Stratton visits Ruidoso

by BRIAN BLALOCK
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Drugs, water and the Attorney General's office were some of the topics New Mexico Attorney General Hal Stratton (AG) talked about on a recent visit to Ruidoso.

Stratton was in town Thursday to speak before the New Mexico Financial Service Association's board meeting at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, and took time out to talk to The News about several issues.

As the state's chief law enforcement officer, Stratton had a few comments on President George Bush's recently announced drug program.

"The drug problem is difficult," he said. "I believe the President believes as I do, you've got to eliminate the demand side."

Stratton said the drug laws were too lenient and tougher penalties need to be put in place, such as taking away a person's drivers license if they are convicted of using drugs.

"We've got to put some drug users in jail," he said. "It doesn't mean we don't put the drug runners in jail, it doesn't mean we don't put the drug sellers in jail. We've got to work on the demand side and we've got to punish people."

Stratton said he hadn't finished a review of all of the President's 150-page program, but he said there was a specific section in it specifying what states can do.

Stratton said the recent settlement between Texas and New Mexico in the Pecos River water case was good for New Mexico.

"It was a good deal for us," he said. Stratton said when the U.S. Supreme Court ruled New Mexico owed Texas damages, in the form of cash or water, for withholding water from the Pecos River, everyone knew the payment was going to have to be money.

He said at first Texas was presenting unrealistic figures about damage caused from the withholding of the water. But when the special magistrate ruled the payment would be in cash, Texas began to present

Convicted killer is up for parole

by RICHARD A. HARROLD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Convicted murderer Robert Elton Cox is scheduled to appear before the New Mexico Parole Board next month, after serving about ten years of a 30-year sentence.

Cox was convicted of the first degree murder of Lincoln County Sheriff Deputy Tommy Bradford on October 8, 1979.

Another man, who was a juvenile at the time of the crime was also arrested and convicted, and has already been paroled, said Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane, who was serving as a deputy with the department at that time.

Cox's hearing is scheduled for October 18, 1989, at the Central New Mexico Correctional Facility (CNMC) in Los Lunas.

At the time of the incident, Cox was either on parole or had just completed a sentence at the state penitentiary. McSwane could not remember which, and the records director at CNMC would not provide that information.

The State Department of Corrections, Central Records Division, did not have Cox's file at all, and Cox's present caseworker, Albert Adler, said he would not provide the information even if he had it.

Just prior to the murder in 1979, Cox had stolen a vehicle in Albuquerque and had arrived in Lincoln County, where he and the juvenile committed a series of burglaries and secured weapons, said Sheriff McSwane.

Cox and the juvenile broke into and were staying at a cabin in the Nogal Canyon area. Their general whereabouts were known to the Sheriff's department, and all deputies were on the alert to be looking for them.

The stolen vehicle was recovered, as were most of the weapons.

Deputy Bradford had gone up Nogal Canyon to look at real estate for sale in the area when he had a confrontation with Cox, according to McSwane. The murder site was in the Indian Springs area of upper Nogal Canyon.

Apparently Bradford never had a chance because his body was found with his pistol still snapped in its holster, according to McSwane. He was shot six times, twice in the abdomen, and four times in the head.

A four-day hunt ensued for the suspects which led deputies, State Police, and other agencies to Corona before Cox was captured.

McSwane said the murder weapon was never found.

Bradford was married with three children at the time of his death. He was assigned to the Captain area. He was known as Lincoln 8, which is no longer used by the department, said McSwane.

Getting ready for ticket sales

Ruidoso Community Concert members Betty Foster and Robert Rowe get ready for this weeks season membership drive. Memberships to the association's four concert can be purchased from a board member and campaign workers.

Tagging fish

Kiwanians tagged 90 fish out of 3,600 planted in Alto Lake for the annual Fishing Tournament. The "big" fish, was worth $10,000, but none of the anglers took home that prize this year. A teen-ager, Rick Devara, caught a fish with a special tag and had one chance in ten of winning the $10,000, but, according to the insurance company in Dallas, Texas, he missed the big bucks by one number.

Democrats campaign in Lincoln County

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Editor

Former governor Bruce King was the main attraction at the Lincoln County Democrats' free barbecue Saturday in Hondo.

King was among more than a dozen candidates and their representatives who traveled to Lincoln County for the barbecue that was dedicated to the memory of lifelong Democrat Lincoln McTeigue, who died recently.

McTeigue's wife, Rose McTeigue, and the rest of the McTeigue family hosted the Lincoln County Democrats on the McTeigue property in Hondo.

"Our hearts go out to Rose McTeigue and the McTeigue family," said King. "We all appreciate what Lincoln stood for; he's been a lifelong friend," continued the former governor.

King asked Lincoln County Democrats to support him in his bid for the Democratic nomination in next year's June primaries, and went on to call on all the candidates to run good campaigns and then band together as Democrats for the general election in November.

"After it's over, we have to get back together to win the war," said King.

Gubernatorial candidate Ruben Smith, a four-term member of the State Legislature, also was on hand for the barbecue.

Smith, a Las Cruces businessman and musician, listed his accomplishments that include the youth authority legislation that Republican Governor Garrey Caruthers signed into law. Citing New Mexico's 30 percent school dropout rate, Smith said New Mexico is at a crossroads.

"In order to turn this trend around, we're going to have to get some innovative person in the governor's office that will do things differently," said Smith, promising to "put New Mexico back on track," if he's elected.

Tracey Moran of Ruidoso spoke on behalf of Bob Gold, a candidate for governor; and Bruce Maki spoke on behalf of Congressman Bill Richardson, who may be a candidate for the office. Maki said Richardson will make his decision the end of this month.

more realistic figures. The two states eventually fixed on the figure of $14 million for the settlement.

Stratton said he hasn't heard anyone complain about the settlement, and in fact he said people in Farmington told him it was a good settlement.

"It saved a lot of farming, particularly in the Roswell and Artesia area," he said.

Stratton reacted to recent criticism of him by former governor Bruce King for his stance on the anti-donation clause of the constitution, saying the purpose of that clause is to ensure tax money collected by a government and the money it spends are not given to individuals, but used for the benefit of all the citizens.

New Mexico Attorney General Hal Stratton was in town last week for a speech and took time to talk to The News about issues in the state.

He said the statements by King were made in a political speech and he said the AG's office is reluctant to do anything for political reasons.

Stratton said the AG's office does not do a lot of investigations in local municipal manners. He said his office is involved with public corruption cases and complex white collar crime. He said it is the policy of the AG's office to neither confirm nor deny any investigation until an indictment is handed down.

Stratton would not confirm or deny reports that his office is investigating the Village of Ruidoso Downs. The Twelfth Judicial District Attorney's office is conducting an investigation into purchasing practices in Ruidoso Downs, and several people have claimed the AG's office had entered that investigation.

He said it is too early to look back on his term as attorney general, but he is pleased with his office's handling of the Duran Consent decree, dealing with prison condition and overcrowding in New Mexico.

He said the case is now being appealed and he feels it will one day end up in the U.S. Supreme Court, where it will be a precedent setting case.

"My one wish is the next attorney general carries that case on," Stratton said.

He did say he has enjoyed his term as the Attorney General of New Mexico.

"This is a great job, but it has its hard times," Stratton said. "It's probably the best elected job for a lawyer."

Stratton said he doesn't know what he will do when his term of office was over, but has several options. He stated he might go back to practicing law in Albuquerque, but he said a return to the legislature is definitely out.

"Wild horses could not drag me back to the legislature," he said.

Stratton spent eight years in the House of Representatives as a Republican representing District 29 in Bernalillo County.

Stratton, in jest, indicated he might try a whole new occupation.

"I might become a newspaper reporter," he said.

Ruidoso Public Library project could begin by this November

by BRIAN BLALOCK
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Visitors to the Ruidoso Public Library may find it a little noisy in a little more than a month.

According to division head Leon Eggleston the village will soon be seeking bids on construction at the library.

The construction will involve the enclosing of the patio area between the existing library building and the Senior Citizen's Center.

The Village of Ruidoso received a $50,000 matching grant in August from the New Mexico Advisory Council on Library. Funds for the grant come from the federal Library Services and Construction Act. The village had to put up $50,000 to qualify for the grant.

Eggleston said local architect David Smith is finishing the blueprints and as soon as that is complete, the village will be seeking construction bids.

He said he hopes construction will get started sometime around the first of November, weather permitting.

"We are ready to get started," Eggleston said.

He said construction will probably take between 90 and 120 days, but there should be no inconvenience for library patrons.

Enclosing the patio will add an additional 2,342 square feet to the library. The additional space will be used to house more books, as well as more office and storage space.

The new area will have a separate entrance, a skylight and study carrels in the back.

Eggleston, who applied for the grant said it covers more than just the construction.

"It's a construction grant, but it also includes the furnishings and whatever we need to make it work," he said.

Eggleston said the $50,000 grant will be paid to the village in four parts. Thirty percent will come when construction starts, 30 percent when construction is half complete, 30 percent when the village certifies the construction complete and the final ten percent will be sent when the New Mexico State Library completes an audit of the records on the project.

EDCLC board hears about four prospective businesses

by AL STUBBS
Ruidoso News Business Editor

The Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County heard the status of various industrial prospects at a board meeting, Thursday.

George Puckett, executive director, told of four companies which "look good" as far as moving operations to Lincoln County. Names of such companies are traditionally kept confidential until negotiations are "cinched up."

Ronnie Paulger, board member and president of the First National Bank of Ruidoso, told Ruidoso Valley Noon Lions Wednesday about a company which, he said, wants to build an anhydrous ammonia plant near Corona.

Puckett said Thursday night that some problems involving water supply and availability of natural gas have been overcome, that the project "looks good."

Paulger had told Lions that EDCLC can keep the doors open about another year with present funding.

He said that, hopefully, "with hard numbers" EDCLC can convince the county that benefits from industry brought into Lincoln County will be 10 times what it costs.

The county commission reduced support for EDCLC from about $125,000 this year to between $52,000 to $66,000 next calendar year.

In other business, Thursday night, EDCLC directors approved financial reports and also approved an agreement with the county government.

The agreement requires the EDCLC to promote economic welfare, to file a monthly report of financial activities with the county manager and to report quarterly to the county commission.

A yearly audit will be required as well as bonds for each officer, director or employee who handles funds.

EDCLC books shall be open "at reasonable business hours" to commissioners, the county manager, county attorney and county auditor for review.

The EDCLC board members approved a contract with Dean Noltensmeyer & Barraclough, low bidder for an audit. The cost will be $1,500.

Also the board presented a certificate of appreciation to the partners in the Financial Center for "making it possible for the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County to have attractive office space."

The resolution pointed out that "such provision denotes support and encouragement of the corporation and its goals ..."

Present to accept the accolades were Emmitt Mundy, building manager, and one of the partners, Jace Enser. Other partners are John Hall and Gary Lynch.

Former lieutenant governor Mike Runnels, vice-chairman of the Lincoln County Democrats, introduced the candidates.

"The most important office in state government is lieutenant governor," said Runnels, with a laugh, as he introduced Carol Cloer, a candidate for that office.

Cloer, assistant superintendent of the Bloomfield School District, said if she wins the lieutenant governor's office she will stress education, business and strengthening law enforcement.

"We have to be creative ... and full of energy," said Cloer, stressing that some solutions can be accomplished without spending a lot of money.

"You have to be unafraid to try new adventures," said Cloer, listing several profitable businesses she and her husband have owned and operated.

Former secretary of state Shirley Hooper is running for re-election to that office.

"I will always protect the ballot," said Hooper. "The way to combat (voter) apathy is for officials to work in a manner which makes people want to vote for them," she added.

The race for the Democratic nomination for attorney general (AG) drew two candidates, a prospective candidate and two candidates' representatives for Saturday's barbecue.

Candidates Kay Marr and Patrick Apodaca attended, as did representatives for candidates Patricia Madrid and Dick Minzner.

Marr has served for the past three years as a co-counsel for the Village of Ruidoso, Lincoln and Chaves counties and the Water Defense Association in the ongoing water dispute with the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe. She also spent eight years in Governor King's administration, the second half as secretary of finance.

Marr, who worked with former attorney general Paul Bardacke, said she is the only candidate with experience in that office.

"The AG and the governor need to work together," said Marr, noting that she has the experience in all three branches of government to be able to do just that.

"The challenges New Mexico faces for the 1990's will be of a legal nature," said candidate Patrick Apodaca, an Albuquerque lawyer. He served as associate legal counsel in the Carter administration, a job that he said provided good training for the office he seeks.

Runnels asked the crowd not to rule his name out, as he may seek the AG post.

Former state auditor Al Romero was at the barbecue to speak on behalf of his candidacy for another term in that office.

Also Saturday, Ruidoso attorney John Underwood announced his candidacy for state representative from District 56, the post currently held by Republican Ben Hall.

"I believe the people of this particular district have not been represented," said Underwood. "I don't have all the answers, but I know how to ask the right questions," he added.

CeCe Griffin, chairperson for Lincoln County Democrats, coordinated the barbecue, that included free food, 50 cent beer and live music throughout the afternoon.

State commission cancels bear season

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—The bear populations in the Capitan and Sandia mountains, already thinned by this summer's drought and ranchers protecting their livestock, will be protected from hunters this fall.

The state Game and Fish Commission voted during an emergency meeting Thursday to cancel this year's bear-hunting season in those mountain areas because of the number of bears already killed or removed from those areas. The big-game hunting season begins Wednesday.

"We made this decision based on sound biological issues, not on the political arguments some people were trying to make," Commissioner Bob Jones said after the meeting.

Jones said some wildlife groups tried to use the issue of protecting the bears in those areas to rally against all hunting.

Most of the public comment was in favor of the proposal. Bill Reed, a hunter from Sandia Park, was the only person to speak out against the proposal and said he was only interested in the Sandias.

"I don't feel like it's necessary to close the Sandias because there aren't that many bears captured there," he said.

Only bow hunting is allowed in the Sandias and only three bears have been killed there in the last few years.

Commission members of game management for the state Department of Game and Fish.

At least 20 bears from the Sandia Mountains have been captured or struck by vehicles. In Lincoln County, 22 bears believed to have raided sheep herds have been killed by ranchers and government trackers. Twenty-one of the bears were from the Capitan.

The Capitan was the focus of most of the comments.

John J. Dimas, a registered lobbyist for wildlife and environmental issues, said the damage done by bears in the Capitan didn't justify killing them. He estimated the value of the bears in their potential worth to hunting guides, the worth of their parts and the cost to the government to track them down was $60,000, or $2,727.27 per bear.

The 60 sheep destroyed by the bears were worth about $2,160 combined, he said.

"To me it's a disgrace to spend $60,000 for $2,000 worth of merchandise," he said.

Rosemary Lowe of the Public Lands Action Network said the killings were a symbol of a much larger problem.

"It's a ruthless campaign of genocide of many animal species by federal animal damage control and state agencies to appease and continue to bottle-feed the livestock industry," Ms. Lowe said.

"We feel the bear hunt already took place," she said.

The commission voted 2-0 to cancel the bear-hunting season in the Capitan and Sandia Mountains. Commissioner David Masestas did not vote, and commission members were not present.

The commission will meet next Thursday to set the 1990 big-game hunting season.

Lincoln County Democratic Party chairperson CeCe Griffin joins vice-chairman and master of ceremonies Mike Runnels on the bandstand during a barbecue Saturday honoring lifelong Democrat Lincoln McTeigue who died recently. ## California couple will open gallery

Renowned opera singers Paul and Barbara Westbrook, now retired, are working diligently toward the opening of their California Colors Art Gallery/Studio, October 1 at 201 Country Club Drive.

The Westbrooks, who recently closed their gallery in Laguna Beach, California, near where they have a ranch, say they hope that they can contribute to the cultural life of Ruidoso.

The couple recently purchased Survivors of the Past at the Country Club Drive location.

"This 'new kid' on the block in the Midtown Ruidoso area will feature fine art, both visual and wearable. All of the artists are from California, as are the owners," the Westbrooks announce in a release.

"The gallery manager is a very lovely local resident, Marlene Bruggink-Raven and her daughter, Michelle. Paul said Marlene will manage the large canvases, and Michelle, less than a year old, the small ones," continues the release.

The Westbrooks have appeared with the New York Opera, Houston, Texas, Grand Opera, and many others.

They sang under the batons of Toscanini and Stokowski; they have traveled all over the world for the State Department with such groups as the Robert Shaw Chorale.

Both have extensive experience in radio, television and the movies.

Barbara Westbrook has performed for 30 years in musical comedies; she taught voice for 24 years.

Having invested in California real estate a long time ago, the Westbrooks say they look forward to investing time and money in their new venture here in Ruidoso. They recently closed their gallery in Laguna Beach in anticipation of building 20 homes for artists to live and work at their crafts.

This will be a model artist live-work complex which they hope will be copied.

Barbara Westbrook is a plain air artist who has been painting for a scant two years. She says she loves the versatility of acrylics and paints huge canvases of lush flowers and large architectural pieces. She recently participated in the San Diego Art-Fest Walk and the 18th Annual Ruidoso Art Festival.

The California Colors Art Gallery will feature Harold "Hal" Hawkins who does luminous California landscapes as well as western art. He works in all media but prefers oils.

Jeannie Farrell of Laguna Beach, who shows nationally, will have her work of wearable sculpture done classically in silver, brass and copper.

Personal appearances of artists are planned by the Westbrooks.

The gallery will feature some paintings by Red Skelton and other celebrity California artists.

The Westbrooks belong to many groups that support the arts; they say they are activists for affordable housing for seniors and artists.

They are members of the Newport Harbor Museum of Art, Newport Beach, Laguna Beach Museum of Art, the Ilan Lael Foundation of San Diego, Metropolitan Opera Guild, Chambers of Commerce including Ruidoso and several beautification committees.

"One of their goals, they say, is to encourage youngsters to develop their creative sides. The arts enrich and expand, giving all a sense of challenge and fulfillment."

After the gallery opens, you'll probably find them outside creating new art in Ruidoso's "special light and air."

Winter hours at the gallery will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Toni and Herman Otero are pictured in their airy, pleasant place of business, Cafe Otero, in the Plaza d'Oros Mall on U.S. Highway 70 between Wal-Mart and the Ruidoso Inn. The Capitan residents, who also own El Paisano in Capitan, are well known for their Mexican cuisine.

Mexican food is special at cafe in Plaza d'Oros

The Cafe Otero is one of the bright, airy pleasant restaurants in Ruidoso.

The people who have the cafe, Toni and Herman Otero of Capitan, are noted for their fine Mexican food. They also have El Paisano in Capitan which their daughter and husband, Esther and Blair Flanagan, now operate.

Cafe Otero is located in the Plaza D'Oros Mall on U.S. Highway 70 between the Ruidoso Inn and Wal-Mart.

The Cafe Otero is open from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday for lunch, and features all kinds of Mexican food with a different entree everyday. Sandwiches and soups plus homemade cobbler also are available. The Oteros also do catering, something new for them, which they say they truly enjoy.

They are taking orders for Christmas delivery of ristas and homemade tamales.

The Oteros are natives of Lincoln County. They have lived in Capitan for 30 years and have raised three daughters there.

Besides Esther Flanagan, their daughters are Barbara Sanchez, who has a beauty shop, and Patricia Wooddell, married to Charles Wooddell, who handles Helene Hayden accessories in the area.

El Paisano is somewhat of an institution in Capitan.

Merchants asked for cooperation

It's important that merchants who are in the MainStreet Ruidoso confines respond to a questionnaire regarding the effects a block grant could have on improving the economic health of the area.

This was the word from Leon Eggleston, Village of Ruidoso division head, at a MainStreet board meeting Wednesday.

An application for a block grant submitted earlier in the year was rejected because per capita income was too high in the Ruidoso area.

The application for $500,000 in grant funds is based this time on eliminating slum areas and blight in the village.

The questionnaire has to do with what impact the block grant funds would have on individual businesses regarding job enhancement and such.

Photos of "junky" areas along El Paso Street and elsewhere will accompany the grant application.

Eggleston said a public hearing will be conducted at 2 p.m. Tuesday, September 26, Ruidoso Municipal Administrative Center to spell out how the funds would be spent.

"Some cabins need to be knocked down," Eggleston told board members.

He said the New Mexico Highway and Transportation Department is interested in "co-oping the sidewalks on Sudderth."

If the grant money is obtained, Eggleston said the village will have to do one side of Sudderth Drive and then the other.

MainStreet block captains are distributing the questionnaires.

"If we don't get a good response on this, we won't get a grant," Eggleston said.

One problem that will have to be addressed is to find parking when parking is removed from Sudderth, Eggleston said. He said the village would go in and maintain parking on private land "with permission" of the owners.

"Right now the plan is to get Sudderth to be a fun place to shop," Eggleston said.

He was accompanied to the MainStreet board meeting by Cleatus Richards, city planner.

Tracey Moran, director of the Chamber of Commerce Convention and Visitors Bureau, outlined Aspenfest plans at the meeting which followed a weekly coffee.

Village staff members Cleatus Richards and Leon Eggleston were present at a MainStreet Ruidoso board meeting Wednesday morning. Mary Maul, MainStreet Ruidoso project director is pictured behind the two men.

Paul and Barbara Westbrook, retired opera singers and strong supporters of the arts, are new residents of Ruidoso. They will open California Colors Art Gallery/Studio, about October 1, at 201 Country Club Drive.

Warriors tame the Tularosa Wildcats with 21-7 victory Friday

by BRIAN BLALOCK
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Warriors got their offense going during the second half of Friday night's football game against the Tularosa Wildcats.

The Warriors scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to beat Tularosa 21-7 at Wildcat Stadium.

The ballgame was tied 7 to 7, until 11:41 to go in the fourth, when quarterback Mannie Guardiola hit Kenny Trapp with a nine-yard pass at the end zone flag. Trapp's score and the point after (PAT) made it 14-7 in favor of Ruidoso.

The Warriors held the Wildcats on the next series and forced a punt. They got the ball back on their own 37-yard line.

It took the Warriors just three plays to cover the 73 yards to the end zone. Junior running back Kief Johnson took the ball the final 36 yards down the left sideline. The PAT was good and Ruidoso led 21-7.

The Wildcats could only move the ball 25 yards on their final series and the Warriors held on for their second win of the season.

The poor ball handling by the Warriors and an inspired Wildcats team made it a tough ball during the first half.

Playing in front of a homecoming crowd, the Wildcats scored first. On their second series in the first half, the Wildcats moved the ball 64 yards on 14 plays, primarily on the running and passing of senior quarterback Lew Mendez, for the touchdown. Mendez scored from the five on a quarterback keeper up the middle. The PAT was good and Tularosa led 7-0.

The Warriors offense seemed to be sputtering in the first half. The Warriors fumbled the ball away twice and had to punt twice on their first four possessions. With Trapp slightly injured and on the bench, things looked bad until senior Alfred Rue intercepted a Wildcat pass and gave the Warriors the ball on their own 32-yard line.

The Warriors used 11 plays to move the ball down to the Wildcat 28-yard line. Then Rick Ragsdale hit tight end Jesse Guardiola on a 24-yard pass play down to the Wildcats' four yard line. Two plays later, the same guy who started it all, Rue, took it around right end for the score with 12 seconds remaining in the half.

The Warriors attempted an on-side kick on the ensuing kick-off and recovered the ball after a Wildcat player touched the ball. With time running out, Ragsdale hit Rue down the left sideline with a 40 yard pass. Rue went out of bounds on the Wildcats' seven, but time ran out.

Hard hitting and injuries throughout the game sent several players for both teams to the sidelines.

Freshman kicker Shane Wells sat out the second half with a hip pointer, he suffered in the first half on the Warriors' first attempted PAT. Junior guard Ryan Wright kicked three PAT's in the game.

The Wildcats quarterback Lew Mendez was shaken up in the fourth quarter and did not return.

The Warriors defense shut down the Wildcats running attack in the second half and their passing attack was not enough.

The Warriors finished the game with 312 yards in total offense to the Wildcats' 199 yards. The Warriors rushed the ball for 226 yards. Senior Kenny Trapp lead the way with 91 yards while junior Kief Johnson had 87 yards.

Quarterback Rick Ragsdale completed three out of five passes for 77 yards. The Warriors other quarterback, Mannie Guardiola, was one out of two, but that one pass was the go ahead touchdown to Trapp.

The Warriors had 17 first downs to the Wildcats' 10. The two-and-two Warriors will take on the Portales Rams next week in Ruidoso.

FIRST QUARTER

Tularosa kicked off to the Warriors to begin the game. Kief Johnson returned the ball from the 22 to the Warriors' 40 yard-line.

One of the first plays from scrimmage, Trapp went 10 yards on the right side. It would be his only carry of the first half. On the next play, quarterback Guardiola fumbled the snap and the Wildcats recovered on the 49 yard-line of the Warriors'.

It took them 10 plays to move the ball to the Warriors' 25 yard line. On a fourth down and nine play, quarterback Mendez was stopped on a quarterback draw for only a three yard gain.

The Warriors offense could not move the ball and they were forced to punt it back to the Wildcats.

On the next series, the Wildcats drove the ball down to the Warriors' 23 yard line before the quarter ran out.

SECOND QUARTER

The second quarter began with two Wildcat incompletions. Then on fourth down, Mendez hit receiver Robert Calderon with a 14-yard pass down to the Warriors' nine-yard line. Two plays later, Mendez took the ball over himself for the touchdown. The PAT was good and the Wildcats led 7-0.

After the kickoff, the Warriors' began their drive on their own 38-yard line. But, five plays later, quarterback Ragsdale was hit as he was pitching the ball and the Wildcats recovered on their own 47-yard line.

The Wildcats couldn't move the ball and punted to the Warriors. The Warriors could move the ball and punted it back to the Wildcats on their 46-yard line.

On the first play, Mendez was intercepted by Rue and the Warriors began their first half touchdown drive on their own 32-yard line.

It took the Warriors 14 plays to punch the ball in the end zone. The PAT was good and the team went to the locker rooms tied 7-7.

THIRD QUARTER

Ruidoso kicked off to begin the second half. The Wildcats began their first possession of the half or their own 39-yard line. They weren't able to move the ball and were forced to punt. But, a roughing the kicker penalty by the Warriors gave them a first down and ten on the Warriors' 41-yard line. After losing three yards on the first play, Mendez hit split end Andre Dorame on a 29 yard pass down the right sideline.

With first down for the Wildcats on the Warriors' 14-yard line, the Warriors defense rose to the occasion. Mendez was sacked for a five-yard loss on first down by Trapp and Steve Dankert. On the next play, Dankert almost intercepted a pass with nothing but open sideline in front of him. A third down running play went nowhere. On fourth down, Mendez was sacked again, this time by Jesse Guardiola. The Warriors took over on their own 25-yard line.

The offense began to move the ball thanks to the return of Trapp to the backfield. On their first play, Trapp broke several tackles and carried the ball out to the 42-yard line. The Warriors kept the ball on the ground and moved it down to the Wildcats' 14-yard line.

This time it was the Wildcats defense which stopped the Warriors. Three straight running plays by Trapp, left the Warriors with fourth and four. Junior running back Jamie Canderlaria could only get two yards on fourth and the Wildcats took over on their own six-yard line.

A tough Warriors defense forced a punt. Following a return to the Wildcats 20-yard line, the Warriors started their drive with 2:23 seconds left in the quarter.

A holding call on first down, wiped out a 10-yard gain by Rue. But Trapp carried the ball four straight times and gave the Warriors a first and goal situation on the four as time ran out.

FOURTH QUARTER

The Warriors were penalized five yards for illegal motion on the first play of the quarter. The next play, Guardiola's pass was batted down by Kevin Zamora of the Wildcats. On second down, from the nine-yard line, Guardiola rolled out and hit Trapp at the end zone flag for the score. The PAT was good and the Warriors led 14-7.

An illegal block on the run back put the Wildcats deep on their own 16-yard line. On the first play, Mendez was stopped for no gain and was forced to leave the game due to an injury.

Junior Louis Montoya came into the game and proved to be a hard person to tackle. Montoya helped move the Wildcats out to the 39-yard line before the Warriors forced them to punt.

The Warriors took over on their own 37-yard line and wasted no time moving the ball.

On the first play, Trapp carried the ball 11 yards to the Warriors' 48-yard line. The next play, Guardiola pitched out left to Jose Marquez, who carried the ball 16 yards to the Wildcats 36-yard line. The next play, Johnson swept around the left side and into the end zone for the score. The PAT was good and the Warriors led 21-7.

Following a 21-yard run back on the kick-off, the Wildcats started on their own 42-yard line. Behind the passing of Montoya, they moved the ball to the Warriors 33-yard line.

But once again the Warriors defense toughened up and stopped the Wildcats. Montoya was sacked on fourth down by the Warriors' Logan Stirman and Abel Montelongo. The Warriors took over on their own 38-yard line.

After a pair of seven and 22 yard gains by Johnson, Coach Doug Ragsdale pulled the starters during an injury time out and the Warriors' second team tried to run the clock out.

The Wildcats did get the ball back for the final play of the game, Montoya passed to halfback Tony Sanchez, who was tackled on the Warriors 36-yard line as time ran out.

The final score was the Ruidoso Warriors 21, the Tularosa Wildcats 7.

Warriors running back Kenny Trapp heads around the right side for a gain against the Tularosa Wildcats during Friday night's game. The Warriors won the contest 21-7.

1989 Golden Aspen Rally is ready to roll

by RICHARD A. HARROLD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

It's time again for the mighty rumble of Harleys and Hondas, side-hacks, and choppers, of leather and lights, polished chrome and classic engineering.

Registration begins Tuesday, September 19, for the 1989 Golden Aspen Rally when motorcyclists from all over the nation come to Ruidoso for a cycle extravaganza.

Ron Andrews, a Golden Aspen Rally organizer, said pre-registration for the annual event is almost double the number it was last year at the same time.

One of the new attractions to this year's rally will be the display of "Quicksilver," a 1982 Honda Goldwing touring cycle with a trailer that has been customized into a $54,000 piece of two-wheeled art.

On Wednesday and Thursday, September 20 and 21, the Harley Davidson Rolling Museum will make a stop in Ruidoso at the trade show.

The rolling museum is an 18-wheeler that travels the country with Harley memorabilia for public display.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce will present hospitality night from 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday, September 21, to offer local residents and others who are not registered for the Golden Aspen Rally a chance to visit the trade show at no charge.

Mainstreet Ruidoso will sponsor a "Battle of the Bands" from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m. Friday, September 22, in the parking lot by the Winner's Circle. The winner of this event will play for a dance the following Saturday night from 7:30 p.m. until closing.

The parade on Saturday will have Nashville recording artist Buddy Latham as its first grand marshal since 1986. The parade is scheduled to begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Daily during the festival C.M.A. sponsored non-denominational church services are scheduled at the trade show headquarters at the old Gibson Building at the junction of highways 70 and 48.

There will be bike judging, an Iron Pants bike road rally, as well as other fun poker runs and many other interesting exhibits.

Registrants in the Iron Pants road rally can win one of five new motorcycles of their choice through a drawing.

The trade show opens at 1 p.m. Wednesday, and will remain open until 8 p.m. It re-opens at 10 a.m. Thursday and closes at 8 p.m. On Friday, the trade show opens 10 a.m., and closes at 8 p.m. The same hours are scheduled for Saturday; on Sunday, the trade show opens at 8 a.m. and closes at 2 p.m.

For complete information on scheduling and the location of events, contact Ron Andrews at 257-4031, or contact the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Three women join WMES staff this year

Phyllis Platta

Phyllis Platta is the language development aide at White Mountain Elementary School.

Though a native of Shawnee, Oklahoma, she has lived in Mesquero for a while and is quite familiar with Ruidoso.

Her job is to encourage expressive language development in the second and third graders at WMES. She graduated from Northwestern State University in Tahlequah, Oklahoma. She also was involved with Head Start since 1979.

Kim Gibson

Kim Gibson had visited the Ruidoso area several times, and each time she hoped someday she could live here.

Now, after eight years teaching, she calls Ruidoso home and is enjoying her first year teaching here.

A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Texas, Gibson spent the last two years teaching in Leander, Texas. She also taught for six years in McCaulley, Texas.

Her experiences at White Mountain Elementary School have been very positive, and she is looking forward to a productive year.

MELINDA VALLIANT

Melinda Valliant

Melinda Valliant is a "sort-of-new" teacher at White Mountain Elementary. Last year she taught sixth grade at the middle school until October, when she began to teach second grade at WMES.

This is her first time teaching after a seven year hiatus from the profession, during which she was earning her master's degree and working elsewhere.

She graduated from New Mexico State University, and substitute taught for eight years.

She said she believes Ruidoso schools have the best teaching environment she has seen. She said she is glad her own children attend school here.

Proposed policy gets mixed reviews

A draft copy of the Lincoln County Employee Handbook has received negative reaction from some county employees.

At issue is the term "at will" when in reference to county personnel's employment. The term is used in a disclaimer that would be signed by an employee.

County manager Nick Pappas, stressed the handbook is still in draft form and in no way represents current personnel policy for the county.

"You've got to start someplace," said Pappas, who has been meeting with other elected officials in an attempt to write a current and usable policy for the county.

"The present policy is antiquated, ambiguous and legally ignorant," said Pappas. "If 'at will' is so offensive, then we'll take it out."

Pappas said the confusion is that some believe the term "at will" means an employee can be fired without cause. Employees may not be fired without cause, and any employee terminated has the grievance system in place to challenge any reason for dismissal, said Pappas.

A recent Supreme Court decision stated that an employer may not fire an employee without just cause, and verbal agreements negotiated at the time of hire carry the same weight as written employment contracts.

The intent of the wording is to inform county employees their jobs are not tenured in the same manner as federal or state civil servant employees, said Pappas.

"We have to be able to fire those employees who slough off and don't do their work," he said.

The policy handbook would have to go through a public hearing before approval, and also must be accepted by the county commission before it is enforceable, said Pappas.

The Dreamer

by Dan Storm

James "Jim" Littlefield Memorial services were held September twelve at Church of the Holy Mount in Ruidoso for James "Jim" Littlefield who was called home by Our Lord on September ten.

Father John W. Penn said that Jim was a dearly beloved man who loved everybody, was always cheerful, never losing his temper—that he had a great impact upon the life of our community, and always with a smile and a laugh, and a joke.

"Jim was one of the first people I met when I came here," said Father Penn. "He was in the hospital, and yet he welcomed in his cheerful way, saying that he hoped I would be at home here, that he was sure I would be well received. The visit with Jim was a blessing."

Lay reader Dr. Ronald L. Annala read from "The Wisdom of Solomon: "But the souls of the righteous are in the hands of God... they will receive great good because God has tested them and found them worthy of Himself."

Also Psalm 46: "God is our refuge and our strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore we will not fear though the earth be moved and the mountains be toppled into the midst of the sea."

Dr. Annala read also from the Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Romans: "I consider the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory that is to be revealed to us."

Also the Twenty-third Psalm: "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want."

The Reverend Ann Gaddy read from the Gospel according to Saint John: "Let not your heart be troubled, ye believe in God, believe in me. In my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you."

Father Penn read from the Book of Common Prayer: "I know that my redeemer liveth and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth, and though this body be destroyed, yet shall I see God; who I shall see for myself and mine eyes shall behold and not as a stranger."

Also: "Oh God, whose mercies cannot be numbered: accept our prayers on behalf of thy servant, James, and grant him an entrance into the land of light and joy, in the fellowship of thy saints through Jesus Christ thy Son our Lord; who liveth and reigneth with thee and the Holy Spirit, one God now and forever. Amen."

Lay reader Walter Rawley read from the Prayers of the people: Grant to us who are still in our pilgrimage, and who walk as yet by faith, that thy Holy Spirit may lead us in holiness and righteousness all our days grant that, increasing in knowledge and love of thee, James may go from strength to strength in the life of perfect service in thy Heavenly kingdom. Amen."

Organist Jane Deyo played favorite hymns including, "A Mighty Fortress is our God."

We are grateful for the blessing Jim has been in our lives all these years—always cheerful helpful and encouraging—and we rejoice that he is safe and happy with our Lord in Heaven.

Mel and Monica O'Reilly Land In Green Ireland

Mel and Monica left on Monday morning, September 11, for a three week's visit to the land of their forefathers, the Emerald Isle.

I just hear (mid-afternoon on September 13) from their sons Mel Dylan, Colm Brian, and Patrick Brendan that Mel had telephoned them about four o'clock from Dublin, Ireland.

Monica took along a family tree of her parents, the McCormac Clan.

They will surely visit the village of Saint Mel where stands the ancient Cathedral of Saint Mel. I think Mel said his people came from the village of Saint Mel, and that his parents named him in honor of this good saint. One of the twins, Mel Dylan, carries on the name. And Patrick Brendan is named for the patron saint of the Green Island. Colm Brian carries two names revered in Irish tradition.

From here to "The Auld Sod" in one day! The world has indeed grown smaller. We know Mel and Monica will find the words of the old song to be true:

"There's a welcome as wide as the whole world itself waiting for you in Green Ireland."

Especially for those of Irish ancestry who are visiting their ancestral homeland for the first time. We know this is an event of a lifetime for Mel and Monica, and we wish them a wonderful visit and a safe journey back home, to the land of the Piñon and Pine.

Local cycling enthusiast Toby Campbell is hooked on classics

by RICHARD A. HARROLD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

If you want to turn some heads, take a cruise through Midtown Ruidoso on a 1949 Harley Davidson motorcycle with a side car.

"Because classic motorcycles, that's where it's at," says Toby Campbell, who restores motorcycles as a hobby and sometimes as a job.

Born in North Auckland, New Zealand, a small fishing village on the coast, Campbell's interest in motorcycles began when he was a small boy.

His father had a classic Douglas, and a 1927 Henderson, which Campbell has now.

As a youth, he worked at the mines in west Australia in a machine shop rebuilding locomotive engines, where he not only learned skills in rebuilding engines, but in machining as well.

In his spare time while in Australia, he used the machine shop to rebuild an old BSA motorcycle. He also, at the time, was involved in flat-track and speedway racing.

At one time in New Zealand, Campbell had as many as 50 motorcycles, most of them classics.

Currently he has about nine or 10 bikes, some completely restored, and others in various stages of completeness. These include the 1949 Harley with the side car, and a 1952 Harley, the '27 Henderson, and a sort of hodgepodge Harley made up of various parts from different model years.

Campbell also has his own shop at his home in Nogal, where he lives with his wife and two children, with enough tools and parts to completely restore a bike there.

His shop in Ruidoso is at his business, an automotive repair shop that he hopes to develop into Ruidoso's most complete machine shop.

He recently acquired a massive grinding machine which will give him the capability to grind crank shafts, a precision job that requires specifications to be met at the ten-thousandth of an inch.

His main source of income is from his automotive shop, a third of the income from machining, and some from doing custom prototype work for an inventor.

Though he is restoring a classic 1947 Indian for someone else, the restoration of classic bikes is a labor of love for Campbell.

"I like quality bikes," said Campbell.

A primary reason for establishing the bike shop was his frustration at traveling 60 miles or more to get parts for his own bikes.

Campbell now has accounts with seven different warehouses and can find motorcycle parts back to 1930 models.

While he acknowledges his hobby is not a cheap one, the time and money invested is rewarding.

"Compared to airplane racing it's quite cheap," he said.

Campbell admitted he would like to tour the country with his family on their motorcycles, but realizes time is not always available.

He likes Ruidoso very much, but he must work hard in the summer, taking advantage of the tourist season, so he can make it during the winter.

"Just taking off for a couple days during the summer is not much of a vacation," he said over the rumble of his '49 Harley while I rode in the side car through Midtown.

But one thing is certain. If you have a love for classic motorcycles, or are interested in them, a network starts here in Ruidoso at Toby's garage, at the corner of Mechem and Sudderth.

Ruidoso Community Concert Association is bringing music back to these mountains.

Professional musical offerings have been slim since Ruidoso Summer Festival disbanded two years ago, but music is back, thanks to the volunteers who have organized and joined forces with Community Concerts, an organization that has functioned over the past 60 years in more than 1,000 towns in the United States and Canada.

Four programs are already booked for this first concert series: the Empire Brass Quintet on October 19, The New Christy Minstrels on December 14, Markham and Broadway, duo-pianists, on April 3, and the Manhattan Rhythm Kings on April 16. The concerts are set for 7:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church. Individual tickets won't be offered for these concerts, since Community Concerts is operated on a membership system, with members receiving tickets to all performances.

A membership campaign is under way, with season memberships available today (Monday), September 18 through Saturday, September 23, at Ruidoso State Bank. Cost for the entire season is just $25 for adults, $10 for children or $60 for a family. Membership in Ruidoso Community Concert Association, also entitles season ticket holders to attend Community Concerts in Alamogordo, Artesia, Carlsbad and Las Cruces.

Don't put off buying tickets to hear, not only these four outstanding professional musical groups, but also musicians who will perform in area concerts. To purchase a membership, go to Ruidoso State Bank during regular business hours this week, call 336-4015 or 257-4088, or send a check to Ruidoso Community Concert Membership; Box 1184; Ruidoso 88345.—fj

Letters to the editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Here in Lincoln County we are most familiar with game management units 36 and 37; however, we do hear about game management problems in other areas of the state occasionally.

Governor Carruthers recently stated in a meeting here in Ruidoso that tourism is the state's #1 industry. We know for a fact it is here in Lincoln County. Tourists pour into Lincoln County to the horse races and to go skiing. We also draw large numbers of hunters and fishermen. Outdoor recreation contributes a great deal to our economy in this area. Hunting and fishing adds a lot to our economy, especially in the spring and fall when, otherwise, we would be in off season. We hate to see either of these resources mismanaged or misused.

According to the news, 19 bears were killed by the Department of Game and Fish, U.S.D.A., and Department of Animal Control. These bears were killed by officials during the month of August in one area on the south side of the Capitan Mountains. (The majority of these bears being mature females). We also know of 4 bears killed in Ruidoso, and one in White Oaks. Five or six bears that were frequently visiting the campgrounds in the Bonito Lake area disappeared after game department officials publicly stated that problem bears would be killed by department personnel rather than trapped and moved.

This adds up to around 30 bears killed, or were allowed to be killed, by the New Mexico game officials in the past few months. We have no idea how many other bears have been disposed of this summer that we haven't heard about.

Sport hunting is an industry to us, and many others in New Mexico. If we figure up what impact killing this many bears has had on our economy in Lincoln County, it is a fairly sizable amount. If a bear hunter comes to hunt and plans to stay in the Ruidoso area 4 or 5 days, depending on if he hunts with a guide, rents a horse, stays in a motel, eats in a cafe, or just camps and hunts, he can spend from $500 to $2000 in the local area. When we look at approximately 30 bears killed by New Mexico Game officials during August, that could have been harvested by sportsmen, this has quite an impact on our economy in Lincoln County.

New Mexico Game Officials are attempting to justify killing bears this summer by blaming the dry year and natural feed shortage. We did have a dry spring and summer, but it wasn't so dry the bears are out of natural feed. Bears are a lot like hogs, they can eat a lot of things, for instance, in the spring when bears come out of the den they graze almost entirely on green grass just like a cow. Bears eat lots of herbacious plants and roots, grub worms, bees, yellow jackets, and ants throughout the year. Their diet consists of nuts and berries in season. Bears are also carnivorous, and dine on various rodents, fawn deer, elk calves, and domestic sheep, goats, and calves. Bears travel a lot, especially in the spring and summer, and normally settle down to feed in one general area in the fall when natural fruits, berries, and nuts are ripe. Mother nature pretty well provides for the bears year in year out. There is not always a large natural feed supply, but the bears always seem to find something to eat.

Contrary to what some of our game officials would like us to believe, our bear population is very healthy and increasing. Some bears keep their cubs with them until they are approximately a year and a half old. Cubs are normally born in February when the sow is in the den. The sow usually takes her cubs back to the den with her their first winter. She will then wean them the following summer when the cubs are approximately a year and a half old. Normally bears seen in town and in campgrounds midsummer are these yearling past cubs who are looking for their own territory. When they encounter garbage around houses or campgrounds, this is easy picking and they normally return for more and stick around awhile.

When bears encounter sheep they normally have a picnic, as do mountain lions. Sheep are slow and easily caught. Many sheep ranchers in the Sacramento Mountains, near Weed, New Mexico, went out of the sheep business years ago due to problems with bears and lions. The majority of these ranchers now graze one cow where they once grazed 50 sheep.

Bears and lions depredation on sheep is not a new problem. Bear encounters in campgrounds and in various towns is not a new thing either. It happens every summer.

It is too bad that sportsmen aren't allowed to harvest a few more bears. However, it is hard to harvest bears in April when the bears are still in the den. No-season in August this year when most of the bear problems were occurring. We do get a short season this fall just before the rifle elk hunts start, and in and around several other seasons, and we get the whole month of December. Wow! Bears normally all den up around Thanksgiving.

Reporter's Round

By Richard A. Harrold

The approach of the Golden Aspen Rally has reminded me of my days as a wild teen-ager, riding motorcycles from dawn until dark. I had no interest in street bikes at the time. My friends and I all rode dirt bikes; enduros and moto-cross bikes.

We called ourselves the Yama-zuki club house gang and we hung around one guy's house because he had all the tools and an arc welder, which came in handy for frame modifications.

At that time I lived in a private subdivision area, probably very similar to the Alto area: big houses, golf courses, country club atmosphere, and lots of restrictions. But there were no restrictions on motorcycles. At least not until after the Yama-zuki gang.

Our reputation spread far and wide as inconsiderate, ne-good, delinquents who made nothing but noise and scared all the deer. We allegedly never obeyed the speed limit, and sought purposely to harass retirees who only wanted peace and quiet and to feed their grossbeaks.

Fact was we usually followed the speed limit because we knew cars were bigger than us. No use power sliding around a blind corner only to meet someone in a coup de ville whose reaction time had somewhat dimmed.

And we didn't purposely seek to harass people with noise, except for those who complained about us. We figured they would complain anyway, so might as well give them something to complain about.

About the deer, well. Once I did chase a deer on my motorcycle just for the heck of it. Only once I say because deer are much nimbler, moving more quickly through dense trees than a teen-ager on a motorcycle. When a tree branch yanked me off my bike, I had enough of deer chasing.

There were about ten of us boys who made our own race track. We knew we made a lot of noise and didn't want to bother anyone, so we constructed a motocross course adjacent to a snowmobile racetrack. You see, I lived in Michigan at the time. We were a friendly crew. We never purposely intimidated anyone. In fact, we tried to organize all the other teen-agers in the area into a club, but no one wanted to join. Can't imagine why.

You see, my friends and I would ride out to the track and see other teen-agers riding there. We'd ride up and ask if anyone wanted to race. The others would always say no because they had to go home and eat. It didn't matter what time of day it was, they always had to go and eat.

The subdivision gradually grew intolerant of our actions, even though we made all our noise away from any houses. The closest lot was a quarter mile away behind a dense stand of trees. You couldn't hear us. Anyway, rules were made.

No motorcycle riding before 8 a.m. or after 10 p.m. This meant any motorcycle, even a BMW R100 which can't even be heard if you stand next to it.

Then all motorcycles had to have a permit to be used in the subdivision. The final straw came when they built new roads over our trails. At least we still had the race track. And the other thing we had going for us was that we had befriended the local police force.

The sheriff liked us and we liked the sheriff. He knew we never caused any serious trouble. We were kids. But he did have a job to do and if someone complained, we understood.

But what none of us understood then was how people could perceive us as a threat. In fact, some of the retaliation residents took against us was far more severe than anything we ever did.

For example, we had this spot called "the rope." This was a huge rope tied to a branch that overhung a lake. The story goes that some crazed teen-ager climbed up this massive cottonwood with the rope during a thunder storm, tied it to a branch about 24 inches in diameter and about 80 feet above the lake. The tree was next to a 15 foot bank at the water's edge. This tree was solid. Many a time we could get four or even five people holding on to the rope at once, and with a good run, we could swing out to 20 feet above the lake, then drop into the water. Excellent fun.

Most of us were pretty young and did not have drivers licenses, and besides, there was no road to the rope. Our method of travel was by motorcycle. Yes, there were times at night we made a lot of noise, and if you've ever been by a still lake at night, the sound of someone scratching their eyelid can carry a far distance. So yes, there were complaints made. But the surreptitious solution devised by the complainers was incredibly dangerous.

One August afternoon, about 15 of us "hellions" were at the rope. Four of us grabbed onto the rope, got a good running start, and just before the apex when everyone would let go, something terrible happened. The branch the rope was tied to broke. Everyone fell into the water with the rope on top of them. The massive branch fell at the water's edge.

No one was hurt, but everyone was shaken. We couldn't believe that massive branch broke on its own. And sure enough, when we examined the branch, we could see saw marks half way through. Looking up, the stub left behind had a clean slice half way, the rest shredded like a normal break.

Why someone would do that I still don't understand. We never did find another good spot, so the rope was never replaced. The summer was almost over, and many of us would be returning to their permanent homes somewhere in the cities. The rope was always a spot for fun, socializing, just hanging out. It was where I saw for the first time in real life a snake catch a frog and eat it, something I had only seen on television. It was a hideaway from the summer heat where adults were not allowed. But the adult world finally intruded upon our little paradise. I suppose it reminded us that our childhood was soon coming to an end. That we really had no control over our own lives yet.

No one uses our race track anymore. It's still there, but the kids these days ride their four-wheel ATVs on the black-top. I understand a barn has been built and some stables at our track, so even if someone wanted to use it for dirt riding, they couldn't.

The area where the rope used to be has been subdivided into lots. Eventually someone will build a house on that spot where dreams were not only made, but lived.

Schools announce lunch policy

Ruidoso Municipal Schools announced its policy for free and reduced price meals for children unable to pay the full price of meals served under the National School Lunch Program, and/or School Breakfast Program.

Each school and the office of the superintendent has a copy of the policy, which may be reviewed by any interested party.

Children from households whose income is below levels specified by the program are eligible for either free or reduced price meals.

Application forms were sent to all homes with a letter to parents or guardians.

To apply for free or reduced price meals, households should fill out the application and return it to the school. The information provided on the application will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility and may be verified at any time during the year by school or other program officials.

For school officials to determine eligibility, households receiving food stamps or Aid to Families with Dependent Children must list the child's name, their food stamp or AFDC case number, and the signature and name of an adult household member.

Households not receiving food stamps or AFDC must list the names of all household members, social security numbers of all adult members or a statement that the household member does not possess a social security number, total household income and the amount and source of the income received by each household member and the signature of an adult household member certifying that the information provided is correct.

Applications may be submitted anytime during the year. Under the provisions of the policy, principals will review applications and determine eligibility.

Parents and guardians dissatisfied with the ruling of the school official may wish to discuss the decision with the determining official on an informal basis.

Parents and guardians wishing to make a formal appeal may make a request, either orally or written for a hearing on the decision.

In certain cases, foster children are also eligible for school meal benefits. If a household wishes to apply for benefits for foster children living with them, the household should contact the school for more information.

For complete details on the program and rules of application, please contact the superintendents office, or the principal of the school your child attends.
