EDC sets sights on 1994 forum

by KRISTIE SULZBACH
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Even though this year's Governor's Rural Economic Development Forum still is several weeks away, local economic development officials have their sights set on being the hosts for the event in the future.

Karen Kopp, executive director of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County, told board directors Thursday night that forum organizers are looking for a site for the 1994 conference. She has received a letter with the list of items that would be required of the community that stages the event. The village has said it would be willing to provide the Civic Events Center at no charge for this event, Kopp said.

She said she will create a proposal for playing host to the event and send it to the organizers before the deadline later this month. The forum is usually a three-day convention with the first night open for people to do activities in the host community. Kopp said the governor usually speaks during one banquet night and attends some of the sessions.

"I think this would be a great opportunity to show off the community and the new Civic Events Center," she said.

3rd Cowboy Symposium celebrates the Old West

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Grab your favorite cowgirl or cowboy and head on out to Glencoe this weekend for the Third Annual Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium.

Join the thousands of visitors who saddle up for trail rides, spoon down stew from the world's richest chuckwagon cook-off and settle in for old fashion cowboy poetry and music.

The brainchild of Ray Reed, the symposium has grown each year, the culmination of Reed's effort to bring together real cowboys and their special brand of entertainment.

This year, Reed has put together a three day-three night program that will knock your boots off starting this evening with a square dance and winding down Sunday afternoon.

"I'm trying to bring entertainment back that thrilled generations before the youngsters took over," Reed said.

He called on old friends and acquaintances accumulated during his years as an entertainer. They answered his call. Many have plugged the event on radio and television. Reed himself appeared recently on "Nashville Now."

"It's all good exposure for Ruidoso," he said.

He's especially proud of the western swing artists who are scheduled for the symposium's evening program before the dances Friday and Saturday.

"It's a powerful program with people like Gil Prather, Walt LaRue, Bobby Koefer and Tommy Morrell, Red Steagall, Buck Reams and Rich O'Brien," Reed said. "We have many of the original members of The Texas Playboys like Pee Wee Lynn."

Timing for those evening performances has been moved earlier by one hour to allow promoters to schedule a break from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m., right before the western swing dances featuring Johnny Gimble and the Texas Playboys.

Performances previously set for 7 p.m. will be moved back to 6 p.m., those at 7:30 p.m. will be 6:30 p.m., those at 8:15 p.m. are now 7:15 p.m. (See box at end of story).

"These are all real cowboys," Reed said. "Between performances during the year, they're out there working their ranches."

"We've got fiddler Bobby Bruce, poets Rod McQueary and Waddie Mitchell and guitarist-composer Don Edwards. These are the stars of the nation. They've been on Johnny Carson."

Not to ignore the feminine side, he pointed to Judy Kaye, who started belting out songs Patsy Cline style when she was 16.

All those performers only account for about one-fourth of the talent Reed has assembled.

Outside the main barn starting at 1 p.m., Saturday, visitors who bought tickets ahead of time will be able to sample sourdough biscuits, stew and cobbler, all cooked over an open fire at one of the many chuckwagons competing for $5,600 in prize money.

Tickets are $7.50 and each chuckwagon can only about 35 people. Some wagon bosses also will be cooking for the public on Sunday, but will set their own prices.

While not eating or being entertained, visitors can shop from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. among the more than 50 exhibitors in a designated area next to the main barn.

On Sunday, the symposium will present two hours of church with music by the Graham Brothers and preaching by Floyd Goodloe and Gene Grassie.

If more active pursuits appeal, head over to Gerald Tully's ranch where roping events will be staged all weekend. To register or for more information, contact the Museum of the Horse at 378-4142.

Early morning rides over trails blazed decades ago by Billy the Kid are scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday beginning at 8 a.m.

Ruidoso pre-council meeting work sessions raised eyebrows Wednesday at an attorney general's workshop on the Open Meetings Act.

New Mexico Attorney General Tom Udall acted as host to the three-hour session in Alamogordo that covered open meetings and public records.

Udall set a comfortable tone for the morning after he paraphrased early justice opinions: "Their legal conclusions here in New Mexico is that an attorney general's opinion is entitled to great weight ... when it's right."

Bob Johnson of the Foundation for Open Government (FOG) gave a history of open government, while assistant district attorney Betsy Glenn spoke on compliance with open meetings provisions.

Ruidoso study sessions, a hotly debated issue between Mayor Victor Alonso and Councilor Jerry Shaw, were discussed briefly.

Alonso believes that if the majority of the council thinks there should be study sessions, then Shaw should attend them.

Shaw, with a platform plank denouncing such workshops, believes that the sessions teeter on a fine line that may violate the open meetings act. She contends that on occasion that line has been crossed and she has given examples.

At the attorney general's workshop, Glenn was asked if study sessions in the Ruidoso council kitchen with inadequate public seating, that contained consensus of opinion, polled councilors, subjects not discussed on the agenda and no minutes or tapes of the meeting, represented any kind of violation.

Glenn said since a quorum of councilors attend, the workshops would come under the Open Meetings Act and that someone should talk to the councilors.

Village clerk Tammie Maddox and assistant deputy clerk Mary Maxwell, were the only representatives from village hall at the attorney general's meeting.

Maddox sits in on the Ruidoso work sessions. In council packets, she notes the date of any work/study sessions, the time, the names of councilors that are present as well as department heads.

In each packet that includes regular council minutes, Maddox includes the phrase, "Discussions in the study session centered around the council meeting agenda for the same date." No substance on proposals considered is recorded and subjects discussed outside the agenda items are not reported.

The law governing minutes under the open meetings act reads, "The board, commission or other policy-making body shall keep minutes of all its meetings. The minutes shall include as a minimum the date, time and place of the meeting, the names of members in attendance and those absent, the substance of the proposals considered and a record of any decisions and votes taken which show how each member voted."

"All minutes are open to public inspection. Draft minutes shall be prepared within ten working days after the meeting and shall be approved, amended or disapproved at the next meeting where a quorum is present. Minutes shall not become official until approved by the policy-making body."

The meetings conducted in study sessions are not as organized as regular council meetings. The relaxed atmosphere contributes to casual conversation that often overlaps and occasionally drifts from the agenda, making minutes very difficult to draft.

For compliance, "All public bodies subject to the provisions of this Act are required to keep minutes of all open meetings," the law states.

During a recent discussion of the workshops by the council, Alonso emphasized that the kitchen sessions are open to the public. According to the law then, the minutes must meet those minimum requirements.

Those requirements also apply to all of the village's appointed Please see AG, page 2A

TV networks, cable crazy about ads

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Don't blame Lincoln Cablevision for all those commercials. You don't care enough to complain says a NBC-KOB Albuquerque programmer.

While the rest of the country was watching a NBC movie last Sunday after lunch, Albuquerque and Ruidoso TV watchers were entertained for three straight hours with commercials between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m.

The bottom line decision of money over entertainment was made by Albuquerque's KOB, an NBC affiliate.

Nobody cares, according to KOB program director Lilia Trejo. "You're my first call," she said.

Trejo asked if anything was wrong with the programming. The Ruidoso News asked Trejo if it was not important to view the movie KOB had advertised.

She said she understood why some people might prefer the movie listed in the TV-Entertainment set-tion of the Albuquerque Journal, but the station sold the whole three hours to advertising.

"Available times for us varies," said Trejo. "Sometimes it's just an hour, sometimes NBC doesn't fill a slot. This time we pre-empted the movie, because our sales (department) sold that time."

Programmers at NBC in New York said that, other than prime time, the NBC affiliates have sole jurisdiction on what they show. She said pre-empting a movie for television commercials was not an NBC national programming decision.

Trejo said KOB general manager Dave Herman is the final decision maker for the local programming. KOB's number is 505-243-4411.

Commercials aired during the three hours included programs about hot air ovens, mind power tapes and aerobic tapes. Most have been seen repeatedly over other stations for the past six months.

A recent bill approved by the Senate regulates the cable companies, but does nothing to improve programming. The networks have no ratio of advertising to programming they must meet. But the cables have a 15 percent educational-programming mix to 85 percent advertising-programming.

Bill highlights include: —The federal communication Commission must determine "reasonable" rates for "basic" service, defined as public, educational and government cable channels and local broadcast affiliates of ABC, CBS, NBC, Fox and PBS.

Those 30 minute commercials aired by channels 4, 9, 12, 20 and others, constantly day and night over cable, are considered educational.

—The FCC must ensure reasonable prices for installation and equipment needed to operate a cable-equipped television, including remote-control devices and converter boxes.

—Cable companies must not charge for services or equipment not explicitly requested by customers. —The FCC must set service standards to protect against chronic outages and guarantee that customers get a prompt telephone response to questions about billing, refunds and service problems. Local communities would be allowed to set additional standards.

Paul Crown, general manager of Lincoln Cablevision, said regulations that were passed Monday night will not affect the local area because he is so far away from transmitter sites.

"The people that are going to get hurt are the people in metropolitan areas," Crown said. "Those cable companies are going to have to take on five or six of their local channels."

Crown said he is in a Grade C area, which means anything transmitted is over 50 miles away.

To stay at the symposium performing area from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. carries a $7 pricetag. Dances are separate at $10.

But Reed says that's quite a bargain; entertainment from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. for $17. The four-day celebration will benefit the Anne C. Stradling Museum of the Horse, in Ruidoso Downs and the National Center for the Western Horse in Lincoln County.

The symposium is staged at the All American Horse Sales Pavilion in Glencoe, about 12 miles east of Ruidoso Downs on U.S. 70.

Old-fashion circus comes to town

Trapeze artists flying through the air with the greatest of ease will be just the beginning at the Culpepper and Merriweather Circus coming to Ruidoso October 20.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the circus with shows at 5:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m., October 20 at the Ruidoso Downs Sports Theater parking lot.

Known throughout the industry as "America's most highly acclaimed," the circus came by that name after being featured in a documentary produced and aired nationwide by the National Geographic Explorer television series. The circus has also been featured in print by the Chicago Tribune and three of the ten top daily newspapers, plus numerous newspapers throughout the Southwest and Midwest.

A totally traditional circus, the Big Top will be set up at the Ruidoso Downs Sports Theater parking lot the morning of the show and the public is invited to watch it go up using elephant power as circuses did a century ago. Featured will be aerial artists, clowns, liberty ponies, performing dogs, jugglers and more. The super star of the show is Barbara, the eight-year old African elephant rescued after poachers had killed her mother for the tusks.

The Culpepper and Merriweather Circus offers a wonderful idea so old, it's new—entertainment for people of all ages. Top notch acts with beautiful costumes will delight and astound children, parents and grandparents too. After 200 years, the American Big Top circus is not only surviving, it is coming back strong.

Discount priced advance sale tickets are available from the chamber office at $3 for children up to 14 years old and $6 for adults. The price on the day of the show will be $4 for children and $7 for adults. For more information call 257-7395.

Runaway inmate captured

His moment of freedom was short.

About 16 hours after walking away from Camp Sierra Blanca Sunday evening, 54-year-old Robert Abeyta was discovered by prison guards about one mile upstream from the minimum-security facility.

Abeyta now faces an escape charge on top of the sentence he already was serving for forgery and probation violation.

"When the guards saw him (about 10 a.m. Monday), he didn't offer any resistance," said deputy warden Tom Sullivan. "A nurse examined him, and he's fine."

Law enforcement officials earlier had speculated that Abeyta, who is from Albuquerque, had a ride waiting for him.

Full Moon program set

The final Full Moon program at White Sands National Monument will be on Saturday.

This year's Full Moon series centers on the Columbus Quincentennial. At 7 p.m. Dr. Ferenc Szasz, a professor of history at the University of New Mexico, will present a slide program entitled "Was Columbus a Latecomer?" The program will discuss various theories concerning other Old World travelers who may have visited North America and contacted the Native Americans prior to the voyage of Columbus. Dr. Szasz will examine evidence for Viking, Chinese, Phoenician and other pre-Columbian contacts.

Prior to the program, at 5:30 p.m., a ranger-guided nature walk will begin. The public is cordially invited to these programs. The park will remain open until 11 p.m. to allow visitors to enjoy the full moon.

Very few councilors or board members from the counties of Otero or Lincoln attended.

boards, but often minutes have either not been turned into the village clerk on time, have been left out totally or are incomplete.

Ruidoso's boards, named by the mayor and approved by the council, have been loosely monitored since the beginning of the year.

The weak leadership has led to a disintegration within boards and lack of communication within the council.

The Parks and Recreation Board has gone for months without meeting.

Members on several boards have missed three meetings in a row without the ordinance limiting absences being enforced.

Citizens have complained about the various locations where boards conduct their meetings, opting for the village hall as a central location. The Transportation Board now meets at the mayor's restaurant.

Councilor Barbara Duff surprised several councilors during the last council meeting when they learned she was self-appointed to several boards. The mayor said he saw nothing wrong with her initiative. But the situation could be confusing to some board members without the proper designation.

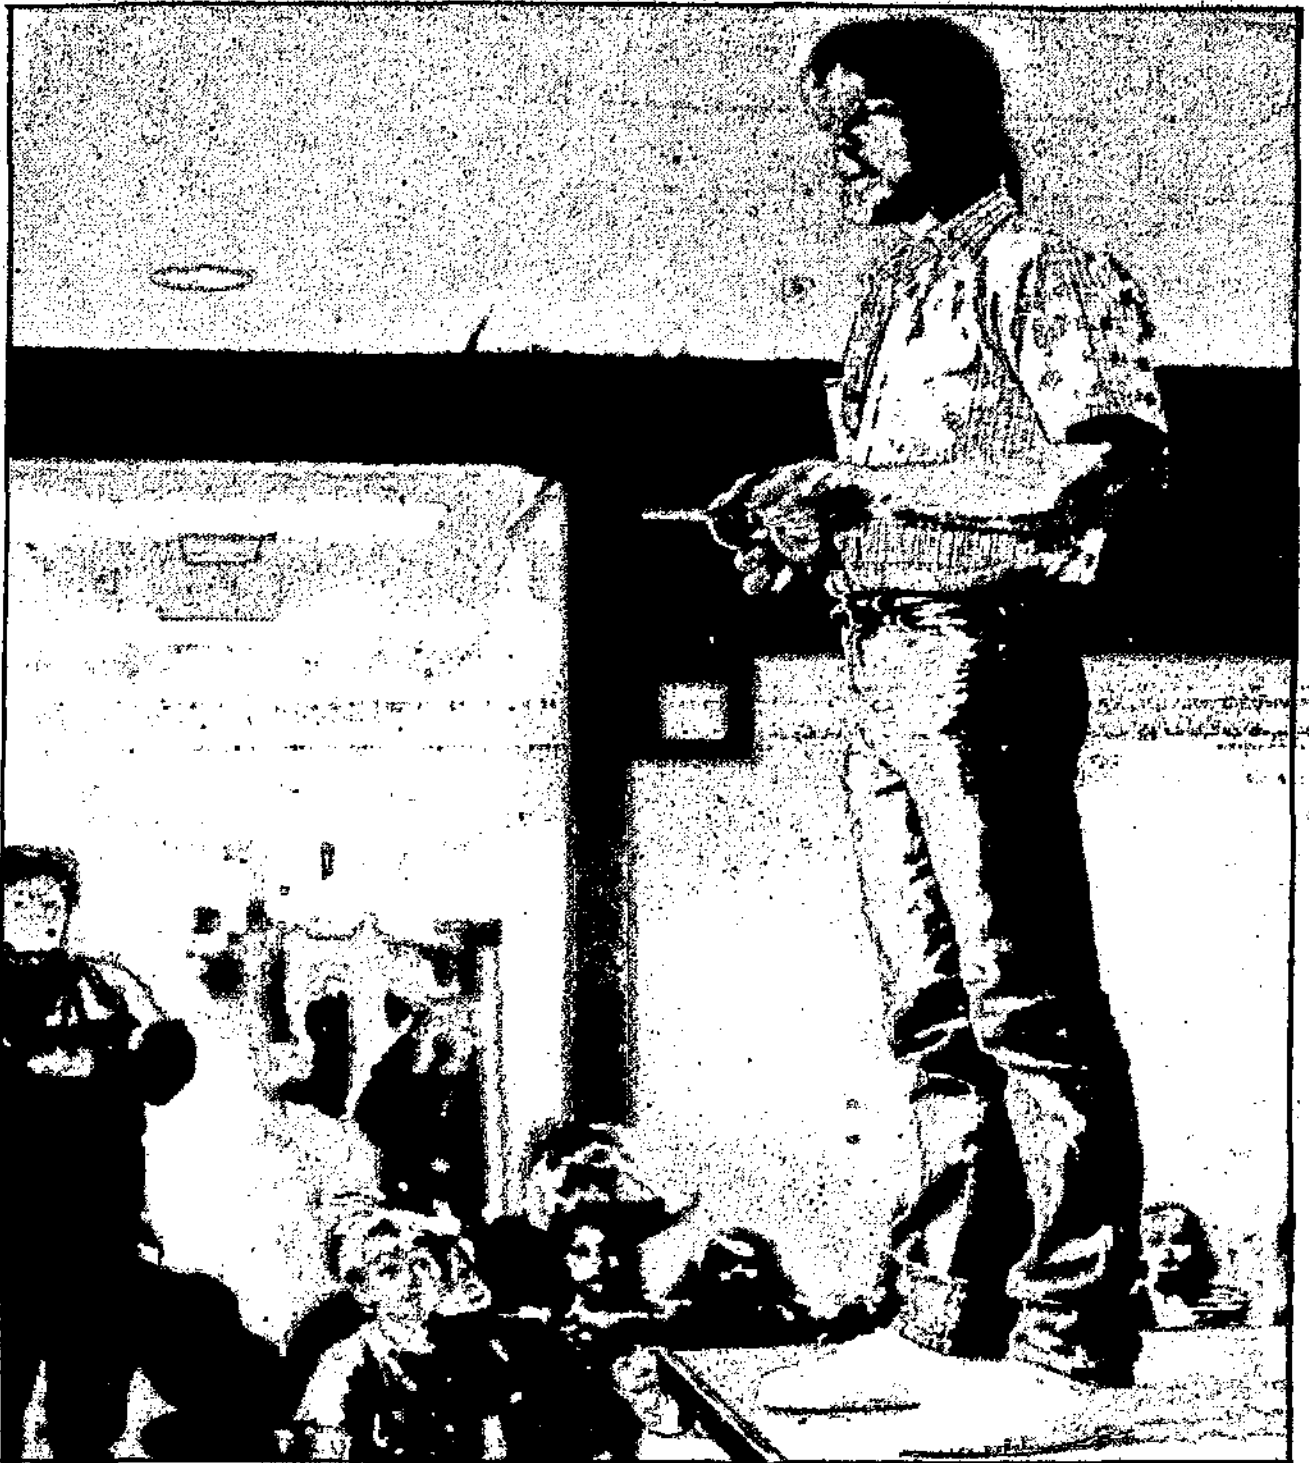

According to village board records in the clerk's office, Duff officially is only on the library board.

Glenn said that elected officials are not prohibited by law from discussing information covered in a closed meeting, called an executive session. She acknowledged that members may consider some information too sensitive to disclose, such as personnel issues and pending litigation.

Udall said that when the issues covered in closed sessions are resolved, the information should become public.

Glenn said a public entity usually would only be warned on a first offense violating the open meetings

Hands shot skyward when Steve Raines called for volunteers during a hastily-arranged snake handling demonstration at White Mountain Elementary last week.

Raines was in Ruidoso to visit friends on a swing through the state with his Texas State Diamond Hunters show.

Students were excited as Raines introduced his reptile friends. But a few of the four who volunteered to come to the stage had second thoughts as Raines draped a 15-foot python over their shoulders.

While they got acquainted with the python, Raines told the rest of the audience that he normally travels with venomous creatures such as diamondback rattlesnakes.

The organization of snake handlers offers several types of shows from lectures and safety hints to daredevil exhibitions.

"Our goal is to educate and entertain every audience we encounter, young and old," Raines said.

He presented a shortened version of safety show for the second graders, but hopes to come back to Ruidoso for a full-fledged presentation in the future.

that? It's going to be passed through to me. You're going to have to pay for it if you're watching cable," he said.

Although Crown will be regulated as to what he can charge, "they still left in there a provision for an investment return on my money," he said.

But what about programming. Will the consumer get any return for his money or will he have to put up with increased advertising or advertising being labeled education.

"I know it, I know," said Crown.

"They're the ones walking a fine line on whether it's educational or not."

Crown said he has complained about programming himself, calling New York about the Howard Stern show.

"This is stuff I don't want to see on basic cable TV," Crown said. "I called locally, they told me to call New York. I called New York and they said the program was over. Sure it was over. It took me three hours to get through after it started."

The Ruidoso News called Attorney General Tom Udall's office recently regarding programming that offered gambling.

If the consumer called a 900 number and spelled words correctly like "money" they could win a $1,000. The average call to participate was $18.

The attorney general's office said it was probably gambling, but they were spread too thin to investigate.

The attorney general's office also said they wanted to work with Texas in cracking down on a televangelist offering miracles for thousands of dollars. The televangelist, featured in an exposé on Prime Time a year ago, is still on television.

Crown said one of the problems with complaining is that a single voice doesn't get much attention.

The base price for cable television in the Ruidoso area is a little over $23 per month in addition to the initial installation charges.

Video tapes in the area rent for as little as $2 and appear in the rental shops before HBO, Showtime or any other pay for play television channel runs them.

Rising costs coupled with questionable programming choices such as NBC-KOB Albuquerque displayed Sunday, may push consumers to create their own program choices through a combination of tapes and old fashioned antennas.

Frustrated viewers can rent a lot of tapes for $23.

Kopp that people love to come to Ruidoso for conventions. Director Lee Griffin said they had the state bar association convention here this year, and those attending said they want to continue to have it here on a regular basis.

One problem the Civic Events Center currently has should be worked out in the two years before a possible conference. The center now has only a warming kitchen, which means groups using it have had to get a caterer for meals. Barbara Duff, Ruidoso's representative on the board and a village councilor, said the village will be getting the kitchen supplied to become functional as quickly as possible, but groups can still have outside catering, if they would like.

This year's forum will be October 23-25 at Deming, which will be the farthest it has been from the northern communities since its beginning three years ago. Kopp plans to attend the conference.

Also related to the Civic Events Center, Kopp said they still are waiting to get some landscaping around the center before Herb Brunell photographs the area. The photographs then will be included in packets to be sent out to prospective hotel corporations to interest them in building a hotel near the Civic Events Center. The EDCLC is helping the village find a hotel for that area as part of its annual contract with the village.

Kopp also reported that 12 people attended the Small Business Assistance (SBA) workshop the EDCLC hosted on September 30. She said that was a few more than she expected for the first time, and the people seemed to be pleased with what they learned. Bank loan officers also attended an afternoon session that day with SBA assistant director Gardner Young and Small Business Development Center director Gene Simmons to learn about the two programs.

The EDCLC office has received nine calls in the last month, and three of those were business owners who had called previously and were requesting more information. She said one of the calls was from a business person interested in moving out of his area in the next six months. She has gotten specifications for needs from the person and will now find out what is available. She said Al Lane of the area Board of Realtors has been very helpful in communicating to all the realtors what types of buildings or property the inquiring businesses would need.

Kopp said she has not done any more work with the businesses she visited while in California with the Southwest Public Service Business Quarter, because that group has decided to prospect them until the effort can be of no further use. She said the Business Quarter director will continue to provide the basic information to the businesses until they decide they need more specific things about the individual communities.

President Ronnie Paulger said he was under the impression that when Kopp went to California it would be for more than her to introduce the Business Quarter. The EDC became a member of the Business Quarter because it gave Ruidoso a good representation at a small price, but he said he has some concerns about this project that need to be brought before the quarter.

Kopp said the SPS group doesn't realize the potential of the communities in the EDCLC for attracting businesses. She would like to get some of its representatives here to tour the whole area.

Director Scott Shafer said part of the battle to get businesses to come here is that they don't understand the concept of Lincoln County. It is such a big county, people don't know what's here, he said.

Shafer said he is concerned that if the Business Quarter representatives are recruiting the businesses, they will need to know as much about the community as a local person.

"If we all had an equal shot at the businesses, we would get a chance to tell our own story," he said.

The EDCLC's next meeting will be October 29, and Paulger said a complete lay-out for the major fundraiser will be ready for the directors to look at before it gets started.

Earth Ethics committed to environment, community

A non-profit environmental organization opened its first branch chapter in Ruidoso this fall to help teach environmental education and to promote public service for the community.

Joe and Beth Kurmaskie of Earth Ethics Research Group, Inc., based in Largo, Florida, will coordinate the chapter. Kurmaskie has already begun implementing the group's programs. This spring he worked with the U.S. Forest Service during a conservation day for area middle school students to present a program called "Seeing the Forest for the Trees."

Kurmaskie said the participants get involved in group games, projects, skits, educational team building dynamics, directed hikes and environmental impact check ups. He said the students enjoy being able to help give the check ups to schools, churches or other centers and to continue to check for improvements in those places.

Besides instilling the desire in the kids to do environmental projects, he also leaves specific information with the teachers to help them get the kids started.

"We try to find a common ground with everyone and work toward a more sustainable way of life," he said.

Kurmaskie toured through Colorado and California to implement the program. In Ruidoso, he has continued presenting it to camp groups, church groups and other interested groups this summer with great results. He also has a slide show to give interested groups an idea of what the program involves.

The information used in this project has been developed by professionals and professors who helped form Earth Ethics.

Kurmaskie received a charter from the Earth Ethics president in April to begin the West Chapter Branch here after he had consulted in the area with the U.S. Forest Service. This is the first branch of the organization, and Kurmaskie said its goal is to be a community-based chapter that not only teaches about the environment, but also gives something back to the community.

Kurmaskie already has begun plans for a membership drive for the fall and Camp Prickly Pear from June 27-July 24, 1993. He calls this the summer camp with a difference, because it offers more than fun and recreation. Activities are planned to encourage personal growth, provide adventure challenges and offer public service opportunities.

Public service may mean projects such as food drives, spending time with senior citizens, planting trees or assisting with forest service projects.

The public service projects won't just be busy work for the participants, but services that the community really needs, Kurmaskie said. The campers know from the beginning that at least a couple of times during the session they will be in an outreach program, he said.

Camp Prickly Pear will be offered as four one-week sessions, two two-week sessions or one four-week session. He said the camp is not intended as a store house for kids, but in the four weeks they can experience everything the camp has to offer. The camp should be able to accommodate 100 campers per session or about 400 for the summer.

Kurmaskie said they plan to expand to eight weeks in future summers for this camp.

A location has not been selected for the camp, but he has looked into several sites including Camp Center of the Universe in Gavilan Canyon. The camp has been used in the past by Girl Scouts, but could still be utilized by the chapter.

About 60 percent of the campers would come from the area, while about 30 percent would come from other parts of the state. To add to the diversity of the group, about 10 percent will be national and international students.

"We are providing the program for the community, but the cultural interaction is a good experience too," Kurmaskie said.

Campers will be seven years old and up with some older students being trained to be counselors along with the staff.

"Camp Prickly Pear offers a balance between personal growth, fun and public service. The kids learn how to give back to the community," he said.

Much of what Earth Ethics is able to do is because of volunteer efforts and grant programs. If a school can't donate funds for the presentation of a program, it still can be done through the underwriting of a business sponsor or money raising efforts. Since the group has a 501(c)(3) status with the Internal Revenue Service, any goods, services or donations to it are tax deductible.

For more information on "Seeing the Forest For the Trees," Camp Prickly Pear or Earth Ethics in general, people may write to Earth Ethics, Western Chapter, P.O. Box 4470, Ruidoso.

PSC OK's Otero Electric plan

An agreement reached last July between Otero County Electric Cooperative, a group of customers in Alto and the staff of the New Mexico Public Service Commission was approved Tuesday by the commission's governing board.

The agreement allows customers to choose if they want a demand meter to calculate their electric bills.

The commission order approving the stipulation will permit cooperative customers with high consumption levels to choose between being billed based on their peak consumption or to use a rate that varies during each 24-hour period.

The agreement provides for two residential rate classifications. Residential customers who use more than 1,000 kilowatt hours per month and who have a potential capacity to use more than 10 kilowatts will have two special metering options. They then may elect to use either a seasonal time-of-use rate or a demand meter.

The typical cooperative customer who uses 500 KWHs (kilowatt hours) a month will be billed $64.01, compared with a bill of $60.31 under previous rates. Under the cooperative's initial proposal, the bill would have been $64.75.

Rates for residential customers not requiring special metering will include a monthly customer charge of $11, and a two tier declining block rate of $1.175 per KWH for the first 300 KWHs and $.08881 per KWH for usage over 300 KWHs.

Special metering customers who choose the demand meter option will pay the same customer charge and KWH charge as other residential customers, but demand customers will pay an additional $6 per KW for all KW over 10 KWs. Customers who choose the time-of-use option will pay a rate that varies depending on the season and the time of day that electricity is used. That rate will be as follows: a monthly customer charge of $15.50, reflecting the additional cost for time-of-day use metering; no demand charge; and flat energy charges of 23-cents per KWH for energy usage during the daily peak periods of 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. to 9 p.m., during the winter heating season of November through March; 18-cents per KWH for usage during daily peak periods billed the remaining months; 10-cents per KWH for usage during the daily shoulder period of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; and $.065 per KWH for off-peak usage from 9 p.m. to 7 a.m.

The commission specified that customers can choose the rate they want to use by giving 30 days notice to the cooperative. Customers who do not indicate a preference automatically will be put on the time-of-use rate schedule.

Earth Ethics chapter director Joe Kurmaskie (right) speaks to other volunteers in the organization who have helped get it rolling this fall. The group's two main programs are "Seeing the Forest For the Trees" and Camp Prickly Pear, planned for summer.

energy waste to the top.

The top of your home affects the bottom of line of your energy bill. Without proper insulation and airtight ductwork in your attic or crawl space, you're paying for heated and cooled air that never reaches the living areas of your home.

To keep heated and cooled air from leaking out of ductwork, seal your ductwork with tape and wrap it with foil- or vinyl-backed duct insulation.

For more information about fighting energy waste by insulating ductwork, call or visit your local Texas-New Mexico Power Company office and ask for the free brochure, "Straight Talk about Ductwork."

Remember Alamo!

Even with a victory on Saturday over Mayfield, the sour taste of defeat is still strong for the soccer team and only a win tonight will wash it out.

The Warriors collapsed under the pressure put on by the Alamogordo junior varsity team at home earlier this season and lost to the Tigers 1-5. Coaches and players are adamant that this time the game will have a different outcome. As support for the team, fans will meet at 3:30 p.m. at Ruidoso High School to caravan down to Alamogordo for the game, which starts at 5:30 p.m.

It doesn't get any easier for the Warriors on their next game Saturday against Oñate in the last home game of the season. This will be the first time the teams have met, and the Knights have only been beaten by Alamogordo's JV. After the game, about 1 p.m., a picnic is planned for players, parents, school board members and the public at School House Park.

Saturday's outing against Mayfield was good preparation for the team, and the 5-2 win should give them a little more confidence for the rest of the season. The first score in the game was a combination effort of the three senior forwards. Wally Murillo worked the ball to the corner and then crossed the ball in front of the goal. Hemanth Pai then headed the ball to Aaron Laubhan, who headed it in for a goal.

The threesome scored all of Ruidoso's points, with Laubhan earning the one, Pai scoring one and Murillo sinking three. Two assists for Murillo's scores came from freshman Armando Lueras. Murillo now has 19 goals for the season to lead the Warriors.

The team has five games remaining on its schedule before a round-robin tournament to end the season on October 31.

Mike DiNapoli pushes ahead of his opponent to head the ball toward the goal in a recent match-up with Gadsden. The Warrior team is at Alamogordo tonight, but will have its last home game on Saturday against Oñate.

The Lady Warriors pull together to celebrate a close win over the Oñate Knights in a game earlier this season. The team is 2-2 against district competitors.

Warriors down Cobre

The Lady Warrior volleyball team rolled through valleys and peaks this week as it faced two district competitors.

The girls traveled to Deming Saturday to battle the Wildcats, but struggled in the first two games. The team lost the first game 7-15, then lost the second in a heart-breaker, 16-18. The Lady Warriors pulled it together to win the third one 15-6, but Deming turned the tables on them to win the fourth game by the same score.

The best server for the team was Cristy Jacobs with three aces and three misses in 18 serves. Cicelee Makowski had four kills and four misses in 25 hits.

The c-team also lost its match to the Wildcats by scores of 7-15 and 3-15. The junior varsity was defeated 4-15, 15-12 and 5-15.

The varsity team made fairly quick work of a match with Cobre at home on Tuesday. The girls won the first game 15-6 and followed that with a 15-3 win. In the final game the Indians gave the girls a little trouble, but the team pulled together for a 15-12 win. Jeri Ann Keeton was the best server with 18 serves made and none missed. Mandy Parker had 11 hits and three misses for best hitter.

The c-team started the day against Cobre with a win in three games. The girls lost the first one 7-15, but won the next two 15-7 and 15-12. The JV team was unsuccessful in its bid to make it a sweep, and lost 8-15 and 8-15.

Sports Briefs

Bowlers roll into new season

Three weeks into the new bowling season, the Wednesday night league of 10 teams has been rollin' and bowlin' some high scores at the Ruidoso Bowling Center.

Sharleen Conners, a new Ruidoso bowler from Roswell, has a high scratch series for women at 579 and game of 237. Flo Maul has the high women's handicap series of 647 with high handicap game of 259 by Shirley Flowers. The men's high scratch series and game, 624-247, was bowled by Jim McGarvey, and Floyd Ganaway has men's series high handicap of 706, sharing a tie for high handicap game at 249 with Doug Stephenson.

Downs Texaco team bowled hot with a scratch series of 1992 and it included a 782 game. Handicap high team series and game 2390-862 was bowled by Signs by Smith. Team standings after three weeks of league finds a tie for first place between Downs Texaco and Team #6 with nine wins and three losses.

Lincoln County Eye Clinic is in third by 7.5 games won and 4.5 lost with two teams close behind and tied for fourth, A-1 Resort Reservations and Pinecliff Village, each with seven won and five lost.

They are followed by Capitan Logs and Lawns, just one-half game behind in sixth place with 6.5 games won and 5.5 games lost. In seventh place with games at 5-7, is Signs by Smith, and then a three-way tie of three games won and nine lost for the Wild Four, Don's Sheet Metal and the Title Company.

Midland tops college tourney

Midland College's Stephen Dundas blew away the competition for the top spot in the Midland-Odesa Junior College Invitational at the Links at Sierra Blanca on September 28 and 29.

Dundas, who won the British Amateurs just a few weeks ago, scored a 70 on the first round, followed by a 65 and a 68 for a total of 203. His teammate Darren Summers finished the meet at 211, while third place went to Jim Gustafson of New Mexico Junior College with a 215. Ron Lowry of Western New Mexico and Chris Myrick of New Mexico Junior College's number two team also totaled a 215.

Local talent Nathan Baudo, who is now attending New Mexico Junior College, shot a 78, a 77 and a 77 for a total of 232.

In team standings, Midland College won first place with a 855 total, followed by co-host Odesa Junior College team number two with a 880. Odesa's number one team was just a shot behind at 881. New Mexico Junior College finished fourth with a 883. Also competing at the tournament was New Mexico Military Institute. Midland College is the defending national junior college champion, so it was no surprise that the team pulled away with the win.

The Silver Lining

America's favorite spectacle, the parade

A Great Parade

This was one of the finest Aspenfest parades, not only for the beauty and originality of the floats and other features, but also for the splendid response of the crowds and the up-beat spirit of community pride and joyful celebration.

Watching the parade from the wayside gives you the moving picture of the spectacle that is favorite in America and world wide; the bands, the horseback groups, bicyclists and many other features. As you watch the parade go by, you marvel at the unselfish work that has gone into bringing you and the entire community a day to remember. Each feature has its special message of cheer and uplift.

Riding or walking in the parade, you have a rare experience. All along the route, the folks are waving and cheering and calling out names, people of all ages including very small children waving with their tiny hands and infants in arms who will remember their first parade throughout their life.

Salt and Pepper

I was fortunate enough to ride on a float with Romeo Klein, Victor Jaramillo and Doug Houseton, representing the three local veteran groups: The Jerome Don Klein Post number 7072 Veterans of Foreign Wars; Coe Curry Chapter twenty three of the Disabled American Veterans; and the Robert J. Hagee Post 79 of the American Legion.

In keeping with the theme of the Aspenfest created by Charlotte Jarrat, "The Georgia Peach Blossom", Tom and Virginia Armstrong and J.B. White put together this float with two giant salt shakers sprinkling down salt and

by Dan Storm
The Ridge
Hunter

pepper upon Ruidoso, thus "seasoning" the town and surrounding area.

Representing the four seasons were scenes of winter skiing, horse racing, seasoned sports and cultural events.

Sumer Armstrong was dressed as a jockey. Tommy Armstrong was dressed as a hunter mounted on a motorcycle. And Katie Armstrong and John Michael Ordorica were fiesta dancers representing the Hondo Valley.

Floats that marked my memory included the one representing the Native American Club of Ruidoso High School. Sponsor of the club is Jim Dickinson. Another was the big apple, a giant apple constructed by members of Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, representing the apple turnovers of "Trucles," baked especially for the Aspenfest by the ladies of the church.

Presented at the time of the turning of the leaves in the mountain land, the parade has something of its very own; and this year there was a special outpouring of appreciation and good will by those in the parade and those watching.

We all wish to thank the people who made the parade something long to be remembered.

Special Gifts

On the second of October down at the Glen-coe post office here was little April Janine Bonnell, granddaughter of David and Della Bonnell, the two-year-old daughter of Marie and Paul Bonnell, down from Albuquerque visiting her grandparents. The charming little angel handed me a bag of fresh tomatoes from Dell's garden and then threw me a kiss and said "Good Bye Dan."

On the same day up at the bank, Pat Valiant told me to come by the house, that he had something to give me. There at his home on Meander Drive, Pat and his wife, Jackie, presented me with a brand new hat which I call "Lion Hunter's Hat," the kind you see in pictures of explorers in Africa. Pat remembered that one time I had complimented his hat (one of this type).

"So we ordered you one," said Pat. With that Pat and Jackie presented me with a brand new African safari-type hat. This hat is the very best for hot sunny weather, and there are still enough warm days, so that this new gift comes in handy. I will consider this a birthday present and will treasure it always.

Cowboy Symposium

This is being sent to you on October five, and will reach you on October eight, the first day of the four-day Cowboy Symposium. We will appreciate the work Ray Reed has done to organize this colorful celebration. And we welcome all those who have shown the true old time Western spirit by gathering and honoring our pioneers.

Let us thank God for the beautiful October weather and other many blessings.

Indian oven bread baking Saturday

The Maxwell Museum of Anthropology will present an Indian oven bread baking demonstration and sale this Saturday in Albuquerque.

The public is invited and admission is free.

While at the museum, visitors can take advantage of the chance to see the Maxwell new exhibit, "Nora Naranjo-Morse: Earning Her Place Under the Willow," featuring sculptural pieces by the noted Santa Clara Pueblo artist.

This weekend also will be the last chance the public will have to visit an exhibit on loan from the Arizona State Museum, entitled "Hopi Spirits: Contemporary Kachina Doll Carvers."

Other current and upcoming programs and exhibits include:

—David Brugge lecturing on Navajo archaeology and history at 7:30 p.m. October 13 in the Anthropology Lecture Hall 163 adjacent to the museum. Admission is $2. Brugge is a retired National Park Service anthropologist and author of numerous publications on the history of the Navajo people in the Chaco area.

—"Heritage of the Andes," depicting the lifeways of the peoples of Ecuador, Peru and Bolivia, November 21 through May 21, 1993.

—"Beauty from the Earth," exhibit on Pueblo pottery, July 23 1993 through October 10.

—"Hopi Spirits: Contemporary Kachina Doll Carvers," through October 11.

—"Ancestors," a permanent exhibit tracing human origins back four million years; and "People of the Southwest," a major permanent exhibit depicting 11,000 years of cultural heritage of the Southwest. It features seven murals and a reconstruction from Chaco Canyon.

Admission is free. Hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday; 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday; and noon to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

The museum is on the University of New Mexico campus on University Boulevard, just north of Grand Avenue.

Capitan

Tigers whip Wildcats, 30-6

It was the kind of homecoming young teams dream of, a 30-6 win over a tough opponent.

Ahead 14-6 over the Anthony, Texas Wildcats at halftime, the Capitan Tigers and their crowd of supporters relaxed and enjoyed the crowning of Lauri Griego and Carlos Preciado as queen and king of the 1992 homecoming.

Also taking that stroll across the football field were senior court attendants Tammy Payne with escort Chris Smith and Kelly Cox with escort Kyle Traylor.

Underclassmen named to the court were juniors Alma Lively and Wes Mitchell, sophomores were Cauri Smith and Troy Stone and freshmen were Michelle McGarvey and Keith Cox.

As Griego and Preciado received their crowns, flowers and royal train, the crowd cheered its approval. They reigned for the rest of the game and at the dance following the big Tiger victory.

The first quarter of game play was Tiger dominated with Damian Roybal running in a touchdown for a 6-0 score.

But coach Ed Davis said the Tiger defense failed to take the initiative as it had in past games.

"Defensively, we didn't do as well," Davis said. "They let them (the Wildcats) take it to us."

But he was pleased to see the offense come together after a rocky season start.

"The reason the offense is beginning to click is because the linemen are doing good job of blocking and finally getting the hang of it," Davis said.

As the offense continued to improve, so did the statistics.

Davis ticked them off: a total of 326 yards was gained by the offense, 72 in the air. Quarterback Michael Fish was four for seven in passing. The team had 12 first downs.

The Tigers piled up 14 carries for 136 yards with Fish, Smith and Baca monopolizing the ball.

In the second quarter, Anthony charged back with a quick touchdown to bring the score even.

But it wasn't long before the Tigers retaliated when Paul Whipple caught a pass and ran it in 20 yards for a second touchdown. Damian Roybal then took the ball home for the extra points, bringing the score to 14-6.

Anthony fumbled on a punt reception, but recovered the ball, only to have it swiped away moments later by the Tigers on a pass interception by Damian Roybal.

It wasn't long before Anthony turned the tables and intercepted one of Fish's passes.

But the Tigers didn't let many minutes tick off before a second black and orange interception.

In the second half, Fish scored a touchdown in the third quarter and Orlando Baca in the fourth quarter. Roybal ran in both balls for the extra points to rack up the final score of 30-6.

Next on the Tiger menu, the team will take to the road to play Reserve at 3 p.m. Saturday in Reserve. It will be the first district game.

"They're real big," Davis said of the Reserve team. "They have a 265 pound full back and several other large players. Our defense is going to have to come out ready to play ball."

"They'll have to block well to be able to move the ball."

Davis said the Tigers' last four game are all district competition.

HAMBURGER KING

Dear Ruidoso,

Well, I just thought I cooked a lot of white beans, but I guess I didn't. They did not last long, so I cooked another batch. That one went pretty fast also. We had to turn some people down because we were out. I have had my ear bent about that, and I've also had an earful about my smart aleck remarks concerning white beans.

It seems that there are people who feel as strongly about white beans as some of us do about red ones. I apologize. You have to look over a fellow that was raised on red beans. Until I was nearly grown, I thought white beans were something that foreigners ate at Easter time. I know better now. I promise to stop smart mouthing white beans. Furthermore, I have ordered a large sack of Great Northern Beans from one of my suppliers. I am going to cook enough white beans and ham for everyone, but I will not do it until week after next. Next week, we will be on vacation. We will be closed from Sunday, October 11, through Monday, October 19, so me and my people can catch our breath.

We will reopen on Tuesday, October 20, and at that time I will have lots of white beans and ham. Now, all of you folks that have been grumbling at me had better come get some or else we will stick them in a CARE package and send them to Boston.

Oh, oh, I did it again.

Oh well, we will see you in a week or so.

Sincerely,

CLIFF MACSAS

And the band goes on and on and

Whether it was for best chili or best float, winners in the Aspenfest 1992 events put their best foot forward during the fun-filled weekend and were rewarded for it.

Ruidoso Printing was the winner of the first traveling trophy and will proudly display the item until next year when it can defend its title. The winner of the first place cash prize was Lincoln County Medical Center. Texas Cafe earned second place, followed by Mescalero Headstart.

Stepping out in high fashion during the Aspenfest parade, Zia Middle School won the junior high band competition in the parade and the marching competition. Dexter was also a double winner in the AA division, while Capitan grabbed top honors for both in the A division.

Pets on parade won awards for kids and canines. The first place winners were Tessa Calbarella and Adrian Harris with their standard poodle, Sophie, which earned them a $25 savings bond. A cocker spaniel Sissy and her owner Daniel Schard earned second place and a free grooming at the Hondo Valley Kennel. Tiffany Skinner and Tifen, a standard poodle, won third place and a $10 gift certificate at Clutter's Pet Shop.

Honorable mention winners were Jessica Wood and Cinnamon, Katherine Fay and Lulu, and Audrey Adams and Lady. All participants received a ribbon and a gift kit with doggie treats, Arm and Hammer Carpet Fresh and literature on dogs.

The competition was hot Saturday in the New Mexico State Open Chili Cook-off, but not too hot for the winners. Carol Straughan of El Paso, Texas, came away with the top honors, while Jerry Thomas of Hobbs earned the showmanship award with his "Hot Rod Chili," cooked in a transmission housing.

The People's Choice award went to Chuck Whipple of Capitan with his Hillbilly Chili. Participants in the event traveled from Colorado, Texas, Arizona, Washington, Louisiana as well as other parts of New Mexico to put their best recipes on the line.

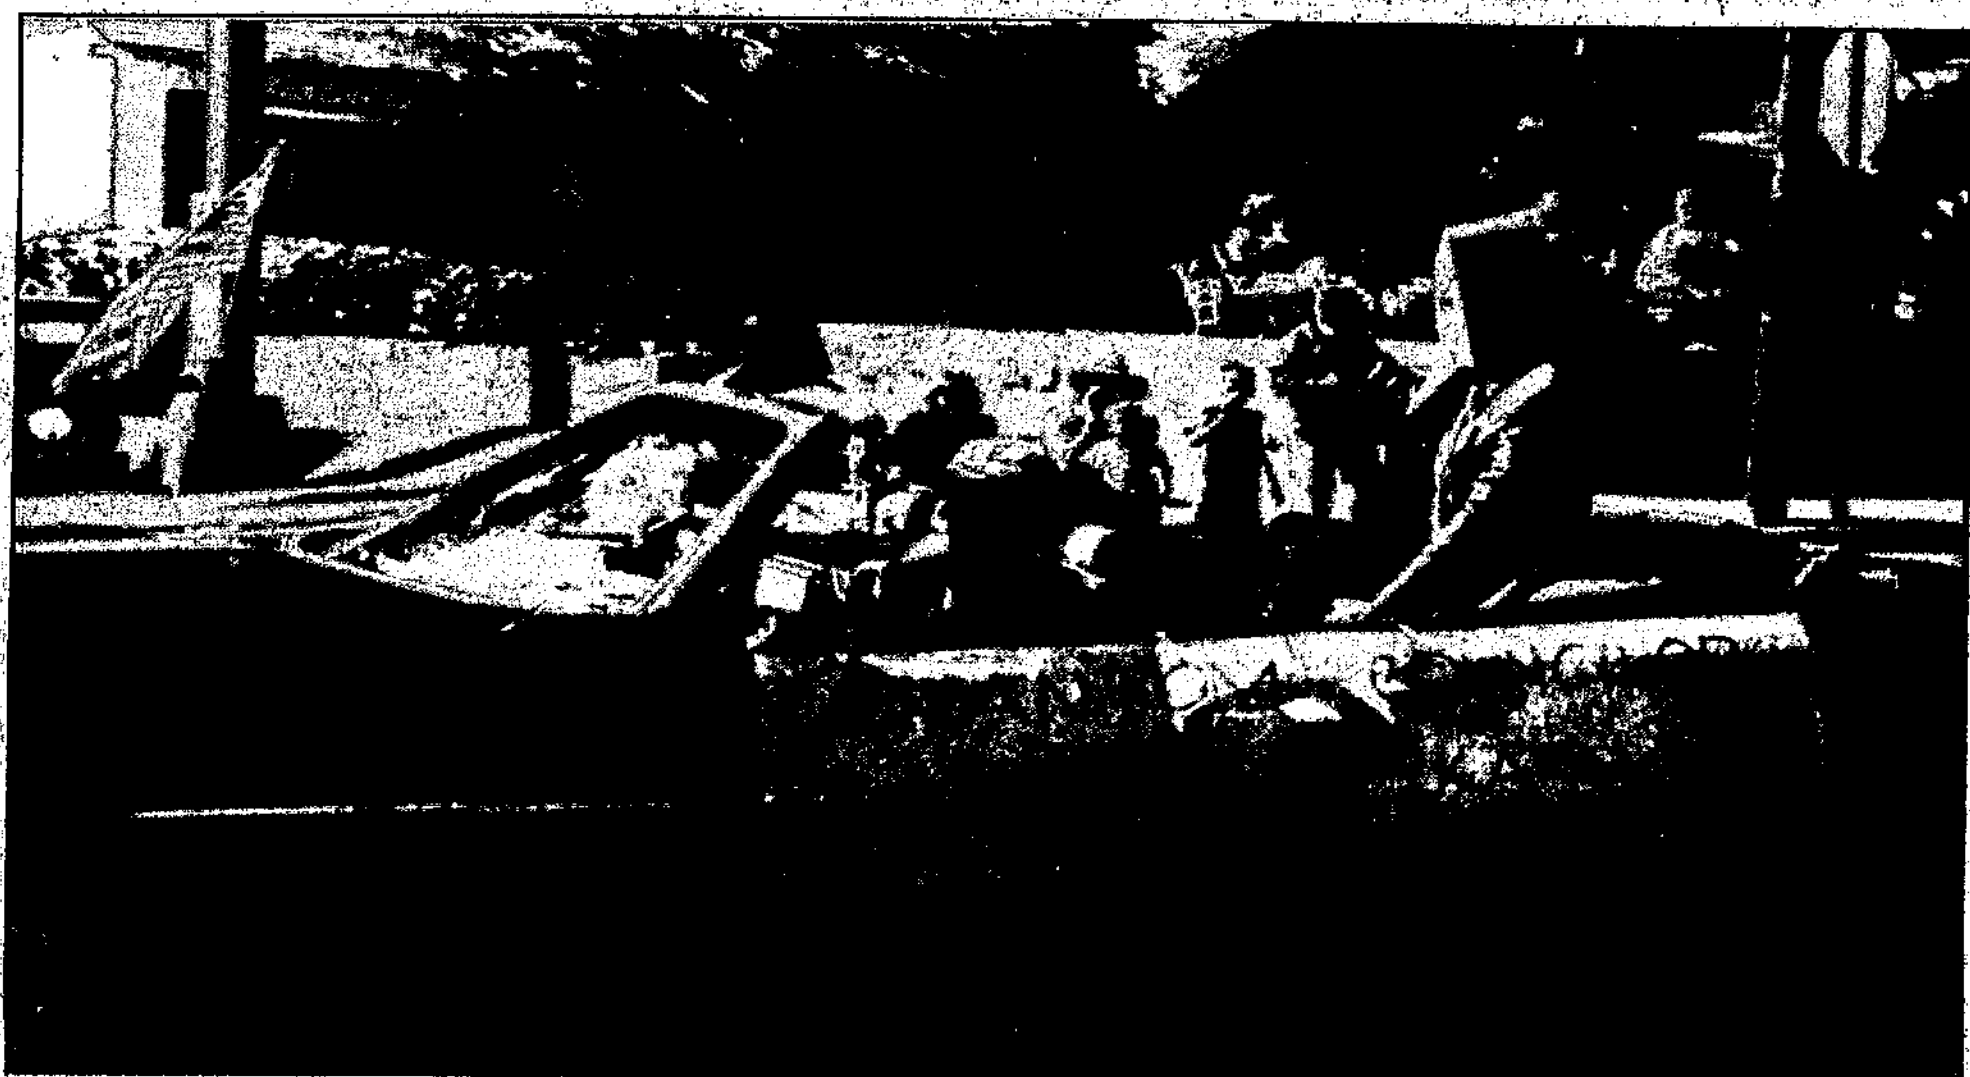

Organizer Paul Crown said about 3,600 people attended the cook-off, which was one of the biggest crowds the event has ever drawn. Just about 70 cooks stirred up chili to be tested by the judges.

The Ruidoso Chili Society Cook-off featured the cooking of 25 chefs. Phebe Cude from El Paso won the overall division, while Bill Henderson of Hobbs was the showmanship winner. Crown said he hopes to give the Ruidoso Rotary Club Scholarship close to $2,000 from the event.

Crown's appreciation of volunteer help was echoed by many other organizers and promoters during the weekend. Aspenfest co-chairperson Sharon Wicker said everyone was wonderful and helped do anything needed. Both agree volunteers are what helped the weekend go so smoothly and made it such a success.

Trombones, drums, flags and a whole lot of pomp paraded down Sudderth during Aspenfest. The unknown comic turned out to be a long lost councilor (actually it was a girl). Tender young hands wave to the all the marchers that waved back. A living doll sweeps her skirt to a lively Mexican tune and clowns roared from funny looking clown cars.

Women's Conference offers something for everyone

Congratulations to co-chairpersons Dr. Jim Miller and Ann Phillips for providing the leadership that pulled together the Ruidoso Women's Conference.

Women's Issues '92 — Opportunities & Options is the theme for the regional event that will gather top speakers and leaders here Saturday.

Eastern New Mexico University, Ruidoso Instructional Center, is sponsor for the women's conference and through its branch manager, Dr. Miller, its resources have been available to make sure this first event is a big success. Miller and Phillips gathered an active group and formed the South Central Mountain Women's Conference Steering Committee, whose members rolled up their shirt sleeves and put together an imaginative program with workshop sessions for women 18 to 98 from all walks of life. It's an ambitious undertaking and Phillips, Miller and their hardworking committee are just the folks who can pull it off.

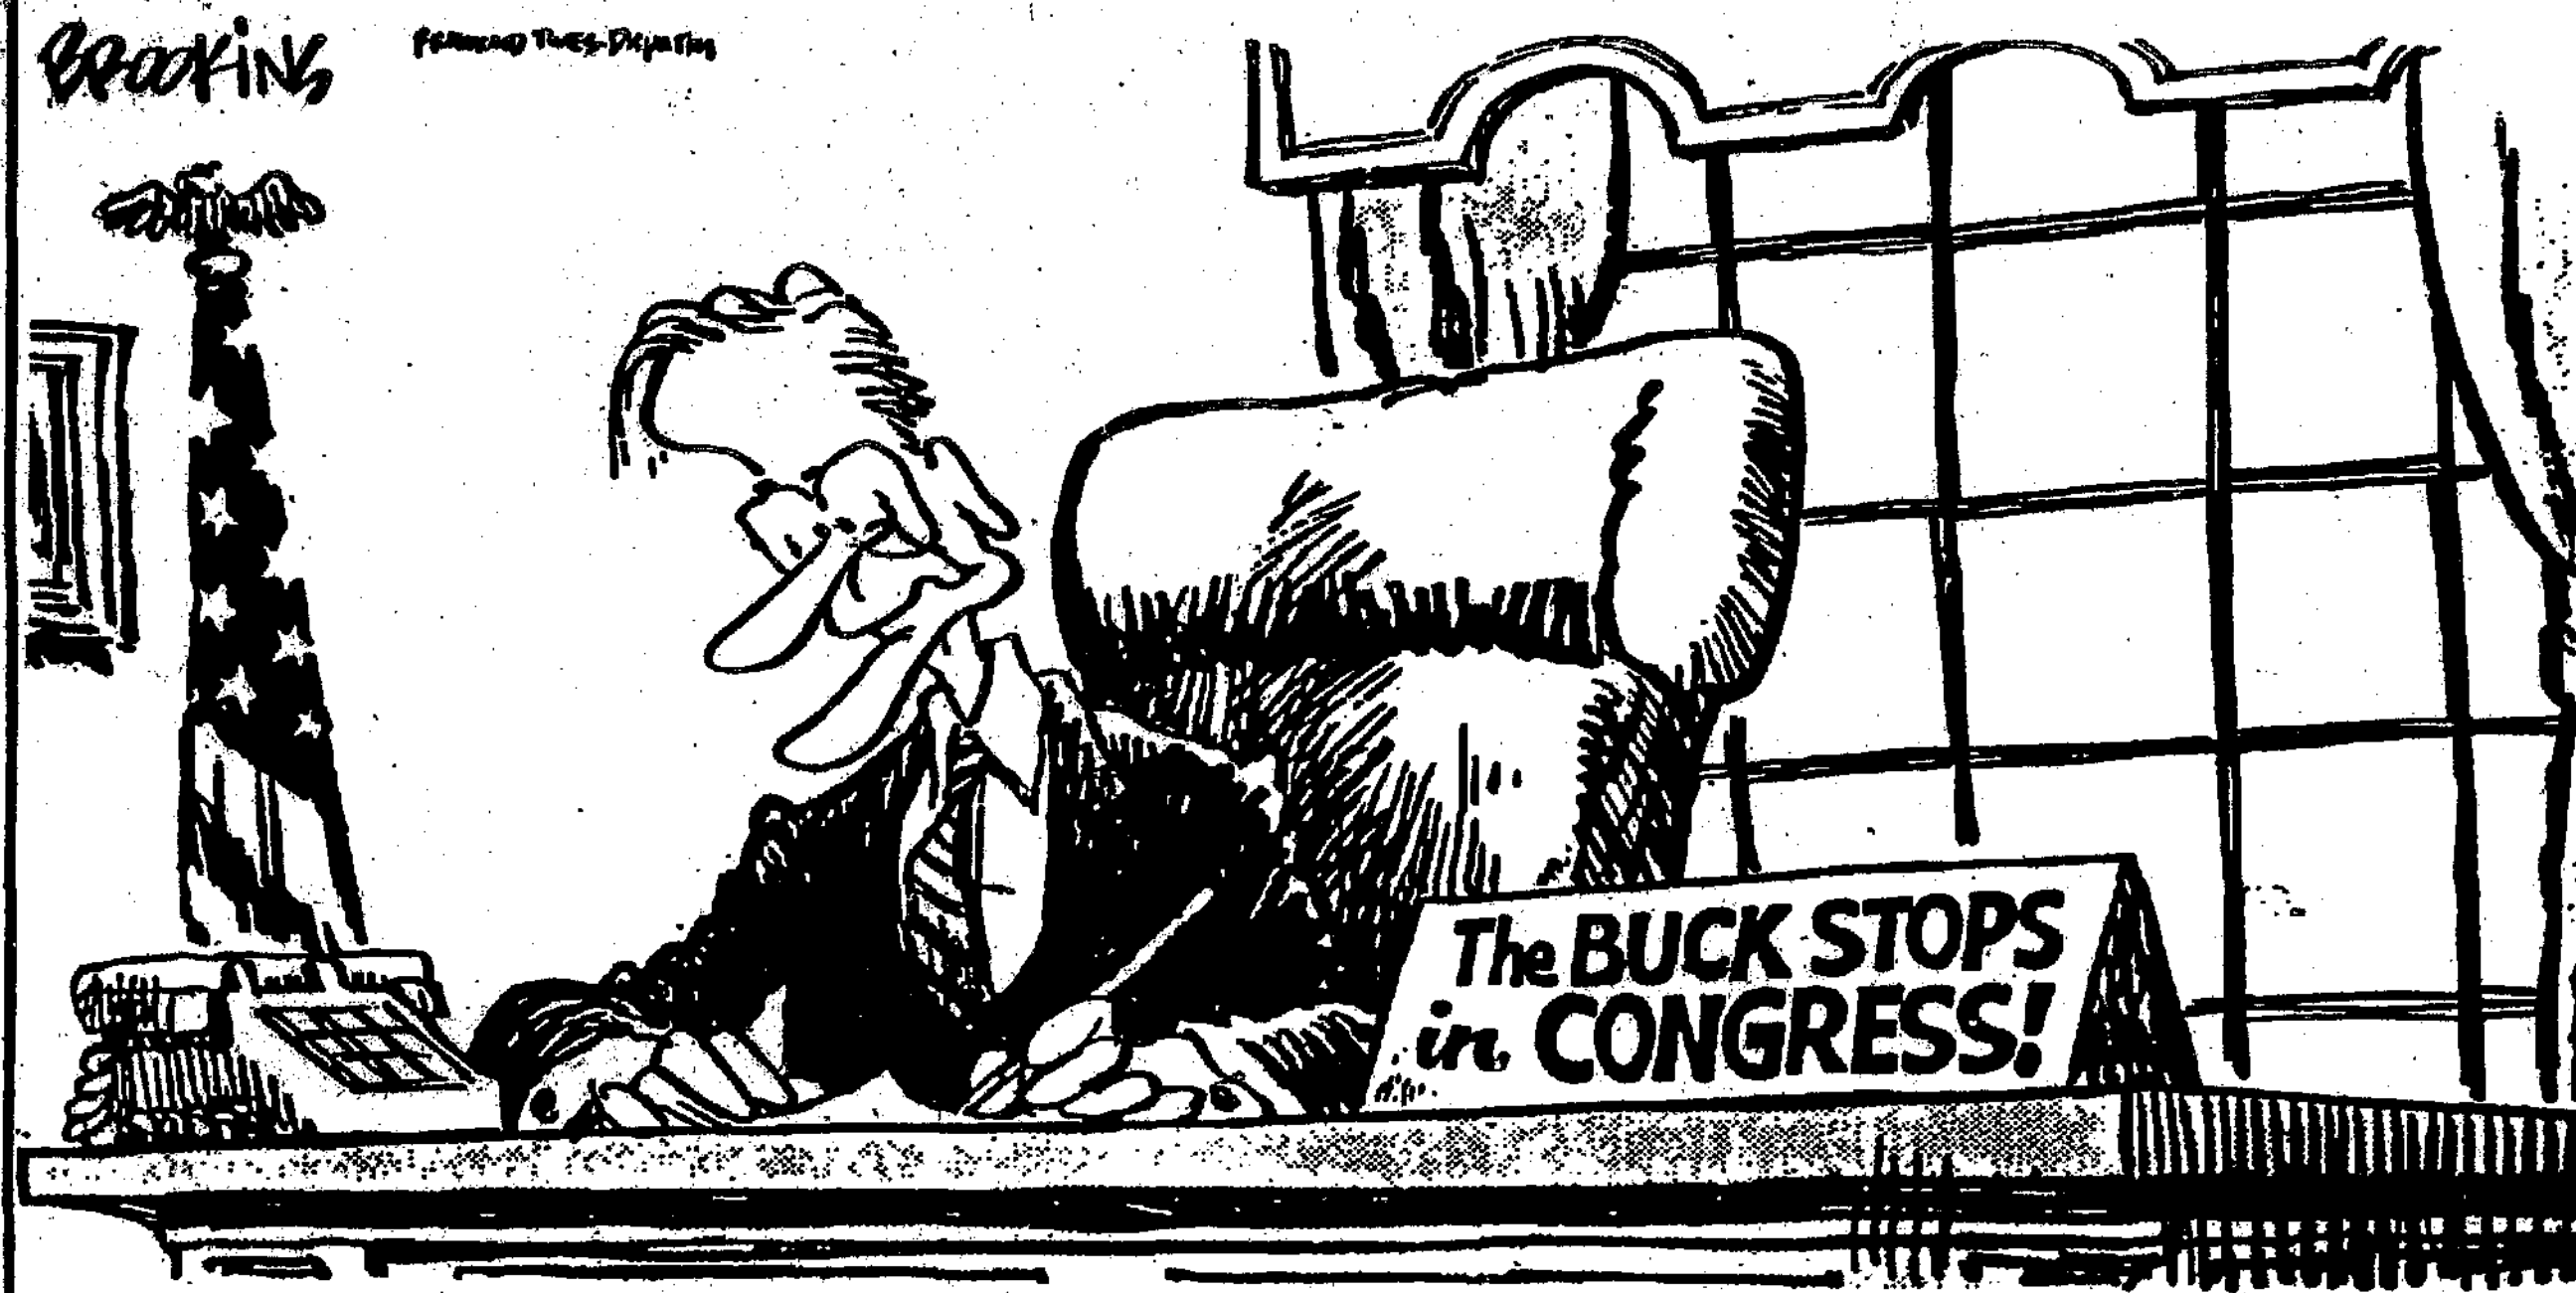

The Ruidoso Women's Conference begins at 6 p.m. Friday, October 9, with a Chautauqua, reception and tour of the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs.

The "real" conference starts at 7:45 a.m. Saturday when the doors to the Ruidoso Civic Events Center open for registration and coffee, followed by a keynote address by Janet Rush of the Zig Zigar Corporation, whose speech is titled, "You Know You're Great — Does Anyone Else?"

Workshop sessions include "Managing Conflict," "The Daughter Tract — The Sandwich Generation," "The Age of AIDS," "Publication," "Your Voice is Your Power," "Learned Helplessness," "Working in a Multi-cultural Environment," "Jobs for the Year 2000," "Single Parent Issues," "Career Counseling," "Cars and the women Who Drive Them," "Sexual Harassment/Discrimination in the Workplace," "Finance in a Woman's World" and "Women in Politics."

Futurist Lowell Catlett, a professor at New Mexico State University, will be the luncheon speaker, speaking on "The Future ... What It Is ... What It Shall Be..."

If you haven't registered yet, be sure and sign up today to learn more about issues of interest and relevance to women. Call 257-2368 to register for the Ruidoso Women's Conference. It's a great opportunity for the women of southeastern New Mexico to share common concerns, develop leadership skills and take a break on the mountain.

Letters

Some thoughts on panic vs. planning ahead

TO THE EDITOR:

You are probably aware of the fact that if you are a citizen of Ruidoso, it is a crime to think ahead. This is manifested by our belief of never taking a positive step in any direction.

Instead, we procrastinate until forced and then take off in all directions. This waving of arms, bumping into things and pointing of fingers is called panickus reactus.

Politically, this dates back to ancient Roman days when ... Nero, when he was informed that Rome was burning, first had the tiding bearer beheaded and then fiddled around.

Frankly, since the violin wasn't invented for a few centuries, I have often wondered who he was fiddling around with. (They later formed the first fire department.)

Be all that as it may, I am going to break the number one rule of Ruidoso and suggest we take a brief look at the future.

Let's focus our attention on the new convention center. There it is, a real attractive structure. It's purpose is to attract people to our community. People who spend money, the lifeblood to our beautiful little tourist oriented village.

So, we have a convention facility — and panickus reactus has set in. What are we going to do with it? What do we do now? It isn't even finished and we have had close to 10,000 people (with money) attend various functions. And there are more to come — a lot more. What are we going to do with them? Lots of problems.

Let's narrow this peek into the future to just one of the problems. A major problem. Exhibitors. My God, these people show up with trucks, trailers, mobile homes, campers, RVs and all that stuff they want to exhibit. Very inconsiderate. But if we are going to have exhibits, we had better plan on exhibitors. Because, you see, the exhibitors bring money, too. They are people. They eat, they sleep, they buy groceries, they buy lots of things; if you prick them, they bleed — they are people. (Money)

Now, let's take a look at some figures. I'll keep them simple, for my sake.

Let's say we have a show of some kind, any kind, and there are 100 exhibits. It takes at least two people to handle a booth. Ergo 200 people. If the show is Friday through Sunday and the exhibitors are here four days (set up time, see the town, etc.)

Now, let's apply my simple math. 100 booths x two people = 200 people. 200 people x four days = 800 tourist days. It is normally accepted that people spend approximately $100 per day away from home. 800 people x $100 = $80,000. Eighty thousand dollars.

Chambers of commerce like to multiply those dollars by five (or more) to impress you with the real impact tourism has on the community. It also makes them look good. (The trickle down theory).

So, let me impress you.

$80,000 x five = $400,000.

Four hundred thousand dollars. And these dollars have nothing to do with visitors who come here for the show. If a few hundred people (money) show up — you figure it out.

Back to our problem — exhibitors. Maybe we should take them into consideration — them and their mobile homes, RVs, campers, trucks, etc. etc.

Four hundred thousand dollars worth.

There are numerous to this count.

#1 — the mayor could hang up on them.

#2 — call a special workshop meeting and try to get a quorum.

#3 — Ron Andrews could buy the adjacent property on the east and put in a trailer park. The city could cut an access road across the golf course. So it would have only 17 holes. What the heck? We never have run this ship with a full set of sails.

#4 — We could level the area that was planned for the hotel and make it available for this purpose. We might even charge a nominal fee.

#5 — You come up with an answer.

The whole thing could be compared to the arrival of a baby. We have known for months it was going to happen, but we have no bassinet, diapers, bottles, formula or nursery.

However, we did do something right. We hired a nanny, and if Kathleen Michelena continues to handle this baby the way she has so far, the $400,000 will grow into millions.

We have a few other problems, but we will panic over them in their turn.

Members of Girl Scout Troop 4 circle around the refurbished chuckwagon they will display at the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium on Saturday. The girls invite anyone with information or stories about Camp Mary White to visit with them at the symposium so they can help preserve a little bit of history related to scouts.

Scouts camp at county forum

Girl Scout Troop 4 will be at the Cowboy Symposium Saturday with an exhibit on the history of Camp Mary White, including posters and pictures about the camp, as well as a refurbished chuckwagon.

The troop will be videotaping any "old timers" from the southern New Mexico area that knew Miss Mary White or remember anything about Camp Mary White.

If anyone has any tales to tell about the Girl Scout Camp to Caverns pack trips taken in the 1930s, the troop would like people to stop by and talk with the scouts about it.

The troop still is gathering information about Miss Mary White, her camp and the Camp to Caverns pack trips, hoping to make an audiovisual documentary about the camp and its founder. In the 1930s Camp Mary White sponsored the Caverns pack trips, during which leaders and counselors went on a ten-day trip to Carlsbad from the camp. The members who went on these trips met many people along the way on ranches and farms. Because of these trips, the chuckwagon became the symbol of Camp Mary White.

"We would like to talk to any people whose lives were touched by these trips. The history of the will be lost if we don't get a chance to talk to you," the troop's press release states.

Also while at the symposium on Saturday, the girls will be selling Girl Scout Cookies and S'mores. People may make their own S'mores or the troop will roast the marshmallow for them. Sit around the campfire and share your memories.

Girl Scout Troop 4 also is collecting aluminum cans, which can be dropped off at any Ruidoso fire station or at the midtown Conoco station.

LIVE A GOOD LIFE ON THE EARTH THEY PROVED TO BE ROUND

This earthly planet we have known
Since ancient history'd begun
Was seen as flat and all alone,
Like any island in the sun.
But then explorers came along,
And like Columbus, they had found
Those geographic notions wrong,
And so they proved the earth was round,
By sailing to some unknown land
With only God to be their guide;
And thus today we understand
The faith on which those men relied.
So thank the Lord, who made this earth
So round, according to His plan;
And then discover what it's worth
To live on it, the best you can.
