

Councillors go for the golf course proposal

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Editor

The Ruidoso Village Council told village manager Frank Potter and village attorney John Underwood Tuesday to negotiate with Jim Colbert Golf, Inc. for a golf course on the old municipal airport land.

With Mayor Lloyd L. Davis Jr. home sick and Mayor Pro-tem Elmer Pirelli presiding, the council muddled through the short agenda, skipping at least one item with Pirelli calling on members of the audience with a variety of questions to "just wait ... and hear what I propose."

Pirelli made the motion that passed unanimously that sets the stage for the village to seriously negotiate with Colbert using points and concerns raised by the Municipal Airport Planning Board and the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Pirelli explained that the negotiations will lead to a contract, with the terms to be published for public hearing before it is adopted in 60 days. He said the public then has 70 days in which to petition for an election. If 15 percent of the registered voters sign the petition, then village voters will decide whether or not the project will go forward.

"Personally, I think the man has a wonderful idea," said Pirelli, but not everybody on hand Tuesday agreed.

Some members of the audience questioned Pirelli over how an amendment was placed on a request for funds in the State Legislature. They wanted to know whose idea it was to tie civic center funds to a commitment on the golf course deal.

"Everybody has said we need the civic center," said attorney Robert Beauvais, noting that the community isn't so firmly behind the golf course plan. He voiced concern that the state funds will be tied up because of the amendment, causing the village to lose the opportunity to develop a center.

"When this thing was contrived in Santa Fe, I hollered blackmail," said Councillor Al Junge.

Pirelli said members of the legislature added the amendment, not anyone from Ruidoso.

"As I understand it, when that amendment came in, I think Mr. (Mike) Runnels (village lobbyist) asked if it was palatable to us," said Pirelli.

"It's very simple—do you want the money or not," added Councillor Jess Stinson.

Also Tuesday, Mel O'Reilly again asked the council to consider other options and other locations for the golf course. He read to the council the text of an advertisement he and his wife plan to run in a Los Angeles newspaper.

Members of the audience had questions over the water for the golf course, with Potter telling the group that the water under that land is public water.

Also Tuesday, the council went into executive session over pending litigation and reconvened to approve a $5,000 allocation for the Water Defense Association and up to $7,500 for village water attorney Neil Stilling to continue an ongoing water case.

In other regular business, the council:

—Told Steve Hightower to bring his request for a subsidy for scheduled passenger service at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport to the next meeting.

—Listened to a written statement by Councillor Larry Simon, which ended with: "Let us put away our egos and frustrations, and in spite of our faults work together to create an atmosphere that encourages productivity. If we simply just do not like some individual, let us tell him so, but we should do it in private, not in a public meeting or in the press."

Angry residents from the Agua Fria and Palo Verde Slopes area jammed Ruidoso Downs Village Hall Monday night to protest an annexation offer made by Downs Mayor Jake Harris.

About 80 people showed up at the regularly scheduled board of trustees meeting with a letter and a petition containing more than 100 signatures expressing their refusal of the annexation offer.

The letter, read on behalf of the group by Cathy Ames, an Agua Fria resident, also called for the board to make a motion to end the annexation issue immediately.

During the meeting several members of the audience and the council questioned Harris' motivation in sending out the unsigned, undated letter to about 300 property owners in the proposed annexation area that runs from the Ruidoso Downs boundary to near Biscuit Hill. Trustees C.L. "Bones" Wright and Wilma Webb said Harris took the action without approval or knowledge of the board.

Wright said, in a telephone interview, that the first he knew of the action was when he received a copy of Harris' letter in the mail.

Harris responded that the letter was nothing more than an information packet and did not require action by the council. He also told the audience that if they didn't want annexation, no one would force them.

Harris said he wrote the packet after a group of citizens interested in getting on the sewer system asked him to gather information and send it out. This request came at a meeting with a Community Block Development Grant representative from Roswell.

According to Harris, the woman told the people at the meeting that CDBG monies were available for the improvement of public water supplies and wastewater treatment systems. Some of those projects might require annexation.

"At the very end of that meeting, I told everyone there that I would try to gather all the information and put it in a letter and mail it to everyone down there," Harris said, adding to his knowledge the trustees had all arrived for the regular meeting scheduled for 7 p.m.

Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris faces an angry crowd at Monday night's board meeting.

The question was raised whether or not the meeting had been opened to the public, but Harris told the group, notices had been posted. Again, trustees Wright and Webb denied they had been given information about the CDBG meeting.

Temper flared on both sides as members of the audience further complained that Harris had misrepresented nitrate contamination level readings for several businesses in the proposed annexation area in his letter. (See related story).

A motion, made by Trustee Bill Smith, to have the annexation issue removed from the agenda and abolished until residents requested it, drew enthusiastic applause from the audience. The motion was seconded by Wright, who asked that it be put in the minutes that the issue could not be raised again for two years.

But the mood of the crowd shifted back to anger, when Harris, acting on the advice of village attorney Richard Hawthorne, declared the motion out-of-order and stated that a public hearing on the issue is set for 6 p.m. Monday.

Sun World CEO visits Ruidoso

by AL STUBBS
Ruidoso News Business Editor

Given time and production, the savings and loan industry "ship will be righted," Fred Hervey, chairman of the board of Sun World Federal Savings Bank of Alamogordo and Ruidoso, said Tuesday.

Hervey was in Ruidoso for an open house staged by Sun World in their new offices at 2715 Sudderth Drive. The entire board of directors of Sun World Federal Savings Bank was here for the open house and an afternoon board meeting.

Sun World last fall purchased the former Otero Savings and Loan and changed the name to Sun World. The sale encompassed a mortgage loan outlet here.

Hervey is a former two-time mayor of El Paso and is also chairman of the board of Sun World Savings of El Paso and of the Bank of Scottsdale, Arizona.

Although crowding 80 years old, Hervey remains flexible and believes that change is very much a part of life. He told The Ruidoso News that "values change ... a change in the environment brought a change in the savings and local industry" which has seen many failures across the United States the last few years.

Sun World Savings of El Paso is relatively new. It was established in 1984. It is extremely healthy, as is Sun World Federal Savings Bank of Alamogordo and Ruidoso, he said.

He said in 1984 he observed that there were no mortgage loan and banking outlets out Montana in El Paso.

So Sun World Savings came into being.

Planners meet with school reps

Impacts of the proposed golf course project on Ruidoso Public School property was the central topic at Wednesday's regular meeting of the Municipal Airport Planning Board.

Superintendent of Schools Sid Miller asked the group what exactly the board had in mind for the property adjacent to White Mountain Elementary School and White Mountain Intermediate School. MAPB Chairman Frank Kolb said no plans are set, but the board wanted to open a dialogue with the schools.

"Whatever is decided, we will be neighbors and there will be some type of impact," said Miller.

Miller said even though current enrollments have been fairly steady for the last three school years, there is growth in certain grades and the elementary schools are already at capacity. He noted that the only place to build a new school, when one is needed is the White Mountain property.

"We would be very concerned if we lost that property," he said.

The board told Miller that at this time the major impact would be rights of way for the proposed Warrior Drive extension and possibly the Kansas City Drive extension.

Miller said there is more concern about the acreage required for Warrior Drive than the Kansas City proposal.

"We preferred the meandering

Ruidoso schools get high marks in review

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Ruidoso High School received high marks from the North Central Association Evaluation Team that visited the school system last week.

The group, in the schools Tuesday through Thursday, also made several recommendations that will give several teachers pause for thought.

The North Central team, a peer group of 20 New Mexico teachers, is a control group to accredit schools for out-of-state colleges.

The evaluation team explores the school's program every seven years with a follow-up review in three years. The teachers write reports on a yearly basis to show they are carrying out any recommendations.

An oral exit report was conducted at the end of the three-day evaluation.

A formal report of the team's findings will be prepared by Dr. Don Kelly from the University of New Mexico and will be sent to Ruidoso High School (RHS) within a month.

RHS principal Tom Hansen was extremely pleased with the North Central visit.

"We had a very good objective evaluation," Hansen said. "I would guess, depending on an individual's point of view, that not everyone will agree with the recommendations. We are now accredited by two outside agencies, one being the North Central Evaluation Association and the other being the State Department of Education, and we're obligated to comply with their directives."

Hansen said the professional educators on the team volunteered their time because of their belief in school improvement.

"It has been estimated that had we been billed for consulting fees, a value of $12,000 would have been placed on the team's time spent in Ruidoso," Hansen said. "We're very fortunate to have professionals of this caliber serve in this capacity."

Carol Hubbard, a member of the liaison team who teaches English, French and history at RHS, was among the teachers attending the exit conference. Hubbard's observations, as well as statements from other teachers, paint a positive picture for the growth of Ruidoso students.

Ruidoso teachers were cited for their high level of professionalism and commitment to students in a very good learning atmosphere and a good environment.

The review team divides its report into two parts. The first part is commendations, things that the school is doing well.

Strengths of the system included a strong administration on the building level; excellent student rapport, better than many schools; and an excellent student body, well kept, friendly students with the school incurring very little vandalism.

The organization and management style for the high school was considered quite good.

The curriculum was considered to be comprehensive with good offerings. They noted the staff was working overtime to provide diversity. Student scores, high to begin with, are rising on the standardized tests.

The second division is recommendations, things that could be done to improve the program. Several teachers believe the recommendations were candid and honest suggestions for making a good program better, said Hubbard.

Long-term planning, greater emphasis on the arts and cultural heritage, growth in lifetime activities and a new direction for sixth-period physical education were among the issues and recommendations discussed.

Ruidoso teachers had prepared for the evaluation team visit for nearly a year and a half, creating a 700-page self study report, reviewing every aspect of the school including facilities, budget, clubs, curriculum and qualifications of the teachers. That report was sent to the evaluation team to study before their arrival.

One of the more controversial items discussed by the exit team was with the Physical Education Department. The team commended the school for having 40 minutes of activity available. They felt schools with shorter classes seldom receive this much time.

The team was not in favor of the sixth period PE2 class being used as an athletic period. The team said athletics should be conducted outside the school day.

The team said more emphasis should be given to lifetime sports, golf, tennis, swimming and other endeavors that don't require teams. Among other departments covered were:

Home Economics-The team was especially pleased with the food service training class that helps produce the lunches at the Teepee Lounge on Thursdays. The child development class was also considered extremely valuable.

Recommendations included the addition of a nutrition course.

Technical Education (shop)-The team was impressed with the offerings in the class and the individual attention shown.

The team would like to see a computer drafting curriculum added to the class and they felt the ventilation in the shop should be improved.

Mathematics-The team commended the faculty for their extra hard work and said they needed another teacher. The high school is down to three math teachers this year from four math teachers of last year.

The team also recommended computers in all the math classes and that the computers should be compatible.

Science-The team found the staff friendly and capable and mentioned specifically the physics and chemistry courses. They recommended more communications with the other Ruidoso schools.

Drivers Education-Commended instructors and recommended a summer teaching program for driver's education.

Social Studies-The major strength in the social studies department was in the diversity of style within the four members of the department. They said this was good for the student to have a choice and to adapt to various situations. They recommended a multi-cultural component, an example of which would be a class in Southwest History, to be offered next year at the high school.

Special Education-Commended the staff for the integration of students in regular class rooms.

Business Education-The team was very pleased with the student success rate. Nearly 85 percent of the students take business courses. The facility is one of the best in the state, according to the team.

Recommendations for Business Ed included periodic updating of equipment and a co-op program so students could serve their apprenticeships with local businesses.

design first proposed rather than the straight design being proposed now." Miller said the meandering approach would require less use of school property.

White Mountain Intermediate School principal and school transportation director Donnie Weems mentioned safety and school bus concerns as important issues.

Noting that the school board's first commitment must be the schools, Miller invited the MAPB to come to a school board meeting and make a presentation to the members.

MAPB members Ovella Estes and Don Shaw volunteered to work with village planning administrator Cleatus Richards and begin computing the amount of acreage involved that would impact the school property and then meet with the board.

In other business, the board:

—Heard a report from Chairman Kolb on his discussion with R.D. Hubbard and a representative of Colbert Golf, Inc. about the board's recommendations and considerations for the golf course project.

—Heard a letter from the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County supporting the board's recent recommendations on the golf course project.

—Carried a motion to have Don Shaw represent the board at the next council meeting in order to clarify the board's responsibilities and funding for marketing.

—Carried a motion to schedule regular meetings every other Wednesday, with the next meeting scheduled for March 15.

"We expected to have $90 million in deposits within two years," he said.

"We had $90 million in 90 days," he declared.

Hervey said he likes competition.

Commenting on the pending purchase of First Federal Savings Bank of Roswell and Ruidoso by El Paso Savings, Hervey said El Paso Savings people "are good operators."

Hervey said the decline of the oil industry and the resulting reduction in real estate activity in the area are basic to the "change in the environment" for financial institutions.

"The savings and loan industry is just in transition," he said. "There isn't any mystery about it." He said it is a "shakedown."

With Sun World Savings and

Sun World Federal Savings Bank "nothing is wrong ... everything is perfect ... we got in too late for any bad loans," he said.

Hervey has been chairman of the board of Sun World Publishing of El Paso, Phoenix and Houston; Sun World Satellite News, Washington D.C., Oasis Restaurant, El Paso; Dills Old World Brand Sausage, Alamogordo; Sun Mailing Co., El Paso, and Sierra Blanca Paper Co., El Paso.

He was the founder and former chairman of the Circle K Corporation.

He served as mayor of El Paso from 1951-1954 and from 1972-1974.

"I loved being mayor of El Paso. I had a good time. But I don't miss it enough to get back into it," he told The News.

Hervey said he plans to spend some time in Ruidoso periodically. "I love Ruidoso. It's a lovely place," he said.

Citizens to meet

County residents concerned about a recent annexation proposal made by Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris will have a planning meeting Thursday, March 2, at the Circle B Barn on Highway 70 east of Ruidoso Downs. For more information call Judy or Jonnie Van Winkle at 378-4990.

Study session

Councillors Al Junge and Elmer Pirelli are the only two members of the Ruidoso Village Council at the work session preceding Tuesday's regular meeting. Junge and Pirelli spoke softly and reviewed the agenda packet as members of the small audience waited for the meeting to begin and tried to hear the quiet exchanges. Councillors Tom McNeil, Larry Simon, J.D. James and Jess Stinson skipped the informal meeting.

Chamber schedules Idea Fair

Details of an Idea Fair sponsored by the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce sponsored by the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce have been spelled out by Tracey Moran, Convention and Visitors Bureau director.

One purpose of the fair will be to recognize outstanding promotional material used to spread the word about the Playground of the Southwest and its attractions to the public.

The event will be from 7-10 p.m. Tuesday, March 28, at Cree Meadows Restaurant.

The efforts of advertising directors, media personnel and advertisers will be recognized.

Entries can include newspaper advertisements, radio and TV broadcasts and telecast material, menus, brochures and such. The chamber has full information on categories.

The material must have been exposed to the public between January 1, 1988, and December 1, 1988. Deadline for submitting entries is 5 p.m. March 22.

A social hour is scheduled from 7:30-8:30 p.m. when participants can check over entries which will have been judged by that time.

Also during the evening a corporate competition using the Pictionary format will be in evidence.

Media plans and the 1989 advertising campaign will be outlined. Making presentations will be Rick Johnson of the Rick Johnson Agency, the state's advertising vehicle; Mark and Laura Duth, of the marketing department, Ruidoso Downs Race Track, and Deanna Davis, marketing director of the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Entry fees will be used to defray costs of a new video being used by the chamber to promote Ruidoso. Cost of the video, Moran said, was $7,500. The video will be shown during the evening.

Entry fees for promotional material to be judged will be $5 for individual pieces and $10 for campaigns featuring more than one piece.

Moran said gold and silver awards will be made for print and for broadcast material plus a best of show award will be made.

Advertising agency people and Davis will be involved in the judging. The Inn of the Mountain Gods will not be submitting material.

Ruidoso News Business Editor. The Ruidoso branch of First Federal Savings Bank of New Mexico, headquartered in Roswell, is a part of the package El Paso Savings has offered to buy for $15 million.

Gary Owen, president of First Federal Savings Bank of New Mexico, of Roswell, announced the bank has signed a letter of intent with El Paso Savings and Loan Association of El Paso.

Owen said pursuant to the letter, stockholders of the bank are to receive approximately $36.70 for each share of the bank's common stock, less any cash dividends paid in 1989.

El Paso Savings just two weeks ago announced plans to buy a Las Cruces savings and loan. El Paso Savings was bought last year by the family of Austin, Texas, investor Alfred Hughes.

In a press release, Owens said the letter of intent is subject to the parties reaching and signing a definitive acquisition agreement within 90 days. The acquisition also is subject to several conditions including the approval of regulator and the stockholders of First Federal.

In 1980 that the mutual company, Chaves County Savings and Loan became a stock company, First Federal.

Heading up the Ruidoso branch is Richard A. (Dick) Parsons Jr., vice president of First Federal who has been with the Ruidoso office since 1975. He is a native of Ruidoso.

The company's stock originally sold for about $9 per share, Parsons told The Ruidoso News.

As of December 31, 1988, First Federal had assets in excess of $135 million. El Paso Savings, Owen reports, had total assets in excess of $435 million. With the purchase of First Federal, total assets will approximate $700 million.

Hughes, chairman of the El Paso company, said if the acquisition is approved by the regulators and stockholders, he will be pleased to be associated with the First Federal operation.

He said customers of First Federal can expect the bank to operate under its current management in a safe and conservative fashion as it has during the past 69 years.

The El Paso, Roswell and Las Cruces S&Ls will all three operate under the same name, Hughes said.

Bob Jordan, chief operations officer, El Paso Savings, is quoted as saying customers will not see any big changes except that someday customers will be able to bank at any one of the company's 12 branches.

First Federal has a main office and two branch offices in Roswell plus the branch offices in Ruidoso.

Hughes has said he will buy profitable savings and loans in small to medium-size Texas and New Mexico cities, allowing the company to save on overhead.

March 6, will remain scheduled. The meeting will take place at the Ruidoso Downs Fire station because of the expected crowd.

In other regular business the trustees:

—Tabled a gun and supply request by the animal control officer.

—Unanimously voted to contribute $2,500 to the Water Defense Association.

—Tabled discussion on building inspector fees after hearing a request by Trustee Bill Smith to revise the contract percentages from a 90-10 percent split between the inspector and the village to a 60-40 percent split.

—Heard a request from Ruidoso

Downs Race Track for permission to intersect Joe Welch Drive in front of the sales barn. Smith called for the request to be tabled until after a public hearing could be conducted. The meeting was set for the March 27 regular trustees meeting.

—Discussed an ongoing problem between the Police Department and the Municipal Court. Smith suggested an arbitrator be named to settle the dispute between the two departments.

—Heard an update on the recent ruling in the water rights case involving the Mescalero Apache Tribe and down-stream water users.

—Went into executive session to discuss pending litigation.

Water quality discussed

by LYNNE STREETER
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Several area businessmen charged Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris with misrepresenting nitrate contamination level readings of their water supply in a recent letter he sent to more than 300 residents in the Agua Fria-Biscuit Hill area.

The letter, containing an offer of annexation into the Village of Ruidoso Downs, stated that nitrate levels at the Back 40 Trailer Park and Circle B Campgrounds were 32.80 percent and 25.76 percent higher respectively than nitrate level readings in Ruidoso Downs.

Owners of both parks were at the Monday night Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees meeting to protest the figures.

During the meeting, Jonnie Van Winkle, owner of Circle B asked Harris why he chose to print a one-time, eight-year old reading instead of more recent, lower ones.

Van Winkle also complained that Harris chose to use a very low reading to exemplify the quality of water available in Ruidoso Downs.

The question of where the mayor obtained his information was also raised by the angry audience. Harris responded that he had sent someone to the Ruidoso office of the Environmental Improvement Division (EID) to obtain the figures. In a telephone interview Harris explained why he made those choices.

"I was attempting to show nitrate levels were higher where there was no sewer system," he said.

According to EID environmentalist, Carl Stubbs, the law requires that non-community water systems be checked for nitrate contamination and bacteria a minimum of every four years by a state certified laboratory at the owners expense. Stubbs said the labs usually send a copy of the results to the EID. There are two sources of nitrates in the water table. One is from nitrate bearing rocks or minerals. The other is through wastewater contamination. The maximum level allowed is 10.0.

In the annexation letter Harris listed Circle B's level at 6.44 and Back 40's at 8.2. Ruidoso Downs was shown to have a reading of .29.

According to EID statistics, Back 40's high reading was in 1983. Six weeks later the records show another sample was taken and showed a level of .74.

Ruidoso Downs village attorney Richard Hawthorne explains a point of law to an irate audience at Monday night's board meeting.

A letter refusing an annexation offer by Ruidoso Downs Mayor Jake Harris was read to the board by Agua Fria resident Cathy Ames at Monday's board meeting.

Clarification

A letter from Rod Flanagan published recently in The News contained a typographical error with several words inadvertently left out.

Flanagan, in his letter, said: "The oil patch of the late 50s and through the 60s will never come back in our lifetimes. Ruidoso will never be a Palm Springs in our lifetime. Money is tight all over the nation, not just Ruidoso. Build something that people not only want but need. I think that need in the future will be a college education, not a set of golf clubs."

Bill ensures continued healthcare for some residents of rural New Mexico

by DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso News Staff Writer
Carrizozo Health Clinic, supported and financed by Lincoln County, will continue to provide health care for the rural citizens of Lincoln County.

Adoption of two bills in the New Mexico State Legislature last week will pave the way for physicians assistant (PA) Ernie Gonzales to provide health care in the Carrizozo Clinic, the Corona Clinic and to many isolated rural patients seen at home.

Last year the attorney general ruled PAs could no longer distribute medications and also was considering limiting PAs authority to prescribe drugs.

Two bills which were before the state legislature this session would allow both prescribing and distribution by PAs. The bills passed through committee easily, but some, including Gonzales, feared the distribution bill would not pass. However, both houses of the legislature passed the bills last week. Now only Governor Garrey Carruthers' signature is needed to make them law.

Gonzales said Thursday he is quite pleased. About 450 patients are served in the Lincoln County clinics monthly, as well as many older patients in isolated areas.

If the bills become law they will enhance rural clinic health care in Lincoln County and New Mexico.

20 apply for manager job

by DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Lincoln County Commission opened 20 applications for county manager, nine for road supervisor and eight bids for legal services at a three-hour meeting Monday in Carrizozo.

Commissioners Bob Hemphill, Karon Petty and Rick Simpson opened county manager applications from Greg S. Leaf of Pecos; Tom L. Crespin, Truth or Consequences; Joe B. Buchanan, Ruidoso; Noel B. Mauldin, Williamsburg; Virginia A. Spall, Ruidoso; Wilma L. Webb, Ruidoso Downs; Randolph J. Forrester, Raton; Robert S. Bell, Roswell; Harold Ray Mansell, Ruidoso Downs and James Stewart Neblett, Aztec.

Also applying were Faustino Abila of Dexter; James T. Alston, Ruidoso; Deanna F. Wright, Ruidoso; Charles F. Kafka, Fort Stanton; Wray L. Simmons, Albuquerque; Lawrence Brinkley, Capitan; Nick J. Pappas, Roswell; Daniel K. Baker of Tempe, Arizona; Carl L. Davidson of Albuquerque and Laura M. White of Roswell.

Commissioners will choose four applicants, who will be interviewed between March 6-17.

The county manager serves at the pleasure of the commission as the administrative assistant to the commissioners, personnel officer, fiscal director and budget officer, purchasing agent, ex-officio status on boards, civil defense coordinator, contacts and communications with governments, general information and administration officer, with knowledge of Lincoln County and state governments.

Applications will be considered on a point basis with salary commensurate with experience.

Applicants for road supervisor were Fredrick R. Serna of Carrizozo, Fred J. Payton of Capitan, Tommy A. Hall of Ruidoso, Dennis L. LeBeau of Roswell, Walter Hjalmsquist of Ruidoso, Jimmy Lowell Dunn of Lake Arthur, Rodney G. Smith of Roswell, Ken D. Staples of Alamogordo and Leroy Jack LaMay of Capitan.

Four applicants will be chosen by commissioners to be interviewed between March 6 and March 17.

The county road supervisor's specific duties include roads, equipment, personnel and general information and administration.

Firms and attorneys submitting sealed bid proposals for legal services for Lincoln County were Bert Atkins, District Attorney 12th Judicial District, Sanders and Fandy of Las Cruces, O'Reilly and Wardlaw of Ruidoso, Harry G. Wilcox of Nogal, Michael Wiley of Albuquerque, Hawthorne and Hawthorne of Ruidoso, Gary C. Mitchell of Ruidoso and Parsons and Bryant of Ruidoso.

The county attorney will provide legal advice at commission meetings and meetings of the county Planning and Zoning Commission, Extraterritorial Zoning Commission, Extraterritorial Authority and Lincoln Historic Preservation Board. The attorney also will advise the Lincoln County Ambulance Service, Lincoln County Health Center, Zia Senior Citizens Center, and to advise the various county officials and members of their department on legal issues.

Additionally, the attorney will represent the county in any civil proceedings.

All proposals will be evaluated on a 100-point scale.

Also at the meeting, Lincoln County Treasurer Shirley Goodloe requested a four percent collection fee be billed to the three soil and water conservation districts located in Lincoln County: Carrizozo, Upper Hondo and Chaves County. Currently, the treasurer's office collects and distributes the one mill levy funds. The four percent will be taken from the levy funds collected and is provided for by state statute.

Petty asked if the districts anticipate requesting the mill levy again. Goodloe said, in the case of Upper Hondo district, "quite a lot" of money was collected and the district may not collect next year. She explained the large amount was a "surprise" to the Upper Hondo board of directors and they may not request the fees next year.

Petty requested any extra funds be contributed to the Water Defense Association and their lawsuit with the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe. Goodloe said the funds must be used for specific water conservation projects. Many taxpayers have been confused into thinking the levy is for the water defense, Goodloe said.

Commissioners approved the four percent fee as Goodloe said her office has spent many extra hours to program the computers for the bills and to establish a billing list.

In other business, commissioners:

—Approved a $5,000 request from Hubert Quintana, executive director of the Water Defense Association (WDA). The funds will help defray the costs incurred in the final stages of a water rights case involving the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe.

WDA is preparing to have their attorney Richard Simms file an amicus brief with the United States Supreme Court, based on the Wyoming Big Horn water adjudication.

—Heard a report about the Lincoln County Zia Senior Citizens Centers from director Barbara Ward. She attributed the center's success to the support and hard work of staff and volunteers.

Ward also explained meals costs and why many seniors travel out of the county for medical care. The nature of senior illnesses required specialists not available in Lincoln County, she said.

A bill in the state legislature may help create a senior center in Hondo, Ward concluded.

—Supported the request commissioners apply for a $25,000 Community Development Block Grant from Environmental Group Loving Earth for a feasibility study to recycle solid waste. Commissioners will adopt a resolution for a citizens participation plan.

Commissioners will conduct one more public hearing about the request before the deadline of March 17.

—Decided to appoint a committee to establish a complete county committee for the 1990 census, comprised of volunteers to be appointed at the next scheduled meeting. Petty suggested church pastors and banking representatives be included. Treasurer's clerk Mike Hainer suggested contacting all municipal clerks.

—Approved a joint powers agreement between the county and the New Mexico Economic Development and Tourism Department for $886, Lincoln County's per capita share, for printing of brochures. Matching funds for the printing will be provided by the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County.

—Approved the All Hazard Response Agreement between Lincoln County, the villages of Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan, Carrizozo, Corona and Mescalero to provide assistance between agencies for fire prevention and other hazards.

—Appointed Mike Hainer to fill the Lincoln property owner vacancy and Monroy Montes to fill the at-large member vacancy to the Lincoln Historic Preservation Board. Hainer will serve until December, 1990.

—Approved the amended mid-year budget review with budget increases for reimbursements for professional services, construction, transportation and extradition of prisoners and a budget decrease for the Sierra Blanca operating expense. Budget items over 50 percent expended included mileage and per diem; refunds for ambulance; part-time salaries; record books, purchased in quantities; bureau of elections due to the cost of general election; part-time and overtime salaries for the tax season; capital outlay; insurance purchased for the year; road construction and maintenance with a $200,000 budget increase not yet completed; bridge; all fire districts; capital outlay; senior citizens; and sheriff and jail including salaries, supplies and feeding of prisoners.

—Approved payroll and accounts payable registers.

—OK'd prior year's bills and budget increase of $22,727.72; and prior year's bills with no budget increase of $7,650.20.

—Approved budget adjustments of a decrease for Sierra Blanca improvement fund; increase for $7,500 for Lincoln County Fairgrounds grandstand seating grant, with funds from the National Park Service; increase of $433.18 for senior citizens.

—Discussed personnel and pending litigation during an hour-long executive session.

—Had no audience participation.

Sheriff's Posse is ready to ride

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse, Inc., officially formed Saturday and elected former Ruidoso Police officer Jim Alston president.

With 44 charter members, the 31 members present Saturday unanimously elected Alston, a retired military law enforcement officer and former Roswell Police officer as its first president.

C.L. "Bones" Wright is the group's vice-president and Elizabeth Sambrano will serve as treasurer, with the offices of secretary and reporter to be filled at the next general assembly at 3 p.m. Sunday, March 3, at the Lincoln County Suboffice.

Field officers elected Saturday include Ken Jones, major, and Glen Ellison, captain. Ellison also will serve as executive officer for the four units planned.

Lieutenants for the units: search and rescue, parade, officer assistance and auxiliary, will be selected after the group increases in size.

According to the bylaws adopted Saturday, the general assembly will be the first Sunday during the odd-numbered months and the board of directors will meet the first Sunday of even-numbered months. Members suggested meeting locations be rotated among different Lincoln County communities.

The bylaws limit the number of members to 100. However, the bylaws call for a revision in 1990, when a larger group may be included.

"We've come a million miles today," said Ellison Saturday, about the membership.

The posse participated in its first activity Sunday, when about 20 members on horseback searched the ranching area north of the Capitan mountains for items possibly lost by deceased Tony Dudley.

Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane said Monday the posse began the search to assist the Dudley family in finding items lost from the pickup truck which Dudley was driving. The truck was discovered by a rancher in an isolated pasture in December, and the deceased's body was found about a mile from the truck.

Although the posse searched for most of the day, and covered about 30 miles, McSwane said nothing was found.

"We're trying to get pride back into the posse," McSwane said.

Anyone interested in becoming part of the Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse, or helping with any of the units, may contact Dick White in Ruidoso at 258-5541; Glen Ellison in Carrizozo at 648-2104; Sheriff James McSwane in Capitan at 354-2359 or Chief Deputy Bob Miller in Ruidoso Downs at 378-8143.

The next meeting is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday, March 3, at the Lincoln County Suboffice located north of Ruidoso Village Hall on Kansas City Road.

Fire destroys The Hay Depot Investigators search for clues

by DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Capitan Volunteer Fire Department (VFD) firefighters battled a hot blaze Tuesday that destroyed a Capitan business, The Hay Depot.

According to Capitan Police Chief Randy Spears, investigation of the fire, which was reported to the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department at 3:31 a.m. Tuesday, continues.

Sheriff's dispatch contacted the Capitan VFD, which responded with two large pumpers and the mini-pumper. The 17 firefighters battled the blaze about an hour before it was controlled, but the crew stayed until 6 a.m. to watch the smoldering hay.

The Hay Depot, owned by Larry Maroon, recently was stocked with alfalfa hay and animal feed before the fire occurred. Spears said the hay will smolder for days and is the hardest of objects to extinguish.

Spears said the New Mexico Fire Marshal's office was called and representative Dwayne Merritt arrived Tuesday afternoon to investigate the fire. After taking samples Merritt returned to Santa Fe.

Also investigating was Nicolas Gonzales, special agent of INS Investigation Bureau, Incorporated of Albuquerque. Gonzales was investigating for Maroon's insurance company.

Spears said results from the fire marshal's office will be available next week, and investigations will continue.

Wood and hay still smolder in the remains of The Hay Depot in Capitan. The structure was destroyed during the early hours Tuesday. Investigators continue to search the ruins for evidence of what caused the fire.

gators searched for clues Tuesday and Wednesday. An investigation by the State Fire Marshal is continuing. (Photo by Doris Cherry.)

Floyd stops Capitan in state finals

by DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Capitan's Lady Tigers were eliminated from the state Class A finals when they lost in the first round Wednesday to Floyd 48-59 at Valley High School in Albuquerque.

Cloudford Lady Bears also lost their bid for the state title to Texico Wednesday.

The Lady Tigers won the berth in the state finals when they defeated Fort Sumner 57-49 in the first round of Region D play in Fort Sumner Friday.

The regional title was elusive, however, as they lost by two points in overtime to their major rival—the Cloudford Lady Bears.

Overtime scoring was the key to the Fort Sumner win, where Lora McKay scored four of the eight points which tipped the win to the Lady Tigers' favor. Kim Eckland and Colynn Washburn contributed with their two points each.

McKay scored a total of 17 points, Marnie McDaniel scored 13 and Sherry Gowen scored 10.

Cloudford's Sara Gage tipped the game for the Lady Bears with her successful three free throws in overtime. Combined with Gail Coleman's two-point basket, the Lady Bears again stole the first-place win from the Lady Tigers.

McKay was the star of the game, with her 26 points, she became Capitan High School's top girl scorer, taking the record title from former student Katherine Sanchez. McKay scored more than 400 points during this basketball season.

The Lady Tigers were ahead of Cloudford at the half 26-23, however the third quarter was where the Lady Bears took a two-point lead. Determined, the Lady Tigers edged Cloudford and the buzzer sounded with the teams tied at 51.

The Lady Bears success in overtime determined the fate of the regional title.

By defeating Fort Sumner, the Lady Tigers traveled to Albuquerque Wednesday to play Floyd in the first round of state play-offs. With Capitan record at 20-4 and Floyd's at 18-6, Lady Tiger coach Anne McKay said the game could go either way.

If the girls defeat Floyd, they will play at 7 p.m. today (Thursday), at El Dorado High School in Albuquerque.

The season ended suddenly for the Capitan Tigers when they lost to Lake Arthur 69-77 in the boys district 5A semi-finals last week.

Despite good scoring by team players, the Tigers could not keep back Lake Arthur's Sudden Long-chase who scored 30 points.

For the Tigers, Tino Gallegos scored 17 points, Heath Huey 14 points, Johnny Castillo 12 and Anthony Sanchez 11.

Sanchez and Gallegos were named as All-District players from Capitan.

For the season Sanchez averaged 14.1 points for each game and 3.3 rebounds. Gallegos averaged 11.2 points and 8.3 rebounds, Castillo averaged 9.9 points and 2.7 rebounds, Henrik Petursson averaged 5.8 points and 2.3 rebounds, Jerrod Martin averaged 6.6 points and 4.9 rebounds. Tigers' Erik Fuchs averaged four points a game and 7.6 rebounds, Warren Russell averaged 6.8 points and four rebounds and Heath Huey averaged eight points and 5.1 rebounds.

The Tigers ended their season with 13 wins and 11 losses in regular play and eight wins and six losses in district play.

Now, it's time for track.

McCabe Turner is state wrestling champion

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

McCabe Turner is the Class 3-AAA state heavyweight wrestling champion of New Mexico. Turner joins Bubba Lane as the only Class 3-AAA state champions from Ruidoso High School.

In an astonishing turn of events and after winning two hard-fought matches, Turner had to win back-to-back wins over a monster with a 32-1 record and another wrestler he had lost to the week before.

Before any Warrior earned that trip to the state, the number one through four seed had to be determined in the district tournament the week before. Upon arrival at the state, each team knew its position and who each would wrestle.

In preparation, the Warriors traveled to Belen last Thursday, the state tournament site. That evening they practiced in the gym and weighed themselves to see who was below or above weight.

After an hour workout, the Warriors traveled to nearby Albuquerque for the overnight stay.

The following morning, everybody was required to weigh in from 7-9 a.m. The Warriors had no trouble making weight.

James Atwood started the action for the Warriors against Aztec's Gary McClure, the number two seed. Atwood lost the first match 26-6 and was then placed on the bottom side of the bracket.

Eric Collins, at 125 pounds, was the second Warrior match. Collins was also a number four seed. Collins had to wrestle the number three seed, Johnson Watson, a state runner-up last year. Collins was pinned in a banana split in 58 seconds.

Alfred Rue, seeded fourth in the tournament, met Reed Rossbock of Albuquerque Academy. Rue was pinned at the end of the first period.

Bubba Lane, last year's state champion, was not seeded number one because he had lost in this year's district tournament.

Lane, at 165 pounds, technical fell Robby Austin from Tucumcari at the end of the second period 15-0.

Dusty Beavers, who entered the Warrior wrestling program late this season, but was a major factor in last year's program, wrestled Kevin Garcia from St. Michaels. Beavers beat Garcia from St. Michael 16-3.

Gerald Ames, head wrestling coach, said the two straight victories helped the Warriors feel much better about themselves at that point.

Heavyweight McCabe Turner with a 12-10 record wrestled a monster, named Gerald Dodge, a 265-pounder from Kirkland Central with a 26-5 record. Turner astounded the Warrior team and Ames by shellacking Dodge 13-0.

At the end of the first round the Warriors had a 3-3 record.

The second round began at 1 p.m. and paired the first round winners.

Lane met Chris Edwards of Aztec and led the entire match except for the last 20 seconds. Edwards reversed Lane for two points and Lane dropped the match to the number two seed 6-5.

Ames said the loss by Lane was a blow to Warrior hopes and an emotional down for Lane and his teammates.

Dusty Beavers, at 189 pounds, met James Maitland from Aztec. Ames said it was a tremendous match that the Warriors felt they had won at the end of regulation time. Beavers led 11-10 with one tick of the clock remaining. After a whistle, new play began for that last second. Maitland, down as the clock began, rolled. The referee declared an escape and awarded Maitland a point that tied the score at 11-11 for an overtime.

In overtime Maitland scored six points. Beavers scored three and the final score ended 19-16.

With the one-two hope of the Warriors defeated, only Turner had a chance for a state championship.

"At this point, we're not thinking good thoughts at all," Ames said.

Turner then wrestled the number four seed, Jose Esquivel from Robertson. Ames said he was very worried about Turner's chances against Esquivel because of Esquivel's training under Hector Gomez, a national NCAA champion who conducts wrestling clinics.

Turner pinned Esquivel in the first period and Ames said he and court. Turner, a junior rookie wrestler, joins Bubba Lane as the only Warriors to be wrestling state champs.

the team were stunned. Ames said Turner looked impressive and other wrestlers came by to say how good Turner was looking.

At 2 p.m., the state contest moved to the first time losers side of the bracket for their round.

Atwood won his second match against Chris Gately of Albuquerque Academy 12-1.

Alfred Rue's opponent from Bloomfield doesn't show and Rue wins by forfeit.

Collins then wrestles and beats Chad Black from Tucumcari 7-4.

With the round completed, all Warriors were still in the tournament.

In the evening program, Atwood's opponent was Carlos Torres from Belen.

"It was a tremendous match," said Ames. "The kid was from Belen and we were in Belen's gym. The cheers were all going one way and James won it 7-4."

Collins followed with a match against Charles Bussey of Belen.

Collins led the entire match, tried for a power half. Collins is too high in the move and slips off of Bussey in the final seconds to lose by a point, eliminating him from the tournament.

Rue's next opponent is Michael Houseman of Tucumcari. Rue loses two points in the first period, but regains the two on a reversal in the second period. At that point, Rue was reversed and pinned, eliminating him from the tournament.

Ames said he was concerned with Lane's match that followed. He said he feared a let down by the previous state champion.

Ames said his fears were allayed when Lane took Calvin Romero from Penasco apart 10-0. "Bubba just destroyed him," Ames said.

Beavers followed his nine-minute overtime contest with Carlos Quintana from West Las Vegas. Beavers suffered an early fall and the 5-0 lead was too much to overcome. Beavers lost 5-4 and was eliminated from the tournament.

Turner wrestled on the winner's side and because the heavyweight division is last, the match didn't get off until midnight.

Turner's match was with Vincent Martinez of Belen. Martinez has a 28-1 record.

Before the match, a local television station interviewed Martinez and asked about his great record. Martinez said he never liked his opponent to go longer than 20 seconds and that he enjoyed crushing a few bones. Ames said after watching the interview, their bragging might have given Turner a little incentive.

Turner opened the match with a take-down to lead 2-0. A penalty point gave Turner another point and it was 3-0 going into the final period.

"In the third period, McCabe was up," said Ames. "I was fearful that the kid would get up for two points and then take McCabe down for four. But as Martinez tried to get up, McCabe bumped him, the kid fell on his side and allowed McCabe to get a half Nelson. Martinez never got off his back and the match ended 6-0."

Ames said the whole Warrior team was as high as a kite at that moment.

Ames said the Warriors returned to Albuquerque at 1 a.m. He said it was nearly 3 a.m. before the team was able to come down enough to go to bed. Early morning call was for 6:30 a.m. to weigh in.

Ames said those no longer in the tournament were allowed to sleep late.

Ames said they arrived for weigh in about 8 a.m. and left about 8:30 a.m. to be back at the gym by 9:30 a.m.

"At that time, a series of things began to happen. We figured we had time, but we didn't. We missed our deadline at the gym by six minutes and James Atwood had to forfeit his match."

"I felt terrible about the forfeiture," Ames said. "It was my fault. It hurt James, it hurt the team and I hated that it happened. We will take steps to insure that it will never happen again. That's the best we can do now."

Ames said the forfeit left the team down in the dumps again before the Lane match.

Lane had jumped out of bed at 5 a.m. to run off some water weight. He passed weigh-in.

Lane's first match was at 10 a.m. against Brian Ortega from Robertson. Bubba pounds Ortega 14-3 to give him a certain third or fourth for the state.

Several hours later, Lane wrestled again. It was another easy victory for Lane against Grant's Richard Shaw 5-0, and Lane wins third in the state.

Ames said he was very proud of Lane, especially after his football injury and operation.

"Just getting him in any shape to wrestle this year was an accomplishment," Ames said.

Turner's match was the last match of the tournament and he was paired against Javier Gallosa, the wrestler from Deming that had beaten Turner 6-2 in the district championship last week.

Ames said he hadn't expected first-year wrestler Turner to place in the tournament and at that point he could do no worse than second.

Turner starts the match by immediately putting Gallosa on his back for five points.

Ames said his heart jumped and his mind kept thinking, "Hang on, McCabe, hang on."

Turner did hang on and the match ended 6-3 and the Warriors had their second state champion ever, the first in the heavyweight division.

Bubba Lane—RHS first state mat champ

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Bubba Lane started wrestling four years ago when James Herrera was the big dude on campus.

Bubba was one of two freshmen that year, one quit during the season.

Ruidoso High School wrestling coach Gerald Ames told Lane from the beginning that he was going to be a state champion. In his first year he won eight matches and lost 10.

As a sophomore, Lane hit .500 in his record, 20-20. He had a good opportunity to win the state that year, but was upset by a wrestler who he had defeated earlier in the year.

Ames said that year Bubba lifted weights and gained strength. In his junior year the Warriors had a tremendous wrestling team with Jeff Schmidt, Scott Yeatman and Dusty Beavers who were all district champions. Bubba was number two in district that year with a tremendous record of 36 wins and 16 losses.

At state that year, Schmidt, Yeaman and Beavers didn't place. Ames expected all three to be either first or second.

Lane came through that year and beat the number one seed from Aztec. His last match was against Louis Alvarez of Cobre. Lane won and became the first state wrestling champion from Ruidoso High School.

This was Bubba's senior year. The football season was extended because of the Warriors' quest for a state title. Bubba reinjured his earlier football injury and orthoscopic surgery was necessary.

Bubba worked very hard on knee exercises and was able to join the wrestling squad in January. His matches were still filled with anxiety because of the tenuous position of his fragile leg.

It was suddenly a short season to rebuild the leg and be in wrestling shape.

Ames said he tried to convince Lane to move to the 171-pound easier class, but Bubba wanted to be state champion in the toughest weight class.

"I have a little sign on my door," said Ames. "It says it's not how you fall but how you get up again that marks a true champion. I think Bubba Lane is a true champion. He ended his career with 80 victories. Only Jeff Schmidt accomplished that feat while at Ruidoso. Bubba has been a state champion and I'm really proud of him. I just want to make sure everybody knows he's really the leadership and the true champion of the team. This doesn't in anyway take away from McCabe's fabulous victory. They did it together."

Paso Jem just outfinished Street Chick in Monday's feature allowance race at Sunland Park. Ridden by Mike

Clark, Paso Jem rallied strongly in the 5 1/2 furlong sprint win to record her second victory in her last three races.

Racing fans are set for R.D. Day at Rillito track

Plans are set for a fun trip to Tucson and Rillito Park Race Track, according to Sunny Hirschfeld of the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce.

Ruidoso Downs Day will be observed at Rillito on both Saturday and Sunday, April 1-2, and 42 seats will be available on a luxury bus out of Albuquerque for Ruidoso residents to make the trip. The bus will leave Albuquerque March 31 and will return on Sunday, April 2, she said.

People making the trip may purchase blankets for $55 to be presented to winners on those days.

The chamber is currently taking reservations for the trip. Motel will run about $65 per night including tax single or double, the bus costs about $35 per person.

Hirschfeld said this is a goodwill trip. She expects a reciprocal trip although no date has been established.

Locals take part in KENW-TV fundraiser

"Ruidoso Day" will be observed March 6 by KENW-TV, the Public Broadcasting System TV station in Portales.

Tracey Moran, director of the Ruidoso Convention and Visitors Bureau, will be on the air at 5 p.m. in the Portales studio on the Eastern New Mexico University campus. The occasion is the annual fund-raising promotion of the station which serves a wide area of New Mexico and West Texas.

Also assisting by handling telephones during the day will be Ruidoso Valley Greeters and members of the Ruidoso Woman's Club.

Youngsters celebrate Native American Day

Nob Hill Elementary School invites parents and friends to American Indian Day, scheduled all day Friday, March 3, at the school.

The purpose of the day is to highlight Native American and Apache culture. Events include Native American presenters and displays of beadwork, traditional dressmaking, dancing, art, teepee building, basket weaving, story telling and jewelry making.

Students will wear traditional dress and costume in an effort to promote pride, self-esteem and an awareness of Apache culture.

Black Badger wins Sunday feature at Sunland Park

Black Badger relinquished the lead at the top of the stretch, but responded to the urging of Mike Lidberg and rallied to overtake Forever A Ruler in the final strides and earn a one length win in Sunday's feature race at Sunland Park.

Black Badger has steadily improved under the tutelage of trainer Frank Cappellucci and has now won three races at the current meeting, this one timed in 1:39 flat for the one mile distance.

Black Badger paid $7.60, $3.60, $3.00.

Forever A Ruler went off as the favorite in the 10-horse field, but was second best this day to pay $3.40, $3.00.

Shortstop Special finished third, $2.60.

Owned by John Dixon of Guymon, Oklahoma, Black Badger is the six-year-old son of Pittsburgh County out of Carrot Curls.

With the victory, jockey Mike Lidberg now has a 97 to 94 edge in winning mounts over Joe Martinez in the race for leading rider.

The track's Tri-Super wager went uncashed on Sunday and the carryover has blossomed to $26,042.

Racing resumed Wednesday.

Intriguing Envoy leads the pack over the wire Sat.

Intriguing Envoy gained the lead quickly and battled Glowing Image for most of the race before coming away with a narrow win in Saturday's feature allowance race at Sunland Park.

Under Larry Byers, Intriguing Envoy ran five and 1/2 furlongs in 1:05 flat, notched a neck victory over eight other sophomore runners, and returned $25.00, $14.80, $6.40.

Glowing Image fell short of the winner's circle to pay $15.00, $5.00 with Rixdal Jr. returning third place money of $4.60.

Racing at 11 to one, Intriguing

Envoy coupled with 16 to one long-shot Glowing Image to pay a $561.20 exacta.

In other action on Saturday, Raise a Roula surprised very few in taking a 1/2 length win in the 350 yard quarter horse feature.

Raise A Roula and rider Gary Sumpter were timed in :17.64 to win his first race in five tries at Sunland and beat Yawlcomearunning.

Jockey Joe Martinez collected riding honors for the day as the rider brought in three head to the winner's circle.

Again, no one cashed the Tri-

Super wager on Saturday and the carryover built up to $22,081 for Sunday's program.

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

"Add these fractions: one-eighth, three-sixteenths and three-fourths," said Ruidoso Middle School math teacher Mike Crocker.

Within thirty seconds, students were buzzing in to illuminate the green or red light in hopes of being the first to provide the correct answer.

"One and one-sixteenth," comes the answer.

"Correct."

That's just one example of the many which sixth, seventh and eighth grade students answered at the Ruidoso Middle School Math and Science Bowl. Hosted by Crocker in the math section and Jacki Brannum in science, teams tested their skills and knowledge throughout the day's competition.

Different teams formed to participate in the two separate fields; science and math.

Top seventh and eighth grade winners in science were Casey Ward, Chrissy Crocker and Wendy Vincent. In sixth grade, Cody Snow, David Sanchez, Jana Varley and Nancy Furry finished first.

First place seventh and eighth grade team in math consisted of Hemanth Pai, Cicelee Makowski, Mark Davis and Sam Gumbert.

Sixth grade winning team members were Earl Holstein, Daniel Espinosa, Anthony Montes and Richard Enriquez.

The traveling seventh and eighth grade team was picked from the top winners in Math. The team consists of Hemanth Pai, Jackie Jacobsen, John Estes, Melissa Currin, Brandi Pfafer, Rex Pinal, Tracy Jarvis and Rosalinda Baeza.

The traveling sixth grade team in math consists of Daniel Espinosa, Earls Hals, Michelle Paulger, Anthony Montes and Richard Enriquez.

The traveling seventh and eighth grade science team consists of Casey Ward, Chrissy Crocker, Will Rooney, Wendy Vincent, Janelle Cox, Jimmy Varnadore, Molly Long and Chase Beck.

The traveling sixth grade science team consists of John Echols, Nancy Furry, Doug Hawthorne, Cody Snow, Jenny Ames, Jim Paul Whipple, Richard Miller and Eric Stephens.

Ruidoso Middle School will host the Ruidoso Invitational Math and Science Bowl Tuesday, March 7. Teams from Roswell, Las Cruces, Carrizozo, Tularosa and Cloudcroft will compete in the RMS gym.

Teams will travel to Portales to participate in the Eastern New Mexico University regional math and science bowl April 8.

The Silver Lining

Farewell February Hello March

This is being sent to you on the last day of February, one of our most beloved months, and Mother Earth is rejoicing under a blue sky with light clouds floating aloft. Here in the Vale the Mountain World is celebrating the birthday of our brother, Joe, while his spirit visits me from Heaven - here on this Heavenly day.

Yesterday was the day of the Cedar pollen. All day the west wind was humming a song of approaching spring, while here and there all along the way an amber-colored cloud would burst from a red-binged Cedar bush and go flying on down the draw. By midday all the valley from hillside to hillside was dim, under a moving smoke-like curtain of flying Cedar pollen. All the air was fresh with a tang of evergreen Cedar flavor, bringing you a message that Spring is on its way.

By the time this reaches you we will be over into March, which carries us from winter into spring. Spring is early this year, arriving on the twentieth. Easter is a little early also, arriving on the twenty-sixth. The way things look now, we can look forward to especially beautiful days for the joyful and sacred celebration of Easter.

Happy Birthday To Johnny Hicks

For many years now, Johnny Hicks has been a familiar sight in Ruidoso and especially lately in the Gateway area. He is the little sun-tanned man in tennis shoes. He runs most everywhere he goes - the grocery store, post office, or visiting friends. He seems not to have changed the least bit in the last ten or fifteen years.

A few days ago I met Johnny and asked him his age, one more time. He said:

"The fourth of March I will be eighty-six." Or did he say eighty-nine? I will tell you which later on. Also we will have a little something else on Johnny. I have often asked him the secret of his remarkable youthfulness. He has always said: "The Good Lord takes care of me."

We wish Johnny Hicks many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Saint Patrick's Day

A special day for Old Ireland, and also worldwide and here in Lincoln County is Saint Patrick's Day, March seventeen.

Saint Patrick brought Christianity to The Emerald Isle, and from there to much of the world. The blessed influence of the good saint increases through the years. That is why his day is celebrated worldwide.

Let us look forward to Saint Patrick's day, a special day for all of us.

A Late Spring

A few days ago on the twentieth the temperature rose to seventy-six. The bees were out in swarms; small flowers came into bloom, and the river was singing its rushing song as it flowed along carrying quite a bit of snow-melt water.

Now today in the morning hours it was like spring itself with the temperature sixty-four. The pure blue mountain bluebird, our Mother's favorite bird - and the red, white and blue western bluebird - the bird of happiness, both were singing their little songs. And the crimson-tinted house finches were just outside the sunroom window on the branches of the small apricot tree trying to tell me something.

Now just after one o'clock, a cool northeast wind has moved in, and the temperature had dropped to fifty.

A while ago I said that spring was early this year. That is true, and yet the true spring weather is way late.

The weeping willow, first to leaf out often times brings out its leaves in mid-February; yet today it is just turning light yellow with no leaves yet.

The same with the apricot, the bellwether of the fruit buds. In some years the buds are in bloom in mid-February; though today they are still in deep winter sleep.

These are good signs of the promise of a good fruit crop this year, especially if the cool weather holds for a while.

Let us thank God for bringing us safely through February into March - and all our many other blessings.

Many thanks

Obituary

Ronda Wilsong

Services for 13-year-old Ronda Wilsong, granddaughter of Ruidoso residents Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Hughes, were conducted Wednesday at the First Baptist Church in Tulsa, Texas.

Wilsong drowned February 26, in Vail, Colorado.

The Reverend Charles Davenport of the First Baptist Church in Tulsa, Texas, officiated. Interment followed in the Rose Hill Cemetery.

Wilsong was born June 24, 1974, in Tulsa, Texas. She was an eighth grade student at Tulia Junior High School, a member of First Baptist Church in Tulsa, and was very active in sports and church activities.

She is survived by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ron Wilsong of Tulsa; maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Hughes of Ruidoso; paternal grandmother Mamie Wilsong of Tulsa; maternal great-grandmother Mrs. W.M. Block of Clovis and sister Dawn Wilsong of Tulsa.

EDITORIAL

In the nearly 15 years that I've been Publisher of The Ruidoso News one of the most frequent comments I've heard at any gathering is, "Why can't we get quality people to run for public office?"

Below, read why.

There are four major sources of income for folks in Ruidoso: there are people in business, people who work for some division of government, retired folks and trust-funders. The trust-funders' incomes aren't affected by local politics. The retired folks have largely put in their time and just want to be left alone. The publicly employed usually aren't about to risk their jobs by becoming involved in politics. So, politics is generally left up to business people, political gadflies and the incompetent.

Now, as a newspaperman, I love controversy and letters to the editor. It's the American way, and it sure sells newspapers. I love giving people with even the oddest opinions the opportunity to express them. We've certainly had lots of opinions expressed about the use of the old airport land.

But, when business people express an opinion or bite the public service bullet and then some of you folks threaten them with shopping or banking or insuring or repairing elsewhere, you are wrong. Any business person in Ruidoso should be praised for sacrificing his or her time, energy and talent to public service. When they suffer the additional loss of some of their business because of unpopular stands on important public issues, then we are left with the gadflies and the incompetents.—jkg

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I am very pleased to read so many well-written and informative letters in The News. That is an excellent way to express your views and comments on all types of subjects and the controversy such as is in progress now. Some of us are not public debaters, some can express themselves better on the telephone and yet others cannot. Some can be heard loud and clear at the ballot boxes and others cast their vote the way our Two-Bit politicians convince them to, be it by strategy, promises or even resort to blackmail.

Before you continue to read on, start at the beginning and reread it very slowly. You missed a lot the first time, didn't you? So many things have a different meaning to us when we back off and look at them the second or third time.

We live in a time of "fun and games". By that I mean we want to be entertained, whether by TV, fishing, ball games or you name it. Preferably if someone else foots the bill. Amazing how often this backfires on us because we did not heed the words of wisdom or re-read the words on the ballot or proposal.

When I thumb through a magazine or the like I hold it in my right hand and flutter the pages with my left and start from the back and proceed to the front. This trait probably is a mental habit practiced in my many years of my many professions. These mentioned endeavors starting at $1.00 a day in wages and even less at more times than I care to remember. If you young ones are wondering how long a day was then, ask someone at the Senior Citizens Center, I just bet you can get the answer. Just be sure you remember that the word of experience told you. In my many years of labor I had to visualize the results and then think in reverse, if you will, and plan my moves from the end to the beginning.

Like fluttering the magazine and reading hind parts before.

Now read the first sentence of this letter again and then sit back and close your eyes and visualize what you hear, see, read and also observe, all around you.

Well-laid plans make for a happy ending to a project rather than financial tragedy for us and our followers.

DEAR EDITOR:

I attended the Municipal Airport Planning Board (MAPB) public hearing on February 15. If previous meetings really did indicate (as a Ruidoso News headline stated) that "Ruidoso citizens want a golf course" on the old airport property, this public hearing indicated just the opposite. While the February 16, Ruidoso News article describing the hearing did not clearly say so, nearly two-thirds of those who were allowed to speak before the hearing was adjourned were opposed to the golf course proposal which is now under consideration.

It was obvious, during this hearing, that proponents of this proposal either did not listen to what the opponents were saying or they deliberately tried to distort the statements of those who objected to this proposal. Most of those in favor of this golf course proposal objected to turning this parcel into a very expensive park, as if that is what the opponents had proposed.

Those opposed to the development of nearly the entire parcel as a golf course definitely are not in favor of its development as a multimillion-dollar city park. (After all, isn't that what the golf course proponents are really advocating—a multimillion-dollar limited use park? At least an ordinary park would provide more opportunity for use by everyone—not just special interest groups).

Those opposed to this golf course proposal are calling for its rejection because it does not come close to the criteria recommended by the Municipal Airport Master Plan, which was developed at great expense to the citizens of the area. This Master Plan was developed with citizen input and addresses the needs and desires of the citizens. The purpose of the Master Plan is to ensure the best development of the property. According to the Master Plan, "The best use for the property would be a multifunction development containing a variety of complementary land uses including an educational/cultural complex of mixed uses, including non-profit and for-profit land uses."

According to the Airport Master Plan, a prime responsibility of the Planning Board is to develop a detailed implementation strategy, with development phased in a manner that responds to market opportunities and community resources. Initial projects should seek to provide required infrastructure and develop a high-visibility use that serves to attract other uses to the site. Instead of accepting the first pie-in-the-sky proposal which comes along, shouldn't this implementation strategy include actively soliciting proposals by advertising the availability of the property for development and the requirements for that development?

Some proponents of the present proposal have urged that it should be accepted because, "It's the best one we have." Could this be because it's the only one, so far? Perhaps the reason they make it seem so urgent that it be accepted quickly is that they know better proposals will be submitted, as soon as other developers find out that there is (as Ron Andrews says) "free dirt" available.

Proponents of the golf course proposal have urged that it will not cost us anything. When is the last time anyone got something for nothing? As they say, "If it seems too good to be true, it probably is." Those who say this project won't cost the Village anything are referring only to construction costs. Proponents have made it clear that the golf course is only part of the scheme they envision to save the Village. There are large costs attached to the rest of their scheme, the first being the $350,000 per year subsidy to get an airline to schedule regular flights to our new airport. That's almost $1,000 a day, folks. (One speaker at the hearing emphasized that we need airline service to attract more tourists to the area. Well, we can get the airline service if we pay for it. We don't need to build the airline a golf course.)

What about some of the other costs to the Village and its citizens, such as the value of the vast amount of water needed to keep the course green, and which the Village administration seems willing to give to the developer? What about the proposed lease which provides free rent for fifteen years? What about the cost of the health and environmental effects related to the application of tons of chemical pesticides and fertilizers every year?

The Master Plan calls for part of the property to be used for an educational/cultural complex. Without offering any facts to support their argument, proponents of the golf course plan say that a golf course is required to stimulate growth, and they reject the idea of an educational facility as a feasible alternative. An example of growth due, not to a golf course, but to an educational facility, is the City of Las Cruces. The economy of that city is driven largely by the needs of New Mexico State University students, faculty and staff. At least one department of NMSU has expressed an interest in locating a satellite program in Ruidoso. If they were offered even some of the concessions being considered in this golf course proposal, a state-supported institution could help develop the property in accordance with the Airport Property Master Plan, as well as stimulating the local economy in beneficial ways.

The citizens have already told the Village how they want the municipal airport property developed. The Village Council agreed when they adopted the Municipal Airport Master Plan. Now, the citizens must insist that the MAPB ensure that development of the property follows the plan, with only those concessions necessary to achieve the overall development objective, that is, a multi-function, multi-use, educational, cultural, and commercial complex.

Sincerely,
James W. Edwards

DEAR EDITOR:

Now that the dust has cleared, I would like to take the opportunity to publicly thank all those individuals involved in making the Connoisseur Classic a grand success! The local cooperation and enthusiasm displayed, truly made this special event a joy to work on. I would especially like to mention Blue Goose Catering, Cree Meadows Restaurant, La Lorraine, Lindavida Fine Art, and The Incredible for the first-class job that they did. It was the long hours and generous assistance of these fine establishments, the Connoisseur Classic committee, the local merchants and media that made the weekend what it was. The Chamber of Commerce is looking forward to next year, and I know Ruidoso is as well!

Sincerely,

DEAR EDITOR:

I would like to respond to several letters in the past weeks and base my opinion on fact.

1) Yes, hazardous chemicals are used on golf courses. They are only harmful when used improperly.

2) Generally, the only difference between commercial and homeowner grade chemicals is the concentration.

3) Excuse me, but the wildlife in our golf course lake is just fine and 85% of the course leeches into it.

4) The National Golf Foundation forecasts the need for 375 new courses per year for the next ten years. Why not one or two more here?

5) More "parks" or swingsets should be built, but there is a lot of room to do it.

Last, but not least, to the gentleman from Alaska, obviously in your letter you didn't want to mention your antagonistic and sarcastic attitude as a factor in the argument that developed. As a matter of fact, when you approached me with your argument I also told you to leave the Club. Bravo Mr. Davis for standing up to this troublemaker and his lady friend. I don't care if I can't write all the great language that was used. It was appropriate for the situation.

Sincerely,

Quick, Somebody, Tell Me... Who's the second-most-conservative Democrat in New Mexico not in the Legislature?

George Fetting, maybe? John Mershon lives in Arizona most of the time now.

Aubrey? Naah, he's not even close. Maybe C.B. Trujillo...

We'd better decide, because my sources tell me that the UNM Regent nomination of the most-conservative-Democrat-not-in-the-Legislature, C. Gene Samberson, is in real trouble.

The consensus is that Governor Garrey Carruthers, forced by state law into putting a Democrat into the regent vacancy, nominated the most conservative Democrat he could find.

The nomination is being opposed in formal resolutions from the UNM Faculty Senate, Graduate Students' Association and the Associated Students of UNM (the undergrads). They're not too thrilled with the way the former Speaker treated his alma mater when he was in the Legislature.

Senate Rules Committee Chairman Tom Rutherford, D-Bernalillo, has finally set a hearing for the nomination on March 7. But it's not just the students and faculty of the University of New Mexico massing against Samberson's confirmation.

Samberson may be in trouble for a more basic, partisan reason: the Democrats are getting angrier and angrier at Carruthers' stands on the budget bills.

First he said he'd consider some specialized tax increases, then he said he wouldn't. First he said he'd listen, now he won't.

The Demos say the GOP governor claims he wants to horse-trade, but it turns out his notion of negotiation is, "You guys do it my way, and we'll have a deal."

They'd like to say...well, anyway, what they may say instead is NO to Samberson's nomination.

And the governor can't appoint him a deputy regent.

If No One's Sponsoring The Pep Club...

...Or the Chess Club, or directing the junior class play, or working the junior-senior concession stands hooking up those dadblamed Coke cylinders, or helping plan the prom...call Hal Stratton, 827-6000, or state Senator Victor Marshall, 765-5900, or State School Superintendent Alan Morgan, 827-6635. Maybe they'll give the kids a hand.

They're the ones who think the teachers ought to do "additional work" to get an extra $300 for the last four months of this fiscal year.

They say it's not a moral issue; it's legal. The teachers signed contracts for the pay they're getting now, and the state can't legally pay them any more unless they do more work.

Fine. Here's the concept, folks. All you teachers—work to contract. Only. Starting right now.

Opinion

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I've thought about this letter long and hard, but I still don't know where to start. First I do own land here plus I have a shop in Midtown. I'm also a licensed nurse.

We have lived here around one year, plus we have a five-year-old little boy that goes to Ruidoso Christian School.

It concerns me about the herbicide going to be used on the new golf course if we get it. It might not affect the children now, but what about their children—have you ever seen a child born defective? Well, let me tell you, I have and it's heartbreaking!

I think a lot of people have got the cart before the horse. You people better wake up!

While fixing breakfast this morning (February 17) I was appalled at what I heard on the radio, did I hear them say that the golf course and hotel passed!

I think the whole town needs to vote on this, not just an elected few! You're going to step on a lot of toes.

Cree Meadows has a nice course, but I've driven past it a lot of times on sunny days when there wasn't a soul playing. What about the course at Carrizozo? Do people waste their money on foolish things? Here are some fine examples.

Fantasy Mountain across from the race track, now this shows a bad place of wasted money and it hurt a lot of pockets. Is this what you want to see at the old airport? Take for an example a resort hotel, have you ever thought about in some places they have their own beauty shops, gift shops, everything they need is all under one roof.

DEAR EDITOR:

Speaking at the public hearing February 15, was a little flustering for me, having little experience in public speaking. In reflection I feel I left out a lot of what I wanted to say. So, here I go.

Now, as I mentioned at the hearing, my husband, two going-on-three children and I are newcomers to this village. (We were here in time for the white waters of the G.C.D.) But that does not make us any less concerned, committed, or aware of the problems facing this village. We know well the economic crunch this village is experiencing, in order to live here, my husband gave up his secure Albuquerque job and the 1986 4x4 pickup that went with it. He is now working for another company; his hours are not guaranteed, and he now has to travel statewide. All this and we are back to being a one-vehicle family—and it's not a 4-wheel drive either. That is a lot of sacrificing. The peace of mind we have gained is well worth the temporary trade-off, however. Every morning I give thanks for the smell of these surrounding pines, for the many little mountain streams, for these four seasons, for the beauty I have surrounded myself (ourselves) with. This is where we are going to raise our children, plant our roots, and flourish.

When I see plans like the one for the Hubbard-Colbert golf course and then hear the opinions in favor of this proposal, I wish I could sentence those people to a couple of years in Albuquerque, or better, reef-dead Miami. Didn't the failure of Grindstone Canyon Dam trigger anybody's environmental button? Have you all been living here so long that you really take these forests and these mountain streams for granted?

I am completely in favor of economic development in this town. I can also see that economic diversity

They would have golf at their front doors, maybe a tennis court and etc. Why would they want to come to town, unless for liquor! One more thing, the hotel would probably have a restaurant—one that would be superior!

This summer we had maybe two women golfers in our store—this was a big crowd. If you can promise me our store will have more business from this hotel, show me some facts and figures to coincide with this!

We came from small towns. I remember my mother telling me, do you know we could have had Texas Tech here but, no, the town council disapproved. So today the town of 1,700 is slowly dying, also the town where my husband grew up had a chance at Tech, but, no, they passed it by also; so you see either one of our towns could have been a thriving city!

Mote said take a drive down Main, this is good, but while you're driving, look at the empty houses we have. It doesn't take a fool not to notice this—a person doesn't need metal signs. Let's look at businesses that are gone.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Included in the letter was a list of 25 businesses that the letter writer said have closed or are for sale.)

Can you imagine all these and maybe many more. I think Minnie Main Street needed to pull her files on the surveys that were done from the businesses and let the story be told of how bad the season was for a majority of us. I heard by way of mouth that one of the top businesses was down from last is a must. And I firmly believe that the environment in the long run does not have to suffer undue consequences to pay for that economic development. When are we going to quit letting history repeat itself? Developing a golf course on land with a high water table, and the location of being right next to our elementary school is complete environmental negligence. For those of you who believe the chemicals that will be used to keep this golf course green and weed-free are truly non-toxic, your thirst for the green-back is mightier than your hunger for life. Rather self defeating don't you think?

Aside from the environmental impact which alone should have tabled this proposition, there is the diversity of the economic impact. Now, there are other kosher, locally suited areas to develop a championship golf course. There are not other publicly-owned areas where this city could develop a centrally located, unifying village liberal arts center. This would be an immense asset to the art and craft galleries and museums that abound here. Not only does this village consist of a large population of artists, we attract artists. We have 3? 4? art-type shows a year that presently are held outside and are dependent on the weather. Too, are the citizens aware that the NMSU music department has repeatedly mentioned initiating a grad-student retreat here in Ruidoso? An amphitheatre would complement the events center and the retreat AND diversify the economy even MORE! Have you all heard of Telluride, Colorado? Well, they don't have to be the only community to cash in on staging music in the escape of the mountains. Not only that, but mountains have remarkable acoustics. I'm not talking about blowing away the nearby residents with music. Santa Fe's Palo Selc's amphitheatre is located right in the middle of their Indian college and nearby residences. Last I heard, the Indian college was not complaining about all the revenue their amphitheatre brought in.

No, I am not against this pretty, green golf course. Has anybody shown Mr. Hubbard or Mr. Colbert a copy of the Moon Mountain golf course plans drawn up by the State Land Commissioner? It is a beautiful location for a unique golf course. (There are no schools nearby and there is twice the acreage to develop; the water table is not as high either.) If Mr. Hubbard sincerely wants to promote Ruidoso, he will not want to cut off the remaining tract of land Ruidoso has left to create a centrally located village theme or meeting place; to create new and diverse economic attractions.

The ideas I mentioned are but a few. We could still use a Y.W.C.A., a community greenhouse, or numerous things I have not thought of. I believe these have as much a chance of economic prosperity as another golf course, are more environmentally sound, and will diversify the economic foundation of Ruidoso. However, the ideas I mentioned at first are already neatly laid out in five or six different ways in blueprints found in the Master Plan designed for the old airport land which interestingly enough, this city paid some $25,000 to have drawn up. Included in this book are all the different financial ways and means of obtaining these plans as well. I wonder... has the MAPB ever LOOKED at this Master Plan? Has the City Council?

I repeat, let's not be the 18-year-old who accepts the first proposal she gets. Let's go for the long term economic/environmental marriage.

Respectfully yours,
Marion Warfield

Mr. Petty has what he said on paper and it was on the radio, too; it sure sounded like a threat because he said he was going to collect. If memory serves me right a lady at the meeting stated the golf course was seventh on the list. I sure would like to see what the others were!

I think people are just grasping at straws now. You better think twice about this project! Do we want to lose another 300. This hotel isn't going to create a lot of jobs, not ones with a future.

You talk about a park in Grindstone, that empty house on the land—I know why it's there!

People, you better read between the lines if that dam breaks and there is a park there; oh my Lord, I would hate to have my family on the premises. I don't live far from the location, but I'm glad I live on a hill. I might get to see some boats go by, much less a few houses! God only knows how many lives would be lost. Remember the OLD CRACK!

We don't want to be another Estes Park like in Colorado a few years ago, there were several lives lost, this is not counting the destruction to the homes and businesses there. I don't imagine the people there will ever forget this, much less the people that were there on vacations.

Well, this is off my chest now; so the task is on us!

Sincerely yours,
Barbara Marek
Ruidoso

DEAR EDITOR:

Can't you already hear a telephone conversation similar to this taking place sometime in the future? "Hello, Tucker Travel Tours. May I help you?" "This is Ralph. Is Howard there?" "Speaking."

"Hey turkey, what kind of game are you guys playing? That golfing trip to Ruidoso was a real bummer and I want a refund!"

"What was the problem?"

"There wasn't one problem, there was a bunch of them! First, the damned airport is 15 miles out in the boonies and there is no limo, bus or taxi service in the whole stupid town! I had to rent a car for 45 dollars a day to keep it parked at the hotel, just so we could get around, if we wanted to. Turned out that you can see everything there is to see and do everything there is to do in that town in an hour and a half at the outside anyway. But you have to keep the car rented, not only to get to and from the airport, but if you want to leave the hotel. The hotel itself is OK, but you ought to see where they put it! Out in a mostly residential neighborhood, a mile from their little-bitty business district. Even if you were energetic and wanted to walk, they don't even have sidewalks anywhere in town!"

"I didn't realize they didn't have public transportation in a tourist town."

"Well, they don't, and that's not all they don't have! They don't have a shopping mall to kill time in during the daily monsoon season. They don't have a nice quiet piano bar or cocktail lounge. They don't have a disco or any nighttime entertainment except two movie theaters. Thank God, I didn't take the kids because there's absolutely nothing for them to do except drag Main in a rented car. The best choice you have is between which bar with cowboy music you go to, or to sit in the room and watch TV! I can watch TV at home a lot cheaper!"

"I didn't know there was such a lack of things to do there. How was the golfing?"

"The course was right in the middle of town and laid out nice. I'm surprised that it wasn't more crowded. I guess not many of the locals play golf."

"How was the hotel?"

"Except for its silly location, it was a typical full-service hotel. My room had a good view of some back yards, the local cemetery and ten thousand trailer houses. Everybody there lives in a mobile that is for sale. Also, the only town I ever saw that required a permanently mounted 'For Sale' sign on every property. Kind of reminded me of the temporary towns that sprang up helter-skelter around military camps during WWII - no plan of any kind and obviously, no restrictions either."

"Ralph, I'm sorry that I wasn't more knowledgeable about Ruidoso's shortcomings. What can I do to keep your business?"

"Next time, send me somewhere else and don't send anyone else there until they have more to offer. Even a dedicated golfer doesn't spend all his time on the course or in a bar. Ruidoso's a great one- or two- day golf trip, but more than that is too much and the trip is too expensive for only one or two days. Denver in the summer and Phoenix in the winter have all the amenities, better golfing, better weather and a lot more to do, especially for the family. Mazatlan is cheaper to get to and they have a beach."

"Sorry Ralph, I just thought that a new golf course and hotel was all a golfer needed. I never stopped to consider what a golfer and maybe his family does during bad weather or at night. I'll make sure not to send families with kids, wives that want to shop or golfers who want to do anything but play the 19th hole between rounds or at night. As a matter of fact, since they will have to have a car to get-around anyway,

DEAR EDITOR:

My family and I have lived in Ruidoso for the past 16 years and my father is a respected business owner in this town. My parents DO own land in Ruidoso, Alto, Angus, Nogal and in T or C. (The latter probably being the better investment.)

I do agree that the economy in Ruidoso is not as well as it has been in recent years and there is bound to be something that we the community can do about it.

My mother and I attended the public hearing on February 15, at the mid-school gym. I must say that we were shocked at some of the narrow-minded people in this community. We were also shocked at the attention that the MAPB gave to the citizens that opposed the proposal of the golf course and hotel issue. You could obviously tell by the enthusiasm that was NOT shown on their faces that they didn't really care what the community had to say. An issue was brought up that we were all just wasting our time because the council had probably made up their mind. Frank Kolb assured us that no such thing was true. This is crap!! With no more enthusiasm than was shown by the MAPB it was obvious that this is not true. The only response the whole evening was one lady smiling and another yawning. Now, is this fair to the community?

I agree with Jim Alston. Why do we have to jump at the first proposal that comes along? Why not let other prospective land buyers know that the land is there and accept other bids on it. How do we know that another millionaire isn't going to come along and offer a better deal FOR the community? We don't because the council won't give others a chance. The economy is bad yes, and it isn't going to change overnight. It will change some this summer and there is still enough time to advertise, get more bids and choose.

It was said that over 300 families that have lived in Ruidoso have had to move. Now what if this so-called golf course fails? How many more families will be forced to leave? What does the council want? To live in Ruidoso all by themselves. They seem to think that they can run this village, how would they like to do it alone? No, this isn't realistic, but neither are they.

There are approximately 8,000 residents in Ruidoso. You can't tell me that all of these people agree with this proposal. Why doesn't the community as a whole get to vote on this issue? Why will we have to live with something that we didn't even have a fair shot at voting on? I feel that if the community did have a chance to vote on even half of these issues we wouldn't be stuck in this position that we are in now.

My last concern is if this proposal does go through, who is going to contract, plumb and do the electrical work? Are the area contractors going to be able to bid on it? Or is someone from out of town or even state going to get the first and only shot at it? This, too, can and probably will run other area contractors out of town. How fair would that be to the people that fix our broken water lines, repair the roofs over our heads, fix the shorts in our electrical systems. It isn't fair and I think that these kinds of things should be thought about as well as looked into. There are too many good people in this town and it would be a shame for them to suffer from the mistakes that our lovely council has made. I would like an answer on this!!

I can honestly say that I got this off my chest! Now if the community that opposes this proposal would get it off their chests as well maybe we will feel better. And if this proposal does go through let's just all hope that it is for our benefit and that it isn't a big mistake!

Thank you
Kimber Van Winkle

DEAR EDITOR:

We as a community must make use of this uniqueness and not tear it up for some pie-in-the-sky, bogus, dollar-induced tunnel vision. It might take some thought and work (Oh my God) on the part of our chamber and local government to implement a continuing and diverse use of this unique plat. Allow me to interject a few lines with minimal environmental and maximum positive social and monetary impact:

-bicycle and skateboard area with money and trophy races.

-amateur and pro go-cart races with attractive purses.

-tractor and truck pulls and monster truck shows. (Don't laugh till you see the packed crowds on ESPN.)

-SCCA sanctioned autocross, gymkhana or pro rally pit and staging area (National TV coverage).

-RV Convention and Boat trade show. Ideal flat parking and show area. Cool week-long adventure for those trapped in the desert all around us and a continuing growing market.

This large, flat asphalt area is unique to any mountain community and would require great expense to duplicate and might well be impossible to acquire such a location.

A library card for every child

Ruidoso Public Library children's librarian Ingrid Schmitz invites all Lincoln County school children to apply for library cards as part of a statewide effort by the New Mexico Library Division.

Schmitz is visiting county schools with a presentation that includes songs, stories and games with the theme "A Library Card Puts the World In Our Hands."

Chase is on duty in Okinawa

New Mexico resident ARMY SPECIALIST JEFFREY D. CHASE, son of Dean L. and Helen J. Chase of Glencoe and son-in-law of Rita Sullivan of Tularosa, is standing guard at Naha Port to ensure the sea lanes of the Okinawa islands stay open for free world trade, according to a news release provided by the U.S. Army.

A tactical wireman, Chase is assigned to the 111th Transportation Detachment.

"I maintain, order and distribute all the parts and equipment needed in the maintenance shop. This means I order automotive parts for the motorpool, and electrical circuit boards, relays and solenoids, as well as air conditioning parts for our repairmen," said Chase.

"When you add my office duties to that of just being a soldier, it all adds up to a pretty busy day."

"I'm attached to a very small unit, and I like that. Everyone knows me and I know them. We really help each other out with anything that is needed."

Situated with the Pacific Ocean to the east, and the East China Sea on the western coast, the 65-mile-long island has a history and culture that dates back before written records. Many historians agree that China, Japan and the Philippines all played a major part in the development of the Okinawan culture.

Although the island has transformed over the years from a backward farming nation to a modern industrial and business frontier, the people still carry on the same traditions and customs of their ancient forebears.

"The waters off Okinawa are rated in the top 10 diving spots in the world. The water is so clear and clean, that I try to dive at least twice a week. It is a real thrill to go down 60 feet and mess around with the fish and other sea life," said Chase.

"This location makes travel to the rest of the Far East very easy. My wife, Renee, and I have the chance to see places other people never may see, and we hope to take advantage of it. We are planning on trips to Korea and mainland Japan now."

"Depending on the yen rate, Okinawa can be very expensive. Currently if I were to try to buy a bottle of American whiskey downtown, it would cost about $60."

"Okinawa is such a long way from the United States that it is difficult to get home, and we miss our families and friends."

"Most Okinawans are real friendly, though it is almost impossible to communicate with them. They seem to be pretty much cheerful and carefree," said Chase.

KAREN BOONE & JOHN STEARNS

Engagement announced, May wedding is planned

Nogal residents Bob and Sue Stearns announce the engagement of their son, John Robert Stearns, to Karen Grace Boone of Las Cruces.

She is the daughter of Ben and MaryAnne Boone of Las Cruces. The couple plans to be wed May 20.

Boone is a graduate of Ruidoso High School. She has a bachelors degree in psychology and a master's degree in student personnel from New Mexico State University. She currently is employed by NMSU.

Stearns is a graduate of Carrizozo High School. He has a bachelor's degree in business agriculture from NMSU. He currently is employed by Sha-Ray Construction.

Lowe is promoted, leads fight to combat AIDS

Dr. Thomas Lowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Lowe of Ruidoso, New Mexico, has received an exceptional capability promotion from the United States Public Health Service (PHS) to the Navy rank of Captain.

In the notification of promotion sent to Dr. Lowe by the Surgeon General of the PHS, Dr. C. Everett Koop, it was noted that being promoted several years early for exceptional capability is a rare and "most prestigious accomplishment."

Dr. Lowe is currently assigned to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA). He serves as the AIDS Coordinator for the Center for Devices and Radiological Health, the part of the FDA that regulates medical devices. As AIDS Coordinator, his efforts are focused primarily on medical devices which serve as barriers to the transmission of the AIDS virus.

Dr. Lowe serves as a consultant to Surgeon General Koop on efforts to reduce the sexual transmission of AIDS. He also serves as the liaison and coordinator of activities involving AIDS and medical devices between FDA, the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) in Atlanta, Georgia and the National Institutes of Health (NIH) in Bethesda, Maryland. As such, he co-authored the updated universal barrier precautions to prevent AIDS transmission used in every hospital and clinic in the United States. At present, Dr. Lowe is spearheading an effort by the FDA which will establish a program to sample and test surgical and examination gloves used in health care settings in the United States.

In the recommendation for Dr. Lowe's promotion, Dr. Frank Young, Commissioner of the FDA, stated that Dr. Lowe's work to assure the quality of medical gloves and in developing the universal barrier precautions will have a positive effect on the health of potentially every person in the country.

Dr. Lowe, who graduated from public school in Snyder, Texas, has received degrees from the North Texas State University, the University of Texas, and the University of Minnesota. Prior to being assigned to the FDA, he served for six years with the Indian Health Service on the Navajo Reservation, on the Mille Lacs Reservation in Minnesota for one year and with Centro Campesino de Salud in Espanola, New Mexico for two years. Also, Dr. Lowe worked in the west African country of The Gambia. Dr. Lowe also received a previous exceptional capability promotion to the rank of Commander. Additionally, he received a Special Recognition Award from the Assistant Secretary for Health for coordinating research by the FDA and the Centers for Disease Control on dialysis, an Outstanding Service Medal for his AIDS and other infectious disease work with the CDC, a second outstanding Service Medal for his achievements as Chief Medical Officer for the Navajo Reservation, as well as a PHS Citation, two Special Assignment Awards, an Outstanding Unit Citation, and a Unit Commendation.

As a part of his work in preventing the spread of AIDS and a result of the work he has done, Dr. Lowe has worked with the representatives of other nations' AIDS and sexually transmitted diseases programs, given numerous AIDS lectures, published articles on condoms and other AIDS prevention methods, and has been interviewed on national news programs and in such publications as The Wall Street Journal and The Los Angeles Times. Dr. Lowe notes, "Stopping the spread of AIDS is everyone's business. Ignorance is the AIDS virus' best friend. Every citizen and every community must work to assure that all the members of the community know how to reduce their risk of becoming infected by the AIDS virus."

Teachers give $100 scholarship

During their regular February meeting, members of the Eta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa (ADK) International Sorority for Women Educators, voted to contribute $100 to the Ruidoso Gymnastics Handicapped Gymnast Program and $100 to the fund to help send Delaine Fredekind to the International Special Olympics.

The Handicapped Gymnast program, under the direction of Robyn Johnson and Moe Masters, provides special gymnastics classes for handicapped children.

Fredekind, a student in Capitan schools, recently qualified as an Alpine Skier and will attend the International meet at Lake Tahoe, Nevada, later this month.

In other business, club president Dottie MacVeigh of Capitan, reported the regional conferences for ADK members will be in Albuquerque April 15 and in Portales April 29. Nellie Ruth Jones of Glencoe and state president of New Mexico ADK, will preside at both meetings.

Mary Shanks and Jacqui Childress of Capitan and Cathy Overdorf of Ruidoso were hostesses at the February meeting. A slide program of the ADK International Headquarters in Kansas City was followed by a luncheon for the 14 members present.
