Cycle emporium

This is one area where it is happening this week during the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally. It was relatively quiet when this photo was taken, but the area soon filled up with bikers, vendors and hosts. Final registration won't be known until after the weekend. A major event is the annual parade Saturday.

Aspenfest is under way

When the Golden Aspen Rally roared into town this week it initiated Aspenfest 1990, with activities that will continue throughout the fall season in Ruidoso and Lincoln County.

The Rally activities are listed, with a complete schedule, in the Aspenfest '90 special edition inserted in today's edition of The Ruidoso News. Information on most of the other activities is also included in the special section provided by The News and our advertisers to help make the golden autumn celebration fun for you and your entire family.

Warriors celebrate Homecoming 1990

A rip roaring bonfire will send a Tularosa Wildcat effigy sizzling heavenward at the Ruidoso Warrior homecoming kickoff at the village's free parking lot tonight, Thursday, at 7:30 p.m.

The hottest act in town will feature firey speeches and razzle dazzle band music. All will precede Friday's homecoming parade, starting at Western Auto at 2 p.m. and ending on the parking lot of the football field.

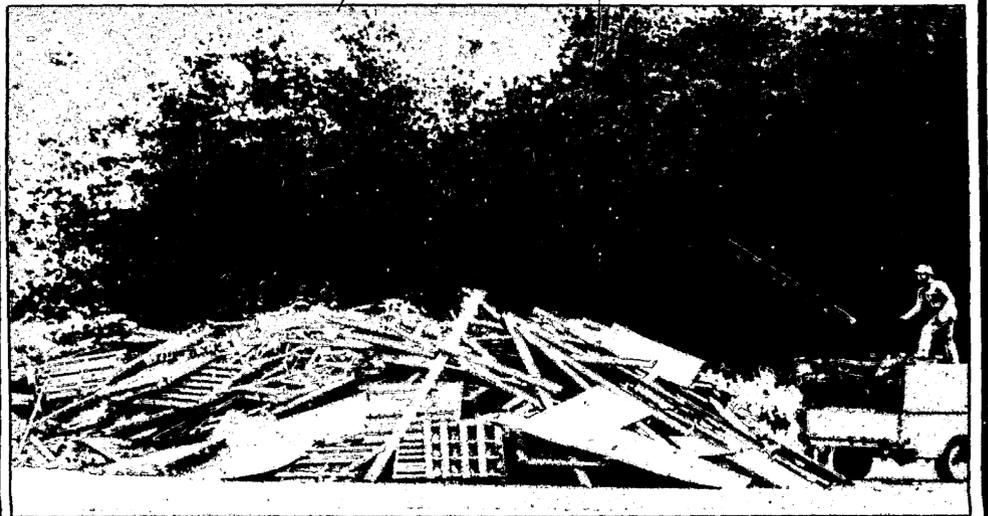

The parade will honor this year's royal court and offer a glimpse of the big secret, this year's king and queen to be announced among pomp and circumstance on the football field at 7 p.m., before the game with Tularosa.

Representatives of the royal court are: Laverne Platta and Kevin Blaache, freshmen; Michelle Morris and Erin Laubhan, sophomores; Betsy Cull and Manny Guardiola, juniors.

The senior class is represented by queen candidates Becky Overdorf, Jennifer Parker and Bridgette Herrera.

King of the court candidates are Steve Dankert, Kief Johnson and Chris Torres.

RHS students get a taste of the real working world

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

Nick is on the tractor-mower, Ronnie has a weed eater in his hands, Brenda is working in the office at Ruidoso Downs Village Hall, and Lisa hasn't come to work yet.

These four students, three of them seniors and one a junior at Ruidoso High School, are co-op students in a work program designed to teach them pre-vocational and vocational skills and provide them incentives to stay in school.

New village clerk at Ruidoso

Downs Maurice Gudgel heard of the program and arranged for its inauguration. The students in effect work for the Village of Ruidoso Downs but are under the wing of the Region IX Cooperative Center.

"Through the Department of Labor and the Governor's Committee on Concerns for the Handicapped, Region IX Cooperative Center is the recipient of 31 three-hour per day positions for the purpose of employing students within RCC IX who may lack necessary pro-vocational and vocational skills.

"The positions must be with non-profit organizations who are willing to provide job supervision to the students," says Dolores Rue, employed through RCC IX to provide supervision and liaison services for programs.

Supervision is also provided through RCC IX for those students not working in non-profit organizations. Such students are employed by and paid directly by the employer.

Students working at the Downs are Nick Herrera, Ronnie Randolph, Brenda Serna, all seniors, and Lisa Montoya, a junior at RHS.

"I like it a lot," Serna told The Ruidoso News. "She not too long ago thought seriously about dropping out of high school. But, the program has renewed her interest in getting and education.

That's one purpose of the program.

Another purpose is to teach students about the importance of reporting to a job site on time and to always "be on deck" when required.

Students in the program must maintain a certain grade average. Many were at high risk of becoming dropouts.

Serna says she hopes to enroll in the Roswell Campus of Eastern New Mexico University next year and major in child development. She has had a menial job on weekends of cleaning motel rooms. She would like to improve her lot in life, she says.

Herrera has goals, also. He wants to become a professional fireman; he already is a volunteer firefighter at Ruidoso Downs.

The work program is possible under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). Region IX covers Capitan, Carrizozo, Cloudcroft, Corona, Hondo, Ruidoso and Tularosa.

Overall director of the program here is Sandy Gladden.

In an informational release, more information is provided on the program:

Village attorney reports for duty

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

New city attorney David Thomsen introduced himself to the Planning and Zoning Commission Monday and prepared for his first meeting.

Nobody from the public showed up and 12 minutes later everyone left. Thomsen had weathered his first obligation unscathed.

Thomsen was selected from 11 applicants for the city attorney's position because of his past municipal experience, according to city manager Charles Norwood.

Mayor Victor Alonso appointed Thomsen. The choice was approved unanimously by the council.

Thomsen moves to Ruidoso from Farmington, where he worked as assistant city attorney. His primary responsibility there was in areas of personnel, procurement, prosecution and police matters.

Before Farmington, Thomsen was self-employed for a year practicing general civil law, including employment actions, civil rights, construction and zoning actions.

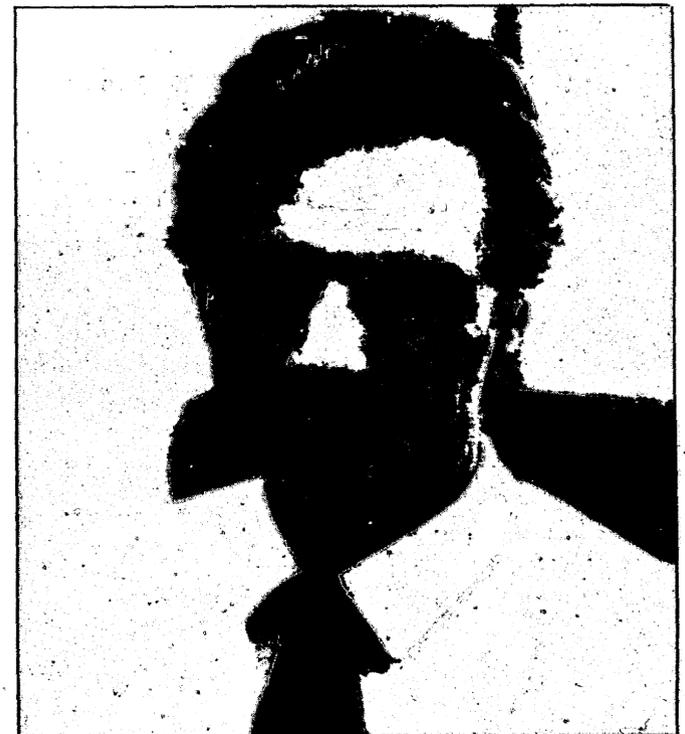

Thomsen was the city attorney for Alamogordo between December of 1981 and March of 1987, supervising city legal matters, including advising city commission and staff, drafting of instruments and trials.

Thomsen's work history also includes being an associate with Dailey and Cardin in Farmington, and a legal assistant with the Sacramento County public defender's office where he researched and argued motions, writs and appeals.

The 40-year old Thomsen received his B.A. from Loma Linda University in 1974, where he majored in history. His J.D. degree was from the University of California; Davis, School of Law.

Thomsen was admitted to the New Mexico Bar in 1979.

Ruidoso residents may catch Thomsen climbing a mountain road on his bicycle or photographing a deer in a meadow, two of his favorite hobbies. He is aware that his third hobby, raising tomatoes, might have to be adjusted for Ruidoso.

"During the four years since the inception of the JTPA program within RCC IX, students have been placed in a wide variety of settings including libraries, animal shelters, school cafeterias, Village of Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Tularosa, Mescalero Elderly Center, Mescalero Hospital, classroom aides, school maintenance and other appropriate positions.

Students are paid minimum wage for the hours employed, and, in addition, receive high school credit for the supervised experiences." Herrera and Randolph work in the shop at the Downs doing maintenance.

The two girls work in the office under supervision of the clerk, deputy clerk and other village employees.

Mayor Bonnie Addy indicated she is very pleased with the opportunity for Ruidoso Downs to help train young people in the work-a-day world.

Nick is the son of Manuel and Sharon Herrera of Ruidoso Downs; Randolph is the son of Polly and Leroy Randolph of Ruidoso.

Serna's parents are the Ray Sernas of Ruidoso; Montoya's parents are Jesse and Corona Montoya of Ruidoso. Her grandparents live in the Downs.

The four students are paid by Region IX Cooperative Center for the 15 hours they work every week. The center helps locate jobs for the students.

Brenda Serna has another skill. She is a champion arm wrestler. In fact, she's renowned for that skill.

MainStreet Ruidoso will receive recognition during state meeting

MainStreet Ruidoso will be recognized at a Five-Year Recognition Dinner during a Governor's Rural Economic Development Forum, October 17, in Albuquerque.

The Economic Development and Tourism Department and MainStreet New Mexico will sponsor an interactive workshop on "Small Towns in the 1990s" and a Five-year Recognition Dinner on October 17.

The recognition dinner will be held to honor the 14 communities involved in the MainStreet New Mexico program. Seven communities still active in the program will be recognized for their efforts.

Those communities are Ruidoso, Roswell, Deming, Bernalillo, Gallup, Las Vegas and Silver City.

Lt. Gov. Jack Stahl, former Lt. Gov. Mike Runnels (who started MainStreet New Mexico in 1985) and Economic Development and Tourism Department Secretary John Dendahl will speak at the dinner.

MainStreet Ruidoso's project director, Mary Maul, plans to attend both events.

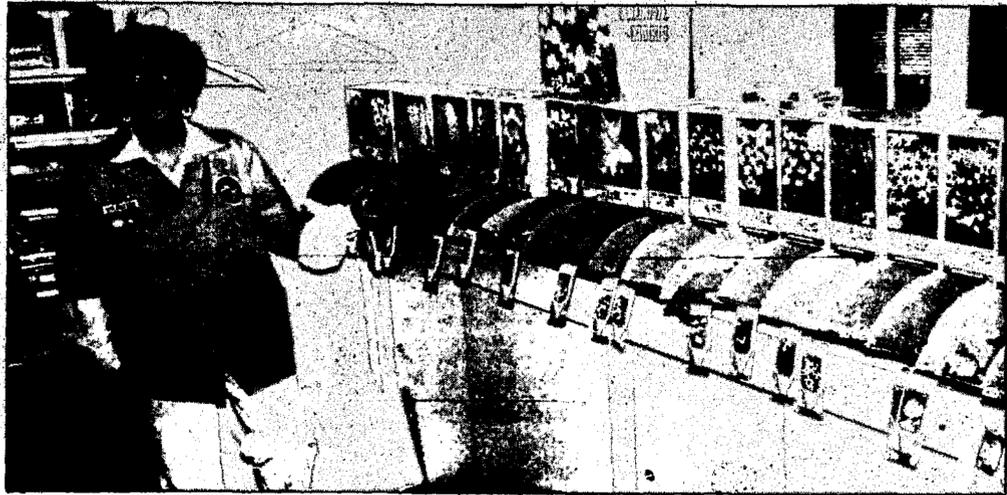

Donovan D. Rypkema will conduct the workshop. He is principal of the Real Estate Services Group, a real estate and economic development consulting firm in Washington D.C. The company's major clients are public and non-profit entities involved in the redevelopment of downtowns and historic buildings.

Among the issues to be discussed at the workshop: economic indicators of downtown health, economic demographic trends of the '90s, themes of success for revitalizing small towns, and specific opportunities for small downtowns.

Anyone may attend the 1 to 5 p.m. workshop and the dinner in the evening.

The contact is Ursula Boatright or Ed Boles, 827-0272, by October 12.

County commission candidates speak on issues

Stirling Spencer

by RICHARD A. HARROLD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Note: The county commission candidate interviews were conducted over a period of several weeks. Since the time of the first interview, the present county commission has taken action on a number of subjects, in particular, solid waste. Some candidates were interviewed prior to this action and responses reflect only general thoughts related by each candidate.

Stirling T. Spencer is the Republican candidate for county commission in District 2. The candidate believes that commissioners must have the required data to make informed decisions. He also believes the commission sets policy and needs to allow the county manager to run the day to day operations.

Solid waste: Spencer is encouraged by the sense of cooperation exhibited by county and municipal leaders with the progress made in forming a special district for solid waste needs.

He believes the development of the authority will be very slow, and hopes whoever is on the board will be thorough in evaluating costs and sticks to the job.

"They're gonna have to be pretty smart people," he said of the board.

In the past, Spencer noted the issue of solid waste, like others, became fragmented because not enough hard data was available.

"You can't run a business on generalities," he said.

Also, he said he would never put business out of a job and hopes the future authority will closely evaluate contracting some services with the private sector.

Water: Using the example of the Carrizozo Superfund site, in which groundwater was contaminated through irresponsible handling of cyanide, Spencer believes potential business and industry interested in Lincoln County needs to be carefully evaluated.

How incoming industry uses water and how much is important to conserving this resource, he said.

"Water is our most precious resource because agriculture and economic development depend on it," said Spencer.

If necessary, the county can go back to the state for technical and personnel assistance in cases of water usage, he said.

Economy: As a commissioner, Spencer said his first responsibility is to the permanent county resident. Lincoln County is in a way a one resource area with its natural beauty and the county needs to be responsive to tourists, but without forgetting the residents.

It would be great for the county to bring in some high-tech industry into the county, but the appropriate services need to be available first.

Spencer believes there are also untapped resources in the county that can be developed, but only if the business can follow environmental guidelines.

"I consider myself a fiscal conservative that is progressive with business," he said.

Economic development should not ignore ranchers and farmers, said Spencer.

Taxes: Realizing some improvements in the county may be necessary, Spencer wonders if the county is able to take care of what it already has.

"We must evaluate the benefits and the costs," he said.

He said he is not in favor of raising taxes just to increase service.

Health care: County government needs to play a major role in health care for Lincoln County, said Spencer.

"It can be hard to keep good physicians," he said.

The county's EMS program is excellent, and will need to be held accountable, he said.

STIRLING SPENCER

Zoning: "Until the greater issues are taken care of, zoning can wait," said Spencer.

Specific, or spot, issues can be handled by individual ordinance.

In the meantime, the county faces more important issues, such as solid waste, which demand attention, he said.

Roads: "Everybody wants a good road, a new road, but can we take care of what we have?"

As a commissioner, Spencer believes it is important that the commission deal with policy while it can feel comfortable that administrative actions are carried out.

Again, having the right kind of facts available is essential, he said.

Whether or not a by-pass route is needed in Lincoln, or if lowering the speed limit is all that is necessary, Spencer said he will support whatever the majority wants.

The county will have to work closely with the state on this road issue, he said.

"Someone is going to get hurt in that town," Spencer said of Lincoln.

In his personal comments, Spencer said it is important that the county take care of what it already has.

This means having the data available to make informed decisions and then build a base upon which the future can be planned.

C.O. "Chuck" Rominger

by RICHARD A. HARROLD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Charles C.O. "Chuck" Rominger III is the Democratic candidate for county commission in District 2. Throughout his responses on various county issues, the theme of having the right information available from experts is necessary for commissioners to make informed decisions.

Solid waste: Solving the county's solid waste problems will take research and study, said Rominger. Recycling is a viable option for the future, but meeting the needs of county residents is at this time a priority.

Rominger was interviewed prior to the county commission's decision to keep the county dumpsters in place. At that time, Rominger said he would have kept them in place.

Since the county's decision to begin a community services special district, Rominger believes this is a viable alternative for the county.

"I believe it's the way to go," he said.

Realizing transportation costs to Roswell for disposal may become too costly in the future, and whether or not Otero County will be willing to accept trash from Lincoln County, Rominger believes the county needs to do something for itself.

"I support this new direction," said Rominger about the proposed special district.

Water: Tackling the water issues in the county, Rominger believes expert data is again necessary.

Realizing there may be a need for diversification in the economy, industry attracted to the area must be clean to protect water and other environmental resources.

Economy: "It makes sense to want to diversify, but keep the emphasis on tourism," said Rominger.

The candidate notes there's not enough work to keep local youth in the area. For example, in Carrizozo, there's an industrial park that is not being used.

Rominger believes the county has been doing well with the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County, but believes heavier promotion of the area may be necessary.

"We really have some assets here," he said.

By keeping the natural beauty intact in Lincoln County will make the area more attractive to potential businesses. Employees living in a quality area will do a better job and employers know this, said Rominger.

Taxes: Rominger said it appears the county has been managing its money well because it is not taxed to capacity.

But at the same time, he is not for raising taxes just to increase county services.

As a possible solution to the county being repeatedly turned down for state funds, Rominger suggests more aggressive lobbying may be necessary to convince the legislature to reward, rather than punish, fiscal responsibility.

Health care: Lincoln County's current health system is working well, said Rominger. He especially pointed out the EMT service is very good.

Continuing this program is important as it will attract retirees to the area, a group that needs quality health care nearby.

Zoning: Rominger believes zoning the county is a good idea, but the process needs to move slow. If it is done right the first time, it will not have to be amended.

He suggested it may be better to proceed with smaller, more specific ordinances, rather than with one large, comprehensive ordinance.

Roads: Rominger pointed out he has worked with the State Highway Department in right of way acquisition and believes he is very suited for the job of county commission, in part, for this reason.

While he believes the county road department has been doing a good job, a system of priorities needs to be established. This may include the development of five-year plans.

Any system of priorities must also include ongoing maintenance. Also, the county needs to stay on top of highway plans.

For example, planned construction on U.S. 380 through Lincoln can pose a problem for that community. The speed limit can be lowered to help reduce damage to historic buildings and reduce pedestrian hazards.

He also mentions a by-pass route is not necessary if traffic can be diverted with a relief route.

In a personal comment, Rominger mentioned he would like to include the Village of Corona more in the county process. He even suggested attending their meetings on a regular basis.

The candidate also believes local officials need to take advantage of educational opportunities for county employees that are offered through the state.

"This can save future money," he said.

Immunization clinic scheduled Saturday

Animal owners who live in the Village of Ruidoso Downs will have a chance Saturday to take advantage of reduced price dog and cat immunizations and get their animals registered at the same time.

Animal control officer Bill Heineken and the veterinarians from Green Tree Animal Clinic will offer an immunization clinic from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday at All American Park across the street from the Municipal Building on U.S. Highway 70.

Heineken reminds Ruidoso

Downs residents that a leash law is in effect and will be enforced.

He asked that dog and cat owners bring their pets either leashed, in their arms, or somehow under their control.

During Saturday's clinic, vaccinated dogs and cats will be licensed for just $3. Cost to license unneutered animals is usually $10, and neutered animals is $5.

Cost of the dog vaccinations on Saturday will be $5 for rabies and $12 for the canine combination. Cost for cat immunizations is $5 for rabies and $8 for the combination.

Community Concerts offers memberships

Ruidoso Community Concert Association board members are offering memberships this week for the upcoming season of musical programs.

Those memberships are available from volunteers who are at Ruidoso State Bank from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. today (Thursday) and Friday, September 20-21, and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, September 22.

Memberships are $25 for adults, $10 for students and $60 for families, and entitle the purchasers to attend all four Ruidoso concerts as well as concerts in Alamogordo, Artesia, Carlsbad and Las Cruces.

Admission to the concerts is by season membership only, so board members encourage everyone to purchase a membership during this annual drive.

The first concert in the series is at 7:30 p.m. October 27, when Connie Jones and his Crescent City Jazz Band will entertain at the First Christian Church.

The season will continue with a Broadway Celebration on February 23, 1991, Keith and Rusty McNeil performing "I Hear America Singing" on March 26, 1991, and violin virtuoso Leland Chen on April 10, 1991.

For more information, stop by Ruidoso State Bank or call 336-4015 or 257-4043.

Kiwanis Club plans a Rio Ruidoso Cleanup

The Kiwanis Club of Ruidoso invites the community to take part in a Rio Ruidoso Clean-up Day on Saturday, October 13.

Sponsors say the Village of Ruidoso is providing trucks and drivers to pick up the bagged garbage, and volunteers from the Ruidoso Police Department will cook hamburgers and hot dogs for the volunteers who work.

Other businesses and individuals have also said they'll help in various ways.

The cleanup will be staged from the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce parking lot, where volunteers will begin and meet again after the Rio Ruidoso is cleaned.

Volunteers needed for Trail Days

Volunteers are needed for the White Mountain Wilderness Trail Days.

The New Mexico Volunteers for the Outdoors will provide dinner to volunteers for work near the South Fork campground by Benito Lake.

The work will include heavy trail construction and water bar repair, pruning vegetation or fence work to close dangerous mine shafts.

Volunteers interested should be at the South Fork campground at 9 a.m. daily Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23.

Dinner for volunteers will be provided Saturday.

For more information contact the New Mexico Volunteers for the Outdoors at (505) 268-4849.

The deadline for dinner reservations was August 20; however, The News did not receive information on the project until September 14.

A real howl!

An unusual offspring rides the booster seat of this California (where else) couple. By the dozens, cyclists good fun and creativity just keeps rolling in and is a major feature in Ruidoso's forthcoming Aspenfest.

Bikers were crowded into the Village Plaza shopping center one morning during the Poker Run. Field events and games are part of the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally which runs into Sunday this week.

Ramblin' Rose rambled down from Washington State. It is one of the more elaborate rigs in town for the Golden Aspen Rally. Some 2,000 bikers are expected to register through Saturday.

Melodious farewell

Michael Sanford, music and youth minister at the First Baptist Church in Ruidoso, plays the piano during his farewell concert. Sanford and Randy Ellis, who took part in the musical event, will be ministering through music in concerts throughout the U.S. Sanford's cousin, Mikhaila Sanford, also took part in the concert, along with several members of the church.

Register to vote

In order to vote in the general election this November, qualified voters must be registered by 5 p.m. October 9.

Registrars are available at the County Courthouse, municipal buildings and at banks.

County Clerk Martha McKnight Procter encourages everyone to register and vote.

Opal Armstrong receives the Pioneer Woman Award

Opal Armstrong of Ruidoso Downs has been selected to receive the Pioneer Award for 1990 presented by the New Mexico Commission on the Status of Women.

Armstrong will receive her award Saturday, September 22, during Women's Day ceremonies at the New Mexico State Fair.

The Pioneer Award was started in 1987 by the New Mexico Extension Homemakers Council and the Commission and is presented in recognition of a New Mexico Extension Homemaker for outstanding accomplishments.

In 1982, Armstrong and her husband, Clarence Armstrong, moved to Ruidoso and opened Granny's Store House in Ruidoso Downs.

"This had been our dream for a long time as we both enjoyed antiques, treasures of the past. Hunting, repairing and telling the stories associated with these reminders of the past enabled us to meet and make new friends with other antique buffs," says Armstrong.

Since moving to this area she has been involved in community affairs in both Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs. She joined the Ruidoso Downs Ladies Auxiliary and has served as secretary and on many committees.

The women in the auxiliary have beautified the median on U.S. Highway 70 and the municipal park. The group started an annual arts and crafts fair in 1985, and Armstrong chaired that major fundraiser the first two years.

Profits from that fair have been used to construct a village pavilion at the All American Park, buy Christmas decorations for the streets and sponsor an annual Christmas home decorating contest.

The Armstrongs are retired from business, but Opal Armstrong remains very active, volunteering her time to the Ruidoso-Hondo Extension Club, the Lincoln County Medical Center Auxiliary and the Hubbard Museum.

"I have continually stayed busy so I can enjoy life to its fullest," says Armstrong. That has been true for her entire life.

She was raised in Putnam, a small farming community in Texas, and while growing up was active in the pep squad and was elected football queen. Even then she was involved in community activities and belonged to the Junior Federated Women's Club.

In 1933, Opal and Clarence Armstrong were married and she spent the next few years as a homemaker. The Armstrongs have two children, a son, Gene, and a daughter, Barbara, but even as she was having and rearing children, Opal Armstrong kept busy running the church nursery and singing in the church choir.

The family moved to Eunice in 1936, and later to a camp near Jal, where their youngest daughter, Kay, was born.

"By today's standards, these were difficult times, as economically we barely made ends meet as we were caring for my father, who had a heart condition, and Clarence's mother, who suffered with terminal cancer," remembers Armstrong.

The family still had two school-age daughters at home, and Opal Armstrong found time to teach Sunday school at the local Methodist Church and was active in the church women's organization.

The Armstrongs later moved to Jal, a thriving community back in the '50s. The family was just in time for the building of a new community hospital, and Opal Armstrong was there to form the first Jal Hospital Auxiliary.

Aside from her volunteer work in Jal, Armstrong worked as a bus driver for the Jal Public Schools.

"Being with kids on band trips, student council trips and various field trips kept me young while extending my family," says Armstrong, who spent 18 years driving that bus. She was also an officer in the Bus Drivers' Association and served on the State Bus Drivers Board.

Armstrong has also been active in the Order of Eastern Star, serving recently as Worthy Matron.

Her letters of nomination came from former mayors of both Jal and Ruidoso Downs, as well as from others who have known and worked with her over the years.

Betty McCreight, extension home economist for Lincoln County praised the pioneer woman's attitude and zeal for her community in recommending her for the honor.

"She is an inspiration to everyone she comes in contact with," says McCreight.

Armstrong will be on hand Saturday to receive her award from a representative of the governor's office. But she's not through yet.

"Enough of 'me,' let's get busy; I only have 25 years to go!" says Armstrong.

Opal Armstrong (right) was on hand for the Ruidoso Downs Art Festival ribbon cutting ceremony.

Warriors get ready to skin the 'Cats

by CHUCK STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Sports Editor

No team, pound for pound, plays the Ruidoso Warriors as tough as the Tularosa Wildcats. No spirited Warrior yarn is complete without a "Remember when Tulie" story. This Friday's homecoming at W. D. Horton Stadium, the rivalry continues.

Ruidoso coach Mike Speck has heard the stories before and he agrees, especially this year.

"Don't let the Wildcat's record fool you," he said. "Or their last loss to Santa Rosa last week. If not for mistakes, they would have won easily. They could have led by 21 after the first half."

Speck said no matter what the records show, both teams play good competition early in their schedules and the two teams are always close in a head to head showdown.

Kief Johnson returns to the Warriors full-time this week, although several other regulars will remain on the sidelines because of injuries.

The Wildcats, coached by Bob Cerny in his 16th year, runs a basic Wing-T offense and a 4-3 defense. Cerny's overall record with the Wildcats is a respectable winning 87-62-1.

Cerny's team is young, but has size. The front four averages well over 210 pounds. The defensive tackles match Lovington and Goddard in size.

"Overall, our schedule is pretty tough. We have some good skill-position players, but we don't have much depth and are very young," Cerny said.

Tularosa is more of a running team than the Warriors and like the Warriors, they have been prone to early season errors.

Warrior errors have been attributed to a young and in transition tag that doesn't sit well with Speck.

"Every time we walk onto a football field we have a chance to win," he said. "Young and in transition has nothing to do with it. We proved that with Goddard last week. Our team played good, quality ball before we seemed to self-destruct near the half. If we can play that well for one quarter, we should be able to do it for four quarters. A little more poise is the main thing we have to acquire."

Speck said the team had a great week of practice, partly because of homecoming and partly because of Tularosa.

"It doesn't take much to motivate when we play the Wildcats," he said.

Speck said the team's injuries have turned to a positive in one respect.

"Our young players, who would have been on the sidelines, have stepped in and gathered a lot of experience," he said. "Now as we are heading toward district, we are seeing seasoned players instead of just sophomores."

Speck cited several members as examples of new Warrior blood.

"Wally Murillo has stepped in and done a great job for us on both sides of the ball," he said. "Richard Rippey on offense and Mario Sanchez, a sophomore tight end, have played inspired. Chris Salas and Pierre Shields have improved every ball game and we coaches are very proud of them."

"Salas stepped in for Ryan Wright. He's been a leader. And for Craig Turner to move in from Sweetwater, Texas, and improve like he has, is remarkable. He's learned the playbook within the last two months, where others may taken years.

"One reason we are better and long range goals are in view is the senior leadership of Jamie Candelaria, Chris Torres, Ryan Wright, Ryan Martin, Steve Dankert and Kief Johnson.

Sanchez wins the Poll

Daniel Sanchez's 21 points in favor of Goddard over Ruidoso broke a 10-way tie to walk away with the $25 first place award in the Ruidoso News Third Pigskin Poll. The ten entries all posted 16 winners.

Sanchez edged out Angel Montoya and Richard Guerara in the tie-breaker; both had Goddard winning by 20 points. Goddard's margin of victory was 35 points.

Armando Lueras, Bettie Jean Everitt, Benny Herrera, Manny Rivas, Peggy McClellan, Shirley Linder and another Daniel Sanchez entry all had 16 winners.

McClellan was the only entry that had the Ruidoso Warriors favored in the tie-breaker.

Although Sanchez walked away with the big bucks, Chris Carusona, a non-eligible pigskin poll regular, lays claim to the best view in the crystal ball this week.

Carusona picked a remarkable 18 winners out of the 20 contests. Only Roy and the Rams kept him from a perfect slate.

Biggest upset for the pollsters was Artesia's win over Roswell.

A season high 56 ballots were collected last week. Contestants can enter as many times as they please. Eligibility and rules are listed on the contest ballot printed every Monday on the sports page.

"Your Goals And Ours Are Exactly The Same"

We share your goals, is the first statement we make to you. On your first visit, your agent at Goldwell Banker, SDC Realtors, will take some time to review:

- An Evaluation of the current market conditions for homes like yours. You'll learn whether it's a seller's market, with a home shortage; or a buyer's market with housing in over-supply.
- Financing information. Are mortgage interest rates increasing, stable, or declining? And, how does that affect you? We'll tell you.
- Seasonal factors are considered. Will buyers demand during the next 120 days be low or high?
- You'll be given information that will help you determine a competitive price for your home by comparing it to homes currently for sale and recently sold.
- Tips covering important items like pets, the television set, and your valuable jewelry, help you present your home at its best. Don't just show your home...show it off!

If you're moving across town or across the country, we can help you find your new home. We can explain our Relocation Assistance Service.

Your agent will be there to provide service...and the tools we use to market your property becomes highly effective in the hands of skilled agents like Bill Saegart.

He'd be the first to agree...Your Goals and Our Goals Are Exactly The Same.

RHS Warrior Boosters are banking on some big bucks

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Editor

The Ruidoso Warrior Booster Club is banking on big bucks to help the spirited Warrior programs this year and the work, according to club president Dick Gosdin, is being spread among thin ranks.

Only a dozen boosters attended last Tuesday's meeting when club president Dick Gosdin stressed the importance of their major money making project, flag leasing.

The booster club is in the process of renewing leases and collecting money.

Frankie Reynolds and Beth Sayner are the only two volunteers on this project.

To preserve appearance, Gosdin said flags should fly only on Friday and should be stored at night. He said some flags have already been stolen this year.

Gosdin asked businesses who have closed this year and still have a spirit flag to please call 257-4651 and leave a message so a booster member can pick it up.

Gosdin said the club is trying to replace stolen flags, but there are a limited number of flags remaining and must be presented on a first come, first serve basis.

Club treasurer Sayner said she is concerned with the low attendance. A letter has been sent to the homes of all athletes in hopes of generating interest.

Sayner said she does not have to have a child in an athletic program to join the booster club, just an interest in young people.

"We just need people," Sayner said. "We need to let these students know they have our support and we are proud of them. Right now a large responsibility is being shared by only a few people. If people would only realize how far the smallest amount of time donated can help the total picture."

Sayner said volunteers or members that can share a small portion of their time working from their own home or the high school should call her at 258-4244.

The next booster meeting is scheduled for the public meeting room of the high school at 7 p.m. Tuesday, October 2.

We're gonna kick....

Ruidoso head coach Mike Speck and crew rehash last week's game films and preview the big game coming to members of the quarterback club. The meetings are open to anyone every Wednesday night at the high school.

The big one

Ed Turner shows off the rainbow trout he caught a couple of weeks ago at Eagle Lake. He caught the two-and-a-half pound rainbow using Ruby's special bait, a product made and distributed by his wife, Ruby Turner. The rainbow is 18 1/2 inches long.

Bowlers get organized

Ruidoso area bowlers are urged to attend the Thursday Night Bowling League's organizational meeting at the Holiday Bowling Center tonight, Thursday, at 7 p.m.

Jim McGarvey, league secretary, said the Thursday night league has been popular for years and he expects a good turnout. The bowling center is located at 310 Sudderth Drive, and the telephone number is 257-4946.

CRIME STOPPERS

"CRIME OF THE WEEK"

The Ruidoso-Lincoln County Crime Stoppers will pay up to $1,000.00 for information that leads to the arrest and Grand Jury indictment or Magistrate Court Bindover of the person or persons who committed this crime or any other unsolved felony crime in Lincoln County.

Let's work together to call a stop to crime.

On or about the 21st day of July, 1990 a couple in Lincoln County sighted a female camping on the north side of the Capitan Mountains in the Lincoln National Forest. The female was sighted with a male companion in a secluded campsite. The female met the description of an FBI fugitive identified as Elizabeth Ann Duke. Duke is wanted by the FBI for terrorist activities in affiliation with her membership of the May 1981 Communist Organization. Duke has been a fugitive since October, 1986. The May 1981 Communist Organization is an organization which advocates the armed revolution and violent overthrow of the United States Government. The female meeting Duke's description was seen accompanied by a male in a light blue color model pickup truck, possibly a Ford, with an older sub-compact.

Crimestoppers offer reward in Cree Meadows burglary

An undetermined amount of money and extensive property damage occurred during a Cree Meadows Country Club burglary Thursday, September 13, according to detective Lanny Maddox of the Ruidoso Police Department.

Maddox said that the club was illegally entered by breaking a window on the west side of the building.

Maddox said a person or persons went through the offices and the liquor store room. The door leading to the pro shop was broken and the offices on that level entered.

Also taken during the burglary were three sets of golf clubs and several golf related pro shop items, Maddox reported.

That crime has been designated the "crime of the week," and Ruidoso Lincoln County Crimestoppers will pay up to $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and magistrate court bindover or grand jury indictment of the person or persons who committed this crime.

Crimestoppers will also pay cash rewards for information that solves other felony crimes or leads to recover of other stolen property.

Anyone having information relating to this crime or any criminal activity is urged to call the Crimestopper 24-hour hotline at 257-4646. Persons calling Crimestoppers do not have to give their name to be eligible for a reward. Anyone calling Crimestoppers outside the local exchange may call collect within Lincoln County.

Foresters offer helpful hints

Fuelwood cutting is an activity in which many people participate. Some cut for necessity, wood is the only fuel used to heat their homes.

Others enjoy sitting by a warm wood-burning stove or fireplace. And for some, it's the perfect excuse for a picnic in the mountains. Before you head for the hills, here are a few safety reminders for cutting wood.

The State Forestry Office has provided the following information for woodcutters.

General safety: Always work with at least one other person. Wear gloves, safety glasses, ear plugs, and boots. Fatigue means carelessness and accidents. Stop when you're tired. Children are curious and tend to wander away. Keep a close watch on them.

Chainsaw safety: Check the manufacturer's instructions for chainsaws and follow them. Check all nuts and screws for tightness. Check the chain for proper tension and sharpness. Check for filters. Clean the chain groove and oil holes in the bar daily during heavy use. Never run the saw with broken or missing parts. Stand to the side of the saw while cutting, never behind it. Use approved fuel can.

Never use a glass container. Wipe the saw clean before starting it. Never start the saw in the refueling area. Refuel the saw away from flammable materials and avoid spills. Grease sprocket or roller tip bars at each refueling.

Regardless of the reasons why you are fuelwood cutting, please remember safety first! Let's avoid accidents and fires while we stock up for the season ahead. Happy woodcutting!

If you have questions concerning woodcutting contact the State Forestry office in Capitan at 354-2231.

15-9 and 15-12. Estancia went down next in four games, 15-7, 15-8, 1-15, and 15-11.

Capitan beat Texico for the championship game Saturday in three games, 15-9, 15-6 and 15-9.

Both the seventh and eighth grade volleyball teams began their seasons with their first wins, as well as the JV squad when they defeated the Ruidoso Warriors.

Capitan seventh graders won 15-2 and 15-4 and the eighth grade team won 15-1 and 15-2. The JV squad beat the Warriors 15-3, 15-3.

Running Wolverines take it to the Tigers in 41-0 mauling

by SEAN SEAY
Special to The News

Texico surprised Capitan Friday with a well-disciplined and quick team. So quick, the Wolverines literally ran away with the game.

Texico's experience, speed and quickness off both lines helped the Wolverines to dominate the running game and to defeat the Tigers 41-0.

Texico's total offense was 394 yards against Capitan's 36. Dan Seay threw 1-10 for 7 yards in a game where neither team was passing well. The Wolverines were only 3-8 in the air, but with their running game executed so well, they didn't need to pass.

However, some of those Wolverine passes were very close, either slightly overthrown or dropped by the receiver.

Should Texico successfully combine their running game and work the bugs out of their passing attack, the Wolverines could very well be the team to beat in Class A football.

In spite of the lopsided loss, the Tigers had an excellent opportunity by playing such a competitive team.

The Wolverines were most successful running off-tackle and with a few counter plays. The Tiger defense could not keep up with the running attack, which must have been disappointing after such a strong showing the week before against last year's state runners up in Tatum.

The Tigers travel next to Hagerman, who beat Capitan last year 21-0 in game where the Tiger defense dominated the first half.

The Bobcats are coming off a big win over Dexter, 30-0.

Capitan school district prepares for state visit and mill election

by RICHARD A. HARROLD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Capitan school board Thursday took the initial steps to prepare for a two mill levy election in February 1991.

The election will be for the renewal of two mills made allowable through Senate Bill 9 for capital improvements.

Also known as SB 9, these monies make it possible for schools to continue large scale maintenance and capital improvement within the district without having to overburden the budget.

SB 9 monies cannot be used for operational purposes, such as salaries, but are reserved for major maintenance projects, such as new roofs, or other capital improvements necessary without having to pass bond issues.

The board approved Quinn Southwest to conduct the SB 9 election, as well as coordinate the board election which will be conducted at the same time.

The board also approved additions to section 6 of the board policy in preparation for an on-site review to be conducted by the State Board of Education.

In preparation for the review, superintendent Scott Childress presented the board with an Accreditation Synopsis Report for the board's review.

The report presents suggestions on policy changes as well as information on Capitan student performance on standardized tests.

Approval of the Library/Media Policies and Procedures Manual was also necessary in preparation for the on-site review.

The manual also includes a reconsideration policy which can be used in the event someone wishes to censor material.

This policy outlines the due process necessary before a group or individual can have materials removed from the library.

Before the board reviews the request for reconsideration, a committee is formed by the principal of the school involved to review the material in question.

The board accepted the resignation of Ralph Reed who retired from his custodial position August 20. Also, the board accepted maintenance supervisor J.W. Ware's resignation who will leave the district September 21.

Approval for employment was granted to Mae Padilla (custodian), Neal McFarland (special education aide), Earl Wafer (8th grade teacher and junior high football coach) and Nancy Barone (school nurse).

Final approval of the coaches evaluation instrument was granted by the board, which was presented last month for review.

Childress informed the board that the 1986 Educational Reform Bill requires school administrators to receive 45 hours of training every two years.

While Childress is the one who approves the hours, the superintendent requested direction if any board member felt a particular administrator needed specific training.

In other action, the school board:

—Approved the minutes of the August 9 meeting.

—Approved the monthly financial reports and cash transfers presented.

—Approved a revision in the bus owner/operator contract.

—Approved a joint powers agreement.

Roswell fourth graders will be touring historic ranches

by BOB HART
Special to The News

For the second consecutive year this fall, Roswell fourth graders will enjoy a field trip to the South Springs Ranch while learning about early American life.

The trip is part of the Partners in Education Program agreement between the Hondo Oil and Gas Company, the Diamond A Cattle Company and the Lincoln County Heritage Trust.

Almost 900 students from 15 schools will participate in this ambitious undertaking, focusing on New Mexico history and Western heritage.

Beginning September 17 through October 3, Roswell fourth graders will be bussed to the historic South Springs Ranch, once owned by cattle baron John Chisum. The ranch was later owned by the man most responsible for the development of the Pecos Valley, John J. Hagerman.

South Springs Ranch is presently owned by Roswell businessman Robert O. Anderson and is not normally open to the public.

The South Springs program has a multicultural emphasis. After Diamond A cowboys cut and rope cattle, volunteers from Los Caporales, the local charro organization, will demonstrate Hispanic clothing, horsecow and roping techniques. The children will also learn the Spanish origins for some of our modern cowboy terms.

The schoolchildren will also observe the traditional method of applying a brand, but a board instead of a cow will be branded. The boards will then be kept by each class as a souvenir of the trip.

Saddles and other horse gear will be on display and explained. And then comes a treat for those who have never sat astride a mount.

Each child will be allowed to sit on a saddled horse. No riding takes place, but if last year's children were any measure, many children will be on a horse for the first time in their lives.

Demonstrations and tours of other ranch implements will be part of the program, followed by a one-man drama performed by local actor and storyteller Boyd Barrett.

In the spring the program will shift to Lincoln. Then, students will be bussed to the historic zone for a day of demonstrations and activities centering on regional history and Western heritage.

Historic Lincoln is still a good place to visit during off-season

by BOB HART
Special to The News

Sleepy Lincoln, located in the mountains of southeastern New Mexico, has a niche in the history of the Old West totally out of proportion to its present size (population 70).

It was once the county seat of the largest county in the U.S., as well as the focal point of the notorious Lincoln County War of 1878.

Today it is one of the last remaining historic, but uncommercialized, Western towns.

Billy the Kid blazed his way into the history books here. He helped ambush Sheriff Brady, participated in the Five Day Gun Battle, escaped from the surrounded McSweeney house as it burned, and shot his way out of the Old Courthouse. But Lincoln's history is more than just outlaw violence.

Nearby Fort Stanton, Mescalero Apaches, gold strikes and tuberculosis all played important roles. Other notable historic figures include Kit Carson, John S. Chisum, Susan McSweeney Barber, Patrick F. Garrett, Lew Wallace, Colonel Albert J. Fountain and General John "Blackjack" Pershing.

Many Lincoln aficionados prefer to visit during the fall or spring. Autumn weather is generally delightful. And for those of an inquiring mind, questions asked of staff members during this season tend to receive more detailed answers.

Anticipate spending at least half a day here. Lincoln is a town to be savored.

Lincoln's biggest drawback during the off-season is that the limited eating facilities become even more limited. Unless you are packing a picnic lunch or only need a snack, the enterprising visitor must travel to neighboring Hondo (10 miles) or Capitan (13 miles) for a meal. For fine dining, Capitan, Tinnie (13 miles) and Ruidoso (37 miles) are recommended.

Lodging, surprisingly, is less of a problem. The Wortley Hotel closes for the season September 10, but three bed and breakfasts remain to delight the traveler.

A self-guided walking tour of the town is available for half a dollar at the Historical Center Museum Store or from other local merchants. Guided town tours will be given twice daily through the end of September, leaving from the Historical Center.

There is almost always at least one museum open in Lincoln during the off-season. The Old Courthouse remains open all year, closing only for Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day. Museum hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. beginning September 16.

Additionally, the Historical Center will be open daily through November 15, reopening again March 1. Between these two dates the museum will be operated on an irregular schedule and one should call ahead to see about a particular day.

Also, Lincoln merchants are planning a pre-Christmas display of holiday wares.

Revised athletic schedule has time change for homecoming

Capitan's homecoming game versus Springer is scheduled for 7 p.m. Friday, September 28. The schedule previously released indicated the time was 7:30 p.m., but this is incorrect.

The Tigers travel to Hagerman

Friday, September 21.

Upcoming volleyball events include junior high matches September 20 with Alamogordo and September 25 with Tularosa. Both matches are on home court.

The JV and varsity squads travel September 25 to play at Tularosa. The varsity's first home match is for the Capitan Classic.

The tournament is scheduled for September 28 and 29.

New drama program is performing in October

Last year when Molly Weber, general communications teacher at Capitan High School, discovered how many students were interested in drama, she asked principal Bill Stowe if she could teach a theater production class.

Stowe replied it was possible, but doubtful.

But after some schedule juggling, 23 would-be Thespians are now preparing for an October 12 performance of "Cinderella Wore Combat Boots," plus a group of original skits titled "Dress Rehearsal."

Weber, a certified drama instructor, has considerable theatrical experience to offer the Capitan students. She has performed with theater companies in Nashville, Tennessee and in Albuquerque, and has directing experience.

Democrats plan a free barbecue rally

Lincoln County Democrats are having their annual free barbecue from 1-4 p.m. Saturday, September 22, at the McTeigue Ranch at the intersection of Highway 70 and 380.

According to planners, the barbecue will feature live music, a free barbecue dinner, beer for sale and plenty of old-fashioned political speeches.

The barbecue is also a memorial to Lincoln McTeigue, who started the annual political rally before his death. His family is carrying on his tradition, and joins Lincoln County Democrats in inviting everyone out for the barbecue.

All the county candidates, as well as many of the state candidates, will be attending, according to a news release.

Lieutenant governor candidate Casey Luna and his wife will be in Lincoln County for the barbecue.

Cece Griffin, chairman of the Lincoln County Democrats, encourages all Democrats to attend.

Griffin reported that she just returned from the Second Annual Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony in Las Cruces where two Lincoln County nominees were added to the list of distinguished Democrats in the Second Congressional District.

Meetings scheduled

The Extraterritorial Zoning Commission will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, September 20, at the Lincoln County Sub-Office in Ruidoso.

Agenda items include a request for a zoning change from commercial to residential for a tract of land between the Alto Post Office and Sierra Blanca Subdivision, Unit 1, Block 2, Lot 10.

Also, discussion is planned for a proposed amendment to the Extraterritorial Zoning Ordinance for blanket R-1 zoning classification for any possible unzoned areas within the zone.

The Ruidoso Village Council has called a special meeting for 11 a.m. today (Thursday) for the purpose of calling a closed session over threatened litigation and any other business that might come before the council.

The Board of Trustees for the Village of Ruidoso Downs will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday, September 24, in the Municipal Building.

The Ruidoso Village Council will conduct a regular meeting at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, September 25, in council chambers of Ruidoso Municipal Administrative Center.

Ruidoso's Village Council has scheduled a public hearing over a proposed ordinance to implement a 1/16 of a cent gross receipts tax for solid waste at 6 p.m. Thursday, September 27, at Village Hall. Meetings of the council are open to the public.

GOP candidates will visit Lincoln County

Frank Bond, Republican candidate for governor and his running mate, State Representative Mary Thompson, will arrive Friday, September 21, for a two-day visit in Ruidoso.

Previous reports that their campaign visit would begin on Thursday were incorrect and the visit begins with a "coffee break with Bond" at 9:30 a.m. Friday at the Four Winds Restaurant in Carrizozo.

In Ruidoso, Bond will speak at a no-host luncheon at noon Friday at K-Bob's.

Bond will join the Ruidoso High School homecoming parade at 2 p.m. Friday, and he and Thompson will be guests of honor at a free barbecue dinner at 5:30 p.m. Friday at the Eagle Creek Barbecue on Ski Run Road.

The public is invited to the dinner and "Meet the Candidate Bond-fire."

Bond and Thompson wrap up Friday's activities with a fundraiser cocktail party at the Texas Club in Ruidoso. All persons interested in contributing to the campaign are invited.

On Saturday, September 22, Bond and Thompson end their Lincoln County visit with a complimentary continental breakfast meeting at 8 a.m. at the Smokey Bear Restaurant in Capitan.

For further information on the Bond/Thompson campaign visit, call 336-4050.

Parasites prey on Ponderosa pines

Dwarf Mistletoe (DM) is a flowering perennial that is a parasite to already weakened evergreen trees, especially Ponderosa Pines, the evergreen that is most common to Lincoln County.

It causes tree mortality, reduced growth and seed production, deformation of wood, and weakens the tree to easier attacks by other diseases and insects. The extent of damage involved depends on the quality of the area, the tree's age, and how much DM is present.

DM will spread when the greenish-brown shoots are seen on swollen branches. In the fall, brightly colored fruits form on these shoots and the seeds are forcibly expelled 15-30 feet from the tree. The sticky seeds adhere to other trees and survive the winter. In spring, the DM penetrates the tree to absorb water and minerals.

If the shoots are not visible on your trees, other symptoms of DM include witches' brooms, dead tree tops, sparse foliage, excessive pitch, and a deformed tree shape.

Once finding DM in your trees, there are several direct ways to control it. Removal of the infected tree will offer greater protection of other nearby. This also removes hazardous, weakened branches that could fall and hurt someone. Another choice is to remove the trees with heavy infection and prune the remaining trees.

If these methods seem too severe or if your trees are only lightly infected, there are indirect ways to "live with" the DM. Increased irrigation relieves moisture stress. The more DM present, the more water needed by the tree. Always apply the water at the drip line of the crown where the absorbing roots are located. Removing unwanted weeds, brush, and small understory also relieves competition for nutrients and sun. Regulating human impact is equally important when "living with" the DM. Not only is soil compaction a problem, but vehicles, lawn mowers, and weed eaters also damage tree trucks and roots.

When analyzing any control of the DM problem, realize your efforts may be expensive and time consuming. Estimate the values at stake-control may or may not be a worthwhile project.

"Living with" the DM may be a more effective measure for your area. The bottom line is healthier trees are safer, more esthetically pleasing, and hold a higher economic value.

Any questions or concerns about Dwarf Mistletoe may be directed to the State Forestry office in Capitan at 354-2231 or to P.O. Box 277, Capitan, New Mexico, 88316.

The Dreamer

Rains welcome autumn, help ripen apples

Good Rains Brighten Late Summer Days

This is being sent to you an hour after high noon on September 17, and all the Mountain World has come out with new green among the gold. Heavy rain fell in the Vale yesterday and last night, and today gray clouds are moving in from every direction on the mountain horizon.

Little flowers that you don't see except once in many years are smiling among the favorite late summer blooms — all responding to the rains by showing more and brighter colors, and filling the air with their fragrances, creating a color and flower aroma harmony all through the late summer land. With the orchard trees loaded down with apples turning red and gold, and the box Elder trees along the river touched with amber and light gold, and the woodbine along the way showing just a trace of light crimson, you know that the season of Fall is on the way.

First Day of Fall

The first day of fall will be the 23rd, and yet the summer season in these rainy years extends over into the fall, with new flowers blooming and grass still turning green by the day, and some of the apples not yet fully ripe.

Jack Frost, our great little painter of the autumn leaves, does not arrive in the Vale until the middle of October, year in and year out. Yet in the higher country he will begin his painting of the leaves with traces of gold, crimson and purple along about October first, his birthday. Maybe we can have a little letter from Jack Frost a little later on. The way things look today, we are going to have a long and beautiful summer, with summery weather

by Dan Storm
The Ridge Runner

going over into the fall, a wonderful autumn, and Indian Summer and a snowy winter.

There are a few of the signs of a snowy winter that the old timers used to point out to us. We can go into these next time or so.

Church Services At Saint Anne's Chapel

At last Sunday's services at Saint Anne's Chapel, Glencoe, the Reverend Bob Batton in his sermon told us that the greatest power in the universe is genuine love, the love that God has for us, and that we should keep this love ever in our hearts, toward one another.

We sang a hymn very appropriate to Reverend Bob's message: "Love divine, all love excellent, joy of Heaven to earth come down" accompanied at the organ by Debbie Sanchez.

In the prayers of the people we remembered the birthdays of Herman Burkstaller, Laura Christensen, Gretchen Annala, Carol Hamilton and Ordell Shaw.

Apples Ripening To Turn Ripe

With the rains helping the apples expand their skin, and the ripening rays of the sun beaming down to give color and flavor, the apples in the valleys of the running down from the White Mountain are beginning to ripen, especially in the lower reaches of the valleys.

It has long been known that apples are among the most healthful of all foods, and the local apples are among the most healthful qualities of their own. We can go into this a little later, and in the meantime let us go over some of the varieties of apples in the neighboring orchards.

Early fall apples are the Gravenstein and the McIntosh. There are not too many of these around locally — only a few here and there.

The Jonathan is perhaps the earliest of the red fall apples to ripen. This is a long time favorite all purpose apple with a special flavor all its own. It is good for eating out of the hand, pies, cobbles, and baking.

Close along with the Jonathan in ripening is the Golden Delicious, another all purpose apple, good for pies, apple sauce, and eating out of the hand. It has a pear like flavor famous world wide.

Next in ripening is the Starks Delicious or Double Red Delicious, a favorite eating apple nationwide and world wide. It is fine for salads, also, and pies.

Along with the above varieties is the Red gold, a relatively new variety with flavor something like Jonathan, Golden Delicious and Red Delicious.

Varieties ripening later are Winesap, Rome Beauty, Black Twig, Arkansas Black, and Winter Pearmain. The last two are found mostly in the old orchard up along the upper Bonito.

Let us thank God for our many Blessings.

Successful anglers

Checks are presented to successful fishermen who caught tagged fish at the Ruidoso Kiwanis Club's annual fishing derby at Alto Lake last weekend. Dick Mount, chairman, does the honors. Shown are Ray Sanchez and Paul Saenz and Ruidoso High School students Rick Devara who had two tagged fish.

Warrior pride will be in evidence this weekend as Ruidoso High School students, graduates, exes and supporters celebrate homecoming.

This year's celebration will include a bonfire at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Free Parking, a parade down Sudderth Drive at 2 p.m. the Homecoming coronation at 7 p.m. before the football game and the Warriors versus the Tularosa Wildcats at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. Warrior pride will be the order of the day on the football field and off as current and former Warriors celebrate.

That Warrior pride will be shared this year with Warriors who are serving in the armed forces overseas. Isn't that just like the Warriors to want to share this celebration with friends who are far away? Anyone with a family member serving overseas is asked to notify the high school, 258-4910, and a videotape of homecoming festivities will be mailed to those absent Warriors.

Whether you're a Ruidoso High graduate, student or a loyal school fan, be sure to wear Warrior blue and gold and join in the fun at the bonfire, parade and football game.

It's great to live in Warrior country, the home of Warrior Pride.

Reporter's Round

The long and winding road leads onward

Writing for a newspaper is a lot like being a politician. You are immediately stereotyped into a vast category known as "The Press," or "The Media." You are criticized for what you write and for what you don't write, much the same as the politician who is castigated for what is said or unsaid. And, ironically, your critics use the same techniques you are allegedly being decried for.

The public loves you when you write about something positive; a job well done, improvements in a public service or an award presented to some individual. But write about a job not so well done, point out the shortcomings of a program or institution and you are accused of being biased.

The past 17 months have been a tremendous learning experience for me. This was my first newspaper job, the attainment of a major career goal because ever since I was 13 I wanted to be a writer. But the way of life is seldom a straight road and I traveled many different paths before arriving here in Ruidoso.

Once I was a cook in an Italian restaurant in Tucson where I sweated by a 600 degree oven only 14 inches away while the sun outside seared at 100 degrees. I had bussed tables in a restaurant and served Beefsteak martinis to Joseph Bonano Jr. And once I stood by a freeway during an April snowstorm in Michigan hitchhiking my way back to college, wearing only a lightweight jacket and watching as hundreds of cars passed me by before finally a man gave me a ride who told me he wouldn't remember anything about the trip because of a stroke he had, causing him to forget everything that happens after he goes to sleep.

In fact, the man told me if I robbed him and knocked him unconscious he would not remember the event having ever happened.

While waiting for a bus in Tucson, I met a deaf man who told me he was going to have an operation to restore his hearing and what should he listen to first? I told him Bach.

I once counseled a 10-year-old boy who tried to hang himself with his belt because he didn't want to see his mother who used to stick his head into a toilet as punishment for soiling his diapers. And I listened as a homeless man pointed out to me a passing ambulance saying that was Mother Nature's perfume, and some day I will have to smell it.

More recently I've chuckled to myself while public leaders complain about a quote, saying that was not what they meant to say. And I've laughed out loud when public leaders during an open meeting request permission to say something off the record. But one other recent experience disturbed me considerably.

While driving back from Santa Fe I picked up two Mexican teen-agers hitchhiking their way back to Juarez. Neither could speak English and my Spanish is barely enough to get by on. They couldn't be any older than 14 or 15 and hadn't eaten for several days. They were cold and had no bedrolls, as well as no money.

By the time I dropped them off in Carrizozo it was quite late. All the way there, while they rode in the back of my truck, I kept thinking how scared they must be and how the right thing for me to do would be to invite them to my home, feed them, give them a place to sleep, then take them back to the road the following day. That way, in their travels, they will at least know there are a few people out there who really care and will show it and not just talk about it. You know the words, "What so ever you do to the least of my brothers, you have done to me."

But I took the easy way out and left them in the cold wind. Later they turned themselves in to the police and were taken to Juarez by the Border Patrol.

Was it fear they might steal from me? Was it because they were dirty, smelled bad, or maybe just because they were Mexicans? Whatever the reason, I had an opportunity to show my love for my fellow man, to show compassion to fellow travelers in life who must ponder from time to time, what's the point? In any event, I passed up that opportunity and until I correct this, my words mean little.

And now the coyotes are calling again and I will be moving on. I will be leaving The Ruidoso News the end of this month, heading to something new and different in Jackson, Wyoming. I will certainly pursue writing whenever the opportunity arises. And I will certainly not shirk from reporting the pretentious comments of a gadfly politician.

I may end up homeless, jobless, penniless, but in spite of what others may say, at least I know there are some things more important than security, sameness, predictability and the general mediocrity involved in chasing after something that is not there.

And if someone asks me "What's the point?" I will remember those two Mexican teen-agers, the times when I needed help and it was there and vow to try my hardest never to be selfish again.

LETTERS

DEAR EDITOR:

Further to my letter of August 17, regarding my opinions on predator control, I have one more statement to contribute.

There are many states that are now encouraging the use of guard dogs for sheep, goats and cattle, and discouraging the dangerous and inhumane use of traps, poisons, and wanton shooting. In our own Hondo Valley, a few ranchers have used these dogs successfully. One rancher has about 17 sections of land and, with the use of two guard dogs, reduced his livestock predation to zero. I have seen several TV documentaries that have chronicled this same result in Idaho, Montana and Nevada.

Doesn't this seem to be a more humane and inexpensive solution to the problem? Why doesn't everyone take advantage of it? With the large budget allotted for predator control, if small ranchers couldn't afford to by a trained dog, why not just subsidize them? Not only would it cut your budget by two-thirds, but whole species would be saved from extinction, and the balance of our ecology would be preserved. Your motto could be: "Give a dog a job!"

Why isn't this SOLUTION (in capital letters) vigorously pursued? I'm sure you know about it. Isn't it important to stop killing — both livestock and wildlife? Does anyone take joy in it? I hope not. Are we just too indifferent to lift a finger to change a cruel, antiquated system that just doesn't work anymore?

Remember...it is the task of our forest service officials to get the word out to all the ranchers in this state who are concerned about their losses, that the money they can save by protecting their animals from predators will more than compensate them for the cost of the dogs.

If those who are most affected by these 'natural' problems in their environment are not willing to participate in a humane solution... which is documented to be so effective... why should the taxpayer pay to destroy a whole species? And God knows how many other innocent victims of such indiscriminate methods... including humans.

I wish the taxpayer could be forced to solve some of my problems as an ordinary citizen! This society has forced many a loss on me with no reimbursement.

We would like to protect our truly valuable children from every molester, kidnapper and drug addict roaming the streets today. Too bad we aren't allowed, by law, to trap and poison and shoot every one of them on sight.

Oh, but we mustn't forget... we are the superior species, aren't we? We wouldn't think of treating humans like that. But weren't we given 'dominion' over the other kingdoms of the earth? (Is God sorry now?) Somehow my sense of that command was one of protection and co-existence, not the right to exterminate whatever got in our way. So why not test our humanity and get back to positive solutions? They are usually the best and the easiest of all to initiate, and I highly recommend them.

Sincerely,
Jan Tracy

Teachers' group gets some legal advice from speaker

"Women and the Law" was the topic of a program delivered by H. John Underwood at the September monthly meeting of Alpha Delta Kappa International Sorority for Women Educators.

Underwood said women need to be aware of financial planning, wills, trusts, inheritances and more. Underwood encouraged those 24 women in attendance to be certain that their will, etc., be prepared in a legally binding manner.

ETA Chapter is made up of members from all over Lincoln County.

Angelina Provine, retired teacher from Capitan, serves as 1990-92 President.

ETA will be hosting its Founders' Day October 13 at The Lodge in Cloudcroft. The luncheon theme will be "Our Heritage of Alpha Delta Kappa."

Members from the Southern New Mexico District will be present along with guests from El Paso, Texas, and Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, chapters. Special guests will be outstanding women educators in the county.

Founders' Day will kick-off Alpha Delta Kappa Week from October 14-21 in Lincoln County.

Also announced was the recipient of ETA Chapter's $500 annual scholarship to Beverly Ann Bell Gunn, a senior education major attending New Mexico State University in Grants.

Hostesses for the September meeting were Mary Shanks and Jacque Childress with special guest Anna Lou Chandler, state president from Carlsbad.

A garage sale is planned for October 6 during Aspenfest to help the chapter raise funds for their various altruistic projects.

KATHLEEN R. RHOYEN of Ruidoso received one of 290 graduate and undergraduate degrees that were awarded during Corpus Christi State University's summer commencement ceremony Friday, August 17, at Bayfront Plaza Auditorium.

She received her master's degree in that ceremony.

An upper-level university offering junior, senior and graduate level course work, CCSU offers 28 bachelors and 13 masters degrees through its four constituent colleges: Arts and Humanities, Business Administration, Education, and Science and Technology.

Students who complete a minimum of 45 semester hours at CCSU and have superior academic records on the cumulative work taken at the university are eligible to be graduated with honors. A cumulative grade point average (GPA) of 3.85-4.00 merits graduation with highest honors. Students with a GPA of 3.65 or higher but less than 3.85 merit graduation with honors.

Two students from the Ruidoso area are among the 313 Eastern New Mexico University (ENMU) students named to the 1990 summer semester Dean's Honor Roll.

REBECCA SUE DYKES from Ruidoso, junior home economics general major, summa cum laude; KIRE D. COLE from San Patricio, teaching certification, summa cum laude.

ENMU students receive one of four designations as a dean's honor roll student and are graded on a 4.0 scale. Summa cum laude students have a 3.8 to 4.0 grade point average while magna cum laude recipients have a 3.7 to 3.79 GPA. Cum Laude students hold a 3.6 to 3.69 GPA and students receive "honors" if they have a 3.25 to 3.59 GPA.

Academic competition in Kansas may one day parallel athletic competition. At least that is the goal of educators at Kansas State University.

According to a news release, Kansas State's College of Education will use a contribution from the R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard Foundation to further that goal.

The college has received a $150,000 commitment to create the Hubbard Mathematics Project. The initial $50,000 was presented to Kansas State University Foundation officials August 28.

The Hubbards, of Fort Worth, Texas, are part-time Ruidoso residents and are co-owners, with Ed Allred, of the Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The Hubbards also own the Woodlands Racetrack in Kansas

City, Kansas. "High school athletics, nationally, draw millions of participants and enthusiasm is plentiful," said Michael Holen, dean of education. "Our objective is to create a parallel academic competition which will generate similar enthusiasm and participation."

The long-range goal of the Hubbard Mathematics Project is to establish 15 self-supporting and ongoing contest centers throughout Kansas. Those academic contests will include more than 5,000 participants. According to a news release, the competition intends to move current mathematics curriculum and instruction away from the present, answer-orientation toward an emphasis on process.

The Hubbard Foundation was established in 1986 by the Hubbards, who are Kansas natives. While the Hubbards' personal interests include horse racing and art collecting, the foundation has committed nearly $900,000 to five Kansas colleges and junior colleges since 1989, according to James Stoddard, the foundation's executive director.

"As former educators, R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard have a vested interest in education issues," said Stoddard. "They are Kansas natives who are genuinely concerned about Kansas kids. It's no coincidence that they have established this project at Kansas State because the university has one of the finest college in the region."

Take a trip back into the old west at Cowboy Symposium

The first Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium, scheduled for October 12-14 in Glencoe (12 miles east of Ruidoso Downs), has released the list of western swing entertainers and overall schedule of events.

"Some of the country's greatest cowboy legends have come out of New Mexico and we wanted to bring them together for an event of real western heritage and fun," said John Hall, director of the Hubbard Museum and the Lincoln County

Cowboy Symposium.

"We'll have champion ropers and bronc riders, cowboy poets and musicians, authentic chuckwagons, trail rides, Mescalero Apache ceremonial dancers, and much more."

Headlining the Symposium will be former Bob Wills Texas Playboy and western swing legend Johnny Gimble. Ten-time recipient of the "Fiddler of the Year" Award, from the Academy of Country Music and four-time recipient of the Country Music Association's Instrumentalist of the Year, this Texas native has made numerous appearances on "Hee Haw" and "A Prairie Home Companion."

His recent MCA album "Still Fiddlin' Around" is representative of his roots in both country and jazz.

Texas Playboys member Leon Rausch, considered the leader of the revival of traditional country music, continues to pay tribute to the memory of Bob Wills today. His philosophy of "earning your keep, and earning your applause," has placed him at the top of the list of great western swing singers.

Oklahoma native Tommy Allsup has been called the finest western swing producer in Nashville, Tennessee. He has worked with music greats such as Willie Nelson, Kenny Rogers, George Jones, Tammy Wynette, the Statler Brothers and Bob Wills and the Texas Playboys.

Ironically, his career came within a coin toss of ending in 1959 when, after losing the toss with Richie Valens, his life was spared from the fatal plane crash which took the lives of Buddy Holly, the Big Bopper and Valens.

Allsup founded "Asleep at the Wheel" in 1971 and currently leads the "New West Wranglers."

Also scheduled for the weekend is Houston native Cliff Bruner. Having developed a very distinctive style of western swing fiddle which has been imitated by many, Bruner has recorded nearly 150 records in his career.

Bobby Koefer, another former Texas Playboy, has a unique steel guitar style which has always set him apart from the rest. Having played with such greats as PeeWee King, Bill Grey and Bob Wills, Koefer also made numerous TV appearances with Kate Smith, Perry Como and Milton Berle in the '50s.

Best known for his Texas swing dance music, Red Steagall also brings with him a career abounding with such credits as songwriter, recording artist and stage, screen and motion picture personality. With more than 200 of his compositions recorded, this native Texan is known the world over.

Known as "The Guitar Man" with the "Shamblin' Sound," Oklahoma native Eldon Shamblin is another former Texas Playboy.

Considered the finest rhythm guitarist, Shamblin says that he is a method picker, who taught himself various musical styles by analyzing other orchestra arrangements.

Texas native Craig Chambers spent much of his early years earning money to pay for music lessons by breaking horses and working with top trainers in the Southwest. Initially working on numerous radio and TV jingles, Chambers soon formed a swing-flavored group called the Rio Grande Band. The band was soon asked to arrange and perform the score for "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," which resulted in more than 2,000 Broadway performances for them.

"We're excited to bring together all of these Western Swing legends," said Ray Reed, organizer of the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium and cowboy entertainer.

"There's never been anything like this. It will be a great event to bring the family out to see a real party of New Mexico's and western history."

The Cowboy Symposium will include a trail ride and cooking event, as well as exhibitions and more. Watch for details in upcoming editions.

The Cowboy Symposium will be at the Ruidoso Super Select Sales Pavilion, located 12 miles east of Ruidoso Downs on U.S. Highway 70 in Glencoe.

General admission is $5 per day and children under 12 are free. For a brochure or information, call 378-4431. Proceeds from the Cowboy Symposium will benefit the proposed National Center for the Western Horse sponsored by the Lincoln County Heritage Trust.

Festive occasion

Watermelon, chill, goulash, bridge, Scrabble, horse shoes and visiting were the order of the day when Ruidoso Valley Noon Lions had a picnic at Cedar Creek picnic area. That 50-pound watermelon was brought by a guest from Pecos, Texas.

Senator is accepting academy nominations

Senator Pete Domenici is accepting applications from New Mexico youth interested in attending one of the United States military academies.

Young men and women interested in seeking nominations to the Air Force, Army, Merchant Marines or Naval academy classes beginning summer 1991, should have an application package completed no later than November 1.

"Attending one of these academies is an honor and a great opportunity to receive an excellent education," said Senator Domenici.

To qualify for a service school, an applicant must be a United States citizen and at least 17 years old, but no older than 22 years, by July 1, 1991.

Domenici bases the selection of his nominees on SAT or ACT scores, class rank, grade point average, school records, extra curricular activities, leadership potential, motivation and recommendations.

Interested students may obtain additional information and packets from Domenici's offices in New Mexico. The Albuquerque office is at 625 Silver SW, Albuquerque, N.M. 87102, (505) 766-3481. The Las Cruces office is at Federal Building Room E-202, 200 East Griggs, Las Cruces, N.M. 88001, (505) 526-5475. The Roswell office is located in Room 140 Federal Building, U.S. Courthouse, 500 N. Richardson Ave., Roswell, N.M. 88201, (505) 623-8170. The Santa Fe office is at the New Postal Building, South Federal Place, Santa Fe, N.M. 87501, (505) 988-6511.

Bring the whole family...

Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium, a tribute to the Old West, Lincoln County and the cowboy, will include three days of cowboy fun, food and festivities, including cowboy poets, storytellers, singers and musicians.

The "Billy the Kid Trail Rides" will take visitors to historical points in Lincoln County, and chuckwagon cooks will compete in the world's richest chuckwagon cookoff.

Dances are planned for Friday and Saturday nights, October 12 and 13.

For more information, call 1-800-622-6023 (from outside New Mexico) or 378-4431 in-state.

Indoor column goes outdoors for watermelons

DEAR SALLY:

We enjoyed your column about watermelons. We have a related question. My mother used to make preserves or sweet pickles from the rind. I remember eating this delicacy with hot biscuits and butter and to tell the truth, I can't remember eating anything any better since. So would you please print your favorite recipe for these sweets made from watermelon rinds.

Thanks so much
Sybil and Joe

DEAR SYBIL AND JOE:

Sure, I'll be glad to do as you ask but the preserves you make now probably won't taste as good as the ones your mom made.

I grew up in good watermelon country. Lelia Lake, Texas, is in Donley County and good sandy soil, great for growing fine melons and sweet potatoes.

I think I've told you before, I was the "Sweet Potato Queen" of 1939. Most of the 97 people who lived in or near Lelia Lake attended the Labor Day picnic. Three other young girls were also in the queen contest. The title was given to me because it really was only fair since the others had already been queen.

In those days we wasted nothing, so when we had finished eating our melons we picked out the seeds for the seed-spitting contest and Use either yellow or pink melon rinds. Trim all yellow or pink edges from the melon. Cut the rinds into about 1-inch squares or fancy shapes about the same size. Cover with brine, made by mixing the salt with 3 quarts cold water. Add the ice cubes. Let the dish stand 5 or 6 hours. Drain, rinse in cold water. Cover with cold water and cook until fork tender, about 10 minutes. Do not overcook - drain.

Combine sugar with vinegar, water and spices tied loosely in a cloth bag. Add food coloring if desired. Boil 5 minutes and pour over the drained melon pieces with the spices. Add lemon slices and let stand overnight.

Using a steel or enamel pan, bring to a boil, cook until melon is translucent, about 10 minutes. Pack hot melon pieces loosely into sterile hot jars. Open the spice bag and add one piece of stick cinnamon to each jar. Cover with boiling syrup. Adjust the lids and process in a boiling water bath for 5 minutes. Makes about 4 or 5 pints.

Try it, I know you will like it. Thanks for your letter but remember this is an indoor plant column.

Send questions to Sally Black, c/o The Ruidoso News, P.O. Box 128, Ruidoso, N.M. 88345.

put our rinds in boxes to take home to make "Watermelon Rind Preserves" or "pickles," they are the same thing, so far as I know.

This is my mother's recipe and is about the best I have ever eaten.

"Watermelon Pickles"

3 quarts prepared watermelon rind (about 6 pounds or 1/2 of a large melon.)

3/4 cup of salt

3 quarts of water

2 quarts ice cubes

9 cups sugar

3 cups water

1 tablespoon whole cloves (about 50)

6 1-inch pieces stick cinnamon

1 lemon, thinly sliced

Red or green food coloring optional, this makes a pretty dish at Christmas.

Aspenfest '90

Welcome to Aspenfest '90

Even before the golden aspens that decorate the higher elevations around Ruidoso light up the mountains with gold, Aspenfest '90 excitement will begin.

It all starts with the Golden Aspen Rally, the time when thousands of motorcycle hobbyists visit the area to ride the mountain roads, check out the trade show and entertain locals and visitors.

When thousands of motorcycles — customized, decorated and all spiffed up — line the streets of Ruidoso, it's really a sight to see.

The Golden Aspen Rally started Wednesday, September 19, and continues through the weekend.

Aspenfest weekend, October 5-7, will extend from one end of town to the other, and will include a street festival, street dance, arts and crafts fair, New Mexico State Chili Cookoff, rod run, parade and marching band contest.

There's something for everybody that busy weekend.

Ruidoso Gymnastics Association sponsors the big Arts and Crafts Fair in Midtown that drew 5,000 people last year. Artists from throughout Texas and New Mexico are expected to exhibit here this year.

The New Mexico State Chili Cookoff, in the Tall Pines RV Park on Sudderth Drive, just keeps getting bigger every year.

Aspenfest '90 continues through October, with Ruidoso Little Theatre's production of "Count Dracula" set to open at 8 p.m. Thursday, October 4, at Cree Meadows Restaurant.

Altrusa Club of Ruidoso will sponsor "Transylvania's Finest" an opening night party at 7 p.m. before the curtain opens at 8. Theater-goers are invited to wear costumes to opening night and compete for the grand prize — "an armful of ghosts."

"Count Dracula" will continue Friday and Saturday, October 5 and 6, and Thursday through Saturday, October 11-13 and 18-20.

Oktoberfest compahs into town October 19 and 20 and The Barn on U.S. Highway 70, and the Lincoln County Bar-B-Que War is set for Saturday, October 27.

Come on up to the mountains and view the glorious spectacle of golden aspen leaves on the tall stately trees around Lincoln County.

Visit Aspenfest '90.

For more information on Aspenfest '90 and other activities in the area, contact the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Ruidoso Convention and Visitors Bureau at 257-7395. The Chamber office is in front of Two Rivers Park on Sudderth Drive.

Starring the golden aspens

Ruidoso artist Herb Brunell captured the beauty of a stately-golden aspen in the color slide that graces the cover of this year's Aspenfest special edition. Brunell and his wife have been photographing Lincoln County's natural beauty in all its changing colors and seasons for the past 15 years. The golden aspens are the stars of Aspenfest as they light up the higher elevations each fall.

Golden Aspen Rally ushers in Aspenfest '90 event

Get ready for the Golden Aspen Rally, the week when motorcycles fill the streets and roadways in and around Ruidoso.

It's the week when "the butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker," along with doctors, lawyers, engineers, insurance sellers and people who practice in every profession imaginable, don their leathers and hop on their cycles for a mountain adventure.

Bike judging, selection of a king and queen, Poker Run, trade show, Saturday morning parade, these events and dozens more will mark the 1990 Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally September 18-23.

More than 2,000 bikers were expected to register for rally which headquarters at the Swap Mart building at the intersection of Highway 70 and Highway 48 or Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso.

The rally is a tradition in Ruidoso. The Golden Aspen Rally Association is headed by Flo Maul, president; Ron Andrews, vice president; Jill Blanks, secretary, and Dan Watkins, treasurer.

The trade show is set up in the Swap Mart or old Gibson's building.

Special runs include an Early Bird Breakfast Club Run on Wednesday, an "Iron Butt" run that day, Golden Aspen Thursday Poker Run at Rally Headquarters early Thursday for a ride to the Ski Apache area and Golden Aspen Grand Tour on Friday.

Field events and games are scheduled periodically in the five-day event.

A popular special event, scheduled Thursday, September 20, at 9 p.m. when lighted vehicles parade from Rally

Headquarters to the traffic circle and back to headquarters.

Non-denominational church services are to be conducted each morning of the rally at headquarters. The time is 8 o'clock.

A Battle of the Bands is another popular public event. This was set for Thursday, September 20, at 5:30 p.m. at the Winner's Circle and is sponsored by the Winner's Circle. Voting will be conducted to determine the most popular band.

Friday evening, a street dance at Winner's Circle features the winning band from Thursday night's competition.

Crowning of the king and queen was scheduled Thursday at 6 p.m. The Chamber of Commerce Hospitality Night was set for that evening also, from 6 to 8 p.m. The trade show building will have no admission charge those hours, and the public is invited to look over the exhibits. Chamber directors and members will be greeting bikers.

Another public event is gondola rides at Ski Apache, Thursday, from 1 to 3 p.m. Cost per person is $7.

The "en mass" parade Saturday, September 22, draws hundreds, if not thousands, of spectators.

The time is 9:30 a.m. It was to be led by the king and queen of the rally and by the Permian Basin Motorcycle Association members.

The parade will line up at Furr's and the Sierra Mall Shopping Center and will proceed south to Sudderth and east on Sudderth to Rally Headquarters.

The Golden Aspen fun extends from one end of town to the other.

A live band was scheduled to play at the Gazebo Shopping Mall in Midtown at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Presentation of awards in many categories will be Saturday at 1 p.m. in the events area at headquarters.

Awards will be for oldest riders, best dressed, longest distance traveled, for instance, plus a number of other categories.

Saturday at 7 p.m., a H.O.G. reception (Harley owners and guests only) was scheduled for Carrizoz Lodge.

(See schedule of events for other events).

The motorcycles are coming, and they'll be taking center stage in the Golden Aspen Parade on Saturday, September 22.

Who doesn't love parades?

Visitors will outnumber permanent residents in all probability when the 1990 Aspenfest Parade is staged at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, October 6. What we're saying is that a huge crowd of spectators always turns out for this event.

Shriners in their little cars or on motorcycles, bands, including bands that will compete later in the day, floats, politicians, organizations, Mes-calero Apaches, school organizations and other entries including sheriffs posse units will appear in the parade.

It's a colorful event, and the weather generally cooperates. Ruidoso is the place to be that day.

Theme of the parade this year is broad, "Ruidoso: Past, Present and Future."

Mary Maxwell Seelbach is in charge of the event this year. She says the parade route will run from Mechem and Sudderth to the traffic light where Sudderth and the Paradise Canyon road meet.

Prizes will include $250 for first, $150 for second and $100 for third. All types of floats are eligible.

Entry forms are available at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

"I imagine we'll have a lot of political entries this year because it is an election year," said Seelbach.

Five junior high bands will appear in the parade.

They will compete along with bands from smaller high schools in a contest after the parade. This will be at Horton Stadium at 1:30 p.m.

Dick Valenzuela of Capitan High School is in charge of the band contest.

There will be a parade marshal.

Village and county officials will ride in lead cars.

School-age children kindergarten through high school, will be riding decorated bicycles with $25 prizes to be awarded.

Bike riders will meet at Mountain Ski Shop at 9:30 a.m. that morning.

People or organizations desiring to enter floats must do so at the Chamber of Commerce by the close of business October 1.

There is no entry fee for non-profit organizations. There are fees for commercial and political floats.

Mountain Music

The marching band contest is always a delightful addition to Aspenfest activities. Dick Valenzuela, band director at Capitan High School, will again coordinate a marching band contest on Saturday, October 6, at W.D. Horton Stadium. The bands will also march in the Aspenfest parade.

Don't miss the "hot rod" show

The era of the muscle car, the infamous "Rat Fink" and the gleam of chrome and Candy Apple Red will be a part of Aspenfest this year with the Third Annual Run to Ruidoso October 5 through 7.

Customized classic automobiles, hot rods and other examples of the era when the car was king will be rolling into Ruidoso for the annual Aspenfest. The cars will also be on display all day Saturday, October 6, at School House Park near the Public Library.

Judges will scrutinize these meticulously assembled cars and present awards for the cleanest undercarriage, the best mild paint or the best wild paint, the best flames, the chromiest motor, the best interior and even a hard luck award.

The family oriented event, supported in part by the Early Times Street Rod Association of El Paso, Texas, and the Southern New Mexico Street Rod Association of Las Cruces, will include contests of skill as well, such as stopping on a dime, parallel parking and the poker run.

The poker run is a road rally where luck plays a more important role than time. The drivers will proceed to various locations in town where they will receive a playing card. The driver with the best poker hand at the end is the winner.

The contact for more information on the Run to Ruidoso or if you are interested in participating is Bob Nall of the Adult Toy Factory in Las Cruces. The address is Box 884, Las Cruces, NM 88004, and the phone number is 382-5742.

There is a $25 entry fee which includes a dash plaque, T-shirt, door prizes and awards and a continental breakfast.

Drivers will arrive Friday, October 5 for registration at the Ruidoso Inn.

The poker run is scheduled for 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday, October 6, with the awards presentation at 5 p.m. The continental breakfast for registered drivers is scheduled for Sunday, October 7.

Hot dog! It's the chili cookoff!

The hottest chili and the liveliest entertainment will team up for the Ninth Annual New Mexico State Open Chili Cookoff Saturday, October 6, at Tall Pines RV Park on Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso.

Budweiser and Ruidoso State Bank join the Ruidoso Chili Society in sponsoring the annual cookoff that benefits the Lincoln County Needy Children Fund.

Chiliheads are challenged to try their hand at concocting the judges' choice as well as the people's choice in chili.

The Lone Star Express will provide musical entertainment, but the cooks and chiliheads themselves will also get into the act as they vie for the showmanship award. Guests will get a chance to sample the chili and can expect plenty of fun and excitement in the games and events scheduled throughout the day.

"How many cookoffs are there in 70 degree weather and on real dirt, not asphalt?" asks Ruidoso Chili Society representative Paul Crown in his invitation letter. "Well, this one is. Come to Ruidoso, and get high in the mountains."

Crown said 82 chili teams competed last year, but the early response this year is an indication that the Ninth Annual cookoff may be even bigger than the Eighth.

Cooks can camp free Friday night at Tall Pines, and can set up camp from 6-10 p.m. Friday and from 6:30-10 a.m. Saturday.

The Cookoff officially begins at 9 a.m. Saturday when beer sales begin and cooks get together for a meeting. Cooking begins at 9:30 a.m. with the showmanship judging from noon to 1:30 p.m.

Games and contests are scheduled from 1:30-3 p.m. and the chili is to be turned in for judging between 2 and 2:15 p.m.

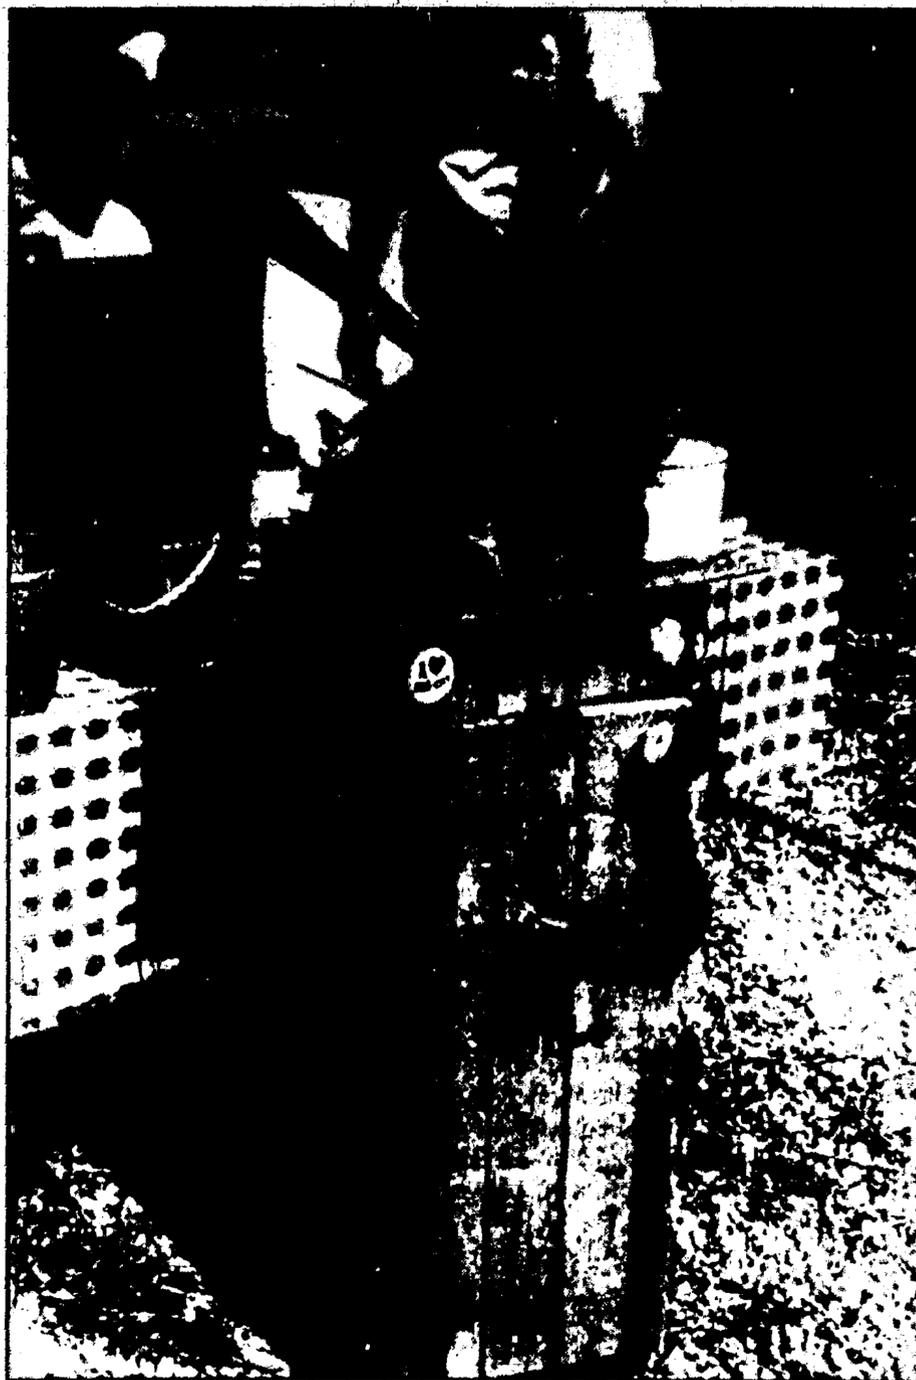

The peoples choice chili give-away is from 2:15-3:30 p.m. and the awards are set for 4 p.m. The chili cookoff ends at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Cost to enter the cookoff is $20, and Crown said entries will be accepted right up until the time for the cooks' meeting on Saturday, October 6.

Trophies will be presented to the top 10 chilis, the first through third place state chili, the first through third place showmanship and the top chili in the people's choice category.

To enter, write to Ruidoso Chili Society; PO Box 280; Ruidoso 88345; or call 257-5123.

And, if you're strolling through Midtown during Aspenfest, stop by the Ninth Annual New Mexico State Open Chili Cookoff.

What tastes better than chili, beans and barbecue cooked over an open fire? Aspenfest '90 will include the best chili in the state and the best barbecue in the county. Don't miss the Ninth Annual New Mexico State Chili Cookoff on Saturday, October 6, and the Lincoln County Bar-B-Q War on Saturday, October 27.

Lincoln County War will find the best barbecue

It's a war! ... the second annual Lincoln County Bar-B-Q War will cap off Aspenfest activities this year.

Barbecuers will be vying for the title of the Best Bar-B-Q Cook West of the Pecos on Saturday, October 27, at Circle B Campground on U.S. Highway 70 east of Ruidoso Downs.

"What better place than the site of the great Lincoln County War, the war that turned Billy the Kid into the west's most famous outlaw?" ask the sponsors.

Cooks can check in from 4-10 p.m. Friday, October 26, and for the $20 entry fee, they will receive a free RV space for the cooking team.

Saturday, the war begins when the cooking teams start preparing barbecued briskets and beans. Trophies will be given for brisket, beans, show, pit and the best of show.

Besides barbecue cooking, the Lincoln County Bar-B-Q War will include live western music, hot air balloon rides, horseshoe pitching tournament, games, food, music and an arts and crafts show.

Texas Cafe and Circle B Campground sponsor the war, with proceeds to benefit local service clubs.

Admission is $1 each or $3 a carload.

Artists join in Aspenfest fun The artists

Artists and crafters from throughout the area will gather in Ruidoso for the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association's annual Arts and Crafts Fair from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, October 6 and 7.

The artists will display and sell their wares in the outdoor booths across the street from Gazebo shopping center on Sudderth Drive. Cost to enter the Arts and Crafts Fair is $1.

Food booths will also be located in the fair area, with burritos by the Knights of Columbus; fajitas by the Ruidoso ski team; and hamburgers, hot dogs and soft drinks by the gymnastics team.

Money raised during the Arts and Crafts Fair benefits the gymnastics program.

Some of the local artists who will display at the fair are described below.

The Guild, made up of seventh graders in Liza Cabot's art class at the Ruidoso Middle School, was formed this month with the goal of sharing materials and creative ideas for their individual art projects.

Cyclers take the White Mountain challenge

Racing a bicycle 12 miles uphill to a steep mountain summit, fighting through exhaustion and muscle fatigue in air too thin to breathe, is just the kind of fun greeting hard core cyclists in the Sixth Annual White Mountain Challenge Cup Hill Climb.

Galen Farrington, race director, said the grueling 50-minute ride will begin at the athletic field on Ski Run Road, SR 532, on Saturday, October 6, at 8 a.m.

The winding, steep course offers little relief until the 10-mile mark where it levels off for a speedy race to the finish. Several hairpin turns signal the beginning of a 45-degree incline.

Farrington said an expected 100 racers from the Southwest will participate, including course record holder Jason Strauch from Albuquerque. Strauch turned in a blistering 46:45 performance in 1989.

Farrington said the event is open to all citizens and is the major fund raiser for the Ruidoso Bicycle Club that includes high school students Eric Marr, Roger Marr, Sam Gumbert and Jeremy Pinto.

"You don't have to be a licensed bicycle racer to participate in the race," said Farrington. "We want everyone to come and attack the hill."

Farrington said registrations will be accepted at Century 21 Real Estate, 727 Mechem Drive, until Friday, October 5, at 7 p.m. He said there will be no race-morning registration.

Race numbers, available at Century 21, are to be placed on the right hip and helmets will be required for all participants.

The staggered start has the United States Cycling Federation (USCF) heading the field with an 8 a.m. start, followed by the citizens race at 8:05 a.m.

The USCF is divided into five racing classes: senior men, 18-29; senior men, 30-44; senior men, 45 and over; senior women; and junior men and women.

The citizen's race is separated by four classifications: senior men, 18-30; masters, 31 and over; women, 18 and over; and junior men and women, 17 and under.

This year's race is being sponsored by Ski Apache Resort and Sierra Blanca Motors.

Chief referee will be Glenn Thompson.

The citizen's fees for the event are $8 which includes insurance. USCF members will pay $10 which includes insurance and a New Mexico Bicycle Racing Association surcharge.

Farrington said any donations to help the Ruidoso High School Cycling Club would be warmly accepted.

Farrington said first, second and third place medals will be awarded in the men's and women's citizen's classes. A special first place trophy will be awarded the overall winner. Commemorative water bottles will be handed the first 100 entrants and over $400 in cash will be awarded to the USCF classes.

Cyclists seeking information or registration forms can contact Galen Farrington, after 5 p.m., at (505) 258-5355.

"Count Dracula" descends for Aspenfest production

Ruidoso Little Theatre's final production for 1990, "Count Dracula," will open at 8 p.m. Thursday, October 4, at Cree Meadows Restaurant.

The opening night benefit party, "Transylvania Best," sponsored by Altrusa Club of Ruidoso, will begin at 7 p.m. that evening, with the curtain set to open at 8 p.m.

Altrusans invite everyone to come in costume for the opening night party, with proceeds to go to the Lincoln County Food Bank.

Opening night tickets, still just $5 each, are available at Ruidoso Bus Station and at Ruidoso State Bank.

"Count Dracula" will continue at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, October 5 and 6, and Thursday through Saturday, October 11-13 and 18-20. A matinee performance is scheduled at 1 p.m. Saturday, October 20.

Cree Meadows and Ruidoso Little Theatre team up to provide a dinner theater experience in the restaurant with a view of Sierra Blanca. Call 257-2733 for dinner and show reservations.

Ruidoso Little Theatre members promise that "Count Dracula," with its creative set and innovative special effects, will be a thrilling addition to your Aspenfest fun.

The community theater group will close out the season on December 2 with the annual Betty Awards, when the thespians will honor those who have made this season such a big success. The People's Choice award winners will also be announced during the Betty Awards.

The Betty Awards are named for RLT's founder, Betty Bennett.

Up and down the street

These youngsters are pictured during a previous year's Street Festival that stretches from one end of Sudderth Drive to the other with games, food booths, music and lots and lots of fun.

Let's dance

The whole family will enjoy Aspenfest '90, and one of the highlights will be the Street Dance on Saturday night. KRUI and the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce will sponsor with dance, with the time and place to be announced.

Call the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, 257-7395, for information on all Aspenfest '90 activities.

Golden aspens light up the mountain

Enjoyment of the Aspenfest would not be complete without a trip to the neighboring forest lands to see the Aspens in their autumn splendor.

From late September through early October the leaves of these tall trees turn a bright gold and as they fall they litter the ground with brightness, like a floor made of gold doubloons.

There are many Aspen stands throughout the Lincoln National Forest and most within a few minutes drive of Ruidoso. Depending on your sense of adventure, these viewing areas can be reached via paved routes, or by taking some of the Forest Roads in the vicinity.

All along Ski Run Road, also known as State Road 532, there are many spectacular vistas of Aspen trees, as well as smaller pockets of the tree right along the road at the edge of Eagle Creek.

This paved road leads up to Ski Apache Resort and has several turnouts along the way provided panoramic views of the White Mountain Wilderness and the Ruidoso and Bonito valleys.

About half way up is Oak Grove Campground, a forest service campground with picnic tables, cooking grills and toilets, but no running water. The use of the facility is free.

If you're willing to take a gravel forest road that is at times quite steep and rock-strewn, Forest Road 117 to Monjeau Lookout is worth the trip. A broad view of the northern slope of the White Mountains, with a view of the Capitans and Jicarillas, is available at the lookout.

Also, access to the Crest Trail is possible just below the lookout. By taking a short hike to the west, you will pass through large meadows, and by heading uphill off the trail you can reach the top of the ridge for a full view of the Eagle Creek basin.

Further up the trail the way becomes a little steeper, but another large meadow can be reached providing you with a view westward toward the Tularosa Basin and eastward back into the Eagle Creek basin.

The trail is at between 9,000 and 10,000 feet in elevation, so be sure to take your time and bring plenty of water.

Below the Crest Trail access is a small picnic/campground that also is a good spot for Aspen viewing and beautiful views. Trails also lead from this spot, but should be reserved for more experienced hikers.

As the Aspens change, so do the scrub and gambles oak throughout the area. These hardwoods turn a bright red during their autumn change.

A drive through Nogal Canyon or from Bonito Lake can bring you to the Crest Trail access where you can hike to the top of Nogal Peak.

After a brief hike on the Crest Trail, a barbed wire fence with an "Oklahoma" gate will be off to your left. On the other side of the fence is the route leading to the summit of Nogal Peak.

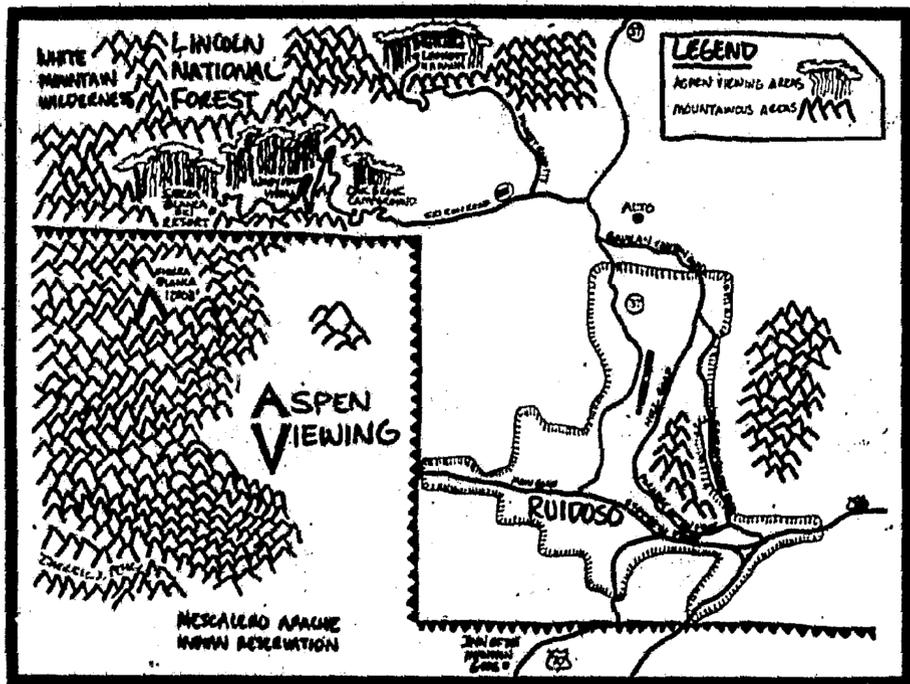

This trail is often very steep and rocky so either allow yourself plenty of time, or be in very good condition. The view from the top is spectacular.

Also, if the day is warm and you want to wear shorts, bring a pair of sweats to pull on for the hike because you will pass through some thick stands of stinging nettles during the first portion.

The autumn change in leaves happens suddenly and last briefly. Contrary to popular belief, the color change is not brought on by temperature changes or freezes, but by the lessening of the amount of sunlight during the autumn days.

Whenever you take to the trail, remember to take water. Even on cool days, the altitude can dehydrate you and turn a potentially pleasant trip into a miserable experience.

If you need more information on trails or where to go in the Forest Lands, drop by the Smokey Bear Ranger District office in Ruidoso. They are happy to help you.

Don't miss the best of the 'wurst

The program hasn't been firmed up as yet, but the dates for Oktoberfest have been set.

The event will unfold at The Barn, October 19-20.

Last year the two days of dancing, dining and performances by various German-style music groups was known as the Bavarian Bash.

Spectators and patrons crowded into an upper room at the Carrizo Lodge for the fun and merry-making.

On every Oktoberfest menu are such items as schnitzel, wurst and sauerkraut. Sausage delectables predominate.

Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce director Jerry Watts said Craig Rawlings offered use of the barn for Oktoberfest this year. It is located on U.S. 70. It's big and has all facilities needed for an expanded Oktoberfest.

A number of special music groups which have performed are expected back this year.

They include the Polka Dots, Ute Kirsch and the Enzian Schuhplattler Dancers of El Paso, Texas, Bruce Muggenbert and Orchestra (Eff Da) of Albuquerque. Muggenbert, a waltz band, also has polka dancers.

Expected here this year is Rudy Ulibarri and the International Dance Ensemble of Albuquerque. The group plans music of several European countries.

Various vineyards and breweries are corporate sponsors for Oktoberfest.

Prime sponsor is the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Oktoberfest is a family affair. No doubt hot dogs also will be on the menu for the small fry, plus special entertainment.

Costumed dancers raise their mugs and kick up their heels during last year's big Oktoberfest celebration. This year's event will be in bigger quarters at The Barn on Highway 70.

Aspenfest fun

Aspenfest entertainment in Midtown is being arranged by Mary Maul, project chairman, and will include gunfighters, artists and music.

In the Winner's Circle area, October 5, 6 and 7, there will be caricatures by Rebecca Price and pine knot carving demonstrations by Ernie Roche. Music will be provided by a band, to be announced at a later date.

Beware of the authentically garbed gunfighters you may meet as you stroll through Midtown. Gunfighters will appear each day at 1 p.m. at the Gazebo Shopping Center, 2103 Sudderth; and again at 1:30 p.m. at Ski West Center, 2415 Sudderth, and at 2 p.m. at Mountain Arts Gallery, 2530 Sudderth.

Some merchants may be conducting demonstrations in front of their stores, weather permitting.
