Conflicts concern lodgers tax group

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor
There's a wee bit of trouble in paradise. It has to do with a possible conflict of interest which was spotlighted at a meeting of the Lodgers Tax Committee (LTC) Tuesday afternoon at Village Hall.

It started when the chairman of the committee, Ed Hyman, asked member Mark Doth to abstain from voting on a request for funds from Craig Rawlings, chairman of the advertising committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. (see separate story).

Doth serves as a member of the advertising committee and also on the Lodgers Tax Committee. He is marketing director for Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Hyman said Doth should be excluded from voting because he is on the advertising committee which, through Rawlings, was requesting funds.

"Asking that I should abstain is ridiculous," Doth exclaimed, pounding the table. "I have no vested interest." He said he didn't stand to gain. Earlier in the meeting, when first asked to abstain from voting, Doth said, "I am influenced by what is best for the community. I am not influenced by membership on the ad committee."

Two members of the Ruidoso Village Council and Mayor Victor Alonso were in the audience.

Councilor J.D. James disagreed when Doth said he didn't stand to gain personally from membership on both committees.

"I can't agree. I have not heard you speak for the Lodgers Tax Committee. You are speaking for the ad committee."

Doth generally agreed with

Rawlings' money requests for brochures, media money, and an "800" number.

Doth asked why James didn't question his dual membership previously rather than bringing it out in a public meeting. Hyman said he was asked to bring it up at the Tuesday meeting.

Councilor Al Junge said he had no criticism of Doth personally, but that he would not have voted for confirmation of Doth for LTC membership if he had been aware that Doth served on the advertising committee.

"It's the appearance of the thing," Junge said. He made reference to the village preparing a proposal to market and/or operate the pending civic events center and then selecting committee members to rate proposals.

"If the administration should come out winner, people would say it was cut and dried," Junge said.

The village council agreed to solicit other names from other sources for the rating committee at a special meeting Monday.

"I don't know how we got in an adversarial position with the advertising committee," Hyman said at one point. He said he didn't think the advertising committee had been as above board as it could.

Hyman said that Doth is "capable," that he knows advertising. "I was asked if a person should wear two hats," Hyman said.

"I am 100 percent for the chamber ... I have been in business for a long time," Hyman declared.

Another member of the Lodgers Tax Committee, Jay Francis, is also a member of the advertising committee for the chamber. He was absent from Tuesday's meeting.

Ruidoso police with FBI agents, acting on a warrant, search Art Viella Portillo of El Paso for weapons after a brief encounter off Sudderth near School House Park.

FBI agents nab armed fugitive

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

A man who was wanted for illegal possession of a firearm on a warrant out of Roswell was in the wrong place at the wrong time.

Armed with a sawed off shotgun, another gun and a wicked-looking knife, Art Viella Portillo, 24, came out second best in an encounter with two "visiting" FBI agents, Wednesday about 10 a.m.

The agents, Frank Flores and Kenneth Fisher, were in this area investigating the slaying of an Indian boy on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

The agents had been around the Ruidoso Police Department at various times and heard officers talking about Portillo being wanted. They heard a description of the man, Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor indicated.

Also the agents had received information that someone fitting the description of a man seen in the area the night when the Indian boy was slain was staying at a Ruidoso motel, according to an affidavit filed Wednesday by the FBI in Albuquerque.

The affidavit said when agents approached Portillo and tried to check him for weapons, he punched one of the agents in the chest and began running. After a short chase and while the agents were subduing him, Portillo swung his arms and fists, striking them in the chest and head, the affidavit said.

Driving down Sudderth in the vicinity of School House Park, the agents spotted Portillo on foot, according to Chief Swenor.

A Contel of the West employee stopped and helped subdue Portillo, Chief Swenor said.

First Ruidoso police officer on the scene was Cpl. Roxanne Pfeffer. Also helping were Officer Rocky Reynolds and Sgt. Mike Lovelace.

Agent Fisher "had his hands chewed up" when subduing the man, according to Swenor.

Thinking that "an officer was down," an ambulance was called but was not needed.

Fisher was driven to Lincoln County Medical Center to "get his hands cleaned up," Swenor said.

Portillo had been charged in Roswell on a magistrate warrant with failure to appear.

Swenor said the FBI had taken over. Portillo was charged with assault on a federal officer before a U.S. magistrate late Wednesday afternoon, according to FBI agent Doug Beldon in Albuquerque.

He was being held in jail in Ruidoso pending arraignment before a U.S. magistrate in Las Cruces, Beldon told The News.

He said Portillo, if convicted of charges against him, will serve six years in prison.

Portillo originally came from El Paso, the agent said.

The FBI agents who made Wednesday's arrest have been in this area since January 25, on another case — the murder of the nine-year-old boy on the Mescalero Reservation.

The agents have given no indication that Portillo is involved in that case. However, the knife found on his person will be sent to a laboratory for testing.

Agents are still looking for clues in the death of Kelvin Ray Davis of Pena Canyon. The boy's throat was brutally cut and his body left in a wooded area about 200 yards from his home.

The night he was killed, he was babysitting four younger children. The parents found him missing when they returned home in the wee hours of Saturday morning.

Hours later Dale Webb of Mes-calero Search and Rescue found his body. There was evidence that someone had broken into the home where the Davis boy was babysitting.

Mescalero Search and Rescue only this week was helping search for the murder weapon, Webb told.

Beldon said the murder investigation is continuing. No arrests have been made, he said.

He said the FBI, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the Ruidoso Police Department are cooperating in the investigation.

Voters endorse college funding

Ruidoso voters turned out Tuesday to put their stamp of approval on a plan to bring higher education to this mountain village.

Tax questions passed in Hondo, Capitan and Corona. The mill levies in those three districts were for capital improvements. Voters were asked to decide whether to renew those property taxes, and they said "yes."

School board members were also elected throughout Lincoln County, with 38 candidates vying for the open slots.

In Ruidoso, Susan Marie Lutterman was elected to Position 1 in a contest among five candidates. Lutterman, a lifelong Ruidoso resident, received 461 votes to Dennis R. Loverin's 201, Jeff L. Chapman's 169, Lee A. Buchhagen's 90 and Roger W. Buckley's 32.

King defeated Robert Sims Jr., 315 to 111.

On the tax question, Capitan voters approved it, 246 "for" and 123 "against."

In Carrizozo, voters elected Jan Barham to Position 1, Gary Hightower to Position 2, and J.C. Richmond to Position 5.

Barham got 165 votes to Nat Palomarez's 103 votes, Peter Aguilar's 95 and Paul W. Collins' 15.

Hightower received 155 votes to Wallace Harvey Ferguson's 128, and Carol Schlarb's 95.

Richmond garnered 213 votes to Omer L. Gibson's 108, and Joseph Ventura's 56.

In Corona, voters elected Beatrice L. Chavez and Joe Allen Sultemeir, along with Jeffery L. Wells, who was unopposed for Position 2.

Chavez won Position 1 with 93 votes to James M. Parker's 56.

Sultemeir won Position 4 with 78 votes to Jim H. Rose's 69.

Corona voters renewed a mill levy in a vote of 96 "for" and 31 "against."

Hondo voters also approved the mill, voting 109 "for" and 22 "against."

In Hondo, voters elected Thurman Sanchez, Modesto T. Chavez (unopposed), Victoria E. Garrett and Alberta J. Sena.

D.C. intern program is open to Hispanic college students

Congressman Bill Richardson, D-NM, is urging qualified high school graduates and college undergraduates to apply for a summer internship with the Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute, Inc. (CHCI) in Washington, D.C.

"This program offers New Mexico Hispanic students an outstanding opportunity to learn first hand how our federal government works," said Richardson, a board member of CHCI. "I strongly encourage interested students to apply for this unique internship."

The CHCI is searching for Hispanic students who are interested in the American political process. To apply for the program all interested individuals must submit a completed application form, provide a high school/college transcript and letters of reference from a teacher, a community leader and an employer by April 10.

Council OKs revised center plan

by CHUCK STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A revised design of the Ruidoso Civic-Events Center by architects Garland and Hillis was approved by the Village Council Monday.

The council also approved an amendment to the program for development of the center.

Based on preliminary cost estimates, the village has directed the architect to use evaporative cooling.

The architect shall design the (original) meeting rooms in the base bid as an unfinished space of roughly 2,400 square feet.

The exhibition hall can be arranged into two primary configurations. The space can be divided into thirds by a movable partition at a third point to obtain an approximate 7,800 and 15,600 square-foot space.

The two-thirds division of the exhibition hall shall have a clear span space with a clear height of 20 feet. The one-third division shall have a clear space with a 15-foot high ceiling to accommodate 15-foot high movable partitions. The movable partitions shall allow for four or five individual spaces. Those spaces would require approximately 305 total feet of 15-foot movable walls.

"Are we going to bury our heads in the sand over the cost of this thing?"

The one-third division will be carpeted with wall finish to match the movable partition finish. A suspended acoustical ceiling will cover the area.

The other two-thirds division will have a floor of sealed concrete. The walls will be of painted concrete or painted gypsum board. The ceiling will possibly utilize suspended acoustical islands.

Councilor Al Junge said he was still concerned about the total cost of the center and the reluctance of the architects to talk costs.

"Are we going to bury our heads in the sand over the cost of this thing?" Junge said.

Junge said he didn't think the presentations made to date would give the village the best square-foot cost. He also said there was not enough follow-up to some of the council's requests.

Village manager Charles Norwood said the architects had talked to the Fort Worth company Junge had requested they contact.

Councilor Ron Andrews said there has been no final plan agreement. He said the council should not give a contractor the impression that the council has a blank check. He said the bids could include a range of costs to add incentive.

"We don't know if we have a financial problem or not," said Mayor Victor Alonso. He suggested when some of the bid information was returned, the council would have a clearer picture of the center's total cost.

In other council action, the village decided to use the Parks and Recreation workshop on Monday, February 11, to nominate the screening committee to evaluate proposals for operation-management and/or marketing of the civic-events center.

Request for funds is a surprise

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

Craig Rawlings' request for $28,000 to the Lodgers Tax Committee of the village of Ruidoso, Tuesday, was a surprise to a number of people.

Rawlings, chairman of the advertising committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, requested the money to purchase 200,000 brochures and for other purposes.

Jerry Watts, executive director of the Chamber, said he knew a special meeting was scheduled but that he didn't know Rawlings was going to ask for $28,000.

He said the advertising committee last Friday mentioned the need for new brochures and for money for an "800" number, but that nothing was said about any amount of money.

The Chamber board of directors and the executive committee of the Chamber apparently hadn't been advised that the request was to be made.

When asked about the request the morning after it was made, Ron Wall, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said certain policies and procedures in the Chamber must be followed. They will definitely be followed in the future.

"I had no idea that this happened," Wall said of the $28,000 request to the Lodgers Tax Committee. He said he believes the request without prior approval was made through "lack of information and knowledge," that it wasn't a deliberate thing.

Rawlings said the matter was discussed at the ad committee meeting last Friday, that member Mark Doth is vice president of the executive committee so that body should have known about the meeting and request.

The ad committee chairman also requested $2,000 for a study of how to finance a Visitor's Information Center which Rawlings envisions as a part of the Chamber in an expanded physical structure. He characterized the $2,000 as seed money.

Rawlings told the LTC members present, Ed Hyman, chairman; Slover Cape, Mark Doth and Pat Morrison, that the money request was to make up for money deleted from a previous budget. Member Jay Francis was out of town.

He requested $15,000 for 200,000 Ruidoso brochures; $8,000 for media advertising to carry the ad committee through June 30, $2,000 to help get an "800" number installed at the chamber and $3,000 for chamber representation at two more trade shows than already are scheduled.

The Lodgers Tax Committee voted to recommend to the village council that $2,000 be allocated to help get an "800" number installed at the Chamber.

All other requests were tabled pending further documentation of need and for additional bids on brochures. Rawlings only has one bid, for a reprint.

Mayor Victor Alonso asked whether the brochure should have a new format to include much more information about non-racing and non-skiing Ruidoso area activities.

He said if Ruidoso puts undue emphasis on skiing and racing, "wouldn't we be making a mistake?"

Rawlings said the Chamber is out of basic Ruidoso-promoting brochures, that $15,000 is needed to stock up.

Doth said the main reasons people come to Ruidoso are for racing and skiing, that he's waiting for people to come forward with other activities in other seasons.

Village Councilor Al Junge commented that two seasons are taken care of, "we need something for spring and fall."

Doth said he thinks the present brochure covers Ruidoso activities very well.

Cape spoke in favor of emphasizing more special events in spring and summer.

Hyman pointed out that the advertising committee of the Chamber has about $34,000 left to spend before the end of the fiscal year.

"It seems like you could use some of this ... can't you do some budgeting?" he asked Rawlings.

"We can't approve anything until we see bids." He asked for specific information on how $8,000 in additional media funds would be spent.

Doth commented that the lodgers tax income would exceed estimates this fiscal year by maybe $20,000, that the $20,000 would be available.

He said that the $28,000 is needed "regardless of where it comes from."

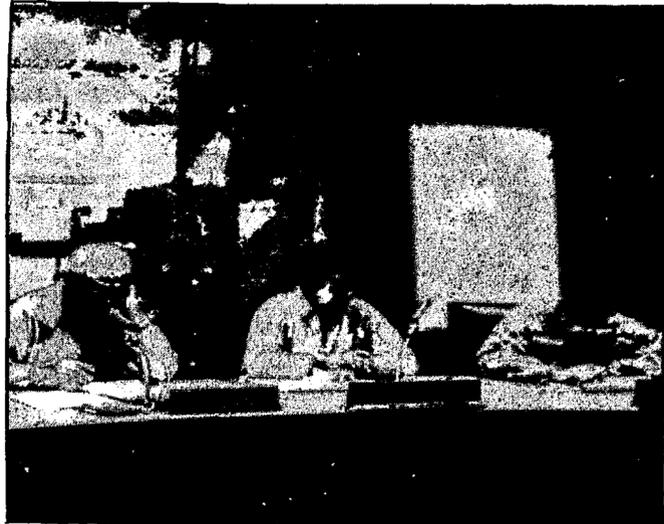

Hyman said one study by the New Mexico Tourism Department shows Ruidoso far down on the list of places visitors have indicated they want to visit.

He said Alamogordo, Roswell and even Deming are higher on the list. Out of 16 destinations, Ruidoso is 15, he said.

He questioned whether advertising dollars as now expanded "are doing the job."

The meeting ended with a heated discussion on whether or not a member of the Chamber advertising committee should sit on the Lodgers Tax Committee which decides on expenditures for the chamber.

Doth and Francis are members of both committees.

Ruidoso receives state beautification grant

Ruidoso was one of 14 cities to receive state birthday tree grants.

Keep New Mexico Beautiful, Inc. (KNMB) sponsored a birthday celebration for New Mexico's 79th anniversary of statehood in the Bataan Memorial Building (old capitol building) on January 4, 1991.

In order to have the school children participate in this historic event, the birthday celebration was held on the 4th instead of the 6th, the date President Taft signed the statehood proclamation in 1912.

The proclamations dedicated January 6, 1991 as "New Mexico Day" and urged all schools, museums and patriotic, civic and social organizations to commemorate this anniversary with appropriate week-long observances and exhibits.

Governor King's proclamation also requested all New Mexico residents to work in cooperation.

Downs asks for help to stop health hazard

Ruidoso Downs will be asking the State Board of Finance for help in clearing up a health hazard at the village hall.

The village trustees in a special meeting Tuesday evening authorized the mayor to appear before the board of finance, February 21, to seek a grant of between $10,000 and $15,000 to find a new home for village hall.

In a letter to John Gallegos, assistant director, State Board of Finance, Mayor Bonnie Addy said:

"As mayor of Ruidoso Downs I find it necessary to make you aware of a critical situation we have at our Municipal Building ... Upon investigation of a continuing bad odor we discovered broken and rotted plumbing below the slab floor in the bathroom.

"To quote Carl Stubbs of E.I.D., and Mr. Pat Vandergriff, C.I.D. building inspector, 'A large volume of raw sewerage has been discharged to the ground from this breakage ...'"

Addy says that due to the age of the building and other structural problems, the trustees believe that it will be economically wiser to relocate municipal offices and the police department to another structure.

"I have a building that is currently owned by Texas New Mexico Power Co. I have proposals from a mechanical contractor for necessary changes. (i.e.: add bathroom, replace furnace and a wall and counter," the mayor wrote.

Y-Knot Park is on track

Indoor miniature golf and a 130-seat restaurant are two new developments of the Y-Knot Park approved by the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission Monday.

Y-Knot Park is in the old Gibson building presently known as the Swap Mart.

The commission also approved:

—moving of go-cart track to the front of the building in the previous miniature golf course area.

—eliminating a miniature train track.

—moving retail area into the main building by the miniature golf course area.

In other regular business, the commission:

—approved applicant Sharon Miller's request for a replat to allow placement of a second mobile home on the lot and to connect that unit with an existing mobile home.

—approved a change of lot lines for Joseph and Beverly Silva to add the back 80-foot of Lot 31 to lot 34. The change reverses the previous lot areas while maintaining the same collective area size.

The commission also heard from Jerry Shaw.

Shaw said that road construction near her home was premature to commission approval and that she did not receive a letter that the work was to be done. The commission agreed to talk to the contractor.

MARIA FUENTES-LEA

Hondo School superintendent resigns to move to Anthony

The Hondo school district is looking for a new superintendent. Maria Fuentes-Lea, who has guided the district's experiment with the four-day school week, has resigned, effective February 15. She will be moving to Anthony to fill the post of assistant superintendent for personnel in the Gadsden school system. Fuentes-Lea came to Hondo two and a half years ago from Jemez Springs, where she was director of federal programs. She will have three days to get settled in Anthony before starting her new job February 18, Fuentes-Lea said. While there, she plans to work on her doctorate at New Mexico State University. Friday is the last day the Hondo School Board will accept applications for the soon-to-be-vacant superintendent post.

Rangers 'recruit' local boy

Tiger Cub Kevin Junge, age 7, hit the jackpot when he selected Sergeant Mark Frye of the 75th Ranger Regiment as his pen pal.

The Nob Hill first grader not only received a wonderful return letter, but he also was rewarded with every kid's dream, an envelope containing patches that Frye said would make him a fellow Ranger.

The items included: Jump Wings with backing: The wing is a senior parachute badge which is worn by graduates of the army jump master school.

Flash with crest: The crest represents the 75th Ranger Regiment. The flash is affixed to the Black Beret.

Ranger Tab: The coveted tab is awarded to graduates of the physically and mentally demanding ranger course.

Ranger Scroll: Worn on the left shoulder, it is the unit patch of the Second Battalion 75th Ranger Regiment.

"I hope you like the items," wrote Mark. "These items represent all that a Ranger believes in. I told my mom about the letter you wrote. She would like to meet you. If you ever get a chance to go to K-Bob's, ask for Jean. Well I had better go now and get back to work. I hope you write again."

Kevin is the son of Ms. Kelly Junge and the grandson of village councilor Al Junge.

Kevin's pen pal is: Sgt. Mark Frye, C Co, 2nd Bn, 75th Rgr. Regt. ATTN: Communications Section, Ft. Lewis, Wa 98433-5700

Sgt. Frye is the son of Jean Frye of Ruidoso, and is a graduate of Ruidoso High School where he was a drum major for the 24 Karat Gold Marching Band.

Nob Hill first grader Kevin Junge seems to be bursting with pride over the huge envelope he received from pen pal Sergeant Mark Frye of Ruidoso, now of the 75th Ranger Regiment of Fort Lewis, Washington. The envelope contained a letter and badges that Junge had his mom sew on his bomber jacket.

brook, Contel of the West; Rudy Lugo, village of Ruidoso; Charlie Armstrong, village of Ruidoso, street department; Leroy Nowell, Texas-New Mexico Power Co, and Sandra Rodela, Lincoln Cablevision.

Utility Council takes on "Operation Safe Haven"

Members of the Ruidoso Utilities Council were wrapping up details of Operation Safe Haven at a regular meeting, Wednesday, at Village Hall.

Safe Haven is a plan whereby a citizen in need of help can find an area utility truck with a Safe Haven bumper sticker and report the trouble. The utility employee can use her or her radio to contact the proper law enforcement agency.

An example is given in a Safe Haven flyer: a child en route home from school is being followed by a suspicious appearing individual. He or she can contact the utility employee and remain with them until help arrives.

Participating in the program which was first in use by Contel of the West in the Espanola area, are many utility and other entities.

Participants include Contel, Zia Natural Gas, Action Gas, Inc. Valley Transit Mix of Ruidoso, U.S. Forest Service, Village of Ruidoso (Water, Waste Water and Street departments), Lincoln Cablevision, Village of Ruidoso Downs, Cortez Gas Co., Bill McCarty Paving Co., Inc., Otero County Electric Co-op, Texas-New Mexico Power Co. and the County of Lincoln.

John Van Tussenbroek, manager of Contel here, said a video is being prepared for use in the schools to explain the program to youngsters.

Utility people will be available to address students or other groups, too, he said.

Utilities are sharing costs of the program.

Clarification

In Monday's report on area schools, Corona school bus drivers were inadvertently left out. They are: Sandra Alford, $31,666.87; Dorothy Nell Lightfoot, $38,646.18; Lee Mulkey, $36,675.67; and Lee Sultemeier, $24,847.48.

Ruidoso teacher C. Crane's education and experience was incorrect and should have read: MA-145, 22 years.

Bus contractor Rick Simpson was not listed because he works under a contract.

This week brought to you by NEW MEXICO SECURITY PATROL, INC.

Carefully examine the phone wire for tiny breaks.

If something happens to your phone wire these days, it's up to you to fix it. A process that can be annoying if you consider the fact that a phone wire is a tiny thing hidden inside your wall.

If you have a knack for fixing things like tiny wires in walls, have fun. If not you may wish to do what many of our other customers have done. Sign up for Wire Care Plus.

That way, if anything goes wrong with your phone wire it's our problem, not yours. As part of the package, we'll check to see if your telephone is the source of the problem as well.

Speck seeks football records

Ruidoso High School football coach Mike Speck is attempting to tighten Warrior football record statistics and he is asking for help.

Speck's crew has compiled records starting with the modern era of Doyle Howell. He would like for anyone that has evidence of records prior to Howell's era to give him a call at 258-4910.

Speck said the records listed below may also contain omissions, and he welcomes any calls that may help the record book reflect the most accurate accomplishments of past football athletes.

Cross your heart and hope to win this annual ski race

Attention fast, fun-loving women: sign up now for the fourth annual Cross Your Heart Cup ski race Thursday, February 14.

The Southwest's largest all-female (and a few guys) race returns for another Valentine's Day of costumed racing and a light-hearted spoof of female pulchritude, sponsored by Ski Apache, Pro Ski Sports and Casa Blanca Restaurant.

New this year are age categories in the timed divisions: 21 and under, 22 to 35, and 36 and over, announced Sherry Turner, Official Race Organizer.

"And in honor of Valentine's Day, we've added another new timed category, the Sweethearts Division for couples," Turner giggled, "Couples must be socially recognized and official race judges will determine what constitutes a 'couple'."

Costumes are optional for timed event racers, said Turner.

Costumes are de rigueur for other adult categories: Best Costume, Best Boobs, and Best Buns.

"These are traditional events in the time-honored tradition of Cross Your Heart," said one race veteran.

Consisting of bikinis, lingerie or sweaters stuffed with strategically-placed balloons, costumes "emphasize the bosom," the former winner blushed. Hence the name "Cross Your Heart" which has no connection with any garment manufacturer.

Costumes traditionally race under tongue-in-cheek "noms de plume," such as Miss Valentine, Pink Pantherette, Bag Lady and Lucy Big Boobs.

Also returning is the popular Tootsie Division. Named for Dustin Hoffman's movie character, Toot-sies are male racers in drag. Previous winners have included La Femme Fatale and Big Bertha.

For young girls, the Itty Bitty T...y Division again offers competition.

Top finishers in most categories will receive trophies, and "we're working on prizes," said Turner.

Awards presentation and the official race video take place at a post-race party that same day at 6 p.m. at Casa Blanca Restaurant.

Cross Your Heart runs on the Smokey Bear NASTAR course Thursday, February 14 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The $5 entry fee includes two runs and a souvenir headband while they last. For complete rules, sign up at the Ski School Desk at Ski Apache, 336-4356 or 336-4357.

Sports Theater presents Leonard vs. Norris fight

RUIDOSO DOWNS-Sugar Ray Leonard will fight in Madison Square Garden's main arena for the first time in his storied career on Saturday, February 9, when he challenges Terry Norris in a 12-round bout for the World Boxing Council (WBC) super welterweight championship.

The fight will be broadcast live on closed circuit television at the Ruidoso Downs Sports Theater at 8 p.m.

Leonard, whose list of accomplishments includes the epic 1987 triumph over Marvelous Marvin Hagler for the WBC middleweight crown, will move back down the ladder to 154 pounds to fight Norris for the WBC title in the super-welterweight division, one of five weight classifications in which he has held a world championship.

The 34-year-old Leonard last fought at 154 pounds when he won the World Boxing Association (WBA) junior middleweight title by handing Ayub Kalule his first professional loss with a ninth-round knockout on June 25, 1981, in Houston's Astrodome.

His most recent outing came on December 7, 1989, when he opened The Mirage in Las Vegas, Nevada, with a unanimous decision over Roberto Duran to retain his WBC super middle title.

A household name since he captured the gold medal at the 1976 Summer Olympics in Montreal, Leonard has amassed a record of 36-1-1 with 25 knockouts during a professional career that began on February 5, 1977, almost 14 years to the day before this coming February 9, his first appearance as a professional at the World's Most Famous Arena.

He did however, appear in the Garden complex as an amateur. On January 15, 1973, in the Felt Forum, one Ray Charles Leonard scored a three-round victory over a British opponent in an amateur card between the United States and Great Britain.

He will also be appearing in the comfortable role of challenger as he once again seeks to become champion in the 154-pound weight class for the second time in his career.

Leonard has never lost when challenging for a world championship.

Norris, 23, captured the WBC super welterweight title with a stunning first-round knockout of John Mugabi on March 31. He has since defended the title this year with a 12-round decision over Rene Jacquot on July 13 in France.

Now 26-3 with 14 KO's, Norris has already been picked by some top boxing experts to score an enormous upset victory.

A gifted natural athlete possessing both power and speed, Norris fights out of Campo, California, under the tutelage of trainer Abel Sanchez and the management of Joe Sayatovich.

Tickets are available in advance for $5 at Win, Place and Show in Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs Race Track. They will be available at the door of the Sports Theater for $7.50.

Micelli knows bowling

Meet a Women's International Bowling Congress (WIBC) field representative.

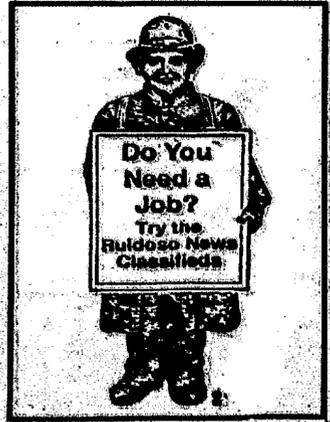

Lori Micelli, one of five representatives throughout the country, will visit Ruidoso, on Monday, February 18, as Guest of Ruidoso Women's Bowling Association (WBA) for its 8:45 p.m. forum meeting at the Holiday Bowl, Sudderth Drive (behind Holiday House Restaurant), Ruidoso.

Questions dealing with league procedures and policies will be answered during this local association's forum meeting. The WIBC Championship Tournament will also be discussed. Included on the agenda will be information concerning the senior programs, Young American Bowling Alliance activities, National Bowling Council promotion plans and new WIBC plans and projects.

Micelli will also explain the many services available through WIBC for its nearly three million members.

The meeting is open to all members of the women's bowling association.

Ruidoso's freshman lawmaker is learning fast

by KEITH EASTHOUSE
Sunmount Syndicate

It's nine in the morning and John Underwood, freshman legislator from Ruidoso, has already put in three hours of work.

He rose at 6 a.m. to study some bills that he must vote on today. He also put in some time on a draft of a bill that he plans to introduce in the coming weeks. At 7:30 he attended a breakfast held by the House leadership at which the main topic of conversation was the lack of money to fund capital improvement projects.

Now he's back in his tiny cubicle at the PERA building, where legislators have their offices this session because of the State Capitol renovation. Many lawmakers have been discombobulated by the ad-hoc arrangement, which requires frequent trips on foot between the Roundhouse, where morning floor sessions are held, and the PERA building across the street, where afternoon committee hearings take place.

Underwood has been one of the few lawmakers who have been unfazed.

"I don't know any different," he said with a grin.

Underwood seems remarkably unfazed by the whole business of being a legislator. Sandy-haired with a boyish face (he's 43), an upbeat demeanor and a soft Texas drawl, Underwood exudes a confidence and optimism that borders on brashness.

"I see this Legislature as one in which we're going to have to reorganize our priorities," he declared.

Not many freshmen would have the temerity to make such a blanket statement. But then Underwood has some advantages that not all first-time lawmakers enjoy. For one thing, he's held elected office before — in the mid-eighties he served on the Ruidoso Village Council. More importantly, he has 17 years of legal experience under his belt, including a stint as Ruidoso's village attorney.

As a result, analyzing bills and drafting legislation, skills that require a good deal of legal savvy, come easily to him.

What hasn't come so easily are the political skills that every good lawmaker must have. These skills — the ability to wield power effectively, to strategize, to anticipate — only come with time and are what really separates the men from the boys in the State Legislature.

When it comes to this side of the legislative ballgame, Underwood knows he has a lot to learn.

"I'm just trying to learn who's who and what's what," he said. "I'm still learning where everything is."

So far, Underwood has had some pretty good teachers. Prior to the session, he spent a week with Max Coll (D-Santa Fe), the powerful chairman of the House Appropriations and Finance Committee gathering information on what to expect.

And Speaker of the House Raymond Sanchez (D-Bernalillo) appears to have taken Underwood, a fellow Democrat, under his wing. He named Underwood chairman of the Enrolling and Engrossing Committee, a position traditionally reserved for promising freshman legislators.

"John is one of our top freshmen," Sanchez said. "We look for great things from him." Another sign of the Speaker's favor, perhaps, is that Underwood's cubicle is located right next to Sanchez's office.

Sitting in that cubicle the other day, Underwood fielded calls from constituents and visited with a school official from Artesia in between taking questions from a reporter. Then he walked briskly over to the Roundhouse for the 10 a.m. floor session, greeting, and being greeted by, several people on the way.

He had the excited air of a newcomer, but also a surprising amount of polish. The role of a backslapping, gregarious politician seemed to suit him like a kid glove.

But Underwood has substance to accompany his style. At a meeting of the House Judiciary Committee later that day, Underwood put his finger on a weakness in a proposed piece of legislation that his fellow committee members hadn't noticed. The committee passed the bill anyway, but instructed the sponsor to address the problem before the bill comes to the House floor.

As for his own agenda, Underwood has already introduced two bills that would fund improvements on Ruidoso's main street and provide additional funding for a civic center there. He plans to introduce a bill to legalize video gambling, which, he said, would provide the state with some badly needed extra revenue that could be funneled into education.

And he's opposed to a bill introduced by a fellow legislator that would impose gross receipts taxes on the horse racing industry.

He's bullish on economic development and opposed to tax increases, but doesn't currently have any bills planned along those lines.

"I'll see what other bills come up and maybe then I'll make a contribution," he said.

Meantime, he'll devote most of his energy to learning the ropes.

"This is schooltime," he said.

Chamber bids on civic center contract

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor
One pressing matter occupied the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors at a meeting last week.

The board went over a rough draft of a proposal for marketing the new civic events center when built. The Chamber seeks a three-year contract from the Village of Ruidoso for marketing the center.

The 23-page proposal was due in the hands of the village government late last week.

A draft of the proposal prepared by a Chamber committee was presented to the board along with a separate draft, prepared by or under the direction of Craig Rawlings. Monday and Tuesday afternoon the drafts were reconciled into one document which was produced via laser printer, Wednesday and slated for delivery by the deadline.

Any entity was eligible to deliver a proposal by the deadline.

The Chamber proposal carries a cost figure, but that is negotiable, Jerry Watts, chamber executive director, said.

Highlights of the proposal:

—Actual physical management will remain with the village.

—The Chamber through a mixture of staff and volunteers "is able to take on new activities without incurring additional costs."

—Chamber staff is rich in experience in organization management and marketing.

—Part of the proposal is creation of a Village Contract Advisory Committee to take advantage of municipal experience found within Chamber membership.

—Chamber has been a vital element in the promotion of the area, using all available community resources including the best use of advertising.

—Physical location of the Chamber lends itself to excellent sales opportunities to many visitors to the area. The Chamber is the "oldest player in the promotional game."

—Chamber offers a detailed marketing plan, will establish the advisory council, will increase Chamber staff by one, will remodel Chamber facilities and will utilize an 800 toll free number.

—Chamber through recognized advertising agency has organization in place for detailed marketing plan. CVB director is key person and with added assistant director, machinery is in place to effect and execute a marketing plan.

The proposal details the marketing plan, lists the types of activities to be sought for the events center and states the probable economic impact of the center on the county.

The village council at a special meeting Monday afternoon was scheduled to consider names for a committee to evaluate proposals. Several were received. One is from the village itself. Thus, the outside committee.

Bond said anyone who wants to know more about the radiation threat is welcome to attend the Radiological Monitor Course and can learn more by contacting him at 648-2342 or Maggie Bohks, head of the Lincoln County Emergency Medical Services, at 648-2385.

Bond said anyone who attends the classes is eligible to become a Radiological Monitor (RM).

Students will travel the Santa Fe Trail

An opportunity to relive the spirit of the Santa Fe Trail will be provided by the Southwest Institute at the University of New Mexico this summer.

The "Gateway Plains and the Santa Fe Trail" is the 1991 focus of the institute. Each year, it concentrates on a different geographical area of the southwest portion of the United States around Arizona, New Mexico, Utah, Colorado and Texas.

The Santa Fe Trail was one of the avenues followed by 19th Century Americans westward in search of places to exploit, explore and settle. From 1821 to 1880, the Trail served as a passageway from the Midwest for the flow of American traders, miners, soldiers, adventurers, industrialists, healthseekers and settlers to an unknown and untamed territory.

The institute has organized a three-week lecture series and four separate six-day field sessions that will tie together the natural and cultural elements of the Gateway Plains of northeastern New Mexico and southeastern Colorado.

The gateway area is defined by the rugged plains, passes and canyons crossed by the Santa Fe Trail between the Arkansas River of Kansas and Colorado, and the destination at Santa Fe.

The morning lecture series from June 3-21 will include 40 speakers and performers who will present the geologic, ecologic, archaeological, anthropologic, historic and socio-economic events that have occurred in this remote and little-known portion of the Southwest.

A minimum of three presentations a day have been scheduled with an optional film series of the study area as well as afternoon field trips to Albuquerque. Weekend river rafting and balloon trips may be arranged if there is sufficient interest. A series of talks by noted Santa Fe historians Marc Simmons, Mark Gardner, Bart Barbour and Janet Lecompte will be part of the symposium.

Participants also will hear the instruments and songs of the era, watch professional Hispanic and cowboy dancing groups and enjoy the singing and acting of Van Ann Moore as Susan Magoffin, a pioneer traveler of the Trail.

Those attending the lecture series must register for three credit hours at graduate or undergraduate levels offered through six departments at the University of New Mexico. Examinations may be eliminated by registering as an audit student.

Two field courses will follow the lecture series and students must separately register for either the June 23-28 session or the July 1-6 session.

Each of the six-day field courses will be supervised by a team of six faculty members who will cover a range of subjects.

Field students will travel in air-conditioned vans that will transport them along remote routes. Each day, participants will have a chance to walk in the ruts formed by wagons over a century earlier.

Principal's list

Ruidoso Middle Schools who achieve the top grade point averages are named to the principal's list each semester. The Academic Booster Club rewards the top students with a pizza party in the school cafeteria. Sixth grade students are pictured with many pizzas at last week's celebration.

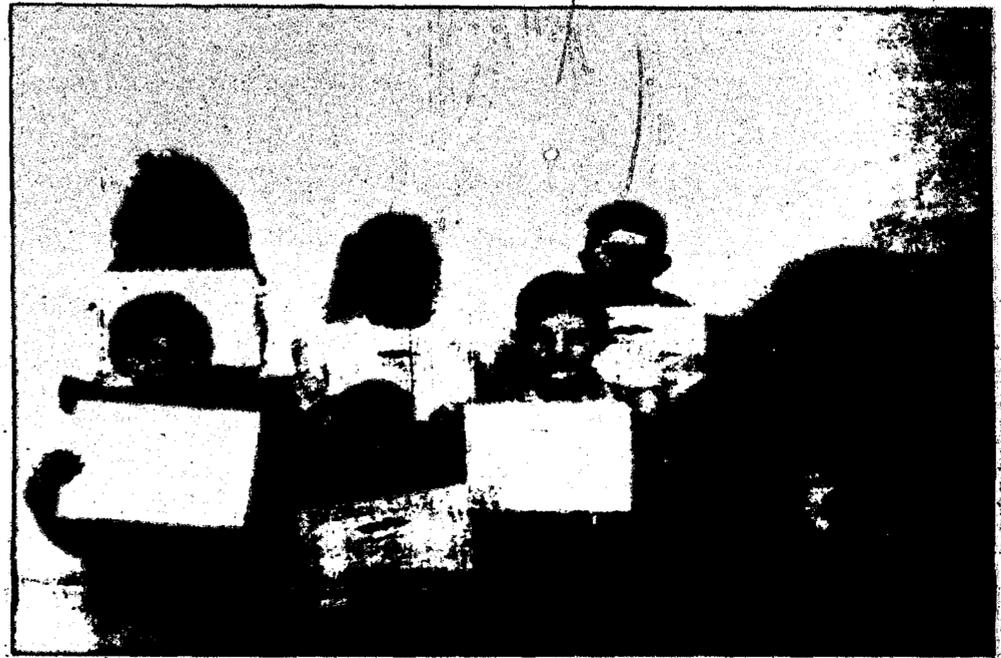

Signature Club

Members of the Signature Club open wide Friday for scoops of ice cream floats compliments of Ruidoso Middle School's Academic Booster Club. About 25 club members enjoyed the sloppy treats as a reward for their academic accomplishments. The club also took members of the Merit Club for hot doughnuts Thursday at Daylight Donuts.

Seventh grade students on the principal's list pose for a picture before diving in to the pizzas during their party last week at the school.

Daniel Parker, playing the part of Phillmore Pruitt in the Capitan Drama Club production Saturday of "Murder Most Fowl," is confronted about the murder of his chickens. Playing the sheriff and his deputies are Aaron Quintana, J.R. Smith, Weldon Smith and Christopher Smith. About 150 people attended the one-act comedy, which was staged to raise money for the club's trip February 29 through March 2 to a drama festival at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

Capitan Drama Club member Keri Runnels as Queen Etta, berates an unfortunate Phillmore Pruitt, played by Daniel Parker.

Capitan kids read books for bucks at fair

Twice each school year, pupils at Capitan Elementary School file into the district school library to let their fingers do some walking through more than 1,000 books stacked on tables and ledges.

It's all part of the school Book Fair, an event aimed at raising money and raising student consciousness about the benefits of reading.

Principal Jerry Newsom said each fair raises about $300 for the student activities fund. The money can be used to pay for special programs for students, but not for recurring expenses.

"It's there for the benefit of the students," he said.

The children are allowed to browse through the books Monday through Thursday. On Friday, they select the titles they want to purchase.

With 208 different books from which to select, the subject range is broad - dinosaurs to dancing, dragons to dragonflies.

Students from Mary Shanks' second grade class at Capitan Elementary browse through more than 1,000 books displayed on ledges and tables during the school's Book Fair Wednesday. Twice a year, students have a chance to purchase their favorites from more than 200 different titles. The money raised by the book fairs is used to help pay for special student activities and visiting performers.

Capitan gets ready for brief meetings

The Capitan Village Trustees and the Capitan School Board will meet this week, but both have light agendas.

The main topic for the trustees at the 7 p.m. meeting Monday in village hall will be the state statute governing donations by government entities to community organizations.

Mayor Frank Warth said Wednesday he has received an opinion from state officials that some past donations by the village violated the statute.

"We plan to get it straightened out at the meeting," he said.

The trustees also will discuss a complaint about fences illegally placed on village right of way and they will hear an update about the solid waste committee.

The School Board will meet at 7 p.m. Thursday, February 14, in the board room to vote on budget amendments due to increased enrollment.

Last month, school Superintendent Scott Childress told board members an increase in enrollment from 468 to 490 generated an extra $81,000 for the district.

At that meeting, the board approved a recommendation by Childress to funnel $38,000 immediately into categories that were dipping low, such as teacher salaries, maintenance of plant and non-instructional and other athletic activities. The special budget hearing next Thursday is necessary to formally adopt those recommendations and others.

HOT AND COLD RUNNING CARS

YOUR CAR'S ENGINE, LIKE YOUR BODY, HAS ITS IDEAL OPERATING TEMPERATURE. NORMAL BODY TEMPERATURE IS 98.6°F. A CAR'S ENGINE OPERATES IN THE 210°-240° RANGE.

A THERMOSTAT HELPS THE ENGINE REACH AND MAINTAIN CORRECT TEMPERATURE SLIMMER AND WINTER. A FAULTY THERMOSTAT WILL CAUSE THE ENGINE TO RUN TOO HOT OR TOO COLD, LEADING TO EXCESSIVE WEAR OR DAMAGE. A COLD ENGINE WASTES GAS. THERMOSTATS DO NOT LAST FOREVER AND SHOULD BE CHECKED FOR PROPER FUNCTIONING WHEN SYMPTOMS SO INDICATE... REPLACE IF NECESSARY.

The Silver Lining

Prayers for peace offered at vigil

Prayer Vigil Sunday Evening

Following a request that prayer vigils be held nationwide for our forces in the Persian Gulf, A vigil was held at the Ruidoso First Presbyterian Church at seven o'clock last Sunday evening.

The Reverend Dan Link read the litany for peace for the call to worship. Among those taking part in the services were the Reverend Jeamsie Price, the Reverend Tom Bloom, Wayne Bradley, the Reverend Jim Carrol, the Reverend Alan Cearley, the Reverend Bob Batton, the Reverend Ann Gaddy and Father John Penn.

Each person who had someone in the armed services placed a gold strand on the prayer tree, with the names written on the star.

Carmelita Savedra

Services were held January 31 at Saint Jude's Church in San Patricio and the Picacho Cemetery for Carmelita Trujillo Savedra, who was called Home by Our Lord on January 28. Services were under the direction of Father Richard Catanach.

Carmelita was born February 1, 1890; in Arabela to Luciano and Rosarita Vigil Trujillo. In July 16, 1920, she was married in Lincoln to Meliton Savedra.

Survivors include two sons, Albert of Roswell and Fred of Tinnie; three daughters, Emma Savedra of Tinnie, Mary Brooks, of Ruidoso, and Ariada Sauskis of Roswell; and a stepdaughter, Mary McKinley.

special place in our hearts, and we rejoice that our dear friend is safe and happy with our Lord in Heaven.

Anniversary Service At Ruidoso Baptist Church

Seventy five or more people attended the 32nd anniversary service at the Ruidoso Baptist Church last Sunday.

The Reverend Wayne Joyce preached the same sermon that he preached at his first service, February 1, 1959. He took his text from the Gospel according to Saint John, wherein Pontius Pilate says of Christ: "Behold the Man." The Reverend Wayne mentioned Christ as the sinless man, the serving man, the silent man, the suffering man and the serving man.

Nancy Farus sang "Face to Face." The Widner family sang "Victory in Jesus." Dora Atwood with violin and Vickie Widner at the piano played, "It Is No Secret."

Two of those present were also present at the first service in 1959: Troy Farus and Eudocia Burk.

Wayne was born March 2, 1927, in Longworth, Texas, to Coleman Joyce and the former Mary Celesta Toler. He was brought to Ruidoso at the age of six months and has lived here ever since except time at the Bible Baptist Seminary at Arlington, Texas, where he graduated with a Bachelor of Divinity.

He served in the Navy in World War II in the Pacific on an aircraft carrier.

Wayne and his wife, Louise, started their church in the Borum Hardware building in Midtown and moved to the present church in the Gateway area on July 4, 1962.

The church has brought us many blessings, and we hope it will celebrate many more anniversaries in the years ahead.

Services At Saint Anne's Chapel

At Saint Anne's Chapel, Glencoe, last Sunday, the Reverend Ann Gaddy preached a sermon based on the Gospel according to Saint Mark.

In the prayers of the people, lay reader Nellie Ruth Jones prayed for a quick resolution to the conflict in the Persian Gulf War, and for the armed forces and their families, for all injured, captured or killed in the War.

Blessings were given for the birthdays of Ralph Dunlap, John Shrecongost, Ron Annala, June Rawley and Rayburn Williams; and for the anniversaries of Frank and Sheila Crawley, and Ralph and Rosalie Dunlap; and for the marriage of Jim Cooper and Krista Isbell.

Six More Weeks Of Winter Weather

On the second of February, the Ground Hog saw his shadow on a clear sunny day, and dived back into his underground home thereby giving a signal that we are in for six more weeks of winter.

And sure enough here on the fourth of February, there is a cold blast blowing straight out of the northeast. More moisture is on the way, probably in the form of snow. That will be fine.

Let us thank God for a pleasant winter and all our other blessings.

Editorial

Bright spots are those little things that make life better in one way or another ... like the smile you get from the grocery store checker ... the "thanks" from a department store clerk ... and the warm handshake or hug exchanged between friends who meet on the street. There are some people whose lives are dark for one reason or another — not touched by many bright spots. That's where volunteers come in to fill the gap turning those little bright spots into a thousand points of light to brighten the entire community and even the world.

Altrusa Club of Ruidoso and Friends of the Library are doing their part to brighten this community with two important events set for this Saturday, February 9.

Care Fair, an event that will for the first time in Ruidoso gather representatives for all kinds of volunteer groups in one place at one time, is planned from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Sierra Mall. The Care Fair is providing those groups a chance to present their information and solicit volunteers to help in the many good works they're accomplishing now or want to accomplish when the resources are available. Members of the community will get a chance to see who's doing what, and sign up to help out wherever their talent and time fits.

Some of the organizations who will be on hand to tell what's going on in the world of village volunteerism include: Altrusa, Humane Society, Crimestoppers, Food Bank, Drug Free Schools and Communities, Extension Clubs, Ruidoso Care Center Auxiliary, Woman's Club, AARP, Mountainmarchers, American Cancer Society, Lions and Lionesses, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Meal Care and Band Boosters.

And, while the Care Fair is going on at the Mall, a group of volunteers will be at the Ruidoso Middle School where the first Battle of the Books is being waged. The Friends of the Library and Mid-school librarian Ellie Keeton are using the mock war to challenge young people to enjoy reading. Reading for fun will make life brighter for those readers, and a love of reading will make life better for everybody.

Saturday will be a bright day for Ruidoso!

Taxpayer offers plea on behalf of Fort Stanton residents, families

TO THE EDITOR:
On behalf of the clients, staff and families of Fort Stanton, I would like for the people of New Mexico to hear our side of the story. I am not a politician, reporter, lawyer or a smooth over the head talker. I am just a middle class working taxpayer, mother and a person who cares. I am really disappointed in what is happening to the families, and the home of 152 clients and the staff of approximately 230 of Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Center or "the dreaded institution."

Fort Stanton has had a cloud hanging over its head for the last 10 years with threat after threat of closing it for many purposes, including the latest being a Museum and Center for the Western Horse. I am now asking you, the people of New Mexico, don't let this happen. Help us to take the fate of Fort Stanton away from the politicians, Protection and Advocacy, the judges, oilmen and all the heads of our committees. Put this back in the hands of the people. President Bush said in his State of the Union address that we must put some of these decisions back in the people's hands.

I have always felt that the survey inspectors, judges, lawyers and all of the decision makers should have started with the jobs at the bottom and had hands-on experience before making laws and decisions for us. Once again, I am asking the people of New Mexico to help us keep the home of these 152 human beings — 152 people who are not as fortunate as the rest of us. The other morning, one of our residents (clients) came into my office asking if I had read the headlines for the day. He asked: "If they close this place, what will happen to us?" This resident is considered high level by NM Medical Review and Protection and Advocacy. According to their standards, this resident should be in a community setting. Because he is not accepted in the community, because of his behavior, he has been returned to Fort Stanton Hospital four times. Because of their age, his parents cannot care for him at home. Help me be able to tell this person that he will be able to stay here, and that he will always have a family in Fort Stanton.

New Mexico Perspective

Chimayo massacre haunts New Mexico

Terrible events have a way of coinciding with New Mexico's state legislature, as if to fix in one shocking moment our lawmakers' solemn responsibility. A decade ago, of course, it was the internationally notorious penitentiary riot that erupted one cold February night on the Cerillos Plain outside Santa Fe. Convicts had seized the prison from its dubious administration even before some of the legislators had gotten back to their capitol motel rooms from the customary Friday evening revels. Last week, it was what they're now calling the Chimayo Massacre, the shooting in both hot and cold blood of seven people, including two teenagers, a 5-month-old baby, and both a sheriff's deputy and state policeman who never knew what hit them. The slaughter made blaring headlines in Santa Fe and Albuquerque, and the usual tabloid television news. The Albuquerque Journal editorially mourned the victims, especially the law enforcement officers, who left widows and children, and in whose ranks, said the Journal, "the danger of sudden death and injury is a hazard they all know and live with." Ironically, those words are no less an epitaph for the five others caught in this bloodbath. For these were not random, inexplicable murders shattering some quiet Saturday afternoon in a picturesque northern village. However ghastly, this worst mass killing in modern New Mexico history was just one more case in the usually hidden plague of domestic violence in our state—a plague in which not only policemen but literally thousands of women, children and elderly face "sudden death and injury" every day. The shameful realities have been plain for some time. Dr. Victor La Cerva, the state's gifted medical director for maternal and child health, has been a tireless teacher on the subject, and last summer published a powerful book called Let Peace Begin With Us: The Problem of Violence in New Mexico. A few of the doctor's stark findings, all to relevant to

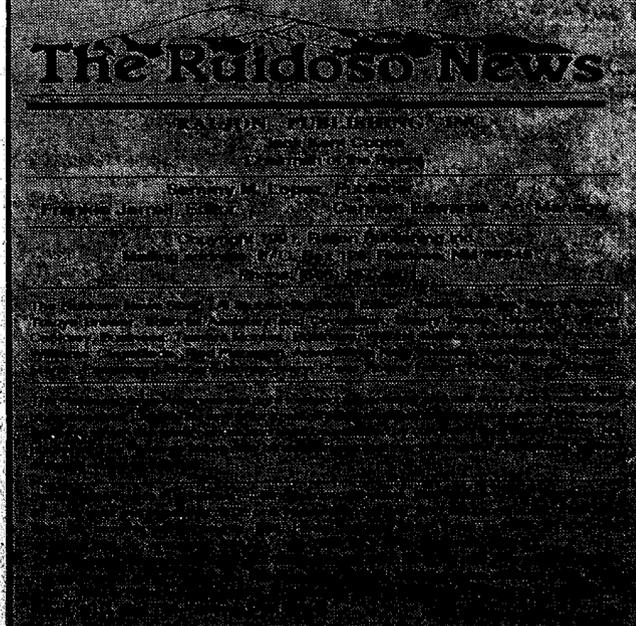

By Roger Morris
Santimonio
Santimonio

the Chimayo tragedy:
1. Our 11 shelters and 2 safe homes for sufferers of domestic violence see no less than a thousand victims each month, and those thousand are only the tip of the iceberg.
2. 1 in 5 pregnant women are battered.
3. A New Mexico woman is far more likely to be killed by a spouse or boyfriend than by a stranger.
4. Domestic violence nationwide is the leading cause of occupationally-related deaths among law enforcement officers, while police training programs to deal with the problem are still sporadic. And like Chimayo's murders, more than 90 percent of lethal domestic violence is preceded by several warning incidents, and often by police calls.
The plague traces its origins painfully deep in our society, become a symptom of so much gone wrong. Most of the perpetrators are men, bound by the ancient curse of poverty and mores of dominance and concealed feelings, re-inflicting their pain on women, children and the old, whose own cultural powerlessness stifles their cries. And contrary to the comforting public myth, the plague strikes every ethnic group and region, urban and rural, throughout this state, from Hidalgo, Santa Fe, Torrance, Sierra, Colfax and San Miguel Counties with their high rates of elder abuse, to Valencia, San Juan, Luna, Grants, Socorro, and Taos counties with similarly high child abuse.

Who is at risk of homicide or assault? Anyone living in a household where domestic violence is occurring, in a society where as many as 50 percent of our women may be battered at some time in their lives. This is not, as Dr. La Cerva and other authorities know so well, some violence out of the blue, but rather the climax of a pathological process, of an ever-worsening course in which there are multiple intervention points that might stop the suffering, avert the worst—if only we honestly recognized the scourge and acted. The butchery in Chimayo was not an accident or bolt of lightning. It is part of a public health catastrophe, and it might have been prevented before bullets tore through so many lives last week. That is what makes the old stinginess and short-sightedness of the legislature so hard to accept any more in New Mexico. Last year they gave a mere half million to domestic violence programs, and this year are contemplating a drop-in-the-bucket $66,600, tiny fractions of what's needed. Even with money tight, there are creative ways in savings, management reform, and budget reapportionments to deal with this emergency, but you don't hear any of that in the old traditional relaxation of these opening weeks at the statehouse. As the shots rang out in Chimayo, senators were already planning a cozy, expenses-paid Pecos ranch retreat to "get to know each other better," and lawmakers were marking calendars for the usual rounds of lobbyists' fund-raisers that crowd the capitol agenda. How much longer, I wonder, are we going to go on killing, abusing and ignoring the anguish of one another in this beautiful state, under an antique, backslapping 19th century government and our often medieval sense of public responsibility? The 5-month-old who died in Chimayo will never know, of course. He and the rest of them deserved better.

The Plant Corner

Sally's readers want good tomatoes

I do believe more has been written about tomatoes than any other vegetable. Still your letters and requests come in for ways to improve your puny tomato plants and harvests. I'll do my best to help you off to a good start this year.

One thing you will find, for sure, the more fresh tomatoes you produce, the more friends you have. For our location and climate the half-barrel or the equivalent size, is perhaps the best for growing tomatoes. The half-barrel is a compact, three-square feet of growing space and each patio tomato produces an average of about 20 tomatoes and about 6 plants can be planted in one half-barrel. Certainly this seems to be the easiest to care for the greatest production.

Prepare a half-barrel properly. Good drainage is essential, drill six or eight one-inch holes in the bottom of the barrel. Install 4 or 5 good, the more costly, usually the better, casters on bottom of the barrel for easy moving about, or if you use another type of container, buy or make a dolly with at least 4, never 3, casters, better to have the dolly larger than smaller than bottom of the container.

Next, add 4 or 5 inches of plastic packing chunks, on top of this add about 4 or 5 inches of new, fresh general potting soil. Next place the plants in the soil. The way I start my plants is to start by cutting the bottom out of 1-gallon plastic pots, placing the pots in trays, I plant 2 tomato plants, one marigold and one basil in each of the 1 gallon pots. Use either nursery plants or seeds. Prepare your 1 gallon pots properly—using plastic chunks in the bottom, with very sandy soil and vermiculite mixture to hold the moisture to start your new nursery plants or seeds. Keep inside in south or west sunny window with the room heated at night to at least 55 degrees. Keep plants or seeds constantly moist, never, never completely dry and too soggy will cause instant death. Before planting these 1-gallon pots into the half-barrels on the deck or patio, they must be properly "hardened". To harden, on calm warm days for about 10 days before planting in barrels, place the 1-gallon pots on the deck or patio for a half hour, working up to 6 or 8 hours a day. Tender, young plants can easily get sunburned or wind-burned. Do keep the plants warm. The more heat you draw to the plants early on, the sooner you harvest. To keep the roots warmer early, wrap planters with black plastic and use clear plastic tents. Make tents for the barrels of clear heavy plastic, so plastic does not touch the plants, should the temperature drop below 55 degrees and to protect from strong winds.

Use wire cages to train your plants and these cages may be used as part of frame for the tents. Stake the cages at the time of planting to keep erect. Grow within the cage; allow all side-shoots to develop, but keep the side-shoots trained with-in the cage, they offer shade to developing fruit and will later bear fruit of their own.

This must be continued next week. So much to say, so little space.

Native American students to gather at Fort Lewis College

Native Americans don't have to give up their cultural traditions to pursue an education and career in the anglo world, say Fort Lewis College students who have done both.

And they'll be sharing that message with more than 400 Native American high school and college students at the second annual Southern Regional Conference of the American Indian Science and Engineering Society scheduled for Friday, February 15, at FLC.

This year's conference theme will be "A Growing Tradition of Education" and will include presentations by successful Native American businessmen, scientists, engineers, teachers and others.

U.S. Representative Ben Nighthorse Campbell, D-Ignacio, CO, a member of the Northern Cheyenne tribe and the only Native American in Congress, will be one of several keynote speakers for the daylong event.

Facing off in a practice for Saturday's Battle of the Books are (from left) Chase Hampton, Jesse Aguilar, Emily Carter and Donna Cannella. They've been reading books and asking each other questions in preparation for the big event from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, February 9, at the Middle School Library.

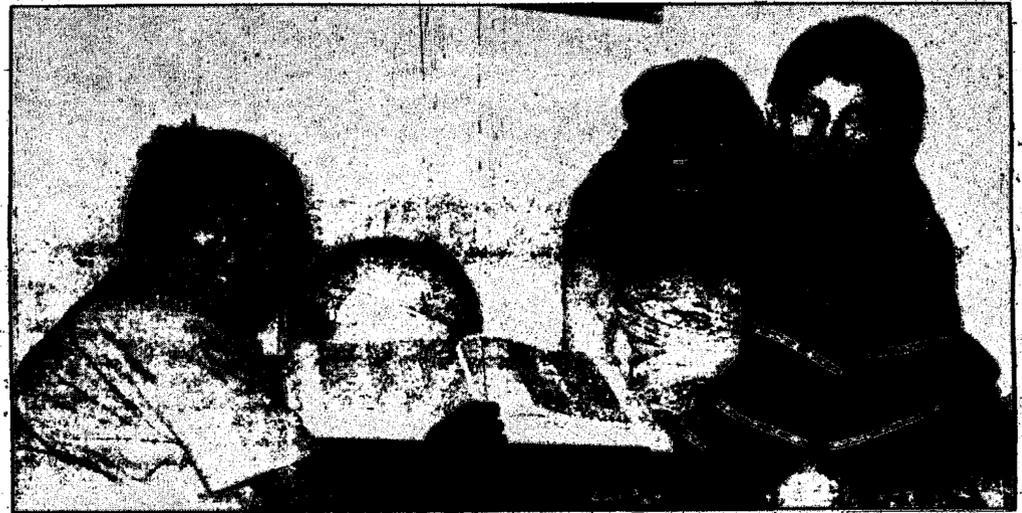

Readers ready for Ruidoso's first-ever Battle of the Books

Battle of the Books sponsored by the friends of the Library will be waged from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, February 9 in the Ruidoso Middle School library. The Battle of the Books involves students from the sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

According to a news release, the students, Mid-school librarian Ellie Keeton, and the teachers have devoted many hours to help coordinate this reading competition. The 38 students who are registered have been meeting on their lunch breaks, under the supervision of Keeton, after school, any spare time to practice their questions, and work as a team.

The Friends of the Library met recently and conducted a briefing of the rules and regulations of the Battle of the Books. The librarians briefed the teachers and volunteers early today (Thursday).

"This is a joint venture for the public and school libraries, so we invite the public to attend the Battle of the Books to show your support of these students on Saturday, February 9," continues the release.

Spellers face off in annual bee

Tony Trujillo spelled "sleeveless" correctly to win the annual spelling bee at Ruidoso Middle School. The seventh grader will compete next at regionals in El Paso, Texas.

Chase Hampton, a Mid-school sixth grader, won second with sixth grader Sneha Sharma taking third. "Sizzler" was the word that stumped the second place speller, but Chase Hampton says he'll be back for another try next year. Sneha Sharma says she'll be back for next year's bee, too.

Other spellers in the bee were Heather Blosser, Nicole Coca, Sandra Bellows, Shannon Gray, Francis Kinzhuma, Lisa Reyes, Kelle Lutterman, Caleb Hull, Brian Phillips, Jimmy Stover, Jason Wilson, Chris Castaneda, Chase Hampton, Sneha Sharma and Tony Trujillo.

Altrusa and Beta Sigma Phi have made contributions to help pay for Trujillo's trip to El Paso.

Montoya spells his way to victory in Hondo

Tobias Montoya won first place in Hondo School's annual spelling bee, and Joshua Candelaria took second.

The two spelling specialists are now eligible to compete in the 1991 Scripps Howard National Spelling Bee's regional contest sponsored by the El Paso Herald Post March 20 and 21 in El Paso, Texas.

Tobias is the son of Lynda Montoya and Joshua is the son of Elizabeth Candelaria. The Hondo students will be taking part in the 47th Championship Spelling Contest.

The winner of the regional contest will receive an all-expense paid trip to Washington D.C. for the National Spelling Bee.
