RUIDOSO, NEW MEXICO 88345

NO. 99 IN OUR 45TH YEAR 50¢

'91 horse racing season is in the gates

RUIDOSO DOWNS—At least 70 new trainers have applied for stall space for the upcoming 79-day summer meeting here. The barn area officially opens Monday, April 15. The racing meet starts Thursday, May 9, and runs through September 2. The stable area, which will again house regular quarter horse kingpins such as Jack Brooks, Arnold Simmons and Dwayne Gilbreath, must make room this year for Oklahoma invaders Rodney Reed and Craig Smith.

Reed and Smith, two of the perennial leading conditioners at Remington Park in Oklahoma City each spring, have applied for 20 and 34 stalls, respectively. "There have been more than 3,700 stall applications," said Clayton Keys, stall superintendent. "The advent of horse racing in Texas certainly did not hurt us. The biggest stable we lost to Texas was a 10-horse stable. If anything, Texas racing has helped us by bringing in new stables." Of all the trainers who call Ruidoso

Downs their summer home, none is more prominent or successful than the legendary Brooks, who shoots for an unprecedented sixth Labor Day victory this year in the $2.5 million All American Futurity. Brooks, whose streak of two consecutive All American Futurity victories was snapped last season, had a memorable meet in 1990, nonetheless. He equalled the all-time record for wins in a season at Ruidoso Downs with 57, won the All American Derby with Special Project and trained the first four finishers in last year's Kansas Derby. All totaled, Brooks' horses earned in excess of $1.6 million in 1990. As usual, the quality of horseflesh at Ruidoso Downs is expected to be top of the line. Last year's All American Futurity hero Refrigerator has been freshened all winter and is expected to tackle the three Grade I derbies at Ruidoso Downs this summer. Refrigerator, who was named Champion

2-Year-Old in 1990, figures to renew his rivalry against Quick Fun, who as a juvenile during the summer of '90 won five of six starts and was runnerup in the All American en route to honors as Champion 2-Year-Old Filly. In the Thoroughbred division, three-time defending training champion Doyal Roberts returns. Jockey Joe Martinez also returns to defend his riding title. During the 1990 meeting, Martinez established an all-time record for wins in a season with 103.

Grand jury indicts one

A Lincoln County grand jury Thursday indicted former Carrizozo deputy town clerk Kathy Palomarez, 25, for embezzlement and misuse of public funds.

According to New Mexico Attorney General Tom Udall, Palomarez is accused of diverting more than $2,500 for her own use between January 1, 1990, and August 31, 1990. Palomarez allegedly changed a utility customer's account balance to cover cash shortages.

Palomarez voluntarily surrendered to the Sheriff's Department and was booked into Lincoln County Jail at 11:49 a.m. Thursday. She was charged with one count of embezzlement in excess of $2,500 (up to $20,000), one count of computer access with intent to defraud or embezzle (both third degree felonies), one count of computer abuse (a fourth degree felony) and one count of misuse of public funds, a felony.

The maximum sentence for conviction on a third degree felony is three years in prison. Conviction on a fourth degree felony is punishable with a sentence of from three to 10 years.

Palomarez could not be reached for comment. Her attorney, Gary Mitchell of Ruidoso, said Palomarez waived arraignment and entered a written plea of not guilty. Her trial has been set for May 28-29 in Twelfth Judicial District Court in front of Judge Richard A. Parsons.

The young mother was released from county jail at 12:40 p.m. Thursday on her own recognizance.

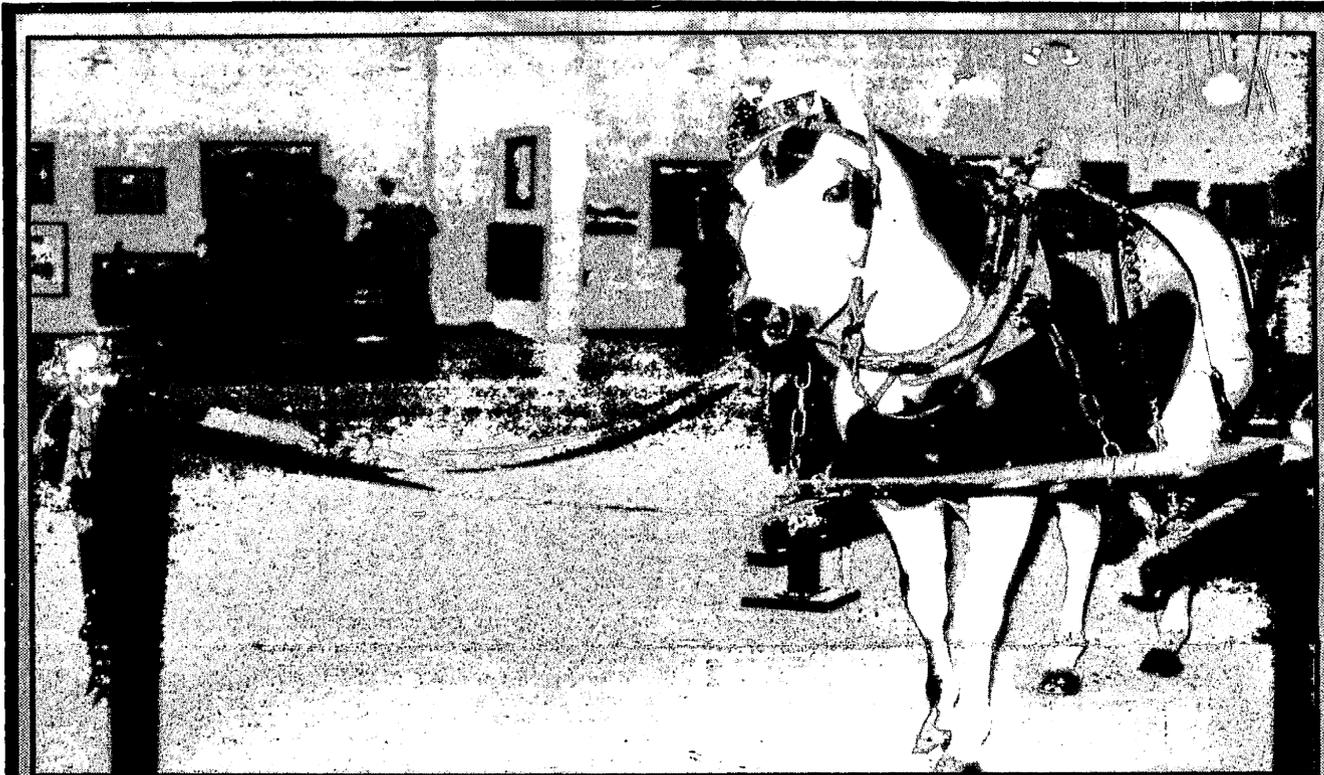

"Her mother has been in this county since Moses was a pup," Mitchell said. "She has a baby boy and obviously, she's not going anywhere."

Palomarez' father-in-law, Nat Palomarez, was a 27-year member of the Carrizozo School Board and is a supervisor with the State Highway Department, according to city officials. Her maiden name is Chavez and her family is well-known in the Corona area.

"She said she didn't do it," Mitchell said. "She's a nice lady and it wouldn't be the first time that a person has been falsely accused."

Mitchell said he is bothered by

Travel writers take to the slopes at Ski Apache

by YVONNE LANELLI
Special to the News

New Mexico currently rides a high wave of public interest, say visiting travel writers. And after the journalists' recent visits, Ruidoso and Ski Apache may be cresting that wave.

Within 10 days two groups of writers visited the area two weeks ago. Their trips were sponsored by New Mexico Tourism and Ski New Mexico, a trade association of New Mexico ski areas.

"We welcomed them and gave them the best time we could," said Roy Parker, general manager of Ski Apache.

Two days of fresh powder welcomed the first group which included Ski New Mexico's Steve Lewis, Santa Fe businesswoman Marsha McEuen and writers Anne Phalon of Connoisseur magazine and Sean Hignett, a freelance British travel writer.

"Connoisseur" is an upscale lifestyle and arts publication, according to Phalon, who is based in New York City. This was her first trip to New Mexico, and she expressed a desire to return.

Hignett, who lives in Edinburgh, Scotland, writes for London's "Daily Telegraph," a publication he said claims the biggest circulation of quality newspapers in Britain.

On this, his first trip to southern New Mexico, Hignett revealed he'd been visiting and writing about New Mexico for 20 years but had never ventured south of Albuquerque until now.

The week after Phalon's and Hignett's visit, Lewis and Sharon Maloof of New Mexico Tourism escorted a second, larger group of travel and ski industry writers.

Walter Roessling of the "Dallas Times Herald," Diana Hunt of "Ski Industry Newsletter" and "Ski Insider Newsletter," Jim Houpe of "Tulsa World," Glen Putman of

"San Francisco Focus," and Sally Russell of "Skiing" magazine enjoyed some of the area's outdoor activities. All sampled Ski Apache's sunny slopes Friday morning with Parker, Denny Grover, Ski Apache mountain manager, and Patricia Morrison, marketing director.

After an outdoor lunch on the deck of the Moonshine Burger Stand, half the group left to play tennis and golf while the remainder continued exploring Ski Apache.

Village Manager Ron Wicker will give an update on the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant.

Public hearings are scheduled for a transfer of ownership of a liquor dispenser license to Handi Hanks; and an ordinance creating an Arts and Film Commission and a Transportation Board.

Regular items include:
—Environmental Improvement Division report on liquid waste disposal problems in Ruidoso.

—Extension of lease agreement for the Lincoln County Humane Society.

—Revised program schedule for the design and construction of the civic events center.

—Discussion and consideration of possible action of the request for proposal for operation-management and marketing of the civic events center.

Lincoln County's trash boss reports for duty

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer
Lincoln County's new Solid Waste Manager Gene Green moved to Hondo last summer.

"My wife, Virginia, and I decided Lincoln County was where we wanted to live," he said.

Amazingly, he still wanted to stay even after attending one of the marathon meetings of the county Solid Waste Authority last week.

Green technically doesn't work on the role of manager until April 15, but that hasn't stopped him from sitting in on authority meetings and handling some other administrative chores.

Born in Oklahoma, Green's family moved to Alamogordo, where he graduated from high school.

He served in the U.S. Navy and then earned a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from New Mexico State University in Las Cruces in 1956. For 28 years, he worked for the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture until he retired in 1986.

In 1981, he also became a licensed New Mexico real estate salesman. For the past few years, Green had headed his own company, Green and Associates Consulting Firm, handling land, water and environmental planning.

During that period, he developed a regional water resource plan for Taos County under a contract with the North Central New Mexico Economic Development District.

His duties while with the conservation service included managing operations in Chaves, Colfax, Curry and Torrance counties. He was involved in land management, surface drainage and erosion control including revegetation. He collected, analyzed and interpreted hydrological data.

Green also developed a regional solid waste management plan for parts of Santa Fe, Bernalillo and Torrance counties and drafted a joint-powers agreement for three counties and five municipalities.

At the age of 61, Green is nowhere near ready to really retire.

When he moved to Lincoln County with his wife, Virginia, he was looking for something to do.

"I was watching the development of the Solid Waste Authority from reports in the newspaper and I thought it was something I'd be interested in," Green said. "I just didn't know how it would progress."

Although his experience has skirted the edges and tromped right across the middle of solid waste management, this will be the first time Green has managed a county's total collection and disposal program.

Green said he's looking forward to the job. The authority, comprised of representatives from five municipalities and the county last week approved an annual salary for Green of $35,000.

County attorney gets early start on career

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

He never ran for public office and his family roots don't even reach beyond Lincoln County's top soil.

But J. Robert Beauvais in three short years has attained a position that could powerfully impact the future of the county and several municipalities within its boundary, according to the university's registrar.

"I was thinking of medical school," Beauvais said during an interview at his office last week. "I was selected as a research assistant for the lead professor in the department and we were involved in cancer research."

But after his professor stomped off the job in a confrontation with assistant and legal counsel for Lieutenant Governor Mike Runnels and as administrator of the New Mexico Main Street Program.

"That's when we set up the Main Street program that Ruidoso is a part of," Beauvais said. "I ran it the last two years of that administration. It was tied into the historical preservation program. It was a popular program locally and gave me entry into many of the local groups and government."

When a new Republican governor moved into town in 1987, Beauvais was offered a chance to stay.

"But at that point, I didn't want to. I was a little disillusioned because I was closely identified with the Democratic administration because it had been there so long," Beauvais said.

After a brief fling at teaching and acquiring a state real estate broker's license, Beauvais decided he should spend more time in the courtroom doing the job he had been trained to do.

The way to get his feet soaked quickly was to work either as a public defender or a district attorney.

From January 1987 to April 1988, he served as assistant district attorney in the Ninth Judicial District, as Curry County Attorney and as Roosevelt Juvenile Court Attorney.

That's the closest he came to running for public office.

"I was thinking about running for district attorney and had a falling out with the DA," he said. About the same time, he met Otero County Attorney Daniel Bryant, who, with his partner Karen Parsons, was working on a water rights case in which Beauvais was interested. He joined the firm of Parsons & Bryant in Ruidoso and stayed one year.

"When the new Lincoln County Commission was elected, I used that as a springboard to open my own practice," Beauvais said.

Soon after, he added Carrizozo and Capitan, working on a contract basis that roughly equates to between $60-63 an hour. He also is representing the town of Corona in a dispute with the state over its landfill.

County Manager Nick Pappas said it's great to have Beauvais on board. The county's legal bills have decreased and he considers it an advantage to have one attorney represent several of the entities that are members of the Solid Waste Authority.

"We don't have to have six different attorneys squeezed in around the table," he said. "It eliminates a lot of confusion."

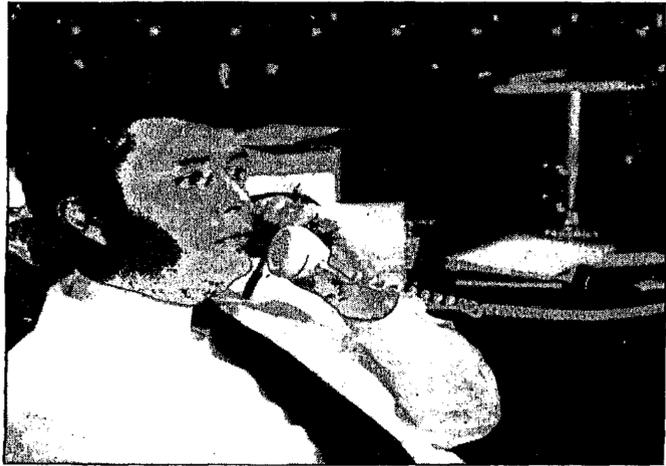

In the last five months with Bruce King back in office, Beauvais has called many of his old friends. He let Burkhardt know that Lincoln County is vitally interested in the future of Fort Stanton State Hospital, which is marked for phase out.

"A lot of people feel since Lincoln County didn't vote for (King), it will be left out in the cold," Beauvais said. "I don't think that's true. As long as we ask for help, we won't be turned away."

Beauvais said he always will be grateful to King for the opportunities.

"He took young people right out of graduate school and gave them a tremendous amount of opportunity and placed a great deal of trust in them," Beauvais said. "We didn't know beans about government, but we were a real ambitious group of young people and we were willing to do anything. We had opportunities that most in their early 20s will never have."

His hectic schedule translates to six days a week in the office. Although he enjoys fishing and skiing, he doesn't have much extra time.

COUNTY ATTORNEY BOB BEAUVAIS

Beauvais serves as attorney for the Lincoln County Commission, the Solid Waste Authority, the Carrizozo Board of Trustees, the Capitan Board of Trustees, the Eagle Creek Water Association and Capitan-Carrizozo Natural Gas Association, while maintaining an active private law practice.

In his position as legal counsel for various government entities, he has guided them on matters of policy, personnel and litigation. He has tapped long-standing, state-level friendships to remove obstacles and to grease the county and municipal tracks.

In an era where state laws and agencies reach down into local pocketbooks more and more, it's a boon to employ an attorney who, while wrangling with agencies, can call the directors by their first names.

Beauvais struck up these valuable friendships during the first two administrations of Gov. Bruce King. Some of the names should be familiar: Public Service Commission Chairman Larry Ingram; new Health Department Secretary Mike Burkhardt and State Treasurer David King. He went to law school with Attorney General Tom Udall.

Those contacted by The Ruidoso News recalled Beauvais in glowing terms. David King referred to him as "one of the most intelligent, conscientious, capable people that I've ever worked with."

Born in Oklahoma, Beauvais grew up in a close knit family that strongly believed in traditional values. His father died in the Korean Conflict and his mother kept books for three different companies to support her three sons. She eventually remarried and the family moved to Louisiana and Texas before settling in New Mexico.

From the seven boys produced by his mother and her two sisters, six attained the rank of Eagle Scout and three became lawyers.

His office reflects those traditions. High back, muted blue-gray chairs for clients face Beauvais' working desk and a monumental post master's desk against the back wall. Framed diplomas, tasteful art and an immaculate aquarium finish the overall picture of stability.

In 1970, Beauvais graduated Magna Cum Laude from Eastern New Mexico University, earning his bachelor of science degree in psychology with a minor in microbiology, according to the university's registrar.

In December 1971, he completed his master's degree in psychology. A month after graduation, he jumped into state government.

"I started in the planning office (as executive assistant), which then was part of the governor's office," Beauvais said. "As soon as I got there, I realized that lawyers touch almost everything we do, especially there in Santa Fe. A fairly high percentage of legislators are lawyers."

"I think that's where I became oriented in the direction of the law."

He also was named director of the State Historic Preservation Program, an association that led to his involvement in establishing the Lincoln Historic Preservation District and to developing an enduring interest in the legacy of Billy the Kid.

About the same time Beauvais enrolled in University of New Mexico Law School, King decided to insert him into the prison system under the title of Assistant to the Secretary of Corrections. He landed at the prison in Los Lunas.

While juggling school and his assignment, Beauvais saw the Democratic administration change. King left in 1975 and Gov. Jerry Apodaca took office.

Despite mass firings in the central office, Beauvais emerged unscathed and was named Deputy Secretary of Corrections. He handled a statewide correctional system including adult parole and probation, and juvenile parole.

By the time King was re-elected in 1979, Beauvais had graduated from law school.

"I went over in November to help work out the initial problems and to get his staff in place," Beauvais said.

He was named Executive Assistant to the Secretary of the Department of Human Services and was charged with handling labor relations, contract compliance and employee grievances. He also worked as staff assistant for special projects with the governor's office.

Beauvais took some time off to help with David King's congressional campaign. When he lost to Republican Joe Skeen, Beauvais rejoined the governor's staff, where he stayed until the end of Bruce King's term in 1982.

From January 1983 to December 1986, he served as executive as-the fact that the case was not presented by the local district attorney's office. Instead, an assistant attorney general, Rumaldo Armijo, appeared in front of the grand jury Wednesday and Thursday to lay out the findings of an investigation that started last fall.

"Obviously, I was surprised when the Attorney General's office became involved," Mitchell said. "It always troubles me when our own district attorney doesn't handle a case. It smells like politics could be involved."

Assistant District Attorney Viola Rhodes told The Ruidoso News that usually she handles all cases within the county. "But since this involved a public official, I notified District Attorney Bert Atkins and he thought it was appropriate to present the information to the attorney general," she said.

The case was compiled over a nine-month period after Palomarez was terminated by the city, Rhodes said.

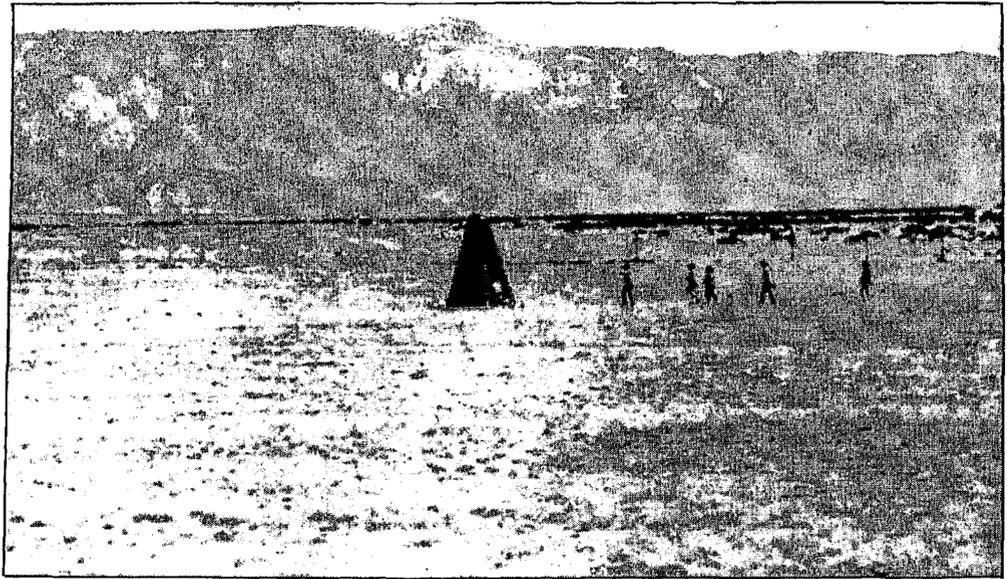

"She was deputy town clerk and one of her jobs was taking money and crediting people's utility accounts," Rhodes said. "Another was taking money for re-registration of cars, for new titles and for driver's licenses."

"(Town officials) were alerted that something was wrong when they found a re-registration and application for car title in her desk drawer when it should have been sent to Santa Fe days or weeks before."

The case was unusual in that a regular police investigation would not have been fruitful, Rhodes said.

"The regular certified public accountant for Carrizozo did an ac-

Youngsters preview kindergarten

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Years ago when a child enrolled in kindergarten, it might have taken months or longer for teachers to detect a developmental problem.

But under a joint program of the Ruidoso School System and Region IX Cooperative Center, free developmental screening for all preschool children has been offered for the past eight years.

This year, screening for children from birth through five and pre-registration for kindergarten will be handled by dozens of volunteers and professionals on April 27 at Nob Hill Elementary in Ruidoso.

Similar programs also are scheduled for surrounding communities including Tularosa, Hondo, Cloudcroft, Capitan and Corona, said Lakis Bowden, program administrator for Region IX.

"The screening allows us to gain as much information on the children's development stages as we can, so we can advise parents about possible corrections," said Nob Hill principal Roger Sowder. "In the past, children would go to school for six to eight months before someone realized they needed glasses or hearing aides. By that time their education would have been impacted tremendously."

In Ruidoso, children with last names starting with the letters A-L should come to Nob Hill on Sutton Drive from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. Those with names beginning with the letters M-Z should be at the school from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The testing will cover vision, hearing, dental, nutrition, speech, gross and fine motor development, and academic development, Bowden said.

Sowder said by registering students for kindergarten ahead of schedule, it allows the district to plan for the upcoming class.

"We can get a better handle on the enrollment and that allows us to plan our space, equipment and staffing needs," he said. "It also gives the district more material with which to prepare its annual budget."

"We registered as high as 120 one year for kindergarten," he said. "Early identification of development problems leads to early remediation. That, in turn, means the child and the system may be able to avoid special classes later."

About 22 currently are enrolled in the district's classes for children with developmental delays.

Children who appear to have developmental problems will be referred to appropriate services and professionals, Bowden said.

More than 40 people have volunteered to help with the screening locally, including physical, occupational and speech therapists; an audiologist; optometrists Dr. Randall Cox and Dr. T.T. Marquardt; and dentists Dr. Howard Tate, Dr. Joseph Tam and Dr. Vincent Straley.

Door prizes will be awarded to parents and there will be balloons and other treats for children, Bowden said.

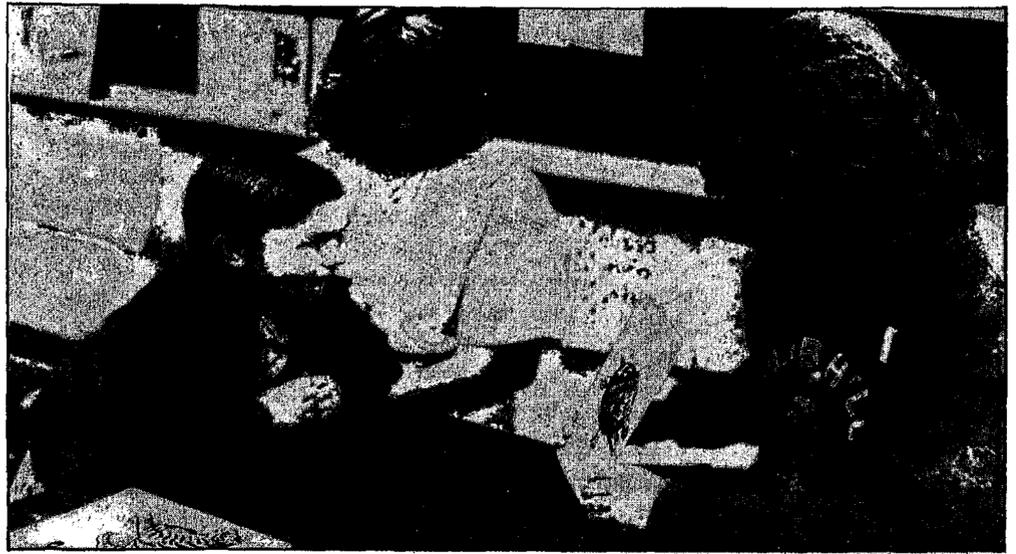

"It's a fun day for the kids," she said. "They really enjoy it. A clown will be here to greet them and they get to see the building and meet Mr. Sowder and their teachers. It's a good ice breaker."

"Remember this is a free developmental screening," she said. "Kids from outside the Ruidoso district are welcome."

To register for kindergarten, a child must be five years old by Sept. 1. Parents should bring their child's birth certificate and immunization record.

Anyone wishing to volunteer for the screening in Ruidoso or in other locations, may call Bowden at 257-2368 or Nob Hill at 257-9041.

The schedule for other screenings is: from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. April 19 in Tularosa, from 9 a.m. to noon April 23 in Hondo, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. April 24 in Cloudcroft, 9 a.m. to noon April 25 at Carrizozo, 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. April 26 in Capitan and 10 a.m. to noon May 1 in Corona.

Keith Buckley, 5, seems to enjoy being tested by Nob Hill Elementary teacher Marge Cannella, right, as his mother Patti Buckley watches. Mrs. Cannella will be testing dozens of children during kindergarten pre-registration and developmental screening day set for April 27 at the school on Sutton Drive.

Downs trustees to meet

Jim Rethmel, Ruidoso Downs trustee who has been on active duty with the U.S. Army, has returned to civilian life and will be at the regular trustees meeting tonight. The meeting is at 7 p.m. in Village Hall.

Maurice Gudel, village clerk, says the agenda for tonight includes the following:

- Update on Senior Citizens Center grant and building project.
- Announcement of April 15-26 as the annual cleanup project.

- Approval to be sought on lease of Redmen Club to be used as a village hall.

- Approval sought for minor change in Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority agreement.

- Clerk will ask permission to seek bids on 1984 Dodge Diplomat.

- Clerk will ask authority to advertise for a village auditor.

- Permission will be sought for a village employee to attend an Equipment Operator's School in Roswell this month.

Zane Grey Leslie was "cowboy's cowboy"

Zane Grey Leslie

Services were conducted April 2, at the Carrizozo First Baptist Church and the White Oaks Cemetery, for Zane Grey Leslie, who was called home by our Lord on March 30.

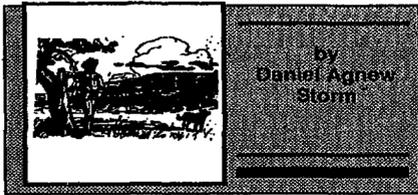

The Reverend Hayden Smith gave the opening prayer.

The Reverend Floyd Goodloe read the Twenty-third Psalm and also from the second Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Corinthians: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens."

"A Cowboy's Cowboy" Zane's lifelong friend and neighbor in a fond eulogy described Zane as "A Cowboy's Cowboy" who embodied all the traditional qualities of character of the true westerner. He said that he was a good neighbor and friend, a devoted husband and father who raised a fine family, a hard worker, always honest, and ready to help anyone in need.

Scott Shaffer sang "When They Ring Those Golden Bells for You and Me." Sherry Underwood sang "How Great Thou Art" and "The Master is in Everything."

Military Honors Zane was a Navy veteran of World War II. Members of Post Number 53 of Capitan conducted military honors complete with color guard and the playing of "Taps." The American flag which draped the casket was presented to Zane's widow, Bessie. The Legion members were, Frankie Silva, Robin Cruse, Richard Young, Henry Griego, and Mark Fararo.

Frankie remembers Zane as "the best neighbor in the world," that he was on the school board, and greatly devoted to children, always cheerful.

"He loved life" said Frankie, "and helped others to enjoy life also. He liked to laugh and to dance, and always wore a smile for everyone."

Palleaders were Larry Dean, Curtis Fort, Preston Stone, Bill Hightower, Stirling Spencer, Wes Smith, Fred Payton and Coy James.

Honorary pallbearers were: Bill Edgar, Johnson Stearns, Fred LaMay, L.Y. Jackson, Seldon Burks and N.E. Britton.

"A Friend in Need" Years ago when Vic Lamb was editor of The Ruidoso News, my pickup was broken down, and I was standing out on the highway to catch a ride or get someone to deliver a Christmas column up to the paper.

It began to snow, and a car pulled over, and here was Zane Leslie. I had only recently become acquainted with him, and told him my trouble.

He gave his million-dollar smile and said, "I'll take it up for you." So I walked back through the snow to the house, light in my heart and step at this great kindness from a new friend. Talking to all who knew Zane, it turns out that this has always been his style of life.

Zane once told me that when he was born December 20 in White Oaks to Rob Leslie and the former Eva Ward, his mother asked the doctor who delivered him what she should name him.

The doctor said: "When you got word to me I was reading a story by Zane Grey. Call him Zane Grey." Surely the greatest of all Western Writers, up in Heaven, is proud of his Lincoln County namesake. Zane Grey Leslie is everything that a Western hero should be.

Zane Grey Leslie is a member of a pioneer Lincoln County ranching family going back four generations.

His wife, Bessie, tells me that the Leslies came to the country north of the Capitans, and with some other Texans established the little community called "Texas Park."

Zane's father, Rob, was born in Texas Park in 1885.

Zane Grey Leslie has brought many a happy memory to all of us which we will treasure always. And we rejoice that he has gone on to meet loved ones in Heaven with Our Lord.

County's spring runoff is expected to be best in years

Snowfall in the High Sierras of California doesn't produce as much moisture as was indicated in a story published April 4 about spring runoff here.

Keith Kessler, who does snow surveys to indicate moisture content and probable runoff amounts, said that a foot of snow in the High Sierras of California can produce an inch and a half to two inches of moisture, not four inches.

In dry Idaho, some "dry" snows produce a third that amount, Kessler said.

Spring runoff in Lincoln County will be the best in years, Kessler reported.

Gito needs a family

Gito, a four-year-old shepherd and chow mix, was dropped off at the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter in early February.

"His owners said he was too active for them and that he wants a lot of attention," said Randy Basch, shelter manager.

"He's extremely intelligent and very responsive to his name," Basch said. "He's probably best suited for a ranch or a home with a lot of area to run."

Basch said the owners told him Gito was not housebroken, but the dog has never soiled his cage even when he has been confined from 2 p.m. to 8 a.m.

"But if I let some of the other dogs out first, he'll do something just as I reach his cage," Basch said. The action does not seem random. "He's smart," Basch said.

Gito is not fond of other male dogs and can be aggressive toward them. He is very good with children.

Since Gito is not neutered, the charge to take him home will be $47.50. That will cover his village license, a rabies shot and the cost of neutering. The shelter does not charge an adoption fee.

For more information on Gito or any of the other dogs and cats, stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon or call 257-9841.

Foxworth-Galbraith open house is slated

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co. on U.S. Highway 70 West will be observing a grand opening from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 13.

The company purchased T-Bird Home Center not too long ago and is squared off to the point a gala opening house can be staged.

During the celebration a deck kit will be given away; door prizes will be awarded every 20 minutes.

And patrons and guests can sign up to win a free trip to Laughlin, Nevada.

There will be soft drinks, popcorn and balloons.

Daniel Brunson is manager of the new lumber yard-hardware-building products store in Ruidoso.

Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Co., based in Dallas, Texas, was founded in 1901 and has operated lumber yards and building materials centers in New Mexico since 1916.

The company operates 47 lumber yards and building materials centers throughout Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

Brunson is a third-generation Foxworth-Galbraith employee. He originally came from Marfa, Texas, but has worked in Grants, Silver City and Alamogordo for the company.

The store manager and employees invite the public to come out and get acquainted, Saturday.

Mark Heinemann, manager of the Ruidoso McDonald's, just completed a degree in the art of hamburgers.

McDonald's manager has unique HU degree

Mark S. Heinemann of Ruidoso has been awarded a Bachelor of Hamburgerology degree from McDonald's Hamburger University (H.U.) for graduating from the University's advanced restaurant operations course. H.U. is an accredited educational institution and the advanced training facility of McDonald's Corporation.

"The importance of Mark's achievement and training cannot be overstated," said Randy Vest, Dean of Hamburger University.

"Like all other McDonald's restaurant managers, Mark is the chief operations officer of a local million dollar business."

All McDonald's managers are trained in every aspect of general business management including customer service, quality control, equipment fundamentals, sanitation and maintenance, personnel practices, communication skills, accounting and marketing.

"Running a million dollar restaurant is serious business," Vest said. "But the most important ingredient for success is to have fun doing it. So, at H.U. we combine serious study with motivating and competitive challenges which add excitement and fun to the demanding training curriculum."

To attend Hamburger University, each student must first complete extensive preparatory restaurant training, generally taking two or more years, as well as four other prerequisite courses as part of McDonald's Management Development Program.

McDonald's Hamburger University was founded in 1961 to ensure consistency in food quality, customer service and restaurant operations throughout the growing McDonald's system. More than 40,000 alumni have graduated from H.U. since then, and business publications have cited the institution as a model corporate training program.

Completion of the Advanced Operations Course is required of all McDonald's restaurant managers, franchisees, mid-management and company executives.

"As our founder, Ray Kroc, used to say, 'We take the hamburger business more seriously than anyone else,'" explained Vest. "Hamburger University is a visible reflection of that commitment."

Ruidoso Classic Cuts salon adds 4 staffers

by YVONNE LANELLI

Classic Cuts, a full service salon for men, women and children at 2810 Sudderth in Pinetree Square, has added four new staff members.

Owner Pam Parker Clecker announces four additions to her staff — two hair stylists, a nail technician and massage therapist.

Stylist Jennifer Fox Buchanan specializes in cuts and permanents, and also does color, facial waxing, eyelash and brow dyeing.

Trained at Jessie Lee's Hair Design Institute in Lubbock, Texas, Buchanan moved to Ruidoso four years ago. She was associated with Wohlgenuth's Hair Styling before joining Classic Cuts.

Nail technician Eileen McGuire creates sculptured nails, does manicures and pedicures. She was formerly associated with Perfect Ten.

Stylist Sissy Sunderland begins April 3 and full-time massage therapist Skip Beal starts May 1.

Beal is attending a training session in Santa Fe.

"We do men's clipper cuts and welcome walk-ins," says Clecker. She was in management at the Cut Above for five years before opening Classic Cuts in January.

"Watch the newspaper for our April perm special and grand opening," says Clecker.

Classic Cuts may be reached at 257-9282.

NM home sales show big jump

Home sales in New Mexico were up from $204,143,000 in 1989 to this year's $215,574,000. This was reported by Century 21 of the Southwest, Inc.'s data base in Phoenix, Arizona.

The number of closed contracts likewise increased — from 2,971 to 3,194, with the average sales price in 1990 at $140,818, versus 1989's $104,554.

This report represents sales for the some 31 Century 21 franchises throughout the state and shows "just how much home prices can fluctuate from year-to-year even at quarterly checks," Bryson said, noting a reported half-year average of $69,100.

Economic Development, By George!

Economic development scene brightens

Another new governor, another new agenda for economic development. Traditionally every new administration has orchestrated a game of musical chairs in the state agency charged with the responsibility for economic development. Bruce King has been no exception.

But this time he has outdone himself and all other governors. Governor King ran on a platform that advocated the division of the former Economic Development and Tourism agency (affectionately referred to by professionals as "Ed and Ted" into two agencies.

Indeed, he wasted no time in accomplishing just that. Because it may focus more attention on the economic development function it may turn out to be an excellent strategic move.

To his credit he has not used the new Economic Development Department for political patronage. Instead, he has succeeded in appointing two of the most skilled professionals available for the secretary and deputy secretary positions; a rare move indeed.

Far too often "Ed and Ted" has been used for political patronage, and while the appointees were often capable and hardworking, they lacked the experience necessary to launch a successful program.

The post of secretary has been filled by Bill Garcia who reluctantly left his position as president of the New Mexico Association of Commerce and Industry at the urging of King. His skill in working with the legislature is well known. He has already demonstrated the benefits of that skill by securing an increase in funding over previous years for the new agency. Unlike several of his predecessors, Garcia enjoys the support of the majority of the professional economic developers in the state.

The new deputy secretary is Jonathan Krebs, formerly manager of economic development for Southwestern Public Service based in Amarillo and serving a large portion of Eastern New Mexico. Backed by one of the better managed utilities, Jon instituted an aggressive and successful program, culminating in the establishment of the New Mexico Business Quarter. Many professionals believe that the success of the BQ will result in it serving as a prototype for regional economic development in the rest of the state.

We are confident that Jon will bring a steady professional hand to bear on the nuts and bolts of marketing and recruitment. That is, if Jon doesn't go "nuts" and "bolts" from a very tough job which is aggravated by political considerations.

Garcia has targeted four initiatives as priorities:

1. Border initiative. The growth of the Maquila Industries and the press for "just-in-time" production techniques has created significant recruitment possibilities among Maguilla suppliers, many of whom are currently located in distant midwestern states. Development of additional ports of entry, including infrastructure considerations, is regarded as key in creating opportunities for New Mexico in both pre- and post-free trade areas.

2. Technology development. New Mexico has an abundance of extraordinarily advanced technology development from such sources as Los Alamos Scientific Lab, Sandia Corporation, White Sands and others. The commercialization of this technology (referred to as "Technology Transfer") is viewed by the federal government and the state as a significant opportunity.

3. Community Development. Many of the smaller communities in the state lack both the infrastructure and expertise in recruitment of value-added companies. Past efforts at community development have been less than consistent and therefore less than effective.

4. New Industry Recruitment. Past advertising efforts have yielded significant results ... to the tune of over 1,000 inquiries per month from interested companies. While this is significant, the volume is so large as to render comprehensive follow-up impossible with available staff. Future advertising will stress quality rather than quantity and new and more effective follow-up procedures will be developed. The legislature has appropriated $200,000 to hire outside contract assistance in recruiting efforts. Look for the establishment of a California office since that state is regarded as a primary target because of the difficulties of doing business there.

The new staff and organization promises to deliver a more effective state effort than most of us have learned to expect in the past. Let's hope so. This state has a great deal to offer and an effective state effort to create an economic growth is pivotal.

Netters serve winning weekend

The Ruidoso Warrior tennis team turned a gloomy Friday performance into a Saturday to remember over the weekend at Roswell.

In sweltering heat, the Warrior boys faced the New Mexico Military Institute, a tennis club in fatigues. It was not a pretty sight. But Saturday was all Ruidoso and the Warriors game never looked better.

SUNNY SATURDAY

Top seed Mike Widener was the only Warrior boy to stumble and he almost pulled out a winner over Shawn Matlock 6-3, 4-6, 3-6.

Second seed Aaron Stallings started the Warrior winning streak with an easy winner over Harvey Sanders.

Third seed Dale Moore then handled a tough Bryan Cleer, 6-4, 6-2.

Shane Long finally played through his slump and blasted Tracy Buzzell, 4-6, 6-1, 6-0.

A solid Hemanth Pai raked Andy Fisher 6-1, 6-3.

Chaitanya Pai finished the singles with a convincing win over Clay Tipton 6-3, 6-1.

The Warrior rout continued during the doubles when top seed Stallings and H. Pai outlasted Matlock and Sanders 6-2, 7-5.

Moore and C. Pai then wasted Cleer and Buzzell 6-4, 6-1.

Widener and Long completed the doubles sweep with a no contest 6-1, 6-1.

The girls were just as proficient against Artesia Saturday.

Jeanne Garcia whipped Nikki Wilson 6-3, 6-2.

Emily Chavez, in the biggest upset of the tourney, lost to Sharon Mann, 6-7, 4-6.

Lori Swalander put the Warriors back on track with a marathon 8-6 win over Dawn Foley and then a cleanup 6-1.

Cicelee Makowski banged away at Angela Guzman and drubbed the poor girl 6-1, 6-1.

Andrea Crane ripped Jean Slater to pieces for a 6-1, 6-2 victory.

Charlotte Tallman won by forfeit.

Top seed Garcia and Chavez kicked Wilson and Mann around the court for a 6-2, 6-0 win.

Swalander and Makowski stoyed with Foley and Guzman and tall won going away 6-1, 6-1. Crane and Tallman finished the tourney with a win by default.

DARK FRIDAY

Warrior Mike Widener took it on the chin from top seed Oscar Bredee, 0-6, 1-6.

Second seed Aaron Stallings popped a string in his 0-6, 2-6 loss to Jose Trevino.

Tough Dale Moore played a wall in Eric Chavez, 0-6, 0-6.

Shane Long was vulnerable to Matt Venable, 2-6, 3-6.

Steady Hemanth Pai lost a heartbreaker to Charlie Chauvet, 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Chaitanya Pai played two thrillers 7-6, and 5-7 before losing the rubber game 1-6.

Stallings and H. Pai lost a doubles squeaker to Trevino and Venable, 6-7, 1-6.

Moore and C. Pai lost to Bredee and Chavez 0-6, 0-6.

Widener and Long ignited the only bright spot in the Warrior morning featuring Alcocer and Barbour in a great match, 7-5, 4-6, 7-5.

The Warrior girls played a tough Portales squad.

Top seed Jeanne Garcia was stopped by Amiee Tarango, 0-6, 1-6.

Second seed Emily Chavez took Aimee Prupes to the limit before faltering 2-6, 6-4, 1-6.

Lori Swalander grabbed a couple of victories, but not enough to dump opponent Shauna Self, 2-6, 1-6.

Cicelee Makowski played hard against Beth Ann Cox, but lost 1-6, 2-6.

Andrea Crane couldn't get it going against Mari Payen, 0-6, 0-6.

Charlotte Tallman continues to improve, but lost to Melody Porter, 2-6, 0-6.

Top seed doubles, Garcia and Chavez lost to Tarango and Self, 1-6, 4-6.

Cicelee Makowski lost to Aimee Diaz, 2-6, 4-6; Kari James won over Andrea Crane, 2-6, 1-6; Tennis newcomer Charlotte Tallman played her best ever and nearly beat Kelly Jones, 4-6, 6-3, 4-6.

The district's best doubles players Garcia and Chavez held off a good Johnston and Lewis team 6-4, 4-6, 6-4.

Swalander and Makowski started with a bang over Chavez and Diaz 6-2, but momentum changed and the Warriors dropped the last two 5-7, 3-6.

Crane and Tallman lost from here to eternity to James and Jones 1-6, 5-7.

Cree Crackers

Student athlete golfers from Ruidoso, Lovington and Artesia await their turn on the first tee at Cree Meadows Golf and Country Club with a white capped

Clean machine

RHS student athletes and cheerleaders earn money for the school's athletic program through the fun of raking pine needles from Tall Pines RV Park on the Rio Ruidoso. Head football coach Mike Speck said Ruidoso State Bank, owners of the property, paid for the clean up which gave the football team and opportunity to help themselves earn money rather than asking for donations. Speck said the team also helps a company with prom tuxedo rentals; cut a cord of fire wood to raffle; participate in a June football clinic for the scholarship fund; work in the adopt a highway program; sell soft drinks at the high school; share game proceeds in special volleyball game between coaches and the state champions; and are involved in calendar and program sales. State Garden Club plans annual convention

Gardeners from throughout New Mexico will convene April 15-17, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods in Mescalero.

"Springtime in the Mountains" is the theme for the 42nd annual convention of New Mexico Garden Clubs.

Cecile Bellah is chairman of the convention and Shirley Neuhaus is co-chairman.

State President June Wood will open the convention at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, April 16, for business; and the flower show will open at noon.

The public is invited to view the flower show.

"A Wreath for All Seasons," is set for 2-4:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Apache Treaty Room. Jeanne Dabney and Christine Mattalucci will lead the hands-on workshop.

Cost of the workshop is $6, and participants are asked to bring scissors, a glue gun and glue. Casual clothes or a cover-up apron are suggested.

According to biographical information included in the convention program, Dabney is well-known as one of the state's distinguished designers. She has won national recognition for her arrangements. Her designs appear regularly in the Visions of Beauty calendars.

Dabney is District I director and secretary of the Albuquerque Rose Society, past president of the Albuquerque Council of Garden Clubs and New Mexico and District judges councils.

Matalucci, who came to America from her native England with her husband and four children in 1976, is widely known for her wreaths. Her passion is floral design, according to the convention program.

"Designing Women" is the theme for Tuesday night's banquet in the Wendell Chino Ballroom, and will feature the art of nine New Mexico designers.

Flower show judges June Ballog, Elaine Bartlett, Jeanne Dabney, Betty Eastland, Jan Meissner, Elaine McIlroy, Mercy More, Betty Ocobeck and Jessie Sims will each present an arrangement depicting her own particular style. Betty Johnson will serve as master of ceremonies.

Oleta Boyce of Santa Fe is the featured speaker at the Tuesday morning breakfast. Her topic will be "Foods from Indian Gardens."

Boyce is a past president of New Mexico Garden Clubs.

She and her husband were associated with the Institute of American Indian Arts in Santa Fe for many years, and she worked for some time, before her marriage, with the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Wednesday's activities will include awards, installation of officers for 1991-93, and other business.

On April 3, 1991, Lincoln National Forest Supervisor Lee Poague made a decision to implement Alternative 2 for resource project scheduling on National Forest system lands on the Smokey Bear Ranger District, located near the Carrizo, Patos and Tucson Mountains in Lincoln County, New Mexico.

This alternative, as proposed: (1) emphasizes an ecosystem management strategy to restore watersheds to satisfactory condition, increase forage production for wildlife and livestock and improve the overall health of the ecosystem; (2) provides a schedule of resource projects within the Carrizo Integrated Resource Area to be analyzed and implemented from 1991 through 1996; and (3) amends the Lincoln National Forest Plan by changing the Standards and Guidelines for Management Areas 1A, 1B, 1D, and 1E, to allow projects under the ecosystem management strategy to be analyzed and implemented.

The associated Decision Notice and Finding of No Significant Impact and Environmental Assessment are available upon request from the Lincoln National Forest, Alamogordo, NM 88310 and the Smokey Bear Ranger District, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

Everyone who contributes to an IRA enjoys the most important benefit of IRA investing: tax-deferred compounding of earnings. This can make a dramatic difference in the amount of savings available at your retirement. You can earn significantly higher after-tax returns by placing your savings in a tax-sheltered IRA. Here are the results of a $2,000 per year investment over a thirty-year period in an IRA earning an annual rate of return of 10%, with earnings reinvested in the account.

THE POWER OF COMPOUNDING

Years	Effective Tax Bracket	Tax-Deferred IRA Balance
5	28.00%	$2,100
10	28.00%	$4,400
15	28.00%	$9,200
20	28.00%	$19,500
25	28.00%	$41,500
30	28.00%	$88,000
