Council funds Eagle Creek well project

by FRANKIE JARRELL News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Village Council, during a regular meeting Tuesday, awarded a $768,000 bid for the second phase of the Eagle Creek well field, but not before heated debate over the recurring issue.

Councillor J.D. James continued to oppose going forward with the pipeline, transmission line and replacement road on U.S. Forest Service (USFS) land, and when the final votes were tallied both James and Councillor Elmer Pirelli voted no. James questioned spending more money at Eagle Creek while several water rights cases are unresolved.

During a previous meeting James disputed the cost of pipe included in the bid. Councillor Jerry Shaw asked him Tuesday if he had any new cost figures. "I don't do that type of work for free," said James, reminding the council that the person who prepared the estimates was paid.

"We made a commitment ... we'll need the water." said Shaw.

Village manager Frank Potter said money is available through the water bond construction fund and supplemental gross receipts tax monies, and the council set the project in motion after hearing it could be completed by next June. Potter said June and July are peak water demand months.

Audience member Al Junge addressed the council, after a warning from Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. to have his name placed on the agenda if he plans to speak at future meetings.

"This thing has almost been beaten to death," said Junge before offering a review that started when the first six-member council was elected in 1984—with Shaw the only councillor elected then still on the council. Noting the continuing change in make-up on the governing body, Junge said the village administration has spent $2,369,000 on Eagle Creek without going to

He went over the Eagle Creek project contract, reminding the council that it was signed over objections of then village attorney Lee Huckstep. Junge distributed copies of the USFS special use permit, calling attention to a section he said prohibits the village from building the proposed road.

"I personally don't want to listen to this much longer, I've heard it 15 times in the past," said Mayor Davis. "I don't think anyone did anything wrong, and I was not here," he added.

"Regardless of what comes out of the water suit we can't stick our heads in the sand," said Mayor Davis, adding "if we can keep the coffee rooms up and down the street quiet we might have water for you people in the audience, your children and grandchildren."

Bill McCarty was the successful bidder on the Eagle Creek project.

Dismissed prosecutor Wilcox claims violation of his rights

by FRANKIE JARRELL News Staff Writer

A dream described by Harry Wilcox Jr. may be turning into a nightmare for the former assistant district attorney who was fired by District Attorney James Weldon (DA) after his vision was described in The News.

Wilcox, terminated on November 11, has filed a complaint in the state Human Rights Division alleging religious discrimination. He revealed plans Tuesday to file suit in federal court claiming his constitutional rights have been violated. Wilcox said he'll ask for $285,000 in damages.

Weldon, in a telephone interview Tuesday, said he hasn't been served notice of any such filings. "All I know is what I read in the newspaper," quipped Weldon.

"I was terminated due to a news article which quoted a statement I made concerning a religious experience," said Wilcox, who described a dream he had that led him to say he couldn't, in good conscience, dismiss a case involving the United States Forest Service (USFS).

Weldon, who ordered Wilcox to dismiss the trespassing case against two USFS employees, said he terminated Wilcox for insubordination after he refused to dismiss the case.

"I never told Mr. Weldon that I was not going to dismiss the case," said Wilcox. "It was my understanding that he intended to dismiss the case," he added.

"The termination letter which I received from Mr. Weldon clearly indicated I was terminated because of the religious experience," said Wilcox.

But Weldon said his letter reminded Wilcox that decisions in the DA's office are "dictated by law, reason and fact," adding "The Constitution provides for the separation of church and state, and neither I nor any of my people make decisions based upon dreams, visions or religious experience."

The case under dispute began when Carrizozo rancher Carolyn Lietzman arrested two USFS employees on her legally posted ranch, the O-Bar-O. Lietzman, listing many problems she has had with the Forest Service, said she was "fed up" when she made the citizen's arrest and hauled the two men to the Lincoln County Jail.

After Lietzman entered her statements, Wilcox entered the case on her behalf in magistrate court. The petty misdemeanor became embroiled in a jurisdictional dispute between state and federal courts before Weldon stepped in with his order to dismiss.

Wilcox, saying his dream convinced him to pursue the case "even though I may be cast into a fiery furnace," said Weldon told him he was pressured by the U.S. Attorney and Forest Service officials. Weldon flatly denied that charge.

Wilcox accused Weldon of equating involvement with the Lietzman name with "political suicide," and Weldon called that charge a "fabrication."

To problems noted by Weldon of costs involved in pursuing the case. Wilcox said he spent at least 60 hours of his own time researching the case. He said Lietzman offered to reimburse the state for any costs incurred.

Wilcox said the state complaint will be investigated by a governor's committee. He said he isn't licensed to practice in federal court, so he won't represent himself in that "I intend to consult Gary Mitchell in the near future," said Wilcox, whose termination is effective December 11. He is currently taking vacation leave.

"This will place an extreme hardship on me and my family," said Wilcox. "I'm a single parent with two teenage children—Tres, 14, and Candace, 13. Naturally, I would be looking after their best interests while I'm seeking employment elsewhere."

HARRY WILCOX JR.

He added the fact that Weldon has published his termination in the news media has damaged his reputation in the community, and could have an effect on his career. While Wilcox wouldn't confirm any plans to seek political office, he admitted he has been approached about running for DA.

"I do not feel that's a viable consideration at this time," said Wilcox, adding he is still considering those issues.

Wilcox made the following closing statement when interviewed on Tuesday:

"Our country was founded by men with vision and as our forefathers penned our constitution they were constantly aware of the need that God should guide their decisions. That is apparent in the First Amendment, which is one of our basic freedoms in America—to not only believe in God-but also to exercise that belief.

"I'm not claiming to be a religious nut or a fanatic. I was just trying to express that what was happening was clearly prejudicial to the administration of justice in my view, and it was wrong. I have to answer to the New Mexico State Bar, my own conscience and to

"When I was sworn into office under the Weldon administration, I took an oath to seek a higher ethic in all cases—justice."

County commission restricts sheriff's budget, hiring

by BONNY CHRISTINA CELINE News Staff Writer

The Lincoln County Commissioners placed a "freeze" on the budget of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office and hiring by that office until a review of the Sheriff's Office can be completed late in December.

Early in the commissioners' Tuesday morning meeting in Carrizozo, Lincoln County Sheriff Don Samuels asked to be added to the agenda, and approached the commission with a typed statement. After being invited to discuss his business by Commissioner Karn, Samuels declined discussion, and left the meeting room after delivering his letter.

The text of the letter is as follows: "Statement from Sheriff Don W. Samuels in reference to the statement routine business.

by John A. Hightower on November 10, 1987. "I, too, am concerned about the financial condition of Lincoln County, but, more directly, with the financial condition of the Sheriff's Office.

"The commissioners' action, as a result of an executive session 11/10/1987, to hold $20,000.00 from the capital outlay line item of the Sheriff's budget for possible litigation and attorney fees has left no doubt regarding the lack of cooperation and communication between the commissioners and the Sheriff's Office.

"This action was taken without any knowledge or input of the Sheriff. I question if commissioners have the authority to put a hold on any elected official's budget that has been locally and state approved.

"To ensure proper law enforcement, for the citizens, in Lincoln County, the Sheriff's Department has gone to outside sources, applied for and received grant monies for badly needed equipment and now $20,000.00 from my budget has been frozen.

"The position this office must take is that the commissioners either pay the unexpected expenses from the legal line item from general fund, or provide each department with enough budget to cover an unexpected lawsuit. Since the current county attorney has taken the opposite side in any dispute that has occurred, and has not represented the county, only the commissioners, this has been an added burden that other elected officials have had to contend with.

"Since I was duly elected as Sheriff of the people, I answer only to the public and not to the County Commissioners. County Manager or County Attorney therefore, I want the public to know how their Sheriff's Department is being treated."

Following the open meeting, an executive session was called. Commissioners voted to freeze another $14,000 off the sheriff's budget until the midyear budget review. However, they voted to allow Sheriff Samuels to purchase two vehicles from a Traffic Safety grant and one from the Law Enforcement Fund as long as he stays within that budget, which allows him $13,350 per vehicle.

Commissioners also froze the hiring of personnel in the sheriff's office until the review, which will begin on December 22.

Also during their Tuesday meeting, commissioners took care of mostly

They approved a liquor license for Helen E. Giacoletti and Victor P. Giacoletti, owners of the New Barn in Ruidoso; they heard a road report from Earl Krieg; they approved the lease agreement for the New Horizons Developmental Center, Inc.; and they made appointments to committees. There were five appointments to be filled on the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission for two-year terms, and commissioners appointed E.J. Fouratt, Modesto Chaves, Ben Hall, Walton Wilson and LaMoyne Peters to continue service on the commission.

Three people were voted to serve two-year terms on the Lincoln Historic Preservation Board. Charles Smith, the at-large member, was selected to retain his position on the board. Gary Morton and Kay Dennis were chosen to fill the other two spots, with Ervin Aldaz named as alternate.

Ralph Dunlap, Scott Shaffer and Hoot Gibson were returned to the Fair Board, and Betty Lou Joiner was named as new member for a two-year term. Herb Traylor and Linda Fuchs were named to fill the slot of two unexpired terms. A bill by county attorney Gary Mitchell was paid for $17,895. "This is for a period from July 26 through November 9," answered county manager Suzanne Cox when questioned by Commissioner Bill Karn. "$7,232 is for water rights work, $5,321.66 is for litigation, and $5,341.34 for county business," explained Cox. "We asked him to submit monthly bills, but he didn't, that's why it's such a large amount at one time."

Trustees vote to send embattled loan application

by DARRELL J. PEHR News Editor

If at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

It could be the motto of former Ruidoso Downs Trustee Conrad Buchanan, who appeared before the trustees Monday in yet another discussion of his application to participate in a Community Development Block Grant program that lends money to businesses through governments.

But this time, Buchanan was successful.

Mayor J.C. "Jake" Harris began the discussion Monday evening at Ruidoso Downs Village Hall by reading from Robert's Rules of Order. The section he read indicated that any motion to reconsider a previous vote had to be introduced at the same meeting a vote was taken, or the next.

Buchanan's application was discussed the meeting of May 25, and since no board action immediately followed decisions reached that night, Harris contended discussion of Buchanan's application Monday would be out of order. But Buchanan was allowed to speak. He outlined his year-long effort to have his application sent to Santa Fe, and claimed that trustees at the May 25 meeting approved that wish. Buchanan said after Harris refused to sign a resolution to that effect, the mayor then stalled sending the application.

When Buchanan learned the application had not been sent more than a month later, he decided to wait until a new board of trustees (elected August 25) was seated and let them pursue the program.

Harris disagreed with Buchanan, saying the resolution was just an agreement to participate in the program, not specifically to send the resolution. In addition, he contended the application was not submitted to the trustees May 25 and so could not be sent to Santa Fe.

"It was never presented to the board." Trustee LeVerne Cole concurred.

The trustees, who at an earlier meeting had denied Buchanan's request, voted 5-2 to send the application and May 25 resolution to Santa Fe. The successful motion also included a section that "the mayor sign it tonight in open session."

"Until you show me that I'm not in violation of the rules, I'm not signing anything," Harris declared.

But the trustees decided Harris' signature was not essential to successfully submit the application, so he was not again asked to sign.

In other business, the trustees: —Accepted a letter from Beverly Hammond of Bank of Ruidoso commending village clerk Jean revenue bond to pave the remaining Stillman on the quality of her work. -Accepted a letter of thanks from residents on Heights Drive praising the village's work in paving the street.

—Tabled a request from the Fire Department for approval of the purchase of a radio. Although several members of the department were present, none had information specific enough, such as how much the radio would cost, for the trustees to come to a decision.

—Passed a resolution calling for an election March 1, 1988, in which three four-year trustee positions and one four-year judge position will be filled.

—Approved payment of an assessment from the Water Defense Association of $10 per acrefoot of water rights held by the village.

Judge's rulings shape next steps in water use

Water right owners in the Hondo River Basin got some good news and some bad news in a motions hearing Tuesday in Santa Fe.

Water Defense Association (WDA) executive director Hubert Quintana said four motions were entered by attorneys for the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe in the ongoing water case. The judge upheld one motion, denied two and postponed ruling on one issue.

Good news for 103 water right owners, including the Village of Ruidoso, was Judge LaFel Oman's ruling against a motion to deny all water rights with priorities earlier than 1873, sought by Mescalero. The Village of Ruidoso owns water rights with 1866 priority dates, ac- pact," said Quintana. cording to water attorney Neil

"We're through with that part of the case," said Stillinger - early Wednesday. He said the village won't have to participate in the hearings in January.

"As far as Ruidoso is concerned, between Ruidoso and the United States and the tribe there are no further legal issues with respect to priority," noted Stillinger.

But Ruidoso still is involved in the Pecos River Basin case under way in Roswell, where water right owners are entering objections to claims by the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe.

In Tuesdays' hearing Judge Oman also denied a motion dealing with aboriginal title that will open the door for WDA attorneys to present evidence on how and when the Mescalero Apache Indian reservation was established by Congress.

But Judge Oman upheld a motion to prohibit evidence on the economic impact of the proposed Indian project on non-Indians.

"None of us will be able to provide evidence on economic im-

The judget postponed ruling on a motion over evidence of where and how water is currently and was originally used. Testimony in the case, involving a claim by the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe to as much as 91 percent of the flow of the Rio Ruidoso at the point where it leaves the reservation, will resume at 10 a.m. Monday, November 30, in the federal courthouse in Roswell.

CHARGE forms to 'strengthen the community'

by FRANKIE JARRELL News Staff Writer

CHARGE is the name chosen for an ad hoc committee proposed by village manager Frank Potter-and it stands for Charter, Hierarchy, Accountability, Responsibility, Goals and Evaluation.

Potter said 18,000 cities in the United States have pulled their communities together by forming groups like the one he is organizing to act as a clearing house review for a variety of projects. He said the formula he used for CHARGE is one developed by the International City Management

During the initial meeting Monday, Potter distributed an organizational chart showing the Village of Ruidoso, Service Club Council (SCC) Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County (EDC) as the four cornerstones of a group that will work through the mayor and Village Council.

Potter met Monday with representatives from all four members of Potter. CHARGE, with planning administrator Margaret McDonald Lahey to be the village representative; Lanny Maddox representing SCC; John Jeffers, the chamber; and Buddy Bundick, EDC.

"We should be able to really strengthen the community," noted Potter, naming a number of upcoming projects he believes will benefit from the united efforts. Among upcoming projects are Christmas lighting, Adopt-a-Park, MainStreet, Keep New Mexico Beautiful, planning for the airport land and the ongoing water case.

Potter said he could have expanded the membership of CHARGE, but instead limited it to just four that can represent the many other organizations in the village. He said the group will decide how many representatives each of the four members should have on the committee.

"I'm getting out of it because I don't want to interfere," said Potter, stressing that Lahey will be the village contact.

"It's got to be ongoing ... it's got to be a united effort," said Jeffers. In discussions over the successful "Don't Mess with Texas" program throughout the state of Texas, it was noted that accountability is an important element.

"We've got to be result-oriented ... get everybody pulling together," said

The group took a packet of information, including questionnaires over purposes and goals, with plans to complete the information and meet again to work out further organizational details.

Water Defense Association plans water case strategy

by FRANKIE JARRELL News Staff Writer

A water case that will decide the future of water rights along the Pecos River Basin continues next week in the federal courthouse in Roswell. ..

The Water Defense Association (WDA), an organization of water right owners throughout the system, will begin presenting testimony when the court convenes at 10 a.m. Monday, November 30, in the third floor federal courtroom. WDA executive director Hubert Quintana, during a public meeting Sunday in Hondo, urged association members to attend the court sessions to show support for the case.

Last week the Village of Ruidoso entered testimony disputing the right of the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe to additional water rights on the Rio Ruidoso, and Quintana said the courtroom was packed with witnesses and spectators representing the tribe. He said the village was outnumbered throughout those proceedings.

Village manager Frank Potter reported on the village's sessions in court, saying the tribe has laid claim to 18,000 acre-feet, which is virtually the entire stream flow.

"That would be quite easy to attack, and that's what we did," noted Potter. Quintana said the WDA case will be based on two issues: (1) taking property without compensation; and (2) practically irrigable acreage. Quintana said WDA attorney Richard Simms will argue that your water rights are your property and that a tribe can't go shopping for acreage to irrigate and then move water.

Also during the meeting Sunday, WDA members heard of a critical need for more funds. It was learned that with 323 paying members, the organization has collected $125,500 to-cover debts of close to $225,000. Strategies, ranging from "bully-ing" to "pleading" were discussed for raising more money.

WDA approved Quintana's proposal to reorganize the 34-member board of directors into a group of about 15, with each governmental member and each ditch having a representative. Chaves and Lincoln counties, as well as Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan and Roswell hold memberships in the association:

Quintana also told of plans to approach the state and federal governments for help in paying for the expensive water case. It was noted the tribe's case will cost taxpayers around $3.5 million.

"We'll be asking for less than a half million dollars to get us through the appeals process," said sworn in as village clerk. Former clerk Leon Eggleston thanked the council for allowing him to serve as village clerk. Eggleston remains village finance officer.

In other regular business Tuesday the council: -Turned down a request from the Lodgers' Tax Committee to allocate $1,500 in council-approved advertising funds for Ruidoso To You to distribute village brochures at trade shows. Village attorney Mike Runnels recommended the council action, noting such promotion is subject to the procurement process.

-Approved a vacation of right of way in a "just compensation trade" for T.E. Arrington at Tract H-1, Lot 21A and Lot 60, Block D of Singing Pines Subdivision, after learning that Arrington has dedicated a larger area of land to the village.

-Endorsed the MainStreet program, including around $20,000 a year in village funds, with details to be worked out later. It was learned the application is due in Santa Fe on December 1.

-Adopted an election resolution scheduling a municipal election on March 1, 1988. One councillor will be elected for a two-year term, three councillors for four-year terms and one municipal judge for a fouryear term. Ruidoso Municipal Administrative Center was designated as the polling place. Declarations of candidacy must be filed between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. January 5, 1988, and voters must be registered by 5 p.m. February 2, 1988, in order to vote in the election. -Heard Potter, noting it is Thanksgiving, thank the many people who have worked for the community in various ways. Potter suggested councillors keep up with the Mescalero water trial by reading articles in the media, referring specifically to a story in Monday's edition of The News. "If you read it you'll be well-informed," said Potter.

—Heard the village attorney report he has been working with the administration to keep personnel policies current with state law.

-Awarded the bid on a diesel engine for a Street Department dump truck to the single bidder, Rust Tractor, at $12,842. Purchasing agent Fonda McLain said three invitations to bid were mailed, but just one bid received. —Adopted the following 1988 holiday schedule:

New Years Day-January 1 Presidents Day-February 15 Memorial Day-May 30 Independence Day-July 4

Labor Day-September 5 Columbus Day-October 10 Veterans Day-November 11 Thanksgiving-November 25-26 Christmas-December 26

The council also approved Friday, November 27, 1987, as a holiday for village staff. -Authorized extending a risk management contract with Tom Rabourn an additional $3,000 for him to rework the group health insurance plan.

—Approved a contract with Safety Counselling, Inc.

-Scheduled a special meeting at 3 p.m. Wednesday, December 9, to act on bids for gasoline storage and dispensing at the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport

Tragic trap

Jo Newton (left) and Lawanda Strong hold a leghold trap they found while jogging Sunday along Hull Road near White Mountain School. Captured in the jaws of the steel trap was a Himalayan cat, which they released with the help of passersby. The cat was taken to a local veterinarian, and it was determined the cat's leg, injured

In the trap, would have to be amputated. Newton and Strong were outraged at finding the trap just a few feet from the roadway, particularly since the roadside is used by many children walking to school. The women learned that such traps are illegal in the village limits, and wondered why a walk-in trap was not used.

Cracks must be fixed before filling dam

Fill operations at Grindstone Canyon Dam are on hold, according to village manager Frank Potter.

Inspectors for the State Engineer Office, during a recent site visit, recommended further investigation to determine the extent of the cracking prior to filling the reservoir. The inspectors also called on the village to repair vertical joints on the huge structure.

Potter said village engineer Mike Davalos has written a letter to the contractor, since the dam was completed under a one-year performance bond. That year will be up in December.

Potter said the engineer has submitted a compliance report to the state engineer, who agrees with the method being used to repair the cracks in the dam. In the meantime, village water engineer Jack Atkins is working out details of how the water will be collected and measured, said Potter. Atkins is working with the State Engineer Office in Roswell.

Potter, contending the cracks and leaks are to be expected, said the current problems will be resolved before the final inspection.

"We need to be taking it (water)," said Potter, explaining that the village earns effluent credit of from 600 to 700 acre-feet a year on an instantaneous basis. The reservoir holds 1,500 acre-feet of Trustees consider plan to alleviate flooding

by BONNY CHRISTINA CELINE News Staff Writer

The Capitan Village Trustees and the Capitan School Board have a major disagreement.

The trustees met Monday night at a special meeting to consider the village's drainage problem.

This fall, rain poured down Fourth Street, flooding some of the properties there. The trustees believe that the flooding has been caused by the changes in the ecology created by the building of the athletic field at the high school.

"I saw this past flood, and I saw the flood in '82," commented Trustee Dave Strickland. "This one had water coming right off the athletic field."

The School Board, represented by Scott Childress, Superintendent of Schools, denies responsibility. In a letter to village attorney Don Dutton, Childress stated: "At the August meeting, I was made aware that damage may result due to in-adequate drainage on Fouth Street which is compounded by inade-quate drainage on Highway 48. My information has led me to believe that this has been a historical problem. Your perception is that the situation was caused by the construction of the Athletic Facility, but the fact remains that Fourth Street has always been the main don't think that we should pay channel for diverting run-off anything for this, but I am willing to through the village."

pay it to solve the problem."

According to Childress' letter, Jim French, architect of the Athletic Facility, submitted a drainage plan to Tony Lara of the State Highway Department. The plan routes water under Highway 48, with a 60 percent/40 percent split of the cost between the State Highway Department and the School/Village.

Childress' letter to attorney Dutton also stated: "The total cash outlay with the Village performing some of the work would be approximately $1,200. To show our good faith, the school district would be willing to split the cost of the total cash outlay. In addition, we have two culverts we will donate to the Village. Maybe they could be used for drainage on Fourth Street."

Mr. Childress' letter concluded: "Rather than spend money on attorney fees, I would rather see us spend money on the project."

Mayor Benny Coker, the trustees, clerk-treasurer Janet Keel and attorney Dutton looked over plans made by architect French for the drainage plan.

"The problem the plan is addressing is the football field," observed Dr. David Rouleau, trustee, "It is not addressing any run-off from the western hill. It is clear from this plan where the water is coming from. I don't see how the school board can deny liability."

Superintendent Childress, who at-tended the meeting, said that he could not speak for the school board in terms of agreeing to a 50-50 split with the village regarding the 40 percent to be owed for the drainage system, "I can't make that commitment." Childress stated. "And I can't assume liability for the drainage problem."

"We certainly do not assume liability for the drainage problem," replied trustee V. Kelly Beavers. "I Childress expressed an opinion that, because the school is willing to enter into the 60-40 agreement with the highway department, they are helping the village and therefore would not have to pay for 50 percent of the remaining cost of the 40 percent share. "We are contributing through making this plan with the highway department," he said.

Beavers asked Childress if the $600 and two culverts is all the school is willing to pay toward solvculvert," replied Childress, adding,

"I'm being facetious."
Trustee Norman Renfro, Capitan resident for 16 years, stated that "until this athletic field construction, there wasn't any problem."

"You cut a piece of land down from 148 feet to 28 feet," stated trustee Beavers. "Maybe this is the architect's fault. Maybe we should sue the architect."

"If you want a dogfight, we'll give you a dogfight," replied Childress.

"We don't want a dogfight," replied trustee Strickland. "Have you consulted your attorney concerning your liability in this case?" asked attorney Dutton. "No, I have not," replied Childress.

Mayor Coker reminded the group that the action to be taken was to agree to enter into a joint powers agreement with the school board, "then wrestle with the consequences."

Each trustee reiterated his belief that the village should not have to pay "one nickel" toward additional drainage but is willing to pay half the 40 percent costs, in cash and in in-kind equipment and work, toward solving the problem. Childress said that he would ask the school board to have a special meeting to consider the joint powers agreement prior to the deadline set by the highway department for commitment to the project, which comes in early

Osborne's free throws give Warriors victory

by GARY BROWN Sports Writer

Tammy Osborne made two free throws with no time left in overtime to give the Ruidoso High School girls varsity basketball team a 45-43 victory over host Artesia in the season-opener Tuesday.

Osborne, a senior, had put up a shot as the time ran out and was fouled.

Before Osborne's shot, the Warriors had taken control of the ball after a five-second call on Artesia. Artesia had controlled the ball almost the entire overtime period.

The Warriors led almost the entire game before the Bulldogs came back to tie the game and send it into overtime.

Ruidoso had a 43-32 lead about halfway through the fourth quarter, but Artesia gradually fought back. Artesia's Terri Worden made two free throws and Dena Shell hit a field goal to tie the game up for Artesia.

The Warriors trailed, 1-0, in the first minute of the game but took control and led, 12-7, at the end of the first period. Ruidoso led, 17-12, at halftime. Both teams scored better in the second half. The Warriors' Norma Murillo scored 13 of her team-high 14 points in the second half to spark the Warriors.

Osborne added 10 for Ruidoso. Jennifer Jimenez scored nine points and Ardena Comanche had seven for Ruidoso.

Shell led Artesia with 19 points. "We were kind of sluggish in the first half," said Warrior head coach Sergio Castanon. "We played better in most of the second half, but got too impatient at the end.

"But it's always good to win. Everybody played well. It was a team effort."

The Warrior junior varsity lost,

Deanna Swanner and Candace Muniz both scored five points for

TROPHY FORD BAGGED

NEAR CAPITAN (Special to The News)—Well known local hunter C. L. "Bones" Wright reportedly took this trophy about 2 p.m. last Thursday, November 19, after a stalk that began at daybreak. Wright skillfully crept up on his quarry, which was hiding in a small grove of pinon and juniper trees. Although there were no eye-witnesses, several of Wright's friends arrived on the scene only moments after he fired only one shot from his 7mm Magnum. He told them it rolled over on its back and stuck all four 235/85 R 16's straight up in the air. "It never even quivered," he said. His friends said Wright immediately quit hunting, indicating that when cut and wrapped, the prize would tax all his available freezer space. Some controversy surrounds that statement, however, as Mrs. Wright allegedly wants to build an addition on their home to appropriately display the mounted trophy. Experts have estimated the big brown beast field-dressed 6500 pounds and would score at least F-250 Boone and Crockett points. Friends have said they've never seen anything like it. Displaying his characteristic modesty, Wright has declined public comment.

Well, winter is here. The Ruidoso High School girls varsity and junior varsity basketball teams have already started their season.

The boys season will begin soon as will other winter sports teams. But two things separate winter sports from a lot of other school

The other difference is that winter sports can be cancelled or postponed because of bad weather.

The latter can cause havoc with a sportwriter's goal of filling a sports page for an edition.

There have been times in recent years that high school and middle school basketball games have been postponed, along with wrestling. That doesn't leave much for me to fill the sports page with, except a short story explaining why the games were cancelled and when they will be made up.

That's when feature stories and extra-large photos come in handy. But some of those feature stories aren't always readily available. So here's hoping for a winter sports season without a lot of

DON'T Let An Electrical Accident RUIN Your HOLIDAY SEASON!

An electrical accident can ruin the joy of the holiday season. Here is a handy checklist to follow when decorating your home so that you can avoid such accidents.

- Never place electrical lights on a dry, brittle natural Christ-
- Do not use 120 voltage lighting on a metal or aluminum tree. Off-the-tree spotlighting is preferred for this type of decoration.
- Use only holiday lights that have the Underwriters' Labora-3. Use only nonday lights that have tories (UL) listing mark for safety standards.
- Before plugging in holiday lights, check for broken or cracked sockets, frayed or bare wires and loose connections.
- Don't overload circuits. If your lights dim when turned on, you have too many lights on that circuit.
- When hanging outside lights, use only those approved for • outside use. Do not install near overhead power lines.
- Don't leave your holiday lights on when you're away or Never assume that your holiday lighting is safe. Make it a standard practice to inspect all lighting each year. When it comes to holiday lighting, if in doubt — throw it out. It is much better to replace holiday lighting than to risk spoiling the season with an accident.

No Help Bell wins Saturday's City of El Paso Handicap

No Help Bell had not raced in seven weeks, but the layoff didn't bother the filly as she went on to post a 2 and ½ length win in Saturday's City Of El Paso Handicap. A field of 11 fillies and mares battled for first prize in the $9,975 event. Owned by Clifford Brock, No Help Bell covered a 5 and ½ furlong course in 1:05.2 and notched her fifth win in seven starts. Overlooked by the bulk of the 2.510 on hand. No Help Bell was ridden by J.P. Maxwell and paid $18.00, $10.60, $6.60.

Another long shot picked up the place position, Miss Pecos County, $20.60, $11.80, and Ruffetta settled for third, $10.80.

Queen Draconic was given: highweight in the race on the basis of three straight wins, including the Don Lewis Memorial here on October 18, but the runner never gotgoing and finished a disappointing last. Two Eyed Tootie was in the. race fresh from an upset win in the Cutarusty Handicap, but she had a poor start and could not get any closer than seventh.

Track 'N Tack

Some of the nation's finest sprinters including All American Futurity finalists Send The Gals Candy and Dashing Encounter along with Rainbow Futurity runner-up Oh Bid Go, will compete at Sunland this Friday, November 27, in trials for the Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Futurity.

Because of the large number of race entrants, Sunland Park will move first post time up to 12:30 p.m. for Friday.

A total of 53 two-year-olds, including five supplemental nomina-tions, have pushed the total estimated purse over the $100,000 mark. Friday's 400 yard trials will go in six divisions as the first through sixth races. The fastest ten coming from those heats will return to the track for the Grade II finale on Sunday, December 13.

Oh Bid Go will go in the third trial and leads the list of stars nominated. Roy Brooks will again mount the altered son of Fol's Native for owner Scott Roberts. The runner has won six of 10 career starts and was second, beaten one and ½ lengths by Dash For Speed in the Grade I Rainbow Futurity on July 19 at Ruidoso Downs. His lifetime earnings are over $185,000.

The most competitive trial is shaping up to be the sixth. as Dashing Encounter will team with rider Jacky Martin to break from post position number three. The Dash for Cash offspring has won six of Il starts and was fifth in the All American Futurity on Labor Day.

Breaking on the outside for the trial will be Carl Pevehouse's Send The Gals Candy. The gray's last effort was a third to Elans Special in the All American Futurity which pushed his career bankroll to $166,319.

Saturday's feature at Sunland will have thoroughbreds and quarter horses challenging each other in the $7,500 added Juarez Handicap at 870 yards. Fols Bid is highweighted at 119 pounds with Native Pursuit next at 118.

Juarez Mayor Jaime Bermudez is expected to be on hand to make the win circle presentation for the feature race.

Sunday, November 29, Sunland Park will put two big stakes offerings on the marquee as the $42,000 Tri-State Futurity and the $22,886 Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Derby will be run.

The first running of the Tri-State will see fastest qualifier Breezings Tera in against 11 other hopefuls going six furlongs. Also in the field will be Cindytina, Wonder Walk, Darren's Pride, Snow Pal, Hot And Dry, Cuban Jinski, Spook's Speed, E.E.'s Angel, Miss Rhonda, and Glitter Palace.

In the Derby, Strate And Easy logged the fastest qualifying time in the trials and just nosed out Miss April 001 for the top spot. The other trial winners were The Red Rocker and Flight Wind and those top four will be joined in the gate by Raise A Roula, Special Victory, Interstate Ten, Desperate Woman, and Charge It To Go.

A seven week layoff seemed to help No Help Bell as the filly came back to the track in impressive style to win the City Of El Paso Handicap.

The $9,975 event was run on Saturday, Nov. 21, as a strong field of 11 fillies and mares battled in the 5 and ½ furlong dash. Owned and trained by Clifford Brock, she won her fifth from seven starts as a four-year-old and surprised a good portion of the crowd to pay $18.00 to Rider J.P. Maxwell teamed with No Help Bell and the pair received the first call all but once in the race, finishing 2 and 1/2 lengths ahead of Miss Pecos County in 1:05.2.

Also last Saturday a good crowd was on hand to watch and wager on the Breeder's Cup races from Hollywood Park.

Local fans were able to tie in the Daily Double to the first live race from Sunland with the Breeder's Cup Sprint. When 13 to one shot Does It Easy won the first race and combined with Sprint winner Very Subtle, Sunland Park had a new season high Daily Double payoff of $7,016,173 has been wagered at Sunland this year as compared to $4,773,976 last season. The total handle is up 46.97 percent and total attendance is up 21.67 percent from 51,616 to 62,799.

Rider Danny Sorenson had a good weekend on the job. The veteran piloted four winners across the wire in three days including a double win on Sunday. His last win came in the last live race of the weekend and pushed him to the top of the rider standings with a one win advantage over Pedro Renitez over Pedro Benitez.

Going up!

Skiers at last year's opening weekend at Ski Apache Resort ride the chairlift to the top of a slope while other skiers below enjoy the excellent snow conditions. This year, too, will open to good to excellent snow conditions on the lower mountain, with chairlifts 3, 4, and 5 open and Chair 2 open to midway unloading.

Opinion

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

To write history is a hard job; and I admire people who get busy and do it. Herb Seckler has written an interesting book—RUIDOSO COUNTRYSIDE—and I enjoyed his humorous talk to the Friends of the Library.

However, I told him I was going to answer his chapter on Three Rivers. Albert Fall was my grandfather; and I spent most of my youth around my grandparents. Of course, Fall wasn't perfect

Of course, Fall wasn't perfect (though I thought he was when I was growing up). He certainly commanded the respect and love and loyalty of his family.

He was a very outspoken man of strong opinions. He was afraid of no one and he was willing to "fight fire with fire." So, he did make enemies; but he was not the ignorant, greedy, ruthless man Mr. Seckler pictures. Granted, other historians have come up with that idea. We tend to believe everything we read and one judgmental historian can build on another until the picture gets completely out of focus.

It is true, Fall didn't have a "formal education." Diplomas and degrees weren't that important in those days. It was the amount of knowledge a person acquired that counted. Fall told of taking an examination for a teaching job with the Frankfort, Kentucky, school system. He confessed to the Superintendent of Schools, who was giving the exam, that he could not parse or analyze a sentence in English, but he could in Latin. The Superintendent confided that he had gone to the same school Fall had, and had the same problem, so would understand if he did it in Latin. Fall did. He got the job and was proud of the fact that although it was in a rough district and some of the students were older than he was, he stayed with it the entire five months--a length of time his predecessors had not been able to match.

Besides reading law under Judge William Lindsay (an ex-chief justice of Kentucky and later U.S. Senator from that state), and the Honorable Cromwell Adair, (also of Kentucky), he studied incessantly. He started his practice of law in partnership with N.M. Lowry, in Las Cruces. At a later time, he was a member of the firm of Clark, Fall & Hawking

& Hawkins. Fall never turned anyone down because of lack of ability to pay. He spoke Spanish like a native; and many of his clients were Hispanics who, because of the confusion and disruption of their lives due to the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo and the later Gadsden Treaty (which changed the boundaties between New and old Mexico), had lost track of families and, after many years, had married again—and were charged with adultery. Out of 120 cases of this sort, Fall lost two. Out of some 500 cases having to do with range problems, he lost none. He defended 51 people charged with first degree murder and only one was convicted and sentenced to seven years in prison. He had about

There isn't room to go into all the things Albert Fall did. He helped

an equal degree of success when he found New Mexico State University at Las Cruces, and New Mexico Military Institute out of Goss Institute. He helped make New Mexico a state and helped write the state constitution. He was elected by the legislature to be one of New Mexico's first Senators. In 1918, he was elected by the people. He resigned from the Senate to become Secretary of Interior—and that's when politics got him.

While not a Catholic, Fall furnished the money to rebuild an old church at Three Rivers—the Church of the Nino Santo de Atocha. He also contributed money to help with the building of St. Joseph's Mission in Mescalero. He and its builder, Father Albert Braun, were firm friends from the time Father Albert was sent to the Tularosa district and Fall received a letter from Ed Doheny asking him to give the new priest any assistance he could, because he was a fine young man.

Fall and his whole family loved Three Rivers, but he didn't think of it as an empire any more than the present owner does. If he had been so ruthless in his treatment of people there, how is it that a later owner of that ranch, Thomas Fortune Ryan, was quoted by Dr. Sonnichsen, in TULAROSA, as saying, "Even now, you'd better not say anything aginst Fall around here or you are liable to get shot."?

Pete Crawford used to come see my mother every time he was in Ruidoso. Once he brought her a wild turkey. I was about to take it out of the gunny sack and put it in the freezer, when I discovered it was a live wild turkey—at which point my husband took over.

After Mahlon Everhart married one of Fall's daughters, Caroline, he bought the land to the west of Three Rivers, from the railroad tracks to the San Andreas.

It became the Hatchet. The two ranches were operated together, but the brands were separate. The other land which Everhart owned with the Colorado bankers (who were his uncles, the Thatchers) was in Ruidoso-from the Navajo Subdivision through White Fir, including Flume Canyon, Apache Park, Del Norte, Red, Middle & West Cedar Subdivisions, Gavilan Ranch and Gavilan Acres, and acreage on the Cienegita and Grindstone, and a few other places. That land was patented by the Thatchers in 1884. My childhood ambition was to ride over the mountain with the cowboys when they brought the cattle to graze in the summer. The closest I got was to ride up the Three Rivers side to meet them when they brought the cattle back in the fall.

After the Dohenys foreclosed on Three Rivers, and the Hatchet was sold, Thatcher & Everhart decided Ruidoso had more potential as a summer resort than for cattle grazing and my father, C. C. Chase, was hired to subdivide the land, and act as general agent.

As for Fall's trying to make a park out of the the Mescalero lands, it was not for his own benefit. He may have been wrong, but he thought natural resources should be used for the benefit of ALL Americans. He did not believe in racism; and to say "He had no love for the Indians" simply is not true.

One of those Indians, Robert Geronimo, went to Washington as a character witness during one of Fall's trials. One of Fall's most valued employees and associates for many years was a Black man by the name of Henry Flipper (a remarkable man with a story of his own). Fall had many friends among Hispanics and Mexicans, Indians and Anglos in all walks of life. One old timer told me one of the things he appreciated about Albert Fall was that he could hold his own with the rich and the powerful, and could go into the poorest home and be as one of them. That could be one of the reasons why he never lost an election after the first one which he lost to Albert Fountain.

Sincerely, EMADAIR JONES

DEAR EDITOR:

I was really surprised and disappinted to read in the latest Ruidoso News that the Village of Ruidoso was contemplating a new parking as a be no place to escape overregulation by the governments.

Ruidoso is supposed to be a place of recreation and relaxation, not n by just another place to be told what you may or may not do. There are f his certain rules that need to be for the tong benefit of persons' safety and perhaps to protect their property values, but I see no advantage to a parking ordinance as described in the recent article.

I have recently formed a new business in Ruidoso in anticipation of moving to the area and making Ruidoso my home. Things like this is what I am trying to escape from. Lubbock has recently passed a parking ordinance and it is making people like me look forward to leaving.

ordinance. It seems there will soon

I think it would be nice to keep Ruidoso as it is, a place to go for fun and relaxation, not just another over-regulated town.

CHARLES KELLEY Lubbock, Texas

Editorial

Can you hear the bright white slopes calling? Yes, skiing is here!

The 1987-88 season has arrived and skiers will be hitting the snowy hillsides, more than ready for the frosty excitement, which only skiing can provide, after a long summer of rest.

And to help prepare and inform skiers for this ski season, The Ruidoso News presents "Follow the call of the white wilderness," a special section jammed with tips on what's new at Ski Apache, driving in wintry weather and an outline of some of our fellow skiers,

The section meets the needs of those seeking information on racing at Ski Apache, tips on ski maintenance and ski etiquette and the latest on exercises one can do to get in shape and stay in shape for skiing (our thanks to Jeannie Whitwam of the Ruidoso Athletic Center for assistance on that article).

Also included are features on the Ski Patrol, ski instruction and the handicapped skiers programs at Ski Apache, and a look at nearby Ski Cloudcroft.

The time to ski has arrived. Follow the call of the white wilderness ... go skiing!—DJP

Reporter's Round

By Bonny Christina Celine

There are two aspects to consider on Thanksgiving; the personal aspect, and the historical aspect. Personally, Thanksgiving is a

I don't mean the annual holiday, celebrated today; I mean the giving of thanks. Being grateful. Counting your blessings. Recognizing your assets. Seeing the wonder.

Ask anybody what they're thankful for and they'll answer: "My health, my family, that I live in a free country."

These are tip-of-the-iceberg answers that merit closer examination.

"I'm thankful for my health."
Health is relative. I am, for example, less healthy than I was 10 years ago just by virtue of age and the fact that I've put my body through another decade of wear and tear; but I don't have any debilitating diseases, and despite a few aches and pains (and muscles I have allowed to turn to jello), I still get around and, when called upon, can run, jump, climb and dance.

My eyesight could be better, but the bottom line is that I can see. My complexion could be nicer, but zits aren't fatal. My hair could be thicker, but I think buttercup yellow is a swell color for fall. So. Under scrutiny, I am, indeed, thankful for my health and all the details that contribute to physical and mental well-being, and hope it holds out for next year's evaluation. "I am thankful for my family."

"I am thankful for my family."
When I think "family," I think "extended family." My actual birthfamily and I have very little contact but I keep in close touch with people I have adopted, and with those who have adopted me.

I am thankful for Suze and Sam and Robbie, who came all the way from Illinois to live with me here in New Mexico, and for Mike and Kathy in Albuquerque who provide my home-away-from-home. I am grateful for Frankie and Darrell, who are my work-family. My blessings include friends across timezones and climates like Cheryl, David, Gail, Craig, Fritz, Renee and J.T., Alan, Pat, Carole, Mikal, Ginger, Melissa, Susan, Mindan, and Walter who keep me current in their lives and allow me, through mail and phone calls and occasional visits, to stay in theirs despite distance and a definite effort they must make, and do make, to sit down and write me letters.

You can't shut off "family ties" that easily, when you start to examine the pyramid: What about the people who influence you who you have never met, through their different arts and talents? I have spent as much time with T.C. Cannon and Billy Bonney as I have with any blood relatives in the past decade. I must give thanks for those who write the books I read; N. Scott Momaday, Simon J. Ortiz, Michael Ondaatje, Annie Dillard, William Morris, Harper Lee, Black Elk, Will Weaver, Linda Ellerbee and of course Dave Barry.

And how about the musicians, whose creations pour out of my tape deck and through my headphones? Mark Knopfler, Wynton Marsalis, Sting, Paul Simon, Dinah Washington, Vincent Craig, The Whites, Bruce, Dylan, The Red Clay Ramblers, Robin and Linda Williams, Rod MacDonald and The Roches are all part of my extended daily family and I am thankful for all of them, and more.

"I am thankful that I live in a free country." This is an undisputable blessing more like the wide base of the iceberg than the tip. I am thankful also that I live in a beautiful country, specifically in a state whose natural features are so breathtaking and awesome as to bring tears to the eyes and joy to the heart.

Narrowing it down even more specifically, I'm glad to live in Lincoln County, New Mexico, U.S.A. with its colorful and often crazy history, patchwork quilt of physical textures, weathers and colors, wild animals and civilized citizenry. It is as complex a site as you'll ever find and undeniably endearing. I've never lived in a place before where strangers greet you as you pass on the road and merchants take your checks without running a Dun and Bradstreet on your account.

Historically, Thanksgiving is a uniquely American holiday.

When I was a kid, I went to public schools in the midwest and Thanksgiving meant drawing crayon turkeys, dressing up like Pilgrims (if you had a part in the play) and consuming massive dinners during which one had to use manners and cloth napkins and make polite conversation with strange relatives.

We were taught that when the Pilgims landed (and we weren't quite sure what Pilgrims were, except that they wore funny outfits), they didn't know what to make of this new country with its strange geography and untilled land. So, the local Indians taught them a few agricultural tricks, pointed out some wild turkeys ("hey, look over there!") and cooked them a big Welcome to The Neighborhood potluck supper, the forerunner of our big I-can't-eat-another-bite dinners of today.

I never gave much thought to the actuality of this event until recently, imagining instead a sort of sitcom situation with Pilgrims and Indians sitting around a big picnic table saying grace to a white, paternal God and making non-specific smalltalk, like "I'd like a drumstick, please," or "pass me another piece of that pumpkin pie—with whipped cream."

What I understand now is how much the native American culture has been robbed of their achievements and contributions to this land, by the very people they helped to survive. From architecture to zoology, Native Americans had developed remarkable societies and accomplishments prior to 1492, the date we mistakenly insist on claiming as the year America was discovered.

This realization makes Anglos squirm. "That's all in the past. I have never done anything unfriendly to any Indians." I feel sensitive to the role of Native Americans in our country's history because I am doing a lot of reading and studying about it right now.

Many people may not want to "think about that," but Thanksgiving is the legitimate day for reflection about the true fact that people were already here prior to the landing on Plymouth Rock, and, that "after dinner," they weren't treated very well. You don't have to consider the issue on Christmas, or on Easter or on Valentine's Day; but to refuse to recognize that the original meaning of Thanksgiving was to thank the native people for helping the uninvited aliens to survive is to consign the feast to simple dining pleasure.

I will give thanks in my heart to those native Americans with every forkful of corn, potatoes and squash—and pumpkin ple—that I lift on Thanksgiving day. It's only right

Considering the world situation, with its always-tenuous peace, it seems that not only is gratitude due to those who came before us, but that it is also right to offer up a prayer in the hope that there will be many more generations of people of every background to gather together thankfully each year after we are gone.

HOMEOWNERS WINNERS IN TAX REFORM

Now that the tax reform bill is law, it is evident that the big winners are owners of first and second homes. In the midst of drastic cutbacks in investment preferences everywhere else in the tax code, American homeowners emerged with top honors.

First, deductibility of mortgage interest and property taxes for primary and second residences is retained. Under the current tax law, you will be able to deduct every cent of your property taxes and mortgage interest payments per year for up to two homes.

Your maximum personal income tax bracket will drop—that's for sure—which means that homeowners will have more after tax cash to spend thanks to the lower tax brackets. Under the current tax law, homeowners have one of the very few personal-use tax shelters left standing in the wake of tax reform. The unlimited deductibility of mortgage interest and property taxes can only make 1st and 2nd homes more valuable.

For helpful tips on the tax advantages of commercial investment property and exchanges of commercial property, please drop by or phone the office for an analysis which could save you tax dollars. You might be pleasantly surprised at the results!

St. Eleanor's Guild plans prayer breakfast

MARGARET RODRIGUEZ

The women of Ruidoso have been invited to begin the Christmas season with a peaceful interlude of fellowship and prayer at the Second Annual St. Eleanor's Women's Guild Christmas Breakfast from 9-11 a.m. Saturday, December 5, at the Ruidoso Inn.

Planners say the event originated when they felt the need for a spiritual get-together during the busy holidays. The public is invited to the dutch-treat breakfast, to be followed by an inspirational message, prayer and music.

Margaret Rodriguez of Roswell will be the guest speaker. A native will be the guest speaker. A native of New Zealand, Rodriguez graduated from Christchurch Teachers' College in 1957, and has taught school in New Zealand, Australia, England and Scotland. Awards in scouting Joey Oliver is presented with the Arrow of Light Award by his father, David. The Arrow is the highest award a Cub Scout can receive. Young Oliver also crossed over to Boy Scouts during the scout meeting earlier this month.

Jesse Reynolds, J.J. Rue, Scot Stevens and Casey Riddle.

the meeting received awards and participated in a Father-Son Cake Auction.

Here is something to be thankful for Nob Hill kindergarteners presented their annual Thanksgiving play this week. The plot involves a turkey, played by Andrea Childess, who decides not to be eaten for dinner, but to eat dinner in-stead. The turkey escapes, under the shining sun, and convinces fellow barnyard residents (a couple of beans, pumpkins and sweet potatoes, plus two pigs) to follow him. He meets a family having a Thanksgiving picnic (pic-tured at far stage right) and everybody has a good time (including the audience, made up mainly of adoring parents).

Ski Apache Resort Manager Roy Parker surveys the progress of snowmaking efforts early this season. The resort has a snowmaking system that can cover slopes and hillsides at a rate of up to one million gallons of water changed to snow per night.

Ski Apache offers skiers new, improved trails

by DARRELL J. PEHR News Editor

A new trail, a lengthened trail and an improved trail will greet skiers as they hit the slopes this winter at Ski Apache Resort.

The new trail, East of East, is between East Meadows and Geronimo. East of East is rated intermediate.

Upper Moonshine has been added to the top of Moonshine Gulch, and can be reached via Ambush. The new skiing area had been used for powder skiing during past seasons, but now has been opened to enable machine grooming. The narrow trail is rated expert.

Ski Apache Resort crews also worked during the summer on Upper Deep Freeze, where the trail surface was worked on and improved to enable use of the run earlier in the season.

A building that housed the Handicapped Skiers program was removed, allowing for increased parking close to the main lodge. The Handicapped Skiers program has been moved to a new addition, built on the end of the Ski Patrol building. The new addition includes two upstairs offices for resort management. For skiers who enjoy racing, a coin-operated dual slalom course was installed. Located on the Smokey Bear Run, the course features a "Christmas tree" of starting lights and a computer voice that advises skiers to get ready. The voice starts the race, skiers race side by side down the course around breakaway gates, then an electronic timer displays the skiers' times. Cost of a race is $1.

"It's a fairly elaborate system," noted Resort Mountain Manager Denny Grover.

Grover and Resort Manager Roy Parker spoke of other changes at the resort.

An erosion control program on the side of the parking area used 450 yards of rock to reinforce a hillside. An additional snow groomer was purchased, bringing the Ski Apache fleet to eight machines, valued at more than a million dollars. Parker said the resort's fleet is the largest in the state.

"You've got to keep the trails groom-ed," he said.

Keeping trails properly maintained is a daily effort at Ski Apache Resort. Of particular importance is the resort's tremendous snowmaking capability due to a system that can pump up to a million gallons of water into frigid night air. That ensures the traditional Thanksgiving Day opening, and good coverage throughout the year.

Parker and Grover are quick to point out that snowmaking is exactly what happens at the resort.

Thank You Customers For Over 2½ Years Of Fun!

"People think it's ice," Parker said of the machine-made snow. "There's no one that can tell the difference," particularly when the machine-made snow has been groomed, he added.

When snowmaking is necessary, wheeled machines dot the resort's hillsides, each serviced by water and air lines. A huge compressor and three massive pumps feed water and air to the snowmakers. A million-gallon reservoir supplies the hungry pumps. The machine blast tiny droplets into subfreezing air, each freezes individually, then drops to the surface as snow. More than a third of the resort can be covered with the machine-made snow.

Parker pointed out that with spring's warmer temperatures, the snow melts and the water returns to the water table.

In the meantime, though, the snow provides recreation for thousands of skiers.

And this season, improved trails and facilities will make the Ski Apache Resort experience even better.

"It's great skiing," said Parker.

Tune skis for better skiing

Proper ski maintenance is just as important as proper exercise, equipment and instruction before hitting the slopes.

But maintenance often is overlooked. Equipment can be "tuned up" at home or at a local shop that specializes in the upkeep of skis, boots, poles and bindings. Experts advise tune-ups at least once a year, more often for frequent skiers.

The maintenance of boots and bindings is best left to the professional repair people. Improper adjustments of either could be a costly error.

But some ski maintenance can easily be done at home.

A thorough cleaning of the skis is followed by an inspection of the bottom of the skis for gouges and scratches. Ptex, a repair material, is melted and dripped onto the damaged areas of the ski's underside. When hardened, the Ptex drippings are scraped and leveled with a plastic scraper.

The metal edges are then sharpened with a file drawn from the tip to the tail of the skis, until a 90-degree angle is achieved. That edge is slightly dulled about four inches on each end of the skis, enabling easier turning on the snow.

Then, apply a proper base wax.

Keep equipment in good order to ensure the most enjoyment from the sport of skiing.

LA JUNTA . . . The Best of Both Worlds

Louisiana: La Junta Lagniappe!

Because the Finleys are natives of Louisiana, they have expressed their love for the deep South with the Cajun Country cabin decor, the croissants and coffee au lait, the kitchen basket of surprises and the stacked wood for your fireplaces.

Named for Louisiana Parishes, the cabins reflect the rustic elegance of Cajun comfort —

There's a lamp on the mantle, carpet on the floor, quilt on the bed, your name's on the door.

Enjoy the memorabilia of Louisiana and New Mexico in the serenity of your cabin; sit in your rocking chair in view of Sierra Blanca and the Capitan Mountain Range; or relax in La Junta's courtyard of Ponderosa, Pinon and Douglas Firs while you barbeque:

New Mexico: La Junta Ole'!

A seven-acre secluded resort of spacious cabins, La Junta is a microcosm of New Mexico's memorable trees, flowers and cool-clean mountain air at 7600 feet.

Located in the ski area, just six miles north of Ruidoso — one mile off Hwy. 37, falling snow is assured, "Red Sky in the Morning" is a reality, the aspen is a trademark, and lilacs welcome you. All contribute to making watercolor memories of your stay.

Owned by the Dunstan and Finley families, La Junta is as it has been for twenty-three years a rare, special combination of the past and present!

Racey and Hans, the family dogs still greet each new guest and recognize the old;
Katherine Finley's kitchen still welcomes all;
while Bob Finley continues to challenge the newcomers to horseshoes, pool or bridge; and the moonlight walk or the sunrise quiet is still—as always—something special at La Junta!

Ski Apache school offers lessons for all abilities

If you're six or older, you're old enough to ski.

And if you're old enough to ski, Ski Apache Resort has lessons tailor-made for your experience and abilities.

Group or private lessons are offered along with a "Ski Wee" program for children over six. There's a teen program for ages 13 to 18 with specially trained instructors on weekends and holidays, and lessons are offered daily at Ski Apache with "fun and safety" emphasized, which come complete with a complimentary lift ticket.

Ski Apache also offers Spanish speaking guests classes at specially designated times. Call 257-4356 for more information.

Ski Apache Ski School is one of the largest in the Southwest, with more than 100 certified and registered instructors. Rick Vincent, Ski Apache Ski School director, says that prices on their instruction and package deals are less expensive than at many other ski resorts.

These are the basic rates for weekdays. Weekends and holidays are slightly higher:

—All Day Adult, Teen or Child Beginner with Lift—$27.

—All Day Adult, Teen or Child Non-Beginner—$30 (no lift).

—Half Day Adult, Teen or Child Beginner with Lift—$20 —Half Day Adult, Teen or Child Non-Beginner—$20 (no lift).

—Two Consecutive Days, Beginner

with Lifts—$65

—Two consecutive days, Beginner

with Lifts and Equipment—$75
—Two Consecutive Days, Non-Beginner—$45 (no lift).

Children ages six to 12 will be accepted in the "Ski Wee" program. Teen classes are for persons ages 13 to 18, weekends and holidays only.

Private lessons:

—All Day-Any Age, five persons maximum per group, near same ability—$235.

—One person, one hour—$40.

-Each additional person, semi-private $20.

Children age five and under receive a free daily lift ticket with a private lesson.

Ski Apache Handicapped Skiers Association will begin its 12th year at Ski Apache Resort in a new location when the slopes open on Thanksgiving Day.

Formed in 1975 as the Sierra Blanca Handicap Skiers Association, the group will continue this season to provide volunteer services to handicapped children and adults under the guidance of director Diana Person. Trained under Hal O'Leary in Winter Park, Colorado, Person has directed the program since it began.

Students and adults with various handicaps are eligible for the program. The association serves students from the New Mexico School for the Visually Handicapped in Alamogordo; schools for the deaf in Santa Fe, Big Spring, Texas, and El Paso, Texas; the Permian Basin Rehabilitation Center in Odessa, Texas; and others. Person works closely with the Ruidoso schools.

The handicapped program is funded entirely through private donations, and instructors are all volunteers. An annual clinic provides training for anyone with an intermediate knowledge of skiing who wants to work in the program. The clinic deals with blind guiding, three-track skiing for amputees, working with mentally retarded students and four-track skiing for the severely handicapped.

During a normal ski season the program uses more than 40 volunteer instructors to provide more than 600 lessons to students with many different handicaps.

To learn more about Ski Apache Handicapped Skiers Association or to become a volunteer, call Person at 257-7155 or 336-4411.

LLOYD L. DAVIS JR.

Avid skiers: heading downhill for snowy thrills

by BONNY CHRISTINA CELINE News Staff Writer

Like everything else, there are many different reasons people ski, but the most listed reason, here in Ruidoso, is "because I love it."

The mayor of Ruidoso, Lloyd Davis Jr., has been skiing for 47 years. "I go every Saturday and Sunday, and as often as I can midweek," he says enthusiastically.

Davis cites being close to nature as one of the most important reasons he stays on skis. "The sport is very exhibitanting," he says. "You're close to nature, it's quiet, you're out in the open air—I think it's very good exercise, a very healthy activity."

Davis has skied in many places, including Santa Fe, Vail, Taos and Aspen. "They're all different," he says, "but none are better than Ski Apache."

He lists "the old Rover Trail," which has recently been subdivided, as his favorite, and adds, "I can't think of one that I don't like. Mescalero, Geronimo, Screaming Eagle, they're all just beautiful. Onion Patch, that's an excellent hill. Roy's Run—I love them

Dusty Cocchiola, an employee at the main Post Office, has been skiing for 14 years. "I just enjoy myself when I'm out there," he says. "I like it best when there's not too many people around."

Cocchiola has skied elsewhere in New Mexico, including Sandia, and also in Michigan. "I always have a good time on the slopes," he admits. "I don't have a favorite at Ski Apache, I like them all, the steep ones and the easier ones." He tries to get out there at least once a week, "more, if I'm lucky."

Signmaker Candyce Garrett has been skiing since she came to Ruidoso six years ago. "There's so many things about Ski Apache I like," she says. "There's the solitude, the quiet, being so close to nature, being alone. But you know, I think I like it even better when I ski with friends. That's the most fun of all, going with a group of people you enjoy being with."

Garrett's daughters, Brandie and Stacy, both enjoy the sport and participate in the school's ski program.

"Mescalero is my favorite run, and the Gondola Liftline. It's hard to make up my mind. I like to go best during the week when there are less people. In 1985 I went four or five times each week. Last year I was so busy I only got to go a dozen times or so during the whole season."

When asked how often she'll hit the trails this year, Garrett laughs and answers: "Just as often as I possibly can."

Tim Morris, Ruidoso Municipal Airport manager, also waxes enthusiastically about his favorite sport. "I love to ski—just love it," he says. "For one thing, it gets me away from the telephone.

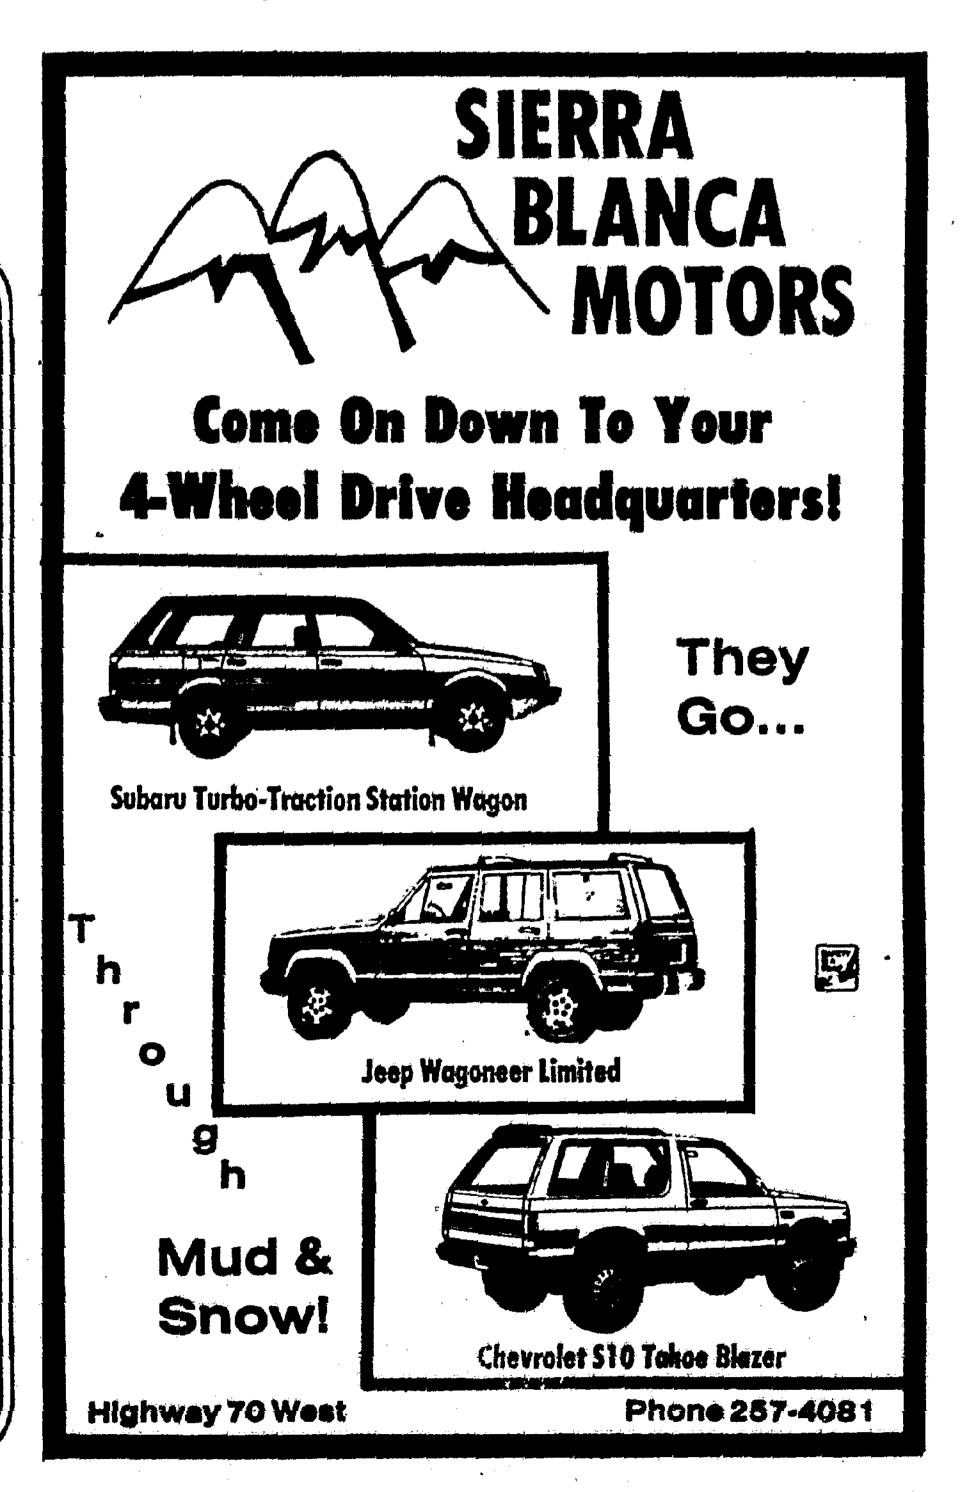

"It's good physical exercise, I like to go on weekends, and if I can I sneak away during the week," Morris reports. He has been skiing for 25 years.

"I like to ki all the trails at Apache. There's none too small or too big for me, they're all different. Screaming Eagle is my favorite, but I like variety."

Morris skis primarily at Ski Apache, but sometimes travels to Taos and Aspen. 'It's really a safe sport if you keep your equipment and bindings in shape," he says. "Years ago it was more experimental, but now things are so technically engineered it is almost impossible to hurt yourself. Knock on wood, of course."

He will be busy until the new airport opens on December 11, but then he will hit the slopes "as soon as I possibly can."

"I'm looking forward to it already," says Morris.

Slide into some fun in town after a day of skiing

The fun doesn't have to be over when skiers come down the mountain and hang up their skis after a day on the slopes. The Ruidoso area offers a number of choices for the "apres ski" crowd.

The entertainment scene includes places to dine, dance, enjoy a quiet Or how about a stroll down Sudderth Drive, or an evening of bowling? Just take your pick! Following are just a few of the entertainment options around Ruidoso.

The Cochera, besides a full menu of New Mexican and American food in the restaurant, offers a taco bar and happy hour prices from 4-7 p.m. Monday through Friday in the Cantina. Wednesdays are ladies nights and Thursdays are Margarita Madness. The Cantina offers live music five nights a week with a dance contest every Saturday.

THE BULLRING: on State Highway 37 (Mechem Drive) at White Mountain Drive. Santa Fe's famous restaurant and bar offers a full menu in its Ruidoso location with cocktails, wine, entertainment and dancing in the bar. Besides happy hour from 4-7 p.m. Monday through Friday, The Bullring has Monday night football with $1 beer, and happy hour all night on Wednesdays. Live 60s and 70s rock 'n roll dance music is presented Wednesday through Saturday, with ladies night every Thursday.

CASA BLANCA 501 Mechem Drive. Happy hour begins at 2 p.m. and continues until 6 p.m. in the cozy downstairs bar at Casa Blanca. The upstairs restaurant menu features burgers, Mexican dishes and steaks. Casa Blanca offers live entertainment on weekends. The bartender invites skiers and friends to come in and enjoy a drink by the new fireplace.

WIN, PLACE AND SHOW (WPS): in the heart of Midtown on Sudderth Drive. Owner Martha Rankin bills WPS as a nice quiet local place, that's always ready to welcome visitors. "We really like skiers and we have a fireplace," notes Rankin. Happy hour is from 4-6 p.m. Monday through Friday, with a live band, Kerry and the Players, providing dance music Wednesday through Saturday.

CATTLE BARON: 657 Sudderth Drive. Cattle Baron features family dining in the steak and seafood restaurant as well as a quiet, comfortable bar with a fireplace in the corner. Happy hour prices prevail from 4-6 p.m. Monday through Friday and "munchies" can be ordered in the bar.

INN OF THE MOUNTAIN GODS: out Carrizo Creek Road just a short drive from Ruidoso. Enjoy the innovative regional cuisine at candlelit tables in the Dan Li Ka dining room overlooking the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation, or have a quiet drink in the lounge. The Inn will have a live band in the downstairs lounge and re-open the piano bar behind the main lobby during the holiday season. A champagne brunch is offered from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Sundays. For information on what's happening at the Inn, call 257-5141.

PRIME TIME: across from Ruidoso Downs Race Track in the Downs. Prime Time is a steakhouse and lounge featuring top country and western music Monday through Saturday and a large dance floor. The live entertainment begins at 7:30 p.m. during the week and at 8:30 p.m. on weekends. Happy hour, from 5-7 p.m. Monday through Friday, features special drink prices and complimentary hors d'oeuvres. Skiers get a free drink by showing a lift ticket.

THE BARN: on U.S. Highway 70 west of Sudderth Drive. The Barn has announced plans to open "The Loft" upstairs from 4:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. Wednesday through Sunday to offer a "warm and cozy" atmosphere this winter. The Loft will feature television, a gameroom, pool tables and dancing to live music, with a Sunday matinee from 3 to 8 p.m. The Barn management invites skiers and locals to visit The Loft and watch for drink specials and specials on munchies. Special events will be announced throughout ski season.

RUIDOSO BOWLING CENTER: located on State Highway 37 (Mechem Drive), south of Ski Run Road, just north of White Mountain Drive. "If you want to bowl, we'll get you in," assures the Bowling Center manager, who says the bright, modern building has plenty of lanes and much more. The Bowling Center features a pool table, video games, darts and "a nice little bar." Call ahead, or just stop by, invites the manager.

THE CANTINA AT LA POSADA AN-TIGUA, in the historic Carrizo Lodge on Carrizo Creek Road offers happy hour from 3-5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, with a late-night happy hour starting at 9.p.m. The Cantina happy hour includes half-price drinks and Mexicanstyle snacks. Patrollers stay alert to aid skiers in distress

They're everywhere.

Members of the Ski Patrol, wearing color-coded red, orange or blue jackets, are the first ones on the mountain and the last ones down at Ski Apache Resort. And, in between, the patrollers ski all the trails on the lookout for anyone needing help or information.

"We do everything from making sure the lifts are ready in the morning to making a last-minute sweep before the mountain closes," said Fred Pavlovic, beginning his sixth year as director of the Ski Patrol. Pavlovic said patrollers are available to give aid, provide information, clear the slopes of debris and Patrol. make sure skiers ski safely.

Pavlovic said he'll have 15 or more professional ski patrol members on his staff, and they'll be highly visible in their red jackets. He said the National Ski Patrol volunteers will number around 65, with the auxiliary members identified by their blue jackets and the hill patrollers by their orange/rust jackets. Auxiliary members work mainly in the first aid room, while the volunteers who are qualified to pull first aid sleds work the mountain.

Mike Nance of Midland, Texas, has been elected this year's patrol leader for the National Ski Patrol whose members work directly under the professional patrol staff. Charles Scott is beginning his fifth year as assistant director of Ski

"If anybody does get hurt we are here to help them," said Pavlovic. The most common ailment treated in the Ski Patrol building is altitude sickness, said Pavlovic. He said the victims normally rest a few moments, are given some oxygen and hot chocolate, and are soon having a great time skiing.

Paviovic advises skiers to avoid altitude problems by having a good breakfast and taking time for lunch if Medical Services. skiing all day. Skiers who feel tired or light-headed should take a short break, said Pavlovic.

Skiers also are cautioned to exercise regularly to be in the best physical shape for skiing. Pavlovic recommends "stretching out" before hitting the slopes.

Besides free first aid services offered by the Ski Patrol, Ski Apache also offers an on-site clinic, Rocky Mountain Pavlovic invites anyone with questions or in need of help or directions to look for a Ski Patrol member on the mountain or in the First Aid area to the right of the gondola lift.

Skiers prepare to race down the Capitan Run at Ski Apache Resort. The area offers a wide range of racing opportunities, from coin-operated fun races to the serious competition of the Texas Cup.

Get ready to race!

Ski Apache Resort should have plenty of racing for skiing enthusiasts this winter.

It will have both NASTAR (National Standard Race) racing and cup racing.

The Texas Cup will be February 12-14, and is limited to Texas residents. It will be on the Capitan Run.

The New Mexico Cup will be February 19-21, and it is open just to New Mexican residents. It also will be on the Capitan Run.

The Coca Cola Cup, scheduled for January 30, probably will be on the NASTAR course.

Dates for the Lubbock Cup and El Paso Cup, each limited to residents of those Texas cities, have not been set yet. They probably will be conducted on the Capitan Run. Also scheduled is the Media Race March 5. It probably will be on the NASTAR run. NASTAR races also will be conducted every Wednesday and Sunday.

NASTAR races are recreational races set by national standards.

"They could begin around December 9, if we have the right conditions," said Ski Apache Ski School Director Rick Vincent.

Does Vincent expect a good season? "Oh yes," he answered. "We should have a really good season.

"One new thing we have this season will be a coin-operated dual course operating every day. It will allow two skiers at the same time."

The dual slalom course features electronic timing and breakaway gates.

Nearby Ski Cloudcroft offers skiing for all levels

Ski Cloudcroft, just a short drive from Ruidoso to the east of the Village of Cloudcroft, will open on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 26, and remain open until Easter.

Owners Tom and Jennie Dorgan, beginning their fifth season operating the state's southernmost ski slope, report that Ski Cloudcroft features skiing for all levels, reasonable prices and short lift lines. Dorgan said a family lift ticket is just $50, and an adult can ski for as little as $15 a day at Ski Cloudcroft.

The Tot Ski School is a special feature of Ski Cloudcroft. Providing four hours of snow skiing with an instructor specializing in teaching youngsters to ski, the program introduces young children to the fun of skiing. Dorgan said the Tot Ski School is a fun and worthwhile learning experience—not a babysitting service.

For just $25, youngsters three years and older receive a lift ticket, lessons, lunch with the instructor and plenty of hot chocolate, said Dorgan. He advises parents: "Bring your camera."

Ski instruction is provided for all ages through the area's Ski School.

The wide variety of terrain on the mountain at Ski Cloudcroft offers skiers 26 trails-35 percent beginner, 45 percent intermediate and 20 percent advanced. Skiing choices range from plenty of gentle slopes to several very steep advanced trails.

Ski Cloudcroft is located at 9,600 feet and averages over 10 feet of natural snow each season. But, with or without that natural snow, the area provides good ski conditions using sophisticated snowmaking equipment. Crews already have begun coating the mountain with a base of the dense manmade snow.

National Ski Patrol members, trained in advanced first aid techniques, patrol

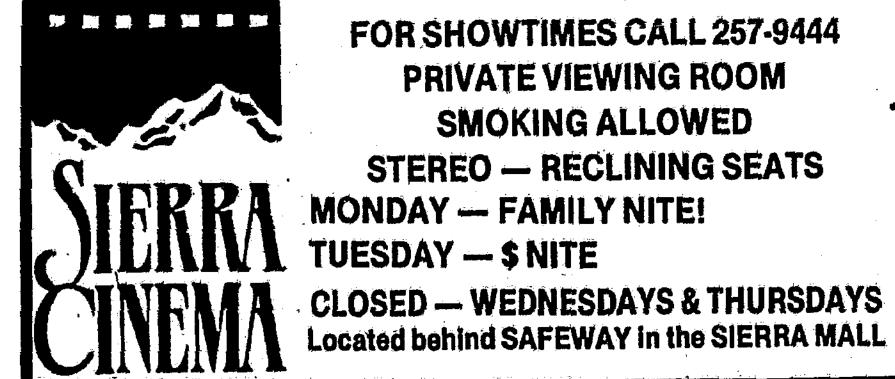

Ski Cloudcroft and provide emergency aid to skiers.

The area boasts a well-stocked equipment rental shop, as well as a clothing and supply shop, inside the lodge. A snack bar is located upstairs in the lodge.

Ski Cloudcroft will be open daily during the Christmas holidays and will be in operation Thursday through Monday the rest of the season. For daily ski reports, or to obtain more information about Ski Cloudcroft, call (505) 682-2333.

Exercise before taking to the slopes

People who ski have to be in condition.

If you want to become a better skier;
if you want to have more fun skiing; if you want to prevent any kind of injury:
You have to be in shape.

A fitness program which includes aerobic conditioning, muscle strengthening and flexibility is a necessity.

Aerobic conditioning can be accomplished in many ways. Aerobic activity is a continuous activity which works the heart and is maintained for at least 20 to 30 minutes without stopping.

This can be done by fast walking, jogging, riding a stationary bike, or aerobic classes.

It's a good idea to know your target heart rate, that rate at which the heart is exercised based on your age and weight.

The idea is not to overwork the heart, but to achieve a steady sustained point to achieve a good level of aerobic conditioning. It will obviously make skiing more fun, because skiers will not become so tired.

Many ski injuries occur when a skier is tired, and thus, good conditioning is a way to prevent injuries.

Muscle strengthening can be accomplished in several ways also.

Nautilus workout machines are a great way to strengthen the muscles of the leg. However, the upper body is also important and should not be neglected.

Free weight workouts can increase muscle strength. The main thing is to find a method which you like and stick with it.

A workout should be done at least three times per week. It is not a good idea to work the same muscle group two consecutive days.

Most trainers suggest working a muscle one day and letting it rest the next day. Good muscle strength in both the upper and lower body will make those runs easier most days on the mountain.

The extra strength will help a skier maintain more body control, and may provide the edge that prevents an injuries fall.

Many people do not realize the importance of flexibility. A good exercise program will include exercises which provide a full range of motion for all the joints, and slow gentle sustained stretches.

This helps keep the body flexible and can prevent minor sprains and strains.

can prevent minor sprains and strains.

Flexibility can also help be the edge that separates a minor injury from a major injury.

Many aerobic classes have a segment devoted to stretches in the cool-down period of the class.

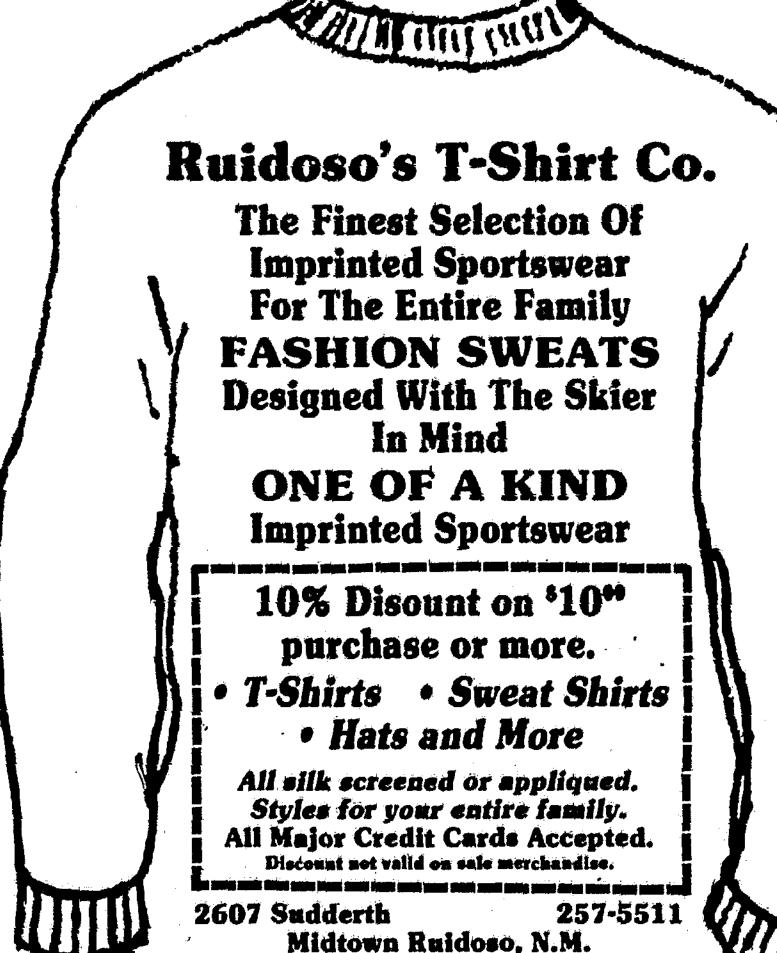

Remember, don't stretch a cold muscle, make sure you are warmed up before doing any sustained stretching.

Make skiing more fun. Don't get tired, don't get sore, and don't get hurt.

Take the precautions that can prevent these problems. People will find their skiing improves and they will enjoy the slopes so much more.

People will be better skiers and there will be less of chance of an injury which can end the ski season in a hurry.

Improve ski conditions with use of ski etiquette

"Hey! Why don't you watch where you're going!"

That's a phrase that should never be heard while skiing, but it is,

Why? Because some skiers have never stopped to think about "ski etiquette."

Consider the following rules, as suggested by Ski Apache Resort:

-When skiing downhill, or overtaking another skier, you must avoid the skier below you.

-You must not stop where you obstruct a trail or are not visible from above.

-When entering a trail or starting downhill, yield to other skiers.

-Keep off closed trails and posted areas and observe all signs.

Other pointers also can help.

Warn other skiers, when overtaking them on narrow trails, by calling "On your left" or "On your right," preparing them for your approach and helping to avoid accidents.

Always ski inside the boundaries of the resort. Always ski under control, which means being able to come to a stop at any given time. Ski on trails at your ability level, especially early in the season when just getting back in shape.

Above all, use common sense. The sport of skiing is best enjoyed when we all look out for each other, and make the best use of ski etiquette.

THE STONE FAMILY WELCOMES YOU!

Winter driving is challenging

by GARY BROWN Sports Writer

Loooook out, we'reeee going to skidddd!

Skidding, sliding, driving off the road and getting stuck in isolated places have been part of my driving experience during the winter in Ruidoso.

And it can be quite an experience!

I've gotten stuck in one ditch near my apartment several times after I've skidded on the road and wasn't able to negotiate the turn.

If a person skids while driving on the road, it's important to make the right decision.

Drivers with rear-wheel-drive vehicles should steer into the skid and let up on the gas.

People who have front-wheel-drive vehicles should steer away from the skid and gently accelerate.

But skidding is just one of the problems motorists must be prepared to deal with in the wintertime.

A person must be well-equipped to drive in Lincoln County's winter season.

For starters, you've GOT to have a scraper.

Ice forms on car windows quickly in the wintertime and the white stuff is almost impossible to get off without a scraper. It's also a good idea to have warm gloves, jumper cables, flashers and brushes.

A person also should warm up the car for several minutes in the morning. This probably will help prevent stalling in cold weather.

Ruidoso police recommend that drivers reduce their speed during snowy or icy weather.

Drivers should stay below the speed limit during these times.

The Ruidoso area has several main roads like Sudderth and Mechem, and people should stay on the main roads during bad weather.

The police also recommend that people should drive defensively, slower than usual and leave plenty of space between their car and other vehicles.

Another thing for drivers to watch out for is "black ice."

"Black ice" sometimes forms after a storm when the snow is scraped or melted. It looks like the pavement.

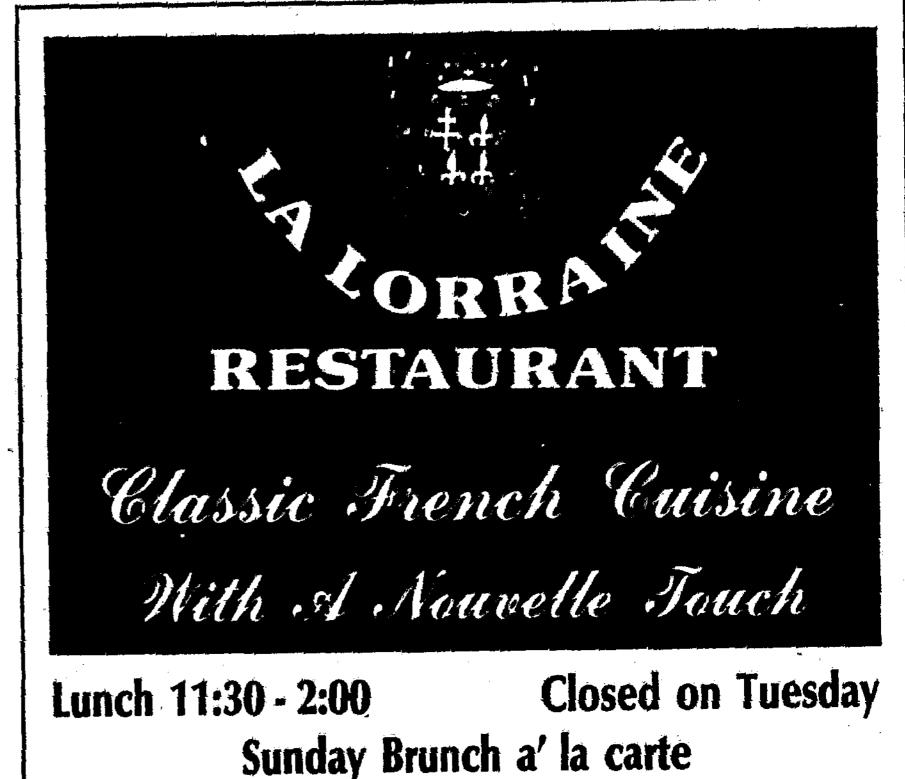

And most importantly, always wear a safety belt at all times, and NEVER DRINK while driving.

Follow all the above recommendations and you should be able to handle winter driving in Lincoln County.

And that includes controlling the car so you won't skiddddddddddd!
