Board honors scholars

The Ruidoso School Board recognized ACT scholars Shane Long and Chaitanya Pai during a regular meeting Thursday.

The two Ruidoso High School seniors, who couldn't be present because they were at a tennis meet, were honored for their high scores on college entrance examinations.

The board spent much of Thursday's meeting hearing from Eastern New Mexico University officials about plans for Ruidoso's off-campus instructional center.

The board was asked to appoint an advisory committee and enter into a joint operating agreement with the university. The search is on for a director who will report directly to ENMU's president, as well as to the local board.

The board made plans to update its policy manual and also heard from Superintendent Mike Gladden that he had attended a budget workshop in Santa Fe in preparation.

County will consider levying franchise fees

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

For decades, utilities and private companies have used Lincoln County right of way to install pipes and lines without being charged.

But the County Commission soon may follow the lead of other counties and cities across the nation by adopting a franchise fee ordinance.

Commissioners are scheduled to decide Tuesday whether to set public hearings on the franchise fee. Their meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the county courthouse in Carrizozo.

Franchise fees have proven to be a significant source of income for others within the county's boundaries, according to county manager Nick Pappas. The Village of Ruidoso collects about $180,000 a year in franchise fees from four utilities.

"It's not a tax, let me emphasize that," Pappas said. "It is a user fee. They use the county's right of way."

"It's the commission's philosophy and that of this administration, however, that you don't charge fees unless you are going to provide a service."

The service that has been discussed is planning, he said. The fees could be earmarked to establish a planning department with qualified professionals.

"Look at the last 10 years," Pappas said. "The developers came in here and tore up some really beautiful areas. I'm not saying progress isn't good, but there needs to be comprehensive planning and right now, we don't have the staff to do it."

As proposed, the fee would be two percent of the annual gross sales receipts of the company paid on a quarterly basis. Franchises could not be transferred without prior commission approval.

Franchises would be granted for a period of five years. Violation of the terms of the franchise would be grounds for forfeiture if it continued for 90 days without correction.

Pavement or other right-of-way improvements disturbed during installation would have to be restored to the county's satisfaction. The franchise holder also would have to maintain a business office to receive inquiries and complaints from its subscribers.

In a related matter, commissioners also are scheduled to consider granting franchises to Zia Natural Gas Company and to Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association.

At 1:30 p.m., a public hearing is scheduled on a proposed ordinance to expand the commission from three to five members.

The ordinance would provide for staggered terms of four years each and would require that commissioners be elected from the district in which they live. The members now live in separate districts but are elected at large.

The terms of other elected county officials also would be expanded to four years, if the board is enlarged.

In other business, the commission will consider a resolution in support of Senate Bill 140 that would increase the amount of payments in lieu of taxes to local governments for tax exempt lands within their boundaries.

The payments were initiated in 1976 by the federal government.

Problems plague one popular Ruidoso night spot

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Normally affable Ruidoso Village Councilor Jess Stinson was not smiling.

"There's a few of them as jealous as hell that we're making a success out of this damn thing, ever since we opened up," Stinson said.

Across the table Wayne Wash, Councilor Stinson's business partner at the Winner's Circle, was not happy either.

A number of Ruidoso residents complain that the popular liquor lounge is out of control and juvenile drinking and bar fights are a frequent occurrence.

Winner's Circle has two bouncers on duty to keep peace and check IDs and yet, the Ruidoso Police have received nearly a hundred calls from the Sudderth bar since last July. More than 30 of those calls have been since January 1.

Ruidoso Chief of Police Richard Swenor serves in a position appointed by the mayor and approved by the village council.

Swenor is a seasoned law enforcement officer capable of controlling any situation; even if councilor-bar owner Stinson is his boss, even if his officers are not allowed to spot check the bars for possible violations.

But the appearance of impropriety and the appearance of a political conflict of interest are occasionally triggered by an incident like the one that occurred at the Winner's Circle last week.

THE INCIDENT

The police dispatcher received the first disturbance call from 2535 Sudderth shortly after midnight Saturday, April 6. A fight was in progress at the Winner's Circle.

The second call, 24 minutes later, from the same Eddie Unknown said the fight at the Winner's Circle had expanded to the parking lot. The call noted 10 people and one person en route to the Lincoln County Medical Center with a cut eye.

While incidents filed in the station's log are sketchy, more details are usually entered in the police report.

Ruidoso police officer Randy Spear wrote that he arrived to see Mark Smith, 28, in the bathroom holding a towel to his eye. Witnesses indicated that Bobby Joe Rainey, 44, had hit Smith above the left eye with a beer bottle while in the Winner's Circle Bar.

Spear accompanied Smith to the hospital where a doctor closed his wound with 17 stitches.

Around 2 a.m., the bar's bouncer, Lance Zink, walked into the station to turn in his account of the fight.

His statement read: "I saw Bobby Rainey strike Mark Smith on the head above the left eye with a beer bottle. I was standing by the door going into the kitchen off the dance floor when I observed Mark Smith and another male having a discussion. Bobby Rainey exited by the door leading to the men's bathroom about 15 feet away. Bobby Rainey exited the men's bathroom and with no provocation from anybody hit Mark Smith with a bottle and then hit the other subject on the head with the same bottle. I then restrained Mr. Rainey and ejected him from the premises, having to do so with force. This all took place at the Winner's Circle Bar."

Rainey, a former jockey, is 5-2 and weighs 111 pounds.

The report did not name the "male" in discussion with Smith, nor the name of the "other subject" hit on the head.

Spear said no one in the bar at the time he arrived told him anyone else was involved in the altercation. He said he did not know that another person had been hit with the same bottle until he read it in Zink's report, more than an hour after the incident.

One witness, contacted by The Ruidoso News, was told by three of Smith's friends that Rainey was "dead meat."

At 1:32 a.m. Angel Salas reported two subjects attempted to break in Rainey's home at 111 Broken Arrow as he was driving up. Ruidoso officers and the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department both were called.

The sheriff's report the following morning listed Mike Atwood and Daniel Candelaria as the two persons who left the Winner's Circle for Rainey's property. The report lists their ages as 28 and 21, although Candelaria's birthdate on the same report indicates he is 20 years old.

Several witnesses contacted later by The News confirmed the "male" conversing with Smith was the same person as the "other subject" who was hit with the bottle. He is Brand Nosker, an 18-year-old friend of Atwood and Candelaria.

OWNERS DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Stinson and Wash met with The News last Thursday to discuss the problems of a village councilor being the owner of a bar that frequently requires the police and has been cited for serving minors.

Stinson contends his position as boss of the police chief doesn't present a conflict for officers checking on his establishment.

"They don't ... we don't ... they (police) don't come in here," Stinson said. "They get them out in the parking lot."

"We want the police in here," Wash said.

"Swenor told them not to come in," Stinson said. "I'm going to talk to Swenor and see if he'll let them come back in."

The Winner's Circle is a popular bar, located in Midtown Ruidoso with its share of downtown problems.

Wash said he didn't know why police were told not to spot check.

"I didn't know he did that," Wash said.

"I don't know why, unless some of them complained," Stinson said. "Some of the other bartenders."

Stinson wasn't sure when Swenor's directive not to spot check came down.

"Oh, about three weeks ago, I guess," Stinson said.

Wash agreed that it didn't make sense for a police chief to tell his fellow officers not to make spot checks in problem areas.

"That's right," Wash said. "That's the reason they put the walking beat back on, because of people breaking into cars up and down the street."

Swenor later told The News bar checks changed because of manpower restrictions. He said bar checks take an inordinate amount of time from the scheduled patrol.

"Since the first of the year, we're running between 72-78 percent call rate (time spent handling incoming

MainStreet cuts back coffees

MainStreet Ruidoso board members agreed at a regular meeting, Thursday, to perhaps increase attendance at MainStreet coffees by reducing them to two a month.

Board members emphasized at the meeting that the public is invited to these coffees, held on a rotating basis at member businesses.

Also, the time for coffees was altered. Time and day will be 9 to 10 a.m. on the first and third Fridays of each month.

The coffee and refreshments scheduled is published regularly in Coming Up in The Ruidoso News. At the board meeting, Mike Line, president, outlined a program of work for the coming year. Committee appointments were made. Nominees will be contacted to see if they will serve.

Total expenses for the past year added to $44,358 against a budget of $45,431, Alden reported.

Deyo said the bank balance is in the black, but several expenses are looming such as Social Security withholding, unemployment compensation tax and withholding.

A $7,500 payment from the village of Ruidoso is expected later this month.

Board members agreed that the annual Halloween events should be continued.

A revised Shopping and Services guide will be published in June.

Board member Bonnie Maddox was named chairman of a float committee for the October 5 Aspenfest Parade.

Don Dutton said that a national, major sponsor, such as American Heart Association or American Cancer Society is being sought for the scheduled bicycle race next spring.

"Off-road and street biking is the spectator sport of the 1990s," Dutton said. MainStreet Ruidoso sponsors a bike race in April.

Board members approved a program of work.

It was agreed that a membership drive should come in early summer.

Board member Bonnie Maddox called attention to the Big Sur Campaign to "Spruce Up Ruidoso," sponsored by MainStreet Ruidoso.

Midtown merchants are urged to clean up the Midtown area and plant flowers and shrubs. Plants can be ordered through MainStreet with delivery set for May 17. The telephone number is 257-6346.

State Representative John Underwood spoke about his experiences as a freshman legislator and described how redistricting may affect this district.

Underwood also announced that Governor Bruce King appointed two Lincoln County Democrats to the Governor's Business Advisory Council.

Chairperson Griffin and Vice Chairman Hansen were named to that council. Underwood said they will be working closely with Bill Garcia, secretary of Economic Development, and Mike Cerletti, secretary of tourism.

Governor King, in a letter announcing the appointments, said the members of his advisory council offer input that is invaluable to him and his appointed officials.

Bob Armstrong of Roswell will chair the Governor's Business Advisory Council.

In other business during the county convention last week, Underwood told Democrats of a new law that was passed to choose jurors from drivers licenses instead of voter registration roles. He said that should increase voter registration.

Chamber VP calls for Ad. Comm. changes

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

A proposal to remove Craig Rawlings as chairman of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce advertising committee was advanced, Friday, at a meeting of the committee.

The proposal apparently will be considered by the executive committee and the full board of directors at their next meetings.

Paul Crown, who was elected vice president of advertising and promotion recently, moved at the Friday meeting that Rawlings be removed and replaced by Joan Bailey.

Acting chairman of the ad committee, Tony Wilcoxon, told Crown that any action concerning Rawlings "should be a board matter."

"I disagree. I think it should happen here," Crown said. Crown said he feels he has authority to ask the ad committee to take action on the Rawlings matter.

"It's got to be approved by the board," Wilcoxon said.

Crown said that he made the recommendation "after last Tuesday's Village Council meeting."

Rawlings, saying he was speaking only as a private citizen, appeared before the Village Council and asked publicly for the resignation of Jerry Watts, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce.

At the time the village council was considering what entity should market the projected civic events center.

The Chamber of Commerce, the Village of Ruidoso, Jo Ann Wimberley and PM Realty have submitted proposals to do that.

Rawlings said he would not continue his "volunteer efforts in such an adverse arena." He accused Watts of "driving a knife between entities and between dedicated volunteers."

Rawlings vowed to resign his positions at the chamber if Watts doesn't quit.

The executive committee of the chamber meets at 5 p.m. today (Monday), April 15, Wilcoxon said.

calls," Swenor said.

The chief said on Memorial Day weekend the department would return to bar checks.

Win, Place and Show (WPS) owner Eddie Fowler said he certainly has never complained about police doing spot checks.

Fowler said the reason his bar has less crime is because he has control.

"Either I'm here or my son is here, and we have tight control," said Fowler. "When there's a problem at WPS and it's serious enough to call the police, those people are barred permanently from coming back. I'm not going to let a bouncer beat the hell out of them like some people do and then allow them to come back. They are going to get a lifetime ban."

Fowler said he would let the record stand on its own.

FOR THE RECORD

An assortment of woes plagued the Winner's Circle in 1990.

The Alcohol Gaming Division indicates the bar was issued citations from Chris Ortiz to owner John Petty for six violations of serving a minor on August 14 and for a dispenser license restriction on September 21.

According to the alcohol division,

Wash leases the alcohol license from Petty. Wash said the citation was for selling beer from a Budweiser beer wagon during Aspen-fest. The violations still are pending.

Councilor Karn is caught in early a.m. Midtown scuffle

A Ruidoso police officer broke up an altercation early Thursday morning between Ruidoso Village Councilor Bill Karn and an unidentified woman in front of Mountain Arts across from the Winner's Circle.

According to the police log, at around 2:23 a.m. Thursday, April 11, officer Robert Achterberg observed an argument and gave the following account: "As I was on patrol, I did see Mr. B. Karn leaning on the wall at Mountain Arts and he was having a rather loud talk with an unknown female subject."

"Due to the language used, I observed the scene for about 20 minutes. As I watched I did observe Mr. Karn shove the female several times. Finally, she was pushed to the ground. I told Mr.

Karn to go home. I also told Mr. Karn to walk or we would take him home. Mr. Karn wanted to walk."

"Upon making contact with the female, she stated that she was OK and did not want any action taken. I again told Mr. Karn not to drive."

"Mr. Karn told me he was trying to keep the woman off of him and for her to go home. That's why he shoved her."

"We then left the area, at which point Mr. Karn did drive off. I was unable to pursue Mr. Karn due to my vantage point."

"Mr. Karn was very intoxicated. This conduct will not be tolerated."

Contacted by The News, Karn said, "People have disagreements."

at the Winner's Circle were two incidents where bouncers knocked down a female patron and used mace on another woman.

On October 25, the CrimeStoppers reported under age drinkers at the bar where they also broke up a fight.

Last year, two teenage girls used fake IDs to drink at the Winner's Circle and were involved in an accident shortly after leaving the bar.

"What are we supposed to do?" asked Wash. "We check their IDs. If you sit here tonight and watch them come through that door, our bouncers are checking them as they come through."

Wash said fake IDs have been a real problem.

"You wouldn't believe how real they can look," he said. "I don't want them (juveniles) in here. I don't need them. And we find them all the time."

Fowler said fake IDs aren't a big problem at his WPS.

"Ask the police where the problem is," he said. "I've never had a pending case before the ABC. The fake IDs are very sophisticated, but the law says if you have any doubt, you have the right to refuse service and if a person has been drinking too much they're not to be served."

Remembering brother John's birthday

Birthday Of Our Brother John

This is being sent to you a little after high noon on April 11, and will reach you on April 15, the birthday of our brother John, eldest of the Storm brothers.

John Whippo Storm, eldest of the Storm brothers, was born on this date in 1970 in Denver, Colorado, to Lynn Whippo Storm and the former Bertha Catherine Kennedy.

At the age of not quite two years John and our mother left Seattle on the steamship Yucatan bound for Valdez, Alaska, where our father had gone a few months earlier.

There is a small Episcopal prayer book here in the house with some early childhood pencil marks on the first blank page along with our mother's handwriting: "Written by John Whippo Storm on the Steamship Yucatan in mid ocean January 19, 1909."

Mother and John arrived in Valdez about January 21 during one of the heaviest snow storms recorded up to that time and many years since.

I was born October 27, 1909, and John became my guardian and protector. When I was a little over two years old, John and I began going down to the village combination drug and candy store to buy taffy in three flavors, chocolate brown, strawberry pink and vanilla white. John led the way shouting "Mush" at the Malamute sled dogs lying in harness in the snow in the middle of the street. The dogs would get out of our way and watch us from the snow piled high by the street. They looked larger than horses to my young eyes.

Life In Mexico

After traveling to "The States" and back to Alaska, John went with his mother and father and brothers, Daniel, Marcus, Joseph and Lynn to Mexico where we stayed for a year.

After we came to El Paso, Texas, and then to the Ruidoso Valley, John studied for the Episcopal priesthood at Kenyon College, in Gambier, Ohio. Later he studied architecture at the University of Texas. He served in World War II as a lieutenant in the Army Engineers.

On this beautiful day on the approach of his birthday, I send up a prayer of thanks for my beloved guardian brother, John, and we rejoice together as his spirit visits me from Heaven.

Bill Hill Walks

A Daily Pilgrimage

For 25 years W.A. "Bill" Hart, pioneer Ruidoso citizen, has taken a daily walk from his home in Ruidoso Downs, up the canyon a half mile and back, where he rests on a stone with his back to the pine tree and spends some time in meditation and prayer.

In his own words: "I walk up there and rest on that rock and talk to The Lord. Then I feel renewed in spirit and the walk back down is restful and pleasant."

For the last several years his companions on this pilgrimage are two dogs. His dog, Pepper, is a cross between a French Collie and Australian Sheep dog, and a neighbor dog, Smokey, is an Australian shepherd.

Bill begins his walk at three o'clock sharp, and the dogs are ready right on time.

"You can tell time by these dogs," says Bill. "At three o'clock Pepper begins barking and running in circles, and Smokey the neighbor dog comes running over."

The two dogs lead the way and rest close by Bill and lead the way back, wagging their tails, and showing every sign that this daily walk is a feature event in their lives.

As to the weather, Bill says, "When it rains I put on my slicker and in the snow we just put on our heavy coats and go anyway."

Bill and his wife, Violet, have lived in their home there in Ruidoso Downs since 1965, and in the Ruidoso area since 1936. Bill is to have eye surgery on the 19th.

"I won't be able to drive for a few days with the patch over my eye," says Bill, "but I can still take my walk."

Bill's faithful pilgrimage surely is one reason for his good condition of mind, body and spirit at the age of 85; and his daily walk to his sacred spot is a blessing to all of us, for he remembers us in his talks with The Lord.

Shelter sets sad new record

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

It was something he had been dreading ever since the veterinarian pronounced the sentence - more than 52 animals would have to be killed in one morning.

It was a record for the Lincoln County Humane Society Shelter, a record manager Randy Basch hopes the shelter never again matches.

Basch normally tries to avoid putting to death any of the cats and dogs brought to the facility.

During the summer, that goal is impossible because irresponsible pet owner allow their animals to breed and he receives as many as five or six litters in one day.

But the situation last week was different. The shelter wasn't overcrowded, even with more than 40 puppies.

The problem last week was Parvo, the deadly virus that can ravage a shelter if not controlled.

Sometime in the last month, two litters with puppies apparently already infected with Parvo were brought to the shelter. And now, a veterinarian had told Basch that all of the unprotected animals in the shelter should be "put down." That's the euphemism for death used to keep from offending the very people who often are the reason the animals must die.

When puppies are brought to the shelter, Basch immediately inoculates them against Parvo. But the shot takes 10 days before the immunities are effective.

Yet Basch said nine out of 10 people who bring litters to the shelter are unwilling to hold onto the animals a few more days - days that would make the difference between life and death.

"And then they have the audacity to say they don't know how I can do this, that they love animals too much," a visibly-shaken Basch said. "If they really loved animals, they wouldn't allow them to breed and create the situation that requires this kind of action in the first place. Or at least they would keep the litters a few more days and give them a chance at living."

Thirty puppies received that chance. They arrived a little earlier and were sent to volunteer foster homes for the 10 day period until the immunities were established. But Basch had run out of foster homes by the time the last litter, a terrier-chow mix, arrived.

They became part of a group of 42 puppies, cuddly and healthy to all outward appearances, that had to be destroyed because of possible exposure to the Parvo germ in the shelter; because their owners wouldn't keep them a few days longer.

Basch said he would like to see the Ruidoso Village Council adopt an ordinance similar to one approved in December 1990 by San Mateo County in California. It was the first no breeding ordinance in the nation.

The Peninsula Humane Society in San Mateo pushed for the ordinance because despite low-cost spay/neuter clinics, it still was destroying the same number of animals it did ten years ago, about 9,000 annually.

The aim of the ordinance was to establish zero population growth of dogs and cats and to ban the breeding of both until no more healthy animals have to be euthanized in San Mateo.

According to an article in American Humane Shoptalk, the Society began a hard-hitting campaign for the ordinance by printing a supplement picturing barrels of euthanized animals under the heading, "This is one Hell of a job and we couldn't do it without you."

The campaign continued with a controversial public euthanasia session of several animals including a mother cat and her kittens.

Just a few months later, the county passed the ordinance, which established fines of from $100 for a first offense to $500 for repeated offenses within one year.

Starting in January 1992, mandatory spaying/neutering goes into effect. Owners of all dogs and cats over nine months must comply unless they hold a breeding license or a recommendation from a veterinarian exempting the animal for health reasons.

Night drop cages were built to keep people from abandoning litters to avoid the fines.

In conjunction with the campaign, the society offered 150 free cat neuter during the fall and began altering all adult animals before they were adopted.

"I don't understand how a city can allow breeding," Basch said. "It's an expense to the taxpayer to house the animals and to put them to sleep."

"That should make the council interested in an ordinance. As it is now people allow their pets to breed, bring the litters to us and then just allow their animals to do it all over again the next year."

According to Humane Society statistics, for every human born, 15 dogs and 45 cats are brought into the world. At the other end of the cycle, thousands of animals are being euthanized every week across the nation.

Meanwhile in Ruidoso, the summer cycle of reproduction has started. In two days, the shelter on Gavilan Road received 34 animals.

Lady Kay would make royal pet

Two-year-old Lady Kay is ready to adopt just about anyone who walks through the door of the Lincoln County Humane Society Shelter.

"She gets along well with everyone," said shelter manager Randy Basch. "There's not a mean bone in her body. She likes other animals and she loves kids."

When the apricot pekingese/poodle mix was first brought into the shelter, Basch said he was a little concerned that she might not take to women because she had been owned by a man. But Lady Kay doesn't seem to care who's giving her affection, she likes everyone.

Her owner died while in the hospital and the person caring for the dog could not keep her.

"She is housebroken and would be happiest in a home with little competition from other animals," Basch said. "She likes to be spoiled."

"She's an alert dog and will bark at noises."

Lady Kay's shots are current. She has not been spayed. The shelter does not charge an adoption fee. The charge to take her home will be $45 for spaying and $5 for a city license.

Basch is looking for businesses or individuals willing to sponsor dogs and cats for adoption by bearing the expense of the neutering.

The society also plans to schedule money-raising activities this summer to establish a neutering assistance fund "because it would be a service for the animals and that's what we're here for," Basch said.

Female cats and dogs benefit from spaying in many more ways than just not bringing more animals into the world, he said. They are less likely to suffer from several diseases and will not be subject to problems connected to

But it is even more important to neuter male dogs and cats since they can impregnate a dozen or more females in one season, Basch said.

For more information on Lady Kay or any of the other dogs and cats, stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon or call 257-9841.

Board

tion for submitting the local school system budget.

The board opened two bids for seasonal grounds maintenance and three for a sprinkler system at Nob Hill. They accepted both low bids, with the provision that they be reviewed and confirmed by Gladden.

Greenskeeper was the apparent low bidder for grounds maintenance with a bid of $12,270 for six months care at all four schools and the Administration Building. Colly and Robin Parks bid $17,750 for that same job. Both bidders specified that materials would be purchased by the schools over and above the bid amount.

Allen Service Company was the apparent low bidder on the sprinkler system at $7,880. McCarty Co. bid $8,700 and Conley's Nursery bid $9,662.20.

The board approved calling for bids on a financial auditor and band instruments.

"It's time for the band to get some support," said Gladden, noting that some larger instruments, like the tuba and French horn, are too expensive for students to purchase.

The board also approved an addendum to the involved agreement adopted a couple of months ago regarding transportation changes on the Mescalero Apache reservation. That agreement is designed to phase out a long-standing practice of both Ruidoso and Tularosa providing bus service in Mescalero.

The board accepted the resignation of Lynn Moore with regret, and accepted the resignations of teacher/coach Barry Lucie and teacher's aide Teresa Ramos.

Moore, whose resignation is effective April 19, bequeathed her leftover sick leave to Lee Ann Norton and Nancy Anderson. Gladden, questioned about that practice, noted that Doyle Howell "left" 90 days to the sick leave bank when he retired.

That bank was established by the board for employees to draw on if and when they suffer catastrophic illnesses that use up their own sick leave.

The board hired A.H. "Mac" McIlwain, former K-Bob's manager, to direct the school cafeterias, and approved hiring bus drivers Toby Wilson, Sonny Silva and Cindy Gomez. Ginger Montoya was hired as Title V liaison coordinator.

The board retired into a closed session to review personnel contracts for the next school year. Gladden wasn't available to report on those contracts. He and three or four members of the board are in San Francisco, California, for a national school board convention.

Young scientists show off at annual WMIS Fair

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A lightbulb is more likely to glow if Ruidoso water is used as a conductor instead of bottled water.

That may not be very comforting to residents of Ruidoso, but that conclusion was enough to win first place for Justin Ready in the chemistry division at the White Mountain Intermediate Science Fair.

Ready proved his hypothesis with a jumble of wires, batteries, water and a bulb based on the information that Ruidoso water contains more minerals and salts.

The fourth grader was one of 98 entrants in the science fair at the intermediate level. Another 110 elementary-age students from White Mountain and Nob Hill entered projects in a non-competitive science fair. Each received a participation medal.

Most of the students started working on their projects before spring break, said coordinator Susan Keeton.

Clint Russell, a fifth grader, was given the Principal's Award for his project on the dissolution rate of aspirin tablets. He also placed first in the consumerism category.

Keeton provided a list of the other winners based on third through third in each category:

Behavioral: Jamie Estes and Lori Genta, no third.

Botany: First place tie between Casey Widener and Zach Carey, second to Amanda Sisson and third to Sina Herrerra.

Chemistry: Justin Ready, Rebecca Echols and Cedric Lucero.

Space: Lily Walstad, Miranda Jo Diaz and the group project of Lloyd Hobbs, William McCloskey, Lorenzo Ontiveros, Vicente Muniz and Sarah Russell.

Environment: Zac Pafford, Brent Buchhagen and Heidi Hosmer.

Medicine and Health: Mandi Lewallen, Riley Carbitto and Mandi Spence.

Microbiology: Heather Stephens, Susie Oldfield and no third place.

Physics: A first place tie between Myra Romero and Chloe Wierwille, second to Raquel Reimann, third to Amanda McClendon and fourth to Kelly Neill (because of the large number of entries a fourth-place was awarded).

Engineering: Amy Hemphill, George Lopez and Emily Ruch.

Zoology: Felicia Frizzell, Scott Stevens and Jake Sanchez.

Consumerism: Clint Russell, Lealea Gerth and Melissa Ames.

Driver injured in one-car crash

A Roswell woman was injured late Thursday in an accident on State Road 246 when her pickup truck crashed through a right-of-way fence and rolled.

According to State Police Officer Dennis Brown, Lavern Juarez, 44, was northbound when she apparently lost control of her 1988 Ford at mileage marker 13.

Juarez was charged with careless driving, driving while intoxicated and having no automobile insurance, Brown said.

Business

Bill Pippin is shown with his branch office associate, and Beverly Stephenson, personnel, Marge Woodul (at left), sales broker.

Pippin opens satellite office

Bill Pippin, veteran Ruidoso area Realtor, with the help of Marge Woodul and Beverly Stephenson, is putting a downtown building he owns to good use.

The former Whitlock-Lyle real estate office just east of the Ruidoso State Bank and at 1608 Sudderth is now a branch of Bill Pippin Real Estate.

Pippin's main office is at 1601 E. Highway 70 at Ruidoso Downs. Pippin hopes to move his main office to the Sudderth location in the future when his spacious office building in the Downs sells.

Staffing the new office will be Barbara Stephenson, broker, and Marge Woodul, sales associate, who has been in real estate in Ruidoso for some 14 years. She has been a resident of Ruidoso for 20 years.

A million-dollar producer, Woodul says she loves the real estate business and "will work hard to help anyone find just that 'right property' to fulfill their mountain dreams."

Stephenson has lived in Ruidoso for almost five years.

Pippin has been in the real estate business for some 30 years and is considered a household name in real estate in the Ruidoso area.

Bill Pippin Real Estate offers general real estate services. Listings include residential properties, raw land, ranches, commercial properties and specialty properties.

Marge Woodul has three sons, Richard, Bill and Chris. All three are graduates of Ruidoso High School.

Richard is a CPA who lives in San Francisco, California. Bill has a master's degree in finance and is associated with Hewlett-Packard in Sunnyvale, California. Chris is in his last year of pharmacy school at the University of New Mexico.

Woodul speaks fluent Spanish and has her GRI designation.

Financial network available

The old ticker tape days are over. Electronics has taken over in the financial world.

Financial consultant Larry W. Corbin of the new Merrill Lynch office in Ruidoso says the Merrill Lynch office here has all of the equipment and services that the Dallas, Texas, office boasts.

Dallas and Ruidoso are hooked to the world.

Thus, investors in Ruidoso can tune in, if they desire, to the New York, London, Tokyo, Toronto, Australia and Hong Kong stock exchanges, for instance.

Corbin and Johnny Lutrick, financial consultant, and Joanne Darrow, administrative assistant, are here to serve the public, especially retirees in financial planning and investment.

Corbin says all of the strength of Merrill Lynch is available locally. As of mid-year 1990, clients had entrusted a record $349 billion in assets to the care of Merrill Lynch.

Corbin says much of Ruidoso's future is tied to the quality of life in Ruidoso which attracts retired persons of means.

The financial consultant sees the new golf course and the projected accompanying hotel as a definite draw to such people.

They'll come to visit and play golf and many will buy homes, he surmises.

Merrill Lynch here, in the Stroud Building at 1096 Mechem, Suite G-4, offers a full line of financial services.

"We're here because we like Ruidoso as a place to live," Corbin says. He spent five years here previously with the Thompson McKinnon office.

He and Lutrick most recently worked together in the Lubbock, Texas, office.

Corbin has had a summer place in Ruidoso for 13 years, at Alto.

"A lot of retirement people are coming in here. That's our future," Corbin says.

Merrill Lynch even has Visa cards and checking accounts for clients.

But building and managing wealth is the main business of the company.

A brochure says it well:

"We are committed to helping clients building and manage wealth by targeting comprehensive coordinated strategies that address all their financial needs - including savings, investment, insurance, tax minimization and credit needs.

"We back that commitment with our unparalleled depth of resources, the broadest range of financial products and services in our history, plus professional service and advice from Merrill Lynch financial Consultant."

A brochure outlining the company services is available at the office here. The phone number is 505 258-4444.

Puzzlers make public stock offering

Greg Richards, president of Richards Puzzles, announced this week the completion of an intra-state registration of common stock under section 27J of the State Securities Law.

The company, which moved to its new quarters at 1086 Mechem last week, will offer 200,000 shares of its common stock to the public at a price of $1.50 per share.

The proceeds of the sale of stock will be largely used in expanded marketing efforts of the company's precision hardwood geometric puzzles. Richards announced at the same time the receipt of an order from Montgomery Wards.

RON BERGERON

Friendly TV has birthday

Ron Bergeron of Friendly TV at 2809-A Sudderth Drive, is elated that his business is solid after five years.

Friendly TV will celebrate five years in business as of April 15.

"It's an important milestone ... when you're in business five years, this indicates you're going to make it," Bergeron says.

He says, in general, his customers have been very satisfied. And, Bergeron says, his business has survived some very hard economic times in Ruidoso.

Bergeron has lived in Ruidoso for eight years. He first had a shop in a business complex across from the post office, but moved to his present location three and a half years ago.

A trend in electronics was cited by Bergeron. He said prices are dropping for such machines as VCRs, but prices of repair parts remain high.

He said he is using generic parts where possible to keep cost down and for more rapid repair.

Manager

Pat Jones is the new store manager at Furr's at its 205 W. Highway 70 location in Ruidoso. Jones formerly worked at Safeway on Sudderth Drive 10 years ago. Jones comes here from El Paso, Texas, where she was a store manager. Jones has a daughter in El Paso and a son, a student at UTEP. She is a native of Roswell.

RHS Warrior tracksters take off with a bang

The Ruidoso Warrior track team is off to a flying start. For the past two weeks the girls have won it all.

On April 6, the Warrior girls swept the Goddard Track Invitational scoring 88 points and beating Hobbs, Goddard, Lovington, Portales, Roswell and Artesia.

Last Saturday, the Warrior girls smashed a bunch of heavyweights to win it all. They beat Clovis, Las Vegas Robertson, Hobbs, Roswell, Las Cruces, Goddard, Carlsbad, Lovington, Artesia, Melrose, Rucumcari, Portales and NMML.

Ruidoso track coach Ronny Maskew said his team is playing with great spirit and consistency.

"We don't always finish first in an event, but we second, third and fourth them to death."

Last week sophomore Monica Martinez winged the discus 109 feet for a school record previously held by Lori Walker.

Other great duels continued. Luisa Tam and Stephanie Haas battle back and forth in the distance races. Nick Nanz and Gilbert Kayitah also play nip and tuck with each other in the distance races.

On Saturday Nanz gained a first over the field in the popular 1600-M run. Haas was first in the grueling 1600-M run.

The Saturday before, it was Tam's turn to win two first places in the distance, nipping Haas each time in the 1600-M and the 3200-M.

GODDARD

The Warriors scored two firsts at Goddard, both were by outstanding junior Luisa Tam. Tam ran the 3200-M in 12:28 and the 1600-M in 5:49.

Equally outstanding is Stephanie Haas who has duelled Tam to the finish in every race. Haas finished second in the 3200-M at 12:58 and second in the 1600-M at 5:58.

Veteran Missy Gosdin ran a fine 100-M high hurdles in 16.22 for second place, and 300-M hurdles in 50.96 for second place.

Wendy Vincent, a new face, grabbed a fine third with a 1:06 in the 400-M to win by a nose over Amy Wishard who also ran a 1:06, less nose.

Rachelle Holstein grabbed a fourth in the highly competitive 200-M with a 27.90.

Freshman Sarah Dix, with outstanding leg strength, took fourth with a leap of 16-3.

Monica Martinez finished fifth in the shotput, 33-0.

Brandy Pfeffer cleared the high jump bars at 4-8 for fifth.

Sixth place finishers were Kerry Cumberly, 200-M; Betsy Cull, 100 high hurdles and 300 hurdles; Catrina Gabaldon, 400-M.

Relay results:

1600-M, second, Vincent, Wishard, Gabaldon and Holstein, 4:27.97.

400-M, second, Gosdin Cumberly, Mulqueen, Holstein, 53.86.

800-M, second, Cumberly, Mulqueen, Wishard, Holstein, 1:54.

1600-M, second, Christy Ryan, Amy Randle, Kami Bailey and Christy Jacobs, 4:51.

GODDARD BOYS

Shot put: Shane Eidson, 45-1, sixth place.

Long jump: Steve Dankert, 20-5.

Javelin: Steve Dankert, 157-9, fourth place.

Javelin: Ryan Wright, 129-7.

300 High hurdles, Eric Evans,

42.25, fifth place. Heath Huey, 43:47 and Jason Dix, 46:42.

100-M high hurdles, Eric Evans, 14.97, good for third.

200-M run, Chris Torres, 22:96, fourth.

1600-M run, Gilbert Kayitah, fourth, 4:51; Nick Nanz, fifth, 4:52.

3200-M run, Gilbert Kayitah, 10:33, second; Nick Nanz, 10:49, third.

ROSWELL GIRLS

Shotput: Monica Martinez, third, 34-10, school record.

100 high hurdles: Missy Gosdin, third, 16:33.

300 hurdles, Missy Gosdin, second, 49:54.

1600-M run, Luisa Tam, second, 5:50.

1600-M run, Stephanie Haas, sixth, 6:04.

800-M Amy Wishard, sixth, 2:38.

3200-M Stephanie Haas, first, 12:16.

3200-M Luisa Tam, second, 12:40.

400-M Relay, Missy Gosdin, Sarah Dix, Natasha Mulqueen and Rachelle Holstein, fourth, 53:26.

1600-M Relay, Wendy Vincent, Amy Wishard, Catrina Gabaldon, Missy Gosdin, fourth, 4:37.

BOYS ROSWELL

110-M high hurdles, Eric Evans, third, 15:35.

800-M Relay, Keif Johnson, Tony Aguilar, Heath Huey, Chris Torres, fourth, 1:36.

1600-M run, Nick Nanz, 4:51; Gilbert Kayitah, second, 4:53.

3400-M run, Kayitah, third, 10:41.

Even though Ronny Maskew coaches a disciplined track team, occasionally young children will move into spastic formations for the benefit of a camera. The net minds will wander and perfectly normal results, however, sum up to a great team.

Golfers tee off in tournaments, scrambles

The young Ruidoso Warrior golf team turned in its best performance of the season, Saturday, as they fired a 324 team total in the Lovington Invitational tournament.

Paced by junior Nathan Baudo's 79, the rest of the boys squad (all freshmen) finished with career low rounds.

Jeffrey Chapman had 80, Jimmy Varnadore posted an 82, Ryan Wall checked in with 84 and Matt Cantu turned in 91.

Two Lady Warriors played Saturday. Aimee Reynolds had 121 and Tabatha Parnell scored 136.

So far this season, the boys teams totals have been 390 in the Santa Teresa scrimmage and 360 last week at Spring River in Roswell. Saturday's 324 was the lowest team score for the Warrior boys team since 1989's victory in the Ruidoso Invitational II.

Where the world was forever changed

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Forty-six years ago, the sky over south central New Mexico exploded with light, turning night into day and forever changing the world's definition of destruction.

Twice a year, thousands of curious visitors drive to the Trinity Site of the White Sands Missile Range to see where the first atomic bomb was detonated.

A lava stone obelisk marks the exact spot west of the Oscura or Dark Mountains, the range that hid the secrets of scientists feverishly working to create a weapon of mass destruction as a finale to the war in the Pacific.

Bill Gallacher was 15 years old on July 16, 1945. He was crawling out of bed about 5:30 a.m.

"No one knew what it was," Gallacher said. "It just kind of turned daylight. The whole sky lit up."

"As I remember, there was a lot of confusion about what had taken place. We went outside to look."

Initially, the government announced that the light, noise and vibration were the result of an ammunition dump explosion.

Much later, an official statement acknowledged that the incident really was the detonation of the first atomic bomb.

A former reporter with the Roswell Daily Record recalled that editor Don C. Wright admitted the significance of the event went right over his head. To his ever-lasting embarrassment, Wright played the announcement on the second page of the newspaper.

Lamenting his error of ignorance, Wright told the reporter his only excuse, "I didn't know what an atomic bomb was."

Neither did the Gallachers who went about their business, tending the 500 cattle on their 70-section ranch atop Chupadera Mesa north of the explosion site.

"Several people came out from the government after that," Gallacher said. "They asked a lot of questions, but they never admitted why they were there or why they were asking questions."

A few months later, Gallacher and his father noticed that some of their cattle had developed streaks of white hair.

"It looked like the rest of their hair, but white," he said. When they went hunting that fall, they noticed the same white streaking on the deer.

"I remember that vividly," Gallacher said. "We saw the same thing for two years."

He didn't recall any unusual illnesses among the cattle or any deformed calves born the next spring.

"Of course if there were some, we would have blamed it on something else," Gallacher said. "We wouldn't have known (there might have been a connection to the atomic bomb)."

This year, more than 2,500 people drove the isolated roads from Socorro, Carrizozo and Tularosa on April 6 to tour the Trinity Site and the nearby McDonald Ranch during the first of two public open houses. A second tour will be scheduled in October.

Entering from the Stallion range gate off U.S. 380, silver domes sit in the mountains to the west. Baracks and offices lie below. Giant dishes scan the sky from the roofs of several buildings.

After checking in at a security gate a few miles south of the road, visitors may be a bit rattled by a sign that warns "Danger, Missile Impact Area."

Seventeen miles beyond, a solitary bunker covered with earth and capped with a thick slab of concrete remains as testimony to the machinery and humans subjected to the bomb's tremendous force that July morning nearly a half century ago. Most of the other bunkers have been torn down.

Visitors leave their cars behind in a large parking lot outside a fenced area protecting ground zero and the obelisk. All that remains of the 100-foot high steel tower housing the platform on which the bomb was mounted is the cement footing that secured one corner. The rest was vaporized in the 19 kiloton explosion.

A similar model to Fat Boy, the bomb dropped on Nagasaki August 9, 1945, rests on a flatbed. It was the third atomic bomb exploded. The second devastated Hiroshima three days earlier. The Japanese surrender on August 14.

Photographs along the inside of the fence show the second-by-second development of the mushroom cloud after detonation.

At first resembling a delicate shimmering bubble, the tremendous force reaches outward, tumbling dirt and debris in its path. The power then pushes up into the sky as observers described it like a giant magnesium flare with an intensity many times that of the midday sun.

According to the information handed out by employees at the gate, the shock from the bomb broke windows 120 miles away and was felt at least 160 miles away.

Observers watched through dark glasses. The VIPs stayed at Campana Hill, 20 miles northeast of ground zero. Three wooden shelters protected by concrete and earth were established at 10,000 yards from the core of the explosion for other viewers, most members of the Manhattan Project.

The project was initiated in 1942 to create and assemble an atomic bomb in what was seen as a race against the Germans. The group of scientists assembled in Los Alamos was led by Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer.

According to the Trinity pamphlet, in an atomic explosion, a chain reaction picks up speed as atoms split, releasing neutrons plus great amounts of energy. The escaping neutrons strike and split more atoms, releasing still more neutrons and energy.

Oppenheimer is credited by some with suggesting the name, Trinity Site.

As the story goes, he was reading a devotional poem by John Donne with the line, "Batter my heart, three person'd God," describing the trinity.

Another version is that the site was named in recognition of the three facilities created during World War II to produce the bomb, Oak Ridge, Hanford and Los Alamos.

By 1953, the radioactivity at Trinity had decreased and in September of that year, about 650 gathered for the first open house.

In 1975, the 51,500-acre area was named a national historic landmark. The literature handed to visitors acknowledges that the radiation level in the ground zero area is about 10 times greater than the region's natural levels, but contends it is not high enough to be harmful under normal circumstances and during a short visit.

The tour area encompasses the McDonald ranch house where the plutonium core to the bomb was assembled by the scientists before being transported to the tower.

Restored by the National Park Service in 1984 with financing by the Department of Energy and U.S. Army, the ranch house is part of a three-acre site. The adobe and plaster house was built in 1913 by Franz Schmidt and an addition was constructed by the McDonalds in the 1930s.

The ranch was abandoned in 1942 when the area was used as a range to train World War II bombing crews. The house was deserted until 1945 when the support crew for the Manhattan Project arrived.

The explosion didn't cause much damage to the house other than broken windows, but it collapsed the roof of the barn.

Something new this year for visitors is the discovery of a small undisturbed portion of the original crater created by the atomic bomb explosion. It consists of a one-foot square piece of trinitite, the green pieces of fused sand created by the intense heat from the bomb.

Small fragments are found lying all over the ground in the fenced-in area around the obelisk.

Just outside, Capt. Jason Dunavant from Plainview, Texas, demonstrated the radioactivity of the trinitite. Literature distributed at the gate warns visitors not to pick up or keep pieces.

Inside the fence, a low-lying shed erected 150 yards from ground zero 10 years ago protects what is thought to be a section of the original crater floor.

At one time trinitite completely covered the depression created by the explosion, but most of the particles in the small crater were either removed by the Nuclear Energy Commission or were covered.

Another stop on the tour is the tubular remains of Jumbo, a 25-foot long, 10-foot high, 214-ton casing originally constructed to contain the TNT explosion to be used to detonate the atomic bomb.

Scientists were convinced the TNT would explode, but they were unsure of the plutonium. As the literature explained, if the chain reaction failed to occur, the TNT would blow the very rare and dangerous plutonium all over the countryside. If the explosion occurred as planned, Jumbo would be vaporized.

Jumbo was never put to that test as scientists became more comfortable with their own scenario, they decided to do without the casing. The ends are missing because of later tests with TNT.

Allow about three hours for the full tour. Stallion Range gate is 12 miles from San Antonio and 53 miles from Carrizozo. The gate will be open from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. the first Saturday in October.

Capt. Jason Dunavant demonstrates the radioactivity of trinitite to visitors at the Trinity Site. The green glassy substance was created when intense heat from the first atomic bomb melted and fused the sand around the blast.

The ruins of the McDonald bunkhouse, barn and corral (above) have been stabilized to prevent further deterioration. The casing from Jumbo (below) sits outside ground zero. The 214 ton steel jug was designed to contain the plutonium if the TNT trigger failed to detonate the first atomic bomb. Jumbo was never used.

A sign reminds visitors to the McDonald Ranch House that snakes are the only permanent residents. The ranch was used by scientists to assemble the plutonium core of the first atomic bomb before it was detonated July 16, 1945.

A bomb similar to Fat Man, the atomic bomb dropped on Nagasaki on August 9, 1945, is displayed inside ground zero. Five days later, the war in the Pacific ended.

From the steps of the McDonald Ranch House, visitors can listen to old radio interviews with scientists from the Manhattan Project and view the remains of a barn.

Death and taxes...

Today's the day that most of us dread all year — the day we have to hand over a big percentage of our hard-earned dollars to the Internal Revenue Service. Of course, that's only assuming the IRS hasn't already collected the mega-share on a quarterly, monthly or even weekly basis.

If you're working today for a salary, the money you earn will go to taxes of one kind or another. The last figures we heard indicated that the first four months of work in a given year go to pay income tax, social security, sales taxes and other levies.

The system has gotten out of hand, and it's going to be up to our lawmakers to straighten it out. When it comes time to set budgets at the national, state and local level, our leaders should take a close look at where that money is going instead of looking for new sources of revenue.

Why not cut the $80,000 the feds are spending to train Secret Service agents in horseback riding? These guys are learning to ride, just in case, Vice President Dan Quayle wants to go riding.

And, why not let the S&L guys take their own fall? Why should we bail out the investors who wouldn't have shared their profits had their gambles paid off?

But, for today, those of us who don't want to go to jail, had best just grit our teeth, sign the check and keep working to pay next year's taxes.
