Eyewitnesses tell tale of a tornado

by KARL F. MOFFATT
News Staff Writer

"I wouldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it for myself," said a Capitan resident after a tornado touched down near there Saturday afternoon, May 16.

Dock and Janet Keel were on the back patio of their hilltop home in Capitan during a rain and hail storm when Janet saw the clouds and funnel to the south and asked her husband what it was.

"I have seen several tornados back in Wichita Falls, Texas," Dock said. "That ole tail would reach down out of the clouds and touch down ... you could see debris—grass and limbs—going up into the air."

"It must have spent 20 minutes on the ground, total," He said. "It was about three and a half miles south of us, just west of the Escondido ranch."

Capitan Police Chief Randy Spear was monitoring the tornado's progress from his car when it turned and headed toward him.

"I have heard of them elsewhere but not here," Spear said. "I watched it as it plopped to the ground. The funnel cloud touched down and uprooted some trees. You could see the clouds swirling around and then it just funnels down and you could hear it swirling and roaring."

Spear said the tornado touched down on the Escondido ranch and didn't appear to damage anything more than some trees and bushes.

The National Weather Service in Albuquerque said Lincoln County has had six tornados since they started keeping records in 1950.

"The last tornado to set down in Lincoln County was September 16, 1971," said deputy meteorologist in charge, Dick Wood.

"We no longer think that mountains are exempt from tornados. This was proved by tornados that swept the Appalachian Mountains of Pennsylvania two years ago and killed 66 people," Wood said.

Mrs. Lester Magnone of Capitan shot this photograph of the Capitan tornado. The photo was taken looking southwest from the Magnone's Big Country Subdivision home.

Balancing budget troubles council

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Cut the budget or raise taxes? The Ruidoso Village Council decided Thursday to sleep on that question.

Ruidoso village councillors, meeting in a workshop session as the village Finance Board, struggled over how to draft a balanced budget with the decreased revenue figures projected by village clerk/finance director Leon Eggleston.

Village manager Frank Potter and Eggleston, predicting a general fund revenue decrease of over a million dollars, detailed how they pared budget requests from department heads to come up with a proposal that still falls short of expected income by $411,204.

Eggleston projected general revenue income at $2,940,399, including a 10 percent decline recommended by the Department of Finance and Administration. But requests for general revenue funds, after Eggleston made his cuts, total $3,351,603.

"What do you want us to do?" asked Eggleston.

Councillors discussed deep budget cuts versus property tax increases. They heard figures on expected revenues from the .50 cent gross receipts tax increase dedicated to repay bonds issued for the airport land, and they talked about individual department budgets and the number of village employees.

"It looks like we've reached a stalemate," said Village Councillor Ray Dean Carpenter. "Either we impose the mill levy or we cut the hell out of the budget," he added.

Carpenter, adamantly opposed to a tax increase, suggested a list of budget cuts including eliminating travel, dues, subscriptions, uniform allowance and economic development. He suggested budgeting at last year's level rather than projecting the 10 percent decrease in revenues.

Village Councillor Jerry Shaw suggested the animal control budget of $48,000 could be cut.

Village Councillor Victor Alonso continued to question a projected $226,000 in excess funds, over the amount needed to retire the airport bonds. He questioned raising excess funds through the .50 cent sales tax set to go into effect on July 1, and then considering a new tax increase.

"When we sold that (bond issue) we said we'd use excess funds to retire the debt early," noted Eggleston.

Councillors finally agreed to take all the information home, put a pencil to the figures and meet Monday in efforts to draft a budget that can be acted on during a council meeting Tuesday.

During the initial budget workshop several weeks ago, councillors were reluctant to consider implementing a five mill property tax levy that Eggleston and Potter said can be enacted without a public vote. They asked Eggleston to set limits for department requests and present those figures to the governing body before passing them on to individual department heads.

A meeting scheduled to present those figures was cancelled, and by Thursday's meeting department heads already had made their requests, said Eggleston. He said he had discussions with individual councillors before working with department heads on their budgets.

Eggleston said organizational changes in village government complicated the departmental procedures since several departments were combined.

Thursday Eggleston distributed, along with estimated revenues and proposed budgets, information on revenues that would be derived from implementing the increased property tax. Estimated revenues vary from $882,903 for the maximum tax rate of 5.425 to $351,179 for imposing a portion of the rate at 1.425.

"Is it better to impose a mill levy or slash everything to oblivion?" asked Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr.

He suggested refiguring the rate structure for village services.

"It may be we have never gotten realistic about rates," noted Davis.

Eggleston said enterprise funds are "doing OK," but the general fund is where the shortfalls occur.

"We've got to realize the general fund is not a bottomless pit we can continue to dip into," noted Carpenter.

In discussions on business and the economy, Davis said the Village of Ruidoso has fallen short in planning and landscaping when compared to other resorts.

"We've had a bankrupt mentality for too long," said Davis.

"Right now we have a bankrupt reality," said Carpenter.

Funding source unclear for private hangar areas

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) administrator Fred Heckman said Thursday that users of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport may be interested in making donations to keep the multi-million dollar project on schedule.

"We may want to take a look at a fundraiser—a bake sale or whatever you do," quipped Heckman in discussions of funding for the T-hangar and private areas not eligible for federal funding participation.

During a regular SBAC meeting, commissioners saw plans for the private area of the airport, and heard that funding is at least $40,000 short to pave the taxiways around that portion of the facility.

"We just don't have the funding," said SBAC Chairman Tim Morris.

Commissioner Conrad Buchanan, noting he wants to stay away from a tax increase to support the regional airport, said he doesn't know how far private enterprise is willing to go on developing facilities.

"This is a crazy question," said Buchanan, asking if the current contractor could be asked to take a promissory note at no interest to develop the areas under discussion. He said the contractor could be paid monthly as funds become available.

In discussions on a transition period for users of the Ruidoso airport to move to SBRA when it opens on December 1, one user noted the commission is "scaring" him away from the regional airfield.

"It looks to me like you're forcing me to go to Carrizozo or somewhere else," said the pilot, adding the commission doesn't seem to be taking care of private hangar owners.

SBAC members disagreed, vowing to work with the users and help them all they can.

Design engineer Earl Cook said the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) would like to see the municipal airport closed and the SBRA replacing it at the earliest possible date, but will allow a transition of from three to six months. He said based aircraft could be allowed to use the local airfield for up to a year.

Cook said obligations the Ruidoso Municipal Airport has as a public airport will be transferred to the regional field.

But Cook warned of other pressures to get all operations moved, including other demands on the land.

"The Village of Ruidoso doesn't have the budget and would not be responsive to operate two facilities," added Morris.

SBAC attorney Steve Sanders said he'll have specifications ready in two weeks to advertise for proposals on developing the T-hangar and private area of the airport. Sanders said he'll confer with prospective bidders on those specifications.

In regular business Thursday, the commission:

—Adopted a budget presented by Heckman including $496,919 to complete Phase I, PAC 1; $5,687,277 for paving and lighting; 8.3 percent for professional services; and a 10 percent contingency fund. He said that total will be acquired through FAA grants in hand, funds from the State Transportation Department, the proceeds from the sale of the Ruidoso airport and other grants already identified.

—Accepted an additional FAA grant of $700,000 as the federal share on the additional two-inch overlay included as an additive alternate on the paving bid. Heckman said the additional two-inch overlay will provide a four-inch full-strength runway to allow 737 and DC9 aircraft to complete as many as 1,200 operations a year at the SBRA and meet all safety criteria. The runway will also allow limited charter operations of 727s, said Heckman.

—Amended the motion passed at the last meeting awarding the bids on paving and lighting to low bidders. The motion now calls for awarding the bids subject to FAA concurrence.

—Heard Cook report that site preparation is ahead of schedule.

—Discussed a water well pump contract with Smith Machinery, and voted to start the contract time period on June 28.

—Heard Commissioner Bill Karn report plans to conduct groundbreaking ceremonies in August for the airport access road.

—Spent an hour and 20 minutes in an executive session called to discuss litigation.

—Responded to questions by Al Junge on the 1978 joint powers agreement made up of five entities. Junge noted that one member doesn't show up, one wants out and another wants changes to the agreement. Captain Commissioner Benny Coker said a newspaper report indicated he said he wants out of the project. He said he noted that Captain can't afford any further contribution to the facility and he would have no problem if the village dropped out. Coker said he guesses the tribe, apparently the member Junge referred to as not showing up, "thinks we (SBAC) make good decisions."

—Discussed printed materials to describe the airport to interested individuals.

—Authorized Morris to sign the FAA project application on behalf of the commission, subject to review by the attorney.

Lil Bit Shiny wins Derby by a whisker

Lil Bit Shiny avenged his loss to Ronas Ryon in last year's All American Futurity by posting a whisker win over the millionaire colt in Sunday's $230,000 Kansas Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

The track's Twin Trifecta wager eluded 6,500 fans for the eighth straight day and was projected to reach $125,000 for Monday's special holiday program. Wagering jumped 10 percent over 1986 figures on Sunday when more than $874,000 went through the windows.

Jockey Jeff Williams said his "dream came true" after beating out nationally famous rider Jerry Nicodemus for the Kansas Derby trophy.

"When my brother and I were 10, we used to run to the mail box just to look at pictures of Jerry Nicodemus. He was my idol," the young rider said. "I've always respected him tremendously."

Lil Bit Shiny was forced to overcome a three-quarter length deficit in the 400-yard dash when Ronas Ryon and Strictly Wicked took the early lead out of the gates.

"About half way through the race I figured Lil Bit Shiny was going to run Ronas Ryon down," Williams said. "The last 75 yards or so we had the race in hand. I knew he was going to stay there. He's that kind of horse."

The official winning margin was a nose with a final time of 20.01 seconds racing into a moderate headwind. Lil Bit Shiny now owns an unblemished race record this year with three wins from three starts. Previous to his two-length margin in trials for the Kansas Derby, the colt set a new world record for 300 yards at Bandera Downs in Texas.

Lil Bit Shiny's owners Lodie and Shelly Stapleton of Bellaire, Texas, pocketed $79,520 for the Derby win. Lil Bit Shiny holds lifetime earnings of nearly $700,000. A large chunk of that cash was deposited by winning last year's Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso Downs and then running second in the 1986 All American Futurity.

Hugh Tucker, who also trained Lil Bit Shiny's sire Oh Shiny, called the Kansas Derby winner "the best horse I've ever had."

Jockey Jeff Williams and Lil Bit Shiny head back for the Winner's Circle after a whisker win in the $230,000 Kansas Derby Sunday at Ruidoso Downs. Hugh Tucker trains the horse, owned by Shelly and Lodie Stapleton of Bellaire, Texas.

Racing wrapup

Big Bold Boz captures Handicap ; pool for Twin Tri nears $170,000

Big Bold Boz bolstered his reputation on the Southwest racing circuit with a handy victory in Monday's Memorial Day Handicap at Ruidoso Downs.

For the ninth straight day, there were no tickets cashed in the track's Twin Trifecta events. The pool is expected to offer $170,000 when racing resumes on Friday. Total wagering was up more than 5 percent for the holiday weekend as 17,800 fans bet nearly $2 million over four programs.

Big Bold Boz went postward as the odds-on favorite to capture the $25,000 Memorial Day Cap, which featured a full field of thoroughbreds at 6 furlongs.

Jockey Joe Martinez held the Bold Ego son just off the pace in the early going while 16-1 outsider Cherokee Lake showed the way to the opening turn under rider David Lidberg. As Sonic Shecky and Arturo Vallejo pressured the leader, Martinez swung Big Bold Boz wide and circled the two horses when they rounded the final bend to the head of the stretch.

Big Bold Boz cut loose in the last 200 yards to win easily by three lengths with a final time of 1:11 2/5 seconds. It was the fastest clocking of the season for 6 furlongs. Big Bold Boz carried top weight at 123 pounds.

Martinez said he was confident Big Bold Boz could race from off the pace and win the Memorial Cap.

"I knew the horse could come from behind," the veteran rider said, adding that he never uncocked his whip. "As much horse as I had, I never really had to get after him. He won very easily. I never hit him."

A $14,880 winner's check awaited owner Jacqueline Spencer of Alto. The earnings boosted Big Bold Boz's lifetime bankroll to $242,850. Spencer said she plans to ship her star thoroughbred to California next month.

"We're going to wait for Jack Van Berg to win the Belmont Stakes with Alysheba," she said. "Then we're going to send him to Hollywood Park for Van Berg to condition."

Sonic Shecky followed Big Bold Boz across the wire, with Cherokee Lake finishing another 1 1/4 lengths behind for third-place money. Sid's Ego was fourth, followed by Prince Ego, Fukka Anne, Windy War, Two Edged Sword, Paymaster Babe and Caro's Passion.

Second was worth $5,500 to Morris Cannan of San Antonio, Texas. Matt Mattox trains the Shecky Greene colt for Cannan. Cherokee Lake third earned $2,500 for Jane Phillips and Minnie Wood of Frisco, Texas. Dwayne Glibreath conditions the Master Ego son who was making his first appearance in a stakes race.

Dash Te takes Fine Loom

Dash Te (No. 2) posts a whisker win over Financial Aid (on the rail) to win the $11,000 Fine Loom Handicap Sunday at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Kenny Lewis is in the irons for trainer Roy Barrington. Dash Te collected $6,500 for his efforts.

Blulady Chick takes upset win in Kansas Derby Consolation

Jockey Joe Martinez rode Blulady Chick to a major upset in the $33,000 consolation of the Kansas Derby on Saturday at the mountain track.

Breaking from the far outside post position, Martinez got the filly away from the gates quickly and was never headed for the remainder of the 400-yard journey.

Bully Bullion, the 9-2 second favorite ridden by Darrell Blevins, made a valiant run at Blulady Chick but could not catch the Texas-bred miss who took home the $7,000 winner's check. The official winning margin was a head with a final time of 19.69 seconds.

"She's been breaking sluggishly, but today she broke on top," Martinez commented on Blulady Chick's performance. "When she does that, it takes a good horse to beat her. We were on the lead and they were coming to her, but not fast enough."

Blulady Chick is owned by Burt Master of Lubbock, Texas, and trained by Richard Nolen. The filly went postward at more than 15-1 odds to return $32.20 on a $2 win ticket. Coupled with Bully Bullion in the quinela wagering, the two horses returned a hefty $101.40.

Bully Bullion, who captured the Ruidoso Handicap at Sunland Park last month, flies the colors of Jean Chavers of Broomfield, Co. Trainer J.B. Montgomery gave the leg-up to rider Blevins.

Shutup And Deal leads in Kindergarten trials

Shutup And Deal romped to a four-length winning margin in Friday's trials for the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

Ruidosoan Lee Ivey's Shutup And Deal turned in the most impressive performance among 36 young thoroughbreds who met in four trials for the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity on Friday's program. The top two finishers in each division were guaranteed a spot in the final of the Kindergarten on May 30.

Jockey Eugene O'Neill of El Paso toyed with seven hopefuls in the second division while winning by more than four lengths. The final time for the 5 furlongs was 59 2/5 seconds - the fastest of the four trial divisions. Ivey also trains the colt, who was bred by V.J. Callaway of Hobbs.

Around the first turn

The Memorial Day Weekend at Ruidoso Downs Race Track drew 17,812 fans who wagered nearly $2 million—a five percent increase over the 1986 Memorial Day weekend. A giant Twin Trifecta carryover continues this weekend, expected to reach $170,000 Friday.

Meal Care celebration marks service's first anniversary

Clowns, balloons, cake and ice cream set the tone for a celebration earlier this month to mark the first year of Ruidoso Care, Inc., Meal Care Division.

Ruidoso Care, Inc. chairman Charlotte Jarratt said the first Meal Care lunch was served May 19, 1986.

Lunches, prepared at Lincoln County Medical Center, are served Mondays and Fridays at the Senior Citizens Center, as well as delivered to those unable to go to the center.

Since the beginning of the program, through March 31, 35 people have received home-delivered meals, said Jarratt. She said 21 homebound people currently receive the meal service, 11 in Ruidoso and 10 in Ruidoso Downs.

Meal Care has served 1,543 lunches during its first year, and Jarratt said 250 different people were served at least once.

Meal program participants are encouraged, when able, to come to the Senior Citizens Center and have lunch, said Jarratt. The Village of Ruidoso furnishes a van and a driver to deliver meals and to pick up diners who are able to come to the center but have no transportation.

During the birthday party Friday, Jarratt recognized Meal Care coordinator Betsy Muhn, van driver Sally Rue and Senior Citizens Center director Bette Romans for contributing to the success of the lunch program.

She thanked many other groups and individuals, and distributed certificates of appreciation. She said 147 individuals have donated time or money to Meal Care this year.

Jarratt also reviewed contributions and pledges from Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Lincoln County. She said last year the program got off to a healthy financial start with April Showers gifts and donations from guests at Bill and Charlotte Jarratt's anniversary.

Donations are always welcome, and some individuals and groups continue to pledge support, said Jarratt. Cost of the meals is $2.50, and a $20/month pledge will pay for a Meal Care participant. Contributions may be sent to Ruidoso Care, Inc., PO Drawer 309; Ruidoso, NM 88345.

Governor to the students

Governor Garrey Carruthers, during Government to the People day in Lincoln County, takes time to talk to students and staff at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School. While in Lincoln County, Carruthers and members of his cabinet also visited Ruidoso, the Grindstone Canyon Dam, Sierra Blanca Regional Airport construction project, Lincoln and the Hondo Valley.

Five are elected to chamber board

Leon Eggleston, Cindy Lynch, Gaye Miller, Eddie Parker and Ronnie Faulger have been elected to serve on the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors. Board president Bill Hirschfeld said Thursday that 168 ballots were cast in the annual elections to the 15-member board. Chamber executive director John Jeffers said more than 300 members were eligible to vote.

Ruidoso High School to graduate 122 Friday

Commencement exercises for 1987 Ruidoso High School seniors will take place at 8 p.m. Friday, May 29, at the Ruidoso High School Gymnasium, 100 Warrior Road. Science teacher Dub Williams, who retired in May 1985, will address the 122 graduating seniors. Class Valedictorian is Billy Harrison and Salutatorian is Kerry Gladden. Those receiving scholarships will be announced as they pick up their degrees and students with a grade point average of 3.3 or better will be dressed in white gowns.

Carl Lueras' degree will be awarded posthumously to his mother, Joan Lueras.

Mental Health Association gets good news

The Lincoln County Mental Health Association will have reason to celebrate during its annual meeting at 7 p.m. today (Tuesday), May 26, in the community room of the Ruidoso Public Library. The association, a subsidiary of the Otero County Mental Health Association, learned recently that its agency, Professional Counseling Associates (PCA), was awarded the state contract to continue to provide mental health and alcoholism counseling in Ruidoso. Mike Hickey, a clinical psychiatrist in Alamogordo, will be the guest speaker for the annual meeting. New officers will be elected for the coming year during the public meeting. Executive director J.L. Wilson and members of the local advisory board revealed just last month that the local contract was in jeopardy. Wilson said he and the board had dealt squarely with a number of problems over the past year, and just when they seemed to be solved, the contract was put out for bid to two other Alamogordo agencies. A site visit to the Ruidoso office preceded Wilson's announcement.

He said the state is picking up over 70 percent of PCA's needs. "But they make no bones about it, they are not a sole source of funding," said Wilson. He said local funds will still be needed to provide "bare bones" services to area citizens. Wilson said the Village of Ruidoso and Lincoln County Commission have helped fund the service in the past. "These kinds of services are expensive ... it's always going to be hard for a community to afford them," said Wilson, comparing counseling services to the need for a policeman. "No one wants us around until they need us," he added. Wilson spends half his time in Ruidoso and half in Alamogordo. PCA staff includes one full-time and two half-time counselors, and Wilson hopes to bring Hickey to Ruidoso a couple of hours a week, as needed. "Overall, it looks good for us," noted Wilson. He invites citizens to attend the open house and annual meeting.

Enforcers play hard in Special Olympics benefit

The Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge #26, "Enforcers" and the Roswell Special Olympic "Warriors" faced off last week in a benefit basketball game at White Mountain School gymnasium. The Warriors dumped the Enforcers, 63-41, before being treated to pizza and soft drinks at the Pizza Hut on Sudderth Drive, compliments of Manuel Martinez. Proceeds from the basketball contest will benefit Special Olympics. Top scorers for the Enforcers were Gilbert Sambrano of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office, New Mexico State Police officers Steve Standridge and Phil Sexton, Randy

Spear of the Capitan Police, Roy Hayes of the New Mexico Game and Fish Department, Orlando Montes of the Sheriff's Office and Ruidoso Police detective Oscar Villado. Laura Ashley reported that Enforcers Lanny Maddox of the Ruidoso Police and Ron Harrison of the Sheriff's Office tried "very hard to score, but (were) unable to connect." "Scorekeeper Roberta Hayes wore out the foul button on the Enforcers," said Ashley, adding that referee Richard Silva "consistently lambasted Maddox for continual fouling."

County Republicans schedule meeting for June 1

Lincoln County Republicans will meet at 6 p.m. Monday, June 1, at Michael's Kitchen in Ruidoso Downs. Owner Michael Tellez will serve a Mexican food dinner.

Pat Hume, county chairman, asks all interested Republicans to come and get acquainted. A short business meeting will be conducted. All Lincoln County Republicans are invited to join the club by making annual donations of $7.50 each to the Lincoln County Special Fund, said Hume. She said financial contributions are not required to attend monthly meetings, but are in lieu of a club fundraiser. Checks may be mailed to treasurer Cal Cowden, P.O. Box 137, M104, Ruidoso, NM 86345.

Happy Anniversary To Margaret and Johnson Stearns

Today, Saturday, May twenty-three, as I write you this message, I am happy to say that one of Lincoln County's favorite couples are celebrating their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Plans are for Margaret and Johnson Stearns of Carrizozo to gather at a beautiful spot in Nogal Canyon with friends and kin folks for the celebration. Johnson Stearns and the former Margaret Shafer were married on this date in Carrizozo in 1937. Both are life-long residents of Lincoln County, having met in grade school in Carrizozo. They have been active in religious, civic and educational circles all their lives. Johnson for many years worked for the Southern Pacific Railroad, and for the Citizens State Bank of Vaughn. For quite a while Margaret and Johnson lived in the historic little village of Nogal. They are both charter members of the little Nogal Presbyterian Church, a land mark and sacred shrine in Lincoln County. Margaret says, "We raised our children in this little church, and we still attend services there every Sunday." Their children are: Bob Stearns, who has an insurance agency in Carrizozo; Linda Gibson and her husband "Hoot", who runs the Western Auto Store in Carrizozo; and Judy Glover and her husband, Charles, who live in Las Cruces. Margaret and Johnson are from pioneer families. Margaret was born August 15, 1918, in Roswell to Roy Shafer and the former May Jewell. And Johnson was born August 27, 1917, in Carrizozo to Orsa Stearns and the former Pearl Heilman. He says he lives only two blocks from where he was born. In 1920 Johnson's family moved to the Bonito Valley and then when construction began on the Bonito dam they moved to a spot two miles up the Nogal Canyon. Johnson's father was for years yard master for the old E. P. and S. W. Railroad, and was called Home by Our Lord in 1935. For thirty years Johnson's saintly mother, Pearl, ran the post office and general store in Nogal. Many is the time I went by to visit Pearl, and she always told me how proud she was of her son Johnson and his wife Margaret—how greatly she was blessed by the loving devotion of Johnson and Margaret and her many friends. Pearl Stearns continued to be an inspiration to all of us in her store and post office almost up until the time she was called Home by Our Lord at the age of one hundred and two. Her long and happy life is a tribute to her faith in God and the fond devotion of her son, Johnson, and her daughter-in-law, Margaret. Weather Changes Plans I have just learned by phone that the Nogal Canyon plans were changed by rain; so the celebration will be held in the Carrizozo Country Club. We wish Johnson and Margaret many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Davis named Greatest Warrior at sports banquet

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

Brian Davis capped one of the greatest athletic careers in Ruidoso High School history when he was named the 1986-87 Greatest Warrior at the spring sports banquet Thursday night in the school cafeteria.

Davis was one of three senior boys who competed in three sports in their senior year and his selection as Greatest Warrior brought a standing ovation.

The others were Garret Henson and Jeff Willingham. There was no Greatest Warrior for the girls since no senior girl competed in three sports.

Davis, a 6-2, 180-pound athlete headed for New Mexico State University on a football scholarship, made all-state and All-American honorable mention in football, all-district in basketball and qualified for the state track meet in four events.

At state, the Warrior athlete took second in the 200 meters, anchored the 400-meter and 1,600-meter relays to first places, and anchored the 800-meter relay to second place.

Davis also was named most valuable player on the basketball and track teams. Athletes in basketball, wrestling, track, tennis and golf were honored at the banquet.

The banquet started out with the girls and boys basketball teams honored.

Warrior girls head coach Sergio Castanon and assistant Dennis Davis thanked the Warrior fans for their support and expressed optimism for the program's future.

"The program is improving," said Davis. "We didn't lose a district game in regular season."

"Things are promising for the future," said Castanon. "We had just two seniors and everybody else is coming back."

Ruidoso's girls varsity was 4-18 on the season with the young team.

Junior Amy Osborne was named most valuable player, senior Veralyn Platta was named best free throw shooter and junior Tammy Osborne was named best free throw shooter.

Boys basketball was next with head coach Gene Segura saying "the program has come a long way."

"We were 4-19 the first year I was here, but this year we were 11-13 and we had a legitimate chance of going to the state tournament."

Boys junior varsity coach Ridge Bowden and freshman coach Clen-don Kirkpatrick also praised their teams' efforts.

"We qualified for the district tournament this year for the first time," Bowden said.

Wrestling was named on the list and head coach Gerald Ames praised his team's performance.

"We lost a lot of athletes from last season's team," he said. "But we had a great season this year. They (the athletes) came through."

"We had a good team this year. We should have a great team next year."

Junior Jeff Schmidt was named most valuable wrestler, and he was one of the main reasons for Ames' optimism.

He won the district crown and took third in the state in the 105-pound class. He also won the most takedowns award.

Golf was next and coach Segura said the team's future looked good.

The girls team qualified for state and sophomore Chris Long from the boys team made state.

Seniors Martin Espinosa and Karen Gann were named most valuable golfers.

After that, tennis coach Mike Crocker introduced the boys and girls teams.

"Our girls team finished second in district, the best we've ever done," he said. "Our boys team tied for third and did that by beating New Mexico Military Institute, the team to beat, in the last match of the season."

Sophomore Marnie Warlick, the only Warrior to qualify for state, was named most valuable girls player. Senior Glen Westergren was named most valuable boys player.

"Marnie lost to the eventual state champion in the state tournament," Crocker remarked. "I feel she was the second best player in the field."

Track was the final sport on the list.

"We had a young team," he said. "Of the 25 kids on the team, 20 were sophomores and freshmen."

Junior Cindi Harrison was named most valuable athlete. She took second in the district 800 meters and competed at state for the second straight season.

The sports program ended with boys track and District 3-AAA Coach of the Year Ronny Maskew praising his athletes.

"We have high expectations in track and we do well," he said.

Ruidoso's boys won the district title and were third at state, taking first in three events.

Maskew had special praise for his state champion 1,600-meter relay team of Rusty Shelton, Chuck Daniels, James Hall and Davis.

"That was one of the best relays I've ever seen," he said. "We just barely qualified for the finals and when we made the finals, we beat people we hadn't beaten all year."

Brian Davis won the boys Greatest Warrior award at the Ruidoso High School spring sports banquet Thursday night. Davis also was named most valuable player in basketball and track. He was named most valuable football player at last fall's sports banquet.

Ruidoso High School assistant principal Doyle Howell (right) accepts an award for winning over 100 football games in his career at the Warrior spring sports banquet Thursday night. Others in the picture are

Coach tees off

Texas Tech University men's basketball coach Gerald Myers tees off on the first hole of a golf tournament for Southwest Athletic Conference officials at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Thursday. Athletic directors, coaches and bowl officials from the conference met for a conference at the Inn Wednesday through Saturday.

Midway Garage in 18th year

by KARL F. MOFFATT
News Staff Writer

The Midway Garage, 2101 Sudderth Drive, has been servicing the automotive needs of Ruidoso for 18 years and still has a good reputation, say partners Joe and Van.

The garage appears steeped in history and looks nothing like the stainless steel and plastic service stations lining the roads today.

Noting the rows of old books lining the office shelves, Joe Jarvis said, "It is quite possible that we have the oldest collection of service manuals in town."

Some people traveling by the garage may be put off by the faded orange for-sale sign hanging in the window.

"That sign has been there since we opened," said L.G. "Van" Vanover. "Ninety percent of our business is local, so people know we're not going anywhere."

The business philosophy at the Midway Garage is "Keep them in good running condition, service them regularly and they will last forever," Vanover said, "unless, of course, you wreck them."

Finally it is begun! Twelve days after the Convention for Revision of Our Articles of Confederation was to begin, a Quorum of Seven States has been reached. And already there is foreseen a Major Problem. The Hon. George Read of Delaware read his Delegation's Instructions before the Assembly and in short order put to rest any hope the Nationalists may have had for a Continental Consensus. Delaware WILL NOT relinquish Article V of the Articles. She forbids her delegates to alter the rule that gives each State an equal voice in Congress.

This means that tiny Delaware with its 50,209 white inhabitants and 8,887 slaves would continue to have the same vote as great Pennsylvania (430,636 and 3,737 slaves). In the South, our Greatest State, Virginia (454,983 and 292,627 slaves) would have its vote canceled out by sparsely populated Georgia (53,284 and 29,265 slaves).

There is no question that some of our Small States have suffered the Tyranny of the Large. Arrogant New York has placed the Yoke on smaller New Jersey in matters of commerce, and other smaller states fear this example. But we CANNOT SUPPORT the one state one vote rule! Is it not just as tyrannical for Delaware with its meager fifty thousand to expect the same Vote as Mightie Virginia with TEN TIMES its population?

Each Gentleman at this Convention should remember that during our late War for Independency the Brown Bess in the Lobsterbacks' hands spilled just as easily the Blood of Virginia Men at Trenton as it did Delaware Men at Yorktown. Their Blood and sacrifice was not bounded by lines! It was American sacrifice which broke the back of British tyranny on our Continent. If we war against an European despot again, he will not stop at an invisible line which supposedly separates Pennsylvania from Maryland or Georgia from South-Carolina, all will be taken together and crushed together.

We are Americans all, and will tolerate NO boundaries against Free Movement of Trade, NOR will we tolerate a Tyranny of the Few over the Many. We urge the Gentlemen to consider carefully some arrangement whereby this Blockade can be breached successfully.

Plautus

Quorum Finally Assembled!

Mr. Morris Escorts His Excellency, G. Washington, to the Chair

A quorum of the States was assembled today and the Convention to Revise the Articles of Constitution accordingly opened its proceedings. The Virginia and Pennsylvania delegations were early on the scene; indeed, the patience of the Delegates from those states has been sorely tried by the necessity of their having to wait almost Two Weeks for Members of the other delegations to arrive in Philadelphia.

Mr. William Few of Georgia still awaits his fellow delegates, as does Mr. Rufus King of Massachusetts.

Few Arrives During Storm

Congressman William Few of Georgia arrived at the Pennsylvania State House this morning in the midst of a torrential downpour. The usually taciturn Few had a "few" choice words for the hospitable city of Brotherly Love.

The lawyer from Georgia brings a great deal of experience with him to this meeting. He helped write the Georgia constitution, served in the Georgia legislature and presided as Judge over both Georgia county and state courts. He also served as Georgia representative to the Continental Congress from 1780 to 1782 and is currently serving in that position again. He has forewarned the Organizers of the Philadelphia meeting that his duties might very well take him to a meeting of the Congress in New York by mid-summer.

The thirty-nine year old delegate hopes to be joined by fellow Georgian, William Pierce, within the week.

Philadelphia ... May 25, 1787

The latter gentleman has expressed his great embarrassment that he is the Lone Delegate from New England.

In the State House the members proceeded at once to the business of electing a President of the Convention. His Excellency, George Washington, was nominated by Mr. Robert Morris of Pennsylvania and, after the members balloted by states, he was unanimously elected. The honor of nominating the president was to have been Dr. Franklin's, but the weather being inclement, he was unable to attend. General Washington was led to the chair by Mr. Robert Morris and Mr. John Rutledge of South-Carolina. General Washington said that as he never had been in such a situation, he felt himself embarrassed; that he hoped his errors, as they would be unintentional, would be excused.

The Convention then elected a secretary, William Jackson Esq., and chose a doorkeeper and a messenger. The rules committee was also appointed. The only other business was to read the credentials of the delegates. Here it was noted with consternation by some members that Delaware has forbidden her representatives from changing that section of the Articles of Confederation that gives each state an equal vote in Congress.

The Convention adjourned until Monday at 10 am when it is hoped that more delegations will be complete.

Convention Roll Call

Although all the Honorable Delegates have not yet arrived, we have compiled a list of those expected to attend. In some States, gentlemen elected have declined to serve. Mr. Patrick Henry of Virginia refused his State's nomination, saying that he doubted the good intentions of those who had planned the Convention.

No one expects representation from Rhode Island and neither New Hampshire nor Maryland have yet selected delegates. New Hampshire lacks the funds to pay the expenses of its men and must wait upon better times or the kindness of some benefactor. In Maryland, the popular cries for the emission of paper money have distracted the attentions of the legislature, so that a delegation cannot at present be appointed. The following, then, is a list of the Gentlemen whom we believe have answered the call to Cure Their Country's ills.

VIRGINIA

The Honourable George Washington, Dr. James McClurg, Governor Edmund Randolph, John Blair, Mr. James Madison, Mr. George Wythe, Mr. George Mason.

Exclusive Interview!

MADISON

Your correspondent was fortunate yesterday to obtain an interview with Mr. James Madison, delegate to the Convention from the State of Virginia.

Mr. Madison arrived in Philadelphia on May 3rd, the first of the delegates (apart from those who live in this city) to arrive. Mr. Madison is thirty-six years old and appears to be in robust health. As a young man he suffered from melancholy and feebleness of body; however, the late war excited his spirits and a dedicated attention to exercise strengthened his body. He speaks highly of riding as a healthful activity, and also of walking. He has brought with him his French pedometer, an instrument for measuring the distance walked, and intends to maintain his health by vigorous exercise during the Convention.

Mr. Madison has come armed with other weapons. He has brought with him two manuscripts: one examining the faults and failing of earlier Confederations like our own, and the other examining the shortcomings of our Present Form of government. Having served twice in Congress, and having been a member of the Virginia Assembly, he feels himself qualified to understand the problems which face the United States in the present grim hour. Mr. Jefferson, who is in Paris, has sent Mr. Madison great quantities of books to aid him in studying political history.

PRINCIPAL FAULT OF CONFEDERATION

We asked what he considered was the principal fault of our present Confederation. He replied it was that "the states were acting as if they were independent nations, with no regard for the welfare of the Nation." If the Convention does not succeed, he believes we will lapse into a Monarchy, or break up into three more practical and energetic governments.

MADISON DENIES WANTING CONSOLIDATION

He denies wanting to consolidate the States under One Government, but says that they cannot remain independent as they are now. "We must have a strong national authority or we will perish. The equality of the states in Congress must be abandoned, and we must have a strong executive at the center."

Mr. Madison has discussed his ideas with General Washington and Mr. Randolph, but is uncertain how far they support his views. He declined to discuss the meetings of the Virginia delegation, which are held daily, but hinted that some sort of New Constitution was already being written.

Mr. Madison intends to go to the Convention daily and to make as complete as possible a record of the proceedings. He will be able to do this because he has invented a form of shorthand with which to take down the members' speeches.

Philadelphia ... May 24, 1787

News From Britain ...

FOLLY OF AMERICA

Word of the pending Convention in Philadelphia has caused little stir here; the British have long grown tired of His Excellency John Adams's feeble entreaties for a commercial agreement between Britain and the United States, for neither King George III nor Mr. William Pitt, the Prime Minister, can seem to find any advantage to themselves or their parties therein. There seems here a general opinion that the American states are soon to prove the folly of their intemperate rebellion against the Crown, by a collapse into general anarchy and disunion, a prospect not altogether unpleasant to the King's Men whose reputations have not entirely recovered from the embarrassment of the American victory.

SCANDALOUS LIFE!

Attention at court and in Parliament is diverted by other matters. The scandalous life of George, Prince of Wales, has aroused much comment, for the Prince has much shamed his father by a Life of Dissipation in gambling clubs and at the theatre. Even worse, rumours have arisen that the Prince has contracted a Secret Marriage, in violation of the Royal Marriage Act and thus threatening the succession to the throne. The lady in question, Mrs. Fitzherbert, a widow, is a commoner and a Catholic, and thereby disqualified to contract marriage with the Prince. Nothing certain is yet known, and it is widely hoped that the rumours will prove false, but there are those who are pleased to see the King thus embarrassed and will work to Enflame the Scandal.

ATTACK AGAINST HASTINGS

Meanwhile the Commons are preoccupied with an attack being pressed against His Excellency Warren Hastings, late His Majesty's Governor General in India, on charges of corruption and tyrannical rule. The articles of impeachment against Mr. Hastings have been pressed with a spirit too partisan by Mr. Edmund Burke and Mr. Richard Brinsley Sheridan. Mr. Burke's stature as a man of principle and as a Friend of Liberty and of America is well known, and few question his motives. More controversial is the role of Mr. Sheridan, whose eloquent oratory hath drawn much notice. Mr. Sheridan, the noted dramatist and successful manager of the popular Drury Lane Theatre, is a man of Shallow Mind who is widely thought to be a Mouthpiece for others who wish to bring discredit to the King and the government, but are too craven to do so openly.

Delegates Chosen for Georgia

At Augusta on February 10, 1787, the General Assembly nominated William Few, Abraham Baldwin, William Pierce, George Walton, William Houston and Nathaniel Pendleton, Esquires, as commissioners to represent the Free and Sovereign State of Georgia at the Philadelphia convention, empowering them or any two of them to discuss all such Alterations and farther Provisions as may be necessary to render the Articles of Confederation adequate to the exigencies of the Union.

Governor George Mathews duly issued letters commissary to the gentlemen named above dated April 17. It is generally felt that these men will ably represent the interests of the people of our state. Mr. Walton, especially, is well known for his devotion to an effective Union, and is the great friend of the common man; Mr. Baldwin, also, is a prominent spokesman for the view that there must be a strengthening of ties between the Several States, a sentiment with much support among merchants and planters alike. It is prayed and expected that Georgia's delegation will contribute honourably toward the necessary work to be undertaken in Philadelphia.

Mr. Reed Announces Delaware's Instructions

Delaware Delegates Arrive

George Read, Esq., Richard Bassett, Esq. and Jacob Broom arrived at the Pennsylvania statehouse today after traveling from Read's estate at New Castle on the Delaware. Read's tall, lanky frame appeared bent over from the exhaustive trip and the pouches under his eyes gave evidence of his physical state and concern over the fate of Delaware and other small states in the upcoming deliberations.

Mr. Read suggests that the delegates from the small States "must keep a strict watch upon the movements and propositions from the larger States, who will probably combine to swallow up the smaller ones by addition, division, or impoverishment." Delegates from Pennsylvania and Virginia will have a formidable adversary in Read. The lawyer and plantation owner was a member of the Continental Congress and signed the Declaration of Independence. Since then he has served on the Delaware Constitutional Convention Council, worked in the Delaware legislature, and currently holds the post of Attorney General.

Last year George Read joined with delegates from four other states to approve the Annapolis Resolution calling for a meeting to discuss possible revisions to our National Government. Today he indicated he still supports that resolution, although he intends to keep a wary eye on the delegates from the large states who he fears have designs on the Sovereign Rights of the State of Delaware.

The remaining Delaware deputies, John Dickinson, Esq. and Gunning Bedford, Jr. Esq., will arrive in a few days.

A Church for Negroes

The Negroes of this City are in a high state of excitement. Wednesday last, they organized the Free African Society, with Absalom Jones and Richard Allen as overseers. The origins of this remarkable Association go back to last November. Jones and Allen were members of St. George's Methodist Episcopal Church and were so successful among their own People that the Black membership of St. George's soon increased tenfold. At first the Whites in St. George's welcomed this addition and allowed the Negroes to worship along side them on the main floor of the Church. But as the Negroes became too numerous it was decided to remove them to the Gallery. When this was announced Jones and Allen refused to leave and instead knelt in prayer on the main floor. When the White members attempted to pull them up, the Blacks resisted until a general Fray developed. The Blacks then left the Church en masse and have now organized their own.

REDOUBTABLE MEN

Jones and Allen, though African, are redoubtable men. Allen bought himself out of Slavery for $2,000 Continental money, earned by his own Skills, and even converted his Master in the interim. Their Standing among Africans throughout the States is evident as we hear that Free African Societies are being formed in Newport, Boston and New-York.

This new Association has taken a stand against Slavery and heartily supports the Pennsylvania Society for Promoting the Abolition of Slavery, and the Relief of Free Negroes, which is holding a Convention even now in this City.

Editorial

The upcoming graduation of 122 students from Ruidoso High School deserves a round of congratulations.

Students will receive diplomas during commencement exercises, which are set to begin at 8 p.m. Friday, May 29, at the Ruidoso High School gymnasium.

Retired science teacher Dub Williams will address the 1987 graduating class.

For some of the students, this will be the end of their education and the beginning of their lives as adults. For others, graduation is an important milestone as they continue their education at the university level.

But whether they will enter the "real world" now or later, they have achieved a great accomplishment in gaining the diploma.

Congratulations, Class of '87.—DJP

SANTA FE—One of the biggest mistakes we in the newspaper business made was to change the way we refer to large numbers.

Somewhat, it's not nearly so impressive to write, when we talk of the nation's debt ceiling, that it is now "$2.3 trillion" as it would be if we spelled that out with all the zeroes behind it.

If we said "$2,300,000,000,000," and repeated that horrendously large number every time we referred to it, you might end up with some feeling for how much money is really involved. The words "million" and "billion" and even "trillion" are not, after all, that different from one another; it's possible to read in such a fashion that the distinctions between them almost get glossed over. But if we had to put the correct number of zeroes on every citation of sums of this sort, nobody in the reading public could fail to be impressed.

Or maybe what we ought to do (since the Associated Press style book, the bible of all good editors, insists we use the number-with-word combination for such gross amounts) is provide more comparison.

Thus, when we speak of that national debt ceiling rising to $2.3 trillion, as the news stories now do, maybe we ought to say that the equity value of all the publicly held companies in the United States totals up to less than $3 trillion, an amount the debt ceiling will probably rise to before the present ill-fated Reagan administration packs it in and leaves Washington. In other words, we have permitted ourselves to give as hostage to the future almost the total amount of equity of all the companies in the nation whose stock is publicly traded, and we show not the slightest sign of willing that this kind of fiscal irresponsibility be forthwith ended.

In line with the words above, may we remind you that the budget of the state of New Mexico for the next fiscal year calls for us to spend an amount that, with all its zeroes firmly in place, come out looking about like this: $1,500,000,000. Compared to the federal number, that's puny indeed. The important question, however, is more likely to be how it looks when compared with the capacity of the citizens of the state to put it up.

Among other things our Congress is considering as it stumbles its way to adopting some sort of budget made up of numbers that are in considerable part phony is what to do about negative political advertising. That's not a topic the Congresspersons are likely to keep their collective noses out of, because they are the ones such negative advertising most often affects.

If what some of them presently want goes through, those TV spots conservatives want to run against Jeff Bingaman would become illegal. Present proposals would allow negative ads only if the opposing candidate personally appears to make the charges, and would also demand that the candidate being attacked be notified of the content in advance so a reply could be prepared.

That sounds like it could reduce campaign ads to the interest level generated by a fast game of patty-cake.

Certain publications in the state have begun calling on Governor Caruthers to repudiate that contract he let for a $60,000 study of what's on the minds of employees of the state because expenditures of money in such great quantities are supposed to go to bid, not just be approved for anyone the Governor grows enthusiastic about.

After studying the questionnaire that is being distributed to the workers, I'd be inclined to oppose this deal on that ground alone. Sixty thou is a lot of money to spend on an amateurish attempt to inquire into the thinking of those who work for us in state government.

I would expect those employees who pass on their views to me to be overcome by a bad fit of the giggles when they are presented with this particularly inept set of queries, which sounds like something prepared by Chinese Red Guards for distribution to orientals.

DEAR EDITOR:

The Rio Ruidoso Lioness Club would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped with, participated in or attended the "Ms? Ruidoso Contest." Also thanks to the news media for their coverage and consideration. Much time and effort goes into this event and we were proud that we were able to donate to the Ruidoso High School Scholarship Fund. We have a lot of plans for the monies acquired from this project. The Lioness Club supports the Meal Care Program, will be sending a child to the Diabetic Camp, donating funds for the visually handicapped and extending aid when deserving families are in need. Just wanted to thank you for helping us so we can help others!

At this time we would also like to apologize for the problems/inconsistencies related to this year's contest. In conducting the contest for the past 3 years, we ran into only a few minor problems. This year our problems were monumental. We were led to believe, even up to the last minute, that an instrumental band would be ready and available to accompany the contestants. As most of you are aware, only an unwarranted electronic duo (fiasco) was present for the event. Needless to say this caused the contestants and audience discomfort. To perform without music, to say the least, is somewhat difficult. You have to give the contestants "E" for Effort though, they did the best they could under the circumstances. Also, as you are aware, problems more severe than this occurred. Since we had never encountered these problems before we were unable to anticipate or prevent them. Our first 3 contests were quite successful, but this one was very disappointing.

In the future, should the Lioness Club decide to continue conducting this event, more scrutiny will be employed and additional/close supervision will be utilized concerning judging. We strive for professionalism, but others did not.

Further we would like to thank our standup comedian, Jeff Martin, for saving the night. Hats off to you Jeff, a true professional.

THANKS AGAIN!

Service is important at Hollywood Auto Parts

Bud Vuicich, owner of Hollywood Auto Parts, Highway 70 East, doesn't keep banker's hours.

"He can usually be found working after hours," said Bud Jr., who helps manage the store. "He has been known to sell parts then and help people out."

A traveler from Las Cruces was lucky enough to find Vuicich working late one night.

"My car broke down here the other night," Bob Testa said. "I called the store and Bud had the part at a reasonable price and didn't whine about the core return."

Vuicich moved here from Denver City, Texas, where he owned a Pontiac-GMC dealership.

"He likes this business," said Bud's wife, Evelyn Vuicich, owner of Evelyn's clothing shops. "He just loves to help people out and he is a genuinely nice guy."

Hollywood Auto Parts is open seven days a week, and if it's late in the evening and you're really stuck for a part you just might catch Bud working late at the shop.
