Village sells its garbage system

The Ruidoso Village Council narrowly passed a motion to sell the village's solid waste department's land and assets to the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) last Friday.

Councilors Al Junge and Jess Stinson both were against the sale that netted the village $870,000 for equipment and land. All county municipalities are merging into the LCSWA for future solid waste collection.

Junge repeated his thoughts that the assets were undervalued by the appraisers.

He wanted to negotiate upward another $100,000. Junge said the county smartly negotiated a blue sky opportunity when commissioners insisted their business enterprise was worth $100,000, although they have nothing to sell.

The county later adjusted that figure downward to $70,000 and a used bulldozer.

Councilors Ron Andrews and Barbara Duff voted in favor of the sale. Councilor Bill Karn, after a 30-second pause, decided to vote in favor of the sale.

In preliminary meetings promoting the regionalization, the village's solid waste system, in particular the compactor located on Gavilan Canyon Road, were expected to be appraised at about $1 million.

Councilors were disappointed when the appraisals came in below that figure, and came up with the idea of selling the commission on the value of the trash collection business.

Junge, who was on the previous council that purchased the trash compactor, is credited with the success of the solid waste collection program.

He's convinced that the business is making a quarter of a million dollars for the village. The mayor warned that those profits are on the decline because of the increased costs to establish and operate landfills.

Dancing with fire

A Mescalero Apache dancer steps up to the fire to raise a chant to his God. The dancers performed Saturday night at the amphitheater in Lincoln. They will perform three more times during the summer.

Rain is winner Saturday

All bets went to the weatherman on Saturday, when heavy rains caused a halt to horse racing action at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Unsafe riding conditions caused by several inches of heavy rain prompted racing officials to cancel the entire racing program at the Downs on Saturday.

Bettors took their money and headed home.

About an hour before first post time at 1 p.m., a heavy downpour flooded the racing surface.

According to a news release provided by Ruidoso Downs Racing, jockeys refused to ride. They based their decision on safety reasons, continued the release.

Racing resumed Sunday at Ruidoso Downs with first post time at 1 p.m.

The $100,000 Horseshoe Toss, scheduled for Saturday, was rescheduled for Sunday.

Post time for today's 11-race live card will be 3 p.m., with racing continuing this week at 1 p.m. Thursday, July 4. The program continues at 1 p.m. Friday through Monday.

Solid Waste director moves to new office

Recycling to begin in August

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer
Lincoln County Solid Waste Manager Gene Green spent last week with a mop, a broom and a can of Pledge.

He was tackling the job of cleaning up the Authority's new central office and recycling center on Second Street, one block south of U.S. Highway 70 in Ruidoso Downs.

Green is set to be operating out of his office there today and hopes to be able to start accepting recyclable materials by the first of August.

"We have one and a half acres here and a yard with a security fence," Green said, reviewing the reasons the Authority decided to lease the compound from Texas-New Mexico Power.

"We intend to use it as an all purpose facility," he said. "It includes a garage warehouse where the recycling will be centered and when we acquire the garbage collection equipment, we'll have a mechanic. All the vehicles and equipment will be parked inside the fence." Green was working last week on his office area and also was organizing a space he intends to use for the meetings of the Authority board.

"We'll be meeting here for the first time August 15," he said. "It will look a lot better by then. And we'll have a sign outside announcing that we're here and when we'll begin accepting items."

"I'm aiming for at least August 1 and maybe before that." The authority will pay 80 percent of the market price in Alamogordo for aluminum, Green said. That could fluctuate week to week. The center also will accept glass and newspapers.

Changes may occur as the operation starts to gel, he said.

"We have to see the volumes and cash flow," Green said. "There still are many marketing decisions to be made. But the whole idea is to pull as much as we can out of the mainstream that ends up in landfills."

Green said he sees no conflicts with private firms that collect and pay for aluminum. It all helps lower the volume to the landfills. In fact, he eventually would like to see the county center buy from them.

"I envision this facility as the local market where collectors could bring what they buy and we would stockpile and haul away."

"With grant money, we will have equipment to bale and crate it," he said. "Maybe that will let us purchase from local suppliers."

A campaign of public announcements and flyers will precede the official opening of the center for recycling, Green said.

The authority may postpone for a month or two the stationing of specially designated dumpsters at local shopping centers for recyclable materials, he said.

"We may want to initiate that after school has resumed because the authority would like the logo to be designed by one of our local high school students," he said.

For information on the recycling program, contact Green at 378-4697.

Gene Green, director of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, assembles a desk for his new office in the former Texas-New Mexico Power compound on Second Street in Ruidoso Downs. Green moved into his office today and hopes to begin accepting recyclable materials before the first of August.

Youth Authority goes office hunting

Juvenile offenders and their parents may soon have to travel to Carrizozo to meet with the children's probation officer if the local branch doesn't locate suitable office space.

The Ruidoso Probation-Parole Office, located in the county complex, will close in the next 30 days, according to the State of New Mexico Youth Authority.

Authority secretary Robert Portillos, who was in Ruidoso Wednesday, said the closing was necessitated by the request of Lincoln County Officials who provide the county office space.

Services and treatment provided by the Ruidoso office will be transferred to the Carrizozo office at the Lincoln County Courthouse unless a suitable office area and a lease agreement can be made within the 30 days, according to Portillos.

Lincoln County manager Nick Pappas said the Youth Authority was asked to vacate its quarters at the suboffice because the county is short on space.

"One guy is working in a conference room as an office," Pappas said. "And the assessor is working in the middle of the hall. We truly have reached the point where the building is too small.

"We need more space, but if we add on, the rumors will start that we're moving the courthouse from Carrizozo to Ruidoso."

Pappas explained that at one time the Youth Authority, operating under the title of juvenile probation, was under the court system. Its offices were to be located close to the district judge, in this case, Carrizozo.

But a few years ago, it was recreated as a separate agency. At that time, the Attorney General said the agency would have no budget for offices and county government should continue to make office space available.

Unfortunately, in Lincoln County most of the cases and most of the residents are in Ruidoso, 30 miles from the county seat and district court in Carrizozo.

Even though having the office in Ruidoso was a convenience, the commission is not legally obligated to provide two offices to the Youth Authority, Pappas pointed out.

He suggested that instead of directing the authority officer to drive each weekday from Ruidoso

Representatives of the New Mexico Youth Authority rally around Jane Parnell and her assistant, Pat Delhotal. The Youth Authority needs new office space, or it will be forced to leave Ruidoso within 30 days.

Computer confounds confusion on commission

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A state computer, on its own, created new words and merged them into two different press releases according to Valencia dela Vega of the New Mexico Endowment for the Humanities.

A recent press release from the Humanities indicated the Ruidoso Village Council had named members to a new board and was co-sponsoring a festival with that new Ruidoso Arts and Film Commission.

But village officials said they never approved any festival. And village records did not contain any minutes of official meetings by the arts commission.

After repeated calls to the Humanities in search of application records, The Ruidoso News received the following fax message from dela

Vega that read:

"RE: Mistake in Press Release
I would like to apologize for the mistake in my press release stating that the Ruidoso City Council was sponsoring the Ruidoso Chautauqua Festival. This was a misprint on the computer merge system. The Ruidoso Arts and Film Commission is the sole sponsor of this event."

Dela Vega said she didn't have any paperwork on the Ruidoso Festival, although her office supplied The News with a copy of a form ordinarily used to apply for participation in programs of the organization.

According to Ruidoso Public Library officials, who use the Humanities programs several times a year, applications must be sent to the Humanities Resource Center along with a $20 fee. Last year the fee was $5.

Dela Vega said she had negotiated with Barbara Westbrook of the arts commission and that no fee was paid and no paperwork is on file.

She said the reason no paperwork was required is because it was a large project.

Asked how the two names could have merged on the computer with no paperwork for support, dela Vega said the computer typed the name "Ruidoso" twice. Apparently, the computer filled in "City Council" on its own.

The Humanities application is specific in its instructions that the form must be submitted no later than 30 working days before the program. The Chautauqua charge is $20, a speakers bureau, $5.

There is space for the applicant organization, program director, a break down in cost share, and a note to the program director that "failure to complete and return the evaluation below within two days after the program ... will result in late honorarium payment to the scholar."

Dela Vega was reminded that The News had called her a week ago regarding a possible open meetings act violation since no official records of the festival's approval could be found.

During that first conversation, Dela Vega had told The News the festival was a program jointly sponsored by the Ruidoso Arts and Film Commission and the Ruidoso City Council.

But in the follow-up call Tuesday, Dela Vega said it was her understanding that the Ruidoso Arts and Film Commission was a private organization and the sole sponsor of the event.

"I'm sorry if I led you to that impression (that the village council was co-sponsor)," Dela Vega said. "I retract what I said before."

Mayor Victor Alonso, at last Tuesday's regular council meeting, admitted he was wrong in thinking the Village of Ruidoso's Arts and Film Commission had official members.

Village Attorney David Thomson, who had to correct the mayor, said no open meetings act had been violated since no members had been officially elected.

The council Tuesday approved the appointments of residents who had been serving on that private art and film board.

In an unusual twist, minutes sent to the mayor and council from the art and film commission while still a private group also were approved into record Tuesday.

The private commission is now an official arm of the Ruidoso Village Council, subject to the open meetings act.

Last Saturday the new arts and film commission staged a get acquainted party inviting the council. Even though those invitations were sent before the commission was appointed, invited councilors and other invited guests to "a get acquainted with Village of Ruidoso's Arts and Film Commission."

Confusion continued, with some invited guests noting that the invitations called on a reply by June 15, but weren't received until June 17.

The party was billed as a "Who are we, why are we, and what are we party."

to Carrizozo, the Authority should use the money she would spend in gasoline and upkeep of the state car to rent an office from a private owner in Ruidoso.

"We are providing space in the county seat, but we are under no obligation to provide satellite offices and the authority's attorney has acknowledged that," Pappas said.

While the authority was using the Ruidoso office, it apparently closed the office in Carrizozo.

"A guy was coming every two to three weeks, but there was no need and he was transferred to Alamogordo. They closed the office. When we went in recently, we found a typewriter and desk still there," Pappas said.

"I was directed to remove the authority to make space and I did," Pappas said. Since then, I've received a letter from State Rep. Juohn Underwood (D-Ruidoso) and from the magistrate judges asking why."

The original date for closing was July 1. Pappas extended that date by 30 days to allow the Youth Authority to find office space.

Portillos and some members of his Santa Fe staff met last Wednesday in the Ruidoso office with children's probation officer Jane Parnell and her clerk, Pat Delhotal. Parnell's clients are youthful offenders referred by area law enforcement and the schools.

Members of the League of Women Voters of Lincoln County are currently involved in gathering in-depth data about the governmental and institutional entities in Lincoln County.

The information will be published in a brochure called "Know Your County" and will prove to be a valuable book for all entities who furnish information to the general public.

One of the 12 designated committees researching information, the Education Committee, interviewed Ruidoso School Superintendent Mike Gladden for the project.

Dot Freiley, Genevieve Sewell and Virginia Alonso worked with the superintendents of each of the five school districts within the county.

Some of the information gathered dealt with the state mandated curriculum, school staffing, student enrollment numbers, transportation and budget costs, school financing, costs per student, school library facilities, cultural offerings, and provision of innovative or alternative programs of each school district.

"Exciting things are happening in all of them," said Sewell in a news release describing the project.

State Representative David Townsend and wife, Lenny, were special guests at the League of Women Voters of Lincoln County's annual membership meeting June 11 at La Junta Guest Ranch in Alto.

Representative Townsend credited the League for creating an interest in varied political issues.

A potluck lunch and installation of officers followed.

The officers are President Katherine Finley, First Vice President Mary Sartwell, Second Vice President Frankie Jarrell, Third Vice President Martha Rieger, Secretary Coleta Elliott and Treasurer-Dot Copeland.

Retirement and rocking chairs do not fit into Pat Williams' agenda as she begins her role as state treasurer of the New Mexico League of Women Voters.

Recently installed at the state convention in Albuquerque, she was accompanied by Katherine Finley, president of the Lincoln County League of Women Voters, and Bob Finley, member.

"The state organization is supporting the national league model 'Take Back the System,'" says Williams. This four-part thrust regards barriers to voter registration; negative campaigns that disillusion voters; compromise of candidates with the need for raising enormous sums of money; and the need for citizens to get meaningful information regarding candidate platforms.

Williams, a homeowner in Ruidoso since 1988, serves as president of the Golf Course Estates Property Owners Association of Ruidoso, treasurer of Friends of the Ruidoso Public Library, and board member of the Tularosa Basin Retired Officers Association.

She moved to this community after a 26-year career in the U.S. Air Force, retiring with the rank of colonel as administrative assistant to the chief of the Air Force Nurses Corps. During her career she served as a flight nurse in Vietnam and specialized as coordinator and consultant for construction of Air Force Medical facility design and computer system design.

Tribal dancers share ancient Apache traditions, culture

by SHERI CANTWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Visitors got a taste of Indian culture Saturday night as a family of Mescalero Apache dancers performed ancient dances of tribal tradition, at the amphitheater in Lincoln.

The presentation was sponsored by the Lincoln County Heritage Trust as part of an eight-week program that started last weekend.

As the Apache songs played and eight tribal members danced around a campfire, the small crowd forgot that what they were hearing was not a jumble of beautiful chants, but songs of joy, jealousy and peace.

The Apaches did the Dance of the Mountain Gods, an ancient dance that goes back more than 100 years when a tribe had to leave three of their people — a blind, crippled and sick person — behind in a cave when the enemy was attacking.

The fascinating story, told during the performance, is about spiritual beings who came into the cave and danced to heal the tribe members.

The dance which the Apaches do is a replication of the spiritual dances, told through several generations.

The dancers, painted with Indian symbols and wearing masks and stick antlers, awed the audience with their bold and striking appearance.

As they chanted and praised their God — the youngest of about four years able to do the same steps as the eldest leader — and two Apache girls slowly side-stepped their way around the campfire circle, the crowd realized the honor involved in the dance.

Before the performance began, the keeper of the dance group, Nathaniel Cheetchwa, told The Ruidoso News of the importance of the tradition.

"It's a spiritual thing," he said. "We do a lot of curing with these dances."

Cheetchwa, a medicine man who received the responsibility of organizing these dance groups 40 years ago, said that he has learned a lot, but that he and his family have sacrificed a lot to be nearer to their God.

"We go out into nature to see how close we can get to our creator," he said.

He said that it's because of this sacrificing, and the blessing that the Indians give to their herbs while gathering and mixing, that allows him to heal, or the dances to give blessings.

During the hour-and-a-half long performance, the Apaches also did two other dances, in which they invited the crowd to participate.

The dances themselves were rather simple, just a sidestep, making a circle around the campfire, and a four-step that is done in a back and forth motion. However, the crowd seemed to enjoy the chance to become part of the Indian tradition and talk to the friendly dancers.

The Mescalero Apache dancers will perform three more times at the amphitheatre: 7:30 p.m. Saturday, July 13; 3 p.m. Saturday, August 3; and 7 p.m. Saturday, August 10.

These Mescalero Apache dancers demonstrate some of the steps and movements involved in the Dance of the Mountain Gods. The dance is a very ancient, traditional dance of spiritual beings that the Apaches use to heal and bless on special occasions. They performed Saturday night in Lincoln.

Probation office postpones moving Ruidoso office

The Juvenile Probation/Parole Office has 30 days to find a new location for its Ruidoso office currently located in the Lincoln County Sub-Office, 105 Kansas City Road.

According to a news release, the Lincoln County Commissioners have granted a 30-day postponement on vacating the space in the sub-office, and the Ruidoso branch will be doing business as usual until July 30.

"During this grace period, the New Mexico Youth Authority will be attempting to secure office space within the Ruidoso community," continues the release. "Since more than 95 percent of their clients are from the Ruidoso area, it is the Youth Authority's hope that space can be located in Ruidoso."

Fred Peso appointed to state Indian Affairs Commission

Governor Bruce King has appointed a Mescalero man to the New Mexico Indian Affairs Commission, which is the coordinating agency among tribal governments and the state.

Fred Peso of the Mescalero Apaches from Mescalero is one of two Apache members appointed. Leonard Atole, vice president of Jicarilla Apaches from Dule is the other Apache representative.

By law, members of the 10-person commission must be residents of New Mexico and must include three Pueblo Indians, three Navajos and two Apaches.

The Pueblo members are: Walter Dasheno, governor of Santa Clara Pueblo; Peter Pino, tribal administrator of Zia Pueblo; and Robert E. Lewis, governor of Zuni Pueblo.

The Navajo members are: Rafael Martin, chapter president from Church Rock; Vivian Linda Arviso, executive staff assistant to President Peterson Zah from Tohatchi; and Donald Benally, a rancher and attorney from Shiprock.

Non-Indian members of the commission are: Frances Roe Lovelace, a Santa Fe archaeologist; and Jane Slaughter, a member of the faculty of the University of New Mexico from Albuquerque.

The commission meets at least four times a year. It works closely with the New Mexico Office of Indian Affairs on problems related to health, housing, transportation, education and local, state and national legislation. The commission also has the authority to hire persons in each Indian community to record Native American legends.

County seeks CDBG input

The Lincoln County Commission is seeking public input on Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) programs.

The commission will conduct its third public hearing over CDBG proposals at 11 a.m. Tuesday, July 9, in the commissioners meeting room in the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.

Misty will make a handsome family pet; Randy Basch offers summer pet care tips

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A classic-looking greyhound mix, Misty will add a special touch to the right new home.

She was brought in to the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter by her former owners last April and is eager to form a bond with a new family.

"She's housebroken and good with children and other dogs," said shelter manager Randy Basch. "She seems very intelligent, alert and has such an elegant look."

Her coloring is a mixture of black and silver gray.

Misty is being sponsored for spaying, the most significant cost associated with adoption, by Dr. Earl R. Leslie of Mountain View Animal Clinic on Sudderth Drive. All pets adopted from the shelter must be spayed or neutered to prevent the production of more unwanted animals that could end up back at the shelter to be destroyed or could suffer and die on the streets.

Basch offered a word of caution for pet owners this summer.

"If you love your pet, leave them at home in the summer even if they enjoy going for rides," he said.

"I see animals inside cars in the direct sun all the time in shopping center parking lots," Basch said. "Even with the windows cracked, the temperature can shoot incredibly high. Every summer, we have dogs dying in cars."

Leaving dogs in the back of pickup trucks also is dangerous for the animal and can be very uncomfortable, Basch said.

"If the owners would put their hands on the bed of the truck, I think they'd be very surprised at how hot it is. In addition to burning the pads of the dog's paws, however, the dog can be injured by falling or jumping out. They have very little chance, especially if the owner was involved in an accident."

Other hazards include cigarette butts and bug flying through the air that can become lodged in the animals eyes or ears. Infections are common in dogs so exposed, he said.

Owners who leave their animals in closed cars or unsecured or unprotected in pickup beds could be charged under Ruidoso's animal nuisance and animal cruelty ordinances. Conviction carries a penalty of up to $300 and/or up to 90 days in jail.

"Under the animal nuisance ordinance, it is illegal to carry an animal unattended in a vehicle with any portion of its head protruding past the outer boundary of the vehicle," Basch explained.

The cruelty ordinance specifies that an animal must be provided shade and may not be carried in any vehicle in a cruel or inhumane manner.

For owners who insist on taking their dogs in the bed of their trucks, Basch offered a few suggestions. To avoid violating the nuisance law, provide a harness for the animal to ensure it can't leap out of the truck or bite a passerby.

"Put carpet down and park in the shade or create a shaded area for the dog when you stop," Basch said.

For animals left inside a car, he added, "The only way there will be enough air inside and to keep the temperature down is to leave all the windows open and then an owner could be in violation if the animal's head could reach outside the windows."

"The best idea is to leave them home where they're safe and so are you."

For more information about

Misty or any of the other dogs and cats, call Basch at 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Don Victor Restaurant is back in business

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso and family have regained their balance after a solar plexus blow — a hard one — floored them in the early morning hours of May 18.

That's the fateful date when the Don Victor Mexican restaurant at 2911 Sudderth was destroyed by fire.

Don Victor's Restaurant is back in business for the summer at the old Prime Time across from Ruidoso Downs Race Track and up the hill.

Mayor Alonso said he was on an "emotional roller coaster" for quite a time after the fire.

For a brief time arson was suspected in the fire. That suspicion was traumatic for the Alonsos.

"Who are your enemies ... who might have had it in for you? Alonso said he was asked.

Finally, it was determined that a leaky gas line hose caused the devastating fire. That took one factor out of the emotional equation.

"The community pitched in to help more than I had reason to suspect," the mayor said.

No income ... no restaurant ... a high school graduation ... village business to keep up with, yes, the period since the fire has been traumatic.

"I was under insured by about $135,000," the mayor told The Ruidoso News.

He first attempted to purchase Cochera, a former restaurant far out on Mechem. But he was outbid by about $75,000, he said.

"I looked at many buildings," the mayor said.

He is leasing Prime Time for the summer and has entered into a contract to purchase the Upper Canyon Restaurant. But he can't obtain possession until the present lease runs out January 1.

"Fortunately, most of my help came back" the mayor said. His first night's business "was about right."

The mayor said he had two nightmares over the opening: too few patrons or too many patrons.

Don Victor's is open for dinner from 4 p.m. to closing, seven days a week.

The Alonsos have had Don Victor's in Ruidoso since 1976. The family moved here from Austin, Texas. Victor, his wife, Virginia, and daughter, Angela, 16, watched as Victor David was graduated from high school this spring.

That was a needed happy occasion.

Ruidoso Ford service manager wins award

Top performing service managers from a group of 200 dealers were honored at a banquet in Denver, Colorado, by Ford Parts and Service, a division of Ford Motor Co.

Among persons honored was Dick Stewart, service manager at Ruidoso Ford Lincoln Mercury at the May 18 event.

Stewart was honored with a Gold Medallion Manager Award. This award was bestowed to only seven service managers in a group of 200 similar size dealerships.

The Medallion Awards Program

recognizes excellence in customer satisfaction from dealership personnel who demonstrate the enduring commitment required to be the very best, according to Chris Carusona, owner of Ruidoso Ford.

"Ford Motor Co. would like to thank Mr. Stewart for his outstanding performance in customer satisfaction as well as his dedication to technician training and concern for customers' service problems. Ford would also like to thank Ruidoso Ford for maintaining a superior level of service for their customers," a news release says.

Tourism industry gets a boost

New Mexico's tourism industry will get a $230,000 boost from a federal grant during the fiscal year 1991-92 to form a tourism economic development program for rural areas.

Funding for the first year of the project, awarded to New Mexico State University's Hospitality and Tourism Services (HTS) program, is the first phase of a proposed three-year Cooperative Extension Service project totaling $610,000.

The grant was awarded through the House Appropriations Subcommittee on Rural Development, Agriculture, and Related Agencies. Rep. Joe Skeen, R-NM, is a ranking member of the subcommittee.

The first year of the program will target southern New Mexico. Focus will be on attracting international tourists, chiefly from Germany, England, Japan, Mexico and Canada. El Paso and Juarez, as members of Sun Country, USA, a regional marketing organization, also should benefit from the increase in tourism.

NMSU's HTS program and the Extension Service, both parts of NMSU's College of Agriculture and Home Economics, along with existing rural organizations, will provide resources for market research, tour packages and training needs. Among the region's attractions are Carlsbad Caverns, the Gila Wilderness, Ruidoso ski resorts, the Lincoln County courthouse — the site of Billy the Kid's dramatic escape, the plaza in Old Mesilla, and Gila Cliff Dwellings National Monument.

The tourism project grant is part of the rapid development of NMSU's HTS program, initiated by Cox in 1988. HTS provides training for careers in travel, parks and attractions, food service, and hotel/resort and restaurant management.

Cox, who came to NMSU from Pethune-Cookman College in Florida where he set up a similar program said,

Saddle up for a tour of historic forts

Saddle up to ride the Boots and Saddles trail and tour New Mexico's old forts.

The House of Representatives passed legislation last week directing the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) to prepare a study of seven historic military forts in New Mexico.

Congressman Joe Skeen, R-NM, made the proposal as part of the 1991 Interior Appropriations bill, setting the stage to establish the "Boots and Saddles Tour" of old military forts in New Mexico.

Skeen's legislation recognizes seven New Mexico forts for their historic significance and directs the BLM to study forming an inter-agency management group to oversee tourist operations at each fort.

The seven forts are Fort Cummings in Luna County, Fort Stanton in Lincoln County, Fort Seldon in Dona Ana County, Fort Bayard in Grant County, Fort Craig in Socorro County, Fort Sumner in DeBaca County and Fort Union in Mora County.

"These forts played an important role in the settlement of the American frontier," said Skeen in a news release. "Though they were abandoned for military purposes long ago, many of the forts still contain interesting, physical remains. This legislation would preserve these priceless treasures of our pioneer history."

Obituaries

John Sudderth, former state and county leader, dies at his T or C home

Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday in Albuquerque for a former prominent Ruidoso resident, John Sudderth, 72, for whom Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso was named.

Sudderth, former New Mexico highway commission chairman, died of an apparent heart attack Saturday in Truth or Consequences.

Services will be conducted at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Heights Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Albuquerque. Burial will be in Dreamland Cemetery in Canyon, Texas.

Sudderth was on the Lea County Commission before his appointment to the Highway Commission in 1959 by then Gov. John Burroughs. He was elected highway commission chairman in January of 1963. He served until 1967.

Gov. Jack Campbell reappointed Sudderth to the commission in 1965. He was re-elected chairman.

The former Hobbs, Roswell and Ruidoso resident worked in the oil-related business for many years in the three communities. He became a Lincoln County commissioner in the early 1970s. He moved to Albuquerque in 1979. He also had a home in Truth or Consequences.

The Highway Department chairman was apparently involved in a political tug-of-war when David Cargo was governor.

Sudderth had been "kind of the de facto head of the Highway Department," while he was commission chairman, Cargo told the Associated Press.

"They passed a constitutional amendment to clip the wings of John Sudderth. It pretty much eliminated the chairman as being the de facto head of the Highway Department," Cargo said.

"John loved Ruidoso," said Cece Griffin, of Ruidoso, Sudderth's second wife. He was a land developer here and was active in the First Presbyterian Church. He pushed for and was successful in getting Sudderth Drive paved from end to end.

A veteran of World War II, he flew the Hump in Asia and flew the North Atlantic. He was awarded two Distinguished Flying Crosses, the Air Medal and a presidential citation. He was discharged as a major at the age of 23, Griffin said.

He was graduated from Hobbs High School and later attended Texas Tech and the University of New Mexico.

Survivors include his wife, Shirley; his daughter, Sharon Brown and a son, Ted Sudderth.

Stepdaughters Mary Ann Roberts and Linda Sudderth, both of Albuquerque and Cathy Henry of Tulsa, Oklahoma, also survive, along with several grandchildren.

The Dreamer

Dan pays tribute to his dear mother

Our Mother's Birthday

This is being sent to you a little after high noon on June 25, and will reach you on July 1, the eve of the birthday of our mother.

Bertha Catherine Kennedy was born July 2, 1877, in Coulterville, Illinois, to John Calvin and Catherine Kennedy.

Her ancestors, the Kennedys, go back to the earliest people in Britain, the ancient Picts, early inhabitants of what is now Scotland. The Picts kept the Romans from advancing north from England into Scotland.

Later the Kennedys were prominent in the Battle of Bannockburn, famous in Scottish history.

Life In Denver

While still a small child, she was brought to Denver by her parents where she grew up with her three older brothers, Leo, Walter and James.

Her parents were members of the Presbyterian Church that still stands on the Capitol grounds.

As a young girl she played the large pipe organ in this church, and remained a church organist all her life. She was the organist for the little Episcopal Church of the Epiphany in Valdez, Alaska, in 1909 till 1911. Later she was organist for churches in Juneau, Alaska; Oregon; El Paso and Austin, Texas, and for many years at Saint Anne's Chapel, Glencoe.

One of our family treasures is a little portable church organ that has been twice to Alaska and to Old Mexico.

This little organ has a good home now in the home of brother, Lynn, and his wife, Maxine, in Dripping Springs, Texas.

While attending East Denver High School, she met her husband-to-be, Lynn Whippo Storm. They were married in Denver, May 30, 1906. Five sons were born to this union: John, Daniel, Marcus, Joseph and Lynn. An infant son was called Home by Our Lord at birth.

Arriving At Mescalero

In the summer of 1925, a fellow drove us out from El Paso in our 1917 Velie automobile because none of us knew how to drive. I learned to drive up here on the dirt road which then ran through the valley.

Then in the summer of 1926, Mother, Mark, Joe, Lynn and I started out with myself driving. The pavement ended at Newman 20 miles out, and from there on it was "every man for himself and the Devil for them all" as the old trail driver described the land north of the Red River.

A few ruts made by the cars ahead of us wound through the sand dunes, and then these were covered over by the blowing sand. The best you could do was pick your way through the dunes with your eye on the distant mountains shimmering in the heat waves like something in a dream.

After awhile we saw a car about a quarter of a mile to the right, going toward El Paso and figured the road must be over there. Picking our way through the dunes we found the traveling conditions the same — only sand.

Then back over the other way we saw another car going toward Alamogordo. So we went on guessing our way by keeping the mountains in view.

From this experience, Brother Lynn once asked: "Do you remember when the road from El Paso to Alamogordo was two miles wide?"

When I remember all this, I am grateful for our good highways of these days. In telling how people little realize the improvements in modern travel a Texas pioneer once said:

"This younger bunch think all these creeks come with a bridge on them."

Finally, like wandering pilgrims arriving in a promised land, we reached Mescalero at the old feast grounds on July 2, our mother's birthday, on the first day of the four-day celebration.

An Apache Welcome

Here our car broke down, and we stayed all four days here at the feast ground. As soon as we arrived, thunder and lightning appeared over the hill and down came a torrential rain. The Indians took care of us and furnished canvas to protect us from rain as we stayed in the car; and they sent for a mechanic who came and fixed the car.

They invited us to stay all four days. There was free barbecue, coffee and fried bread plus every kind of festive food — cream puffs, bananas, oranges, marshmallows, everything was free, and we played fun games: sack races, three legged races, egg-on-a-spoon race, watermelon-eating contest.

Amid the sacredness of the ceremonies was a spirit of joyful rejoicing and laughter and good will.

An old-time Indian friend once told me of a feature of the Mescalero Apache ancient lore:

The Indians were traveling through the mountains in a great hurry. Night came on, and one man, lame, and another, blind, fell behind. Then the mountain spirits came to their rescue giving them food and shelter.

I will always remember those days when the Mescaleros showed the true spirit of help in time of need.

And there was a special blessing in that we arrived there on our mother's birthday.

As the second day of July approaches, I send up a prayer of thanks to God for the friendship of the Mescalero people on those days 64 years ago — a friendship which grows greater with the years.

And on this beautiful day with rain clouds gathering over the green mountain world, I feel our mother's spirit very fondly close and near.

Inside the Outdoors

Join in the great sport of fishing

If you have never tried fishing or just haven't gone out to wet a line for quite a while, the State Game Commission has a deal for you. Last week, the State Game Commission approved two "Free" Fishing Days in 1991 so that folks can fish without buying a license. The "Free" Fishing Days are July 6 and September 28.

New Mexico joins 38 other states plus the District of Columbia in offering at least one Free Fishing Day during 1991. The days for fishing without a license are the result of a bill passed by the 1991 state legislature and signed into law by Governor Bruce King.

By law, the Free Fishing Days must be non-consecutive Saturdays. After soliciting public recommendation for the two days the State Game Commission decided on July 6, during the Fourth of July holiday weekend and September 28, during National Hunting and Fishing Week.

The purpose of the Free Fishing Days is to provide people who have never fished with an opportunity to experience the pleasures of fishing and to remind those that haven't fished in a while just what they've been missing. The Department of Game and Fish encourages families to take advantage of this special opportunity to discover how fishing can bring families and friends closer together.

Just think of this offer like test driving a new car. The first "ride" is free and once you discover the joy of fishing is all it takes to continue the fun throughout the year is the purchase of a license.

If you decide to take the commission up on this offer and don't know anything about the sport, how do you get started? The best way is to ask a relative, friend or neighbor that fishes for a little help. There are also lots of different fishing clubs and groups around the state that are willing to help out. Then, there is always the old stand-by, the public library.

There have been volumes of information written about how to fish, where to fish and what equipment to use.

The Free Fishing Days are set up so folks may fish without purchasing a license, but all other rules and regulations do apply on these days. To find out about fishing regulations, be sure to pick up a copy of the New Mexico Fishing Proclamation.

Oklahoma started a tradition 10 years ago in their state and they have helped introduce thousands of people to the great sport of fishing. New Mexico started the tradition this year in hopes of adding thousands more people to the group that call themselves anglers.

Ida Hale is honored on her retirement

Ida Hale hung up her skillet this year, after spending 15 years in the kitchens of the Ruidoso schools.

Hale, who retired as director of cafeterias, was honored at a retirement party given by her associates and cooks of Alamogordo and Ruidoso.

Before her retirement, Hale supervised 12 cafeteria workers and was responsible for the smooth operation of five kitchens. That included ordering food and supplies for all those kitchens and keeping accurate records for the local administration and the state.

Hale and her staff catered banquets and parties, and her fellow workers say it wasn't unusual to see their supervisor helping out in the kitchen.

Most of Hale's 15 years of school service was spent in cafeteria management. She had managed a school cafeteria kitchen before taking on the responsibility for all the system's cafeterias.

During her party, Hale was presented with a plaque from the Food Association, and was complimented and thanked for a job well done.

Hale said she loved every minute of it and found serving the children of the future was well worth it.

White Sands announces plans to celebrate in July

If you ask the park rangers at White Sands National Monument what they consider to be the two most important dates in the history of their organization, they would likely tell you August 25, 1916 and January 18, 1933.

On August 25, 1916, the U.S. Congress passed the Organic Act, which created the National Park Service and gave it the responsibility of managing American's special places — our most outstanding scenic areas and most significant historic sites — and the mandate to preserve these places for the benefit of future generations.

On January 18, 1933, President Herbert Hoover decided that the unique gypsum dune field in the Tularosa Basin of New Mexico was one of those special places that deserved to be included in the National Park System and created White Sands National Monument by Presidential Proclamation.

White Sands National Monument will celebrate the 75th Anniversary of the National Park Service throughout the summer with special programs and exhibits on America's National Parks, culminating with a Free Admission Day and Full Moon Program on Sunday August 25.

In addition, park rangers will be available to present the following three programs to organizations and schools within the community: The Yellowstone Legacy, America's National Parks; Discovering America's National Parks (for children); and The National Park Areas of New Mexico. Call 479-6124 for more information and to arrange for programs.

Activities scheduled for the week of July 6 include:

Look to the Heavens & Learn

The Space Center kicks off Spaceweek on July 16 with a star party at the White Sands National Monument, set to begin just after full darkness arrives, at the picnic area about halfway around the Loop Drive. WSNM has allowed use of the Monument because light pollution at White Sands is much less than sites nearer the city.

Tips for interested stargazers are:

1. Telescopes will be set up for your use — you don't have to bring one, although you are welcome to do so.

2. Bring a flashlight with red cellophane over the lens, to prevent light pollution near the telescope. If you need the red cellophane, it will be available at the site.

3. Turn off your headlights as soon as you can safely do so. Again, this is to prevent unnecessary light pollution.

Amateur astronomers will be on hand to introduce beginning stargazers to the wonders of the summer sky, and to help them recognize features of the night sky. Should rain or clouds postpone the skywatch, July 17 will be the back-up date, at the same time and place.

During the day, Indian Sky Legends will be told on the half hour, between 9:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. on the Space Center grounds. Tom-baugh Space Center Theater personnel have collected Indian Sky Legends from various nations, and will present the 10-15 minute stories throughout the day.

Artists invited to enter the first Cottonwood Festival

The First Cottonwood Festival, August 31 through September 2, in Alameda Park in Alamogordo, will combine a juried art show with space for 150 booths for local organizations.

It will be sponsored by the Alamogordo Chamber of Commerce and the city Promotion Board with gate fees benefitting Alamogordo Friends of the Zoo.

Artists are encouraged to apply for the show and bring slides or pictures in to be juried. Area civic, social and church groups are needed to get their booth applications in now, she said.

The cost for a booth in the north park area is $35 for a 10 by 10 foot area and $50 for a 10 by 20 foot area. All signups are being taken through the chamber through July 10.

For more information, call the Alamogordo Chamber at 437-6120.

Canyon tunes up for Ruidoso Downs concerts

Ruidoso Downs Racing presents Canyon, an up and coming country western group, in concert at 8 p.m. and 9:45 p.m. Friday, July 5, at the Museum of the Horse Convention Center in Ruidoso Downs.

Tickets, available at Ruidoso Downs Race Track, are $5 in advance and $7.50 the day of the concert.

Canyon recently released "It's Always Something," the group's third album.

The five-member musical ensemble formed nine years ago in Tyler, Texas, and soon hit the charts to become nationally known.

In 1989, Canyon was named top new group by Billboard magazine and the Country Music Association.

Original members Steve Cooper and Johnny Boatright are joined by bassist Randy Russell Rigney, keyboardist Jay Brown and drummer Keech Rainwater.

According to a news release, "It's Always Something," Canyon's latest album, contains more up tempo material that showcases the high energy and versatility of the group.

The album is produced by Ron Chancey who produces the Oak Ridge Boys and Conway Twitty.

In 1990, Canyon released two music videos, "Carryin' On" and "Dam These Tears," and both reached the coveted number one spot on the national video charts. "Carryin' On" also was named Breakthrough Video of the Year for 1990 by Music Row Magazine.

The musicians perform as many as 300 live shows a year.

Canyon, a nationally known country western group, will perform at the Museum of the Horse Convention Center. Tickets, $5 in advance and Ruidoso Downs at 8 and 9:45 p.m. Friday, July 5. Both concerts will be in $7.50 on the concert day, are available at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Bills Ryon draws away for a 1 3/4-length victory in the seventh division of the Rainbow Futurity time trials Thursday, June 27, at Ruidoso Downs. The two-year-old quarter horse ran the 350-yard distance in 17.59 seconds tying the fastest time of this summer's meet for the distance. The colt was ridden by jockey Steve Fuller, trained by John Buchanan and is owned by Francis McKibbin of Gainesville, Florida.

Bills Ryon leads the race for the Rainbow

To say Bills Ryon is a relaxed sort, would certainly be an understatement.

About an hour before the muscular colt was to run the biggest race of his young life, Bills Ryon — of all things — was fast asleep in his stall.

"We went to get him ready for his race after the fourth race, and he was laying down sleeping," said assistant trainer Iris Buchanan.

All Bills Ryon did after awakening from his slumber was log by far the fastest time of the day Thursday in the Rainbow Futurity Time Trials. The Florida-bred son of Windy Ryon covered the 350 yards in a quick :17.59.

To put the colt's final time into perspective, his clocking was 14/100ths of a second faster than any of the seven other trial heat winners. It was also tied for fastest at the distance this meet.

"He left better than he ever has," said jockey Steve Fuller. "He ran a nice race, and he was doing it really easily."

Bills Ryon has now captured three of four career starts. His only loss was a sixth-place finish in the finals of the Grade I Kansas Futurity.

"When he ran sixth in the Kansas," said Fuller, "he was coughing so hard he could hardly walk."

While Bills Ryon was stamping himself as a star of the future, the previously undefeated Magic Dozen — a nose winner of the Kansas Futurity here May 27 — was suffering his first setback.

Magic Dozen ran second in the second race — the slowest heat of the day — and failed to make even the consolation finals.

"He didn't do anything right," said regular rider Nicky Wilson in reference to Magic Dozen's dull effort. "He was just playing around. He even tried to lug out a bit. I think he was a little studdish today."

One horse that did just about everything right Thursday was West Texas Futurity winner, Special Task in the first division of the trials. The handsome son of Special Effort extended his winning streak to four with a 1 3/4-length victory. Special Task, who is trained by Jack Brooks, logged the second fastest time of the day — :17.73.

Another impressive winner was the unbeaten Sixarun Tuff in the fourth race. The chestnut colt, in one of three sons of Sixarun to qualify for the finals, clocked the third fastest time at :17.76. Sixarun Tuff, who has won all three of his career outings, is trained by Carl Draper. He was ridden by Darrell Blevins.

Brooks, who qualified four in the Kansas Futurity, came back and qualified four for the Rainbow. Along with Special Task, he also qualified Sun Country Futurity winner Steppin For The Moon, Pulasix and Six A Pass.

The complete list of finalists for the Grade I Rainbow Futurity, which will have its 28th renewal on July 14, includes Bills Ryon (17.595), Special Task (17.735), Sixarun Tuff (17.760), Cash Under Glass (17.780), Steppin For The Moon (17.805), Master Bugs Bad (17.815), Sixarun Secret (17.830), Dash Master Miss (17.905), Pulasix (17.910) and Six A Pass (17.925).

Fulton's Reckless Dash noses out stable-mate Special Leader

Joe Kirk Fulton wasn't a bit nervous as the minutes stretched out Sunday for the photo finish results of the Grade III Jet Deck Handicap.

That's because the photo finish was between both of Fulton's horses — Reckless Dash and Special Leader.

After careful scrutiny of the glossy, the stewards ruled that Reckless Dash had hung a nostril decision on his stablemate.

"I handled that well, didn't I," Fulton said with a laugh, moments after the exciting finish of the Jet Deck. "I wasn't a bit nervous."

Fulton's Quien Sabe Stable, which is trained masterfully by Mike Robbins, has been red-hot here early this season. The 1-2 finish in the Jet Deck by Reckless Dash and Special Leader was preceded by Effortless Dream's victory in the Grade III Go Together Handicap on May 19.

Last year, Reckless Dash and Special Leader finished first and second, respectively, in the Remington Park Derby.

"I had a tough decision between the two," said jockey Bruce Pilkenton, who finally settled on the winner. "They are both real good horses, but Reckless Dash is just a little bit better at a quarter-mile."

Reckless Dash covered the 440 yards, on a windless, sunny day, in a rapid final time of :21.62. It was the fifth-fastest running of the Jet Deck in 17 renewals of the race.

"We got away pretty good, about a half-side behind the leader," said Pilkenton. "Once we got down the track, he dug in and really came running."

Reckless Dash, who was making only his second start of the year, has now captured nine of 18 career starts. The bay son of Dash For Cash, who was fourth in the 1989 All American Futurity, increased his career bankroll to just under $270,000.

Dera Schill's Dealin Essays Moon finished a nose in front of Its Mercedes Lady for third.

For the seventh consecutive day, there were no winners in the Twin Trifecta. The carryover pool for Monday's card is $36,693.

$1,000 toss

Herman Fox tosses a horseshoe at Ruidoso Downs Race Track Sunday to win more than $1,000. Mike Morris, a $500+ winner, is standing behind Fox waiting his turn. Another Ruidoso man, Dan Duffer, also was a $1,000 winner. $100,000 was up for grabs in the contests.

Sam Slew races ahead to win the Friday feature race by a length

Sam Slew, staying right on the lead all the way, outfinished I Come Ready en route to a 1-length victory in Friday's feature race at 7 1/2-furlongs.

The race was reserved for 3-year-olds and offered a purse of $6,000.

Sam Slew, whose last victory was going two-turns at Albuquerque on April 10, never allowed front-running I Come Ready out of his sights. The 3-year-old gelding, who is trained by Charles Smith, moved alongside that rival turning for home and pulled away down the stretch.

The New Mexico-bred son of Slewacide, who was ridden confidently by Joe Martinez,

No. CV-87-134
 Division II
NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY SUBJECT TO
BOTH FARM CREDIT BANK OF WICHITA AND FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION

In this cause of action judgment was entered in favor of the Federal Land Bank of Wichita and against the Defendants on April 23, 1991. Judgment was also entered in favor of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation as successor in interest to First National Bank of Lincoln County (FDIC) on the 22nd day of March, 1991. The Farm Credit Bank of Wichita judgment foreclosed Farm Credit Bank's mortgage on certain real property described hereinafter. Substantially all of that real property was subject to a second mortgage in favor of the FDIC. However, the FDIC's mortgage also covered certain tracts of real property not specifically covered by the mortgage of the Federal Land Bank of Wichita. Consequently, although there will be one sale itself, the sale will be conducted in two parts. The first part will be to sell all the real property subject to the Federal Land Bank of Wichita judgment. The second part of the sale will be to sell that real property not included in the Federal Land Bank of Wichita judgment, but which is included in the judgment in favor of the FDIC. This sale is conducted under and by virtue of a judgment and decree of foreclosure of a real estate mortgage issued out of the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico on the 23rd day of April, 1991 in favor of the Farm Credit Bank of Wichita, f/k/a Federal Land Bank of Wichita, and a judgment in favor of the FDIC issued out of the same District Court in this cause on the 22nd day of March, 1991. The Federal Land Bank of Wichita judgment will be referred to hereinafter as the Land Bank judgment and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation judgment will be referred to as the FDIC judgment. In the Farm Credit Bank judgment, there was awarded a judgment against the Defendant, the Estate of Robert A. Crenshaw and Orene K. Crenshaw, in the principal amount of $50,119.39, together with accrued interest to June 1, 1991 in the amount of $27,009.97 with interest accruing at the daily rate of $17.52 thereafter, as well as attorney's fees in the amount of $26,934.98. (Payments received during the foreclosure of $26,000.00 have been applied to advances and accrued interest. The sums stated herein are the amount due before applying such credits.) Daily interest accrues after June 1, 1991 at the rate of $18.02 per day, after July, 1991 at the rate of $17.76 per day.

The judgment decrees of foreclosure of the real estate mortgage in favor of the FDIC awarded a judgment against the Defendants, the Estate of Robert A. Crenshaw, deceased, Orene K. Crenshaw, deceased, Bobby Dan Crenshaw, individually and as heir of the Estates of Robert A. Crenshaw and Orene K. Crenshaw; Kenneth L. Crenshaw individually and as heir to the Estates of Robert A. Crenshaw and Orene K. Crenshaw, Crenshaw Land & Cattle Company, Inc., jointly and severally, in the amount of $293,210.58 principal and interest through September 15, 1990, with interest accruing thereon at a variable rate of $55.8392 per diem, and reasonable attorney's fees in the amount of $30,000.00, plus New Mexico Gross Receipts Tax.

NOW, THEREFORE, notice is hereby given that on the 24th day of July, 1991, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock a.m. at the Lincoln County Courthouse, Carrizozo, NM, I will in obedience to said judgment and decree of foreclosure, sell the following described real estate which is the first parcel of land and is the real property subject to the Farm Credit Bank mortgage, to-wit:
