as Indians, is noted for its vivid detail.

Sculptures by Arden Hosetosavit are featured in Arizona and Texas. His work may be seen in Ruidoso at the Artisan's Shop and Gallery.

Suanne Wamsley

Suanne Wamsley has been riding and drawing horses all her life and has created a name for herself as a top-notch equine artist.

Her portrait of Special Effort appeared on the April, 1982 cover of "Quarter Horse Journal."

She is commissioned annually by Golden Gate Field to portray the winner of the California Derby.

Her equine print series highlighted the Texas Horse Racing Association's parimutual promotion.

Wamsley specializes in racing art and commissioned portraits of horses. Prints are available at her studio and gallery in the Gazebo Center at 2103 Sudderth Drive, or the Golden Egg Gallery in Dallas, Texas.

George Keith-Beattie

George Keith-Beattie studied at the Toronto Technical School in Ontario, Canada, the London County Council School of Applied Art in London, England, and the Royal College of Art in London.

He was the art director for an advertising company in Toronto and was art director for Butterick Pattern Company in New York.

The artist was art director and quality control director at Vogue-Butterick Company.

He has exhibited at the Toronto Art Gallery, the Teaneck Art Show of New Jersey and the Ruidoso Art Show. He has works in private collections.

Sam Pilgreen

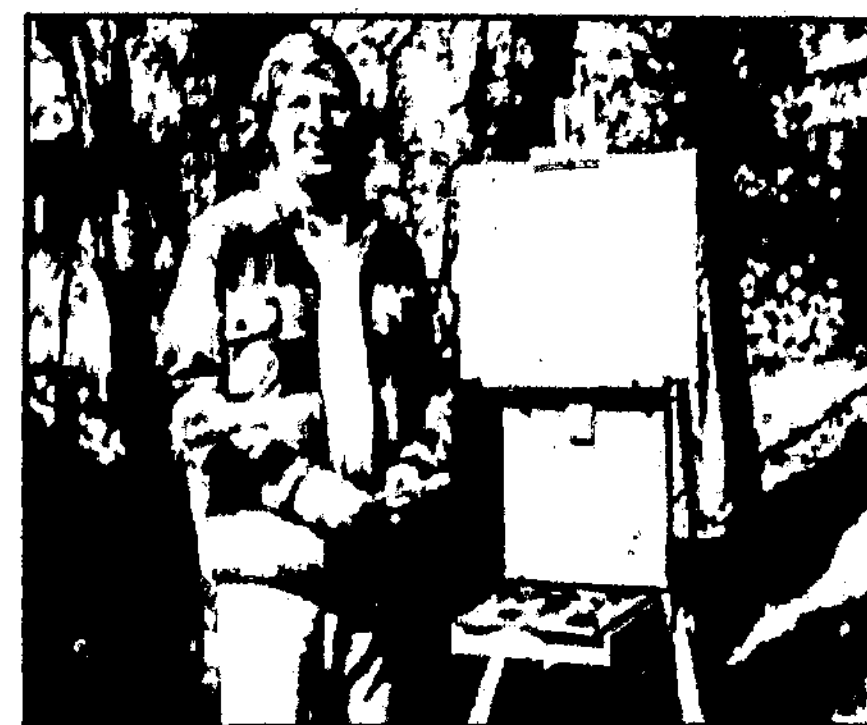

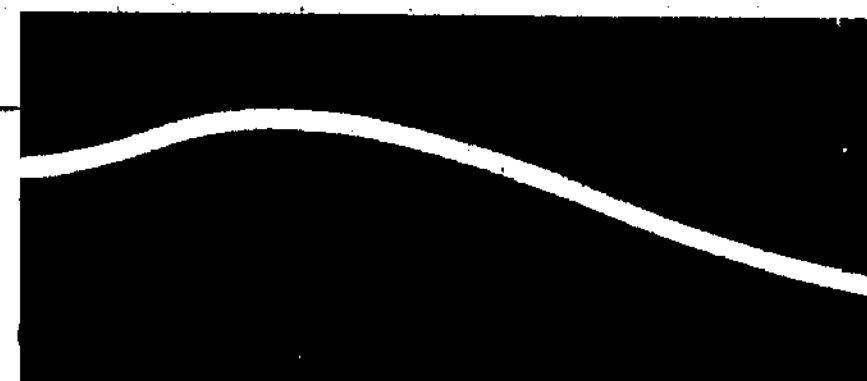

Sam Pilgreen has a degree in fine arts and completed secondary art education, then spent 20 years as a secondary art instructor in Alamogordo and Ruidoso public schools.

Pilgreen participated in the Children's White House Conference on Youth in Art.

Pilgreen wrote an art critique column for the Alamogordo Daily News entitled "Art of Criticizing."

The artist has won numerous art awards in shows.

His main philosophy of art is to reflect life as it is felt and viewed so that it becomes a reflection of one's culture.

Ken Hosmer

Early each morning, you will find artist Ken Hosmer strolling beside the Rio Ruidoso.

"I pull my creative energies from nature," he explains. A dynamic colorist, Hosmer sensitively portrays the land and people of New Mexico.

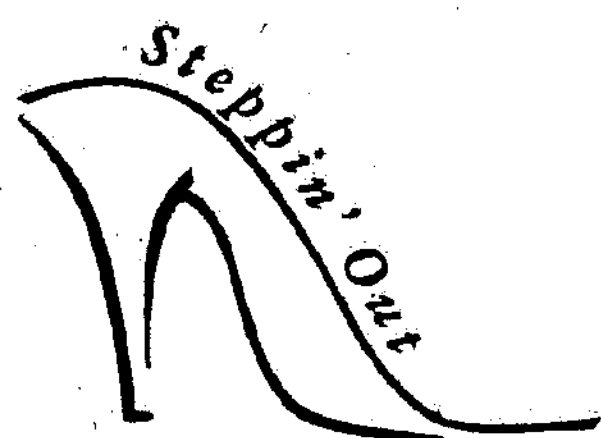

Formerly director of the Carrizo Lodge Art School, he has rapidly gained national attention as an artist and art workshop instructor. Recently he was chosen for an article in "The Artist's Magazine" and was selected as this year's guest instructor by the Mississippi Artist Guild.

Paintings at the Lincoln County Show of Art will include a large watercolor of the historic Hondo Schoolhouse and oil paintings portraying timeless moods of forests.

Kire Cole

Kire Cole graduated from Southern Methodist University with a BFA in studio arts.

She majored in oil painting and minored in photography and filmmaking.

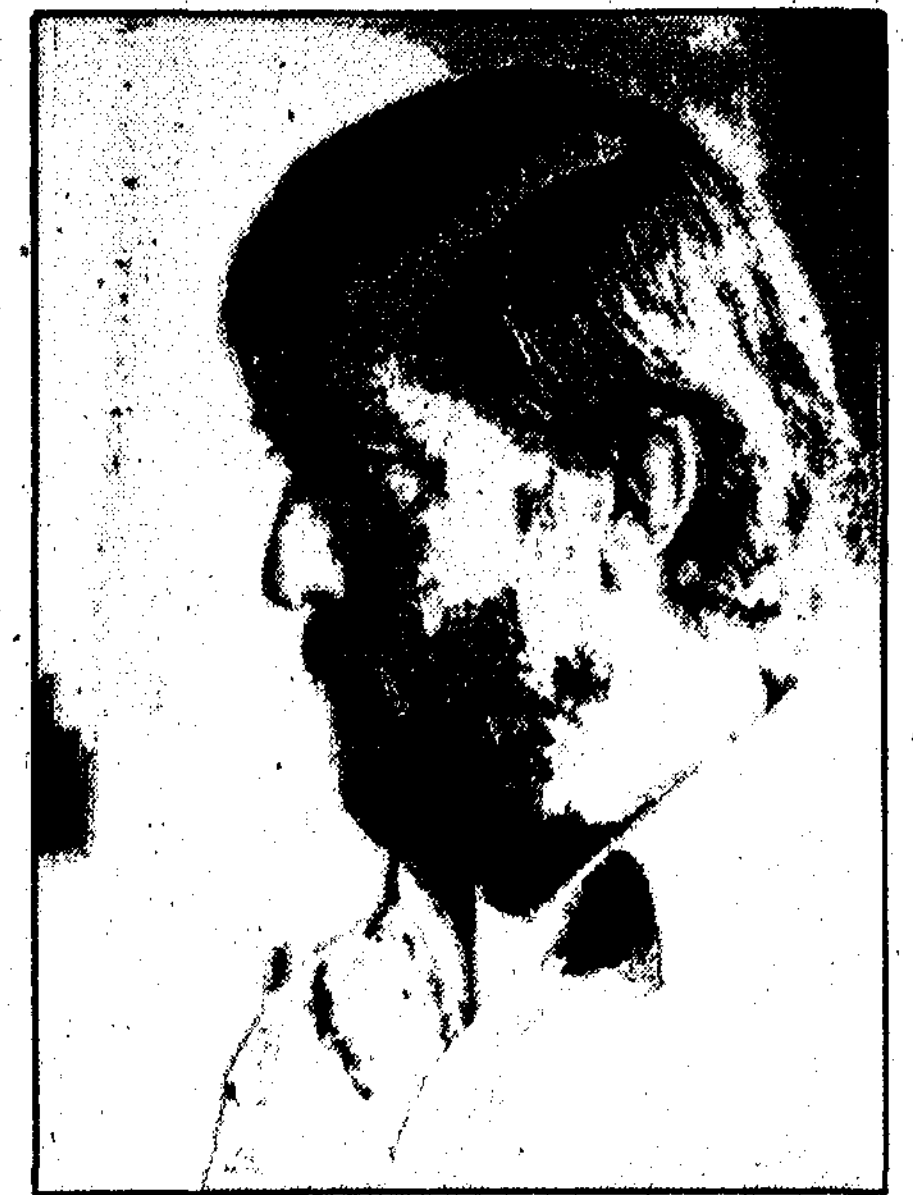

She has worked in several mediums including sculpture, printmaking and weaving.

Cole studied art history in London, England, and New York, New York.

She also attended the College of Santa Fe in Santa Fe, where she had her first solo show.

Cole recently won a second place at the Fine Arts League National Art Show in Roswell.

Her studio is located in San Patricio.

Peter Rogers

JaNeil Crawford

Ranch cook and western artist, JaNeil Crawford, has been a resident of Lincoln County off and on for the past six years.

Crawford lives north of Capitan with her husband, Buff, and two children. Buff Crawford manages the Block Ranch.

JaNeil Crawford has a perfect opportunity to research material for her western paintings. Desiring to improve her work, Crawford has recently taken art lessons from former member of the Cowboy Artists Association, James Reynolds.

Her oil, pencil and pastel works have appeared in many galleries and art shows in New Mexico and Arizona.

Jim Law

Jim Law was an attorney in Dallas, Texas, for 20 years.

The "rat-race" finally took its toll and he moved to Ruidoso and began to produce bronze sculpture.

His wife, Corrine, and daughter, Melanie, live with Law in a rural valley which enables both his home and studio to give him a spectacular view of Sierra Blanca.

Law's sculptures basically consist of the faces of people he has come in contact with while he practiced his hobby, music, and his vocation, the law.

Clinton Taylor

Clint Taylor defies categorizing—when you have come to the conclusion that he is a naïf or a primitive or a sophisticated "school of" creative artist, you are confronted with a new work which denies all those labels.

Taylor's paintings vary widely in style. They are held together by an urgency to express feelings common to most of us.

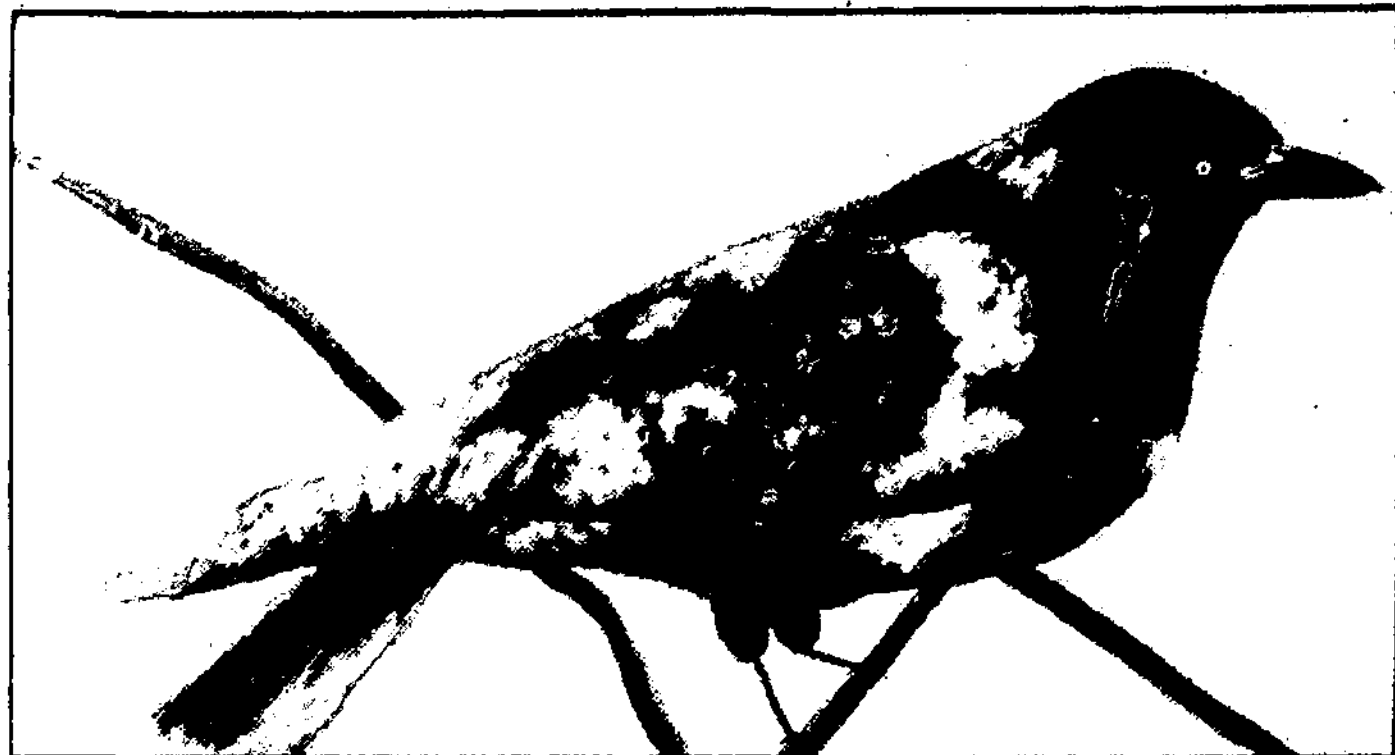

He surprises with an instinctive draftsmanship and a purely natural sense of design. He sometimes expresses himself with roughhewn energy.

Peter Rogers studied at the St. Martin's School of Art in London, then came to the U.S. He married Carol Hurd in 1964.

His commissioned works include 48 paintings of Alaska for ARCO; murals for the Texas Tech Museum in Lubbock, Texas; and work for the State Archives and Library in Austin, Texas, Anaconda in Denver, Colorado, and Arcomex in Mexico City, Mexico.

Rogers' work is included in the collections of the Bristol Art Gallery in England, Roswell Museum, McNider Museum in Mason City, Iowa, Museum of the Southwest in Midland, Texas, PepsiCo Inc. in New York, First National Bank of Chicago and the ARCO collection.

Jacqueline Kastor

Jacqueline Kastor is a new artist in Ruidoso, having moved from Pampa, Texas, last fall.

Kastor has been painting for 10 years and taught art classes in Amarillo, Texas, and worked as a commercial artist before moving to Pampa in 1983.

She has a special fondness for New Mexico and feels it is a privilege to live here and have this beautiful area to study and paint.

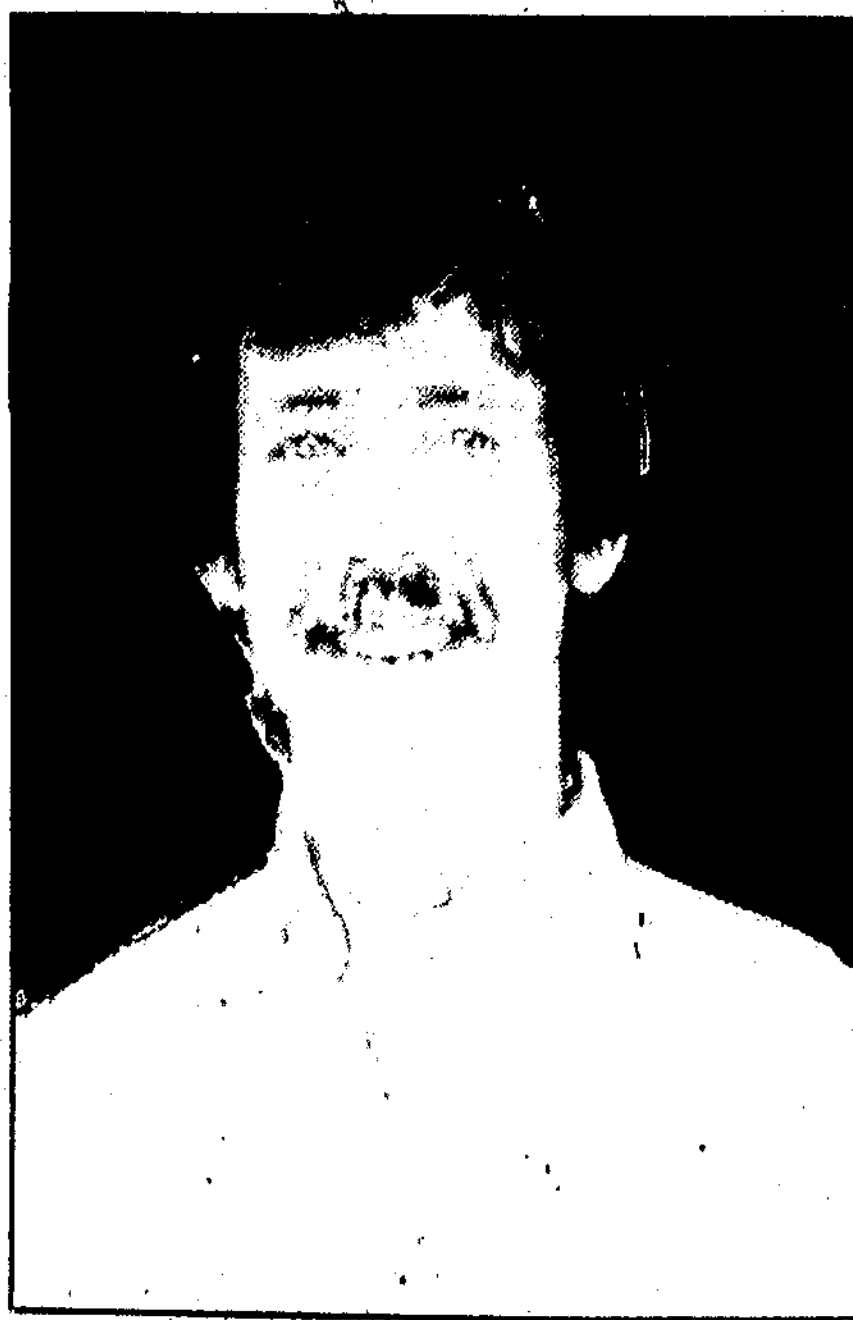

Kastor's formerly realistic approach to art has since evolved into a more impressionistic style, particularly in her paintings of children, florals and landscapes.

She strives for a strong sense of color, texture and design.

Kastor has won several awards in numerous group exhibits and has displayed paintings in galleries in the Amarillo area.

The Pampa Fine Arts Association named her their "1985 Artist of the Year."

Kastor and her husband, Gary, are owners of Jacque's Silk Flower Shop and Art Gallery in Ruidoso.

Steven Long

Steven Long has lived in Ruidoso for the past 10 years and has been art oriented since childhood.

He was honored with an art scholarship to Texas Tech University in 1972, where he studied studio art, sculpture and painting.

In 1973, Long and others in a survey team, became the first to survey the Straits of Magellan since 1888.

After four years of college, he left to privately study the works of Dr. Jacob Bronowski, Dr. John Lily, Joseph Cambell, Ansel Adams, Salvador Dali, Vermeer and others.

Long considers himself a student of the "New Realism" movement in American art.

Dorothy Bell Knapp

Born and art-educated in Arkansas, Dorothy Bell Knapp has developed her abilities and honed her techniques for the past two decades in the Ruidoso area.

Her preference for subject matter has evolved from discerning observation of the southwestern scene and its original inhabitants.

In the home-studio-gallery that she and her husband, sculptor Tom Knapp, have created out of an old rustic tavern, Dorothy produces pastels depicting the colorful ceremonies and costumes of the Western American Indian tribes.

Her watercolors of the Southwest scene document the softer aspects of a many times harsh countryside.

Tom Knapp

Tom Knapp's sculpture has attracted the enthusiasm and patronage of collectors throughout America.

Knapp's years of experience include training at school in California, a number of years as a designer and animator in the Disney studios and more years as a professional photographer and commercial artist.

Knapp's works are primarily limited editions and are found in over 200 major collections and museums. He is listed in "Who's Who in American Art," "Who's Who in the West" and "Who's Who in America."

STUDIO III

GRAND OPENING

David Smith and Skip Stepleton announce the opening of Studio III, a gallery and showroom in Adobe Plaza. A belief that art can enrich the experience of our physical environment leads Studio III to present a range of art from traditional fine art to fine handcrafted furnishings and architectural art. In addition to displaying fine works by noted artists, Studio III stands ready to meet your specific needs in art and ornament with custom design and commission work.

On display initially will be:

- ★ Bronzes and architectural art by David Smith
- ★ Wood sculpture and furnishings by Skip Stepleton
- ★ Watercolors by recognized British Columbian artist Jock Hilderbrand
- ★ Contemporary photography by John Stepleton
- ★ Collection of early photographs of Southwest Indians by Fraton
- ★ Various works by local artists and craftsmen

You are cordially invited to the grand opening on Saturday, May 31 to meet the artists and review their works. There will be a reception from 4 to 6 p.m. in the Adobe Plaza courtyard at 200 Mechem Dr.

Dave McGary

As a young man Dave McGary was awarded a grant to study the lost wax process with master craftsmen in Italy under the tutorage of Harry Jackson.

Upon his return to the states, he worked and taught at a well-known foundry for several years. He then moved to Ruidoso where he owns and operates his own foundry.

McGary's sensitivity to the American Indian brings their everyday life and private ceremonies into focus with new meaning.

McGary's work is now being handled by Jernigan Gallery in Ruidoso.

Walter Rawley

Walter Rawley is a woodcarver, sculptor, founder, "Gringo Santero" and "El Patron" of Crucis Art Bronze Foundry and Gallery at 524 Sudderth Drive (across from the swimming pool).

Here in the smallest commercial foundry—just one man—he casts his own sculpture and that of several other artists, whose works are sold from the gallery.

Most of Rawley's work has been church-design appointments and liturgical symbolism—crosses from 18 feet tall to one-inch gold pendants and an eight-inch wood carving of Saint Michael.

Robert Harrison

As a native New Mexican artist and sculptor, Robert Harrison has had the good fortune to have lived and worked among several of the New Mexico Indian tribes. There, he learned much from their customs and culture.

Most of his work reflects the contemporary Indian and the preservation of the Indian culture.

In each of his bronze sculptures, he has paid particular attention to the finest of detail and features even though the sculptures are less than 12 inches tall. Each bronze is in itself a portrait in the round of its model and each has a special story of its own.

Nancy Fleharty

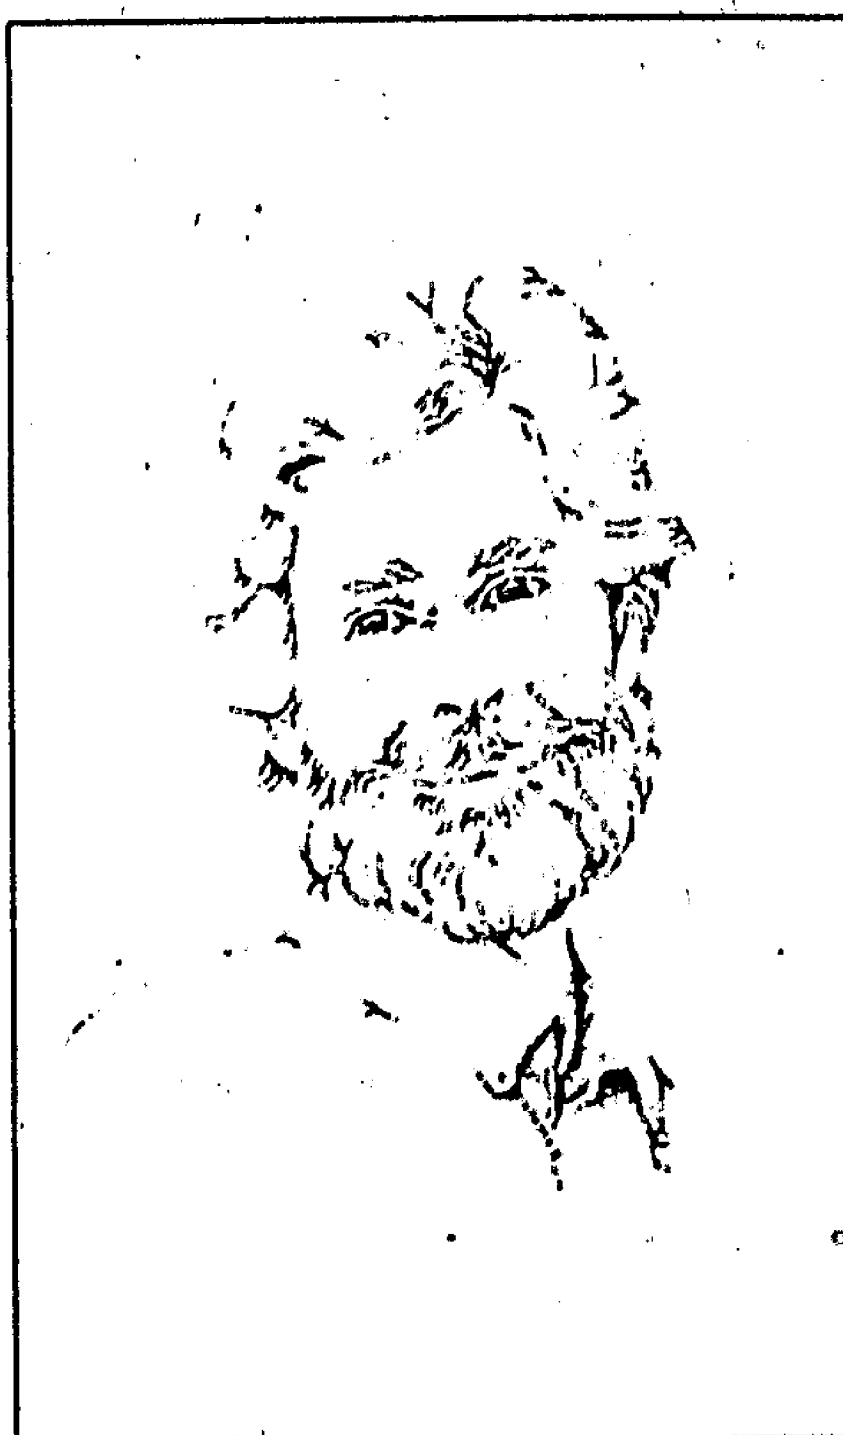

Nancy Fleharty has been a resident of Ruidoso for 13 years with her husband and two small children.

She has been pursuing her career as an advertising designer, illustrator and calligrapher, but her first love is her drawings and paintings.

Her commercial work keeps her motivated while her fine arts tickles her creative eye.

Both, in their own way, are invaluable to her. She has participated in art schools, gallery management, various shows and commercial deadlines.

She enjoys the different facets of her life and she hopes it shows.

Raymond Creasy

Painting since childhood, Raymond Creasy found an art career an automatic choice.

After graduating from Memphis Tech as an art major, he studied art at Memphis State University and from there furthered his studies at the Memphis Academy of Art.

Creasy has held many positions as a commercial artist and technical illustrator. He has traveled the United States and Canada extensively as a musician. Creasy found opportunities to sketch and use many of these drawings as studies for later works.
