Newman is named chief

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

A career Dallas police officer will take over the helm of the Ruidoso Police Department on Monday, October 26.

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr., during a special Village Council meeting Wednesday, appointed William J. Newman as chief of the Ruidoso Police Department. Councilors unanimously approved the mayor's choice.

Newman served with the Dallas Police Department from 1968 to the present, as assistant chief since 1984, and deputy chief from 1982 to 1984. He began his law enforcement career in 1968 in the patrol bureau, and worked his way up through the ranks.

The 50-year-old Dallas native is married and the father of six. Newman said just one of his six children, a 13-year-old, is still living at home. The new chief said he and his family already had decided to make Ruidoso their home upon his recent retirement from the Dallas force.

Newman said he's looking forward to serving in his new position. "We're proud of our choice," said

Councillor Elmer Pirelli after the Wednesday morning session. The council interviewed three candidates for the slot, discussed the applicants in executive session and then convened to take action.

Pirelli said Newman got top marks in the rating system established in the village personnel policies.

Newman has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Abilene Christian University in Dallas, Texas, and an associate's degree in police science from El Centro College in Dallas. He also has a long list of special schools and training to his credit, including "advanced" and "instructor" certificates from the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education.

Newman was honorably discharged in 1962 from the U.S. Naval Reserve.

According to village personnel director Debbie Rogge, the pay scale for the chief of police position ranges from $22,709 to $36,990.

Former Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor recently submitted his resignation to be effective October 15. Swenor said he plans to remain on the force, but not as chief.

Teacher pay cut proposal delayed

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Editor

The Ruidoso Board of Education postponed coming to a decision Wednesday on a proposal by Schools Superintendent Sid Miller to solve the schools' economic "crisis situation."

At the noon special school board meeting in the Ruidoso Middle School library, Miller recommended that the board approve a 1.5 percent pay cut for personnel in all areas, including administrative, certified and non-certified staffmembers.

"When you come up short in enrollment, you have to do something to make up the deficit," he commented. It was learned the schools still are 64-65 students short of projections, representing a revenue shortfall of about $80,000.

Miller indicated all other expense areas of the budget already have been pared to minimum levels, leaving just staff or salaries to be cut. Rather than cut staff, Miller said he'd recommend a salary cut.

Associate Superintendent Mike Gladden then presented a fact sheet which indicated the majority of "new money" already is tied to teacher salary increases and benefits. He pointed out the 2.7 percent average increase in teacher salaries for this year, and noted most teachers would still have a slight increase even with the 1.5 percent cut.

"Unlike many districts, we have maintained (the) $2,200 increase mandated by (the) Legislature without reducing staff," Gladden said in the fact sheet. "Therefore, we have maintained staff and more importantly, maintained the quality of education in Ruidoso. That is our #1 priority."

The district has maintained communication with the State Department of Education, which administrators said supports the decision for a salary cut. In addition, application has been made for emergency funds, but Gladden said the district does not meet criteria to qualify for the funds since Ruidoso still shows a slight increase in salaries and no staffmembers yet have been cut.

Speaking from the audience, Ruidoso High School teacher Kathy Travis spoke of some teachers' decreased confidence in the central administration as a result of the incorrect projections of enrollment, the decline of which she termed was "obvious to everybody."

She wondered whether the problem was in budgeting, rather than funding, since state and federal revenue sources are "static."

Travis said she was not objecting to the 1.5 percent pay cut, but asking for an explanation of exactly how the cuts would be implemented.

She pointed out that the 2.7 percent increase was not across the board, some teachers were not increased at all while administrators received a seven percent increase and non-certified staff were boosted by 12 percent.

It was learned that teachers who did not receive a raise would not be subject to a cut. School board member Mike Morris asked why administrators didn't get a higher cut since their raise was higher.

"They've got to be done right along with the rest of them," he said.

More discussion of salary raises ensued, with the question of who would and who wouldn't get a pay cut never precisely answered.

"Outside of personnel or salaries, there is no other way," Miller insisted. All indicators used in the past to project enrollment were followed, he said. A housing project in Mesalero that was planned for 70 families was completed, but a lawsuit halted the project before occupancy, delaying any new students from that area until January or February, Miller said. Then, at least 70 students will enter the Ruidoso school system, he predicted, making up the shortfall.

"It would have been easy to not have given raises (to teachers)," Miller said. "If we would not have given those raises, we would not be here today." The administration chose to emphasize personnel in the budget, "and that was a mistake," he added.

Later in the meeting, Miller protested the actions of some teachers who apparently telephoned the State Department of Education and State School Board members with questions on the financial situation of Ruidoso Schools. Miller indicated teachers could have had their questions answered here.

An audience member asked why the meeting was scheduled when most teachers couldn't be present, and asked that the decision be delayed until a meeting more teachers could attend.

Board member Don Swalander proposed having a meeting Tuesday evening.

School board President Stormy Edwards suggested that people concentrate on how to remedy the situation rather than wondering why the problem developed.

"Our number one priority is to the kids," he said.

But Swalander continued to push for a special meeting.

"We may very well end up with the exact same solution," he said, but added, "I'd like to see if there are any other possibilities."

Board members agreed to table Miller's suggestion, and call for a special meeting of the board for 7 p.m. Tuesday, October 27, in the Administrative Office.

Edwards requested that two representatives from each school attend the special meeting.

Ruidoso Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. shakes hands with newly appointed Chief of Police William J. Newman at the Ruidoso Village Council endorsed his appointment Wednesday. Newman said he'll report for duty Monday, October 26.

Unbeatable Brown

Ruidoso News Sportswriter Gary Brown added another first-place award to his list of winnings as he captured first last weekend in the New Mexico Press Association's sports columns competition. In his six years with The News, Brown has captured three first-place awards for sportswriting, one second place in that category, a first place for feature writing and his most recent first-place award. "This award makes me very happy," he said.

P&Z allows eight requests after late start

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) got a late start on a lengthy agenda Monday, as four members waited nearly a half hour for the arrival of a fifth commissioner to form a quorum.

Commission Chairman David Smith, Secretary Jess Stinson, commissioners John White and Ellen Long, and a handful of audience members waited for Vice Chairman Pete Thompson before beginning the meeting.

The commission, set at nine members by a village ordinance, has been one short since former member J.D. James resigned in May to accept an appointment to the Ruidoso Village Council. Commission members are appointed by the mayor.

Smith recommended that members notify planning administrator Margaret McDonald Lahey if they are to be absent. White asked for information on absences and suggested the group

Bill Morris, Brett Argo and Beth Powers are the newest teachers at Ruidoso High School, having joined the staff this fall.

BILL MORRIS: came to Ruidoso after two months of teaching special education at Capitan last spring.

He is a special education teacher at Ruidoso, and teaches courses in civics, English, resources, math and science.

Morris got a bachelor's degree from Sul Ross University in Alpine, Texas, in 1970.

He first started teaching in 1972 as an art instructor at Alameda Junior High School in Las Cruces.

After teaching at Alameda for three years, Morris moved to Lincoln in 1975 (where he still lives). He started a farm in the historical town and began work at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Center in 1976, teaching there for a total of seven years.

Morris worked for the Lincoln County Heritage Trust in Lincoln in 1985, but went back to school at New Mexico State University in 1986 to get a certificate in special education.

During the 1986-87 school year,

Morris worked as a substitute teacher in the Ruidoso School District before getting the job at Capitan last spring.

"I like it a lot here," Morris said about Ruidoso. "It's where I like to be. I wanted to move to a place with a lot of mountains."

BETH POWERS: taught six years at Ruidoso Middle School before transferring to the high school this school year.

She also works in special education and has classes in civics, reading, English, resources and math.

Powers graduated from West Texas State University in Canyon, Texas, in 1976.

She taught special education in Denver City, Texas, for five years before coming to Ruidoso and the middle school in 1981.

"I like helping the students," she said about her classes.

Powers grew up in Crowell, Texas, a small farm town.

She also likes Ruidoso.

"It's just the friendly attitude of the people," she said. "I really like the atmosphere around town."

BRETT ARGO: is the band director at the high school, replacing Danny Flores, who moved to Portales.

Besides being the band director at the high school, Argo also is the director at Ruidoso Middle School. Argo and his wife, Mary, moved here from Cedaredge, Colorado, where he taught fifth-grade general music and directed the marching and jazz bands as well as the choir.

Argo is in charge of the Warrior 24-Karat Gold Marching Band. The band recently took third in its division at the Tournament of Bands in Las Cruces.

He likes the area and school district.

"I've made some changes," he said. "And the administration has been supportive of most of them."

Besides the Tournament of Bands, Argo will take the Warrior band to the Zia Marching Festival in Albuquerque Saturday, October 31.

Readathon benefits MS

by BONNY CHRISTINA CELINE
News Staff Writer

Many fund drives serve many important charities; but few are as worthwhile to the participant as the Multiple Sclerosis Readathon, begun this week at the White Mountain Schools.

As in a raceathon or walkathon, participants find sponsors to pledge, for example, 50 cents per book read by the participants, and 10 books to be read.

Participants read books, then review them for a teacher or, in the case of White Mountain Intermediate school students, to their librarian, Viola Montes. A form is signed, and the participating student collects money from the sponsor and turns it in to the MS fund.

Lawanda Strong is helping the schools run the fund drive. Her daughter, Karen Foster, has MS. Before the disease progressed, Karen taught at Ruidoso Middle School and then was transferred to the library when she became confined to a wheelchair.

Strong is not weepy or naive about MS. "I do think a cure will be found," she says. "That's why fund-raising is so important. You know, if everybody in Ruidoso contributed as little as a quarter each, that would be $2,000 for research." She smiles, and adds: "I always aim for the stars."

Multiple Sclerosis is a progressive disease involving deterioration of the sheaths surrounding the nerves. It usually hits adults in their late 20s or early 30s, although, "Many MS patients have symptoms for years before that, but until they have a complete history of symptoms, doctors cannot diagnose the disease." In fact, Strong notes, the only true way to diagnose MS is through an autopsy.

Foster lives in Albuquerque now where she is involved in a special exercise program for MS patients under the auspices of the University of New Mexico. In the program, her muscle strength has improved 180 percent. The slogan of the program is: "Physically challenged, and determined."

"One of the most valuable things they have in Albuquerque is a support group. When MS patients are with others with the disease, they realize they are not alone, and their families and friends can talk to each other and help each other, too," Strong explains.

Frances Blake, Meghann Valliant and Sarah Kirkegaard search for clues for MS through reading. Intermediate school librarian Viola Montes looks on with Principal Don Weems and Elementary school Principal Frank Cannella.

Lawanda Strong would like to start a support group in Lincoln County, called "Friends of MS." It would be for people with the disease, families, friends, medical personnel and interested residents of the county.

"There are several people here who have the disease, and some who want to keep it a secret, and some who have probably not been diagnosed as of yet. When you add their families and friends, there are quite a few in the community who have been touched by MS. I know how much the Albuquerque program has done for Karen, and I would like to see something like that started here in Ruidoso."

Ruidoso students will be reading books and looking for sponsors between now and December. The funds they collect will go to help find the clues as to what causes, and what prevents, and what cures Multiple Sclerosis.

Safeway sale soon?

Safeway stores in Ruidoso will continue to operate as full-service groceries after the expected November 7 takeover by Furr's, according to Furr's Chief Executive Officer Jan Friederich.

Friederich spoke Saturday to members of the New Mexico Press Association during an association convention in Albuquerque. Furr's expected takeover of 29 New Mexico stores in the Safeway El Paso Division, and the sale of 10 New Mexico Safeways to Safeway Retail Operations Manager Bob Jaynes of El Paso, awaits Federal Trade Commission approval before being finalized. Friederich indicated while Furr's will examine profit and loss statements for each of their new stores, an emphasis will be placed on "business as usual."

The grocer disputed contentions that Furr's will raise prices. If Furr's raised prices, competitors would be much more likely to enter the market, he said. Furr's will profit otherwise from the purchase, in particular by saving about $10 million a year in transportation costs through the acquisition of a second distribution center, in El Paso.

Also this week, the union representing Safeway employees reported those employees voted 1,073 to 348 to approve a contract with Furr's. Among contract provisions are stipulations that qualified Safeway employees, who will have preferential status in hiring up to a year after takeover as long as they reapply every 90 days, if necessary. Former Safeway employees may drop a pay level or two, but most will not go below $8.68 an hour and can expect to recover the former pay level within a year. Some will receive raises.

NM First to have Town Hall meeting

New Mexico First will sponsor its first Town Hall meeting Sunday through Wednesday, October 25-28, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Subject of the meeting will be "The Marketing of New Mexico."

Some 125 group members will spend the three days discussing the topic and arriving at recommendations and conclusions that will benefit New Mexico, according to a press release.

P&Z

discuss attendance policies at a future meeting.

Members approved all eight agenda items during the three-hour meeting.

Commissioners learned that construction was started without a building permit on a driveway and retaining wall at 141 Juniper. The wall extends into public right of way.

After extended discussions, the commission voted unanimously in favor of vacating the property and recommended the council charge owner Annie L. Uitsch $1 a square foot.

It was learned that construction was under way when the village building inspector attached a red tag to the project, but work was later allowed to continue on the private property, but not the right of way. According to information provided at the meeting, the applicant's husband is restricted to a wheelchair and could not get in or out of the house with the drive and steps torn up.

"They tried to stop her three or four times and they'd leave and she'd start back up," noted Stinson, with White reiterating his question of why the building inspector doesn't attend P&Z meetings to present reports.

"Why would we continue to allow this sort of thing?" asked White, wondering if the village has provisions for fines.

Lahey said such applicants pay double for building permit fees, and village engineer Mike Davalos said the law has a provision involving court action.

"Basically what she's done is affect property not owned by her," noted village attorney John Underwood. He said the owner can't be forced to buy the vacated right of way.

Building inspector Jimmy Neeley sat in on part of the discussions, explaining that he had "many interactions" with the property owner. He said he tries to work with citizens.

"The camera got her to stop—the red tag didn't," noted Neeley, who videotaped the construction job in progress.

In a separate case, discussions over a replat led Underwood to recommend turning the request down, only to rescind that advice later. Underwood said he had a "legal problem" with allowing a replat of two small lots into two lots below the minimum allowable size.

He said the owner should have to make the two into one large lot.

But Underwood changed his mind after Tim Collins, on hand as agent for a separate case, quoted from a village ordinance allowing such replats as long as the number of lots isn't increased.

The case involved moving the lot line on two lots at 161 Ponderosa Drive owned by George and Patsey Wilkenson. The replat, approved by the commission, changes the configuration on two lots without changing their size.

Commissioners also authorized a property line setback variance. After the replat, the structure in place extends 4'6" into the south side setback and 14'8" into the rear lot setback.

During regular business the commission:

—Approved a property line setback variance of no more than seven feet at 116 Eagle Drive. Owner Patricia Adkins revealed plans to build a carport, and commissioners stipulated the structure never be totally enclosed, but left open above four feet. White opposed the request "because of procedures."

—Unanimously approved a request to build a carport 12'6" into the front property line setbacks at 111 Torreon Loop. "It would not be a cheapie carport," said applicant Charles Wiley. Commissioners stipulated the carport never be enclosed.

—Authorized a nine-foot property line setback variance at 111 Riverside Drive for the applicant, Welzie W. Webb, to build a carport to within one foot of the side lot line. Chairman Smith abstained from discussions and the vote, saying he "materially advised" a client on the possibility of putting a carport on the property. Commissioners stipulated the structure never be enclosed.

—OK'd, subject to Village Council approval, a vacation of right of way, replat and variance at 101 Royal Drive. P&Z recommends the council charge applicant Richard Neff 50 cents a square foot for the 634.6 square feet to be vacated. Staff reports indicate the structure has been in existence since 1972, and extends into public right of way. It was noted that the paving is "quite a distance" from the mobile home.

—Unanimously authorized a replat for a land trade between Continental Telephone Company and Johnny D. Durham at lots one and two, Block 7, Palmer Gateway Subdivision.

—Recommended the Village Council work out "just compensation" with T.E. Arrington over land he donated for a street that apparently hasn't been used. Arrington said "the city paid somebody $1,250 to cut down close to 100 trees," adding the woodcutter then hauled off the wood. He said he donated the entire right of way for Chipmunk Avenue, but wants the portion back that won't be needed for a street.

—Discussed the zoning on property belonging to Joe Malloy, and agreed to research the question of the legal zoning in the area where he has a mobile home park. "Let it be in our ball court for 30 days," suggested Smith.

—Heard during a staff report that work is nearly finished on a proposed zoning ordinance. P&Z set a public hearing on the ordinance for 8:30 p.m. Monday, November 16. Lahey said meetings over the Main Street Program are scheduled at 2 p.m. and 6 p.m. Thursday, October 29.

More members is group's goal

Increasing membership again was central in the conversation at the October 8 meeting of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County (EDCLC).

EDCLC Vice President Ronnie Paulger said membership stands at 66 paid-in-full, with 17 others committed, for a total of 83. Names of people who signed pledge cards at the July kick-off meeting were distributed to members, who promised to make a personal contact before the next meeting (set for 6 p.m. today (Thursday), October 22).

Later, those at the meeting selected names from a list of prospective members, and agreed to contact them before the next meeting.

EDCLC President Buddy Bunklick reviewed the reasons for seeking a membership of 250 before electing a board of directors. That number of members from across the county would provide the solid base on which the concept of EDCLC can build. Bunklick also noted the importance of reaching that point soon, as important decisions need to be made quickly, and should be made by the elected board of directors, rather than the present temporary officers, to more closely represent the members' wishes.

Member Richard Mound reported that the Promotions Committee has obtained support from most local media and EDCLC presentations have been made to most civic groups. The committee will attempt to schedule presentations with other membership groups.

Paulger announced a meeting was scheduled between EDCLC officers and the Capital Board of Trustees. (Last week at that meeting, the trustees voted to become Class A members.)

Airport commission ponders, then pays overrun

by FRANKIE JARRELL
News Staff Writer

Members of the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC), during a regular meeting Wednesday, questioned cost overruns on the close to $2.5 million earthwork contract.

Commissioners learned of substantial cost overruns on a contract with Tricon Kent, and asked the engineer why change orders haven't been submitted. The commission finally approved a $258,540.73 invoice for payment, along with other bills, contingent on receiving a written change order.

Airport engineer Earl Cook said the contractor encountered a great deal of substandard material at the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport (SBRA) site, causing the overruns in the unit-price contract. Cook said his company, Leedshill-Herkenhoff, is thoroughly reviewing Tricon Kent's final pay estimate before authorizing payment.

"They had some gross errors in the submittals they gave to us," said Cook.

According to Leedshill-Herkenhoff's project estimate number eight, Tricon Kent's original contract was for $2,479,385, and the current contract, after 240 days, is for $2,484,595. But the estimate further indicates total construction to date is at $2,804,487.13, placing the cost overrun so far at $319,892.13.

Cook said the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) has authorized its 90 percent share of the overrun. He warned that the final pay estimate may include further increases.

The project estimate shows the contract 100 percent complete with more than 112 percent of the allocated funds spent.

Cook said a 10 percent performance bond, or $280,487.13, still is being retained. He said an upcoming contract with Nielsons may come in below original estimates, freeing some funds to make up the difference in the local share on the Tricon Kent payouts.

The commission, after hearing from Gene Parker of New Mexico State University (NMSU), directed the airport engineer to meet and discuss with Parker the possibilities for easements and fencing on SBRA land.

"We had a long, heated battle, but that's over and we're neighbors," said Parker. He said NMSU's federal contract runs out in 1990, so the future of the range program is undecided.

In other regular business Wednesday the commission:

—Heard a financial report from county manager Suzanne Cox showing $4,673,534.73 has been spent on the airport project thus far, with $4,264,507.60 projected as eligible for FAA participation, and $409,027.13 ineligible. She distributed a list of dates when the county mill levy will be collected and available for airport construction expenses.

eligible amounts are just estimates and subject to change. She said questions remain over FAA participation in Heckman and Haworth's and Steve Sanders' bills. According to her report the SBAC has paid Heckman and Haworth $114,877.87 to date, and has an outstanding bill for $10,495.16; and has paid Steve Sanders $87,149.45, with three outstanding bills totaling $28,166.42.

—Questioned Village of Ruidoso's $2.6 million bond issue that is committed to the airport project, and learned the bonds have been sold and the money placed in an interest-bearing account.

—OK'd paying three Contel bills totaling $198.25; a $3,778.35 bill to Bixby Electric; and a Nielsons bill for $902,073.02. Cook said requests for payment have been sent to FAA for 90 percent of the Bixby and Nielsons bills.

—Heard a brief description of problems over the use of the Fort Stanton Training Hospital water

Dunlap reporting the problems have been solved. Cook reminded the commission of an agreement between the SBAC and the training hospital involving the seal-coating of the Fort Stanton quadrangle in exchange for using the water supply.

—Approved an easement for Otero County Electric Cooperative upon the recommendation of village attorney John Underwood.

—Discussed briefly subcontractors working on the airport, with Dunlap asking Cook for a list.

Lodgers' Tax Committee faces revenue downturn

by BONNY CHRISTINA CELINE
News Staff Writer

Dan Kelley, Hank Evaro and new member Mike Warren served as the Lodgers' Tax Committee for its meeting Wednesday at the Ruidoso Village Hall.

Kelley, acting chairman, reported that the lodgers' tax revenues dropped one-third in August. He believes that this drop was caused by a variety of factors, including a total reflection of the economy, less lodges in business than a year ago, and because many hotel-motels have lowered rates.

"All these things have a compounding effect," Kelley said. "I don't think there's any need for concern over these figures."

The committee revenues are off $9,000 so far this year.

John Jeffers, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, requested that the organization not join Sun Country this year, because of its reorganization, but instead allocate the $2,000 dues elsewhere. Jeffers asked that $1,000 go to the general advertising budget, $500 to the Tourist Association of New Mexico (TANM) and $500 to the winners of the Texas Family of the Year Award last year. His requests were approved.

Jeffers told of the possible lack of matching funding from the State of New Mexico for this coming year, beginning in spring. There is some conflict at the state level whether the state can match local funds, and the Attorney General's office has not issued an opinion.

If no funds will be matched, Jeffers said Ruidoso would be missing out on a promised $23,700. "I believe that all state contracts for these matching funds are now frozen," Jeffers explained. "Until we know for sure, I would advise you to be very judicious with your contingency money."

Committee members spoke of ways to spend limited funding to promote tourism in Ruidoso. Board members wondered what the public felt was the best way to increase tourism, and expressed an interest in taking a poll to that effect. No action was taken regarding this discussion.

Liz Groenendyk, director of the Convention and Visitors Bureau, presented a report on Aspenfest and said record crowds attended the arts and crafts fair, and the chili cookoff. Figures are not yet in for Wurstfest, but it is estimated that 1,500-2,000 people took part in the German celebration, and the festival ran out of sausage by Saturday afternoon and had to buy an additional 250 pounds to feed the crowd.

Nancy Radziewicz of Ruidoso to You, a promotions company, asked the committee for $1,500 to cover the costs of handing out chamber brochures at conventions. She asked that her concern be tabled until the Wednesday, November 18, meeting when a full committee may be present to vote.

Burdett was a key element in Ruidoso's infancy

(Editor's note: The following article was researched and written courtesy of Barbara Duff and Dan D. Swearingin.)

A memorial Mass and graveside service for longtime Ruidoso resident Madeleine Alice Burdett is scheduled for today (Thursday), October 22, at Mount Carmel Cemetery in El Paso, Texas.

Burdett was born on August 23, 1894, in Hazelhurst, Georgia. Her parents, four sisters and two brothers all have preceded her in death.

Burdett started her career as a teacher in Georgia and came west in the early 20s with her younger brother, Gary, thinking the climate would benefit his health. She taught in the El Paso and Trinidad, Colorado, school systems until she became associated with Smadbeck & Company from New York. They established an office in the old Herald Post newspaper building in El Paso and launched the first subdivision in Ruidoso, which was named Skyland. Later the company moved her to their lodging facilities in Ruidoso (the present Woman's Club location).

In the meantime, through mutual friends, she met Stella Campbell who joined her in the adventure of bracing the New Mexico winters and selling real estate in the summertime. They used newspapers to insulate the headquarters building as evidenced by a 1928 Liberty magazine retrieved when remodeling work was done in the mid 70s.

In the early 30s, they contracted for building the Adobe House at the corner of Main and Laurel (now 1210 Sudderth Drive) and maintained that location as their permanent address. Later they established their own real estate and insurance business under the name of Burdett & Campbell and became well-known for their enterprising efforts in community development.

They were charter members and co-founders of the Ruidoso Woman's Club, established the first Woman's Chamber of Commerce in the United States, started the first library in the village, sponsored the first garbage pick-up service with a truck supplied by Tony Lama and rejoiced when Bill Hart was able to run a short electric line down Main Street.

Burdett was instrumental in the establishment and advancement of St. Eleanor's Catholic Church in Ruidoso, established the Stellamaris Clinic in Kenya, Africa, for underprivileged children in memory of her longtime friend and business partner, Stella Campbell.

A plaque with her name as sponsor of the "Father Walter Memorial Child Care Center Pavilion" is prominently displayed on the Pavilion wall in Montgomery, Alabama. Her ardent interests there were the physical, recreational and occupational therapy programs.

Many of the 22 countries served by the Maryknoll Sisters of New York were recipients of contributions from Burdett. She established scholarships for the handicapped along with providing educational trusts for youngsters in her own family. She also worked with Father Braun, who built the church at Mesalero.

She often stated that God had helped her provide assistance where she could not do things physically. All who knew her well were aware that her faith was the ultimate in sustaining her through her handicapped life.

Survivors include nephews Malcolm Burdett of Las Cruces, Anthony Burdett and Thomas Burdett of El Paso, Greg Hurley of West Point, Georgia, and John Stiles of Brunswick, Georgia; nieces Frances Seymour of Melrose, Massachusetts, Eleanor Cate of Brunswick, Georgia, and Mary Frances Surratt of Fabens, Texas; and several grand nieces and nephews.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Maryknoll Sisters, Maryknoll, N.Y. 10545.

A Mass for family members took place October 19 at St. Francis by the Sea in Hilton Head, South Carolina.

for the community being presented to coincide with "Drug and Alcohol Awareness Week" in the Ruidoso School District. ## Commission delays airport zoning decision

by BONNY CHRISTINA CELINE
News Staff Writer

A public hearing concerning Ordinance No. 87-2, Airport Zoning Regulations, was tabled to the next meeting in order to give Lincoln County Commissioners more time to study the 13-page document entitled "Airport Zoning Regulations of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport."

"There is some ambiguity in the language of the document," said Commissioner Bill Karn. The next public hearing has been scheduled for 9 a.m. Tuesday, November 10, in the county courthouse meeting room.

A road review committee to consider the request to vacate county roads A-034 and A-035 has been formed by the commission. Named to the committee are Betty Schreengost, Bill Rawlins and Bill Elliott, with Frankie Silva and Mack Bell as possible alternates.

The commission approved Resolution 76-27 to appropriate $10,000 for expert witnesses during the Mesalero water rights litigation. This money is already allocated and is a designation of the same line item. "It was spent mainly for research into past records," explained Commissioner Ralph Dunlap.

The commission approved the Emergency Medical Services Fund Act Grant Application, the Co-Op agreement between the U.S. Government and Lincoln County, the State Department of Finance and Administration Rule 87-2 concerning mileage and per diem, the payroll and accounts payable registers, voted for non-local members of the New Mexico Self Insurer's Fund and heard engineer Joe Shain's report concerning roads in Deer Park Woods, which are in poor condition.

The commission also accepted the resignation of Colleen Salazar from the Lincoln Historical Preservation Board, due to ill health. Commissioner Dunlap suggested that Bob Hart, Lincoln, assistant director of the Heritage Trust, take Salazar's place on the board.

In executive session, county Superintendent of Roads Earl Krieg resigned his position, effective upon replacement.

Twin Mountain affirmed as airport road bid winner

Judge Bill G. Payne, hearing officer for last week's protest hearing by New Mexico Nielsons, Inc. concerning the county's second bidding for the Sierra Blanca Access Road, has stated that it is his conclusion that the protest be denied and that the bid, as submitted, be awarded to the low bidder, Twin Mountain Rock Company.

The reasons given for the denial were as follows: That no objection was made, nor request for clarification made, prior to the opening of the bids by any of the bidders; and that the two lowest bidders had neither advantage or disadvantage over each other.

Payne's denial also states that Section 13-1-108 does not require the bid solicitation documents to exclude the taxes, only the resultant contract to exclude the taxes; that the bidders were presumed to have knowledge of existing laws; that the subject has already been rebid; that another bid solicitation would take additional time; that the source of gravel to be used in the project has no bearing on the bid letting; and that it is the best interest of Lincoln County that the bids stand as submitted.

New Mexico Nielsons, Inc. has 30 days to file an appeal in the Santa Fe District Court. If they do not do so, the bid will be awarded unconditionally to Twin Mountain Rock Company.

Good question!

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

Orval Jennings Ford

Services were held October 19 at the First Baptist Church of Ruidoso for Orval Jennings Ford, affectionately known as "O.J.," who was called Home by Our Lord on October fifteen.

The Reverend Ken Cole said that O.J. lived up to the commandment to love God with all our heart, soul and mind, and strength.

The Reverend Cole said that there were several very strong loves in the life of O.J.:

First his love of God: He was a member of the Hagerman Baptist Church for forty-four years, and he and his wife were presented a silver platter with the words: "To Orval and Mae Ford for forty-four years of faithful service."

A second strong love was for his family. This November ten would have marked the sixty-seventh anniversary of his marriage to his wife, Mae. All these years were marked by increasing devotion to Mae and their children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

A third great love was for his friends, who knew him as a man righteous, faithful and honest—a man much to be admired who made a tremendous influence for good on their lives. A fourth great love was baseball, which he played for much of his life.

Actions Speak Louder Than Words

The Reverend Jerry Brown of Vallecito, Colorado, said that it was a true saying that actions speak louder than words, and that the presence of those at services brought a message stronger than any words could convey.

First it showed gratitude for the good life of O.J. and its blessing in their own lives. Also we are all drawn together in sympathy for the family, each lending comfort and help. And in gathering at the services we renew our faith that our dear friend has entered into eternal life with our Lord in Heaven.

The Reverend Mr. Brown shared memories of his early childhood in Hagerman when he lived across the street from O.J. and Mae whom he called "Mama and Pappa Ford."

The men's choir from First Christian Church sang "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There." "Amazing Grace" was sung by Anita Carpenter.

"As Long As The Water Flows"

His daughter, Mrs. Ruth McGuire, quoted some words from O.J.'s autobiography which he wrote about eleven years ago:

"I promised Mae when I proposed to her that I would love her as long as the water flows and the grass grows. We have celebrated our fifty-sixth anniversary, and the water is still flowing and the grass is still growing, and I still think she is the sweetest great-grandmother in the world."

O.J. was manager of the Farmers Co-op Gin in Hagerman. Among the offices he has held are:

Twenty years on the Hagerman School Board, Secretary Chavez

County Farm Bureau, President Federal Farm Home Administration, Roswell, Representative National Cotton Council in New Mexico, Secretary National Ginners Association, Board member Wichita Bank for Cooperatives, President New Mexico Ginners Association, Ginners of the year 1959, and Who's Who in the West, 1959.

This beloved man has left a great blessing among us and we are happy he is safe and happy with our Lord in Heaven.

Madeleine Burdett

One of Ruidoso's most beloved citizens was called home on October nineteen. Madeleine Burdett was one of our Mother's dearest friends, and three of us often visited there in Madeleine's little adobe home in Skyland. Through the years I often stopped by, and her cheerful and blessed personality grew more precious with the years.

I will tell you a little more about Madeleine later.

Birthdays Roll Around Fast

This is being sent to you on October twenty, and there is something precious out there in the purple-hazy air if this bright October afternoon.

Back in 1909 about this time, our Father was getting ready to make a long sixty-mile journey on foot to be present at my first birthday, there in Valdez. And our Mother was praying that her second child would see the light of day safe and sound.

The years have flown by, all of them full of blessings.

This is also the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt one of our most beloved presidents. For years Judy Beavers and I have celebrated our birthday together. Now a new member of the "October twenty-seven Club" has joined us in the person of Donna Potter.

On the occasion of our birthday, we all wish all of you all God's blessings.

Exchange students and Capitan-area high schoolers take a hayride from Heritage Trust down the street to the historic Lincoln Courthouse. There are 13 students involved in the ASSE program this year in Lincoln and Otero counties.

Bob Hart, associate director of Lincoln Heritage Trust, displays a picture of Billy Bonney and explains to the student audience that you can't believe everything you see when it comes to historical documentation. The students also watched a slide show about Fort Stanton and toured the museum.

Aida Featherstone of Alamogordo, Dee Miller of Lincoln and Linda Taylor of Alamogordo are all housing exchange students this year through the ASSE International Student Exchange Program this year. These women put together last Sunday's program in Lincoln for the students.

Warrior spikers cinch title tie; take on Silver City Colts

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

One is the major number for the Ruidoso High School varsity volleyball team when they host Silver City Friday, October 23.

The Warriors can cinch the District 3-AAA regular season title, a bye until the district tournament finals and a berth in the state tournament by defeating the Colts.

The junior varsity match will start at 3 p.m., followed by the varsity match.

Ruidoso moved its district record to 6-0 (and 10-4 overall) by crushing visiting Socorro, 15-4, 15-7, 15-2, Tuesday afternoon. Socorro is now 1-4 in district action.

The outcome of the match with Socorro was never in doubt as the Warriors held a 6-4 advantage in the first game before scoring nine straight points for the victory.

Ginger Parker sparked the victory with some good serving in the latter part of the game.

Spikes by Shannon Lee and Dari Stierwalt provided the last two points of the first game.

In the second game, Ruidoso trailed, 5-4, but rallied to take the victory.

Kristin Tidmore did a good job spiking the ball in the second game.

The third game was all Ruidoso.

Socorro took a brief 2-1 advantage, but the Warriors then reeled off 14 straight points for the victory.

Again, spikes by Lee and Tidmore helped give the Warriors a lead in the early going.

"We were just awesome," Warrior head coach Pixie Arthur enthused after the match. "We got excellent spikes, we played smart and we hit smart."

On paper, Ruidoso figures to have an easy time with Silver Friday afternoon.

Ruidoso defeated Silver in three games in the first meeting between the teams in Silver City earlier this season. The Warriors played without Lee in that contest.

Also, Socorro's only district victory of the season came against the Colts.

The Warriors will end the district regular season with a match at Cobre Saturday, October 31.

Assuming Ruidoso wins the regular-season district championship, the district-tournament final will be at the Warrior gymnasium Saturday, November 7.

The first and second-place place district teams will advance to the state tournament in Roswell Thursday through Saturday, November 12-14.

Ruidoso's Tara Miller (center) hits the ball during Tuesday's varsity volleyball match with visiting Socorro. Miller's teammates are (left) Mikki Roller and Kristin Tidmore. Ruidoso won in three games.

Brave gridders edged, 20-17

The Ruidoso Middle School football team lost a heartbreaking 20-17 tie-breaker to the visiting Tularosa freshmen Wednesday afternoon.

The game ended, 8-8, in regulation time.

Each team got the ball for four plays from the 10 yard-line in the tie-breaker.

Neither team scored on the first series, but Tularosa scored on its second series.

Ruidoso came right back, however, as Manny Guardiola threw a touchdown pass to Ricky Wohlgenuth.

The Braves took the lead on the third series, as Micah Whitlock kicked a 27-yard field goal for a 17-14 lead.

But Tularosa came back on its third series to score a touchdown on a five-yard run and win the game.

Ruidoso opened the game's scoring in regulation time as Whitlock ran 43 yards for a touchdown with 7:25 left in the first quarter.

Guardiola then threw a two-point conversion pass to Shane Eidson and Ruidoso had an 8-0 lead.

Tularosa tied the game in the second quarter on a touchdown and two-point conversion.

Ruidoso is now 5-2 on the season and will host Socorro at 4 p.m. Thursday, October 29, in the season finale.

Soccer teams have mixed results

Ruidoso's Road Warriors soccer teams had mixed results in Otero County Youth Soccer Association matches Saturday in Alamogordo.

The under-10 team routed the Las Cruces Lazars, 11-0.

Jake Smith and Jimmy Stover both scored three goals for the winners. Salem Posey scored twice, while Mathew Ensor, Driller Hisei and Brent Buchhagen each had one goal.

The under-12 team tied the Alamogordo Dominators, 1-1. Cory Hood scored the Ruidoso goal. The Dominators' goal was scored on a penalty shot.

Ruidoso's under-14 team lost to the Alamogordo Furries, 4-1.

George Marquez scored the Ruidoso goal on a penalty shot.

Action will continue Saturday, October 24, at Alamogordo's Abbott Field. The under-14 and under-12 teams will play at 10 a.m., while the under-10 team will play at 9 a.m.

Gridders must beat Silver City

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School varsity football team faces a must-win situation when the Warriors host Silver City High School Friday, October 23.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. Ruidoso is 0-1 in District 3-AAA play and 1-6 overall.

Silver defeated Deming, 7-0, last week and is 1-1 in district action (3-3 overall).

The Warriors probably have to win their last three games in order to make the state playoffs for the fourth straight season.

"They're a good, physical football team," said Warrior head coach Cooper Henderson about Silver. "They're well-balanced on offense and defense."

"We're just going to have to play sound football and not key on any one player."

Ruidoso beat Silver, 34-7, last season en route to the district title and second place in the state playoffs.

This season Silver has been led by senior quarterback Willie Gardner, who came off the bench two seasons ago to lead Silver to a 17-13 win over Ruidoso in the regular-season game.

Ruidoso got revenge on the Colts in the state championship game that year, winning, 21-19.

Rudy Gonzales is the Colts' top running back.

"He's more of a speed-type back," Henderson remarked.

Besides Gardner and Gonzales, the Colts also have big, active offensive and defensive lines.

But the Warriors have improved their offensive balance in recent weeks.

In last week's 23-14 loss to fifth-ranked (in the state) St. Pius, Warrior quarterback Michael Swanner completed eight of 14 passes for 168 yards and one touchdown.

It was Swanner's best effort of the season and if he can duplicate that performance, Ruidoso has a good chance against Silver.

Tailback Rusty Shelton gained 82 yards rushing against St. Pius and scored a touchdown, his fourth of the season.

Split end Eric Ford also played well, catching a touchdown pass and setting up another with another catch.

Ruidoso gained 251 yards total offense against the Sartans, one of its best performances of the season.

Defensively, the Warriors got several good efforts.

Tackle Shawn Mowdy got an interception. Linebacker Dusty Beavers and junior cornerback Bubba Lane also played well.

The Warrior junior varsity and freshman teams will play this week.

Ruidoso's freshmen, 4-2 on the season, will host Chaparral Middle School of Alamogordo at 4 p.m. today (Thursday), October 22.

The Warrior junior varsity is 2-3 on the season and will host Socorro at 2 p.m. Saturday, October 24.

Around Sports

with Gary Brown

They've run all season against tough competition on distant courses.

Now is their chance to show the home folks their running talent. The Ruidoso High School boys cross-country team will host its invitational at 4:30 p.m. today at Smokey Bear Ranger Station's running trail.

Boys and girls varsity teams from Alamogordo, Roswell, Carlsbad, Goddard and possibly Silver City will compete in the meet.

"It should be a good meet," said Warrior head coach Ronny Maskew. "The course is good and it's a varied terrain."

The warriors will run over the course twice for a three-mile distance, the traditional cross-country length.

It would be interesting if Silver competes, since the Colts are Ruidoso's District 3-AAA rivals (the teams have been the only ones in the district the past few seasons).

If the Colts compete, it will give the Warriors a good idea how much they have to work in preparation for the district meet at 10 a.m. Saturday, November 7, again at the Smokey Bear course.

Silver has won the past four district team championships. However, the Warriors have won the individual championship all four years with Cisco Bob and Gabe Tam both winning twice.

Both runners have graduated, but Cisco's younger brother Clint has been the Warriors' top runner this season.

Clint did not run last season, but has lots of natural ability. He also has competed in rodeos.

Sergio Hernandez has been the Warriors' second runner this season. Last season he ran well, usually finishing second among Warrior runners in meets.

Other members of the squad are Michael Randolph, Chad Kizer, Jason Willins and Daniel Martinez.

Cross-country has lots of challenges. The sport can be both an individual and team sport.

How each runner does depends almost completely on his own ability. But where he places in the final standings helps determine his team's finish.

So, go out to the Smokey Bear Ranger Station this afternoon and cheer the Warriors on.

Clint Bob (left) and Sergio Hernandez have been the top runners on the Ruidoso High School boys cross-country team this season.

Jv, frosh spikers defeated

The Ruidoso High School junior varsity and freshman volleyball team lost close matches to Socorro Tuesday in the Warrior gymnasium.

Socorro, 5-1 in district action, defeated the Ruidoso junior varsity (4-2), 14-16, 7-15, 15-7.

"The team played pretty well," said Warrior junior varsity coach Lisa Williams. "We just kind of panicked at the end."

"We need to find a happy medium in which to play, not go up or down."

If the Warrior junior varsity takes second in regular-season play, they will take on the third-place team in the district tournament semi-finals Saturday, November 7.

Socorro beat the Warrior freshmen, 16-14, 15-10. It was Ruidoso's final freshman match of the season.

"The girls played pretty well," said Warrior assistant coach Jody Hopkins. "We were way behind, and we came back a lot."

Hopkins praised the play of Tina Beechie and Bridget Herrera. Beechie and Jennifer Parker will move up to the junior varsity B team the rest of the season.

Hondo gridders lose, play Lake Arthur Saturday

The Hondo High School football team will seek a tie for the district title when the Eagles host Lake Arthur at 7 p.m. Saturday, October 24.

Hondo lost to Corona in its first district game, and Lake Arthur topped Corona. If Hondo beats Lake Arthur, there will be a three-way tie for the title.

Last Saturday, the Eagles lost to visiting Mountainair, 30-13.

Hondo got the ball inside the Mountainair 20 eight times, but could not score. One time the Eagles got to the one and another time they advanced to the five.

Fabian Prudencio scored the first Eagle touchdown on a 75-yard kickoff return in the second period. The extra point was good, but Mountainair led, 24-7, at halftime.

Mountainair added its final touchdown in the third quarter. Hondo's David McTeigue threw a 20-yard touchdown pass to Prudencio for the second Eagle score in the final quarter.

McTeigue led the Eagle rushers with 15 carries for 136 yards. He also completed four of 13 passes for 31 yards.

Joseph PonceDeLeon completed two of three passes for 15 yards.

Prudencio had the one touchdown catch for 20 yards, while Ronnie Aragon had three catches for 14 yards.

Aragon and Tito Montoya both had 11 tackles on defense. One of Aragon's tackles was a quarterback sack.

Eddie DeBaca and Prudencio both had six tackles. Three of Prudencio's tackles were quarterback sacks while one of DeBaca's was.

McTeigue and Prudencio both intercepted a pass while Danny Salcido recovered a fumble.

"We kind of beat ourselves again with those eight chances inside the 20," said Hondo coach Joseph Sanchez. "Defensively, we played pretty good."

Hondo's volleyball team will compete in the district round-robin tournament today (Thursday), October 22, and Saturday, October 24, at Cloudercroft.

Entertainment

A couple in German costume whirls past the bandstand as The Polka Dots oom-pah out a dance number. The band, from El Paso, doesn't only play German music—they also play Dixieland and Big Band tunes. Led by Horst Klauser, The Dots have entertained at the Texas State Fair and the El Paso Oktoberfest as well as in Ruidoso.

John Jeffers, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, and Sunny Hirschfeld, one of Wurstfest's organizers, exchange notes as the festival progresses. Jeffers wore red suspenders for the occasion, and Hirschfeld wore a pink and white checkered pinafore.

Aspenfest wraps up with Wurstfest

Ysleta Stone dishes up the sausages and brats at Germanfest to hungry guests. The festival was presented on Saturday and Sunday in the old Ben Franklin's store. Between 1,500-2,000 people attended during the two days.

Wallflowers? Hardly! Captain's Sam Campbell and Ruidoso's Bay Hirschfeld take a break from German dancing at Wurstfest.

Buying a New Refrigerator or Freezer?

Here's a handy checklist to help you find one that's
ENERGY EFFICIENT

When purchasing a new refrigerator or freezer, don't just look at the color or the purchase price. Consider how much you will pay to operate the appliance. Here are some things to consider when shopping.

☒ Does the appliance have high efficiency insulation, such as glass fiber materials, are less efficient than polyurethane foam.

☒ What does the yellow-and-black energy label say? Read this EnergyGuide carefully to determine the unit's average operating cost with that of other models. Be sure to compare other models similar in size, features and defrost systems.

☒ Does the appliance have a special power-saving heater control? This control is used to turn off the unit's anti-sweat heaters when room humidity is low.

For more information on purchasing high efficiency appliances or on energy efficiency operation tips, contact our office today.

Editorial

Congratulations, Chief Swenor, you did a great job.

Our police chief of six and one-half years has resigned, and has been replaced by Bill Newman, of Dallas, Texas. But the chief's accomplishments will continue to bring memories of the "Swenor years."

Under Richard Swenor's direction, the Ruidoso Police Department achieved a new level of professionalism. Improvement of training, equipment and the qualifications of the staff were emphasized. Obsolete ways were discarded, new ideas were implemented.

We saw police on motorcycles for the first time, public relations were given high priority, a police chaplain program was introduced.

Swenor made other accomplishments as well, but perhaps the most impressive aspect of the chief was his dedication. One week he'd be overseeing the competition at a Cub Scout Pushmobile Derby, the next he'd be immersed in command center strategies of how we'd survive the floods of 1984.

Swenor has stepped down, but intends to remain a member of the force. That's fortunate. His experience should prove to be invaluable, as his accomplishments have.

Thanks, chief, for all the hard work. We appreciate it.—DJP

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

As the parent of a handicapped child I am trying to help the special education department at Ruidoso High School set up a home living department. This will enable these 'special' students to develop skills such as: cooking, cleaning, bed making, etc.

We have been fortunate enough to receive several items in donations already, many from the wonderful Altrusa Club. However, we still need:

Small couch or loveseat and chair, one or two end tables, small dinette with chairs (four), nightstand, dishes and silverware to set table, food donations for cooking classes.

I would like to offer the people of Ruidoso the privilege of helping with this project. It will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,
BECKY PLATO

DEAR EDITOR:

The Ruidoso High School sports booster club would like to thank local merchants that have leased spirit flags for the 1987-1988 school year. A few events and activities the boosters sponsor are the fall and spring sport banquets, prizes for pep assemblies, yard signs and letter awards. We support football, basketball, volleyball, cross-country, wrestling, track, tennis, and golf. Basically boosters try to fill the cracks to help our teams in areas that the coaches need assistance. Naturally there is never enough money to do everything.

Although Ruidoso is one of the smallest schools in AAA classification, our teams have fared very well. There are several AAA schools that have more than twice as many students. After graduating 33 seniors last year, Coach Henderson and his staff are rebuilding the football program. Our players are improving each game of the season.

The girls volleyball team is off to a great start, we have the potential to win district and state. Most of the team returns next year. Coaches Arthur, Williams and Hopkins have done an excellent job coaching girls volleyball.

The booster club meets at the High School multi-purpose room on the first and third Tuesdays of the month at 7:30 p.m. Come join us - be a positive contributor to Warrior athletics.

DEAR EDITOR:

The parental planning committee for the White Mountain Fall Fun Festival, to be held October 30, continues to work diligently to make this an especially fun event for the children and a big fund-raiser for the school. A raffle has been added this year to raise the much-needed funds for our schools. The community has been very generous in helping with this event. Many merchants and individuals have donated items for our raffle, including:

(Editor's note: The letter included a list of 57 businesses and individuals, which cannot be published due to space considerations.)

We are very grateful to all these folks for their donations. Tickets for the raffle can be purchased in the White Mountain schools or from the students at the schools.

Thank you,
COOKIE HANNA
Chair, Fun Festival

DEAR EDITOR:

The Alpine Shifters bicycle club of Ruidoso High School hosted seventy cyclists from Texas and New Mexico on October 4. The event, the White Mountain Challenge Cup, was the major fund-raising project for the club and as such, was a success. The event's success was directly attributed to the many community members and organizations who contributed to the effort.

I'd like to thank the three major sponsors, Pioneer Savings and Trust, the Ruidoso Athletic Club, and Sierra Blanca Motors for their backing. Other supporters who contributed money, merchandise, or time include: Bennett's Grocery, Bonito Volunteer Fire Dept., City of Ruidoso Lodger's tax group, the County Highway Dept., Dr. Paul Echols, Outdoor Adventures of Alamogordo, Roswell Schwinn, Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce, Ruidoso High School Cheerleaders, Ruidoso Office Supplies, Shamaley Ford, Shaver Tire and Auto, Ski Apache, White Mountain Search and Rescue, and the parents of the club members.

A special thanks must be extended to the superior organizational and coordinative skills of Connie and Harvey Foster for a job well done.

Respectfully,
GALEN FARRINGTON,
Staff Advisor for the Alpine Shifters

DEAR FRIENDS:

Thank you very much for your many expressions of love and sympathy in the loss of my grandson Matt McLean. They are deeply appreciated by his immediate family and me.

Reporter's Round

By Bonny Christina Celine

A plexiglass replica of the Vietnam Monument wrapped up its stay in Albuquerque this past weekend. Close to 100,000 people visited it at the fairgrounds, kneeling before the list of around 58,000 Americans who died or are missing in action in Vietnam. The devotion of New Mexicans to the monument was reported in the Albuquerque papers and on TV; many folks visited the fairgrounds in the middle of the night so as not to be seen crying in public.

I saw the actual monument when I took a trip to Washington, D.C. last spring. The list of names, in order of the date of their deaths, are engraved on black granite walls, which are polished to a mirrored surface, reflecting back the images of other monuments surrounding it. The actual stone tablets are set into the earth, not protruding from it. It is intimate and personal; when I was there, there were mementos and personal possessions leaning up against the wall, symbols of the lives of the dead, the memories of the survivors, meaningful as chapel candles in a dark and lonesome church.

This monument of granite and earth is so powerful it has become, in six years' time, the most beloved work of art in America. People touch it, run their fingers over the names, cry while leaning against it for support, photograph it and etch it into their memories. As proven in Albuquerque, they will even turn out to see a replica or model of the original.

It's interesting to remember the controversy surrounding the creation of this magnificent project.

In 1980, the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund (VVMF), under the leadership of Jan Scruggs of Washington, D.C., raised money specifically to construct a national memorial. Land was allocated and between the VVMF, the National Capital Planning Commission, the National Commission of Fine Arts and the Department of the Interior a national juried design competition was created, open to all American citizens over the age of 18. Eight men were the jurors, two landscape architects, two building architects, three sculptors and the editor of "Landscape Architecture" magazine.

There were two design requirements: First, the names of the 57,939 Americans who died in the war must be listed. (Due to more thorough identification, this list has since grown.) Second, contestants were required to be sensitive to the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument, whose presences border the site.

1,421 Americans entered the design contest. No names were attached to the entries, which were given identification numbers. A winner was selected in May 1981.

To everyone's surprise, the winner turned out to be a 21-year-old female Chinese-American architecture student from Yale. Her name was, and is, Maya Lin.

Young Lin's design was probably chosen because of its simplicity, its form and function, and its harmony with the landscape it had to fit into. The design was to be "without political content," and Lin included no particular symbolic references with her entry, other than her desire to have onlookers "see their own reflection in the names."

The immediate emotional turbulence that ensued following the judges' decision made it seem as if Lin had designed a monument to the Viet Cong. Some people were outraged.

Did the controversy have anything to do with the fact that Lin was female or amazingly youthful? I don't have enough space in this column to debate that. Instead, let me tell you what some people said about Lin's design.

"National Review" magazine ran an article in its September 18, 1981, issue called "Stop That Monument." It read: "The American soldiers who died in Vietnam fought for their country and for the freedom of others, and they deserve better than the outrage that has been approved as their memorial. It will be a perpetual disgrace to the country and an insult to the courage and the memory of the men who died in Vietnam."

Vietnam veteran Tom Carhart, an outspoken critic, called it "a black gash of shame." "It is a degrading ditch," Carhart said. He objected particularly to the black color of the granite. "Black is the universal color of shame, sorrow and degradation in all races, all societies worldwide," he said, demanding a white memorial.

Sculptor Frederick Hart, who was commissioned later to create a traditional-type war statue of Vietnam soldiers to appease Lin's detractors, said: "Lin's memorial is intentionally not meaningful. It doesn't relate to ordinary people and I don't like art that is contemptuous of life. Maya Lin's design is elitist."

Hart's vituperative condemnation of Lin's work even poisoned the evaluation of his own work. "My statue is just an awkward solution we came up with to save Lin's design," he said in an 1983 interview with "Art in America" magazine.

Thankfully for America, Lin had some loyal backers who supported her and stuck with her to completion of the project. Norman B. Hannah, in a later issue of "National Review," wrote: "The monument is beautiful, imposing and fitting. This is the 'open book' memorial. That is what it looks like, and that is what it means."

Michael Sorkin, writing for "Vogue," said: "It is genuinely 'reflective and contemplative'...it's a place with a rare capacity to move."

What critics said is unimportant now, six years later. The American people have claimed the monument as their own, adopting it, cherishing and treasuring it and all that it stands for to them. Each viewer brings his or her own associations, memories and emotions to the monument. Each viewer takes away an equally individual memory of the work as they turn to leave, often with tear-filled eyes.

Now that the controversy has dissipated, and the memorial's detractors have been proven wrong, and the public has established an unabashed love affair with her design, the name Maya Lin has pretty much been forgotten.

I wondered what had become of her, so I made a series of phone calls to New Haven, Connecticut, to try to track her down. I found her within 10 minutes, and we conducted an on-the-spot phone interview.

Ms. Lin, now 28, is working for a design firm in New York City. She was awarded her Masters Degree in Architecture from Yale in 1986, and had the recent honor of receiving an Honorary Doctorate from that prestigious university.

She is articulate, ambitious and extremely bright. "After three years of no sleep, I got my degree," she said, referring to her university days with their intense competition and long studio sessions. "I am working now designing homes. The firm I am with is small, which I like. You have to work professionally for several years before you can take the architectural board exams and become licensed, so I'm preparing for that."

She is happy that her monument has now been accepted by the American people and that it is no longer controversial, but confesses that she doesn't spend too much time thinking about it.

"I am totally involved with whatever I'm doing at the time," she admits. "The monument design work seems like a long, long time ago. It's a slower route that I'm taking these days. I'm still competing, though. I recently entered a competition to design a 600-foot mural in Connecticut, and I'm in the second leg of that competition now. Living in New York is pretty exciting, there is a lot of creativity going on all around. But, I'm from Ohio and I sort of follow in my parents' footsteps. They are both academics. I got tired of the attention the memorial generated, and I wanted to get on with my life."

Maya Lin may visit New Mexico for the first time in February, if she decides to be a "visiting critic" at New Mexico State University's architecture department. "They invited me, and I haven't committed yet, but I would like to do it. I miss the university environment, and all that energy."

The Vietnam Memorial is a part of living history now and most people don't care who the designer was. Like many works of important public art and has a life of its own. It is interesting to remember, however, that it did not spring from the earth or drop from the sky; that the concept was born in the mind of a human being with talent, imagination and sensitivity. The fact that Lin is not famous, was not paid a lot for the design, and has not stopped dreaming with one commission makes the monument even more endearing to me.

The controversy over the design concept was fascinating, and the criticism it evoked has proven to be unfounded, at least in the eyes of the millions of Americans who love the memorial. At the time of the great debate, "The Washington Post" noted, in an editorial:

"The argument over the memorial dissolves the moment you get there."

"Time" magazine theorized this, in 1981: "Those bothered by abstract design might consider that grand obelisk, the Washington Monument. We have come to love it. Some day the Vietnam Memorial, too, may win the hearts and minds of the American people."

That prediction was true. The Vietnam Memorial, thanks to Maya Lin, will live in our hearts and minds forever.

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. signs a mayoral proclamation to set aside October 11-17, as International Alpha Delta Kappa Week to "honor these educators who have dedicated their lives to teaching." Greta Cabot and Kathy Overdorf, two members of the local chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa International honorary sorority of women educators, look on as Mayor Davis affixes his signature to the document. Davis also signed a proclamation honoring the Ruidoso Warrior Booster Club, and presented it to the club president Larry Schmidt. Davis has proclaimed Saturday, October 24, as United Nations Day in the village, noting that on that day "the world reviews and celebrates the achievements and work of the United Nations." In 1987 the organization celebrates its 42nd birthday.

SHOULD YOU ACCEPT FIRST OFFER?

Many people who sell a house encounter the "first offer" dilemma. It can involve a trying decision. Sellers often turn it down, hoping for something better, only to find it turned out to be the best offer they received.

This is where the advice of a real estate agent can be particularly helpful. The agent can tell you how realistic the offer is and whether the deposit that accompanies it represents good faith.

Since there is no way to know how many offers will be received or the order of value, the offer should be judged on the seller's and agent's knowledge of the house in question and the market. The depth of that knowledge will help protect the seller against the natural reluctance to accept the first offer and against regretting a decision that was not based on sound judgment. Remember, most good offers come early in the selling game. If it's a fair one why pass it up?

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, whether it's residential, commercial, or exchanges, please phone or drop in at INNSBROOK VILLAGE REAL ESTATE, 101 Innsbrook Drive, Phone: 258-4500. We're here to help!
