Events center cost keeps going up; city asks for help

Ruidoso councilors are hammering out designs and financing details for a municipal civic/events center to be a part of a resort complex that will include a golf course, performing arts center and hotel. Councilors took another look Tuesday at proposed plans and voted to ask the state for $482,000 toward the $1.9 million facility.

by CHUCK STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer
A resolution asking the state to kick in $482,000 to finish the Ruidoso Civic-Events center passed unanimously at Tuesday's special council meeting.

Architects Nolan, Garland and Hilles submitted another variation of the Ruidoso Civic-Events center, but were told to come back one more time with the final plans.

Alternatives discussed on the new set of plans included shifting the kitchen area, an entry canopy, an additional portable wall that would create a hallway between the meeting rooms and the exhibit area, the use of a catering room off the lobby, a front of the house storage area and concrete curbing.

No official decisions were made on any of the proposed revisions.

The estimated cost of $1,948,700 for a 33,300 square-foot tilt-wall structure was a disappointment for the council who wanted to stay within a $1,500,000 budget plan.

Architect Charles Nolan explained that his goal was to keep New Mexico contractors in the bid-

Ruidoso asks Legislature for $871,000

Ruidoso is seeking state money to improve the Midtown area located on a state road.

Councilors adopted Resolution 91-06, Tuesday, asking the state for $871,000 to fund the MainStreet-sponsored village revitalization.

State Representative John Underwood is being asked to present the request to the New Mexico Legislature.

The project would include rebuilding sidewalks, installing curb and gutter, developing more parking, landscaping, storm drain improvements, intersection improvements, pedestrian lighting and overhead lighting, traffic signals and more.

Architect Stan Cape and Ruidoso High School DECA (business education) students are working on a computerized video for presentation to state lawmakers. The video will show the MainStreet project area as it looks now and as it would look after planned improvements.

Iraq war could cut into college plans

The war in Iraq is reaching out to touch the lives of people in Lincoln County like a Carrizozo man whose college education was interrupted when he was called to active duty.

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Less than two weeks remained in the college semester when 21-year-old Brian G. Sanchez of Carrizozo was called to active duty in the war with Iraq.

Like thousands of other college students in the military reserves across the country, Sanchez faces the prospect of having to complete that semester and his final examinations when he returns in six months or longer.

His mother, Patsy Sanchez, chairman of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Board, thinks that's unfair.

"He was given incompletes on all of his courses because he couldn't take the finals," she said during a recent meeting of the county commission. "He'll be allowed to make up the tests when he gets back, but he can't study while he's gone and six months later it's going to be difficult to get back into the subjects."

"I just don't think it's fair."

Sanchez, who is a junior at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Texas, is serving with the Amarillo-based U.S. Marine Corp Reserves Second Division.

Danny Earps with the New Mexico Commission of Higher Education said no state policy has been drafted on reservists who are called before they can finish a semester.

"It wouldn't be something we would handle from this office," he said. "Each college or university will have to draft its own policy."

Dr. Eldon Walker, dean of admissions and registrar at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales, said that institution last semester adopted two options for reservists.

"They will be allowed to take an incomplete on a course and make it up within one year after they come back if they are far enough along in the semester," he said. "Or, if they are called early in the semester, we will facilitate a withdrawal without prejudice."

An activated reservist who decides to withdraw will be given a 100 percent refund, Walker said.

"Only a few have been affected at our school, which has a total enrollment of about 3,900 students," he said. "To my knowledge, no consideration has been given to exempting students from taking final examinations when they return."

A spokesman for the U.S. Department of Education said guidelines have been sent to universities on how to handle repayment of student loans by reservists called to active duty in mid-semester, but academic decisions will be left up to the individual institutions to handle.

Liz Toombs, dean of students at Texas Tech where many New Mexico residents attend school, said that university has been dealing with students on an individual basis and in coordination with instructors.

"I've been very impressed with the support of the faculty members," she said. "Some have been willing to go back and give grades. Some were willing to average tests already taken and if the students were happy with the grades, they took them."

How each situation is handled depends a great deal on the point at which the student was called to service.

"We are developing a general policy that says if they are called more than 21 days before finals, the issue will be discussed with the instructors," Toombs said. "But if they are called that day or after, they will get their grades."

"If they are not in good standing, I am recommending they ask for an incomplete and then they have one year from the date they return to make it up."

When they return, some reservists might be able to sit in and audit a class for a while to refresh their memories before they take the exams, Toombs said. "Hopefully, in the name of education, they will retain some of what they studied before they left," she said.

The university also is trying to put into the policy that students will not have to pay if they decide to take the classes again, she said. The Texas state education board has not approved refunds. But legislation is being considered by the state legislators to grant refunds if students must withdraw up to three weeks before the end of the grading period, she said.

Copies of the university's policy will be mailed in March to the families of activated reservists who were students, she said.

New Mexico State University in Las Cruces also is taking a flexible approach, according to Dr. Juan Franco, associate vice president.

"The policy is basically to work with the student," he said. "If they are enrolled and have to withdraw to serve, we will refund the money or give an incomplete that can be made up when they come back. Of course, if they leave two days or so before the end of the term, it obviously would be handled different. After all, they have been called to serve their country."

Karen Glaser, associate vice president and dean of students at the University of New Mexico, said that school simply revived a policy that was in place during the Vietnam conflict.

"It was extended to cover both men and women," she said. "If their unit is called, they are eligible for military withdrawal. If they are at the twelfth week of a 16-week term, they have the option of taking their grades as they stand or getting a full refund."

Officials at Western New Mexico University in Silver City were unavailable for comment.

MainStreet schedules river walk surveys

MainStreet Ruidoso, in the midst of a revitalization project in Midtown, is planning a river walk along the Rio Ruidoso. The Ruidoso Village Council gave the river trails a top priority and provided $15,000 to get started. The council is asking the State Legislature for $871,000 to improve sidewalks, lighting, parking and such in Midtown.

Ruidoso News Business Editor

Planners met Wednesday to devise a time schedule on the first phase of a "river trail" system along the Rio Ruidoso in the Midtown area.

The river trail system is one part of the revitalization and upgrading of the Midtown area by MainStreet Ruidoso and the Village of Ruidoso.

Carter and Burgess, city planners, are doing a master plan of the Midtown area to include the river trail system. During a public hearing, Ruidoso councilors gave the river walk portion of the plan top priority and indicated they're ready to get on with it.

The council, in a mid-year budget resolution Tuesday, approved $15,000 to pay for a ground and aerial survey of the river area from Fern Street (behind Contel) to Country Club.

Planners got right to work on a schedule that includes contacting property owners, performing an aerial and ground surveys and acquiring right of way for the trail system.

Mary Maul, MainStreet Ruidoso project director; John Shaw, consulting engineer; Cleatus Richards, Ruidoso Planning and Zoning administrator; Smokey Stover, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission, and the village attorney, Dave Thomsen, mapped out the schedule.

That schedule should produce plats by August 30. The survey, when completed, will in essence be a replat of Ruidoso Springs and Riverside subdivisions, 80 acres in all.

Plats will be used for engineering and provided to property owners.

Village staff will send letters to property owners asking permission to cross river properties to do a land survey. Local property owners will be contacted in person.

Agreeing to let surveyors cross property will not obligate property owners in any other way, planners say.

Planners are hopeful property owners will reply to the survey request by February 20 so that land surveyors can get to work setting some 25 to 50 controls (markings) that will be visible in the aerial survey.

The three registered land surveying firms in the county will do the surveying. An aerial survey of the area will take place in April after "controls" have been set by ground surveyors.

Property owners, if the initial response is generally favorable, could be asked later to provide easements over "unbuildable" segments of river property (in the flood plain) for the proposed asphalt river walking trail.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers will be asked if there is any objection to having an asphalted walking trail along the waterway.

Several footbridges may be necessary to guide the trail around "impossible terrain" or away from property where no easements can be obtained. Planners say such a trail should improve property values.

The aerial survey should come in early April, with maps and such back to the village by early June.

Re-platting will occur by July 1 and free plats (surveys) should be to property owners by August 30.

After August 30, meetings of property owners will be set to work out any problems with easements.

Maul said the New Mexico Highway Department has agreed to furnish "excess" asphalt from a Suderth cold mill overlay project next fall to be stored to use on the trails.

The highway department will take up existing asphalt and relay it in the overlay project. But the street will be — in some areas — an inch or more lower, resulting in excess asphalt material.

Earlybirds work hard to keep streets safe

The Village of Ruidoso has enjoyed a relatively safe traffic record in inclement weather this season according to Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor.

Swenor attributes much of the safety success story to the Ruidoso village road department's diligent efforts to quickly service roads suddenly thrust into hazardous conditions.

Swenor said he has personally congratulated Charlie Armstrong, street superintendent, and his staff for their work.

Armstrong said conditions in the area are monitored 24 hours on the special weather band. He also stays in contact with local weatherman Bill Hostetter.

"Bill will call to say, 'Charlie, this one has the potential for being severe.'"

If we've missed anything, he's a great backup.

Armstrong walked through the routine.

"First thing we do is check the snow's depth," he said. "We send people all over town to check key areas, because the snow depth varies in areas where the temperatures change."

"When the depth reaches four inches we go into action or if during the night it snows more than four inches then we'll start calling our men in about 2 a.m. They will all be here by 3 a.m. and out of the gate before 4 a.m."

Armstrong said the crew starts plowing with three blades on Suderth Drive, plowing from the "Y" up to Bennett's grocery store. At the same time, snow plow trucks begin a run from Bennett's to the ski run turn off.

The state highway department furnishes all the salt needed for Highway 48.

Precipitation probabilities are zero today, tonight and Friday. Precipitation totals: year to date, 0.70 inches, 0.13 inches below normal; month to date, 0.13 inches, which is 0.13 inches below the average. Seasonal rainfall totals: to date, 20.5 inches, 2.3 inches below the average.

The outlook for Saturday through Monday: Fair to partly cloudy with temperatures near the seasonal low of 19 and high of 51.

FROM THE ALMANAC: On January 29, 1949, Ruidoso's maximum temperature reached only 11 degrees. The minimum that day was three degrees below zero.

River Walk Project Schedule

- Immediately — village notifies property owners and asks for permission to survey along the Rio Ruidoso
- February 20 — deadline for replies from property owners
- April — aerial survey to be completed
- July 1 — replats to be completed of the Rio Ruidoso area behind the Midtown area
- August 30 — plats to be ready for distribution to property owners
- After August 30 — meetings between village planners and property owners
- U.S. Corps of Engineers will be consulted regarding plans for the asphalt walkway.

Briefs

Patrollers locate lost skier

It took many hours, but a Texas skier at Ski Apache who skied down the wrong side of the mountain was escorted to safety in the dark, Tuesday morning.

Pierre De Los Santo, 28, of Houston, Texas, was located by two members of the Ski Patrol, Jovian Smith and Kevin Puckett, between 2 and 3 a.m. Tuesday on the three Rivers side of White Mountain. The pair escorted the man down the mountain where the trio was picked up by a truck dispatched by Roy Parker, manager of Ski Apache.

Parker said the Ski Patrol found ski tracks going out of the Ski Apache boundaries. The tracks were followed in the dark down the back side of the mountain to the skier's location.

He had to climb under the ropes to get where he was, Parker said. Earlier in January, a lost skier was found after two nights on the mountain in the same general area where the Houston man was located.

New state rep wants to hear from people in his district

State Representative John Underwood is looking for feedback from his constituents.

Underwood, a Democrat representing District 56, is on the Judiciary Committee, Rules and Order of Business Committee, Voters and Elections Committee and Chairman of Enrolling and Engrossing.

Persons wanting to contact State Representative Underwood during this 60-day legislative session may call him at 984-9529 or 984-9531. Underwood's address is: State Representative John Underwood, State Capitol Building, Santa Fe, New Mexico, 87503.

Underwood, a Ruidoso attorney, is serving his first term in the State Legislature. His district includes Ruidoso and Artesia.

Searchers reschedule practice rescue to Saturday February 2

A practice search and rescue originally scheduled for Saturday, January 26, has been rescheduled for Saturday, February 2.

White Mountain Search and Rescue will join with other search and rescue teams and emergency personnel from Dona Ana County and the Alamogordo area in locating an emergency locator transmitter (ELT) and finding, treating and evacuating the victims of a simulated airplane crash. The simulated crash site will be somewhere in Alamo Canyon.

White Mountain Search and Rescue members will meet at 6:30 a.m. Saturday, February 2, at the Ruidoso Police Department parking lot where they will board the vehicles headed to the operation staging area at State Police headquarters in Alamogordo.

Members and prospective members planning to participate in the exercise are asked to contact Jim Edwards (258-3272 weekdays and 378-4203 in the evenings) by Wednesday, January 30.

Fire groups reset meeting

The January meeting of the Lincoln County Fire Services Association was canceled Monday due to poor weather conditions. The next meeting of the association will be at 7 p.m. February 18, at the Ruidoso Downs Fire Station.

Recluse spiders pack deadly punch

Brown recluse spider bites are serious business. Several residents have learned firsthand that the deadly spiders are sometimes encountered right here in Ruidoso.

by AL STUBBS

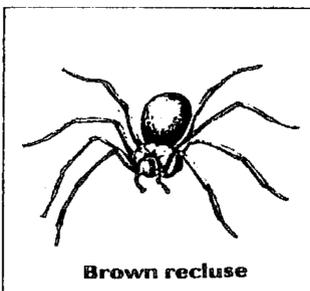

Ruidoso News Business Editor

It doesn't happen often, but when it does, it's very bad news. Just ask Cal Cowden of Ruidoso about the consequences when bitten by a brown recluse, also known as the fiddleback, spider.

Cowden was bitten on the finger but didn't know it at the time.

Yes, they do exist in Ruidoso, and the nocturnal creatures eject a poison which causes serious damage to the skin at the site of a bite. Several residents have been bitten in Ruidoso over a period of time.

Cowden, who spends a lot of the time at Lincoln County Medical Center where he works as a volunteer, said a nurse at the hospital was once bitten behind the ear by one of the tiny spiders.

The fiddleback has a fiddle-shaped mark on its back just behind the head (see illustration).

The poison mimics flu for a time before the site of the bite begins to give a lot of trouble.

"I had fever, chills and was sore all over," Cowden said.

He said four or five days later, a doughnut shaped "crater" appeared at the site of the bite. It turned black, and the flesh started rotting away, he explained.

A plastic surgeon in Albuquerque told Cowden that the bite is far worse than a rattlesnake bite. There is serum which can be administered after a snake bite which minimizes the damage, Cowden said.

Until fairly recently the black widow spider was considered the only spider in the United States dangerous to humans. Then physicians began treating victims of brown recluse spider bites.

The insect is approximately 5/16 inch in length, dark brown to fawn in color with long legs. It also is known as brown spider or brown house spider.

Generally it is found in open fields and rocky bluffs but thrives particularly well in out houses, garages, dark closets, showrooms and in piles of sacking or old clothing. Its web is large and irregular.

Because of the spider's nocturnal and retiring habits few people are bitten, in spite of a large spider population. According to an article in the Journal of the Arkansas Medical Society, "there may be mild transitory stinging at the time of the bite, but there is little associated early pain. The patient may be completely unaware he has been bitten ..."

"Some medicines administered soon after exposure have in some cases prevented gangrenous response as well as systematic reactions."

Treatment can match that administered for a pit viper bite but over a shorter period of time.

The technical name for the spider is the Loxosceles reclusus. It likes to hide in piles of clothing.

Shake out your socks before putting them on in the morning.

And keep your eye peeled for the violin marking. If unduly concerned, there's always the exterminator.

Council peruses mid-year finances

Ruidoso Village Councilors spent most of Tuesday conducting a detailed mid-year review of a $12.5 million municipal budget. Adjustments totaling $885,000 were included in the mid-year budget resolution that passed with all "ayes." Village manager Charles Norwood explained the added expenses that went into the adjusted budget.

by CHUCK STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Unexpected expenditures hiked the midyear 12.5 million dollar village budget by $385,000 in a generally favorable report submitted to the village council last Tuesday.

The quarterly financial statement review period ended in December 1990.

The council voted unanimously to approve a six months budget resolution that called for an increase in additional expenditures of $385,000.

Village manager Charles Norwood said the finance staff offset the expenditures by adding $440,000 in additional revenues for a net gain halfway through the year of about $45,000.

Norwood explained the added expenditures.

"People will ask, and they should, why we had all these additional expenses coming in at the midway point," Norwood said.

"Over $60,000 was added because we didn't budget the proper amount for bonds and insurance. Another $36,000 expenditure occurred when we forgot to budget for the midyear bond payment for the new bond on the civic events center."

"Several unexpected projects, a contribution to the Iron Horse Railroad of $4,900, another $19,000 on the fence around the golf course, our portion going from five feet to eight feet to protect the joggers, are examples of added expenses."

"We also had to include $14,000 for another fence around Grindstone Dam for protection of the people."

"None of these items were budgeted. So these were unexpected expenditures that we had to take care of," Norwood said.

"It is the staff's intent and goal, of course that there shouldn't have to be another budget resolution," Norwood said.

After the council's lengthy review of the budget where a multitude of questions were answered, the consensus was that the budget was in good shape.

Norwood said all of the councilors made good, valid contributions that would help the finance staff in the future.

Mayor Victor Alonso and councilor Ron Andrews assisted the finance staff in communicating the final projections of the 1990-01 budget.

Norwood said working various points of view and then incorporating them into one report that the council could understand and be satisfied with was a difficult task. He said finance clerk LeeAnn Boswell was near that achievement.

"LeeAnn has been working on this budget preparation for weeks.

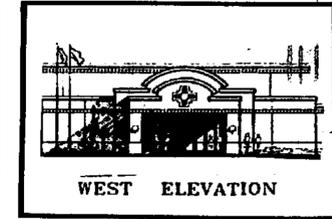

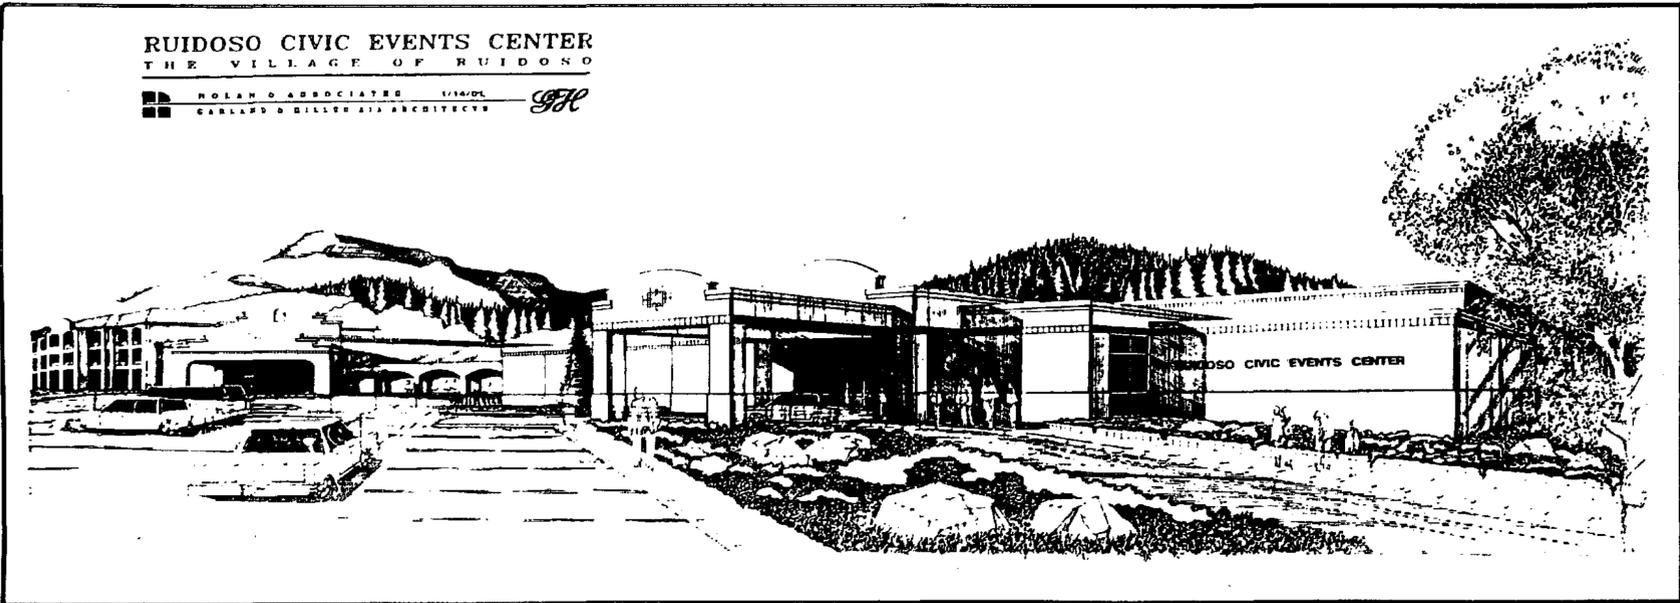

Anyone that is that familiar like she was with the budget, deserves a big pat on the back. She did a remarkable job. She not only worked with Jim Baker, implementing many of the good points in his report, but with other points the council members wanted to get into the report," he said.

Norwood cited Baker's summary on cash balances as "very helpful to the council."

Baker is a Ruidoso citizen who volunteers his help in reviewing and analyzing village financial figures.

The village manager said the review was the first total official report presented. "Obviously there will be some fine tuning of this for the next quarter," he said. "But from this point on, I think the council will have a clearer picture on how we stand financially in the future."

The next report will be submitted to the council in April which will include the period from January 1 through March 31.

Architectural renderings submitted by Nolan & Associates of El Paso and Garland & Hilles Architects of Alamogordo at last Tuesday's special council meeting were of two front elevations of the civic-events center, above and left, and a floor plan of the 33,300 square-foot structure.

ding. "I'd like to keep every dollar within the state," he said.

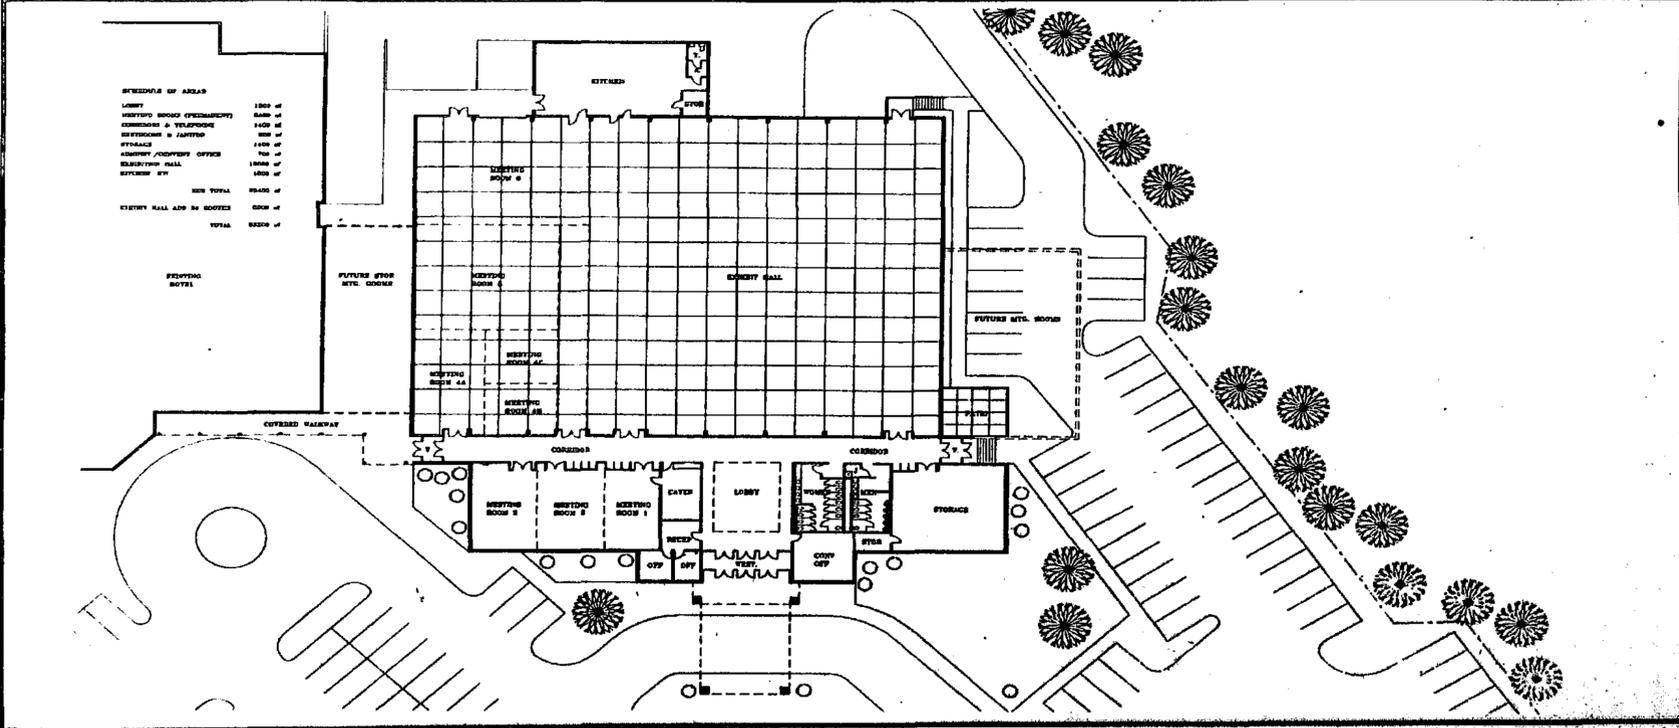

"Except for architectural fees," said Mayor Victor Alonso. Nolan is from El Paso, Texas.

The architects said they would seek bids from other firms as well as renegotiate the existing bids.

Several council members thought the hallway was an unnecessary expense, $25-30,000 for the additional portable wall. Mark Doth, marketing director for Ruidoso Downs Racing Inc. and a member of the village's Lodgers Tax Committee, said he thought the hallway an unnecessary expense and recommended a psychological walkway utilizing carpet along the portable wall nearest the exhibit area.

Attorney Don Dutton, representing himself as a concerned citizen, said he also felt the additional hall partition was unnecessary.

Other spectators at the meeting expressed concern that a hallway was necessary to prevent noise infiltration between the meeting rooms and the large cement floored, open ceiling exhibition area.

More students mean more school money

Ruidoso schools' increased census figure for the year translated to a $386,991 increase in state funding. School board members met Wednesday to allocate those funds for additional personnel to serve the larger school population.

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A seven percent increase in student enrollment over last year translated to a $386,991 budget boost for the Ruidoso School District.

And School Board members Wednesday took a few minutes out of their lunch breaks to decide just how to spend it.

In line with recommendations by School Superintendent Mike Gladden, the board approved new teachers, new textbooks and an extra $2,000 for their trip to the National School Board Convention in San Francisco.

Not all of the members will be going on the trip scheduled for April 13-16. Two members, Don Swalander and Stormy Edwards, are not seeking re-election next month.

"The out-going members thought the convention would be the best time for the new and old members to get to know each other," Gladden said Thursday. And it would give them a crash course in innovative ideas for education, from across the country, he said.

"The convention covers everything from legal seminars to educational programs, things going on around the nation," Gladden said. It's probably the best conference offered and its about the only one that members ever attend. And they don't always go to it."

Gladden will travel with the five board members. The total cost of the trip will be about $3,000, he said. Part of the money approved Wednesday actually will be used to cover printing costs for the proposed tax levy to finance an off-campus education center that will be on the ballot February 5, Gladden said.

The district received the budget increase because about 133 additional students have enrolled since the state count last year, bringing the district's peak enrollment to 1,968. Students are enrolled on the fortieth day of the new school year. The increase brings the annual budget to nearly $7.6-million.

"It provides some real benefits to the district," Gladden told school board members. "The major portion will be going into personnel, although we're still talking and there might be some more adjustments. There always are adjustments to the budget about this time because the budget is only a projection."

The board OK'd a $100,000 increase for equipment. Member Don Swalander questioned whether the money would be equally divided among the district's schools.

Gladden said that after talking to principals, he had decided to prioritize equipment needs district wide and then allocate the money.

Other major budget increases approved by the board were:

—$92,832 for teachers added at the White Mountain Elementary and Intermediate schools, and for additional Home Economics and Technology classes at Ruidoso Middle School.

—$61,793 for five additional teacher aides including music and physical education classes at the elementary and intermediate level and covering noon duty.

—$5,973 to add one secretary in the high school counselor's office, which may allow the district to postpone hiring a second counselor for a few years.

—$45,027 to pay for more hours by specialists under the programs for the deaf, for psychological services, for special education testing and to compensate instructors who are teaching a seventh class period.

—$3,000 to bolster athletic transportation.

—$34,138 for additional textbooks and instructional supplies and materials.

The Silver Lining

Snow blows in for the birthday month of M.L. King, Robert Burns, Munro & Hart

Still Another Great Snow

On the nineteenth there was a warm wave in the Vale blown in by the west wind. All the night before, the temperature did not go below 40, the daytime temperature rose up to 55. You knew that this was what the old timers used to call "a weather breeder." Sure enough, on the morning of the twentieth, here came a great cloud of freezing mist charging over the hill to the north, bringing a cold wave into the valley, and dropping the temperature to 22.

Then just at nightfall here came the small snowflakes following the mist out of the east, and today on the twenty-first all the Vale is covered with a light and powdery snow that says "crunch, crunch" under your feet as you walk.

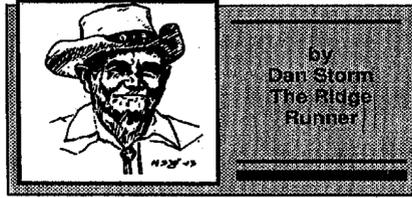

This is what you call a dry snow, just right for sledding and skiing; and also something makes us very careful in driving and walking because of the layer of ice underneath. All in all, we are having a wonderful snow season.

Annual Meeting Of The Episcopal Church In Lincoln County

Members of the Episcopal Church from all four churches in Lincoln County gathered last Sunday at the church of the Holy Mount in Ruidoso for the annual meeting.

Father John Penn in his sermon reminded us that the War in the Persian Gulf reminds us that we must face the reality of evil in the world, that we must minister to one another during these trying times and pray that the war may end soon. Father John then gave a prayer for those in the armed services.

"Almighty God, we commend to thy gracious care and keeping all the men and women of our armed forces at home and abroad. Defend them day by day with your heavenly grace; strengthen them in their trials and temptations; give them courage to face the perils which beset them; and grant them a sense of your abiding presence wherever they may be; through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen."

and his neighbors would hear him singing verses that came into his mind as he followed the plough. This earned him the name "The Singing Plough Boy."

Something like Abraham Lincoln who was greatly inspired by his works, Burns had very little schooling; yet through a great love of reading developed a mastery of words, which, together with his God-given insight into the human heart enabled him to write poems and songs which are more beloved with the passing of time.

Every New Year's Eve, Burns returns to us as we sing "Auld Land Syne."

The twenty-fifth is also the birthday of Willie Randolph beloved Pioneer Lincoln County native who lived in Ruidoso. This is also the birthday of Miss Timmie Sue Dunnahoo, of Roswell, also a poet and fit birthday-mate for the immortal Burns.

Birthday of Martin Luther King

This is being written on the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr. Let us all be grateful citizens of our beloved country, and remember that we are all brothers under the Fatherhood of God.

Happy Birthday To Bill Hart

Now I am writing you this message on mid-morning of January 22. And just now Bill Hart called me up and said his birthday was this Saturday. He said he wanted to buy me a cup of coffee and talk over old times.

W.A. Hart was born in Abernathy, Texas, January 26, 1906, to Jim and Pears Hart. He attended high school in Lubbock, and studied electrical engineering at Lubbock Tech.

He came to Ruidoso in 1936, and established the first heater system in Ruidoso, and remodeled the first electric system. In 1946 he was married to the former Violet McElheny. They live in Ruidoso Downs. We wish Bill Hart many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Happy Birthday To Gib Munro

This will reach you on the birthday of Gib Munro, born January 24, 1924, in Central New Mexico to George and Juanita Munro.

He went to Texas A&M and then graduated from Colorado State University with a degree in forestry. He was married to the former Elizabeth Quinlan, February 12, 1949 in Tucson, Arizona. They have lived in Ruidoso since 1977. We wish Gib many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Birthday of Robert Burns

The next day after the birthday of Gib Munro, we celebrate the birthday of Robert Burns, the Scotch poet beloved by the world for all time. He was born January 25, 1759. From early boyhood he worked on the farm,

Capitan

Capitan turns to nature for sewage treatment

A Capitan wetlands project uses natural methods to treat the village's sewage in a project funded with a $370,000 Community Development Block Grant. The project, coordinated by Dr. Bernhard Reimann, improves sewage treatment and will include a recreational lake area with picnic tables and fishing.

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Within the next two years, Capitan may join the growing ranks of communities that have turned to nature for treatment of their sewage.

Calling on the special filtration abilities of cattails, bulrushes and duckweed, the village plans to construct trenches and lagoons, then populate them with the cleansing plants.

The architect of the proposed constructed wetlands treatment facility is retired biologist, Dr. Bernhard Reimann. Since moving to Capitan in 1988, Reimann has spent the last two years moving the village into the vanguard of sewage treatment.

"Shortly after I arrived, the then mayor Benny Coker appointed me as environmental adviser of the village," Reimann said. "I got involved in the solid waste problem, interpreting the results of water tests for the village, participated in the Emergency 911 program and was named chairman of the planning and zoning board to help draft a zoning ordinance."

But sewage was always on his mind and he volunteered even more hours toward that project.

"I looked at the sewage ponds because they are one of the first things that fall into your eyes when you enter the village from the east," Reimann said.

One of the factors that prompted the village to consider a new approach to sewage treatment was that the state increased the size of lot required to use a septic tank from a half acre to three-fourths an acre.

"The village has a bunch of un-built property that is less than three-fourths an acre and the value of that land will be decreased if it does not have sewage system access," Reimann said.

Earlier this year based on Reimann's proposal, the village was awarded a $370,000 Community Block Development Grant for project. The village paid $20,000, about 5 percent, as its contribution.

Reimann's proposal does not cover installation of sewer lines to outlying subdivisions that currently are not served by the village, but are a vital source of future customers.

Village officials also were interested in the possibility of processing sewage in a biological digester to generate energy through the creation of gas, but Reimann quickly determined that approach was economically unfeasible.

Only half of the village's water users now are connected to the sewage treatment system and those customers mainly are confined to the downtown area, he said.

The village sewage system serves about 610 people out of a population of just under 1,000, Reimann has estimated. In 1987, about 10.6-million gallons of sewage were treated.

When the subdivisions around the core of the village are occupied and hooked up to the system, Reimann envisions a population of about 1,500, generating a flow of 35.5-million gallons a year.

"It depends on the growth of the village how fast we make that figure," he said. "But the system as designed can handle roughly 50-million gallons a year and could be easily expanded."

"I figured the layout on 30 years, one human generation."

Working with the state Environmental Improvement Division and Division of Energy and Mineral Resources during 1989, Reimann drafted a plan of what would be necessary to come up with a feasible system.

The existing system is purely a retention and evaporation approach and it doesn't work, he said.

"The lagoons had overflowed into one pond, then a second and now a third is slowly reaching capacity," Reimann said.

"I noticed that the water in the ponds is clear enough to maintain some sort of wildlife. There were a lot of weeds growing around the edges of the ponds. That was not the situation in the lagoons," he said. "Nature has a tremendous means to automatically clean the sewage."

Biological systems are used extensively in Germany and France. The New Mexico town of Tatum near the Texas border uses a wetlands approach, which also has been utilized for removal of metals in cleanup of mining areas, he said.

The system as proposed by Reimann would be tailored to almost total biological detoxification of the village's sewage. Reimann recommended using more than a single species of plant.

"My plan includes a number of different plant species that can be used in cleaning at different times of the year and at different water levels," he said. "It will be a balance of plant types including cattails, bulrushes and a number of algae. The main thing is to get oxidation into the system."

"We also have to be sure that the species we're planting will work in our environment which has relatively long dry spells. They must be able to grow on the surface in unprotected and unshaded areas. I did a lot of hiking to find out what was growing here."

Under his proposal, raw sewage would flow into one of two lined trenches after solid particles have been broken up by grinder pumps, the only portion of the system demanding electricity.

The new system would be constructed on 18 acres near the existing village lagoons.

Reimann's design involves a constant flow of the sewage through the initial trenches and then into a series of four long lagoons, which also will be lined and planted plants such as cattails, wild celery and deep water duck potatoes.

"It is not tailored for a stagnation system, it always is flowing," he said.

The trip through the six- to 10-foot deep trenches and lagoons before the effluent is emptied into a lake will take about one month.

If after flowing through the entire network, the effluent is not sufficiently cleansed, it can be rechanneled through the system again before being released.

To measure treatment efficiency, the effluent will be tested for the number of suspended solids, the amount of oxygen being used by bacteria and algae, and the amount of phosphorus.

"In the incoming wastewater, those elements can be measured in hundreds of milligrams per liter," Reimann said. "The outgoing should contain five to 10 milligrams per liter."

"The water is so clean that it can be used in irrigation and for livestock."

With relatively little maintenance, the village will be able to regulate and control the system without harvesting, except for the occasional cutting of duckweed and removal of sludge from the first two trenches, Reimann said.

Plant growth can be controlled by lowering or raising the level of the water, retarding or encouraging certain growth.

Because there are no toxic elements in the waste, the sludge could be used for compost, something Lincoln County may pursue, he said.

Reimann presently is doing an environmental assessment as well as historical and archaeological impact study in conjunction with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service. One general impact statement will be sent to different agencies.

The project is scheduled to be finished by the end of 1992, but the timing will hinge on correct planting of the vegetation, he said.

An extra bonus to the community will be the creation of a recreational area around the lake with picnic tables and barbecue pits and planted with evergreens.

The lake will be stocked with fish and fish also will be kept in the lagoons to control mosquito larvae.

"There will be no smell in comparison to what there is now," Reimann said. "How much smell will depend on the growth of duckweed."

The sewage treatment schematic designed by Bernhard Reimann shows lagoon number 8 to be used for storage during winter months and lagoon 9 that will handle primary decomposition. Lined trenches 11-14 in the middle will provide secondary treatment with use of plants. The lake at top should receive water clean enough for recreation purposes and will be stocked with fish.

"Murder Most Fowl" takes the stage

Hillbillies and dead chickens on stage will be mixed with fine deserts from the Inn of the Mountain Gods on Saturday, February 2, when the Capitan High School Drama Class presents "Murder

Most Fowl."

Eighteen students are involved in the production of the one-act comedy set for 7:30 p.m. in the high school multi-purpose room.

The money raised by the sale of play tickets will be used to cover the cost of attending the Eastern New Mexico University's Drama

Festival in Portales, said Molly

Weber, drama director.

Tickets for the dessert theater will be on sale at the door. The charge will be $4 for adults and $2 for students.

Clarification

The Village of Capitan is carrying about $7,000 in overdue water and sewer bills each month. A story in The Ruidoso News January 17 said otherwise.

Ruidoso News indicated an elderly Capitan man was found in his home dehydrated and that his water had been shut off for several days.

An official of the Capitan Water Department wanted to clarify that the department did not shut off water to the residence.

Contel Corner

Customer Satisfaction Is Our Goal

Performance is a buzz word in American industry these days. Companies are constantly striving for top performance, to satisfy customers, investors, and as a way to motivate employees.

But performance can be measured in many ways. At Contel we measure our performance through what we call the CSI, or Customer Satisfaction Index.

The index shows us how we do our job in a number of categories, including how fast we fill orders, whether a customer has to call more than once to receive service, and whether we fix a problem right the first time. We also call customers to ask for their opinions on our service. These surveys are graded and included in the CSI.

All these measurements are added up to give us an overall picture of our performance. These figures are then compared with how we did last month, last year, and with how Contel did in other parts of the country.

We are always trying to get our numbers higher. Good scores mean we are doing our jobs well. Moreover, they are a great motivator for all of us at Contel because they indicate to us "a job well done."

But more important . . . good scores also show that our Customers are increasingly satisfied with their service. And that, after all is said and done, is our number one goal! And in 1991 we'll be trying even harder — that's a promise.

Fast horses join line of quarter horse champs

Dash For Speed

Millionaire mare Dash For Speed has been named the 1990 World Champion Racing American Quarter Horse by the American Quarter Horse Association's (AQHA) Racing Committee.

Continuing her winning tradition into a new decade, she also captured the Champion Aged Horse and Champion Aged Mare titles for the second year in a row.

The lightfooted mare capped her racing year as a five-year-old by winning the prestigious Champion of Champions (G1).

Following her win, owners Bob Blakeman of Fort Worth, Texas, and Tom Bradbury of Byers, Colorado, retired Dash For Speed with career earnings of $1,225,336.

The Blane Schvaneveldt trainee ranks eighth on the list of leading money-earning mares.

Dash For Speed won three races from five starts and earned $209,595 in 1990. The year's Champion Jockey Kip Didericksen was aboard for all three wins.

Her seven championship titles include 1988 Champion Three-Year-Old Filly and Co-Champion Three-Year-Old.

The wealthy daughter of Dash For Cash, Dash For Speed is now in retirement as a broodmare at Blakeman Farms near Fort Worth.

Refrigerator

All-American Futurity (G1) winner Refrigerator was honored as the 1990 Champion Two-Year-Old and Champion Two-Year Old Gelding.

Refrigerator, purchased last June for just $150,000, turned out to be a good investment for Arlington, Texas roofing contractor James Helzer.

Helzer spent another $50,000 to supplement Refrigerator to the Futurity where the speedster earned his owner $1 million in the richest race in American Quarter Horse racing.

"He just had a look about him that he didn't want to get beat," Helzer said.

Refrigerator won seven races from nine starts and earned $1,089,902 in 1990.

The gelding is now in training with Dwayne (Sleepy) Gilbreath for the 1991 campaign, which is expected to include the Kansas Derby (G1) and Rainbow Derby (G1).

Quick Fun

Takin On The Cash

Quick Fun earned 1990 Champion Two-Year-Old Filly honors, while Takin On The Cash garnered the 1990 Champion Two-Year-Old Colt title.

Quick Fun is owned by Ruidoso Downs Race Track co-owners R.D. Hubbard of Fort Worth, Texas, and Edward Allred of Long Beach, California. Takin On The Cash is owned by Felipe Tiscareno of Tranquility, California.

Quick Fun's year was highlighted by a five-race win streak, followed by a second to Refrigerator in the All-American Futurity, her only loss for the season.

The daughter of Dash For Cash, Quick Fun was bred in Texas by Michael and Beth Harper and trained by Don Farris. She earned $336,623 in 1990.

Another 1990 champion by Dash For Cash, Takin On The Cash won five races from 12 starts and earned $360,918. He was bred in California by the Liston Brick Company and trained by Henry Dominguez.

Special Project

All American Derby champ Special Project is the 1990 Champion Three-Year-Old and Champion Three-Year-Old Colt.

Special Project, logged the biggest win of his career when he won the 17th All-American Derby on September 2.

Earlier in the season, he captured the Kansas Derby for owners Lindsey Burbank and John Douglas of Leesburg, Florida.

Special Project, who is trained by Jack Brooks, won four races from seven starts and earned $328,492 in 1990.

Sweet N Special

Claiming the 1990 Champion Three-Year-Old Filly is Sweet N Special, owned by Walter Fletcher of Lakin, Kansas.

Sweet N Special, the daughter of Special Effort, put in a good showing against the boys when she ran second in the Kansas Derby and Rainbow Derby.

Sweet N Special ended her 1990 campaign by winning the Sunland

Park Full Quarter Horse Derby. She won six of her 12 races and earned $151,162.

Apprehend

Apprehend is the 1990 Champion Three-Year-Old Gelding. He won the grade 1 El Primero Del Ano Derby and the Governor's Cup Derby, and finished a strong third against older horses in the Champion of Champions.

Owned and bred by Fred and Denise Scane's Legacy Ranch in Chino, California, the son of Meeridoc won five races from 11 starts, under the training expertise of Daryn Charlton.

Apprehend earned $355,623, making him the leading money-earning three-year-old in 1990.

Tee Roy Reb

Tee Roy Reb won four consecutive races at Remington Park, including the grade 2 Remington

Park Championship, to take the 1990 Champion Aged Gelding title.

A consistent performer throughout 1990 as a four-year-old, Tee Roy Reb ran second in the Champion of Champions and third in the grade 1 QHBC Championship Classic.

The gelding, by the Thoroughbred Reb's Policy, is owned by Martha Heidelberg of Sealy, Texas, who also was the breeder. He won five races from nine starts and earned $183,775 in 1990.

Tee Roy Reb is trained by Lee Heidelberg.

Jazzing Hi

Taking honors as the 1990 Champion Aged Stallion is Jazzing Hi, a chestnut American Quarter Horse bred by Wayne Charlton of Pasadena, California, who is co-owner with Ken Wright of Fresno, California.

The son of Meeridoc, trained by Daryn Charlton, made all seven starts in 1990 as a four-year-old at Los Alamitos, when he won the grade 1 Vessels Maturity. He also ran second in the grade 1 Los Alamitos Championship and QHBC Championship Classic.

With one win from seven starts, Jazzing Hi earned $151,500 last year.

Baychaino

The 1990 Champion Distance Horse, Baychaino, earned his title by winning five consecutive events at yards, including the $100,000 Marathon Invitational Handicap at Lost Alamitos, the nation's richest race at this distance.

The bay American Quarter Horse gelding, bred and owned by Carl Alleman of Allsprint Ranch in Selma, Oregon, and trained by Chuck Treece, was, as a 3-year old, the youngest horse in the Marathon Invitational Handicap, but the victory was not unexpected considering his earlier successes.

In 1990, the son of Meeridoc won half of his 14 races and earned $126,740.

AQHA Racing Committee

The 72-member AQHA Racing Committee annually determines the World Champion Racing American Quarter Horse and the divisional champions by ballot.

Five horses were nominated in each category based on their race records, including stakes won, money earned and strength of competition. After choosing the champion filly, colt and gelding in each age division, the committee members selected an overall champion for the two-year-old, three-year-old and aged categories.

The world champion was then selected from the three overall champions.

A two-year-old must receive a majority of the votes on the first ballot to earn the coveted title of World Champion, or a run-off will be held between the two older horses which receive the most votes.

B.F. Phillips Jr.

The late B.F. Phillips Jr., who was awarded the Champion Breeder title for the fourth consecutive time, began his career as a breeder in the early '50s and his name is associated with some of the most famous names in American Quarter Horse racing, including two-time world champion Dash For Cash, sire of 1990 champions Dash For Speed, Quick Fun, and Takin On The Cash. Horses bred by Phillips earned $644,175 in 1990. Phillips was known for his halter and cutting horses, but his chief interest remained focused on the racetrack.

He also established the famous Phillips Ranch near Frisco, Texas, where Dash For Cash stands.

Edward Allred

The Champion Owner, Edward Allred of Long Beach, California, and co-owner of Quick Fun, became an AQHA director in 1977, and still serves on the board. He also is president for the Horsemen's Quarter Horse Racing Association and is co-owner of Los Alamitos Racecourse.

The California physician has long been active in American Quarter Horse breeding and racing, and he has owned such outstanding racehorses as Way Maker, Dashing Val and Charger Bar.

During 1990, Allred's horses earned $400,001 and finished in the money in 13 stakes races.

Blane Schvaneveldt

Repeating his 1989 success, Blane Schvaneveldt was named Champion Trainer.

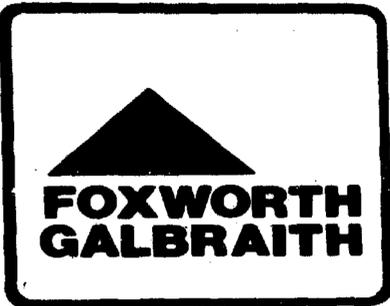

This Cypress, California, resident has dominated the sport of American Quarter Horse racing and is considered to be a living legend in the training field, according to information provided by the AQHA.

In 1990, he saddled 1,216 horses, won 178 races and his horses earned $1,711,665.

Kip Didericksen

Jockey Kip Didericksen of Buena Park, California, continues the trend for repeat winners in 1990 by claiming the Champion Jockey title.

The 25-year-old rider, originally from Idaho, established a record for the most money earned by an American Quarter Horse jockey in one season by riding mounts which earned $2,812,004.

Warriors finish high at Bowie

The Ruidoso Warrior wrestling squad was honored with high marks at the giant Bowie Invitational wrestling tournament in El Paso.

The Warriors met with 23 wrestling teams from Texas and New Mexico and ended the tournament in 11th place, within five points of 9th. It was the best Warrior finish since 1986.

Shawn Mendoza and James Atwood both placed high in their weight categories.

Mendoza finished the day in third place with a 4-1 record. His last win was against St. Mark's tough Alec Stewart.

Atwood grabbed fourth place honor with a 4-2 record in two solid days of wrestling.

The Warriors started the first round with Atwood, 119 pounds; Louis Jiminez, 130 pounds; Poncho Portillo, 160 pounds; Lee Nanz, 171 pounds, Able Montelongo, 180 pounds, and Shawn Mendoza, 189 pounds all won their first matches.

The Warriors pinned their opponents in five of the six matches and were among the leaders in tournament score after the first round.

Fernando Lopez, 119; Steve Dankert, 145 and Mario Portillo, 135; all rebounded after first round losses to pin their opponent in the first round of the consolation matches.

Warrior head coach said that Gunner Johnson, 103, lost his first two matches but improves every match. Chris Carusona at 130 pounds, had two exciting matches, losing 6-7 to Mario Centero and 11-14 to John Matthews.

Senior Kelly Casler competed in his first varsity match and dropped two matches. Ames said Casler just lacks experience for this level of competition.

Shane Eidson also had a tough time at heavyweight. Eidson also is inexperienced, but always has a lot of fun win or lose.

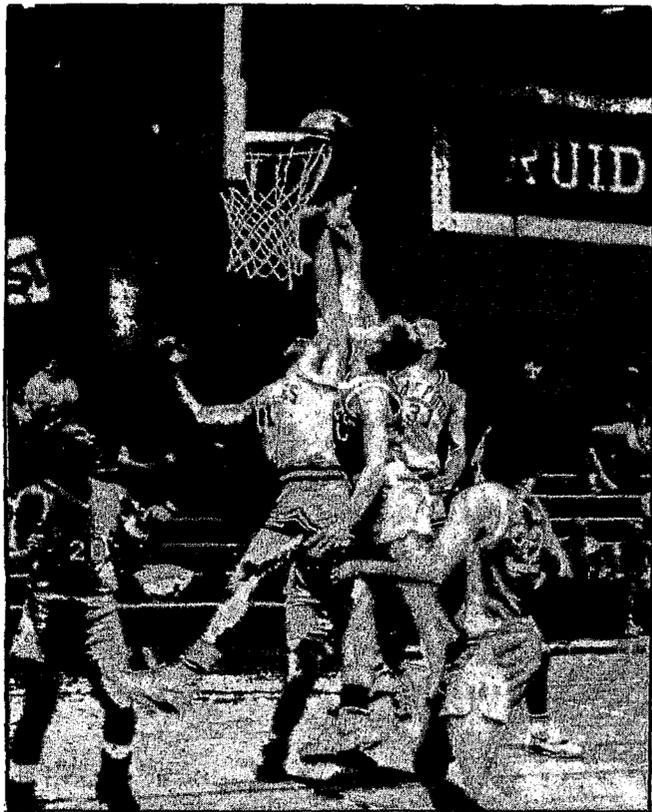

Keith Henson, 152, wrestled Patric Kilgore of El Paso Parkland in one of the most entertaining matches of the day. Henson lost in overtime and appeared totally exhausted after the nine-minute battle.

The Warriors continued to do well in the second round of the championship bracket. Atwood, Portillo, Nanz, Montelongo and Mendoza all advanced to the championship quarter finals.

Only Mendoza advanced to the semi-finals of the championship round.

The Warriors' next event will be the Ruidoso Invitational Tournament scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Saturday, January 26.

Jump!

Ruidoso Warriors reach for the rim in a team effort for the rebound. The Warriors have been enjoying a rebuilding year under first year coach Norm Wright.

Bowling Results

The Stroud Crop, winners of the first half of the Tuesday Night Mixed League, maintains a four game lead over the second place Birds.

Home Alone is climbing, two games from second place. David Hoffer bowled a hefty 243 to edge Terry Bernard's 231 for best of the night. We Aldrich bowled a fine 216.

Varsity girls win two

The fighting Ruidoso Warrior basketball maidens completed a two-day road trip in New Mexico's deep south with a double victory over Cobre and then Silver City.

The Warriors walked all over the Cobre Indians in Friday night's contest, 52-21.

Ruidoso broke open a taut defensive tilt with a 16-point second quarter after dropping behind in the first quarter 3-2.

Dianna McMasters accounted for 12 points in that second quarter and finished with a game high 19.

All Warriors saw ample playing time as coach Jody Blanton substituted freely.

Jennifer Parker scored nine points, including a long 3-pointer.

Kansas Miranda spread out her seven points over three quarters.

DeAnna Swanner hit 5 points; Amy Wishard, 4; Cicelee Makowski 4; Jeri Ann Keeton 2; and Tabatha

Parnell 1.

The Silver Colts proved the better weekend foe when they staged a furious fourth quarter rally only to come up short 53-45. Coach Blanton substituted freely in the final frame.

The game was not that close, as the hot shooting Warriors raced to a quick 20-10 first quarter lead. The Warriors hit eight buckets that first quarter and 3-4 at the charity line.

Dianna McMasters, in a career weekend, dropped in 16 points to lead the tribe in scoring, including a fine 6-8 free throw stint.

Jennifer Parker and DeAnna Swanner also hit the double digits with 10 points each.

Kansas Miranda scored all of her nine points in the third quarter.

Amy Wishard scored six points. Candace Muniz and Cicelee Makowski added a point apiece.

JV girls rip Cobre

Cobre proved to be great stomping grounds for the vastly improved Ruidoso JV Warrior girls who dominated the Indians last Friday, 52-30.

Coach Dennis Davis's girls slashed through the Indian lines for a 9-point first quarter lead, 13-4, expanded the lead by five in the second quarter and then blistered the nets for 20 points in the third frame.

Michelle Morris discovered the art of scoring and punched in 15 points including a great 7-10 free throw shooting spree.

Monica Martinez hit the double digits with 11 points and a couple dozen rebounds.

Other Warrior scorers were Tabatha Parnell, 6; Barb Pfeiffer, 5; Cicelee Makowski and Adrian Ames, 4 each; Barb McWhorter, 3; and Kim Floyd and Mandy Parker, 2 each.

The Silver Colts fell victim to the upbeat Warrior team on Saturday, 48-44.

Davis's Warriors grabbed an early 14-6 first quarter lead and then matched points the rest of the way except for a late fourth quarter Colt charge.

Defense spelled the difference for the Warriors as the Colts managed less than 12 first quarter shots and sank only three buckets.

Nine Warriors found the center of the rim for a well balanced attack.

Cicelee Makowski led Warrior scoring with nine points, seven in the third period.

Although the Warrior free throw shooting turned a bit soft in the fourth quarter, freshman whiz Sarah Dix punched in three crucial buckets to help stave off the Colts. Dix finished with eight points.

Other scorers were Mandy Parker, 8; Tabatha Parnell, 6; Barb Pfeiffer, 5; Michelle Morris and Monica Martinez, 4 each; Jeri Keeton, 3; and Kim Floyd 1.

Parker was a perfect 4-4 from the charity line.

Colts buck JV-C girls

The Silver Colt girls JVC team bumped the Ruidoso Warrior JVCers in their match last Saturday, 58-27.

All 13 Warrior girls saw playing time as coach Robyn Johnson continues to build her program.

Both teams were cold at the free throw line in the first quarter, but the much taller Colts capitalized on their height for three times the amount of shots the Warriors were able to loft to the loop.

Johnson's girls did have a good second quarter, Adrian Ames breaking free to score six of the teams 14 points. Ames scored a team high seven points.

Other scorers were Jessica Atwood, 6; Denise Moore, 4; Herbina Muniz, 3; Leslie Rankin and Mandy Parker, 2 each; and Danielle Morris, C. Taylor, and Robin Lane each contributed a point.

Knights are searching for young sharpshooters

The 1991 Knights of Columbus International Free Throw Championship is scheduled for Sunday, January 27, at the Ruidoso Middle School gym.

The local level competition of the contest is open to all boys and girls ages 10 to 14 and will begin at 1 p.m.

The free throw championship is sponsored annually by the K of C with winners progressing through local, district, and state level competition.

International champions are announced based on scores from the state level competitions.

Last year more than 172,000 sharpshooters participated in 2,581 competitions.

Participants may be required to furnish proof of age and written consent of the parent.

For entry forms contact your respective school office or St. Eleanor's Catholic Church office. For additional information contact Michael Brillante at 378-8576.

Zia Center athletes train for '91 Senior Olympic games

Ruidoso Ski Team

Their hair may be peppered with gray and their lockers stocked with Ben Gay, but Lincoln County's team of Olympic competitors are training hard for the New York games in June.

To get there, they're going to need some financial help.

Twelve residents from the communities of Carrizozo, Capitan, Corona and Ruidoso have qualified to participate in the Senior Olympics, all of them are 55 or older.

Barbara Ward, program coordinator for Zia Senior Citizens, said Senior Olympic events range from bowling and table tennis to track and field.

But the group needs to raise about $1,000 per person to pay for the trip.

"The air fare will run $389 for each round trip ticket to Syracuse, New York," Ward said. "We also have to handle the meals and housing. I have suggested that they find host families for us."

"In the past, the state has contributed money to help pay for the low-income participants' expenses, but the rest of us certainly aren't high income and will have to pay for our own."

Ward also is hoping that a community-minded organization donates uniforms this year.

"We were the first state to show up at the games with uniforms," she said. "It started a trend and last year, many other states had them too."

Ward has headed the senior citizens program since 1981, and has been instrumental in fostering the growth of services such as congregate meals, transportation for medical services, blood pressure tests and delivery of meals for the homebound elderly.

Senior centers under Zia are operated in San Patricio, Capitan, Carrizozo and Corona. About 1,500 congregate meals are served each month and nearly 800 meals are delivered.

Working with the Area Agency on Aging, the programs primarily are financed by a $54,038 federal contract and $13,064 in federal dollars in lieu of commodities.

Even with federal support, the group welcomes donations for meals and other programs, and appreciates fund raising functions.

Donations for the Olympic participants or other programs may be mailed to Zia Senior Citizens, Box 519, Carrizozo, NM, 88301.

Obituaries

Lloyd Coe Perry

Lloyd Coe Perry died January 18, at the Flagstaff Medical Center in Flagstaff, Arizona. He was 63.

Perry, the son of Elzy and Mayme Coe Perry, was born May 25, 1927, in their family home in Glencoe. He attended Stetson Elementary School in Palo Verde, now Ruidoso Downs. He also attended Capitan High School before enlisting in the United States Navy in 1944 at the age of 17.

He and his two older brothers, W. Leroy and Elzy Jr., all served in the Pacific Theater during World War II. Upon discharge in 1946, Perry continued well drilling with his father, brother, brothers-in-law and friends.

Perry married Dora Jeannice Parnell June 16, 1948, in Glencoe. Their home for many years was at well camp alongside the drilling rig. In the early 1950s, Perry and his brothers, George and Don, formed Perry Brothers Drilling Company. They drilled many wells throughout this state, Texas, Arizona, Utah and Nevada.

Lloyd and Dora Perry's first child, Michael Lloyd Perry, died soon after his birth in 1950. Gary David Perry was born in 1951, Don Ray Perry in 1953 and Lorna Ann Perry (Pundt) in 1955. The family moved to Flagstaff in 1956, where Perry lived until his death.

Perry is survived by his wife, Dora J. Perry, sons Gary Perry and Don Perry and their wives and children; daughter, Lorna Perry Pundt and her husband, all of Flagstaff.

He is the first of 10 adult brothers and sisters to die; one brother, James, died as a child. The surviving brothers and sisters are George Perry Sr., Nina Perry Taylor, Gladys Perry Nosker, Ruth Perry Rascoe, W. Leroy Perry, Elzy Perry Jr., R. Don Perry, Jane Perry Stout and Charles Perry.

It was Perry's request that he be buried in the family cemetery in Glencoe. A gathering for family and friends is planned at noon Saturday, January 26, at the Perry Ranch. Burial will be at 2 p.m.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Lloyd Perry Memorial Fund, 2033 N. Navajo Drive, Flagstaff, Arizona 86001. The fund was set up to help defray medical expenses.

Erma Morgan Balatche

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at the Church of Latter Day Saints in Mescalero for Erma Morgan Balatche, 65, who died Saturday. She died in the Public Health Service Hospital in Mescalero.

Balatche was a life-long resident of Mescalero and was a member of the Church of Latter Day Saints.

Officiating at the service was Garth Elison, branch president of the church. LaGrone Funeral Chapel was in charge of arrangements. Burial was in the Mescalero Cemetery.

Balatche was born April 23, 1925, in Mescalero. She was a housewife.

Survivors include four sons and three daughters, her father, three brothers, three sisters, 24 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Sons are Clyde R. Davis, Cordell Balatche Sr. and Quentin Balatche, all of Alamogordo, and John Bruer of Alamogordo.

The daughters are Esther Balatche, Nadine Rice and Sandra Belin, of Mescalero. Her father is Kenneth Morgan Sr. of Mescalero.

Brothers are Monte L. Morgan, Kenneth Morgan and Chandler Morgan, all of Mescalero.

Zola Ahidley, Geraldine Blake and Mary Naiche are sisters, all of Mescalero. An uncle, Isaac Morgan, also of Mescalero, also survives.

Alfred Beaver

Alfred Beaver, father of Ruidoso resident Robyn Johnson, died at 8:24 a.m. Thursday, January 10, at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock, Texas. He was 73.

Services for the Fluvanna, Texas, resident were conducted last week at the Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home Chapel with burial in the Snyder Cemetery. The Reverend Edwin Parks officiated, assisted by the Reverend Don Campbell.

Beaver was born July 16, 1917, at Eagle Hill, New Mexico, and moved with his family to Fluvanna when he was about a year old. He was a farmer and a member of the Fluvanna Church of Christ.

He was married to Ruth Shipp on July 12, 1940, at Anson. She preceded him in death on November 7, 1975.

Survivors include two daughters, Robyn Johnson of Ruidoso and Gina Lisa Adams of Midland, Texas; three sons, Dexter Beaver of Port Neches, Texas, Ronny Beaver and Joe Rus Beaver, both of Snyder; two sisters, Rosa McDonald of Snyder and Polly Whitson of Italy, Texas; two brothers, Pete Beaver of Snyder and Frank Beaver of Fluvanna; 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Surviving grandchildren include Rachel Garrett of Ruidoso and Guy Garrett of Santa Clara, California, formerly of Ruidoso.

David Kazhe Jr.

David Kazhe Jr. of Mescalero died Saturday, January 19, at Gerald Champion Hospital in Alamogordo. He was 82.

Prayer services for Kazhe were scheduled Wednesday at the Mescalero Reformed Church with funeral services set for 10 a.m. today (Thursday), January 24, with the Reverend Bob Schut officiating.

LaGrone Funeral Chapel was in charge of services. Kazhe was born August 16, 1908, in Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and moved to Mescalero in 1913. He was a member of the Reformed Church and worked as a civilian employee at Holloman Air Force Base.

Survivors include his sister, Nava Guitar of Mescalero, a brother, Wesley Kazhe of Mescalero, and three grandchildren: Joseph Kazhe, David Kazhe and Alice Kazhe, all of Mescalero.

Court delays leave WDA holding funds

The Water Defense Association, formed to protect water rights throughout the Bonito, Hondo and Ruidoso basins, reviewed the protracted legal battles during its annual meeting recently. The complicated water rights case is on hold for now, and the group is asking the state's permission to hold onto a $225,000 grant until the case and the accompanying expenses gear up again.

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Water Defense Association has asked the State Legislature for an extension on a $225,000 grant awarded in 1988.

The Legislature appropriated the money to be used by Chaves and Lincoln counties for appeal preparations necessary in a suit over disputed water rights originally filed in 1956.

A backlog on the New Mexico Court of Appeals docket may take 18 months to clear before the association's case can be heard, Association Executive Director Hubert Quintana told board members last week during their annual meeting.

He has written State Representative John Underwood (D-District 56) asking for assistance and he urged members to call other legislators. "We are not asking for any new money, just for an extension of timeframe for use of the $88,974 left," he said. "It's an important case and will have a bearing on other tribes and water users."

In a portion of the suit added in 1977, the Mescalero Apaches, backed by the U.S. government, claim a prior right to water drained through the Rio Ruidoso, Rio Hondo and Rio Bonito valleys that would usurp some of the existing rights of non-Indian users. If the Mescaleros are awarded the full amount of annual water allotment claimed, about twice their historical use, the amount of water flowing to non-Indian users including the Ruidoso area would be impacted severely, according to Quintana.

The association joined the suit in 1986, representing some of the non-Indian water users along the Pecos River system.

In January 1989, a court decision was rendered detailing a distribution of available water in the stream system that the association considered fair. The Mescaleros have appealed that ruling.

"As far as the money situation, we have been very successful to spend as little as we have and come up with the results we have," Quintana said.

Association president W.C. "Dub" Williams said the organization's success is testimony to what people can accomplish if they bind themselves together in a mutual effort.

He would be interested in finding out what the U.S. Government has spent in pursuing the case for the Mescaleros, Williams said. But Quintana said that on several occasions his efforts to pinpoint a cost have been rebuffed.

"We have all these public meetings laws and our financial records are public," Williams said. "I wonder why we can't find out what our opponents are spending on this case. It's the U.S. government, so it's our money too. They come along and say we know what you spent, but we're not going to tell you what we spent."

Association treasurer Dr. Walter Hopkins complained, "We can't even find out how many lawyers are against us. There are so many agencies and no one leaves, they stay on as consultants."

In his letter to Underwood, Quintana wrote, "The most costly phase of the appeal is now completed and only a few minor expenses are anticipated between now and the time the New Mexico Court of Appeals assigns the case to a panel of judges."

But it may be the spring of 1993 before the case is assigned to a panel for oral arguments and review, he said.

The appropriation to Chaves and Lincoln counties carries a reversion clause that returns the unexpended money to the general fund at the end of the contract with the Department of Finance and Administration. The contract is scheduled to expire June 30, 1991.

In other business, the association:

—Re-elected all current officers for 1991 terms.

—Agreed to try to coordinate a meeting each March with groups holding water interests in various ditches along the stream system. Quintana has been urging the groups to incorporate as political entities to be eligible for grant money. The association will provide technical assistance to that end, he said.

Editorial

Patriots come in all shapes and sizes, and in these difficult times they're speaking out both for and against the war in the Gulf. This great nation is big enough for those many voices and beliefs, and whether we agree or disagree on this painful subject, let's agree to allow opposing voices to speak.

Diversity is the cornerstone on which this nation was built. The United States of America is made up of a diverse population and in a free society that translates to hundreds of opinions on every subject, especially those life and death issues we're faced with today. Any efforts to silence opposing views could result in confrontations among people on the street corners of towns and cities throughout this country.

In the words of Thomas Wolfe: "I do not believe ... that the ideas represented by 'freedom of thought,' 'freedom of speech,' 'freedom of the press' and 'free assembly' are just rhetorical myths. ... if they are destroyed, men will again fight to have them."

As we all rally behind our forces serving this nation so far from home, let's not forget that the people who oppose this war do not oppose the brave men and women who are serving at the direction of our Commander and Chief.

We support all the voices of patriotism.

UP CLOSE AND IN LIVING COLOR!

Countdown begins to the All American Futurity

TO THE EDITOR:

The Ruidoso Downs racing season will soon start again. The many weeks of racing will begin ticking by, leading up to the world famous All American Futurity that great race that pays the winner over a million dollars; that great race that so many owners, trainers, jockeys, and spectators dream of. That great horse race that a few lucky people watch in person and millions of viewers enjoy on televisions.

Few of the spectators are financially involved in the race. Most, almost all, are watching for the fun of it, the thrill of the day. The legend of that thrill has built your town's name, "Ruidoso," into a nationally recognized resort area. And the heart of your economy in Ruidoso is the spectacle of that great day, the All American Futurity Race day.

Yet let us be honest about the actual race and race day. For the great race that it is, the race day appears little different from any other day. As "The Race" approaches, little pageantry is present, very little, relative to the importance of this event.

Some Futurity loyalists will say that the few moments of the race are all that is important. Yes, that is true for the horse, the jockey, the trainer, the owner, and the bet-makers. But that is the biggest opportunity the Ruidoso resort community loses out on, year after year. The level of expectation of the race actually leads most viewers to disappointment.

For the millions of viewers watching the race on television, the pageantry must build on the spirit of the moment of the race. Remember, those millions of viewers will remember Ruidoso when vacation time comes. But, they will only remember the festivity, the fun and the pageantry you create during the several days preceding the race, and succeed at getting covered by national television. The effort is worth it. Remember, those viewers become Ruidoso's future tourists and residents.

Community leaders, give the "Race Day" a new look, a flair of pageantry. Take a lesson from another great race, the Indianapolis 500. Work to create and build major race pageantry. Make the legend of Ruidoso and the All American Futurity spectacular spectator experience.

Insurance man issues a call for legislative action

TO THE EDITOR:

Recently a woman was killed when a piece of machinery crashed through the plexiglass roof on the tram car she was riding in. The following lawsuit by her family should be no surprise. If someone's negligence caused the accident, it would be appropriate.

But here's the catch: Two people who witnessed the accident but were unhurt themselves, and who did not know the victim, were able to sue also, because of what is called by the courts, negligent infliction of emotional distress.

In recent smoking cases, we see lawsuits of smokers and their estates claim that smokers didn't understand the dangers of smoking or that they were addicted, and thus, unable to control their habits, once lured into taking a first drag by an irresistible commercial.

The explosion of liability suits — from patients suing obstetricians for unfortunate birth defects which couldn't have been avoided, to criminals suing victims for injuries suffered on their premises — reflect a mentality that "somebody oughta pay." And that somebody is usually the corporate entity or the insurance company.

And that's no accident. We are seeing judges hand down decisions political in nature, that saddle corporations with everyone's carelessness or no one's fault. Perhaps the judges never bother to consider that when corporations or insurance companies are blasted with huge liability claims, they pass it along to us in the form of higher prices.

I visit daily with clients who are affected by the rise in insurance prices. I think everyone would prefer to pay less premiums. We do what we can by cutting coverage and increasing deductibles. But there is another alternative. Instead of cutting coverage, we must work on reducing the factors that increase our insurance costs.

Not only should we deal with our high traffic death rate (2nd highest in the US) and repeat DWI offenders, we need to legislate against the present tort system and liberalizations that have us financing that pie-in-the-sky some are able to feast on.

We need to encourage for Legislators to enact a proven no-fault system or limited coverage system that will lower the cost of our insurance. Cut out the pie-in-the-sky so that all of us can eat a little better.

Visitors are curious about new golf course fees

TO THE EDITOR:

My wife and I visited your city in June of last year and were taken in by the friendly people, majestic views, area shops and change of scenery in Lincoln County. We came back again in October and got so excited we entered the Lincoln County Barbecue War. We were completely defeated but had loads of fun.

We would like to spend our summers in Ruidoso, but find the price of golf beyond the average senior citizen's budget. In my hometown I can play on three city owned courses any day of the week for $200 a year membership. We have been taking your paper since July of last year and were hoping to find an article on your new golf course, Sierra Blanca, as your paper published on Cree Meadows and Inn of the Mountain Gods.

I hope soon you will publish news of the new golf course, membership fees, price to golf, etc.

We enjoy your paper very much, especially the column by Daniel Agnew Storm.

Policy

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Labels are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters of thanks are usually printed in the Classified section under "Card of Thanks." Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning.

Letters may be shortened to fit the space available.

Girl Scout cookie sale under way

Those of us who live in South-eastern New Mexico have shared at least one tradition for many years and it's time to share it again. The Zia Girl Scout Council annual cookie sale starts January 25.

It is likely to begin with your phone or doorbell ringing. You hear yourself saying "Sure, I'll take three boxes." You may not realize that when you place an order for Girl Scout cookies, you aren't just satisfying your annual craving for thin mints, and you aren't just pleasing you aunt by ordering a couple of boxes for her.

Your annual purchase of Girl Scout cookies does so much more. You might be helping a girl explore a future career in sales, accounting or merchandising.

Local Girl Scout troops benefit directly from the cookie sale. Proceeds from cookie support programs such as horseback riding, arts and crafts workshops, anti-drug education and scholarships at Girl Scout camp this summer.

Girl Scout Council names a new executive director

Jan Buchanan Leonard was recently selected Executive Director of the Zia Girl Scout Council of southeastern New Mexico.

Mrs. Leonard spent 11 years as a Girl Scout, and has served in various volunteer positions including troop leader. She is a Life Scout, a member of the Midcontinent Friends and Alumni of the Girl Scouts, Carlsbad Assistance League, a board member of the Carlsbad City Spirit Arts Council, and member of the First Methodist Church.

A native of Russellville, Arkansas, she graduated with a BA degree in Education from Arkansas

Tech University, and was recently enrolled in the MBA program at Rockhurst College in Kansas City, Missouri. For the past ten years Mrs. Leonard has worked in the field of health care management, most recently as the Administrator of Women's Health Care Associates in Kansas City, Missouri.

Mrs. Leonard, husband Rich, and son Trey reside at 1412 West Orchard Lane, in Carlsbad. A daughter, Jessica, is a sophomore at the University of Kansas.

"Girls are the only reason for Girl Scouting. The purpose and mission of the Zia Council are to serve the unique interests and needs of girls in our area concerning issues and problems affecting young girls and teenage youth."

"Additionally, adult role models are essential to the organization and Zia Council has a variety of ways in which adults can bring their special talents and expertise to the girls."

If you want more information, would like to volunteer, or meet members of your council staff please call the Council Office at 746-9846, or Justine Hudson, Field Director for the Alamogordo/Ruidoso area, at 437-2921.

Altrusa sponsors the first Care Fair

Altrusa Club of Ruidoso invites area clubs and service organizations to spread their news during Care Fair from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, February 9, at the Sierra Mall.

Community service clubs and organizations from throughout Lincoln County have been invited to be on hand and answer questions about community projects. Representatives will have a chance to solicit volunteers to help in their charitable works.

According to a news release provided by Altrusa, many service organizations have special projects that need community volunteers, not just club members. The community can help in projects like collecting eye glasses, hosting foreign exchange students, delivering meals and many, many more.

Spaces are still available at Care Fair, and representatives of service clubs interested in having a display may contact Jane Deyo at the Aspen Tree, 257-4088, for more information.

"If you would like to help your community by volunteering some time, a special skill or facility, please come to the Sierra Mall on Saturday, February 9, to visit with the various service clubs and organizations," invites the release.

Search is on for Miss Teen USA

The search is on for that special young woman to represent the state of New Mexico in the Miss Teen USA Pageant.

According to a news release, Miss New Mexico Teen USA will be crowned in a pageant June 9, 10 and 11, in Las Cruces. The state winner will represent New Mexico in August at the national pageant on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

receive, along with her sash and crown, a cash award, an expense paid trip to the site of the Miss Teen USA Pageant, a wardrobe for competition and many other prizes.

Young women from 15 to 18 may enter. For more information, contact the pageant office at PO Box 757, Las Cruces 88004 or call 524-3527.

Deadline for all entries is April 1.

GOP officers

The Republican Party of Lincoln County elected officers for 1991-92, and they include (from left) second vice chairman Sam Chavez, Chairman Jack Page, secretary Inez Tanner and first vice chairman Mike Kakuska. Not pictured is treasurer Ronnie Hemphill.

Serving as Lincoln County members of the State Central Committee are Page, Kakuska, Chavez, Bob Bohks, Gerald Dean, Paté Hume and June Tyree. Area Republicans meet informally at 6 p.m. the first Monday of each month for a no-host dinner at K-Bob's.

Corriente Cowbelle ring in new year

Corriente Cowbelle installed new officers in a December meeting at Pat Ward's home in Lincoln.

According to a news release provided by the club, Anne Ferguson of Canyon Cowbelle of Carrizozo installed the 1991 officers in a unique ceremony.

Officers for 1991 are Ruth Shannon, president; Jean Cunningham, first vice president; Betsy Eldridge, second vice president; Jeanette Smoot, secretary; and Janice Herd, treasurer.

Ruth Shannon was honored as Cowbelle of the Year and presented with a pen and plaque.

Members shared a covered dish lunch followed by a Chinese gift exchange.

Corriente Cowbelle met January 14 at the Smokey Bear Restaurant in Capitan. After a silent prayer regarding the Middle East situation, Shannon conducted a business session.

Reports were received from Inez Marrs and Janice Herd on the beef poster contest. Marrs also reported that the Corriente Cowbelle purchased beef for the home economics class demonstration.

Scholarship chairman Willa Stone will be circulating information soon on scholarships available. The KBUY radio beef trivia is continuing.

The State Beef Cookoff is July 13 in Albuquerque, and information on entering is available from Corriente Cowbelle members.

Plans are under way for the Lincoln County Ranch Tour on June 8. Canyon and Crown will assist in the tour.

The District V workshop will be March 14 in Truth or Consequences.

The Grady Lee Memorial Roping is set for July 20.

The Plant Corner

Plants are natural pollution fighters

DEAR SALLY:

I have read in your columns in the past and also heard you speak about how house plants can cleanse and filter the inside air and especially tobacco-smoke-polluted air.

Would you please give me a list of the plants that will help me rid my home of tobacco smoke which accumulated in my home over the holidays? The odor is very offensive, plus the damage to my plants.

I don't understand why smokers still light-up in private homes, since they are forbidden to smoke in public places. For our plants' sake, would you please ask your readers just to step outside if they must smoke. Thanks for all the help you offer.

Cora

DEAR CORA,

You know what "they" say about how righteous us ex-smokers become. I guess we are that way because it is so hard to quit smoking and we are so proud we actually kicked the habit. Never the less, smoke does exactly the same thing to plant leaves as it does to human lungs.

Just politely, but firmly, ask anyone who lights-up in your home just to step outside for that smoke. I have never had anyone refuse to smoke outside. I have had one or two step outside and just keep going, but they, too, will stop smoking sooner or later.

Now for the plants you ask for.

Plant Specialist

I'm told the very best air-cleaner is the Spider plant. "Chlorophytum Comosum," also is sometimes called the "airplane plant" as well as, "friendship plant." It is a native of South Africa and is a relative of the Lily family.

Almost everyone's favorite, this very graceful solid green or green and cream striped grass like foliage plant can be seen in the care of almost all who keep indoor plants. Besides a super air purifier, this plant is extremely easy to grow.

Give this plant good bright light but not direct sun. East or north windows are best with an overhead light if possible. The head light allows the leaves to grow very long and bush.

Never let the "potatoes" the roots, completely dry-out or become soggy. The potato roots grow very fast, therefore, you must repot every couple of years. I use a large, sharp knife to quarter the old plant and make four new plants. These new plants make excellent gifts to have on hand to use as needed.

These are very pretty in hanging baskets. Chrysanthemums are another good air-purifier. A perennial which blooms mostly in the fall.

Keep these pots of pretty fall flowers inside, when flowers fade away, cut back and keep it moist and in good light until spring and plant outside in beds or divide and repot for new fall blooms.

There is a little trick about mums you need to know. When nights reach a certain length, the plants hormonal shift stimulates bud formation. Too much light will prevent the plant from blooming. So be careful not to plant them where light from porch or street lights will reach them, or you just may never see a bloom.

Shasta Daisy, and Begonias are a couple more good air-cleaners.

Truth of the matter is all plants are good air-purifiers, some just better than others.

Keep your plants dust free, feather dusters are great for this also soap and water, and check for pests each time you water. And be sure to wear your glasses when checking for insects. I had to learn this the hard way.

I appreciate all your letters. Send questions to Sally Black c/o The Ruidoso News; PO Box 128; Ruidoso NM 88345.

LEGAL NOTICE PROCLAMATION

HEREAS, on January 16, 1991 President of the United States ordered Americans and Allied Army forces into war with Iraq, during that Operation Desert Storm has been launched in order to liberate Kuwait from Iraqi control.

HEREAS, all reasonable efforts by diplomacy have failed and the Iraqi President has met with overture of peace with confidence.

HEREAS, many citizens of Lincoln County are actively serving in the United States Armed Forces in the Middle East.

NOW THEREFORE, we the Board of the Lincoln County Commission feel it appropriate to support and concern for the United States President and all citizens of the United States serving heroically in the Persian Gulf.

DER may withdraw a BID within 10 days after the actual date of the opening thereof. Should there be reasons why the contract cannot be awarded within the specified period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and the BIDDER.

BIDDERS must satisfy themselves of the accuracy of the estimated quantities in the BID Schedule by examination of the site and a review of the drawings and specifications including ADDENDUMS. After BIDS have been submitted, the BIDDER shall not assert that there was a misunderstanding concerning the quantities of WORK or of the nature of the WORK to be done.

The OWNER shall provide to BIDDERS prior to BIDDING, all information which is pertinent to, and delineates and describes, the land owned and rights-of-way acquired or to be acquired.

The CONTRACT DOCUMENTS contain the provisions required for the construction of the PROJECT. Information obtained from an officer, agent, or employee of the OWNER or any other person shall not affect the risks or obligations assumed by the CONTRACTOR or relieve him from fulfilling any of the conditions of the contract.

Each BID must be accompanied by a BID bond payable to the OWNER for five percent of the total amount of the BID. As soon as the BID prices have been compared, the OWNER will return the BONDS of all except the three lowest responsible BIDDERS. When the Agreement is executed, the bonds of the two remaining unsuccessful BIDDERS will be returned. The BID BOND of the successful BIDDER will be retained until the payment BOND and performance BOND have been executed and approved, after which it will be returned. A certified check may be used in lieu of a BID BOND.

A performance BOND and a payment BOND, each in the amount of 100 percent of the CONTRACT PRICE, with a corporate surety approved by the OWNER, will be required for the faithful performance of the contract.

Attorneys-in-fact who sign BID BONDS or payment BONDS and performance BONDS must file with each BOND a certified and effective dated copy of their power of attorney.

The party to whom the contract is awarded will be required to execute the Agreement and obtain the performance BOND and payment BOND within ten (10) calendar days from the date when NOTICE OF AWARD is delivered to the BIDDERS. The NOTICE OF AWARD shall be accompanied by the necessary Agreement and BOND forms. In case of failure of the BIDDER to execute the Agreement, the OWNER may at his option consider the BIDDER in default, in which case the BID BOND accompanying the proposal shall become the property of the OWNER.

The OWNER within ten (10) days of receipt of acceptable performance BOND, payment BOND and Agreement signed by the party to whom the Agreement was awarded shall sign the Agreement and return to such party an executed duplicate of the Agreement.

Should the OWNER not execute the Agreement within such period, the BIDDER may by WRITTEN NOTICE withdraw his signed Agreement. Such notice of withdrawal shall be effective upon receipt of the notice by the OWNER.

The NOTICE TO PROCEED shall be issued within ten (10) days of the execution of the Agreement by the OWNER. Should there be reasons why the NOTICE TO PROCEED cannot be issued within such period, the time may be extended by mutual agreement between the OWNER and CONTRACTOR. If the NOTICE TO PROCEED has not been issued within the ten (10) day period or within the period mutually agreed upon, the CONTRACTOR may terminate the Agreement without further liability on the part of either party.

The OWNER may make such investigations as he deems necessary to determine the ability of the BIDDER to perform the WORK, and the BIDDER shall furnish to the OWNER all such information and data for this purpose as the OWNER may request. The OWNER reserves the right to reject any BID if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of, such BIDDER fails to satisfy the OWNER that such BIDDER is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the WORK contemplated therein.

A conditional or qualified BID will not be accepted.

Award will be made to the lowest responsible BIDDER.

All applicable laws, regulations, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the PROJECT shall apply to the contract throughout.

Each BIDDER is responsible for inspecting the site and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the CONTRACT DOCUMENTS. The failure or omission of any BIDDER to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any BIDDER from any obligation in respect to his BID.

Further, the BIDDER agrees to abide by the requirements under Executive Order No. 11246, as amended, including specifically the provisions of the equal opportunity clause set forth in the SUPPLEMENTAL GENERAL CONDITIONS.

The low BIDDER shall supply the names and addresses of major material SUPPLIERS and SUB-CONTRACTORS when requested to do so by the OWNER.

Inspection trips for prospective BIDDERS will leave from the office of the Weed Post Office on February 4, 1991 at 10:00 a.m. The Pre Bid Inspection is mandatory for consideration as a responsible bidder.

Heart - Healthy Diets

Reducing Cholesterol and Fat

Excess amounts of dietary cholesterol and saturated fats have been linked with higher serum cholesterol and blood fat levels. Excess cholesterol and fat in the blood are, in turn, associated with an increased risk of heart disease, stroke, and many forms of cancer. Reducing our intakes of fats (particularly saturated fats) and dietary cholesterol can help us eat well for better health.

Here are some food tips to help you cut back on dietary fats and cholesterol:

- Substitute 2 egg whites for whole eggs in recipes. (It's the yolk that contains the cholesterol.)
- Avoid liver, kidney, and other organ meats.
- Try eating a meatless dinner once or twice a week.
- Use low-fat versions of dairy products.
- Trim an visible fat from meat before cooking.
- Remove skin from poultry before cooking.
- Watch out for high-fat sauces and gravies.
