Couple killed in crash

An El Paso, Texas, trucker and his wife were killed early Wednesday in a one-vehicle accident on U.S. Highway 70 three miles this side of Riverside.

State Police officer Steve Standridge said Ruben Martinez, 58, the driver of a 1984 Kenworth tractor trailer rig, and his wife, Mercedes Martinez, 44, were pronounced dead at the scene of the one-vehicle accident that was recorded at 1:30 a.m.

Standridge said Martinez was headed for Roswell, going extremely fast, and failed to negotiate a sharp curve in the road. He said the vehicle jumped over the guardrail and traveled down the mountainside overturning one and a half times, ejecting Mrs. Martinez.

After the rig came to rest at the bottom of the canyon, it collided with a large tree, crushing Mr. Martinez in the cab, said Standridge.

Officer Standridge said the Wednesday crash was the fourth tractor trailer accident he's investigated on that same sharp curve. He said the other three involved injuries, but Wednesday's was the only fatal accident he's investigated at that spot.

"That's because he was going so darned fast," said Standridge.

Gambling bill awaits the governor

Senate Bill 572, the legislative action that would allow video gambling for three years in Ruidoso, Angel Fire and Taos, is on Governor Garrey Carruthers' desk.

The bill has until midnight Friday, April 7, to be signed or vetoed. If the bill is not signed by Friday midnight, it fails.

Eddie Bender, press aide in the Governor's Office, said the video gaming bill has returned from "enrolling and engrossing" to find its way, along with 60 other bills, to the governor's desk.

Bender said all bills are sent through enrolling and engrossing to have the language cleaned up and reviewed before the governor takes action to make the measure state law or to kill it until the next legislative session. That department ensures that all proper amendments are attached in the final document.

While Carruthers doesn't comment on legislation until he sees it, he has opposed other gambling bills, and has made some general statements on the issue of gambling in New Mexico.

Bender said the governor's major concern of the current bill is the unlimited gambling use as it relates to Indian reservations. He said the bill falls under the gambling laws as a Class 3 act.

"Any Indian reservation in a state that has a Class 3 act can open up a full-scale gambling operation," Bender said. "They can have blackjack, casinos all over the place. They can do whatever."

Bender said rather than opening gambling for three towns, there would be 24 gambling operations in the state.

Bender said there were no amendments that could be added nor rules to govern a sovereign nation that is inside of a state.

Bender said the bill will now go through a legislative study by a team in the Governor's Office to make sure the wording is correct.

"When he (the governor) signs something it becomes law, whether it is a bad bill or a good bill," said Benders. "The state Supreme Court has said that they will not look behind what was the intent of the bill, but rather whatever form it takes."

Bender was asked if the governor would make a decision by Friday midnight, or if he would allow the bill to fail by pocket veto by not taking any action.

"I have no idea what the governor's decision will be on that," Bender said.

Several thousand Ruidoso citizens have indicated, through signing petitions, visiting the capitol and making telephone calls, that they favor the gambling measure.

Legislature approves $760,000 for various Lincoln County projects

by DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The New Mexico State Legislature appropriated more than $760,000 for various Lincoln County projects.

Ruidoso and Camp Sierra Blanca might receive the lion's share of the funds if the Capital Outlay Bill is signed by the governor.

According to state representative Dick Knowles, House Bill 2 was signed by Governor Garrey Carruthers and will fund various Lincoln County projects. The capital outlay bill still awaits a signature, but currently is in the works, Knowles said.

County manager Nick Pappas provided information on the appropriations, not including road projects.

Included in the capital outlay bill is an appropriation of $275,000 for the design, plan, construction and acquisition of necessary land for a civic/events center in Ruidoso. The funding is contingent upon the village completing, by January 31, 1991, the statutory and contractual requirements necessary to lease portions of its old airport for construction of a golf course or any other beneficial project as determined by the appropriate governing body.

Also in capital outlay, state legislators appropriated $260,000 to improve the water distribution system and storage capacity at Camp Sierra Blanca and to construct an access road to the camp.

Building 13 at Fort Stanton will be renovated to historic accuracy with the $100,000 appropriated for that project, if the capital outlay bill is signed.

Carrizozo's Senior Citizens Center will receive $15,000 from capital outlay for improvements.

Funding covered in House Bill 2, which was signed by the governor, includes $10,000 for improvements at the Fort Stanton cemetery.

Several buildings in Lincoln State Monument also will be improved with the $100,000 appropriated for repairs and renovation with HB 2 funds.

BLM plans worry Fort Stanton staff

by DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Fort Stanton Training School and Hospital (FSTSH) staff voiced concerns Tuesday about proposed recreational development of public lands.

In a "scoping session" with state Bureau of Land Management (BLM) director Larry Woodard and regional BLM staff from Roswell, a large group of hospital staff, parents and other interested persons identified concerns about plans for the 23,000 acres of BLM surrounding the hospital for retarded persons.

"Our goal is not to impact the local economy," Woodard said in response to an audience comment that increased recreational development will lead to the hospital closure and the loss of jobs and income to the area.

"We're talking compromise," said FSTSH administrator Ervin Aldaz about the need to consider clients' rights of privacy when developing the public lands. "A good plan done right can be accomplished...we want a voice before it happens," Aldaz said.

BLM recognizes and appreciates the rights of clients and the need to work within constraints, said district manager Fran Cherry.

However, increased demands for recreational uses in the Roswell district, which includes Fort Stanton lands, are "almost out of control," he added.

Increased pressure on public lands nationwide prompted BLM to create a strategic plan for all lands under its stewardship.

"Fort Stanton can expect some more people riding their horses and enjoying the area," said Cherry.

In addition to the existing campground areas, plans for the Fort Stanton lands include a parking area for horse riders that is scheduled to open May 5, designation of roads for trails, a proposed camp-

County adopts budget calendar

by DORIS CHERRY
Ruidoso News Staff Writer
Meeting Tuesday with county officials and representatives, the Lincoln County Commissioners approved a budget planning calendar for the new fiscal year.

Officials reviewed the calendar which sets deadlines for departmental budget requests and reviews at the special meeting.

Before the meeting, county manager Nick Pappas discussed the budget process with department personnel. He said most departments will not notice significant changes and will not require extra planning time. However, some departments such as the sheriff's, will expend additional time.

The calendar lists in-house workshops and public meetings to discuss the proposed budget, with the first public work session set for Wednesday, May 3. Department heads will have the opportunity for input and revisions at that meeting.

The calendar calls for the commission to approve a preliminary budget on May 22, with the final budget hearing scheduled for July 10, after the preliminary budget which has been reviewed by the Department of Finance and Administration in Santa Fe.

The budget is scheduled to be published on July 27.

Pappas said departmental deadlines are flexible, but establish a workable timetable for the budget requests.

Commissioners also discussed employing a legal adviser for the three months between the April 15 expiration of the current legal contract and July 1 beginning of the new fiscal year. The contract with county attorney Gary Mitchell expires April 15, and the commission hasn't acted on the responses to requests for proposals to provide legal services received last month.

Pappas suggested the commissioners hire an in-house attorney to perform several functions. Commissioner Karon Petty said normal legal fees of about $2,000 a month, do not warrant payment of a full-time in-house attorney, noting there is no space for another office in the courthouse.

In other business Tuesday, commissioners:

—Discussed a strategic plan to prioritize county projects and create continuity in county government.

—Discussed the increase in property taxes due to state legislation.

—Credited county manager's office employee Mignon Simms for discovering overpayments to AT&T, resulting in a $3,300 refund for the county; and identifying an employee receiving a salary for a job for which she was unqualified. Commissioners said the employee agreed to make restitution for the overpayment.

P&Z approves driving range plans

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Editor

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission, during a regular meeting Monday, approved development plans for a driving range across the street from Cree Meadows Country Club.

Mark A. Saxton got the go-ahead Monday to install a driving range on the Country Club Tract between Country Club Drive and Paradise Canyon.

Saxton said he has negotiated a two-year lease on the undeveloped 12.85-acre tract directly east of Cree Meadows.

"I am proposing to manicure the lot with mowing and partial watering," said Saxton in his written statement to the commission.

"Parallel to number 10 tee box will be a graded, level tee box to hit to the north. On the southern side of the property will be a chipping green with a hitting area of 15-55 yards," he continued.

"The proposed landing area of the driving range will average 80 and 120 yards wide with a length of 300+ yards. This will offer a landing area 25-40 percent larger than number 10 fairway.

"In order to comply with the landowner's request, a small portable building will be installed on the property so as to disturb the land as little as possible," he concluded.

During the meeting, Saxton and members of the commission reviewed a map of the course with neighbors who were on hand to object. By making minor adjustments in the plans and by moving the parking area, Saxton was able to satisfy the adjacent property owners' objections.

Saxton said he'll carry $1 million liability, adding the responsibility if a golfball hits something or somebody is the same for a driving range as for a course and lies with the golfer.

Village attorney John Underwood suggested the village be named and held harmless in that policy, and it was made a stipulation of the approval.

"We'd like to see a driving range," said Wayne Wash, general manager of Cree Meadows Country Club. Wash predicted 70 percent of Saxton's business will be from Cree Meadows golfers.

"As far as golf balls in the streets ... we have it all the time," added Wash.

In other regular business Monday:

—Chairman Robert Donaldson explained that the planning administrator's job is to enforce the village code explicitly, with any variations to be considered by the commission. "Don't look upon him as trying to be a roadblock ... he's just trying to enforce the law," said Donaldson.

—Agreed to have an evening meeting to allow time for the commission to discuss a number of points of concern that have been raised by Commissioner John White several times. White began to go through his list Monday, but commissioners asked him to wait for an evening meeting with more members present.

—Heard Donaldson read from the Zoning Ordinance that a variance isn't required for building into the setbacks on a sub-standard lot.

—Commissioners Donaldson, White, Frank Kolb, Tim Hoyt and Eddie Nichols were present. Commissioners David Harding and Greg Pertee were absent. It was learned that Candye Garrett has resigned.

Council sets special election for June 20

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Editor

The Ruidoso Village Council, in response to a petition calling for a change in form of government, adopted an election resolution Monday, setting a special election for Tuesday, June 20.

The council, learning from municipal clerk Tammie Maddox that the requisite number of signatures were on a petition calling for the change from mayor/council to commission/manager, set the election as required by state law.

Voters will cast ballots "for" or "against" the proposed change in that election. If the change is approved, then the council will have to set an election date for the commissioners to be elected.

Village administrators, who have conferred with officials in other municipalities organized according to the commission/manager form, say the village will have to be districted before the five commissioners are selected. That process can be very complicated and expensive, according to a spokesman for a firm in Santa Fe that consults with municipalities over districting.

John Schuller is leading a drive to change from the current form to a five-member commission with the mayor selected by commissioners instead of elected by the voters.

Schuller, whose group has presented programs for a number of clubs and organizations, says the change he's proposing will establish a form that parallels the management of a large corporation, resulting in a more fiscally sound and responsive governing body.

One major difference with the proposed change is the ability of voters to petition for elections over any action the commission takes. Opponents of the change say that can lead to continual petitions and elections that cost the taxpayers thousands of dollars and paralyze village officials.

During Tuesday's council meeting, Councillor J.D. James responded to statements he said he's read in the paper over the proposed change.

James listed a string of accomplishments of the present council, including a commitment to fiscal accountability. He also praised village manager Frank Potter and listed a number of memberships and offices to his credit.

He described costs that total $24,000 or more associated with the proposed change in governmental form. Those costs include two elections, redistricting and notification of changes in precincts.

James said the certified petition had 203 signatures, just nine over the required number.

ground north of Highway 380 and the proposed National Center for the Western Horse. Originally, the plans did not include the center, but an agreement between the center planners and BLM was signed last year.

Woodard said he has seen no plans for the center, but proposals call for a museum located near the Highway 380 intersection and designated horse riding trails within the public lands.

The center was endorsed in a plan published by the Lincoln County Heritage Trust (LCHT), which outlines a three-phase recreational development of the actual fort. The plan has been at the center of debate between the hospital staff and LCHT since its publication.

Some audience members said local politicians were not honest when they spoke about the proposed development plan, which created more distrust between the hospital and LCHT. They said BLM was honest in their information, however.

The LCHT development plan should be separate from the BLM plans, as the LCHT proposals concern only facilities on state lands, not federal, Woodard continued.

Hospital input will be conveyed to LCHT during a meeting between Woodard and LCHT members about the proposed plan Wednesday.

Woodard also discussed the Boots and Saddles Tour, which he proposed and presented to the New Mexico congressional delegation. The plan calls for an auto touring route between New Mexico forts existing during the Civil War, including Fort Stanton. BLM currently is working to coordinate management of the forts to create the tour plan.

Aldaz requested any tour brochure state the hospital is a closed area which only can be viewed from strategic locations, not open to indiscriminate tourist visits.

Also discussed was the proposed rerouting of the state highway which accesses FSTSH and BLM lands. Aldaz announced the New Mexico State Highway Department has funds to possibly replace the narrow and outdated bridge across the Rio Bonito. If approved, Aldaz said the bridge may be relocated more distant from FSTSH, with a new route for the road to access the new Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

"I'm concerned we have a buffer zone around the campus to protect the clients," Aldaz said.

Plans between New Mexico State University's Range Research Center and BLM are uncertain at this point, Woodard continued. Changes on the research center created by the new airport led to purchase of a new ranch near Corona and might lead to closure of the Fort Stanton facility, Woodard said.

Everyone present agreed the public lands are enjoyed by many locals and newcomers, which creates a need for planning future use.

"This is a really good forum to identify issues," Cherry said.

"We'll be back around, this will not be done in a vacuum," Woodard concluded.

Governor signs simulcast bill

Governor Garrey Carruthers on Wednesday signed an in-state simulcast wagering bill that will pave the way for a year-round operation at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Owner R.D. Hubbard said recently he would open a simulcast theater in the All-American Sales Barn if the measure became law.

History buffs look forward

Lincoln County Historical Society (LCHS) will begin its 1989 season on April 15, at San Juan Church in Lincoln.

According to a news release, Dave Townsend will present "Eugene Manlove Rhodes and the Code of the West," a chapter-by-chapter preview of Townsend's upcoming publication A Man to Take Along.

Townsend, professor of History at New Mexico State University-Alamogordo, has written numerous articles and two books: Lacy at Ninety, 1976, and You Take the Sundials and Give Me the Sun, 1984.

Gene Rhodes, "The Bard of the Tularosa Basin," wrote ten books, countless short stories and poems. Almost all of them take place in southern New Mexico.

Of Rhodes, Bernard DeVoto said, "...the man was a rigorous realist. Drought is drought in his pages, thirst is thirst, heat is heat and dust, dust. When a remuda comes in, that is the way remudas come in. Water in barrels at a cook wagon stinks as water does stink when carried 50 miles and left under the desert sun.

The whole archaeology of the cattle kingdom can be recovered from Rhodes' books: His roundups, his dry camps...all the details of habit and custom and the skill he so wholeheartedly admired, all the routine and adaptation of life on the range, in the mines and in the little towns was absolutely correct."

It ought to be: Rhodes was 25 years a cowboy, a twister and a top hand before he was a writer. He guided cavalry in pursuit of Indians, he homesteaded, freighted, mined and washed dishes in a cow-town lunchroom.

"Legend says also that reasons which made it convenient to leave New Mexico gave him an additional authority," Townsend said. "He is our own true son and his writings are a true representation of us: of our spirit in this great land."

LCHS will conduct a business meeting at 6:30 p.m. the same night. Among business to be discussed is adoption of by-laws and Article of Incorporation.

The program by Townsend will begin at 7:30 p.m. and the public is welcome to attend.

Fort Stanton Hospital staff and parents and interested area residents listen Tuesday to the BLM plans to develop the 23,000 acres of public land in the Fort Stanton area.

Cholesterol screening offered

Family Practice Associates is offering cholesterol checkups from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday, April 8, at the offices in the Sierra Professional Building, 243 Mescalero Trail.

Cholesterol, triglycerides and blood sugar tests will be available, for a $5 cost each, or $10 for all three. An overnight fast is recommended for both the triglycerides and blood sugar tests.

A free consultation with a physician is included, and no appointment is needed.

CPR classes announced

Ruidoso Emergency Medical Services (EMS) and the Ruidoso Athletic Club (RAC) are offering a CPR class from 2-6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, April 15-16, at the RAC.

Anyone interested in learning cardio-pulmonary resuscitation is invited to attend both days. To be recertified, one need only attend the Sunday session.

Planners remind CPR graduates that the certification is good for just one year.

No preregistration is necessary.

Clarification

In an article published Monday, April 3, in The Ruidoso News, it was reported a grand jury called to investigate the sheriff convened and took no action.

According to Samuels, the grand jury convened to investigate the Lincoln County Commission, not the Sheriff's Office or the sheriff.

Cox is Tucumcari city manager

Former Lincoln County manager Suzanne Cox is moving her nameplate to a new desk—as Tucumcari city manager. Cox was scheduled to assume her new duties Monday.

"I'm real excited about the job," Cox said last week. Tucumcari operates on a commission-manager system of city government, Cox said, and her duties will be similar to those she performed for the county commission. Cox was Lincoln County Manager more than six years before she resigned in February.

The Plant Corner

by Sally Black

"Brighten your day, eat a flower." I wish to thank Terri Gabriell of the Gannett News Service for a fine article written on this delicious subject. Flowers are the ethereal members of the garden world. They bloom lush and beautiful, filling the air with sweet smells and then they disappear as quickly as they bloomed.

I know a lot of people would consider it a sacrilege to eat flowers, but if you're going to cut them, why not? It's a unique and special experience that will stay with you long after the flowers would have faded. The idea isn't new. People have been drinking Linden flower and Jasmine tea for ages, preserving the essence of flowers and brewing it up. Rosewater is as popular for flavoring as it is for perfume, and fritters made of elder flowers have been an American specialty since the days of pioneers. In China, people have been eating Chrysanthemum petals and day lily buds for centuries. Flowers have been eaten and enjoyed in Mexico, ancient Persia, India and many tropical countries around the world. The first violets of spring are edible, but you might want to wait until there are enough to eat a few and leave a few to enjoy their beauty. They're rich in vitamin C and they make a tossed salad something special. Next Easter, decorate cup cakes with them. They're pretty and tastier than most decorations. Then you can start on lilacs and

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer
The Ruidoso High School DECA Rummage Sale is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. this Saturday, April 8, at 241 Mesalero Trail behind the Sierra Professional Center. Eddie Parker, DECA sponsor, said the donated product line was so great this year he guaranteed it would please and tease the eye of all who attend. Parker said the furniture is of a better quality than most rummage sales and a wide variety of jewelry should be a big hit. Parker also said the clothing line featured many "like new" items. Proceeds from the sale will be used to send eight Ruidoso High School students to Orlando, Florida, to compete in the National DECA Career Development Conference. The students will be flying to Orlando on April 24, and returning on April 30. The eight students, Billie Strohmeyer, Jarod Fox, Shelby Bradley, Chris Crawley, Kim Chamberlain, Pam Kadayso, Ron Sanders and Charlie McCornack, will be competing in tests and interviews for Pepsi stock. Fox and Bradley will compete in vehicle and petroleum marketing. McCornack is in full serve restaurant management. Chamberlain has submitted a food marketing manual. Kadayso will be attending the Leadership Development Academy. Sanders, Crawley and Strohmeyer are with the Pepsi Learn and Earn Project.

Big water bill surprises woman

One Ruidoso resident had a big surprise when she returned from her Christmas vacation. Madge Mings was away from her Ruidoso home from December 18 until January 5, and when she got home she had a water bill that was four times her normal monthly usage. "I thought there was some mistake," said Mings, concerned that there was a water main leak or some other mechanical problem that boosted her bill from its usual $25 or so to $110.12. Mings, still convinced that something is amiss, is frustrated after going through the channels at Village Hall. Last week she paid the bill. "I talked to everybody, and nobody would do anything about it," said Mings, who had taken her problem from the Water Department to the village manager to the mayor and the village finance officer. "I really don't have any authority to change anybody's water bill," said village manager Frank Potter, who confirmed that everybody at Village Hall talked with Mings. He said Mings' problem is not that unusual. "We do not have a policy on refunding for excessive use," said Potter. He said he did retrace the process for the disgruntled customer, checking with the Water Department staff and the meter reader. He said the meter reading is the only thing the Water Department staff can rely on if there's no leak or other problem. "There has to be some compelling reason to make an adjustment on a water bill," said Potter, noting in such cases the recourse is through the Water Department, not through his office. Potter said he made a suggestion to the council that a policy be considered, but one hasn't been drafted and adopted. Meanwhile, Mings wants to talk to other people who may have had problems similar to hers. She's calling on village citizens who have had large water bills they believe are in error to contact her. "Maybe we can ban together to seek redress and get some results for our grievances from the folks at Village Hall," said Mings.

wisteria. I once made a great lilac wine. When I opened the bottle one could smell the lilacs, if you took the time. And I made jam from pureed wisteria, pectin and honey. The consistency still needed perfecting, but the taste was definitely wisteria. The jam was thin and light purple, and the flavor was a real surprise. People have been making jam of rose petals since the Middle Ages and maybe longer. Early recipes call for dropping the petals into hot syrup and then packing them into jars. I'm sure that with a blender and pectin, other methods could be worked out. Roses make luxurious eating. A fruit salad garnished with rose petals becomes something else! Rose crepes, pancakes filled with rose petals and whipped cream, are a simple dessert to make. But they sure don't taste "simple." Rose brandy is something ladies of olden times made for special suitors. One sip, and forever after, when the man smelled roses, his mind would be drawn to the lady with the magic elixir. To make this elixir, fill a decanter with the most fragrant rose petals you can find. Add a pinch of sugar and fill the bottle with a good brandy such as my favorite "Courvoisier." Wait a few days and strain it. The more times you renew the petals and add brandy, the stronger the flavor gets. Use it to top or flavor special desserts, or serve it in small glasses to your very special friends. I will continue this column next week, so hang on to this one. Send questions to Sally Black, PO Box 128, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345.

Regional wastewater plant expansion nearly complete

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Editor

A project to increase the capacity of the regional wastewater treatment plant is on budget and on schedule, according to John Shaw, consulting engineer for the Village of Ruidoso.

Shaw said the $398,266 contract is 60 percent complete, with a May deadline.

Bill McCarty was the low bidder on the project, and his crews are at work at the plant located just east of Ruidoso Downs off U.S. Highway 70.

On a tour of the treatment plant, a joint operation of the villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs, Shaw, village manager Frank Potter and department head John Ramos described the operation and the changes expected with the 12 new drying beds under construction.

Shaw said $275,000 of the funding is through a Community Development Block Grant, with the balance from Village of Ruidoso general funds.

Purpose of the expansion is to improve the quality of the effluent water, said Shaw. The effluent water is that which goes through the entire treatment process and is returned to the system. Municipalities are able to take additional water through the effluent credits earned according to how much water is returned to the system.

Ramos said the regional wastewater treatment plant is designed to handle 2.6 million gallons a day, and a few weeks ago the plant was processing close to two million gallons a day.

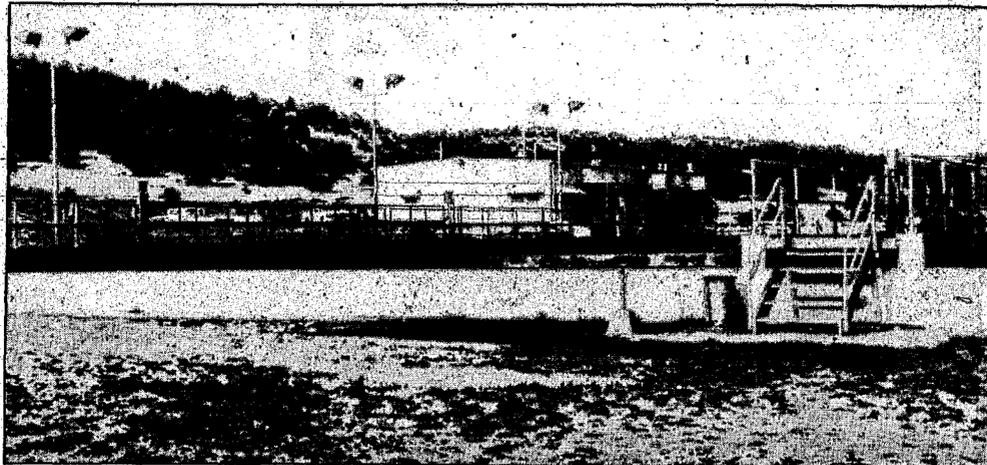

The plant was built in 1982, and opened June 8, 1982. The operation is highly technical, and Ramos and his crew oversee a complete laboratory and a system of gauges and charts that ensure the plant operates within standards set by the state and enforced by the Environmental Improvement Division.

Ramos, who has worked for the Village of Ruidoso for 11 years, is a level four, the highest level of certification in his field. His crew includes Bobby Snowden, chief plant operator and laboratory technician, who is also a level four. Other department staff includes mechanic

Archie Kingston, operator Kent Dennis and a non-certified employee, Ralph Gonzales.

"We have to meet EID and EPA standards," explained Ramos, who takes a great deal of pride in the spotlessly clean plant, laboratory, shop and office areas.

Operations of the regional wastewater treatment plant are performed in a spotless facility surrounded by grass and trees just off U.S. Highway 70.

Village manager Frank Potter, village department head John Ramos and consulting engineer John Shaw discuss operations at the regional wastewater treatment plant. A dozen new drying beds are under construction to enlarge the plant capacity.

New firefighting crew organizes

Training will begin Wednesday, April 12, for the auxiliary wildland firefighting crew being organized by the Ruidoso Fire Department.

"The crew will function well with 30 people on it," said Barry Cole of the Fire Department. He invites anyone interested in volunteering time and effort to help protect the area to contact the Fire Department at 257-4116, or come by Station 1, 201 Rio Street.

Cole said training will be about 24 hours, total, and will be conducted by New Mexico Forestry, the U.S. Forest Service and the Village of Ruidoso Fire Department.

Crew members will have to successfully complete the training and a physical fitness test. The fitness test, to be administered by the Ruidoso Fire Department, is the USFS stress test.

The crew will be supplied with hand tools, fire shelters, hardhats, eye protection and fire-resistant shirts or coveralls. Each crew member will be expected to provide leather work gloves, leather lace-up boots, 100 percent cotton work pants and other personal items.

EID makes announcement

A crowd turned out for the Capitan Music Boosters first dessert concert, and declared the event a sweet success.

The Capitan choir and band and soloists Jacque Childress and Agatha Long performed "pops" music in the multipurpose room at the school.

Music director Dick Valenzuela and his jazz combo of Leroy Gooch, Mike Francis and Jenny Stephens jazzed up the evening with their renditions, while guests enjoyed their choice of rich cheesecakes, chocolate cakes with tea or southern pecan coffee.

LaRue places first at Wool Bowl

by DORIS CHERRY
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Capitan track and field teams set new school records and recorded team bests at the Goddard Invitational in the Roswell Wool Bowl Saturday.

Both girls and boys coaches were pleased with the outcome of the meet and complimented their teams for doing well.

Girls coach Pam Allen said the invitational was the best meet this season, noting the first-place finish in discus and several second-place finishes in other events.

The girls varsity team finished third overall, behind first-place Las Vegas Robertson and second-place Lovington. Other teams, in order of finish were: Ruidoso, Goddard, Artesia, Fort Sumner, Tularosa, Portales, Elida, Cloudercroft and Carrizozo.

Leslie LaRue was first in discus with her throw of 110-11 1/2, outdistancing the second place throw by more than 12 feet.

Lora McKay broke a school record with her second-place long jump of 16-10 1/2 and Colynn Washburn tied a school record with her second-place high jump with 4-11.

Sherry Gowen was fifth in discus with a 92-11 throw. She was fourth in shot put with a toss of 32-6 1/2.

Kim Eckland tied with Artesia's Fallis for fifth with a jump of 4-8.

The 400-meter relay team of Karrie Cox, Nanette Boyd, McKay and Gina Griego finished third with a time of 52.76 seconds. The 800-meter relay team of LaShauna Tillotson, Griego, McKay and Nita Hale finished third with a time of 1 minute 53.88 seconds.

The 1600-meter relay team of McKay, Boyd, Hale and Eckland was second in 4:26.14 and the 1600-meter medley relay team of Tillotson, Cox, Griego and Eckland also was second in 4:36.75.

Hale was third in the 100-meter with a dash of 12.99 and Boyd was fifth in 13.41. Hale also was third in the 200-meter with a dash of 28.05.

Cindy Castillo was third in the 300-meter hurdles with a time of 54.26.

LaRue will be the only Capitan varsity girl to compete in the Roswell Invitational at the Wool Bowl, Saturday, April 8. The team will lose several members to the Mock Trial State Competition the same weekend in Albuquerque, so Allen plans to take the team to Cloudercroft's Mountain Tops Invitational in Tularosa Saturday.

The Capitan boys finished seventh in a field of 12 schools. Other schools in order of finish were: Lovington, Roswell, Robertson, Artesia, Goddard, Ruidoso, Capitan, NMMI, Fort Sumner, Tularosa, Carrizozo and Socorro.

Chris McCarty finished second in the 100-meter with a dash of 11.31, only .04 second behind Roswell's first-place runner.

Anthony Sanchez made his personal best javelin throw of 160-9 to finish fifth. Jerrod Martin was fourth in the shot put, with a throw of 43-9 3/4.

More team best efforts were achieved by the 1600-meter medley team of Martin, Sean Seay, Heath Huey and Tino Gallegos which finished third in 3:52.24 and the fourth-place finish of the 400-meter relay team of Sanchez, McCarty, Gallegos and Martin in 44.81.

Coach Blane Miller said the teams will benefit from the competition at the upcoming Roswell Invitational. Schools scheduled to compete are Clovis, Robertson, Portales, Hobbs, Artesia, Ruidoso, Tucumcari, Lovington, Goddard, Carlsbad, NMMI and Roswell.

The boys are improving each week with a goal to be at their best performance during the district and state track meets, Miller said.

State qualifying for girls and boys begins at the April 15 Tatum meet, continues during the first home meet April 22, and the district meet in Capitan April 29.

According to Capitan Police Chief Randy Spears, Tularosa police officer Junior Garcia arrested Ronnie Hammett about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, on a warrant signed by Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean.

Hammett was transferred to the Lincoln County Jail where he was charged with criminal damage to property over $1,000, a felony; and criminal damage to property under $1,000, a misdemeanor, Spears said.

The charges stemmed from Spears' investigation of damage to 20 village traffic signs and a fence and a gas pump at the Rusty Anchor Bar.

Hammett is free on $5,000 bond, awaiting trial, Spears said.

He cautions Capitan motorists to be cautious at intersections until village crews and the State Highway Department can repair and replace signs.

Track records keep ex-Warriors in limelight

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

The full Ruidoso Warriors track team hit the field for the first time since spring break to ready themselves for the Roswell invitational track meet this Saturday, April 8. Ronny Maskew, Ruidoso head track coach, prepared a comprehensive compilation of track state records, district 3-AAA track and field records, Warrior track records, Warrior stadium records, Ruidoso invitational records, Warrior top ten performances for each category, school state track meet medalist, state records, Warrior state qualifiers and district champs for both boys and girls. The statistics reveal several surprising names and records.

Mark Arington holds first seven spots in the high jump. His top leap was 6-3 in the district meet in 1987. Kenny Trapp, who isn't in track this year, is eighth all time high with a 5-11 jump last year in Lovington.

The Ruidoso girls track team holds eight out of the 16 district 3-AAA track and field records. All records were set in 1988. Lori Walker holds the shot put and discus record, 35-3 and 108-5 respectively. Ardena Comanche is district record holder in the 1600-meter at 6:03.69. Joellyn Comanche is district record holder for the 3200-meter at 13:34.57. Dorley Patton, no longer at Ruidoso, is the 100-meter hurdles and 300-meter hurdles record holder at 16.01 and 51.91 respectively. The girls 1600-meter medley relay team of Tara Miller, Shala Gosdin, Tiffany Snodgrass and Ardena Comanche holds the record at 4:44.27. The 1600-meter relay team of Jennifer Parker, Tiffany Snodgrass, Trina Martin and Shala Gosdin is district record holder at 4:22.89.

No Warrior name appears more in the record book than long distance runner, Cisco Bob. Bob's name appears 22 times. He holds the top ten places in the 1500-meter run, 3:57.88 was his best. Bob holds the top ten best times in the 3000-meter run, 8:37.80 was his top time. Those two events are no longer run.

The 1600M replaced the 1500M run and the 3200M replaced the 3000M. Bob holds the Warrior record for each, 4:23.78 in the 1600M and 9:25.55 in the 3200M.

Since 1982, 31 Warrior boys were awarded state medals, seven were gold. Cisco Bob won four gold medals for the 1500M and 3000M run in 1984 and 1985. Verlon Edwards captured a gold medal in the pole vault in 1987. The 400-meter relay team of Rusty Shelton, Chuck Daniels, Garret Henson and Brian Davis won a gold medal in 1987. The 1600M relay team of Rusty Shelton, Chuck Daniels, James Hall and Brian Davis won the gold in 1987.

The oldest record in the all time top ten belongs to Joe Alamager in the 800M at 2:02.60. Alamager holds down the best seventh spot. All other nine places including the best Warrior time ever goes to Curt McClellan at 1:59.79.

Ruidoso has two state record holders. Bob in the 1500M and the 1600M relay team of Shelton, Daniels, Hall and Davis.

Maskew said many of the girls records of the past could not be found. No Warrior girl currently holds a state record.

Warrior girls on the 1989 track team that are already listed in the best ten all-time performances are: Jennifer Jimenez, shot put; Norma Murillo, long jump; Chantel Bowen, high jump (holds all ten spots); Shala Gosdin, 400M (best time); Ardena Comanche, 800M (best time); Ardena Comanche 1600M (best time); 3200M Ardena Comanche (best time); Linder Rad, 100M high hurdles; Missy Gosdin, 300M intermediate hurdles.

Under close, but no cigar to a state record in the field events is Jeff Willingham who threw the javelin 191.4 in 1987. The state record is 198.6 set in 1980 by Paul Wynn of Socorro. Verlon Edwards vault of 13-7 is not that far behind Martin Moreno's record 14-6. Moreno is from Artesia.

Middle distance runner Ira Sago (left) leads the pack in Tuesday's workout on Warrior field. Sago won firsts in the 400M and 800M in last week's meet at Roswell.

Warrior long jumper Chris Torres limbers up before he heads for the sand path. Torres tied Russel Easter for the tenth spot on the Warriors all time ten best team with a 19-11 3/4 leap in Goddard last year.

Ruidoso News Sports Writer

More than 200 coaches and their families will be roaming the streets of Ruidoso during Ruidoso's Football Clinic scheduled for June 5-9, according to organizer and Ruidoso coach Mike Speck.

Speck said the series of lectures are without charge to any little league football coach in this area.

The clinic will feature speakers Kerry Scott, head coach of Tatum High School 1987-88 state champions; Windy Williams, head coach of Whitdeer High School 1988 state champions; Kirk Potter, assistant coach of Roswell High School 1987-88 AAAA state son, quarterback and receiver coach of Baylor University; Pete Martinelli, strength coach from Oklahoma University; and George Martinez, head coach of New Mexico Highlands University.

Speck said the entire Baylor defensive staff will be on hand for an informal session.

Speck said the coaches and families also will be participating in a golf tournament at the Inn of the Mountain Gods and a trip to Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

20 teams enter 1989 summer Lincoln County Softball League

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Thirteen men teams and seven women teams were established at the recent Lincoln County Softball League meeting, according to Daryl Obermueller, director of the Village of Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department.

Obermueller said there was strong support for the Parks and Recreation Department to head the organization of the softball league.

Obermueller said anyone wanting a league roster may contact his office, 257-2795.

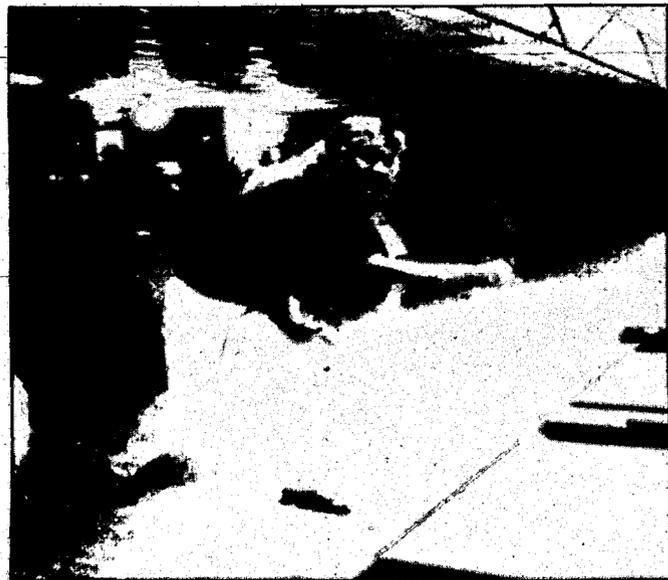

Obermueller said the next league meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. Thursday, April 13, at the Senior Citizens Center. The first half of each team's entry fee will be required then. The total team entry fee is $300.

Obermueller said playing dates for the games will begin May 8. He said a tournament is planned for May 19-21 for both men and women at the Eagle Creek Sports Complex.

Yvette Maldonado offers support to fellow trackster Natasha Mulqueen as she stretches her leg muscles before a hard day's workout on the track. Both girls are freshmen runners. Warrior girl performances in track only reach back to 1987 giving today's crop of girls an excellent chance to be in the record books.

RHS Warrior girls win big, boys lose in 2 mismatches

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

The Warrior girls tennis squad, young and aggressive, dominated a tough Goddard Rocket squad in Roswell last Tuesday 8-1.

The Rocket boys reversed their girl counterparts with a sweep of the Warrior varsity boys 9-0 in their matches.

Top-seeded Warrior Marnie Warlick, one of the best in the state, easily handled Kristen Davenport in singles 6-2, 6-1.

Eighth grade tennis prodigy Chrissy Crocker followed with a 6-1, 6-2 rout of Sauna Tucker.

Mikki Roller continued the Warrior battering, winning handily over Delette Laney 6-2, 6-1.

Cassie McIntosh was the lone

Warrior victim in a tight contest with Kristen Norton, 6-4, 6-4.

Donna Garcia shut out Preetta Nayak in the first set and coasted for a victory in the second 6-0, 6-3.

Amy Thornton dueled with Susan Turner in a close first set and then wore down Turner for the victory in set two for a 7-5, 6-2 victory.

In the girls doubles, the Warrior team of Warlick and Crocker ran roughshod over Tucker and Laney, 6-0, 6-3.

Roller and McIntosh split tie-breakers with Davenport and Norton. The last tie-breaker was for the match 6-7, 6-1, 7-6.

Garcia and Thornton methodically took care of their opponents 6-3, 6-3.

The Goddard Rockets boys have a great senior squad and this could be their year for the district.

Dusty Skellet lost to senior Jeremy Crown the best match of the day 6-4, 6-4.

Eric Collins lost to senior Ronnie Tucker 6-1, 6-2.

Shane Long lost to senior Shayne Waggoner 6-1, 6-1.

Eric Brown dropped two games to senior Kerin McCormick 6-1, 6-0.

Chaitanya Pai fell to a tough senior Jose Solis 6-0, 6-3.

Richard Malone was downed by senior Rusty Thompson 6-0, 6-3.

In the boys doubles, Skellet and Collins had momentum going their way after the second set, but finally fell in three sets 3-6, 6-3, 6-2.

Donna Garcia, left, and Jeanne Garcia are tennis. Donna mauled Goddard's Preetta Nayak in Roswell last Tuesday 6-0, 6-3.

Warrior Golfers go for Lovington today

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

The Ruidoso golfing Warriors finished a strong third in the Deming Invitational Friday in Deming.

Eric Eggleston turned in the top Warrior score with an 87. Chris Long was a shot behind at 88 and Ron Sanders and Nathan Baudo tied with 90.

Deming did not field a girls team.

Both girls and boys traveled to Artesia on Saturday to participate in the Artesia Invitational.

The Warrior boys again grabbed third place.

Ron Sanders was low scoring

Warrior with an 83. Chris Long was three strokes behind at 86. Eric Eggleston and Kenny Trapp tied with 89.

The Warriors girl team of Amy Richardson, Maria Moorehead, Molly Long and Keri Sivage held back a strong finish by the Artesia girl squad to capture a second place finish for the Warriors.

Ridge Bowden, coach of the Warriors, said the team was able to pick up two tournaments not previously scheduled.

Bowden said the JV team will travel to Lovington this Saturday, and the following Saturday, April 15, the girls will battle Portales.

The next full boy-girl varsity match will be the Silver Invitational at Silver City on Tuesday, April 18.

The Ruidoso Invitational is scheduled for the following Friday and Saturday, April 21-22.

Golfer Amy Richardson can't help but smile at the back to back 20-footers she sank on the practice green at the Cree Meadows Country Club.

Ron Sanders shows the putting style that lifted his play to be the Warriors most consistent golfer.

Keri Sivage concentrates on her putting stroke without letting her bubble grow large enough to impair her eyesight.

Fish galore for the non-sportsman

Want a truck load of fish this weekend?

Beginning Tuesday, March 28, and ending at midnight on Sunday, April 9, game fish can be taken by angling, snagging, spearing, seining, gigging or with arrows at McMillan Lake north of Carlsbad.

Area fisheries manager Miles McInnis said the emergency order, issued by the Department of Game and Fish, will allow fish to be salvaged rather than wasted. An over abundance of fish resulted with the draining of fish lake into the new Brantley Lake downstream on the Pecos River.

McInnis said many large pools are left on the McMillan bed including populations of white bass and other fish.

Fishermen must still possess a valid fishing license to take fish from the McMillan Lake pools. Anglers under 12 do not need a license.

Klaus Schulze of El Paso, Texas, shows off the four-pound black bass he caught March 29, in Alto Lake. Shown with Schulze are fellow anglers Dan Cloud and five-year-old Colby Cloud who caught a trout on the fishing trip. Schulze used a Castmaster spoon for his catch. "We'll be back," said the happy sportsmen.

TC's Little Man is Friday's big winner

T.C.'s Little Man broke on top and fought back a pair of late contenders to narrowly win Friday's feature race at Sunland Park. Timed in 1:11.2 for six furlongs, T.C.'s Little Man was piloted by Joe Martinez and returned $10.40, $4.80, $3.40. A nose behind the winner was public choice Ack Stage who paid $3.20, $2.60 while Trust 'N Tomorrow was third and paid $3.00. Mr. Gandolf and rider Rodney Carter came in at 110-to-one odds on Friday and a $2 wager to win returned a season-high $222.20 in the day's fifth race.

The Silver Lining

The small white mountain daisy trimmed in crimson is smiling from the grass and herbs along the banks near the riverside. And the pure pink New Mexico Pink, the ancestor of the Carnation, greets you along the hillsides and over the meadows, springing into quick full bloom all in a day -- a happy springtime surprise. This little pink native flower is one of the favorites of the mountain land.

Glorious Spring Charms The World
This is being sent to you on April four, and Spring, "The Queen of Seasons" is in all its fragrant and colorful glory. All the mountain meadows are out in pure new green, touched with gold, from a bright sun shining in sky of April blue. The American flag is floating in a light eastern breeze just cool enough to make the weather perfect here just after high noon. The temperature is an even sixty-two. Last night the temperature got down to thirty-six, just cold enough to hold back the apple blossoms from coming out into full bloom. Yet just in half a day, the first purple and lavender lilacs are out on the new clusters of buds, sending their perfume into the mellow air. The fragrance of the lilac is the very breath of spring itself. You can recognize the fragrances of the several kinds of lilacs -- white, purple, lavender -- and each one brings a special joy to your heart that is more delightful, and full of memories each spring. One long time favorite lilac has a color all its own. And people speak of "Lilac" as a special color. Zane Grey, the world's all time favorite western writer, painted word pictures that will be treasured always of the sunsets and sunrises of the southwest. He often used the color "Lilac" to describe some of the airy tints and hues of The Lord's color pageants of the heavens. Early Flowers

Fruit Blossoms Delightful Sight
Here at the house the first blooms of the apple and the later pear are just beginning to show forth. Yet just down the way, on the Montes orchards, the pink and white apple blooms of the apple trees are a springtime picture of rare beauty. And the pear orchard at the Bonnell ranch is the heaviest I have seen in a long time. The giant pointed trees are solid with glistening foamy white blooms, a masterpiece of Mother Nature's artistry. From the orchards comes the aroma of the blossoms, sending a faint taste into the air of the apples and pears that will arrive in the fall. One of the blossom festivals each year is Tull Stangell's cherry orchard there at the bend just east of Ruidoso Downs, at the McCutcheon place. The crystal white blooms have a charm all their own, and the fragrance of the orchard reaches you as you drive by.

The Leaf Parade
Led by the Weeping Willow and the Globe Willow, the leaf parade has begun. The Box Elder and the Chinese Elm along the river are leading the way for the river trees. The oak, wild cherry and walnut are opening their leaf buds here in the Vale. Just down the way the cottonwood Lombardy poplar, and giant willow have already leafed out. Away to the south, high on the hillside, the oak brush has taken on the touch of green among the winter pink of the leaves, sending a signal to their big brothers along the river, that spring is here. And so spring marches up the valley, with all shades of new green and fragrant blossoms. Each day will bring a new spring picture. Spring is a fast-moving season with each day full of new wonders of Mother Earth to behold. Let us thank God for a beautiful Spring and all our other many blessings.

Screening dates are listed

Child Find Program at the Region IX Cooperative Center (RIXCC), along with Ruidoso Municipal Schools, is sponsoring Kindergarten Registration and Pre-school Screening Programs for children birth through five years of age. The third annual screening program, planned for 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. Saturday, April 29, at Nob Hill Elementary School, will help identify children who are developmentally delayed in one area or another. The free screening offers vision, hearing, speech, dental and motor skills testing, according to Likia Bowden, coordinator for the screening. Bowden says preschool children should be tested each year, so even if a child was screened last year, he should be brought again this year. Area dentists, optometrists, audiologists and occupational therapists will be volunteering time at the screening. Public health nurse, Teresa Luna will be on hand to give immunizations, when necessary. Shot records should be brought to the screening and birth certificates should be brought for those children pre-registering for kindergarten. Sandy Gladden, RIXCC director, says that Bowden's organization of the screening clinic has made it the most comprehensive in the state. "It is the Cadillac of screening clinics," Gladden says. Bowden has been with RIXCC in Ruidoso four and one-half years. Gladden also said that federal money has been allocated, beginning this year, for the planning and implementation of more extensive services for handicapped children ages birth-two. After three years of study, services which are deemed necessary will begin in 1991 for the younger children. At this time, three- and four-year-old children who are found to have physical deficiencies or developmental lags, may be enrolled in a special program in the school system. A luncheon for volunteers at the screening is planned for 11:40 a.m. Wednesday, April 12, at the Tepee Lounge in Ruidoso High School. After the lunch, the volunteers will attend a short workshop. Schedules for screenings at other elementary schools in the area are as follows: Capitan:9 a.m.-noon Tuesday, April 18 Cloudfroft:9 a.m.-noon Wednesday, April 19 Carrizozo:1-3:30 p.m. Thursday, April 20 Mes-calero:10 a.m.-2 p.m. Monday, April 24 Corona:1-3:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 25 Hondo:9-11:30 a.m. Thursday, April 27 Tularosa:9 a.m.-2 p.m. Monday, May 1

Texas measles outbreak concerns local physicians

Although no cases of measles have been reported recently in Ruidoso, the outbreak in Texas has caused concern among area doctors. Lincoln County Medical Society's secretary-treasurer Dr. Christopher Robinson says anyone planning a trip to an area affected by the measles outbreak should check with his or her family doctor to verify immunizations. Robinson says it doesn't hurt to have another immunization if the person isn't sure. Immunizations given between 1957 and 1980 were not always effective, according to Robinson. After 1980, the vaccine was improved and persons receiving those vaccines can be fairly sure they are immune. Robinson also said that some women who have been pregnant are under the impression they are immune when they may not be. A pregnant woman is tested for immunity against Rubella (three-day measles), which can cause birth defects in unborn children. However, Rubella, or seven-day measles, is the disease that is running rampant in Texas now.

Robinson says those getting immunizations should not consider themselves safe until about a month after they receive the vaccine.

"It is very important for any unusual rash to be reported to a doctor," Robinson says. If a person has been exposed to measles, a shot of gammaglobulin may lessen the effects, Robinson says.

EDITORIAL

In a crowded world with less and less open space and fewer and fewer places to "get away from it all," New Mexico stands out for its huge amounts of undeveloped federal and state lands. The call of the wild continues to beckon, and people are drawn to our pristine open spaces in search of recreational opportunities.

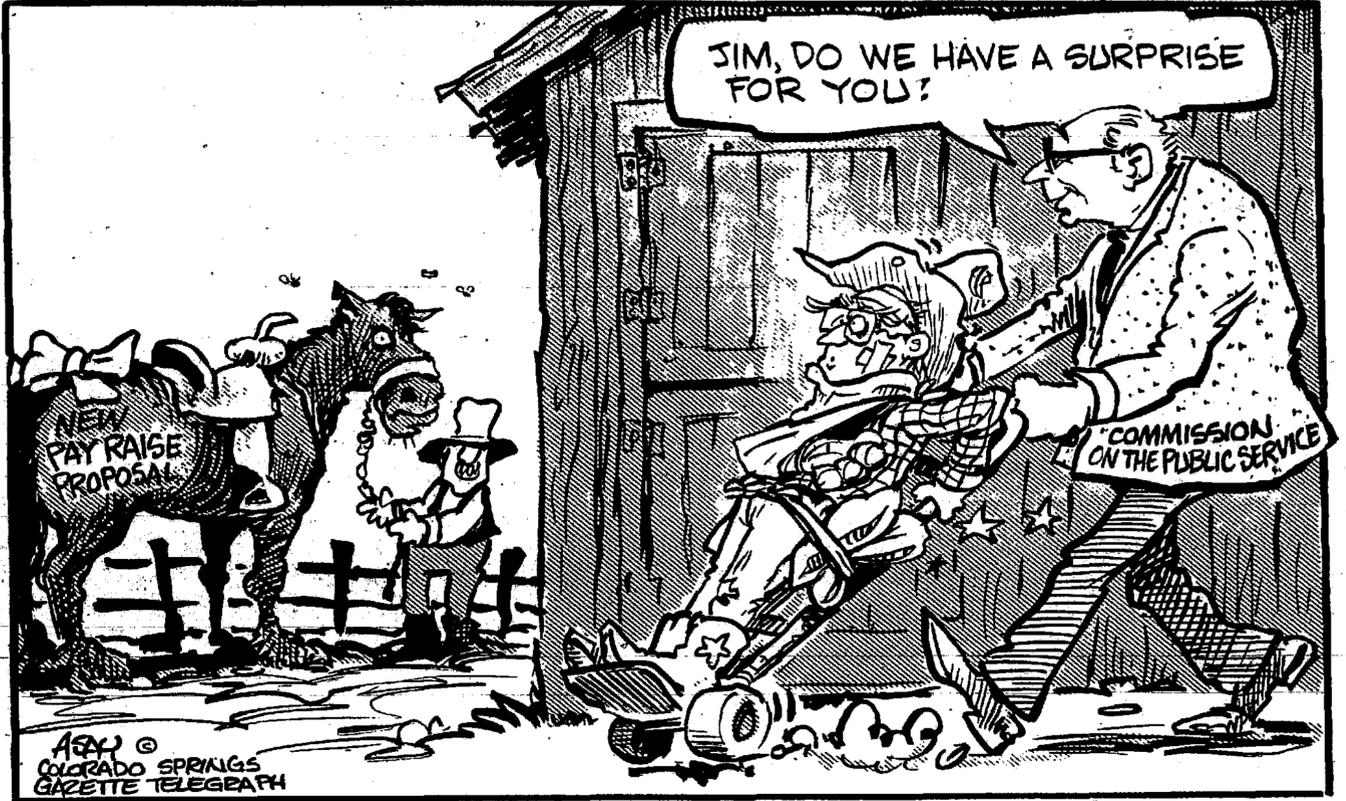

A series of horse trails on Bureau of Land Management (BLM) lands east of the Fort Stanton Reservation is set to be opened to the public in May. Outdoor enthusiasts, from horse riders to hikers and picnickers, will be welcomed to the area with marked trails, accessible parking areas and beautiful scenery.

Lincoln County Heritage Trust is working on plans to develop the National Center for the Western Horse on part of the 23,000+ acreage around Fort Stanton.

The New Mexico congressional delegation revealed plans recently for "boots and saddles tours" with a trail system connecting the state's historic forts. That plan, too, will offer a variety of recreational opportunities for New Mexico residents and visitors.

We believe such enterprises, coupled with current uses of the lands, are ideal. While long-term uses continue, including the Fort Stanton Training Center and Hospital, the natural land will be enjoyed by more people—many of them city people in search of the scenery and natural beauty that is rare in 1989.

Innovative planning and cooperation among state and federal agencies can result in the optimum uses for New Mexico's open spaces, maintaining the land in its basically natural state, expanding recreation opportunities for visitors and residents and continuing current uses with very little disruption.—fj

Capitol Comments

by Kate McGraw

There's a lot of talk...

In the Roundhouse about a possible extraordinary session of the New Mexico Legislature to pass a landfill regulations bill to replace the one that Gov. Garrey Carruthers vetoed in the last week of the recent legislative session.

Not only has there been a freestorm of criticism from environmental groups, now the state is facing two lawsuits over the issue.

The cities and counties are jointly preparing a lawsuit to prevent the state from enforcing administratively-developed regulations since there's no funding mechanism for the local governments to pay the costs of more stringent landfill regulations.

Meanwhile, the New Jersey folks who are planning that giant landfill near Lordsburg are threatening to sue if the governor enforces the year's moratorium on new landfills he proclaimed last week.

They say—and they have a point—that Carruthers doesn't have the constitutional power to prohibit private citizens from doing something that is not against the law.

What's Amusing...

...Is to watch the various reactions to the extraordinary session proposal.

Senate President Pro Tempore Manny Aragon, D-Bernalillo, is leading the parade for an extraordinary session, presumably because it would be a chance to make points for Democratic legislators.

He's probably being prodded by state Representative Max Coll, D-Santa Fe, another of the proposers. His wife, Sallye Rodgers, is a prominent environmentalist, and the environmental-concerns groups see the controversies created by the veto as a prime chance to get some decent landfill regs in the law.

Senate Minority (GOP) Leader Les Houston, R-Bernalillo, opposes the session, at least nominally, because the Democrats are proposing it. He adds with a great show of resignation that the Democrats probably will have the votes to call one (three-fifths of each house) if they insist.

But they may not have the votes. The Republicans may have to get off the fence and help if they secretly want an extraordinary session to help Carruthers out of this.

Speaker of the House Raymond Sanchez, D-Bernalillo, said this week he's on the cool side of lukewarm and doesn't think enough yes votes could be garnered for the Legislature to call itself into session, even though the Democrats have a three-fifths majority in each house.

Of course he doesn't. Sanchez has a vested interest in prolonging the agony for Carruthers. He's reportedly going to be running for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1990.

The longer the lawsuits drag on—whether or not the state actually wins one or the other—the more chances the Democrats have for scoring points against the administration. This has a real chance of becoming Carruthers' 'Landfillgate.'

Speaker Raymond Sanchez is playing a dangerous game...

...In opposing the extraordinary session, because prolonging the controversy over the landfill bill will also foster the impression that the governor and the Legislature can't get along and are in turmoil.

And that's exactly the impression former governor Bruce King—who will announce his candidacy on April 15—is trying to foster. "I'm just distressed by all the conflict. I think I need to be governor to bring New Mexicans together again," is how Uncle Bruce puts it.

One bunch not likely to be too much together for the time being is the quartet of Democrats whose hats are pretty much in the gubernatorial ring so far—King, Sanchez, former attorney general Paul Bardacke and state Representative Ruben Smith, D-Dona Ana.

Ruben Who?, as he's fondly referred to among the others, is a friendly, rich businessman and bassoonist from Las Cruces. He's the only one who's announced and he'll need the extra time, because nobody knows who he is out in the hinterlands.

In fact, nobody knew Ruben had gubernatorial ambitions until he announced. Some folks are suggesting that he's a primary ballot vote-splitter, but in that case, whose pal is he? Bruce's? Raymond's? If Smith splits votes from any-

DEAR EDITOR:

Although my preference is that we not continue to discuss the Otero County Electric case in the newspaper, Mr. Mershon has misquoted me on several aspects, and I feel that I need to clarify those points. Before I say anything though, I will repeat that I just want people to get the facts. Obviously there is a disagreement as to the rate structure imposed by Otero County Electric. The facts of the case are public record. Anyone who wants to know the facts can contact the Public Service Commission directly — the Commission is the consumer's avenue for questioning any utility company. In our country, we have this privilege, and it's one we should all take advantage of. Although I never envisioned that I would become personally involved in such a controversy, I am very thankful that we do have a governing body to which we can turn if we feel that a utility company should be challenged.

In response to Mr. Mershon:

1. I did not go afield when I said that Otero County Electric is the only electric utility in New Mexico that imposes a demand charge on residential customers. It is! He mentions 4 other states that do—that's a total of 5 out of 50. He didn't tell you that at the last hearing we presented testimony regarding Ohio Edison's rate structure, which includes demand metering, but which is structured in a much more equitable way for the consumer.

one, it'll likely be King and Bardacke. I'd say, whatever his motivation, his candidacy is most likely to help Sanchez...

Of course, There's Still A Wild Card in The Pack...

...Namely, the "What-Is-Bill-Gonna-Do?" card. Lotsa Democrats are still on the fence, still wondering if Congressman Bill Richardson is going to give up his four-term seniority in the U.S. House to run for governor against Bruce.

My guess, and it's pure guesswork, is that Bill won't. That he'll run for the U.S. Senate, maybe not in '90, maybe in '96? Or even—watch your back, Jeff—in '94?

2. Fact: Of the 10,000 Otero Electric consumers, approximately 2,500 have demand meters. On my calculator that comes to 25% of their customers who are affected by demand meters, not the mere 5% Mr. Mershon implies. Granted, not all of those customers incur a demand charge each month. Testimony from the previous hearing was that approximately 600 customers per month incur a demand charge, but they are not the same customers each month. Given our transient community, the customers who incur the demand charge vary from month to month. Some of those customers have never incurred a demand charge, but their houses have been targeted as having the potential to go over 10KW in demand, so the demand meter is there waiting for that occurrence. Some of the customers, such as my family, have changed certain appliances for gas usage, some have turned off electric heaters, and some have simply quit coming here in the winter. So, when Mr. Mershon tells you that 95% "either do not require that volume of power, or are effectively controlling their load in order not to incur the added charge for capacity," keep in mind what those customers have done to achieve this "effectively control." (Lincoln and Otero County business people, does this help account for some of your lost revenue from the vacationers who perhaps used to come here every winter??) Back in the years when money flowed more freely, a high electric bill was an annoyance, but now, when our vacationers are hurting at home, why on earth would they come here to incur a $500 electric bill for a few days of being in the mountains? That's lost revenue for Lincoln and Otero Counties, no matter how you look at it.

3. Please go back and look at my first letter, Mr. Mershon. I said, "Proposal by the PSC would increase the rate of the same small consumer by 1-4%, and the majority of any increase in rate would be absorbed by the part-time, recreational homeowner." So, when you say I completely overlooked the part of the PSC proposition that proposes an 18% rate increase for vacationers, you are very much mistaken. I can assure you that those part-time residents have been made fully aware of both proposals. From the very beginning, it has been my commitment to give them all the facts regarding this case.

4. Under Mr. Mershon's plan, I, as a consumer, "have the ability to control a part of my costs." In the all-electric home which we built, my "ability to control" went something like this: Arrive home approximately 5:30 p.m. House is cold, no supper, clothes to wash. Which do you do first? Choose one of the three, because you simply cannot do all at the same time. Under this scheme, the average working person can accomplish their household tasks by the hour of midnight, because you have to be so careful not to use any 2 major appliances at one time. But I can promise you that the money you save by not incurring the demand charge could easily be spent at the doctor's office getting treatment for the stress it places upon your entire household.

5. Thank you for your compliment, Mr. Mershon. I will continue to be diligent and persistent, and detail oriented - you can count on it!

Sincerely,
Jeanie Clancy

DEAR EDITOR:

This is my first letter to an editor, but I think it is warranted.

After having a townhouse retreat here for a number of years, we became fascinated with the charm of New Mexico and Ruidoso. Being ready to retire from Midland, we bought a small nearby ranch and built a house in town. Obviously, from the amount of visits our Midland friends make, they think we made a nice move. However, now and then, small remarks would be made such as, "What if you became ill? Will you go to Houston or Dallas?"

I recently had occasion to address that question, as I was faced with major multiple surgery. I knew I had extremely competent local physicians or I wouldn't have gone to them. If this be the case, I should certainly have confidence in the hospital in which they practice.

I elected to have my surgery in our local hospital — wisest decision I ever made! From the time I entered admitting, to the detailed one-on-one explanation of surgery and hospital procedure by the anesthesiologist, x-ray and lab personnel, and meeting "my nurse", I was called by my first name and made to feel exceptionally comfortable from minute one. My husband's anxiety, wanting me to have a private nurse, was soon dispelled as I had my own "private nurse" around the clock. I never rang my buzzer that it was not pleasantly and immediately answered.

The convenience of local surgery was another "plus". My husband and friends did not have to travel miles and hotel-up to visit me. Some Midland friends came by and we sat out on one of the hospital patios surrounded by Ruidoso Garden Club plantings and sunny skies. Could you do this in Houston?

From the gracious Pink Ladies, to all hospital personnel, including the administrator who personally introduced himself, I was treated as a special individual, not just "another number."

My special thanks to Drs. Harrison and Kirkegaard, and to all of Lincoln County Medical Center, I applaud you!

Sincerely,
Dawn D. Mathews

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

I was prompted to write this letter after reading a letter to your column from Jeanie Clancy in the March 27 issue of your paper. As a life-long resident of this area and a concerned consumer of Otero County Electric Cooperative, I would like to submit some facts from the "other side" of the demand metering story.

After checking, I learned that the demand metering was instituted by Otero County Electric only after a hearing with and a favorable vote from the Public Service Commission. This action was taken quite a few years ago, back in 1968. The main objective of this type of rate schedule was to attempt to bill each residential customer fairly. If you will recall, the oil business in Texas and Oklahoma was prospering at that time and there was a great influx of people wishing to reside in our naturally beautiful area. Most of the homes built for these new part-time or full-time residents were of a moderate to high cost, and many were fully electric homes. This brings up point #1 mentioned by Mrs. Clancy, that Otero County Electric is the only utility company in the state of New Mexico which imposes a demand charge on its residential customers. The other side which must be considered is that the Ruidoso area was at that time, and still is, the leading #1 resort area in New Mexico. The residential makeup of the Ruidoso area is totally different from any other area in the state, and should be treated accordingly. Due to a large number of homes causing an unroutine energy demand on the cooperative, and the cooperative in turn having to purchase more power at a higher demand rate, the cooperative sought and gained permission to impose the demand metering charge, which accurately measured those residences that were causing the extra demand so they could be billed accordingly. The cooperative was simply passing on the added cost of the unscheduled demand to the customers who were using this power.

Point #2 to be considered, that not all of Otero County Electric's customers are subjected to the demand charge. The other side which must be considered is that most residences served by Otero County Electric are not capable of creating a demand on the system, a demand charge. By the very design and structure of the home's electrical wiring capacity, the home cannot peak out at above 10 kilowatt usage, and therefore can't create a demand charge. The 10 kilowatt usage is the figure used by the cooperative to base the demand meter on, and was chosen after in-depth study. My personal feeling is, why burden the entire system with the expense of demand meters when most of the residences can't create a measurable demand? Presently, demand meters, being much more costly, are installed only on those residences which are capable of causing an extra demand of power.

Point #3 to be considered, that the demand meter has resulted in exorbitant electric bills for some of Otero County Electric's customers, ranging from $500 to $1000 per month during the cold winter months. I have no knowledge about this claim, because I do not live in an electric home. I live in a home heated by wood, with gas water heaters, an electric dryer, and the normal household appliances, plus having a barn on the same meter with floodlights, welder and other power equipment, and our monthly electric bill runs from $70 to $95 monthly. I would like to live in an electric home, with many more electric conveniences, but the facts are simple, we can't afford the luxury. I think the choice lies with the consumer; those that want all of the electric conveniences and electric heating systems should be prepared to pay for the power they consume and the convenience they enjoy.

In addition to the points mentioned above, several other facts from the other side of the coin that need to be considered are:

1. Demand metering was instituted by Otero County Electric in 1968 after being approved by the Public Service Commission as a valid and fair means of billing our unique resort area population. The demand metering system was a progressive move on the cooperative's part, to bill residential customers for the electricity they used, while still protecting and avoiding overcharges to the customer whose home could not create a demand.

2. Otero County Electric serves about 11,000 customers, 2500 of whom have demand meters. Of these residential customers that have demand meters, only 20% average paying a demand charge. Just because a home has a demand meter does not mean that the customer is automatically charged a demand charge. Only when the meter peaks out above the 10 KWh does the cooperative charge a demand. 80% of the demand customers avoid paying a demand charge by controlling their power consumption.

3. There are devices on the market which help the consumer monitor and control the demand created by homes which are capable of creating such a demand.

4. Under the present demand metering system, the residences that are creating the demand for extra power are being charged for that extra power demand, and no more. If the cooperative is forced to remove the demand meters, two of the options are (a) to spread the demand charge over all of the residences, regardless of whether the home has the capability to cause demand or not, and (b) to charge part-time, recreational homeowners a higher rate per kilowatt-hour of usage, based on their part-time resident status. Why saddle consumers who don't use the power with the demand charges of those who create the demand? Why penalize the part-time recreational homeowners just because they chose our beautiful area as a second home?

5. Otero County Electric Cooperative is unique in that it is a cooperative; it is owned by its consumers, and ALL of the consumers should have a voice in what policies and rates by which they are governed.

As a concerned consumer of Otero County Electric, I urge each of you to respond to the cooperative with your comments on this matter on which the cooperative sent out a letter to all residential customers. If you didn't receive a letter, or misplaced it, call or write to let your feelings be known. If there are additional questions, ask the cooperative, and learn the answer; it's our cooperative, and it cannot adequately serve its consumers without input from ALL of us, the members. This is a crucial point in time, and unless the Public Service Commission hears from the "other side of the coin", any decision made will be based on the complaints of a very small, but very vocal group of residential consumers. When responding either by phone or written comment to the cooperative or to the Public Service Commission, please keep in mind that the hearing date in Santa Fe is scheduled for Thursday, April 13.

Just as the other letter to the editor, my intention in writing this is not to stir up a hornet's nest, nor hurt or offend any sector of consumers, but instead to show the view from the other side of the coin, from a concerned electric consumer who resents the idea of subsidizing the electric bills of those residences that create the demand.

Sincerely,
Willia Stone
Captain

DEAR EDITOR:

We received a letter recently from Otero County Electric Cooperative requesting comments on the New Mexico Public Service Commission's order to the Cooperative to remove the capacity (demand) charges from the current residential rates.

It seems to me that the order solves nothing and will probably exacerbate the problem of excessive demand. Our house is 2500 sq. ft. and was all electric. Before we moved to Alto permanently we used to come on short visits. The first thing we did was to turn on all the baseboard heaters, the water heater, and even the oven for quick heat. Electricity usage ranged from 40,000 to 45,000 watts. We were not aware of demand metering or for that matter of the high usage rates. At the time the Midland, Texas rate was 5.5¢/Kwh and we didn't pay much attention to electricity usage. I imagine there are still some people who, like we were, are not aware of what high demand means to them or the system. Then there will be others that will no longer pay any attention to high usage now that they are relieved of demand charges. I can visualize peak demand periods being higher in the future than they are now.

It appears to me that the real solution to the problem lies in reducing demand and usage. We moved here permanently in March 1986, and suddenly electricity costs did get our attention. My first reaction was to become angry. If we had known about the high electricity rates, we wouldn't have bought an all electric home. I talked to Otero's office people, including the public relations man, and got some idea of demand metering. It was suggested that we install a control to reduce demand. Even after the meeting with the Public Service Commission examiner and other experts, I still didn't understand what it was all about. It wasn't until I talked to the meter reader that I really understood what demand metering is and why it is used. The point I'm trying to make is that I doubt if many people really understand the problem and they need to be educated about it.

After we understood the problem, we tried for 1 1/2 years to reduce demand and usage and had some success. We stopped heating about half the house. I installed a switch on the water heater. After washing clothes, my wife would turn off the water heater before she started the dryer, and would turn it back on after she was through drying clothes. Sometimes she forgot to turn it back on. The range and oven were never used together or while washing and drying clothes. Very inconvenient, especially the cold showers. I finally realized this was not the answer to the problem.

It was then that I decided to install a high efficiency gas (propane) furnace and water heater. The furnace was turned on in January 1988, and the water heater in July 1988. The following is a cost comparison of heating with electricity versus propane.

Time Period	Electric Avg Cost Per Month	Propane Avg Cost Per Month	Elec & Prop Avg Cost Per Month	Heating Conditions
10 mos, Mar 86 thru Dec 86	$176.61	$0	$176.61	All electric
12 mos, Jan 87 thru Dec 87	$211.19	$0	$211.19	Heat half of house
6 mos, Jan 88 thru Jun 88	$109.64	$45.65	$155.29	Furnace (heat all of house)
7 mos, Jul 88 thru Jan 89	$69.01	$45.65	$114.66	Furnace and water heater

The cost of the furnace, ducts and water heater was $3,600. I did the remodeling work myself. Using the above figures, a savings of $211.19 - $114.66 = $96.53/mo is realized heating with propane rather than electricity, resulting in a payout of 37 months. Considering the difference in heating the whole house with electricity versus half, the payout would be much less. Our electric bill in December 1987, was $447.51. After the furnace was turned on, the January 1988 bill dropped to $109.19. During December we heated the whole house about 12 days and half of the house the remaining time. The above figures are based on a propane cost of 66¢/gal which has remained stable throughout 1988 to date, while our electric usage costs have increased from 9.5¢/Kwh to slightly over 10¢/Kwh, a 5% increase, excluding demand and fuel adjustment charges. As I mentioned earlier the solution to the problem lies in reducing demand and usage. Heating with gas will accomplish this. We haven't had a demand charge since the furnace and water heater were installed and usage has been reduced from a peak of 3600 Kwh to an average 700 Kwh. Natural gas would be even better than propane, reducing heating costs even more, as much as one-third so I'm told. From a cost standpoint as well as a conservation standpoint, conversion to gas heating can well be justified. I should think the Cooperative would encourage such conversion to reduce demand, possibly even helping to arrange for low-cost loans. I think it would also benefit everyone if severe penalties were placed on new construction installing electric heat, particularly "spec" homes. Home buyers should also be made aware of the cost of heating with electricity.

I hope no one misconstrues this letter to mean that I am critical of Otero's operation; I am not. The manager and employees have been most competent, courteous and helpful.

Respectfully
John Pulte

San Patricio artist Kire Cole stands beside her painting which recently was exhibited in the governor's reception office in Santa Fe. Cole's painting of a coyote currently is hanging in an exhibition in the Governor's Gallery in the Capitol Building.

Cole exhibits art in Roundhouse

San Patricio artist Kire Cole is among 19 artists featured in an exhibit entitled "New Mexico Wildlife" in the Governor's Gallery on the fourth floor of the Roundhouse in Santa Fe.

The exhibition, which features paintings, sculpture and photography of New Mexico's wildlife, is open daily from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. until May 12, with no charge.

Cole, daughter of Maurice and LeVerne Cole of Ruidoso Downs, is displaying a 30- by 40-inch oil-on-canvas painting entitled "Outlaw."

The painting is of a coyote on the prowl, which Cole said took more than three weeks to complete.

Cole works in her San Patricio studio which is the 100-year-old John Thomas house. To give the place some color, she said she painted the overhead beams with brilliant colors.

Color is an important ingredient in much of Cole's artwork. Painted sweatshirt ensembles are Cole's recent passions, with subjects ranging from chile trucks and rains to polo ponies.

Cole earned several art degrees and attended numerous seminars from Southern Methodist University. She has exhibited artwork in Roswell, Ruidoso, Tinnie and the Capitol Building in Santa Fe. One of her paintings recently hung in the governor's reception office.

She attended the reception hosted by Governor and Mrs. Garry Carruthers, which opened the show last week.

Cole also has a shop displaying her color clothing and other art in Ruidoso's Swap Mart.

Kire Cole points to one of her most recent passions—painted sweatshirts.

Past donated dollars have helped charities such as the Association for Retarded Citizens, Special Olympics and other worthwhile retarded citizen charities in Ruidoso.

Ninety percent of all donations stay within the city from which it was donated. The other ten percent has been donated on the state level to the State Association for Retarded Citizens. This money is spent by ARC of New Mexico for group homes and specialized buses to help transport retarded citizens.
