Council sets stage for two centers

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Tempers flared more than once during Tuesday's marathon session of the Ruidoso Village Council.

By the time the four-and-a-half hour meeting was over, councillors had set the stage for a civic center and a youth center on the old airport land, and upheld a Planning and Zoning decision that is expected to end up in court. (See related story on zoning.)

Ralph Petty, representing the Economic Development Advisory Board (EDAB), persuaded the council to approve plans to develop a community center at the old airport. Petty, Councillor J.D. James and Dennis Fischer of Texas-New Mexico Power Co., described a metal building to be paid for with available funds, and moved if and when the Airport Master Plan is implemented.

"We can write a check for this," said Petty, adding, "We can pick up our marbles and go home at very little cost."

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. reminded the group that the Master Plan calls for a board to oversee and develop the land, wondering if the village shouldn't treat itself like any other prospective user of the land. Davis noted very little very gets moved once it is put somewhere.

Village Councillor J.D. James talks Tuesday during a work session of the Ruidoso Village Council. James chairs the Economic Development Advisory Board which made a proposal Tuesday over a community center at the old airport.

Old airport hangar deal is surprise to councillor

Councillor Al Junge smiled broadly and took charge Tuesday of the first Ruidoso Village Council work study session in more than four years.

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. and five members of the council sat around a table in the front of council chambers for what Junge described as a very informal get-together. He encouraged councillors to air comments and ask questions, as well as review the evening's agenda.

In spite of predictions that the 3 p.m. work session would expedite and facilitate the regular council meeting, Tuesday's informal session preceded a more than four-hour regular meeting.

During the informal meeting, Councillor J.D. James raised questions over a proposed youth center, asking if the council was consulted before the Kiwanis Club purchased a hangar on village property.

"This is the first I've heard of it," said James, but Cleston Pritchett of the Kiwanis Club disagreed. "I believe I came by the funeral home and told you," said Pritchett, who is coordinating plans to operate a center. It was learned that Kiwanis already has purchased a hangar and is asking to donate the building to the city and lease it back for the youth facility.

"This really is circumventing any implementation of the Master Plan," said Davis, adding the proposal is "very premature."

The mayor warned Pritchett that the average youth center lasts just six months, and Pritchett replied that the Alamogordo youth center is city-owned and has been in operation for eight years.

Pritchett explained Kiwanis' expectations, stressing the importance of youth leadership.

"They listen to their peer group," said Pritchett.

James, too, said the plan is premature, insisting that all such plans should come through the Economic Development Advisory Board that he chairs. He predicted with so many fingers working on plans for a center, the village will never get anything.

Initial town meeting dwells on civic center

"A little learning is a dangerous thing," Katherine Finley told a group gathered at La Junta Resort for Lincoln County Hospitality Association's first annual town meeting and barbecue, Sunday.

To accomplish the goal of being a more informed group of citizens, Finley, president of the former Ruidoso Lodger's Association, called the meeting to receive status reports concerning the proposed events-civic center from leaders of different area organizations and governments.

Ruidoso village councillor Tom McNeil said in the 24 years he has lived in Ruidoso, he has never seen a group gather as this one has. (They can accomplish) anything they set their mind to do, if they work together...it is pretty apparent.

Finley emphasized the need for leadership and not shirking off responsibilities. She compared the group to home which she said requires commitment and involvement. "Or we become transients, meteorites coming through here."

Air Ruidoso unsigned lease is issue

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Lacking a quorum, the six-member Sierra Blanca Airport Commission (SBAC) was unable to meet Wednesday.

Ruidoso Mayor Lloyd L. Davis

Jr. and Councillor Elmer Pirelli, along with Lincoln County Commission Chairman John Hightower were on hand for the regular meeting, as were two attorneys, the airport manager and secretary and airport engineer Dumas Slade.

Absent were SBAC Chairman Bill Karn, Councillor Jess Stinson and Lincoln County Commissioner Ralph Dunlap.

Those present called a special meeting for 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, September 20, at the Lincoln County Courthouse.

Items on Wednesday's agenda included accounts payable, with $43,443.02 in outstanding bills listed for payment. Those were $444.60 to Thunderbird Fire and Safety and $43,998.42 to Leeds-Herkenhoff.

Slade said he had the contract documents for the maintenance building, and village attorney John Underwood said they could be signed by assistant commission chairman Davis, since the bid was awarded in a regular meeting.

It was expected that a letter from Underwood to attorney Mel B. O'Reilly would be discussed. That letter was in reference to Air Ruidoso's lease at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

According to that letter, dated August 30, a lease was submitted to O'Reilly on August 5, and has not yet been signed and returned.

The letter continues: "Since that time, it has been brought to my attention that the landing fees due for June and July have not been paid by your client (Air Ruidoso) and that she is, in fact, contesting same."

Underwood said in the letter

A new face for the Chamber

The Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce building is sporting a new face with a coat of adobe-pink paint highlighted with turquoise and brilliant pinks. Painter Jeff Maul added the heart line symbols on the trim to signify strength, energy and life and the Indian symbols which signify water to show some of the things that exemplify the Ruidoso area. Sierra Landscaping added the flagstone front walkways, lawn and flower plantings.

Council

"Your honor, politicians do," responded Petty.

Fisher, who told of meeting several times with representatives of Butler Steel Buildings, said he'll meet with them again on September 20 to draw up specifications. He and members of the Lincoln County Home Builders' Association agreed to provide plans and specifications so the project can be let for bids.

Some members of the standing-room-only audience applauded the EDAB plan, but some were on hand to push for implementing the Master Plan first.

John Jeffers, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, recalled working closely with former councillor Jerry Shaw when she headed EDAB and worked to acquire a civic/convention center. He called on the Mayor to appoint the Master Plan oversight committee immediately to ensure that the 160-acre tract is put to the highest and best use.

Red-faced and pounding the table with his fist, James continued to decry those he accused of delaying the development of a community center. He reiterated how hard his board has worked.

James and the mayor, both shouting at once, disagreed over whether EDAB has made an analysis or not.

"You haven't made an analysis," yelled Davis, with James interrupting with, "Don't tell me that."

Although Petty said his group was on hand to recommend, not to sell, the councillors bought the plan, voting unanimously in favor, with Junge passing his vote the first time around to cast the final "aye."

After a break, the council reconvened to hear that the youth of Ruidoso "need, want and deserve a gathering place."

Cleston Pritchett of the Kiwanis Club said his group purchased a hangar for $10,000, planning to give it to the village to be leased back for a youth center.

With a large group of teens on hand, including most of the Ruidoso High School football team, Police Chief William Newman voiced his support for the center.

Newman, police officer Laura Ashley Standridge and RHS student Daniel Candelaria all called on the council to vote "yes."

"We can stay out of trouble," said Candelaria, stressing the importance to local youth of having a place of their own.

"These are good kids," said Standridge, who said she is dispatched often to Pinetree Square parking lot where the teens now congregate.

After the council unanimously endorsed the proposal, Councillor Larry Simon told the young people, "you'll make it or break it," adding the problem is not a new one.

In other regular business, the council:

- Unanimously and "overwhelmingly" approved a resolution commending Ruidoso Police Sergeant Truman J. McBride for heroic action in his attempts to rescue the victim of a flash flood. Also commended for their efforts were officer Lance J. Zink, State Police officer Steve Standridge, Lincoln County Medical Center administrator Steve Keller and Emergency Medical Services director James Stover who assisted McBride.

- Adopted a fair housing ordinance.

- Adopted an ordinance amending the ordinance establishing the Economic Development Fund to include the words "community events center."

- Adopted an ordinance amending the traffic code to track with state law.

- Adopted account transfers to pay for the airport terminal building until the proceeds from the recently implemented three mill levy are received.

- Awarded the bid on a hot mix patcher reclaimer machine to sole bidder, M&D Contractors of Loveland, Colorado, for $39,000.

- Awarded the bid on a Vector Truck to the only bidder, Pete's Equipment Repair of Albuquerque for $146,838.

- Concurred with mayoral appointments to the Well Testing Committee: Councillor Tom McNeil, Councillor Elmer Pirelli and Councillor J.D. James.

- Retired into executive session to discuss personnel, and reconvened for a lengthy discussion over workmen's compensation insurance. After learning the village has binders from two different insurance companies, the council approved a contract with the Self-Insurers Fund, the low bidder, at $99,848 with a possible dividend.

- Councillors Junge, McNeil and James voted to award the insurance contract to a local company at $141,000, but were overruled when the mayor broke the tie in favor of Self-Insurers (Risk Management).

Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. congratulates Ruidoso Police Sergeant Truman J. McBride after the Ruidoso Village Council "overwhelmingly" approved a resolution commending him for his heroic action in aiding victims of a recent flash flood. The audience gave McBride a standing ovation.

Neighbors help out

A group of Cree Meadows Country Club subdivision property owners agreed Tuesday to provide "financial and moral support" to their neighbors who are being sued for unpaid club dues.

Cree Meadows Country Club is taking property owners Rachel Kirkwood and Ben Hallberg to court to recover dues billed since the club re-organized after its bankruptcy.

But Kirkwood and Hallberg have vowed to fight the club, saying they never joined the club after it was in bankruptcy.

The two named in the suit are among at least 30 property owners who have opted not to pay dues since the club re-opened.

Club manager Wayne Wash said the defendants' names were drawn from a hat for what he called a "test case" to determine if the restrictive covenants can be enforced.

The case has been filed, but a court date still has not been set.

Meanwhile, Kirkwood has hired attorney Richie Askew to represent her and her brother, Hallberg.

Council fails to uphold P&Z in only one instance

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Appeals of zoning changes in the recently adopted ordinance, volleyed like ping pong balls between the Planning and Zoning Commission and the Ruidoso Village Council, were laid to rest Tuesday when the council upheld all but one of P&Z's decisions.

At least one of those zoning decisions is already in court, according to village attorney John Underwood.

White Mountain Plaza was rezoned from light commercial to planned unit development over objections of the property owner, Bill McCarty.

With 72 percent of the neighboring property owners filing objections to commercial zoning, planning administrator Cleatus Richards told councillors it would require a 75 percent vote to overturn P&Z's decision.

Councillors were concerned over the court case and an old stipulated judgment that left that property zoned commercial once before; they were unable to muster the three-quarters needed to overturn P&Z.

"Why not just let the courts make the decision," suggested Councillor J. D. James during the long pause before a motion was made.

"This thing has been tabled to death," said Councillor Tom McNeil, warning the group of a case in Yonkers, New York, where a governing body failed to abide by a court order and is being fined $1 million a day. "We need to go along with the court," suggested McNeil.

Air

that he has asked the airport manager, Tim Morris, for landing fee data.

"Because of the long delay and of the continuing problems, including the failure of Air Ruidoso to have agents at the air terminal 30 minutes prior to flight, it is essential that a lease be executed and entered into and that all past-due payments be brought up to date within 10 days from the date of this letter."

"If that is not done, I have been instructed to institute steps to terminate Air Ruidoso's operation at the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport," continues the letter.

Contacted late Wednesday, Underwood said the lease still was not signed. "The deadline has passed and the landing fees are unpaid," said Underwood, adding the village will file notice for the company to leave the premises if the lease isn't signed today (Thursday).

O'Reilly confirmed receiving the letter, but said Wednesday he was not at liberty to discuss it.

Helene McCoy, owner of Air Ruidoso, said her company doesn't have a lease. She said she recalls problems she and her attorney had over the lease the village asked her to sign. She said after negotiations she did sign a lease in February, but heard nothing more from the village until August 5.

McCoy said she disagrees with the village's contention that it is the only fixed-base operator at the regional airfield, and that has been an issue in the contract negotia-

The White Mountain appeal was just one of several cases lumped together as the audience waited for council action.

Attorney Robert Beauvais, representing one of the other property owners, asked about the status of his client's case with no motions forthcoming.

"I can't exactly throw them down and hog tie them," said Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr.

Councillor Jess Stinson finally made the motion to uphold P&Z, with Stinson and Councillor J.D. James voting in favor and councillors Al Junge, McNeil and Elmer Pirelli voting against. Councillor Larry Simon, a White Mountain Development Co. employee, abstained.

"We're still in limbo," said Richards, reminding councillors of the 75 percent requirement.

Division director Leon Eggleston suggested the cases be voted on one at a time, and the council upheld P&Z action on Snowflake Ridge and the Locke Tract, and ended in a two "against" and three "for" vote on the White Mountain tract.

Beauvais, representing the Snowflake Ridge owner, asked to retain the old zoning, instead of PUD, stressing his opinion that the owner is entitled to that zoning.

The Locke Tract will remain residential.

Also Tuesday, the council voted to leave the Sierra Blanca Cabins as commercial, in spite of a request from a neighbor to have the Riverside Addition property rezoned to residential.

"Anyway, they can't stop us from landing and taking off... we don't need a lease for that," said McCoy.

Early today (Thursday) O'Reilly said his client (McCoy) authorized him to talk about the ongoing dispute. O'Reilly said Air Ruidoso disputes the fees the village asserts are unpaid, explaining that the Department of Transportation sets those fees at $2.50 per scheduled revenue landing. Air Ruidoso submits a report to that department on a regular basis.

O'Reilly said the village is claiming the fees are owed on "non-revenue" flights—those provided for Federal Aviation Administration personnel, Air Ruidoso personnel and the like.

With the deadline set for today, O'Reilly said his client probably will pay under protest and take the matter to court. He said he reviewed the lease and will deliver it, with changes, to Underwood's office today.

"There's some type of animosity from Mr. Morris to Air Ruidoso which we can't pinpoint," said O'Reilly, questioning why the airport administration isn't more supportive of the new airline, a locally-owned business.

"There's no animosity between myself and Air Ruidoso," responded Morris, contacted early today (Thursday). "We have an agreement with Air Ruidoso and we haven't been able to get them to live up to that agreement," he added.

O'Reilly said earlier that his client is complying with that agreement.

Initial

After a meal of barbecued meats, and a table of all sorts of dishes, representatives from the Lincoln County Hospitality Association (LCHA), Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce, Cree Meadows Country Club, Ruidoso Economic Development Advisory Board, Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee, Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department, Ruidoso City Council, Ruidoso Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Lincoln County Task Force spoke of their views of the proposed civic center at the old airport.

Ralph Petty, secretary of the Ruidoso Economic Development Advisory Board, chaired the town meeting.

Ron Andrews, a member of the board of directors of the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce, expressed his personal opinion that the civic center proposal is "valid" and should continue to move in "that direction." He added there is some concern about the "hurriedness" for using the old airport land, as there is "new concern" about the proposal for a new golf course on the land.

Petty discussed the golf course which was proposed by R.D. Hubbard, new owner of Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The proposal includes construction of a 18-hole course and hotel on the airport land, but not for three to four years from now.

The civic center, which will be constructed of the existing hangar and terminals buildings, will not be "detrimental to the golf course," Petty opined. "There's plenty of room."

He further explained the village will have to offer water at a much reduced price for Hubbard to consider the area for a course.

Petty emphasized he was not in opposition to Hubbard's plan.

In speaking of golf courses, Wayne Wash, manager of Cree Meadows Country Club, said his course has a "stable enough footing" to exist with another public course within the village. He contended the new course would bring in a larger influx of golfers.

Wash said he wants to work with the Ruidoso lodgers on discount-package deals. He expressed his pride in the Cree Meadows Golf Course, "regardless what some call it."

J.D. James, representing the Economic Advisory Board, reported the committee's unanimous approval of the civic center at the old airport. He claimed the village has the funds to remodel the existing buildings now. "We've got the money in the bank."

Bob Finley and Carolyn Cantrell, representing the Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee, cited their approval of anything that helps Lincoln County.

LCHA supports the old airport site civic center proposal "100 percent," said representative Dick Weber. He advocated starting the project as "soon as possible, we need the space."

He added LCHA did not want to be in the way of anybody (Hubbard), but just wants to see a center built.

Ruidoso Parks and Recreation was represented by director Darrell Obermueller. He advocated utilizing the available space, but has not dealt with the civic-center issue specifically.

VFW primarily is interested in a convention center for annual conventions.

Chamber director John Jeffers said he wanted the old airport oversight committee to review the civic-center idea before anything is done. Al Junge, Ruidoso village councillor, said the committee was already dead, not having met for about two years. "We don't need this delaying tactic," Junge told Jeffers.

Petty emphasized if the civic-center proposal succeeds at the village council level, there can be a building at the old airport in less than 90 days.

Dennis Fisher, a member of the Lincoln County task force, which is comprised of seven Lincoln County Home Builders' Association members, said the first draft of plans to remodel the hangar and terminal buildings at the old airport will be presented at the village council meeting Tuesday night. The task force group is strictly voluntary.

Discussions other than the civic center included the Retirement Services Division, presented by Jeffers. He reported the division has more than $60,000 with the addition of $20,788 from the state of New Mexico, all for an advertising campaign expected to begin this spring.

Finley interjected that the retirement campaign is aimed at appealing to "all ages and all backgrounds."

Jeffers continued with a review of the upcoming Westfest. The event has expanded to include two bands, four dance groups and a "kindergarten," which will feature activities for children. The event promoters are expected to offer discount ticket packets for lodgers soon, Jeffers added.

Andrews gave a short report on the upcoming Motorcycle Rally.

"Flo and I are to blame for the motorcycles to be here soon," he joked. He added this year's show is expected to be "real big."

"Till we get an events center, the (motorcycle) show will be at Swap Mart."

Obermueller praised the recently completed softball season at Eagle Creek Sports Complex. He said about 1,500 softball players and some of their families visited and stayed in Ruidoso during the ball season. He added the state softball organization wants to have state softball tournaments in Ruidoso, as they like what the village has to offer, a "little better piece of the pie."

The village is expanding its recreation facilities, Obermueller further reported. Currently, the village is making a sled run at School House Park, and is planning cross-country skiing areas. He also said Parks and Recreation has a large barbecue grill available for rent at a low cost.

After the food and drinks, some of which were provided by Cree Meadows Country Club and La Junta, the Ruidoso Lodgers' Association met for its final brief meeting. At that time, the group unanimously voted officially to become Lincoln County Hospitality Association. LCHA will include all interested Ruidoso and county-wide lodges and restaurants.

Finley concluded the town meeting by encouraging attendance at Tuesday night's Ruidoso council meeting.

Weekly winner

Ruidoso resident Ronald Servies is $25 richer as he wins last week's Ruidoso News football contest. His football savvy connected for 18 wins to tie with Jeff Chapman. Although both picked Ruidoso in the tiebreaker, Chapman picked the score at 18-7, Servies at 12-7, 6 points closer.

Cyclists appointed

Ruidoso Warrior cyclist advisor Galen Farrington, left, stands with his three students, who have been appointed to the United States Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs. They will report in early October. Students are, left to right, Clay Moseley, Roger Marr and Jessie Foster. Upcoming events are the 100-mile Red River Challenge and the Record Challenge in Moriarity that attempts to set distance records.

Where is the sign?

City Hall, referred to by many as Village Hall, is a couple of miles drive off of Sudderth down Paradise, following the creek, to the Hull Road wye, then turn right and up the hill for a piece until you see the sign at the side of the road that says City Hall. You know, the sign at the right side of the road behind that little bush.

TV's Karen McDaniel will receive J-award

Cree Meadows Country Club will be the site of the Second Annual New Mexico Excellence in Journalism Award at a banquet and roast, Saturday, September 17.

Karen McDaniel is to receive the award at the banquet and roast which will feature State Senator Les Houston as one of the "roasters" and Ernie Mills as the Master of Ceremonies.

McDaniel, presently serving as KOAT-TV of Albuquerque Santa Fe Bureau Chief, is being honored for her work in the category of "television new reporter."

Her broadcasting career began as a reporter for KDEF radio in Albuquerque, where she also reported for KNWZ and KRKE radio stations. McDaniel has been with KOAT-TV Albuquerque for ten years, and has spent the last seven years as KOAT-TV's Capitol correspondent in Santa Fe.

The Plant Corner

by Sally Black

Dear Sally: I have a Christmas Cactus I cannot get to bloom at all, much less at Christmas time. What am I doing wrong? I enjoy your column and will follow your instructions. Thank you, Peggy Garland, El Paso, Texas.

Dear Peggy: These cacti, Zygocactus Truncatus, live on trees much like certain orchids.

Remember, they come from the jungle and must have rich, porous soil with very fast drainage being essential.

Light: This plant will not form flower buds unless it is subjected to short days, much like the poinsettia plant. The plant must be kept in a warm (not under 60°), dark, place in the evenings. It will rest after it blooms at Christmas time to late spring. Then it starts growing again. In September the flower buds should begin to appear.

If you delay giving it short days, it will take longer to form buds. The 60° temperature, and long dark nights, will initiate bud setting in September.

Once the buds have started opening in early December, the plant may be moved to a well-lit living room where it is enjoyed by all.

In January, when the bloom cycle is complete, move the plant back to a spot with cooler temperatures and give the plant much less water for about four months. This will strengthen the roots and make ready for the new bloom cycle.

Fertilizer and water: Water frequently to keep the soil moist, never soggy wet and never let the plant stand in water. It will require water more than once a week, depending on size of the plant and pot.

The plant will require liquid fertilizer once a week from September to January. They respond very well to BB-61 at one-half strength each time you fertilize; once a week.

Know what moist means; the plant will not bloom if kept too wet.

Soil: The soil must be fast draining, porous with plenty of ground bark and sharp sand. Use a mixture of 3/4 sand, bark or sphagnum moss, or very coarse peat and 1/4 potting soil. This will give it an open texture with fast drainage and allow air to get to the roots.

Pests: Check often for red spiders, remember some types of spiders are green. At the first sign, wash the plant with tepid water and spray with malathion. When the spray dries, rinse the leaves with clear, warm water.

Unhealthy-appearing plants often result from hot, dry weather stress. An amateur gardener may try to help the plants by fertilizing. Don't do it! Plants growing actively during the rest period can be severely injured.

Often, well-watered plants are still a pale color. This is usually because the water fails to penetrate the soil mound. Punch holes about eight to 12 inches into the soil around the plant to increase the water penetration.

Pale plants also may have an iron deficiency. A foliage application of iron chelate or iron sulfate makes the plant green again.

Stress symptoms in plants are sometimes misinterpreted as signs of insects or disease. Spray malathion only for insects, not for hot, dry weather stress.

These plants are commonly called leaf cacti, because the plant bodies are flat. However, these leaves are actually stems. The flowers are produced from their tips.

Thank you for your questions and let me hear from you at Christmas time.

This column is devoted to growing healthy indoor plants.

"I get a gut feeling, there's people that just don't want things done now," commented James, stressing that his committee is working to develop a community center as soon as possible.

EDAB was on the agenda for a presentation during the regular meeting concerning a community center.

Junge commented on the three mil levy implemented to pay for the airport terminal and large hangar. He said the contract that led the council to enact the tax was for 14 to 16.9 percent, and if submitted to a local bank could have been from 7.25 to 8.25 percent, saving "a ton of money."

"At the time this was done not a financial institution in this town would have touched it," said Davis.

Junge warned that additional funds will be needed to complete the airport.

Councillors then discussed ongoing disputes between village staff and Ruidoso resident John Greening. Junge asked why the man's letters were not answered, and was told that they were answered.

"He's just not happy with the answer," said Cleatus Richards, planning administrator.

Councillors then discussed, briefly, zoning matters to be on the regular meeting's agenda.

Junge, asking who was representing village manager Frank Potter, who is out of town on vacation, recalled asking Potter to work with the village attorney to reduce legal costs. Finance director John Varley said a memo was sent to village employees, informing them not to contact the attorney without permission.

Councillors asked staff to draft an ordinance calling for all contracts to get council approval.

"We want to know what the heck's going on," said Junge. He said the village no longer has a

Ruidoso fall events calendar reported to SCC

With Ruidoso gearing up for a full slate of Aspenfest activities, the Service Club Council (SCC) met Monday to update the calendar of events and hear a program from Ruidoso Care Center activities director Sandee Hagar.

She said her job is to provide activities for center residents. Hagar and RCC office manager Judy Lukens said the annual Halloween carnival, sponsored by the RCC Auxiliary is a big fundraiser and lots of fun for the residents.

"We're looking for volunteers," said Lukens. Since the auxiliary is small, the Halloween carnival is on hold at this point.

Lukens and Hagar said 600 people attended last year's Halloween carnival, with proceeds used to buy needed equipment and Christmas presents for residents.

About 60 volunteers are needed to put together and provide the carnival. Lukens and Hagar asked clubs and individuals to contact them at the care center, 257-9071, with offers of help.

SCC president Barbara Duff praised the Ruidoso Downs Ladies Auxiliary for "all they've accomplished" with their new pavilion and annual arts and crafts fair. "They need to have a pat on the back," said Duff, noting the Labor Day fair was a big success in spite of inclement weather.

Lanny Maddox reported the recent pistol match sponsored by Ruidoso/Lincoln County Crime Stoppers was a "big success." He said 65 people attended the first day, but the shoot had to be continued when it rained.

George Sisson said the Kiwanis Club has purchased a hangar at the old airport for a teen center, and H.E. Griffin encouraged everyone to attend Village Council to lobby for developing a community center at the old airport.

SCC heard of the following upcoming events:

—Mountaintops Gymnastics Booster Club Spaghetti Dinner, 5-7 p.m. Sunday, September 18, at the Activities Center. Tickets, $4 for adults and $2 for children, available from gymnasts or at the door.

—Aspenfest activities that range from the Kiwanis Fishing Tournament on September 17-18, at Alto Lake, to the Ruidoso Retreat set for October 23-24. A full schedule of Aspenfest '88 activities is available at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

—12th Judicial Law Enforcement pistol match on October 8, at Holloman Air Force Base.

—Ruidoso Altrusa's gala opening night benefit for Ruidoso Little Theatre's production of "My Three Angels" at 8 p.m. Wednesday, October 19, at Cree Meadows Country Club.

—"My Three Angels" continues at 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, October 19-22, 26-29, at Cree Meadows Country Club.

—Family Crisis Center announces its Second Annual Spaghetti Dinner from 5-9 p.m. Thursday, November 3, at the Incredible. This year's event will also feature a spaghetti sauce recipe contest.

—Lincoln County Home Builders have scheduled a home show for June 16-18, 1989.

Items to be included on the SCC calendar should be sent to Duff or to Mildred Crocker.

School enrollment figure is 'pleasing'

by DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

"I feel good about the enrollment," said Ruidoso Schools Superintendent Sid Miller at the Ruidoso Board of Education meeting Tuesday.

An increase of 43 students over an earlier projection was counted Monday at all the Ruidoso schools, Miller reported to board members Stormy Edwards, Lynn Willard, Mike Morris, Don Swalander and Rod Adamson.

"I am always hesitant to announce (the enrollment) this early, but all the principals assured me they are accurate," Miller continued.

He also projected the schools will pick up a few more students before the 40-day count. The count is important because the state bases funding on the enrollment on that day.

Associate superintendent and principal of Ruidoso Middle School Mike Gladden discussed the federal school programs operating in the Ruidoso Schools.

Chapter I, which was funded $59,486, includes the language arts programs at White Mountain Intermediate School with Joan Spencer as teacher, White Mountain Elementary with Reggie Gray as a full-time instructional aide and Ruidoso Middle School with Melinda Valliant as a half-time aide.

The programs provide direct instruction to those students who have a learning disadvantage in the reading/language arts area. The students must score 25 percent or below on the CTBS test and are not qualified to receive special education services. Students attend the Chapter I class one hour daily.

Chapter II, funded $16,543 this year, is a block grant given to the state and then allocated to the schools. For the next three years, Chapter II funds will be used to upgrade the districts school libraries. This school year, the libraries at Ruidoso High and Middle Schools will become computerized at a cost of $12,000. The remaining funds will be used to purchase library books at the three elementary libraries and the Middle School.

Title IV money, funded $39,143, is designated for Indian education. Arlene Martinez will be liaison coordinator between the school and the Mescalero Tribe. Emmalene Botella will be an aide at Nob Hill in the program.

A new program was initiated this year. Teachers will be paid $15 per hour for after-school tutoring to Indian students. Each elementary school will have a program and Ruidoso High and Middle Schools will offer the program before school.

Title II EBSA, was funded $1,043 through a block grant from the state. The funds will provide inservice training to teachers in math, science and computers.

Drug Free Schools and Communities Act, funded $4,874, enable the schools to create programs for drug education and prevention. Contracted services such as fees to speakers, sniff dog visits, inservice training for students are included as well as educational materials.

874 Special Education was funded $84,555. These funds are for Indian special education students only. Ruidoso uses these monies for materials, tutoring and other programs. Gina Cochise is the language development aide who travels to all schools providing services to qualified students.

874 Indian Education Add-on Monies of $108,590 are new funds from Washington for 1988-89. The funds will be used to finance the half-time nurse, half-time counselor at the Middle School, language development aides at all schools, transportation for students in athletics and extra curricular activities after schools hours and any students fees.

Special Education 94-142 or Region IX Coop was funded $53,997 for special education services. The program includes free appropriate public education, least restrictive environment, personnel development for staff, child find and identification which occurs in the spring, program administration by Karen Tillman and special education supplementary materials.

Preschool special education, a new program for this year, was funded $9,516. The funds will supplement the Child Find program and materials and is geared toward three and four-year old developmentally disabled (DD) children.

Gladden acknowledged the administration and requirements for the special education projects is involved and at times difficult, but "it is worth every effort."

In other business the board:

—Accepted the resignations of Liz Wheeler as speech pathologist at Nob Hill and Cece Gifford as special education aide at the Middle School.

—Approval hiring: Gina Cochise as 874 special education aide, Mitzi Cates as special education aide and coach at the Middle School, Carolyn Stover as special education teacher at Nob Hill; Melinda Valliant as quarter time PL874 teacher and half-time Chapter I aide; Nina Justus as 874 aide at Nob Hill; Paula Reed as 874 aide at White Mountain Elementary; Nancy Schmidt as regular aide at White Mountain Elementary; Ellen Davis as three and four-year old DD aide; John Jamrowski as part-time bus driver and Ronda Carver as part-time bus driver.

—Approved cash transfers from operation to 874 Special Education for $22,077 and from operation to Indian Education for $108,590.

—Approved budget increases for 874 special education of $22,077, 874 Indian Education of $14,909, Region IX operational of $5,400, and indirect cost from federal programs of $4,730.

—Approved joint powers agreement between Hondo and Ruidoso schools for educational services for three and four-year old DD children.

—Tabled the request for proposal for architectural services contract until the next meeting.

—Approved the annual Federal School Lunch Agreement.

—Heard a report from Gladden on drug dog inspection, with the announcement that last week the high and middle schools were visited by the sniff dog and no evidence of drugs were found at either school.

Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris presented certificates of appreciation to police officer Will Hoggard and Fire Chief Mark Hazel for outstanding work in the field. Hazel accepted his award and two other certificates on behalf of firemen Paul Pearson and Humberto Maldonado.

The recipients were acknowledged at the board of Trustees meeting at the Village of Ruidoso Downs municipal building Monday night.

Mayor Harris read a letter of commendation to chief Hazel written by four police officers regarding Hoggard. The officers were Charlie White, Bobby Angermiller, David Hightower and Bob Layher.

The fire department members received their certificate for the work performed in a traffic accident involving a fire hydrant.

Other business:

Jan Polk, village clerk, reported the animal control officer is still a temporary employee and doing a good job.

Polk said funds had been withdrawn to meet payroll and accounts payable for last month as insurance premiums had substantially reduced the general fund. Polk said the funds would be replaced within the next two months.

Polk said the state compensates Ruidoso Downs for traffic control of the race track by Ruidoso Downs officers.

The board decided to leave the animal control position on a temporary basis.

Mayor Harris announced a workshop for elected municipal officials would be held on September 28-29. Harris said any member who wished to attend should contact the village clerk for arrangements.

Police chief Hazel recommended Ramona Wheeler for the position of full-time dispatcher. The motion to hire carried unanimously.

Mayor Harris read a letter from Cablevision to make the Village aware of what the Cablevision has been doing recently. There was no mention of Cinemax or Showtime coming to the area.

Judge Harold Mansell recommended Kathleen Norlander Otero

as his new County Clerk. A motion to hire was carried unanimously.

Mayor Harris informed Trustee C.L. Wright that a school bus route he questioned had been primed but had not reached the preparation stage to be paved at this time.

Trustee Bill Smith said the flies from the race track were "a real problem" this year and that trash, to his knowledge, had not been removed.

Harris indicated time was a factor and assured the trustee that the race track area would be sprayed and cleaned. Harris stated that he would bring the fly problem to the attention of the race track and to the new environmentalist of the area.

All wrapped up

The Ruidoso Warrior cheerleaders are all wrapped up in their work, taking down old banners and putting up new ones. It's one of many tasks for, top row, left to right, Sophia Orosco, Teresa Harrelson and Roberta

Cheerleaders work behind scenes

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Sure they're cute! Sure, every girl dreams of growing up to be a cheerleader. Yes, there is a heck of a lot more work to cheerleading than meets the eye.

The Warrior cheerleaders, captain Anne Cull, Roberta Montoya, Teresa Harrelson, Leslee Spencer, Lori Swalander, Sophia Orosco and Rachel Garrett are sponsored by Peggy Arnett, herself a cheerleader a few years ago.

"In order for the girls to try out for cheerleader they must maintain a two point average," Arnett said. "And they must maintain that through the school year."

"The cheerleaders are required to paint 20 posters per game with clever prose and create banners for the players to run through before each game and half time. They decorate the school on Mondays, practice on Thursdays and lead the cheers on game day, Friday."

"The cheerleaders are in charge of all pep rallies and the organization of homecoming."

"They hand out surprises to both football players and volleyball players."

"They lead the cheers in football, volleyball, basketball and wrestling."

"Tryouts are held in the summer, two weeks every day," Arnett said. "They go to Portales camp for a full week of competition. Cheerleading is a full time job."

The sponsor has certain responsibilities to the cheerleaders. Arnett orders the uniforms, keeps the books, order the ribbons, paper, posters and art supplies for the decorations. She oversees the completion of all projects, including homecoming. The sponsor has to be with the cheerleaders every practice and drive the gang to every out-of-town game.

This is Arnett's first year as Warrior cheerleader sponsor.

"This year I took the job not knowing the amount of work involved. Now that we are organized and I know what's going on, I love it," she said.

Wildcats may be rugged

Homecoming is a time for the king and queen, along with their court, to reign from their royal perch and enjoy the sweet victory of a Warrior conquest over the evil Wildcats of the south, Tularosa.

Good coach Cooper Henderson and his merry monk coaches say Tularosa has turned their program around.

"This is as big a ball game for them as it is for us," Henderson said. "Coach Bob Cerny has been with the school a long time. They consider Ruidoso a top rival. You can be sure they will be prepared and well coached."

Henderson said Cerny's defense and offense are similar to the Warriors.

The Wildcats are 1-2 for the year, losing their first two games to Dexter 13-26 and Cobre 15-18. Last week they soundly defeated Melrose 20-6.

Tularosa should be able to move the ball with the return of quarterback Steve Garcia and running back Craig Glaze (1,100 yards rushing). Cerny's problems are those of any small school, players have to stay healthy.

"We don't have any super individuals," said Cerny, "but we work well as a group."

The Warrior-Wildcat kickoff at Horton Stadium Friday is set for 7:30 p.m.

Volksmarch is for everyone, even pets

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Smell the pine. Feel the warm sun on your back. Trod through the white and yellow roadside clover. Walk where the big bears walk. Loosen up those tired muscles that never get any exercise with the Sixth International Volksmarch.

The Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club Mountainmarchers sponsors this year's event that starts at the West Lake Campground at the Bonito Lake Recreation Area on Saturday and Sunday, September 17-18, at any time between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The mountainmarchers is a nonprofit organization dedicated to promoting public health, recreation, fun and fellowship through Volksports events.

The term Volkssport literally means sport of the people. Participants are from the general public and this means everyone: grandfathers, aunts, uncles, children, mom and dad, and even your pets.

Anyone who pays the registration fee and completes the required distance (at their own pace) is declared the winner and receives a medal, patch or other award for their efforts.

This year's volksmarch is along a 10 KM dirt trail that snakes through the Bonito Lake Recreation Area and crosses the Rio Bonito.

The course is not judged suitable for wheelchairs.

The elevation begins at 8,000 feet and ascends.

Late registration is $5.00 after September 10 and at the starting point.

Participants will obtain a start card with a start stamp at the start-point. Walk, jog or run the marked course at your own pace. Have your start card stamped at each check point. After completing the course, turn your start card in at the finish point and receive your award and/or IVV Credit, as appropriate.

Free tea and water will be provided at the start-finish points and at all checkpoints. Snacks will be sold at these points. German sausage/roll and other goodies will be sold by the club at the start-finish point.

This event is open to everyone; however, children, 12 and under, must be accompanied by an adult. Every participant must sign a release form. Dogs must be kept on a leash.

Managers vital link in high school sports

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Managers are in charge of equipment, in charge of training supplies, they double check supplies for road trips, tape athletes, help with injuries, shoot game film, draft statistics and keep the coaches supplied with materials.

In honor of the fine work of the managers, Warrior head coach Cooper Henderson named the managers this week's "Players of the Week."

"You depend on your managers, just like you do your coaches," said Henderson. "Having a good managerial staff is one of the greatest assets and time savers of any coach."

Henderson said managers are being assigned to individual coaches for specialized use.

"Different coaches have different areas of responsibility," he said. "Some coaches are in charge of equipment, others in field maintenance. The manager that helps me is in charge of varsity game equipment."

Simon Simms and Randy Cox are coach Henderson's managers. "Simon works in the equipment room and helps with varsity equipment," he said. "Randy does a good job in organizing our practices."

"Corey Chatman and his younger brother, Sean, are assigned to the field each day. Both save us valuable time by being on top of the situation regarding our equipment needs."

"Andy Orrantia has a specialized assignment. His computer work regarding inventories and rosters saves a lot of time. Andy has gone to a camp for several years and is certified to tape and help us in the training room."

"Bobby Romero has been a great asset to us this year with his ability to video tape all our ball games, JV and varsity."

"Brent Scott is an all purpose helper. He helps with statistics as well as helping Andy in the training room. He's very versatile."

Henderson named Keif Johnson as Warrior scout of the week.

JOCK TALK

By Charles Stallings

Visualize several hundred students standing in the bleachers. Add booming drums, ear shattering shrill screams, indecipherable shouts, wild gesticulations and the frenzied blur of the pom-poms. The floor literally reverberates with decibel intensity.

You are at the beginning of a Warrior pep rally, a blend of organized pageantry and unbridled mayhem.

Something is missing. It's that indefinable presence that sweeps through your body in the midst of all this glorified madness. It's another "picture that no painter has the color in to mock."

School spirit! Homecoming!

"Boom, boom, boom!"

"Who's going to win tonight?"

"Warriors! Warriors!"

Last Friday's pep rally was an introduction of all coaches and Warrior athletes to the student body. Name after name was called to the cheering student body. Heroes! Everybody needs a hero.

School spirit! What power! To love intensely; music, sports, somebody, something.

The rally moves. The fight song, the Star Spangled Banner, the Pledge of Allegiance, a prayer, a chant, "Ruidoso, Ruidoso High, Ruidoso High School." A rally is emotional.

The cheerleaders taunt, they want more volume. The student body responds. "Who's going to win tonight?" "WARRIORS! WARRIORS! Boom! The big drum echoes.

A bit of the old surfaces with "two bits, four bits, six bits a dollar."

The new comes in the way of a wave across the bleachers.

I want to be young again, but I had my turn. Hang on to it young Warriors and remember. The memories last for a lifetime.

Whoever the homecoming king and queen are, they will be blessed with a handsome, well-represented court. Congratulations to freshmen m Moore and Keith Henson; sophomores Rachel Garrett and Jamie Candelaria; juniors Amy Sayner and Jesse Guardiola; and seniors Kari Naron and Eric Collins. Cheerleader sponsor Peggy Arnett said the king and queen will be named Friday night before game time at 7:10 p.m.

The rally and bonfire will be in the Ruidoso State Bank's free parking lot at 8 p.m.

The rally will be accompanied by cheerleaders, coaches, band and boosters.

Booster Club chairperson Mary Beth Turner has collected a mass of burnable materials for the event, and head football coach Cooper Henderson will charge the Warrior faithful with positive commitment for this homecoming weekend.

Kiwanis fishing tournament set for this weekend

The Ruidoso Kiwanis Club will have a fishing tournament at Alto Lake from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. September 17-18.

Dick Mound, representative of the Kiwanis chapter in Ruidoso, says cash prizes of over $3,000 will be awarded to winners of the tournament. There will be one fish valued at $1,000; two fish worth $250 each; and an additional thirty fish tagged to be worth $25 each.

Along with the cash prizes, local merchants have donated items which will be awarded to winning fishermen.

The cost of the tournament is $10 per person. The fee will cover one or both days of fishing in the contest. A New Mexico fishing license is required of all participants with the exception of children under twelve.

For more information contact the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at 257-7395.

Junior Varsity Warriors trip 20 to 12 to Goddard JV

The Junior Varsity Warriors football team fell to the Goddard JV Rockets last Saturday at Horton stadium, 20-12.

Goddard jumped off to a quick first quarter lead 14 to 0, and extended it to 20-zip before the Warriors could break the end zone for six. The half ended 20-6.

The third quarter saw each team march up and down the field with little results and no points.

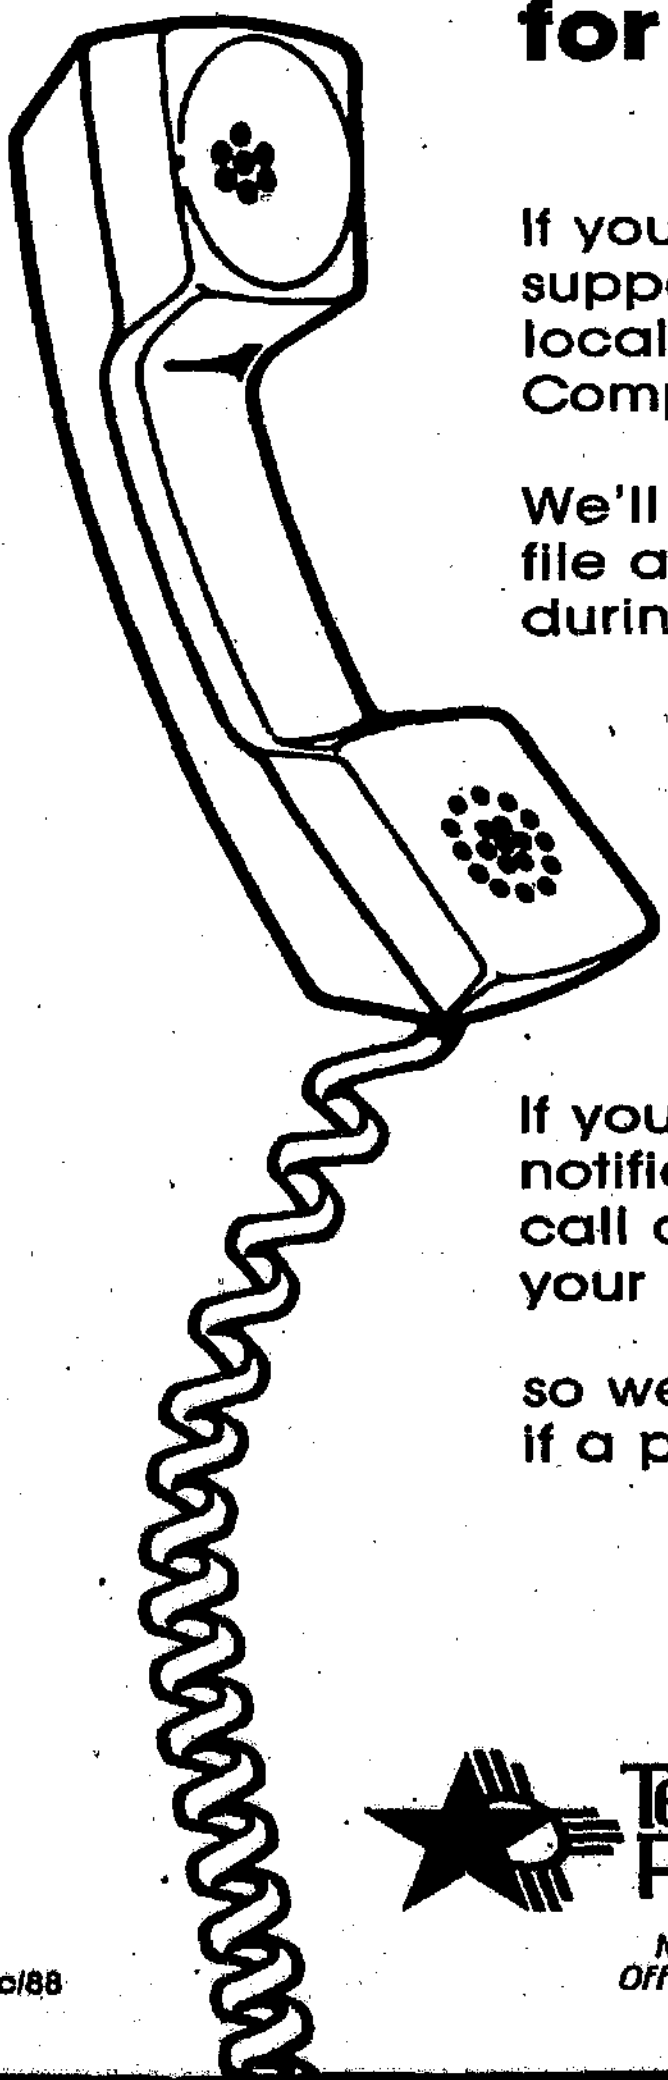

Ruidoso managed to score for six in the fourth quarter but the extra point failed and the score ended 20-12 in favor of Goddard.

Warrior scorers were Kief Johnson, six points and Chris Torres, six points on a 48 yard scramble.

The Warriors big rusher of the day was Steve Dankert who carried 24 times for 150 yards.

Ski Apache seeking more trails

Ski Apache Resort has applied for clearance to add 10 new ski trails, one triple chairlift and a snowmaking system on Elk Ridge. The Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest reports that the project would affect about 350 acres of which 210 acres would be National Forest and 140 acres would be Mescalero Apache lands. All of the chairlift would be on Apache lands. The project would be on Elk Ridge in T10S, R11E.

Ski Apache is a major ski area located some 12 miles northwest of Ruidoso at an elevation of from about 9,500 to over 11,000 feet.

Ski Apache Resort is proposing the improvements to provide additional lift capacity, to increase the amount of intermediate terrain served by snowmaking in areas not subject to upper mountain winds and to provide expanded skiable area during early season and low snowfall years.

The Forest Service and Bureau of Indian Affairs jointly will prepare an environmental assessment of the project. Issue or concerns currently recognized include:

1. Cumulative impacts on wildlife.
2. Cumulative effects on sensitive species (spotted owl, Sacramento salamander and Gooding onion).
3. Visual impacts.
4. Watershed and water quality protection.
5. Economic values.
6. Access road.
7. Cultural resources.
8. Public safety.
9. Quality of public service.
10. Support facilities.

The Forest Service requests that the public present any issues or concerns that are not listed.

Comments should be submitted to Smokey Bear Ranger District, 901 Mechem Drive, Ruidoso, NM 88345, by October 3, 1988.

Evening Rainbow And Sunset Colors

All day on September Twelve was the day of the return of the rains after several warm and sunny days. No doubt the rain spirits thought that their work in making this the greenest summer in a long time was not finished.

The showers came rushing in from up the valley to the south and then over the tall hill to the northwest.

There was every kind of lightning from the jagged spears coming down out of the purple clouds and spearing into the green earth, to the ruby red bursts inside of the gray clouds resembling a giant red light bulb turning on for just a flash or two. Some of the thunder was a booming blast making the ground tremble and then there were gentle rumbles followed by the sound of a colossal load of large rocks being unloaded over the side of a canyon.

These thunder and lightning storms came and went all through the day, leaving just enough time between each to let the precious water soak into the green land causing Mother Earth to rejoice.

Then late in the evening the ceiling of gray and purple clouds began to break up overhead, and the sun from over near the hills to the west came shining through reaching the light showers falling over to the east of the vale.

A rainbow of purest Heavenly colors arched from one side of the valley to the other over sunrise mountain. Somehow the emerald background of the mountains and meadows brought out the airy purple, blue, red, gold and all shades in between in the giant arch-way, so that it stood almost close enough for you to touch. At the end of the gray and rainy day this rainbow in its purest, most brilliant and sacred colors sent a message to your heart from Our Lord in Heaven, and you felt a calm sense and peacefulness and gratitude in your soul.

Just as the celestial colors of the rainbow began to fade as the sun went down, all the western sky suddenly was ablaze with pink and lilac and orange-crimson with bright threads of gold interwoven throughout, and tracing the sunset clouds of all colors of the rainbow which had just left your eyesight over to the east.

And so the sunset display had borrowed the colors of the rainbow at the close of this wonderfully happy day in early September.

The Rains

Clear The Sky

And now, the next day, (this is being sent to you on September thirteen) all day the sunshine and clouds have been playfully wrestling for possession of the sky. And now just after high noon the pure clean washed blue is moving across the sky from the east, as the east wind moves the clouds toward the mountain. The rains have cleared sky of the smoke which had drifted in from the fires up north, so that the air is clear and sparkling so that the sun shines down clear and bright upon the glowing hills and meadows.

The fresh clean air fills you with new strength and the pride of life in the mountain land, and there is a glad some note in the soft voice of the eastern breeze humming a song of September joy.

The Kingfisher

One of the welcome little visitors of the vale every year is the Kingfisher. Year after year he shows up at exactly the same spot on the REA wires just at the main bend here at the place. His coat of Prussian blue and his pure white collar make him easy to recognize from coast to coast and from away to the north to down into Mexico.

Perched high on his wire he looks down upon a pool in the creek. He was here during the sunny days and left during the rains, and will probably be back today. The Kingfisher is a symbol of good fortune, and I wondered where he was all summer. I am glad he finally paid us a visit.

Where Are The Swallows?

Usually, every year the swallows line up on the REA wires in front of the house to let me know they have arrived in the Spring. And then in the fall they do the same thing to tell me goodbye for this year. (I am talking about a band of about two hundred which nests in the cliff across the way or in culverts.)

The little pair that raises their young here at the house put on their own little ceremonies of arrival and good bye.

They usually leave just before the first frost, and maybe this time they left early, or made a side trip during the rains. The arrival and departure of the Swallows are definite points in our seasons. And they are little messengers of happiness and good fortune.

Let us join Good Mother Earth in a prayer of thanks to God for good rains and a green summer.

Dress in Warrior blue

The First National Bank of Ruidoso employees dressed themselves in Warrior blue to show their pride and spirit for Ruidoso boys and girls athletic teams.

Roy Seay, bank representative, said he hopes all merchants will join Warrior spirit by wearing blue and gold on game day.

Hollywood Station Post Office expands hours

Service hours for the retail window have been expanded at the Hollywood Station Post Office.

The expansion was directed by Ruidoso Postmaster Robert Chamberlain, following an order by United States Post Master General Anthony M. Frank.

The post office was striving to restore service and still comply with a congressional order for operating fund cuts of $160 million for 1988 and $270 million for 1989.

"It is now clear that savings generated will make it possible for postal service to meet the requirements of the budget act," explained Chamberlain.

"So the time has come to re-adjust window service as a way to best meet customers' needs."

Based on current assessment, Chamberlain said he is readjusting retail window hours on Monday through Friday.

The new hours are 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. and 2 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Saturday hours will stay at 10:30 to 12 a.m.

Tigers win again!

by DORIS CHERRY
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A hard-fought game, riddled with penalties, gave the home crowd a thrill Saturday night as the Capitan Tigers defeated the Texico Wolverines, 26-21.

Fans were thrilled with the first quarter action as the Tigers scored 20 unanswered points. Tino Gallegos was first to score with a 52-yard run at 11:03 minutes left on the clock. The extra points were not gained on the kick.

The next goal came after Anthony Sanchez intercepted the Wolverine ball, putting the ball back into the Tigers' hands. Jerrod Martin initiated the play with a pass to Sanchez, who ran in for the goal with 3:53 left in the first quarter. The successful kick put the score at 20-0.

Brilliant play in the first quarter continued as Tiger Chris McCarty recovered a Wolverine fumble. Although the next pass was incomplete, Gallegos came back with another successful long pass to Sanchez, who ran in for the goal with 3:53 left in the first quarter. The successful kick put the score at 20-0.

Then 19 seconds later, the Wolverines woke up and sent Jason Longo for a 84-yard run to bring the score to 20-6. The good extra point kick put the Wolverines at 20-7.

Penalties on the Tigers marred the rest of the first quarter.

Texico put on their tough shirts and came out in the second quarter for a touchdown at 7:55. The successful run-in for the extra two points put the Wolverines at a dangerously close 20-15.

Although penalties kept the Tigers changing their position on the field, they were able to keep the Wolverines at 20-15 when the half-time siren sounded.

Texico didn't hesitate in the third quarter, recovering a Tiger fumble, then to score a goal at 5:59 left. The kick was not successful, leaving the score at Texico 21 and Capitan 20 when the third quarter ended.

The final quarter was a game of survival. Martin turned the game with a nine-yard touchdown run with 8:03 minutes left. With no extra points the score was Capitan 26 and Texico 21.

The rest of the game was a matter of maintaining the score. Although Texico recovered a Tiger fumble, they were unable to move through the Capitan defense.

Capitan regained the ball with an interception by Gallegos. Martin tried for another goal, but the time was running short. Still in possession of the ball, the Tigers chose to fall on it in order to let the clock run out of time.

The yellow flag, which flew throughout the game, was seen all too often in the final quarter. A call on Sanchez on a kick-off return from Texico, brought the sound of disapproval from fans.

The call was for an invalid fair catch signal, the referees stating Sanchez put up both hands to indicate a fair catch, instead of one hand, which was to indicate the fair catch.

"We fell asleep after scoring three straight unanswered points and turned the momentum over to Texico," commented Tigers Coach Blaine Miller. "The penalties and turnovers were evidence of the lack of mental toughness. We are pleased with the win but must recognize our mistakes and weaknesses in order for us to improve as a team."

The Tigers travel to Hagerman Friday night. Hagerman is a long-time rivalry and will be another exciting ball game, Miller added.

The win puts the Tigers at 3-0 for regular season play. They have played no district games as yet.

In statistics, Martin covered 186 yards in 19 attempts, Sanchez totaled 54 yards in 11 attempts, Johnny Castillo totaled 25 yards in 3 attempts and Gallegos totaled 10 in four attempts.

As of last week, Martin and Sanchez were the leaders in rushing for class A schools in New Mexico. Their standings rate with players from 4-A Artesia and Highland High Schools.

Capitan Tiger 37 Jerrod Martin eyes the defense. Martin gained 186 yards during Texico defense for a hole in which to run the game in which the Texico Wolverines lost 26 to 21. (Photos by Doris Cherry)

Lady Tigers win Cloudcroft tourney

by DORIS CHERRY
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A marathon day of volleyball netted the Lady Tigers the winning trophy at the Cloudcroft Invitational last Saturday.

While the Tigers played Texico at Tiger field in Capitan, the Lady Tigers were playing Cloudcroft for the winning seed at the Bears' home tourney. The Bears have given the Lady Tigers tough competition in past years, but this year is a different story.

Beginning the tournament by playing Mountainair, the Lady Tigers easily won the first game of the match 15-3. Taking the easy win as a way to slack off in the next game, the Lady Tigers had to work at gaining points. The Mountainair girls lead in the second game 11-1 at one point, keeping the Lady Tigers back by moving ahead 13-6. But the Lady Tigers geared up and poured on the points to win the second game 15-13.

The girls won the third game 15-9, to win the match.

Moving to the second seed to play Texico, the Lady Tigers played aggressively in the first game, winning 15-1. Again mental discipline broke down after the first easy win, to surprise the Lady Tigers when Texico came back for a win in the second game 15-11.

The loss woke the Lady Tigers, who easily won the next two games, 15-2 and 15-3, to win the match.

Cloudcroft proved a little tougher than the other teams, but the Lady Tigers won the first game 15-7. Again the second game was the problem as Cloudcroft won 13-15. The Lady Tigers came back to win the next two games 15-9 and 15-4 to become 1988 Cloudcroft Invitational winners.

Coach Pam Allen said Kari Cox,

Lora McKay and Colyn Washburn were selected as all-tournament players.

"We performed really well," Allen continued. "There are a few areas we need to improve, not anything major, mostly things that will be taken care of through time and play."

This weekend will be open for the Lady Tigers as Elida dropped their scheduled game.

The Lady Tigers are looking forward to their Capitan Classic Tournament, scheduled for September 24 on their home court. Teams expected to compete are Capitan, Hatch, Carrizozo, Fort Sumner, Elida, Hope, Cloudcroft and Estancia.

District 5A teams for volleyball are Cloudcroft, Hondo, Capitan, Hagerman, Lake Arthur and Loving.

Tiger 21 Anthony Sanchez runs with the responsible for two touchdowns and 54 ball in another goal attempt. Sanchez was rushing yards during the game Saturday.

Capitan schools have fantastic start

by DORIS CHERRY
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The school year had a "fantastic start" as student enrollment exceeded the projection, reported Capitan Schools Superintendent Scott Childress at the September Board of Education meeting Thursday night.

To board members James McDaniel, Tom Trost, Ken Cox, Hollis Fuchs and Preston Stone, Childress said 502 students now are enrolled in Capitan Schools, exceeding the 501 projected. Although overall enrollment increased, Childress reported a decrease in the number of special education students.

Last year's large number of special education students led the board to anticipate hiring two extra special education teachers. Childress said the smaller number this year will not warrant the extra teachers, although the school is looking for a half-time speech teacher.

Also at the meeting, Capitan High School Principal Larry DeWees displayed the computerized high school class scheduling program, which offered 68 courses.

"We offered a big school curriculum to our small school," DeWees said.

The scheduling was organized to give the students "ownership" of their own school programs, DeWees said. Parents also are involved with the class scheduling as they must sign a document verifying the student's approval of class selection.

The renovated curriculum was developed with the use of the computer; scheduling 89 percent of 231 students into seven periods otherwise would have been impossible in the same time frame, DeWees acknowledged.

Smaller class sizes were a result of the computer scheduling, with an average of 18 students to each class. "Our students are getting a lot more individual attention than larger schools," DeWees said.

Changes include the elimination of study halls, and the inclusion of specific study hours, such as a math seminar.

"Our kids have their nose to the grindstone...they've done an excellent job of taking over their own lives in their scheduling," DeWees boasted.

In other business the board: —Discussed, then approved the monthly bills, with the exception of the bill to D&D Construction company for sprinklers on the football field.

—Discussed the construction projects for drainage and sidewalks. The drainage project is scheduled to begin September 14 or 19, after contracts are approved with the village of Capitan and the school. The highway crossing segment of the project is expected to take two weeks.

The sidewalk project is a matching-fund grant with the New Mexico State Highway Department for construction of sidewalks in front of the elementary building; north to the end of the street and south to the block wall on the playground. The school's share is $3,600, to be taken from SB9 funds or the two mill levy funds.

—Met in executive session to discuss personnel.

—Approved the termination of Zelda Zumwalt as special education aide; the transfers of Anne McKay from junior high English to counselor and Judi DeWees from cafeteria clerk to special education aide.

—Approved the employment of Bobbe Fowler for junior high English, Myrum Whitaker for high school social studies; Stephanie Aldaz as cafeteria clerk; Nancy Barone as half-time nurse and Charlene Dixon for occupational therapy.

—Reviewed the school calendar of events and noted the Academic Awards Banquet scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, September 13, in the library.

—Discussed and approved the board policy concerning business leave, formerly classed as personal leave. Childress said teachers and other school personnel will be allowed only whole days' leave for business. Reduction in force policy also was approved.

—Discussed the regional New Mexico School Board meeting which is scheduled for October 13, in Cloudcroft.

—Approved the rescheduling of the next board meeting to October 20.

Trustees refuse mayor's appointment

by DORIS CHERRY
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Torrential rains did not keep the faithful group of Capitan residents away from the regular September meeting of the Capitan village board of trustees.

Once the rains subsided and everyone could hear the business at hand, the meeting quickly moved into an informational session before Mayor Benny Coker again tried to fill a vacancy on the board.

Because of her interest and investment in the community of Capitan, Coker recommended the appointment of Meryl Ray as trustee. Trustee Norm Renfro made a motion for the appointment to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Dave Strickland, and silence followed with no second.

In response, Coker said he thought it was the duty of the council to accept an appointment that he felt works best.

"This is not a senate investigation committee," Coker said. He added he thought the appointment was valid and should not have to go through an investigation.

Explaining it was because of the lack of a full council, Coker adjourned the meeting 45 minutes after it began. Many of the group gathered expressed their dislike of the adjournment, with the business of the Fire Department Bylaws and a water request unfinished.

Before Coker attempted to appoint Ray, he conducted the informational part of the meeting.

He announced the Emergency Medical Services grant of $3,111, the final budget approval from the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration and the fire department report for August which was available for review.

The schedule for "blow-downs" on the water lines in the subdivisions was announced, with times available for anyone requesting them. Also related to water, Coker announced a new billing method from Otero Electric Co-op for the water well. It is expected to drop the charge from $14 to $5 per kilowatt hour.

Village water department employee Dan Davenport discussed the filter plant project. Davenport reviewed the history of the present filter, including problems experienced a few years ago. Presently, the filter does not work automatically and must be backwashed manually daily.

As the filtration medium has not been changed in many years, Davenport said the water stays dirty, requiring the village to use the water well. Davenport emphasized village employees were willing to help install a new filter, either one named Tri-Mite or one by Culligan.

Coker directed the water advisory board meet with water engineer Jack Atkins to explore the costs of the filters.

"There is no health jeopardy," Coker said. "We're using the well 100 percent."

Coker also reported the well was down about 36 hours due to lightning damage to the motor. The village has enough storage to provide water during such times, Coker added.

In other business the trustees: —Approved Ordinance 88-7 concerning the number of each residence within the village.

—Approved the low insurance bid for liability and commercial policies from Pertect Parks of Ruidoso.

—Appointed Norm Renfro to Capitan-Carrizozo Gas Board.

—Appointed Dr. Bernhard Reiman to serve as advisor to the sewer lagoon project.

—Discussed Parliamentary rules concerning adjournment. According to village attorney Mike Runnels, Capitan village meetings follow the Masons' rules as does the New Mexico legislature, although not formally adopted. In those rules, the mayor has full right to adjourn the meeting when he wants. Comment from Capitan resident Duffy Morton was, "even though the community is poorly served by that?"

Coker told the group from the cemetery board, which was not on the agenda, he would take care of their business at a later date.

NAZARENE ANGUS CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Opinion

Eye On The Capitol

by Tom Warson, Ph.D.

Right out of a Frankenstein movie. 86,000 people, wielding clubs and torches, chasing the monster up the mountain, to the abandoned mill.

What a mob. That's more people than Eddy and Roosevelt Counties combined.

86,000 is also the number of occupational and professional licenses issued by the state Regulation and Licensing Department. If the licensees ever got mad and got together...

R&L has been making headlines lately.

In 1983, Governor Toney Anaya created R&L as an umbrella agency for 29 boards, ranging from architects to veterinarians. The result: "Superboard."

Boards raise money by charging fees to licensees. R&L, the boards complained, was dipping into their accounts for services not rendered, or rendered poorly.

In September of 1987, Attorney General Hal Stratton issued an "Opinion" (85-78), saying state statutes requiring boards to be responsible for their own monies superseded the 1983 Anaya Superboard law.

The "Opinion" touched off an independence movement. Early this year, Governor Carruthers vetoed legislation that would have allowed boards to regain their independence. Subsequently, however, Carruthers and R&L Superintendent Tom Baca worked out a transition route which boards wishing to leave R&L could follow. Five boards followed the path, and now are independent.

The extent to which the boards had been subsidizing R&L's Boards and Commissions Division became apparent a few weeks ago. Governor Carruthers announced the agency was facing "a major financial crisis," and might not be able to meet its payroll. The BCD has 49 authorized employee positions; the bi-weekly payroll comes to $53,338 (Albuquerque Journal, Aug. 25).

The crisis hung on. Late last week, R&L went to the State Personnel Board and asked for a suspension of a rule requiring state agencies to give a 60-day notice prior to laying off any employees. Alex Valdez, Carruthers' general counsel, wanted the suspension because "our intention is not to incur any personnel expense if we do not have the money to pay for that expense." (Albuquerque Journal, Sept. 8).

The suspension was not granted. Also last week, state lawmakers got into the act. An interim legislative committee, the Administrative Procedures Review Committee, took testimony from two board presidents, Dr. William Boehm of the Board of Medical Examiners, and Dr. Albert Mulliken of the Board of Dentistry.

The Medical Examiners were set free on July 22, "after a three-year honeymoon," Dr. Boehm said. Now they have their own office "staffed with our own personnel."

Boehm described Superboard as a "well-intentioned effort to unite boards to execute a cost savings." It didn't work. An illustration: "Promises were made concerning computer efficiency that never occurred... Our prices went up."

Dr. Mulliken noted his Dentistry Board is still under Superboard, but "it is our wish to be removed." In order to become independent, a board has to convince Governor Carruthers it can be self-supporting. The dentists failed to do so - even though they built up a surplus of some $200,000. After only two months into this fiscal year, that amount inexplicably was down to $175,000.

Where did the money go?, asked Senator Les Houston (Republican, Bernalillo).

"I don't know," Mulliken answered. "We had no control over it." He asked for an accounting, and was told the loss occurred in "indirect costs which nobody can explain to us."

Senator Roman Maes (Democrat, Santa Fe) is a realtor. He commented the Real Estate Board members "are screaming and yelling that we have no surplus any more."

Mulliken said, "Our costs have gone up 100%. We have not raised our fees."

Representative Marty Lambert (Republican, Bernalillo): "I'd like to know where the savings are on this Superboard... I think the best thing we can do for all these boards is dissolve Superboard."

Those who want to lead the charge had better keep something in mind:

In the Frankenstein movie, the mob burned down the mill. The monster perished in the flames.

Or did it? The movie had a sequel.

The monster hid in the water, and survived.

Dr. Boehm provided this specific example of questionable Superboard accounting practices:

"When a professional is complained about, an investigation takes place," he noted. R&L's investigator would try to cover many boards in a single trip. "We'd get an analysis of the cost to us - $86,000 for last year," or about $20.00 per M.D.

But Boehm looked at the charges Superboard made to the other boards for investigations. "No breakdown or allocation of expenses had been given... Nobody pro-rated our share."

Basically, a general lump sum was thrown at us," Boehm concluded. "Our cost was actually closer to $36,000, not $86,000."

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

My husband and I and another couple went camping over Labor Day weekend at Westlake Campground on Bonito Lake. We had planned a relaxing and quiet weekend of nature however, to our surprise we found that none of that could be found at Westlake Campground.

About 9:30 p.m. a family pulled in across the road from us and proceeded to set up their camp. We had no problem with that. The problem became apparent when one of the six children that was with them began crying and continued to cry for about 45 minutes with no attempt to control the child. In the meantime another one of the children found a fascination with the horn on one of the cars and continued to show us how well it worked many times. The radio that was playing did cover up most of the noise but it also covered up the quietness of an otherwise lovely night. About 10:45 p.m. another family pulled in to the campsite beside of ours. At 12:30 a.m. their cassette tapes made interesting listening. Our attempts to go to bed about 1:00 a.m. were futile since conversation at the next campsite tried desperately to be heard over the music. After finally going to sleep sometime after 3:00 a.m., the sounds of car doors slamming and people yelling and talking woke us between 5:30 and 6:00 a.m. By 7:00 a.m. the music had started again.

On Saturday morning we talked to the Park Rangers and asked if they would control some of the noise and they said that they would try. We asked if we could get our money back should we decide to move and they said they were under a "no refund" rule. By 2:00 that afternoon another group of campers had come in and set up a campsite across the road and down one site. By 4:30 there were seven tents and two vans in these two designated campsites. The rules at the front gate stated a $25 fine for making fire pits and no more than two cars per campsite. It also stated a "quiet time" in the park from 10:00 p.m. until 6:00 a.m. To me these people were in violation of the rules. The park ranger told us that they were aware of this but there was nothing that they could do. It is strange to me that their rules only fit what affects the income. The only rule that was complied with was the "no refund" policy.

However, I do not wish to imply that the Park Rangers were not cooperative. They did show us an area to move to that was an off-limit area, and under the circumstances we could move to that area. They also stamped our ticket to give us one free night of camping the next time we came back. However, the principal of the fact was Tension will start building tonight at the pep rally for the Homecoming battle between the Ruidoso Warriors and the Tularosa Wildcats.

Homecoming is a very special time for high school students, especially seniors who will be experiencing their last such special day. It's extra special when the home team wins at Homecoming, but a victory isn't essential to the success of the day. The Warriors should win Friday night, and we certainly hope they do.

Our Warriors have faced some tough opponents so far this season. Ruidoso has a fine team and an excellent coaching staff, so, with experience, the season will improve greatly.

The old adage is true, however, that it isn't whether you win or lose. It's how you play the game.

When a best effort is forthcoming, that's all any dedicated fan can expect.

We are certain on this Homecoming weekend, a "best effort" will be evident. For the good of old RHS, let's go get 'em Warriors.

After all, Wildcats aren't so tough.

Reporter's Round

By Frankie Jarrell

"Can you read?"

"Well, yes, OF COURSE I can read," I sputtered.

I was pretty insulted.

"I meant, can you read the form I'm sending," explained the woman on the telephone. We were discussing figures and numbers for a story I was writing.

But, what if I couldn't read? What if I was the one out of five Americans who are functionally illiterate; how would I have answered her then?

"No, ma'am, I'm among the 27 million people in this country who can't read, so help me out."

Not a likely response.

A Capitan woman, Pat Boyd, after 30 years of such embarrassment and frustration, has bravely come forward to tell her story - a story of hurts and pain, and a story of triumph. For the 37-year-old mother of two has learned to read.

"Even my friends didn't know," said Boyd, a bubbly and attractive woman, whose verbal skills belie her recent struggle with the written word.

Pat isn't sure why she missed out on those basic skills. But she remembers spending three years in the first grade.

The bright and happy child of loving and concerned parents, Pat said she was placed in special education when she was nine years old. "I decided I was dumb," she said. Pat finally quit school in the 10th grade.

The amazing thing about Boyd, and many other functionally illiterate adults, is their ability to cope with the added challenges in a world that turns on the written word. Just imagine, not being able to read signs, letters, employment applications or books and magazines, or even your children's report cards.

Pat met those challenges head-on, delivering her paper route for nine years. She used telephone numbers as a cross check.

She smiled recalling her success as a nurse's aide, remembering how she did a good job. She used room numbers and other memory aids to pull that one off.

Over the years, Boyd was tested and retested, trying anything that came along to learn to read. She was about to give up.

Just by chance, she saw a television program about the Laubach Literacy Training. She took a chance, called the Roswell telephone number and got an answering machine. "I left my number, but didn't expect anything," said Pat.

But Earla Martin, organizer of the Roswell Literacy Council, did call back. She arranged a meeting with Ruidoso Altrusa Liz Munro, a Laubach-trained volunteer.

Boyd remembers being scared, but Munro talks only of her student's dedication and determination. For a year and a half, Boyd went to Munro's house twice a week for the one-on-one reading lessons.

"She was amazing," said Munro.

Boyd amazed herself, too; not really believing she could read until she had completed the course. She believes the key to the success of the Laubach method is the individual lessons with each student setting her own pace.

These days Pat reads books, magazines and newspapers. She even enjoys her two daughters' school books.

Perhaps that joy she gets from her reading is what prompted her to go public with her story of pain and personal growth.

Altrusans were moved to tears by the story, and by Pat Boyd's bravery in sharing her story.

"I just want to help other people who can't read," said Boyd, offering to talk with anybody concerned with their inability to read.

Ruidoso Altrusa sponsors literacy training, and currently has about 15 volunteers working privately with students. To learn more about that program, contact Kathy Barnett at 257-7812 or 258-4440.

that we should not be the ones that should be restricted. We had the right to enjoy the prime camping area instead of being stuck back in the woods with no view. It would seem that the ones that don't respect other peoples' rights and those that do not comply with camp rules and those who enjoy nature by having wild parties, dances and loud music all night long are the ones that are in the majority so therefore they are right.

I know that one complaint from two families from Texas will not make a difference in the way that the campground is handled and I do understand that the campground is managed by the City of Alamogordo, but our money goes into the town of Ruidoso too and I feel like you should know what is happening. I can guarantee you that we will never camp in the Ruidoso area again and we will relate this incident to anyone that we know of that camps in that area. I feel like that the management of the park should respect the rights of all campers - and any camper violating these rules should be asked to leave. I also feel that our money should be refunded as our weekend was ruined through no fault of our own.

Paid Advertisement Accidental Discovery May End Obesity

WASHINGTON — Obesity may be controlled naturally with a new type of pill, discovered by accident, a research scientist confirmed recently.

In studies with potential cholesterol-lowering agents, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Patients receiving an ingredient in what is now being called FS-1 all lost weight, in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns, while body weight in control groups remained constant.

Scientists say the mechanism behind the weight reduction is not clear, but suggest it is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calorie-rich dietary fats. Although scientists for some time have known of substances with the capability of producing this effect, the dramatic impact on weight reduction was not known until recently. Substances with a greater potential to block absorption will produce greater weight loss results.

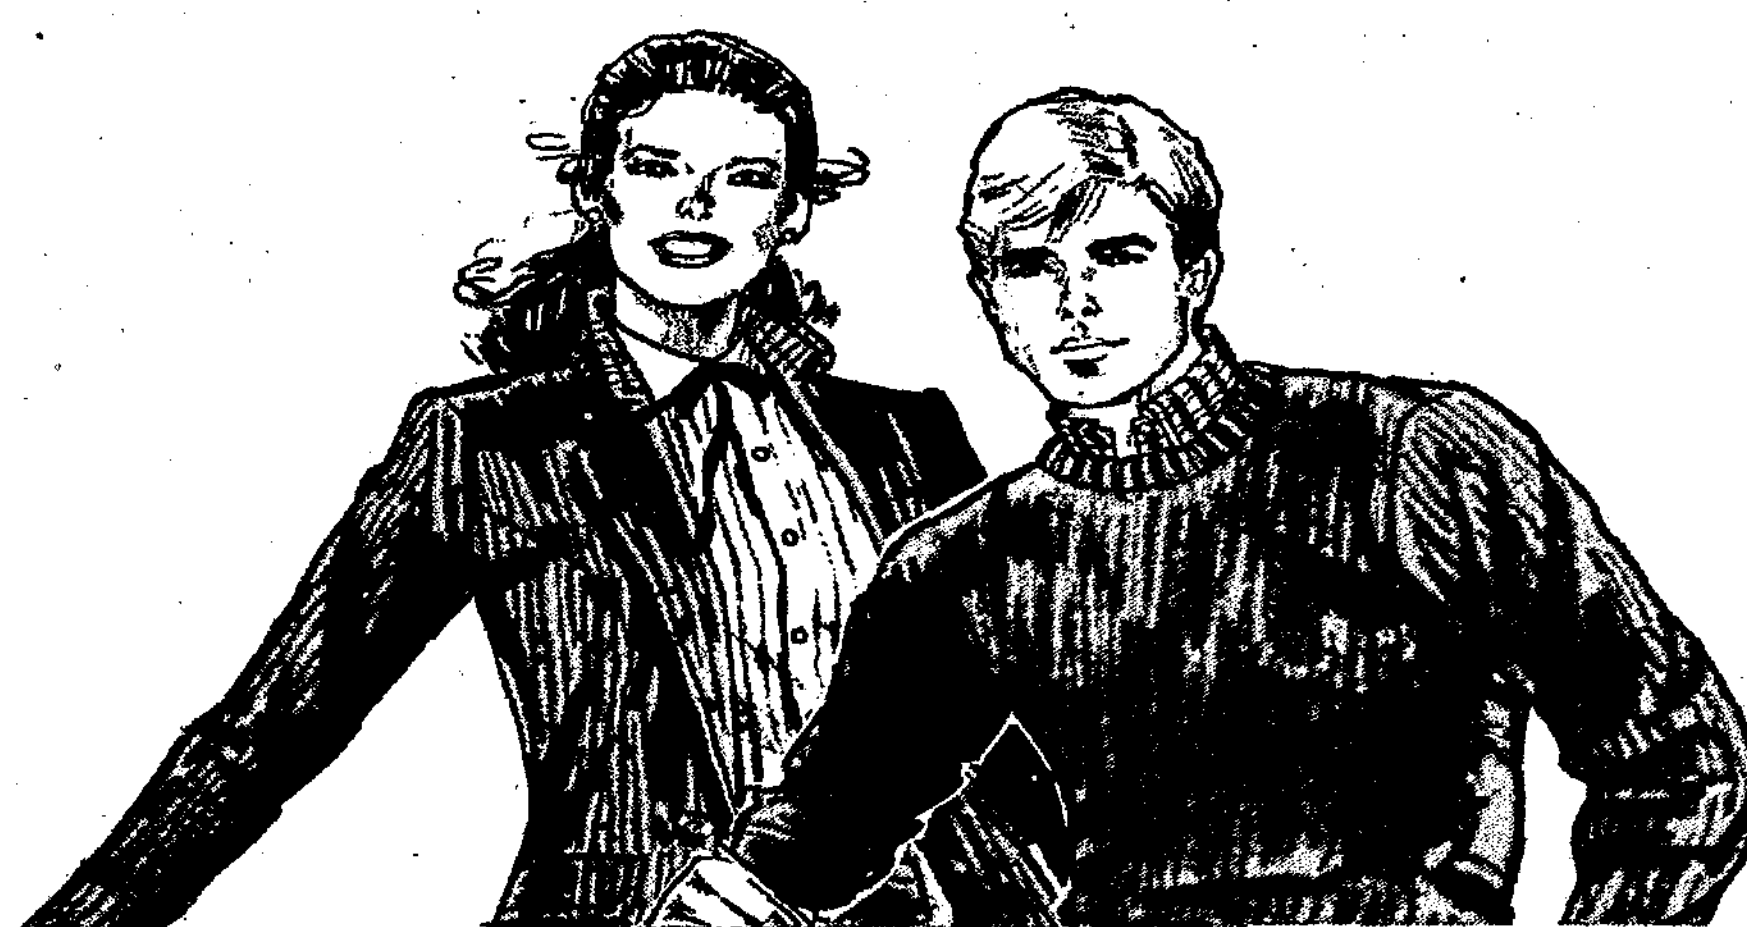

The director of research and development at National Dietary Research, an organization committed to the investigation and research of nutritional solutions to world-wide health problems, stated, "The mechanism by which FS-1 works to decrease body weight is actually a more complex and sophisticated process called nutri-bonding. When chewed and swallowed immediately before meals, FS-1 releases nutrients with low calorie content into the body, while high-calorie fats are eliminated, thus providing optimum nutrition and a minimum number of calories."

Studies with FS-1 indicate weight loss results clearly superior to products currently available for the treatment of obesity. In a comparative study by NDR, whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent medical and nutritional journals, FS-1 was found to be the most effective treatment for obesity and the most acceptable to patients.

The discovery comes as welcome news to thousands of obesity sufferers waiting years for this type of breakthrough. According to a spokesperson at NDR, "FS-1 can be made available to the public immediately, because it is not a drug and contains only natural ingredients recognized as safe. A drug with essentially the same weight loss capabilities might take as long as eight years to be available due to lengthy delays encountered in the approval process." FS-1 is currently available on a limited basis through physicians and pharmacies for $24.95.

An instruction sheet for proper use and optimum results is provided with each bottle of 100 tablets.

WRITE IT AND REAP!

Writing a classified ad that gets results—whether it be for real estate, employment, announcements, transportation, or merchandise—is easy if you follow the guidelines below.

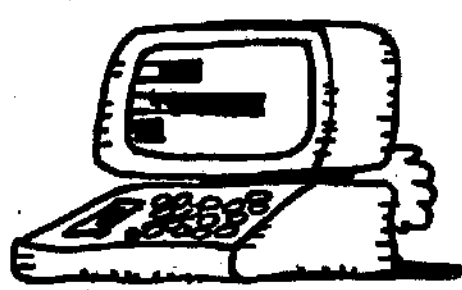

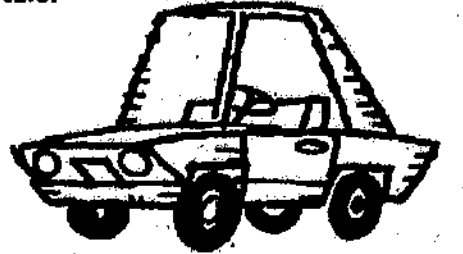

1. Give the reader specific information. Pretend you are someone reading the classifieds. What would you like to know about the item, service or job you are advertising? Be sure to add details such as color, size, condition, brand name, age, features and benefits. Be accurate! Don't embellish your ad with misleading information. Stick to the facts and reap the rewards!

2. Include the price. Don't waste your time or a potential buyer's time. If you advertise the price of the item or service you offer, the people who respond to your ad will be those who are genuinely interested. Surveys show that readers are more interested in those items and services they know are within their price range.

4. Include phone number and specify hours. Be sure to let potential customers know when and where to call. Surveys show that even if a person is very interested in your item or service, he or she will not call back after the first attempt. Stay near the phone during the hours you indicate you will be available. Don't risk missing a sale!

5. Run on consecutive days. Your ad will not get results if people don't see it! Therefore, it is important to set up a consistent and consecutive ad schedule with your telephone salesperson or outside sales representative. Run your ad for at least one week. Remember, you can cancel your ad as soon as you get the desired results!

Royal Selection

Divine Ripe® THE BEST TOMATO YOU EVER TASTED

The Divine Ripe tomato undergoes a natural ripening process which allows it to develop full color, as well as a perfect sugar and acid balance. It is this combination of high sugar content and good acidity which is essential to producing the Divine Ripe's garden-fresh flavor and aroma.

Rosy Dawn®

Because of their high sugar content, these Rosy Dawn® honeydews are the sweetest this year! They're jumbo in size and grown in the sunny Woodland California Valley. Rosy Dawn® honeydews are ready to be served at your breakfast table, in a dazzling fruit salad or as a delicious snack any time of the day!
