Mayor calls for bold action in Midtown project

by AL STUBBS
Ruidoso News Business Editor

Mayor Victor Alonso would like to see a more bold approach to "riverwalk development" in the master plan being developed for revitalization of the MainStreet Ruidoso project area.

"I am struck by how modest your proposals are," Alonso told Carter and Burgess, city planners, at a public hearing, Monday morning at Cree Meadows Country Club.

"What happened to your radical, progressive plans?" the mayor asked.

The hearing, second in a series for Carter and Burgess of Fort Worth, Texas, to present refined plans for downtown Ruidoso revitalization, was lightly attended.

Representing the planning firm were Bill O'Brien, project director and architect, and John H. Mason, senior vice president.

Presentations also were made to the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission and to the Ruidoso Village Council.

The company was retained through a $36,000 allocation to the Village of Ruidoso from the 1990 Legislature, the money to be used for developing a plan of action.

Mason told the mayor and those present that plans for a "river trail" could be the base for a more progressive concept.

He said a full blown riverwalk would require bulldozing structures, acquisition of land and then "putting it back together. That is extremely sensitive work ... that concept can work."

Mason said the present planning is aimed at dealing with safety issues in the downtown and to "enhance revenue producing capability."

He said that commercialization "will not enhance the beauty that is there," referring to having commercial establishments along the river.

Concerning the overall plan as presented, Alden Deyo asked: "Is this your 20-year plan?"

"Not especially, it's to get something going immediately," Mason said.

O'Brien used drawings to illustrate what a revised intersection would look like. He said the master plan is about 80 percent complete.

Again the planners homed in on sidewalk rebuilding and widening, slowing up traffic on Sudderth via flashing yellow lights or traffic signals and/or signage.

O'Brien said the reason for the hearings is to "see if we are in agreement with the community."

He said the plan eliminates 20 to 25 percent of on-street parking to provide adequate sidewalks for pedestrian traffic.

The plan identifies off-street parking areas. John Underwood asked that the planners keep as much on-street parking as possible, declaring that people "don't like to walk uphill."

A new concept was introduced and discussed by members in the audience. This would involve enhanced rear entrances to businesses on Sudderth from off-street parking areas.

Shoppers would walk through stores to gain access to Sudderth and might make purchases as a result of exposure to those stores.

"Do you think it would be cost effective?" Mason asked.

Teri Sodd, owner of Mountain Arts, pointed out a problem in her area.

Located between two lounges, she said vehicles run over her parking signs and benches "almost daily."

"I would like to see something merchants can be proud of," she said.

The possibility of providing a public parking building, probably multi-level, was brought up by Stan Cape of the MainStreet board and an architect.

He said such a building in Vail, Colorado, blends in with surroundings and

Fort Stanton workers will wait and see

by CHARLIE CHITWOOD

Administrators and employees at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School are waiting for word from Santa Fe as to how population reductions and service improvements will be made.

Fort Stanton Administrator Ervin Aldaz said the hospital and school is busy sending analysis reports to Dennis Boyd, the Health and Environment Division secretary. Boyd is accumulating information from Fort Stanton and the Los Lunas facility for a presentation to the State Legislature and Governor Bruce King.

Aldaz expects to know the result of these meetings early next week.

"There are several variables that go into our next step," said Aldaz.

"We can either appeal the decision of Judge Parker or try to meet the deadlines. If the state attorney general wants to appeal, we'll need to file for a stay until the case is heard."

"At the least, the state will request a deadline extension so that proper programs can be instituted for those to be released," said Aldaz.

Under the guidelines set forth in Parker's opinion, the state facilities must have a transfer and correction plan approved by April 1, and all citations from the lawsuit must be addressed by September.

Aldaz noted, however, that the plan would likely have to be finished by March 1 so that it could be distributed for approval to various groups, including Protection and Advocacy Systems, Incorporated (P&A).

The lawsuit against the state, which asked for the closing of the Los Lunas and Fort Stanton facilities, was filed by P&A attorneys. The trial began in June and testimony was heard through the summer. U.S. District Judge James A. Parker wrote his opinion on the case in December.

"We won the case in that we were not ordered to shut down by Judge Parker," said Aldaz. "The stringent deadline for the reduction

Let it snow and snow and snow

by CHARLES STALLINGS

Ruidoso turned into a winter wonderland Wednesday when big snowflakes turned the skies white.

Heavy snows and icy streets prompted cautious driving for the Ruidoso area and motorists reported with very few accidents.

The snows were just what was needed to enhance the ample base at Ski Apache Resort. Skiing conditions are excellent today with all trails open.

Ruidoso's road department worked hard at keeping the major arteries open, as did the State Road Department. Old Reservoir Road is ready for ski enthusiasts.

The warmer weather throughout the day turned streets to mush and back to ice again later in the afternoon.

The wrestling match at the Ruidoso High School was called off because of the bad weather.

The falling snow did not deter concerned citizens from attending John Underwood's town hall meeting in the Ruidoso Village Council Room last night.

Ruidoso residents said they had never witnessed such large amounts of snow on the pines, bending and in some areas breaking branches from the snow's sheer weight.

Although much of the snow was still on the roads early today, Thursday, the forecast is for warmer weather and by 8

MAKING TRACKINGS ALONG VILLAGE ROADS

Planning and Zoning group hears MainStreet concept

A review of the MainStreet program dominated the regular meeting of the Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) Monday in the council chambers.

Mary Maul, MainStreet project manager, said that the presentation by the architects of Carter and Burgess, Inc., was for public input and not approval on any action at this time.

Safety, handicap parking, river walk, light signals, night lighting and parking were discussed. (See related story)

Also Monday, D.T. Collins, representing James Williams, requested a replat of Lot 20, Block A, Navajo Subdivision to shift location of the roadway easement and create easements for public and private utilities.

The plat was approved with the following conditions:

1. The applicant would be responsible for relocating existing water and sewer lines at the applicant's expense.

2. That water and sewer lines be constructed concurrent with construction of the relocated roadway and utility easement area. Water and sewer line plans are to be approved by Richard Sanchez prior to starting work, with all work to be inspected and approved by Sanchez.

Collins also represented Guy Hufford and Richard R. Harper of Lots 3-4, Block 1, Highwood Addition. The two owners jointly applied for a replat to cure encroachment.

A retaining wall on Lot 3 (Hufford) encroaches onto Lot 4 (Harper). Proposed replat will place the proposed retaining wall on Lot 3A with balancing area to Lot 4A, retaining approximately the same lot areas for both lots. There are no utilities affected by the proposed replat.

The commission approved the request.

Earl R. Leslie applied for a conditional use of Lot 2, Block 2, of Palmer Gateway Subdivision. The request was made for a veterinary clinic at 665 Sudderth which is located in a C-2 commercial zone.

The staff review stated that applicant currently operates Mountain View Animal Clinic and proposed to move his operation. The proposed clinic conforms to use restrictions as to enclosure of animal runs and holding areas and exceeds parking required. The commission approved the request.

D.T. Collins, representing William McCarty of White Mountain Development Co. Inc., requested an additional six-month extension of preliminary plat approval for White Mountain Plaza Tract Z.

The commission has granted three extensions of six months each due to the uncertainty of development.

Of particular concern is the possible purchase by Jackie Spencer to construct a performing arts center. White Mountain Development Co. does not wish to proceed with development until this matter is resolved.

As development of the performing arts center is of vital concern to the village, the approval extension was approved, to begin on January 9 and end on July 9, 1991.

New rep hosts town meeting

A small but rugged band of Ruidoso residents braved a snow storm and icy streets to attend the first town hall meeting of new State Representative John Underwood.

Underwood, a Democrat, was elected state representative for District 56 in the November elections and he will report to Sante Fe at noon Tuesday, January 15, for his first legislative session.

This 60-day session will be the first for Governor Bruce King, Lieutenant Governor Casey Luna and other state officials, as well as Underwood, who defeated Republican lawmaker Ben Hall.

Health and gambling were among the variety of topics discussed during Underwood's town hall meeting.

Representative Underwood said he'll maintain close contact with his constituents.

See Monday's paper for a full report.

Leaky pipes are costly

by CHUCK STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Concerned over massive water losses, Ruidoso Village Councilor Ron Andrews urged the council to act immediately in correcting the situation by implementing a meter system to monitor the lines.

Andrews made his remarks during the Village Council workshop that preceded Tuesday's regular council meeting.

Andrews said Ruidoso, since March, has been averaging a water loss equal to that being treated, about $34,000 a month's worth.

Village manager Charles Norwood said part of the problem is a water system with 180 miles of lines, most of it old and in areas where it is impossible to take a reading.

Norwood said 18 major water breaks and 22 live fires for the month contributed to the huge water loss. He said all of those losses would add up to about seven million gallons.

"That still leaves a 13 million gallon loss which is not acceptable," Norwood said.

"We have water leaks that have probably been there for years," Norwood said. "We just can't detect them all."

Andrews suggested buying meters to attach to fire hydrants and to break the water system into zones, placing meters in the main line.

"If you know that a section of town is primarily part-time residents and the water usage is constant whether people are living there or not, you know you've got problems and where to look for it," Andrews said.

The councilor said that the unmetered watering of parks should stop.

"It's going to cost a lot of money, but at $34,000 a month, we could buy a lot of equipment that would help us isolate the problem," he said.

Norwood said the city has 13 tanks and none have a flow valve to regulate the water.

Mayor Victor Alonso said it makes sense to plug the leaks before developing additional water.

Norwood said he would return to the council after meeting with the water commission with recommendations on which direction the council should take in correcting the water loss and the estimated cost.

In other regular business, the council:

—Heard a MainStreet Ruidoso Conceptual Master Plan presentation by architects of Carter and Burgess, Inc. They asked for input from the council before the team enters into the design development phase.

The council pledged immediate will replace the present regular the village is leasing.

The council felt that purchasing a truck at a reasonable price is more cost effective for the village.

—Approved a golf course liquor license agreement to lease a municipal liquor license to AllHub for use at the golf course.

AllHub wished to lease the license from the village to permit sales on the golf course.

Council members said liquor sales would enhance revenues and therefore rentals payable to the village.

—Passed resolution 91-1 declaring reasonable notice of public meetings for the village council of the village of Ruidoso.

The resolution complies with the New Mexico 1978 Open Meetings Act and states, in part, that all meetings of a quorum of members of any board, commission or other policy-making body of any in-kind aid, with special interest on the river walk. Norwood said he would move the project to a top priority.

—Accepted the low bid of $35,559 for a video inspection system by Cues Inc. of Rancho Cordova, California, was accepted. The video equipment will enable the village to inspect the main sewer lines to find infiltration.

Alonso said the inspection will save the village money on a long-range basis in sewer treatment and will also help to maintain compliance with EPA regulations.

The bid included training for operation of the equipment.

—Accepted a bid of $7,500 from Todd Aircraft Inc., of Hobbs for a used jet refueler truck for Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. The truck municipality held for the purpose of formulating public policy, discussing public business or for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of such board, are public meetings open to the public of all times; exceptions to this declaration are strictly limited.

The board passed the resolution by a 5-1 vote. Councilor Al Junge voted against the resolution.

A dog is a dog by any name

Complaints of skunks, raccoons and even hummingbirds were among the wild inhabitants that Ruidoso area residents wanted removed from their premises last summer, according to village manager Charles Norwood.

Norwood said officers were so deluged with phone calls that the council decided to amend the animal control ordinance and clarify the definition of "animal" to mean more of the domesticated variety, like dogs and cats.

Norwood said wild animals were common in the Ruidoso area and complaints against these animals were so numerous last summer that it strained village resources to a point beyond village capability.

The council agreed that the definition of animals should be clarified to what generally would be considered house pets or domestic animals.

Norwood said he felt the amendment would reduce the load of the animal control officers.

The new definition of animal was amended to read:

Animal means any vertebrate member of the animal kingdom, excluding man, which has been tamed, conditioned or maintained as a pet or chattel to man. Dog and Cat are defined as either sex of the canine or feline species, respectively.

Councilor J.D. James was concerned about residents who were shut-in and might be unable to take care of a raccoon or skunk.

Norwood said the village would provide free service for those people.

Ruidoso Downs trustees take a look at "the arts"

by AL STUBBS
Ruidoso News Business Editor

Ruidoso Downs trustees will vote next Monday on how deeply the village wants to get into art, museums and special events such as the Cowboy Symposium.

Frank Potter, executive with Ruidoso Downs Race Track, and Gary Miller, curator for the developing Museum of the Horse on track property, made a proposal to trustees Monday night. A special meeting was called to hear what could be termed a "marriage" proposal.

Mayor Bonnie Addy explained that the meeting was informational only — a vote will be taken next week.

The proposal as outlined by Potter and Miller is to form a coalition to seek a grant from the 1991 Legislature to develop a feasibility and impact study regarding, in essence, making Ruidoso Downs an art and museum center.

R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard, co-owners of Ruidoso Downs Race Track, already have set up the $250,000 Hubbard Art Award for Excellence, presented last year for the first time.

The first Cowboy Symposium was staged in November, and was quite successful.

And a multi-million dollar Museum of the Horse is in the early stages of development.

Potter said a "master plan" is needed to determine who would visit a Museum of the Horse, how educational programs could be developed in Lincoln County around the museum and to pinpoint the probable economic impact of such a museum when promoted worldwide.

Under the plan presented to trustees by Potter and Miller, the Ruidoso Downs trustees would administer any public funds obtained from the Legislature.

Another reason for having a feasibility study and master plan is to determine what kind of related resources would be needed to assure success of such a museum and other programs, Potter told The Ruidoso News.

The Museum of the Horse features millions of dollars in artifacts and horse-drawn vehicles donated from a museum in Patagonia, Arizona. A woman named Anne Stradling has donated some 45 horse-drawn vehicles and other horse-related items for the museum here.

Potter said the village and the racetrack will be seeking about $150,000 from the 1991 legislature if Ruidoso Downs votes to go along with the plan.

In an informal poll last Monday, trustees indicated full support for the plan.

"We will vote next Monday and they can go to Santa Fe with it," Mayor Addy told trustees. The legislature meets in a 60-day session starting next week.

A master plan, Potter told trustees, will help pull the Cowboy Symposium, Art Award and the Museum of the Horse together.

"Ruidoso Downs has a significant impact on art," Potter said.

Any grant would be funded through the Cultural Affairs Department of the state of New Mexico, Potter explained. Money would go to Ruidoso Downs for administration.

The mayor and trustees were asked to help lobby for passage of any bill drafted for legislative consideration.

Miller told trustees the Museum of the Horse will have a large social impact "if Dee Hubbard uses his resources to make the museum a reality."

The old convention center at the Downs will house the museum in all probability.

"We can make it happen with your help," Miller said. He said the operation will be a public-private partnership, "not tied specifically to the racetrack."

He mentioned a possible riding program in the school similar to the school days at Ski Apache.

Mayor Addy asked, "Are you committed to putting this in Ruidoso Downs and not Ruidoso?"

Miller said the project is committed for Ruidoso Downs.

Jim Rethmel, trustee, asked if there would be a conflict between the Downs and the Iron Horse Railroad project in getting future grant funds.

Miller said he could see no conflict.

Trustees were assured they would not be required to put up any funding, but there might be some expense in attending hearings in Santa Fe to promote the bill when drafted.

Addy said Ruidoso Downs "has been looking for some threshold to bring Ruidoso Downs into new focus."

Trustee Jackie Branum said she believes the liaison between the track and Ruidoso Downs will be a great asset "to get something started."

Trustee Ray Fredrickson said people will ask me "who is going to benefit?"

Addy said the racetrack "will not benefit at all."

Miller said most museums across the country are non-profit. The Hubbard Foundation apparently is an entity which is involved in art and museum development.

Village attorney Gary Mitchell, who couldn't be present Monday, wrote a long letter outlining the project and commending it since he couldn't be present at the special Monday meeting.

He wrote that he sees no conflict in the public-private arrangement. "... we can obtain public funds through such a grant, obtain funds from a private source through a contribution, and as long as we administer those funds pursuant to the laws of the state of New Mexico and the rules and regulations of the Department of Finance and Administration of the state of New Mexico, we will have no difficulties."

Mitchell wrote that the Village of Ruidoso should ask "our representatives and senator to sponsor a bill appropriating funds to be administered by the Village of Ruidoso Downs for a grant to determine the feasibility of bringing into the village of Ruidoso Downs museum, art industries and other commerce."

"The motion should also instruct the village clerk to seek the assistance of members of the private sector who are willing to donate their expertise and time to the Village of Ruidoso Downs in the seeking of such a grant ..."

"I think this is a new era for the Village of Ruidoso Downs and I will be more than happy to assist you in whatever way that I can to bring such into a community ..."

Roads in the upper mountains and along the shaded areas of upper canyon were still dangerously slick as of early Thursday morning.

The benefits of the ruling are that we might have 25 fewer clients and be able to provide better care to the ones left," Aldaz said. "I just hope that none of the people in Santa Fe or Albuquerque lose their humanistic view of the situation."

is not obtrusive at all.

It is landscaped and comes out at pedestrian level, he said.

Carter and Burgess people were introduced by Mary Maul, MainStreet project director.

Police Chief Richard Swenor said sidewalk widening would improve pedestrian safety on Sud-dert.

He said Ruidoso's is a "line of sight problem," even in crosswalks.

It was mentioned that proper ice and snow removal in the shopping district would enhance revenue.

Planners were asked about their ideas on how projects can be financed. Mason said he and O'Brien while here were going to talk to village officials and other entities about sources of financing.

Parking meters were mentioned for the downtown area. The idea was shot down by negative comments almost immediately.

"Meters would destroy the charm of Ruidoso," Marion Treat of The Covered Wagon, said. "It would make us just like any other town."

Mason indicated it is doubtful if meters would "pay out."

The idea died a sudden death.

On snow and ice removal, it was brought out that some communities have ordinances which require business people to remove snow and ice from sidewalks in commercial areas within 24 hours.

Downtown development must be coordinated with the New Mexico Highway Department's plan to put down a cold mill overlay on Sud-dert within the next 18 months or so.

Widening of sidewalks would cause problems if the overlay is put down too soon, it was indicated at the Monday meeting.

Council is seeking civic center funds

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

In search of promotional dollars to seek out market areas for the new civic center, Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso said it would take an act of the legislature to provide more funds than merely increasing lodger's tax to the maximum of five percent. Resolution 91-2 was then created as the first step toward that act.

The 91-2 resolution expresses the need for the New Mexico State Legislature to authorize local governments to obtain additional sources of funding for development and advertising of convention and tourist facilities.

Alonso said that current village resources are inadequate to properly develop village attractions such as the civic events center and MainStreet development project.

Other communities with the state appear to be facing the same problems, Alonso said, and the common plight of these municipalities, along with the village would be greatly improved if alternate sources of funding were available.

The council approved the resolution that states the New Mexico State Legislature be strongly encouraged to provide local communities additional flexibility to raise funds for purposes similar to those authorized in Section 3-38-21 of the NMSA, 1978.

Sources of these funds might include, but would not be limited to a hospitality tax on establishments serving the tourist business in various ways.

Lincoln County road workers want their boss back

by CHARLIE CHITWOOD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The new Lincoln County Commissioners are already taking some public heat after their release of former county road superintendent Tommy Hall.

Commissioner Bill Elliott made the motion not to reappoint Hall to the road department's top post. Monroy Montes supported Elliott in the vote, but commissioner chair Stirling Spencer voted to retain Hall.

After voting not to continue the road superintendent's contract, the job title was also changed to county road manager.

"I wasn't surprised that they did it," said Hall a few days later. "In a way, they did me a favor. That job has a lot of headaches."

But several county road department employees were surprised.

"I don't think it was right," said interim road manager Joe Vega Jr.

When asked if he would apply for the permanent job as road manager, Vega said, "I won't. I'd probably get fired in two years just like Tommy."

Ed Lundquist, shop foreman at the county shed in Capitan, remarked that he couldn't understand the move when Hall was supposed to be one of the best superintendents the department had had in years.

According to Lundquist, a two-year employee of the county, Hall cut down on fuel and supply theft and made the department a more efficient operation.

District I Commissioner Montes met with employees of the road department Tuesday afternoon to hear any ideas or complaints that the road crews might have, and the firing of Hall was brought up.

"We voted for you," said one road department employee. "Then all at once on January 2 we lose our boss. Why did we lose our superintendent?"

"The road manager is one of three county employees that serves at the pleasure of the commission," said Montes. "I really don't like that term, but what it means is that we have to have someone that we are comfortable working with in that post."

The commission re-appointed the other two such employees: that is the county manager and county attorney.

Montes further explained that some of the District I constituents weren't pleased (with Hall). He then ended the conversation, saying that he wasn't there to talk about why the board made that staffing change.

When Montes asked what the road crews wanted to see in their new manager, Lundquist said, "Let's get someone like Hall."

Aside from some of the displeasure voiced, there also was a show of no-support.

Former commissioner Karon Z. Petty offered no comment about Hall's release.

When asked how Hall performed under the old commission, Petty said, "I really don't have any comment about any of it."

Albert Hernandez Jr., a road department employee in Carrizozo, also offered no comment when asked his feelings about Hall's ousting.

Other elected and appointed county officials understood the position of the commission in that all agreed it was strictly the decision of the commission to make.

"It's always a possibility that they won't re-appoint you," said county attorney J. Robert Beauvais. "It was clear to me that the commissioners did their homework after the elections to see where everything stood. I feel that they're extremely knowledgeable about what they headed into."

Lincoln County Sheriff James "Jay" McSwane said, "I'm sure they had their reasons. And it's their office — they should be able to do what they believe they need to."

Building up and down

December normally is a slow building month in Ruidoso. Building permits issued by Ruidoso Village Hall in December of 1990 certainly reflect that fact.

A permit issued for a car wash in the amount of $177,000 kept the total permit figure fairly respectable.

The figure for all building categories for the month was $277,100. No permits were issued for single family dwellings.

In December of 1989, permits were issued totaling $367,129. The figure for November of 1990 was $874,379.

The year 1990, however, ended up with permits totaling $9,597,867, almost $2 million over the figure for all of 1989.

The 1989 total was $7,632,085.

Residential additions and alterations for December of 1990 added to $177,000. A permit for a retaining wall for $5,000 and one for repair and releveling for $7,000 rounded out permits for December.

In December of 1989, permits for four single family dwellings were issued.

In November of 1990, permits were issued for $743,288 for single family dwellings.

Permits issued in December were as follows, with owner, contractor, address, type and cost listed in that order:

—Kelly Mahler, J.F. Construction, Inc., 103 High Road, install fireplace, $3,500.

—J.V. Blacklock, J.F. Construction, Inc., 107 Cortina, repair and relevel structure, $7,000.

—Jaime Bermudez, J.F. Construction, 105 Cortina, carpet and covered walkway, $3,500.

—T.E. Arrington, owner, 200 Forrest Lane, deck addition, $2,100.

—John R. Brown, owner, 215 George McCarty, room addition, $7,000.

—Lois Moran, McGee Construction, Unit 503, Whispering Bluff, deck addition, $13,000.

—Ray Milliman, Ramey Construction, 108 Canyon Road, garage and utility room addition, $15,000.

—Danny and Mary Austin, Mack-Wayne Enterprises, 211 Morningside, garage and room addition, $22,000.

—Orville Reed, Pritchett Construction, 212 Rayman Buckner, attach cover to existing mobile, $4,000.

—Ron Collins, Little Creek Construction, 107 Kaibab, interior work, $3,000.

—Bill Heck, Pritchett Construction, 101 Ridge Road, alter deck, $8,000.

—Robert E. Statton, owner, 114 Dan Swearingin, enclose porch, $3,000.

—Y-Knot Park, Silverado Construction, 192 Sudderth, new car wash, $177,000.

—Jean Rhoten, owner, 2103 Sudderth, remove, replace porch, $4,000.

—Y-Knot Park, Barney Rue, 132 Sudderth, retaining wall, $5,000.

School Board approves bond sale

by CHARLIE CHITWOOD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Board of Education Tuesday approved the sale of $2 million in bonds.

The bond sale is part of the $3 million approved last year by voters. Superintendent Mike Gladden said that the full $3 million was not sold at once to provide some sort of buffer to the local taxpayers.

Dean Witter Reynolds, Incorporated of Dallas, Texas, submitted the lowest bid for the bonds, offering to purchase them with the lowest interest rate of 6.531768 percent. The five bidders for the bonds were within 22 one-thousandths of one another, though the board an indication of how competitive the rates were.

Sunwest Bank of Albuquerque was awarded the roll as registrar and paying agent for the bonds. Their total cost bid of $1,700 was $700 lower than the next bidder, First National Bank of Albuquerque.

Local banks were mentioned for a possible roll as registrar and paying agent, but none are qualified for the position.

The district received a Baa1 rating for the bond sale, the first time that the Ruidoso schools have received one. The high rating will save the district $40,000 over the six-year life of the bonds.

Charles Casey, the district's bond financial adviser, remarked that Moody's Investment Service rated the school's bonds and was very complimentary of the district's financial organization.

In other business, the Ruidoso School District is still trying to turn over ownership and maintenance of the fire hydrants at Ruidoso High School to the Village of Ruidoso.

Gladden reported that the village is willing to take over responsibility for the hydrants under the stipulation that hydrants are in village easements, meet village standards and that the village incur no cost through the transfer. The school district was also asked to add another hydrant behind the school to provide better protection in case of fire.

A report on the cost of the transfer will be made available at the next meeting of the board, according to Gladden. One of the considerations is the change in insurance rates that the move will make.

The replacement for Ruidoso High School's destroyed sign will probably be ready today or tomorrow. Candyce Garrett, who made the original sign four or five years ago for the district, said the new sign will cost around $2,000. The original sign was sold to the district for $1,690.

Gladden said that insurance reimbursement would help recoup some of the cost.

A special meeting of the Ruidoso Board of Education will convene at noon Wednesday, January 23, to discuss budget increases.

The date was originally scheduled for January 22.

NOTICE OF PERMIT APPLICATION

Pursuant to the requirements of New Mexico Air Quality Control Regulations 702-Permits, the Village of Ruidoso, PO Drawer 69, Ruidoso, NM, 88345, hereby announces an intent to apply to the New Mexico Health and Environment Department, Environment Improvement Division Air Quality Bureau for a permit to construct a facility which will cause emissions of the following regulated air contaminants: Dust at the rate of 1.31 lbs per hour. This will be in addition to 1.0 lbs total emission from an existing asphalt hot plant. The expected date of application submitted to the EID is January 11, 1991. The location of the proposed facility is SW1/4, Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, NMPM, which is the existing Village of Ruidoso Street Yard, Hot Plant Road, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

The process for which a permit is sought will be a 300 ton per hour 5 feet by 16 feet base course screening plant and a 30 ton per hour closed circuit rock crusher. The following components will be used: Aggregate hopper, belt feeder, base course screen, crusher, and 4 conveyor belts. Power will be furnished by diesel and hydraulic motors.

The estimated maximum emissions of the facility at or construction will be 1.31 lbs dust from the screen/crusher plant, and 1.0 lbs total emission from the asphalt plant.

The estimated maximum and standard operating schedules for the facility, after completion of proposed construction, are 8 hours per day, 5 days per week from March thru November and approximately 48 hours total operation from December 1 thru February 28.

Owner and operator of the proposed facility is the Village of Ruidoso, Ruidoso, New Mexico, 88345.

Comments and inquiries regarding the permit application on the permitting process may be directed to: Program Manager, Technical Analysis and Permit Section Environmental Improvement Division Air Quality Bureau 1100 St. Francis Drive, Runnels Building Santa Fe, NM 87503

Girls blast Bobcats 60-5

by CHARLIE CHITWOOD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Capitan's Lady Tigers crept to within a game of the 500 mark Friday night after a ridiculously easy 60-5 victory of Hagerman's hapless Lady Bobcats.

The Capitan girls started off slow, scoring only six points in the opening period, but ran into little opposition the rest of the way.

Hagerman's coach could have put all seven players on the court and the outcome might not have been much different. Missy Sanders scored the Lady Bobcats' only two buckets in the first period and Angie Becerra hit a free throw in the second period. Hagerman went scoreless the rest of the game and played with only four girls on the court for the last minute of the game.

"I hate games like this," said Capitan coach Norman Cline. "But we just shot the ball so well in the second half. We really lost our confidence at the Floyd tournament so this was a big lift."

Leading the way for the Lady Tigers was Karie Cox with 13 points, followed by Cindy Castillo's 11. Castillo racked up a few easy layups in the second half after picking the ball right out of Hagerman players' hands.

Vicky Sedillo and Tammi Peralta each contributed 10 points to the cause, and Leslie LaRue pitched in eight.

"The girls showed improvement in their teamwork on offense," said Cline. "The passing was good and they were working the ball in the paint very well. They also got the ball out on defense."

Cline defended the big victory margin, pointing to his liberal insertion of the bench support.

"Everybody got a lot of playing time," he said. "All the girls had at least 13 minutes on the court."

Also contributing to the lopsided defeat was the poor shooting of Hagerman. When they were able to get a shot up, it usually sailed far over or under the basket.

One pleasant surprise was the return of Jennifer Eldridge to the court. Eldridge suffered a concussion in a game against Cloudcroft last month and was expected out for as much as six weeks. She scored 2 points in Friday's game.

Kerri Runnels also got a bucket in the contest.

The Capitan Lady Tigers picked up an easy 60-5 win against Hagerman Friday night. Kelly Cox puts up a basket while Tycie Traylo and a host of Bobcats look on. Capitan's entire squad got some much needed playing time in the game.

Improving Tiger squad falters in 74-47 defeat against 'Cats

by CHARLIE CHITWOOD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Little Engine is still trying. Capitan High's Tigers continue to show improvement on the court, but the Hagerman Bobcats weren't too impressed and had little difficulty in a 74-47 victory.

Capitan got off to a slow start in the first quarter, scoring only five points. But the trio of Kyle Traylor, Charlie Tracey and Trevor Cox helped the Tigers gain some footing underneath the boards and climb into the game in the second and third quarters.

"They're starting to come along," said Capitan's coach Pat Ventura. "The guys are beginning to know what each other can do on the court and now they know what to expect."

Ventura said that before, the more experienced players would make a pass the younger players weren't ready for.

They may not be on the same page yet, but at least they're in the same chapter.

Friday night, Kyle Traylor led the Tigers in scoring with 12 points. Nathan Roybal and Charlie Tracey followed up with eight points apiece.

Capitan made a charge in the third period, closing to within 14 points. Strong offensive rebounding helped the Tigers keep the pressure on, but the Capitan defense wasn't up to the Bobcats' rebuttals.

Hagerman's height advantage and pressing defense proved too steady an advantage against the Tigers. The Bobcats controlled play and ability to play the paint kept Capitan off balance much of the evening.

Juan Puentes led the Bobcats charge with 22 points and Lalo Gomez followed with 17. Luis Barela and Chris Fernandez each scored 15.

Missing from the Tiger attack was the steady stream of buckets from the hands of Nathan Roybal and Bobby Griego. Roybal's eight points was below his average of 12 points and Griego's six points was under his team-leading average of 12.83 points per game.

"They were a little cold after the break," said Ventura. "Their touch ought to be back for the tournament."

Damian Roybal and Tony Cantrell also contributed in the Tigers' losing effort. Roybal pitched in five points while Cantrell knocked down a bucket in the contest.

Capitan water rates set to soak up needed funds

Water rates will be the primary topic at Monday's meeting of the Capitan village trustees.

Capitan Mayor Frank Warth will propose rate hikes for residential, commercial and industrial commodity charges and similar related services. Requests will be made to change the deposits for rental properties and some of the legal responsibilities for payments and liens.

Sewer service charges may also be raised pending the outcome of the meeting.

If passed, the rate changes will go into effect February 1.

The village trustees will meet at 7 p.m. Monday, January 14 in the Capitan Village Hall. Capitan water users are encouraged to attend.

School Board meeting reset

The Capitan Board of Education has changed the date of its January regular meeting.

The current board's last meeting before the February 5 school board elections will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, January 15, in the Capitan School administration building.

Thursday's regular meeting was changed so as not to conflict with the Smokey Bear Classic.

Ongoing water battle takes a year off

by CHARLIE CHITWOOD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

One of Lincoln County's longest-running battles will take at least a year off in 1991.

The Mescalero Section of the 1956 L.T. Lewis case has been sent on to the state court of appeals, but litigants and their lawyers are looking at another year at the very least before the case will be heard.

At stake is rights to water drained through the Rio Ruidoso, Rio Bonito and Rio Hondo valleys as well as groundwater contained in the aquifers far underground.

Currently, residents in the area are in possession of water priority dates that range back to the 1850s, giving them first rights to the water in the region.

But the Mescalero Apache tribe is contesting its own priority date, claiming it should be 1852 instead of the current date set of 1873.

A change in the priority date of the tribe would bring about quite a bit of change in Lincoln County.

The Indian's request for a change in priority date stems from a proposal to pipe water from the rivers and aquifers through the mountains and into the valleys of the reservation. The enormous project of tunneling and laying pipe would bring the tribe water for crop irrigation and the establishment of Christmas tree farms.

But the amount of water requested by the tribe in the case — 17,941.7 acre feet of water per year — is roughly twice the average historic flow of the stream system, and should the tribe be awarded the senior priority date, water use in the drainage area would all but dry up for non-Indian residents, according to Hubert Quintana, executive director of the Water Defense Association (WDA).

Currently, the water consumed by the tribe amounts to only 596.7 acre feet per year. For comparison, the Village of Ruidoso uses something more than 220 acre feet per year, with rights to consume another 700 acre feet.

The tribe, along with its priority date claim, is seeking the right to consume another 13,198 acre feet of water annually.

Leading the defense of local water-rights holders and the municipalities is attorney Herb Becker, but Quintana is the man behind the organization of the WDA.

Quintana became involved with the case in 1987 after the first hearing of the case.

That original hearing, scheduled for a courtroom in Roswell, had to be moved to an auditorium at New Mexico Military Institute to accommodate more than 600 people.

At that time, Quintana was asked to help get funding for the association's legal debts. When he took over as executive director, the WDA owed legal fees of $250,000 with little or no income to repay the debt.

But Quintana knew how to get grant money from the state and federal government. The legal defense fund that was so far in the hole in 1987 is now resting comfortably at $95,000 on the plus side of the ledger.

The association's operating funds' bank balance was in excess of $17,000 as of the December meeting, and there seems to be little danger of any major expenses until the case returns to the courtroom sometime near the end of 1992 or early 1993.

Quintana said the trial may be pushed up, however, if the dockets can be cleared of cases not yet scheduled. Many of these cases are being put before retired judges to determine if they can be settled out of court, but some, like the Lewis case, will have to go before the court of appeals.

Quintana's chief concern in the case is how the expressed intent versus the implied intent of the 1852 treaty between the Apaches and the United States will be interpreted.

In 1852, a peace treaty was signed between the government and the tribe. In that treaty, the government promised to locate and establish a reservation for the tribe. Several locations were considered in 1856, including locations in Alabama and in the Gila area. Finally, a reservation was set up at Fort Sumner and the Apache tribes and the Navajos were put together. The government soon found that the tribes were historic enemies, and after desertions by tribesmen and their families, broke up the reservation.

The Apaches finally got their homeland on the current reservation in 1873, and that is the priority date assigned to their water rights.

Quintana said that he has really gotten an education in water rights and laws over the last three years.

"I spend a lot of time now working with local residents on their paperwork for their ditches," Quintana said. "This has been a real opportunity to get a good grasp on the local and state water systems as well."

Quintana's interest in history has also been helpful to him in his job.

"There has been so much evidence entered in the case that comes from old letters, books and reports filed back from the 1850's through the 1870's," he said. "Reading how the events took place so long ago really gives an interesting perspective to the proceedings today."

"The Indians are just trying to see that wrongs from long ago are righted now," Quintana said. "They believe that the promise made them in the treaty entitles them to the water from the area dating back to the year the treaty was signed. A priority date of 1852 would predate almost everyone's water rights along the drainage systems involved."

Quintana led a brief tour of some of the earlier ditches in the county where Hondo Valley farmers diverted water from the Hondo River to irrigate their crops and fields.

The FM Analla ditch, located just east of Hondo, is one of the oldest in the county. The dam built to help keep a steady flow of water in the diversion was originally built back in the 1860s.

"Another of the older ditches is in Picacho," said Quintana. "The Picacho ditch is still dug by hand and over the years has gotten to be more than five feet deep. Most of the ditches now are maintained with a backhoe and are still only a foot or two deep."

Quintana was born in Las Cruces and now lives in Roswell with his wife and five children.

Hubert Quintana, executive director of the Water Defense Association, stands in front of the Analla Dam on the Hondo River. The dam was originally built in the 1860's and helps divert water into the FM Analla ditch, one of the oldest on the river.

Bus driver tells kids to walk

by CHARLIE CHITWOOD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Talk about being thrown out in the snow!

Students from Ruidoso Middle School reportedly were told to get off a school bus and walk home in the middle of Wednesday's snowstorm.

Reportedly, Ray Bilger, driver of Bus 9 that picks up and drops off students along a route that goes to Ruidoso Downs, told the students to get off the bus several times before finally telling them to walk home.

Francis Ganadonegro called The Ruidoso News Wednesday afternoon and reported the incident, saying "kids were strung out all along the highway and many of them weren't dressed for the weather."

Her own child and nephew walked to her place of business and each "was soaking wet," according to Ganadonegro.

No students, however, were seen along Highway 70 shortly after the incident was reported about 4:30 p.m.

Don Weems, principal at White Mountain Intermediate School and responsible for the district's bus contract, said that he received a call from Ruidoso Middle School principal Paula Papponi regarding the matter.

Weems did not have any information available on the incident at 5 p.m. Wednesday. He reported that he was waiting to get in contact with Rick Simpson, owner of Simpson Bus Lines, the largest bus contractor for the district and supervisor of the driver that allegedly left the students out in the cold.

Simpson said that he had just returned to his office from driving one of the buses, and did not have any more knowledge of the incident than Weems or Papponi. He said that as of 5:20 p.m. he had not as yet talked to the bus driver.

Simpson did confirm that Bilger is the driver of Bus 9 and that there have been student discipline problems on that particular bus in the past. He did not say there was a problem on the bus Wednesday afternoon.

Papponi was unavailable for comment late Wednesday afternoon.

Weems was contacted this morning and said that he has scheduled a conference today with the driver, the students and Rick Simpson.

Connecting flights ground local air service

The biggest failing of Mesa Airlines in serving Ruidoso for a trial period last year was poor connections in El Paso and Albuquerque.

This was obvious in a survey of feelings about Mesa conducted by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and reported to the Chamber board, Wednesday evening.

Way over half of the responses said connections were poor.

A full report on the survey will be in Monday's newspaper.

CROWN of LIFE COMMUNITY CHURCH

Announcing a public gathering to which all concerned Christian Believers are invited.

Believing that there is a need in Ruidoso for a Church with a special calling and, being willing to establish such a Church in this community, we, the undersigned, invite all interested Christian believers to a meeting which is to be held as follows:

Sunday, JANUARY 13, 1991 at 2:30 P.M.,
RUIDOSO INN - La Paz Room
Hwy 70, Ruidoso

The Rev. Peter Church, supported by the Rev. Jack Brock of Alamogordo and Pastor Dan Carter of Capitan, will present the Biblical, Theological and Practical principles upon which this new Church in Ruidoso will be founded.

We affirm that this new Church is not established to be in opposition to any work of God in this community. Rather, witnessing the special needs of many who are not in attendance at any other Church, we will minister to their specific needs; we commit ourselves to the injunction of "Endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace". Among our primary objectives we will include reaching the unchurched majority in this community.

It is our conviction that the Church, functioning under the Headship of Christ should offer the following ministries:

1. The preaching and teaching of the Word of God with authority, clarity and sincerity.
2. A celebration of praise and worship which are offered to God with joy.
3. The work of the Holy Spirit in which the gifts of God are exercised with liberty and dignity.
4. An atmosphere and life-style in which the cardinal grace of Divine Love (Agape) rules in all relationships.
5. A curriculum of teaching by example which equips believers for the work of the ministry that results in the building up of the body by the salvation of the lost and the meeting of human needs.
6. A compassion which offers healing for the whole person: spirit, soul and body.
7. A balanced theology which fully represents "all the counsel of God" and emulates the ministry of the Apostles, who could say, "Serving the Lord with all humility of mind, and with many tears...I kept back nothing that was profitable unto you, and have taught you publicly, and from house to house..." (From Acts 20)

Warriors lose heartbreaker to Tulie

by CHUCK STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Editor

Extremely exciting and yet disappointing was the way Ruidoso head coach Norman Wright described the Warriors 73-71 loss to the Tulie Wildcats last Tuesday in Tulie.

"We played so well," said Wright, "and still didn't win and that was a little frustrating. We had our chances."

The Warriors had several chances in the last 30 seconds on the charity line to tie the game, but nothing dropped.

With eight seconds remaining, the Warriors were fouled and went to the line with a pair of free throws. After the first shot was missed, Wright called time out to design a play that would call for a hard miss and then a rebound.

The play worked perfectly and the Warriors tied the ball up for what most of the team thought was a jump ball. It would have been the Warriors' possession. Instead, a foul was called and the team had to march to the other end of the court. The Warriors had one last opportunity after that, but a last second shot was tipped and fell short.

The Warriors' strength, Cody Willard, only played 14 minutes in the game and fouled out early. Willard averages 30 points per game.

Every action Willard took seemed to result in a foul. Willard was hit with two fouls in the first quarter in less than four minutes, so Wright had to pull him from the game for the rest of the first quarter.

Willard entered the game in the second quarter, played 1:45 seconds and was hit with his third foul. Wright couldn't afford to keep him in at this point and pulled Willard again.

Willard started the second half, played 30 seconds and got a fourth foul and had to be pulled again.

With six minutes remaining, Willard entered the game for two more minutes and then fouled out.

For those short 14 minutes, Willard was brilliant, he couldn't be stopped, except via the foul route.

Willard shot 6-8 in the field goal department for 75 percent. That included a 3-pointer. He grabbed eight rebounds, three assists and two blocked shots.

Wright said the team played well even though they didn't have Willard for most of the game.

"It was a good team effort," Wright said. "The best one to date. We had balanced scoring and did a lot of good things."

Mashon Swenor led the Warriors with 19 points, six rebounds, three assists and one blocked shot.

Heath Huey sank 12 points, eight rebounds, two assists, five steals and two blocked shots.

Robert Sayner came off the bench to replace Willard and Wright said he did a very fine job.

Sayner hit 4-5 from the field for eight points, and several buckets were in key pressure situations.

Dan Holt had four assists and scored five points. Holt had 3-4 at the free throw line.

Heath Huey hit two big free throws that tied the game at 71-71 with 30 seconds to play. Huey also shot 4-5 at the free throw line.

Boone Denny scored seven points, Cyrus Wheeler, two points and Manny Guardiola, two points.

The Warriors dropped in 16-26 free throws for 62 percent.

Ruidoso had tremendous 26-47 2-point shooting, hitting 56 percent of their shots. The team was 1-5 in 3-point shots.

The team's total average shooting was a nifty 52 percent, the best shooting of the season by far according to Wright.

"We executed our offense the way we wanted," said Wright. "We got the ball inside successfully and often. We rebounded well. We did a lot of good things. The area that killed us, however, was 32 turnovers. Tulie had 24 turnovers."

Wright said the fast-paced game contributed to the many turnovers by both teams.

Tulie pressed the whole game and Wright said the team still managed to bring the ball down fairly well without Willard.

Wright said several key turnovers near the end of the game were particularly painful.

Bruce Zamora led the Tulie players with 23 points.

The Warriors took charge early in the game and it took 21-26 free throw shots by Tulie in the first half to stay to close.

Tulie also hit four 3-pointers in the first half.

At one point the Warriors led by eight points and led the entire game until the last two minutes.

The first quarter ended 25-23 Warriors. Tulie took the edge in the second quarter, hitting a 3-pointer at the buzzer, 23-22. The Warriors walked to the lockers leading 47-46.

The third quarter was a low scoring 13 points each and the Warriors held on to their thin one-point lead 60-59. Tulie outscored the Warriors 14-11 in the last quarter for the final 73-71 margin.

It was a great game for Tulie. The Wildcats shot 28-39 in the free throw department. The Wildcats also sank seven 3-pointers, one was a bank shot from the top of the key. When you're hot, you're hot.

The Warriors next game will be against Truth or Consequences this Friday, January 11, at home in Ruidoso. The first game will begin at 5:30 p.m.

T. or C. is ranked third in the state in Class 2-A and has played in the final four for the last three years.

Wright said the 2-6 Warriors need to win a game badly.

"If we would have won our two close games, we would be 4-4 and in pretty good shape," Wright said. "We need to win a close one."

Wright said the freshman bas-kethball team had to cancel its remaining schedule because there were not enough players. He said all freshman players will move to the JV team.

Dark Wednesday

Fans of the Ruidoso Warrior wrestling squad look forward to the dramatic lighting from the single spot light that features the large new gym mat in center court. Unfortunately, the whole gym turned dark Wednesday when the areas snow storms caused a cancellation of the match with the Oñate Knights. No reschedule has been announced. The Warriors will travel to Carlsbad for a tournament this Friday and Saturday.

Ski team hosts fun race at Ski Apache Resort

The Ruidoso Ski Team Fun Race is scheduled for Saturday, January 19, at Ski Apache Resort announced Debbie Wharton, publicist for the race.

Wharton said the fun race is one of the major fund raising events for the ski team and 72 medals will be awarded.

Licensed and unlicensed skiers JJ through JVI ages through 18 are eligible.

Entry fees are $20 for 12 years old and under and $22 for over 12 years old through 18 years old. Wharton said the fees include the lift ticket.

Obituaries

Jake Whitterspoon

Jake Whitterspoon, a retired merchant from Pecos, Texas, died Wednesday at a Pecos Hospital. He was 73.
Services and interment are scheduled for 3:30 p.m. Friday, January 11, at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Ruidoso.
Whitterspoon, born in Hereford, Texas, May 12, 1917, was also an Army veteran of World War II.

He is survived by a son, Richard Whitterspoon of Ruidoso; daughters Elizabeth Smith and Diana Moore, both of Maggie Valley, North Carolina; sisters Mrs. Lonnie Kelley of Pecos, Texas and Mrs. Evelyn Hubbard of Odessa, Texas and two grandchildren.

Arrangements are by LaGrone Funeral Chapel

Thomas M. Holbert

Thomas M. Holbert, a former Ruidoso businessman, died Sunday in El Paso, Texas. He was 78.
The funeral service was performed Wednesday morning at the Pro Cathedral Church of St. Clement in the McKee Chapel and the entombment service was this morning at Hillcrest Memorial Park in Dallas, Texas.
Holbert was a self-employed businessman in Ruidoso for 35 years and recently moved to El Paso due to illness.

He is survived by his wife, Murdell; daughter Pat Thomas of Yorba Linda, California; grandchildren Cindy Cary and Craig, Cary and Chad Thomas; and great-grandson Justin Cary.
Holbert is also survived by five brothers and two sisters, several nieces and nephews and a host of other family members.
The family asks that any memorial contributions be made to Weatherly Prayer Chapel, Box 1776, Olathe, Kansas, 66061.

R.O. Anderson to keynote banquet

The crisis in the Middle East has had an unexpected impact on plans for the annual meeting of shareholders of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County.

Anderson, as former chairman of the board of Atlantic Richfield and as long-time chairman of the Aspen Institute of Humanistic Studies, is a learned student of foreign affairs.

Shareholders and other interested persons will hear oilman and industrialist Robert O. Anderson, of Roswell and the Hondo Valley, speak Friday evening at Cree Meadows Country Club.

In a recent interview by the Roswell Daily Record, Anderson said the United States should not sell Saddam Hussein short. He said Hussein is cunning and has a formidable military force.

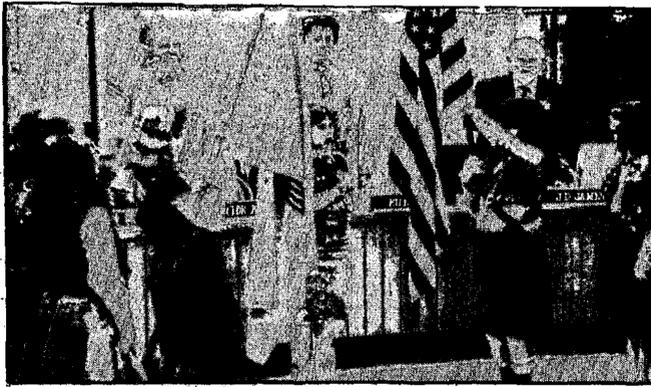

Originally, U.S. Rep. Joe Skeen was scheduled to speak at a noon shareholders meeting, but Skeen was called back to Washington. He had to cancel several appearances in the area as a result of the Mideast crisis.

The dinner meeting Friday night will start at 7 p.m. Tickets at $9.50 are available by calling 258-5367.

Anderson agreed to speak in the evening at the dinner meeting on the role of southeastern New Mexico in economic development in the light of international events.

Anderson currently is president of Hondo Oil and Gas Co. headquartered in Roswell. He has a home between Hondo and Riverside.

George Puckett, executive director of EDCLC, said there will be an announcement at the Friday night banquet of a new industry for Lincoln County.

Colorful presentation

Members of Girl Scout Troop Four presented the colors in honor of New Mexico's 79th anniversary of statehood at the Ruidoso Village Council meeting Tuesday. The Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department served a two- by four-foot birthday cake during the break. Leaders of Troop Four are Vicky Conley and Alison Walstad.

The Silver Lining

Mild interlude precedes the winter

Mild Interlude In The Deep of Winter

This is being sent to you on January 7, one hour after high noon; and the Vale is all glowing and bright under a bright sun with the temperature at a mild 50.

The last few days instead of snow we have been getting very light rain with a little fog and mist. Last night it hardly got down below freezing. And all this right at the beginning of the coldest time of the year, what we call "The Deep of Winter." Surely Jack Frost is letting the Mountain World catch its breath, after the record-breaking cold of a few days ago, which moved in from the North over most of our country. This little mild spell gives us a chance to get ready for the next snow and cold spell — for which Mother Earth is waiting patiently. The last cold snap made a dent in the woodpile; so now is the chance to gather in a little wood and some grub. All in all we are in for a very pleasant and healthful winter and a prosperous and happy new year.

Epiphany Services
At Saint Anne's Chapel
The final day of the Christmas Season was celebrated last Sunday at Saint Anne's Chapel with the service of Epiphany, the day the three wise men began returning to their countries to bring the news to the world of the birth of our Infant Saviour. The day is also called "Twelfth Night," being 12 days after Christmas Day.

by Dan Storm
The Ridge Runner

The Reverend Ann Gaddy based her sermon on the gospel according to Saint Matthew, and closed by saying:

"The Celebration of Christmas is over and now the work of Christmas begins, to show forth the love, peace and joy of our King and Christ, just as surely as did the three wise men of Old."

Lay reader Nellie Ruth Jones in the prayers of the People, gave thanks for the birthdays of Betty Sheengost, John Northrop Jr., Matthew Mulholland and Brand Nosker. And also for the birth of Gareth Joseph Davey Facciano, Grandson of Bill and the Reverend Jan Davey.

First Calf of The New Year

There is a favorite cow that has been roaming these "Hills of Home" for many years that we call "The Bugler" on account of her loud and melodious voice which can be heard echoing from hill side, to cliff, and canyon wall for miles. She is also the largest of all the cows, and more or less calls the tunes in the herd. The last time I had seen The Bugler was just before the first snow.

This morning, January 7, here she was down by the barn after a sojourn in the hills.

Beside her was a newborn calf, a day old, a tiny heifer, looking like a toy calf under a Christmas tree as she and her mother stood near a tall Cedar bush.

An exact copy of her giant mother, she stood there looking at you with her brown eyes surrounded by red spots. Her new colors of Hereford red and white shone brightly in the sun. Very gentle and tame she stepped forward with her proud mother, the joyful spirit of new life shining in her bright eyes.

At first sight of a newborn calf, God speaks to you of the miracle, and the sacredness of life. You are always thankful to see a cow come in with the little calf stepping close beside her, safe and sound — the very picture of devoted mother and trusting child.

I knelt and said a prayer of thanks to God for the little calf. She was born on Epiphany Sunday. So that is what we will call this first calf of the new year, Epiphany.

Let us carry the Christmas spirit throughout the year, and be thankful for the privilege of helping one another, and this way enjoy true happiness.

FACT: YOUR CAR'S ENGINE PRODUCES ENOUGH HEAT TO KEEP A SIX ROOM HOUSE WARM AT 0° F.

NEW CARS' COOLING SYSTEMS:
In case you hadn't noticed, cars are a lot smaller nowadays. Under their low and sloping hoods are engines that produce twice the power per pound that their predecessors of the '60's did, delivering better than twice the miles per gallon with reduced exhaust emissions. Lighter weight, improved aerodynamics and high-tech thermodynamics (better control and utilization of heat generated within the engine) have contributed to these improvements. Engine heat dissipates through the cooling system.
The new, smaller, lightweight engines are more vulnerable to major damage from overheating, says Ruidoso Ford, Lincoln, Mercury. One does not have the luxury of driving to a convenient location when the emergency warning light turns on. If your car overheats, pull over as quickly as possible and turn the engine off.

Sheriff's Activities

The Lincoln County Sheriff's office responded to these calls, as well as many others.

10-03-90; 5:58 p.m. Carrizozo police responded to a residence where five dogs were fighting, presumably over a female dog in heat. One dog was picked up and taken to the kennel.

10-04-90; 3:10 p.m. Officers from the Lincoln County Sheriff's office, the Ruidoso Downs Police Department, and Ruidoso EMS responded to a call from the Circle B Campground where a woman was lying unresponsive. The woman had choked on her own fluids. The medical investigator on the scene determined the cause of death to be of natural causes.

10-05-90; 9:36 a.m. Officers from the Lincoln County Sheriff's office and Carrizozo Police responded to a one-vehicle accident at highways 380 and 54. Three patients were transported to the Lincoln County

October 1—8:27 a.m. A vehicle rollover on Highway 54 was reported to the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office. Officers and EMS technicians responded to the scene and the two subjects were transported to the Lincoln County Medical Center.

10:02 a.m.—Lincoln County Sheriff's officers responded to a report out of Hondo that the Hondo Valley Cafe had been broken into. No apprehensions have been made.

5:22 p.m.—Carrizozo police responded to a call from a residence in town. A forced entrance had been made and cash and jewelry were missing. No apprehensions have been made.

7:53 p.m.—New Mexico State Police responded to a report that a man was trying to flag down traffic with a flare near Alto. The man did not have a car. Officers from the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office picked up the subject and took him to the bus stop in Carrizozo.

December 14—Ruidoso Emergency Medical Services responded to the Ski Apache first aid hut to pick up a subject and transport to Lincoln County Medical Center.

December 21—10:42 a.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies and Ruidoso Police officers responded to the scene of a one-vehicle rollover in Paradise Canyon. The car was found on its top in the river; Ruidoso officers extracted the driver from the car and held until an ambulance arrived.

December 23—4:14 p.m. A Lincoln County Medical Unit responded to Ski Apache to pick up a subject with a boot top fracture. The injured party was taken to Lincoln County Medical Center.

December 24—8:25 a.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies responded to the McKnight Sheep Company to take a report on some tack stolen from a shed. Saddles, blankets and ropes valued at more than $250 were taken.

December 24—10:44 p.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies and the Capitan Police responded to a fight at a residence where shots were fired. The subjects fled the scene before officers arrived, but contact was made later with both parties involved. Neither wanted to press any charges. The case is under investigation.

December 26—12:24 p.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies took a call reporting medical waste out in the middle of Hale Lake Road Four or five bags containing rubber gloves, blood vials and syringes were in the bags. The deputies picked up a maintenance man from Lincoln County Medical Center and took him to the scene for cleanup.

December 26—7:27 p.m. Hondo and Glencoe Volunteer Fire Departments responded to a burning residence on Highway 70 near Mile Marker 282. The building was saved, and the cause of the fire was determined to be an electrical short.

December 26—4:52 p.m. A Lincoln County Medical Unit picked up a subject at Ski Apache with possible back and neck injuries and transported to Lincoln County Medical Center.

December 27—9:46 a.m. Lincoln County Emergency Medical Technicians responded to Ski Apache to aid a possible cardiac arrest patient.

December 27—5:30 p.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies responded to a scene one-half mile east of Sierra Blanca Regional Airport where a man was reported sitting in his parked car with the motor running, head back, mouth open, and offering no response to knocks on his window. Deputies arrived and found the subject to be intoxicated and took him into custody.

December 28—5:43 p.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies took a call from an Alto Village residence where a stereo and television set were stolen. No forced entry was made; the key was found under the doormat.

December 28—5:50 p.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies responded to a residence on Alto Village to take a report that half of a cord of cedar firewood was stolen between December 23 and December 26. Neighbors gave the officers a lead, but further investigation proved the information to be unfounded.

December 28—6:55 p.m. Lincoln County Sheriff's deputies responded to a Ruidoso residence where a woman was assaulted by her 15-year-old daughter. The mother requested that the child be removed from the residence so the deputies took the child to the Ruidoso Police Department.

Editorial

Everybody's talking about it but few are doing anything about it. No, it's not the weather we're talking about, but "economic development," among the three favorite words of politicians. (And that third word? education, but that's another editorial topic.)

When the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County gets together for its annual meeting Friday at Cree Meadows, its members will have a lot to brag about. It's just two years ago this January that EDCLC announced its first "success story" with the opening of Juma Farms, Ltd.

But this Friday, the public-private partnership will look back on a whole string of "success stories" that include Apache Future and Warp Speed as well as others that have been supported in their efforts to relocate here. But the success can't really be counted by individual businesses. There's a lot more involved, including business retention.

Outgoing president Don Shaw explained it this way: "We have created an atmosphere of assistance, cooperation and coordination to make it more attractive for high-tech industries and service groups to relocate and take advantage of the quality of life in Lincoln County." We agree.

EDCLC will do more than look back during Friday's meeting. Members will hear from successful business leader R.O. Anderson, they'll elect officers to lead the organization next year and they'll hear an announcement of another "success story."

If you're interested in the future of this county, be on hand for EDCLC's annual meeting at 7 p.m. Friday, January 11, at Cree Meadows. It's going to take more than a handful of dedicated business persons using government funds to continue the business of economic development. It's going to take all of us, and that means you.

Let's stop talking about it and join with the EDCLC to continue to develop this area's economy.

DEAR EDITOR:

As a former Rotary exchange student to Ruidoso, I would love to send my Christmas and New Year's greetings to all my friends and everybody who knows me in Ruidoso by the means of your newspaper.

Switzerland greets Ruidoso.

My warmest greetings to all my friends and everyone who remembers me: May this Christmas season and the coming year be a time of peace, joy and love to you all and may you experience the realness of the love of Christ as I did, when I stayed in Ruidoso and ever since.

God bless you and your town! With lots of love!

Yours

DEAR EDITOR:

Lie Down - Now, Roll Over!

Where is the American Fighting Spirit? Why do New Mexicans allow their legislators to stick it to them? My beef is with the unfair taxation, forced upon my fellow New Mexicans. Are we all a bunch of wimps? For example!

1. Tax on prescriptions and doctors visits. What sadistic imbecile thought that one up?

Here is a person trying to keep his head above the water, gets sick, great, let's add to his misfortune by taxing him for needing medical help. Kinder gentler nation! Hal!

2. Tax on food - this fiendish source of revenue hits the below poverty level family, the more kids the more money is squeezed out of the poor and powerless.

In many countries of the world any jerk would be lynched and possibly government buildings attacked and destroyed by citizens. They don't "Lie down and roll over."

Some politicians, never at a loss for words, would probably try to rationalize the above-mentioned taxation with a good helping of bull. Let them try to answer this: How come many states such as Texas and Oregon, etc., can get along without such unfair taxation?

Also another question: Why is New Mexico the worst state out of our 50 when it comes to prenatal care? Why!

I love New Mexico and therefore consider it my responsibility to criticize any unfair practices forced on the good citizens of this state.

Wally Hesse

Reporter's Round

Watch out for those mixed signals

Is there ever a circumstance where a private billboard would be permitted on state right of way?

"Not to my knowledge," said Tim Basler, District II Traffic Engineer for the New Mexico State Road Department.

And now we have a delicate situation.

The Inn of the Mountain Gods is good for the economy of Ruidoso, a brag point for the chamber of commerce.

On the other hand, no one wants a traffic hazard and the state apparently has:

1. Put up a series of "no right turn" signs off Sudderth leading up to a right turn turnoff at the corner of Sudderth and Carrizo Road that leads to the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

2. Apparently has allowed the Inn of the Mountain Gods to place a billboard on the state right of way at that corner suggesting a right turn for motorists.

If a motorist turns right, he can be fined.

Has the state road department permitted a private sign to be on the state right of way and does that sign send a message for the motorist to make an illegal turn?

The answer appears to be yes!

"It probably is (on state right of way), said Basler. "But we are going to check on it and document that it is."

The question of liability in case of an accident would hinge on whether the state was aware of the encroachment on the right of way by an illegal sign. If the state was never notified, there might be some question. But once the state has received notification, if it fails to correct the situation and an accident occurs, liability would seem certain.

The no right turn sign is not in the best interest of the Inn of the Mountain Gods. How many tourists avoid the Mesalero area because they can't turn right on one of the Inn's main arteries?

How many tourists see the sign and illegally turn off subjecting themselves to a fine or warning?

Many locals, in order to comply with the law, drive 100 yards to the Pizza Hut, circle

by

that building, cross heavy traffic lanes twice in order to make a legitimate left-hand turn.

Ruidoso police, city, county and state officials all agree that the corner is a problem area. The "no right turn" signs were installed because the turn into Carrizo Road is so sharp that cars were turning into the oncoming traffic lane. To correct the turn doesn't appear to be on any priority list.

Who allowed that billboard to be placed on state right of way?

Basler said before he took over his position it was his understanding the state in the early '70s was going to address all illegal encroachments on Sudderth Drive through Ruidoso, but it became too complicated.

"The state was going to do a survey of the right of way through the town and there seemed to be too many discrepancies during the period of time they were trying to do it," Basler said.

Nobody lets you put a sign up that large for free. Who owns the sign? Who gets the rent money?

Management from the Inn of the Mountain Gods said to the best of their recollection, the sign was originally owned by General Signs years and years ago. They said they were unsure of current sign ownership, but were investigating the matter.

Although the permit for the billboard was not readily available to view at village hall, the village did issue a map of the area designating lot numbers. The county subdivision behind village hall listed Ray Eidson as the owner of the lots nearest the property.

The manager of Eidson's Fun Track said the billboard was not on their property.

The lots across the creek, next to the Pizza Hut, have been surveyed recently for an amusement park. That property's front lot line parallels the Eidson property front lot line. The recent survey's corner stake that adjoins the Eidson property is clearly lined up behind the sign which seems to indicate the billboard is not on any privately owned property.

Mark Boyd who handles rights of way for the state road department was notified last Thursday that the sign appears to be on state land. He said he was familiar with the corner, but did not know who owned the property. He said he would research the matter and call back. The following Tuesday, another call was placed to Boyd who was unavailable.

Basler, Boyd's boss, then acknowledged that the property was probably state right of way.

Basler said he has discussed the matter with acting district construction engineer Tom Dick and they have submitted a request to schedule the surveyors to determine the right of way in the location of the sign.

"I don't know when he (Dick) can schedule it in, but we made the request and he is just going to have to see what his people (surveyors) are doing now and when he can squeeze them in the near future," Basler said.

The traffic engineer said normal procedure for illegal billboard removal would be to notify the owner and ask him to respond within 10 days. If he did not respond, another notice would follow again asking for the owner to respond within 10 days. If the owner still fails to respond, the state would remove the sign and bill the owner.

According to Basler, a sign this size also would come under the 1966 highway beautification act, whereby the state would have control over large billboards within 600 feet of the highway.

Asked if he thought the sign was a traffic hazard, Basler said he thought "mixed signals" were being sent.

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Section 3-17-1 NMSA 1980 Comp. that in open session at a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees to be held on January 14, 1991 at 7:00 p.m. at Village Hall in Capitan, New Mexico, the Governing Body will consider for adoption Ordinance 91-2 amending Ordinance 84-8 relating to Responsibility for Payments, Liens, and Deposits of the Municipal Code, Chapter 3, Article I, Sections 1 thru 20. Effective date being February 1, 1991.

Responsibility for Payments, Liens, and Deposits:

A) The charges imposed herein are the responsibility of the owner of the property regardless of whether occupied by tenants, and the Villages may file a lien against the property for such charges, penalties and attorney fees incurred in the cost of filing the lien. If the person (s) ordering the water meter is the owner of record of the property he will be required to post a deposit of $50.00 prior to installation of water service. If water bills are paid on time on an owner installed water meter for a period of four years the deposit will be refunded by the Village. For water meters ordered by tenants the person in whose name the water meter is ordered shall be required to post a deposit of $100.00 prior to the installation of water service. In the event a water meter serves more than one unit, then the deposit shall be multiplied by the number of units serviced by the water meter. Delinquent charges may be satisfied in whole or part by drawing upon the deposit. No notice of drawing upon the deposit need be given by the Village.

A copy of the proposed Ordinance is available to interested persons during the normal and regular business hours of the Municipal Clerk of the Village of Capitan, upon payment of a reasonable charge.

Chino will keynote King Day breakfast

Wendell Chino, President of the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe, will be the featured speaker at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, January 15, at a breakfast in Las Cruces honoring slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The Department of Black Programs of New Mexico State University (NMSU) invites the public to the breakfast program in the East Ballroom of Corbett Center on the NMSU campus.

"As in the past, the Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. celebration also provides an opportunity to recognize an outstanding individual who is keeping alive the principles promoted by Dr. King," reads the invitation.

An exemplary NMSU professor will be recognized for promoting racial harmony.

Cost for the breakfast is $7 for students and $10 for non-students. Proceeds from the breakfast will go to the Black Programs Scholarship Fund.

Reservations may be made by contacting the Department of Black Programs at 646-4208 between 8 a.m. and noon and 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The deadline for reservations is Friday, January 11.

Heath Huey is tapped for military academy

Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) today announced that a Ruidoso High School senior, Heath N. Huey, is one of 40 students he nominated to attend one of the nation's prestigious service academies.

Huey, the son of Kenneth and Daylene Huey, has been nominated by Bingaman to attend the United States Merchant Marine Academy.

Bingaman nominated 10 New Mexico students to each of the four service academies — the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, the Naval Academy at Annapolis, the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kingsport, New York.

The 40 nominees were chosen by panels of community leaders selected by Bingaman.

Each academy will select one student from its list of 10 to attend its institution under the sponsorship of Bingaman. An undetermined number of other students among the 40 will also be accepted for attendance, though not under the Senator's direct sponsorship.

"I am very proud to announce these nominations," Bingaman said. "I wholeheartedly believe that every student nominated would be a credit to the nation's service academies. I wish every nominee the very best of luck."

Music festival

Cellist Grace Mihi Bahng will be among the featured artists in the first Ruidoso Chamber Music Festival at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, January 17 and 18, at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount. Tickets, $10 for adults and $5 for children, are available at the Aspen Tree. Two separate programs are planned for the performances. For tickets or for more information, call 257-4088.

Join up; plant ten trees

Ten free trees will be given to each person who joins The National Arbor Day Foundation during January 1991.

The free trees are part of the non-profit Foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The 10 trees are the Sugar Maple, White Flowering Dogwood, Pin Oak, White Pine, Red Maple, Birch, American Redbud, Silver Maple, Red Oak and Colorado Blue Spruce.

These trees were selected to provide benefits every season of the year: lovely spring flowers, cool summer shade, spectacular autumn colors, and winter berries and nesting sites for songbirds," John Rosenow, the Foundation's executive director, said.

The trees will be shipped post-paid at the right time for planting between February 1 and May 31 with enclosed planting instructions. The six- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Ten Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410, by January 31.

Russians will speak at NMSU-A

The New Mexico Endowment for the Humanities and New Mexico State University at Alamogordo are sponsoring "Authoritarianism and Democracy in the U.S.S.R.," a presentation by Vladimir Ageyev and Marina Abalakina from Moscow State University.

The two Russian social psychologists will speak and answer questions at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, January 10, in the Rohovec Fine Arts Center on the NMSU-A campus. The public is invited.

Need a ride?

Those persons in the Ruidoso area that may wish a ride to any of the Alzheimer Support Group meetings at Alamogordo Mental Health Clinic may ride with the staff in the Ruidoso Care Center van.

The support group meetings are from 7-9 p.m. the second Wednesday of every month.

The van leaves the parking lot at 6 p.m.

To make these arrangements, please call Linda Brillante, Director at 257-9071.

Soap is good for more than washing

DEAR SALLY:

I enjoyed your column about soapmaking last week. But, as I recall it is not the store-bought lye that makes the soap white rather than the yellowish, brown color but bleach, like Clorox, that makes the soap white. Since you and I had the same grandmother, I felt I could question your memory.

Tell us more about soap. How has it changed since our grandmother made soap?

A steady reader,
Donna Reed

by
Sally Black
The Plant Specialist

DEAR DONNA:

OK, so I don't know everything, always remember that "just because it's printed, doesn't make it so."

As I recall it was the lye soap that was the whitening agent, I can't remember Clorox that far back. I can't remember bleach in our house in those days.

Aside from glamorizing accomplished by modern advertising methods, modern man has added little to soap except automation. I'm afraid the old iron pot is gone forever.

Soap is useful in medicine primarily for its cleansing powers, but soap solutions have long been known as emergency emetics, induces vomiting, in cases of accidental poisoning. Soap suppositories are sometimes used and soap is also used in making pills and plasters. Germicidal soaps, as a rule, are no better disinfectants than just plain soap. The old lye hard rubbing then rinsed and rerinsed, then repeated again.

The first real description of soap is found in Pliny's writings in A.D. 77. There is a rumor that soap, like grass, was an accidental result from the interaction of animal fat and the lye from the burning wood on sacrificial alters.

Soap has been made from many fats — tallow, coconut oil, whale and fish oils, linseed, castor, palm, corn and other vegetable oils. The usual alkali is caustic soda. Soapmaking has not changed basically since its earliest inception.

Soap is probably the best all-around cleansing agent, but it has no magic properties beyond cleansing the skin. The best soaps are mildly alkaline, to improve their capacity to remove dirt.

The action of soap is fourfold:

1. It increases the wetness of water.
2. It emulsifies and dissolves grease.
3. It tends to clot loosened dirt.
4. It may make the dirt more slippery and easier to remove.

I'm sure I have told you more about soap than you wanted to know.

facility which will cause emissions of the following regulated air contaminants: Dust at the rate of 1.31 lbs per hour. This will be in addition to 1.0 lbs total emission from an existing asphalt hot plant. The expected date of the application submitted to the EID is January 11, 1991. The location of the proposed facility is SW1/4 NW1/4, Section 25, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, NMPM, which is the existing Village of Ruidoso Street Yard, Hot Plant Road, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

The process for which a permit is sought will be a 300 ton per hour 5 feet by 16 feet base course screening plant and a 300 ton per hour closed circuit rock crusher. The following components will be used: Aggregate hopper, belt feeder, base course sifter, crusher, and 4 conveyor belts. Power will be furnished by diesel and hydraulic motors.

The estimated maximum emissions of the facility after construction will be 1.31 lbs dust from the screen/crusher operation and 1.0 lbs total emission from the asphalt plant.
 The maximum and standard operating schedules for the facility, after completion of proposed construction, are 8 hours per day, 5 days per week from March thru November and approximately 48 hours total operation from December 1 thru February 28.

Comments and inquiries regarding the permit and application or the permitting process may be directed to:

 At Wal-Mart Pharmacy, WE CARE! Your health is our main concern. Our experienced professional pharmacists will fill all of your prescriptions with the freshest, finest pharmaceuticals available. In the exact dosage prescribed by your doctor. Patient records are kept at no extra charge, to provide you with a complete prescription history for health and tax uses. If you have any questions about over-the-counter medicines or prescriptions our pharmacists will be happy to help you. Third party prescription plans are welcome.

We won't knowingly be undersold!
 Many pharmacies charge the maximum on everything and there are others that offer special discounts to just a few customers (such as Senior Citizen discount plans.) At Wal-Mart Pharmacy we discount every item and every prescription every single day to every customer. Whether you're a young family or a Senior Citizen on a fixed income, Wal-Mart will help you reduce your pharmaceutical expenses.

Name Brand and Generic Drugs
 You and your doctor have the option of selecting between name brand and generic drugs at Wal-Mart. FDA Standards guarantee no significant difference between the two. Although not all brand name drugs have generic equivalents, we carry a complete stock of both to offer you optional savings. Whether you choose name brands or generic brands, Wal-Mart assures you of high quality and low prices every day.

Transfer Your Prescription to Wal-Mart Pharmacy. Easy as 1, 2, 3
 1. Just bring your refill bottle from your original pharmacy.
 2. Our Pharmacist will contact your doctor for a new prescription.
 3. Our Pharmacist will then fill your prescription at Wal-Mart's Everyday Low Price.

Consumer Affairs

Sharon Maines
Director of Consumer Affairs
Setting Our Priorities

Every man, woman and child throws away about 4 pounds of trash every day. It all adds up to 180 million tons of garbage a year! About 73% of our trash gets dumped in landfills. There are only a few ways of dealing with garbage and we must use all these methods in the years to come... Reduce, Reuse, Recycle, Incinerate and Bury.

We need to attack the problem at its source. It is the most effective way of dealing with garbage since it reduces the amount of materials that become garbage. You can practice source reduction while shopping because you vote on products every time you make a purchase. Here are some ways you can put source reduction into action. You'll also be surprised how often you can save money at the same time.

- Look for products that use only enough packaging to insure quality and do not appear to be unnecessarily overpackaged with multiple layers of plastics, foils, paper and other wrapping. But remember, some of this packaging is designed to insure product safety, making packages tamper-resistant. Other wrapping preserves freshness and quality.
- Buy the largest size package whenever practical. You get more product with less packaging than with smaller sizes.
- Favor products in concentrated forms or in compact packages.
- Use products that do more than one thing, such as laundry soaps that combine detergents with fabric softener and shampoos that include conditioners.
