Robert O. Anderson addresses EDCLC

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

Shareholders and guests who attended the annual meeting of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County heard cautious optimism that war is not inevitable.

Robert O. Anderson, former chairman of the board of Atlantic Richfield Co., originator of what is now Ski Apache and founder of the Lincoln County Heritage Trust, spoke to some 200 plus Lincoln County citizens, Friday night.

Anderson, who has a home in the Hondo Valley, said the Mideast is a cliff hanger with the whole world involved.

"I don't recall anything like tonight in the last 50 years," he said. "But, I am confident we are going to get through this. The United Nations never did much except talk; and suddenly it is becoming something," Anderson said.

Because of the worldwide interests of Atlantic Richfield, Anderson has kept up with world affairs and has been close to presidents through the years.

"The U.N. secretary is going to see the Wizard of Oz tomorrow," Anderson said. "The world has never been involved like now."

"I personally think we will squeeze out of the ball game."

He said the Soviet Union is falling apart but that the Soviets still have a very powerful nuclear force.

"The Soviets want to join the world ... China wants to join the world. He said there remains 'potential danger' in the Soviet Union.

"The U.S. economy worries me, but we are still No. 1," he said. He declared that the European Community will become extremely powerful by 1992 and will be speaking with a single voice.

"Japan is a giant Savings and Loan in the Pacific ... a powerful group of people who are tough competitors," he said.

Turning to Lincoln County, Anderson said this county is unique in having great human resources.

The town of Lincoln itself is "the most unique western village left in the United States," he said. That's why, he said, that 10 or 11 years ago he chose Lincoln County for the Heritage Trust operation.

The Museum of the Horse features an amazing collection of western memorabilia. "It is going to be a major attraction." He said the Ruidoso area is where it belongs.

"Lincoln County is horse country USA," he said. He mentioned the Indian culture and Fort Stanton and the "largest purse" at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

The ski area which he developed "was most exciting and probably still is ... Ruidoso is probably the largest resort community in the Rocky Mountains, in the southern Rocky Mountains," he said.

"We are going to do very well in the years ahead. This is a great place to live. I am Lincoln County," he concluded.

During Friday evening at Cree Meadows Country Club, three directors were elected or re-elected and a new industry was introduced to the community. Don Shaw, president of EDCLC, presented his annual report to shareholders and guests.

Ronnie Paulger heads EDCLC

The North 40 room at Cree Meadows was filled to capacity, Friday night, as shareholders and guests of the Economic Development Corporation gathered to hear about progress made by the EDCLC.

The audience also heard comments on world affairs and about views on Lincoln County's future from Robert O. Anderson, president of Hondo Oil and Gas Co. in Roswell and former chairman of the board of Atlantic Richfield Co. He also is chairman of the board of United Banks of New Mexico. (See separate story).

Don Shaw, retiring president of EDCLC, was re-elected to the board of directors at the meeting along with Scott Shafer of Carrizozo. A new member is Steve Stroud, owner of The Stroud building and Stroud Crop Insurance and Prairie State Commodities, Inc., all of Ruidoso. He and his wife live at Alto.

At a board meeting following the banquet, Ronnie Paulger, president of the First National Bank of Ruidoso, was elected new president; Stroud was elected vice president, Frank Saylor re-elected treasurer and Mike Line, secretary.

Shaw also introduced representatives of a new industry for Ruidoso. Richards Puzzles is being moved from Manchaca, Texas, to Ruidoso.

Present at the banquet were the principals in the business Greg and Brad Richards who develop and market puzzles.

Brad Richards told the group that he and his brother starting building puzzles and selling them.

"We couldn't keep up with demand," he said. Some 15 to 20 job opportunities are expected to be created the first year.

"From there, we'll see," Richards said.

Shaw introduced area mayors, county commissioners, other public officials and EDCLC shareholders and board members from Capitan and Carrizozo.

County Commissioner Monroy Montes is the new county commission representative on the EDCLC board; he was introduced along with New Mexico Rep. John Underwood.

In introducing Anderson as the speaker, Shaw said of the rancher-industrialist, "He is the greatest economic developer the state of New Mexico has ever known."

"We believe that the most important mission that we have is the shaping of an economic environment that encourages and supports industries who are good neighbors," Shaw said.

He mentioned EDCLC support of a plan for establishing college-level course in Ruidoso. He said a solution must be found to providing scheduled airline service.

"Support services for high tech manufacturers is the key to the achievement of long term goals," he said.

Shaw said the EDCLC is supporting the upcoming celebration of the 50th Anniversary of Fire Prevention in Capitan, the Iron Horse Railroad project, MainStreet Ruidoso redevelopment efforts, the new golf course and hotel.

"The new golf course, hotel and convention center will clearly enhance our efforts at attracting companies whose executives and personnel will make use of these and other existing quality facilities. There are plenty of reasons to be optimistic. Lady fortune can make a difference as always," he said.

He said tourism always will be the economic biggie here.

Some 210 Lincoln County residents turned out to hear industrialist Robert O. Anderson of Roswell and the Hondo Valley speak on economic development and international affairs, Friday night, at the annual meeting of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County.

Scott Shafer of Carrizozo, Don Shaw of Ruidoso and Steve Stroud of Alto elected or re-elected directors of EDCLC, Friday night.

Traffic safety applauded

Mountain folks have been on their best behavior, according to Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor.

"We have experienced the heaviest, busiest holiday season in recent years," said Swenor. "Police calls for service were almost three times greater than last year.

"Despite weather conditions, traffic accidents have been minimal, with fewer injuries and no fatalities," he said.

Swenor also said DWI and alcohol related incidents were definitely below usual holiday periods.

Skier alive after 2-day search

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

Dale Webb, veteran of search and rescue, did some hard figuring as he pondered where a lost skier might be after having vanished while skiing at Ski Apache, Thursday afternoon.

Webb, with the Bureau of Indian Affairs and CO and founder of Mesacalero Search and Rescue, found a lost skier in deep snow far down on the west side of Sierra Blanca late Saturday afternoon.

Webb had been delivered by snowmobile to high on the mountain adjacent to Lift 6 when he figured that skier Dale Perryman, 27, of Grand Prairie, Texas, had to be on the Three Rivers side of Sierra Blanca. Webb said he started down what turned out to be Crystal Creek, which runs into Indian Creek. Indian Creek is above the Three Rivers campground area. The Three Rivers Ranch was to the northwest of where Perryman was found.

When he spotted ski tracks going down that side of the mountain and seeing no tracks coming back, he knew he might be near paydirt.

On snow shoes, Webb started down the treacherous slopes on the west face of the mountain, following the ski tracks.

He hollered when he heard someone else holler. Webb heard a man yell, "I'm Dale."

"I'm Dale, too," Webb said he hollered back.

He found Perryman about 30 feet from a 30-foot cliff. Webb had candy bars, a canteen and repelling gear with him.

Webb tried to radio for help, but at first got no response. He told Webb they would have to repel off the cliff and walk down toward Three Rivers. Webb said the terrain was too steep to think about going back up the mountain.

Perryman appeared to be in fair shape.

Webb tried the radio again. He told The Ruidoso News he was overjoyed to hear a friend's voice, that of Ray Beck, conservation officer.

Beck was coming up the mountain from the Three Rivers side.

This was Saturday about dark when this was happening. A search helicopter from Holloman Air Force Base at Alamogordo had headed back to base when Beck radioed the base and asked that the chopper be returned.

Soon the helicopter, Webb said, was hovering over the skier and rescuer at about 100 feet. A medic was lowered from the chopper; he helped Webb put Perryman in a basket and strapped him in.

The man was lifted to the chopper, and Webb was soon cabled up, also.

Perryman was flown to the Lincoln County Medical Center where he was kept overnight. He apparently was discharged sometime, Sunday.

How did Perryman get lost? State Policeman Dennis Brown of Capitan, who helped search, said he was told that Perryman told a ski companion that he had fallen and that he would follow his companion down the mountain after awhile.

Webb told Brown that when he found Perryman the man was disoriented, that he had no idea where he was.

But, he had survived two bitter cold nights in deep snow on White Mountain.

Ski Apache Ski Patrol, Ruidoso Search and Rescue, State Police, Holloman people and others including other law enforcement people were involved in the search effort. The place where Perryman was found was out of the boundaries of Ski Apache, apparently.

One report was that there was a "whiteout" when Perryman started down the wrong side of the mountain. It was so steep in that area, Webb said, that "I sat on my snowshoes going down." There was no stopping. He said the further down he went, "the bigger the trees got."

Webb said he told Perryman the reason he couldn't be seen by the helicopter was that "you looked like a spruce tree." Perryman was wearing a green coat and black pants.

Two of Perryman's brothers had come from Oklahoma and Texas to assist in the search.

Perryman told Webb that the first night he had scraped some dead material from the underside of a fallen log and had slept on that. The second night, he told Webb, he was afraid to go to sleep, that he wouldn't wake up if he slept.

Perryman suffered only frostbite to hands and feet apparently. He

Report cards delayed

Parents can put their suspicions to rest. Their children are telling the truth.

Report cards for 470 Ruidoso Middle School and 530 Ruidoso High School students really will be issued a week later than originally scheduled.

High School Principal Mike Kakuska said the semester reports will be delayed until this Friday for two reasons.

"Because we had a snow day the last day of semester tests (before the Christmas vacation break), students didn't get their final exam until Tuesday or Wednesday," Kakuska said.

Although the students were delighted to get an extra day's vacation for Christmas, the lag in completing examinations didn't give teachers enough time to calculate their grades before last Friday, he said.

A debate over the appropriate grading system also contributed to the delay, he said.

"The teachers had two days of debate on how to standardize grading procedures," Kakuska said. "We have roughly 12 new teachers on the staff."

"School Board policy does not spell out exactly how students should be graded, except that letter grades should be used on report cards."

Two approaches were being utilized by the teachers at the high school, Kakuska said.

Some were averaging the letter grades for each nine weeks with the semester test. Others were averaging the actual numerical grades.

"They voted to standardize by using the letter grades and not the numerical," Kakuska said.

Each nine week letter grade will count for two-fifths of the semester grade. The semester test will count one-fifth, he said.

The situation at the middle school was a bit simpler - or more complicated - depending on your technical knowledge and fascination with computers.

"Unfortunately, in this wonderful age of technology, computers don't always do what you want them to do," said Principal Paula Papponi.

"There was a computer problem and the report cards will go out on Friday," she said. "I'm really sorry for the delay."

Mulqueen awarded bronze star

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A quarter of a century ago on the Plain of Reeds about 60 miles west of Saigon, a young junior medic risked his life to evacuate a platoon of soldiers under fire from the Viet Cong.

Friday, Joseph P. "Lucky" Mulqueen, 47, finally received a Bronze Star as recognition for that act of heroism in 1965.

Mulqueen never actively sought public acknowledgement. In fact, he said the only reason he showed up for the ceremony at the Ruidoso Veterans of Foreign War Post 7022 was to please his friend, Romeo Klein, adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans Ruidoso chapter. He said it was a way of honoring Klein's son, Jerome D. Klein, who was killed in Vietnam in 1971. The VFW post is named after Klein's son.

An emotional Klein pinned the medals on Mulqueen's plaid work shirt and presented several other medals including the Good Conduct, the Medic Badge and Jump Wings. State Rep. John Underwood (D-Ruidoso) attended the ceremony and Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso stood in for U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman.

Mulqueen modestly declined to give details of the incident that led to the Bronze Star. He was serving as a medic with the Fifth Special Forces Group D Company and was only doing his job, he said.

Bingaman (D-New Mexico) was instrumental in securing the medal. He became involved after Mulqueen wrote to his congressional office asking for help with a Veterans Administration disability claim. Mulqueen mentioned in the letter that he was trying to obtain his decorations so that his family could see them. He left the service in too much of a hurry in 1967 to think about the medals, Mulqueen said.

He already was the recipient of one Bronze Star prior to the 1965 rescue. He also received the Cross of Gallantry.

His nickname "Lucky" has no connection to his time in the service, Mulqueen said, it relates to his birthdate, Friday the 13th.

He grew up in Pottsville, Pa., then enlisted in the Army in 1963 after attending the University of Scranton in Pennsylvania. He served in Special Forces from 1965 until he was honorably discharged in 1967 as a staff sergeant.

Mulqueen still bears scars from severe burns he received in Vietnam when a leaking butane tank exploded while he was trying to help his sergeant cap it.

Mulqueen believes the burns were the catalyst for the onset of topical lupus, resulting in light sensitive scarring on his face and arms. For the past 13 years, he has been fighting the VA for disability compensation. He expects a ruling in March from a hearing last week.

Mulqueen, his wife, Christine and their daughter, Natasha, have lived in Ruidoso 16 years. He operates Pro Service, an engine repair and sharpening service.

Bronze Star hero

Romeo Klein pins the Bronze Star with Valor cluster on Joseph P. "Lucky" Mulqueen of Ruidoso in long-overdue recognition for his heroism in Vietnam. As a young medic, Mulqueen helped in the evacuation of a platoon of soldiers while under fire from the Viet Cong. Watching the ceremony Friday at the Ruidoso American Legion Hut was Mayor Victor Alonso, sitting in for U.S. Senator Jeff Bingaman, who worked with Klein to obtain several medals for Mulqueen.

Leaky pipes are costly

(EDITORS NOTE: Due to inadvertent cuts in last Thursday's council story, key paragraphs were misaligned. Portions are reprinted here for clarity.)

Concerned over massive water losses, Ruidoso Village Councilor Ron Andrews urged the council to act immediately in correcting the situation by implementing a meter system to monitor the lines.

Andrews said Ruidoso, since March, has been averaging a water loss equal to that being treated, about $34,000 a month's worth.

Village manager Charles Norwood said part of the problem is a water system with 180 miles of lines, most of it old and in areas where it is impossible to take a reading.

"We have water leaks that have probably been there for years," Norwood said. "We just can't detect them all."

Andrews suggested buying meters to attach to fire hydrants and to break the water system into zones, placing meters in the main line.

In other regular business, the council:

—Heard a MainStreet Ruidoso Conceptual Master Plan presentation by architects of Carter and Burgess, Inc. They asked for input from the council before the team enters into the design development phase.

The council pledged immediate in-kind aid, with special interest on the river walk. Norwood said he would move the project to a top priority.

—Accepted the low bid of $35,559 for a video inspection system by Cues Inc. of Rancho Cordova, California, was accepted. The video equipment will enable the village to inspect the main sewer lines to find infiltration.

Alonso said the inspection will save the village money on a long-range basis in sewer treatment and will also help to maintain compliance with EPA regulations.

The bid included training for operation of the equipment.

—Accepted a bid of $7,500 from Todd Aircraft Inc., of Hobbs for a used jet refueler truck for Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. The truck will replace the present regular the village is leasing.

The council felt that purchasing a truck at a reasonable price is more cost effective for the village.

—Approved a golf course liquor license agreement to lease a municipal liquor license to AllHub for use at the golf course.

AllHub wished to lease the license from the village to permit sales on the golf course.

Council members said liquor sales would enhance revenues and therefore rentals payable to the village.

—Passed resolution 91-1 declaring reasonable notice of public meetings for the village council of the village of Ruidoso.

The resolution complies with the New Mexico 1978 Open Meetings Act and states, in part, that all meetings of a quorum of members of any board, commission or other policy-making body of any municipality held for the purpose of formulating public policy, discussing public business or for the purpose of taking any action within the authority of such board, are public meetings open to the public of all times; exceptions to this declaration are strictly limited.

The board passed the resolution by a 5-1 vote. Councilor Al Junge voted against the resolution.

State Rep Underwood to propose gambling bill

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Economic development and education were the main topics of the first town hall meeting with new State Representative John Underwood.

Underwood, a Democrat from Ruidoso, was elected state representative for District 56 in the November elections. He will report to Sante Fe at noon Tuesday, January 15, for his first legislative session.

Underwood told his audience that he was working on a gambling bill that, on a local option basis, would give resort areas which border Indian reservations equal gambling rights (video machines, bingo, lotto and other games of chance) as Indian reservations exercise under the federal gaming law.

"I feel this would be a very good source in increasing revenues," Underwood said. "A percentage of profits would go to the local and state governments and would be a very good way of increasing our gross receipts. It would give us an additional attraction for a year round tourist resort."

Underwood said he would design the bill so that anyone with the proper facilities and criteria could apply and receive from the city and state a video gaming license.

He said the criteria would not simply be for a 200-room motel or only one place in the village. He said he envisions places that are commercial establishments, motels, lounges or even civic event centers.

"I'm just trying to make clear that this will be a bill that will give all people in the business community with the appropriate facilities the opportunity to apply for a gaming license and would not be restricted to only one or two places," Underwood said.

"It will be couched in terms of equal rights, which I think is very important for its passage and a signature of the governor," he said.

Underwood said he wanted it understood that this bill promotes local option. He said it wasn't a bill for John Underwood, but rather a John Underwood bill that allows the people of a local option district to determine whether or not they want this type of gambling.

Regarding education and other needs that would cost tax dollars, Underwood advocated innovative thinking.

"I think it's real clear that dollars are going to be short this year," he said. "My position is not to add new taxes to pay for those things we need, but to become more creative in attracting new business and industry, in order to build the tax base up from the bottom, rather than taxing the citizens who are already pretty much taxed to the maximum."

Underwood said a community needs quality education and educators. He said the 1986 educational act mandating reforms (lower teacher to student ratio, better facilities, better equipment) in the educational system has not been implemented.

"Not much money is available for those things. So instead of creating new taxes which I'm not in favor of, I want to promote a more favorable business climate, not only in the Ruidoso area, but throughout the state to build a greater tax base so we can pay for these things," he said.

Underwood said he was also in favor of a lottery with the provision that funds generated from that lottery would help pay for necessary items in the educational system, which are not being funded at the moment.

Topics discussed briefly from the audience included collective bargaining, laws against drunk driving, insurance, and the necessity for funding the mentally ill.

Underwood said he was hopeful that he could schedule the next town hall meeting two weeks after the session is over or perhaps earlier.

"I'd like to have a meeting in mid-session if there are no scheduling conflicts," he said.

Underwood said after 30 days, there would be many issues and points of views from constituents that he would like to hear.

Underwood said he was going to try his best to communicate.

"On the campaign trail people would say they were without communication with their elected representatives, that after the election, they never saw them again. Communication to me is the secret of many of our ills. What I'm attempting to do through our town hall meetings is to find out what the citizens are thinking.

"Without citizen input, I don't see I can be an effective representative," he said.

State Representative John Underwood sits alone at the front of the council chambers as he conducts his first town meeting before going into his first legislative session.

Billboard off Sudderth Drive sits on no man's land

by CHUCK STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Who wouldn't want a piece of real estate smack dab on the side of the highway in downtown Ruidoso?

The Inn of the Mountain God's sign at the corner of Carrizo Road and Sudderth (Highway 48) is on such a piece of land that no one wants to claim. The state doesn't want to claim it. The city doesn't want to claim it. Private land owners don't want to claim it.

The corner is controversial because of a billboard that suggests a right turn where highway signs forbid right turns.

A no right turn prevents tourists, unfamiliar with the area, from immediate access to one of the major arteries to the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Robert Lopez, Property Management Unit Supervisor, who works in the right-of-way section of the New Mexico Highway and Transportation Department in Sante Fe, says the land housing the sign does not belong to the state. "The right-of-way maps show that Carrizo (Road) was part of a dedicated street that runs into our right of way. So there's a question there. We didn't require it. Our right of way is 40-foot wide. So a dedicated city street is a city street not a state road."

Lopez said his studies were confirmed by Mark Boyd, Highway Senior Technician with the New Mexico State Highway Department District II in Roswell.

"Mark Boyd has a survey of the area where the sign (location) is showing out of our 40-foot right of way. It's in a 20-foot gray area that's definitely out of our right of way," Lopez said.

"There is one tiny area where the creek goes through that we have a 50-foot right of way and it's right in that area, but that's only 10 more feet," he said.

The sign is located on the bank of Carrizo Creek. An unofficial check, measuring from the center stripe of Carrizo Road to the nearest point of the sign, reads 42-43 feet. Using that same method of measuring from the center stripe of Sudderth Drive (Highway 48) to the nearest point of the sign reads 44-45 feet.

Lopez said he and Boyd will travel to Ruidoso sometime this week to visit the site with right-of-way maps and "see what's going on."

"We're positive it's not on state right of way," Lopez said. "There is a question of it running into city dedicated streets. We don't own the city streets, we may have to talk to the city about it."

Tim Basler, District II Traffic Engineer out of Roswell said he still intends to survey the property to determine ownership.

"I've requested from the district engineer that we have a survey done (on the property). I'm one of those 'gotta see' guys," Basler said.

Basler was asked if that turn had ever been under consideration for reconstruction to allow a smooth right turn lane.

"I went back to the old construction files when the road was built in 1962," Basler said. "They had talked about it at that time. There was such a grade differential between Carrizo Road and the way Sudderth takes off to the west, that there's no efficient way to make a tie-in."

"You would probably have to go back from the intersection 1,000 feet and raise the whole grade of the road. If we could raise the elevation of Carrizo Road back to the west, then we could make the highway tie-in further back to the west also. If you came in more at a right angle, we could probably allow that right turn."

"To raise the grade on Carrizo road, the village would have to acquire additional right of way. I'm unsure of what's at that corner right now," Basler said.

Phil Gallegos, Right of Way Agent for the highway department in Sante Fe who heads the state's billboard regulations, said that Highway 48 is a secondary highway. The beautification act of 1966 that places highway department control over billboards on any property within 600 feet is for primary highways only. Gallegos said under no circumstances could a billboard be allowed on any state right of way.

Rescue

was skiing with a church group from the Fort Worth area.

Webb, formerly in combat control with the Air Force, organized the Mescalero Search and Rescue team two years ago. There were 12 names on his roster of personnel who help search for Perryman from the Mescalero unit.

Webb was on the mountain for 19 hours straight searching for the man.

Searchers had pretty well determined that Perryman was not anywhere in the confines of the Ski Apache ski area.

Roy Parker, manager of Ski Apache, said he was convinced, by Saturday afternoon, that such was the case.

The ski patrol had searched every inch of the ski area over the two-day period. So had other searchers.

Perryman told Webb he didn't think he could have survived another night on the mountain.

Webb said he dug down five feet in the snow and didn't find hard ground at the spot where the rescue took place.

Water Defense to elect officers

New officers will be elected and an update given on the status of litigation during the annual board meeting Wednesday of the Water Defense Association.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in the cafeteria of the Hondo School.

Hubert H. Quintana, executive director of the association, said he will give a financial accounting and present a progress report since the board's meeting last August.

The league was formed to fight a lawsuit filed by the U.S. Government backing a claim by the Mes-calero Apaches to water drained through the Rio Ruidoso, Rio Bonito and Rio Hondo.

The league's membership currently stands at about 450 people.

Quintana said he will report to the board about a similar lawsuit that was filed in Wyoming over the Wind River, in which the association's attorney also is involved.

"There may be some ramifications that would impact on the final outcome of our case if they both go to federal court," he said.

The slate of nominees for new officers has not been developed yet.

Students suspended in snowball toss incident

Eight White Mountain Elementary students have been suspended from riding the school bus for three days, stemming from a snowball throwing incident last week.

Don Weems, principal of White Mountain Intermediate School and supervisor of the district's bus contract, said the eight have been told if they violate any additional rules, a 10-day suspension could result.

The disciplinary action was taken after Weems questioned the 50 or more children who were on the bus last Wednesday driven by Ray Bilger. The incident was brought to his attention after some parents called to complain that their children had to walk home from school.

"After receiving permission from the principal, I talked Thursday individually and as a group with the kids, the bus driver and the transportation contractor," Weems said. "Evidently, the kids boarded the bus at the middle school, but before it had pulled away from the parking lot, a barrage of snowballs came flying up toward the front of the bus," he said. "Whether they were aimed at the driver or just thrown for fun, we don't know."

Bilger stopped the bus and told the children to step outside and to get rid of all of the snow before re-entering the vehicle.

"He closed the door and more snowballs were thrown," Weems said. "He stopped again and asked who had thrown them, but nobody would say. He told them to get off again. A few stayed off and called their parents for a ride home. Others chose to walk home. But the kids confirmed that at no time did the driver say he would not drive them home or to stay off the bus."

Weems estimated that four students were driven home by their parents, seven to 10 walked home and the rest, about 40-45 went home on the bus with Bilger.

School bus policy provides that drivers may immediately expel riders from a bus if their presence presents a danger to the other children, Weems said. "Someone could get hit in the eye by a snowball, so the endangerment policy could have been applicable here," even though Bilger did not refuse to drive the children home, he said.

But in talking to the students, Weems said he determined "the kids had concerns about the management of the bus. I told them we would improve and we would expect improvement from them."

The children must stick to the rules and report those who do not, Weems said. Bilger, who has driven a school bus for several years, also must improve in his adherence to procedure in filing complaints against misbehaving students, he said.

Board policy states that on a first complaint, a letter will be sent home to parents. A second complaint results in a three-day suspension from the bus. A 10-day suspension is the punishment for a third offense and suspension from the bus for the remainder of the year, for the fourth offense.

Weems said when he receives complaints about drivers or bus incidents, he tries to act quickly, but feels it is necessary to talk to all those involved before taking any action.

National Vision Week free eye examinations

Randall Cox, O.D. and Terry Marquardt, O.D., of Ruidoso are providing free eye examinations to low-income workers and their families during national Save Your Vision Week, March 3-9.

According to a news release, the local optometrists are participating in a special event of VISION USA, a national charity founded by members of the American Optometric Association and sponsored locally by the New Mexico Optometric Association.

This year, optometrists across the country will participate in the March event marking the first national effort made by a profession to provide free health care to low-income workers who often fall between the cracks of government and private medical assistance programs.

People who believe they are eligible for benefits are encouraged to call the toll free number 1-800-766-4466 during the month of January.

Eligible workers will be referred to a participating optometrist in the area.

Perfect snow turns the valley white

A Perfect Snow

Early in the morning of January 9, straight out of the East under a cloudy sky the snow flakes came drifting into the Vale, quietly, slowly at first, and then picking up the pace. First were tiny flakes and freezing mist, then larger flakes falling down in a great hurry.

Before you knew it all the mountain meadow and the piñon and cedars were covered with a thin blanket of silvery white. Faster now came the snowflakes large and close together, so that soon you were in a world of falling snow unable to see more than 50 feet in any direction.

Around noon the snow let up a little to catch its breath. Out came the sun revealing one of the most beautiful mountain snow scenes to visit the Vale in many a day. Mother Earth beamed with joy as the wet heavy snow adorned all her children in especially charming New Year decorations.

There was just enough cold in the snow to help it cling to everything it touched. The giant walnut at Storm's Bend was outlined in pure white showing its arching branches and curving limbs and tiniest twigs — a tree picture of mid winter glory.

So heavy was the snow that the branches of the large cedar bushes were weighted to the ground. The small apricot tree was traced out in detail by solid rows of snow all along its branches. The tip tops of the piñons were crowned with little castles, turrets, and towers of snow sculpture. The large cedar trees held

by DANIEL AGNEW STORM

great clumps of snow on their branches, which resembled hands, as if the tree were saying "Look at this."

The fence wires were all trimmed in white, and the pods of the sunflower seeds on their giant stalks left over from the golden summer held white strawberry-shaped tufts, so that the sunflower gave a cheerful display here in the deep of winter.

Snow Jewelry

Now on mid morning of January 10, the wet and heavy snow is melting rapidly, with the snow drops catching the rays of the bright sun which turns them into rubies, emeralds, opals and diamonds.

Just as the snow moved in suddenly, it is now melting rapidly, fading away from the sunny side of the world. The boughs of the large cedar bushes which were weighted down, suddenly spring upright and throw their burden of snow into the air. The little towers and castles of snow are gone from the tree and bush tops. Snow melt water is running down the branches and the trunks of the river trees. Here come the snow birds drinking from the snow water running down the branches of the little apricot tree. The finches, piñon jays and Mexican jays now join the snowbirds feeding at the feeding table and singing songs of joy celebrating the snow.

The Blessing Of The Snow

One of the many great things about the snow is that you do not have to worry about a grass fire; and all fire danger is reduced. This snow is a special favor to Mother Earth because it is so filled with moisture. The hill sides on the sunny side of the world look cheerful after their drink of snow melted water. All the mountain land rejoices in the perfect snow.

The First Calf Enjoys The Snow

The little heifer calf born on Epiphany Sunday, and named Epiphany, was out in the snow with her mother. She sniffed at the flakes and went jumping and running to a cedar tree, and then back to her mother, where she began nibbling at the hay after drinking her milk. She knows she is the pride and joy of the herd, and enjoys the snow.

Let us thank God for the good snow and all our other many blessings.

Cellular phone service system near

Coldwell Banker trio honored at breakfast

Coldwell Banker SDC Realtors manager/broker Greg Masters recognized outstanding performances on behalf of associates at a breakfast staff and awards meeting last week.

Associates and associate brokers gathered at K-Bob's for the session. Especially honored was Richard Loverin, associate/GRI, who scored on several fronts. He was recognized for the following:

—For November of 1990, he placed second in listing excellence in the whole of the United States among Coldwell Banker offices.

—For the third quarter of 1990, he had the highest volume of listings sold among New Mexico offices and was No. 2 in the state in gross commission income. He was No. 2 in gross commission income for the second quarter. He was No. 3 in the state in listings sold during the second quarter.

Associate/GRI Alice Van Tussenbroek was No. 3 in gross commission income for the second quarter.

Doug Siddens, associate broker, was honored for several achievements. These included No. 1 in gross commission income in New Mexico for the second quarter.

He also was No. 2 in total units sold. He was first in Buyer Control Sales for that quarter. He scored No. 3 in Listings Sold.

The Ruidoso Coldwell Bankers office was recognized for being No. 5 in the western region in total units of sales.

Cellular telephone service should be available in the Ruidoso area by the end of this year.

Jeff Martin, agent manager for Contel Cellular out of El Paso, Texas, says the timing is tentative.

Service is scheduled to start momentarily for Alamogordo, Las Cruces and Caballo via the El Paso switching station, Martin told The Ruidoso News from his El Paso office.

Martin said that when the area system including Ruidoso is in place, "electronic switching will be out of El Paso."

Cellular technology works by dividing a geographical region into "cells" or areas, each powered by its own low-powered radio transmitter. Each transmitter is connected to the cellular systems central equipment, in this case, El Paso.

"We'll have a super system with one very large location," he said. However, he said there will be a trans-receiver tower and equipment-housing structure in the Ruidoso area.

"It will be a one-cell site," Martin said.

Cellular telephone service allows a person to call from almost any location while traveling or in remote areas without interruption of conversations like might occur when using a radio relay system with operator or dispatcher.

Direct dialing is possible via the cellular system. No operator or dispatcher need be involved like with radio systems.

Contel Cellular and Contel telephone have the same parent company but are separate. Cellular service will be through Contel Cellular.

The cellular system is basically "line of sight" like TV reception. Relay or trans-receiver stations help mitigate that problem to an extent.

John Van Tussenbroek, manager of Contel in Ruidoso, said that reception from hand-held units in deep canyons in the mountains may not be very good.

Martin confirmed that low-power hand-held units might be a problem in high mountain country.

The El Paso company official said that no site has been chosen for the tower in the Ruidoso area.

Van Tussenbroek speculated it might be on Buck Mountain.

James Stephens of Radio Shack in Ruidoso said demand has been fairly heavy for cellular telephones in Ruidoso. He said prices range from $199 to $900.

Hand-held units and those for use in vehicles which can be detached for picnic or hiking use or home use are available.

Stephens said it is his understanding that service here will be available in December of this year.

Low-powered radio transmitters have been erected at Orogrande, Long Ridge above Alamogordo and Caballo Peak near Truth or Consequences. Ruidoso apparently will soon have its own such transmitter to tie into the system.

Economic Development, By George!

Towns falter in attracting industry

Economic Development can be a trying and elusive endeavor. There are communities which have been working at creating jobs for 20 years without landing a single new industry. Some communities are severely handicapped because of location but most are handicapped because of a lack of volunteer expertise. Board members frequently are not qualified to make decisions relating to economic development.

Mistakes are made in the hiring of an executive director, establishment of lines of communication, and cost effective budgeting of a marketing organization.

There is typically little expertise in fund raising, marketing, or public relations. This results in too little money available to do the job, and necessitates the recruitment of less than fully qualified professional staff.

This and following columns will report on the efforts of other regional members of the Business Quarter (Clovis, Portales, Tucumcari, Roswell, Hobbs, Artesia, Lovington, and Carlsbad.) All of these communities have been significantly impacted by the oil bust. Clovis, Portales, and Tucumcari have been able to do little to impact the economic well-being of their communities.

Tucumcari
Economic development has barely left the starting blocks in Tucumcari. They have virtually no budget and no professional staff. The total effort, such as it is, is conducted by the city administration. The community has available a former clothing manufacturing plant, which could be utilized very economically. The community is in a strategic location on 140 be-

by George Puckett
Special to
The Ruidoso News

tween Albuquerque and Amarillo.

In spite of its advantages, the community has been unable to attract a manufacturing firm in the last three years. During the last year an Ethanol plant went belly up; community leaders were successful in obtaining a new operator, salvaging the few jobs that the plant provided.

Clovis
Clovis has gone through two economic development directors in the last two years. The Clovis Chamber of Commerce and the economic development group have been combined into a single staff while retaining separate boards of directors. Therefore, the last executive director reported to two separate boards who apparently did not talk to each other.

Recent recruitment efforts have been dedicated to attracting dairies from the Chino, California, area. In general, the dairies represent an excellent potential for the plains communities of eastern New Mexico, but so far Clovis has not been able to secure even the "cream" off the top.

Other efforts toward the location of new industries has been unsuccessful for the last three years. We can safely assume that the leadership has insufficient expertise to select and retain executive directors and to implement a successful program.

Portales
Portales has been unable to sufficiently fund a viable economic development effort. A very low-budget Chamber of Commerce operation is maintained but has totally insufficient funding and expertise to make any headway in attracting industry.

Paradoxically, the community has one of the strongest resources in eastern New Mexico in the form of Eastern New Mexico University. The school has installed an incubator operation that houses some budding prospective industries, but the full capability of the university in attracting industry is largely untapped.

These three communities exhibit the three principal reasons why otherwise qualified buyers do not buy. No need, no help, and no hurry. The community marketing effort must, if it is going to succeed, create a need for industry to be there, give its prospects lots of help in making a location in the community, and somehow convince the prospect that it is important to do it now.

The more successful Business Quarter economic development efforts like Lincoln County, Roswell, Hobbs, and Carlsbad, have taken steps to make sure that the community environment is such that industry knows it is welcome as long as they are good citizens and there is plenty of competent help to get the job done.

Warrior comeback falls short to T or C, 64-59

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

A flat Ruidoso third quarter proved too much to overcome and lifted T or C to a 64-59 victory over the Warriors in a home game last Friday.

The close and entertaining game was marred when Warrior Manny Guardiola was ejected for shoving a player and a referee.

Ruidoso Athletic Director Ronny Maskew said a meeting will be held early today, Monday, to discuss disciplinary action.

The Warriors, who led 40-35 at halftime, only scored five points in the third quarter to T or C's 18 points. Coach Norm Wright contributed the flat third quarter to a press that created too many turnovers.

Wright was particularly disappointed because the Warriors had performed well statistically.

"I told the team if we made 50 percent of our 2-pointers, and 33 percent of our 3-pointers and 75 percent of our free throws while keeping our turnovers under 20, we would win. We did all of that and lost. Now what do I say?"

Wright knew the answer. "We only had 10 free throws the whole game," he said. "We made 8-10, but we just didn't get to the line often enough."

T or C was not as unfortunate, shooting 28 free throws.

Cody Willard, an excellent free throw shooter, was high scorer for the Warriors with 22 points, most of which were lay ups. With all of his driving, Willard only walked to the free throw line twice.

Willard, playing aggressive basketball, was in danger of fouling out for the second straight game and was unable to play the number of minutes coach Wright would have preferred.

The Warriors jumped to a 21-15 first quarter lead on a 10-point binge by Guardiola that included two 3-pointers.

The second quarter was played evenly with T or C scoring 20 points to the Warriors 19. Six of those 19 points came on two pro length 3-pointers by Syrus Wheeler.

The Warriors were down by six points when Guardiola's ejection sent T or C to the charity line for six straight free throws, four of which were technical fouls. T or C missed all six shots and that seemed to spark the Warriors to a fine comeback of eight straight points and a 57-55 lead.

With Guardiola gone, Ruidoso's other big man, Maschon Swenor twisted his knee and had to leave the game. Cody Willard, the Warrior stalwart, was crippled with four fouls.

Ball hawk Khalid Adkins of T or C swept the boards and T or C's free throw accuracy improved down the stretch to kill any further Warrior comeback.

The Warriors as a team hit 18-36 2-point attempts and 5-15 3-pointers for their best team shooting of the season. The team also hit 8-10 free throws.

Willard was his usual remarkable self, hitting 8-10 2-pointers and 3-4 free throws. Willard also had five rebounds, three assists, two steals and an outstanding game of defense.

Swenor hit 5-14 two pointers and grabbed eight rebounds. Swenor also successfully drew a charge and blocked several shots.

Syrus Wheeler played his best game of the season, hitting 3-7 for 10 points, including two 3-pointers. Wheeler also played an outstanding defensive game.

The Warriors will meet Lovington this Friday, January 15, here in Ruidoso. The Junior Varsity game will begin at 5:45.

Warrior Cody Willard leaps sky high to sink the T or C team. Willard scored a game high 22 points in the Warrior's losing effort.

Matmen stutter at Carlsbad

The Ruidoso Warrior wrestling squad grappled in the tough Carlsbad Invitational Tournament last Friday and Saturday with 20 teams from New Mexico and Texas.

The Warriors were cooking early with wins from Fernando Lopez at 119, Louis Jimenez at 130, Poncho Portillo at 160 and Able Montelongo at 189.

Warrior matmen who wrestled well the first round but lost were Gunner Johnson 103, Jerry Romero 112, Chris Carusona 125, Bill Austin 135, Keith Henson 152 and heavyweight Bryan Streeby.

Steve Dankert, 145, lost to Las Cruces's Martin Granillo for the second time this season.

Lee Nanz was defeated in the 171 pound weight class when he became too ill to continue.

Mario Portillo did not have a good match in this tournament. The Warrior star was defeated twice by El Paso Jefferson's Jose Valenzuela and was eliminated from the tournament with a disappointing 1-2 record.

Also eliminated from the tournament with 0-2 records were Streeby, Henson, Austin, Carusona, Romero and Johnson.

Warrior wrestling coach Gerald Ames said these six wrestlers gained valuable varsity experience and should improve their performances next week at the Bowie Invitational Tournament in El Paso.

Montelongo defeated Richard Foncecea of Andress, but sustained a knee injury and was unable to continue.

Nanz was also withdrawn from the tournament because of illness.

Dankert defeated Jefferson's Gerald Sedaro, but lost to Granillo of Las Cruces. Dankert's total record is 6-4 with three losses to Granillo.

After winning his first match at 160 pounds, Portillo was defeated by John Almanzar of Las Cruces, the No. 1 seed.

Portillo then wrestled Lubbock's Matt Stocco, defeating him 9-2 and advanced to meet Sante Fe's Hasson. Portillo lost in a hard fought match and fell one victory short of placing in the tournament.

Fernando Lopez had the best day of all the Warriors. He defeated Goddard's Gale Yocom and Larry Aranda of Las Cruces to advance to the quarter finals.

In the quarter finals Lopez lost to Johnny Dominquez of Mayfield. In his final match Fernando lost to Aaron Rivera of Austin.

In the first day of wrestling, the Warrior's finished with 30 points, four people remaining in the tournament, and tied for 11th place. The second day was a disaster. The Warriors finished the day in 16th place after winning only one match. The score for the 2-day tournament was 32 points.

The Warriors have an opportunity to improve their performances in the 2-day Bowie Tournament on January 18-19.

The Warriors will also wrestle Goddard in Roswell on Wednesday night at 6 p.m.

JV Girls breeze by Artesia

A tough Warrior JV girl's squad thrashed an undermanned Artesia Ladydog team by a whopping 40-24 margin last Thursday in Ruidoso.

JV head coach Dennis Davis had his girls on all cylinders as the Warriors jumped to a big 15-2 first quarter score on the strength of a 9-point scoring binge by Monica Martinez. Martinez was also a demon on the backboards, swallowing up rebound after rebound.

The Warriors upped their lead by two in the second quarter for a halftime lead of 21-7.

Cicilee Makowski turned a hot hand in the third frame with three baskets and a free throw for seven points. Makowski also grabbed a half dozen rebounds.

All the Warriors played fine defense in the third quarter and held the girl dogs to a single point.

With the game out of range and never in doubt, the Warriors coasted the final frame and gave the dogs some extra pocket change in 16 points, their best quarter.

Martinez topped all Warrior scorers with 12 points. Makowski and Keeton both had seven points. Barb MacWhorter sank two buckets for four points. Michelle Morris dropped in a bucket and a free throw for three points. Mandy Parker and Tab Parnell each had two points. Sarah Dix sank a charity toss for a point.

The JVers will join the varsity for a long, drab journey Friday, January 18, to Cobre.

How silly! That "balky" old Congress kept holding up the opening of the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant (WIPP) near Carlsbad for safety considerations. The administration cleared that obstacle Tuesday by transferring land from the Bureau of Land Management to the Department of Energy.

The Waste Isolation Pilot Plant has been completed for a year and the Environmental Protection Agency OK'd placing 8,500 drums full of waste from nuclear weapons laboratories for a five-year test. The land transfer was the last step, and those silly old congressmen, apparently concerned about the safety of their constituents, wanted to pass on the plant's safety.

Members of this state's congressional delegation have insisted that the land transfer be implemented through an act of Congress. Dealing with tons of deadly waste products that will remain with us for thousands of years seems far too big a deal to be dealt with by bureaucrats in some Washington office who have no accountability to the people of this state.

Waste products from Rocky Flats in Denver, Colorado, will be transported across the state to WIPP. We all know how safety-conscious the folks at Rocky Flats have been. Right? Should that make us feel any safer as the volatile cargo is transported across our roads?

Those roads are another consideration that New Mexico congressmen have addressed. They're asking for federal funds to get New Mexico highways in shape for transporting dangerous waste. But, with a quick signature, any congressional debate and negotiations over a guarantee of such help went down the tubes Tuesday.

The Interior Department and the Administration thumbed their noses at our elected officials by circumventing the checks and balances that are so important in this government.

We hope the Congress will call a halt to the action taken Tuesday and put WIPP safety considerations back on the floor for serious debate. WIPP and its contents will be with us for thousands of years, isn't it worth taking some time now?

News Analysis

Who was that calling "Hi-Ho, Silver?"

A journalist sees U.S. Deputy Secretary of State Lawrence Eagleberger, who is visibly under strain as the Persian Gulf countdown continues toward war. Though he is acting head of the State Department during the now-frequent absences abroad of Secretary of State James Baker III, Eagleberger leaves the clear impression that he as well as the Foreign Service's Middle East specialists are essentially "out of the loop" in terms of Presidential decision-making on the crisis.

Secretary of Defense Richard Cheney lunches at the Pentagon with an old friend and former senior official in a previous Republican administration. The friend comes to the important strategic and policy decisions in the Persian Gulf crisis, potentially the bloodiest military confrontation for the US since World War II.

After public hearings of the Senate Armed Services Committee, two ranking members privately quiz Secretary of State Baker and General Colin Powell, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, men they know well from several years of dealings in Capitol Hill. The Senators are deeply disturbed that both Baker and Powell, despite their apparent prominence and influence, seem "out of the loop" in terms of what the President is really thinking or contemplating in the Persian Gulf.

Apocryphal or not, such "loop" stories are increasingly making the whispered rounds in Washington as the nation moves toward a tense showdown with Iraq. Despite the duly televised entries and exits at high level meetings, the long black limousines gliding to and from the White House, there is mounting evidence that US policy in the gulf crisis is being made, not by the deliberative, collegial process of a government or administration, but by the views, reactions and perhaps impulse of one man — George Bush.

No modern president, of course, operates in a vacuum, even in the still largely secret and ramified realm of geo-politics. He is surrounded by the daily din of briefers and aides, and under a flurry of words, spoken and written, bureaucratic, media, politics. Yet for all the discreet clamor about the Oval Office, we know from recent and sometimes bitter history that style, personality and sheer circumstance can isolate a presidency to a remarkable, often tragic extent — and that some presidents are sorely tempted to play "desk officer" or "tone ranger" in a foreign crisis, regardless of the lessons of the past.

Many in Washington now worry that the same old seduction has overtaken Mr. Bush in the Persian Gulf. It is not only that senior advisers feel themselves shut out from fundamental decisions, said to be made more and more by the President alone, or at most with White House Chief of Staff John Sununu.

"They go into the Oval office, put their feet up, and out comes a policy," one witness says of Bush and the former New Hampshire Governor.

Nor is it even Mr. Bush's often vulgar personalization of the clash with Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein, the pronouncement by the President of the United States that he had "had it, would soon 'kick ass' in punishing this 'Hitler,' who only six months ago was an American client and recipient of substantial covert arms and subsidies.

Disturbed officials point as well to the pattern of Bush decision-making in foreign policy crises during 1989 — the invasion of Panama to overthrow and seize Panamanian strongman Manuel Noriega, or, at the opposite extreme, Mr. Bush's adamant refusal to confront or sanction the Chinese regime after its brutal suppression of the pro-democracy movement.

In both cases, the President reportedly shunned advice, and acted out of intensely personal feelings. In Panama, it was his determination not to be "pushed around" by a Latin dictator. Based on his relatively brief tenure as US Ambassador to Beijing, Mr. Bush held a similarly subjective view that friendly relations with the Chinese leadership must be preserved at all costs.

George Bush's previous foreign policy experience, as Ambassador to the UN and China, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and as Ronald Reagan's vice president, has long been thought impressive. Still, after two years of his own presidency, many wonder how deep the exposure ran.

The President recently talked to a television interviewer, for instance, about how he and his wife, Barbara, had been sitting in bed reading an Amnesty International report on Iraqi human rights abuses in occupied Kuwait. Why, the torture was "primeval," Mr. Bush said with wide-eyed and evident sincerity, describing how electrodes were applied to the victims "private parts." Washington journalists and officials were shocked at the President's apparent ignorance, if not disingenuousness, at torture techniques that have long been a staple of diplomatic and media reports, and in which even Mr. Bush's own CIA was implicated in Latin America and elsewhere in the 1970s.

How much, they asked, does this man really know of a government and world whose distinguished offices fill his resume?

But whatever this president's sophistication or knowledge in foreign affairs, there is also concern that his administration is extraordinarily parochial and uninformed about a Middle East where nearly a half million Americans are poised on the brink of war.

Even if Mr. Bush were open to his more senior advisers, their own records show little sensibility to the complex cultural, political, and personal currents in the region.

Messrs. Baker, Cheney and Powell, two politicians and an Army bureaucrat, have no such credentials. On the National Security Council Staff, Air Force General Brent Scowcroft and his deputy, former CIA officer Robert Gates are both generalist bureaucrats with no Arab expertise. Richard Haass, 39, the NSC's ostensible director for the Middle East, has written books on congressional power and arms control, and once did a brief stint as the State Department's Cyprus coordinator, but otherwise has no relevant background.

Meanwhile, in Foggy Bottom, Deputy Eagleberger is an old hand in European affairs, Undersecretary Robert Kimmitt was Mr. Baker's lawyer at the Treasury Department, John Kelly, the Assistant Secretary for the Near East and South Asia, is a European specialist who speaks French and Thai, State Department Counsel Robert Zoellick is another former Treasury official with a recent interest in Soviet affairs, and Director of Policy Planning Dennis Ross is trained in Russian studies.

Authentic Middle East experts — men and women at State, Defense or the CIA who speak Arabic and know the area — are said to be conspicuously absent from policy meetings on the gulf crisis, such as they are. Officials are dismayed that April Glaspie, the former US Ambassador to Iraq, or even the most recent US officials to come out of Kuwait or Baghdad, have not been summoned by the President for their first-hand experience and impressions regarding Saddam Hussein or the other realities of the confrontation.

Nor has the White House sought out the nation's ample and varied ranks of non-governmental experts on the Middle East, authorities who might offer perspectives on a range from strategy to economic sanctions.

Regional experts, to be sure, are no guarantors of wisdom or statesmanship. Archives of the cold war now show vividly how the anti-Soviet biases, peculiar class prejudices, and career politics of the early US specialists on the USSR influenced a malleable Harry S. Truman toward a provocative and sometimes gratuitous US belligerence in the post-war era.

On the other hand, some of the same experts gave President John F. Kennedy invaluable advice in dealing with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev during the Cuban Missile crisis of 1962. And the absence of bona fide Foreign Service specialists on China and Southeast Asia, the toll of McCarthyism, was critical in presidential blundering and miscalculation in Vietnam.

Without such advice and experience firsthand, without the "feel" for foreign leaders and societies, presidents are dangerously dependent on Washington's ubiquitous briefing memoranda, documents drafted by committee, notoriously blanching of nuance and constricted by consensus.

As history could warn President Bush, the broadest, most coolly rational counsel is vital in crises such as the Persian Gulf, if only because conflict between nations with all its terrible cost comes so often from the closed, subjective, personal decision.

Barbara Tuchman recalled it well in her Guns of August, a brilliant chronicle of the folly and myopia that led to World War I. "The human heart," she quoted Marechal de Saxe, "is the starting point of all matters pertaining to war."

(Roger Morris, a columnist for Sunmount Syndicate, served on the senior staff of the National Security Council under presidents Lyndon Johnson and Richard Nixon. He writes of world affairs for national as well as New Mexico syndication, and was a finalist for the 1990 National Book Award.)

LEGAL NOTICE NOTICE OF PROPERTY TAX REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Property which was valued in 1990 in this county by the county assessor is not required to be reported or rendered for 1991 or subsequent years, EXCEPT FOR:

1. mobile homes
2. livestock, and
3. land used for agricultural purposes

If, for any reason, your property was not valued last year and it is subject to valuation this year, you are required by law to report it to the county assessor on forms provided either by mail or at the assessor's office.

All nongovernmental entities (property owners) which claim to be exempt from the property tax must report their property and claim their exemption for 1991 if the exemption was not claimed in 1990.

Reports for mobile homes, livestock, land use for agricultural purposes, property not valued last year and claims for exemptions by nongovernmental entities must be completed and mailed or delivered to the county assessor not later than the last day of February.

If you made improvements to your real property and:

1. the improvements cost more than $1,000 and
2. a building permit for the improvements was not issued; you must report the nature of the improvements and their cost to the assessor not later than the last day of February. These reports must be on forms provided by that assessor.

If you believe your property decreased in value during the preceding year, you must report, on forms provided by the assessor, a signed statement which:

1. describes the property affected,
2. states the cause and nature of decrease in value, and
3. states the amount you contend the value has decreased.

This statement must be filed with the county assessor no later than the last day of February.

The Veterans exemption claim must be made by the last day of February by filing with the Assessor the Veterans Certificate of Eligibility.

If the head-of-family exemption was claimed and allowed in 1990 no new claim for that exemption is required to be filed. However, if that exemption was not claimed and allowed in 1990 and it is now claimed, claim must be made by the last day of February by filing with the assessor the form provided by the assessor.

Beginning in the 1992 tax year, taxpayers are responsible for declaring their property classification to the assessor, as residential or nonresidential. When the declaration is accepted by the assessor, it shall remain as such and need not be made in subsequent years unless the classification changes. If a taxpayer has not declared their property to be residential in 1990 and desires that classification for 1991 they must complete a declaration of residential classification and return the signed declaration to the county assessor's office by the last day of February, 1991.

Q. How Much Can Putting Your Retirement Money in Bank CDs Cost You?

A. A Lot!

Pioneer II outperformed bank CDs Over 10 years

Pioneer II	$302,722
Bank CDs	$113,084

*Pioneer II Growth of $2,000 a year 7/1/70 through 6/30/90**

Bank CDs would have cost you $189,638!

That's the difference between accumulations in Pioneer II and Bank CDs. So, while the principal's insured and the interest rate's fixed until maturity, "safe" bank CDs simply don't have the growth potential of Pioneer II. While CDs are fine for your short term needs, Pioneer II is ideal for your long term retirement goals.

If you have long-term retirement savings in CDs... Maybe it's time you switched to Pioneer II
