Lincoln County and the state property tax division recouped $10,000 more than they were owed during a delinquent property tax sale Wednesday.

County Treasurer Janice Ware said 20 pieces of property went on the block.

"They were 2 1/2 years delinquent when they appeared on a list sent to the state," Ware said. "But by the time the department has researched each piece in 33 different counties, they are about four years delinquent when they are put up

Reward offered for news thieves

Ruidoso Police are on the lookout for newspaper thieves.

Over the past few weeks, The Ruidoso News has investigated a growing problem of thefts from news racks.

In a spot check after Monday's paper was distributed, 120 newspapers had been stolen from six racks located in Ruidoso.

"It's larceny," said Detective Lanny Maddox of the Ruidoso Police. Ruidoso Police, as well as investigators for The News, will be keeping a close eye on news racks in an effort to capture and prosecute anyone stealing copies of The Ruidoso News.

"When you put in 50 cents, you have purchased just one paper," said editor Frankie Jarrell, reminding customers to take just the one paper and allow the rack door to close so that the next customer, too, will pay for the paper.

"We will prosecute thieves to the full extent possible under the law," said publisher Sammy Lopez, who is offering a reward through Crimestoppers to anyone who provides information that leads to the apprehension and prosecution of a thief.

The News also is offering a reward to staff members at stores where the news racks are located.

"In exchange for businesses placing our racks, we have always provided those businesses with a free newspaper," said Lopez. "Now, we'll be asking them to keep an eye on our racks and help us stop what has turned into a big problem."

Anyone with information on thefts from news racks is asked to call Crimestoppers at 257-4545, the Ruidoso Police at 257-7365, or The News at 257-4001.

MRS Committee reports to council

by BUDDY BAKER
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Stopping the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe from establishing a high level nuclear waste dump may be a long process.

Ruidoso's Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) Advisory Committee, formed to track the progress of the nuclear storage site being studied by the Mescalero Tribe, reported to the Village Council during its regular meeting Tuesday.

"I get no sense that we have a victory in sight," said Bob Walters, head of the village advisory board.

However, he did cite a report from the General Accounting Office (GAO) stating that the proposed MRS site may not be constructed by 1998, the date the Department of Energy (DOE) must by law take possession of the spent fuel rods from the nuclear power plants.

In addition, the GAO has said the MRS is not necessary, a waste of money, and the spent fuel could be better stored at the power plant locations.

Walters also quoted statistics from a state of Ohio study that addressed the building of an MRS site in Tennessee. Anti-MRS forces successfully defended against the DOE's attempt to site the facility in Tennessee.

Ohio conducted the study in anticipation of an impact on Ohio's transportation system and tourist industry. The study indicated that many tourists and relocating industries, would give an MRS site a wide berth.

Walters said there are several bills before the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives that can impact the siting and constructing of the MRS facility.

He plans to publish a comprehensive list of these in the near future so that individuals may write to the New Mexico congressional delegation.

"We need to let our government know our feelings on this," he said. "Our nation will be negotiating with another sovereign nation (Mescalero Tribe) to put a nuclear storage facility in our back yard," Walters said.

Mayor Victor Alonso said the village governing body has done what it can do and the public now needs to follow up and write to Washington D.C. The village passed a resolution opposing the Mescalero's MRS study and followed up by appointing the oversight board.

Walters concluded by saying his data indicates the MRS should not be located here, nor anywhere.

In other business, village manager Ron Wicker and Transportation Committee chairman Dave Weber outlined a plan to bring a public transit system to the village.

Weber said federal funds are available through the Urban Mass Transit Authority and the New Mexico State Highway Department to install a Dial-A-Ride system in the village. Two buses would run a loosely scheduled route that would be available to answer individual calls from hotels, restaurants and other locations.

The system is being used in Belen and Taos.

Sources in Taos and Belen were contacted and said they are not familiar with a system similar to the one Weber was describing.

About two years ago Rick Simpson of S&S Charter Service made a similar presentation to the Ruidoso Village Council when he and his partner were applying for federal funds to operate a trolley system in Ruidoso. Apparently they were not successful in their application, because the system was never installed.

Weber and Wicker asked the permission of the council to investigate the system further.

The council voted to give the investigation its blessings.

In another item, village manager Wicker said that the violations, discovered in July 1991, in the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant, owned jointly by Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs, are coming to a head. The plant is in receipt of a notice from the Environmental Protection Agency that they must reply in 30 days from March 17 to show progress on how the problems will

Council debates dogs and cats

by BUDDY BAKER
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

In one of the most debated issues in recent memory, the Ruidoso Village Council voted to proceed on an ordinance requiring neutering and spaying of dogs and cats.

The Council met Tuesday evening at Village Hall and debated the proposed ordinance which will require pet owners to neuter or spay their dogs and cats, or buy a breeder's permit.

Councilors debated the enforceability of the law, pointing out that the current animal control ordinances are not fully enforced.

In addition, Mayor Victor Alonso expressed the fear that the requirement of a relatively expensive operation on animals, picked up by animal control officers, would lead to many people not bailing their dogs out of the shelter when they are picked up. He felt like this would lead to more and not less euthanasia of animals.

Neutering and spaying costs from $18 to $47 depending on the sex and whether the pet is a dog or cat. In addition a "jailed" animal has to have shots and a license before being released.

Randy Basch, manager of the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter, answered the mayor's fears by stating that those animals that are allowed to run free, and breed, by irresponsible owners continue to have offspring and that is what increases euthanasia.

He further pointed out that the animal control officer will not specifically look for animals that are in violation but an "at loose" dog will be subject to the requirement when picked up.

In the event that an animal owner wants the animal to remain sexually reproductive, an owner may pay a "breeders" fee, now proposed at $25 annually, that will allow those persons to keep their animal.

The permit will also serve as a business permit for persons that breed and raise dogs for profit.

This breeders' permit opened up another avenue of discussion because issuance of the permit would give the animal control officer the right to inspect the animal owners house or "kennel."

Some councilors felt this could lead to an invasion of privacy.

Village attorney David Thomsen passed out a copy of an addition that could be included in the ordinance. The addition would allow a person to have a permit to keep a sexually intact animal if that person would sign an statement stating the animal would not be allowed to breed unless the owner first obtained a breeders permit.

During various phases of the discussion it was brought out by Basch that in practice he would not enforce the letter of the ordinance but make judgments in many cases if an animal was apparently abused or, on the other hand, well maintained.

Councilor Ron Andrews said at this point that he was confident of Basch's judgment in those instances, but that the ordinance must be written for Basch's or the animal control officer's predecessor.

Additionally, Andrews said he felt like the breeder's fees should be used to set up a fund to have animals spayed or neutered whose owners might not be able to afford the operations. He also suggested that a provision be put into the animal control ordinances requiring mandatory fines for violators, suggesting in the case of multi offenders a fine of $500 or 10 days community service.

The village council passed a motion to publish a notice of the ordinance and hold a public hearing at the regularly scheduled meeting on April 28. After the public hearing, the council can vote on the ordinance or send it back for changes suggested in the public hearing.

The notice for the proposed ordinance will be published in The Ruidoso News prior to the April 28 meeting.

Anyone desiring a copy of the proposed ordinance should contact Village of Ruidoso clerk Tammie Maddox, 257-4343.

Basch made a statement to the Council after the motion was passed. He said, "this is the most important animal control issue that I've seen before you. Please contact me with any questions that you may have on it."

Grand jury indicts former court clerk on three charges

A former clerk for Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean was indicted Monday for embezzlement, forgery and breaking and entering. Mary Najar of Carrizozo, who worked as clerk to Dean for five years, probably will be summoned to district court within the next few days, said District Attorney Bert Atkins. She was indicted by a Lincoln County grand jury for embezzlement over $20,000, a second degree felony; forgery, a third degree felony; and breaking and entering, a fourth degree felony. Atkins said, "The alleged embezzlement from the state occurred during her time of employment." Reached at her home in Carrizozo, Mrs. Najar said she had no comment and had not been officially notified of the grand jury decision.

Sudderth is subject of hearing

A public meeting to discuss the Sudderth Drive re-surfacing project will be at 1:30 p.m. today, Thursday, at the village administrative office building council chambers. Representatives of the New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department and Armstrong Construction Company, who has been contracted to do the work, will be at the meeting to answer any questions people may have about the project. It is scheduled to begin next week. The Armstrong company is currently adjusting manholes and removing steel markers before beginning the project.

Councilor Karn and friend file conflicting reports

April Fool's Day was no laughing matter for Ruidoso Councilor Bill Karn when he was notified that an old flame had once again filed battery charges against him on Wednesday. The single Karn said that Sharon Daniels, a former girlfriend from Roswell, stopped at his house yesterday to pick up boxed clothing previously stored. According to Karn, after entering his home Daniels refused to leave and he tried to call the police. A struggle ensued to prevent him from placing the call, Karn said. He said he was assaulted by Miss Daniels who then ripped his telephone answering machine from the wall. Police logs indicated Daniels filed a complaint at 4 p.m., and Karn filed a counter complaint at 7:22 p.m. Both Karn and Daniels filed similar complaints last January 23. Actions on those complaints are still pending. The Ruidoso News, after several attempts, was unable to locate Daniels for a response.

ENMU-R offers new nursing assistant training program

A nursing assistant training program will begin at 8 a.m. Monday, April 13, at Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso. The 80-hour, state-approved training course will be offered at a tuition cost of $100, which will include course books. No uniforms are necessary for the 15 students who will be accepted into the program. Completion of the course will result in eligibility to work as a certified nursing assistant, and may be used in preparation to take the New Mexico certification examination. The class will meet from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday through May 6 at the Lincoln County Medical Center.

Fallwell named to state board

Governor Bruce King has announced appointments to several state boards and commissions, including the appointment of a Ruidoso woman. Norman Fallwell of Ruidoso is one of three people who have been named to the Nursing Home Administrators Board. The board works to enforce standards for licensing nursing home administrators and to carry out the provisions of the Nursing Home Administrators Act.

Municipal League brings its training to elected officials

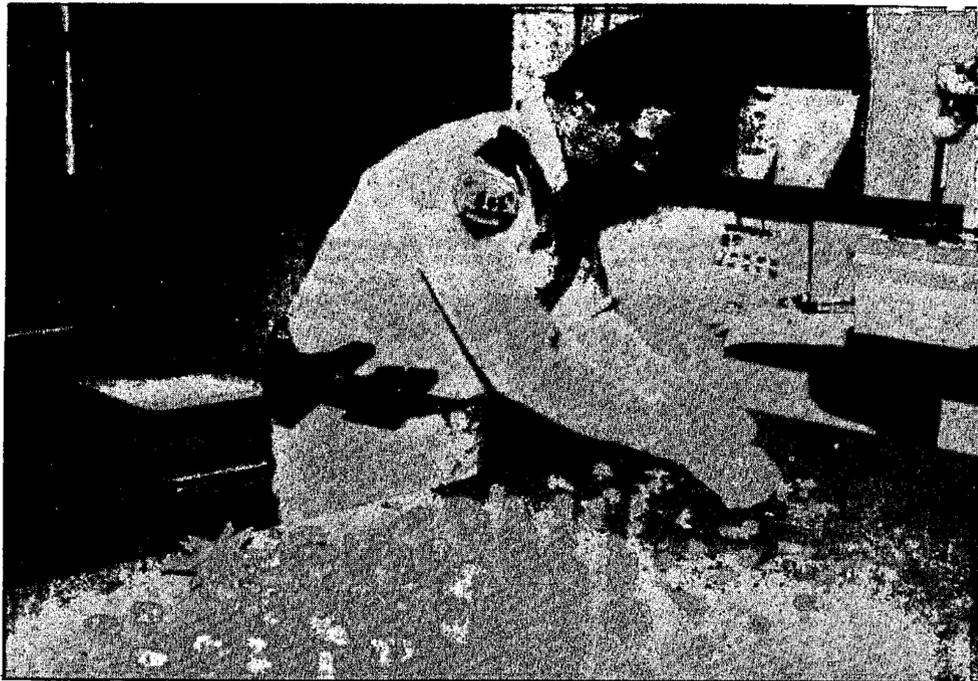

The New Mexico Municipal League will conduct two institutes for newly elected officials in April, with one of these scheduled for the Ruidoso area. The one-day meeting will be at the Inn of the Mountain Gods in Mescalero on April 11. The day will begin at 8 a.m. with registration, and it will adjourn at 4 p.m. Topics to be covered include authority and responsibility, open meetings, voting, sources of revenue, budget and procurement and personnel issues among other issues. The topic for the noon luncheon is the policy process at the local level. The league is also offering an institute covering these issues on April 4 at Albuquerque.

for sale. The county commission room in Carrizozo was packed with spectators and potential buyers when the sale began at 10 a.m., she said. "Twelve pieces sold for over the minimum bid," Ware said. "If we had collected the minimum (what was owed in taxes), it would have been $22,200, but the total came in at $33,200." The single largest sale was $10,500 for a lot with a house. The smallest sale was $400 for a lot, she said. Of the 20 properties, three included houses, 16 were in Ruidoso, two in Ruidoso Downs, one in Carrizozo and one was outside of Capitan near the Alto area. The sale of property on which taxes are delinquent is conducted annually by the state. Sixty-one parcels, representing $67,298 in delinquent taxes, were auctioned last year. Ware said the county receives the tax, penalty and interest from the proceeds of the sale to be funneled to county and school district operations. Amounts generated in excess of those three items are returned to the former owners of the property. The state issues a tax deed to the buyers of the property. At that point, it's too late for the previous owners to redeem the property by paying the tax debt. Ware said they can challenge the sale in court for a period of two years, but they would have to prove that either the land should not have been subject to a tax sale or that all taxes had been paid before the sale.

Ruidoso Police officer Will Hoggard sorts after a burglary at Mountain Annie's on crystal and other glass items recovered Sudderth Drive.

Quick repair

City workers block off the middle lanes of traffic on Sudderth Drive to repair sewer lines. The city is making the repairs before the state highway department re-surfaces the street, which is also Highway 48.

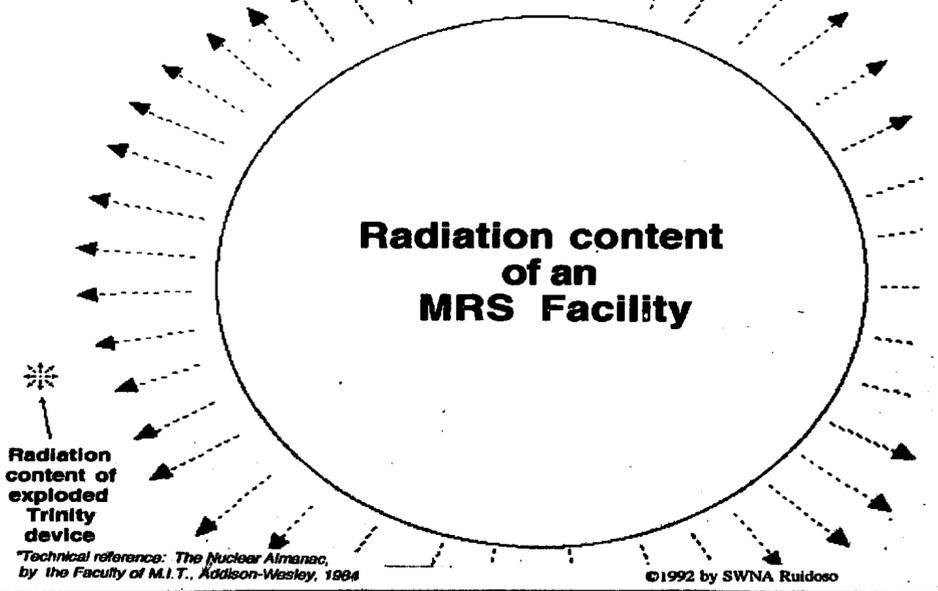

The state department and the contractors for the job, Armstrong Construction, will have a public meeting at 1:30 p.m. today at the village hall for people who have questions about the project.

Police nab suspect

The Ruidoso Police Department reacted quickly on Tuesday and arrested a burglar. A broken window in Mountain Annie's gift shop, 2710 Sudderth Drive, was discovered by Detective Corporal Lou Wardwell late Monday evening. In the early morning hours on Tuesday, Corporal Will Hoggard stopped a man on the street for questioning. According to Hoggard the man was wrapped in a blanket and was apparently recovering from an intoxicated state. Noticing cuts on his hand, Hoggard questioned the man closely about his activities the previous evening and the suspect admitted to the burglary. After further questioning Hoggard ascertained the location of the merchandise stolen from the store; Crystal pieces valued at more than $5,000 were recovered, however all of the pieces were broken or chipped. Under arrest is Joe Antonio Davila who gave his address as San Antonio, Texas. According to Detective Sergeant Lanny Maddox, Davila is wanted in Harris County, Texas, by the Immigration and Naturalization.

Comparisons*-Part II

As our last graphic on this subject showed, it is difficult enough to grasp the relative amount of the radioactive material which will be stored at an MRS site with respect to say, the Trinity site bomb device or an H-bomb. The diagram below illustrates this comparison from the even more extreme standpoint of radioactivity. For example, after 5 years, the total Trinity device fallout amounted to about 200 curies, while that of an MRS site containing a capacity 15,000 metric tons would measure out at 10 billion curies. This means the radioactivity associated with such an MRS site would be about 50 million times greater than that of the exploded Trinity bomb after five years of decay. In the diagram below the Trinity device fallout is represented by the small dot at the center of the symbolic, snowflake-like radiation. The corresponding MRS radiation sphere, which has a diameter about 368 times larger than the dot representing Trinity radiation, barely fits on this diagram.

Comparisons-Part II

As the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe proceeds with studies over establishing a high level nuclear waste disposal site, its neighbors are forming groups and gathering information over what living next door to a Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) facility would entail. The tribe's study is being done with the help of Pacific Nuclear consultants using Department of Energy funding through two grants totaling $300,000 so far. Southwest Nuclear Alert-Ruidoso is one of several groups, including a Village of Ruidoso board and a state group, keeping watch over the Mescalero study. Camelot Castle could be a dream come true

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A funny thing happened to Don and June Miner on their way to retirement. A castle got in their way.

The couple has successfully operated several builders supply companies in Ruidoso and South-eastern New Mexico for the past 10 years. Recently they began to sell the small companies one by one — they were thinking about buying an RV and traveling.

They looked at fifth-wheel trailers and had nearly purchased one when the castle came up for sale. The castle is the one perched up on the north side of Highway 70 about a half mile east of the "Y."

Don had always marveled at the imposing structure and wondered why it could not be put to use. The building housed a twin cinema, Camelot, in the early 1980s but went out of business. The castle has stood vacant since.

Another dream that Miner has always harbored is to produce a country music variety show. It might have been his regional upbringing. He comes from near Branson, Missouri, where country music theaters have proliferated the past few years.

Suddenly, with their lives beginning to take a new direction and the castle-theater being put up for sale, it seemed like the Miners were receiving a message that would fulfill some dreams.

The Miner's Castle Mountain Country Music Show is scheduled to open on June 1.

With a two-hour show planned nightly, the country music extravaganza will be a cross between the Grand Ole Opry and Hee Haw, with some Southwestern Latin rhythms thrown in.

The program will be family entertainment with soft drinks and popcorn served at the concession stand.

"We will make you nostalgic, make you laugh, happy, and spiritual in the same evening. Then we want to send you home with patriotic goose bumps," says Don.

The Miners think the shows will fill a family entertainment void in Ruidoso.

The twin theaters will be combined and seating for more than 500 people installed. The lighting and sound system will be state of the art, with colorful costumes and professionally choreographed sequences.

Heading up the musical production will be Lynn Martin who is well known in the Ruidoso area. Lynn and his wife, Reva, operated the Chaparral, a night club in Ruidoso Downs for several years. Lynn Martin and the Martin Music Company have performed professionally in Texas and New Mexico more than 20 years.

Other local and regional talent is being recruited. Hoyt and Slick Graham of Ruidoso will be among those performing.

The show will employ more than 30 people. 120 performances are scheduled each year.

"We will be open while the horse races are running are here and the visitors to the Museum of The Horse will be natural guests for us," Miner says.

Wide grins and enthusiasm radiate from Don and June. They don't look like two people who have had their retirement postponed indefinitely.

They look like they may have just found their Camelot.

The old Camelot Theater is undergoing some major changes and is set to reopen June 1 as Miner's Castle Mountain Country Music Show.

Sports

In the fourth and fifth grade division Ruidoso Land Survey (above) beat Pioneer Savings for the boys championship. First National Bank (below) pulled off an upset by defeating Super 8 Motel in the girls championship.

In the fifth and sixth grade division the Rainbow Carpet team beat the Ed Turner Agency in a close one for the boys title. In the girls title game the Cut Above team put on the pressure to steam the Gary Mitchell team.

Little League champions crowned

It was a tremendous year for the Rotary Little League Basketball program as the young players learned new techniques with each game and had a lot of fun in the meantime. About 250 children participated in the program which has been going strong for about 15 years. Scott Schrader, one of the organizers of the program, said the program has grown by leaps and bounds in that time. This past year was a very good one, he said. "It just keeps getting better and better," Schrader said. In the girls' division four teams competed in the sixth and seventh grade league and six competed in the fourth and fifth grade league. Six boys teams battled in the sixth and seventh grade division and five teams competed in the fourth and fifth grade division. After a tough play-off competition, the league was narrowed down to eight teams who were hungry for a championship. The championships were at the high school gym on March 19. The first game of the night pitted to superb teams against each other, First National Bank and Super 8 Motel, for the championship in the fourth and fifth grade. First National had a record of 7-2 with the two losses coming from Super 8, while Super 8 had an unblemished record. Both teams played their hearts out, and it came down to the last few minutes of the game when First National pulled out the win. The second game for the fourth and fifth grade boys championship was close as well with the two teams, Ruidoso Land Survey and Pioneer Savings, starting out with identical records of 8-1. As the game went back and forth Ruidoso Land Survey picked up steam to take the victory in the end. In the sixth and seventh grade girls championships, the Gary Mitchell team had struggled through the season but was able to beat out its opponents in the playoffs to face the Cut Above team which was 8-0. The Gary Mitchell team gave all their effort, but it wasn't enough to stop the roll of the Cut Above. The final game of the night was one of the most exciting and impressive as Rainbow Carpet and Ed Turner Agency squared off for the sixth and seventh grade boys championship. Rainbow Carpet had a record of 7-3, while Ed Turner was at 9-1. Rainbow pulled away several times with some amazing three-point shots, but the Turner team kept driving in to fill the gap. In the final minutes, though, Rainbow made the right moves to win the game.

Warrior golfers can't beat Mother Nature, but they'll try

The Ruidoso Warrior golf team is prepping for the season opener Friday at Roswell but Mother Nature isn't cooperating. The Warriors' practice time has been extremely limited due to the weather, but the season is here and the talented Warriors have to get rid of the rust and prepare for the State Tournament, hosted by the Warriors, in early May.

For the second time this year, the Warriors have had one of their benefit scrambles "snowed out" as last Sunday's event at Alto Lakes Country Club was cancelled due to weather. The scramble has been rescheduled for April 12 at Alto.

This weekend's scramble is scheduled for Sunday at the Links at Sierra Blanca. As usual the cost is $25 plus cart fee and interested players should contact the Links proshop at 258-5330 to sign up.

The Warriors open up the season Friday in the Roswell Independent Schools Invitational at Spring River Golf Course. The squad returns home Saturday for the Ruidoso Invitational at the Inn of the Mountain Gods Golf Course.

Warrior Senior Nathan Baudo is at the top of his games after posting a one-under-par 71 at New Mexico Military golf course two weeks ago. That score was good for a third place finish in the tournament and Baudo's qualifying scores have been just as spectacular.

Tracksters compete at Cruces

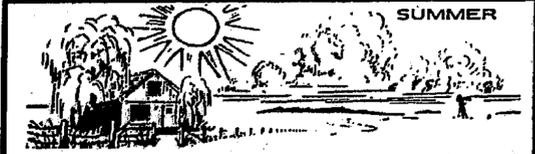

The Warrior track team will take the field this weekend at Las Cruces for an invitational track meet. The meet will start at 9 a.m. on Saturday. Both the girls and boys teams have been going strong this season and placed third and second, respectively, in their last meet at Tularosa.

The middle school Braves will also be in action at a track meet Saturday in Capitan.

Top horses, trainers, jockeys head for mountains

Obituaries

Despite the proliferation of pari-mutuel horse racing in neighboring states, Ruidoso Downs remains a popular choice for many of the southwest's top trainers and jockeys.

The world's premier Quarter Horse track will race 74 days in 1992.

The season of mixed racing begins May 7, and climaxes Labor Day weekend with the $15,000 added Breeders' Cup Premium Stakes for 2-year-old Thoroughbreds; the $250,000 Grade I All American Gold Cup for older Quarter Horses, the $500,000 Grade I All American Derby for 3-year-old Quarter Horses, and the esteemed $2.3 million All American Futurity for 2-year-old Quarter Horses.

More than 200 trainers have applied for stalls for about 3,000 horses, however, only 2,000 stalls are available.

"The number of stalls applied for is down about 10 percent compared to 1991, but the quality of horses looking to race here is as strong as ever," said Norm Amundson, Ruidoso Downs' racing secretary.

"We have more requests for stalls for Thoroughbreds than for Quarter Horses. That's probably because of the number of other racing opportunities for Quarter Horses that have developed with the opening of Trinity Meadows in Texas, Arapahoe Park in Colorado, and of course Remington Park in Oklahoma."

Requests for stall applications at this time are running about 61 percent Thoroughbred and 39 percent Quarter Horse.

"The number of Quarter Horses may be down," Amundson said, "but from what I can tell, the competition will be very stiff. We are still attracting the best horses and trainers because of races like the Kansas, Rainbow and All American series."

Nestled in the lower Sacramento Mountains of Southern New Mexico, Ruidoso Downs' mild summers are popular with horsemen who prefer cool mornings for training and warmer afternoons to enjoy the horse races.

Applying for stalls, and expected to return to Ruidoso Downs, are the nation's top five Quarter Horse trainers in money won including Blane Schvaneveldt, also the nation's leading trainer in races won since 1985; Jack Brooks, conditioner of five All American winners; Ben Torres, trainer of the 1991 All American winner Royal Quick Dash; and Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath, trainer of such great Quarter Horse Champions as On A High, Wicked Willa, and Refrigerator.

"When it comes to Quarter Horse racing, Ruidoso is where all the 'toughies' meet," said Jack Brooks, one of nation's leading Quarter Horse trainers and conditioner of a record five All American Futurity winners.

"With all the prestigious races offered, the cool climate and all the luck I've had, there's no place like Ruidoso Downs! I train all winter in anticipation of racing at Ruidoso and from what I can tell, it appears we'll have another good year."

Powerhouse Quarter Horses expected to campaign at the mountain track this year include 1991 All American winner and AQHA Racing Champion Royal Quick Dash; Multiple Champion Gelding and 1990 All American winner Refrigerator; and multiple stakes winners Easily A Rogue, Special Task, and Steppin For The Moon.

Up and coming youngsters looking to do battle in the 2-year-old Triple Crown series include Brooks' Mr Eye Opener, winner of the rich Grade I West Texas Futurity and Easy Freddy, who also qualified for the West Texas Futurity finals.

Ruidoso Downs' top five Thoroughbred trainers of 1991 have also applied for stalls including Doyal Roberts, Ruidoso Downs leading Thoroughbred trainer for the last five years, and Bill Leach, who is currently having a very successful winter at Oaklawn Park where he won the Old Rosebud Stakes with Triple Crown nominee Capitalimprovement.

Thoroughbreds returning include Ruidoso Downs' 1991 Divisional Champions Jose Ponce, Thoroughbred-of-the-Meet; Golden Wave Band, 3-Year-Old Filly-of-the-Meet and winner of the Aspen Breeders Cup and Oaks; Dance Trainer, the track's 1991 Older Horse-of-the-Meet; and Talent Connection, the 1990 2-year-old Colt/Gelding-of-the-Meet, and 1990 New Mexico-bred Thoroughbred-of-the-Meeting; and A Bit Of Style, Ruidoso Downs' 1990 Thoroughbred Horse-of-the-Meet.

Jockeys expected to return include nationally renowned Quarter Horse riders, Jacky Martin, Jerry Nicodemus, Kip Didericksen, Jerry Rodriguez and Joe Martinez. Thoroughbred riders include Janeen Painter, Glen Murphy, Glen Corbett and Von Cunningham.

When horsemen do return, they will find the track's running surface of Orogrande sand has been reconditioned and will be safer for horses and jockeys. The whole process is expected to take six weeks and cost about $60,000 to do both the Thoroughbred oval and the Quarter Horse racing stretch.

"We are screening the sand for contamination like rocks, broken bits of horse shoes, and other things that seem to find their way onto the track," said John Baker, track superintendent. "We will also level and smooth the base before putting the surface back down."

Village of Ruidoso Downs spruces up for spring activities

Several activities are in the works for Ruidoso Downs in the month of April, including an Easter egg hunt.

The Downs Ladies Auxiliary invites the community to hear a special speaker at 6:30 p.m. on Monday at the new senior center before the regular meeting of the group.

The speaker will be Kerry

Krumtsiek, recycling coordinator for the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority. Krumtsiek is going to give a presentation to the people on what they can recycle, how to prepare it to take to the recycling center and a general overview of how people can help by recycling.

The recycling center is located at 222 Second Street, just a block off Highway 70 in Ruidoso Downs.

On April 18 the group is planning an Easter egg hunt in All-American Park and around the senior center for the children in the community. Village workers have already given the park a spring cleaning for the Easter Bunny's arrival.

Members of the community of Ruidoso Downs are invited to a pot-luck supper at 6:30 p.m. April 24 to help the auxiliary supply the senior center with utensils and supplies. Capitan

Blue Door reopens in new gallery

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The community is invited to sip champagne and nibble a few hors d'oeuvres this Sunday afternoon while admiring works of art at Posley's Blue Door Gallery in Capitan. David and Betty Posley are celebrating the grand re-opening of the gallery at its new location next to village hall on Lincoln Street.

"Everyone is invited from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.," Posley said. Several artists whose works are featured in the gallery will be there. Besides paintings and sculptures, the gallery showcases unique jewelry and furniture, decorative glass accessories and stained glass.

When the Posleys moved to Capitan from California and decided to use their extensive art backgrounds and get back into a gallery, they first opened the business across the street from its new site.

"But the inside of the building detracted from the art," Posley said. "When this building became available, I made a deal to do what I wanted here."

What he wanted was a passive gray motif in walls and carpet that would set off the art work, not compete with it.

"Now you have to look at one of three things; Betty, me or the art," Posley said. "Everything stands out. I can stack two or three pieces on a wall and they all show off."

Since moving into the 1,500-square-foot gallery, business has been good, he said.

Posley hopes to encourage community enthusiasm for art by starting with school children.

"When I came here, one of the first things I wanted to do was sponsor an art competition, but the schools weren't quite ready," he said. "Now they have agreed and on May 1, all entries will be brought to the gallery for judging the following day."

On May 3, Posley will play host at a reception for the entrants and their parents from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Entries from elementary students will be judged according to the respective ages of the creators. Works by junior and senior high students will be judged based on artistic principals by three independent judges.

"There are no restrictions on medium or subject matter," Posley said. "They don't have to frame the work. All I want is their art and we can imagine the rest."

David and Betty Posley show off some of the pieces that will be on display for the re-opening of Posley's Blue Door Gallery in Capitan. Below, they relax in the gallery.

Craft work also will be accepted. First prizes of $50 each will be awarded at the elementary and the junior-senior high levels, as will second prizes of $25 and third honorable mention prizes of $7.50. Posley's Blue Door Gallery hours will be expanded in the summer. Currently, it is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday (with the exception of this Sunday because of the grand re-opening).

These gold medal winners at state Future Homemakers of America competition in March will be in Chicago this summer to vie for national honors. They are raising money to cover part of their expenses.

Future Homemakers team wins big

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Seven of the members of Capitan's Future Homemakers of America (FHA) chapter grabbed the gold in recent state competition and will be on their way to the national contest in July.

Out of 13 competitors in the job interview category at junior high school level, Meaghan Vinson came out on top.

The parliamentary team went head-to-head against the top state competitors and also emerged victorious. Devon Darby, Sherrie Dockery, Randy Hutchison, Angie Hutchison, Micheel McGarvey and Renee Smith will be traveling with Vinson to Chicago this summer.

FHA sponsor Jan LaRue said Vinson also won a second gold award in the State Leadership Meeting and Star Events March 26-

28. Unfortunately, the category of competition, junior high baked goods, was unique to New Mexico and is not represented at the national competition.

That was the same situation for two silver winning teams who presented life situations at state, LaRue said. They are Devon Darby, Angie Hutchison, Michelle McGarvey and Sherrie Dockery at the junior high level; Sunshine Trost, Marissa Valenzuela, Bobbie Jo Disinger and Dianna Lively at the high school level.

Renee Smith won a silver medal for artistic decorations.

Silver winners in nationally-eligible events were: Letty LaRue and Bobbie Jo Disinger in illustrated talk, Dianna Lively in All Star Chapter and Marissa Valenzuela for Promotions Plus.

LaRue said to help raise money to cover the estimated $2,400 in expenses over and above the contribution from the school board, members of the FHA are selling $2 tickets to win George Strait concert tickets. The winner will be selected at 2 p.m. April 3. The concert is April 10.

LaRue said the chapter also would like to cater dinners for civic and club groups to earn money for the national trip. Any community contributions or business sponsorships would be appreciated, she said.

The group of seven students must register by mid-May to attend the national competition. The cost of registration is $1,000.

"We spent the money we previously earned to attend the state contest," LaRue said. "We're starting from scratch."

In living color

Capitan Elementary students belt out a song during rehearsal for "The Color Factory," the school's spring musical. Directed by music/band instructor Dick Valenzuela, the play will begin at 7 p.m. today in multi-purpose room.

Drama class performs

Lincoln County residents can enjoy a great night of entertainment and help raise money for the Capitan drama class all at the same time.

The money generated by ticket sales for the play, "Cracks in the Autumn Night," will be used to offset the cost of a visit to New Mexico State University.

"We'll be at the university May 1 and May 2 to see the play, 'Midsummer's Night Dream' and to tour backstage," said drama teacher Molly Weber. "The next day, Saturday, the kids will tour the campus to give them an idea of what college is all about and what to expect coming from a small school."

The Capitan students will perform the two-act Autumn Night play at 7:30 p.m. April 10 in the high school multi-purpose room.

The audience also will be treated to some classroom drama exercises.

Tickets are $3 for adults and $2 for students and may be purchased at the door.

Refreshments will be served.

MainStreet Ruidoso celebrates successful year

by KRISTIE SULZBACH
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Without the cooperation and hard work of a lot of different people MainStreet Ruidoso wouldn't be where it is today, preparing a new street scape for the down town area on Sudderth Drive. The group assessed the past year and looked forward to the coming one at the annual membership meeting on Monday night at La Lorraine.

MainStreet project director Mary Maul said many people, besides the members, have helped MainStreet accomplish what it has. Some of those include the chief of police, the street sweeper and the many other people at village hall who assisted in MainStreet plans, she said.

"They are all a part of MainStreet. We all work together and that benefits the whole community," Maul said.

One thing the organization has been able to accomplish this past year is to receive 501(c)3 status for the group, which allows individuals to donate to them on a tax deductible basis. MainStreet is also proud of a successful community update luncheon during the fall, she said.

Construction plans for phase I of the MainStreet project to improve the streets and sidewalks of Sudderth Drive from Fern Street to Country Club Drive are 90 percent complete. Maul said the actual construction probably won't begin until the spring of 1993, and a lot of work still needs to be done. She said people need to realize that joint powers agreements, contracts and tests that have to be done to accomplish this project take time to complete.

"Be patient. We are beginning to see the light at the end of the tunnel on this," Maul said.

A final public hearing is set for 9 a.m. Tuesday at the village hall. Engineer, George Radnovich of Bohannon-Huston, will be at the meeting to answer any questions people may have about the project.

In a related item Maul said Armstrong Construction, who has been contracted by the state to do a cold mill overlay on Highway 48, Sudderth Drive, is currently adjusting some manholes on the street and will begin the first step of the overlay next week. They have to scrape off about three inches, which will take about seven days, before they can begin to do the overlay, she said.

The company will then begin to put back on about two inches which will take about 22 days, Maul said. During the process two-lanes of traffic will be open at all times, and when the overlay is done people will be amazed, she said.

Board president Mike Line said the MainStreet organization is a lot of people working hard for a common goal. He recognized several special guests who have helped the group this year. They were State Representative John Underwood, Senator Pete Campos, New Mexico MainStreet director Julie Johncox and Ruidoso Mayor Victor Alonso. Also recognized, but not present, was Lou Medrano, secretary of transportation and highways.

Three directors' terms have expired, and three new members were welcomed into the group at the meeting. The new members are Madeline Shackelford of Mitchell's, Audean Franklin of the Cabbage Rose and Tom Battin of Ruidoso State Bank.

After the regular meeting, Underwood said even though Maul thanks everyone else for their work and tells them how great they are doing, it is she who is the hero of the Sudderth improvement project.

"Without Mary this project couldn't be done. People either do what Mary wants or wear ear plugs," he said.

When Underwood served as attorney for the village, Maul began talking to him about the idea for improvements. He said at first he didn't think she would be able to do it, but two years ago they got funds from the legislature to begin the project and this past year they received $300,000 because she kept working on it. Maul knows everyone and has made friends with many people in Santa Fe including the governor, he said.

Maul does all the footwork and makes it easy for him and others she deals with to do their job, Underwood said.

Johncox gave a presentation to Shackelford, Franklin and two other board members on Tuesday about the four points of MainStreet and the resources available to the group. The four points are organization, design, promotion and economic restructuring. She said design is a very major part of the organization because it can change the physical appearance of the downtown, like the plans of MainStreet Ruidoso to improve Sudderth.

The idea for MainStreet began in the 1970s when people started building malls and other centers outside of the down town area, Johncox said. To fight back, businesses in the downtown areas of cities built false facades and closed the area for pedestrians only, which made it die off quicker, she said.

In 1977 the National Historic Trust did a study on how to revitalize these down town areas and when some of the communities tried the new ideas they had success. Johncox said 652 communities nationwide in 32 states are involved in the MainStreet project. Communities active in New Mexico are Bernalillo, Deming, Gallup, Las Vegas, Roswell, Ruidoso and Silver City.

Johncox said they may bring in three new communities in New Mexico with financial help from a Community Development Block Grant through the federal Housing and Urban Development department. She said she has given presentations to six communities who are interested in applying to be a MainStreet community.

The state MainStreet was also lucky to receive $50,000 this year from the legislature to be used for contractual services for the individual communities, such as presentations on visual merchandising, marketing or architectural remodeling, she said. If there is anything in particular that MainStreet Ruidoso would like a presentation on, Johncox can help arrange for someone to come to the area.

She also encouraged the organization to use her as a resource to network with other state and federal departments, businesses and individuals across the state.

Johncox reminded the members that they are having a transition team meeting on May 21 and 22 in Gallup to discuss promotion and design for established organizations as two of the four points. The first two, organization and economic revitalization, were discussed at a statewide meeting in Santa Fe in January.

MainStreet board president Mike Line (above) presents State Representative John Underwood with a certificate of appreciation at the MainStreet annual dinner for his work this year in helping the group get legislative funds for the Sudderth Drive improvements. MainStreet received $300,000 in the last legislative session.

New Mexico MainStreet director Julie Johncox (above) welcomes two of Ruidoso's newest MainStreet directors, Audean Franklin and Madeline Shackelford, at a presentation she gave. New member Tom Battin was not present. State Senator Pete Campos (left) visits with directors and guests at the annual MainStreet dinner.

Bent gets new firetruck

by HERB SECKLER
Special to The News

Shortly after noon on March 27, the Bent Volunteer Fire Department welcomed the arrival of a new fire truck.

The event prompted one member of the community to remark, "Other than babies, calves, and colts, it's the only new thing to arrive in Bent since 1906, the year it got its name."

The Bent Fire Department was organized in August of 1987 and struggled its first year without state or county funds.

Under the guidance and leadership of Fire Chief Pete Herrera Jr. and Deputy Chief Candelario Mendoza the department took form by acquiring two surplus vehicles from the New Mexico State Forestry. The main equipment was a 500-gallon, 1951 pumper-tanker manufactured by the Reo Company (Reo is a name that only crossword puzzle enthusiasts are familiar with). A second piece of equipment was a 1967 Jeep brush-truck with a carrying capacity of 100 gallons of water.

With these relics of the past, the Bent Fire Department responded to more than 50 calls within the Bent community and also assisted in fighting the sawmill fire on the Mesalero Reservation.

Often Bent found it necessary to call for outside assistance. The aid received from the other fire departments in the county was invaluable and the debt to them has never been forgotten in the minds of the people of Bent.

After its first year, the Bent Fire Department became eligible for state and county funding. A fire station was the first major capital outlay. Then fire fighting equipment such as hoses, nozzles, tools and clothing were acquired.

In time five of its members — Mike Herrera, Luis Herrera Jr., Arnold Saenz, Raul Salazar and Ricardo Salazar — attended and completed the preliminary course at the State Firefighting Academy in Socorro.

And now comes a 1992 lime green fire engine manufactured by the Becker Corporation. It brings a 350 turbo-charged engine with a 10-speed gear box on an Autocar chassis. A stainless steel tank holds 2,000 gallons of water and at 6,000 foot elevation can pump 500 GPM at 150 PSI. It has two 1 and 1/2 inch preconnected hoses and 600 feet of 2 and 1/2 inch hose.

An added feature is a portable tank with quick dump capability.

The Bent Fire Department still has many unmet needs which include an improved communications system, but for the moment the pride in owning this new fire truck has, at least one member, Ricky Salazar, excited with the thought of showing it off in the Tularosa Rose Parade.

As for Fire Chief Herrera, "Training begins immediately!"

Alto residents complain about roads

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Alto homeowners want to know why roads paved four years ago aren't holding up well and how Lincoln County intends to handle future maintenance.

In pursuit of some answers, the local home owners association invited County road manager Bill Cupit to speak at the organization's meeting last week.

Cupit, who took over the county post about a year ago, has told the County Commission that the county is woefully underfunded when it comes to maintenance and repair of roads. It has no equipment to handle paved surfaces, which appear to be wearing out much faster in Alto than expected.

Alto residents pointed out at the meeting last week that they paid $3.4-million in assessments for paved roads that were to last 10 years.

Better and regular maintenance could extend the life of the roads, the residents said.

"Their major concern was that the county maintain a regular maintenance schedule and for us to approach them later with a plan on how to repair the roads, whether more money is needed," Cupit said.

The maintenance would include repair to the shoulders of the road, resealing them periodically to prevent undermining the road base.

"This hasn't been done in an orderly way in past," Cupit said. I've been trying to come up with a regular maintenance plan including the shoulders."

Among other things, the commission needs to decide whether to contract with a private company for paving repairs.

Association vice president Bill Hughes, who chaired the meeting, said residents paid a $3.4-million assessment and the roads were supposed to last 10 years.

"After four years, they're falling apart," Hughes said. "The shoulders were poorly done," but that might have been part of an approach proposed to homeowners as a less expensive option to save them money.

In some areas, the road bed may not be thick enough, he said.

"There's the general feeling that somehow or another the money was poorly invested and there is a serious problem and the county doesn't have the money to fix it," said Wanda Hughes, association secretary. "Somebody is responsible and we're trying to find out who and what can be done about it."

When one person at the meeting said the failure was on part of residents who agreed to lower standards, another member rose to his feet and said "I don't recall being asked if I wanted a Ford or a Cadillac."

County manger Andy Wynham said some residents believe the roads are wearing out faster than the engineer promised, possibly a by-product of building them without curbs.

Hughes said he and his wife didn't live in Alto when the road assessment project was being negotiated.

"Apparently there are some old grievances and that irritation came out at the meeting," Hughes said, noting his use of the gavel to keep emotions in check.

"A number of people in Alto feel winter has done a job on the roads," Hughes said "And an awful lot of heavy trucks are coming in here, way beyond what the roads are designed to bear. The problem is we don't know the standard."

"I think the general understanding was that after county completes its studies, some concrete standards will be developed and perhaps we can sit down and discuss everything with less emotion."

Wynham said some of the residents indicated they would like to participate in putting the numbers together.

"I don't think they are unwilling to pay their fair share, providing they receive assurances that they get their fair share," he said.

"They had questions about amount of taxes they are paying for the maintenance they receive. Bill (Cupit) let them know the level and the amount."

"I think they understood his (financial) limitations."

A few residents questioned the wisdom of the way roads were laid out in Alto, in some cases with exceptionally steep grades that cannot be cleared during the winter, Wynham said. "They questioned the engineering prowess," he said.

"These roads were approved at a time when a lot of subdivisions were coming in and the county was really busy. It's slower now and the county should be real strict with what it approves."

"A lot can be reviewed and changed on paper. Those roads go way beyond (any grades that should have been approved)."

Gail Brownfield declares candidacy for DA

Attorney Gail Wade Brownfield has announced that she is a Democratic candidate for the office of District Attorney for the Twelfth Judicial District.

Brownfield graduated from Alamogordo High School in 1969, from the University of New Mexico. She was admitted to the bar that same year.

An experienced prosecutor, Brownfield was an Assistant District Attorney for four years, and prosecuted many court martials in the Air Force during her six years as a Judge Advocate General. Upon completion of her military service in 1987, Brownfield returned to Alamogordo as a trial attorney.

According to a press release, Brownfield believes that her many years of prosecuting criminals will give the taxpayers the best attorney for the job.

"I do not intend to be a bureaucratic District Attorney who never goes into the courtroom. I am primarily a trial attorney and look forward to personally prosecuting the difficult cases that need my expertise to earn a conviction," said Brownfield.

She is also concerned about the impact of the effect of the District Attorney's policies upon the innocent.

"I believe the District Attorney has two jobs. One is to protect the community by vigorously prosecuting those persons against whom there is enough proof to support a criminal conviction beyond a reasonable doubt. Just as important, however, is the prosecutorial duty to protect the innocent from criminal charges which cannot be supported by legally admissible evidence. I will make no prosecutorial decisions based upon political considerations."

Further, Brownfield said she believes the DA's office needs to become more fiscally responsible. "When I became an Assistant District Attorney in 1978, Judge Doughty was the District Attorney, and we had four Assistant District Attorneys. We now have seven in the office, and yet the office does not handle all of the functions we did in 1978: representing Otero and Lincoln counties, the Department of Human Services in abuse and neglect cases, and filing URESA claims for back child support. I will provide an experienced attorney to represent the counties full-time and give the taxpayers the most services for their money."

Brownfield said she is a proven administrator, citing as an example her work as Claims Officer at Holloman Air Force Base.

"I reduced the time to process claims from five days to one day," said Brownfield. "People were waiting two weeks to get an appointment; after I took over, we went to a walk-in system. In my first nine months, I more than doubled the amount recovered the entire previous year."

This record earned Brownfield a commendation from General Charles Horner.

Brownfield believes the District Attorney's office should take the initiative in the gang intervention effort, and proposes to hire a mediator to stop the violence before it erupts.

LETTERS

Reader calls on neighbors to get involved

TO THE EDITOR:

I have been a resident of the beautiful Hondo Valley for three years. I was born and raised in San Diego, California. San Diego is a beautiful city in its own right, but suffers from the same problems and pollution that its neighbor city, Los Angeles, does.

In search of a safe and pollution free environment in which to live and raise my children, I began looking for a new home. I chose Ruidoso, and purchased a small ranch in the Hondo Valley.

In the three short years I have been here I have been involved in two major environmental battles. The problem is — the federal government has decided that New Mexico is a write-off. It is the fifth largest state and the least populated. Politically it is "safe" to designate this beautiful state a dumping site for anything they can't get rid of elsewhere.

I am writing this letter in hopes of reaching those native and long-time residents of the city of Ruidoso and surrounding areas who up to this time have shown very little interest in their environment. Those of us who have been involved in this most recent battle of fighting the Department of Energy's Brain Child called MRS through a group called SWNA (Southwest Nuclear Alert) would like to extend an invitation to each member of the community to get involved and stop this disaster.

Some of the more common reasons for non-involvement stated are:

1. Oh, Mr. Chino just really wants gambling (come on folks—he already has gambling; it is even advertised right on the highway so you won't miss the turn to the Inn).

2. Chino does this type of thing, he just wants the money.

3. They won't really put it in the mountains of New Mexico, they will probably land swap for some other land.

4. There is just nothing I can do — besides he might close the ski area.

The biggest problem we have run up against is with the local merchants in Ruidoso and the employees who work for Mr. Chino. They have been completely scared into silence by Mr. Chino and have basically refused to come to any meetings, post "MRS Watch" letters in their place of business, and have asked the kids in the town (The future does belong to them!) to stop picketing and marching in Midtown.

SWNA wants our local merchants to understand we stand behind them as community members, but we encourage them not to allow Mr. Chino to intimidate them into silence.

We now are entering Phase II —

Phase II has two parts. Part one is $200,000 to be used for media and "propaganda" in the local communities. They have been doing a real good job of that by visiting our local clubs like Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis. Ruidoso will start seeing ads in the papers and MRS literature — even the reservation is setting up an information office for those who want to learn more about an MRS operation.

Mr. Miller Hudson (Santa Claus) has been making those wonderful promises to everyone. The thing he forgot to tell all of you is that the Department of Energy only gives these give away "goodies" (money, schools, roads, etc.) to the Indian Nation that will house this facility. I would say that is just a small mistake. The other thing he has failed to let you know is that once Mr. Chino signs for Phase II, Part II, all federal liability will go away and if there are any problems or accidents caused by the federal government's development of an MRS facility — it is Ruidoso's tough luck. You can't sue the federal government after all!

I am writing this letter to encourage each community member to get involved now in the Phase II—MRS battle. Contrary to popular belief, the current SWNA members are not a bunch of "radical, environmentalists." We are technically qualified, college educated, professional people who came here because of the beauty and pollution free environment (we are educated enough to know you don't live next to a nuclear facility of any type without getting exposure which causes many types of cancer.) Many of us gave up high paying jobs, careers and family to relocate. We have a right to protest this type of development in our community. We are spending our time and money to try and save this community as well as human life (that's right human life—Mr. Hudson forgot to tell you that the accident kill zone from a "minor" accident is 70 miles. That means while you are watching Monday Night Football on TV if they have just a "small accident" you will die from the exposure).

I encourage any and all people in Ruidoso and the surrounding areas to come to a SWNA (Southwest Nuclear Alert) meeting. We meet at 5 p.m. every Monday in the Public Meeting Room at Ruidoso High School. We welcome your attendance and your ideas on the MRS situation.

If you do not get involved to stop the MRS facility, you will have the national distinction (thanks to the federal government and Mr. Chino) of living in the "most hazardous place in the universe."

Apathy on MRS appalls part-time resident

TO THE EDITOR:

Like a nightmare from which there is no awakening, the Mesalero MRS progresses on. The predator creeps closer to its victim. The little community of Ruidoso comes closer to paradise lost.

Phase 2 is not an innocent step involving more insignificant studies. It is a serious agreement to move ever closer to a completion of a deadly high level radiation nuclear dump. It is an intensification of the war to control your mind.

Think tanks are continuing to evaluate the weaknesses and intellect of Ruidoso and the Mesalero tribe. They are mapping out the road to a successful attempt at installing the MRS.

The DOE, through Pacific Nuclear and other contractors, will soon take over more and more of the Mesalero tribal government, culminating in total control. This same process will eventually seize control of the Ruidoso government. When the local population no longer has the ability to influence its elected government, a massive exodus will occur leaving only a shell of what was once a striving community. A modern day White Oaks.

If Ruidoso dies it will have been killed by its own apathy, greed, character, and unrealistic fears.

I am a tourist. The city's fears of losing tourists is based totally on the wrong assumptions. My visits to Ruidoso are not affected by people's expression of outrage about the Mesalero MRS rather the community's attempts to squelch this outrage is what has me and most other tourists concerned.

Criticism of demonstrators exercising their right as free Americans, the local business response to Chino's foray into the city, the discontinuation of school day at Ski Apache and the city's lack of response to this, the water rights issue and the city's lack of a public support position for the people in the valley, the garbage dump issue and the lack of support by the city toward those who were fighting to protect the area, it goes on and on.

Apathy is what will turn away visitors and prospective retirees, not strong positions demonstrating the city's resolve to exercise and protect its rights and its people's rights.

The city's character is being tested to the limit on this sinister MRS issue. The DOE's think tanks have concluded the city lacks character and resolve and is moving forward on MRS. There are many, many, strong willed and principled citizens in Ruidoso. They are unfortunately muzzled and intimidated by the few who lack these qualities. The city and county governments are threatened, teachers are threatened, students are threatened, businesses are threatened, the media is threatened, employees are threatened. This will kill Ruidoso and the entire area, not demonstrations against MRS, not hard staked positions against MRS, not hard positions against the advocates of MRS.

Ruidoso is reading the tourists wrong. Most, if not all the tourists, would join in the effort to defeat MRS. They also love the area.

We are all saying to ourselves, "Why don't they wake-up and get aggressive about stopping the MRS?" The time will soon come when those of us who have fought so hard to protect the area from nuclear pollution will say, "So be it, you cannot save that which will not try to save itself."

Wranglers take the slow boat to China

James Hobbs and his Flying J Wranglers are still scheduled to perform in the Far East, but they feel like they're taking the slow boat to China.

Hobbs said Lu Fei-Jiang, the performance manager he's working with, has verbal approval, but is still working to get the official letter of approval from the minister of culture in China.

"He has had verbal approval, but he kind of has to stand on his head to get them to write his letter," said Hobbs, who owns, operates and performs at the Flying J Ranch in Ruidoso each summer.

The Wranglers gained national attention when they performed in New York City, and going international was just the next step for the musical group.

Lu Fei-Jiang is allowed to make proposals to the government to bring people over or to set up concerts for Chinese performers, explained Hobbs, who isn't totally surprised that the concert tour has been bogged down in bureaucracy.

"They have us scheduled for May 1 through 15, and the minister of culture is asking that we reschedule again," said Hobbs. Meanwhile, the enthusiasm for the Wranglers is growing among the Chinese officials who have seen and heard the group's videotapes.

"The minister of culture is telling Lu Fei-Jiang they'll come out and have a reception," said Hobbs. "We're going to get a higher level of treatment now than we were before."

"What we're running up against is the same thing a lot of businesses that try to deal with China run into," said Hobbs. "The bureaucracy over there is unreal. It wouldn't be unusual to wait two years on a project like this."

Hobbs wants his fans to know that he and the Wranglers are still going to China — either before his summer season at the Flying J Ranch or next fall after his season closes.

"We're still invited, and they still want us," said Hobbs who is waiting for his contact in China to work out the details.

The Wranglers will open Saturday, May 23, at the Flying J Ranch and will present their western dinner and show six nights a week through Labor Day.

The Plant Corner

Sally's last word on lilacs and forsythia

Dear Cleo:

Since reading last week's column, I feel very badly about how little help I actually gave you on how to grow Lilacs and Forsythia. I'm sorry and will do the best I can to help you this week. I feel much better this week, I'm taking all my medication regularly and am off that silly diet to lose a few pounds. I thought back to what my mother use to say about all those tall lean and lanky folks, "Only dogs enjoy a lot of bones."

I did a column about a year ago about Lilacs and Forsythia. You didn't say in your letter if you were planting new stock or how to care for older plants. Let me tell you how and where to plant new stock.

Lilacs and Forsythia do best in full sun, but will tolerate light shade. They will grow in any good garden soil. Preferably it should be neutral, neither heavily acid or alkaline.

You can plant Lilacs in the yard as a background for flower borders, use them as a most attractive hedge, or spot plant individual specimens for special color effects. They're a fine mixer since their glossy green foliage blends well with many other plantings all season.

You can prune these plants to fit your exact needs - from free-growing bushy hedges 10' tall to just a few trunks and no branches below waist level to make very pretty flowering trees. It is best to have stems of all ages on the plant as the younger stems produce strong new growth, but it is the older stems which

by Sally Black

bear the flowers. Eventually Lilacs may become overgrown. Not to worry, these old plants can be cut back to within a foot of ground level and in 2 or 3 years they will become free flowering again.

Nothing brings spring indoors better than a large vase filled with Lilacs. Both the flowers and foliage fills the room with perfume.

In the Ruidoso area, both Lilacs and Forsythia need some protection the first couple of years after planting. Protection from strong winds and winter mulching is helpful with our freezing and thawing factor.

Soil-don't expect fast growth, these plants are slow starters, it must get accustomed to it's new home. But once Lilacs start growth, they can be quite dramatic. Dig a deep hole and add plenty of peat moss and manure to make a very porous mixture.

Water-Keep young plants moist. They will need only normal water after first year or so. When well established, these plants can stand some drought and they should never stand in water.

Light-prefers full sun in climates under 90 degrees. When warmer, provide light shade for protection.

Temperature-best when winter temperatures go down to 15 degrees and in summer up to 90 degrees.

Fertilizer-do not over-feed. Add organic fertilizer in the hole around the plant and mulch to cover the manure and to also hold in the moisture.

Pests-scale and leaf-miner are the only important pests, leaf spot and mildew are occasional problems.

Now more specifically about the Forsythia. Both plants have about the same requirements to grow, however, there is a very special "Weeping Forsythia" that I just love, it is truly a spectacular plant. This weeping variety can also be trained as a vine. They grow to about 8' tall with an 8' spread. Drooping, vine-like branches root where they touch damp soil, thus making a supper plant for banks and ditches! Just can't tell you how pretty this Weeping Forsythia is and I hope for your special pleasure all of you will rush out and buy a few of these plants.

I could write another column next week about Lilacs and Forsythia and still not tell you all I know and love about these two plants, but I won't.

The Silver Lining

Mountain world welcomes April

The Mountain World Prepares for April

This is being sent to you on March 30, a little before high noon with clouds floating in a blue sky, casting the hills and vales and meadows into a mountain world of moving sunshine and shadow.

The fields are turning green before your eyes, after a night and day of steady soaking rain; and the air is clear, clean washed by the rain drops, so that the pines and cedars on the hillsides are plainly outlined as if inviting your eyes to behold the children of Mother Earth on this day in late March, with all the mountain land ready to welcome in April, the month of flowers.

The colors of the American flag, floating in a light eastern breeze, are especially brilliant and bright on this special day.

The Blossom Parade Begins to Move

Every Spring, beginning at Riverside, the blossom parade begins marching up the valley. And from Tularosa another leaf and blossom parade begins traveling up through the Mescalero reservation to the top of the Mountain.

At the lower end of the Ruidoso Valley the apricot blooms are leading the parade followed by the white blooms of the early plum. Next come the pink blooms of the peach, charming the countryside with its bright color of spring amid the green leaves. The pie cherry blooms about the same time as the peach, followed by the crystal white of the sweet cherry; and the pear with its snowy white blossoms covering the tall trees. Last of all is the pink and white apple blossom adding the final touch to the color and fragrance of the blossom pageant.

Today the fragrance of the early fruit blooms and the incense of the cottonwood buds reaches you on the breeze drifting up the valley, carrying the breath of early spring.

The abundant snows of the winter has given us a running start into a green and flowery summer; and now with the April showers coming in late March, we are on our way to one of the finest summers in many a day.

Inez Nash

Services were held March 25 at the Ruidoso Baptist Church for Inez Nash, who was called Home by our Lord on March 22.

The Reverend Wayne Joyce read from the Gospel according to Saint John: "I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am there ye may be also".

Norma Phillips, accompanying herself on the piano, sang "The Old Rugged Cross", "Amazing Grace" and "Peace in The Valley."

The Reverend Joyce gave a message based upon the Second Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Corinthians: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens".

The Reverend Wayne said that Inez had been coming to The Ruidoso Baptist Church since 1980, and that she was a faithful member and a devout Christian lady.

Inez was a true Christian in her daily life, always helpful, and considerate of the needs of others.

She and her husband, Gene, always sent me birthday, Easter and Christmas cards. They were very kind during my 100-day stay in the hospital during the winter of 1971. Inez brought sunshine into our lives, and the blessings she brought to us, and the blessings she brought to us will remain with us always.

We rejoice that our dear friend, Inez, has been welcomed into Heaven by Our Lord.

The Prodigal Son

At last Sunday's services at Saint Anne's Chapel at Glencoe, Father John Penn preached an inspiring sermon on the Gospel according to Saint Luke - how the father went running to embrace his prodigal son when he saw him returning home.

Father John reminded us that our Heavenly Father will embrace us also, as we return to Him after wandering astray.

Good People

We are fortunate in Lincoln County to have a healthful climate and surroundings of great natural beauty. We are also blessed with good people, from one end of the county to the other and throughout the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

Today you hear a lot about elected officials. Ever since we came here in 1925, I have noticed that the county officials have been helpful, considerate and friendly. The same tradition continues today. The elected officials in all the towns and villages of the county follow the same pattern.

Of course New Mexico itself is a region of fine people; and our state and national elected officials are outstanding. Let us thank the Lord for the good people of our county, state and nation - and all our other many blessings.

NMMI offers summer classes

New Mexico Military Institute will offer a five-week summer session again this year, beginning June 14 and continuing through July 17, according to Col. Joseph Tuso, academic dean.

Designed to give students the opportunity to strengthen weak subjects or make up shortages in their graduation requirements, the high school will offer four levels of English, plus English as a second language, Spanish, earth science, computer concepts, biology, chemistry, world and U.S. history, economics, U.S. government, typing, algebra, geometry, pre-algebra, and horsemanship.

College-level courses will include elementary and intermediate algebra, physics, computer concepts, typing, U.S. politics and government, comparative world politics, macro economics, elementary Spanish, basic writing and freshman English composition. Two courses will be considered a full load in both high school and college, Tuso said. Both the high school and college curricula have been expanded.

Students may obtain registration forms and additional information by writing: NMMI Summer School, Office of Admissions, 101 W. College, Roswell, NM 88201-5173. The toll-free number is 1-800-421-5378.

Students win air show tickets

Evan Remington, a third grader at White Mountain Elementary School in Ruidoso, and Zachary Vinson, a Capitan kindergarten student, were among winners in the Spectacular Air Show ticket design contest.

The two were among 40 district winners selected and each will receive two adult and two child tickets to the Air Show. Their teachers will also receive two tickets.

Roswell third grader Bonzalo Talamantes Jr. is the grand prize winner of the Spectacular Air Show New Mexico 1992 - Ticket Design Contest.

Gonzalo's design of a red and blue United States Air Force Thunderbird jet will appear on the Air Show tickets.

The contest was designed to provide an opportunity for grade school students to exhibit artistic design talent by capturing the spirit of the Air Show theme, "The Thunder Rolls".

Entries were judged on use of theme, artistic ability and reproduction capacity.

Ruidoso Altrusa featured in club's national magazine

Ruidoso Altrusa Club received recognition for the mammogram program members sponsor each October at the Lincoln County Medical Center.

The club's annual program was featured this month in the Altrusa Accent, an international newsletter. The story explains how breast cancer can be detected in the early stages with a mammogram, but many women can not afford a regular screening at the hospital which would cost about $150.

The Ruidoso Altrusa Club, in partnership with Lincoln County Medical Center, offers a yearly screening at a cost of only $50 so they can reach more women.

The club has been doing the project for three years and began with 123 women the first year. Last year they were up to 300 patients. In the first week of the program this year, the radiologist detected a large tissue mass in one woman, and if this had been the only problem found, the screening would have been worthwhile, a doctor commented.

Sally Avery, Altrusa member, said one of the district governors of Altrusa credits this program with saving her life because they found a malignancy in its early stages and were able to stop it from spreading.

FAITH REMINDS US THAT WEALTH ONLY RAISES OUR TAXES

Since money was invented by Those folks of long ago, We've often seemed to magnify The need for earning "dough." It's handy to a great extent To cure financial ills, As well as for the food and rent, And paying doctor bills. Yet some of us will break our backs To seek excessive wealth, Which only brings a higher tax And undermines our health. It's time we let our faith explain The best of life's reward: That we receive our greatest gain By trusting in the Lord.
