Alleged kidnappers claim innocence during hearing

by FRANKIE JARRELL
 News Staff Writer

A case against two accused kidnappers is on hold while authorities investigate an alibi offered by one of the two men during a preliminary hearing Thursday in magistrate court.

David DeFranza and Michael Kelly, accused of false imprisonment and robbery in a case involving the alleged abduction of Ruidoso resident Robert Vines, were returned to Lincoln County Jail Thursday after Magistrate Judge J.R. "Jim" Wheeler put their preliminary hearing on hold until the alibi is verified.

The two defendants are held in the Lincoln County Jail, but the Sheriff's Office dispatcher said Sunday he didn't have information on their ages or places of residence. Ruidoso Detective Lanny Maddox, contacted Monday, said DeFranza was born February 16, 1966; while Kelly's date-of-birth is listed as June 10, 1957. He said DeFranza is from Florida, but Kelly's last place of residence was unavailable.

On Thursday, Judge Wheeler explained the second- and fourth-degree felony charges to the two defendants who conferred with one another and their attorney in whispers throughout the hearing. Both DeFranza and Kelly were clad in the orange uniform of Lincoln County Jail. The two bearded men, DeFranza with brownish hair and beard, and Kelly with a black beard and thinning black hair, listened intently as Wheeler said the preliminary hearing was merely to show probable cause—that is reasonable grounds to believe a crime has been committed and the accused might have done it.

Wheeler said the charges could result in fines of up to 18 months in jail and/or $5,000 fine for the false imprisonment, and $10,000 fine and/or nine years in jail on the robbery charge.

Judge Wheeler denied a motion to dismiss under the 10-day rule offered by acting public defender Scott Riedel. "State of New Mexico has no control over the weather," said Wheeler, after Assistant District Attorney Bob Laughlin noted the case was slated for the grand jury Monday, but the jury didn't meet because of the weather. Laughlin said the delay was without prejudice and the defendants are still being held on charges out of Dona Ana County.

Thursday's testimony centered on an incident alleged to have happened on September 16, with Robert Vines telling of being kidnapped, tied and left in the back of his Jeep for hours before escaping to get help at the U.S. Border Patrol near Oro Grande.

Vines and Ruidoso Detective Lanny Maddox described how composite drawings were formed using Vines' recollections of his ordeal. Vines and Maddox also explained how the subsequent arrest of Kelly and DeFranza, charged with kidnapping in Dona Ana County, led to their identification by Vines as his tormentors.

Vines said he was heading home about 8:15 a.m. on September 16, having gone out for breakfast, when two individuals knocked at his door, claiming they had car trouble and asking for a ride to their vehicle in Paradise Canyon. He said they all three drove in his Jeep, and finding no vehicle, one of the two asked to be driven to Alamogordo.

"I said no," said Vines. He said the man in the front seat then pulled a "fairly large, hunting-looking knife." Vines said he then headed for Alamogordo, but was told to stop near Mescalero, and the men tied him up, wrapped in him a sleeping bag and placed him in the back of the Jeep—where he said he remained for the next 30 hours. Vines said the men apparently drove for a long time, finally got out and left the car. He said it took him until 10 a.m. the next day to get free.

While stopped near Mescalero, the men took Vines' watch, gold chain and money clip with approximately $160, testified Vines. When asked who kidnapped and robbed him, Vines pointed out the two defendants seated with the defense attorney, saying: "the two gentlemen sitting over there in orange coveralls."

Riedel questioned Vines over his earlier assertions that one of his kidnappers was Mexican, one had reddish hair and one had an earring in one ear. He noted that neither of the defendants are Mexican, have reddish hair or have a pierced ear. Wheeler, leaning over the bench for a closer look, confirmed the men didn't have pierced ears.

"You didn't say anything about tattoos did you?" asked Riedel, and Vines admitted he didn't. The taller defendant, Kelly, displayed his tattoo-covered arms, with a picture of a scorpion on the back of his left hand. Kelly has the letters "F.T.W." tattooed near his wrist on his right hand.

Vines, who identified Kelly and DeFranza through a photo line-up and a live line-up, maintained the two are the same who abducted and held him captive.

Police seek armed robbers of 7-11

Two men, armed with a sawed-off shotgun, made off with $10 in cash and $13 in gasoline about 3:20 a.m. Friday.

Ruidoso Police said two men are being sought in the armed robbery of the 7-11 at Sudderth Drive and Mescalero Trail.

Night clerk Lydia Bottoms said two subjects pulled up to the gas pump in a dark colored vehicle, and one pumped unleaded gasoline valued at $13, while the other entered the convenience store. Bottoms, who was alone in the store, told police the man was wearing a dark-colored, full-face ski mask and displayed a sawed-off double-barrel shotgun. She gave him $10 from the cash register.

According to police reports, the man forced the clerk into a back room and placed her on her knees.

"Threats were made on her life," said Detective Lanny Maddox. He said the subjects then left the business.

Maddox said the ski-masked man is described as 5' 8", wearing a navy blue jacket, gloves with fingers cut out and tennis shoes. Bottoms told police he had a low rough, very demanding voice.

A further description was unavailable on the second subject.

Maddox said regional bulletins were sent out. He said the investigation is continuing.

Federal funding OK'd for airport fire protection

An amendment, which will make it possible for federal funding of fire protection equipment at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport (SBRA), has passed in the U.S. Senate.

According to an announcement from the office of Senator Pete Domenici, the amendment changes a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) rule that requires airports to have scheduled service of aircraft carrying at least 30 passengers to be eligible for federal fire protection funding. The Domenici-sponsored amendment to the Airport and Airway Improvement Act of 1987 enables airports with scheduled service using 20-seat or larger aircraft to be eligible, thus including SBRA.

Domenici spokesmen said the amendment may be signed by President Ronald Reagan as soon as a few days. After the FAA's 1988 budget is approved, SBRA officials must apply for the funding. The spokesmen said funding of the SBRA fire protection equipment should occur in 1988.

The money is allocated on a 10 percent local/90 percent federal match. SBRA probably will qualify for funding of one fire engine.

Hearing

 his own character, noting he wasn't supposed to leave the county without his probation officer's permission. Vines admitted he is on probation for a drug-related charge, but said he didn't leave the county of his own accord.

"You have a history of being a compulsive liar, don't you?" asked Riedel, to which Laughlin objected vehemently. Vines volunteered to answer the question, noting he did lie in the past over his drug problems.

"Day-to-day I'm not a liar," said Vines in a clear, firm voice.

Maddox then testified over the composites and the two line-ups, noting the two defendants look a lot like the composite drawings.

"The only thing you've got to go on are statements made by Mr. Vines," noted Riedel, questioning Maddox over why fingerprints weren't taken from the Vines vehicle.

Riedel then put his client, David DeFranza, on the stand.

Wheeler warned that defendants normally don't take the stand during preliminary, but DeFranza insisted. "I have nothing to hide," he said.

DeFranza then testified to being at work on September 16, in Daytona Beach, Florida. He offered as evidence computer printouts of his work schedule from Labor Force—a day labor operation. Riedel said he talked by long distance to a woman at the Labor Force office who confirmed that DeFranza was there that day, working under contract to Accord Moving and Storage.

DeFranza told of meeting Kelly in April or May, and seeing him now and then in bars around Daytona Beach. He said the two met again on September 18, and began driving together from Florida to California.

It was learned the two were arrested on September 25, near Las Cruces. During DeFranza's testimony it was also learned that Kelly alleged he had been in the penitentiary in Virginia on or about the time the events took place.

DeFranza said his car "died somewhere in Texas," and the two bought another car, which turned out to be stolen. He said he didn't know the vehicle had been stolen, since he got a title and bill of sale.

DeFranza said he has never been convicted of a felony.

Riedel offered another motion to dismiss, noting if anything was taken it was in Otero, not Lincoln County. But Laughlin said he considered the offense as continuing from the time Vines was allegedly abducted.

"This doesn't even rise to the standards of probable cause," said Riedel. "I think they've got the wrong man."

Judge Wheeler asked Maddox to investigate the Florida alibi, and returned the two men to jail, still on $50,000 bond.

David DeFranza is escorted into the courtroom in the Ruidoso Police and Courts Complex before a preliminary hearing on Thursday.

Michael Kelly enters the courtroom Thursday to face charges of kidnapping and robbery in a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Judge J.R. "Jim" Wheeler.

Commission suspends race horse trainers

The New Mexico State Racing Commission suspended five race horse trainers after ruling they administered or allowed use of illegal drugs to stimulate their horses, according to published reports.

Suspended for five years for positive tests for the drug buprenorphine were Brooks Claridge, Jimmie Claridge, Richard Fry and Bobby Willis. Trainer M. Brent Davidson was suspended for a positive test for oxymorphone.

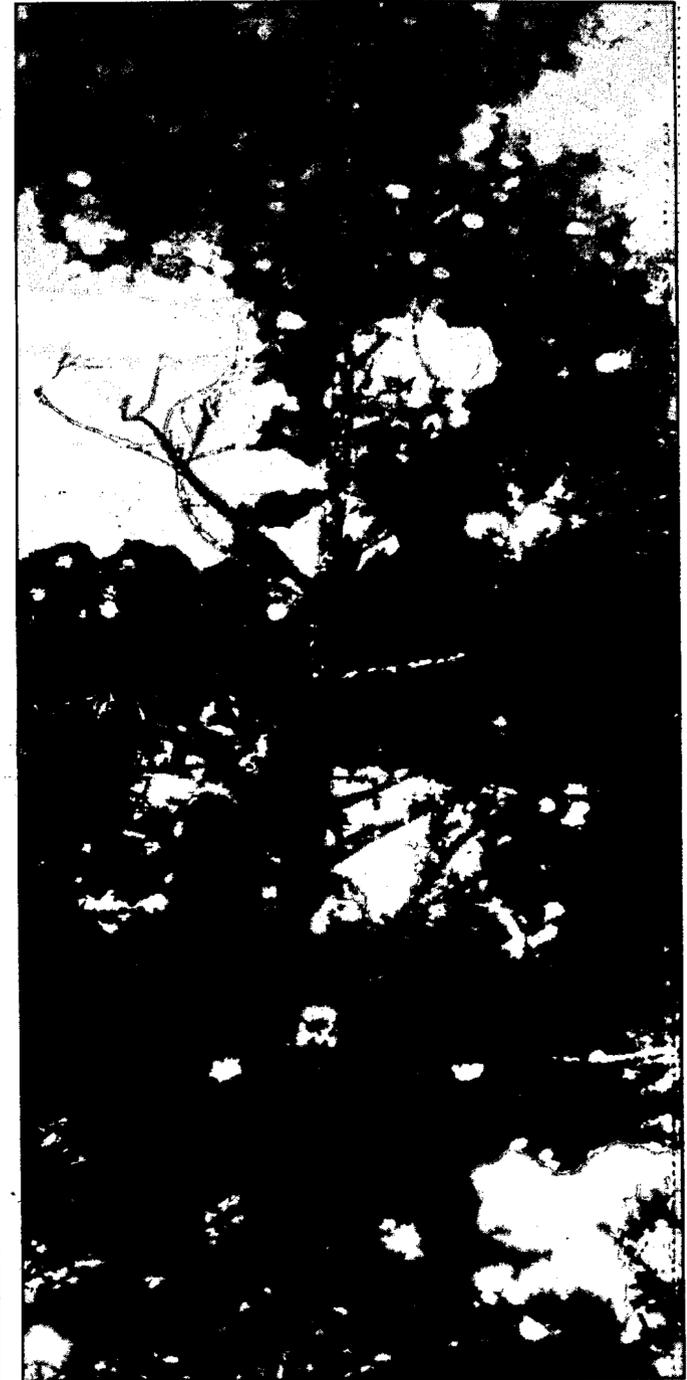

Commission Chairman Harris Hartz said the five were suspended for five years, rather than life, because urine samples weren't handled properly.

The trainers' attorney, Joe Shattuck, argued that the cases should have been dismissed because of irregularities in handling the samples.

Earlier this month, the commission suspended for life trainers Richard Hill and Paul Oliver after they had horses test positive for Nibain, according to the reports.

Brooks Claridge was suspended for positive tests on George's Friend. Jimmie Claridge was suspended for positive tests on Pebble Rounder at Ruidoso Downs August 30. Fry received a positive test September 4 at Ruidoso Downs for Sam's Wish. Willis was suspended for a positive test at Ruidoso Downs for Mr Dance Man (August 21) and Fly Lark Fly (September 3). Davidson received a positive test on Make An Effort.

Lincoln County Crime Stopper group hope to spread message through signs

Members of the Ruidoso/Lincoln County Crime Stoppers board talked Thursday of getting the group's message out through neighborhood signs similar to those used for "Neighborhood Watch" programs.

Board Vice-President Lanny Maddox said signs with the Crime Stoppers name and a reminder of cash rewards available for information on crimes can be ordered for just $10 each, and members talked of various ways to finance the proposed project. Ideas included asking clubs, businesses and individuals to sponsor the signs.

Maddox said the signs would probably be a better deterrent to crime than the Neighborhood Watch signs because of the cash rewards. "Everybody watches if they know they can get money for passing on information on people violating state statutes," said Maddox.

Maddox agreed to discuss the project with village administrators to see if the signs could be placed on street poles.

Newly appointed Assistant District Attorney Bob Laughlin was on hand for Thursday's regular monthly meeting of the Crime Stoppers board.

After discussions over membership and attendance, Tammie Maddox and Mark Silva were invited to join the board as alternates. It was learned that all 15 board slots are filled, and Vice-President Maddox wondered whether two members of the same family should be on the board. Silva is the brother of board member Rick Silva and Tammie Maddox is the vice-president's wife. Members agreed having family members on the board isn't a problem.

In other regular business Thursday the board:

—Learned that the annual Policeman of the Year party netted the program over $1,700. Maddox said Crime Stoppers has received restitution payments of $150 through the courts.

—Maddox reported the Ruidoso Police Department has borrowed the McGruff (the crime dog) costume for use in educational programs at the schools. Members agreed the suit should be used only for public education and public relations—never to advertise a product or business.

—Maddox reported, in answer to previous questions from board Secretary Christina Lawrence, that a junior or Explorer Post crime stoppers program is against the national organization's policy.

—Plaques were presented to board officers.

—The next meeting was set for noon Thursday, January 21, at the Lincoln County Cafe.

Ruidoso Communications/Detention Officer Laura Ashley and detective Lanny Maddox are shown at the Ruidoso Police Department with an award Ashley received from the 12th Judicial District Law Enforcement Association. Ashley was chosen officer of the quarter by that group for the final quarter of the year. Maddox was recently elected president—the first time a Lincoln County officer has headed the large organization of Lincoln and Otero county law officers.

Fire damages home in White Mountain area

A damage estimate wasn't available early today (Monday) on a structure fire Sunday at 209 White Mountain Meadows.

Kortney Hall of the Ruidoso Fire Department said the alarm sounded at 6:30 p.m. and 22 firefighters responded with five units to a kitchen fire at the Jim Larkin residence. She said paid and volunteer personnel remained at the scene a little over an hour.

Cause of the fire was listed on official reports as a possible short circuit overload of small appliances. There were no injuries.

Yeatman captures three matches; Warriors fall to Texas opponents

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School's wrestling team lost three close matches in El Paso, Texas, Saturday.

The Warriors fell to powerful Jefferson, Hanks and Austin to see their dual-match record drop to 1-3 (no exact scores were available).

Scott Yeatman at 132 pounds was the only Warrior wrestler to win all three of his matches. Jeff Schmidt, the defending district champion at 112 pounds and third-place finisher in the state last season, won two of three matches and lost the other one in a close competition.

Bubba Lane at 157 pounds also won two of three matches for the Warriors.

One blow for the Warriors occurred when 147-pound Clint Bob dislocated his elbow.

"It doesn't look good right now," said Warrior assistant coach Joe Wilson. "He could be lost for the entire season."

Bob was expected to be one of the Warriors' top wrestlers this season. He took a decisive first-period pin against Roswell last Wednesday. The Warriors will be idle until Saturday, January 2, when Ruidoso competes in a four-way match at Carlsbad.

Ruidoso will host Goddard Tuesday, January 12, and have its own tournament Saturday, January 30.

Ruidoso boy hoopsters defeated by Portales

Ruidoso High School's boys varsity basketball team is looking forward to the Lovington Tournament Monday through Wednesday, December 28-30, after losing to host Portales, 57-44, Friday night.

The Warriors, now 1-2 on the overall season, fell behind, 12-6, in the first quarter but fought back for a 25-23 deficit at halftime.

However, the experienced Ram team gradually pulled away in the second half for the victory.

Senior Kirk Ryan again led the Warrior scoring with 24 points. He had four three-point field goals.

Sigurd Schmitz, 6-7 postman, added 12 points for the Warriors. Following the Lovington Tournament, the Warriors will travel to Roswell High School Saturday, January 2, for varsity and junior varsity games.

Ruidoso's next home varsity game will be Tuesday, January 5, against the Tularosa Wildcats.

Warrior girls roll over Coyotes

by GARY BROWN
Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School's girls basketball team took a 54-48 victory over visiting Roswell Thursday night.

Ruidoso, now 4-5 on the season, got off to a fast start against the Coyotes, taking a 16-8 first-quarter lead.

The Warriors, playing excellent defense and getting the ball inside well, forged to a 31-22 halftime advantage and increased that lead to 10 points (46-36) at the end of the third quarter.

Roswell, now 5-2 on the season, came back a little in the final quarter but the Warriors had more than enough to emerge victorious.

Tara Miller led the Warrior scoring with 14 points, including a three-point field goal in the third quarter.

Ardena Comanche and Norma Murillo both added eight points.

Jennifer Jimenez scored seven, Sheila Reid and Sarah Kazhe both had six and Tammy Osborne scored five for the Warriors.

"We had to get physical with them," said Warrior head coach Sergio Castanon. "They're physical and we had to establish ourselves."

"Our people inside did an excellent job. We feel we have to get 20 points inside to win and we got 28."

"We're also playing good defense."

Ruidoso's inside people also did a good job rebounding against the rugged Coyotes.

Murillo grabbed nine rebounds. Comanche had eight and Osborne and Jimenez both grabbed seven.

The victory was especially impressive since the Coyotes won the recent Goddard Tournament.

Now the Warriors will be off until Saturday, January 2, when they will host the Portales Rams for varsity and junior varsity contests.

They will not practice this week, but will return to practice Monday, December 28.

"I just hope the layoff won't affect us very much," Castanon remarked. "I know the girls are excited and doing well."

News from the CVB

with Liz Groenendyk

The Ruidoso Convention and Visitors Bureau (CVB) recently reached a landmark in establishing Ruidoso in the minds of New Mexico's top meeting planners. During the weekend of November 20, executive directors of many of the state's associations were invited to Ruidoso for a hosted weekend.

This gave the CVB the perfect opportunity to show off Ruidoso's convention and meeting facilities. Although other communities throughout the state have attempted such a weekend, Ruidoso was the first to receive an excellent turnout. Thus, our success made the event historic in nature.

Our distinguished guests, all of whom are members of the New Mexico Society of Association Executives (NMSAE), represent a very influential group of people in New Mexico. Just a few of the visiting association executives included Truett Gill, President of the NM Food Dealers Association; Robert T. Bersell, Executive Vice President of the Independent Insurance Agents of NM; and Sue Sterling, Executive Director of the NM Society of CPA's. This small handful of 12 association executives influence the location of where approximately 13,000 people hold their meetings and conventions.

On Friday night, November 20, the Ruidoso Valley Greeters treated the NMSAE's to a reception and dinner party at the Carrizo Lodge.

The tour of Ruidoso continued Saturday morning with a progressive breakfast. The NMSAE's were taken to Cree Meadows Country Club, and three of Ruidoso's properties housing convention facilities where they were treated to different courses of breakfast. This tour enabled each property to show rooms and convention facilities to our guests.

Several of the NMSAE's commented that they had no idea Ruidoso had so much to offer a convention. Mr. Gill said he had received only good comments from fellow NMSAE's. "The entire weekend was professionally done. If our weekend was handled professionally, we could expect the same treatment for our future conventions." He continued to say he appreciated the hospitality shown by everyone. So far, the weekend has paid off with several new conventions.

Saturday afternoon the NMSAE's were free to do as they chose. Some played golf, while many others took advantage of Ruidoso's variety of shopping. In addition, a tour to Lincoln was offered.

The weekend concluded with the first New Mexico Excellence in Journalism award banquet honoring Ernie Mills. The black-tie occasion featured a five-course gourmet dinner which was immediately followed by the "roast." The roasters solemnly marched in to the beat of "Pomp and Circumstance" and serenaded Mills with a blast of their ever-ready kazoo's.

The nine "roasters" were distinguished New Mexicans from throughout the state. They included Gill; Mark Berube, NM Automotive Dealers Association; Dee Schelling-Pegram, NM Broadcasters Association; Howard Shaver, NM Hospital Association; William Fulginiti, NM Municipal League; Charmaine Crawford, NM Retail Association; and Robert Murray, PNM Governmental Relations. The Master of Ceremonies was Joe Carriere, President of Caprock Telecasting, Inc.

Mills said afterward, "It will be an event I will treasure for the rest of my life. The black-tie event was first class." Mills continued to say the NMSAE's, which represent the most prominent business groups in the state, were extremely impressed by Ruidoso's hospitality.

Carriere summed up the feeling of the roasters during a recent phone conversation. He felt the Awards Ceremony was an overall success. "I have been to many banquets in the course of my job and felt the evening was right up there with the very best of them." He said he has been to functions in much larger communities who could not do as well. "The food was tremendous, unlike the 'rubber chickens' all too frequently served at large dinners."

Carriere was impressed by the large number of people who attended. He felt it spoke well for the audience and for the spirit of Ruidoso as a community in general.

In conclusion, I would like to take this opportunity to thank fellow Ruidosians for their support of the Mills Roast, excellence in Journalism Award Banquet and the NMSAE hosted weekend. One guest from the audience said to me, "look at the turnout ... it's important to realize the significance of it." There was no doubt in his mind that Ruidoso is one of a very few New Mexican communities that could pull off such a venture. I think we can all be proud of it.

The Dreamer by Dan Storm

The Last Day Of Autumn

This is being sent to you on December nineteen and will reach you on December twenty-one, the last day of autumn and the eve of the first day of winter. On the sunny side of the vale all trace of snow is gone from the blizzard of a few days ago.

Out south of the house the mountain meadow is gleaming and glistening in a white blanket, rising gently to the foot of the hill where you can see the snow shining silvery white among the pinon and cedar, and over the oak brush. The flag is floating over the mountain against a sky of blue, washed clear by snow, sleet and rain.

A warm west wind is humming Christmas carols amidst the river trees and evergreens and over the snowy meadows on the shady side of the valley, and along the ridges and hilltops to the south.

And yet with the sun beaming down here just before high noon, and the warm west wind singing by, the snow on the meadow and amid the trees, stays on the ground shining through the day, without the slightest trickle of melt water running.

A Christmas Present For Mother Earth

We are a December winter scene in the hills. The snow arrived early during the time when the shortest day of the year was on its way. A December snow is the pride and joy of Good Mother Earth, because it stays upon the ground melting into the soil very slowly. The nights are long and the days short, thus slowing down the melting. And then the sun is at its lowest to the horizon in its journey through the sky, helping hold the snow.

So Mother Earth has received a much needed Christmas present after many dry days. She holds this precious snow fondly to her breast, and all her children, all through this mountain homeland are singing songs of thanks and rejoicing. And we all join in the gladness and joy of Mother Earth during this blessed Christmastide.

The Snow Birds

The snow birds have flown in chirping their little songs of delight. Things are just perfect for them. Their beloved snow is all on the shady side of the world, and their grass seeds and other native feed are plentiful on the sunny side. Jays are feeding around the feeding stations with the little feathered friends of the winter. Remember to feed our little friends, the snow birds, and the other little winged friends this winter.

Many Thanks For Christmas Messages

I send you thanks for so many Christmas cards, and the kind deeds, and the good thoughts which come to me over the miles as Christmas draws near.

In sending Christmas cards this year I have fallen a little late, so I am thankful to be able to send you fondest wishes by this message. God bless you, and may you have the most wonderful Christmas of your life.

Mesa Airlines a seasoned skier flight carrier

Mesa Airlines inaugural flight to Sierra Blanca Regional Airport initiates a winter schedule with two flights daily from Albuquerque and Dallas/Fort Worth, Texas.

According to a press release from Mesa Airlines, the company got into the ski business in the winter of 1985-86, when it flew one route between Telluride and Denver, Colorado. The program proved to be successful and Mesa now enters its third year of ski flights with 13 routes to six ski areas in a three-state region, continues the release.

Besides the Sierra Blanca flights, Mesa offers service to Taos, Colorado Springs, Denver, Gunnison and Durango, Colorado, and Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

Editorial

Personalities can be just as important as issues in local elections.

It is important, then, to examine the performance of present candidates when they seek reelection.

If a person is doing a good job, they should be retained in office; poor officials should be ejected.

In Ruidoso, councillors J.D. James, Jess Stinson, Jerry Shaw and Victor Alonzo, and Municipal Judge Bill Payne, will be up for reelection, if they choose. Ruidoso Downs trustees Leonard Bergeron, Fred Bernard and Bill Smith, and Judge Harold Mansell, may seek additional terms as well as Capitan trustees Kelly Beavers and Norman Renfro.

Examine the candidates and their performance. Your vote will affirm your decision that they have done well. If you believe they have not done well, encourage another to run who could do a better job, or run for a seat yourself. Candidates must sign up January 5.

Be sure to consider the people currently in office when forming an opinion on the March election. They are as important as the issues.—DJP

Inside the Capitol

by Jay Miller

LAS CRUCES—Was the much-touted U. S.-Mexican border governor's conference a big success or a disappointing failure?

It all depends on who you talk to down here in Law Cruces.

For Gov. Garrey Carruthers it was another magnificent job of hosting a major event. If the first year of the Carruthers administration ends up being known for anything it may be for successfully hosting the King and Queen of Spain, the national Republican governors and the border governors during three consecutive months.

All three events came off with hardly a hitch. The biggest snafu was the flap over the guest list to see the Spanish royalty. That problem can't honestly be pinned on Garrey. He disagreed immediately with the lottery decision made by his chief of protocol but the die had already been cast.

In retrospect, the Spanish visit was the least important from an accomplishment standpoint and the most uptight from a protocol standpoint. So a minor stumble on that event is understandable and forgivable.

In the meantime, Carruthers and his staff are becoming experienced hosts. If Garrey's plans for higher political office don't work out immediately, there is always the hospitality industry which could take advantage of their talents.

Louis Sadler, a border historian and one of the organizers of the conference that ended Friday at the New Mexico State University campus, says, "The idea that this meeting was not significant, I find grossly absurd."

He goes on to say he thinks it has been "the most significant meeting of the border governors in a quarter century." That would make this meeting the most "significant" of all meetings because the first get-together was 24 years ago during the first year of former Gov. Jack Campbell's administration.

According to the former U. S. Ambassador to Mexico Charles Pilliod, the conference was a success because the four U.S. and six Mexican governors endorsed the maquila, or twin plant, industry as a way to develop the border economy. In the maquila industry, U.S. companies move their assembly operations to Mexican plants to take advantage of the cheaper labor.

The companies often build "twin plants." The one on the U. S. side of the border manufactures the components and, after basic assembly in Mexico, performs final assembly and shipping.

John St. John, director of Mexican affairs for the U. S. State Department, feels the biggest accomplishment of the conference was its "institutionalization."

Since 1963, the conference has been an on-again, off-again affair. Critics have charged it is just a social gathering. At this meeting the governors pledged to make it an annual event.

The problem has been the relations between our two countries, which have so often been strained—usually because of inconsistent U. S. foreign policy. Mexican officials see a possible beginning of better relations for the future.

An unspecified date of about a year from now has been tentatively agreed to. The Mexicans want it to be following our November 1988 elections in case the victor appears to be no better than the present administration at fostering improved relations across our southern border.

Texas Gov. Bill Clements was one of the detractors of the conference. Clements noted that the conferees had not even touched on environmental problems, economic problems and drug problems.

It is noteworthy that all four U. S. governors are Republicans—a factor which made it easier to get together on this meeting. Clements is the only governor to whom these conferences are not new so he is more impatient about producing some results.

Other detractors have mentioned the lack of addressing other problems such as smuggling, human rights, immigration and increased trade of farm and manufactured products.

Labor unions aren't too thrilled about the maquiladora program. They say the industry steals jobs from U.S. workers by moving assembly plants to Mexico.

The trade-off, which is hard to measure, is that the cheaper prices for which the goods can be produced makes them more competitive and allows the U. S. businesses to employ more U. S. workers.

California Gov. George Deukmejian and Arizona Gov. Evan Mecham both had kind words for the meeting. Mecham said he had enjoyed making new friends. Considering the problems he has been having with a recall election and possible impeachment back home, making new friends may be a completely unique experience.

I don't really want to brag ... but the Pehr family has just returned from a pre-Christmas, two-day, all-night, all-expenses-paid (by us and the National Guard), once-in-a-lifetime (we hope), fabulous stay in the "Club Moriarty," nestled absolutely in the heart of the renowned pinto bean capitol of the world, Torrance County.

We couldn't believe it when our car putted to a stop on snow-choked Highway 40 just west of Edgewood last Sunday afternoon. Basking in the heat seeping from the engine compartment—as our car groaned terrible groans and steamed and hissed and finally, "Oh no!", overheated in the most dramatic manner possible in sub-freezing temperatures with 70 mile per hour snow-filled winds—we began to realize we were in for the time of our lives!

But, what luck! Curbside service was provided almost immediately.

"I couldn't very well leave you to freeze to death," the man with the red beard said as he attached a tow chain from his smooth-running, four-wheel-drive truck to our non-running, non-four-wheel-drive Scirocco.

And as he hooked the chain to his truck, I couldn't help but notice his Florida license plate (we, mountain people from Ruidoso, were being saved in the snow by a guy from the Sunshine State).

Our "courtesy shuttle" pulled smartly into the only lane of travel open, and we joined an impromptu parade of winter travellers all anxiously pushing eastward into the Christmas-y snow and ice.

Unfortunately, my hands were occupied with steering and clearing the defogger-less windshield, otherwise I could have rolled down the window to hear the first notes of "Over The River and Through The Woods," which other motorists undoubtedly were singing as we made our way along like one, big, happy family.

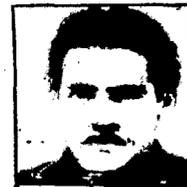

The excitement was just beginning.

As we neared Moriarty, we couldn't believe our eyes. Through the frosty windshield we could just barely see two State Police cars blocking the highway in front of us. Our merry parade was funneled, like presents into Santa's bag, off the highway and into Moriarty.

We passed the famous lighted, scrolling message sign at Rip Griffin and neared the downtown "Strip" lights of Blackie's and Circle K. Of course, it was only mid-afternoon, and we knew we'd have to wait for nightfall to get the full effect of the downtown lights, but that's what Moriarty is all about, right, the nightlife?

You've probably read all about Moriarty's famous Sunset Motel, and the Ponderosa, oh, and the Lariat Motel—we stopped there but they were full, of course. We knew we were gambling by arriving in town without a reservation, but we learned at the Lariat that "everybody" was going to the "Club Moriarty" (known locally as the "Moriarty Community Center").

What luck! With the car now long dead, and all roads leaving town closed by the State Police, our decision was an easy one.

"Why not stay here tonight! After all, 'everybody' is going to the community center. Let's not miss out!" The Sunshine State man pulled the car to the Club parking lot, refused payment (not even a tip) and vanished with his four-wheel-drive into the fast accumulating snow.

The Club Moriarty was fabulous. Everything was on one level, so we didn't have to climb stairs with our luggage. We weren't required to check in, or wait for a room key, and pretty much had our choice of accommodations.

Furniture was no problem. Stackable chairs were everywhere in the wide open multi-purpose room, and, like others, we just arranged them to suit our needs. Facing chairs together to form a "bed" seemed to be the style of the day.

Linda, Renee and I noticed the attractive beige over brown color scheme of the cinder block walls and the easy-clean-up linoleum floor tiles. Complimentary were color television (one set, 13" diagonal measure) and room service (dinner was served, by us, in the multi-purpose room).

The evening was a non-stop entertainment blur of discussions with other Club visitors of the weather (serious ones), crossword puzzles, Word-Finds, Yahtzee, Uno, card-playing, rescuing "Bob" (a stray, disoriented cat wandering outside in the deadly cold) and a delicious chile and pinto bean supper, which we suspect contained authentic, locally grown pinto beans.

The night was not without the glamor of news cameras buzzing around, with exclusive interviews of Club guests.

The evening's highlight proved to be the 10 p.m. News, with shots of the Club Moriarty preceding a very-well-watched weather broadcast.

Then, an unexpected group activity was provided by Club staffers (much appreciated members of the Moriarty Volunteer Fire Department) and camouflage-suited National Guardsmen, who arrived with a big truck bearing non-nonsense Army cots for everyone, food and non-allergenic pastel blankets.

It was beginning to look like one, big, Slumber Party!

We all got a bit of late-night exercise setting up the cots and jockeying the unfolded cots for position in the crowded room. The high-overhead lights were dimmed, sweaters we had purchased as Christmas presents became pillows and a chorus of "good nights" were heard as we and 200 of our newest friends slipped to sleep to the sound of Army cot squeaks (much like the comforting buzz of summertime crickets).

Monday dawned to the sounds of a Club staffer announcing (via bullhorn) the names of people who had telephone messages. The snow outside still was frightful, but breakfast was absolutely delightful.

I ventured outside in search of a garage for the dead Scirocco, while Linda and Renee spent time with our closest Club friends (on the next cot over), the Sekhons from Los Angeles, who just happened to have a three-year-old daughter, much to three-year-old Renee's delight.

Bobby, at Bobby's Phillips on the "Strip," towed me to his garage. After a thawing out, new plugs and a battery charge, the car started, but ran poorly and emitted a giant white cloud of smoke. "Blown head gasket!" Bobby shouted over the roar of the engine.

And he said he couldn't fix it, we'd have to take it to Albuquerque.

Just as the shine of our fabulous time at Club Moriarty was beginning to dull a little with this disastrous news, our luck returned, this time with the arrival, from nearby Sandia Park, of my mother, and her wonderful, smooth-running, four-wheel-drive Subaru, and a 10-foot tow rope.

We said our good-byes to all those folks at the community center, and announced our intention to head out of town on the only open road—to Albuquerque. Other Club guests wished us luck.

After a long trip, at the end of the third tow rope in less than as many days, we were at University Volkswagen. Yes, they said, they could fix our car.

Less than a day and a borrowed car later found us back in Ruidoso, safe and sound.

It's doubtful that fate will ever again land us in the fabulous Club Moriarty (we pray), so we cling to the thoughts of those memorable people (all of whom went far beyond any expectations in coming to our rescue) and memorable times.

Yes ... no bragging ... we had an unexpected, eventful and thrilling few days just off the fast lane on the "Strip" in well-travelled Moriarty, believe it or not.

It was an unforgettable time of our lives!
