NO. 10 IN OUR 46TH YEAR 50 CENTS

Business is brisk over the weekend

by SHERI CANTWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Memorial Day weekend sales proved to be good, assuring Ruidoso businesses of the possibility for what could be the best summer this town has had in a while.

Sales were up 50 to 75 percent over last year's Memorial Day weekend, according to spokesmen for several Midtown stores who participated in a poll The Ruidoso News took Tuesday.

Texas Furr and Mountain Man Fruit and Company, in their new location in the old Wild Snail building, recorded 1,200 people coming into their shops. The estimate was from the number of shoppers who signed the two shops' guest book.

"There were many more who didn't sign," said Patty Merchant, owner of Texas Furr. "This will be by far the best summer yet if it continues," she said. Texas Furr is a rather young shop, being in Ruidoso for two years now.

Merchant's business neighbor, LeVeda Peitersen, co-owner of Mountain Man Nut and Fruit Co., say "Ruidoso business people are so friendly, that visitors want to come back."

Peitersen was so busy she had to call in extra help for Sunday.

Mac McDougal, co-owner of Ski West Sports, agrees with many other Ruidoso merchants that the enthusiasm among business operators is greater. Although he's not sure about a significant increase in the amount of visitors.

"There is a new sense of optimism among store owners and customers alike," he said.

Another factor contributing to the increase in customer response and attitudes is the many new attractions Ruidoso has to offer.

"It seems to be like a renewal summer," said Radell Fenton, daughter of Peggy and Danny Fenton who are owners of the Fenton Gallery on Sudderth.

Shops were not the only businesses that did well. According to a spokesman for Coldwell Bankers, SDC Realtors the weekend brought in more prospective home buyers than usual.

"I can honestly say there was double the interest over last year," said Joel Rutten, a Coldwell Bankers associate.

Rutten says there is a rebirth of interest for visitors to come to Ruidoso because of the articles that Texas papers have been running. But Texans aren't the only ones looking to buy, he said. Ruidoso is getting California and Arizona markets as well.

Councilor condemns high gas prices, asks for a raise

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Possible gasoline price gouging was leveled at local service stations Tuesday by an angry Ruidoso Councilor Al Junge at the Village Council meeting.

Junge called for an investigation by the attorney general's office. He said last year, village attorney John Underwood was asked to talk to the attorney general about the perennial gas raises during the summer tourist season.

"It appears that in Ruidoso, this year, last year and in previous years that there is some sort of conspiracy in the price of gasoline," Junge said.

The councilor said he was amazed when he learned last week that gasoline could be purchased in Alamogordo for 92 cents.

"Our gasoline hovers around $1.08, then jumps to $1.18 almost at the same time the bugler sounds the first race at Ruidoso Downs," Junge said.

"We spend thousands and thousands of hours improving this town and thousands of dollars to bring tourists here. I think it's a cotton pickin' shame that those people have to be subjected to such high gasoline prices."

"Think of the retirees who live here. We don't like the cost either. Frankly, there's a lot of us, and I'm one, that occasionally goes to Alamogordo. In fact, I'll be down there this week on business and I'll buy my gas there. That's not right; we should be spending our money right here," Junge said.

Junge said he has noticed spiraling gasoline costs at the beginning of racing season for many years.

"It's almost as if one person pressed a button. You can get in your car and drive as fast as you want all over town and everybody will be the same except for one station that stays about two cents less."

"It appears to be a conspiracy, a conspiracy by the distributors."

COUNCILOR AL JUNGE

AG says Ruidoso Council violated state law

Ruidoso's Village Council violated the open meetings act according to the state attorney general's office. No action is needed, however, as the council has pledged to redo business it conducted in a closed session at an April meeting.

A letter sent Monday to Ruidoso village attorney from Daniel Yohalem, director of the attorney general's civic division, to the Ruidoso village attorney said the council violated the state law when it failed to follow procedure for moving from open to closed session.

However, the letter also affirmed an earlier opinion that discussion during the executive session April 2 on bid proposals for the operation and marketing of a new civic center did not violate the act.

The New Mexico Foundation for Open Government (NMFOG) and the Ruidoso News had alleged the council violated the state law.

A letter Monday to village attorney David Thomsen said that on the basis of information provided by Thomsen and the minutes of the meeting, the council did not comply with procedural requirements for moving into closed session.

"Both your letter and the minutes indicate that the move into closed session was accomplished by a motion which did not specify sufficiently the purpose and the authority for the closed session," Yohalem wrote.

Yohalem said the question of whether enforcement action was needed was nullified by the council decision to redo the bid process.

Under established procedure for closure of a meeting, the move must be approved by a majority vote or a quorum, with authority for the closure declared in a motion calling for vote on the closed session, Yohalem said.

The vote must be taken in open meeting and the vote of each member is to be recorded. Only those subjects announced or voted on prior to closure may be discussed.

Bob Johnson, executive director of the NMFOG, had asked the attorney general's office to investigate, alleging the council had violated the Open Meetings Act by failing to announce a proper reason for closure; by Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso polling participants on their opinions of three plans for marketing the civic center, and by adjourning while in executive session and failing to return to public session to announce what it had done and take a public vote on its actions.

District Attorney Bert Atkins and investigator Leandro Vega attended Tuesday's council meeting.

"It would be real easy for me to say that the council rejected the RFPs which mooted the issue of open meeting compliance," Atkins said. "In fact, I believe it did moot an issue for prosecution at this point."

"Certainly his (Yohalem's) letter indicates at this point its not necessary to reach enforcement."

"We went through quite an effort in our investigation. We spoke to at least 13 or 14 of the 18 people present at that meeting of April 2," he said.

Atkins said the district attorney is charged with enforcement of the open meetings act and they are very serious about violations of the act.

"I came up here tonight because of the spirit of several letters I've seen go back and forth that I want to bring to the attention of the public," Atkins said.

"I think its important to note that we didn't find wrongdoing in the sense of personal gain or anything of that nature on the part of anyone in this commission," he said.

Atkins spoke of attorney Thomsen's letter to Yohalem where he thanked the attorney general for advice and the mutual goals of compliance he and the commission worked toward. Atkins said he was convinced the council did want to comply with the open meetings act.

"I want to assure you if I can assist you in the future I will," said Atkins. "I also want to assure you that if I'm asked to look again, I'll look again."

Councilor J.D. James thanked the district attorney for the investigation.

"Had you not investigated the charge, I would have had no respect for you," James said.

Art!

The show and sale begins at 7 p.m. Friday, May 31, at the Anne Stradling Museum of the Horse Convention Center in Ruidoso Downs.

The award will be presented during a formal dinner on Saturday.

No new taxes, no pay increases; County tightens the budget belt

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Most of Lincoln County's employees won't see an increase in their paychecks in 1991-92. In fact, their take-home pay may drop because of the rising cost of health insurance coverage.

In summarizing the highlights of the preliminary $6.4-million budget adopted by the County Commission Tuesday, Chairman Stirling Spencer said there will be no new taxes and no percentage increase in salaries.

"And there will be no adjustments within departments. The only increases will be due to steps on the experience (scale)," he said.

"We will continue the 60/40, county-employee split on the cost of the insurance premiums, but both the county and the employees will end up paying more."

"At least we are not cutting hours or laying off employees. We plan to keep them here and be able to hang on to them until better times."

Although in the neighboring county of Otero, employees were given 3 percent raises, that appears to be the exception.

In Taos County, which has a similar property valuation and tourism-based economy, employees will not receive raises, according to that county's finance officer. He said last year, the county had to cut employees back to 32 hours to avoid layoffs.

Lincoln County manager Nick Pappas said that out of the 98 county employees locally, about 20 will benefit from experience step increases in amounts that vary from $400 to $1,200 a year. Even if the revenue picture improves by mid-year, Pappas said the commission probably would wait until next year to consider percentage raises.

Another casualty in the war of dwindling revenues was the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County. The commission totally removed the corporation from the budget and instead designated $28,000 for viable economic development plans presented during the year.

Part of the revenue problem is that the state has heaped more financial responsibilities on the county, such as a requirement to allocate money toward indigent medical care to increase local and state Medicaid reimbursements. The county may have to enact a new one-sixteenth of a cent sales tax to cover the requirement.

"So we'll get the black eye (for enacting a new tax) and they'll (the state) get the money," Spencer said.

But even more significant is the trend downward in county property valuation, coupled with an increasing number of head of household exemptions, said County Assessor Patricia Serna.

The impact of head of household exemptions nearly doubled from $1.3-million last year to $2,364,902 this year, Serna said. And it is sure to leap again in another two years when the amount of the exemption per household goes up from $1,400 to $2,000, she said.

Out of the five villages in the county, three saw their valuations decrease and in Ruidoso Downs, it only edged up by about $100,000.

Ruidoso looked like it would see the largest increase and would account for most of the $1.6-million gain projected in April when the total value of county property was estimated at $243.8-million. It was the first time values had climbed in three years.

But Serna said since then, a group called Value Tax out of El Paso has lodged protests on 100 pieces of property in Ruidoso.

"So when that's settled, I don't know what it's going to do to the value and what we had picked up over last year," she said.

A hefty portion of the last-minute cuts, about $35,000, by the commission were sliced from the budget of Sheriff James McSwane. They included his $10,000 discretionary fund used for training, supplies and other items.

Spencer said department heads and elected officials were not out of line by seeking raises for their employees or money for equipment.

"Just because the proposals brought forth by departments were not accepted, doesn't mean they were wrong, just that they can't be accepted at this time," he said.

Residential property owners won't see much of a change in their ad valorem (property taxes) from the county, according to Glenna Robbins, the county treasurer's financial accounting offer. Because the county budget and county valuations stayed about the same, and no new special mill levies were added, the millage rate should not vary greatly. The county won't know the exact figure until the state has finished working with its calculators, Robbins said.

As it now stands with an estimated millage rate of 8.399, homeowners will pay about $8.40 for each $1,000 of net taxable property value for the operation of county government through its general fund of $2.4-million, Robbins said. That also include special county millage levies for capital outlay, economic development, county facilities and road work.

Net taxable value is figured on one-third of the assessed property value minus all exemptions. In the case of a $75,000 home (without exemptions) that would translate to about $210 in taxes.

However, all of the county's budget restraint doesn't mean homeowners' overall property taxes will stay the same because their houses may have been reassessed or other entities such as villages, school districts or the state may change their rates.

In other business, the commission: —Selected the firm of Woodard, Wingfield, Cowen & Co. based in Roswell to handle the county's 1990-91 fiscal audit for a fee of $10,560. Emmons & Company in Albuquerque submitted a bid of $11,103.

—Rejected all six bids for roofing portions of the commission wing and two-story section of the county courthouse in Carrizozo, and the Zia Senior Citizens building. County Attorney J. Robert Beauvais said the bid specifications failed to include several mandatory and/or advisable items.

—Released two lots and a portion of a third lot in Unit 5 of Deer Park Meadows subdivision, leaving the county with nearly 7 1/2 acres as collateral for improvements to be completed in Alto Village. The lots originally were pledged by Lakeside Corporation. United New Mexico Bank representatives are trying to sort out the financial situation.

Service Club Council to meet

Service Club Council of Lincoln County will meet at noon Monday, June 3, at K-Bob's. Barbara Duff announced that the program will include a presentation by Lou Wardwell on Santacops all year long and a presentation on Zia Girl Scout Council's fundraising campaign.

All service clubs are encouraged to send representatives to the monthly council meetings.

Stitch your way to the All American Needlework title

Proceeds from the 1991 All American Festival Needlework Fair will benefit the Ruidoso Care Center Auxiliary.

Dr. Pepper Bottling Company in Roswell is sponsoring the needlework fair, and categories have been extended this year to include beadwork, handmade wearable art, needlepoint, crossstitch, quilting (bed quilts and wall hangings) and crochet/knitting.

A $100 grand prize is offered and prizes will be presented for first through fourth places in each category. Entries are limited to two items per category per entrant and an entry fee of $3 will be charged per item.

Needlework (no novelty items) must be delivered to Stitcky Fingers at 2306 Sudderth Drive in the Village Plaza by August 19.

For further information, contact Lila Wall at 257-6012 or call Lara Johnson at 378-4431.

Capture NM mountains on film and win a $1,000 prize

"New Mexico Mountains" is the theme for the 1991 All American Festival Photography Event.

First National Bank of Ruidoso is sponsoring the contest which offers one cash prize of $1,000.

Herb Brunell is organizing the event which is open to amateur and professional photographers who may enter two unpublished black and white or color photographs.

Entries must be 11 x 14 or 16 x 20 and may be mounted on artboard or foamboard.

A panel of judges selected by the All American Festival will judge the photographs.

For more information on this event or to obtain an entry form, contact Herb Brunell at 257-2911 or Lara Johnson, All American Festival, P.O. Box 449, Ruidoso Downs, NM 88346, 378-4431.

Youth art is the key to fulfill the All American Dream

"The All American Dream" is the theme for the 1991 All American Festival Youth Art Award.

Ruidoso Ford Lincoln Mercury is sponsoring this event and providing prizes. U.S. Savings bonds of different values will be presented to the winners.

Entry blanks have been distributed to area school districts, and all area youth are encouraged to enter this contest. Artwork will be displayed for the public to view.

Awards will be given at a special presentation. To compete in this contest, artists must be 18 years of age or younger during the Labor Day weekend of each year.

Prize level will be determined by school grade level at the time of awards presentation.

Following is a breakdown of age group/categories and value of prizes:

2nd and 3rd grade:
1st-$200, 2nd-$100, and 3rd-$50

4th and 5th grade:
1st-$200, 2nd-$100 and 3rd-$50.

6th through 8th grade:
1st-$500, 2nd-$200 and 3rd-$100.

9th through 12th grade:
1st-$500, 2nd-$200 and 3rd-$100.

Artwork should be dropped off at Ruidoso Ford Lincoln Mercury by August 20. Contestants may enter two pieces of work.

For further information, contact Beverly Carusona at 257-5156 or Lara Johnson at 378-4431.

Embezzlement trial postponed

The embezzlement trial of former Carrizozo deputy town clerk Kathy Palomarez has been rescheduled for September 17-18.

District Court Judge Richard A. Parsons said Palomarez' attorney filed a motion for a delay because he had been unable to review all the evidence in the case.

Palomarez was indicted by a Lincoln County grand jury in April. She is accused of diverting more than $2,500 from the city for her own use between January 1, 1990 and August 31 of the same year. She allegedly changed a utility customer's account balance to cover cash shortages.

Her trial had been set on the court docket for earlier this week.

Space Center announces its summer programs and hours

The Space Center began its summer schedule on Memorial Day, Monday, May 27. The Clyde W. Tombaugh Space Theater will have OMNIMAX feature showings at 10 and 11 a.m., noon, 1, 2, 3, and 4 p.m. daily. The 7 p.m. Triple Feature will also be shown daily. The International Space Hall of Fame is open 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily throughout the year, except Christmas Day.

Happy Hour Lasers, a new program in its second summer, will be shown at 5 p.m. daily at the Theater. Happy Hour Lasers features a variety of hits from the 50's up to the contemporary music of soft rock.

The free planetarium program, SKYWATCH, continues at 9 a.m. on the first Sunday of each month.

During June and July, the Space Theater will be bringing back some of its most popular Rock Laser shows. Rock Laser concerts are featured every Saturday night at 8:45 p.m. The line-up for June 22 is: June 1-Motley Crue; June 8-Billy Idol; June 15-AC/DC; June 22-Skid Row, Warrant & Winger; and June 29-The Beatles.

It must be something, otherwise these ups and downs would occur during the year, not just when the races start.

"I think it's incredible. The mayor, the council, the executive head of our chamber of commerce, the newspaper, all should try to do something about it. I don't think we should just sit here and take it. And that's what we are doing," Junge said.

COUNCIL PAY

After 12 years of inflation and increased council duties, the council's pay of $250 per month has stayed the same. Some members of the council think its about time they were paid for their efforts.

Councilor Junge said he had asked for the last pay increase in 1979 that raised the council's pay from $40 to $250 per month.

While the Ruidoso council and mayor's salary has stayed the same at $3,000 per year, the county commissioners salaries are $10,005 per year.

"I don't think anybody in this room would argue the fact that we are doing as much work, probably three and four times as much as the county commissioners.

"It's true that we have a village manager and the job to run the village is his, but the council and mayor work with the manager and I'd like to think we play a large part in running the village.

Councilor Ron Andrews said budgets were tight this year. Junge said next year may not be any better.

"Sure, budgets are tight this year, everything is tight," he said. "But this is something we should give consideration."

He considered the village manager makes 18 times as much as the mayor. Junge said he would reduce that amount to nine times more than the mayor.

Junge said under state law, the council could not give themselves a raise. He said an increase in pay would not take effect until March of next year. At that time, it would only take effect with the new people voted in office. He said the other people on the board would not get any increase until the spring of 1994.

"I want to make that understood. We can't give ourselves a raise," Junge said.

Junge then made a motion that the salary of the mayor and the salary of the council be raised from $250 to $500 per month.

Junge said if you expected good people to run, they deserve to be paid for their work.

The motion passed. Councilors Ron Andrews and Bill Karn voted against the increase.

PUBLIC HEARINGS

The council unanimously approved to amend an ordinance, originally drafted for condominiums, that also charged residents water and sewer charges on small guest homes.

Councilor Junge spearheaded the ordinance change that he charged was unfair.

"When the ordinance was written many years ago, we overlooked situations where a resident has a home and next to it is a little doll house that they built for their grandkids. If they don't rent the dollhouse, they shouldn't pay for two meters," Junge said.

"Unit" is now defined as a dwelling or portion of a dwelling, capable of independent residential use. Exempt from this definition and treated as one "unit" are premises under undivided single, joint or common ownership.

District Attorney Bert Atkins reviews his recent investigation of an Open Meetings Act violation by the Ruidoso Village Council. Atkins' offered future help to the board.

The councilor said of the 41 residents contacted, only five were affected. Junge thanked attorney Thomsen for his work in drafting the amendment.

The council also unanimously approved a new restaurant beer and wine license over Nick Orcioli of Michelena's Italian Restaurant at 2703 Sudderth Drive.

OPEN MEETINGS ACT

Village manager Ron Wicker explained the information on village salaries that appeared in The Ruidoso News was open to the public and presented at the request of the paper.

"We did not have the right to withhold salary information," Ron Wicker. "The paper apparently felt it was newsworthy and we gave it in compliance with the open records law," he said.

In other business, the council awarded Bowles and Edens Company the manhole inflow protector covers contract for $2,997.00 for about 300 covers.

Mayor Pro-tem Barbara Duff presided Tuesday in the absence of Mayor Victor Alonso.

Mark your calendar for Camp Meeting

A special event each year in Lincoln County draws many families and cowboys plus many other people to the area for a few days of singing, preaching, ranch-style dining and fellowship.

The Nogal Cowboy Camp Meeting on the mesa above Nogal and off the Capitan highway between Capitan and Carrizozo is a family affair.

Dates this year are July 17 through 21. On the evening of July 17, a Wednesday, a chuckwagon supper will start the camp meeting. There is no charge, but donations will be welcome to help support the event.

The Nogal Camp Meeting is the oldest of the 11 camp meetings held each year in the southwest. The one here has been in existence for 52 years, according to Johnson Stearns, of Carrizozo, treasurer and mainstay in the organization along with Lamoyne Peters of Capitan, camp manager.

County draws boundaries for 13 precincts

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Lincoln County residents barely had a chance to get used to the idea of 12 new voting precincts before the state said there will be 13.

For years, the county operated with 16 precincts that were not numbered consecutively.

Under a state mandate in 1986, the lines for 12 new precinct were drawn to be implemented in the 1992 primary election.

But in preparation for the State Legislature to hash out its redistricting plan in response to 1990 census information, Secretary of State Stephanie Gonzales notified Lincoln County Clerk Martha Proctor that a precinct change would have to occur. The changes were directed by the Interim Reapportionment and Redistricting Committee.

"In some counties, they have requested more than a dozen changes," Proctor told the County Commission Tuesday. "But they only asked for one change in Lincoln County and that was to add a new thirteenth precinct in the Carrizozo area.

"They said they needed it for flexibility and because of the concentration of Hispanic residents."

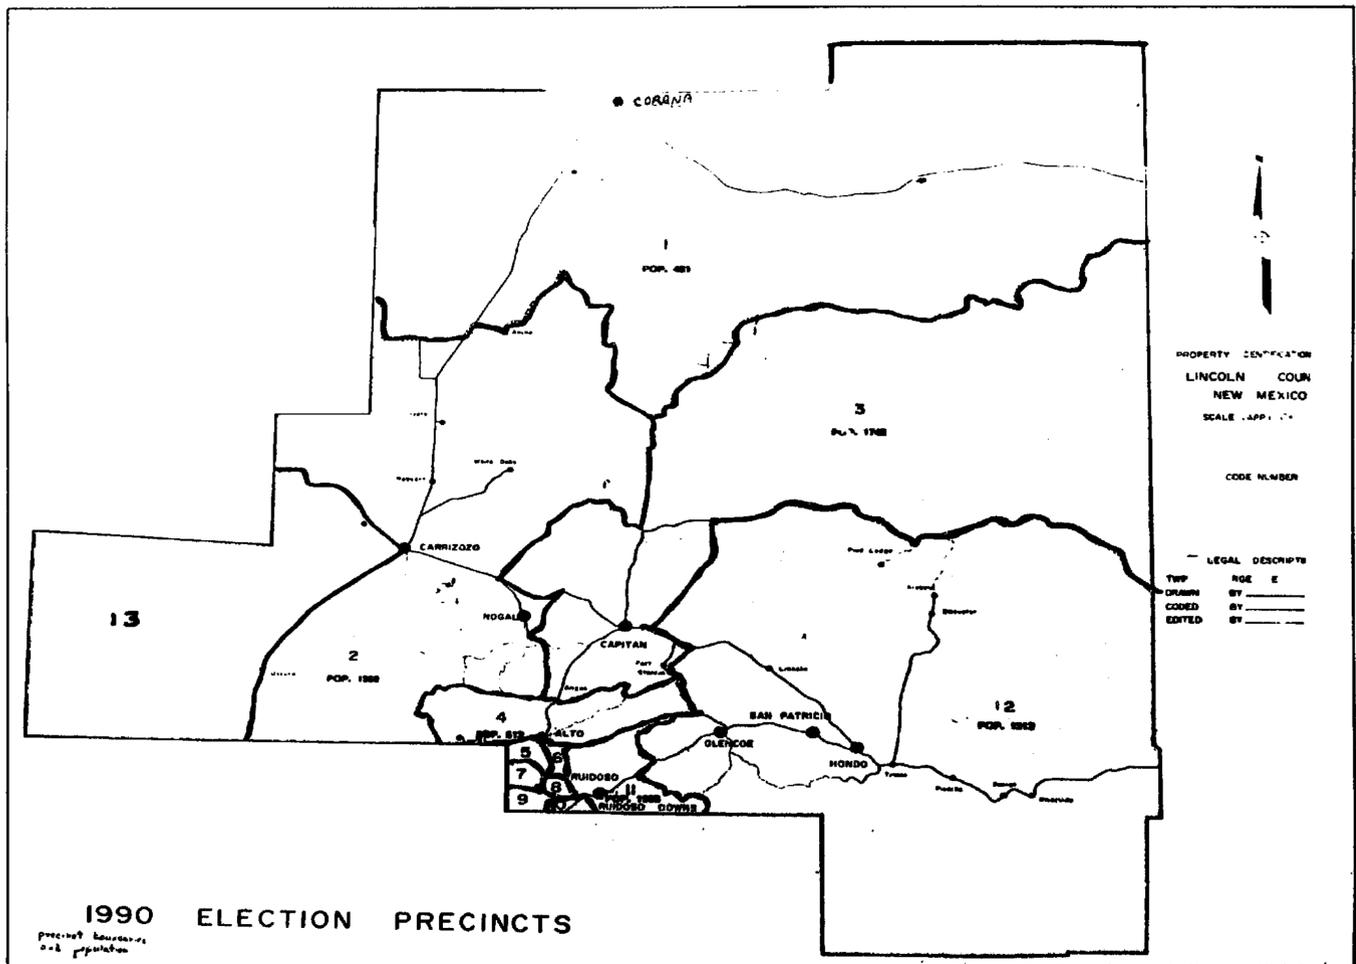

But after creating the new District 13 from a portion of the existing District 2, Proctor found she didn't have an adequate polling place for the second district.

"I requested one change and they allowed it so that the courthouse will be included in District 2 as a polling place," she said. District 13 voters will use the Carrizozo school.

The new precinct's northern boundary follows U.S. 380 into Carrizozo. Its eastern line runs south on U.S. 54 to Otero County.

Proctor included the courthouse in District 2 by drawing the line in town down E Avenue to Fourth Street, then to central and back northeast to U.S. 380.

The map shows new Lincoln County precinct boundaries that will be used for the first time in the 1992 primary. A 13th precinct was requested by the State Legislature's interim reapportionment and redistricting committee.

Downs village sets up a Water Department

Trustees at Ruidoso Downs are studying a rough draft of an ordinance which would establish a water department, set rates, set penalties, conditions to receive service and establish other rules.

The ordinance will be published before a public hearing on the contents and before trustees take yeas or nays final action.

The ordinance calls for an increase in water rates over current rates and establishes a security deposit schedule which is new. The village currently has no deposit requirement for commercial property. New rates for water users will be as follows, plus tax: Security deposits, residential, $50 for owner, $75 for tenant; commercial, $100 for owner, $150 for tenant; mobile home park, $25 per lot. Base rates, residential, $11.50; commercial, $15.

The current residential rate is $10.58 which includes tax for the first 4,000 gallons each month.

The new base rate will apply, if the ordinance is passed to the first 4,000 gallons as before. From 4,001 to 10,000, the rates would be $1.70 per 12,000 gallons; 10,000 to 25,000, $2 per 1,000; and 25,001 and above, $2.30 per 1,000 gallons.

Connection fees for new service will run $400 for a residential tap and $700 for a commercial tap. Road cut fees would be $250 for residential and commercial alike.

Under the proposed ordinance, the Water Department will be supervised by a superintendent to be appointed by the village clerk and approved by the board of trustees.

No water would be furnished to anyone outside the village limits after and if the ordinance goes into effect.

Also, if there are two houses on one property and one is not metered, that domicile would be liable for a minimum water charge each month.

Cost of installation of pipes (etc.) from a main line to the property line of an applicant will be paid for by the applicant before work is started.

It will be unlawful for any person other than members of the Water Department or duly licensed plumbers to connect, disconnect, move, tamper with, turn on or off, any valves, meters or any other installations.

Reconnect fees after service has been terminated by the village will be $125 for residential property and $175 for commercial property.

Penalties will apply to delinquent accounts.

Downs trustees listen to complaints about animals

by AL STUBBS

Ruidoso Downs fledgling Planning and Zoning Commission apparently will inherit a thorny set of problems regarding control of large animals in the village.

Ruidoso Downs resident Bill Smith appeared before the board of trustees at a postponed regular meeting of that body, Tuesday night. Smith complained that ordinances governing animals have not been enforced.

Smith cited provisions in ordinances specifying how much land area must be allowed for each horse maintained in the village limits.

He said flies and odors are problems in Ruidoso Gardens subdivision.

Mayor Bonnie Addy said the problem will be taken under advisement and "maybe we should work with the P&Z board on this."

Village attorney Gary Mitchell agreed that the Planning and Zoning board should be involved.

Regarding "personal" horses, Mitchell said, "This is what we're going to have to take a look at."

The attorney said that if the majority of residents in a particular district want to ban horses in that area, Planning and Zoning can zone to prohibit animals.

Mitchell told trustees: "You've got the biggest race track in the state of New Mexico. You aren't going to prohibit horses. Everything revolves around the track."

Several situations where horses are kept on smaller parcels of land than ordinances allow were pointed out.

"There are horses on small lots," Smith declared. He said that where this is allowed under the "grandfather clause," that "once the property is sold, this doesn't go on forever and ever."

Ordinances spell out that cattle, swine, billy goats and sheep are not allowed in the village limits, but horses are.

A question was raised on whether restrictive covenants in Ruidoso Springs had been negated by subdivision residents some years ago.

Mitchell said he would look into that possibility but said the village has no jurisdiction where restrictive covenants are involved.

"Just the folks in the subdivision can change covenants," Mitchell told trustees.

Mitchell said some areas should be zoned to allow stables because of the proximity to Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Mitchell handed out rough drafts of three ordinances he has been working on at the request of trustees.

One has to be with water rates, another with the status of the village clerk and police chief regarding the merit system and a third having to do with small animal control and fees.

Mitchell said that trustees must decide whether the village clerk and police chief are protected under the merit system or whether they can be "fired at will" without a reason stated.

"This needs to be clarified one way or another," Mitchell said.

Two of the ordinances and another having to do with hay haulers will be published. Public hearings will be held before the ordinances are finalized, Mitchell explained.

Trustees gave the nod to Woodard, Wingfield, Cowen & Co. to do the 1990-91 village audit. The Portales firm bid $6,000 to do the job.

Mitchell pointed out that the Woodard firm is very familiar with Lincoln County and special problems existing within the county. He said the firm does the Capitan audit. Four bids were received.

The Woodard bid was the second lowest.

A committee was named by Mayor Addy to delve into complaints by Harold Mansell, municipal judge, regarding physical facilities in the new village hall.

Cramped courtroom "bugs" judge

Harold Mansell, municipal judge at Ruidoso Downs, is very unhappy with several aspects of the physical facilities he has been allocated in the new village hall.

Bugs particularly bug Mansell.

The judge enumerated several complaints at a postponed regular meeting of village trustees, Tuesday, and asked the trustees to adjourn for five minutes to check on his complaints.

"I feel it's the worst facility in the state of New Mexico," Mansell said.

He said he has no phone, that the acoustics are bad, that bugs get in through an unsecured door and that things are dusty and the carpet filthy.

were seen on the windowsill in the court area.

Mansell said people bust into the area to check with dispatchers adjacent to the court area, interrupting arraignments and such.

"I've had to stop arraignments," he said.

He cited limited access to restrooms, "no adding machine" and "no computer printer."

"You can use the adding machine on my desk," Mayor Bonnie Addy told Mansell.

"What did you do at the old village hall?" trustee Jackie Branum asked.

Mansell said he used police department facilities and equipment.

"Down there we were in one area," Mansell said.

Asked if he didn't have money in his budget for equipment, Mansell said that he and his clerk are required by law to attend a school in June in Albuquerque which would probably take any money available at the end of a fiscal year.

Village hall was moved from the old facility just off Highway 70 into a much larger facility, the old Redmens Club.

She told The News that each department and she herself have been taking care of janitorial needs in the interim.

Mayor Addy appointed a committee consisting of trustees Margie Morales, Jim Rethmel and Karen Stevens to meet with Mansell to try and resolve problems.

janitorial service as yet," said Maurice Gudgel, village clerk.

Robert Finley, who operates La Junta Guest Ranch near Alto, was appointed to the Lincoln County Lodger's Tax Committee Tuesday.

The County Commission pointed out that Finley previously had served on the committee.

Jeremy Jordan, owner of Casa de Patron Bed and Breakfast in Lincoln, also has applied for a position on the board, which recently lost member Richard W. Seely after his lengthy illness.

County manager Nick Pappas said he had received a telephone call from someone who questioned whether Kay Dennis should continue to serve on the board because she had moved to Roswell. He told commissioners he would check out the information.

Contacted by The Ruidoso News Wednesday, Dennis said she had moved to Roswell last winter, but planned to return to Lincoln

County "in a couple of weeks."

She said she has owned homes in the county for decades.

"I originally was appointed to the Lodgers Tax Committee because we operated the Wortley Hotel (in Lincoln)," she said. "We did it for five years, but probably will not this year. I considered resigning when we knew we would not be running it this year, but we have had so many problems on the board with Richard's illness and Carolyn's resignation, and we had to replace another person just before that. It's difficult to find members."

Dennis said she would like to continue as a committee member.

To request money from the committee, a group must be registered with the state as a non-profit entity, Pappas said.

Other committee members are Walter Henn and Larue Wetzel.

Golden Aspen headquarters in the Downs

The Hubbard Museum of the Horse and known as the old Chaparral Convention Center will be the site of the 1991 Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally.

This event draws cyclists from across the country, thousands of them, for four days of riding, special events and camaraderie. Dates this year are September 18-22.

Ran Andrews and Jill Blanks spearhead this event for Ruidoso.

The rally each year features a large trade show, prizes, poker runs, a Battle of the Bands, Chamber of Commerce "Hospitality Night," chuckwagon dinner show at the Flying J Ranch, Nite Light Display Contest, a motorcycle parade down Sudderth from Mechem on September 21 and other events.

One of the big events will be selection of a King and Queen of the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally.

RHS cheerleaders double up

Ruidoso Warriors will double fan pleasure and double fan fun by doubling their cheerleaders to 12 for the upcoming year.

New sponsors Rebecca Durham and Karen Reeder said many schools are beefing up their cheerleading staff.

"Girls are competing more in state contests," said Durham. "For Ruidoso, it means a bigger squad to travel for basketball games, six at local games and six on the road."

Durham said the girls will camp for the first time at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Hobbs will be the only other New Mexico school attending.

Durham and Reeder said they are excited about building a larger cheerleading program. Reeder is a first-year sponsor. Durham was the sponsor before Peggy Lawing.

The new sponsors are making plans for next year's busy season which begins with a cheerleading camp at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Texas.

3 on 3 volleyball tourney scheduled

A Ruidoso 3-on-3 volleyball tournament is scheduled June 4-6 at Ruidoso High School, announced Jody Blanton, high school coach.

Blanton said the tournament, sponsored by Tim Wishard Goldsmith, is a double elimination event with four or more players per team.

Age groups include 14 and under, 15 and up, girls, boys and coed.

Three courts will be available and the matches are best two out of three games or a winner at 40 minutes.

Blanton said award for first place is a trophy; second place gets T-shirts.

The entry fee for each team is $30. Application forms are available at the school or call Blanton at 258-4910.

Inside The Outdoors

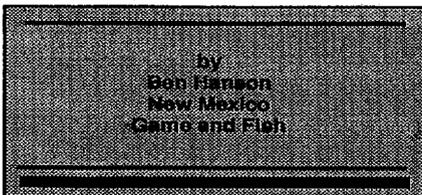

Pronghorns primp in the plains

New Mexico is the home of some very unique animals, one of which may be seen while traveling the highways on the eastern plains of our state. As you drive along, watch for a flash of white on the distant grasslands. It may turn out to be just a piece of blowing paper, or it may, on closer inspection, be a pronghorn antelope.

The flash of white from a pronghorn comes from the rump hairs. When frightened, pronghorns raise the white hairs on their rump to signal danger. The resulting white flash can be seen from great distances and warns others of its kind to be on the alert.

Once danger does threaten, pronghorns have two good defenses, their keen eyesight and speed. A pronghorn uses its exceptional eyesight, as good as a person looking through eight power binoculars, to locate possible threats on the open plains they inhabit. If danger approaches, the pronghorn then simply uses its great speed to run away. Pronghorn can accelerate to speeds over 40 mph, much too fast for predators to catch them.

To run this fast, pronghorns have had to adapt over the ages. First of all, they are quite a bit smaller than most people believe. A full grown male pronghorn seldom weighs over 120 pounds. They also never develop thick layers of fat like deer or domestic animals, even if conditions are ideal.

by Ben Harrison
New Mexico
Game and Fish

In contrast, they lose body weight when food supplies are low. Even though pronghorns are about 30 inches tall at the shoulder, they have very long legs. Combine long legs with a very light bone structure and high speeds are the result. In order to reduce their weight, pronghorns have even done away with dew claws (small hoof-like growths on the ankle) that are found on almost all other hooved animals.

Pronghorns are also unique because of their horns. They are the only antelope that has a forked horn, hence the name pronghorn. Also, both male and female animals may have horns. Horns on females are rarely longer than the ears, but older males may have horns extending far above the ears to 16 or 17 inches in length. The best method of identifying male pronghorns is the black patch at the angle of the jaw.

When white men first arrived in the western plains, the pronghorn were very abundant. Estimates go as high as 40 to 50 million pronghorns on the plains of western North America, but by the turn of the century their number had fallen to about 20,000 in the west. This trend held true in our state as well. In the early 1900s it was estimated that there were less than 2,000 pronghorns. Some of the major causes of the decline were the influx of people, subsistence hunting and competition with domestic animals.

One other problem lies with the pronghorn itself. Pronghorn, being a plains animal, never learned how to jump. Therefore, fences erected by people to hold livestock also held in pronghorn and stopped their ability to increase their range. So, in the 1930s the Department of Game and Fish developed a method to capture and transplant whole herds of pronghorn into new areas. Transplants, along with the intensive management have brought back the pronghorn in New Mexico so that today they number about 30,000.

Keep your eyes open as you travel around the state. That white piece of paper may not be litter, but one of our amazing pronghorns.

Be a star at the Library — read!

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

School getting out means screams of joy for many people, but soon children get in a maze figuring out what to do next.

Thanks to the Ruidoso Library children don't have the chance to become bored. Dramatic classes, arts and crafts, dancing, singing and learning another language are just some of the activities provided by the library's summer program.

The regular daily schedule doesn't begin until Monday, June 24, but sign ups are all day Monday, June 3, which is also the first day for the library's reading team to get together.

The daily classes have limited space and charge a small fee from a dollar to two bucks for the six weeks of instruction.

Subject areas, time schedules and age requirements can be found in the program at the library.

Special one-day events this summer include: safety in home and community, nutritious foods for kids, a woodcarving demonstration a puppeteer magician and a pe show.

Soviet artists exhibit here this weekend

Five Soviet artists will be featured as "Russian Masters" during the 1991 Hubbard Art Award for Excellence this weekend.

The five will display their works along with the 52 American masters selected to compete for the $250,000 Hubbard Art Award. That exhibition begins with a show and sale this Friday in the Anne Stradling Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs and continues with the awards presentation Saturday night.

The Soviet artists will be honored at a reception at the International Space Hall of Fame Foundation.

Their work can be seen at the Hubbard Museum in Ruidoso Downs until Labor Day. One piece of work from each artist will then be featured with The 1991 Hubbard Art Award of Excellence exhibit as it tours the Far East.

Tair Salakhov, one of four Muscovites in the group, is a professor at the French Academy of Arts in Paris, and a member of the USSR Academy of Arts. He is a painter who has shown in Germany, the USA, India, Greece, Japan, Egypt, Syria, Italy, Hungary, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Poland, Finland, Austria and Mongolia.

His one-man shows have appeared in Prague, Baku, Moscow, Madrid, Barcelona and Tokyo.

Salakhov, currently the First Secretary of the Union of Artists in the USSR, was a judge for the First Annual Hubbard Art Award for Excellence in 1990.

Guri Zakharov is known for his work as graphic artist. His work can be viewed at the Tretyakov Art Gallery in Moscow, the Russian Museum in Leningrad, and other major international museums. Zakharov graduated from the Moscow Higher Arts College, formerly Stroganov College, and frequently exhibits in the Republican and All-Union Art Exhibition in Moscow.

Oleg Komov, a Muscovite by both birth and residence, is a sculptor who graduated from the Surikov Art Institute of Moscow. His work is known internationally, and can be seen in Japan, Finland, Spain and Austria. The Austrian "Peace" monument is dedicated to the Soviet and American troops after World War II.

Afanasi Osipov, born in Yakutsk, Siberia, also graduated from the Surinov Art Institute. His paintings have been exhibited in Moscow, Bulgaria, France, Germany, Hungary, India and Sweden. One-man shows have appeared in Moscow, Leningrad, Czechoslovakia, Mongolia, Yakutsk, Finland and Bulgaria. Currently his works can be seen in the Yakutsk Museum of Fine Art, the Surikov Art Gallery (Moscow), the Museum of Art in Cologne, and in a number of private collections.

Alexander Belashov was born in Leningrad, and graduated from the Moscow Higher Arts College. A sculptor currently residing in Moscow, he participates in exhibitions and one-man shows in the Soviet Union, Germany, Hungary and the USA. The Tretyakov Art Gallery exhibits his work, as well as other major museums.

Governor King nominates Hubbards

Gov. Bruce King has nominated four New Mexicans as candidates in the 15th annual National Governors' Association Awards Program for Distinguished Service to State Government.

Included are R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard of the Hubbard Foundation. They were nominated under the Arts Support Category.

Other nominees are Kay Marr, secretary of the Department of Finance and Administration; State Official Category; Mark Lautman, director of Economic Development for AMREP Southwest, Inc., Private Citizen Category, and Allan

Houser, Santa Fe sculptor, Artistic Production Category.

Established in 1976, the awards program provides recognition for distinguished service to state government by key officials and citizens. Five national awards are designated for state officials, five for private citizens, and two for outstanding service to the arts.

Winners will be recognized during the annual meeting of the National Governors Association August 18-20 in Seattle, Washington.

A release from Gov. Bruce King's office states:

"R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard

established the Hubbard Foundation in 1986 to promote excellence. In 1989 they opened the Hubbard Museum in Ruidoso, featuring the Doheny Collection of art works, including Remingtons, Russells and Leighs.

They also began the Hubbard Art Award for Excellence, which will be given for the second time May 31.

"The Hubbards also founded the Anne C. Stradling Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso and are sponsors of a major exhibit called 'Horse Tales' which is scheduled to open in

"They are truly entrepreneurial patrons of the arts, and through their efforts, major works of art will be made available to the public.

"They are selfless and tireless advocates of education and appreciation of the arts."

Winners of the national awards competition are expected to be announced in July by the National Governors' Association.

After the ballet...

San Patricio artist Linda Miller was a special guest at the Lubbock, Texas, performance of Mikhail Baryshnikov's farewell tour. Miller is shown backstage with the world-famous dancer presenting him with an artist proof of her oil painting, "After the Ballet." Miller's painting was selected as the official poster for Lubbock's annual Art Festival recently, and she was a special guest during festival activities. Miller still has a few signed posters and artist proofs available for sale at her gallery/home/studio in San Patricio. Call 653-4762.

Hubbard Art exhibition opens

The Hubbard Art Award for Excellence exhibition, featuring 50 American masters and five Soviet artists, will be open to the public this summer.

The free exhibition will be in the Anne Stradling Museum of the Horse Events Center from June 5-16, with daily hours from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will move to the Turf Club Gallery at Ruidoso Downs Race Track June 20 through September 2. Hours are 8:30 to 10 a.m. Thursday through Monday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesdays and Wednesdays.

Meet the artists

Ruidoso artists Linda and David Smith will be honored during a reception from 3-5 p.m. Saturday, June 1, at Fenton's Art Gallery, 2629 Sudderth Drive in Midtown. The Smiths' oil paintings will be featured during an exhibit that continues through June 3.

We're No.1

Mother and child bronze sculpture will be among the art works of Denny Haskew, Dave McGary, Lincoln Fox and others on display, Saturday, at the Dallas and Associates Fine Art show across from the Cattle Baron.

Preview Museum of the Horse

The Anne Stradling Museum of the Horse won't open in Ruidoso Downs until 1992, but a preview exhibit is open to the public now at Ruidoso Downs Race Track in the Turf Club Gallery.

The exhibit will be open to the public from 8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m. on race days and from 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. on non-racedays until the end of May.

Capitan

Capitan Tigers roaring with awards

by SHERI CANTWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Capitan High School honored Tigers athletes during the annual Spring Athletic Banquet.

Principal Bill Stowe welcomed the 150 athletes and their families and commented on this year's spring sports achievements.

The sports included boys and girls junior high and high school basketball and track teams and their cheerleaders.

Damian and Nathan Roybal

received two awards each. Nathan was one of two students recognized for his academic achievement.

Bobbie Griego received the most valuable basketball player award for the 1990-91 season.

"He's all around one of the best," said coach Pat Ventura. Griego is one of the two seniors on the team. He showed leadership and motivation on and off the court, said Ventura.

Other awards went to freshman player Orlando Baca for most improvement; Kyle Traylor, a sophomore, for his offensive play; senior Nathan Roybal earned best defensive play; and Damian Roybal, a freshman, received the award as best hustler.

Track awards went to senior Larry McEwen for field event, D. Roybal was honored as best runner, and Rodney Sedillo, an eighth grader, received an award for his courage.

Ventura said he honored Sedillo because he didn't care who he ran against, he never complained and he ran as hard as he could.

The special academic/athletic award sponsored by the U.S. Army went to N. Roybal and Cindy Castillo, another senior basketball and track athlete.

Castillo was the only girl receiving an award other than the state track championship trophy given to the team.

Classroom officers

Typists make money for charity

Capitan was one of 11 school districts in New Mexico to participate in the Type-a-thon, according to teacher Diane Riska.

The group collected $265 in pledges. People pledged a certain amount of money for each correct word a student could type in a three-minute period.

The project was designed to help students improve their typing skills at the same time they were benefiting those with leukemia and related blood diseases.

Leukemia is a disease in which bone marrow produces too many abnormal white blood cells causing infections, a reduction in the production of red blood cells and excessive bleeding. It kills more children between the ages of three and 14 than any other disease. It strikes more adults than children. People over 60 most often are affected.

No known way to prevent leukemia has been discovered. The society provides financial aid to patients and sponsors research in Leukemia and related diseases. It is supported solely by public donations.

Special Olympics

Mary Lee Daniel (left), special education teacher of Capitan, presents a plaque to co-owner of A-Frame Ski Rental Louise Cape. The plaque, made by teacher Bill McVeigh, was given to the business to honor them for all their ski equipment contributions of the 1990-91 school year. Eight special education athletes qualified for the Winter Special Olympics in Albuquerque this past season.

Capitan Village trustees to meet at 6 p.m. today

The Capitan village trustees will meet at 6 p.m. today in the village hall.

The meeting should be short, said Jan Starnes, city clerk. The council will clear up old business leftover from last meeting.

The agenda includes the official action on the proposed one/sixteenth of a cent gross receipts tax and the resolution of membership for the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development.

Travis Crandall, an eighth grader in the Capitan school district, paints a section of the wall at the high school, continuing a tradition started by students in instructor Jerry Rice's art classes. Usually, juniors and seniors man the paint brushes, but they were busy with graduation and Crandall took over.

Local man heads state parks & rec commission

Governor Bruce King announced last week that Charles Griffin of Ruidoso will chair the state Parks and Recreation Advisory Committee.

CHARLIE GRIFFIN

"This is my bailiwick," said Griffin, who has always been a hunter, fisherman and RVer. He said he's used and is familiar with many state parks.

"My goal is to try to better all state parks to fit the needs of the public," said Griffin, whose appointment began May 16 and lasts through December 31, 1994.

Griffin, who will work closely with Richard Copper, director of state parks, hopes to include the Tourism Department in the planning process.

"Parks in New Mexico have a dual purpose — to serve the people of the state and to attract tourists," said Griffin.

Hanging it up

Doyle Howell, Ruidoso High School's former head football coach and athletic director, is retiring this year from his current job as assistant principal. Friends and co-workers honored him Friday at a retirement dinner and dance. Howell is pictured above with his wife, Rachel, and at left with Peggy Lawing who said she was returning an item of clothing he apparently lost on a school trip.

The Silver Lining

Veterans lead memorial ceremonies

Veterans Ceremonies

At Forest Lawn Cemetery

In the early morning of May 27, local veterans placed American Flags at the graves of all veterans at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Then at 9:30, there were ceremonies with a talk by Dub Phillips and prayers and blessings by the Reverend Mike Bush, pastor of the Ruidoso Downs Baptist Church.

Dub's remarks were inspiring as always, as he said we were gathered to honor and be grateful for our veterans of all wars, that we could thank God for our freedom and our many other blessings.

The Reverend Mr. Bush said "We have our freedom by the Grace of God. God blessed us by setting up this country on this continent away from European powers. Many came here for religious freedom, and that God blessed with leaders, that we must maintain our Freedom."

A rifle squad and color guard then presented a ceremony under the direction of Romeo Klein.

This ceremony included Harry Griffin, commander of Jerome Don Klein Post number 7072 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Elwood Gradine, Doug Houseton, Ruben Sandoval, Ida Koehler, Pat Huffsmith, Bud Skinner, Julius Fitzner, Jerry Keeton and Dan Storm.

Dick Mound played Taps on the bugle. The other two veterans organizations represented were Coe-Curry Chapter D.A.V., and Robert J. Hagee chapter 70 American Legion.

Special Services At Saint Anne's Chapel

by Dan Storm
The Ridge Runner

Trinity Sunday services last Sunday at Saint Anne's Chapel were under the direction of the Reverend Bob Batton. The Reverend Leon Livingston preached an inspiring sermon, saying that we know God, the father through his creation, and through our own Father Richard Catanach read from the Gospel according to Saint John: "I am the resurrection and the life, saith the Lord...."

Father Richard said that Hortencia is with our Lord, and that we call upon her to pray for us, as we look for the joyful day when we will all be reunited—and prayed: "May angels lead her to paradise."

Granddaughter Jamie Sanchez read from the Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Romans. "Christ was raised from the dead that we might have new life...."

Another granddaughter, Donna Garcia, read from the Book of Isaiah, and the Twenty-Third Psalm.

Dolores Gomez and her son, Andres, sang the following songs: "Buenas Dias, Paloma Blanca" (Good morning White Dove), "Gloria, Gloria, Gloria a mi Dios" (Glory, Glory, Glory to my God), "Hosannas en el Cielo" (Hosannas in the Heavens), "One Day at a Time," "La Despedida" (The Farewell), and "Adios Renia Del Cielo" (Be with God, Queen of Heaven).

Pallbearers were Fred Montoya, Charlie Montoya, Artura Trujillo, Paul Garcia, Alfredo Gonzalez, Luvin Sanchez, Richard Urban and Jesse Montoya.

The grandchildren added a great blessing to the service. Hortencia and her husband, Cesar, have been fond friends of the Storm family for many years, the children and all kinfolks have a special place in our hearts. And we rejoice that Hortencia has gone on to meet loved ones in Heaven with Our Lord.

creations; that we know Christ the Son through the love that we feel for each other as God's children, and we know the Holy Spirit from our inspiration, and the spiritual experiences in our life.

Lay reader Nellie Ruth Jones gave thanks for the birthdays of Bettina Shmitz Christie, Scott Annala, Jean Riddett, Marion Spencer, Lois Hostetter, Ronnie Garner, Cynthia Whatley and Marjorie Lane; and the wedding anniversaries of Dick and Ruth Wardlaw and Robert and Mina Buchagen and for the baptism of Gareth Davey Facciano, grandson of Bill and the Reverend Jan Davey.

Hortencia G. Garcia Services were conducted May 22 at Saint Eleanor's Catholic Church and Forest Lawn Cemetery for Hortencia G. Garcia, who was called Home by Our Lord on May 20.

Cabot retires after 25 years in first grade

by SHERI CANTWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

With the end of the school year, Nob Hill Elementary is losing a teacher, caretaker and friend, as Greta Cabot begins her retirement.

Cabot has taught first grade for 25 1/2 years.

"She's among one of the greatest teachers," said Marie McNeil, a retired Nob Hill instructor who has worked with and known Cabot for many years.

One reason this longtime school teacher may have been such a natural with children is because she is just a kid herself.

"She's still in first grade," said Debbie, a teacher with whom Cabot worked.

Greta displayed that quality as she put on an apron that her children decorated for her.

On Wednesday afternoon past teachers, co-workers, school personnel and many friends gathered in the cafeteria of the little school to express their gratitude and wish the best of luck to Cabot, who, with her gray hair pinned up, imaged the ideal stereotype of a traditional school teacher.

"We already miss you," said principal Roger Sowder. Guests enjoyed themselves at the hour-long party with cake and refreshments as Cabot opened the many gifts that the Ruidoso Education Association, school board, Nob Hill Elementary personnel and various other individuals presented to her.

Cabot had a hard time deciding to retire but now that it's done she says she is glad she did it.

"I'm going to do everything I didn't have time to do before," she said. Included in her retirement plans is taking time to draw, paint and travel.

Principal Roger Sowder hugs long-time teacher Greta Cabot during a tea in her honor in the Nob Hill cafeteria.

Obituaries

Geraldine Blake

Services have been set 10 a.m. Friday at the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints for Geraldine Blake, 61, of Mescalero.

Brother Ellison will officiate, with burial to be in the Mescalero Cemetery.

A lifelong resident of Mescalero, Blake died Monday in El Paso. She was born May 26, 1930, in Mescalero. She and Patrick Blake Sr. were married May 12, 1952, in Mescalero.

Survivors include her husband, Patrick Blake of Mescalero; three sons, five daughters, her father, Kenneth Morgan Sr. of Mescalero, three brothers, two sisters, 24 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Sons, all of Mescalero, are Michael Blake Sr., Gerald Blake Sr. and Aldo Blake.

Daughters are Francine Kanseah, Elsa Marden, Deborah Platero, Annalene Blake and Vickie Blake, all of Mescalero.

Brothers are Monte Morgan, Kenneth Morgan Jr. and Chandler Morgan of Mescalero. Sisters are Mary Naiche and Zola Ahidley, both of Mescalero.

Marshall Moore

Services for Marshall Moore, 86, of Ruidoso, will be at 2 p.m. today (Thursday), May 30, in the First Christian Church here. Moore died Tuesday at the Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso.

Officiating at the service will be the Reverend Chris Diebel. Burial will be in the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Memorial Cemetery at Ruidoso Downs.

Moore was born January 4, 1905, in Cooper, Texas, to the late Harbon and Myrtle Moore. He was a member of the Elks Lodge and the First Christian Church.

He moved to Ruidoso 20 years ago from Midland, Texas, where he was the owner and operator of the International Harvester dealership. He married Peggy Young on October 18, 1967, in Cooper, Texas.

Survivors include his wife, Peggy of Ruidoso; three daughters, Betty Wallace of California, Mimi Osbourn of Seattle, Washington, and Mrs. Susan Samuels of Lubbock, Texas.

One stepson, Jack Harrington of California, and a sister, Eudora Foster of Oklahoma and six grandchildren also survive.

The family suggests memorials to the American Cancer Society.

LeRoy Kurt Eckersley

A memorial service will be conducted at 3 p.m. Friday, June 7, at the National Cemetery in Santa Fe for LeRoy Kurt Eckersley, 90.

Eckersley, son of Arden and Ursula Eckersley of Ruidoso, died May 24 in the Veterans Administration hospital in Albuquerque.

Born in Wiesbaden, Germany, Eckersley served six years in the intelligence field of the United States Army.

He was graduated from Parkland High School in El Paso, Texas, and from Northeastern Missouri State University in Kirksville, Missouri.

Survivors include a brother, Rodney of Tempe, Arizona; his grandmother, Margarete Pfeiffer of Germany, and grandparents, Arden and Vivian Eckersley of Smithfield, Utah. Four aunts and uncles and 14 cousins also survive.

"He will be missed, and we will cherish his memory," a family member said.

Cremation has taken place.

Racing

Rain Pirate heads field on Friday's racing card

Laura Thompson's Rain Pirate, winner of the Coca Cola Handicap at Sunland Park three starts ago, heads a compact field of seven allowance runners in Friday's feature race.

The 7 1/2-furlong test is reserved for 3 and 4-year-olds that have never won two races. The race offers a purse of $4,300.

Rain Pirate has already had an outing over this surface when he finished third in an allowance race at 7 1/2 furlongs on May 19. The Kentucky-bred son of Hail the Pirates, packs a powerful late kick, and figures to be finishing fastest of all in Friday's race.

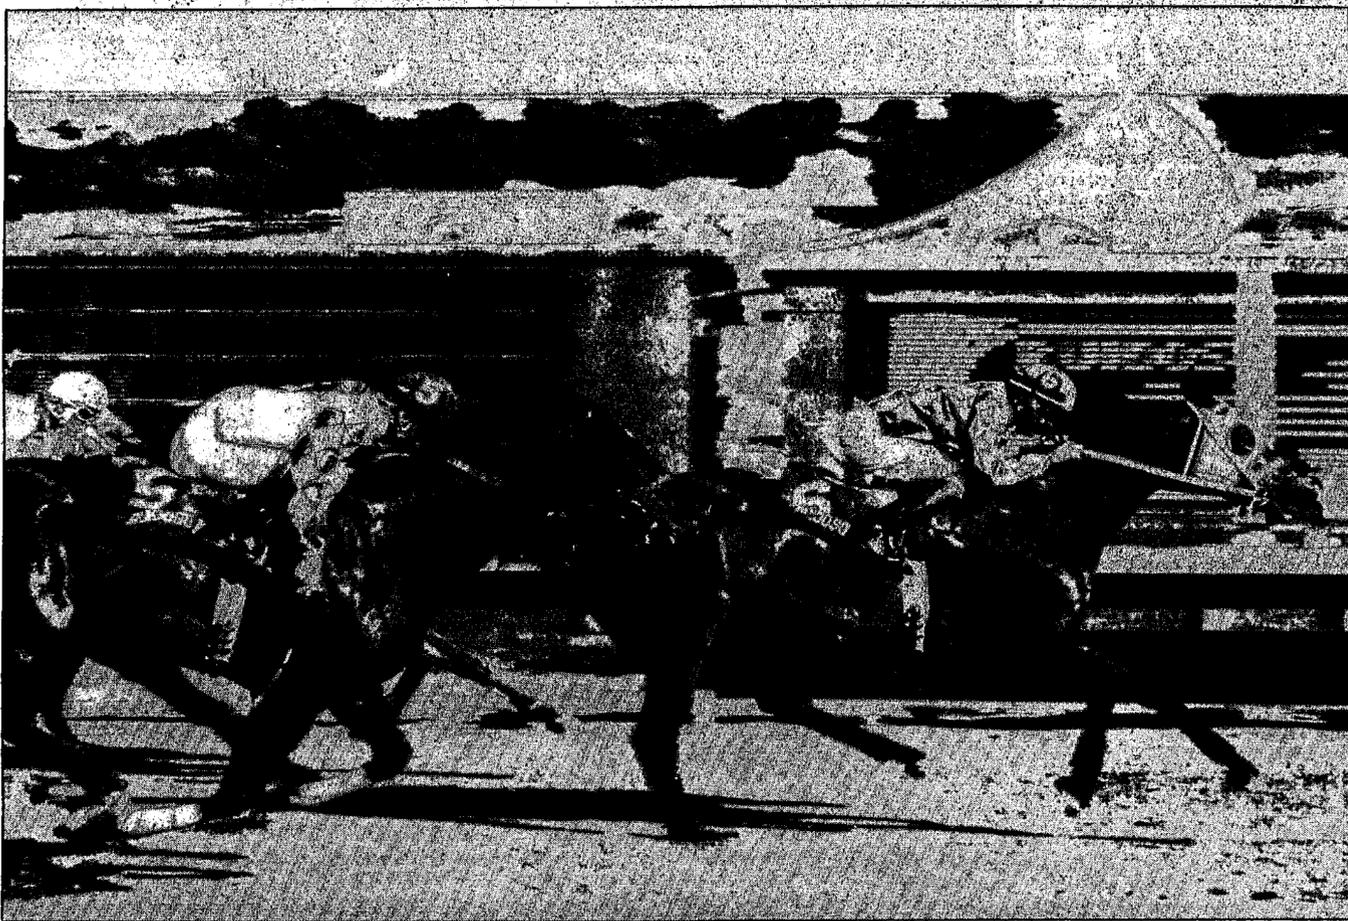

Seven Rivers Inc.'s Trijeme is also tough in this spot. The New Mexico-bred son of Tri Jet was a fast-closing fourth in his most recent outing here against allowance stock at 5 1/2-furlongs.

Trijeme, who resides in the barn of leading trainer Doyal Roberts, figures to benefit from the added distance of Friday's race. Trijeme will be ridden by Jimmy Coates.

Mondo Mac could improve in this spot. The Washington-bred son of Staff Writer returned from an extended vacation here last Saturday, and although he turned in a dull seventh-place finish, is capable of vast improvement.

Mondo Mac is trained by Jack Bruner and will be ridden by Kevin Cogburn, who is off to a fast start at this meeting.

Friday's 12th and 13th races are simulcasts from Hollywood Park.

Six Shooter Tex

Alex Baldillez Jr. stretches out aboard Six Shooter thoroughbreds over 870 yards Sunday at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The seven-year-old gelding ran the $12,325 Fone Loom Handicap for quarterhorses and the distance in 46.17 in his first race since December.

Sweet N Special rides again today at Ruidoso Downs

RUIDOSO DOWNS—Walt Fletcher's Sweet N Special, last year's Champion 3-Year-Old Filly, makes her return to the races here Thursday in the Rainbow Silver Cup trials.

The 10 fastest qualifiers from Thursday's eighth, ninth and 10th trial races advance to the June 9 Rainbow Silver Cup, a Grade I race with an estimated purse of $150,000.

Sweet N Special, whose last outing was a victory in the Sunland Park Fall Derby in December, was quite impressive here last summer. The daughter of Special Effort was runnerup in both the Grade I Kansas and Rainbow derbies.

Sweet N Special, who is from leading trainer Jack Brooks' barn, headlines Thursday's eighth race. She will be ridden by Jacky Martin.

The eighth race drew an especially strong field, and includes both Moons High and Wicked Willa.

Moons High, who is both owned and trained by Arnold Simmons, was a bit disappointing in her debut here last week. The daughter of On A High finished seventh in the Grade III Go Together Handicap.

She is capable of a much better effort, however. Last year, Moons High captured the Grade I Rainbow Derby. She will be handled by regular jockey Jeff Williams.

Also surfacing in the eighth race is Jane McGuire's Wicked Willa. The daughter of Dash For Cash was last seen at Ruidoso Downs winning the All American Derby First Consolation. She is trained by Dwayne Gilbreath and will be ridden by Luke Myles.

Track Talk

Fast rider is burning up the phone wires

AT&T is going to be sorry to see this meeting end in September.

That's because Manuel Ortiz, Jr., a new member of the jockey colony, calls his father in Phoenix, Ariz., nearly every night.

"Either I call him or he calls me everyday," said the younger Ortiz. "He likes to know how I'm doing."

The elder Ortiz can relax. His son is doing just fine.

The 20-year-old Ortiz rode his first four winners of the meeting over the long holiday weekend, including picture-perfect efforts on both Colonel Gem and Northern Hawaii in sharp wire-to-wire victories.

Although they were his first four winners here, they don't figure to be his last.

Ortiz can ride. The young jockey is especially impressive on front-runners. He sits chilly on the lead, and appears to have a knack for making horses relax on the lead.

Ortiz is not a newcomer to the sport, however. In 1987, he had a banner year, finishing as second leading apprentice jockey behind Aaron Gryder at Santa Anita. His mounts earned in excess of a half-million dollars that year.

"I learned a little bit from a lot of different riders out there," Ortiz said. "Jose Santos and Laffit Pincay are two of my favorite riders."

Ortiz, however, said he learned most of his riding style from his father, Manuel Ortiz, Sr.

by Tim Menicutch of Ruidoso Downs Race Track

"He rode at Turf Paradise (in Phoenix, Ariz.)," said Ortiz. "He was always in the top five in the jockey standings."

Ortiz said his most memorable experience on the racetrack so far came at Santa Anita during the 1987 season.

"I hooked up with Angel Cordero in one race," said Ortiz, who was 16-years-old at the time. "And my horse outran his down the lane."

Speaking of hot jockeys, Glen Murphy is turning a few heads at this meeting on both thoroughbreds and quarter horses. He is easily the leading rider in the combined standings with 19 overall wins in the first three weeks of this 79-day stand.

"He rode the hair off of that horse," is how one press box scribe described a Murphy performance.

Murphy was at his best in last Saturday's $75,000-added Budweiser Breeders' Cup. The 23-year-old El Paso, Tex. resident gave winner Charmin Abrecombe every advantage with a perfect ground-saving trip, which undoubtedly was the difference in his nose victory.

At his current pace, Murphy would shatter the all-time single season record set by Joe Martinez, who rode 103 winners during the summer of 1990. Murphy is on a pace to ride 115 winners.

DOWN THE STRETCH: Nicky Wilson, who rode Magic Dozen to an exciting nose victory in last Sunday's Kansas Futurity, was notching his second triumph in the first leg of the quarter horse 2-year-old Triple Crown. Wilson also won the race aboard Clever Bug in 1980 ... Roses For Roxanne was extremely impressive in an allowance victory here Sunday. If she can carry her speed around two turns, the fleet miss could give Dawn Street all she can handle in the 3-year-old filly stakes races this summer ... After Saturday's Budweiser Breeders' Cup, the older stakes ranks appear wide open. The favorites in the mile test - A Bit Of Style and Happyasalarik Tomas - were both disappointing ... Among New Mexico-breds, at least, R.D. Hubbard and Ed Allred's Jose Pancho figures tough the rest of the season. He was quite impressive while winning Monday's Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity from off the pace, despite being caught in tight for most of the trip.

SUNLAND PARK—For the second straight season, Grey Bed collected Horse Of The Meet honors at Sunland Park Race Track.

Grey Bed was the most dominant horse in the Thoroughbred category during the 1990-91 season. J. Mickey McMillan's favorite charge won four races including an impressive romp in the Sahara Hotel And Casino Handicap. He outran Classy Deer, Special Set and A Bit Of Style in his three other allowance wins. He has won 19 races from 50 career starts and earned over $160,000.

Grey's Bed's suffered only one loss during his Sunland campaign. The six-year-old roan gelding lost a five-length decision to the spectacular Bionic Prospect in the Windsham Lad Breeders' Cup Handicap on December 31, 1990.

The latter raced within 1/5 of a second off the 1 and 1/8 mile track record set by Winsham Lad in 1962. Bionic Prospect's memorable stakes win earned Top Router honors.

Multiple winner Special Set was named the Top Sprinter. The sleek grey speedster is owned by Margaret Bloss and Margaret DuPont of El Paso, Texas.

Epocentric was the unanimous choice for the Top Two-Year-Old Thoroughbred Title. The unbeaten son of Bold Ego pulled away for an authoritative win in the $129,399 Riley Allison Futurity. The swift colt won by 4 and 1/2 lengths in a fast 57 and 4/5 seconds. He is one of the leading two-year-olds in the nation.

See Me Gone was named the Quarter Horse Of The Meet for the 1990-91 season. The J.B. Montgomery trained athlete was unbeaten in four starts at Sunland. She collected hard fought wins in both the Southwest Classics Futurity and the Grade I $133,695 Sunland Fall Quarter Horse Futurity.

The Sun Country Futurity winner, Steppin For The Moon earned the Top Two-Year-Old Quarter Horse title. The son of Moon Lark collected almost $67,000 for his Grade I victory.

Pieboy earned his Top Three-Year-Old title with a nose victory over Go Go By Yawl in the West Texas Derby.

Sunland's best 870 and 1,000 yard horse was A Master At Work. He won both the Budweiser and Sunland Express Handicaps.

Sunland Park's 1990-91 season finished strongly during the spring months. Sunland enjoyed the highest handle in one day on Saturday, May 4. $778,910 was wagered on Kentucky Derby Day.

Horses To Watch

STARSHIP COMMANDER: Was checked sharply in the middle of a big late run sprinting last week. This 5-year-old is actually more comfortable going a distance of ground, and could be extremely tough next outing around two turns.

CHEERS TO YOU: Was flying late last time out in a 1,000-yard race. Rallied from last place in the race to finish a fast-closing fifth. Could be a big price next time out in a 5 1/2-furlong heat.

RECKLESS DASH: This classy colt ran second to the very tough Ossetra in an allowance race, despite stumbling out of the gate. If he doesn't beat himself next start, neither will anything else.

CLASS WIN: Had the unfortunate experience of breaking from the rail in his debut last week. This 2-year-old gelding hated the inside. After breaking slowly, he raced greenly most of the trip and still closed strongly. An outside post position should put him the winner's circle next trip.

IAMA CICLONE JET: Broke slowly and was steadied entering the stretch, yet still came on strongly at the end of an 870-yard race. He will be tough right back against bottom level "hook" horses.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the undersigned Special Master will, on the 20th day of June, 1991, at 10:00 A.M., at the front entrance to the Village of Ruidoso Municipal Building in Ruidoso, New Mexico, sell to the highest bidder for cash, the following described real property situate in Lincoln County, New Mexico, to-wit:

 S/2 NE/4, Section 36, Township 11 South, Range 13 East, N.M.P.M., Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico.
LESS AND EXCEPTING

THEREFROM the following described tracts:

1. That certain tract of land conveyed by Homer F. Glover, a/k/a H.F. Glover, et al., to Roy H. Anderson and Dora Anderson, his wife, as shown by Warranty Deed recorded in the Lincoln County Deed Records, in Book 59, page 303.
2. That certain tract of land containing 10 acres, more or less, conveyed by Richard Cole Clifton to Seamans-Brown Corporation, a New Mexico corporation, as shown by a Special Warranty Deed recorded in the Lincoln County Deed Records, in Book 61, page 197.
3. That certain tract of land conveyed by Richard C. Clifton, d/b/a Pinecrest Properties, to Joe Pettigrew and Steve Pettigrew, as shown by Warranty Deed recorded in the Lincoln County Deed Records, in Book 70, page 169.

4. That certain tract of land containing 0.23 acres, more or less, conveyed to Travis M. Hausler, a single man, to Village of Ruidoso, New Mexico, as shown by Warranty Deed recorded in the Lincoln County Deed Records, in Book 71, page 101.
5. That certain tract of land containing 3.0 acres, more or less, conveyed by Richard Clifton, a/k/a Richard C. Clifton and Richard Cole Clifton, a single man, individually, and Richard C. Clifton, d/b/a Pinecrest Properties, to Thomas D. Quaid and Dorothy M. Quaid, his wife, as shown by Warranty Deed recorded in the Lincoln County Deed Records in Book 72, page 396.
6. That certain tract of land containing 1.00 acres, more or less, conveyed by Richard C. Clifton, dealing in his sole and separate property, doing business as Pinecrest Properties, joined pro forma by Eva Pauline Clifton, his wife, to Donald C. Harris and Eridell Harris, his wife, as shown by Warranty Deed recorded in the Lincoln County Deed Records, in Book 74, page 560.

7. That certain tract of land lying West of the KOA Tract (Seamans-Brown Tract) located in the SW/4 NE/4 of said section 36. An accurate survey would probably indicate such tract to be those described by Items 1 and 3 above.
8. Those lands situate on the S/2 NE/4 of said Section 36, subdivided or platted into "Pinecrest Additions Units I and II."
9. That certain tract of land containing 2.2 acres, more or less, conveyed by Richard Clifton, a/k/a Richard C. Clifton and Richard Cole Clifton, a single man, individually, Richard C. Clifton, d/b/a Pinecrest Properties, to Mack Mead and Frances Harvey Mead, his wife, as shown by Warranty Deed recorded in the Lincoln County Deed Records in Book 70, page 179.

The above described real property is an undeveloped tract of acreage located immediately West of and adjacent to Pinecliff Subdivision in Ruidoso, New Mexico, where Ridgecrest Drive deadends.

The sale will be made pursuant to the Judgment and Decree of Foreclosure entered by the Court in this cause on February 16, 1990, which action was a suit to foreclose a Note and Mortgage held by the Plaintiff, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in its corporate capacity (FDIC-C).

The Judgment directed foreclosure of the Mortgage on the Subject real property to satisfy the following Judgment lien:

Principal	$204,462.56
Interest to date of sale- 6/20/91	32,879.28
Costs	18.70
Special Master's fee	200.00
Attorney's fee	5,000.00
Total	$242,560.54

In addition to the sums due on the Judgment referred to above, there will be accruing costs, including costs of publication of the Notice and attorney fees.

WITNESS my hand this 20th day of May, 1991.

The Class of 1991 is our future hope

The Class of 1991 is heading expectantly into the "real world." We welcome them into the fray, wish them well and have high hopes for their energy and new perspective on this old world. They give us hope.

Life may not be easy for the Class of '91. They march bravely into a world where jobs are scarce, the environment is marred, ethics are on the decline and moral decay is evident in substance abuse that affects even future generations. It's not a pretty picture, but still we have hope.

For, even the most cynical pessimist among us is touched by optimism watching as each new crop of graduates moves from the classroom into the workforce or on to another stage in their education. They know that our best hope for a better and brighter future is through these graduates.

Just think — one of these graduates may be the very one who will come up with a lasting answer for this nation's ailing economy, one may discover a cure for AIDs and another may come up with a way to stop this society's debilitating and destructive abuse of alcohol and drugs. That gives us hope.

And so, Class of 1991, walk bravely and make the most of every opportunity. We're counting on you and we're here to help. You give us hope.

Pursue excellence!

Congratulations to R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard on their second annual Hubbard Art Award for Excellence.

The Hubbards are bringing world-class art into the area, and they're making the show available to everyone with the show and sale, awards dinner, the free exhibition at the Turf Club Gallery at Ruidoso Downs Race Track and the community party on June 6.

"The Howling" stalks Stallings house

Do you know this riddle?

What screeches like an angry peacock, growls viciously like a bobcat, travels at night through the bushes and is never seen?

Whatever that is, it has been around my house for two weeks and it's keeping me in at night.

Before you think my imagination has run amuck, let me say I taped this beast-bird thing and will welcome anyone to come to The Ruidoso News office to identify it.

It started over a week ago, around 9 p.m. I was standing on the upper deck of my home on Moon Mountain when this thing started barking, screeching, wailing, that type of thing. This is loud, not like two alley cats fighting, but 10 times that loud. It was both eerie and frightening. It sounded like it was coming from the road south of the house.

I walked back into the front room where Dianne was reading. "Beautiful night, Dianne," I said. "Oh," she said, not bothering to look up. It's her way of communicating. "It'd be a great night for a walk," I said. About five seconds passed before she put her book down.

"You know," she said. "I do feel like taking a walk. Which way did you want to go?" "Gee, I'm a little tired," I said. "Why don't you go. The moon looks a little better if you head down the road south of the house."

I was standing on the deck when she returned. "How was your walk?" I asked.

Suddenly, this blood curdling screech, followed by a growl swept across the valley. "WHAT WAS THAT?" Dianne asked. "I didn't hear anything," I said.

Again, this hideous thing screamed. It was angry, belligerent, powerful. "THAT!" she said. "I don't know," I said matter-of-factly and walked back inside.

The next night, about 9:30 p.m., the beast returned. I heard it again from the upper deck. This time it was close. Very close. It seemed to be coming from a bush no more than 20 yards from the back deck.

Aaron was home. I figured it was destiny. "Aaron, I dropped a tennis ball off the deck. Would you get it for me?" I shined a flashlight on the bush.

"How'd it get way over there?" he asked. "Bad bounce, I guess." I watched him wade through the brush toward the big bush. He's such a nice kid.

"A little to the left," I shouted. He couldn't find anything.

"Never mind," I said. "I found it. Must have bounced back up on the deck."

He gave me kind of a funny stare and started walking back to the house. I was determined to out fox this creature

(No, it wasn't a fox). The next night I brought out my tape recorder and caught that sucker in the middle of another soulful, but vicious, bird-beast growl.

Aaron walked out on the deck that very moment.

"Aaron," I said cheerfully. "Forget it, Dad! Mom told me." Is there nothing sacred between husband and wife once you have a child?

The next day I took my recorder to the forestry service during lunch period. Twenty foresters listened several times as I replayed the tape. Some said it sounded like a ticked-off peacock. Others said it sounded like "something." Still others advised not to go near it until I found out what it was. That had been my thoughts all along.

The Albuquerque Zoo, Roswell Zoo and biologist at the Bottomless Lake near Roswell couldn't identify the sounds over the telephone. Wildlife specialist Ben Hanson thought it could be a peacock if its screech had been a little kinder and gentler.

Somebody said it was probably a howling Tom cat, but I've heard those sounds before. A Tom's wail is more pitiful and begging, like a small child. This beast had an attitude problem that seemed to say, "Walk this way and make my day."

Badger, bobcat, peacock, wildcat, bear, macaw, and "something" have all been guesses by the professionals. Last night I was back on the deck, taping some more sounds when Aaron walked in.

"Hey, big 'A', the cat got out. Would you go outside and get it?" "Same bush, dad?" "Yeah."

Policy

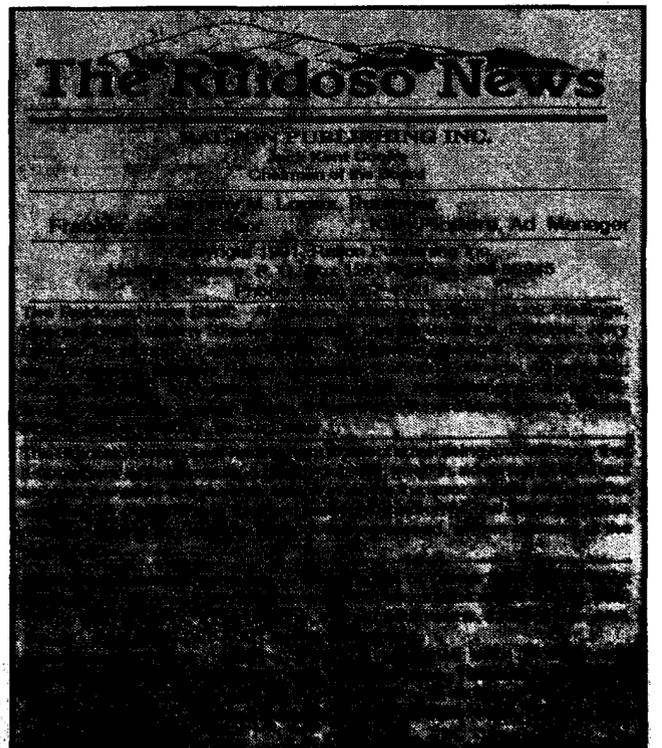

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Libelous letters are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning.

Peters celebrate 50 years

LaMoyné Peters and Opal Jones will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, June 2.

The Peters were united in marriage at the Nazarene Church parsonage in Roswell, June 2, 1941.

To celebrate, the Peters plan to return to Roswell where they will attend church.

They will be joined by their parents, Gilbert and Chloe Peters, and children, Glenda, Leslie and Tanya Armstrong of Fort Sumner, Lynden Armstrong of New Mexico State University, and Renee and Kevin Grant of Muleshoe, Texas.

Other family members will be present for a special dinner and for cutting the traditional wedding cake which will be baked by their daughter, Glenda.

Opal Jones Peters is the daughter of the late Daniel O. Jones and Mattie B. Jones who migrated to Capitan, New Mexico, in 1915 from Coryell County, Texas, and later owned and operated a Hereford cattle ranch nearby. She graduated from Capitan High School and attended Eastern New Mexico University where she graduated with a degree in elementary education. She returned to Capitan to teach school and spent 24 years in the classroom before retiring in 1975.

LaMoyné Peters is the son of Gilbert and Chloe Peters who are prominent Lincoln County ranchers. He has been and will continue to be active in civic affairs. He has served on local boards for public schools, Lincoln County Fair, New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau, Soil Conservation Service, and U.S. Forest Service. Peters is presently serving as a member of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Committee.

The Peters are active members of the Angus Church of the Nazarene and feel their lives have been greatly enriched by this fellowship.

LaMoyné Peters is general chairman and his wife is secretary for the Nogal Mesa Ranchmen's Camp Meeting where they have been involved since 1940.

Immediately following their marriage, the Peters settled on their present hereford cattle ranch near Angus.

"This is a choice spot nestled in the beautiful cool mountains with blue grama grass, whispering pines, golden sunsets, and quiet

out somewhere in the west and let the rest of the world go by."

The couple will enjoy hearing from their many friends by telephone, card or letter. Their address is HC 71, Box 1060, Capitan, NM 88316. Telephone: (505) 354-2302.

Dancers present spring recital

The Dance Daze School of Dance presented its third annual recital Saturday evening at the Ruidoso Middle School.

"Dance Spectacular" turned out to be more than a sensational event, as 96 performers from age three to 50+ filled the floor of the gym, prancing to old Glen Miller tunes such as "Steam Heat" to Janet Jackson's "Escapade" and nursery rhymes.

"Dance Spectacular" is the big production for Nancy Shaver's ballet, jazz, tap and clogging classes. The show demonstrates all the different steps that the students have been learning since September.

With a potpourri of music and dances, the stage was set with bright pink, purple, green and yellow shooting stars — imaging what the dancers might someday become. The costumes varied from tight body stockings with ruffles and frills in black polka-dots and checkers to hot pink or peach with lace dresses, and even cut off jeans for the clogging routines.

Nancy Shaver has been teaching classes at Dance Daze School of Dance for three years. The school is located at the "Y" in the Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department Activities Center.

Knights raise funds, present scholarships

Ruidoso's Knights of Columbus Council 6597 was awarded first place in district competition within New Mexico.

They competed against 16 other councils of comparable size within the entire state.

According to a news release, the recent K of C Tootsie Roll drive was a success. Donations were collected at local merchants from local folks and visitors alike to be used to help the local handicapped skiers program.

Ninety percent of the funds collected are returned to Ruidoso with the other 10 percent going to the New Mexico Chapter of the Association for Retarded Citizens, continues the release.

Grand Knight Michael Brillante thanked all who gave to the worthy annual drive.

Knights of Columbus Council 6597 of St. Eleanor's Catholic Church presented scholarships to graduating seniors from Ruidoso High School. The recipients are Chris Torres and Jessica Livingston, who will be attending New Mexico State University in Las Cruces.

Also presented was the John Howden Scholars Award to Jennifer Baca a graduating senior at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces with her major in hotel management.

Girl Scouts raise funds

On May 22, the Girl Scout Council began its annual giving campaign, Jerry Longbotham, chairman for the Lincoln County event, announced recently.

Individuals and businesses who have supported Girl Scouting in the past or who have a present interest are being asked to participate.

The Zia Girl Scout Council serves 275 members in Lincoln County and almost 2,500 in the five-county area.

Girl Scouts participate in troop meetings, outdoor experiences, travel, training, seminars, community service projects, family events, self-paced projects and fun activities.

Powwow dancing

Dancers twist, twirl and turn to the rhythm of the Indian drums during the Soaring with Eagles Powwow at the Mescalero Community Center sponsored by the Ruidoso and Tularosa high school Indian clubs. A powwow is planned from 2 p.m. to midnight this Saturday, June 1, at the Mescalero Community Center to honor all veterans, dancers, singers and drum groups. The powwow, featuring head drum Vince Toyva, will include food, prizes and arts and crafts. Everyone is welcome. The Mescalero Community Center is on U.S. Highway 70 west between Ruidoso and Tularosa.

Music in May showcases piano students

Local piano instructor Celeste Cox presented her students in the fourth annual spring recital on May 5 at Cree Meadows Country Club. "Music in May" was the theme, with various composers and styles of music represented. Students participating were: Maryah Romans, Amy Andrews, Nicole Radziewicz, Kammee Jenson, Monica Decker, Ricardo Valenzuela, Joyce Robbins, Mandi

Spence, Donna Cannella, Jenny Jenson, Karra Lutterman, Erika Dunn, Jamie Estes, Michelle Cannella and Susan Cox. The top three awards were based on piano performance, memorization, and musicianship. These went to Jenny Jenson, first place; Mandi Spence, second place, and Donna Cannella, third place. Mastery Level students were: Jenny Jenson, Mandi Spence,

Jamie Estes, Donna Cannella, Maryah Romans, Kammee Jenson, Michelle Cannella and Joni Autrey. Those receiving perfect attendance awards were: Amy Andrews, Maryah Romans, Nicole Radziewicz, Monica Decker, Ricardo Valenzuela, Joyce Robbins, Leslea Gerth, Mandi Spence, Donna Cannella, Michelle Cannella and Erika Dunn. Students unable to participate in Sunday's performance were: Lori Swalander, Heather Stover, Joni Autrey, Krin Autrey and Leslea Gerth. After the program and awards presentation, the students were guests of honor at a reception. Celeste Cox indicated that this year had been most successful musically, and that she anticipates even greater accomplishments in the future.

1st Baptist adds early service

The First Baptist Church will begin having 8:30 a.m. Sunday worship starting this Sunday, June 2. "Living in a community known for its tourism, we want to minister to those tourists and one way we can do this is by having an 8:30 a.m. worship service," said Pastor D. Allen Cearley of the First Baptist Church. Bible study (Sunday school) for all ages, including a nursery for babies and toddlers, will follow the early worship service at 9:30 a.m. Sunday school concludes at 10:30 a.m. with a second morning worship service at 10:45 a.m. "Our desire is that all will know they are welcome and will take advantage of our ministry," said the pastor. The First Baptist Church is located at 420 Mechem Drive. For more information, call the church at 247-2081.

First Baptist welcomes summer with Bible School

First Baptist Church, 420 Mechem Drive, will have Vacation Bible School from 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday, June 3-7. Classes will be offered for all children who are four and older through those who have completed the sixth grade. Vacation Bible School commencement will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday, June 7. Parents and friends are invited to come and be part of the commencement and to see and hear something of what the children have learned during the week. For more information call the church at 257-2081.

St. Joseph's presents bazaar

St. Joseph Apache Mission in Mescalero announces its Annual Bazaar to be on the weekend of June 1-2. A 5K and 10K Fun Run is planned on Saturday, June 1, with each entrant to receive a T-shirt. Trophies will be awarded for first, second and third place in each age category. Registration forms are available at St. Joseph's in advance or at 8 a.m. on June 1. The run begins at 9 a.m. Registration is $10. The big bazaar and barbecue dinner will be from noon until dark on Sunday, June 2, with many booths, including Indian arts and crafts, music and dancing.

Ranchers plan a July 4 rodeo

The Lincoln County Ranch Rodeo Association along with the Lincoln County Fair Board are having a Ranch Rodeo on July 4, in Capitan at the Fairgrounds arena. A meeting concerning this Ranch Rodeo is set for 7 p.m. Saturday, June 8, at the Smokey Bear Restaurant. All interested parties are welcome to attend the meeting. The Ranch Rodeo Association will invite eight teams from Lincoln County to participate with an entry fee of $300 per team. The teams must consist of four to six members who can qualify by either owning a ranch, being a ranch employee, dayworker or neighbor help in Lincoln County. Qualified applications will be drawn in order to invite the limit of eight teams. The draw will take place June 15, with entry fees due by June 22. Attend the meeting for more information or call Wes or Cindy Smith at 354-2775, or Bill or Debbie Bird at 653-4006.

Deadline nears for Southwest Writers Workshop's contest

The Plant Corner

Plant Corner fans ask for book of columns

DEAR SALLY:
My very dear friend, Rhylene Stoker, from Snyder, Texas called me last week to ask me to help her out with one of your special columns. Seems she has a hibiscus plant she purchased after she read your column on how to grow the hibiscus. She had tried in the past to grow one but had failed. This time she followed your instructions carefully and this time she was able to grow a beautiful plant with many blooms. Sadly, Rhylene has lost the column and would like you to please send her another. She also suggests you put all your columns together in book form. It would make it easier to locate particular plant information. She said she thinks you have more practical information about growing plants than other columnists she has read, and would be one of the first to buy your book.

to make it easy to find the info I now have to search for. However, I'm afraid the computer world has passed me by, and for now I must rely on dates and numbers to keep up with columns I have written since 1980. Alex and Clay Adams from Holiday Homes at 1107 Mechem Drive, reported their tree tomato plants arrived but not in good condition. They have returned the plants and requested replacements. Hope the Adams will keep us informed. My tree tomato plants arrived in fairly good condition, they are planted and I noticed two tiny new leaves just today, which means they are growing. I planted them in 24-inch width clay colored plastic pots, so to fill in the extra space I decided to plant a small salad crop around the edges. Some carrots, radishes, scallions, and some leaf lettuce will grow quickly, all edibles and will require no extra work, which I love. I also love the edibles. I didn't realize I had put on a little weight until I overheard someone say, "I'll bet when she sings, it's all over," too, I noticed I was answering to Queen Kong. Soon now I'll have all those delicious fresh veggies for snacks rather than this ice cream I now can't seem to do without. Let me share my fantastic idea with that space around the tree tomato plant. Start the new 45 days NK Watermelon seeds (I got mine from Carl at Wal-Mart) in peat pots indoors. When the little plants are about one-inch tall, plant peat pots, two or three, around the edges of the tree tomato pots. When the temperature is right, move pots to patio or decks to a full sun area and thin water melon plants to two per little peat pot and keep moist. The watermelon vines will trail over the sides of the pots and your melons will lie on the deck floor. Think about it, in only 45 days you could have your own fresh melons lying right at your door. Don't thank me, it's my job. Send questions to Sally Black, c/o The Ruidoso News, P.O. Box 128, Ruidoso, N.M. 88345.

LEGAL NOTICE TWELFTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COUNTY OF LINCOLN STATE OF NEW MEXICO TIVOLI VENTURES, INC., Plaintiff, vs. HERBERT L. SULLIVAN, BETTY J. SULLIVAN, and UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF TREASURY-INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE, Defendants. No. CV-90-219

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to a Judgment entered on April 5, 1991, in the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico, in Cause No. CV-90-219, entitled "Tivoli Ventures, Inc., Plaintiff vs. Herbert L. Sullivan, Betty J. Sullivan, and United States Department of Treasury-Internal Revenue Service, Defendants" which was an action on a Promissory Note and to foreclose a Real Estate Mortgage, the undersigned Special Master will offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash at 10 o'clock a.m. on June 17, 1991, at the front steps of the Lincoln County Courthouse, Ruidoso, New Mexico, the following described real estate situated in Lincoln County, New Mexico, to-wit:

Lots 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12— Block 134 of Mesa Verde Acres, Unit 4, Lincoln County, New Mexico, as shown by the plat thereof filed in the office of the County Clerk and ex-officio Recorder of Lincoln County, September 6, 1966 in Tube No. 257. Directions to the property are as follows: Leaving Capitan on Highway 48 toward Ruidoso take first dirt road after State Highway Department site. Going north at first intersection turn right and proceed north to end of dirt road and take left to top of hill to property. The amounts awarded by the District Court in said Final Judgment and to be realized from the sale of said real estate, are as follows: (1) Special Master's fee of $200.00, cost of advertising this sale $100.00; (2) Judgment debt in favor of Tivoli Ventures, Inc. in the amount of $67,073.43, which includes accrued interest to the date of sale; (3) and next, Judgment debt in favor of United States Department of Treasury Internal Revenue Service in the amount of $181,875.34, which includes accrued interest to the date of sale. Tivoli Ventures, Inc. is not required to pay cash if it becomes the purchaser at said sale, and United States Department of Treasury Internal Revenue Service shall only be required to pay cash for Tivoli Ventures, Inc.'s debt if it should become the purchaser at said sale. The terms of this sale are: That the purchaser must pay cash at the time the property is struck off to him; the purchaser shall have the right of immediate possession, subject to right of redemption of one month after sale for all parties except the United States Department of Treasury Internal Revenue Service shall have a period of redemption after sale of 120 days. Dated this 13th day of May, 1991.

The PURSUIT OF EXCELLENCE

Hubbards pursue excellence in art

The Second Annual Hubbard Art Award for Excellence will bring together this nation's finest realistic artists May 31 through June 1, in Ruidoso Downs.

When Joan Dale and R.D. Hubbard presented artist Howard Terpning with their quarter of a million dollar art award last June, it was the culmination of countless hours of work and preparation.

It started with the Hubbards' dream which came true through their dedication and support, backed up with lots of hard work.

The First Hubbard Art Award for Excellence fulfilled the Hubbards goal of recognizing the finest of America's representational artists.

"The show and gala were met with even more enthusiasm than expected," reads a news release provided by the Hubbard Museum.

Masters in the genre of realism will be arriving in Ruidoso from all over the world to exhibit their works created especially for the purchase award of $250,000. The Hubbards will present the award during a gala on June 1.

The art will be on display throughout the weekend, and that exhibit will include works of five artists from the Soviet Union.

One piece from each participating artist will be displayed from mid-June through Labor Day weekend in the Hubbard Museum's Turf Club Gallery at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Locals will have a chance to view the collection during a community party from 6:30-8 p.m. Thursday, June 6, at the Anne Stradling Museum of the Horse Convention Center.

The Second Annual Hubbard Art Award for Excellence begins with a show and sale on Friday, May 31, continues with the Artists' Signing Party and Luncheon on Saturday, June 1, at the Ruidoso Downs Turf Club, and concludes with the awards and dinner on Saturday, June 1, at the Anne Stradling Museum of the Horse.

R.D. HUBBARD

WILLIAM ACHEFF

William Aceff Taos

Born: 1947 in Alaska

William Aceff was born in Anchorage, Alaska, of Athabascan Indian and Russian heritage. At age five, his family moved to the San Francisco Bay area.

It was not until age 22 that Aceff began to study art seriously.

Today, Aceff continues to work diligently at his style of "trompe l'oeil" (literally, "to fool the eye").

Since 1973, Aceff has lived in Taos, N.M., where he is able to appreciate the "land, nature, a healthy life and peace of mind," the things he values most in his day to day life.

He was also one of six finalists in the 1990 Hubbard Art Award for Excellence.

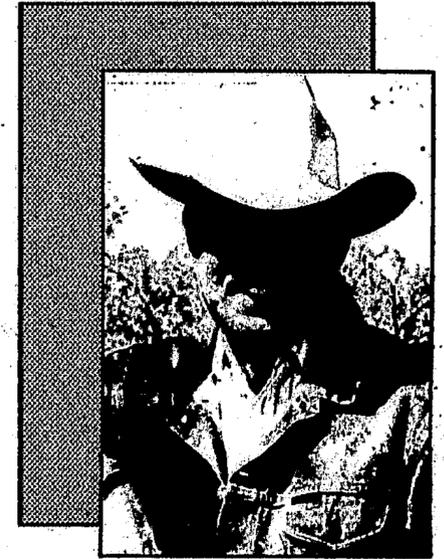

Roy Anderson Cave Creek, Arizona

Born: 1930, New Hampshire

As a professional illustrator for more than 30 years, Roy Anderson has covers for "Time Magazine" and has created more than a dozen U.S. postage stamps.

Anderson has also completed murals for the National Park Service and for the Royal Saudi Naval Headquarters. His paintings hang in the Smithsonian Institution's National Portrait Gallery in Washington, D.C.

Anderson has exhibited in a number of illustrious shows across the nation and a major body of his historical work can be seen at The E.E. Fogelson Visitor Center at Pecos National Monument, Pecos, N.M.

ROY ANDERSON

Clyde Aspevig Loveland, Colorado

Born: 1951 in Montana

Raised in a small Montana farming community near the Canadian border, Clyde Aspevig was inspired at an early age by an uncle who was an artist. He painted his first oil at age 10.

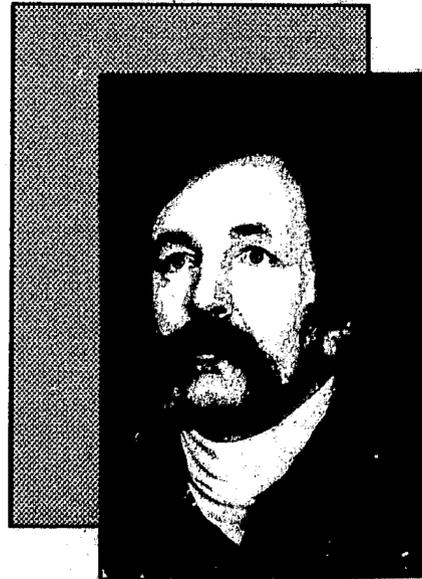

"There is no substitute for painting from life," says the artist, who does as many as 300 outdoor studies a year.

"An artist should always be a pupil, constantly trying to develop the proper blend of emotion, intellect, and intuition in one's work."

CLYDE ASPEVIG

GERALD BALCIAR

Gerald Balciar Arvada, Colorado

Born: 1942, Medford, Wisconsin

For as long as he can recall, Gerald Balciar has been fascinated by animals and wildlife. After high school, in 1960, he began his study of animal anatomy in a most practical and effective way, as a taxidermist. By 1973, he had begun sculpting animals in bronze and marble full-time.

"Animals have feelings and intelligence," he explains. "We should learn to understand them, what they're feeling, their language; then we should put as much emotion and spirit into our sculptures of them as we do into our human motifs."

JAMES E. BAMA

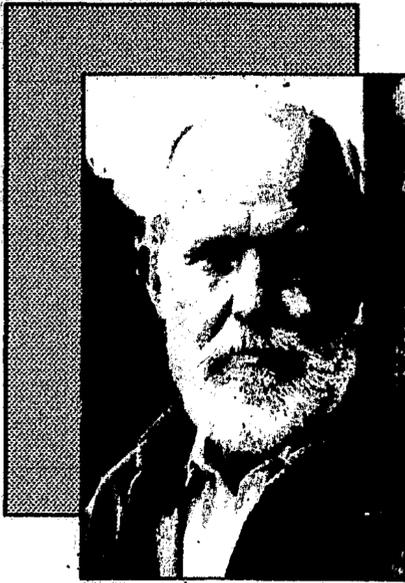

James E. Bama
Cody, Wyoming

Born: 1926, New York City

James E. Bama is a realistic painter of contemporary Western portraits and still lifes in oil and watercolor.

"I have always felt out of place with anecdotal paintings of historical scenes, roundups and brandings," he says. "I feel that my themes are universal. I would like to think that I am producing a body of work that makes a valid statement about life and the West today."

After graduating from New York City's High School of Music and Arts, Bama served in the military and then attended the Art Students League for three years.

TOMAS BUECHNER

Tomas S. Buechner
Corning, New York

Born: 1926, New York City

Thomas Scharman Buechner attended Princeton University, the Art Students League in New York and the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. He studied old master painting techniques in Amsterdam.

The first director of The Corning Museum of Glass (1950-1960) and then director of the Brooklyn Museum (1960-1971), Buechner went on to help establish the Rockwell Museum in 1976, serving as its president for 10 years.

A well-established portrait, landscape and still-life painter, Buechner has had many one-man exhibitions in New York and throughout the country. His paintings hang in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Kenneth Bunn
Denver Colorado

Born: 1938, Denver, Colorado

After study at the University of Maryland and an apprenticeship at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington D.C., Kenneth Bunn learned the practical application of his art through taxidermy and a business producing sculpture for commercial clients. By the late 1960s he had established his own place in the world of fine art.

"I like to create an illusion of life," Bunn says. To do so, he combines design and mass with an unerring sense of anatomical accuracy into three-dimensional portrayals.

Viewers are caught up with a sense of anticipation and become part of the setting. He works with light, shadow and texture.

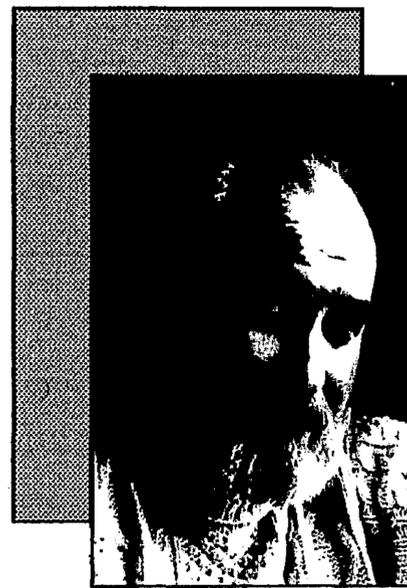

KENNETH BUNN

Paul Calle
Ridgefield, Connecticut

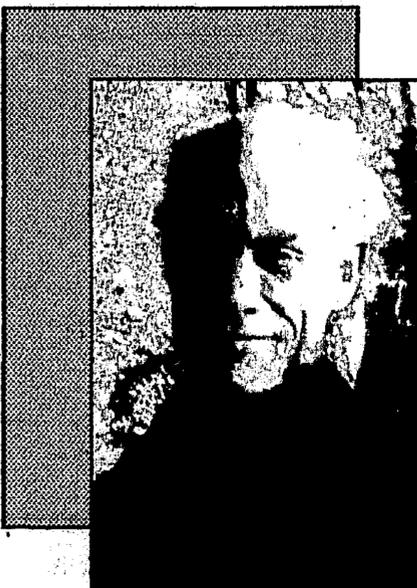

Born: 1928, New York City

Paul Calle is an artist whose work reflects the dramatic era of America's Western heritage as well as the one in which he lives. For Calle, the dimensions of art can be as vast as the wild, windswept plains of the West, infinite as outer space and small as the historic scenes captured on postage stamps.

His portrayal of Western Art is not a romantic adventure but a realistic challenge — a personal commitment to portray America's past with the same sense of history that guided his hand in depicting our nation's space explorations.

DAVID CAMPBELL

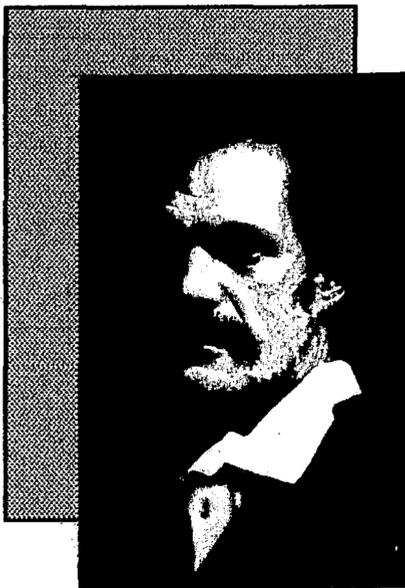

David Campbell

Born: 1936, Takoma Park, Maryland

David Campbell studied at the Art Students League of New York in 1957-58 and in 1961. He immediately began to paint landscapes because, as he says, "outdoors was where I preferred to be." Before going to art school, answering the same preference, he had worked as a land surveyor.

"I sometimes spend years on individual pictures as seasons come and go, and I slowly get to know my subject; and sometimes making two or more pictures of it, since long observation shows me that no single light condition or time of day or year can exhaust the possibilities."

Photographic precision cannot explain his gift. "I never use photographs."

JOHN M. CARTER

John Michael Carter
Louisville, Kentucky

Born: 1949, Chicago, Illinois

John Michael Carter's first education in drawing came at age 16 under the tutelage of his father, Edgar L. Carter, now retired art director of McCann-Erickson, Inc. He later attended the American Academy of Art in Chicago and studied sculpture at the University of Louisville and the Los Angeles Art Center College of Design, where he received his Bachelor of Fine Arts in 1972.

Carter paints the people and places of his everyday experience in the "alla prima" style - technically, "in one session." Admittedly, he does take somewhat longer than that with most works, but likes the abbreviated approach because "by the end of the day you have created a statement that reflects the immediacy of what was done."

The PURSUIT OF EXCELLENCE

Henry Casselli
Metairie, Louisiana

Born: 1947, New Orleans, Louisiana
Turning down the opportunity for a Congressional appointment to West Point in order to accept a scholarship from the New Orleans Art Association, Casselli studied with and under the loving guidance of John and Mary McCrady. Later Casselli served three years in the United States Marine Corps, 14 months of which were spent in the jungles of Viet Nam as a Combat Artist. Having served during the bloody fighting of the Tet Offensives, he received the Bronze Star for heroism in combat.

HENRY CASSELLI

Michael Coleman
East Provo, Utah
Born: 1946, Provo, Utah

Michael Coleman had what many of us envision as an ideal childhood in Provo, Utah...he hunted, trapped and fished. His interests have not changed that much, but they have become the subject of a successful art career. Says Coleman,

"I can't remember when I didn't draw and paint things. (As a child) I'd do my hunting and fishing during the day, then in my room at night I'd draw where I'd been and what I'd seen."

Coleman continues to express, in his own calm manner, the West that exists today.

MICHAEL COLEMAN

Robert Duncan
Midway, Utah

Born: 1952, Salt Lake City, Utah
Robert Duncan was born in Utah and spent much of his boyhood on his grandfather's farm in Wyoming. There he developed a respect for the land and honest appreciation for hard work.

Encouraged by his grandmother, Duncan began painting in oil when he was only 11.

In 1982, at age 30, Duncan was elected to the Cowboy Artist of America and was awarded their Silver Medal for oil in 1984 and 1985, and resigned in 1988 to devote more time to painting subjects outside the Western genre.

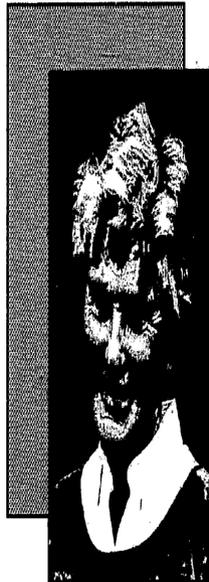

ROBERT DUNCAN

Mary Lou Ferbert
Rocky River, Ohio
Born: 1924, Cleveland, Ohio

Mary Lou Ferbert's artistic background is perhaps less than typical...she received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Duke University in 1945, and then attended Duke University Medical School for two years. Having left med school for marriage and family, she embarked on her art career with several years of part-time study, once her children were in college, at the Cleveland Institute of Art.

Ferbert paints in the realist tradition, using mundane objects that she feels have "intrinsic value (beauty)." Working in watercolor, she has elevated the familiar reality of day-to-day living to a striking art.

MARY LOU FERBERT

John Dillon Fillmore
Santa Fe

Born: 1951, Canoga Park, Calif.
John Dillon Fillmore's initial art education came under the able auspices of his father, Herbert Fillmore, a noted fine artist and illustrator. He also attended the Art Center College of Design in Los Angeles and studied under Lorser Fietelsen and Harry Carmean.

Fillmore focuses on figural works, expanding his exploration of the environment to include the human form. He specifically wanted to increase the accuracy of the information in his painting, so he began using "dots" of paint (referred to as pointillism) to apply exactly the color and value he wanted.

JOHN D. FILLMORE

Lincoln Fox

Born: 1942, Morrilton, Arkansas
Lincoln Fox was raised in San Angelo, Texas, where he met and married his college sweetheart, Rachelle. His formal education is extensive, including a Bachelor of Fine Arts from the University of Texas at Austin, a Master of Arts from the University of Dallas, and a Master of Fine Arts from the University of Kansas.

A traditional sculptor of bronze, Fox possesses a remarkable capacity to grant his works a sense of movement.

The PURSUIT OF EXCELLENCE

West Fraser
Charleston, South Carolina
Born: 1955, Hinesville, Georgia

West Fraser, noted for his ongoing series of paintings and developed coastal areas throughout America, was raised near Savannah, Ga., where his family has lived for more than two centuries. At the age of ten, he moved with his family, prominent loggers and developers, to Hilton Head Island, S.C. Witnessing the alteration of thousands of acres of environmentally sound sub-tropical land into what became Sea Pines Plantation, an internationally acclaimed resort, was a profound influence on his evolution as an artist.

WEST FRASER

Glenna Goodacre
Santa Fe

Born: 1939, Lubbock, Texas

After graduation from Colorado College in Colorado Springs and study at the Art Students League in New York, Glenna Goodacre began her career in painting and drawing. Encouraged by Forrest Fenn, former owner of Santa Fe's Fenn Galleries, she turned to sculpture, and it is in that realm that she established a solid reputation.

Goodacre possesses an uncanny ability to translate the human face and form into bronze. Her technique is consistently traditional, but her subjects are varied: children, Indians, nudes, heads, athletes and dancers.

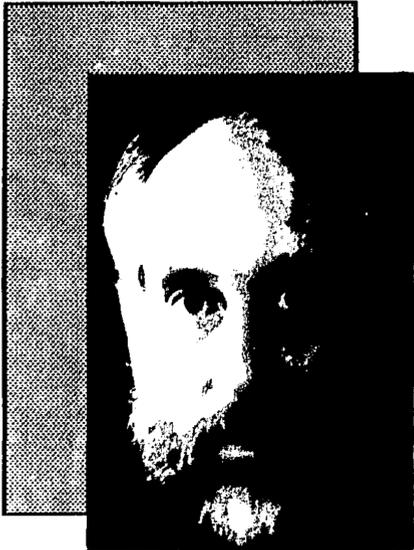

GLENNA GOODACRE

Harvey Gordon
Kalamazoo, Michigan
Born: 1941, Flint, Michigan

Harvey Gordon's formal education in art includes the University of Michigan and the University of North Carolina, where he received his Masters of Fine Art in 1966. He is currently head of Carolina, the University of Maryland, and the Kalamazoo Institute of Arts.

"Subject matter in my paintings is derived directly, and with as little contrivance and premeditation as possible, from my life. I delight in those subjects that seem to emerge, mysteriously and significantly, from the realm of the common and the ordinary."

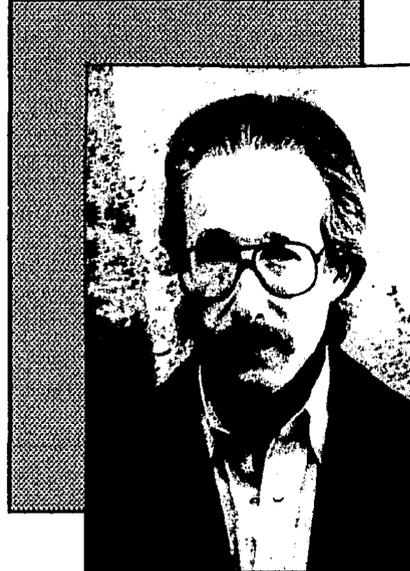

HARVEY GORDON

Woody Gwyn
Santa Fe

Born: 1944, San Antonio, Texas

Raised in the rather barren terrain of Midland, Texas, Woody Gwyn formed a fascination early on with the wide open spaces and the value of light.

"The west is where I am from, and many of the attributes of the region are, you might say, second nature to me. I think being reared in Texas made me feel the reality of the land and the sky." Always the class artist, his desire to draw was further prodded by art classes in Midland, and, at age 18, a fortuitous meeting with famed New Mexico artist Peter Hurd. Hurd encouraged him to bypass college and go directly to the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts.

WOODY GWYN

Sally Haley
Portland, Oregon
Born: 1908, Connecticut

Sally Haley grew up in an art-oriented family. Her father, a pioneer in the field of portrait photography, was perhaps an influence toward that precision that is an integral part of her work. She graduated from Yale in 1931 with a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree

"I use the physical and emotional realities of my environment as the basic source of my painting, often using common and familiar objects to create contemplative, or mysterious...drama. I search my work as I go along for clues and answers. When I find the answers, I am finished...a truly metaphysical experience!"

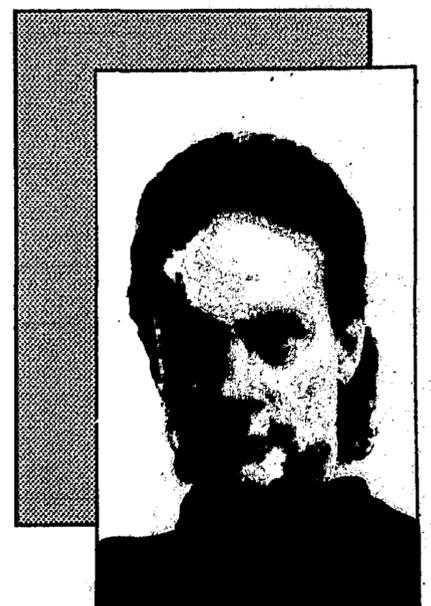

SALLY HALEY

Larry Hofmann
Minneapolis, Minnesota
Born: 1943, Mankato, Minnesota

Larry Hofmann was raised on a farm, where his father was a beekeeper. His early interests were divided between music and painting; in fact, he has been a musician (electric bass) since age 15, playing mostly rock/pop music. Although he is not currently playing, he continues to compose. At Mankato State University, He majored in painting and received his Bachelor of Arts degree.

Hofmann has exhibited extensively and has painted full-time since 1977.

BILL HUGHES

Bill Hughes Safford, Arizona

Born: 1932, South Carolina

Bill Hughes has been creating a stir with his ethereal landscapes since the early 1970s - and he quickly became celebrated - and labeled - an impressionist.

"I'm an actualist rather than an impressionist.

"In the greater painting of my life, it matters little where and when I was born, if indeed I was. However, it is important where I am right now, if indeed I am. It matters little where and when I was educated, if indeed I was, or what laurel I possess, if any.

"So be it on the completion of my 59th trip around the sun."

Michael Hurd San Patricio

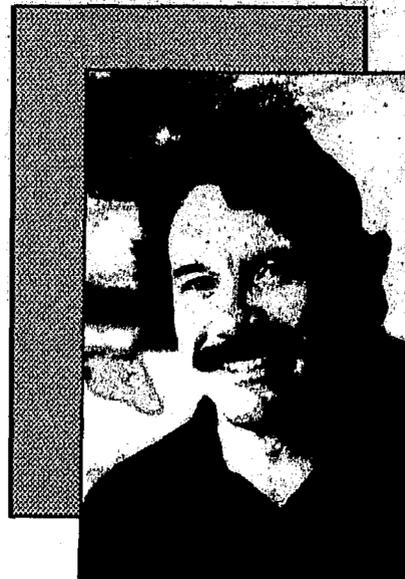

Born: 1946, Roswell, New Mexico

Born into an art "dynasty," Michael Hurd admits that he showed no particular precocity as an artist in his childhood.

He grew up on a ranch in the Hondo Valley of New Mexico. The son of Henriette Wyeth and Peter Hurd and grandson of N.C. Wyeth, headed in another direction, earning his degree from Stanford University in 1969 in political science.

"Of course, I may have been more influenced by the art of the Wyeths and my father than I'd like to admit to myself."

Hurd has melded those influences into his own unique and unmistakable style.

MICHAEL HURD

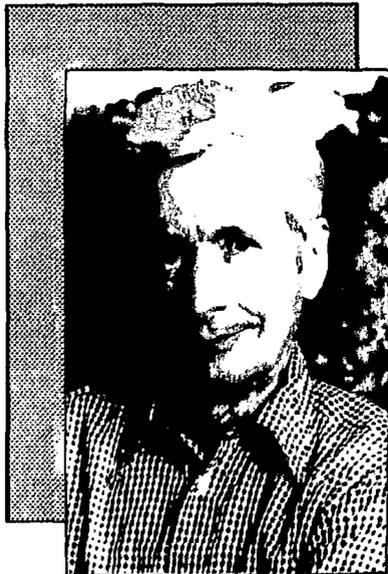

Wilson Hurley Albuquerque

Born: 1924, Tulsa, Oklahoma

Wilson Hurley spent his early youth in Virginia, and later New Mexico. He earned his Bachelor of Science degree from the United States Military Academy, West Point, in 1945, and a law degree at George Washington University in 1951.

Always a "Sunday painter," he closed his law practice in 1964 to devote his time to art.

Hurley is a member of the National Academy of Western Art and has won medals at their annual show. He has participated in group shows throughout the West and has had a number of one-person shows. The Eiteljorg Museum in Indianapolis will present a retrospective show of his work in July.

WILSON HURLEY

George Lundeen Loveland, Colorado

Born: 1948, Holdrege, Nebraska

George Lundeen has traveled the world gathering life-clips that he skillfully integrates into bronze sculpture.

With a universal sense of beauty, Lundeen, through each work of art, presents a realistic image that eclipses time, genre and cultures. There is a quiet beauty in a Lundeen piece, where style flows into expert design. Observers of his work are captivated by his artful, meticulously created human figures, which include perfectly formed hands, faces and emotions that are exclusive attributes to a George Lundeen sculpture.

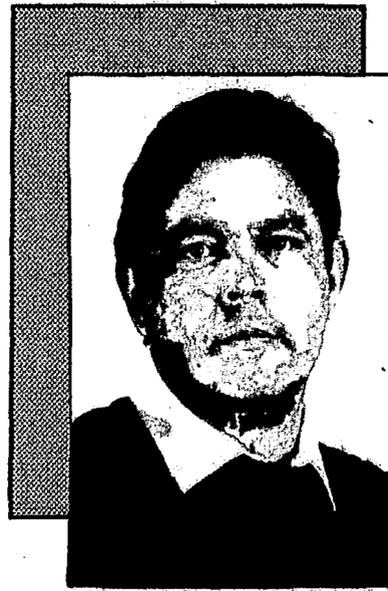

GEORGE LUNDEEN

Doug Hyde Santa Fe

Born: 1946, Hemiston, Oregon

Doug Hyde's rich cultural heritage (from his Swedish father and Native American mother) and his formative years on the Nez Perce Reservation in northern Idaho give his work an insight that could not particularly his study at the Institute of American Indian Art in Santa Fe under sculpture great, Allan Houser.

"My sculpture is drawn from the mythology and stories of my ancestors, handed down to me by my grandparents. I like to work directly on a piece without using pre-planned ideas. Thus, the shape, color and striation of the various stones that I use all combine to suggest ideas. The resulting spontaneity is, I feel, an essential characteristic of my work."

DOUG HYDE

John Stuart Ingle Morris, Minnesota

Born: 1933, Evansville, Indiana

When, as a veritable unknown, John Stuart Ingle made his New York debut with a show of still-life paintings in watercolor in 1981, art critic Hilton Kramer heralded him as "something of a discovery."

A decade has passed since this auspicious debut. Ingle stands as an acknowledged master of his medium with a national reputation for sensuous, witty, culturally significant compositions.

Ingle lives in Morris, Minnesota, with his Belgian-born wife, Germaine Zeghers. He teaches at the University of Minnesota.

JOHN STUART INGLE

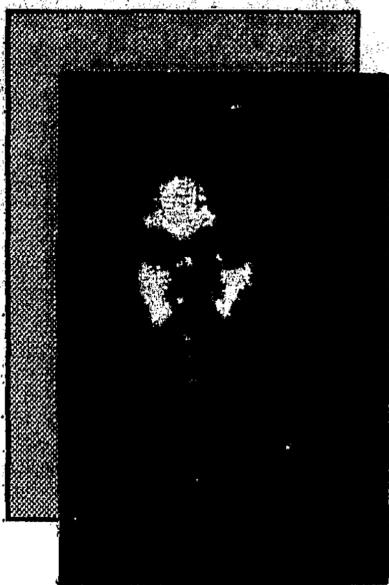

Thomas William Jones
Bellevue, Washington

Born: 1942, Lakewood, Ohio

Born and raised in northern Ohio, watercolorist Thomas William Jones was graduated from the Cleveland Institute of Art. His varied subject matter is drawn from the Pacific Northwest, where he now lives, as well as from New England and the Midwest. His feelings for rural America have intensified over the years.

Jones relies upon his impressions rather than the actual appearance of things. He finds himself focusing in on his subject, "eliminating the non-essentials which allows me to create the more intimate feeling I so often desire. The challenge for me is to distill the essence of the subject."

Jones paints exclusively in watercolor. The lucid quality, the spontaneity, is what attracts him to this medium.

THOMAS WM. JONES

Ruth Mayer
Laguna Beach, California

Born: 1934, Wasta, South Dakota

Ruth Mayer cannot remember when she was not interested in art. In fact, she says that her artistic career dates from age 2! She received her Master's degree at the University of Minnesota and went on to teach art in Washington. Although her travels take her worldwide, her home base is now in Southern California, which serves as the inspiration for many of her vibrant landscapes.

"Art expression has been an essential part of my life. I am not complete unless I am creating."

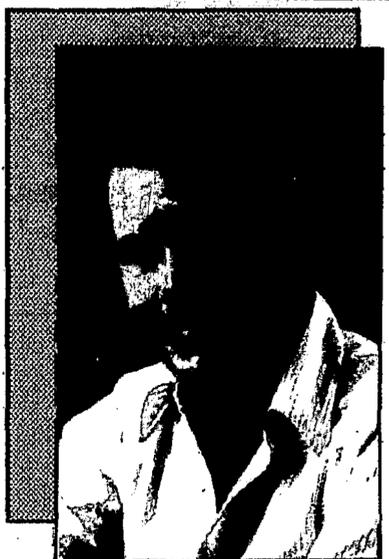

Buck McCain
Tucson, Arizona

Born: 1943, San Diego, California

Growing up on a cattle ranch in Southern California, it was not until his college days that Duck McCain awakened to the notion that art could be a life's work. At 25, he plunged into art on a fulltime basis and since then he has won awards and commissions as both a painter and a sculptor.

"I do not portray the violent or the ugly," he says. "For me, fine art is beauty, and beauty is harmony, balance, coordination."

Frank C. McCarthy
Sedona, Arizona

Born: 1924 New York City

Frank C. McCarthy studied at the Art Students League of New York and the Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, New York. For 21 years, his work illustrated the covers and pages of national magazines and promoted the movies of the day.

Then, beginning in 1968, he began to exhibit his works in galleries and gave up illustration not long after.

He is the subject of two books, "The Western Paintings of Frank C. McCarthy" (1974) and "Frank C. McCarthy; The Old West" (1981).

DAVE MCGARY

Dave McGary
Nogal

Born 1958, Cody, Wyoming

Dave McGary sprang from Western roots, the son of a ranching family in Cody, Wyoming. As a young teen-ager, he was awarded a grant to study the bronze-making process under master craftsmen in Italy working under the tutelage of American sculptor Harry Jackson. By 1982, back in the United States, McGary's own creations began receiving top recognition at national art competitions.

Two of his bronzes, "Horse Thief" and "Buffalo Warrior" are in the permanent collection of the White House in Washington, D. C.

R. Brownell McGrew
Sonoita, Arizona

Born: 1916, Columbus, Ohio

A Westerner since age 10, R. Brownell McGrew lives with his wife, Ann, in a remote area of Arizona where he raises horses and peacocks, and continues to create the remarkable "classico-impressionist" oils for which he is justifiably famous.

McGrew's art education was classical, beginning with four years at Otis Art Institute in Los Angeles, in the era when stern discipline was required before individuality was released. His schooling was marked with full scholarships and special faculty awards.

Gary Niblett

Born 1943, Carlsbad

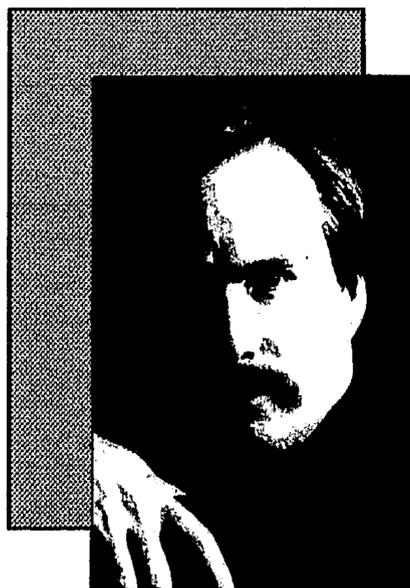

Gary Niblett was born in Carlsbad, New Mexico ... just that part of the country where a child's birthright is cattle and cowboys, where the American West is not a myth. It was here that young Niblett earned his first commission as an artist ... local ranchers paid the high school student for portraits of their horses.

For a time, he ventured far from the heritage of the Old West to the sparkle of the New West.

"The world has many wonderful things to offer an artist to paint. I would like to see it all, and preserve on canvas as much as I can."

GARY NIBLETT

DAN OSTERMILLER

Dan Ostermiller
Loveland, Colorado.

Born, 1956, Cheyenne, Wyoming

"... my goal is to make the sculptured animal come alive to where it is never a boring physical form." Dan Ostermiller has undeniably achieved his goal.

Sculpture for Ostermiller was a natural progression. Born and raised in Cheyenne, Wyoming, he worked in his father's taxidermy business from the time he was a small boy until he felt the need for a free medium of expression. The discipline of taxidermy was just the exposure he needed to build a wildlife art career ... teaching him animal anatomy and characteristics of virtually any animal from anywhere in the world.

KENNETH RILEY

Kenneth Riley
Tucson, Arizona

Born: 1919, Waverly Missouri

Raised in Kansas, Kenneth Riley went to the Kansas City Art Institute where he studied with Thomas Hart Benton. Later he studied in New York City.

After the war, Riley embarked on an extensive career as an illustrator with an emphasis on historical subjects.

Riley is a charter member of the National Academy of Western Art and a member of the Cowboy Artists of America. His paintings are in the permanent collections of the West Point Museum, the White House, the Smithsonian Institution, the Custer Museum, and the Air Force Academy.

Sherry Sander
Kalispell, Montana

Born: 1941, McCloud, California

A resident of Montana, Sherry Sander takes every advantage of the magnificent outdoors which surround her home at the edge of Glacier Park.

"You must see each animal for yourself to get a true understanding of the subtle nuances that are essential to the nature of each," she explains.

Sanders' bronzes, while lifelike, seem to capture much more than the mere anatomy of their subjects. Her intuitive sense of the animal ... its grace and repose or motion ... is evident, whether she depicts wild geese or polar bears.

John Schoenherr
Stockton, New Jersey
Born: 1935, New York City

John Schoenherr was born in New York City, but he has spent most of his life studying and portraying wildlife. After study at the Art Students League and Pratt Institute, he embarked on a successful career as an illustrator and, after moving to a Civil War vintage farm as a painter of wildlife subjects.

Schoenherr has traveled from Iran to the Carribbean and Alaska, and places between in his unrelenting search for subject matter. Recent years have found him in Alaska, studying and painting brown bears.

Sandy Scott
Ft. Collins, Colorado
Born: 1943, Dubuque, Iowa

Sandy Scott was reared in Tulsa, Oklahoma, where her parents and teachers encouraged her early interest in drawing. She was trained at the Kansas City Art Institute and worked as an animation background artist for the motion picture industry before turning her attention to etching and printmaking in the 1970s and to sculpture in the 80s.

A license pilot for over 25 years, she feels her knowledge of aerodynamics has been helpful in achieving the illusion of movement in her bird sculpture.

William Shepherd
Santa Fe

Born: 1943, Casper, Wyoming

William Shepherd was reared in Wyoming and attended the University of Wyoming, where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in 1974 and a Master of Fine Arts in 1976.

Bypassing some of the more mundane occupations that many artists are forced to pursue in the early days of their careers, he chose to devote his full time to painting after graduation and met with immediate critical acclaim.

"This method of working comes from an inclination toward an increased self-awareness. The more self-aware I become the closer I am to gaining insight into the nature of may inspiration."

Born: 1952, Plainfield, New Jersey

Ronald Sherr studied at the Ducret School of Art in New Jersey and at the National Academy of Design School of Fine Art.

His extensive travels throughout Europe, Egypt, China, Japan, Thailand, Indonesia, Greece and Turkey have provided him with a wealth of subject matter.

Sherr's many awards include an Allied Artists of America Gold Medal of Honor, 1986, and cover art for "Time Magazine" (a portrait of Andreas Papandreou) in 1983.

He has exhibited in Prestigious galleries and museums across the country and is represented at the Smithsonian Institution.

Gordon Snidow
Los Lunas

Born: 1936, Paris, Missouri

Gordon Snidow's fascination with the cowboy began when he was 12 and he got his first taste of Remingtons, Russells, Audubons and Homers in a visit to Gilcrease Museum in Tulsa. His formal education in the arts was received at the Art Center College for Design in Los Angeles, and from there he proceeded to Albuquerque, where he worked as an illustrator at Sandia National Laboratories.

Snidow did it the right way, working steadily and surely while he waited for the market in Western art to open up.

Monhegan Island, Maine

Born: 1929, Council Bluffs, Iowa

Though born in the Midwest, Don Stone grew up in the fishing port of Gloucester, Massachusetts. From childhood on, all he wanted to do was paint, and he initiated the dream by graduating from Vesper George School of Art.

After a stint in the U.S. Navy and a few years as a commercial artist, he decided to pursue the life of a fine artist, spending the next 25 years painting and sailing in Rockport, Massachusetts.

Stone and his wife now live year-round on the island of Monhegan, off the coast of Maine, where he concentrates on the sea and the people who work it.

Loveland, Colorado
Born: 1930, Milford, Ohio

Fritz White grew up on the Little Miami River with a lifestyle that combined three of his favorite things: drawing, football, and his canoe. His formal art training began at age 12 when his father enrolled him in a freehand drawing course at the Ohio Mechanics Institute. Later he studied fine arts at the University of Cincinnati before taking time out for a four-year hitch in the Marine Corps. He completed his formal art education at the Central Academy of Commercial Art in Cincinnati.

A position in publishing led him to Colorado.

Born: 1941, Alcester, South Dakota

A deep and abiding spirit of adventure has burned within Gary R. Swanson since his boyhood days growing up on a farm in South Dakota. His father taught him to handle a gun, trap and live in the wild.

Swanson has answered that "call of the wild" as he travels the distant game fields of the world armed with his keen eye and his sense of yearning to capture on canvas the untamed and unspoiled wildlife still living on the earth.

Laguna Beach and Palm Springs, California

Born: 1948, Chicago Illinois

Dale TerBush has painted virtually all of his life...first as a young boy growing up in the Orange County citrus groves and later as a street artist on the sidewalks of Laguna Beach. Over the years his talents as an artist have led him into many fields, most notably the interior design of some of the leading restaurants in the country.

"My goal as an artist is to die with a paint brush in my hand."

"I want people to feel something when they view my work - a sense of grandeur, wonder, spirituality. I want to touch their hearts."

Howard Terpning

Tucson, Arizona

Born: 1927, Oak Park, Illinois

Today Terpning is one of the most respected painters in the country.

He turned from illustration to easel painting in 1975, and concentrates on portraying the historical Plains Indians. In 1979, he was elected to both the Cowboy Artists of America and the National Academy of Western Art.

In 1985, Terpning's works were the focus of a one-man retrospective at the Gilcrease Museum in Tulsa.

Bob Timberlake

Lexington, North Carolina

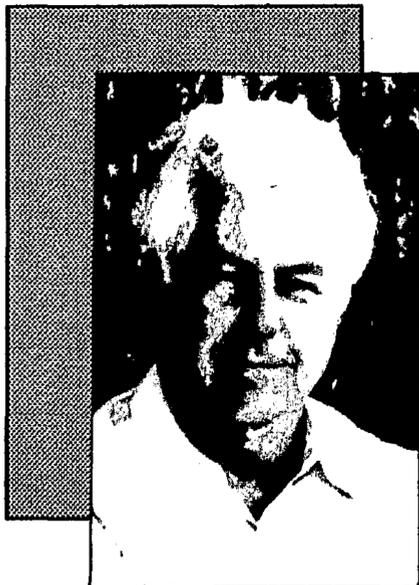

Born: 1937, Rowan County, NC

Bob Timberlake is a self-taught realist painter who was active in five family businesses until age 33.

"I never visited an art gallery until I was 30-years-old. 'Life' magazine was my art world."

That all changed when in 1969, he was introduced to the legendary Andrew Wyeth who looked at Timberlake's paintings and said "I think you have talent."

Timberlake's written biography reads: "Husband, father, grandfather, businessman, humanitarian, designer, restorer, and builder of buildings, outdoorsman, preservationist, bank director, antique collector, old car enthusiast, artist-painter."

BOB TIMBERLAKE

Richard Treaster

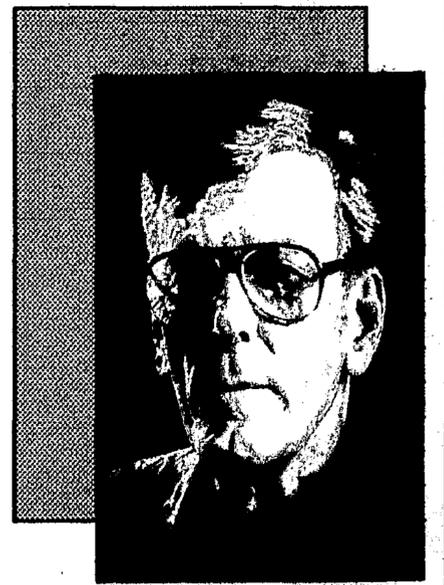

Lakewood, Ohio

Born: 1932, Lorain, Ohio

Richard Treaster was educated at the Cleveland Institute, where he taught art for 14 years.

"All art benefits from the past. It is possible to be influenced by another artist and express original ideas and concepts of your own. When this happens, the influence of the previous artist becomes a tool with which you can express your own original idea."

Treaster is noted for his watercolors, which have been exhibited in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, The Cleveland Museum of Art and many others throughout the country.

R.D. AND JOAN DALE HUBBARD

R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard, happy with the success of their first annual Art Award for Excellence, have added a new dimension to the multi-million dollar project.

The 1991 show is an international one with the addition of five artists from the Soviet Union.

Hubbard Museum director John V. Hall took last year's awards show on an international tour, exhibiting in the USSR and in Germany. In exchange, the Hubbards invited five Soviet artists to visit the United States and exhibit their work during the show and sale.

The Hubbards founded their museum in 1989, as a showcase for their personal collection of realistic art. The Hubbard Museum strives to cultivate an interest in the genre of American realism and serves as a sponsor for the annual Hubbard Art Award for Excellence.

The art award exhibit, along with one piece from each of the five Russian artists, will hang in the Turf Club Gallery at Ruidoso Downs Race Track from mid-June through Labor Day. The complete exhibit will then begin its international tour to the Far East.

R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard are owners of three major horseracing tracks. Hubbard recently opened the Links at Sierra Blanca in Ruidoso and is building a Radisson Resort Hotel to open in Ruidoso in 1992.

He is the founder and chairman of the board of AFG Industries based in Fort Worth, Texas.

Mitchell is prolific and creates works of art in nearly all media — pencil, watercolor, egg tempera, pen and ink, pastel and acrylic.

"I choose to work in a representational style — not because I could not go completely abstract if I wanted to. Some artists don't have the skills. They don't have a choice. If I stamp my feet on a canvas, that's expression."

RAVIN REVIEW

Ravin Review wins on track, at shows

RAVIN REVIEW

By Dr. Marvin Bowman

Ravin Review is showed and owned by Dr. Marvin M. and Charlene Bowman. Outstanding awards are:

- 2nd in Quarter Horse Congress
- 3rd in Quarter Horse World

Ravin won over $17,200 by the time he was a yearling.

After quietly watching for a good quarter horse colt to use for breeding in both quarter horse and other breeds, I found Ravin in Texas.

Most people think of our horses as only halter horses, but Charlene and I have ridden all-around horses for years and the performance side of his pedigree was very important to us.

My health problem shortly after we purchased him has limited his chance to perform. He is broke and rides nice and I hope to do more on him in the near future.

His first crop are two year olds and most of them are under saddle and I am receiving great reports from the owners and trainees.

We purchased Ravin at about 8 months old. He was starting on the futurity circuit. His record includes first in the Heart of Texas Futurity, second in the Georgia Futurity and first in the Solid Gold Futurity. The firsts were under all five judges.

We showed him extensively in large shows from the Silver Dallas Circuit in Nevada to the State Fairs in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and New Mexico.

It was important to us that he earn his points where there was a wide spectrum of horses that would test his conformation quality.

As a yearling he accumulated over 30 halter points with over 20 grand champions and reserves. He was circuit champion in all five circuits he participated.

(Dr. Marvin M. Bowman is track veterinarian at the Downs of Albuquerque and Santa Fe and has a private mobile practice in Bosque Farms.)

Lineage begins June 2

The pride of New Mexico and New Mexico's horsemen will shine in the spotlight June 2 during the second running of The Lineage, an 11-race series exclusively for the progeny of New Mexico stallions at The Downs.

More than $200,000 will be distributed during the day with both Quarter Horse and Thoroughbred races scheduled during the final leg of a four-day extravaganza that

NMQHA section inside

"Enchanted Equine," New Mexico's monthly tabloid for horse aficionados, takes on a new complexion this month with an added regular section devoted exclusively to quarter horses.

An agreement reached recently with the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association will provide monthly updates for the association's 400-plus members (and thousands of others) as part of the content of "Enchanted Equine." President Dick Hensleigh of Albuquerque signed the one-year agreement on May 16. NMQHA members will receive the tabloid monthly by mail.

The NMQHA is the largest organization for horse owners in the state. But inclusion of the section is an expansion of "Enchanted Equine," not a narrowing of focus. The tabloid will continue to report on all breeds, and invites correspondence, comment and news reports pertaining to anything having to do with horses in the state. Letters may be addressed to the Editor, Enchanted Equine, P.O. Box 25, Belen, N.M. 87002.

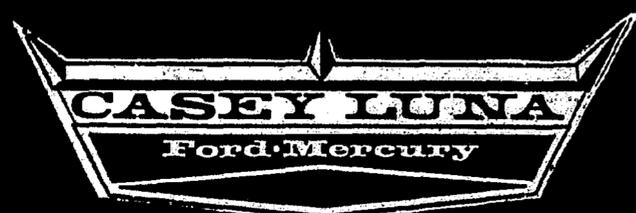

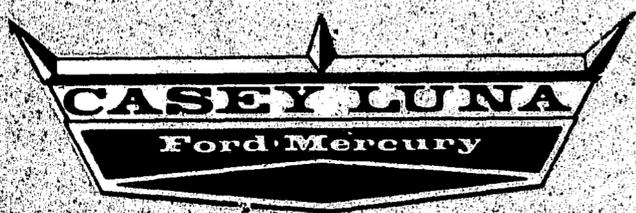

The section's distribution of more than 25,000 copies monthly through newspapers in Valencia, Socorro, Lincoln and Luna counties and through dozens of other outlets throughout New Mexico will continue.

NMQHA sets up drug test program, testing committee

By DON COX

During 1990 an Interim Drug Testing Committee was named by the President of the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association.

This committee was asked to review the request by the American Quarter Horse Association to institute a drug testing program in New Mexico that would meet AQHA guidelines.

After researching various AQHA programs in other states the committee recommended to the 1990 Board of Directors that we go to the November 1990 Convention with a report and recommendation to have a sanctioned AQHA Drug Testing Program in New Mexico for 1991.

The committee also recommended that this program be financially supported by a drug fee to be paid by the exhibitors and financial support available through AQHA. This action was supported by the 1990 Board.

At the 1990 Convention in Las Cruces the Drug Committee report was made in open committee meetings and a program was approved and sent through the board and on to the General Membership Meeting where it again was approved by majority vote.

After the convention a permanent drug testing committee was formed by the president. This committee was asked to finalize the guidelines and request approval and financial support from AQHA. The 1991 Board approved this program.

AQHA has approved the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association for 1991 as their official representative to drug test any show approved by AQHA and NMQHA.

Following is general information as to how the program will function.

The Drug Committee sets policy and procedures that are approved by the NMQHA Board and AQHA.

The Drug committee hires a veterinarian to administer the program and conduct the test for NMQHA and AQHA. (For 1991 the veterinarian is Dr. Craig King and/or his associates. Dr. King is a licensed veterinarian in New Mexico, Texas and Colorado.)

A minimum of five shows will be selected and at those shows a minimum of five classes will be tested. Normally this will be the winner and an additional random selection. (Only the veterinarian will know which shows and classes).

As you enter each day you will be asked to sign a drug card acknowledging that you are aware of the program.

Should your horse be selected for testing you will be asked to sign, 1. a release for the urine sample, 2. a release for lasix (if administered), 3. a release for a blood sample (if required), 4. a third party signature if you are under age.

All test samples are sealed and secured by the veterinarian and forwarded to an approved testing lab in Denver, Colo., approved by AQHA.

All test results are forwarded to NMQHA and to AQHA. Should a positive test occur the NMQHA Drug Committee and AQHA will be notified. AQHA will call for a second lab test to verify any positive test. NMQHA Drug Committee will notify the owner/exhibitor and AQHA will handle any future action with owner/exhibitor.

The Drug Testing Program for NMQHA is not designed to be income producing for the association. All funds will be deposited in a separate account to be used only to underwrite the cost associated with the program. The number of NMQHA approved shows under the program will determine the overall income and expense. We would expect in the future to lower the cost of $3/day/horse.

We have a telephone number (303) 287-9691 for the Denver Lab, (ask for Marie Green or the Racing Lab, Monday - Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.) should you have the occasion to have to administer medication to your horse and you then want to know when the medication would normally be out of the horse's system you can call the lab. Please be advised that this is a service with no guarantee from the lab. You as the owner/exhibitor are still responsible for any test results.

The following NMQHA approved shows will be under the NMQHA/AQHA Drug Testing Program for 1991: Farmington, June 28-29; Sky Ute (Ignacia), July 5-7; SEC, July 10-14; State Fair, Sept. 13-15; Armstrong, April-Oct.

The 1991 Board of Directors of NMQHA has authorized other shows approved by NMQHA to be under a different testing program. If you desire information on those shows' Drug Testing Program please contact those shows.

Association plans festival at park

By RICHARD HENSLEIGH

We are planning a fun day for people (spectators, riders or drivers) who love horses. The NMQHA will host A Horse Festival at La Boca Negra Park at 10 a.m. Sunday, June 16.

We hope to encourage people who don't normally show horses to bring out the horses they enjoy and show them to the public in events that are routine for the pleasure horse rider.

For example, a ditch bank trail class with obstacles commonly seen on the ditch.

Additionally, we will have demonstrations of team roping, team penning and dressage to show the public some fun events to do with your horse. We will have a 1991 foal review to show off baby colts, mules and ponies.

We extend our invitation to the public to come and see the horses that people enjoy. And we invite horse owners of all breeds to come and show us your favorite horses.

Spectators will be asked for a donation of $1 and exhibitor entry fees of $3, with discounts available to new NMQHA members.

A barbecue lunch will be served for lunch reservations and Horse Festival information call 877-8387 (Albuquerque), 898-0768 (Corrales) or 869-3709 (Bosque Farms).

NMQHA sets drug test rules

The rules for the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association 1991 Drug Testing Program are as follows:

Section 1. In the interest of fairness to all exhibitors this association has a policy and program of testing for the presence of drugs in horses exhibited at shows held in the state whether such shows be approved by the American Quarter Horse Association and/or the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association.

Section 2. The drug test policy and programs established by the board of directors of this association are administered by the Drug Test Committee.

Section 3. In the event the testing laboratory determines a positive test result, said laboratory will notify the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association Drug Committee by telephone of such positive test and the same day will notify by letter the New Mexico Drug Committee and also the American Quarter Horse Association (AQHA). In the event the NMQHA is notified by the testing laboratory of a positive test result, the NMQHA will then notify by certified mail the exhibitor and/or owner of the horse of such positive test result.

Section 4. All drugs rules of the American Quarter Horse Association, not inconsistent with the matters contained in the NMQHA Drug Test Program, are incorporated herein by reference and made a part hereof as if fully rewritten herein.

Jack Brooks wins fifth Sun Country Futurity

Steppin For The Moon gave trainer Jack Brooks his fifth win in the Sun Country Futurity G1 when the colt won the $167,233 event at Sunland Park on April 21. Brooks first won the race in 1981 with Greybon, and he captured later renewals with Shoot Yeah in 1987, Merganser in 1988 and Strawberry Silk in 1989.

Brooks joins Don Farris as the only trainers to win five Sun Country Futurities. Merganser and Strawberry Silk went on to capture the All-American Futurity G1 for Brooks, who has won the prestigious race a total of five times.

Jacky Martin, who rode Shoot Yeah, Merganser and Strawberry Silk to their Sun Country wins, guided Steppin For The Moon to a half-length victory from favored Sis

Special Heart. The colt's time for the 350-yard event was :17.47. Finishing third was Sky High Lady, followed by Dashing Dove, Fascinating Pie, Hot Signature, Dolt For Dinnie, Royal Quick Dash and The Winterhawk.

The victory marked the third win from three starts for Steppin For The Moon, who earned $66,696. The colt received three first-place votes on the weekly AQHA Quarter Horse Racing Poll, which ranks the leading Quarter Horses in training. Steppin For The Moon, a son of Moon Lark — Steppin For Te, by Azure, Te TB, races for Jerry Wells and Joan Crews Hoyt. Wells, who bred the colt, raced Merganser, the 1988 World Champion Racing American Quarter Horse, in partnership with Ronald Shalz.

Visit AQHA headquarters

For a welcome break when traveling along Interstate 40, stop at the American Quarter Horse Association headquarters in Amarillo, Texas, and take a free guided tour of the association's office complex.

Last year, more than 2,000 horse enthusiasts toured the complex. Tours include information about AQHA's history, the breed's founding stock and the people instrumental in forming the world's largest equine breed registry.

In addition, tour-goers get a glimpse of AQHA's 230 full-time employees performing day-to-day business transactions such as registering horses, transferring ownership and recording racing and show results. Those interested can view AQHA's sophisticated record and research computer screens which display performance records and pedigrees. They also have the opportunity to see a display of AQHA's prestigious awards and pick up information brochures about the American Quarter Horse.

Tours are available from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Large groups are encouraged to schedule tours in advance.

For more information regarding tours, contact AQHA, Ester Ballin, Tour Coordinator, P.O. Box 200, Amarillo, TX 79168 (806) 376-4811.

Races lead to 1991 All American Futurity

Trainer Jack Brooks saddled 26 of the 217 two-year-olds entered in the 11 trials for the Kansas Futurity G1 at Ruidoso Downs, run on May 9, Ruidoso's opening day, and on May 10.

Among Brook's charges were favorites Special Task and Steppin For The Moon, both of which are grade 1 winners. The 10 fastest qualifiers in the 350-yard Kansas trials advanced to the May 26 finals. The stakes is the first leg of the Ruidoso Triple Crown for two-year-olds, which continues with the July 14 Rainbow Futurity G1 and concludes with the September 3, $2.5 million All-American Futurity G1, the richest

Below are results of major stakes on the road to the All American and the schedule of upcoming races.

While the two-year-olds strive for a starting berth in the All-American, older horses will contest a number of major stakes. Last year's All-American winner, Refrigerator, is expected to compete in the June 9 Rainbow Silver Cup G1, the July 7 Rainbow Derby G1, the July 18 World's Championship Classic G1, the Aug. 31 All-American Gold Cup G1, and the September 1 All-American Derby G1.

BARN GUARD

SPRAY SYSTEMS™

Automatic Fly Control

Do a 4- Stall Barn, Covered Pen

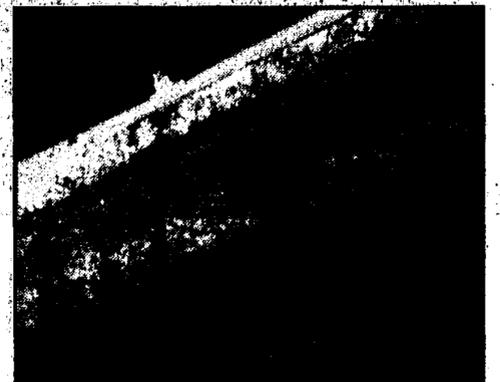

Runs On Water Pressure, Does Not Require Electricity, Motors or Pumps

Barn Guard is a new concept in automatic fly control that works without electricity, motors or pumps. The unique system is powered by water pressure.

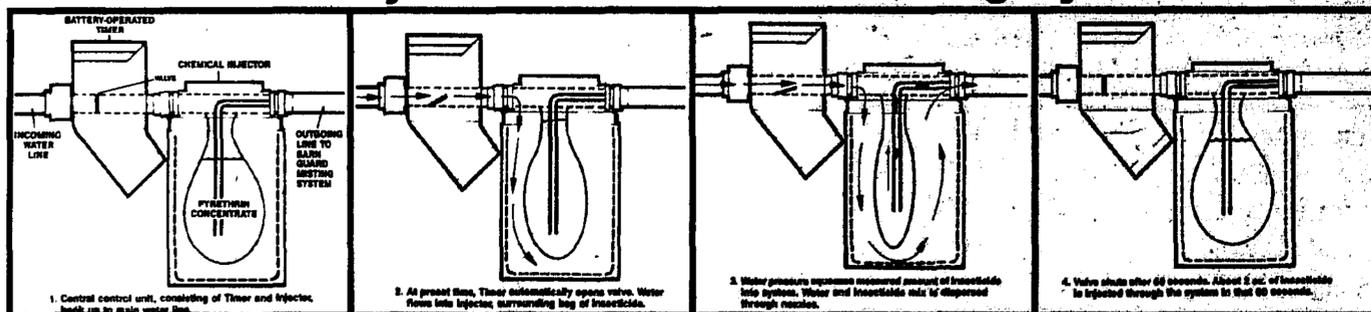

A battery-operated electronic Timer and Chemical Injector containing pyrethrin concentrate make up the system's central control unit. The Timer is hooked up to a main water line.

When the Timer is activated, water is released into the Injector. Water pressure builds up in the Injector, squeezing the bag of insecticide inside and forcing a measured amount of concentrate into the system, where it is automatically mixed with water.

The emulsifiable insecticide flows through the pipeline where nozzles spray out a fine mist of fly control from overhead.

Here's How The Components Work As A Team To Provide You With A Practically Maintenance-Free Misting System

Barn Guard's misting system works smoothly, efficiently — with amazing simplicity.

Components consist of a Timer, Injector with insecticide concentrate, hose, pipes and nozzles. There's nothing mechanical to break down. No bulky insecticide tanks to haul around. No need for electricity.

The battery-operated timer is easy-to-use and covered by a one year limited warranty. While just 3 one-minute cycles per day are recommended for normal fly control, the timer can be set to activate the system up to 192 times a day. It runs on four "C" size batteries that last through the season.

ENVIRONMENTALLY-FRIENDLY OPERATION

Everything about Barn Guard agrees with the environment. Its electricity-free operation saves energy. There are no mechanical parts to oil or grease. The natural pyrethrin insecticide used in the system is biodegradable and non-residual.

BARN GUARD GUARANTEE

Barn Guard's automatic Timer and Chemical Injector are covered by manufacturers' limited warranties. Both units are guaranteed for one year against defects in material and workmanship. The Timer includes a toll-free service number to call for assistance.

EASY TO INSTALL IN ANY TYPE OF BARN

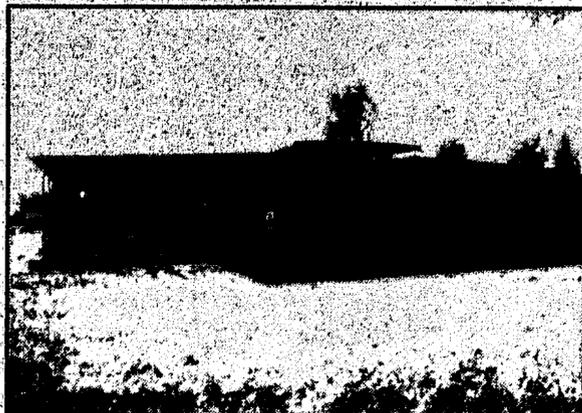

Barn Guard is designed to fit any type of covered barn, from Morton Barns to Port-A-Stalls to shed rows to covered stalls. Compact, lightweight and complete with everything you need to install the system yourself — including a detailed instruction sheet.

AQHA answers drug questions

By GARY GRIFFITH
 Director of Field Services and International Affairs
 Below are some of the most frequently asked questions and responses to the drug testing program set up by the New Mexico Quarter Horse Association:

Would it be practical to hire the AQHA drug test team to come to your state?

To hire the AQHA to drug test for you would be highly impractical since it would cost a minimum of 3-5 times as much as doing it yourself. In addition, the person who does our testing has other responsibilities and cannot devote full time to drug testing.

How can state associations organize a program and how would they pay for it?

The most successful programs, other than testing every show, which for most is cost prohibitive, is to test one in every 4-6 state approved shows and charge each show for state approval on a per entry basis. This has proven to be the most cost effective and successful in curtailing drug abuse. To determine what the cost will be, you need to:

- Contact the vet/vets that you want to do your testing and find out what they will charge per day. If available, contact your state School of Veterinarian Medicine. The Ohio Quarter Horse Association reports that they pay a very reasonable rate for the services of a veterinarian and his assistant from the Ohio State Veterinarian School.

- Figure the travel expense/salary of the state association representatives who will be conducting the testing.

- Contact Marie Green at Industrial Laboratory for information on supplies and to determine the cost per sample for urine tests or Joe Strug at Dalare Associates for blood test. Addresses and phone numbers are available below.

- Multiply (A+B+C) by the number of shows you will test.

- Then divide by the total number of entries of state approved shows held the previous year and you will know the approximate amount the state needs to charge on a per entry basis for show approval. (Usually 50 cents to $1 if you test one in every five shows).

Summary: (Vet cost + Lab cost + Representative expense X Number of shows to be tested) divided by number of entries expected for year = Cost Per Entry.

Do other states have drug testing, and are there more considering it?

Several states and provinces (Maine, Michigan, South Carolina, Ontario, Indiana, Illinois, Utah, Virginia) have very successful programs. Several others are working on implementing programs.

Is there any legal liability from administering a drug testing program?

Possible legal liability could arise from either the death or disability of the tested horse, perhaps caused by use of an unsterile needle when taking a blood sample, or injury to a member of your testing team from a kick by a horse, etc. The best suggestion is for your organization to carry adequate insurance to cover this activity. One possible source of insurance is: International Special Events & Recreation Association, Inc. Program Underwriting, P.O. Box 06148, Salt Lake City, Utah 84106 (1-800) 321-1493.

Is state sponsored drug testing important to the industry?

State sponsored drug testing is the only cost effective, viable means of controlling the drug abuse problem. No one from the government to the membership, or the AQHA has come up with any other means as inexpensive or effective in controlling the drug abuse program. In all uncomfortable situations such as drug abuse, human nature has a tendency to wait for someone else to take care of the problem. However, there comes a time when those who are directly affected must take the situation in hand.

Has attendance suffered in the states that have instituted a drug testing program?

In those states and provinces where random drug testing is a common practice, it seems to have actually increased the attendance. A strong drug testing program appears to create the feeling that everyone has a fair and equal chance to win. Over the last several years I have received an ever increasing number of calls and letters for Quarter Horse exhibitors stating they were quitting the Quarter Horse show circuit due to the drugging problem. I have yet to receive a single call or letter stating someone was quitting due to drug testing. The saddest thing is to hear of normally honest people discussing the decision to either start drugging to be competitive or to quit altogether. The industry loses either way.

What valid reasons, if any, do you think there are against setting up a state drug testing program?

To my knowledge, there are no valid reasons for not drug testing, other than expense, which can be covered as explained above. The reasons for starting a program are many, as already stated. Look at the shows in your area. Are they getting larger or smaller? Are complaints about drugging more common or less common?

What action will the AQHA take if a state association finds a positive test for drugs at an AQHA approved show?

If the state has received prior authorization from the AQHA and follows association guidelines and submits the test results from the lab in timely manner, the AQHA will pursue the matter in accordance with Rule #39-2, #321 and #322. AQHA will first require that the sample be sent to a second lab for confirmation whenever possible.

Whenever a positive test is reported you will be given instructions for sending the sample to the second lab. This test is at AQHA's expense. When confirmation of the positive test is received, the AQHA will cite the exhibitor to attend an AQHA Executive Committee hearing at which time they will determine the penalty and fine.

What lab does AQHA recommend?

Industrial Laboratory Co., 1450 E. 62nd Ave., Denver, CO 80216 (303) 287-9691

Delare Associates Inc., 217 S. 24th St., Philadelphia, PA 19103 (214) 567-1953

Harris Laboratory Inc., 3902 E. University Dr. Suite 3, Phoenix, AZ 85034 (602) 470-0011

Mann Testing Laboratory, Ltd., 5550 McAdam Rd., Mississauga, Ontario Canada L4Z 1P1.

If we test, how do we select the horses to be tested?

When drug testing, randomly select the places you are going to test prior to the judging of each class to be tested. The first place horse should always be tested. The number of other places tested in a class varies according to whether you are taking urine or blood, the amount of help you have, etc. Urine testing is the recommended procedure since that testing procedure yields broader results than blood; however blood testing is a good procedure when used in addition to urine testing.

If we get a positive test, what do we do?

Should a positive test be obtained, it is of extreme importance to be able to prove that the chain of evidence is unbroken. In other words, someone should have escorted that horse from the arena to the test area. The exhibitor or his authorized agent should witness the collection and sealing of the sample and so designate by signing the appropriate form.

The samples must be handled properly and kept in the custody of an official until they are shipped to the lab. If Lasix is administered to facilitate the collection of urine, it is very important that the exact time it was given and the time the sample was collected be written on the Lasix waiver form.

In addition, it is of utmost importance that you report any findings to the AQHA within 15 days of the results of the test. Include a copy of the lab reports as well as all forms signed by the person involved with exhibiting the horse.

Does AQHA offer any monetary support for states who wish to drug test?

Yes, the American Quarter Horse Association is now offering monetary support to State Quarter Horse Associations which conduct drug testing at AQHA approved horse shows within their state. Listed are guidelines for that support.

•Submit a formal application for drug testing support by Dec. 31 of the year prior to the one for which approval is being requested, accompanied by a written, detailed list of drug testing procedures that they will follow. Be very specific with regard to how shows to be tested will be selected, how the horses to be tested will be selected, and the name of the person in your organization who will be in charge of testing.

•Monies will be paid after the results and your billings are received from each show.

•AQHA will give $200 per show tested, up to a maximum of five shows a year, for a total of $1,000.

If your association is already drug testing, has plans to do so in 1991, or is considering it, please feel free to call or write and I will assist you in every way possible.

OTHER POINTS TO REMEMBER

•Prior written approval must be received from the American Quarter Horse Association to drug test AQHA shows and to make you eligible for monetary support.

•Only those directly involved in the testing should know which shows are to be tested — otherwise much of the success of the program is lost. Anyone directly involved with the testing at a given show is not eligible to compete in that show.

•Send all lab results along with the copies of the acknowledgement and waiver forms to this office immediately upon receipt of the results. Be sure to include your billing for $200 per show tested.

•Do not get involved in "witch hunts." Determine a random system to be used before each show and document the fact that it is random and that it was determined before the show. If you test randomly at one in four to one in six shows, you eventually catch the cheats or run them off or out of the business. They can't afford to have to pick up and leave every 4th, 5th or 6th show because they won't get qualified for the World Show, they won't win the year end awards, and they'll have to keep explaining to their customers why they went to show after show and then didn't show. Eventually the customer will seek out a more reliable, honest trainer.

•Call any of the groups which currently have drug testing programs and visit with them. A list has been included for your convenience. Alberta has already been in contact with several states attempting to set up new programs and have stated they are more than willing to help.

•Drug testing does not cause a net loss of entries when everyone knows that they are likely to be tested at any given show they attend. It is only when you show up at a single show totally unexpected that entries drop. One more good reason to have a state-wide testing program.

State drug testing programs work when managed correctly. We can never eliminate all of the various problems involved with horse shows, but we can control them if we continually pursue every means available. State drug testing is the best means available to control the drug problem.

We plan to continue our drug and tail testing programs and further study and research is presently being pursued in both areas. However, the real key to success is the membership. You must take an active part to see the problem resolved.

Museum opens in summer

The American Quarter Horse breed soon will be honored in a state-of-the-art museum, the American Quarter Horse Heritage Center and Museum in Amarillo, Texas, which will open to visitors from around the world this summer.

By early July, the Heritage Center will be open. The striking, two-story building is located adjacent to AQHA's international headquarters.

The Heritage Center will feature exhibits designed to educate and entertain audiences who know little or nothing about horses as well as veteran horse owners. Everyone can learn about the colorful history of the American Quarter Horse breed from its colonial racing days to its present status as the world's most popular breed.

Once inside, visitors can explore the exciting exhibit arrangements, informative video productions and hands-on displays. A feature film in the orientation theater will provide a dramatic overview of the breed's history, and two other video minitheaters will allow visitors to select more information about equine activities and responsible ownership.

The Heritage Center will house the American Quarter Horse Hall of Fame, where people and horses instrumental in the development of the breed and industry will be honored. Visitors may research these leaders and other topics in the Heritage Center Library.

The building also will include a changing exhibit gallery, featuring American Quarter Horse art when the museum opens, and a museum store filled with attractive, equine-related merchandise and gift items. Special programs featuring live American Quarter Horses will be held in an outdoor demonstration arena adjacent to the Heritage Center.

The Heritage Center will be open seven days a week, except on major holidays. Summer hours will be 9 a.m. to 7 p.m., and the admission fee for AQHA members will be $3 per person. AQHA members will be admitted for $2 each. For information on other admission prices or group rates, call (896) 376-5181.

Visitors will find the Heritage Center easy to locate. The building is in Amarillo, along Interstate 40 East at the Nelson Street exit and is only two miles from the junction of I-40 and I-27 and Highway 87/287.

AQHA lists year-end figures

It certainly didn't take a psychic to predict that 1990 would be a record year for the American Quarter Horse Association.

After all, the year marked AQHA's 50th Anniversary, a milestone in anyone's book. Yet it also marked a year of record growth, as well as preparations for the Association's next 50 years.

As the year came to an end, the Association could boast of 272,346 members in the 1990 and an inventory of 2,849,913 registered American Quarter Horses, and AQHA easily retained its position as the world's largest equine breed registry.

These figures were up from 265,448 members and 2,775,024 registered horses the previous year. The total number of 1990 transfers was 201,517, down from 203,781 in 1989.

An overall growth trend continued in AQHA's amateur show division and novice show program. Although the number of amateur shows was down slightly, 2,368 in 1990 as opposed to 2,395 in 1989, entries totaled 188,368 for the year, which was an increase of 10,306 over 1989's figure. The amateur division is for individuals who show horses which they or a member of their family own and who do not show, train or judge horses or instruct others for pay, other than prize money.

Many American Quarter Horse exhibitors who have earned less than 10 AQHA performance points found an introduction to the excitement of competition through the AQHA three-year-old novice program. In the novice youth category, entries increased from 39,443 in 1989 to 41,008 in 1990, while novice amateur entries rose from 36,356 in 1989 to 47,015 in 1990.

A total of 740,332 entries participated in 1990 AQHA open, amateur and youth competition, AQHA recorded 274,300 entries in open competition at 2,384 shows and 186,411 entries in youth competition at 2,286 shows.

Membership in the American Junior Quarter Horse Association for 1990 crested at 18,039, which was up significantly from 1989's figure of 13,588.

In its fourth annual payoff, AQHA's Incentive Fund also topped its previous record by posting $2,212,228 in premiums, or $46.48 per point. The program provides cash incentives to breed and show American Quarter Horses.

Not to be left in the dust, American Quarter Horse racing was conducted at 128 pari-mutuel and nonpari-mutuel tracks throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico in 1990. The 13,450 recognized American Quarter Horse races held last year marked a total purse distribution of more than $51.2 million. The total pari-mutuel handle on American Quarter Horse racing increased from $326 million in 1989 to a record $354 million in 1990.

AQHA's official publication, The Quarter Horse Journal, reached a total of 65,747 American Quarter Horse enthusiasts in 1990, down slightly from 1989's figure of 69,515, while The Quarter Horse Racing Journal reached 11,944 readers in 1990, up from 11,592 the previous year.

Oklahoma City hosts AQHA World Show

The 1991 American Quarter Horse Association World Championship will take place Nov. 13-23 in Oklahoma City, Okla.

This premier halter and performance competition will draw approximately 2,500 of the best competitors from around the world to the State Fairgrounds to compete for championship titles in 82 classes and a share of the estimated $50,000 in total prize money. The invitational competition features only American Quarter Horses which have qualified by earning a predetermined number of points at AQHA-approved horse shows between Aug. 1, 1990, and July 31, 1991.

Corporate sponsors for the event include ACCO Feeds, Cutter Animal Health, GMC Truck, Miller's Harness Company, Resistol Hats, Sooner Trailer Manufacturing, Tex Tan Western Leather Company, Vogt Western Silversmiths, Wrangler Jeans and the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.

Amateur classes open the show on Wednesday, Nov. 13, and continue through Sunday, Nov. 17. Open division competition begins Monday, Nov. 18, and climaxes with World Championship finals performances slated for Wednesday evening, Nov. 20, through Saturday, Nov. 23.

World Show judging will again utilize a five-judge system, whereby each judge will score or place a class. The high and low scores will be eliminated, and the other three scores totaled for final placings.

Selected to judge the amateur division are Chris Benedict of California; Don Burt of Portuguese Bend, Ca.; Cal Cover of Wichita, Ks.; Al Dunning of Scottsdale, Az.; Bill Enk of Paso Robles, Ca.; Stan Fonsen of Windsor, Ca.; Mike Hay of Monroe, Va.; Burdette Johnson of Shell Rock, Ia.; Clay MacLeod of Rancho Santa Fe, Ca.; Gretchen Mathes of Harwinton, Cn.; Larry Myerscough of Houston, Tx.; and Mike Perkins of Owasso, Ok.

Open division judges include Hal Armstrong of Marion, Ia.; Ken Copenhaver of Camden, Oh.; Ronnie Hodges of Covington, Ga.; Bill James of Abilene, Ks.; Cliff Keese of Bluff City, Tn.; Johnny Lake of Minden, La.; Larry Little of Mehand, NC; Bill Morris of Canadian, Tx.; Carol Potter of Middle Island, NY; Smoky Pritchett of Red Bluff, Ca.; Roy Savage of Fort Worth, Tx.; Neil Sebring of Brookings, SD; and Ronald Sharpe of Granger, In.

Additional highlights will include the World Championship Quarter Horse Show Sale, conducted by the Gordon Hannagan Auction Company; the World Championship Collegiate Horse Judging Contest; the presentation of the prestigious Superhorse and All-Around Amateur Awards; and the free World Show Exposition and Trade Show, featuring exhibits and displays by many leading western art, fashion and equine equipment retailers.

Alifax beats field in Southwest Derby

The fastest qualifier for the April 21 Southwest Derby G3 at the Downs at Albuquerque, Alifax earned the first graded stakes victory of his career when he scored a one-length victory in the $44,375 stakes. The victory marked the third consecutive win for the gelding, who has won six of his last seven races.

Trained by Lonnie Barber and ridden by Fred Watson, Alifax was sent off as the 1-5 favorite in the Southwest Derby. He won the 400-yard stakes in :19.85 and earned $20,188. Hifalutin Doll finished second, followed by I Be Streakin, Sail On Gossip, Chicagoland, Prism Struts, Feeling So Lucky, Minks Jet, Alicia Rede and Air Hup.

Alifax, a three-year-old by Sir Alibi out of the Easy Jet mare, Lady Colfax, was bred in Texas by Sigma Group Inc. For the partnership of Pat H. Appling, Charles L. Battin and Madison M. Traster of Ulysses, Ks., Alifax has won eight races from 13 starts and has earned $157,774.

At two he won the Jayhawker Futurity at La Mesa Park and ran fourth in Refrigerator's All-American Futurity G1. Earlier this year, Alifax won the Corrales Handicap at the Downs at Albuquerque. The gelding is scheduled to be sent to Ruidoso Downs, where he is expected to contest the Kansas Derby G1.

The Southwest Derby was the highlight of the American Quarter Horse Weekend at the Downs at Albuquerque. In addition to a simulcast of the Santa Anita match race between Griswold and Valiant Pete, the April 20 card included the $7,000 Joe Reed Handicap, won by Cheap Shotz, and the $7,000 Stella Moore Handicap, won by Speedy Lunch.

The day's attendance was 4,579, and the handle reached $423,915. The following day, Rattle D Snap won the $6,500 Clabber Handicap. Attendance and handle for that day were 5,064 and $502,626, respectively.

AQHA marks 50th year with special events

The American Quarter Horse Association marked its Golden Anniversary in 1990, celebrating the vision of a group of Southwest ranchers concerned with recording and preserving the pedigrees of American Quarter Horses. The goal of the year-long observance was to bring worldwide recognition to the American Quarter Horse breed, as well as the association's 50 years of accomplishments.

The association started 1990 with a coveted appearance in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif. One million spectators lined the parade route and more than 300 million television viewers in the United States and 90 foreign countries watched the AQHA Golden Year Parade unit, comprised of red duster-clad riders on beautiful American Quarter Horses.

Additional AQHA units were seen in the Fiesta Bowl Parade, Goodwill Games Parade, Indianapolis 500 Parade and a number of other prominent parades.

President George Bush also took part in anniversary festivities by declaring March 1-7, 1990, as National Quarter Horse Week. "No other horse is a greater part of Western folklore, and none has contributed more to our nation's development and cultural heritage," he commented.

One of the most anticipated anniversary events was the Golden Year Festival and Convention, which saw AQHA return to its birthplace in Fort Worth, TX, in early March. Three days of festival activities preceded the annual convention and included tours of local American Quarter Horse farms, the Festival Trade Show, the 1990 American Quarter Horse Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony and Foundation Benefit Auction, the Versatility Challenge and Extravaganza.

The association started 1990 with a coveted appearance in the Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena, Calif.

This last event featured entertainer Michael Martin Murphy, along with video tributes from other celebrity American Quarter Horse enthusiasts, including Charlie Daniels, Larry Mahan, Lynn Anderson, Walt Garrison, Doc Severinsen and his daughter Robin Merrill, Powers Boothe, Jim Varney, Marty Stewart, John Anderson, J.C. Crowley and Cactus Mosier.

Highlighting the extravaganza was the finale, in which Murphy performed "America's Horse," a song he wrote for AQHA's 50th Anniversary.

Additional 50th Anniversary Special Events included the American Junior Quarter Horse Association World Championship Show from Tulsa, Okla., in August. This annual showcase for the American Quarter Horse industry's youth opened under the theme "Simply The Best," and boasted a record 1,535 entries competing for honors in 28 classes.

Following in September was the 32nd running of the Grade 1 All-American Futurity from Ruidoso Downs. As American Quarter Horse racing's richest contest, the Futurity offered a purse of $2 million, with Refrigerator, owned by James Helzer of Arlington, TX, taking home the $1 million winner's share.

The race was preceded by the inaugural All-American Festival, which included a golf tournament, beauty pageant, charity celebration party and four horse sales.

The autumn onslaught of industry activities continued with the 24th annual All-American Quarter Horse Congress in October. Sponsored by the Ohio Quarter Horse Association, Congress is considered the world's largest horse show. The 1990 show drew more than 10,000 horses and exhibitors from around the globe and offered $1.3 million in cash and prizes.

The AQHA World

Championship Show, held in November in Oklahoma City, Okla., set the stage for the final 50th Anniversary Special Event. The World Show offered the best in halter and performance competition, with a record-breaking 2,500 entries, more than $592,000 in prize money and a chance to win one of 81 world championship titles. Also on the line were the Superhorse title, won by Zipabull for owners Tommie and Jennifer Sanders of Lizton, Ind., and the All-Around Amateur title, won by Heather Smith of Lancaster, CA.

A total of 67,144 spectators converged on the Oklahoma State Fairgrounds to witness the show's excitement and, in the process, broke all previous World Show attendance records.

Additional activities rounding out the year included the AQHA/Scholastic Inc. "If I Had a Quarter Horse" contest for fifth-graders, won by Cori Dawn Cary of Viroqua, Wis. Cary's poem was selected from more than 5,000 entries, and she was awarded an American Quarter Horse by AQHA.

The association also adopted an elegant and powerful new logo, which will be easily recognizable to members and industry representatives.

The year's activities drew a significant amount of national media attention. The Festival and Convention prompted an Associated Press story that appeared in nearly 100 of the nation's largest newspapers and more than 8.8 million people had an opportunity to read about the breed. Additional coverage was obtained through feature stories on CNN, "U.S. Country on the Road," "Nashville Now," "Crook and Chase" and two separate Paul Harvey radio reports, which reached approximately five million people per broadcast.

Of course, AQHA's corporate sponsors played an important part in the successes of 1990. They included ACCO Feeds, American Airlines, Cutter Animal Health, GMC Truck, Justin Boots, Miller's Harness Company, National Car Rental, Resistol Hats, Sooner Trailer Manufacturing, Tex Tax Western Leather Company, Vogt Western Silversmiths and Wrangler Jeans.

The American Quarter Horse Association sprang to life in Fort Worth during the first half of this century and went on to make equine history over a span of 50 years. The next 50 years will take AQHA past the year 2000 and are filled with just as much promise. Already in 1991, AQHA has launched the Horseback Riding Program, added team penning to competition and will open the Amateur Quarter Horse Center & Museum to the public — in all, it's not a bad way to start the journey through the next half century.

Morning ride

Jockeys exercise their mounts at the Downs at Albuquerque in the chilly early morning air. The Duke City racetrack's season continues until the last day of quarter horse and thoroughbred racing, Monday, June 10.

Lineage

will include a golf tournament for sponsors, celebrities and horsemen, a post-position breakfast draw in the Jockey Club for press and horsemen, a banquet for the sponsors, owners, and trainers and other entertainment events.

"Even though The Lineage is in its infant stage, nominations are up drastically over last year," says Doug Reed, Director of Racing. "The future is bright for The Lineage program."

May 19 is the pre-entry date set for The Lineage.

All foals conceived in New Mexico by nominated stallions are eligible to be nominated to The Lineage program.

The Lineage is being extensively promoted throughout New Mexico to help illustrate the quality of New Mexico's horses. The 11 races offer purses totalling $207,500.

The Lineage promises to make New Mexico stallions and their progeny more valuable by increasing their lifetime earnings, thus improving their marketability in-state and regionally.

New Mexico's most successful businesses are a part of New Mexico's greatest day of racing, including Borden, Inc., Premier Distributing, New Mexico's Budweiser distributor, Pitre Buick GMC Truck, Sunshine Buick and Guynes Printing Co. of New Mexico, Inc.

The Downs at the State Fairgrounds invites all New Mexicans to help us showcase The Lineage.

Which is faster Quarter Horse or Thoroughbred?

Some sports fans might have thought the recent title fight was the match, pitting heavyweights Evander Holyfield against George Foreman, but they were wrong.

On April 20 at Santa Anita, racing's heavyweights in the speed division fought it out in a $100,000 winner-take-all match race. More than 38,000 racing fans saw the Thoroughbred Valiant Pete, holder of the 1 1/2-furlong world record, catch the American Quarter Horse Griswold, holder of the 870-yard world record, in the 880-yard race and defeat him by a neck. Valiant Pete's time of :44 1/5 equaled the world record for the distance.

Griswold, owned by the Legacy Ranch of Pete Parrella and Jerry Moreland, was the 1-2 favorite for the race, on which Santa Anita patrons wagered $285,903. For the race, the starting gate was set 60 feet behind the half-mile pole, giving the horses the running start allowed in Thoroughbred racing. Breaking from the inside post, Griswold and jockey Kip Didericksen exploded from the gate in the style characteristic of the racing Quarter Horse, but they quickly were joined by Valiant Pete and jockey Julio Garcia. By the time the horses had turned for home, Valiant Pete had taken the lead he would hold to the finish.

"When he (Griswold) broke, I could tell in the first 100 yards that he wasn't getting a hold of the track," trainer Dan Francisco said, "but as they made the turn, I was confident. I figured his horse (Valiant Pete) could lay close, and that it would come down to the wire. I wasn't disappointed in him. It was a good race."

Soon after the race, Francisco shook the hand of Valiant Pete's trainer, John Sadler, while he said, "I want a rematch, buddy. Early plans for a rematch, which might be held at Hollywood Park, would require the horses to break from the standing start required in Quarter Horse racing and race only 870 yards. Meanwhile, the Santa Anita match race will be included on Griswold's official race record.

Griswold's reputation as the fastest racing Quarter Horse on the West Coast led to the creation of the match race, the fourth match between a Quarter Horse and a Thoroughbred in California, and enabled the gelding to become the first Quarter Horse in history to compete at Santa Anita. For patrons to wager on the race, California Governor Pete Wilson had to sign special legislation. The race was simulcast to racebooks in Las Vegas, Nev. as well as to Birmingham Race Course in Alabama, Mountaineer Park in West Virginia and the Downs at Albuquerque. The events surrounding the match race generated much publicity for Quarter Horse racing and introduced the sport to a great number of people. Many participants felt that even though Griswold was defeated, the Quarter Horse racing industry could count the race a victory.
