Natale held four months, never tried

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

A man released last week from the Lincoln County Jail after armed robbery charges against him were dismissed has revealed plans to file suit against the Mayor of Ruidoso, the Ruidoso Village Council, former Ruidoso Police officer Dave Pfeffer, Ruidoso Police detectives Danny Stewart and Mike Lovelace, District Attorney James Weldon and assistant district attorney Harry Wilcox Jr.

"You can't sue judges," said John Natale, adding he would add the name of District Judge Richard Parsons to his case if he could. He said he is filing a complaint with the state judiciary board naming Parsons.

Natale claims he was detained for more than four months on unreasonably high bail on insufficient evidence since his case was never filed after he was bound over for trial in district court.

Natale, accused last June of robbing Bennett's Shur-Sav, appeared before Magistrate Judge J.R. "Jim" Wheeler who bound him over for trial in district court after finding probable cause that a crime was committed and the accused could have committed it.

But, although Natale remained in jail on $250,000 bond for four months, a trial never took place.

Assistant district attorney Harry Wilcox Jr. said after a defendant is bound over for trial the prosecutor files criminal information.

"Statutes require that the information be filed in 30 days," said Wilcox. "If not filed they are deemed abandoned," he added.

After the information is filed the defendant is taken before a district judge for a first appearance hearing and then has 20 days to file motions, said Wilcox. He said there must be a trial within 60 days.

Village employee Rudy Lugo points out the dangers to pedestrians and motorists when barricades like the ones pictured are removed. Lugo said a serious accident is likely if open manholes and other hazards in the roadway are left unmarked.

Village to crack down on hazard marker theft

The Village of Ruidoso is putting collectors of street barricades, lights, flags or cones on notice that removing safety equipment is a crime.

Village building inspector Jimmy Neeley said several village departments are having problems with equipment placed on village roadways as safety warnings being removed.

"If someone is caught they'll be prosecuted to the extent of the law," said Neeley. He said a village ordinance provides for up to a $300 fine and/or 90 days in jail.

"Our first duty is to protect the citizens," said Neeley. He said when safety equipment is placed it is to warn of possible danger. If that warning is removed it could result in a senseless injury, said Neeley.

Besides his concern for anyone being injured, Neeley said the village is placed in a dangerous position of liability.

The Sewer Department loses street warning equipment at the rate of $1,500 a year, and other departments suffer similar losses, said Neeley.

Rudy Lugo of the Sewer Department said the barricades with lights cost $75, cones about $7 and flags about $3 each.

Lugo said his department often has to leave manholes uncovered overnight or over the weekend, and if an open manhole is left unprotected a serious accident could occur.

"Traffic needs to be warned," said Lugo.

Neeley said if anyone sees someone removing safety markers, they should call the Police Department or Village Hall. He said if an unmarked hazard is noted it, too, should be reported.

"We don't want anyone to get hurt," said Neeley.

McKnight murders

Two years later and still no arrests

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

A day doesn't go by that Terri Bussey doesn't think of her sister, Judy McKnight.

And Joe McKnight still thinks everyday of his son, Thomas P. "Cotton" McKnight.

While Judy and Cotton McKnight have been dead for two years now, their relatives still are plagued with questions about the mysterious circumstances surrounding their tragic murders.

Family members said they couldn't help but mark the two-year anniversary of the double slaying of November 13, 1984, in Picacho. But since the two bodies were discovered shot to death in the kitchen floor of the couple's ranch home, no suspects have been arrested, charged or brought to trial in the case.

"It's very frustrating," said Bussey, who has never given up on seeing the murderer or murderers brought to justice.

She said Friday she's hoping an arrest will result from the special grand jury hearing the case now. Bussey has testified before that grand jury, but said she was "afraid" to talk about it or the case.

"When you get my age you expect everything to go wrong," said Joe McKnight Friday. He said he testified two or three hours before the grand jury.

"I think they seem to be asking the right questions," said McKnight, noting the questions he was asked by the assistant attorney general presenting the case were the same ones he was asked earlier by the State Police.

McKnight, who has disapproved the handling of the case by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, said Friday he thinks when the current administration leaves office "someone will probably talk."

"People are afraid of the Sheriff's Office," said McKnight, who has praised the State Police for their part in the case.

Such disagreements among law enforcement agencies, as well as among family members, over the murder investigation have prevailed since the grisly murders were discovered.

Cotton McKnight, a former chairman of the Lincoln County Commission, was last seen alive at 4:30 p.m. November 13, 1984, and the Sheriff's Office estimated his time of death as early evening that day. Thursday, November 15, 1984

Friends looking for the ranch couple discovered their front door locked but not completely closed, entered and found the two in the kitchen floor—Cotton shot in the chest and the head and Judy shot in the back and the head.

Thus began an intensive investigation by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, the New Mexico State Police and the 12th Judicial District Attorney's Office (DA).

Investigators called the killings "execution-style," and said there were no signs of forceable entry and nothing missing or disturbed in the house. Sheriff's investigators said the evidence suggested the killer may have been an acquaintance.

Monday, November 18, 1984

Funeral services were conducted for the McKnights at the First Baptist Church in Roswell.

Tuesday, January 1, 1985

Sheriff Tom Sullivan and DA James Weldon were sworn into office. The two exchanged bitter words on the McKnight case right after the ceremony, according to Sullivan.

Thursday, January 10, 1985

Undersheriff Charlie Cox said laser fingerprints from the scene would be sent to the FBI for evaluation.

Monday, February 25, 1985

Cox said the investigation was at a standstill, but revealed handguns recovered from the couple's friends were sent to the Texas Department of Public Service ballistics laboratory.

Monday, April 8, 1985

Sullivan denied published reports of "encouraging leads" in the case. Weldon said he would be the sole spokesman on the case.

Tuesday, July 9, 1985

Sullivan told a group "we're pretty sure who did it. There's just not enough physical evidence." He said test results on laser fingerprints and handguns were inconclusive.

Thursday, August 22, 1985

Bussey and Donald Frank "Pancho" McKnight, Cotton's brother, said they would petition for a grand jury to review evidence in the case.

Friday, August 23, 1985

Weldon called a news conference and lambasted the sheriff's investigative methods and evidence. He warned if the case went to trial on the sheriff's evidence it would be "lost forever."

Monday, August 26, 1985

Sullivan responded with a news conference and disputed Weldon's accusations, questioned the DA's qualifications to try the case and called for a special prosecutor and grand jury.

Wednesday, August 28, 1985

District Judge Richard A. Parsons issued a gag order on the sheriff's office, the DA and other attorneys involved in the ongoing murder investigation.

Wednesday, September 4, 1985

Deputy Attorney General Stephen Westheimer said his office would review the McKnight case with Sullivan and Weldon. Within two weeks Westheimer announced his office was entering the case.

Bussey, her mother and sisters issued a statement praising the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office.

Wednesday, November 13, 1985

One year passed... no arrests.

Tuesday, May 6, 1986

Bussey reinstated her petition drive calling for a grand jury and special prosecutor. She said the AG had had enough time to act.

Thursday, May 22, 1986

Joe McKnight offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the murderer or murderers.

Thursday, June 5, 1986

Parsons refused to act on a petition from Bussey and Pancho McKnight calling for a grand jury and special prosecutor. He said there was not sufficient evidence to present the case, and he hadn't the power to appoint a special prosecutor.

Friday, June 6, 1986

Cox announced he was resuming his investigation of the case and assigning two investigators full-time to the assignment. He recalled asking the DA for two arrest warrants naming two suspects in August 1985, but the DA refused to authorize the arrests.

Monday, June 9, 1986

Westheimer issued a news release saying the State Police and the AG were investigating the case, but hadn't uncovered sufficient evidence to indict anyone. He said the murder investigation wouldn't be helped by a grand jury.

Pancho McKnight said he would ask attorney Gary Mitchell to file a "writ of mandamus" forcing Parsons to call for a grand jury as provided in his petition.

Proposed tax increase subject of debate Thursday

Members of the Friends of the Library invite area residents to a public meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, November 20, at the Ruidoso Public Library to hear the pros and cons of a proposal to increase gross receipts taxes in Ruidoso to 6.5 percent.

Ruidoso residents will decide the fate of the tax increase in an election scheduled December 18. That election is the result of a negative referendum that followed Village Council action that would have implemented the tax increase on January 1, 1987.

Cal Cowden, chairman of Friends of the Library, said the meeting will offer voters a chance to hear both sides of the question on the taxes.

Cowden said John Jeffers, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, and Al Junge, initiator of the negative referendum petition, will speak at the meeting. He said others will have the opportunity to speak and ask questions.

When the council voted to increase village sales tax the proceeds were to be pledged to repay a loan or bond issue on funds the village is obligated to invest in the replacement for the Ruidoso Municipal Airport. The Federal Aviation Administration has said Ruidoso is expected to invest the appraised value of the current airport, of over $2.5 million, into the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

But opponents of the tax increase have argued that funds can be gathered from cutting the cost of village government in various ways.

 Parsons 60 days to convene a grand jury.
Monday, July 28, 1986
 The News published verbatim an alternative writ of mandamus filed by Sullivan and Bussey seeking to remove the AG and the DA from the McKnight case. The writ called for a special prosecutor to present the case to a special grand jury.
 Sullivan revealed a State Police officer was a prime suspect in the brutal murders. He and Bussey filed to disqualify Parsons and District Judge Robert Doughty from the case.

Thursday, July 31, 1986
 It was reported that Parsons was utilizing a computer program to randomly select names to select a grand jury. Parsons was unavailable for comment.
Thursday, August 7, 1986
 The Supreme Court ruled that Parsons could preside in the McKnight case, and refused to order a special prosecutor.

Tuesday, November 25, 1986
 The special grand jury was empaneled and began its deliberations behind closed doors with special prosecutors from the AG's office presenting the case. The special grand jury is empaneled for a 90-day period, expiring November 26, 1986.
 And while they deliberate, family members wait and hope to see a resolution to the long drawn-out murder case.

Natale

 While Wilcox admitted that no criminal information was filed on Natale's armed robbery charges, he said information was filed alleging possession of narcotics with the intent to distribute.
 Natale said he filed one motion for a speedy trial, but since the District Attorney's office hadn't entered the case then the motion "fell on deaf ears" because he had no cause number.

Both Natale and his attorney in the armed robbery and drug case, public defender Gary Mitchell, said the criminal information wasn't filed because investigators failed to provide sufficient evidence in the case.
 "If you file, the time limit of six months begins running," said Mitchell.
 District Attorney James Weldon confirmed last week the armed robbery charges had been dropped due to insufficient evidence and Natale remained in custody on drug charges.

 Weldon predicted the bond would be reduced substantially after a bond study ordered by District Judge Robert Doughty.
 And apparently that is just what happened, since Natale was released.
 But while he awaits his trial on drug charges, Natale wants to know why he remained in custody for so long on charges that were ultimately dismissed.

Little Theatre announces 1987 season

Ruidoso Little Theatre (RLT) will begin a new season in January, and Dan Barrow, board president, has announced the 1987 offerings.
 "Laura," a suspense mystery drama will be the spring show; "Harvey," a comedy, will be presented around Memorial Day; a melodrama, as yet not chosen, will be the Fourth of July offering; and "Critic's Choice," a comedy, is planned for the fall show.
 Barrow said season tickets will soon be offered, but as yet locations and directors haven't been chosen for the 1987 productions.
 "We'd welcome anyone interested in theater to apply as director," said Barrow, adding newcomers are welcome in all capacities in the community theater group.
 Besides doing plays, RLT has recently presented an acting workshop, and will soon offer a workshop on auditioning, said Barrow.

 "We plan to continue the educational phase of our theater involvement," said Barrow.
 "We like for people to call on us for help on other projects," noted Barrow. He said he and several other RLT members recently video-taped an artist-in-residence program for the Mescalero Elementary School.
 Barrow said the theater group has access to videotaping equipment, and is willing to help whenever its members' schedules allow.
 "We want to be more involved in the community," said Barrow.
 Publicity chairman Janet Goodwin said the group will also be looking for more community input before and after RLT productions. She said RLT wants to know what Ruidoso wants in the way of entertainment, and how it can be done better.

 Both Barrow and Goodwin think a recently approved production manual will help members of RLT present the best plays possible. The manual includes detailed instructions for production staff.
 Barrow said anyone interested in any phase of theater should attend a meeting of the board. The open meetings are at 7:30 p.m. the first Wednesday of each month at Cree Meadows Country Club.
 Other members of the board include Sandy Knox, vice-president; Carl Mori, production vice-president; Debbie Floyd, secretary; Sandra Weber, treasurer; and directors Ron Bergeron, David Hall, Erol Pirelli, Judy Shaw, Ginger Tracy, Jett Crouse and David Whatley.
 For more information on RLT call Barrow at 257-7544.

Motorcycle accident injures man

Harry Riegert was injured Monday when his 1962 Honda motorcycle went out of control on gravel and collided with a vehicle at the 90 degree curve on Paradise Canyon Drive, according to Ruidoso Police reports.
 Police said the 42-year-old Ruidoso Downs man was southbound on Paradise Canyon Drive when he crashed into a northbound 1963 Chrysler driven by Edith G. Borum, 76, of Ruidoso.

 Riegert was transported by ambulance to Lincoln County Medical Center (formerly Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital), according to police. A hospital spokesperson was unwilling to comment on the patient's condition Thursday.

 Riegert was cited for careless driving, driving without a driver's license and failure to provide proof of insurance, according to the report.

Woman hurt in rollover Saturday

A Ruidoso Downs woman remains in St. Mary's Hospital in Roswell with injuries she sustained in a one-car rollover about 10:30 p.m. Saturday, November 15, according to undersheriff Charlie Cox of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office.
 Karen Lawrence, 35, was listed in critical condition late Sunday, said Cox.
 Lawrence was traveling east on Fort Stanton Road near Alto when she failed to negotiate a hairpin curve, causing her 1981 two-door Subaru to roll over throwing her from the vehicle, said Cox.
 Sheriff deputies Larry Brinkley and Orlando Montes responded to the accident. Cox said the investigation is continuing.
 Cox said Brinkley returned to the scene about an hour after the incident and discovered another one-car accident within a mile of the first.
 "Another vehicle failed to negotiate a curve," said Cox. He said the driver of that car, Roy Collier, 34, of Ruidoso, was unhurt.
 The Ruidoso Police recorded two accidents with injuries over the weekend, but reports weren't available early today (Monday).

RUIDOSO CARE CENTER ADMINISTRATOR PATSY FOX

Fox brings change to care center

by SHIRLEY BOWINGTON
 News Staff Writer
 Upon entering Ruidoso Care Center, a visitor is immediately aware of a feeling of "caring."
 The floors shine, the walls radiate a soft pastel glow, the patients are groomed and the employees greet visitors with smiles and kind words. The reason—Patsy Fox, the new administrator.
 "I want to make a pleasant environment for people to live and work in," said Fox, a 14-year veteran of nursing home administration. "I've upgraded the staff (22 new employees), and the whole interior of the building has been repainted. We'll be improving the exterior of the building also."

 The new staff includes a 24-hour licensed nursing staff, a R.N. consultant, a food service supervisor, a beautician, a consulting pharmacist and a medical director. Monthly, a quality assurance person, from Beverly Enterprises, inspects the premises.
 Fox and her husband, Herman, moved here late in the summer from Crowell, Texas (near Lubbock). "We had visited the Ruidoso area for years and always wanted to live here. We bought a home and plan to stay a while." The two have been married 23 years and have an adult daughter and son. Mr. Fox is a coach at the middle school and hopes to teach next year.

 During her interview, Patsy Fox took time to respectfully listen to one of her staff's observations of a potential problem. On a walk down the hall, she paused by each in a line of wheelchair patients, touching a shoulder or taking a hand, looking in each upturned face and greeting each by name. This was done quickly, professionally and warmly.
 The facility gives a visitor the impression that it is truly a "care" center.

A seat belt saves

Neither driver was injured when the 1967 Chevrolet (pictured) collided with an 18-wheeler car transport carrier on U.S. Highway 70 in front of Wal-Mart, according to police reports. Police said Era Jackson, 86, of Ruidoso was the driver of the car and Glen Holland, 48, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, was the truck driver. Jackson made a left turn in front of Holland who took evasive action but couldn't avoid a head-on collision, said police. Jackson was cited for failure to yield right of way. "What saved her was that she was wearing her seatbelt," said officer David Perkins.

Warriors to play Artesia Friday

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

After Ruidoso High School's varsity football team beat Artesia, 43-23, in the season-opener August 29, one of the Artesia players told some Warrior players that "we'll see you guys again sometime in early December."

Well, the Bulldog player was off by about two weeks. However, Ruidoso and Artesia will meet again Friday, November 21, in a first-round game of the state playoffs at the Bulldogs' stadium.

The game will start at 7:30 p.m. Artesia earned the right to meet the defending state champions by beating West Las Vegas, 6-0, in overtime Saturday night on the losers' field.

Ruidoso, 10-1 on the season and the District 3-AAA champions, earned a bye in last weekend's pre-playoffs.

The other pre-playoff contest saw St. Pius defeat District 3-AAA runner-up Silver City, 17-12, in Albuquerque.

Top-ranked Lovington will host St. Pius Saturday, November 22. Other games will see Belen play Kirtland Central and Bloomfield take on Raton.

The winner of the Warrior-Artesia game will play the winner of the Belen-Kirtland Central game in the semi-finals.

Warrior coaches saw both the St. Pius-Silver City game and the Artesia-West Las Vegas contest.

"I think Artesia has improved," said Warrior head coach Cooper Henderson. "They've got five or six different guys on defense than from when we played them."

"Mike McPherson is running well for them and so is another running back."

The Warriors have had a week off since their impressive 56-14 victory over Deming which cinched the district championship.

"We're in pretty good shape," Henderson said. "Last week's practices went pretty well for us."

And now the Warriors will prepare for Artesia, the same team they started the season against almost three months ago.

Ruidoso High School's boys cross-country team finished 10th out of 11 teams in the state AAA-division meet at Milne Stadium in Albuquerque Saturday.

The Warriors scored 234 points. Wingate won the championship with 23 points, Tohatchi had 60, Bernalillo had 108 points, Grants had 122, Taos had 143, West Las Vegas had 155, Silver City had 181, New Mexico Military Institute had 188, and Tucuman had 228.

Senior Gabe Tam led the Warrior runners with a 25th-place finish. He took sixth in last year's meet.

No official times were available for the Warrior athletes.

Other Warrior runners and their places were Sergio Hernandez, 42nd; Michael Randolph, 54th; Hamilton Carter, 67th; and Trey Von Trotha, 67th.

Wingate's Jasper Copey won the AAA-division individual competition with a 16:05 time over the rugged three-mile course.

Jeff Newland of Bloomfield was second in 16:21 and Herb La Satanya of Zuni was third in 16:26.

Maskey praised the efforts of Hernandez, a sophomore, and Randolph, a junior.

"They both ran well," the Warrior coach said.

Of the four runners, Hernandez and Randolph are the only non-seniors.

Zuni won the girls AAA-division with 15 points. Gallup won the AAAA-division boys title with 27 points. Santa Fe won the AAAA-division girls championship with 33 points.

Ruidoso's Gabe Tam, shown here winning the district meet, finished 25th in the state AAA-division cross-country meet Saturday. He was the top Warrior finisher.

Ruidoso's Lana McClure serves the ball during Wednesday night's playoff volleyball match with Portales. The Warriors lost in five games. McClure was named to the all-district team along with teammates Ashley McIntosh and Kerry Gladden.

Ruidoso High School volleyball players huddle with coach Pixie Arthur (right) during a timeout of Wednesday's playoff match with Portales. Ruidoso lost, but finished with its first winning season in four seasons.

Spikers have three players on district team

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School seniors Lana McClure, Ashley McIntosh and Kerry Gladden have been named to the All-District 3-AAA volleyball team.

McIntosh and Gladden are repeaters from last year's team. All three girls were vital factors in the Warriors' second-place district finish and qualifying for the state tournament.

Ruidoso lost to eventual state AAA-division runner-up Portales in five games Wednesday night. Goddard defeated Portales, 15-12, 13-15, 15-11, 15-8, Saturday night for the state championship.

"I think the team made huge strides this season," said Warrior head coach Pixie Arthur. "The experience we had and getting as far as we did should carry over to next year. The match with Portales could have gone either way. It just wasn't meant to be, but next year it could be."

"I feel if we could have gotten past Portales, we could have gotten as far as they did (second place in state)."

Besides McIntosh, McClure and Gladden, the only other senior on the Warrior team is Hillary Heid.

Of the 12 players who suited up for the Portales match, eight will return next season.

Ruidoso also should get some good players from its junior varsity team, which was undefeated in the district regular season.

NOTES-Alamogordo won the state AAAA-division championship, topping West Mesa, 15-13, 15-5, 16-14. Mora won the AA-division championship with a 3-1 game victory over McCurdy.

Tiger spikers lose state-opener

Capitan High School's varsity volleyball team lost to Sandia Prep, 15-10, 15-11, 12-15, 15-10, in the first round of the state A-division volleyball tournament in Albuquerque Thursday night.

Capitan, which won the district championship and took second in Region D, made a lot of fundamental errors in the first two games, according to head coach Bill MacVeigh.

"We came out in the first two games and didn't pass the ball well," MacVeigh said. "That was the main reason we lost. Also we didn't serve well. We just didn't play well at all. Perhaps it was the pressure of the tournament."

MacVeigh praised the play of Kateri Sanchez, Colynn Washburn and Danielle Riska against Sandia Prep.

Sandia Prep eventually finished third in the tournament.

Capitan will return all but one player for next season, so MacVeigh should have plenty of talent to build on.

Chamber pushes for convention promotion

by SHIRLEY BOWINGTON
News Staff Writer

In a specially called Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors meeting November 10, John Jeffers, executive director, presented his proposal for a Convention/Events Department.

In a cover letter presented to the board with the proposal, Jeffers stated, "The Chamber proposes to initiate an agreement with the Village of Ruidoso for promotion of conventions, seminars and other small meetings to attract additional visitors into the community, therefore, increasing revenue to businesses and local governments."

The letter further states that the Convention/Events Department would be, "funded through Village of Ruidoso Economic Development funds, lodgers' tax, Chamber of Commerce general funds and revenue from special events." The proposal was presented to the Ruidoso Village Council last Tuesday evening. At that meeting, councilors voted to table the proposal until a workshop session before their next meeting.

Jeffers patterned his proposal after that of the City of Roswell. In general discussion, it was pointed out that Ruidoso can presently only handle conventions/groups of 250 people and less. Ron McWilliams asked if, in Jeffers' opinion, there would be enough 250 member groups coming to Ruidoso to warrant the new department. Jeffers replied, "Yes sir, in my opinion there will be."

Harvey Foster asked if the new department's efforts would duplicate "what's already in effect," referring to the promotional efforts of the public relations and sales people of the various facilities in the area. Jeffers stated that he felt it would "enhance the efforts of those people, and further stated, "I think you will agree, we've got to do something together to bring people into this area."

In other business: —Harvey Foster asked for approximately $250 to expedite the corrections, additions and typesetting of the new village map. All were in agreement.

—All agreed that a representative will take part in a discussion at the Ruidoso Public Library Thursday, November 20. Views for and against the tax increase will be expressed at the meeting. Channel 11 may film and televise the event. It was agreed that the chamber should take a firm public stand for the tax increase.

—After a heated discussion regarding the "water rights" situation, the chamber's Water Rights Committee, headed by Harvey Foster, decided to attend the Water Rights Forum that evening at Cree Meadows. After hearing "all the facts," a recommendation will be made on whether the chamber should take a public stand on the issue, and if so, what stand it will take.

—Becky Durham reminded everyone of the Business After Hours, Tuesday, November 18, at which a silent auction will fund the Community Development Scholarship.

Business After Hours will feature auction for scholarship fund

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Community Development Scholarship funding auction will take place at Business After Hours, hosted by Sierra Blanca Motors, Tuesday, November 18, from 5:30 to 7 p.m.

"There are currently over 40 items on which to bid," stated Becky Durham, vice president of the chamber's Community Development Division.

The Community Development Scholarship will be awarded to a 1987 graduate of Ruidoso High School who has been actively involved in community activities. The amount of the scholarship will depend upon the success of the silent auction.

According to Durham, among the items to be auctioned will be a season ski pass, 10 cubic yards of gravel, a car, a Denise Dorn print, ski clothing, a Pendleton wool blanket and commemorative coin sets. There will also be various door prizes to be awarded.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce cordially invites the public to attend, enjoy the food and fun, and help make this a success.

Visions of Sugarplums

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., and greeters Clay Adams, Sharon McIntire and Dorothy Byrd. The homemade candy and Christmas specialty shop is open from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. weekdays, 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Saturdays and from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m. Sundays.

Something to sell? U-Sell-It takes consignments

If you have any good garage sale items, that have been laying around gathering dust, you might consider taking it to Paul Sanders, proprietor of the new consignment store U-Sell-It.

"We buy, sell or trade almost anything that doesn't eat," smiles Sanders. The store, located at 1507 Sudderth Drive, next door to My Sister's Place restaurant, had their official grand opening and ribbon cutting October 31. Hours of operation are from 9 a.m. - 5:30 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays.

Sanders and his wife, Lynne, have operated Ruidoso Ice Company and Bonito Hollow Camp Ground since their move to Ruidoso from Laredo, Texas, three years ago.

While in Laredo, Paul Sanders worked as a U.S. Border Patrol Agent, and Lynne Sanders worked as an account executive for an advertising agency. Lynne Sanders currently is a disc jockey and sales representative for KREE Radio.

Safeway plans to sell fixtures from closed store

Anyone who would like to purchase fixtures from the former Safeway store on Sudderth Drive should contact Ken Baldwin, construction manager for the building of the new store.

According to Baldwin, as soon as the fixtures from the "surplus property" are sold, the Non-operative Properties Division in the Oakland, California, Safeway headquarters will either sell or lease the old property. "As far as I know," stated Baldwin, "No firm decision has been made yet as to what will be done with that property." "The fixtures will be sold off during the next three weeks," reported

Baldwin, instead of the original plan to auction them off after the first of the year. Interested persons may call 1-800-351-1046, and ask for Ken Baldwin.

State explains source of property tax increases

Property taxes commonly have been a major topic of conversation over the past month wherever two or more people have gathered.

Tax information has been sparse and often misunderstood.

According to tax assessor Marian Schlarb, in most cases around the county, taxes have lowered. Meanwhile, the tax base in Capitan has nearly doubled.

New Mexico Taxation and Revenue Department (NMTRD) has explained, "The 1986 reappraisal is the mechanism to be used to create equity in the property tax system. When this is done consistently throughout the state, a more equitable distribution of property taxes among all property owners will be achieved."

is not correct. Taxes are the product of tax rates times property values. If all entities who received money from the property tax would hold their budgets at the same level as last year then the average valued property would see no tax increase. In reality, however, we know this is not the case. Most county commissioners, city councilors, school board members and other administrators always find some need to increase their budgets and in most cases, the increase is due to a justifiable reason.

"Because of this," NMTRD continues, "the 1985 Legislature amplified the yield control concept. Yield control puts a ceiling on the amount of money a specific entity can raise its budget. Two variables are used; one is an index for inflation and the other is the percentage growth in property base or new construction. These two variables when combined dictate the allowed increase in budget. If the index for inflation is five percent and the new construction is five percent then the budgets in that district may grow by 10 percent. Using this example, a property which was valued correctly before reappraisal would see a 10 percent increase in taxes even though the valuation increased higher than 10 percent. Only those taxpayers who were undervalued prior to reappraisal would see more than a 10 percent increase in taxes. Those taxpayers who were overvalued would probably experience less than a 10 percent tax increase and in some cases would see no increase or possibly a tax decrease.

"For too many years," NMTRD further states, "the assessor has been identified as the person who raises property taxes. What we have attempted to do through yield control is to show that taxes are raised by the individuals who authorize the expending of monies. The assessor's duty is only to value property in order to equally distribute the taxes needed by all entities who share in the property tax revenue."

When property owners were told the property reappraisal would not increase taxes more than five percent, in theory that was correct. What they apparently didn't know, at the time, was it could be raised five percent in each category.

The change in taxes and reevaluation of property was published, by Schlarb, in the legalis of county papers three consecutive times, as "fair notice" of intent.

Another notice from the NMTRD states, "The 1983 New Mexico Legislature enacted a provision in the law which requires your county assessor to update residential property values to a 1980 market level for the 1986 tax year."

"Although property values are increasing 40 percent or more in some areas of the state this should not translate into an equivalent 40 percent tax increase.

"The effect on individuals will vary according to their circumstances before reappraisal. Those whose properties were grossly undervalued may be faced with hefty tax increases. Even so, the increase will be substantially less than what it would have been without the yield control formula. Remember, if this is the case, you have not paid your fair share of property taxes in the past, and the increases in tax above the yield control amount only puts you at the same level your neighbors are paying for similar property. The yield control amount may be higher in those areas where new value (new construction) increased considerably. People whose property was previously undervalued about the same as the county average will find only small differences in taxes due. The reason for reappraisal is to ensure all property taxpayers are paying their fair share of taxes for services they receive from their local governments and other special interest organizations."

In Capitan the additional higher rate is due to the water bond, approved by voters in March. A municipal bond becomes due immediately, according to Ruidoso village clerk Leon Eggleston. School bonds can be stretched out over a period of time, as the money is needed. But, a municipal bond begins with the first taxation after that election since those monies are available almost immediately. On the water bond, Capitan agreed to pay an increase of approximately $30 per $1,000 valuation and that is reflected in the new tax charts.

Eldridge sets grid record

by LINDA PONDER
News Capitan Bureau

Capitan senior Jay Eldridge has football this year. Unofficially, he is the first Capitan student to gain 1,000 yards in a football season.

Eldridge has filled the slots of defensive back and wide receiver during his career at Capitan. He has played defensive back for three years, and said he likes that position best. In his high school football career, Eldridge has received honors as All State Honorable Mention, All District Defensive Back and All District Wide Receiver.

He credits the Tiger linemen for his achievement.

"They did a heck of a job blocking for me and the coaches are the best," he commented.

His activities do not end with football, but extend to track, basketball, 4-H, FFA and assisting with work on the family ranch, north of Capitan.

In 4-H he trained and showed his mare, Rusty, in 4-H horse shows. He was the Capitan club president for two years and the County Council secretary, treasurer and vice president.

He continued with his horse project and added livestock when he entered FFA, raising a Grand Champion steer at the Lincoln County Fair as part of his livestock accomplishments.

For the past three summers he has worked for his uncle, Harley Eldridge, of Fort Sumner, breaking and training horses.

His future plans include college at New Mexico State University next year with a major in agriculture.

Eldridge is the son of Jack and Idy Eldridge.

The Grindstone Canyon dam, four years from voter approval to completion, is scheduled to be dedicated and filling will commence in December. When filled, the dam will form a 38.6 acre lake stretching back into Grindstone Canyon. The reservoir is designed to help meet the water needs of Ruidoso in 1990. The lake will hold 1,500 acre-feet of water.

The spillway opening of the Grindstone dam is near the center of its 1,300 foot width. Plans call for the reservoir to begin filling sometime in December.

Grindstone dam to start filling in December

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

The Grindstone Canyon dam, approved by Ruidoso voters on July 6, 1982, will receive its first drop of water before the end of 1986.

Village engineer Mike Davalos said very little remains to be done on the 132-foot high structure. He said village crews last week were installing the last portion of pipeline, and engineers are awaiting word on some valves that must be installed before the dam is filled with water.

Assistant village manager Frank Potter said plans are being made for a dedication ceremony, perhaps in early December. He said water will be released into the dam during that ceremony.

LeRoy Givens, project engineer with Boyle Engineering, said the contractor has been asked for a quote on four towers to be installed on the intake tower so that water can be taken from different levels. And once the dam is dedicated and water begins gushing in through a pipeline system that begins on Martin Road in the Upper Canyon, it will be 15 months before the reservoir is filled to its capacity of 1,500 acre-feet of water, said Potter.

"If the dam had been complete we could have filled it over the last 15 months," noted Potter. He said the village has had enough effluent credit available to divert the 1,500 acre-feet, or 488,775,000 gallons, needed to fill the dam.

The dam and pipeline have the capacity for water to be released at a rate of six cubic feet per second, or 2,700 gallons per minute, said Potter. He said it will probably be released at a much slower rate.

Givens said some water will be taken up in bank storage at first, so it will take some time before the water released into the facility makes even a "pond."

When the dam is filled to low weir, at an altitude of 6,918-feet, it will actually hold a volume of 1,520 acre-feet, said Givens. He said high weir is at 6,923-feet, and water at that level would indicate a "Noah's ark flood."

The lake area will have a surface area of 38.6 acres, said Givens. Potter said the lake will be 1,300 feet from side to side.

Plans call for putting the dam in to the village water system in 1990, said Potter. He said village water demands are growing at the rate of 100-acre-feet per year, and the new facility will be on-line just in time to keep pace with growing demands.

Givens said a treatment plant is the next step in the major water project.

When voters approved the water improvements package in 1982, the entire project was expected to cost $8 million. But by the time bids were opened, for the second time, on June 20, 1985, the low bid for the dam alone was for over $7 million.

Village manager Jim Hine reported to the council on July 15, 1985, that the dam, treatment plant, storage tank and pumping station will cost $10,638,800. The pipeline was constructed under a separate $766,000 contract.

A factor in those changing costs was a change in design from an earthen dam to a roller compacted concrete dam, said by engineers to be state-of-the-art.

When Grindstone Canyon dam was begun only seven roller compacted concrete dams were in use in the United States. Four others were being constructed as the Grindstone project was under way.

Engineers and contractors from throughout the world visited the site to observe the construction process that allows for rapid placement of earthfill materials. Crews worked nearly around the clock as the dam was built, scheduled in two 10-hour shifts seven days a week, in just 55 days.

The roller-compaction process utilizes special rollers to compress wet concrete at one-foot intervals. That process is much faster than building a similar earthen dam, thus more economically completed, said speakers at a seminar on RCC conducted in Ruidoso.

The face of the Grindstone dam towers more than 130 feet above the canyon floor. The filled lake will hold 488,775,000 gallons of water when filled.

The dam will form a reservoir of 1,500 acre-feet that will stretch back into Grindstone Canyon. The lake will cover 38.6 acres, and at the dam face will be 1,300 feet wide. The lake is planned to rise to an elevation of 6,918 feet, just below the point where trees have been removed from its banks. The dam will be filled with water from the Rio Ruidoso via a pipeline. The pipeline begins at Martin Road in the Upper Canyon, follows Main Road, then turns and travels to an opening at the head of the lake-to-be.

The face of Grindstone Canyon dam juts 132 feet into the sky, making it one of the tallest structures in the Ruidoso area for now. Officials estimate, though, that in about 15 months, the dam face will rise just a few feet above a newly formed lake.

The roller compacted concrete dam was raised, by one-foot levels at a time, in just 55 days. Crews worked two 10-hour shifts a day during the construction period, since new layers of concrete had to be applied quickly atop each other to ensure adhesion. Only seven roller compacted concrete dams had been completed worldwide when Grindstone Canyon dam was started.

The Dreamer

by Dan Storm

Walton Mirza Crain

Nell Crain Parks and her son, Dave, returned a few days ago from attending services in Goodnight, Texas, for Nell's brother, Marion Mirza Crain, who was called Home by Our Lord on November second. Services were held at the First Baptist Church of Goodnight and at the Goodnight cemetery with the Reverend Jim Brown in charge.

Mr. Crain was born in Spanish Fort, Texas, October ten, 1897. While he was quite young the family moved to Goodnight which is forty-eight miles south of Amarillo. Here Walton grew up and began the life of a farmer. In this calling he remained all his life, retiring only recently and moving to the small nearby town of Claud.

Beside his sister, Nell, Walton is survived by two daughters, Marion Hazlett of Amarillo and Carolyn Conrad of Raleigh, North Carolina. Also surviving are eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Nell remembers her brother as very kind-hearted:

"He was always looking after his neighbors, dropping by to see if they were all right, bringing in their mail, and running errands and doing anything he could to make life happier for all the folks within his reach."

Nell told something that is revealing of her brother's character. In the hospital the Reverend Jim Brown said, "Now I will pray for you," and then offered up a prayer for Walton. After he had finished Walton said, "Now let me pray for you." He then prayed that the Reverend Mr. Brown would be blessed all his life, that he might continue long in his sacred work, and that the Lord would accept his gratitude for all the faithful help of the Reverend Mr. Brown.

I had the honor last year of making the acquaintance of Mr. Walton Crain, his daughter Marion and her husband, Elmer. The kind nature of Walton shone forth from him as we visited. He is the kind of person that adds happiness to your life—the same as his sister, Nell. His daughter Marion is very much like her father; and her husband, Elmer, is a man of great kindness of heart.

We rejoice that Walton Crain has been welcomed into Heaven by Our Lord.

Jack Frost Is Still The Boss

The folks up in the Dakotas have been reminded of something they have known for a long time, but often, like the rest of us, sometimes tend to forget. And that is that in the winter we need to be ready at all times for a cold snap that may stop us in our tracks.

Good highways, cars equipped with the most scientific weather features, de-icers of all kinds and many other advantages of science—all these go by the board when Jack Frost lets the hammer.

In my many conversations with this little leaf painter he has often told me that he tries to follow a pattern—bringing in the cold a little at a time, so that winter moves in gradually giving us time to get ready—but that controlling the weather in all its moods is not always easy, and that we should take nothing for granted but be ready for cold weather anytime after mid-October.

The Cold Moves In And Then Out

I thought the blast that moved in from the twelfth was cold, but I had another thing coming. At night I had the same day, the record-breaking blizzard in the Dakotas overflowed and a little of it spilled over here in the vale.

It got down to eighteen that night and the next day, the thirteenth, the temperature never rose above twenty-eight.

Now today, the fifteenth, early in the morning I took a hard look at the wood pile, figuring that with such an early start in cold, and the mountain covered with snow, winter weather was here to stay.

Just at high noon, Little Corina the cat, moved from her pallet by the fireplace over to the sofa, and then in a minute or two, got up and looked out the window. Taking a hint, I looked at the thermometer, and outside it was sixty-four, exactly the same temperature as the kitchen.

So Jack Frost gave us a little break after all. There is good snow on the mountain, while the surrounding slopes stretch away in all directions under a light protective cloud cover—all in typical mid-November weather—the meadows all in light gold, and the evergreens a soft gentle green.

We have much for which to be thankful during the Thankful month.

Woman's club members hear health talk

Dr. Arlene Brown told the Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club Wednesday that October is family health month.

Brown, who practices family medicine in Ruidoso, said the emphasis in her practice is on preventive medicine and how to maintain good health.

"You can prevent a lot of health problems," said Brown. She said a yearly health examination, good diet and proper exercise are the most important ingredients for good health.

Brown then explained the components of a yearly "head-to-toes" health exam, with emphasis on problems common to women.

A close examination of a patient's eyes can show signs of diabetes, high blood pressure and arteriosclerosis, said Brown. She said she then looks into the throat and mouth, watching for tumors, cavities and signs of inadequate nutrition.

By listening to heart and lungs, Brown said she can note murmurs, abnormal sounds or rhythms and signs of damage caused by smoking.

Since breast cancer is the second most prevalent cancer among women, Brown said a monthly home self-examination is probably the most important thing a woman can do.

"Early detection is very important," said Brown. "It is something that we are capable of curing," she added.

She said the American Cancer Society also recommends a yearly mammogram, which can pick up signs of breast cancer three years before it can be identified in an exam.

Women also are at risk for gall bladder problems, said Brown. She said the number three cancer among women is colon/rectal, so she is alert for symptoms of that disease.

Brown predicted the American Cancer Society, which now recommends a pap smear be done only every three years, will soon go back to recommending that test once a year.

"The controversy had more to do with cost than efficacy," said Brown, who recommends the procedure during a woman's yearly health exam.

Brown said osteoporosis is probably the biggest killer of women. She said if a woman's body is not making enough estrogen she is at risk for osteoporosis.

Brown then answered questions about women's health issues, mail order medicine and the Family Crisis Center.

Also during Wednesday's meeting, members reported on a recent district conference.

After hearing of challenges to area water rights through a court case involving the United States, the State of New Mexico and the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe, members voted to write to area lawmakers expressing concern.

Genevieve Duncan, in a hobo costume to report on the Sunshine Express district conference, leads members of the Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club in a song during a regular meeting Wednesday. Dr. Arlene Brown was the guest speaker.

Inside the Capitol by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—Maybe it's true the elephant never forgets, but sometimes it seems he learns very slowly. That appears to be true at least in the case of New Mexico Republicans, members of the party for whom that long-nosed beast is both symbol and mascot.

Spies inside that junta of Republican Senators that met in Albuquerque last weekend report those present chose to back a losing hand. They voted to support Les Houston's newest run for the post of president pro tempore of the upper house, and to continue backing Bill Valentine as floor leader and Smitly Eoff as whip. The latter two choices will come to pass, because this group has the power to make them. As for choosing the president pro temp, however, those in this gathering just don't have the numbers for that, so it's likely Houston will not be given that job back.

In the first place, that's because our Senate is now officially equally divided between the two parties, with 21 Democrats and 21 Republicans. That has been the fact of the matter since Alamogordo's Bill Vandergriff formally changed his registration to the Democrats earlier this current week.

What complicates the situation of the Republican Senators even further is the existence of a split in their own ranks, all brought about by that same question of whom to support in the race for president pro temp. Three dissident members of their group are pledged not to vote for Albuquerque's Houston for that job, and appear unwilling to change their minds on that position.

Instead of attempting to make peace with those three and draw them back into the fold, this gathering reportedly spent its time exhorting and vilifying them. That caused the three to withdraw from the meeting, probably even more determined than before to hold to their present position.

That would seem to make it almost a certainty that Ike Smalley of Deming, who reclaimed the pro temp's job during a stormy special session this summer, will now keep it. This time, he will also be the man who gets to pass out the chairmanships of Senate committees, and he will, with a fellow Democrat, dominate the Legislative Council, which makes interim appointments.

Over on the House side, it seems amply clear that the former coalition of conservative Democrats with Republicans has again turned its toes, due to the GOP's failure to elect enough legislators to keep it workable. Among Democrats, former Speaker Ray Sanchez has the votes to take that post back, as Jerry Sandel of Farmington and Dick Minzner of Albuquerque have recognized by withdrawing their names from consideration.

Look for Toby Michael from Milan to defeat Minzner and become the new majority floor leader.

One amusing aspect of all this huffer-mugger is to watch certain Democratic Senators who once piously denounced the formation of a coalition across party lines in the House. They provided us glowing descriptions then of exactly how sinful such carrying-on is, along with implied promises that they and their body had too much dignity ever to allow a coalition to form there.

Suddenly, they find themselves quite happy to live in an arrangement of 21 Democrats and three Republicans, for purposes of organizing the Senate—and that's a coalition no matter how you slice it. Maybe their reasoning is that anything that gives Democrats power is a good thing, while anything that transfers it to the other party in any measure is a bad one.

The words, "for purposes of organizing the Senate," as used above, should be taken seriously. This particular mixture now obtaining in the Senate is solely for the purpose of picking the president pro temp. Once that is done, as both Democrats and Republicans involved in the process agree, all members are free to go their own ways. That means we won't be seeing any more of those time-consuming meetings behind closed doors to which Houston used to subject those who supported him. As things will work in the coming year, we are told, there will be none of those ironbound oaths to go out and vote in a bloc, in peril of eternal damnation if one should have the courage to express a personal view by breaking with the others.

If the shift to Smalley's leadership accomplished nothing but that, it would be something to breathe a sigh of relief over.

Last Tuesday's tour by businesspeople of Ski Apache Resort is a step in the right direction. The segments of our community can work together...

Ski Apache Resort manager Roy Parker hosted the group to a discussion of snowmaking and snow grooming, a gondola ride tour of the resort and a luncheon.

Ski Apache Resort is the primary reason people visit Ruidoso each winter. It only makes sense that the people who provide the skiers' support facilities—lodging, dining and service businesses—should be well-informed of what the resort has to offer, what the actual conditions at the resort are and a basic understanding of how the resort operates.

Knowing your business is the key to success and in winter, skiing is our business.

And the Ski Apache Resort tour last week was an impressive step forward by the resort management to ensure businesspeople in Ruidoso are well-informed. We hope the tour can happen at the beginning of every season, and perhaps can serve as the beginning of a great deal of communication between resort and business community.

Communication between segments of our community is vital if we are all to succeed.—DJP

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Thank you, Lamoyne Carpenter, for responding to my letters to the newspapers and for using my name so often in your letter. I want people to know I wrote the letters. For too long too many of us have remained silent. I failed to say—I love it here. For that reason only I take the time and effort to write letters, to attend trustee meetings, to discuss problems with people thereby showing my pleasure or disapproval of certain situations. Sorry, I will not move. I have no animosity toward you or anyone else in Capitan; you sold us our property (I'm glad you did); I consider you a real estate agent, not a developer.

First, let me say that bigger is not necessarily better. I concede that if we have an influx of airport construction workers we may need more school employees and buildings. Capitan would need tremendous growth to qualify for a first-class post office. Our present post office is the best I have ever encountered. Let me remind you that both of these institutions are tax-funded, either locally or federally, and any increases will be paid for by the taxpayers. Airport workers who might come here will be transients and when the airport construction is completed, they will move on to other parts of the country for jobs. What happens then to the newly hired teachers, administrators, and other employees? We had a recent example. When Ruidoso was booming, many people working in Ruidoso lived in Capitan. The construction boom collapsed; those workers moved on leaving vacant houses, trailers, and lots.

Now to comment on some of your other statements. There are good and bad developers. A good developer will see that the infrastructure is in place before he sells the property or asks for annexation, that is, he sees to it there are good roads, sufficient quality water and water lines, street signs, electricity, sewage disposal, street lights, etc. Subdivisions in the Capitan area are being slowly brought up to standard by village and county administrations at taxpayers' expense. As far as I can determine the new Hall Brothers subdivision had been well-developed.

If I see water from the new well flowing from my faucet by May, I'll buy you a cup of coffee at the Smokey Bear Cafe! We desperately need the new water system; I just wish the water situation, past and present, had been presented to the public "like it is," not as someone thought we wanted to hear it. My sources tell me plans are now to run the water line to Highway 48 in the vicinity of the Pat Huey/Valton Hall homes. That will take in your place and the downtown area. I'm told that to bring it farther will cost additional money either from another General Obligation Bond (G.O. Bond) or grants. Are you saying we do not pay for bonds and grants? The grants may not have to be paid back as such, but the money initially comes from the taxpayers before the various levels of government distribute it. It is taxpayers' money and you and I are taxpayers. I'm also told that by 1987 we in Capitan will be paying the highest property taxes in New Mexico. This is in part due to the new G.O. Bonds which were necessary. I understand the new well water is very hard; if it is mixed with river/lake water, something must be done about our filter system as the water as filtered now is not good water (talk to the people who get sick when they drink it). To do "something" about the filter system will take more money.

Do I understand you correctly that unless we have crime or other incidents necessitating law enforcement officials, we will lose our policeman and part of the Sheriff's Department? I don't believe it. That is like saying we only need firemen when we have fires.

We must all grow and change—people as well as villages—the most important thing to me is how we grow and that we don't rip off other people in the process.

Finally, I've expressed my view point; there is no need to "beat a dead horse." The favorable response I have received to my three letters is, to me, amazing. I've had telephone calls, people have stopped me on the street, at the bookmobile, in the supermarket, in the post office, at the doctor's and dentist's offices. Apparently, many "somebodies" out there agree with me. I don't expect everyone to.

Thank you again,

DEAR EDITOR:

Capitan's Halloween Carnival was held October 31 as entertainment for the entire community as well as a fundraiser for the school. Both Capitan and Ruidoso gave us their support and cooperation, and, consequently, the Carnival was a success both socially and financially.

Now, Capitan schools would like to take this opportunity to thank the residents of both communities who participated in our activities. We would also like to give a particular thanks to the business persons in Capitan and Ruidoso who donated items for prizes. The list is endless. The seventh grade and the National Honor Society, in particular, appreciated your generosity immensely. We realize that you get asked often by one organization or another, but it is this spirit of sharing that makes both communities so special.

Thanks again.
