Voters OK $5.5 million bond issue

Ruidoso voters approved a $5.5 million bond issue Tuesday to fund construction projects designed to keep the schools ahead of a growing number of students.

With just one question on the ballot, 744 of Ruidoso School District's 3,001 registered voters went to the polls to OK the bonds. A total of 760 voters, including absentee, cast ballots by a 492 to 268 margin.

Mike Gladden, superintendent of schools, and members of the Blue Ribbon Committee for Blue Ribbon Kids, had words of praise for Ruidoso voters who have always supported public education and have never turned down a school bond question.

The $5.5 million will be issued in two phases, with remodeling, equipment and add-ons included in the first issue; and a new elementary school on the White Mountain campus in the second segment.

That new school will be for first and second graders, leaving Nob Hill as a preschool instructional center. Third and fourth graders will attend White Mountain Elementary and fifth graders at White Mountain Intermediate will be joined by sixth graders who will

Sewer rates set for hefty hikes

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Ruidoso residents can expect a rate increase for at least the next three years on their sewer charges, according to Village Manager Ron Wicker.

Wicker suggested raising the rates by at least one dollar soon.

"Then try to raise it a dollar a year until we get this thing back in line," Wicker told the village council.

"This thing" is a $1.1-million dollar mandatory loan to repair and upgrade the village's sewage system to the Environmental Department's specifications. Even with the loan, the village could be subject to huge fines for past violations, according to Wicker.

Wicker said sewage rates in Ruidoso have not been raised since 1981. He indicated that added to the problem.

"We've got a lot to do and a very short time to do it in," Wicker said. "Rather than waiting until this debt service (yearly payments and interest of about $150,000 a year to pay back the $1.1-million) is required and then raise rates by $3, it would be a lot easier to raise it a dollar now and another dollar next year."

The village is getting the $1.1-million loan from the state at five percent interest.

Wicker said about $150,000 a year is being transferred from the water department into sewer that really needs to be used in the water department itself.

"Water and sewer! We're in trouble with both of them and they both should be standing on their own," Wicker said. He said the future of these departments should be taken care of now and that the council has some tough decisions to face.

Village deputy manager Gary Jackson said the village was not charging enough to cover the actual cost of the sewer department, therefore making it necessary to draw money from the water department.

Wicker said it was not necessary to increase water rates, because the sewer repairs should eliminate the necessity of the current $150,000 water fund transfer into the sewer funds.

Jackson said debt service for the sewer loan won't begin until the 1994-1995 fiscal year.

VILLAGE NUKE TRACKING

Wicker said the Village is looking into a grant application from the Department of Energy to track the feasibility study of the nuclear waste facility now under way by the Mescalero Indian Tribe.

Wicker said he had made many calls to Washington with less than desirable results.

"You hear about passing the buck," Wicker said. "This was one of those situations where every time you talked to someone they would say you needed to talk to someone else. I've got two pages of names and we haven't started with the grant application."

County puts hospital tax back on ballot

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

County voters will get a chance in November 1992 to approve for another eight years a special property tax levy for the operation of the Lincoln County Medical Center and Carrizozo Medical Clinic.

Although county commissioners Tuesday agreed to place the issue on the ballot, they noted that legally they have the right to cut back on the amount of tax to be levied.

County attorney J. Robert Beauvais explained that the state legislation authorizing such levies contains a provision "that the commission may direct the mill levy be reduced or not levied if sufficient funds are available from other sources."

The levy originally was approved by voters seven years ago to construct a new hospital. But the local economy soon went sour and the money was used instead for extensive remodeling, equipment purchases and to offset bad debts, including those accumulated by the medically indigent.

The authorization for the levy will run out in June 1992. To be renewed for another eight years, the issue must go to the voters.

Valerie Miller, administrator of the county's only hospital, said the millage would not constitute a new tax, only a continuation of an existing levy.

Since 1985, the amount of money collected from the 4.25 mill levy, has increased at a rate of about six percent a year from $603,470 to $845,960, according to information provided by the county.

Of that total in 1991, $647,120 was funneled to the Lincoln County Medical Center and $198,940 went to the Carrizozo clinic.

But a new factor entered the picture earlier this year when the State Legislature approved a law aimed at generating $11-million from counties to ensure that the state is eligible for a three-to-one match of Medicaid money from the federal government.

The method of collecting the local funds was to be through county indigent funds established by imposing a new sales tax or through other means. Lincoln is one of eight counties out of 33 in the state without an official indigent fund, although indigent expenses eat up a substantial portion of the money generated by the special millage.

Lincoln County contends it has met the intent of an indigent fund.

During its meeting late last month, the commission postponed action on the hospital board's request to place the issue on the ballot until Beauvais could determine how the state's new stance might affect Lincoln County.

"It's my conclusion that at the current time, the county is not obligated (to establish a special indigent fund), but at some point in the future it may," Beauvais said Tuesday.

At that time, the commission will have the option of adjusting the millage levy downward or eliminating the levy to compensate for money set aside in an indigent fund, he said.

To allow the commission to determine if the levy should be adjusted, "the only difference will be that instead of bringing the budget to us after January, we should be looking at it while figuring the levy for the whole county," Beauvais said.

State law provides that hospital bills and emergency ambulance bills are eligible for indigent reimbursement.

"Right now you can set your own eligibility requirements," Beauvais said. "The House is looking to see if it wants to standardize eligibility to make sure the coverage is equally applied."

If an indigent fund is created, "the commission can sit as the administrative board or it could create a separate board," Beauvais said. "Some counties have an administrator."

Meanwhile, under House Memorial 31, the state authorized a study of county standards for eligibility for indigent health care. Beauvais said The state wants to know who is being served by indigent funds and who is being missed among the indigent population.

The findings were to be presented to the legislature and the Health Policy Commission by Oct. 1 for consideration in developing health policy to ensure access to basic health services for all New Mexicans, according to a letter from Donna Smith, executive director of the New Mexico Association of Counties. Beauvais said he will monitor that situation.

Commission Chairman Stirling Spencer emphasized that the county is pleased with the current administration of the hospital.

"We have no desire to see a millage or tax imposed (to help operate

"Dialer" calls the homes of absent students

by KRISTIE SULZBACH
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

School administrators are not ringing the alarms yet, but school attendance is becoming more of a concern in the Ruidoso Schools.

Superintendent Mike Gladden said the main concern is with some high school students, but all schools have been working on ways to improve the situation.

Ruidoso High School principal Mike Kakuska and assistant principal Danny Flores presented information to the school board Tuesday night about the three areas that are being looked at to improve attendance.

Kakuska said there is about 15 percent student absenteeism in a day, which is 50 to 80 students. He said this is not alarming, but it is a concern the school is studying.

One area that needs to be looked at is awareness, for students, teachers and parents. Students should know the difference between truancy and absence, he said, and parents should know that students need to be in school Teachers should also realize how important it is to be careful in marking students absent or present, Kakuska said. He said he will be addressing the faculty on the importance of their participation in all attendance policies.

Another area that Kakuska said is being looked at is the short term goals. Currently parents or guardians are sent a letter after the sixth unexcused absence in a class or sixth day absent. After 10 unexcused absences the parents will receive another letter and after the eleventh a student will lose credit for the class, Flores said. Kakuska said they are checking all the procedures involved in this policy to see if it is working.

The schools will also be using a machine called the Dialer to notify parents that their children were absent for a period or a day. Flores said after entering attendance information in the system, the Dialer will begin calling parents at 4:30 p.m.

He said the machine then records if the phone call is received or if no one is home. If no one answers, the Dialer will call the next 10 parents and then return to the one that didn't answer.

If the Dialer does not reach someone, a person will try to call. If the parent knows about the absence, the matter is considered taken care of, Flores said. He said the Dialer should be on line by tomorrow.

School Board member Mike Morris said he thought it would be better and worth the effort to have a personal contact. Kakuska said it would be almost impossible to do this because it would take a full-time employee.

Board Vice President Rod Adamson said if the Dialer and the notices aren't effective, they may need to consider hiring someone.

A lot of the absenteeism is from missing one period per day, Kakuska said with the first period being the one most missed. Fifth period is the second highest in absences, he said.

One piece of the school attendance puzzle may be to close the campus, Kakuska said. He said if students can't take the responsibility of coming back to school after lunch, it may need to be recommended that the campus be closed.

Flores said it all comes back to the parents' being responsible. It is all a matter of partnership and support between school and parents, he said.

Gladden said he also wants the board and parents to cooperate in an attendance policy.

"If we let the students play the system, we aren't doing them any favors," Gladden said.

The third area to look at is long term goals. In this area Kakuska said they will need to answer questions on why students are missing classes. This may include studying the curriculum and attitudes of all people involved, he said.

Kakuska said a community meeting is being planned for 7 p.m. Thursday at the middle school cafeteria to discuss attendance and other school matters.

Tune in your radio for school snow information

When snow starts falling or the weather looks like it may turn bad, the best way for parents of Ruidoso schoolchildren to start the day is by listening to area radio stations for possible school delays or cancellations.

Don Weems, Ruidoso schools director of transportation, told the school board at its Tuesday night meeting that he will let radio stations KBUY and KRUI know at 6 a.m. whether schools will be on a regular schedule, a two-hour delay or cancelled for the day. They will also broadcast any bus route changes.

If bad weather starts after school begins, the radio stations will be informed of early dismissal as soon as it is decided, Weems said.

He said a snow day procedure notice will be sent home with all students soon so parents have a better idea of what will be happening.

Superintendent Mike Gladden said many times parents will call the school, but if they tune to the radio instead, it will have all the information they need.

"If in doubt, listen to the radio," Gladden said.

Pow-Wow honors veterans

The Southern Eagles Benefit Pow-Wow, family entertainment and a special Indian dancing treat, is offered free of charge to Ruidoso area residents this Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15-16 in the Mescalero gym.

The benefit is dedicated to the Veterans of U.S. Armed Forces and the public is invited. Cameras are allowed at no cost.

Early snow is just a preview

Ski Apache is looking for more than a repeat of last year's fine ski season, thank in large part to the early snow fall that dumped 17 inches on the slopes.

That prompted to move the opening date up to Friday, Nov. 22, a week before Thanksgiving.

The lower mountain areas of Smokey Bear, Snow Park, the Lower Deep Freeze, both sides of Capitan, Easy Street and East Easy Street will open Nov. 22, as will the Ski School.

If weather permits, more areas may be opened.

Ski Apache, when in full operation, is capable of handling 15,350 skiers per hour, the largest lift capacity in the state, according to a news release. Non-skiers also are encouraged to use the gondola lift to the gazebo of the lookout in Apache Bowl and enjoy the panoramic 200-mile view.

vacate their wing at Ruidoso Middle School, making room at the mid-school for the growing number of seventh and eighth graders.

The central office and the maintenance yard are also scheduled for some improvements.

The last time Ruidoso voters were asked to approve school bonds was in 1989 when 503 voters passed a bond that was used for extensive remodeling and add-ons at the White Mountain Campus.

Two years earlier, the mid-school and Nob Hill were improved with bond monies.

When voters elected new school board members in February of this year, they also approved a property mill levy to help fund the Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso Instructional Center.

For that election, 848 voters went to the polls.

County Manager Nick Pappas questioned whether language should be inserted on the ballot to indicate the commission's authority to adjust the millage.

"It's a statutory provision," Beauvais said. "It's there whether this commission or another is sitting there. It might muddle the issue."

Spencer said that at some future time, the commission may prefer to shift more of the financial burden to a gross receipt tax and less on a property tax "so that transients can help support indigent medical care too."

If the new system is approved, a decision will need to be made on whether it will begin at the semester or next school year, Kakuska said.

Auxiliary hosts a party in new center

Ruidoso Downs Ladies Auxiliary combined two celebrations into one Friday at the new Ruidoso Downs Senior Center.

The Auxiliary honored its president, Erna Capps, and her husband, Bob, with a "Good Luck Party," and installed some new equipment in the brand new facility they worked so hard to get.

Erna Capps, who has served as president of the Ladies Auxiliary for the past three years, will be moving to Roswell. She has been chairman or co-chairman of the Arts & Crafts Fair over Labor Day Weekend each year for the past seven years. Funds made at the Art & Crafts Fair helped build the center.

"Bob has been by her side every step of the way and supported the Auxiliary to the fullest," said Shirlene Fitzner. Bob Capps, who has worked for the Lincoln County Medical Center for 17 years, will retire November 15.

Fitzner, on behalf of the Auxiliary, welcomed everyone who had come to wish their friends well and see the new center.

"Their hearts swelled with pride as they walked through this beautiful facility," said Fitzner. "The many long hours and years that had been spent in preparing for the Arts and Crafts Fair each year was well worth it now," she said.

"Tonight is certainly a dream come true for all of the members here. The years seemed to have really gone by fast when you think of the progress that was made, first the metal frame and roof, then gravel to build it up so it would be even with the foundation and a final donation of money to help with the grant that was received by the Village of Ruidoso Downs," she added.

Mayor Bonnie Addy, trustees Charlotte Craig, Alice Allison, Margie Morales and Ray Fredrickson were recognized and the Auxiliary presented them with 100 chairs and six eight-foot banquet tables for the center.

A special presentation was made of an entertainment center, given to the center in appreciation for Erna Capps and Downs Trustee Alice Allison. The center has a plaque on front with their names.

"Allison has been a long and faithful member of the Auxiliary and has always gone that extra mile," said Fitzner. "She has probably sold more raffle tickets for the different items with all monies going to this building," she added.

Fitzner and the hostesses thanked everyone who helped to make the occasion a success.

"We wish Erna and Alice the very best and want them to know they are truly appreciated," said Fitzner, adding a special thank you to all of the husbands of the members who have also helped through the years.

"This tonight is only the beginning of many happy occasions to be at the beautiful Ruidoso Downs Senior Center," Shirlene commented.

"Tonight is truly a dream come true."

During a party at Ruidoso Downs new Senior Center, the mayor and board members accept a gift of an entertainment center to be used in the new building. by the name of Kristan Wright, a contracting specialist in the Department of Energy Procurement," Wicker said. "They wouldn't let us fax any documents. It had to be received by special delivery. Even to fax it, we couldn't get through. It was like the phone was off the hook."

Wicker said he finally received the packet Tuesday. He said his assistant Gary Jackson and volunteer Dave Dale are working on the grant that had to be turned in by Dec. 31. Mescalero had months to prepare their grant.

Councilor J.D. James said he wanted it on record that the council didn't want the nuclear waste facility in the Ruidoso area. His motion to that effect passed unanimously.

BANG UP INDUSTRIAL PARK

Anita Sanders, executive director of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County (EDCLC) approached the council regarding a need for buzz words that she could use for prospective clients.

She said she was telling clients to come to Ruidoso but she didn't have a place for them to build at this time.

"We're building this wonderful industrial park," she said she tells clients. "I need to know that this is true before I promote it."

Wicker said that the village has some great areas within the industrial park to sell.

"It's a shame we haven't sold them before now," he said. He mentioned areas for office space, aircraft type operation and heavy industrial type uses.

"We need to further develop a plan, but if we have a prospect we can show him we have adequate water, electricity and access. We could negotiate, even at the present time."

Sanders said she needed verbal sizzle to sell the park. "Is the village going for a state-of-the-art park or a multi-use park or is their any kind of definition of a park I can use," she said.

She said she didn't want to say anything that wasn't true.

"If I tell someone that we're going to have this beautiful park with all this greenery and then your plans are for, and I know this is not true, for metal buildings and asphalt...I just don't want to say anything you would disagree with," she said.

Wicker said we have a park of 1,700 acres in which the airport sits in the center.

"I don't see any reason why we can't go out and say, what do you want?" Wicker said. "And then accommodate or work with them on whatever they want. All we have to do is sit down and negotiate."

Sanders said she had visited Mayor Victor Alonso and he had suggested she come before the council for direction.

Wicker said there was an industrial park designation in place and funds in last years budget as well as this year for promotion.

Robert Donaldson, chairman of Ruidoso Planning and Zoning, said a general master plan was available, but it was conceptual in design and not a hard and fast document.

Ronnie Paulger, president of the EDCLC said a company that comes in to spend four million dollars on a building would not appreciate just anything going next to their building.

"We've got to have a plan that says OK in this quadrant we can have smoke stacks, in this quadrant we can have software for computers. These people are not dummies that we are trying to bring in," Paulger said. "They've already fought the battle in L.A. and San Francisco. They're talking on a level way above what you're talking about. We have to know our business."

He said they have got to know who their neighbors are, their lease agreement and the whole development package.

He suggested the nuts and bolts of the agreement had to be in place, such as the construction material of the building itself.

Donaldson said there is a plan in place that designates areas for certain types of industries.

"It doesn't get into square footage of buildings or facades," Donaldson said. "But it could easily be incorporated into that."

Wicker, who came to Ruidoso from the Houston area, indicated that his background in industrial park development taught him it was very different to package than master planning a community development.

"I've been involved in industrial development in a very competitive area," he said. "We could lay out the streets and do all that you're talking about, but to me that very much limits the ability to develop a fine tract like we have the potential to develop."

"The best way (to begin development) is to keep the Planning and Zoning Commission involved. And if you have a prospect, that prospect normally will want to talk to people from the village, the various utility companies, lending institutions, to know what the amenities are and how they can fit into that locality, and help with a certain amount of power or water capabilities," Wicker said.

Wicker said the needs of that prospect may not be met at that time, but he said it was important to go over these kinds of details with a prospect in general negotiations.

He indicated that a general master plan, conceptual in design, had latitude to waive certain conditions for the right industry — that a plan overly concerned with exacting specifications such as construction materials and square footage may limit its attractiveness if too detailed.

Wicker indicated specifics could be reached through negotiations with little problem if other qualifying factors were in place. And that through the watchful eye of Planning and Zoning, the best use of the industrial park would take shape.

The council approved the EDCLC to service the village in the amount previously budgeted, $17,500.

REBUILD IN RUIDOSO

Councilor Bill Karn made the motion to pay $2,700 for an ad to run in the Oakland Tribune touting the amenities of living in Lincoln County to that area's fire victims.

The money was pulled from the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AWARENESS

Mayor pro-tem Barbara Duff proclaimed the week "Domestic Violence Awareness Week."

"The family crises center is run entirely by donations from citizens and businesses in this community," Dr. Arlene Brown said.

"The big fund raiser for the year is our spaghetti dinner scheduled for Nov. 19, next Tuesday at the Incredible."

Brown said the dinner will last from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. Tickets are available at the chamber of commerce and with members of the family crisis board. Adult tickets are $5.25, children $3.75.

CHAMBER BROCHURES AND RAB

The council approved a request for funds by the chamber of commerce for $12,300 in postage fees and $3,000 for an 800 number for fiscal 1991-1992.

But the council held back, on request from village attorney David Thomsen, a request for funds for the same items totaling about $5,000 to close out 1990-1991. The money was to come from the Lodgers Tax Fund.

Thomsen said he needed to research the matter of paying for items previously budgeted for last year.

The council discussed an addendum to the chamber of commerce agreement to spend $15,000 out of Lodgers Tax for 175,000 new brochures.

At a workshop prior to the council meeting, James asked about the current brochure stockpile.

Chamber director Jerry Watts said that there were between 110,000 and 120,000 brochures stored. He said the chamber uses about 5,000 brochures per month.

With an additional 175,000 brochures, it would bring the stock to about 300,000, not counting the stock already in stands in several states.

At 5,000 brochures per month, the council would have a five-year supply of brochures that would be without several new major improvements scheduled for the community.

James noted that the large amount of brochures in stock was from last year and asked why the old stock hadn't moved.

Watts said the decision was never made for the method of distribution.

The council voted to approve the $15,000 from Lodgers Tax for the additional 175,000 brochures.

James, who was appointed with Councilor Ron Andrews to question why other entities had not participated in the Regional Advertising Board, said he had talked to Ruidoso Downs Mayor Bonnie Addy who told him her council was never asked.

James said the two lodgers tax committees talked to each other and a Ruidoso Downs member had attended one meeting in Ruidoso. But Addy said the Downs council has not been officially approached to become a member of the RAB.

Councilor James recommended that someone approach the governing body of Ruidoso Downs and the county commission to ask if they wanted to become a member of RAB. Mayor pro-tem Barbara Duff appointed James to make an enquiry.

TREE BEAUTIFICATION

Village Deputy Jackson, speaking for Barbara Luna of the State Forest Service, discussed a $50,000 grant application for tree planting beautification available from the state.

Jackson is working with MainStreet project coordinator Mary Maul to apply for the grant. Jackson gave Maul credit for most of the work on the application.

Jackson also directed Parks and Recreation head Moe Masters to develop a modest plan for School House Park.

Jackson said that downtown's image and prosperity are considered to mirror the condition of the area's entire economic health.

"It is essential to the economic development efforts in this area, not only to provide a safer and healthier environment, but to provide the best possible image our community can project," Jackson said. "With the help of the Energy, Minerals and Natural Resource Department, we can implement our goals."

In other agenda business, council:

—Authorized Wicker to purchase a 1988 Chevy pickup from the First National Bank for $7,300 that was confiscated in a drug bust.

—Approved Wicker to advertise for a request for proposal for engineering services that would help with special assessment districts.

the hospital) sit in a bank account because we don't need it," Miller said. "The law clearly allows you to adjust it each year."

Beauvais said the ballot should be worded so that voters understand that the tax proceeds from 3.25 mills will be used by the hospital and 1 mill by the Carrizozo clinic.

One mill is equal to $1 for each $1,000 of net taxable property value.

In other discussion, Kakuska and Flores presented a draft of a new grading system to the board.

In the current system a student needs a 70 or above to pass a class. Kakuska said this system penalizes the students who are getting Cs here because the numerical grade would be a B in other schools.

He said it also makes it harder for students here to receive scholarships because of a lower grade point average compared to other

Teens deliver Christmas

Ruidoso Middle School Student Council and library aides, under the direction of librarian Ellie Keeton, are busy finalizing Christmas party plans.

The group established a tradition two years ago of taking Christmas — toys, food, books and clothing — to a group of needy children in Las Palomas, Mexico. The library club buys the clothes and books with the student council providing party refreshments, gifts and groceries.

Anyone interested in donating to this endeavor may call Keeton at RMS, 257-7324. The trip is scheduled Dec. 5.

School Board sets final deadline on project

The construction at White Mountain Schools is within hours of being finished.

Superintendent Mike Gladden, directed last month to do everything possible to close out the building project, reported Tuesday that there are several small items that need to be finished by Wednesday. Gladden, other school administrators and representatives of Cheyenne Construction recently toured the building and made a list of things that still need to be done.

"It is imperative that we wind this project up," Supt. Mike Gladden.

During a school board meeting

Tuesday, Gladden said the most important thing yet to be done is balancing the heating units.

The work on the building up to the time it was occupied was satisfactory, Gladden said, but after that it dropped off tremendously. He said a letter was sent to Cheyenne Construction as a notice that the remaining work needed to be completed by the Wednesday deadline.

The school has a retainer of $42,786 on the project that could be used to hire another firm if the obligation is not met, he said.

Veterans Day Programs
At Legion Hall

This is being sent to you on mid morning of Veterans Day, and all the Vale is full of light rain and fine mist. I am sending a prayer to God in Heaven for all our veterans in all wars, and praying also that the day may come soon that war may cease throughout the world.

I am on the way up to the American Legion Hall in Ruidoso Downs, where we will raise the flag and recite the Pledge of Allegiance. All three Veterans' organizations will be represented. And we will hear the inspiring talk by Dub Williams, and other speakers.

There will be refreshments and fellowship after the ceremonies.

Veteran's Ceremony Well Attended

Now I have returned from the service. The American Flag was raised by Julius Fitzner, Lemuel Clarke and Pat Huffsmith.

Romeo Kline led the crowd in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Lemuel Clarke and Julius Fitzner parted the colors—The American Flag and the Legion Flag.

L.E. Perkins delivered the opening prayer.

Dub Williams gave his usual fine talk in which he paid tribute to all veterans in all wars, including Donnie Klein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Romeo Klein. Dub said we set aside one day to honor the war veterans, but that we should honor them every day and thank God every day that we are Americans.

Luisa Tam answers call of the Texas Tech Red Raider

Earning an athletic scholarship to a prestigious university made one Ruidoso High School student very happy this week.

Luisa Tam signed a letter of intent yesterday, on the first official day for signing, to attend Texas Tech University next fall on a full track and field scholarship.

The Texas Tech coaches were unable to attend the signing because of college athletics regulations.

Athletic director Ronny Maskew said it is a special scholarship because it is rare for an out-of-state athlete to be given a full scholarship. He said it is an honor to have a hard worker like Tam on the team. It has really been a highlight, he said.

Tam's scholarship is probably the best in dollar amount of any received by a Ruidoso High School student, he said.

Maskew said he remembered when Tam was in the eighth grade and could barely finish a race, but now she is a top athlete in the state. He said the whole school is very proud of her.

Tam said she is really excited and ready to go to Texas Tech. She said she may study pre-law there. Tam told the press attending the signing that athletics have been as important to her as academics in her four years of high school.

She will continue her last cross country season by competing in the state meet and will compete in track in the spring.

Ruidoso track star Luisa Tam signs letters of intent to open doors for an athletic scholarship from Texas Tech, the largest ever awarded a Ruidoso Warrior. Witnessing the event is Luisa's mom, Carla, and athletic director Ronnie Maskew.

Pigskin poll pickers end season with a toughie

How tough was the last Ruidoso News Pigskin Poll? Tough enough that only Jesse Cadena and Jeff Chapman managed to get 15 right.

Cadena won the tie-breaker picking Cobre over Ruidoso 21-17. Chapman had the Warriors winning 31-6. C'mon Jeff, a little too big hearted wouldn't you say?

On the other hand, congrats, Jesse. Your name is always near the top when counting wins on the ballots and it's nice to see persistence pay off.

But, tough contest! After guessing the first two right, Cadena picked the next four wrong. He lost the Deming win over Onate, Socorro's win over Silver, Artesia's win over Lovington and NMMI's win over Tucumcari. His only other loss was Tennessee's win over Notre Dame.

Chapman's losses were Silver, Socorro, Notre Dame, Hawaii and Denver.

Out of the 51 entries, Notre Dame's loss to the Volunteers was the big upset. There wasn't a heck of a lot of Raiders over Denver and Artesia over Lovington's either.

It was surprising to me how many people picked Deming over Onate. I thought the Knights were a lock and would have lost a dime on that one with some bookie in Lost Wages.

The Dallas die-hards, about 15 ballots, took it on the chin when Houston done Dallas.

Only four guessers picked 14 right. Tom Sullivan, Logan Henderson, Corey Saenz and Manny Rivas.

Daniel Sanchez failed in his attempt to be the first ever to threepeat. Daniel, you had Notre Dame down twice, once where San Francisco and the Saints were listed. Looking at the Niners and thinking of former Notre Damer Joe Montana weren't you?

Louanna Simmons, sorry you didn't win with that beautiful handwriting.

No one reached 19 wins this year. The low was six wins. A whopping 17 guessers only managed 11 wins. This week two had 15 right, four had 14, 10-13, 9-12, 17-11, 7-10, 2-9 and 1-8.

Banquet honors fall athletes

The Warrior Fall Sports Banquet is scheduled for Monday, Dec. 2, at the high school cafeteria.

Athletes from football, volleyball and cross country will be honored at the ceremonies.

Parents are encouraged to bring a covered dish. The public is invited.

Boxing bout on Saturday at 6

Amateur boxing night comes back to Ruidoso this Saturday, Nov. 16, at The Barn on Highway 70.

The match, sanctioned by Danny Romero Boxing Club of Albuquerque, is co-sponsored by Miller Genuine Draft.

Matches will feature the USA-ABF Boxing Teams from New Mexico and Texas. Doors open at 4:30 p.m. and the fight starts at 6 p.m. Tickets are $10 each. Number of fights on the card was not available.

RHS graduate kicks his way into sixth in the U.S. ranking

New Mexico State punter Garret Henson, a Ruidoso High School graduate, is the Big West's leading punter and is ranked sixth in the nation in punting this week.

Henson is averaging 43.02 yards per punt on the season after another outstanding game against Long Beach State on Saturday.

Henson averaged 49.8 yards on five punts vs. the 49ers, his fourth game of the season where he averaged better than 44 yards per punt.

Henson's average, if he can maintain it, would tie the school record currently held by Cliff Olander set in 1976.

Henson is the son of Rick and Carolyn Henson of Ruidoso.

The Aggies have a two-game winning streak for the first time in eight years, and have won back-to-back Big West Conference games for the first time since joining the association in 1984.

New Mexico State will take its 2-7 record to Las Vegas, Nev., Saturday for a 2 p.m. MST game against UNLV.

Grizzlies fall to Hagerman, 24-0, in playoffs

by BUDDY BAKER
Special to The News

The Carrizozo Grizzlies, head coach Michael Booty and assistant coach Kenneth Butts ended an otherwise successful season by losing to the Hagerman Bobcats last Friday evening, 24-0.

The Grizzlies were plagued by penalties in what was otherwise a hard fought game.

The score did not indicate the battle waged.

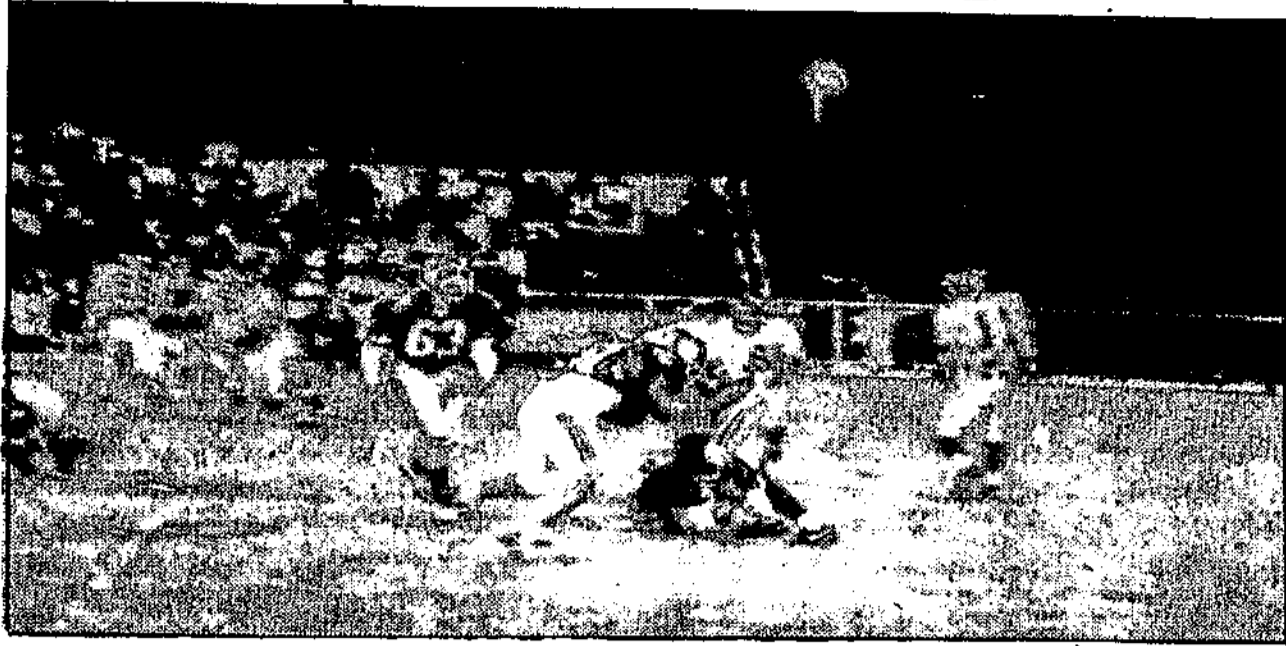

Hagerman received the opening kickoff and returned it to the 30 yard line.

Grizzly fans were thrilled with a James Silva interception on the first play from scrimmage. The joy was shortlived however when he fumbled.

Two plays later the Bobcats fumbled and Carrizozo recovered.

A handoff to Chris Barela gained a yard. Then a pitch-out to James Silva lost a yard. With an incomplete pass the Grizzlies were forced to punt.

Hagerman took possession on their own 37, and marched down the field in 16 plays to score. In the drive quarterback Conrado

The Grizzlies' Coby Sims takes a Lee Roy Zamora handoff for a gain against the Hagerman Bobcats.

Bejarano ran options to both sides and pitched out to Mike Olivas.

Mistakes by the grizzlies, including two offsides and roughing the kicker, helped the Bobcats on this drive.

The PAT was kicked by Scott Swope who would be perfect all evening on extra points and one for two on field goals.

The kickoff was fielded by Raphael Chavez. He was dropped immediately on the Carrizozo 27.

Three successive handoffs to Lee Najar netted a first down on the 38 as the quarter ended. After a run of two yards by Chris Barela, Hagerman intercepted a Lee Roy Zamora pass and took possession on the 50 yard line.

Each team failed to make a first down in their successive series.

Hagerman took possession of the ball on the grizzlies 47 and helped by Carrizozo penalties, drove to the 10 where Swope's field goal failed.

From the 20 the grizzlie's drive featured runs of 10 yards by Lee Najar and a Chris Barela run of 11 yards. The half ended with Carrizozo knocking on the door after a long pass play from Lee Roy Zamora to Chris Barela.

At halftime the score was 7-0.

In the initial series of the third quarter the Grizzlies made a first down on Barela's 10-yard run from his own 41 and then took a handoff for five yards. A handoff to Silva lost a yard and with a Barela run of 4 yards it was 4th and 3.

A fake punt failed and Coby Sims was thrown for a two yard loss. The ball went over on downs.

Hagerman drove for a touchdown with handoffs to Oliva and keepers by Bejarano.

The conversion was good and the score was 14-0.

Beginning their series on their own 34 yard line the grizzlies were soon stopped by an interception of a Zamora pass which gave the ball to Hagerman on Carrizozo's 25.

Hagerman moved to the 16 where they faced a 4th and 14.

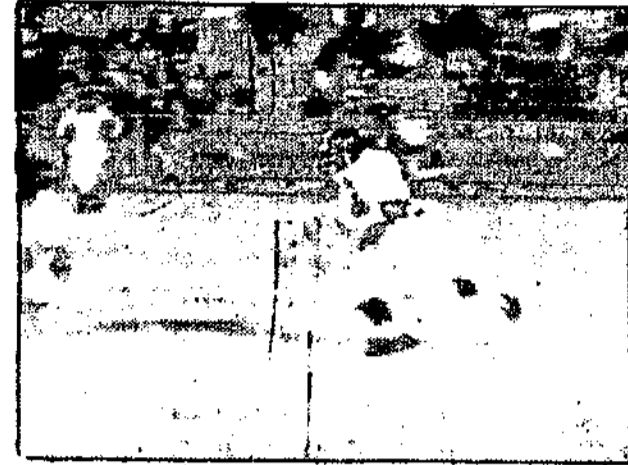

The field goal was good.

Hagerman 17-Carrizozo 0.

A clipping penalty on the kickoff forced the Grizzlies to begin on their own 11.

The Grizzlies were beset with penalties and in spite of good runs by Najar and Barela the Grizzlies, had to punt.

The Bobcats took possession with good field position on their own 47. A James Silva interception stopped the Bobcats and the Lee Najar drives for short yardage against the Bobcats, Rafael Chavez on the take.

Grizzlies took over on their 42.

After an incomplete pass, suffering an 8 yard loss on a sack, and managing a 4 yard pass to Barela, the Grizzlies chose to go for the 1st down with 4th and 14.

A pass intended for Raphael Chazas was incomplete and Carrizozo turned the ball over on downs on their 39.

Hagerman scored in 5 plays.

Coby Sims returned the kickoff to his 32 and in the last series of downs, Barela had a run of 15 yards and Sims ran for 9 yards. The final score was Hagerman 24 and Carrizozo 0.

Justin Portillo, Val Reyes, Alfonso Lucero, Raymond Najar, Zamora, and Mike Barela played well on defense, shutting the Bobcat running game down from tackle to tackle.

"It wasn't one of our best efforts this season," coach Booty said.

He reflected on the season, "We came into the system a week before the season started and didn't know the kids. If Coach Butts and I had it to do over again we would change some things ... but it was a successful season."

Carrizozo lady Grizzlies end season

by BUDDY BAKER
Special to The News

The Lady Grizzlies ended their volleyball season in Fort Sumner on Saturday.

Cloudcroft defeated them three straight games in the regional playoffs.

The charges of head coach Kay Patterson and assistant coach Christetta Butts lost by the scores of 15-12, 15-13 and 15-6.

Yvonne Estrella had 10 service points and 7 hits, Renee Roper and Rachel Archeleta had 7 service points and 4 and 5 hits respectively.

Amy Funk had 3 service points and 4 hits while Cheryl Hightower and Micha Schlarb had 2 service points each with 7 and 9 hits.

"The girls played well," coach Patterson said of her young charges. Cheryl Hightower is the only senior on the team.

Patterson is looking forward to next season when a more seasoned team will compete in district 3A.

"Only eight teams can go to the state tournament and we stayed right in there with the best of them," Patterson said.

"Now we start basketball," she added.

Capitan beat Fort Sumner so they and Cloudcroft advance to the state tournament.

Sunland Park pumps up purses

General Manager Harold Payne announced today that Sunland Park will increase purses by five percent. Sunland Park is one of the few tracks in the country to schedule a purse increase.

The new purses will take effect on November 22, listed in the 4th edition of Sunland's condition book. Payne stated that the minimum purse will be $2,100, and top allowance horses will run for $5,200.

Norm Amundson, Director of Racing said, "The purse increase should have a positive psychological effect for our horsemen. Sunland's purse structure is very competitive with Texas racing. Our bottom purses will match those of Trinity Meadows, just outside of Fort Worth, Texas."

B.G.'s Drone wins the rich TB Futurity

B.G.'s Drone, heavily favored at 1-2, came from off the pace to win Saturday's $49,747 Ruidoso Horse Sale T.B. Futurity at Sunland Park.

The muscular chestnut chased Valeme down the backstretch but had plenty in reserve to score and easy 2 1/2 length win. The Ruidoso Futurity winner gunned past the pace setter at the top of the stretch and never looked back. B.G.'s Drone finished the 6 panels in a razor sharp 1:10 and 1/5 seconds.

William and Martha Gallaway of Farmington, N.M. are the winning owners. The victory was worth $24,873.

Jockey Sam Krasner said, "I was a little worried until he fired." Krasner went to the whip in the stretch and B.G.'s Drone pulled away for good.

Trainer Dwain Grissom indicated he might point his top charge in next month's Sunland Fall Thoroughbred Futurity worth an estimated $50,000.

Valeme had to settle for second after setting a fast early pace. The speedy son of Valid Appeal earned a second place check of $10,944 for the Seven Rivers, Inc., Gil Moutray Et Al. Jose Poncho, the Ruidoso Downs Horse Of The Meet, was closing the fastest at the wire and finished third. He earned $5,969 for owners E.C. Allred and R.D. Hubbard of Ft. Worth, Texas. Racing action gets underway at 12:30 p.m. on Sunday. A $65,000 estimated Twin Trifecta Carryover Pool is on the line.

By a nose

R.D. Hubbard stablemates were in a nose dive for the finish line when Sixy Lady came through to beat Especially Phoebe in the $111,259 Ruidoso Horse Sale Quarter Horse Futurity last week at Sunland Park. The fast daughter of Streaking Six is owned by R.D. Hubbard and H. Don Farris. Jerry Nicodemus was aboard for the $55,622 win. Don Farris conditions both Sixy Lady and Especially Phoebe.

Racing continues all year round

Sports Theater at Ruidoso Downs televises major stakes races and sporting events on Wednesdays and Fridays through Sundays with a current first race post time of 12:30 p.m.

Winter post times listed

Sunland's post time through the winter months will be 12:30 p.m.

Weekday programs will consist of 10 live races with three simulcasts from Hollywood Park. Saturdays and Sundays feature 11 live races with two races from Hollywood Park, including one stakes race.

Musical Answer takes Fort Bliss Handicap

SUNLAND PARK-Musical Answer continued his domination of the thoroughbred ranks at Sunland Park by winning Sunday's Fort Bliss Handicap.

The rangy speedster pulled clear of Gee Ryder in the final 1/16 of a mile to win the $9,500 feature at 5 and 1/2 furlongs. The winner stopped the clock in a rapid 1:03.4 seconds. Sunday's winner also collected an impressive win in the Mr. Vale Handicap on opening day.

Musical Answer is owned by J.B.

Rogers, Jr. of Ruidoso Downs, New Mexico. The victory was worth $5,700.

Rudy Ramirez conditioned the multiple stakes winner.

Todd Fincher handled the riding chores.

Fiesta dancers practice for a fast-paced year of travel

The Hondo Fiesta Dancers, a favorite in Lincoln County, are gathering fans all over the United States.

The group, which pays tribute in dance to the rich cultural diversity of the Hondo School and this region, performed recently in California, with one show at Disneyland, and more recently at the New Mexico State Fair and the Eastern New Mexico State Fair.

They were so popular at the 2nd Annual Old Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium in October that the national director invited the Hondo Dancers to bring their colorful show to the National Cowboy Symposium next May in Texas.

"That is quite an honor and will be another wonderful experience for our youngsters because they will be exposed to other regions and many different kinds of settings and people," said coordinator Porfirio Montoya Zinn.

Zinn said receiving invitations for the second year to the state and regional fairs indicated that this is going to be another busy time for the Hondo Dancers, which includes students in kindergarten through 12th grade.

"They were incredible despite being tired from our long days of traveling and touring various sites throughout California," said Zinn of the west coast performances.

That tireless energy is no surprise to the area residents who never miss the annual fiesta in Hondo.

"Every year, the first weekend in May, the Hondo Dancers perform for local audiences and each year the high school gym is packed," said Hondo School Supt. Sergio Castañon.

"It is their special salute to the rich cultural diversity of our school and our region," he added.

Hondo parents go back to school

Hondo Schools parents went back to school after the first nine weeks to meet their students' teachers and pick up report cards for the first nine weeks.

"The first nine-weeks parent-teacher conferences were absolutely overwhelming," said Supt. Sergio Castañon.

"This visit helped in many ways," said Castañon, noting that it was a chance for first-time teachers in the district were able to meet parents for the first time and for veteran instructors to continue the atmosphere of cooperation.

"At this stage problems can be prevented and parents have a chance to view special projects and class work," said Castañon.

Participation was greatest — as high as 80 to 90 percent — in the kindergarten through sixth grades.

High school's traditionally lower parental involvement — usually around 20 to 30 percent — skyrocketed this year.

"Hondo teachers and staff were elated as well over 70 to 80 percent of high school students' parent arrived with questions, a lot of interest in classroom projects and their youngster's overall progress," said Castañon in a news release.

"We hope to do this each nine weeks and continue building a positive bridge of understanding between parents and the district," said the superintendent, who is in his first year at Hondo.

"We realize that for a school to be truly successful, it is vital that we have parental involvement."

Roping to a T

Eagles end volleyball season by winning sportsmanship trophy

The Hondo Eagles culminated a successful volleyball season in 1991 with a team trophy and an individual honor.

Although Coach Jim Hofstad was a bit disappointed that the Eagles won only two games during the season, he was proud of the team's improvement during the year.

"The girls worked hard, and became dedicated to building for the future," said Hofstad.

According to a news release, he was extremely proud of the fact that the District 5A coaches voted to award the Hondo Eagles the 1991 Sportsmanship Trophy.

"This award is extremely important to our district and to the state," said Allen Musgrove, District 5A chairman. "The coaches noted the great sportsmanship shown by Hofstad's team and voted appropriately," he added.

"The community of Hondo should be proud of these girls."

The award was presented at the district championship game, with team members Danelle Marquez, Celena Copeland, Tanya White, Kimberly Herrera, Erica Copeland and Lisa Gutierrez on hand to receive the trophy.

Celena Copeland also won All-District honors as a setter and hitter, the first Hondo player to be named to All-District since 1987.

"Celena always played with a lot of intensity and hustle," said Coach Hofstad. "She's a deserving young senior athlete who tried so hard to win. I'm happy the coaches in the district saw that in her," he added.

Hofstad had words of praise for all the athletes who played volleyball this year, and stuck it out to the end.

"We also played a junior varsity schedule this year, which gave many of the girls experience they would not have had otherwise," said Hofstad.

"Overall, I believe it was a successful season."

The Hondo Eagles ended volleyball season with 15 girls on the team, and just two of those will graduate.

"We have a good nucleus for next year as long as they continue this commitment to volleyball," said Hofstad, who is planning on off-season and summer program.

"Not guilty:" Hondo students take their turn in the jury box at play

Hondo High School students are discovering that school subjects — like drama, law and theater — can be fun and exciting.

Teachers are fostering a spirit of cooperation and group learning in Hondo, that's paying off with students who are enjoying the learning experience, according to a news release.

Sometimes that means taking the classroom out of the school-house and into the community.

More than 30 Hondo students, faculty members and parents attended Ruidoso Little Theatre's matinee performance of "Night of January 16" last month.

Speech/English and government classes were involved and instructors Ray Sharbutt and Cheryl Bowman were thrilled with the turn-out of students at the play.

"Because it was a drama that also portrayed the court system it worked beautifully into the lesson plans of those two innovative teachers," continues the news release.

Getting involved made the afternoon at the theater even more fun for the Hondo group when eight out of 10 jurors selected that afternoon were from Hondo.

Bowman's classes had also just finished reading Reginald Rose's "Twelve Angry Men."

Hondo theater-goers who got a chance to serve on the jury were Vanessa Salcido, Kimberly Herrera, Stella Herrera, Emilio Montoya, Celena Copeland, Erica Copeland, Julia Estrada and Kara Castañon. The verdict reached by the jury for that performance was "not guilty."

Hondo English classes have also been reading and acting out parts of "Julius Caesar," "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet."

Humanities instructor Lynda Sanchez has just completed presenting a unit on the Greek tragedy, "The Medea," and all her students attended.

After studying the play written more than 2,400 years ago, and presented when all parts were portrayed by men, they were interested in the influences of Greek tragedy and comedy on today's theater.

"(They) have gained a greater respect for many phases of literature from early Greek times down to the present day," said Sanchez.

MARY SHANKS

Capitan teacher named top conservationist

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Mary Shanks' bookcase must be getting pretty crowded with all the awards and recognitions she's received over the years.

The latest for the second grade teacher at Capitan Elementary is a dual package of a new honor and a new appointment.

Shanks was recognized by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. as the 1990 Outstanding Conservationist for the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District, which also was named as the outstanding district for the same year.

"I was nominated by the board for 'Project Soil' and other work I have done for the district," Shanks said. "I didn't know they did it until I received a call one day from someone asking for the correct spelling of my name for the (plaque)."

Shanks serves as vice chairman of the soil conservation district. Project Soil is a complete unit on soil conservation put together by Shanks and her husband for teachers to use as lesson plans. It includes reading material, class projects and learning tools.

In a letter to Shanks, William C. Hobbs, who heads commercial tire sales out of the Phoenix district, wrote that he was honored to be able to present such awards "to people who recognize that our natural resources are only on loan to us and that like a bank loan, some interest is expected on a reasonably regular basis."

He noted that Shanks' project illustrated that she took "an active role in increasing public awareness of the need for careful stewardship of our resources."

In connection with her project package, Shanks is scheduled to speak to the faculty of Abilene Christian University about the potential benefits of soil conservation education. The audience will include the deans of education and agriculture.

Although her project packages, which are put together and sold by the Hondo district, have been purchased by school districts in several states, no inroads have been made in Texas, she said. She hopes the speech may be a method of introducing soil conservation into the teaching curriculum there.

Back in New Mexico, Shanks has been tapped to serve on the Department of Education's Competencies Revision Work Group in Science, a three-year program.

The group will discuss and recommend class plans and course emphasis.

Shanks was nominated for the position by Capitan Elementary principal Jerry Newsom.

Tigers head for state in volleyball

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Capitan Tigers chewed 'em up and spit 'em out last week, grabbing the regional volleyball crown from the grasp of disappointed players from Fort Sumner and Cloudcroft.

With that win, they earned the right to head to Moriarty today to smash a few volleyballs at the state tournament.

Their first time on the courts will be 10:45 a.m. against Tatum. Cloudcroft will play Dora at 1 p.m. The winners will square off to settle the question of who's best in the state.

"I really feel the four best teams ended up playing each other," said coach Pam Allen. "We beat Tatum in four games earlier in the season. I know they've improved since then, but so have we."

"The kids are playing good volleyball. As I've said all year, their hearts are big and they never give up. Their determination and desire probably is the biggest factor. I don't think I've ever been so proud of a Capitan team."

Last week at Fort Sumner, the Tigers beat their host team during the first round in five games.

"I feel Fort Sumner is one of the best teams in the state, so obviously I think they did a good job," Allen said of her players' effort.

The win came with scores of 15-4, 5-15, 15-13, 2-15 and 15-9.

"We were down three to eight in the fifth game and they were serving," Allen said. "We broke their serve and Tycie Traylor took over, serving for points four through nine. Fort Sumner called two time outs to try to break her rhythm."

Eventually, Fort Sumner did get the ball back, but mis-served. The Tigers served, but failed to score. Then Fort Sumner slammed down one point and the two teams were tied 9-9.

But that was the last time Fort Sumner saw any blue sky. Stacy Gowen torpedoed the ball home for points 10-15.

"Obviously, they turned in a superb performance, without question, the finest at the service line," Allen said. "We only missed five serves for the entire match. I really feel the girls did excellent mental preparation for the tournament. They knew what was on the line and what had to be done."

For the regional title, the Tigers next turned their attention to their season foes, Cloudcroft. The mountain top team had snatched the district title from Capitan before the regional contest.

This time around, the Tigers polished them off in four games with scores of 13-15, 15-3, 15-7 and 15-5. But it may not be over yet. The rivals still may meet again at state.

Capitan schools get high marks

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Capitan students consistently scored above state and national levels in 1990-91 on assessment tests used to measure educational accomplishments.

After reviewing various scores and other information as part of its annual accountability report to the public, School Board members said Tuesday they hope to see scores continue to rise.

School Supt. David Lock has set a goal of achieving the eightieth percentile on the total battery of Comprehensive Test of Basic Skills (CTBS) standardized tests by the 1993-94 school year.

Lock also wants students to be ranked in the top 10 percent of New Mexico school districts in two years.

Capitan ranked thirteenth for sixth graders and seventh for fourth graders out of 88 school districts in the direct writing assessment test.

Out of a possible four points for each paper, the district average was 2.9 for the younger students and 2.8 for the older. The state average was 2.4 and 2.6 points.

The district continued to score above state levels on the CTBS, measures of reading, language and mathematics skills for students in third, fifth and eighth grades.

While the state turned in scores for the overall battery from the 53 to 55 percentile, Capitan students scored from a low of 62.3 at the third grade level to a high of 70 in eighth grade.

The eighth grade's ranking in the state climbed to fifth out of 88 districts from thirty-fourth just three years ago. The third and fifth graders, however, saw a slip in their rankings from twenty-sixth to thirty-second for the third grade and from tenth to twenty-second for the fifth grade.

In 1990-91, 100 percent of the tenth grade students taking the high school competency examination passed the math, science, and social studies portions on the first try. Ninety-seven percent passed English and Writing the first time and eighty-eight percent the reading section.

Capitan ranked ninth in the state for scores on the American College Test (ACT), down slightly from sixth the previous year. However, the composite score was up by more than half a point, at 21.2 out of a possible 36 points.

These legs are for stretching Capitan Elementary students take time to stretch their muscles in exercises designed to warm up before competitive games. Physical education instructor Pam Allen said small young children need to be taught good habits that could possibly stretch their lifespans as well their muscles.

Students all set to tee off

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Capitan students may take to the links next spring if Ruidoso High School officials come back with a recommendation to introduce the life sport.

Principal Darrel Stierwalt suggested golf to the School Board at its meeting Tuesday. But before asking for a decision, Stierwalt said his staff wants to survey local interest, talk to possible contributors to the program and be able to come up with the bottom line cost to the district.

A meeting to gauge interest among students was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

"We feel we need to make some lifetime sport available to students and there are some people willing to help us get a program started," Stierwalt. He anticipates that students may be able to use one of the local golf courses without charge as Ruidoso students have done since their course began several years ago.

"And the PGA (Professional Golfers Association) people may buy golf starter sets that would normally cost us $200 each," he said.

Teacher Bill MacVeigh probably would be the team coach, he said.

"We're talking about staging a scramble tournament (where golfers play best ball and start on staggered holes) to raise transportation and food money," Stierwalt said.

"We still have to discuss this with the other coaches. But by the board's December meeting, we will be ready to present a proposal whether to move forward or not."

Sport banquet set Tuesday

Capitan Booster Club invites the community to join in the support of the school's athlete.

The Athletic Awards Banquet is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov.

19, in the Capitan School multipurpose building.

CAR CARE TIPS

Presented By

RUIDOSO
Lincoln-Mercury

100 Highway 70 East
Ruidoso Downs
Phone 378-4400

WHY CARS WON'T START

Despite the dramatic improvements in engines and fuels (electric ignition, maintenance free batteries and lead free gasoline) 40% of all emergency road service calls still are due to starting failure, says RUIDOSO FORD. However, a vehicle in good mechanical condition should start under almost any condition.

For a car to start, it needs:

1. A strong electrical system, including battery and starter, capable of providing current to the ignition system;
2. A fuel system capable of providing the correct air/fuel mixture to the cylinders;
3. An ignition system capable of delivering adequate voltage to the spark plugs;
4. Spark plugs capable of making a spark when current reaches them.

If all of the above are in order, if the internal parts of the engine are in good condition and the engine oil is clean and of the right grade for cold weather operation, the engine should start.

Many of the above factors are interdependent, however. Even a brand new battery, for example, cannot start a car that needs a tune-up. Newer cars often require diagnosis and tune-up to catch those hidden "glitches" that can let you down when you least expect it. Preventive maintenance pays.

Downs deals with annexation issues

by KRISTIE SULZBACH
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Ruidoso Downs Trustees were reminded at Tuesday night's meeting that a special annexation workshop will be at 7 p.m. tonight at the Ruidoso Downs Senior Citizens Center.

The workshop will concern the possible annexation of Agua Fria into the Ruidoso Downs municipality.

Mayor Bonnie Addy said approximately three years ago there was an annexation proposal, but residents of Agua Fria chose not to be annexed. At that time, village officials were pushing for annexation, Addy said.

At the meeting tonight, Addy said she and the board hope to open avenues of discussion about what advantages Agua Fria would have by becoming part of a municipality.

She said she felt an open public meeting would be the proper way to do it.

Addy said a number of people from Agua Fria have come to her to discuss the pros and cons of becoming a part of the Downs. She said there has been a lot of animosity in the past, but they hope to get beyond that with this workshop.

Cathy Ames, a resident of Agua Fria, said many residents will be attending the meeting because it looks like Ruidoso Downs wants to incorporate Agua Fria to take its taxes. She said it seems they will be using Agua Fria's funds to solve their problems.

"If they show us they can take care of their own problems first, it may work, but they don't have a good track record," Ames said.

Ames said she hopes they will be able to work out a compromise, but she is doubtful.

In other regular business at Tuesday's meeting, the Trustees approved an agreement with the Humane Society of Lincoln County to provide kennel facilities and humane care for animals. The contract will be for one year.

The Board voted to decline a recommendation for an animal control officer and will continue to review applications.

The Board did accept a bid for janitorial duties in the city hall and senior center and a contract to remove the old city hall for salvage.

State studies how to prevent under-age drinking

The New Mexico Regulation and Licensing Department's Alcohol and Gaming Division will have a public hearing from 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 3, at the Roswell Inn, 1815 North Main Street, in Roswell.

According to Division Director Mary Ann S. Hughes, the hearing will focus on under-age drinking prevention.

Members of the Under-Age Drinking Prevention Task Force, established to study the problem statewide and to recommend a plan of action to alleviate or correct it, will attend. Alcohol and Gaming Division and the Department of Public Safety will conduct server training from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 3, for all liquor license holders in Curry, De Baca, Eddy, Lea, Chaves, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Guadalupe, Quay and Otero counties.

"Math Counts" in Ruidoso

Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso Center, in cooperation with Region IX, is initiating the first annual "Math Counts" competition for upper elementary and middle school students in the South Central Mountain Region on Saturday, Feb. 22, at Ruidoso Middle School.

"Math Counts," sponsored by the New Mexico Society of Professional Engineers and the New Mexico Council of Teachers of Mathematics, is designed to offer a challenging, competitive opportunity for students interested in math.

The purpose of Math Counts is to develop excellence in mathematics in seventh and eighth grade students by building skills, promoting strategic problem solving and drilling students in dealing with complex problems and hard-to-handle numbers.

According to a news release, this is done at each school by volunteer coaches.

Volunteers are being sought to assist in coaching students or in conducting the regional competition.

The regional competition will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22, and will involve individual written oral competitions, as well as competition between school teams.

For additional information, contact the ENMU-Ruidoso Office/Region IX Office at 257-2120.

DERMATOLOGY NOTES

SEBORRHEIC KERATOSIS is the term applied to oval, waxy, warty like growths that appear on the face, neck and trunk of people as we get older. They are sometimes called senile keratosis but not by me. They look like someone allowed brown candle wax to drip on the skin. They can be scraped off with the fingernail but they just grow back and besides it hurts and they can bleed so don't do it. They gradually get bigger and turn darker with age. They can be confused with moles or even malignant melanomas. They are harmless but are easily removed with liquid nitrogen if they itch or if vanity dictates.

Beginning with the Class of 1990, as mandated in 1987 by Senate Bill 106, all students in New Mexico must pass a competency examination in order to be awarded a diploma. RUIDOSO MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICT SPECIAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

Every exceptional student within the RMSD has a right to a free, appropriate public education. It is the goal of the RMSD to assist exceptional students to develop their potential to the highest level possible, and to become independent, adjusted and competent members of society to the maximum degree possible. RMSD operates in compliance with all federal laws and state standards concerning the education of exceptional students.

Services are available for 3 and 4 year old developmentally disabled children and for students age 5 to graduation (or age 21) who are identified as behaviorally disordered, communication disordered, gifted, hearing impaired, mentally handicapped, multiply impaired, physically impaired, and visually impaired.

All decisions about special education students are made through a committee process. Classroom teacher(s), parent(s), therapist(s), administrator(s) and the student (if appropriate) meet as an Educational Appraisal and Review Committee and make informed decisions about eligibility and services needed. RMSD is committed to working cooperatively with parents to meet the educational needs of all students.

RMSD is able to provide a wide range or continuum of special education and other related services. Services provided for students with special needs include regular classroom intervention, resource room, self-contained programs and a variety of other options involving direct special education instruction. An individualized educational program is developed for each student.

Related Services:

Assistance from a wide variety of resources is available. The school staff includes specialized personnel in the following areas: psychological counseling, speech and language therapy, occupational therapy, physical therapy, educational audiology, interpreter services, orientation and mobility training, social work, special education counseling, special education nursing, educational diagnostics, and methods/materials.

Appropriate specialized equipment and educational materials are available as identified on the individualized educational program.

In addition, programs offered by the school system are coordinated with services available through various community resources.

Academically Gifted:

Gifted students are served through a variety of instructional programs. The majority of elementary students are serviced in resource programs within their neighborhood schools, while middle school students are offered enriched social studies courses and high school students are offered seminar, internship and mentorship classes. Acceleration and partial acceleration are also possible program options.

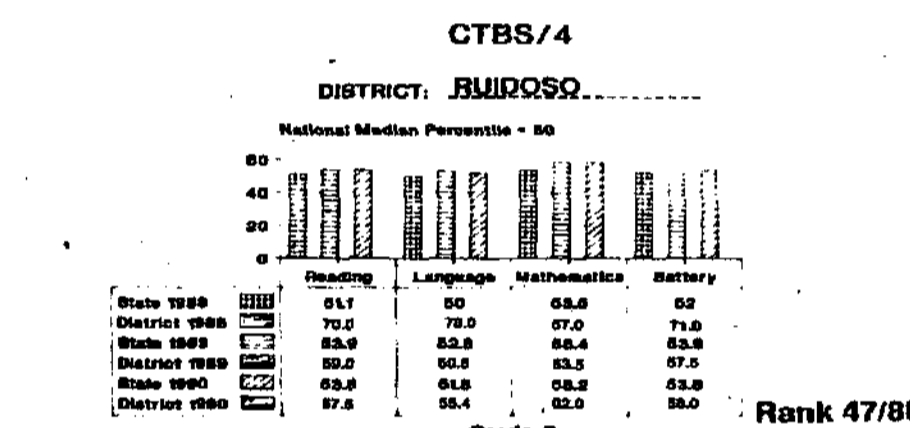

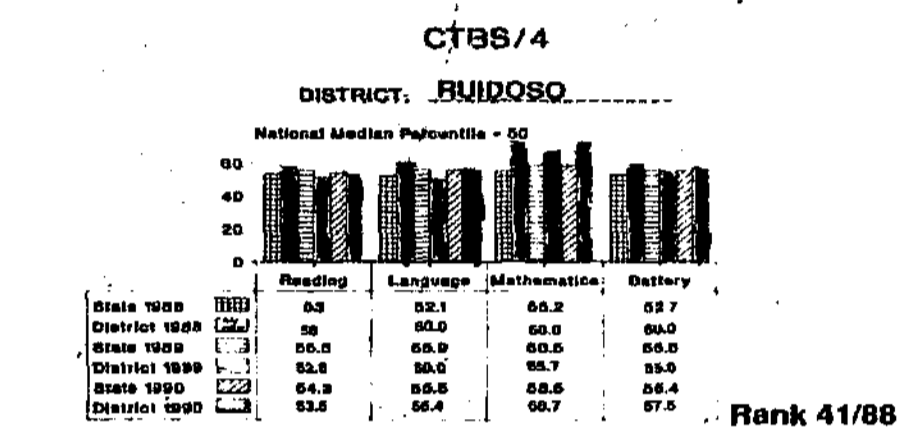

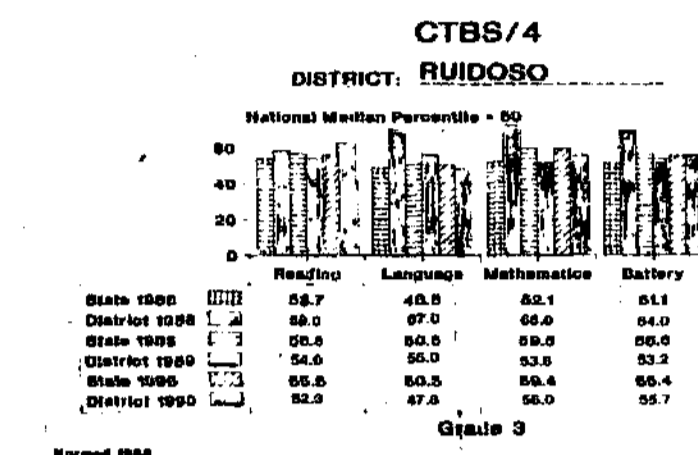

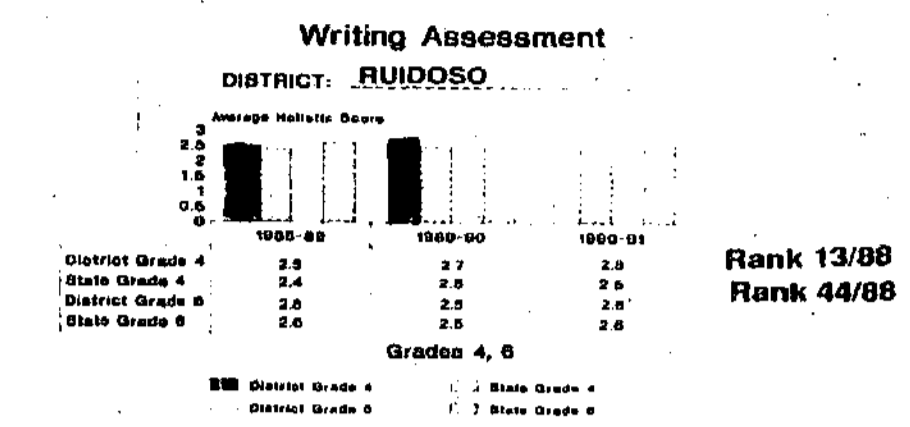

Special Preschool:

Programs are available for 3 and 4 year old developmentally disabled children. Service options include homebase, centerbase, mainstream, and combination models.

Parent Involvement:

We strongly encourage parents to be actively involved in their child's program. Several parent groups and committees have been established to cooperatively problem solve and improve services.

Dancin' the night away

Contestants for Miss New Mexico-USA arrived Tuesday and competed in costumes and dance at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. Miss Zia, Jenny Farrell, won the dance contest; whose high energy dance-style was nearly matched by Miss Duke City, Jennifer Padilla, and Miss Ruidoso, Charmaine Rue, who were in a dance-off for the second place slot. The 27 contestants opened the show by showing off their elaborate costumes that ranged from Indian buckskins, beads and feathers to pioneer calicos and Mexican fiesta dresses. Pictured during the dance contest are Miss Metroplex, Jennifer Miera; Miss Alamogordo, Traci Bernicke; Miss Albuquerque, Sharry Martin; and Miss Las Cruces, Amy Ralston.

Locals

Miss New Mexico-USA contestants were joined by some locals for the high energy dance contest Tuesday at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. Jeff Maul, whose wife, Mary, was one of the judges Tuesday, took to the dance floor with one of the Miss New Mexico-USA hopefuls as did John Bruton (at right), whose wife, Jean Rhoten, was also a judge. More than a dozen dance partners were from Holloman Air Force Base. Wednesday the contestants did some shopping in Ruidoso, and on Friday, they'll present a preview of Saturday's big show. Tickets for the preview are $5.

Education is the future

Take an apple to a teacher next week to pay tribute to the public schools of New Mexico.

Governor Bruce King, in proclaiming November 17-23 as Education Week, said the youth of New Mexico are this state's most precious natural resource and the hope for the future of the state. A good public education is essential if these young people are to reach their life's goals and objectives.

"The future of American democracy is in the hands of our children in today's classrooms where they are learning how to meet the challenges of our ever-changing world so that they will be prepared to assume their rightful place in society," continued Governor King.

America's public schools remain the surest pathway to a future that will be more prosperous, more just and more free, said King. "The public schools of New Mexico must prepare the next generation for a new constellation of social, economic, ethical and political challenges."

Those challenges are changing so quickly that it takes the help and involvement of all segments of this state just to keep pace. The job is too big for just a few — it's going to take all of us.

Stop by a school this week and look into the future.

Take a close look before giving water away

TO THE EDITOR:

The Ruidoso News Published October 24, ran an article by Chuck Stallings entitled: State's Water Lawyer Visits. The matter is entitled to front page space as it is extremely serious. I would like to comment about the problem facing the Rio Hondo Watershed.

In 1931 the Roswell Artesian Basin closed down deep well drilling that tapped the deep water that supplied the Artesian Wells. The reason being that many Artesian Wells that had flowed in the beginning had ceased to flow.

However, they did not close down drilling in the shallow overlying strata and permitted drilling in this shallow basin for a number of years. I think they finally closed this drilling in 1937, but not until many wells were drilled and thousands of acres of farm lands were opened for the first time.

This threw the basin out of balance and they are still trying to get it in balance. To my way of thinking it was a terrible error not to have closed both the deep well drilling and the shallow drilling at the same time, as they found shallow well pumping affected the Artesian Wells also. Common sense tells us that.

In 1965 we held our tenth Water Conference at New Mexico State University. The theme was the Pecos River Watershed. A thorough study was made by our Water Resources Institute at New Mexico State University, and they published their findings.

They found that Texas had 20,000 acres of Salt Cedars in and along the Pecos River bottom. New Mexico had 70,000 acres of these pests in 1965. The Salt Cedars consumed 2 acre feet of water per annum. This meant Texas was losing 40,000 acre feet of flow in the Pecos a year, while New Mexico lost 140,000 acre feet each year.

It would appear that Texas need look no further for their 10,000 acre feet per annum.

It is a well known fact that our Rio Hondo Watershed is blessed with stream flows that are anything but Perennial Streams, or ones that are unceasing, everlasting and permanent. Our streams are apt to go dry annually, and are intermittent in their flows, dependent entirely upon the weather.

Proof of this: Our streams are dotted with supplemental wells.

I am sure our expert geologists are familiar with the fault at Boarder hill. According to the late Hal Cave, well known expert geologist who made his home in Roswell, New Mexico, this fault did not permit any waters supplying our Supplemental Wells go through to recharge the Roswell Artesian Basin. Only a few gallons per minute, or enough for stock wells, no more, no less. Where do these waters go that furnish our supplemental wells?

Hal stated they go downstream along the Fault towards Texas.

This means that any wells that supply Junior Rights in our watershed affect the flow in the Rio Pecos not a farthing. In fact the more these wells are pumped and place waters on the surface of our lands the more that finds its way into the surface flow that passes over the Fault at Boarder Hill, and does recharge a bit of the Roswell Artesian Basin.

In short, if we should curtail all pumping from underground in the Rio Hondo watershed it would add nothing to the 10,000 acre feet of waters needed by Texas. Our late Senator Chaves who understood our water needs was enraged by the Pecos River Compact, saying it was a stupid give away of waters we were entitled to. I thoroughly agree with his views. If we closed every well down that we pump in our watershed Texas would still have a shortfall due to the Fault at Boarder Hill.

It appears we need to do two things before we commit another stupid act of water giveaway. Check the Salt Cedar problem and look into this Boarder Hill Fault that stops any of the waters we use from underground from affecting the Roswell Artesian Basin.

Don't we know that our Water Resources Institute plainly stated in their findings that these Salt Cedars will dry up the Rio Pecos, perhaps in our generation.

Advocate performs in concert

Advocate — not just another rock band — will perform live in concert at 7 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 18, at the Fair Building in Capitan.

The West Texas based band brings its high energy brand of rock and roll to people throughout this region, and everyone in Lincoln County is invited to come out and hear Advocate on Saturday.

"There are thousands of musicians out there and so few have anything real to say," says Steve Pruitt, Advocate's founder and guitarist.

According to a news release, what started out as typical "garage band" has turned into a unique team dedicated to seeing the lives of young people changed.

"While their main emphasis is bringing concerts with a positive lifestyle and anti-drug theme to high school assembly settings, they perform 30 to 60 concerts a year in all types of settings," continues the news release.

"We're a Christian band and make no apologies for that," says

Advocate bass player Jeff Lightfoot. "Christ has changed our lives and we want people to know that we're not just about loud music — there is a message of hope."

"If you like rock and roll, you'll love Advocate," he adds.

Crossfire, Capitan Youth Group, is sponsoring the concert, and invites everyone to attend. Admission is free, but an offering will be taken.

For more information, call Greg Horst at 354-2307.

Wranglers are on the road again

Country singin' just keeps taking James and Cindy Hobbs out of the country into the limelight of the big cities.

The Ruidoso couple and their Flying J Wranglers took their western show to the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, Tennessee, and those folks were tapping their toes and clapping their hands just like the home folks do.

The Wranglers, who perform nightly at the Hobbs' Flying J Ranch from Memorial Day to Labor Day, got a warm welcome and an enthusiastic reception when they stepped out onto the most famous stage in country music.

They shared the program with Porter Wagoner, Skeeter Davis, Billy Walker, Mel McDaniel, Bill Monroe, Jean Shepard, Jim Ed Brown, Riders in the Sky, Roy Acuff, Connie Smith, Jimmy C. Newman, David Houston and Hank Snow.

During the Dollar General Store portion of the show where the Wrangler actually performed, they shared billing with Bill Anderson, The Whites and Mike Snider.

"We realized a lifelong dream," said Hobbs, who still has to smile to remember how it felt to perform his special brand of western music to the Grand Ole Opry audience that numbered more than 4,400.

His smile gets just a little wider remembering that audience's response to his wife, Cindy's, world-class championship yodeling.

"They were kind of surprised," said Hobbs, whose petite wife has made a name for herself all over the United States with her strong, clear yodeling.

The Wranglers are becoming recognized as one of the outstanding western groups in the nation.

They were invited last year to represent New Mexico music in the Bloomingdale's promotion in New York City that showcased this state.

New Yorkers, too, loved the Wranglers.

Christmas Jubilee will be a shoppers' paradise

Shoppers get ready — it's nearly time for the annual shopping extravaganza presented by the Ruidoso Valley Greeters.

The Fourth Annual Christmas Jubilee, a Christmas shoppers' paradise, will be presented Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 22-24, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

"Shop 'til you drop" will be the theme as shoppers fill the convention center from 5-8 p.m. Friday, from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Ruidoso merchants and owners of gift shops, jewelry shops, art galleries, boutiques, western wear and crafts will offer shoppers a vast array of items for holiday shopping. Expect to see things you don't find everyday — something for everybody on your shopping list.

Besides shopping, the Greeters will offer their popular Children's Breakfast with Santa Claus from 8:30-10 a.m., and a holiday buffet luncheon and fashion show from 11:30-1:30 p.m., all at the Inn of the Mountain Gods in Mesalero, just three miles down Carrizo Creek Road from Midtown Ruidoso.

Admission to the Christmas Jubilee is $2 each, with tickets to the Breakfast with Santa, $2.75, and the buffet luncheon, $7.95.

For further information, call the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at 257-7395 in Ruidoso, or call toll-free, 1-800-253-2255.

Music from Moscow

Community Concerts presents the Moscow Balalaikas at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 18, at the First Christian Church. The award-winning instrumentalists and vocalists bring their rich musical heritage to their U.S. tour with performances of authentic Soviet classics on traditional Russian folk instruments and a tribute to the popular music of the peoples of the world. Admission is by membership only.

The Plant Corner

Holly plants can decorate your deck

DEAR SALLY:

I happen to love hollies, especially the berries in the winter. The birds love these berries plus they find some protection from the cold in the foliage.

Would you recommend growing hollies in containers on my deck in Ruidoso?

Bettye

DEAR BETTYE:

I have had several inquiries recently about hollies. Yes, hollies can be grown in containers on your deck. Just be sure to plant in the proper size containers — must be the equivalent to a half-barrel size with extra drain holes drilled for the essential fast drainage.

Prepare your containers carefully, if you are using half-barrels, after drilling drainage holds, install 4 or 5 casters to ensure easy moving about. Add about 4 inches of plastic chunks in the bottom and pour sharp builders or river sand over these chunks, mix regular potting soil with peat moss and fill containers to about 3/4. Purchase good nursery plants with signs of new growth. Make indentations in the soil, place 4 to 6 small plants around the container and pack the soil firmly around each plant, add more soil mix to fill to about 2 inches below the rim and water thoroughly. Allow it to drain and dry to just moist. Keep a moist condition constantly the first year.

I suggest planting several containers using different varieties, such as the small dwarf size, the weeping type, some have yellow berries, the large shrubs and the small trees. These may all be pruned to different shapes. Just be sure to prune at the proper time to make sure you don't spoil the berries for that season. I have seen the tree-type hollies pruned as a round ball, a beautiful thick green ball in summer and a perfect red-berried ball in winter.

Talk with your nurseryman before buying. You may not get any berries if you purchase all male plants or all female plants. There must be good pollen distribution. The male and female plants should bloom at the same time and be sure to have the same number of each plant in each container. Very cold, rainy weather could prevent the insects from good pollen distribution. In that case you could take the small paint brush and brush from flower to flower for pollination. At times a late season frost will damage the blooms and thus, no berries.

Now I know one should look for berries on the plants when you buy them to be sure of getting a female plant, I just don't know which is which — I must try to find out before I write about holly berries again.

There are dozens of hollies to choose from. They are a favorite of many because of the low-maintenance and beauty. They adapt from full sun to shade, have a wide temperature range, are almost pest-free, very durable, and are a pretty holiday plant. I have seen Yaupon Holly trees over 50 years old and going strong.

Remember, it's best not to fertilize newly planted shrubs until it shows substantial new growth, and always remember that wet-feet will suffocate the plant, water deeply and allow to become just moist before watering again.

Send questions to Sally Black, c/o The Ruidoso News, P.O. Box 128, Ruidoso, N.M. 88345.

OUR SYSTEM'S NOT PERFECT, BUT IT'S THE BEST THERE IS

Great concern is often expressed about the policies of our public officials at all levels, including the person at the top and the legislators. It is well to remember, however, that one and all are bound by the restraints of our constitution, which even with its flaws will spell out exactly what they may or may not do, and can be changed only by certain prescribed procedures. Men and women come and go, but our laws remain steadfast, and they include the right of the people to replace those individuals who they feel have acted without the best interests of the nation at heart. Learn at your House of Worship that our laws are based on those of God. The word "liberty" is used throughout the Bible, and our laws are the best way to guarantee it for all time.

Possibilities for makeup work should be discussed with the instructor on an individual basis. No extensions of the vacation periods are given to a student. Non-attendance of classes due to late registration is considered the same as absences incurred after registration.

If you are enrolled in classes at ENMU Portales, you must contact the Certifying Official in the Registrar's Office at the Portales Campus.
