Mechem redesign plans prompt complaints

by CHUCK STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

After a day of enlightenment and frustration, most property owners along Highway 48 seemed confused and dissatisfied with new state highway improvement plans slated for next January.

Some owners took exception to the "take a number" format that answered individual questions one on one, but disallowed public debate. Those concerned citizens were told to wait for the March meeting and a different forum.

Allan Whitesel, New Mexico State Highway Transportation Department, said that the meeting was a design team-property owner interview to look at specific problems.

"There is an opportunity at a meeting in middle March for a designed public hearing," Whitesel said.

He said the interviews were for specifics with owners as discussed with the field representative's visit at the property.

Stan Cape, owner of A-Frame Cabins, said the field representative was unresponsive to his needs and didn't give him enough time.

"She spent 20 minutes with us yesterday, and the entire time she looked at her watch, needing to go somewhere else. That was not adequate enough for my particular concerns," Cape said.

New Mexico State Highway Department personnel explain to Ruidoso property owners how highway improvements will affect their property.

In an interview the following day, village consulting engineer John Shaw of Shaw Engineering acknowledged many areas would have to be studied and remedied.

"People don't realize what a 15-20 percent slope is," he said. "It's damn steep."

"The bottom line is when you try to put a five-lane highway through a mountainous community, you're going to have problems. Especially with the grade and accesses on either side," Shaw said.

Shaw explained a typical section of the highway that more than doubles the width of the existing highway.

He said the original plans showed a 14-foot wide continuous turn lane. The other four lanes would be 12 feet. He said the plans called for six-foot sidewalks.

"We asked the state to narrow that down a little," he said.

Shaw said the 14-foot left lane is now 13 feet. The four lanes dropped from 12 feet to 11 feet each. The sidewalks were narrowed from six to four feet on each side, narrowing the typical section by a total of nine feet.

"But the new plan has come back with a five-foot bicycle lane within the travel way on each side. So we actually increased the overall width by one foot," Shaw said.

Since the proposed bicycle lanes do not meet state standards (that minimum is six feet wide), the state has deleted the stripe that separates the traveled road from the bicycle path.

Essentially, both outside lanes, inside the curbs, have been widened by five-feet.

Shaw said the state has modified the plans since the village received them two weeks ago. He spoke of a beneficial grade change from Handi-Hank's to Porr Drive. Shaw said the grade is lower and better accommodates the businesses along that area.

"They are also making efforts for maintaining traffic flow during construction," he said. "In almost all cases they are constructing a two-lane detour road within the Highway 48 right of way.

Shaw said the two-lane detour road will be constructed before they start tearing up the highway. He said it would be one of the very first actions once the utilities are relocated.

Shaw said the state is looking at not blocking off Country Club Drive, a major thoroughfare for the locals. They're considering bending the street far enough from Highway 48 to make it a legal intersection and keep it open. The plans now call for a cul-de-sac.

Shaw said the state has agreed that the contractor must get village approval to use any streets for hauling materials or equipment during construction. He said the village will take videos of the existing streets and the state has promised to bring those streets back to prior condition after construction.

Planning and Zoning administrator Cleatus Richards said the state has agreed that no excess materials of any nature may be placed on private property without the approval of the village. And the village will designate the contractor's haul routes.

Shaw said the state is also considering ending phase one at the Bull Ring. There would be a 600-foot transition section north from the Bull Ring to the existing width of the highway.

County to consider housing rehabilitation fund program

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Officials with a Las Cruces corporation that specializes in housing rehabilitation hope to convince the Lincoln County Commission it's time for the county to get involved with housing projects.

They are scheduled to give a presentation to the commission a little after the start of the 9 a.m. session Tuesday in the county courthouse in Carrizozo.

Tierra Del Sol Housing Corp. has been rehabilitating housing in unincorporated areas of the county, mostly around Capitan and Lincoln, for the past two years, executive director Rose Garcia said Friday.

The pricetag for that work was covered by the Farmers Homes Administration, she said. While performing the rehabilitation, the corporation received additional requests from several elderly residents, who live primarily on social security and don't have the money necessary to keep their homes in good repair, Garcia said.

"Our main intent is to keep the elderly at home as long as possible," she said. That could be accomplished for about 25 homes if the county applied for and received a $250,000 federal Community Development Block Grant, she said.

Past commissions usually have read and then dismissed the letters received from Tierra Del Sol and similar housing firms, according to an administration official.

But this year, newly elected Commissioner Monroy Montes said he'd like to hear what the company has to say firsthand.

A line in Garcia's letter that especially piqued his interest was that each unit selected for rehabilitation will be submitted to the State Historical Preservation Office "to preserve historic integrity."

"My real interest is to tie in historical preservation with the people's housing," Montes said Saturday.

"There is a shortage of housing for widowed, disabled and rural residents," he said. "I'd like to see us recycle what we already have. Some of these houses are 100 years old. I'm not trying to turn anyone's house into a museum, but some of these homes were built just after the turn of the century and they're sitting empty or in disrepair."

Rather than spread the repairs out over the countryside, Montes would prefer to concentrate a rehabilitation effort in one area such as Carrizozo.

"There are a lot of older houses. I'd like to think people could actually live in them. I'd like to give the seat of county government a lift."

Garcia said the state has about $8 million of the federal money set aside for small cities and counties, but all of the applicants will be in competition and each may only submit one project.

If Lincoln County received the grant, her firm would bid on handling the rehabilitation project, but other interested housing groups also could bid to provide technical assistance, she said.

The company currently averages about 150 units a year and has six contracts with municipalities or counties in New Mexico, Garcia said.

Tierra Del Sol was incorporated as a non-profit corporation in April 1973. Organized by a minister, a county commissioner, a group of farm workers and rural families, its aim was to meet the housing needs of area farm workers and low-income families.

The firm's services include helping low-income applicants build their own homes, rehabilitating existing homes, constructing and managing multi-family housing and single-family rental projects.

The firm already has finished rehabilitation projects in the cities of Sunland Park, Las Cruces, the town of Mesilla and the counties of Dona Ana, Chaves, Luna, Grant, Hidalgo, Catron, Otero, Sierra and Socorro as well as Lincoln.

As project administrator, the corporation coordinates improvements such as major roof repairs, electrical wiring, plumbing, sewers, windows and door.

Other items on the commission agenda include requests for remodeling the Zia Center Recreation Room and for arena renovation at the county fairground in Capitan.

"Baby"

Chad Hairston as "Baby" is pictured today, March 11, in the drama room with cast members practicing for a play at the high school. Tickets are available from drama students and at drama class presentation at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 5, and Monday, March 6.

Line up for lodgers tax

Organizations which will be seeking funding for advertising special projects for fiscal 1991-92 can submit requests, March 19.

The Lodgers Tax Committee of the Village of Ruidoso will hear requests starting at 4 p. m. that day.

The committee was scheduled to hear such requests last Wednesday, but a quorum couldn't be mustered to hear the requests.

Tammy Maddox, village clerk, has application forms in her office at Village Hall. The forms must be used to make requests; certain financial information and past histories of events must be included in making requests.

LTC can only make recommendations to the village council on allocation of LTC funds.

Some $180,000 is expected to be distributed this fiscal year to various organizations and for special projects.

Local firm wins school remodel job

by DIANNE STALLINGS

The Ruidoso firm of Cheyenne Building Contractors was tapped Thursday to handle the renovation of White Mountain elementary and intermediate schools.

Out of four companies that submitted proposals to the Ruidoso School Board, Cheyenne offered the lowest base bid of $1,328,454.

"We were real pleased the bids came in better than we had hoped for," said School Superintendent Mike Gladden. "We feel fortunate we were able to get more classrooms" by selecting mates with the base bid.

The board selected three options of $204,438 and $55,048 for three classrooms at the intermediate school, and $27,063 for carpet and air-conditioning at the elementary school.

The total pricetag of $1,615,003 is slightly higher than the $1.56-million available from a recent bond sale. But additional money is available in the budget.

The work will begin June 10 at the intermediate school and is to be completed by August 23 to ensure the schools will be ready for the fall term. The board included daily damages of $500 to encourage a timely completion.

Greer/SJCF, Inc., based in Albuquerque, designed the remodeling projects. Some of the major improvements will include incorporating the existing offices at the elementary school into the renovated cafeteria, adding an administration section to the front of the classroom building and adding four classrooms between the cafeteria and the second-third grade building. Part of the breezeway between the second and third grade building also will be enclosed to provide protected passage to the cafeteria.

"This is the last phase of a $3-million bond issue approved by the voters last year," Gladden explained.

Other companies bidding on the project were John C. Cornell Inc. of Clovis with a base bid of $1,413,908; ESA Construction Inc. of Albuquerque at $1,487,000 and Luther Construction of Albuquerque at $1,470,000.

Grazing fees hiked by 9 percent

New Mexico ranchers who graze livestock on public land should be able to manage a fee increase of nearly nine percent, according to an agricultural economist from New Mexico State University.

Federal grazing fees increased Friday from $1.81 to $1.97 per animal unit month. An animal unit month is the amount of forage consumed in a month by one cow and calf or their 1,000-pound equivalent.

Economist John Fowler said the increase was calculated using a market-based formula. The grazing fee formula assigns a base fair market value for grazing on public lands. Cattle prices, production costs and private land lease rates are figured into the fee.

More than 3,700 New Mexico ranchers graze livestock on federal land. Nearly 23 million acres — almost a third of the state — is owned by the federal government.

Chamber checks out 800 number

A committee of four will negotiate a deal with a telephone provider for an "800" number for the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Craig Rawlings, chairman of the chamber advertising committee, requested permission for he, Tony Wilcoxon, Dan Barrow and Jerry Watts to work out a contract with AT&T or ACI Automated Systems, Inc., a local concern, or other provider for such service.

The four will bring back to the Chamber of Commerce executive committee any proposed contract for approval.

The Ruidoso Village Council approved an expenditure of lodgers tax money up to $2,000 to launch the "800" number project, replacing a "900" number which has proven somewhat ineffective.

The chamber board of directors approved the "800" number action at a regular meeting, Wednesday afternoon. Other business was on the chamber agenda.

Paul Crown, manager of Lincoln Cablevision, was introduced as a new board member replacing Mark Doth who resigned. Doth, marketing director of Ruidoso Downs Race Track, said in a letter that since the racing season is near, his time is limited.

He elected to remain on the Lodgers Tax Committee of the Village of Ruidoso rather than on the Chamber board and advertising committee after being criticized at a recent LTC meeting for a possible conflict of interest.

LTC recommends funding out of the lodgers tax to the village council for Chamber advertising.

Ronnie Hemphill gave a CVB audit report to the directors. He mentioned minor lack of documentation "in one area" and said that under Jack Muhn, chamber financial person, there has been "much improvement."

The board accepted the audit report.

Frankie Jarrell, chairman of the Connoisseur Classic slated in April, reported on that Chamber-sponsored project, verbally and in a written report.

She told of facilities to be used, the "Grand Tasting," luncheon plans, an art gallery exhibition, Spring Time Celebration, Champagne Brunch, promotions planned and how tickets can be purchased.

Tickets are available at the Chamber office.

The Connoisseur Classic committee has suggested three "charities" to benefit from the events.

The Chamber board approved an equal distribution of funds raised for the Retiree Division of the Chamber, for the Children's Hospital in Albuquerque and for the Family Crisis Center.

All major Connoisseur Classic events will be at the Convention Center at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Some 10 to 12 vintners are expected to participate, along with nine restaurants. A grand ball has a theme of "Springtime — Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

Further details will be forthcoming.

Joan Bailey welcomes new board member Paul Crown to the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors. Crown replaces Mark Doth who resigned.

Watts reported on how the July

Art Festival in shaping up. He reported for Tony Wilcoxon, chairman, who was absent from the meeting.

Watts said 898 applications had been mailed out to potential participants. March 31 is the deadline.

Joan Bailey asked how local artists will be handled this year. Ron Wall, Chamber president, said that will be up to the committee in charge.

Greg Masters, special projects chairman, reported on the "Springtime in the Rockies" promotion which the Connoisseur Classic will kick off.

He mentioned that function, the Bluegrass Festival a bike race and a celebration of the 50th anniversary of the Chamber of Commerce.

Director Joan Bailey has volunteered to be chair person for a continuing celebration of that anniversary.

She said special events might include a function for all living past Chamber presidents, some kind of picnic for the "Chamber family" plus other special events.

Ron Andrews reported that Dick Weber is working on funding for a proposed, locally owned Sun Country Airline. He said Weber is convinced that Ruidoso can "have scheduled airline service within a year."

Watts reported that CVB director Kathleen Michelena was in Mexico City at a trade show representing Ruidoso a most of last week.

The State Tourism Department picked up her registration, he said.

Next meeting of the board was set for March 20 at 4 p.m.

Board adopts set of policies

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board of directors now has a start on a Policy and Procedures Manual after the executive directors told the board he needs such a manual in order to function effectively.

The board approved such a manual after considerable debate at a regular meeting, Wednesday.

Watts said the first segment of a complete manual which he presented Wednesday is a from a "standard" format as used by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Two other segments will be added to the manual in future meetings if approved by the board.

The first segment as approved has many provisions. Highlights are as follows:

I. DEFINITION — This section says, in part, that "the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce is a working partnership of business and professional people and their interest in the community and area. It is an organization of people ... who know the wisdom of coordinating their efforts under effective leadership for advancement and development of the community and area."

II. OBJECTIVES — Coordinate strengthening the business climate, sponsor aggressive programs and to provide creating business leadership and to create broad understanding and appreciation of the great opportunities in the Ruidoso area.

All meetings, as soon as they are scheduled, will be posted on the meeting schedule calendar. Calls for meetings will be issued in regular form by mail, followed by a telephone call.

On agendas, staff members should arrange a draft agenda of the business which is to be presented to the committee in such a way as to insure that everything of importance is taken up and that the meeting is conducted in an orderly manner. Each member of the committee shall have a copy of the agenda before him. A master agenda shall be prepared by the staff member for the use of the chairman, following consultation with the chairman.

Staff members are required to keep full records in the files of all essential activities of conferences. VII. CORRESPONDENCE — Copies of all correspondence will be sent to the executive director, and from his office, letters will go to the files.

One section of this section deals with what signatures go on correspondence. Advance clearance should be requested from individuals whose signatures might be required.

VIII. — Chamber policy is to not make recommendations regarding products, service, etc. The Ruidoso Chamber does not provide letter of endorsement to companies or individuals.

Troubled waters get a dose of oil at Chamber board meeting

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso News Business Editor

A large quantity of oil was poured on troubled waters at a regular meeting of the board of directors of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday evening.

Heavy debate followed a request by executive director Jerry Watts that the board adopt the first of three parts of a policy and procedures manual.

Watts told the board that the policy and procedures manual "will assist me in doing my job."

He said he is not anxious to "keep on without some policy to back me up." He said such a manual would be protection for his staff, also.

Friction has been evident recently between certain elements within the Chamber of Commerce and between Watts, in particular, and the advertising committee headed by Craig Rawlings.

"I am not trying to make an end run ... this is a very simple, straight-forward document," Watts said. In answer to a question, Watts said he has not been included at times in some independent actions of the advertising committee.

Joan Bailey, a director, said "Jerry cannot do his job without something like this."

Valerie Miller, administrator of the Lincoln County Medical Center and board member, declared, "Jerry has been in an untenable position without a set of guidelines."

Bailey at one point declared, "The advertising committee has got too much power ... they don't come to this board."

At another point in the debate, Bailey said the Chamber "should have structure. I will not sit on a board as flimsy, flimsy as this one is at times."

"I couldn't run the Lincoln County Medical Center if I didn't know what the hell is going on," Miller said. She said her position and that of the Chamber executive director are very similar.

New board member Paul Crown said that as his first official action on the board, he would move that the policy and procedures manual segment be adopted.

President Ron Wall asked for discussion.

Rawlings asked that the item be tabled so that members of the board could read the six-page document more carefully.

The board adopted the document.

Watts said a second segment on job descriptions will be offered to the board at the March meeting. A third section will be developed beyond that, dealing with specific policy matters that have come up at previous board meetings.

Another bone of contention was dealt with at the meeting. In the past, the advertising committee agenda before each meeting has been generated by the Price Advertising Agency in Lubbock, Texas.

In the policy manual adopted Wednesday, the document reads, in part, each committee chairman shall, "with the assistance of the appropriate staff member, develop meeting agendas."

The Chamber staff in the past apparently has not always been asked to be involved in agenda preparation.

Rawlings alleged that in one instance, Watts "did an end run" in preparation of an agenda which Rawlings didn't see until just before a meeting.

The policy manual also says that the a copy of the minutes of each committee meeting be given to the executive director.

Ex-officio board member Ron Andrews, a village councilor, said that in the past the expense of faxing agendas from Lubbock to advertising committee members in Ruidoso created "a real sour taste" with him. He said he is just one councilor talking.

That procedure was wiped out by the board, Wednesday.

Connoisseur Classic III aids charities

Connoisseur Classic III, a festival of art, gourmet dining and wines, will benefit three charities this year.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board, sponsor for the annual Classic, has approved dividing charity funds among Retiree Services Division, Children's Hospital of New Mexico and Family Crisis Center of Lincoln County.

The Classic, kickoff event for Springtime in the Rockies, is set for Friday, Saturday and Sunday, April 5, 6 and 7.

This year's classic includes gourmet luncheons at noon Friday and Saturday, a grand tasting on Friday evening, a Springtime Celebration Saturday evening and an art exhibition all weekend. A champagne brunch has been added for Sunday.

Luncheons will be served this year at the Blue Goose, Bull Ring, Chango's, Cree Meadows, Inn of the Mountain Gods, InnCredible, La Lorraine, Mountain Bayou and Timmies.

About a dozen vintners will be on hand to pour for the grand tasting and to present programs during the luncheons.

BLM land swap includes 1,400 acres in Lincoln County

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The federal acquisition of nearly 1,400 acres of land along the Rio Bonito is almost a done deal, residents of Lincoln were told Wednesday.

But what happens to the land after it is acquired by the federal Bureau of Land Management (BLM) depends in large part on input from residents, said Sandy Allen, who is in charge of the resource area that encompasses the acreage.

That input can be offered at public meetings, by writing or telephoning the bureau or by individuals and community groups in private meetings with bureau representatives, Allen said.

No changes yet

In any case, don't expect to see much change for the next two to three years, she said.

"Until the Resource Management Plan for the Roswell district is completed in 1993, our primary aim is the maintenance and protection of the resource," Allen said.

The use of the acreage proposed for acquisition around Lincoln must fit into the larger district plan, she said.

"What guarantee do we have that after the land is acquired, you'll listen to our input?" one resident asked, noting that the bureau might capitulate under pressure from special interest groups.

"We're here now," Allen said. "Our decision is only as good as the input we receive. That doesn't mean we can accommodate every idea or need. But we'll do our best to accommodate the needs of the majority of the public. We will weigh it all."

Management plan in April

In April, the bureau will publish a package reviewing the major issues within each area of the resource management plan, she said. Those attending the meeting Wednesday automatically will be added to the bureau's mailing list, said Pat Kelley, Roswell Resource Management Plan Team Leader. Public meetings will be scheduled during the summer within each area covered by the plan.

"From this point until the plan is completed in 1993, the public will have numerous chances for input," Allen said.

Lincoln swap

Hans Sallani, realty specialist for the bureau, said the land around Lincoln would be acquired by swapping acreage from other bureau-owned tracts in the state. Once the bureau owns the land, it cannot be sold, he said.

Proposing the swap are the principals in the Lincoln Valley Land Co., a joint venture involving Ron Green of Roswell, Max Kiehne of Los Lunas and Betty Shrecengost of Lincoln, whose family formerly owned the property.

Green said Wednesday that he has been involved in swaps with the BLM before in the Carlsbad area. All across the state, the agency is attempting to acquire land along streams, rivers and lakes (called riparian lands) and property with unique animal habitats or archaeological significance, he said.

It also is trying to consolidate acreage and to reduce the number of scattered parcels for easier management, he said.

In exchange for the Lincoln acreage, Green and his partners would receive land of equal dollar value, if not number of acres, in the Mesilla Valley of Las Cruces, the Farmington area and around Los Lunas.

Green said they probably would try to develop the Las Cruces property because it lies within the residential growth corridor, but would sell the other land to ranchers who currently graze their cattle there or to other buyers.

Mrs. Shrecengost will retain a few hundred acres in the Lincoln area, Green said. But how much the two men will retain depends on what the bureau decides about three other parcels, totalling about 1,000 acres, further south on the Rio Bonito that the company also has proposed for a swap.

Those three parcels are less desirable to the bureau, Allen said. "There is more residential development in the area and it is not as pristine as the acreage under consideration now," she said.

Sandy Allen of the BLM points to the map provided by the federal Bureau of Land Management for a meeting in Lincoln Wednesday shows parcels of land along the Rio Bonito under consideration for acquisition by the bureau.

Surveys complete

Sallani said surveys have been completed on three of the four parcels included in the 1,336 acres now being considered by the bureau for an exchange. The Lincoln Valley Land Co. has contracted with the Roswell firm of Atkinson Engineering Co. to perform the surveys and with an Arizona company for the appraisals, he said. Bureau staffers will review the work when it is completed.

"We look to complete all the supporting documentation by September 30," Sallani said. "The exchange would be completed in stages since we won't have all the surveys completed at the same time."

Parcel one, with 258 acres about four miles north of Lincoln, and parcel four with 428 acres three miles south, are scheduled to be ready for a swap by February 1992, Sallani said. Parcel two with 400 acres immediately north of Lincoln and parcel three, containing about 300 acres and lying less than one mile south, probably would be ready a year later.

Much of the land straddles the Rio Bonito stream.

The bureau would be acquiring the surface and water rights to the land, but not mineral rights, Sallani said. It would convey only the surface rights on the tracts to be swapped.

Can it be stopped?

Resident John McGarth questioned whether there was any way to stop the acquisition.

"It looks like it will take place unless we run into a brick wall," Allen said. A decision may be appealed, but objectors would have to be specific about the basis for the objection, she said.

Most residents at the meeting Wednesday seemed to favor the swap. Their main concern was how the land would be managed after the acquisition.

Resident James Sanchez said the bureau staff would be wise "before you get too deeply involved" to review the historic preservation ordinance that covers a 10-square-mile zone around Lincoln. It spells out what can and cannot be done, he said. They also should meet with the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Commission, he said.

Kelley said that as team leader he will have to be sure the bureau's plan is consistent with those of the Lincoln settlement and the county.

Alternate uses

Allen said the team will identify alternate uses and prior to any decision, will look at existing uses of nearby land and at the environmental impact.

Dan Baggoa, a wildlife biologist with the BLM, gave a slide presentation on each area, noting historical and current usage. He said the parcels contain many fallow fields and some irrigated land.

Winter wheat could be grown for deer or the bureau could approve sharecropping, he said.

Hunting probably would be allowed but sections could be off-limits and the land could be closed to off-road vehicles, he said. Sections exist where trout could be introduced, and only fly fishing allowed, Baggoa said.

In areas, the bureau may want to get rid of non-native species along river banks such as salt cedar and Russian olive, he said. The BLM also may want to eliminate species that are hard on water resources.

Cleis Jordan, owner of Casa De Patron Bed and Breakfast, said she is worried that once campers come into the area, it could be overrun by people.

Linda Sanchez, who lives in Lincoln, said she is concerned that allowing people to roam around the shorelines may damage the riparian habitat for wildlife.

Crowd control

Paul Happel, outdoor recreation planner with the BLM, said the number of people in the area at any one time could be controlled by either restricting use of facilities to the daytime or limiting the number of campsites.

"The potential recreation depends on what you people want,"

Happel said. "I would expect you want the least visual impact, not a 200-site KOA campground, but perhaps 10 sites. You can then control the number of people introduced into an area."

Several good sites are located along the river and in a grove of cottonwood, he said. He would not be in favor of scattered campgrounds lining the stream. But camping could be an economic boom to the area.

"People will be staying here longer" with camping, he said.

Resident Cillie Dickinson asked how many freshwater wells the bureau anticipated digging to supply campgrounds.

Most BLM campgrounds do not have freshwater supply, Baggoa said.

The bureau would try to recruit volunteers or to arrange for campground hosts to police sites, Happel said.

Old wagon roads might lend themselves to the development of hiking or horseback riding trails, Happel said. But motorcycles would not be allowed. Additional easements might have to be purchased for access over private land for the trails, he said.

Depending on their historical significance, existing structures on the lands proposed for acquisition would be stabilized, he said.

Historical uses

BLM Range Conservationist Clark Taylor said much of the land historically has been grazed, first by sheep and more recently, by cattle.

"That is one of resources we're looking at, but how much grazing would be allowed and who, are decisions to be made in the future," Clarke said. "We must consider the impact on other resources."

Since the district resource plan will not be finished until 1993, it will give the bureau time to do some research, Taylor said.

"We've seen at Fort Stanton some rest of the land is good," he said. "But if we leave it vacant, the growth will present a fire hazard. Until the resource management plan is finished, we probably won't allow grazing."

Hamburger King No. 2 is open here

CLIFF MACSAS

Gateway Hamburger King, sister to Midtown Hamburger King, is percolating on all cylinders according to two ex-police officers who chose Ruidoso over Dallas, Texas.

The two, former Ruidoso Police Chief Bill Newman who was assistant chief in Dallas, and Cliff Macsas, former police lieutenant in Dallas, and their wives, Lydia Newman and Carol Macsas, have formed the NewMac Food Service Inc., of Ruidoso. The two Hamburger Kings are under that umbrella.

Bill Newman and Cliff Macsas have known each other for at least a quarter century. They worked together in Dallas for many of those years. Newman talked Macsas into moving to Ruidoso.

Newman retired first and moved to Ruidoso where he became chief. Then Macsas followed.

Newman retired from the Ruidoso Police Department late last year and began plans with Macsas and their wives to open a second Hamburger King.

Hamburger operations run in the Macsas family. Cliff's grandfather, Joseph, an immigrant, opened the first hamburger operation in Shawnee, Oklahoma, in 1925. His father, Jimmy, and uncle had hamburger operations in Ada, Bristow and two in Shawnee, final-

Carol Macsas, Lydia Newman and Bill Newman pose with plaque celebrating the opening of the Gateway Hamburger King in the Gateway Center. The address is 451 Sudderth. President of the NewMac Food Service Inc., is Cliff Macsas, shown at work in the kitchen at a pre-opening preview, Wednesday evening.

Hamburger Kings in Ruidoso employ six people full time and four part time. The Gateway Hamburger King is open from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. seven days a week. Midtown is open from 11 to 2 weekdays and from 11 to 7 on weekends.

Gateway HK's telephone number is 257-3010.

The new facility in Gateway

Center has been fully remodeled from plumbing on up.

The place sparkles. Macsas is president of the new corporation, Newman, vice president, Lydia Newman, secretary, and Carol Macsas, treasurer.

The new business had a grand opening Thursday after a preview for old customers Wednesday night.

Puzzling

Anita Sanders, administrative assistant in the Economic Development Corporation offices in Ruidoso, shows off some of the puzzles created by Richards Puzzles, a company moving to Ruidoso to produce the puzzles. The company has leased space in the Warp Speed building on Mechem Drive.

Aspen Aire, restoration businesses are separate

December marked a change for Marc Stewart and Don Russell, of Aspen Aire Carpet Care and Restoration Contractors, Inc., respectively.

Stewart purchased the cleaning division of Aspen Aire in 1986. Since then Russell has been involved with the restoration division.

In a joint release, the two men said, "In December of 1990 we decided that Aspen Aire should continue to be recognized as the cleaning leader and thus its name Aspen Aire Carpet Care.

"We also felt that the restoration division should stand alone and adopt a name that best identifies what the restoration division does and thus the name Restoration Contractors, Inc.

Telephone number of Aspen Aire Carpet Care is 257-7714. The number for Restoration Contractors Inc. is 258-3414.

Workshop will help businesses

A "procurement workshop" for all businesses interested in selling products to Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, or Cannon Air Force Base, Clovis, is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday, March 7, at the Ruidoso Public Library.

The workshop is structured to educate businesses on the "How Tos" of selling to the government.

Karon Kopp of the Southeastern New Mexico Business Assistance Center in Roswell will answer any questions. The telephone number is 624-7348. There is no charge for the workshop.

Economic Development, By George!

Roswell gets hit with a double whammy

Roswell has taken it on the chin, again. Transportation Motor Corporation has decided to shut down a portion of their operations, and over 700 jobs are going up in smoke. That is a hefty jolt for a city of 50,000 to handle.

The situation there is a classic example of putting too many eggs in one basket. Not only is the employment level at TMC reduced, but the smaller companies that are their suppliers are affected, thereby multiplying the overall impact on the community.

This columnist argued a few weeks ago that a number of smaller, independent firms are a safer bet for a community than one or two larger ones. It has happened time and again in community after community. The big employer in town shuts down all or part of his production and the town is left holding the bag.

by George Puckett
Special to
The Ruidoso
News

Roswell has been through this before with the loss of the air base that had provided so much economic activity. Mayor Brainerd provided the aggressive leadership that allowed the community to utilize that abandoned air base as an industrial park, a key asset in the ability of the community to attract TMC.

The migration from California of the dairy industry has contributed to the diversity of the Roswell employment base, but the number of jobs created per dairy is small.

Now it is important for Roswell to get even more aggressive about recruiting smaller firms that serve other markets. Based on past performance, it's my guess that Chamber Manager J.J. Johnston and his staff, with the help of key community players, are up to the challenge.

Sports

We won! We won! By golly, we won!

The drought is over. The onus is off. Ding, dong, the witch is dead. The Ruidoso Warriors win their first district game clobbering the Cobre Indians 82-65.

It was spine chilling hometown basketball at its best. Warrior head coach Norm Wright's grin was so wide it passed his ears by three inches.

The Warriors were hot all night, but none was as spectacular as Boone Denny. Anything Denny threw at the hoop dropped through, especially an uncanny 15-foot jump shot from either side.

His teammates gave him plenty of help, especially Cody Willard who dished off drive after drive to his open man.

The crowd sensed a great game by the young Warriors and the crowd participation seemed to lift the team to greater heights. It was the last home game of the season and by far the team's best performance to date.

The Warriors jumped to a 20-14 first quarter lead on Denny's four straight buckets and two buckets from Willard including a great 3-point jumper.

Ruidoso increased the lead to 35-22 at halftime and even doubters had to admit, things were looking good.

Although the Indians made a bit of a comeback in the third quarter, the Warriors still put 17 points on the board and moved into the fourth quarter with a nine 9-point lead, 52-43.

Chuck Medina of Cobre sizzled the nets with five final frame 3-pointers. It was an outstanding performance for the Indians, but it was overshadowed by a 30-point fourth quarter binge by the Warriors that left the crowd howling with glee. Maybe the Warriors couldn't shout, "We're number one," but they were at long last, a winner.

Denny led all Warriors with 36 points. Willard finished with 14 points. Willard still holds the all-time Warrior single scoring record with 42 points. Denny is now second.

Heath Huey, better known for his rebounding, hit the double digits with 10 points. Dan Holt had another fine game with 9 points, Robert Sayner, 7; and Eric Evans 6.

Outgoing seniors

In their final home crowd game, Dan Holt and Heath Huey leave the game in style with a convincing win over Cobre.

Atwood 2nd in state

Ruidoso Warrior James Atwood's state runner-up medal placed him atop of all Ruidoso wrestlers for 1991.

Seven Warrior wrestlers had earned the right to compete in the state 3-A tournament at Belen that started last Thursday.

Atwood, seated third, was the only district champion from Ruidoso.

Ruidoso's first match was an easy victory over Charles Martinez from Las Vegas Robertson. Atwood then pinned Larry Cambridge of Shiprock in 42 seconds of the first period.

Atwood's first scare was against second seeded Chris Martinez of Tucumcari (27-3).

Atwood jumped out to an early lead, but Martinez tied the match at the end of second and dominated the third with a great big ride. The situation seemed hopeless for Atwood the last 10 seconds when he freed his leg to flip Martinez on his back for a 4-point turnaround and a victory.

Atwood's final match was against the top seed Dusty Titus (29-2). Atwood led most of the match, until they butted heads in the third period. The refs called a two-minute injury to help revive the woozy Atwood. When the match resumed, Titus tied the score with a fireman's take down.

The overtime was routine tough with Titus building a slim 2-point lead with time running out. Atwood tried his best to finish a throw with 15 seconds left, but fell inches short. Both wrestlers were given a standing ovation.

Mario Portillo lost his first match to Richy Adair of Aztec, the eventual state titlist. Mario defeated Jack Senneff of Albuquerque Academy and James Martinez of Capitol. His loss to Kenny Madrid of Las Vegas Robertson cost him a medal.

Pancho Portillo defeated Isaac Lund of Taos, but was pinned by defending state champ Charlie Weahkiee of Aztec. Pancho defeated David Rio of Cobre and David Latham of Tucumcari before losing a medal to Jason Wisner of Oñate.

Able Montelongo, 189 pounds, defeated Lance Lester of Grants before he became injured against Adedon Gallegos of Taos. Montelongo was unable to continue the tournament.

Five golf teams beat the Masters at Links

Rain, snow, sleet and bitter cold winds couldn't deter Ruidoso area's hardy golfers from the opening day Beat the Master's Tournament at the Links of Sierra Blanca.

Golfers gulped hot coffee and downed donuts before the 10 a.m. tee off time last Friday.

Golf caps that sported ear muffs were the hot seller as patrons dashed in and out of the pro shop for a minute or two of warmth.

For all the rain, the young and tender fairways were in very good shape and the large greens are well bunkered.

To win you had to beat the elements and the masters; R.D. Hubbard, Jim Colbert, John Jones and Jack Warlick who shot a collective 60.

The format was best ball, net, with full handicap.

some of Leroy Gooch, J. Waldrip, Matt Gooch and Dick Little. Their 56 won first and five rounds of golf.

Two teams tied for second at 57: the foursome of Kent Beatty, Jeff Chapman, Dan Wimberley and Bill Rhoten; and the team of Dave Warren, Mike Walter, T. Richards and Jess Stinson.

Also beating the masters with a 58 were Lee Griffin, Tony Parker, Bill Hirschfeld and Tony Wilcoxon.

The last foursome to beat the masters with a 59 were Hal Cliff, Mike Massey, Tom Baker and Jock Palmer.

Dode Forrester, head PGA golf pro for the Links said that after the award ceremony all players were told they would receive free green fees for their next game. A kind gesture for those who braved snow, rain, sleet and a bitter cold wind.

Mary Ward celebrates 98th

Mrs. Ward, affectionately known by family and friends as "Mother Mary," received many card, gifts and well-wishers, according to a news release.

A surprise visitor was a long-time friend, Bill Mundy of Chama.

The friends recalled how they met many years ago.

"Mundy, a 15-year-old new neighbor of the Wards introduced himself in an unusual manner; he rode up on his horse announcing he was Bill Mundy, 'the youngest game warden in the State of New Mexico. I understand there are some trapped quail here.'"

Indeed, on that long ago day, Mrs. Ward had some quail in her hands she had trapped for the family's dinner. Thus began a lifelong friendship.

The 98-year-old still gardens, cans and shares her garden produce with neighbor. This winter her project has been providing tender loving care to a horse.

Mary Ward cuts her birthday cake during a party in her honor at Bill and Pat Ward's home in Lincoln. She was celebrating her 98th birthday.

Corriente Cowbelles make plans

Corriente Cowbelles met at the Lincoln County Fair Building in Capitan for the February meeting.

According to a news release provided by the club, yearbooks made and assembled by Sharon Letchworth and Jeanette Smoot were distributed.

Club members discussed the annual ranch tour planned for June, as well as the Grady Lee Roping in July.

Beverly Payne, AG Day chairman, is planning a puppet show for the elementary grades for AG day and distribution of brand napkins to Capitan and Hondo restaurants. Jean Cunningham will assist Inez Marrs in arranging for AG day to be advertised on the Capitan School's marquee and also at the Tiger's Den Sandwich Shop.

Jean Cunningham announced plans to attend a meeting in Ruidoso on February 19, concerning organization of financial planning and money management for women. Lincoln County Home Economist Betty McCreight arranged the program.

President Ruth Shannon reminded members to pre-register for the District V meeting in Truth or Consequences in March. A district meeting is planned in Roswell. Corriente declined to nominate a Man of the Year to State Cowbelles.

Shannon read an invitation to a reception in Santa Fe given by the Agriculture Organization for government officials. Shannon invited members to join her in attending the reception.

A copy of Fitta Wittes letter in response to Gary Collins Home Show regarding ranching and the environment was read.

Ace Griego gave a beef cutting demonstration to the Cowbelles using economical cuts of beef. Bessie Jones and May Crouse from Capitan Extension Club attended the demonstration.

Olympic skiers try out Ski Apache

A member of the Ruidoso Sierra Blanca Ski Team, Juan Carlos Elizondo of Juarez, Mexico, joined four other young hopefuls from that country on the Mexican Olympic ski team at tryouts Saturday at Ski Apache. This team will compete at the 1992 Winter Olympics in Albertville, France, said Cristina Calderon, secretary of Mexico's National Ski Commission. This is the second time the Commission chose Ski Apache as the site of its Olympic ski tryouts.

"We feel Ruidoso and Ski Apache to be the nucleus of Mexico's ski team," said Calderon. "Mexico is a country without snow or ski areas, yet, because of the support from Ski Apache, we have a ski team. We are grateful to Roy Parker (general manager of Ski Apache) and his staff."

In 1989, Ski Apache hosted tryouts for Mexico's first national ski team. That group competed at the first Pan-American Winter Games in Las Lenas, Argentina, and placed fifth.

Top finishers from that race join Saturday's five to represent Mexico in Albertville next February. Skiers compete in all three Alpine events: slalom, giant slalom (GS) and downhill.

Before the Olympics, the team will train and race in the United States, Switzerland and Chile, said Calderon.

Saturday's 20-gate giant slalom race narrowed the field of 13 to the fastest five: Elizondo, Eduardo Empudia, Alejandro and Samantha Teuscher and Alejandro Calderon.

Elizondo skied on the local team for three years. He is currently back on the team after a two-year hiatus.

RANDY BASCH WITH "TIMI"

"Timi" needs "TLC"

Wanted: A loving and patient new owner for a brown and tan shepherd mix female who has a history of being abused.

"When she first came into the shelter, she would just cower. We had to corner her for contact," said Randy Basch, manager of the Humane Society of Lincoln County shelter. "She would practically stand on her tail in submission. She's so eager to please."

The shelter staff named her Timi, but shortened it to Timi.

Because she still is adjusting to her new life of humane treatment, Timi probably would be better suited to a home without children.

"Kids tend to jump around and excite animals," Basch said. "She needs a lot of affection. But whoever takes the time to bring her out of it will find they have an extremely loyal dog. She would be an excellent alarm dog."

The adoption fee is $27.50. For more information, stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon or call 257-9841.

Last Day of A

Memorable February

This is being sent to you on the last day of a birthday month long to be remembered.

Here in the Vale the spirit of world-wide rejoicing over the good news from the Persian Gulf is casting a blessing all through the Mountain Land. This is the birthday of our brother, Joe, who is happy in Heaven over the many lives that will be spared and the thankfulness of untold thousands of kindfolks of our men and women in the armed forces.

Glencoe Postmaster, Della Bonnell, said "I was never so happy to raise the American Flag, this morning and so proud to be an American, and so thankful to God."

February Welcomes March

There is an old saying that "If March comes in like a lion, it will go out like a lamb."

This is a spring-in-winter day with light raindrops flying gently down the valley on a mild west wind, singing a song of the approach of March, the month of spring.

The sky is overcast with a solid ceiling of unbroken gray light cloud, with the sun barely looking through, casting the mountain world into a dim half light of very lightest golden glow.

The snowbirds are busy feeding and gathering together chirping their little songs snow on the mountain, the cows and calves are resting in the leaf sides of the cedars listening to the wind blowing overhead. Little Corina the black cat is lying close to the sun porch catching the very light rays of the sun. Outside the window the apricot fruit buds are just barely beginning to swell, and turn crimson.

So you see, on the eve of March we have a mild day with light wind, and you could say that if this weather holds over till tomorrow the first, March will have come in like a Lamb and go out like a Lion.

Saint Patrick's Day

After February, so full of special days, we have March with the only special day being Saint Patrick's Day, honoring the patron Saint of Ireland, all by itself on the seventeenth. Saint Patrick's Day having the month all to itself has helped it become a favorite world-wide holiday.

The Power of Words

Thomas Carlyle the Scottish philosopher did not believe in wasting anything, least of all, words.

He once said: "If anything is to be said or written, it should be so clearly expressed, to important, and so timely that it will result in a deed."

An article recently in the Wall Street Journal, about the fiftieth anniversary of the Battle of Britain, brought back some of the famous words of Winston Churchill: "The battle of France is over. I expect the battle of Britain is about to begin."

The whole fury and might of the enemy must very soon be turned upon us. Hitler knows that he will have to break us in this island or lose the war. If we can stand up to him, all Europe may be free and the life of the world may move forward into broad, sunlit uplands. But if we fail, then the whole world, including the United States, will sink into the abyss of a new dark age. Let us therefore brace ourselves to our duties, and so bear ourselves that, if the British Empire and its Commonwealth last for a thousand years, men will still say, "This was their finest hour."

The Battle of Britain was a turning point in history. And we at this very hour are witness to another episode in which we played the major role. And the right words at the right time helped turn the tide.

President George Bush said: "This assault on Kuwait will not stand." And it did not stand.

Let us thank God for the good news from the Persian Gulf and all our other many blessings.

Q. How Much Can Putting Your Retirement Money in Bank CDs Cost You?
A. A Lot!
Pioneer II outperformed bank CDs Over 20 years
Growth of $2,000 a year 7/1/70 through 6/30/90*
Bank CDs would have cost you $289,638!
That's the difference between accumulations in Pioneer II and Bank CDs. So, while the principal's insured and the interest rate's fixed until maturity, "safe" bank CDs simply don't have the growth potential of Pioneer II. While CDs are fine for your short term needs, Pioneer II is ideal for your long term retirement goals.
If you have long-term retirement savings in CDs... Maybe it's time you switched to Pioneer II.
