Tribe says water claim would fill needs

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

The Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe claims the right to appropriate about 13,688 acre-feet of water per year with an 1852 priority date, but the State of New Mexico has disputed that claim.

During five weeks of hearings presided over by District Judge Pro Tempore LaFel Oman, the United States, on behalf of the tribe, presented a case for adjudicating the tribe's claims to 13,688 acre-feet of water per year from the Rio Hondo stream system and underground basin.

Issues disputed by the State of New Mexico include the date the Mescalero Apache Reservation was established, the purpose for which it was established and the economic feasibility of projects planned.

Judge Oman, a former court of appeals judge and a former State Supreme Court justice, was specially appointed for this case. No rulings came out of the five weeks of testimony he heard last March and April.

William Lutz, United States attorney for the State of New Mexico, explained the case is divided into two parts—determination of the rights of the Mescalero Apache Tribe and determination of the rights of other water users.

Lutz said the purpose of a pre-trial conference set for November 24 in Roswell is to "find out where everybody stands."

Vickie Gabin, assistant attorney general for the State Engineer's Office, said in a meeting on September 24 at Hondo High School that the November conference is the last chance for interested parties to become a part of the case.

"I think the decision that will come from this particular case has a very definite bearing on whether the Mescalero Apache Tribe survives as a tribe on the reservation that was reserved for us by the United States," said tribal President Wendell Chino in the opening testimony.

Valley residents, during two meetings to discuss the upcoming litigation, also have said they fear the case could change their way of life forever.

In a pre-trial document summarizing expert reports, attorneys for the tribe detailed plans for utilizing the water being claimed.

Assailant with machete injures two

A machete-wielding man severely injured two people in an incident last Thursday at the White Oaks bar.

No charges have been filed, but Leandro Vega, chief investigator for the District Attorney's Office in Carrizozo, confirmed that Joe Armstrong of Capitan and Betty Sue Hess of the White Oaks area were hospitalized with injuries they received apparently around 8:30 p.m. Thursday in White Oaks.

Lincoln County Undersheriff Charlie Cox also confirmed the incident, and said Deputy Duane Vincent filed a report after Armstrong was observed injured and bleeding in the parking lot at the Four Winds Motel.

Carrizozo Police Chief C.A. Morales said he called the Sheriff's Office when he saw Armstrong, whose van had allegedly been seen traveling erratically on the highway from White Oaks to Carrizozo, parked at Four Winds.

Vincent reported: "When I got out of the car and approached him (Armstrong) he screamed at me that (another man) and himself got into a fight at the White Oaks bar. (The man) attacked him with a machete."

Vincent reported that Armstrong refused treatment from Emergency Medical Services and was transported to the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital by private vehicle.

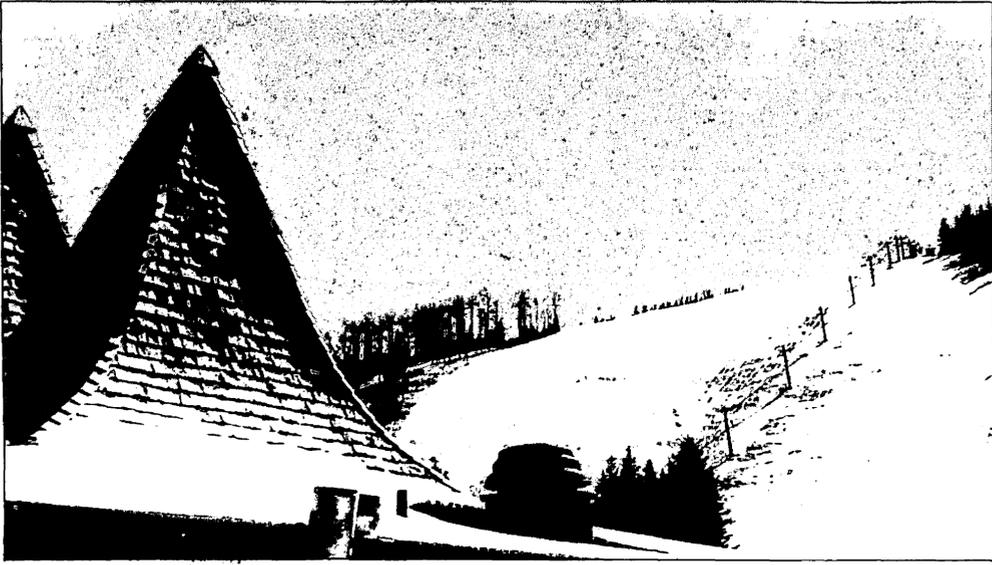

Cox said a State Police officer also responded to the Four Winds, and according to Vincent, talked briefly with Armstrong. The officer couldn't be reached for comment on Wednesday.

Cox said a female was in the RHVH emergency room receiving treatment from injuries she said she received in White Oaks when Armstrong was admitted.

Cox said he asked Judge Richard A. Parsons to become involved in the case because the alleged suspect (named by Armstrong) is out on appeal bond.

"It's an ongoing investigation," said Vega, who said the matter was referred to him by Parsons.

Later, Assistant District Attorney Harry Wilcox Jr. said the DA's office preferred not to comment or confirm the investigation "due to ethical considerations." He declined to comment on a possible suspect.

P&Z, county groups schedule meetings

The Planning and Zoning Commission for the Village of Ruidoso will meet at 3 p.m. Monday, October 20. Items on the agenda include:

—Request by owner Joseph Karam for extension of temporary approval on a reception center in Section 36, Tract L, Pinecliff Subdivision.

—Consideration of request by Van A. Parmley for an eight-foot south side property line variance for new construction on Lot 12, Block 20, Forest Heights Subdivision. Parmley is requesting an alternate of a five-foot south side property line variance, if the first application is denied.

—Request by owner Roger Beasley for a nine-foot, two-inch rear property line variance for new construction on Lot 7A, Block 9, first addition to Green Meadows.

—Consideration of 12-foot front setback variance for new construction on Lot 10, Block 8, Golf Course Estates, requested by Vic and Betty McCabe, owners.

Regular meetings are preceded by a 2 p.m. workshop. Both the meeting and workshop are open to the public.

The Lincoln County Commission has scheduled the second public involvement meeting on the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport access road for 6 p.m. Tuesday, October 21, at the Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club, French Drive and Divot Place in Alto.

Maps will be displayed from 6 to 7 p.m. and the study team from Bohannon-Huston, Inc., project engineers, will make a presentation from 7 to 9 p.m.

Audience comment will be solicited after the formal presentation.

Council moves to protect water

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Major water discussions apparently were conducted during executive session when the Ruidoso Village Council met Tuesday in a regular meeting peppered with jokes and laughter.

"Aren't we jolly tonight," commented Councillor Elmer Pirelli after one of Mayor Lloyd L. Davis' jocular remarks, which included a suggestion that the council come in costume on October 28.

After the closed session the council acted on three separate water issues, the apparent topics for the executive meeting. Councillors:

—authorized water attorney Neil Stillinger to file an "amicus" or friend of the court brief on behalf of the village in a water case between the states of New Mexico and Texas;

—accepted an amended offer of judgment from the State Engineer on the Eagle Creek wells;

—and retained water attorney Stillinger and water engineer Jackie Atkins to present the Village of Ruidoso's claims in a water case involving the United States, the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe and the State of New Mexico.

During the open meeting the council established a paving assessment district open to all areas in village limits after hearing pleas from residents of the Pinecliff area.

"We're basically just asking to live in as nice a neighborhood as the rest of the people in Ruidoso do," said Tom Hansen, speaking for Pinecliff residents.

Mary Lou Moore, another Pinecliff resident, recalled efforts some years ago to establish an assessment district. She said those plans fell through because including sewer, curb and gutter in the project pushed the cost too high for some property owners.

Mayor Davis suggested trying again to come up with funds for sewer, but Hansen said residents are not concerned with their septic tanks, just the dust and problems associated with unpaved streets.

After Village Councillor Victor Alonso said he'd like to see his neighborhood paved, too, the council voted to leave the assessment district open.

Village manager Jim Hine said the council will now contract with an engineering firm to do the maps, title searches and estimates of footage and costs. He said a non-binding protest hearing will be conducted before the council makes a decision on which areas will be paved.

Costs will be assessed to all property owners in the paving areas, and terms of payment will be established, said Hine. He said a lien will be placed on any piece of property in the district where the paving assessment is not paid.

Hine said in the past paving districts have been assessed semi-annually over a 10-year period.

"Oddly enough, the pavement has lasted this long in most cases," quipped Hine.

Councillor Alonso initiated discussions of whose name should be on a dedication plaque to be placed at the Grindstone Canyon dam.

"We are but the tail-end of a long project," noted Alonso in moving to find "a couple of extra inches" on the huge dam to include names of all councils involved in the lengthy, problem-plagued project.

"I don't want to have my name on a $7.2 million monument when the Indians take the water away and we can't fill it," said Council Ray Dean Carpenter.

Mayor Davis laughingly outlined a plan to etch the name of every water user in Ruidoso on the dam.

Wurstfest to offer bands, dancing and German beer

The upcoming Ruidoso Wurstfest this weekend promises fun for everyone.

Festivities will begin at 5 p.m. Friday, October 17, when the German Band Float will be driven down the main street of town to the tent area at 1900 Sudderth Drive—where the remaining activities will take place that evening, Saturday from 1 p.m. to midnight, and Sunday from 1-5 p.m.

"We want everyone to know that we're not looking for a beer bust," emphasized Chester Stone, Spirit of Ruidoso chairman of the event. "This is to be an annual event, and we want families to get involved."

The dance band is Aldo & Company from El Paso, Texas. They will feature German music, with "a little bit of something for everyone," stated Stone. "They are an excellent band that gets the audience involved."

Featured throughout Saturday and Sunday's festivities will be The Polonia Folk Dancers from El Paso. Wearing colorful authentic Polish costumes, they will perform a variety of regional folk dances.

Concessions by local Kiwanis, Spirit of Ruidoso and DECA groups will offer German beer and wine, German sausage (with regular hot dogs available if that's too rich), soft drinks, popped corn, and pretzels. Additional souvenir items will include German steins, coasters and glassware.

"People will be coming from a 150-mile radius," added Stone. "We hope the community will come out, participate and enjoy the fun."

Friday's predicted high.....67

The National Weather Service in Roswell predicts partly cloudy skies today with light, southerly winds. Tonight, skies will be partly cloudy with light and variable winds.

Friday will be mostly fair, with southerly winds at five to 15 miles per hour. Chances of rain are 10 percent today and five percent tonight and Friday.

The extended forecast for Saturday through Monday calls for increasing cloudiness on Saturday with a slight chance for showers. Scattered showers are expected for Sunday and Monday. Highs will be from 58 to 68, and the lows will be from 28 to 35.

Groups like this dance group from El Paso, Texas, will perform in this weekend's Wurstfest, at the Ruidoso State Bank west parking area at 1900 Sudderth Drive. Knotwurst, whitewurst and the traditional bratwurst will be served in addition to wienewurst, especially for children. The event also will feature a lot of polka and "oompah" music.

Tribe

2,212 acres of the 3,609 acres of arable land in the northwest portion of the reservation.

The pre-trial summary indicates an annual delivery of 3,545 acre feet of water would be needed from Rio Ruidoso and Carrizo Creek, and would be delivered through a system of tunnels, pipeline and a storage dam designed by Boyle Engineering.

Cost to develop the project is estimated at $5,429,802, and annual operating costs are estimated at $392,115, according to trial documents.

PAJARITA UNIT PROJECT

The tribe presented plans to irrigate 4,963 of 8,233 arable acres in the northeast portion of the reservation by drilling 43 wells "penetrating an underlying aquifer in the Yeso foundation."

Annual withdrawals are estimated at 8,271 acre feet per year.

Capital costs are estimated at $16,017,411 and annual operating costs are calculated as $2,198,577 per year, according to trial documents.

CARRIZO UNIT PROJECT

Plans have been developed to irrigate an existing 120-acre golf course and a proposed 120-acre golf course. Water requirements are estimated at 596 acre feet.

RECREATIONAL USE

Testimony revealed the tribe plans to develop 13 additional recreational sites with estimated water withdrawals of 545.9 acre feet. Cost to develop the facilities is estimated at $29.9 million in 1985, with operational costs estimated at $4.4 million a year. Annual fees and rentals from users are estimated at $13.3 million from an estimated 1.6 million visitor-days.

DOMESTIC USE

Also included in the tribe's case are details of population projections and expected water requirements for domestic use through the year 2030, with an estimated 950 acre feet needed annually by that date.

The report details economic feasibility of the projects, but the State, in its pre-trial document, claims independent studies have shown the tribe's plans are not economically feasible.

"(The) State will prove that the defendants' claims of economic feasibility for their hypothetical schemes are fantastical—founded upon unrealistic, arbitrary and often wildly exaggerated or speculative assumptions.

"Many of the assumptions employed by the defendants are deliberately calculated not to provide a true picture of the economic feasibility of their proposals, but to minimize estimated costs and inflate projected revenues," reads the plaintiff's pre-trial brief.

The State claims studies for the 28,000 feet of tunnels and 20,600 feet of tunnels to move 4,144 acre-feet of water per year from the Rio Ruidoso into the closed Tularosa Basin have been based on insufficient information. The State further claims plans for 42 deep wells (the tribe's documents refer to 43 wells, while the State's summary said 42) have included assumptions made without geohydrologic information as to the locations of the wells.

Trial documents indicate the tribe used standard procedures to analyze the economic feasibility of the planned projects. An issue under dispute is that of "practically irrigable acreage."

The State Engineer's Office staff explained in a September meeting at Hondo High School that practically irrigable acreage has been used as a standard in adjudicating some water rights, and the tribe details studies to show how many acres of land are practically irrigable in the areas of the proposed projects.

Attorneys for the state say that standard should not apply in this case.

"(The) Mescalero Apache Reservation is blessed with lush alpine forest, meadows, and rich, rolling grasslands, all of which support abundant populations of big game and livestock," claims the State.

"In the 113 years since the first definition of their boundaries, the Mescaleros have never engaged in any but minimal irrigated farming," continues the pre-trial brief, adding the tribe relies heavily on a recreation-based economy.

Leslie Seckler, attorney for the tribe, declined to discuss the Indian claims, referring any questions to President Chino, who could not be reached.

Editor's note: Issues of the projects' feasibility, along with those of priority date and impacts to area water users will be raised in upcoming hearings. The claims by both parties of priority date and impacts will be detailed in upcoming stories in this series.

Warrior spirit

Ruidoso High School art students are painting the town blue and gold for this week's Homecoming festivities. Emblazoning a symbol of Warrior spirit on the door of The Ruidoso News are Eva Davila (kneeling), Dale Redmond (center) and Paul Garcia. The three artists said they were enjoying every minute of their assignment.

Downs paving program is pet trustee project

Ruidoso Downs Trustees guarded their soon-to-be-paved roads as vigorously as a hen guards her chickens, during the trustees meeting Monday.

Extensive paving projects in the Downs were discussed thoroughly, and trustees gave approval to Downs clerk Jo Ann Jenkins to publish their intent to consider an ordinance that would impose a heavy fee on any who "cut" the new roads.

Companies that requested prior permission to make road cuts for utility lines or other excavation work would be subject to a $200 fee, and a $300 fine per occurrence would be assessed to those who cut without permission.

But the group was united in their belief that roads should be cut only as a last resort.

"It's almost impossible to cut a paved street and put it back the way it was," commented Downs Mayor J.C. "Jake" Harris.

"Once you cut one ... there's really not a good way to patch the street after that," Trustee Conrad Buchanan agreed. He suggested that companies who need to make cuts be encouraged to bore beneath the streets and avoid disturbing the paved surface.

"We have to protect our streets," he vowed.

Trustees then directed village administrator Charles Robinson to advertise for bids on a project to pave 6,115 feet of roadway in Los Lomas subdivision. The lawmakers also approved a $16,540 change order on the Spring Road project, subject to the approval of the state Department of Finance and Administration.

In other business, the trustees:

—Directed Jenkins to send a letter to the president of Texas Monthly magazine protesting wording in a recent article which termed Ruidoso Downs as Ruidoso's "poor cousin," with a "clutch of cheap motels."

"I think this is a real slam to our community," Buchanan said.

—Voted to send two employees to Jail Operations School November 10-14; two to Clerk/Finance Officers Training October 20-24; and one to an Animal Control Conference November 6-7.

—Approved a transfer of funds.

—Adjourned into executive session.

"It's going to look a lot like the Vietnam memorial," noted Davis. He then proposed a scheme to include on the memorial plaque names of anyone "coming forward with $300,000."

But Davis then noted that the plaque should include at least four "DNWTBA," or "does not wish to be acknowledged" slots.

The mayor finally ended discussions of the plaque by noting that people who initiated the project should be recognized.

Village Councillor Jerry Shaw added those councillors should be included for the abuse they took over funding for the "monster."

In other regular business Tuesday the council:

—Approved a dispensers license for Handi Hanks at 508 Mechem Drive.

—Approved a Planning and Zoning Commission recommendation to vacate right of way on Forest Land and Juniper Circle for property owner Jace Ensor. Minimum charge of 50 cents per square foot will be charged for the 912 square feet.

—Heard from village engineer Mike Davalos that bids are being solicited for rebuilding three bridges and repairing Center Street with two Upper Canyon bridges included as alternates to the overall bids. Davalos said bids will be opened at 10 a.m. Monday, October 27.

—Accepted a snow removal contract with the State Highway Department in which the state will furnish 1,000 tons of salt and the village will furnish labor and equipment to clear Sudderth Drive during winter snow. The state predicts 15 winter storms.

—Accepted W.W. Grainger,

Inc.'s low bid of $7,505.94 for a standby generator for the Police Department. Four bids were received.

—Authorized moving $5,000 from a contingency fund in the lodgers' tax budget to a line-item for council approved spending. "We have always had this," said Councillor Shaw in recommending the funds be moved within the budget. She said the council has, in the past, effectively used the funds to promote and advertise Ruidoso.

—Agreed with a recommendation by Councillor Larry Simon to study the possibility of using an extra generator at the Police Department at the Eagle Creeks Sports Complex in efforts to reduce the $1,200 monthly light bills at the facility.

—Set a workshop for 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 28, to review drawings and specifications on Phase 2 of the Eagle Creek well field project.

—Heard a report from Councillor Shaw on a Municipal League board meeting she attended where nine New Mexico cities presented proposals for league meetings in 1988, 1989 and 1990. Shaw said she was impressed with the positive attitude of the cities, especially Grants, the successful bidder for the 1988 convention.

"They showed such a positive attitude ... pulled themselves up by their bootstraps," said Shaw, adding that Grants has made a convention center out of an old school building.

—Heard Councillor William A. "Dub" Holt congratulate the Warrior football team and coaching staff.

—Heard village attorney John Underwood report on the state bar convention at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Wilderness area a holdup to railway plan

A long-discussed mountain railway project that would link Ruidoso Downs, Ruidoso, the Inn of the Mountain Gods, Ski Apache Resort and the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport has run into a snag.

As proposed, an $80,000 study of the railway—financed by area governments and private interests—would have the railway violate the Federal Wilderness Act by running tracks through the White Mountain Wilderness, according to published reports.

State Transportation Department planning and development director Ron Sheck indicated the wilderness act "obviously" wouldn't be violated.

The study, prepared by Unified Industries of Virginia, was completed in April but just released to the public this month.

Reports said James Paxton, chairman of the Lincoln County Transportation Corp., indicated promoters of the railway are awaiting a state study on alternate routes and costs that they hope will tell them whether the project is feasible.

Drug Awareness Week

Mike Gladden, associate superintendent of Ruidoso Schools, introduced speakers and programs Monday and Tuesday nights during the parent/community meetings. Tonight (Thursday) there will be a program with demonstrations at Ruidoso High School by Britt Detective Agency on narcotic sniff dogs.

Home remodelers boost building permits

by FRANKIE JARRELL

News-Staff-Writer

Residential remodeling projects gave village building a shot in the arm during September with over a quarter of a million dollars' worth in permits issued in that category.

Last month the village Building Inspector issued permits for 29 residential addition and alteration projects totaling $252,431, way up from August's 18 residential remodels valued at $59,799, but still down from September 1985 when the village saw 26 residential fix-up permits worth $272,753.

Overall building in the village increased in September over August, but is still lagging behind 1985.

Permits for all categories numbered 42 at $706,304 last month, up from August's 31 at $572,954, but down slightly from September 1985 when 42 permits were issued with a $378,069 dollar valuation.

That brings the year-to-date total to 286 permits with a valuation of $9,801,597 for 1986 compared with 485 permits at $17,651,352 for the same time in 1985.

Five permits with a valuation of $410,831 were issued for new single family residences during September, down somewhat from the six issued in August, but up from September 1985 when five were issued worth just $368,658.

No permits were issued in September for new commercial construction, continuing a downward trend, since last month just one commercial permit with a valuation of $3,000 was issued. In September 1985 two new commercial permits were issued at a total valuation of $79,620.

Six commercial remodeling permits with a valuation of $33,192 were issued in September up from the four worth $21,500 issued in August, but down from last September's eight commercial addition and alteration permits with a valuation of $152,039.

One demolition permit with a valuation of $6,000 was issued in September, bringing the year-to-date for demolitions to $14,600. No permits were issued in that category in August or in September 1985.

One permit for a foundation, with a valuation of $3,850, was issued in September.

Permits issued by the Village of Ruidoso during September, by subdivision, type of structure and estimated cost of construction, were:

—Central Subdivision, residential addition, $5,064.

—First Addition Cree Meadows Heights, interior residential remodel, $10,000.

—White Mountain #2, interior residential remodel, $28,000.

ROBIN NANCY AND LARRY EDWARD BECKER

Couple is married in double ring ceremony

Robin Nancy Anderson and Larry Edward Becker were united in a formal, double ring wedding ceremony August 23 at the Epiphany Lutheran Church, Elmhurst, Illinois. Pastor Ken McKnight officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Norman and Nancy Anderson, Bent. The groom is the son of John and Kay Becker, Indianapolis, Indiana. The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory Chantilly lace which flowed into a skirt of silk with a chapel train.

The maid of honor was Dawn Anderson, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids wore tea length dresses with pink linen bodices and ivory organza skirts.

The best man was John Alexander of Indianapolis.

Groomsmen were attired in charcoal morning tuxedos.

A luncheon and tea dance immediately followed the ceremony at The Drake Oakbrook, Oakbrook, Illinois.

The Becker's are at home in Indianapolis, where he owns a Landscape Contracting business and she is employed as a commercial interior designer.

Bear maker to show at weekend fair

Mary Stroemer of Ruidoso has been selected as a participating artist in the Eighth Annual Frontier Fiesta in Alamogordo. The two-day arts and crafts event will be Saturday and Sunday, October 18 and 19, at the Otero County Fairgrounds exhibit building.

Stroemer has won numerous prizes, county and statewide, for her handmade bears and bear wardrobes.

She is an active member of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital Auxiliary and the Ruidoso Extension Club.

Angel Biscuits
Treat yourself to these wonderful biscuits. They are easy to stir up and the dough can be refrigerated for several days. This is a really nice feature, because you can have ready-to-use biscuit dough on hand. With the holidays rapidly approaching, anything you can do ahead is a real help. You can't enjoy your company or guests if you are slaving away in the kitchen every minute that they are there. Whether you make these for family or for company, everyone will enjoy the "yeasty" quality of this biscuit.

- Angel Biscuits
1 pkg. dry yeast
2 Tbsp. very warm water
5 cups flour
1 tsp. soda
3 tsp. baking powder
2 Tbsp. sugar
1 1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup shortening
2 cups buttermilk

Dissolve yeast in warm water and let set. Sift remaining dry ingredients together into a large mixing bowl and mix well. Cut shortening into dry ingredients. Add buttermilk and yeast mixture. Stir until liquid is well distributed. If you do not plan to use dough immediately, store it in an airtight container in the refrigerator. To make biscuits ... take a portion of dough and turn it out onto a floured board. Knead for one to two minutes. Shape dough so that it is 1/2 inch thick and cut out biscuits. Bake biscuits at 400 to 425 degrees for 10 to 15 minutes. For "golden brown" tops brush each biscuit before baking with a small amount of cream.

JAMES K. GREEN

Induction will honor longtime newspaperman

Longtime newspaperman James K. Green will be honored by being inducted into the New Mexico Press Association Hall of Fame this weekend during the association convention in Santa Fe.

Green is the father of Ruidoso News publisher Ken Green.

James K. Green's newspaper career covered some 50 years in West Texas, Colorado and New Mexico. The newspaperman capped his career when, in 1970, he purchased the Artesia Daily Press. He acquired the Deming Graphic and the Deming Headlight at the same time. Today his younger son, Walt, is publisher of the Headlight.

In 1939, Green was circulation manager of the Pampa News. He served as "circulation consultant" at the Gazette-Telegraph in Colorado Springs, Colorado, then became circulation manager at the News Journal in Clovis.

In 1949, Green joined forces with Lincoln O'Brien, who had been buying newspapers in New Mexico. Green started as circulation manager of the Las Vegas Optic for O'Brien, then became publisher of the Optic—the first of many papers he would publish.

Later, Green held the positions of publisher of the Tucumcari and Farmington newspapers; vice president of New Mexico Newspapers Inc. in Santa Fe; national advertising director and circulation manager for the Tucumcari, Farmington, Las Vegas and Gallup papers; and company pilot—all at the same time!

In 1954 the twosome achieved an incredible feat. The Artesia Daily Press was started from scratch to first issue in just 17 days.

"As far as we knew it was a record for starting a daily newspaper from scratch," said Green.

The newspaperman has a solid formula for success in his business.

"Local news," he said, is the key to success. "You're there to serve the community and if you do your job you stay, and if you don't, you don't."

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

October Snow

Today, October fourteen, is a perfect early October day, with deep pure blue sky all around the mountain horizon. The patch of bluebells in the yard and the purple New England daisies are in full shining color. Even the scarlet Rocky Mountain Gilia, or Trumpet Flower, is smiling from under a cedar bough at the corner of the yard.

This all is a very pleasant surprise because only two days ago it was mid winter here in the vale.

On Saturday, October eleven, little bands of clouds were drifting to and fro over the glens and mesas and hills, bringing little low hanging curtains of mist here, patches of sunshine there, and light streamers of slow-falling rain yonder.

Just at nightfall the North Wind began blowing his cool breath across the land. And here came tiny droplets of mist, rain some of it half frozen, all riding on the North Wind which now began to slow down a little. Then after a little lull in the gale, more little skybourne hosts blew in on the second wave of the wind, this time accompanied by half frozen little particles of small particles of flying slush trying to form themselves into one-quarter-size snow flakes. These last were the handwriting of things to follow. However again the chill blast began to fade, a second time, and the mist and rain and half snow fell away and it was early autumn in the sky once more with a golden harvest half moon shining down.

Early in the morning of Sunday, October twelve, Corina, the black Halloween cat of the Storm Ranch, came in from her pallet by the fireplace and woke me up trying to bring me some kind of message with her little mewling cat voice.

In the dim light of dawn you looked out upon a winter scene which had stolen in during the night, a mountain world covered with two inches of snow, still falling in miniature flakes mixed with freezing mist and sleet.

This year the river crossing has been too high to cross for a longer period of time than in any year I can remember. So I drove around the old road with the cedars and pinons on either side—which have been reaching closer and closer in—with these evergreens welcoming me laden with snow, leaning and bending inward so that you were driving through something like a tunnel of evergreens and snow.

Down at church at Saint Anne's in Glencoe it was warm-cheerful there with the good folks, and the presence of The Lord, himself. My great niece and great nephew Lissa and Andrew Burnett had come down from the home of their grandparents, Lynn and Maxine Storm, and stopped by to attend the church service and then were "On their way rejoicing" back to Austin, Texas.

Today you would never dream that the snow spirits had paid us a visit two days ago. The mountain meadows are shining green, only touched with fall tints of light crimson and gold. The oak brush on high has barely turned with just a touch of pale yellow among the light velvet green.

So slight a mark did the snowstorm leave that we are in an October day of song and story.

How the blue sky quickens your heart beat! The American flag is flying against this New Mexico October sky, over the mountain top. What a great blessing to live and rejoice in our mountain homeland in glorious October.

Ruidoso to have Homecoming against pass-happy Tigers

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School's varsity football team will take a break from District 3-AAA play when the Warriors host Los Lunas in the Homecoming Game Friday, October 17.

The game will start at 7:30 p.m. Ruidoso, second-ranked in the Associated Press state AAA-division poll and 6-1 on the overall season, is 1-0 in district play after dumping Hot Springs, 57-0, last week.

Los Lunas is 1-4 on the season, but one of those losses was a 24-6 loss to Mayfield, the state's top-ranked AAA-division team.

"They pass a lot and they'll probably throw an eight-man defensive front at us," Ruidoso head coach Cooper Henderson said. "They're not real quick, but they have some size."

"Probably the key will be the passing game, both offensive and defensive, and the kicking game."

The Warriors have had problems with eight-man fronts this season.

Lovington used that a lot in a 28-19 win over Ruidoso. Goddard also used some eight-man fronts in a narrow 7-6 Warrior win.

Ruidoso has scored 236 points and allowed just 77 in seven games. The Warriors have scored 104 points and given up just six in the past two games, but that came against questionable competition from Hot Springs and New Mexico Military Institute.

Ruidoso quarterback Jeff Willingham has thrown 11 touchdown passes and run for six more. Split end Brian Davis has caught 10 touchdown passes and run for two more.

But the running game has picked up considerably lately, with fullback Billy Harrison leading the way.

Harrison has scored four touchdowns and is one of the leading rushers in the state. He ran for 121 yards in five carries last week.

Kirk Taylor and Chuck Daniels have shared duties at tailback. Wingback Bubba Miller, tight end Bryan Richardson and split end-kicker Garret Henson also have been frequent targets of Willingham's passes.

Tackles Jason Hill and Gene Mowdy and guard Carl Bowden have been standouts in the offensive line.

Daniels has been a leader on defense with his play at middle linebacker. Willingham at safety leads an experienced and talented defensive backfield. He made all-state defensive back last season.

Los Lunas will be led by quarterback Cory Tobias.

Halfback Jim Hennig and fullback Gino Romero are other key offensive players.

Roy Lamont is the biggest Los Lunas starter, weighing 215 pounds. Tackle Brian Burt weighs 205 pounds and safety Brian Baca weighs 195 pounds.

If Henderson is right in thinking the kicking game will be important, the Warriors should have an edge.

Henson missed a 59-yard field goal by just 10 yards against Hot Springs. He has kicked several field goals this season and usually makes his extra-point kicks.

The Warrior junior varsity team will be idle this week. The junior varsity Warriors will resume action Saturday, October 25, at Socorro in a 2 p.m. contest.

Following are the probable starting offensive and defensive lineups for the Warriors (weight and class included).

Offense: Quarterback, Willingham, senior, 165; fullback, Harrison, senior, 165; wingback, Miller, senior, 160; tailback, Daniels, senior, 165, or Taylor, senior, 180.

Tight end, Richardson, senior, 160; tackles, Hill, senior, 205, and Mowdy, senior, 230; center, Sean Parker, senior, 165; guards, Sid Garcia, senior, 165, and Bowden, senior, 230; split end, Davis, senior, 180.

Defense: Middle linebacker, Daniels, outside linebackers, Matt Griego, junior, 140, or Jef Sherwood, junior, 165, and Dusty Beavers, sophomore, 185.

Tackles, Sean Moody, junior, 170, and Day, senior, 155; ends, Evans, senior, 205, and Sean Moore, junior, 167; cornerbacks, Alan Kirgan, senior, 148, and Taylor; safeties, Willingham and Miller, or Toby Rue, senior, 330.

LL football schedules to continue this Saturday

The Steelers and Ski Apache took big wins in Ruidoso Little League football major-division play last Saturday.

The Steelers crushed the defending champion Colts, 40-0, and Ski Apache blanked the Broncos, 20-0.

In minor-division action, the Bears beat the Redskins, 28-0, and the Raiders defeated the Lions (no exact score available).

Play will continue Saturday, October 18, at White Mountain School.

In minor-division action, the Lions will play the Redskins at 9 a.m. and the Bears will meet the Raiders at 3 p.m.

Major-division play will see the Cowboys play the Steelers at 1 p.m. and the Colts take on Ski Apache at 11 a.m.

Warrior spikers top Silver; to host Deming Wildcats

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Make no mistake about it. The Ruidoso High School varsity volleyball team is for real.

The Warriors proved it Tuesday night by topping Silver City in five games on the losers' court. Ruidoso is now 3-1 in District 3-AAA play and 9-3 overall.

Ruidoso lost the first two games, 15-3, and 14-16, but came back to win the next three, 15-1, 15-5, 16-14.

Sophomore Dari Stierwalt served the final three points in the fifth game for the Warriors. Ruidoso trailed, 14-13, before Stierwalt served the winning points.

Senior Kerry Gladden provided the winning point on a spike kill and Mikki Roller made a great defensive save with the Warriors leading, 15-14.

"Now the players know what it's like to play like a team," Warrior head coach Pixie Arthur enthused. "They played real well."

"We came out flat in the first two games. We couldn't get our serving going. But in the third game, the players got fired up all of a sudden."

In the third game, Stierwalt served four points and Gladden came on to serve 10 more to give Ruidoso a 14-1 advantage.

Freshman Tara Miller was the top standout of the fourth game. She served seven straight points to help the Warriors pull away from the hosts as Ruidoso led all the way.

"It was the best we've played all year," Arthur said. "It was a real intense effort from all our players."

Senior Lana McClure had an outstanding night serving. She did not have any serving errors in 20 attempts and scored 15 times.

Now the Warriors hope to repeat an earlier victory over Deming when they play the visiting Wildcats Saturday, October 18.

"I don't know if they've won a district match (Deming is 1-3)," Arthur said. "This may be do or die for them. They are going to be really up for us."

Ruidoso defeated Deming 15-6, 15-7, 11-15, 15-10, in the first meeting between the teams at the Wildcat gymnasium earlier this month.

The junior varsity match will start at 1 p.m. with the varsity match following. The freshman match will conclude the day's competition.

Jv spikers keep winning

Ruidoso High School's junior varsity volleyball team stayed unbeaten in District 3-AAA action with a 15-5, 15-4 win over host Silver City Tuesday.

Ruidoso, now 4-0 in district action and 10-2 overall, will play visiting Deming at 1 p.m. Saturday, November 8.

Ruidoso led all the way in both games.

"Yes, it was our best match," said Warrior junior varsity coach Jim Hofstad. "Particularly since we were without Tara Miller (who played in the varsity match)."

"We just dominated. The scores weren't indicative of how much we dominated."

"Ellen Graham played real well and Chantel Bowen was outstanding at the net."

Harriers to run Saturday

Ruidoso High School's boys cross-country team hopes to do well at the Roswell Invitational Saturday, October 18.

The meet will start near the airport and will begin at 11:30 a.m.

In last Saturday's Gadsden Invitational, senior Gabe Tam was the top finisher with a fifth-place 15:20 against tough competition.

Sophomore Sergio Hernandez was 61st in 17:32. Other Warrior finishers were Daniel Martinez, 64th; Hamilton Carter, 81st; and Trey Von Trotha, 86th.

Tam, who finished sixth in last year's state meet, had finished second or first in every meet before the tough Gadsden competition.

Following the Roswell Invitational, the Warriors will have their own invitational Thursday, October 23.

Frosh gridders play tonight

Ruidoso High School's freshman football team hopes to gain its second victory of the season when the Warriors play at Socorro today (Thursday), October 16.

The game will start at 4 p.m. Ruidoso is 1-3 on the season, having defeated Tularosa. The Warriors lost to Goddard, Roswell and Chaparral Junior High School.

The Warriors showed flashes of brilliance in the 14-6 loss to Goddard last week.

Quarterback Rusty Silva played well and threw an 18-yard pass to J.D. Darden for the Warriors' only touchdown.

The defense played well all night, only allowing two long drives by the Rockets, both of which led to scores.

que in the middle of the month, and there's a good chance the Warriors will be in it.

Ruidoso did very well in the non-district season and should have a winning season in the District 3-AAA race.

The Warriors took defending district and state champion Hot Springs to five games last week before losing.

When you take in the fact that the match was played on Hot Springs' court, the Warriors have a very good chance of defeating the Tigers when the teams play again Saturday, October 25, in the Ruidoso gymnasium.

The Warrior cross-country team has done well in invitationals so far this season, particularly senior Gabe Tam.

Tam finished sixth in last season's state meet, and should improve on that this year. Sophomore Sergio Hernandez also could do well at the state meet.

The Warrior runners will have a chance to show their talents to local fans when they host a meet Thursday, October 23.

So it looks like November could be a very busy month for Warrior athletes. Hopefully busy winning games and races.

November should be a very eventful month for Ruidoso High School sports followers.

The Warrior varsity football team will wind up the regular season and probably will compete in the state AAA-division playoffs, hoping to defend its crown.

But the Warrior varsity volleyball team and boys cross-country team also should be active next month.

The state AAA-division volleyball tournament will be in Albuquerque Saturday night.

Capitan gridders, spikers will compete this weekend

Capitan High School's varsity football team will take to the road for the third straight week Friday, October 17, going to Cloudcroft for a 7:30 p.m. game.

The Tigers are 3-4 on the year and need a victory against Cloudcroft to have a chance at the state playoffs.

Cloudcroft is 2-0 in district play and can clinch the district championship with a win over Capitan.

Capitan opened the District 1-A season last week with an 8-0 loss to defending champion Reserve. The Tigers had several good runs called back because of penalties.

The Tiger volleyball team lost to Tularosa in four games Tuesday night, after falling to Dexter in four games Saturday night.

"We didn't play well against Dexter," said Tiger head volleyball coach Bill MacVeigh. "But we played probably our best game of the season against Tularosa."

"We passed the ball better, set better and served better. Colynn Washburn did very well. She passed well, hit the ball well and served well."

Saturday, October 18, Capitan will travel to Estancia for varsity and junior varsity matches.

The Capitan junior high team will play at Chaparral Junior High School in Alamogordo today (Thursday), October 16. The match will start at 2:45 p.m.

Soccer team is undefeated

The Ruidoso Road Warriors under-10 soccer team remained undefeated in Otero County Soccer Association play with a 4-2 win Saturday in Alamogordo.

Brandon Eramello, Cory Hood, Danny Schrader and Patrick Richardson scored the Ruidoso goals. Ruidoso is now 2-0-2 in league action.

The Ruidoso under-14 team lost, 4-1, to see its record drop to 1-1-2. Keith Henson scored the Ruidoso goal.

In under-12 action, Ruidoso won, 3-1, to raise its record to 2-2-1.

Tigers top Braves in grid contest

Capitan Junior High's football team topped the Ruidoso Middle School B team, 8-0, Monday on the winners' field.

The Tigers' Nathan Roybal scored on a 10-yard run in the third quarter to give Capitan the winning points. The run finished a long drive.

"I felt the team played real well," said Capitan coach Jim Bizzell. "We're real pleased with the way they've improved."

Brave coach Terry Wharton also thought his team played a good game.

"I thought they played real well, especially in the second half," he said. "We got the ball down inside their 30 a couple of times, then lost the ball on fumbles."

Ruidoso's A team will host Tularosa at 3:30 p.m. today (Thursday), October 16. Ruidoso is 2-1-1 in A action.

The 1-3 Tigers will journey to Estancia today for a 4:30 p.m. game.

Mitchell had a part in 'sensational' trial

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Why would a district judge come all the way to Lincoln County in search of a defense attorney for a murder case that originated in Albuquerque and ended up in Las Cruces on a change of venue?

That's just what happened in the Johnny Zinn murder trial when U.S. District Judge William Deaton ordered local attorney Gary Mitchell to enter the capital murder case.

Zinn was accused, and later convicted, of kidnapping, raping and murdering University of New Mexico student Linda Lee Daniels.

Mitchell, back at work now in his local office, said the chief public defender contacted him before the case went to trial and asked if he would consider defending Zinn if a local attorney couldn't be found to take the case. When an Albuquerque attorney took the highly publicized case Mitchell said he thought that was the end of that.

But at some point the defense attorney in the sensational murder trial made it clear to the judge that he wasn't prepared for the second phase of the trial, and asked for a continuance. The judge said there would be no continuance and met with the chief public defender to decide on the next step.

Mitchell said all capital trials are divided into two parts—the first for the jury to determine whether the defendant is guilty or not guilty and the second to rule on the death penalty.

He said the chief public defender advised the judge that he (Mitchell) had more death penalty experience than anybody in the state.

That Monday evening Deaton ordered Mitchell to Las Cruces and by Tuesday afternoon he was cross examining a key witness.

"I walked in and sat down and started representing Johnny Zinn," said Mitchell. For the remainder of phase one, Mitchell said he participated in courtroom activities and stayed up nights reading reports and previous testimonies.

He also began preparing for the death penalty phase.

Although the jury brought in a guilty verdict, it also ruled that Zinn will spend his life in prison.

"I was very lucky to have had the experience and background to come into a case at that late hour and end up with that verdict," said Mitchell. "I convinced at least four people on that jury that Zinn should live," he added.

"There are some real questions about whether or not Zinn is guilty," noted Mitchell, adding the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court.

"Johnny Zinn was convicted because two kids said he made them kidnap, rape and kill (Daniels)," said Mitchell, adding there was no evidence to place Zinn at the scene. The boys whose testimony was instrumental in convicting Zinn are the same two boys who admitted that they lied several times, said Mitchell.

Zinn was convicted of murder based on an "aiding and abetting" law, explained Mitchell. A controversial immunity agreement was made between prosecutors and other principals in the case, he said.

"It's the kind of case that just frightens everybody," he added, recalling that an innocent young woman was kidnapped right on her doorstep, allegedly raped, drugged, hauled around Albuquerque and finally taken into the mountains and shot to death.

He said the case, the most publicized in New Mexico in years, also had the elements of pornography and Mafia-involvement thrown in.

"Too often we have to feed somebody to the lions," said Mitchell, adding that a fair trial was nearly impossible in the fearful atmosphere that surrounded the proceedings.

Jurors and spectators were searched everyday, members of the victim's family were highly visible and the press, complete with assorted cameras and equipment, was present throughout the trial.

"Those things are almost impossible to overcome in a state this size," remarked Mitchell.

And yet the charged atmosphere apparently didn't bias the jury.

"It was the most attentive jury I've ever seen," said Mitchell. He said the 12, comprised of a good mix of men, women, races and socioeconomic background, argued for 17 hours and sent out as many as 20 questions before returning the guilty verdict.

He said the prosecuting attorneys were extremely diligent, intelligent, experienced and "very good," and the judge in the case was "fair, impartial and knowledgeable."

Although leaving his home and practice to defend capital cases isn't easy, Mitchell, who has been involved in at least 20 such cases, said he'll continue to answer the call. He said he's concerned with "mob paranoia" surrounding highly publicized "heinous crimes" such as the Daniels murder in Albuquerque and the Gore murder in Artesia.

"You can't throw away the Constitution because you feel sorry for the victim," noted Mitchell, who's concerned by a hue and cry being raised by political candidates for more and tougher laws as a reaction to certain cases.

Mitchell said over the past 12 years the State of New Mexico has had a dozen people on death row, and of that number four were later found to be totally innocent. Those four were released and all charges dismissed, while two more had their trials reversed on error and on retrial jurors sentenced them to life in prison.

"Someday some innocent person will pay with a life," warned Mitchell.

"When we in this country start making exceptions and we go around the law for cases (like Zinn), no matter how right and just that may seem at the time, the end result will be that we'll ignore liberties for everyone," said Mitchell.

"I don't make a fortune trying criminal cases," said Mitchell, noting he may have made $10 to $20 an hour on the Zinn trial. But still he feels compelled to defend such cases.

"If you're lucky enough to be a lawyer and you're blessed with certain abilities you really owe it to your country to be that voice that speaks for the rights we have," said Mitchell.

"It was a great honor as an attorney to be summoned to help," he added. "My faith in these ordinary common people has been restored again."

Mountain Tops Class IV gymnasts take third place

With the fall gymnastics season now in full swing, the Ruidoso Mountain Tops, classes III and IV, traveled to Rio Rancho Saturday.

Class IV team, competing in a field of five teams, scored third place.

Bethany Jarrell, in the Class IV 12-14 age group, brought home a second place all-around, and placed second on beam and floor, and third on vault and bars.

Terri Kennedy placed fifth all-around in the highly competitive Class III for 12-14 year olds. Kennedy, who progressed to state competition last year as a IV, also took first on vault, third on floor, fifth on the beam and sixth on bars.

Tara Candelaria and Kristen Leslie, Class III 9-11 gymnasts, are also veterans of last year's Class IV state meet.

Candelaria took fifth all-around Saturday in Rio Rancho. She placed second on the vault, fifth on bars, ninth on the beam and 10th on floor. Leslie took 10th on the vault.

In the Class IV competition for seven- and eight-year-olds, Marisa Martinez took second all-around and scored first on the vault, second on beam and floor and seventh on the bars.

Heather Stover placed fourth all-around in that age group and took third on the vault and bars and fifth on the beam and floor.

Raquel Reiman, the youngest member of the Mountain Tops, won fifth all-around in the seven- and eight-year-old division, and placed second on the bars, fourth on the vault and floor and sixth on the beam.

Kendra Leslie brought home the sixth place all-around award for that category and placed fifth on vault and bars, sixth on floor and seventh on beam.

Class IV competition in the 9-11 group, with the most gymnasts at the meet, offered the stiffest competition Saturday.

Tricia Evans, competing for the second year, placed fifth all-around in the Class IV 9-11 category. She won first on the bars, fourth on the floor and eighth on the beam.

Gayle Floyd placed ninth on vault in that age group.

Coach Robyn Johnson said the other two 9-11 contenders, Amy Hawkins and Kendra Eggleston, performed well. Hawkins has already qualified for sectionals.

Johnson said the Mountain Tops are improving every week, and looking good against some tough teams.

The Class III Mountain Tops and part of the Class IV team will compete in Hobbs Saturday, October 18.

Firefighters will fight controlled burn Monday

The Ruidoso Fire Department in conjunction with the Ruidoso Downs and Bonito Fire departments and Ruidoso Emergency Medical Services will participate in the controlled burning of a house at noon Monday, October 20.

The house is located in Two Rivers Park at the intersection of Robin Road and River Trail.

Danny Garcia, Training Officer for Ruidoso Fire Department, asked that all spectators keep safe distances and park their cars a safe distance from the site. It is very important to keep the area clear so the firefighter's can work uninterrupted and for spectator's personal safety, he said.

The controlled burn will be an exercise in varied fire fighting techniques.

Obituary

Albert Erich Niess

Albert Erich Niess of Ruidoso died Friday at the University of New Mexico Hospital following a lengthy illness.

Niess was born July 27, 1925, in Seattle, Washington. He was a career Navy veteran, having retired as Chief Torpedoman's Mate.

Survivors include his aunt, Elizabeth Lehnerd of Seattle; wife, Amy, of the family residence; sons Albert Erich Niess Jr. of San Diego, California, and Karl M. Niess of Ruidoso; and five grandchildren.

Graveside funeral services were Tuesday at Forest Lawn Cemetery. Arrangements were by LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

The family suggests memorial contributions be made to the American Cancer Society.

Opinion

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Hardly anyone who knows Garrey Carruthers thinks he plans to spend the rest of his life in New Mexico.

It would be hard, in fact, to find a better example than Garrey to which to apply the age-old question, "How ya gonna keep 'em down on the farm after they've seen the Potomac?"

Wouldn't we therefore be well advised, before electing him our governor, to get a pledge from him that he plans to serve out his whole four years, not quit in less than two to run for the Senate against Jeff Bingaman? If that contingency came to pass, you might note, we would be left with Jack Stahl as our unelected governor.

There's a clear current of revulsion against most things political running in New Mexico at the moment. What's notably absent, however, is a spirit of hope that either of the men who want to lead the next administration will be markedly better than what we have now.

If either candidate could ignite the belief that he has the answer to our problems, he'd be a shoo-in, and our citizens would welcome him with open arms.

What appears to be missing in the campaign to date is any vigorous presentation of deeply held, personal convictions. Both men who want to be governor seem to be so gingerly in their efforts to avoid giving offense that it's difficult to discover what either genuinely stands for. Each makes frequent but largely self-serving claims to being a leader of men, but neither can be said to have conclusively demonstrated such leadership.

Maybe what's missing is something the military call "command presence." That's a little hard to define exactly, but when it's there, it makes itself obvious.

Much of what makes our citizens want to turn their backs on politicians and politics at the moment, one suspects, is the absence from this scene of individuals whom we can respect and trust. Unfortunately, the kind of childish bickering that has passed as campaigning in New Mexico this year doesn't seem to have pushed to the fore anyone who fills that job description.

Do Republicans in New Mexico learn nothing from personal experience, which should be the most dramatic of teachers?

You wouldn't think so if you read that fund-raising letter put out by Representative Don Silva of Albuquerque, who heads his party's legislative campaign committee. Silva almost promises in so many words that, if Garrey Carruthers is elected, we will get Les Houston and Bill Valentine back at the helm in the state Senate and another tired old coalition, probably with a Democrat in charge, in the House.

How can this party, in all logic, campaign at the top of the ticket for a total change, while below that level they are reassuring us that everything will remain the same? Don't they realize that voter revulsion is not limited to a single individual named Anaya but applies equally to these very legislators and their destructive antics of the last four years?

There is one potentially bright aspect to the current mindset of most New Mexicans on the subject of political leadership. It is that the sense of relief they are likely to feel when they realize the Anaya era is really coming to an end will give the next governor an opportunity few chief executives are ever given. Almost every one of those we choose for the top job is granted some sort of initial "honeymoon," during which time we are willing to believe the best of him, at least till he demonstrates otherwise. The man chosen this year will be handed that gift to a degree never seen before. We so badly want to see the main player in the game of state government be a success again that we will believe he is one if he gives us even the slightest reason for that conclusion.

But if his performance doesn't hold up, if the people discover they have been film-flammed or cheated, if they face another disappointment and let-down, the psychological result is going to be catastrophic.

The man who asks for and gets our votes this year takes on a heavy responsibility. If he fails, some New Mexicans will almost certainly never trust government again.

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

In recent weeks very much of your Letters To The Editor was on comments from Dorothy D. Smith concerning Capitan. May I ask for equal space responding to her comments?

I hope Mr. Heckman of the S.B.A.C. was correct in his thinking that Capitan can expect much business from the new airport, and that the workers will prefer to live in Capitan. New residents will add very much to our fine school and business establishments. The merchants will welcome and appreciate any additional increase in trade. The merchants are the ones who collect the sales tax that helps support our quiet little village. As to the statement that the new airport many create "A Job Or Two" and "No Doubt At The Minimum Wage", after all jobs at the minimum wage are better than no jobs at all. Not everyone in Capitan is retired with an income guaranteed for life.

In one of Mrs. Smith's recent letters it seemed as though she has a bad feeling toward land developers. If someone in past years had not developed some land around Capitan, how could Mrs. Smith be living in a quiet little village with Fine Schools, City Water, Garbage Collection, Power and Cable T.V.? I challenge her to purchase a small tract of land from any of the area ranchers with the above mentioned improvements. If this could be accomplished, the ranchers would then be classified as land developers, and on the bad guy list. I would like to comment and give my viewpoints on the "Disadvantages Of The New Airport", as seen by Dorothy D. Smith.

1. Increased usage on our already limited water supply. Answer: With our new found well capable of pumping 650 plus gallons per minute of potable water, our water problems will be solved in the near future.

2. Additional load on our already overloaded sewer plant. Answer: The present sewer system was installed on a grant and revenue bond at no cost to the tax payers. With increased usage, we may be able to secure another grant along with a revenue bond at no cost to the tax payers, and build a larger and more up to date sewer plant, possible making more jobs, and bringing more revenue to Capitan.

3. Increased traffic and congestion. Answer: Most traffic jams in Capitan last less than 10 seconds. None more than 30 seconds.

4. Possibility of additional work for our local policemen and the Sheriff's Department. Answer: We have them on the payroll. IF WE DON'T USE THEM WE MAY LOSE THEM.

5. Additional work load for our post office. Answer: Post Offices are rated on the amount of mail processed and revenues from postage. Who knows? If we get enough people we may someday have a first class post office creating more jobs, and bringing more revenue to Capitan.

6. Additional children in school. These workers will not pay any property taxes, so that is of no help. Answer: The more students we have enrolled the more educators we need, and a very high percentage of the teachers, administrators and other employees are property tax payers and supporters of our quiet little village.

Villages are like politics. They change with times. Ronald Reagan changed, and you can see how much he had improved his position. I have been in Capitan since before many of the changes started, and enjoyed every minute of it. The road that brought me here is still paved. If I ever become unsatisfied with changes or Capitan in general, I will do a 180 degree turn, and get on the road that I came here on. Just some food for thought for Dorothy D. Smith.

Respectfully Submitted;
LAMOYNE CARPENTER

DEAR EDITOR:

Recently, Ruidoso High School had a special and rare privilege for the total faculty to receive training in teaching the Lions Quest International program "Skills for Adolescence." There is no way we could have afforded the expense of training 38 people. The cost for such an undertaking was in excess of $6,000.

The Noon Lions Club of Ruidoso took this on as their special project. They, along with the Evening Lions Club, raised the money, made all the arrangements for the trainer to come into Ruidoso and ordered all the materials for us.

Teachers from around the county as well as the Middle School faculty were able to spend three days in in-service training. During those three days the Lioness Club of Ruidoso provided and served snacks and drinks for each break.

A lot of people have worked hard and given a great deal of time for the young people of this community to have the opportunity to go through the "Skills for Adolescence" material.

We at the Middle School thank each person who has had a part in this project. It will make a difference.

Sincerely,
TEXANITA COLE,
Principal

A program that has done a lot of good in Ruidoso has grown, and now needs a more structured group to lead it.

The community service program provides area judges with an alternative to jail time or fines. In the program, they may instead sentence offenders to community service projects, which benefit the community and save taxpayers' money by eliminating or reducing jail time.

The program is dependent on a support group—the Community Service Committee—which began on an all-volunteer basis. The group helped program administrators assign offender with task, and helped identify tasks and arranged jobs' supervision. Projects ranging from painting to litter cleanup were accomplished. And offenders seemed to be affected more positively than they would have by serving time or paying a fine.

Ruidoso Municipal Judge John Cupp indicated the program now has grown to a level at which more widespread and constant support from the committee is needed. He proposed that a representative from each service club be appointed to the committee. Members of service clubs could take turns filling a slot on the committee. Cupp said he'd explain the program to any service club that requests it. His number is 257-9055.

Let's keep a good thing going. The community service program can make a difference, from both the community's and offender's standpoints. What started as a success can be continued—it just takes a new level of participation.—DJF

Reporter's Round

By Shirley Bowington

Last Monday evening at Ruidoso High School, I had the privilege of attending the opening presentation of "Drug Awareness Week." I was amazed and impressed at the valiant effort these community leaders are exerting to assure a drug-free environment for our children, through the Impact and Families in Action programs.

I have heard comments by several adults, that the emphasis on drugs awareness, here, is overstated. I can't help remembering a conversation I overheard last summer between two 13-year-old local girls—both from upper middle class families—"good homes."

The two girls were, between giggles, discussing members of the opposite sex. The conversation centered around the male qualities they found irresistible. There seemed to be a fascination with "older men"—anyone over the age of 16.

As the conversation ripened with detail, it focused on one particular young man, in town for the summer from California. One of the girls, having had "nothing to do and no place to go" while her parents worked, was "hanging out," and accepted a ride from this glamorous man in a silver Mercedes.

"He told me how pretty I am," she blushed, "And how much older I look than my age. And then—God, he kissed me. I thought I'd die! My Mom would croak if she knew he's a cocaine dealer."

I don't know if the man offered her cocaine. I don't know whether she would have accepted if he did. I don't know whether or not she continued to see him. If it happened to her, could it have happened to your child? What do you think?

I have worked in teen shelters in the cities of Hollywood and Houston. I have worked as a counselor in a substance abuse center. I have seen firsthand the devastating effect of drugs on our youth. It is a real and present danger.

The fight against drugs must begin in the homes. Parents must get involved. Parents must quit denying that there is a problem, persisting "It could never happen to my child." It may be happening to your child at this moment. Your child may be crying out to you for help in subtle ways that you've not been trained to hear.

One of the handouts, at the recent Drug Awareness meeting, is entitled "Adolescent Chemical Dependency: Signs of a Problem." The "signs" listed are:

—A DROP IN GRADES—This could be a slow decrease in the past six months to a year or a sudden decrease.

—SWITCHING FRIENDS—Are you seeing a different set of friends around the house? More friends that you object to? Not meeting any new friends?

as happy as he or she used to be. —DEFIANCE OF RULES AND REGULATIONS—Pushing limits around the house, not doing chores about the house.

—BE COMING MORE SECRETIVE—Not sharing any or only sharing a few of personal problems.

—LOSS OF INITIATIVE—Less energy, sleeping more than usual. —WITHDRAWING FROM FAMILY FUNCTIONS—Camping trips, church, meals.

—CHANGE IN PHYSICAL HYGIENE—Becoming more sloppy, wearing same clothes frequently.

—NOT INFORMING YOU OF SCHOOL ACTIVITIES—Open houses, time to meet teachers, suspensions, warnings.

—MANY EXCUSES FOR STAYING OUT LATE—Not coming home on time, not coming home at all, constant excuses.

—ISOLATION—Possibly spending a lot of time in his/her room. —SUSPICION OF MONEY OR ALCOHOL MISSING—From parents or brothers and sisters.

—SELLING POSSESSIONS—Clothing, records, gifts; seems to have money but no job. —FEELING MANIPULATED AND BARGAINED WITH—Playing parents against each other.

—WEIGHT CHANGES—Drastic loss or gain. —SHORT-TEMPERED—Becomes angry often, short fuse.

—LEGAL PROBLEMS—Driving while intoxicated, curfew violations, being at parties that get broken up by the police. —DEFENSIVE—When confronted on behavior or other concerns.

At the Gazebo Shopping Center during the recent Aspenfest Street Festival, members of the Grandpa's 4 Um group of Roswell readied passersby a week early for "Barbershop Quartet singing at its best"—the Ruidoso Harmony Festival last weekend. The festival, which featured barbershop quartets and choruses from Lubbock and El Paso, Texas, and Alamogordo, Roswell and Santa Fe, was a benefit for the Institute of Logopedics, a Wichita, Kansas, rehabilitation center for people with speech defects, who are taught to communicate through music. The event was sponsored by the Spirit of Ruidoso.

Singing away

Various groups sang at the Ruidoso Harmony Festival last Saturday at Ruidoso Middle School. At top, the groups combined to sing at the beginning of the show. At left, the Solar Tones Barbershop Chorus of Roswell sang as the second group of the show.

Ready to ski?!!

Ski buffs who saw snow-soaked Sierra Blanca no doubt had their spirits buoyed by thoughts of a snowy ski season this year. The ski resort reported

Sunland Hoofbeats

by Kent Beatty
Sunland Park's 28th season kicked off in good fashion on Saturday, as over 3,900 fans wagered almost $300,000. Included in the opening day's festivities was the debut of the Sunland Park Twin Trifecta. Twenty-two fans managed to select the first half of the twin, but no one managed to select the second half.

Saturday's feature was the $2,200 Sunland Inaugural. Carol and Frank Tisdale's Pinchois took the 6 furlong event by 3 1/2 furlongs. The favorite, Valentine Debt, finished second while Jim Dicken's came in third.

Also on Saturday's card were two trials for the Shue Fly Stakes. The qualifiers include: Go Gabby, 20.405; Interstate Ten 20.415; Another Bitty, 20.415; Pasha Star, 10.420; Heza Bright Bug, 20.490; Little Bit Shaky 20.765; Hose Me Down 20.835; Happy Native, 21.065; Eye Of Thundera, 21.105; New Year Man, 21.245.

Two jockeys recorded riding doubles on Saturday. Danny Sorenson got to the wire in front while riding Pinchois in the Sunland Inaugural (35-1) and then he followed with Country Gold (3-2) in the nightcap. Leroy Coombs got to the wire with Quiet Giant (5-1) and Bravo Willie (5-1).

Twin trifecta bettors had a better day on Sunday. One hundred exchanges went into the second half and one lucky bettor came away with the lone winning ticket worth $11,235.

Jockey Danny Sorenson also won two races on Sunday's card. The talented reinsman won with Roamin Streaker (5-1), a quarter horse, and then returned to win with Blue Moment (5-2) over 6 1/2 furlongs.

Up Front Runner won the 350-yard Savannah Swinger Series, Sunday's feature. The 4-year-old was a head in front of Bos To Win and he easily beat the third place finisher, Zircon.

Three-time Sunland horse-of-the-meet, Curribot, will be sidelined for an indefinite period. The 9-year-old Little Current gelding sustained chips in his summer campaign and will be turned out to rest, reported trainer Doyal Roberts.

Sunland racing opens; Twin Trifecta unveiled

Sunland Park opened for its 28th season of quarter horse and thoroughbred racing Saturday and two new forms of wagering, the Twin Trifecta and Exacts, were unveiled to Sunland's patrons.

In the feature, Jockey Danny Sorenson rallied his mount Pinchois in the final strides to record an easy 3-length win in the Sunland Inaugural.

The Sunland Twin Trifecta was held over the 3rd and 4th races on Saturday and the new "super bet" had no successful ticket holders in the second half, although there were 23 exchanges.

In the Sunland Inaugural, Pinchois was sent off at more than 36-1 by the enthusiastic Sunland crowd of more than 3,900 fans, and lurked behind the leaders until mid-stretch when jockey Sorenson got his mount in gear and Pinchois easily passed a fast-fading Valentine Debt. The winning margin was 3 1/2 lengths and the winning time for the 6 furlongs was 1:13 2 over a track listed as "fast".

Valentine Debt, the 6-5 favorite in the dash, appeared to be in command throughout the contest holding as much as a two-length lead at the half-mile pole, but the gelding was no match for Pinchois' late rush. Jockey Casey Lambert had the mount on Valentine Debt for trainer Cliff Lambert Sr.

Jim Dickens, the 8-5 second choice, turned in a luke warm effort while finishing third. The colt was away slowly and could not muster any closing punch, beaten 4 1/2 lengths. Riding reinsman Glen Murphy had the young assignment for trainer Doyal Roberts.

Also on Saturday's agenda, two trials for the October 24 Shue Fly Stakes produced 10 qualifiers. They include: Go Gabby, 20.405; Interstate Ten, 20.415; Another Bitty, 20.415; Pasha Star 20.420; Heza Bright Bug, 20.490; Little Bit Shaky, 20.765; Hose Me Down, 20.835; Happy Native, 21.065; Eye Of Thundera, 21.105; and New Year Man, 21.245. In his previous 9 starts, Pinchois had not won a race, although the gelding did finish second once and third on one other occasion.

Up Front Runner captures Sunday's Savannah Swinger

Last season's leading rider Mike Lidberg piloted Up Front Runner to a decisive win over a talented field of quarter horses in the opening leg of the Savannah Swinger Series on Sunday at Sunland Park.

The track's new Twin Trifecta wager, which was introduced for Saturday's season opener, found its first winner when one fan held the only winning ticket. The pick was worth $11,235. Racing resumes next weekend with programs scheduled Friday, Saturday and Sunday beginning at 12:30 p.m. each day.

Lidberg was taking his first assignment aboard Up Front Runner in Sunday's Savannah Swinger. The 350-yard contest featured a strong lineup that included Game Doll, winner of Albuquerque's Bright Eyes Handicap earlier this month; and American Moon Fun, who earned champion honors last season at Sunland. Rounding out the 10-horse field were Bos To Win, Zircon, Princess Lady Bugs, Hi Flyin Waldo, Chargin Ace, King Afton Bar, Leading Jet and Game Doll.

Up Front Runner broke alertly under Lidberg, taking a clear lead as the field raced away from the gates.

"I was pretty sure on the second or third jump that I had it," Lidberg remarked after the race. "When I hit him left-handed he really accelerated."

Up Front Runner's only challenge came from Bos To Win, a 15-1 longshot racing from the rail post position with Mike Hildinger aboard. The gelding made a valiant run at the leader, but was beaten by a neck at the wire. The final time for the 350-yard course was 17.95 seconds.

Trainer James Gerford saddled the winner to earn $4,860 from the $8,100 Savannah Swinger purse. Up Front Runner campaigns for Eddie and Karen Jacobs of Mission, Texas.

Bos To Win collected $1,782 for owner/trainer Jack Marsh, while Zircon finished a length back for third-place money. Zircon is the property of Ancoy Farms Inc. of East Lansing, Michigan.

Jockey/Trainer Standings

Jockey Danny Sorenson took a clear lead in the rider standings opening weekend at Sunland Park, while five-time champion Cliff Lambert Sr. tied with Paul Smith for training honors.

Sorenson took the assignment aboard 13 horses for the first two days of Sunland's 1986-87 season, booting home four winners to take a two-win lead over Kevin Cogburn. Sorenson's efforts included one second and one third. His win percentage ranked 30.8 percent, with 46.2 percent of his mounts finishing in-the-money.

Lambert got the nod over Smith in the trainer standings by percent-

Donisthorpe seeks Treasurers post

Paul Donisthorpe, Republican candidate for State Treasurer, visited Ruidoso recently. The candidate, from Farmington, is a political newcomer. Donisthorpe has experience as a Certified Public Accountant and is the former senior vice president and trust officer for two New Mexico banks. Donisthorpe pointed to the difficulties the State Treasurer's office has had in this administration as reason to get a professional money manager in the office. "We don't need someone who can run people," Donisthorpe commented. "We need someone who can run money."

state's $6 billion in fiscal assets is vital since "nearly one out of every four dollars available for state spending comes from investment income." "We're in the financial horse and buggy days," he noted. The candidate believes he could bring another asset to the treasurer's office, if elected. His mother, Christine Donisthorpe, has been a State Senator for eight years. During that time, the candidate said he has developed an understanding of the legislative process that would prove to be valuable. "The State Treasurer has got to be a leader in bringing about change legislatively," he said.

Donisthorpe listed his "extensive experience in trust administration and investment management of personal trusts, employee benefit plans and bank investment portfolios." His community service includes activity as a member of the Kiwanis Club, Legacy and Planned Giving Committee, American Cancer Society, Ducks Unlimited and the United Way. Donisthorpe holds a bachelor's degree in accounting and finance from Purdue University and is a graduate of the National Graduate Trust School, Northwestern University. He and his wife, Liane, have a three-year-old daughter, Nicole.

Heart Association plans upcoming year's events

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer
It's easy to become a member of the American Heart Association (AHA). "All you have to do to be a member is show just a whisker of interest," said Lisa Mason, president of the Lincoln/Mescalero Division. Mason met with the association board Friday morning to review last year's programs and to begin plans for the new year. The group has a goal of collecting $7,100 to fight heart disease in the new year (1986-87).

grams, Jump Rope for Heart and Dance for Heart, account for most of the money raised during the year just ended. The AHA New Mexico Affiliate will try to raise over a half million dollars during the new fiscal year. The local association utilizes fund-raisers, such as the jump rope and dance events, as educational opportunities as well as moneymaking events, encouraging participants and their families to make lifestyle changes that promote healthy hearts. Members of the Lincoln/Mescalero board are Mason, president; Don Mason, vice-president; Gretchen Batton, secretary; and Ann Hopper, treasurer.

Last year (1985-86) the Lincoln/Mescalero Division collected $5,707. Two successful local pro-

Zia Girl Scouts

Comparing notes on plans for the Zia Girl Scout Council are Sandy Ailman (left), council president, and LaVerne Lamoureux, new executive director. Lamoureux recently moved to the area from Seattle, Washington, and took over the reins of the five-county council. She was honored Wednesday at an open house at the InnCredible. Zia Council oversees scouting activities in Chaves, Lea, Lincoln, Otero and Eddy counties. Headquarters for the council are in Artesia.

Warrior marching band has winning ability, class

Ruidoso High School Warrior 24-Karat Gold Marching Band trombone and trumpet players play a tune during a recent Ruidoso Warriors football game halftime show. The band plays at most of the football games and some other athletic events.

The Ruidoso High School Warrior 24-Karat Gold Marching Band shows its stuff during the recent Aspenfest performances at W.D. Horton Stadium. The band has 71 members. Danny Flores is the director.

The Ruidoso High School Warrior 24-Karat Gold Marching Band has a history of winning performances.

The band won first-place honors in last year's Zia Marching Festival at the University of New Mexico and the Tournament of Bands at New Mexico State University.

It won first in the A Division at the Zia Marching Festival and was first in the C Division at New Mexico State University.

And the band is doing a good job again this year, taking first in the recent Aspenfest Parade in Ruidoso.

This year's Zia Marching Festival will be Saturday, November 1, and the Tournament of Bands will be Saturday, November 8.

Danny Flores is the band director and has worked hard over the years to make the band one of the state's best.

This year's band has 71 members, including alternates.

Londa Allen is the drum major. Gaylon Hall and Jeremy Lane are assistant drum majors.

"We've started out a little slow this year," Flores said. "But by the time the tournaments come around, we'll be ready. We've got a lot of freshmen this year."

The band also is playing at various sport events this season. It will be at the rest of the season's football games (including the Homecoming Game Friday, October 17), and also will play at a volleyball match Saturday, October 25.
