Council accepts budget; new member is appointed

The Ruidoso Village Council got a new member and approved two budgets during a regular meeting Tuesday.

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. appointed J.D. James to fulfill the unexpired term of former councillor Rick Davis, who resigned last month. (See related story.)

Councillors approved both the municipal budget and the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) budget for fiscal year 1987-88.

The $9.5 million airport budget got more attention Tuesday than the over $5 million municipal budget that councillors have been working on for the last several weeks. Eggleston said budget cuts were identified during a Monday workshop that resulted in the balanced budget.

Councillors learned in two recent workshops that next year's revenues are expected to fall about $1 million short of this year's ending budget. They wrestled with where and how to finally make a balanced budget, and finally made dramatic cuts in the Police Department budget, eliminated a one percent across-the-board salary increase, cut $20,000 from the Emergency Medical Services request and pared operating expenses throughout.

Councillor Victor Alonso noted if revenues don't come up to projections, the group will have to "reshuffle."

"If we see any downturn we'll do whatever's necessary," said Councillor Jerry Shaw.

"It sure is more fun serving on council when the money's rolling in," said Alonso.

Mayor Davis called for a break for councillors to sign the official budget, after Eggleston announced it has to be in Santa Fe by June 1.

"Are you sending it by Pony Express?" asked the mayor.

In discussions on the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport (SBRA) budget, SBAC Chairman Tim Morris announced that with the money now available "we will have an operational airport December 1 without expending any local money except for the funds derived from the sale of the airport land."

He said funds from Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), the state Department of Transportation, the old airport land, private investors and other state and federal grants have been identified to cover the $9,489,631 capital budget.

Morris explained that the SBAC budget also will be submitted for approval by the other four members: the Lincoln County Commission, the villages of Capitan and Ruidoso Downs and the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe.

The operating budget that Morris presented was for eight months based on figures from the Ruidoso Municipal Airport, which he manages. That budget, $361,130, contains $101,900 for personnel and benefits, $28,300 for administration, $17,300 for maintenance, $109,400 for fuel (cost of goods), $7,000 for taxes on fuel sold, $44,400 for legal and professional services, $20,000 for start-up and moving and $32,830 (10 percent) contingency.

Councillor Elmer Pirelli asked what happens to the 12-month $400,107 Ruidoso Municipal Airport budget.

"That's a very interesting question," noted Morris. "We're working with a very unknown thing," he added.

He said it's obvious that with a 24-hour facility, 14 miles from town, the facility will need extra personnel. New Councillor J.D. James asked for more information on the line items in the budget.

"I hate to see a budget submitted like this—back it up with a worksheet," suggested James.

Alonso recalled a meeting at Cree Meadows Country Club when officials discussed who will operate the airport.

"We committed to get back together on that," said Alonso. Village attorney John Underwood said he is "working on it" and will have something to report within seven days.

"We hope that this (budget) changes drastically," said Mayor Davis, adding it is hoped that other funds can be secured. He said the budget can be amended.

Morris reported on other SBAC activities, including efforts to come up with a development plan for the private T-hangar area. He responded to questions on a transition period when both the Ruidoso airport and the regional facility could be operated by asking the council: "To what extent do you want to present liability to yourselves?"

Morris said the FAA would clearly state its position, and would limit use of the old airport during the transition to local fixed-base operators after the SBRA becomes operational.

"The FAA very clearly states ... they don't want a situation where they don't want a situation where this airport has a bunch of airplanes next Memorial Day," said Morris.

In other regular business Tuesday, the council:

—Approved appointments by Mayor Davis to the Airport Advisory Planning Board. Davis appointed Herb Brunell, Cece Griffin, Frank Kolb, Marie Rooney, David Smith, Margaret Lahey, Councillor Elmer Pirelli and Wayne Townsend. Davis said he'll add to the board later, with plans to have from 12 to 15 members.

—Set a public hearing for June 30 to consider a zoning change request denied by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

—Received a written report on capital projects from Infrastructure Division head Becky Durham.

—Set a workshop on paving for 8:30 a.m. Monday, June 1.

—Heard from Councillor Shaw that she and Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor have been appointed to the New Mexico Municipal League legislative committee. Shaw asked for suggestions on issues to be considered.

—Went into executive session to discuss pending litigation.

—Reconvened and voted unanimously to intervene in the gas company's case before the State Corporation Commission and to reject a proposal from "Mr. and Mrs. Hall."

Councillors Ray Dean Carpenter and Elmer Pirelli both explained Wednesday that the gas company, after agreeing to notify the village and the county before filing with the State Corporation Commission, went ahead and filed without providing that notice. They said if the village doesn't intervene now, it will lose its chance to enter any possible objections in the case.

"There's some question about the gas company's certificate of convenience," said Pirelli.

Carpenter said attorney Mike Runnels will represent the village in the filing.

The two councillors said the Halls claim the value of their property was diminished by the building of the Grandstone Canyon Dam, and offered to sell their property to the village at its appraised value. Councillors declined the offer.

"If we did we'd establish a precedent," said Pirelli. "It's a little late now," he added.

State OKs water defense funds

Hubert Quintana, director of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District, said Wednesday the Department of Finance has approved a $75,000 emergency grant to help Lincoln and Chaves counties protect their water rights from claims by the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe.

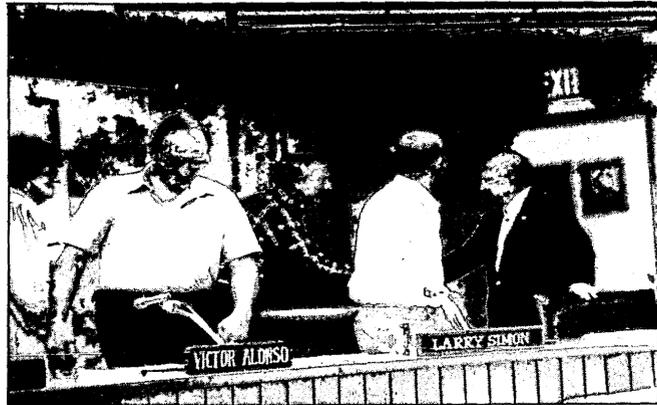

The grant, to be administered through the Department of Natural Resources, will be used to develop technical evidence in the upcoming water case, said Quintana. He said the grant may not be used to pay legal costs.

"They did leave the door open for us to go back for more funds," noted Quintana. He has been working with the Water Defense Association (WDA), a group of area water right owners, to obtain funds for the case.

WDA attorney Richard A. Simms said in a recent meeting the United States government, on behalf of the Mescalero Apache Indians, has spent more than $2 million on the J.D. James was appointed Tuesday to the Ruidoso Village Council.

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. named James, an unsuccessful candidate for mayor in 1986, to fulfill the unexpired term of Rick Davis, who resigned last month. Former Councillor Davis also was appointed, after William A. "Dub" Holt resigned.

Mayor Davis said Wednesday he selected James because of the interest he's shown in village government by attending a lot of meetings and becoming actively involved on the Planning and Zoning Commission. Davis said several people suggested James for the job.

Village clerk/finance director Leon Eggleston conducted a swearing-in ceremony after the council unanimously approved the appointment Tuesday, and Councillor James immediately took his seat at the council table.

During his campaign for mayor, James stressed that he is a businessman—not a politician. Retired from Sun Pipeline, James has been in Ruidoso for nearly six years. He advocates managing the village and the taxpayers' money in a businesslike manner.

"We should keep control on the purse strings and eliminate a lot of waste," said James during a forum last year.

And his first act as a councillor was to question the Sierra Blanca Airport Commission budget submitted by Tim Morris, Ruidoso's representative to that five-member board. The council approved the budget, but not before James asked Morris to substantiate how some of the figures were derived.

Two years ago James called for stopping all funds to the Eagle Creek well field. Councillor James was reluctant to discuss that issue when questioned Wednesday.

"I think there are other things," said James. He said village manager Frank Potter has implemented a number of the reporting procedures that he was recommending during the 1986 campaign.

"I'm well-pleased with what I've seen so far," noted James.

Futurity, big Trifecta pool await fans

After eluding fans for the past three weeks, Ruidoso Downs' Twin Trifecta wager will open with a $132,000 carryover this weekend when the mountain track hosts the $500,000 Kansas Futurity.

Twelve-race programs are featured Friday through Sunday beginning at 1 p.m. each day. Sunday's Kansas Futurity will be telecast live to many of the nation's markets by Winner Communications of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

No winning tickets have been cashed in the Twin Trifecta since the bet was introduced for the 1987 season. Track officials are projecting a $170,000 pool when handicappers go after Friday's large carryover.

Make Jos Day and Go Pas Go match their abilities over Ruidoso's 350-yard straightaway on Friday in the $37,000 Second Consolation of the Kansas Futurity.

Saturday, trainer Lee Ivey's Shutup And Deal figures to receive strong support for the $45,000 Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity after romping to a four-length victory in trials for the sprint last week.

The 5-furlong Kindergarten Shares the marquee with the $70,000 Kansas Futurity First Consolation, which features the second-fastest group of qualifiers for that Grade I event.

case. WDA board members hope to have $200,000 to prepare a case. Quintana said Department of Natural Resources Secretary Dr. Tom Bahr testified on behalf of the grant request. The long involved water case includes a claim to more than 18,000 acre-feet of Rio Ruidoso water by the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe. The two-tiered case involves objections from other users to the Indian claims and objections by to tribe to other water rights along the stream system. Background evidence in the next phase of the trial must be submitted to former Supreme Court Justice LaFel Oman by July 24. Oman has been designated to hear the case, with testimony set to begin in November.

Items on the agenda include: —Request from North American Developments, Inc. to relocate a public relations booth from Sierra Mall to the parking lot of Village Auto Repair at 2200 Sudderth Drive. —Reconsider P&Z's denial of a request by Eugene Duvall for a zone change from single family residential (R-1) to multi-family residential (R-2) the property commonly known as the K.O.R. campground located southeast of U.S. Highway 70 and northeast of Pinecrest Drive. —Adoption of Policy Statement #2 concerning notification of adjacent property owners in variance cases. —Review of the zoning ordinance.

Police catch wanted man

A Louisiana man wanted on charges of attempted murder, unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and car theft was arrested Tuesday in Ruidoso, according to Deputy Police Chief Jim Alston. John Joseph Gold, 24, was taken into custody by detective Danny Steward and immediately turned over to federal authorities for transport to federal detention facilities in Albuquerque, said Alston. Gold was located in Ruidoso after local authorities received a tip as to his whereabouts. Alston said the suspect was jailed in Louisiana on charges of abducting, raping and beating his ex-wife. He said Gold is accused of escaping and later beating another woman and stealing her car. "He was handled so rapidly he never entered a jail cell," noted Alston.

Reeves enters guilty plea to embezzlement charges

A plea agreement in the Raymond Reeves trial was presented recently before District Judge Sandra Grisham. According to Assistant District Attorney Harry Wilcox Jr. and defense attorney Mike McCormick, Judge Grisham has not yet accepted the plea, but has taken it under advisement. Although Wilcox was unwilling to comment on a case that is under advisement, he confirmed that Reeves entered a guilty plea to three embezzlement charges, with a provision that he make restitution to the Steve Harris Trust Fund. "We're sort of in a holding pattern," said McCormick. Reeves was charged by Ruidoso Police last September of embezzling $13,700 from a fund established at Ruidoso State Bank to benefit injured jockey Steve Harris, according to official records.

The 51-year-old Reeves, free on $25,000 bond, faces two third-degree felony charges and one fourth-degree felony charge. A trial date was set, but District Court Clerk Margo Lindsey said the case didn't go to trial after Reeves made an appearance before Judge Grisham and entered the plea. The Steve Harris Trust Fund was established last June after Reeves, then manager of The Barn, was involved in organizing a benefit to help the well-known jockey with expenses he's incurred since he was paralyzed in a riding accident. Ruidoso Police gathered information on the missing funds after attorney Charles Hawthorne, representing Harris, filed a complaint on his client's behalf on September 19, 1986.

Torch run

County commissioners pass $14 million budget

The Lincoln County Commissioners gave final approval to adopt a $14 million budget for the 1987-88 fiscal year during a meeting of the board Tuesday at the courthouse in Carrizozo. The new budget includes $8.5 million in funds, granted by the state Legislature, for construction of the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport access road. The general fund, which covers salaries, law enforcement, fire departments, maintenance, and health services, grew by $3,000 over last year's budget and the new budget grew $10,000 overall, said Lincoln County manager Suzanne Cox. "This was the hardest budget I have had to work on, the budget requests far exceeded what we had to work with," said Cox. Cox is pleased with the outcome of the final budget because "most counties have to cut budgets, we have had to just maintain our spending," she said. A look at the official budget shows that insurance costs rose by 14 percent, total revenue rose by four percent and there will be no tax increase. The commissioners meeting, which drew a near capacity crowd, remained relatively uneventful until approval of the final budget came up on the agenda. Audience member Jackie Spencer gave her account of a burglary that she witnessed, criticized the sheriff's department for their "sad performance" and pleaded with the board to upgrade the sheriff's budget. Chairman Hightower defended cuts in the sheriff's budget based on the loss of higher paid deputies and the hiring of new deputies at lower wages. Lincoln County Sheriff Don Samuels questioned the board about hiring more men and acquiring more vehicles under a grant from the state and asked if he could use a three percent pay raise, included in the new budget, at his discretion in order to bring some of his men's pay up to parity. Samuels was told by the board that those issues did not necessarily apply to passing the final budget and they could be brought up at a future meeting of the board. The only juggling of the budget itself occurred when the question came up of funding a fulltime secretary for the Carrizozo, Upper Hondo, and South Central Mountain Area Soil and Water Conservation District. Funds were cut from the Clauch Pinto and Chaves Water and Soil Conservation District and applied to cover the secretary's salary. In other business, the commissioners: —Adopted a motion to lend support to the Economic Development Corporation, a non-profit group, at a cost of $200. —Approved a motion to adopt two sections of County Road E-029 as public road and to maintain the road under the condition that the landowners provide gravel for maintenance and subject to conditions included in the road review committee's report. —Approved the closing of County Road E-031 to clear up paperwork on the road, which had been closed by a previous commission. —Approved the vacating of Lincoln Street from Moore Avenue to Hockradle Avenue in the Nogal Townsite under the conditions that easements and access are maintained. —Approved the adoption of liquor license fees, which go into effect July 1, 1987. —Rejected bids for architectural services because they are no longer needed. —Signed a joint powers agreement between the New Mexico State Highway Department and Lincoln County concerning the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport access road. —Agreed to accept bids from county propane companies on a 1949 propane tank and its fuel. —Assigned a road review committee to study closing Road A-014 as was petitioned. —Approved formulation of a comprehensive land use plan for Lincoln County by the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission. —Heard a request from Yvonne Lanelli that they consider widening a section of Sun Mountain Road as it is too narrow in one section. The board approved a motion to direct the engineers to expand the road to full width. —Approved payment to Bill McCarty Construction Company for work on the Alto Village Paving District project.

LISA KAYE HUEY

Hart, Huey exchange wedding vows

Lisa Kaye Hart and Billie Charles Huey exchanged wedding vows May 16 at the First Christian Church in Lubbock, Texas. Dr. Larry Keefauver officiated.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Hart of Duncanville, Texas. The groom's grandmother is Mrs. Vida Rae Howell of Ruidoso.

The bride chose a wedding gown by the designer of Alfred Angelo. The white organza gown featured a Queen Anne neckline and long, sheer sleeves caught at mid-arm with wide lace cuffs that ended with fingertip points. The bodice of the gown was encrusted with a beaded lace motif. The basque waistline allowed the full organza skirt to fall softly, accenting the ruffle of schiffi lace. The mid-cathedral train was complemented with schiffi lace ruffles from the waist to the hemline. The bride custom designed her own headpiece—a wreath of white tissue, silk roses; a pouf of tulle catching the fingertip veil. The bride carried a cascading nosegay of bridal pink roses, pink and white miniature carnations, stephanotis and baby's breath.

Gigi Cucuaro of Lubbock served as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Connie Stovall of Lubbock and Jan Huey of Ruidoso. The bride's niece, Sara Durrwachter, was the flower girl. The attendants wore matching, full-length gowns of colonial rose satin. Silk rose wreaths with colonial rose and burgundy ribbon streamers completed the ensemble of the maid of honor and bridesmaids. A cluster of pink roses with ribbon streamers adorned the flower girl's hair.

The bridesmaids carried bouquets of a burgundy rose, stephanotis and baby's breath, tied together with colonial rose and burgundy ribbon. The flower girl carried a white wicker basket filled with pink miniature carnations and baby's breath.

Bill Uihlein of Portales served as best man. The groomsmen were the groom's uncle, Wilton Howell of Ruidoso, and the bride's brother, Tom Hart of Austin, Texas. Larry Bell of Seagraves, Texas, and David Noteboom of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, served as ushers and candlelighters.

Alison Carter, a friend of the bride, sang "The Wedding Song," "Not Two But One," and "Wedding Prayer" during the double ring ceremony.

A reception followed, immediately after the ceremony, in the Green Room of the church. Mary Witherspoon of Duncanville and Susan Norton of De Soto, Texas, served the wedding cake. The bride's sister, Pam Durrwachter of College Station, Texas, served the punch. Lori Myrick of Lubbock attended to the guest book.

The couple will live in Lubbock after a honeymoon trip to Lake LBJ near Austin.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Duncanville High School and a 1984 graduate of Texas Tech University. She will complete an MA in English at Texas Tech this summer.

The groom is a 1981 graduate of Ruidoso High School and a 1985 graduate of Texas Tech University. He will continue work on an MS in mechanical engineering at Texas Tech.

Capitan wedding

Brandy Flanagan and Esther Otero were married May 11 at the bride's home in Capitan. Esther is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Otero of El Palsano Restaurant. Brandy is the son of Dr. D.J. Flanagan, formerly of Fort Stanton. The couple honeymooned in Mexico.

FmHA seeks nominations for committee positions

The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) announced Friday that it is accepting nominations for positions on the Lincoln and Otero County Committee.

Eligible voters can nominate candidates by petition for the June county election.

FmHA committee elections are open to all eligible voters without regard to race, religion, color, national origin, age, political affiliation, marital status, sex and, or, handicap.

Petitions and instructions can be obtained at FmHA offices and must be returned to the Lincoln County Office, FmHA 1096 Mechem Dr. Ruidoso, NM no later than Wednesday, June 10.

Committee members review petitions for loans to the FmHA from ranchers and farmers and are paid for meeting about once a month said Mark Sloan, assistant county supervisor.

Persons nominated should be currently engaged in the operation of a farm and have their principal farming operation within the county or area in which the activities of the county or area committee are carried out and should derive 50 percent of their income from farming.

Nominees must be citizens of the United States or legally residing aliens and cannot have a FmHA insured or guaranteed loan.

The candidate should be well qualified for committee work.

For more information contact the local FmHA office.

Thanks!

The Silver Lining

Special Rejoicing At Saint Anne Chapel

Last Sunday at the morning services at Saint Anne's Chapel in Glencoe, the founders of the church were smiling down from Heaven as Nellie Ruth Jones began her service as a lay reader in the Episcopal church.

Her grandparents, Frank and Helena Coe, along with other Lincoln County pioneers, founded the church. And the church is named in honor of her great-grandmother, Mrs. Anne Tully.

Nellie Ruth's aunts and her uncle—children of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coe—were devoted members of the church. The Frank Coe children are: Sidney, Annie, Agnes, Winnie, Edith, Helena and Wilbur.

Nellie Ruth calls herself "The Youngest of the Youngest." Helena was the youngest of the Frank Coe children and Nellie Ruth was her youngest child, the others being Betty Perry and Dan Lucas.

The Frank Coes and all the Frank Coe children were fond friends of the Storm family. The Coe sisters and our Mother took turns at playing the organ for the services.

We are all especially happy that Nellie Ruth Jones has always been true to the dreams and ideals of her pioneer forefathers. And we are especially glad that she is now a lay reader in the Episcopal Church. We all rejoice that she has taken this great step for all of us and for Our Lord.

"Decoration Day"

This was the original name of Memorial Day. In 1910, May thirty was set aside as a national holiday in most of the states, and later became the day of remembrance of our fallen soldiers in the entire nation.

It bears especial meaning on this two hundredth anniversary of our Constitution. On the thirtieth, let us all send up a prayer of thanks to Our Lord.

This Saturday, members of the Robert J. Hagee Post 79 of the American Legion and also of the Jerome D. Klein Post Number 7072 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will decorate the graves of the veterans with small American flags and also present a ceremony complete with color guard and firing squad.

Already under the singing pines the wild flowers had added a special reverence to the cemetery on this landmark year in our history, and this especially beautiful spring in our Mountain Land. Let us all send up a prayer of thanks to Our Lord.

Crime Stoppers are reorganized

"We had some drastic changes since last meeting," announced Lanny Maddox during a meeting of the Ruidoso/Lincoln County Crime Stoppers last week.

"Our president (Richard Sandoval) left town with the checkbook and I did good getting a resignation," noted Maddox.

When contacted Tuesday, Sandoval said nobody pressured him to resign. He said he didn't have time to comment further.

In his letter of resignation he said he will be leaving the Ruidoso area because of his employment.

"As the founder of the Ruidoso Crime Stoppers and vice-chairman of the State Crime Stopper Commission, I have and will always support and believe in this program," said Sandoval in his letter.

Although his new officers were elected during last month's meeting, vice-president Maddox said he didn't receive the former president's resignation until May 20. Since Jim Biggs was elected president before Sandoval actually gave up that spot, Biggs was again elected president during the May meeting.

Board members discussed finances and a drop spot for picking up Crime Stopper rewards, and Maddox asked the new treasurer, Roy Seay, to research the bank accounts. Maddox said no rewards have been paid out while the organization has been working out internal problems, but added one check is missing from the checkbook.

Maddox said donations received while the Crime Stoppers checkbook was unavailable were held in a safe spot and not deposited to the checking account. He stressed that no rewards will be given without a vote of the board.

Members discussed a number of fundraising possibilities, and decided that once a year is often enough for the Crime Stoppers parties, a major source of funds in the past.

Ruidoso/Lincoln County Crime Stoppers meet at noon the third Thursday of each month. Next month's meeting will be at Appletree Terrace.

Trustees seek state funds to defend water supplies

Ruidoso Downs Trustees passed a resolution Monday to seek $100,000 from the state to protect village water supplies from claims by the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

But at a New Mexico Board of Finance hearing Tuesday in Santa Fe, Downs officials and representatives of several governing bodies in Lincoln and Chaves counties agreed to pool their efforts. A joint powers agreement between the counties and the state resulted, with $75,000 being appropriated from the state Emergency Water Supply Fund for defense of area water interests.

In other business Monday, the trustees:

—Agreed to support the Economic Development Corporation by becoming a member of the group.

—Agreed to lease a one-quarter-acre parcel of village land to Reba Stone for $300 a year.

—Agreed, after a lengthy discussion, to consider a request by Charlott Robinson for adjustment of her water bill when her next month's bill comes due.

—Approved a resolution to continue the application process in the Community Development Block Grant Economic Development Setaside Program. Concerned about a potential conflict of interest in their application, trustees had earlier sought a ruling on whether a conflict of interest exists in Trustee Conrad Buchanan's role as trustee and his desire to participate in the program. The program provides local governments with money to loan to small businesses in an attempt to further economic development. State officials said a ruling on whether a conflict exists can be made only when the application process is complete. After the vote, from which Buchanan abstained, Downs Mayor J.C. "Jake" Harris declined to sign the resolution, stating his belief that a conflict does exist. He passed the matter on to Mayor Pro Tem Jackie Branum.

—Heard Fire Department Chief Chet Southard explain department telephone charges that trustees had questioned at their previous meeting.

—Approved the consent agenda, giving approval for Municipal Judge Martin Valenzuela to attend a judges' conference in Albuquerque Wednesday through Friday, June 10-12.

Safeway officials discount stories of upcoming sale

by KARL F. MOFFATT
News Staff Writer

Talk of an impending sale of Ruidoso's Safeway stores continues while Safeway officials continue to dispute any such sale.

Eddie Eyer, president of Local 1564 of the United Food and Commercial Workers Union, which represents Safeway employees in New Mexico, feels that it is only a matter of time before more Safeway stores are sold or closed.

"The sale of Safeway stores ... my personal feeling is that it is going to happen," said Eyer.

Speculation has been mounting since a controlling portion of stock was bought in May 1986 by the Dart Group, which has a history of hostile takeover attempts.

In order to maintain control of the Corporation, Safeway turned to a group of investors, Kravis, Kolberg, and Roberts, to put up the money to buy 70 percent of Safeway's stock off the market.

Safeway saved the company from possibly being chopped up and sold off for profit, but, incurred a large debt to the investors and had to sell off assets to cover the debt.

Safeway began selling its overseas operations in Australia and the United Kingdom.

A letter to all Safeway stores from the head offices in Oakland, California, dated November 26, 1986, read in part "while we can give no assurances that any particular operation will definitely be retained, our current intention is to retain our operations in Canada as well as our Northern California, Phoenix, Portland, Seattle, Southern California, and Washington D.C. divisions."

Everything else was on the block, Eyer said.

Meanwhile, the Furrs supermarket chain began buying Safeway stores.

"After buying out Safeway in Abilene, Texas, they have 90 percent of the business there," he added.

Attempts to obtain a statement, concerning possible acquisition of the two Ruidoso Safeway stores, from the Furrs offices in Lubbock, Texas, proved fruitless as officials were unavailable for comment.

"There may be no proof now ... But by the end of June I think it will be over ... I have a gut feeling ... Furrs has bought a major block of advertising ... There have been meetings in Lubbock ... I know something is happening," Eyer said.

Amid the speculation, Safeway officials deny that the El Paso division is being sold.

"I don't think there is any basis for the rumors," El Paso Division Public Affairs Assistant Rose Corral said. "All the El Paso division stores are intact."

"The El Paso Division is not up for sale," said El Paso Division District II manager George Arias.

Arias said he was in Ruidoso recently to reassure store managers and employees that the stores had not been sold.

He added that it was possible that all the rumors started when the Dallas division was sold. There were stores in West Texas that belonged to the Dallas division and it is possible that people are confusing their situation with Ruidoso stores.

"We have had customers and employees ask us about being sold or closing and I tell them what I have been told," said Lloyd Fannon, manager of the Sierra Mall Safeway store. "It is simply rumors, nothing more."

An Open Letter to Safeway Stores, Inc.

PLEASE, SAFEWAY, DO THE RIGHT THING!

If you find you must sell your New Mexico stores, don't "sell out" the 2,325 loyal employees who staff them.

It's common knowledge that Safeway may sell their New Mexico stores, which include 44 supermarkets in 26 New Mexico communities. 2,325 New Mexicans serve their friends and neighbors in these stores, many as loyal Safeway employees for 10, 20, even 40 years.

If you sell these 44 stores, please protect the 2,325 New Mexicans from mass firing (as was done in your Dallas Division sale to Kroger's, Tom Thumb, Minyard's, Brookshire, and Furr's) and insist that current Safeway employees be allowed to keep their jobs (which was done in your Salt Lake City Division sale.)

Please protect your 2,325 loyal New Mexico employees—they've contributed to YOUR profits for more than half a century!

New Mexicans, won't you please help assure the continued employment of the people who serve you in YOUR Safeway store, by writing a letter urging that existing employees be protected in any sales contract? Mail comments to:

Lincoln County is a place of green-black forests carpeting stunningly steep hillsides, and a deep blue sky shining sparkles into crisp mountain brooks. It's a setting that inspires.

So it's no surprise that the county has a significant population of artists and craftspeople. Creative people tend to collect in places like Lincoln County.

In today's issue of The News, you'll find a special section on this weekend's Lincoln County Show Of Art at Cree Meadows Country Club, an annual event sponsored by the Spirit of Ruidoso that showcases the work of Lincoln County artists.

The section details the work, philosophy and techniques of more than two dozen artists who'll exhibit their works in the show. And with 42 artists expected to attend the show, it promises to be quite a collection of the artistic creations of this community.

Lincoln County and fine artwork—the beauty of one is a reflection on the other.—DJP

Inside the Capitol

by Fred McCaffrey

SANTA FE—The folks in the governor's office want some advice on their public relations efforts. They have invited the capital press corps to meet with them later this week to discuss what they're doing wrong and what they're doing right.

It's a good idea to do that, and those who want to learn in this fashion deserve credit for asking. I'm inclined to believe they will hear some pretty firm suggestions on how relations between the press and their boss could be improved.

I'm more than willing to tell you here and now what I will be saying.

The Carruthers operation appears to fear and dislike the media more than any group that has occupied the fourth floor of the Roundhouse for many years. That spirit, which communicates itself to the media people in hundreds of ways, makes relating to the new governor's staff very uncomfortable.

When I say these folks fear and dislike the media representatives, I am not referring to the man at the top. He appears to handle us with great ease.

But it's that verb "handle" that causes many of the problems. We resent being handled; we want to be helped, as most other governor's staffs have helped us, to do our job. That consists precisely in getting the accurate story of what goes on in our state to our readers, listeners and viewers.

One of the dangers of setting up a public relations operation in the first place is that cynicism can make the effort to run such a shop slide over into a kind of contempt for those addressed by such efforts. If your aim in providing people to do this kind of job is purely manipulative, you get off to a bad start.

"We'll tell 'em what we want 'em to hear, and than stonewall the rest of it" is not a very good philosophical base for such an operation. There are steady hints, however, that this is the spirit that animates the Carruthers people.

The Governor himself creates some of that impression. Ask him anything, he seems to be saying at one of his frequent news conferences; but if you ask him what he doesn't want to be asked, he can clam up, in a still-smiling but chilly fashion, like a member of the CIA.

We should have known that this was not a crowd that truly wanted to share information with us when they located the press office as far from the outside world as possible, and then told the news folks they'd have to make an appointment and be conducted by a staffer to get in there to make their inquiries.

The idea seemed to be, "We'll deal with you, but very reluctantly."

How reluctant they are should be made clear by the fact that after they have been in charge in the capitol for five full months, most regular reporters here couldn't even tell you the names of the Governor's staff members, much less who handles what details. Every day they come to work, disappear behind the big double doors and appear frightened to death to think that one of us might speak to one of them.

You get a very clear impression that somebody has told them we are personae non gratae. The thought seems to have taken root to such an extent you'd believe they were going to get fired if they told us good morning.

When we in the media, after months of observance, conclude that people are acting as though they have something to hide, it's easy for us to make the further step of believing that must be the condition of things.

When we see such a rigorously structured organization inside the office of an ostensible public servant that even the press-relations people appear reluctant to talk to the press, we grow uncomfortable, and the discomfort can easily turn itself into suspicion.

In short, as far as relations with the outside world go, the Carruthers office is definitely a "closed" one, and no number of clubby lunches with reporters will ever change that.

What the citizens of New Mexico deserve is a governor's staff determined to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, and then live with the consequences. That isn't what we've got.

they needed him; loyal and dedicated.

What happened to the Dedication ceremony we all thought would happen last September, when the racing season was over? Didn't they give him some sort of Recognition dinner? Sounds to me like they are the last of the "big-time" spenders; not only in money, but in appreciation for all those years of work.

An unhappy racing fan

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:
Re: DeBaca-Kenyon-Kenyon letters of 5/7 and 5/11.

My compliments to the Ruidoso News. I had not really expected such fair treatment. That is, judging from the cartoons you run, it would appear there is a somewhat conservative stance in your editorial outlook. In any event, as you appear willing to present a public forum, at least for the time being, let us get on with it.

In spite of Mr. Kenyon's odds against me (I'm surprised they aren't higher), actually I represent the "silent majority". I lost count of the hundreds of people who indicated they enjoyed the dialogue, but were reluctant to be named publicly for fear of harassment, or personal attack.

The situation, however, seems to be getting out of hand. I present ideas, I receive personal attacks, generally suggesting my ignorance. What am I to do Kenyon-Kenyon-DeBaca? Match credentials? How am I to get you to be fair and just and reasoned in your responses? I get sermons and biblical quotations and tirades about bears.

I'm afraid my wife (why she is being dragged into this I haven't the faintest idea) will have to fend for herself. Being the tolerant person she is, she may choose to remain silent just to frustrate you.

If I am to continue, I once again plead for ground rules. As to the bible and the "word"...this is not an acceptable source of authority as far as I am concerned. So, no more sermons, please! Those who gain comfort from sermons can get them on Sunday. We are supposed to be dealing with ideas. Which bible will be quoted next? The newest, revised, re-interpreted version? I'm afraid that the various bibles have to do with faith, not fact. A historically flawed document at best. I am pleading for freedom from religion and it is hard to come by. Even Sundays on TV, there seems to be some weird religious goings on.

As to Mr. Kenyon's latest list of social problems, allegedly caused by a change in "morals"...let's begin at the beginning. The vast majority of people profess some type of religion-right? Those are the same people who are involved with the long list of problems. Or is the implication that they are really unbelievers and this is their punishment? I didn't get any help when I asked some time ago how I was to identify believers. I ask again.

Left on my own, I conclude I must make a decision based upon a person's behavior. Deeds, not words, as it were. Well, based on that assumption, I must conclude most people are not really religious. That is, they tend to treat each other rather badly.

I must further conclude that the general public agrees with the concept of separation of church and state...A wise decision, by the way, considering how the religious establishment is so often wrong in dealing with social problems, and seldom agree with each other.

As to politics...Nicaragua and South America...the same yardstick applies. We have had representatives there for a hundred years including missionaries. Most of the population is religious. When was Nicaragua friendly to the U.S.? When they had a dictator! What other South American countries are friendly to the U.S.? I think it is those dependent on us for financial support. So, how has religion helped?

All of these observations are made based upon how governments and people behave...not what they say they believe.

As to Iran and hostages...I hope you all are following the developments. We shall have to wait and see. At the worst, our religious (or professed to be religious) president may have out and out lied to us. At the best, there may be some question as to how he was able to circumvent the law. Not a comforting development when we so recently had another president who behaved in much the same way.

So, yes, we have to abide by laws in this country. Or, we should at least try. Your references to legalities in Hitler's Germany, Stalin's Russia and South Africa's Botha are specious. They were all dictatorships. Here we have to struggle with imperfect laws and if they are unjust, then try to change them up to and including civil disobedience.

Democratic processes and legal methods, I realize, are anathema to irrational authoritarians but that's the way it is with the church. Still don't have your response to "giving" the property to the tax roles.

Summer is here. We are all getting busy and hoping for a good season. It appears things are improving. I may take time out and respond in the fall. And, I may not respond at all if I can get in snide personal attacks or sermons.

cellent job of stimulating us all, individuals and various groups for clean-up week.

BUT, ARE WE GOING TO LET THIS BE A ONCE A YEAR EFFORT, OR ARE WE GOING TO KEEP IT UP YEAR AROUND?

Our only industry and principal source of income is tourism. Unless a product is properly packaged it will not sell. Who would buy a Hershey Bar wrapped in newsprint? A box of Whitman's Sampler in a shoe box?

With a little daily effort we can keep our village clean and attractive. Before the clean-up we were looking pretty bad. Would more tourists be attracted if we did more of the following?

Stopped throwing trash in bar ditches and vacant lots. Unfortunately those who do this, likely won't read this paper.

Keep our yards, streets, vacant lots next door and across the street free of litter.

Put trash in garbage bins. If the bins get too full or are insufficient in number call the Village.

Plant more flowers. A pat on the back for the Greeters and Garden Club petunia project.

Encourage businesses to clean up in back. One example...walk across the bridge on Mechem and Sudderth, look down to the right at the bank of our wonderful mountain stream!

Pick out a strip of river and clean it up several times a year. Use fishing waders and enjoy the exercise.

When hiking or walking carry a sack to put trash in. A cheap cloth glove is handy.

Sweep up cigarette butts and other litter in front of our business doors.

There is a law about litter. A CLEAN ENVIRONMENT DISCOURAGES LITTERING.

The Village will pick up heavy items and our new Village Manager says he will welcome calls about litter problems on Village property.

Sincerely,
BILL RAWLINS

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I talked to someone within the race track personnel the other day; and learned that Bob Dudich had not been invited back to call the races this year! What do they mean, "not invited back?"

This man has been a dedicated employee for 25 years; at the end of last year's season. He was always there on the job; rarely ever took time off for vacations or illnesses; and worked in misery and pain the last 2 years, because of poor health. But the point is: he was there when

DEAR EDITOR:

To whom it may concern.

For many, many years, my family, friends, and neighbors have enjoyed spending our summer week ends at Ruidoso.

We enjoy the beautiful country, lakes, mountains, the friendly people, and until this year, the horse races.

The races just aren't the same. What happened to our favorite race announcer Bob Dudich? We have enjoyed his expert calling of the races for over twenty years. Not to put anyone down, but the announcer this summer sounds like he has got a mouth full of mush.

Please bring back Bob. We Texans love Ruidoso, the skiing, the races, and most of all, Bob Dudich. Thank You,
MR. & MRS. DOYLE FORD

DEAR EDITOR:

Congratulations to everyone who helped make Ruidoso the cleanest it has been in a long time. The Chamber and Village did an ex-

Downs hosts $45,000 Kindergarten Futurity

Trainer Lee Ivey's Shutup And Deal figures to receive strong support for Saturday's $45,000 Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity at Ruidoso Downs after romping to a four-length victory in trials for the sprint last week.

The 5-furlong Kindergarten shares the marquee with the $70,000 Kansas Futurity First Consolation, which features the second-fastest group of qualifiers for that Grade I event facing off at 350 yards. First post is 1 p.m. with the track's gates opening at 11 a.m.

El Paso jockey Eugene O'Neill piloted Shutup And Deal to an easy win in his Kindergarten trial racing as the 6-5 favorite. The final time for the five-eighths mile journey was 59 2/5 seconds - the fastest of four divisions.

The son of Draconic was making his second career start for Ivey, who also owns the colt. Ivey named no rider at entry for Shutup And Deal's bid from the No. 3 post position in Saturday's headliner.

Facing the likely favorite from the rail out are Lacrosse, V.J. Pullaway, Drakon, Jack L. Fry, Strokomo, Our Little Scout, Majolica, Happy Draconic and Spend.

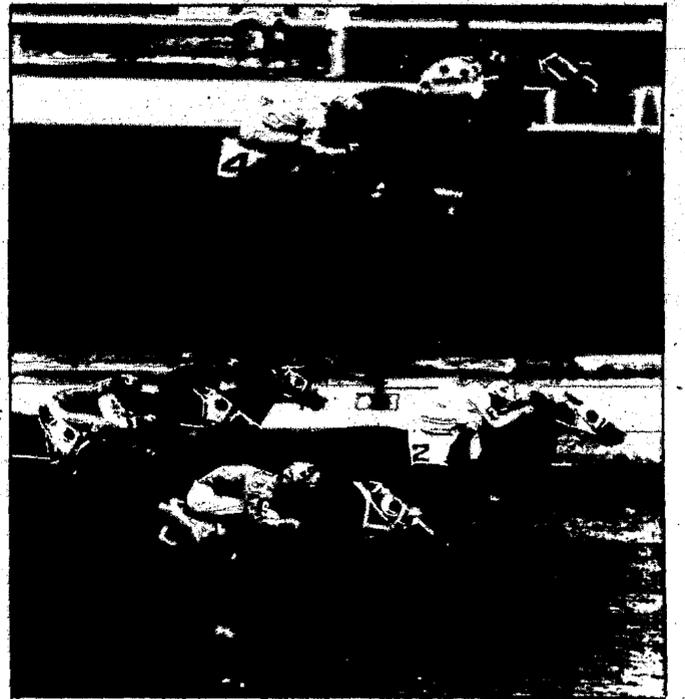

Drakon, another Draconic offspring, also turned in an impressive performance while winning his trial run under rider Mike Lidberg. The Brent Davidson trainee checked in 2 1/2 lengths ahead of second-place finisher Spend after holding a five-length advantage at the head of the stretch.

Drakon is one of the more experienced 2-year-olds in the Kindergarten Futurity, having made six official trips to the starting gate. He won his first race while qualifying for the Riley Allison Futurity at Sunland Park last month. Drakon is owned by Jacqueline Spencer of Alto, who also campaigns recent Memorial Day Handicap winner Big Bold Boz.

Also winning their Kindergarten divisions were Lacrosse and V.J. Pullaway. Lacrosse is another Riley Allison finalist trained by Fred Danley. V.J. Pullaway broke his maiden at Sunland Park by three lengths before racing to a similar margin in the Kindergarten trials. Jimmie Claridge trains the Unfurl gelding.

The field for Saturday's Kansas Futurity Consolation features Mr Deck Lark, Lucky Crimson, Floozys Dash, Kassietta, Egocentric, Coup De Vine, Cajun Fancy, Sound Rocket, If Im Elected and Jophyl Eddie.

The ones to beat

Dash For Speed (No. 2, above) and Chickazita (No. 2, below) win their trials May 16 for the $500,000 Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The futurity is set for Sunday, May 31.

EVERY DESIRE FOR QUALITY, BEAUTY AND COMFORT has been anticipated in this riverfront estate. The magic of the Upper Canyon is ever-present, but, if possible, the owner has improved on this serenely beautiful setting. Perfectly manicured grounds evoke a feeling of seclusion and permanence, while the garden surrounds and embraces the warmly elegant manor. Superbly constructed of cedar and river rock, this massive home meanders gracefully along the riverbank, never failing to delight the eyes with tranquil views: here, the silvery glisten of the water; there, a riot of spring color created by masses of tulips and daffodils—everywhere, a wonderful sense of ambience! With its myriad of spacious living and dining areas, it can easily accommodate grand-scale entertaining, yet the perfection of its design never sacrifices the privacy needed for family. Luxury is found throughout, from the warmly inviting master bedroom suite to the huge atrium kitchen, which proffers every amenity to cheer a chef! Enlivened by three river rock fireplaces, this spacious 3-bedroom, 3-bath home with den, billiard room, and study is infused with mountain comfort and charm...It's truly one of Ruidoso's finest homes! (Bank references may be required prior to showing.)

ONE OF THE MOST ADMIRED HOMES IN RUIDOSO, this log showplace basks with dignity and charm on the banks of the Ruidoso River. Majestically set on 300' of river frontage in the lush enchantment of the Upper Canyon, the home blends a relaxed mountain style with architectural refinements. Atrium doors and an expanse of gleaming glass welcome in the beauty of the Monet-like garden setting. Indoors, all is space and calm, quality and craft. The living areas will welcome large gatherings or informal entertaining with equal grace, and the large kitchen, rich in appliances, will cope calmly with either. The master suite is a warm enclave with fireplace, and an additional four bedrooms and five baths make the home perfect for a large family or guests. There's also a small "secret room" that will delight any child (not to mention the "child" in you!). Enhanced by three massive fireplaces, this sprawling home combines the grace of yesterday with today's technical marvels.

Ken Hosmer

Ken Hosmer is a vibrant colorist who sensitively interprets the world around him in cheerful tones ensuring that collectors never tire of his work.

"I want my paintings to bring the viewer a sense of fresh energy and an appreciation for the simple, everyday things in life," Hosmer said.

Hosmer's workshops, lectures and Awards for 1986 include: third place in pastel of the New Mexico State Fair and first place in oil at the Lubbock Art Classic. Ruth desires her paintings to produce a sense of beauty and joy.

Robert Harrison

As a native New Mexican artist and sculptor, Robert Harrison has had the good fortune to have lived and worked among several of the New Mexico Indian tribes.

There, he learned much from their customs and culture.

Most of his work reflects the contemporary Indian and the preservation of the Indian culture.

In each of his bronze sculptures, he has paid particular attention to the finest of detail and features even though the sculptures are less than 12 inches tall.

Each bronze is in itself a portrait in the round of its model and each has a special story of its own.

Pat Evans

Art has been a vital part of Pat Evans life since childhood. She holds a BFA degree from Miami University and a design degree from the Cincinnati Art Academy. Her works are in the permanent collection of the New Britain, Conn. Museum of Art and numerous corporate and private collections in Florida, Connecticut, Illinois and Texas. Working primarily on commission, Ms. Evans has retained the freedom of a "No-Style" style to accommodate clients but prefers a realist approach.

David Hall

Growing up in New Jersey, David found space out west to show humanity's bond with all things—in all his work from jewelry to figure sculpture, to creating custom homes. He has been a professor, gallery director and set designer.

David feels that art "speaks" for itself or has no message. His mainly figurative work is transfigured in its surroundings, drawing together inner images and other reality, enriching the world; it is a metaphor for our condition: all creators withal.

Karen Barrow

Mrs. Barrow was one of the first artists to explore the medium of colored pencil. During the past nine years she has developed techniques of using the colors similar to the methods of the Italian masters. She also places an attention to detail that is precise. Her subject matter covers realistic, fantasy, and surrealist images, but always with the desire to communicate with the viewer. Her subjects provoke thoughts of an almost forgotten memory, a lost mood, or the haunting image of a dream.

Charles E. Newland

"A belief that art should be an expression of the uniqueness of each human experience has prevented this artist from navigating any of the more frequently chartered stylistic waters and has resulted in the unusually detailed conceptual acrylics that have won awards in prestigious national exhibitions," said artist Charles E. Newland.

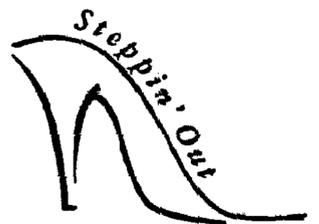

A member of the National Society of Painters in Casein and Acrylics, Newland's paintings have earned a place in important public and private collections nationwide.

Newland's work can be seen at the Carrizo Lodge.

Joe Dunlap

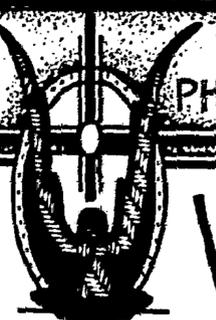

Joe Dunlap is a traditional, representational painter who at an early age had a consuming desire to draw and paint.

He is equally at ease in all mediums. He paints what he knows and sees.

Dunlap's works have been greatly influenced by the late Peter Hurd and the late Nat Kernall who encouraged him to express his feelings, emotions and ideas and transfer that feeling to the viewer.

His works may be seen at Smith, Ltd. Gallery.

David Smith

David Smith, co-founder of Studio III Gallery and Art School, an architect specializing in adobes, painter and sculptor of figurative bronzes and monumental outdoor pieces, is versatile.

The native Texan began painting and sculpting at an early age and continued while completing his formal education. He has degrees at Rice University and a master's degree in Architecture from the University of Texas at Austin where he was a professor of architecture for five years.

Smith's bronze sculptures and paintings are in quality collections in Texas and New Mexico. Architectural art and outdoor sculptures are other facets of his work and interests.

Shirley Bowington

"I've never seen an ugly person, there's beauty in everyone. Portraiture is my way of communicating that.

Each of us is many things to many people. The oldest of us is youthful within-the youngest, has great wisdom. When a woman of 60 wants to look younger or pounds lighter; I know that person exists, and is real-I see it in her eyes and hear it in her laughter.

Having a portrait painted isn't an act of vanity—it's one of courage and faith in the artist."

Art Education: Carrizo Lodge, UCLA, Ote's-Parsons, Santa Monica College, Hanna-Barbara Production, Local Representation, Artisan Gallery.

Boots Curtis

Boots Curtis has been a New Mexico resident since 1932 and has attended Lovington public schools, attended the University of New Mexico and has taken special art classes at Wyoming State University.

"I work in watercolors and pastels. New Mexico is my main love and I try to bring forth in my paintings our great Indian history and lore of the ranching industry."

The Ruidoso Bear Claw gallery displays her paintings, which focus on old Indian pottery.

Steven Long

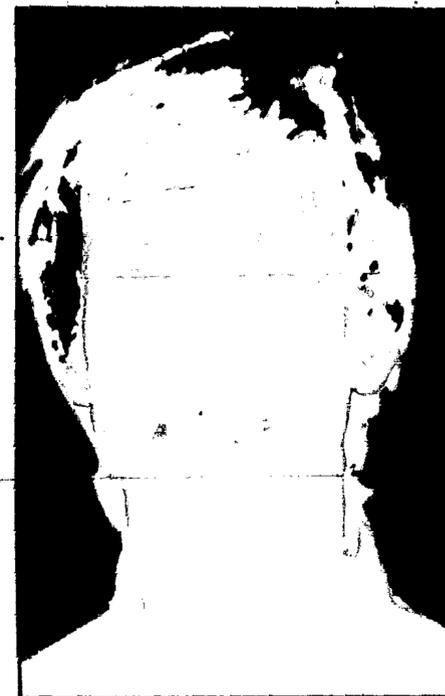

Steven Long has lived in Ruidoso for the past 10 years and has been art-oriented since childhood.

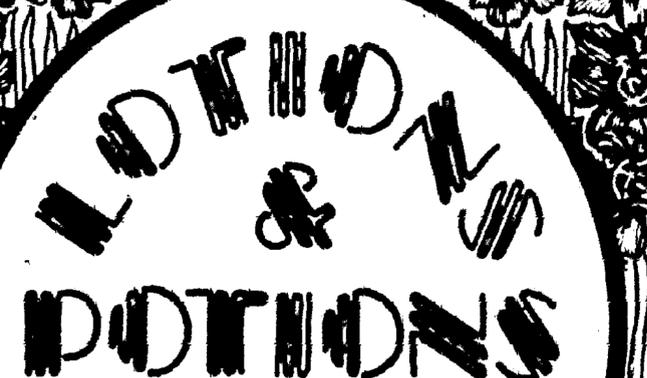

He was honored with an art scholarship to Texas Tech University in 1972, where he studied studio art, sculpture and painting.

In 1973, Long and others in a survey team, became the first to survey the Straits of Magellan since 1888.

After four years of college, he left to privately study the works of Dr. Jacob Bronowski, Dr. John Lily, Joseph Cambell, Ansel Adams, Salvador Dali, Vermeer and others.

Long considers himself a student of the "New Realism" movement in American art.

Nancy Fleharty

Nancy Fleharty has been a resident of Ruidoso for 14 years with her husband and two small children.

She has been pursuing her career as an advertising designer, illustrator and calligrapher, but her first love is her drawings and paintings.

Her commercial work keeps her motivated while her fine arts tickles her creative eye.

Both, in their own way, are invaluable to her. She has participated in art schools, gallery management, various shows and commercial deadlines.

She enjoys the different facets of her life and she hopes it shows.

TIM AND AMANDA GILES

Tim Giles

Preferring oils, I base my paintings on my own experiences and/or emotions. Having been fortunate to lead an exciting and variable lifestyle, (such as walking from Austin, Texas, to Ruidoso) gives me a lot to share through my artwork.

To me, being an artist is foremost as my contribution to society. I hope that through my work I may communicate what may be the essence of the future, and our posterity.

Suanne Wamsley

Suanne Wamsley has been riding and drawing horses all her life and has created a name for herself as a top-notch equine artist.

Her portrait of Special Effort appeared on the April 1982 cover of "Quarter Horse Journal."

She is commissioned annually by Golden Gate Field to portray the winner of the California Derby.

Her equine print series highlighted the Texas Horse Racing Association's parimutual promotion.

Wamsley specializes in racing art and commissioned portraits of horses.

Prints are available at her studio and gallery in the Gazebo Center at 2103 Sudberth Drive, or the Golden Egg Gallery in Dallas, Texas.

Rick Hall

Rick Hall is a woodcarver and lifetime resident of Ruidoso.

Hall works with basswood, jumatong and pine and does carvings in deep relief, high relief and sculptures.

"Most of my carvings are rustic or historic building scenes from this area. I also do carvings of horses and animals," Hall said.

WE SACRIFICE THE "LINCOLN COUNTY FINE ARTISTS"

TF © 87

Jacqueline Kastor

Jacqueline Kastor utilizes an impressionistic style, particularly in her portrayals of landscapes, florals and children.

With a basic medium of oil painting in palette knife, the artist also uses pencil extensively. Multi-talented, Kastor is a professional floral designer who moved to Ruidoso from Texas in November 1985, where she opened Jacque's Flower Shop and Art Gallery.

"My interest in New Mexico and the arts is fueled by the unique beauty of the mountains, the deserts and the people of the Southwest."

She strives to develop her strong sense of color and interest in texture and design.

Ernie Roche

One of the most prominent wood sculptors and carvers in the Southwest, Ernie Roche has introduced to collectors of art something they had not been exposed to previously—his unique style.

All this is accomplished through his experienced use of chisels and gouges which reflect his own original style with a most western flavor.

Even though Roche is recognized in fine art circles as one of the foremost woodcarvers in the Southwest, he constantly strives for perfection in an effort to see serious woodcarving maintained as fine art rather than a craft.

He loves his work and considers wood the most exciting and challenging medium in which to express himself.

Richard Shawver

"Since moving here from Virginia; the New Mexico landscape has been the main subject for my paintings, I try to convey the look and feeling that I witness at a given place, in a more or less realistic manner. I hope that someone else may experience, at least part, of that same feeling," said Ruidoso Downs artist Richard Shawver.

Tim Wierwille

The pottery of Tim Wierwille reflects his love for the environment of New Mexico. Solid, simple forms combine with bold penetrating colors to provide an unlimited source of inspiration, diversity and interest for his White Mountain Pottery.

The focus of Wierwille's work is on collectible, functional, hand-thrown stoneware. The complexity of a work to him demonstrates technical capability and simplicity, sensitivity.

Wierwille has maintained his studio in Ruidoso since 1975.

Denise Dorn

Batik artist Denise Dorn uses the vibrant colors of her craft and the rich culture of the Southwest to produce creations that have earned her numerous honors, including "Nogal Meeting," the "Ruidoso Summer Festival poster for 1984.

Self-taught as a batik artist, Dorn has been working with the Javanese medium for 14 years.

Dorn uses handwoven silk and imported Japanese dyes to depict the Indians and the culture of New Mexico with great detail.

Dorn's work may be seen in galleries in Arizona, Texas, California and New Mexico. She's been a Ruidosoan for 11 years.

Teri Sodd

Specializing in pastel, Ruidoso artist Teri Sodd portrays the realistic expressions and feelings of the people of the Southwest.

Her work appears in numerous public and private collections, including those of Larry Gafin, Roy Rogers, B.J. Thomas and Marty Robbins.

Self-taught, Sodd favors depicting the Plains Indian Tribes. Other subject matter includes still lifes and landscapes of the Southwest.

She has conducted workshops and demonstrations throughout the Southwest. Her work is honored with countless awards from shows.

A clarity of color and depth of emotion are evident, even trademarks of Sodd's portrayals.

Later, Stapleton was apprenticed under German craftsman Werner G. Schneider, then under Ukrainian master woodworker Fred Klumchek.

Stapleton attended Fort Lewis College, the University of New Mexico and the University of Colorado. He taught at Okanagua College in British Columbia, Canada.

He has worked in wood professionally since 1969. His one-of-a-kind hand-crafted pieces are in collections across the United States and Canada.

Cantaloupe

A Melon For All Season

How to be a Tough Customer When Selecting Cantaloupes

Ripe, delicious, golden-fleshed cantaloupe is like nothing in the whole world — nothing! It's so good — all summer long — for breakfast, a light lunch, or a dazzling dinner dessert. Taste the sweetness? Smell the inviting, musky aroma? Then come to Safeway. Our cantaloupes are carefully selected for you by our expert buyers. They go to the fields and watch for well-netted, well-formed melons, because our buyers know that's what our tough customers expect — the best. And, you do, don't you? For cantaloupes at their peak — all season long — come to Safeway. It wouldn't be summer without them.

Fresh Cantaloupe

3 lbs $1

Selection

Look for cantaloupes that are well-netted, well-formed, with a smoothly rounded depression at the stem end, this means that the melon was fully mature when picked. Cantaloupes are ready-to-eat when they feel springy under slight pressure and have a pleasingly musky smell.

Storage and Preparation

Let cantaloupes ripen at room temperature. Mature melons should stand for two or three days at home until they pass the ripeness test — heightens flavor and aroma. When the cantaloupe is ready, halve it, remove the stringy center and seeds with a spoon and enjoy your melon the way you like it best.

Enjoying Cantaloupe

- Divide cantaloupe into eighths, place in bowl around the edge and fill center with strawberries.
- Cantaloupe a la mode with vanilla ice cream and fresh strawberry sauce.
- Cantaloupe stuffed with watermelon balls, fresh diced pineapple, fresh strawberries, sliced bananas and blueberries.
- Cantaloupe and ham canapes . . . cut cantaloupe in half, remove seeds, slice halves into wedges. Top each wedge with thin slice of spiced or boiled ham. Serve with slices of lemon or lime.
- Serve cantaloupe rings filled with crab meat.
- Or, serve it plain or with fresh lemon or lime juice squeezed over the top.

Cantaloupe Avocado-Tomato Salad

- 1 cantaloupe
- 1 avocado
- 2 tomatoes
- Lettuce leaves

Cut cantaloupe in half, remove seeds, and cut into balls. Peel avocado and cut into slices, slice tomatoes. Alternate avocado and tomato slices on a bed of lettuce on platter. Make a mound of cantaloupe balls. Serve with Italian dressing. Makes 8 servings.

Fresh Cantaloupe Sparkle

- ¼ cup sugar
- 2 pkg. unflavored gelatin
- 3 medium cantaloupes, halved and seeded
- Juice from ½ lemon
- ¼ tsp. ginger
- ¼ tsp. salt

In small saucepan, mix sugar with gelatin. Add ¼ cup water, place over low heat, stirring constantly until gelatin is dissolved. Cool and set aside. Using four cantaloupe halves, make melon balls and set aside. Scoop out pulp from remaining 2 cantaloupe halves and combine in blender with gelatin mixture, fresh lemon juice, ginger and salt. Blend until smooth. Pour into shallow pan. Chill until puree is partially set. Beat until smooth and fluffy. Fold in cantaloupe balls. Chill. Spoon into cantaloupe shells.
