THURSDAY, MAY 7, 1992

RUIDOSO, NM 86345

NO. 3 IN OUR 47TH YEAR 50 CENTS

Race track opens

Ruidoso Downs Race Track opens its gates today for 1992's 74-day racing season.

First post is at 1 p.m. and the world's fastest two-year-old quarter horses will be on the track to begin their quest for the triple crown of horse racing. It starts with the Rambo and ends with the All American on Labor Day.

General admission is free to the mountain track, with plenty of parking available and snacks, drinks and meals available in your choice of settings.

Two graded stakes performers are entered in Saturday's $20,000-added Mr. Jet Moore Stakes, the first stake of the 1992 summer season. The Grade III Mr. Jet Moore is for 4-year-old and older Quarter Horses.

Also at the top for Saturday is the simulcast of the Grade I Ocala $700,000 Pimlico Special from Pimlico Racecourse in Maryland.

Ruidoso Downs Race Track is all set for a big Thoroughbred and Quarter Horse action on the scenic backdrop of the majestic Sierra Blanca 74-day racing season with plenty of two well-groomed tracks that have a beautiful peak. First post-time 1 p.m. today.

Warrior golfers take district

The Ruidoso Warriors won the Mountain West District 1 AAA boys' golf tournament today at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The team, coached by Bill Hostetter, defeated the Silver Lining team 187-135 in the final round.

For the second year in a row, the Warriors won the tournament. The weather was very windy and the course was very respectful. The Warriors fired 339 for the week. Other scores included Deming 340, Silver Lining 345, Deming 348, and Silver Lining 355.

In the girls division, the Warriors won the Warrior, page 2A.

Village whittles away at deficit

by CHARLES STALLINGS

The Ruidoso Village Council today passed a message to the San Patricio community. The council, led by Mayor Mike Depina, manager Gary Jackson, and council members, passed a resolution to respect the village's debt service. However, the council appears to have a larger goal in mind.

TRANSFER FUND BALANCE FROM SOLID WASTE FUND $189,000

We have a lease purchase agreement with the Lincoln County Waste Authority. Over a 15-year period we will be getting up to $100,000 a year in the form of the assets the village has in its solid waste department," Jackson said.

With the county's $42,000 payment, $100,000 payment next year and another $40,000 plus in 1992 up profits, that totals about $189,000 to be transferred into the new fund, he said.

TRANSFER 2 MILL FROM GENERAL OBLIGATION DEBT SERVICE TAX LEVY TO MUNICIPAL OPERATIONS $268,000

In total tax rate we have 16 mills, said Jackson. Five mills is for municipal operations such as police, fire and street departments. Jackson said 11 mills (about $5.5 million) is budgeted for debt service retirement, general obligation and other services.

The council also passed a resolution to pay off the village's debt. The council has a goal of paying off the debt by the end of the year.

Decrease subsidy to Civic Center operations $50,000

Sewer bonds, general obligation bonds, general obligation bonds. We've got in the neighborhood of 1.5 million in general obligation debt. I don't know how much of that is considered for the sale of the main building, said Jackson.

A 40-year-old building, the village's outstanding debt, will be paid off by the end of the year. The Ruidoso News.

Originally, a $2,000,000 transfer from the general fund was recommended for center operation and advertising.

"Now we are going to allow whatever is left from the Economic Development Fund, a match from the general fund, to help subsidize the operation of the center. That will lower the subsidy to about $500,000." Please see Village, page 2A.

WEATHER REPORT

Wednesday's low	40
Wednesday's high	65
Thursday's low	44
Thursday's predicted high	upper 60s
Friday's predicted low	lower 40s
Friday's predicted high	near 70

According to Ruidoso's meteorologist Bill Hostetter the weather for today will be partly cloudy and mild with scattered showers and chance of thundershowers. For tonight it will be mostly cloudy and mild with showers and chance of thundershowers. Friday will be partly cloudy with scattered showers and chance of thundershowers.

Precipitation probabilities are 30 percent today, 40 percent tonight and 30 percent Friday.

Precipitation totals: total for the month to date is 0.17 inches or 0.02 inches below normal, total for the year to date is 5.32 inches or 0.52 inches above normal. The snow this season is 66.6 inches, or 17.7 inches above normal.

The outlook for Saturday through Monday: Continued chance of showers Saturday and Sunday. Fair Monday. Temperatures above the seasonal low of 33 and near the high of 72.

From The Almanac: Ruidoso's last spring freeze in 1991 occurred on May 18 with a low temperature reading of 31 degrees.

$183,000 or by $50,000," Jackson said.

Money for the Economic Development Fund is raised through a match of the Lodgers Tax. However, lodgers tax is 4 percent, Economic Development is matched at 3 percent of each dollar spent.

Therefore, the Economic Development Fund ordinance requires that 3/4 of the receipts of lodgers tax collected in the previous year be matched in the Economic Development Fund.

If the village receives the projected $260,000 in lodgers tax, 75 percent, roughly $210,000 would be the match for Economic Development.

"The Economic Development Fund will pay for the bond on the civic events center, about $94,000 per year; plus part of the operation and maintenance of the center," Jackson said. The rest will come out of the general fund and $10,000 out of lodgers tax to advertise.

Total advertising budget for the center next year is $89,000.

The center will operate on a $60,000 lodgers tax transfer this year.

DECREASE SUBSIDY TO E.M.S. - $42,500

"We're going to establish a savings account for an ambulance. The ambulance requested in the budget costs $85,000," Jackson said.

He said it could take as long as 12 to 18 months to get in operation.

"In this coming budget year (instead of allocating the full $85,000) we will set aside half the cost, $42,500 and authorize EMS to order the ambulance for a delivery date after July 1993, and then set aside the other $42,500 in the 1993 budget," Jackson said.

ADDITIONAL AMOUNT TO TRANSPORTATION FUND ($13,000)

The bracketed $13,000 represents an addition to the deficit and not a reduction. This late add on is for a feasibility study.

Jackson said $61,000 was the original subsidy for the new Transportation Fund, set up for a bus system in Ruidoso.

The village is applying for a grant through the Urban Mass Transit Administration (UMTA). Jackson said UMTA will pay 80 percent of capital acquisition and 50 percent of operation.

The total cost of that department next year will be about $200,000, requiring a $75,000 (up from $61,000) subsidy from the General Fund.

The $200,000 transit plan, according to Transportation Board head Dick Weber, is to have two big greyhound-type buses, one going down Mechem the other going down Sudderth, with walkie-talkies to help them co-ordinate stops.

ASSESSMENT DISTRICT EXPENSE ($10,000)

The bracketed figure represents an additional cost for a new line item within the legislative (council) for the upfront preliminary engineering costs for an assessment district.

An area of town that doesn't have paving or sewer, but is willing to pay those costs creates upfront costs for the village, according to Jackson.

The new assessment district line item of $30,000 was created by pulling $20,000 from an existing contingency fund and $10,000 (shown in brackets above) from the general fund's new budget surplus.

LOWER SUBSIDY RECREATION - $229,000

Jackson said the Parks and Recreation Fund cannot support itself and requires a subsidy from the General Fund.

"This year we have a substantial request for capital outlay items, many of which are improvements to real property as opposed to a new purchase," Jackson said. He gave examples of restroom improvements and construction.

The majority of improvements are lumped into a single capital outlay expenditure of $158,000.

On the revenue side of the ledger, the council wants $158,000 from the sale of real property.

If the property is not sold, the capital outlay will not be spent.

That proposed wash, along with other capital outlay cuts, helps reduce the subsidy by the General Fund by about $229,000.

REFUND AIRPORT BOND (20 Yr) - $101,000

"We have existing gross receipts tax bonds that finance the construction of the airport.

"Our financial adviser looked at two new options on refunding those bonds. One would be restructuring the existing debt to an additional 15 years or an additional 20 years," Jackson said.

An additional 15 years would free $66,000 per year in cash flow. An additional 20 years would free $100,000 per year in cash flow.

Jackson said although cash flow improves, interest over the life of the bond increases substantially.

It adds $1.4 million in interest expense, he said.

LOWER SUBSIDY CORRECTION FEES - $450

Jackson said Ruidoso is jailing Ruidoso Downs prisoners at a charge of about $35 per prisoner per day. A workshop proposal would increase that to $50 per day. Total revenue is now $1,200. That means it would produce another $450.

LOWER SUBSIDY - AIRPORT INCREASED CHARGES - $5,000

Subsidy to the airport was to be about $118,000 according to Jackson.

"The airport does not generate enough fees to stand alone yet, so the General Fund has to make a transfer," he said.

Jackson said the debt has been reduced downward by $140,000 this year which seems to be in the right direction.

A council proposal to increase airplane tie-down fees would produce another $5,000 in revenue, thereby reducing airport subsidy by that amount.

At a recent workshop, the council was reminded federal loans paid for airport construction; therefore, tie-down increases would apply to everyone. Alto would be most affected with its 40 planes.

ETCETERA

Eliminate one patrol unit $13,500: Five patrol cars were requested, one is being eliminated.

Eliminate two P.C.'s/Printer $6,300: Request by police department.

Reduce Boards and Commissions $1,500: Lump sum account in Legislative (councilors) reduced from $2,000 to $500.

Reduce Art and Film Commission $2,000: Staff error. The $4,000 budgeted is split over two years, this year and next. This money also represents a state match.

Appraisal fees for sale of property ($5,000) New add on cost.

Reduce vehicle maintenance $1,000: Administrative department.

Eliminate new copier, $17,000: City Hall request.

Add back up copier, ($1,500) Cost for table top copier at City Hall.

Eliminate automated attendant, $9,506: New telephone system at village hall. The cut involved some of the system's sophistication.

Reduce dues and subscriptions $700: Planning Department.

Eliminate desk and chair, $540: Planning Department.

Eliminate Capital Outlay $24,000: Vehicle maintenance.

Eliminate mini van, $14,000: Purchasing.

The preliminary budget will be presented to council Tuesday night. If approved, the budget would be submitted to the Department of Finance Administration (DFA). DFA must have the preliminary budget by June 1. The final budget deadline is July 20.

The boys JV scorers included Robert Sayner, 86; Scott Christensen, 90, Byron Soules, 96; Ryan Wall, 98 and Lance Roe, 111.

The district runner-up girls team was made up of Morris, Kendra Eggleston, Jamie Sanchez, Robyn Hursh and Danielle Morris. While the JV and girls varsity have concluded the season, with much success, the boys team must now prepare for its final challenge of the year — the state championship. The Warriors will enjoy the home course advantage as the AAA schools will compete at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club, next Monday and Tuesday.

While the small schools play at Alto, the Links at Sierra Blanca will host the AAAA boys and the girls from both divisions will play Cree Meadows. In all, the tournament will bring in excess of 200 golfers to Ruidoso for the championship.

The Warriors finished third in the Leroy Gooch Invitational, here, last month against a similar field. Goddard, Lovington and Albuquerque Academy appear to be the pre-tournament favorites.

Smokey Stover takes the lead in village landscaping projects

Like a modern day Johnny Appleseed, wherever Smokey Stover goes, trees soon sprout behind him.

For years Stover has been sowing the seeds of cooperation with community organizations such as the Altrusa Club and Rotary.

His plans are not just to beautify Ruidoso, but to create large parks and small pockets of attractive recreation and picnic areas.

Last week, Stover, who is chairman of the village parks and recreation board, was at it again.

In his hands-on style, Stover had rounded up financial support and volunteer labor to plant 50 trees around the White Mountain school campus.

The project cost about $4,000 and will add a rim of flowering trees like red bud and crabapple mixed with willows, cottonwood and maples around the two (and soon to be three) schools.

"I picked trees that grow fast," Stover said, directing a donated auger to the next planting point. Lilac bushes, forsythia and graceful Spiraea or bridal wreath will provide the finishing touches.

"They bloom for six weeks in the spring and the bridal wreath grows to six feet, then arches over like a big bouquet," Stover explained.

Texas-New Mexico Power loaned Stover the auger for the project. When the first round of planting is finished, 50 trees will have been put in the ground by students from Ruidoso Middle School's agricultural class.

Parkway with tables and large boulders so it can become a real family recreation area," Stover said.

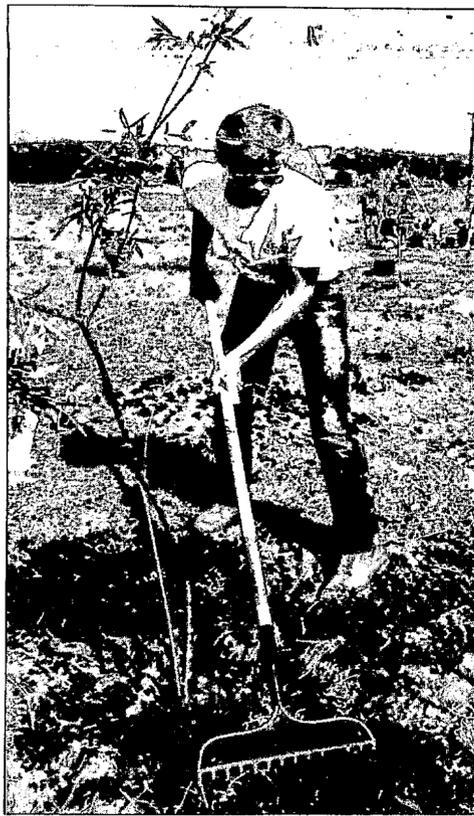

With his special enthusiasm and ability to follow through, it won't surprise anyone if that dream soon turns into a reality.

The students also welded and assembled the picnic tables, benches and grills that eventually will grace White Mountain School Park.

"I plan to build windbreakers along the path," Stover said with a flourish of his arm to the west.

"They're also making planters to go around the White Mountain schools and at the high school from another fund I'm raising through the banks," Stover said.

His dreams don't stop there. "I want to make Gavilan Canyon

Underage drinking is illegal, even for the Class of 1992!

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

High school graduations this month in communities throughout Lincoln County will bring celebrations with families and friends.

Unfortunately, some of the "fun" may be fueled by alcohol.

And some of that alcohol may be provided by parents.

But allowing children, who are not your own and are under 21, to drink could send a parent to prison.

"I need to inform parents that while it is legal to allow their own children to drink while they are supervising and the child actually is in their presence, if that child leaves, they could be open to charges," said Sheriff James McSwane.

"If a parent allows that child to leave and other children consume the alcohol, parents could be convicted of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, a fourth degree felony, punishable by 18 months in the penitentiary."

McSwane said he has encountered parents who assume as long as a party at their home is closed and they are there to supervise, it's all right to allow drinking. "But state law doesn't say that," McSwane said. "Even if the parent is present all the time, it is illegal to provide alcohol or to allow it to be consumed by other people's children."

Many parents simply are uninformed about the law, he said. If a child has been drinking and leaves a party, there also is the added danger of their diminished capacity to function behind the wheel of a car or truck.

"It would be tough for anyone to live with the thought that they might have contributed to an accident where someone was injured or killed," McSwane said.

Plenty of tasty, non-alcoholic party drinks are available, he said. Parents may be sending the wrong message to their children by tying a celebration to alcohol.

Briefs

Landfill closed Saturday

Don't plan on dropping off any yard debris or big items at the Capitan landfill this weekend.

The Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority announced it will be closed Saturday, May 9.

Forest helpers need homes

Temporary lodging is needed for volunteers who donate their time and muscle to the Smokey Bear Ranger District. Peg Crim of the U.S. Forest Service said the volunteers come to Ruidoso from all over the United States to help build trails, to pick up litter, to watch for fires, to greet the public, to plant native vegetation and to help with office work.

"Without their assistance, many projects on the national forest would not be accomplished," Crim said. The volunteers need local host homes. They are over 18 and receive a stipend for their food and utilities. They would be working about 40 hours per week for the service. If you or someone you know has extra room to share with these volunteers, please contact Crim or Sam Tobias at 257-4095.

Logo winner

Debbie Jones was announced as the winner of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority logo contest. Former LCWSA chairman Victor Alonso presents Jones with a check for $250 for her outstanding design, shown by board member Bill Allen.

Four defendants enter pleas in separate cases

A recent rash of embezzlement cases have flooded the Twelfth District Court in Carrizozo.

Three of the defendants have entered pleas of not guilty to the charges and a fourth was sentenced last week after pleading guilty.

According to assistant district attorney Viola Rhodes, Gia Stirman pled guilty to embezzlement over $2,500. Her three-year sentence was deferred and she was placed on probation. The court ordered restitution of $2,500.

Stirman was charged in a case involving United New Mexico Bank where she worked at the time of the incident.

According to court records in the other cases:

—Mary Najar, former magistrate court clerk in Carrizozo, entered a plea of not guilty to forgery, embezzlement over $20,000, and breaking and entering. She was released after posting a $30,000 appearance bond.

—Denice Mize, 23, of Alamogordo pled not guilty to seven counts of embezzlement stemming from alleged misappropriations of more than $100,000 during her employment with GTE.

—Kathy Tetrault, 34, entered a plea of not guilty to embezzlement connected to her employment at a local clothing and accessory shop.

Bounced bus passenger dies in crash

The Lincoln County Sheriff's Department worked a death by accident with the State Police late Wednesday near Corona.

According to a sketchy report from Sheriff James McSwane's office, a Greyhound bus driver allegedly kicked two drunks off of the bus in Corona. The two reportedly stole a vehicle which they flipped shortly thereafter. One died, the other is in a Tucumcari jail.

McSwane's office didn't know the name of the victim, the name of the arrested, the kind of vehicle or the particulars of the wreck.

Warriors make tracks for districts

The track team is on the home stretch and can see the finish line of the regular season at the district competition this weekend in Ruidoso.

Socorro is hosting the event, but the competition will be at Ruidoso High School starting at 11 a.m. Saturday. Several Warriors have already qualified for the state meet on May 15 and 16 in Albuquerque, but still have one shot left.

On Monday the team traveled to Lovington to compete in a tournament that had been scheduled for Saturday but was cancelled because of high winds. The girls finished in second place in the team standings with 97 points behind host Lovington who scored 106 points. The boys scored 59 points to earn third place behind Lovington and Goddard.

Coach Ronny Maskew said the team did well at the meet, and it was good preparation for districts on Saturday.

In the girls competition, Sarah Dix will be competing in state in the long jump after she earned first place with a distance of 17 feet four inches. This mark also earned her the school record in the event. Kristie Ryan won fourth place with a jump of 15-5. Monica Martinez qualified for state in the shot put with a throw of 34-2, which also earned her third place. She also won second place in the discus with a throw of 114-8, but had already qualified for state.

Jody Randle also qualified for state in the high jump at 5-2, which also earned her first place. Kami Bailey cleared five feet for third place and also a spot on the state roster. Luisa Tam earned first in the 3200-meter run with a time of 11 minutes, 49.54 seconds, an event she has already qualified for state in. Stephanie Haas came in second in a time of 13:43.13.

Tam captured first place in the 1600 meter too, with a time of 5:33.16. Natasha Mulqueen crossed the finish line in 13.40 for first place in the 100 meter, while Dix finished fifth in a time of 13.52. Catrina Gabaldon won third place in the 200 meter in a time of 27.09. Mulqueen came in fifth in a time of 27.56. Bailey finished third in the 400 meter in 1:09.79.

In the relays the Warriors qualified the 400 meter relay team of Dix, Gabaldon, Mulqueen and Rachele Holstein for state competition and first place with a time of 51.65. The 800 meter relay team, with Ryan taking Dix's place, also won first and will be competing at state after registering a time of 1:49.56. This time was also a school record. Also earning a second place and a qualifying berth was the 1600 meter relay team with a time of 4:17.00.

In the boys field events Shane Eidson earned third place in the shot put with a throw of 48-4, and he has already qualified for state competition. Jason Dix finished fifth in the long jump with a distance of 19-9.

Eric Evans breezed into first place in the 110 meter high hurdles in a time of 15.06, while Dix finished third in 16.71. Evans also qualified for state in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles, while placing second in the event. Jackie Lynn won first in the 800 meter, but is still just short of qualifying for state.

Nick Nanz had already qualified in the 1600 meter and 3200 meter, but picked up two more place winnings at the meet. He finished third in the 1600 meter in a time of 4:36.12 and second in the 3200 meter in 10:03.53. Faustino Miranda placed fifth in the 3200 meter in a time of 10:59.19.

The boys 1600 meter relay team, which has already qualified for state, won third place with a time of 3:30.30. Team members for the 1600 meter and 400 meter teams are Anthony Torres, Louis Jimenez, Lynn and Evans. The 400 meter team was just a second short of qualifying with a time of 45.15, but did earn third place. The boys are also sliming down the time in the 800 meter relay with a time of 1:34.50 which was good enough for a third place finish. Dix takes Evans' place in this relay.

The competition is sure to be tough on Saturday when four teams have a good shot at winning the title in the boys division, while four of the top five girls teams in the area also battle for the championship.

Childrens' track meet set for Saturday at White Mountain

If you are seven to 14 years old it isn't too late to sign-up for the Arco Jesse Owens Track and Field meet on Saturday at the White Mountain School.

Applications are still available at the Ruidoso village hall and at White Mountain school. All participants, even those who have already signed up, will register at 8:30 a.m. Saturday before participating in the parade of athletes at 9:15 a.m. with the games immediately following. Girls and boys born from 1978 through 1985 are eligible to compete in the meet. No proof of age will be required at this level of the competition.

Qualifiers from this meet will move on to the next round with a chance to participate in a regional meet on June 13 in Phoenix, Arizona. Winners at the White Mountain meet will also receive pins and awards.

Students will get to compete in the 50-meter run, 100-meter run, long jump, softball throw and various other events. Entries will be accepted until brackets are filled.

The Parks and Recreation department, who is organizing the event, is also looking for volunteers to help make the event a success. They need people for award presenters, timers, judges, scorekeepers and other workers for the meet.

If anyone has questions or needs more information, call Dave Anderson or Carrie Morris at 257-5030.

Tennis team travels to Roswell for districts

It's been a long, tough season for a young Ruidoso tennis team as the members prepare for district competition Saturday in Roswell.

In a tournament April 25 at Roswell the boys played singles and doubles against Goddard, Roswell and New Mexico Military Institute, while the girls played against Goddard and Roswell.

First up for the boys in singles was Aaron Stallings, who struggled at first but beat Matt Young from Goddard 0-6, 7-5, 7-5. In his next match against Ryan Holz of Roswell, Stallings lost 2-6, 0-6. It was by the same score that he was defeated by Eric Chavez of NMMI.

Richard Enriquez also played singles and started with a tough match. He lost to Jason Carey of Goddard 1-6, 6-4, 3-6. He was blanked by Rudolfo Sanchez of Roswell 0-6, 0-6 and beaten 0-6, 2-6 by Jared Hellums of NMMI.

In doubles Aaron Ramos and Billy Garcia teamed up to tackle Chad Mahon and B.J. Crow of Goddard, but ended up on the losing end, 0-6, 0-6. The score was 2-6, 1-6 in a match against Cas Martinez and Barry Jacques of Roswell. Ramos and Garcia also stumbled in competition against Chris Nashan and Adam Yardeni of NMMI, for a final score of 1-6, 0-6.

In girls competition Andrea Crane competed in singles against Julie Stiles of Goddard and Heather Knocke of Roswell. She lost those matches 1-6, 0-6 and 1-6, 1-6. Heidi Johnson had a singles and a doubles match at the tournament. In the singles she met Cheryl Pierce of Roswell but lost 0-6, 0-6. She teamed up with Corrie Garcia against Goddard's Jennifer Sturgess and Erin Campbell but were defeated 0-6, 1-6.

Garcia also teamed up with Lopez to face Tahnee Richards and Angelica Cruz of Roswell but lost 0-6, 2-6. Lopez and Audra Allison competed against Misty Boatman and Renee Foster of Goddard who won 0-6, 0-6. Allison also had a singles match against Lluvia Armendarez of Roswell and was defeated 0-6, 2-6.

The Goddard Rockets also took a bite out of the Warriors in a match on April 28. In the girls competition Cicelee Makowski had a tough loss to Julie Stiles 0-6, 1-6, while Crane was defeated by Sturgess, 0-6, 0-6. Johnson squared off against Boatman but lost 1-6, 2-6. Garcia was shut out 0-6, 0-6 by Campbell.

Vanessa Rue lost to Foster by the score 1-6, 0-6. Allison took the court against Ginger Mays, but was beaten 0-6, 0-6.

In doubles Makowski and Crane came a little closer to a win against Stiles and Foster, but lost 2-6, 2-6.

Johnson and Garcia faced Sturgess and Campbell but lost 0-6, 0-6. Rue and Allison were also defeated by Boatman and Mays by the same score.

Coach Steve Havill said the girls didn't do too bad considering four of the players are eighth graders going up against a 4A school. Three years from now these players could be a powerhouse if they stick with it, he said.

The boys didn't have much better luck against Goddard as Stallings took the court against Chad Mann but lost 0-6, 2-6. Enriquez tackled Ryan Miller, losing 2-6, 1-6. Jason Courreges was defeated 1-6, 1-6 by Kevin Mahoney, while Garcia was clobbered 0-6, 0-6 by Jason Juliana.

In doubles Stallings and Enriquez struggled against Mann and B.J. Crow and lost 2-6, 0-6. Courreges and Garcia were also defeated by Jared Corez and Jackie Griffin 0-6, 0-6.

Both teams played well against Artesia here on Tuesday and hope to improve their records and win a chance at state competition in districts on Saturday.

Hondo Clinic extends medical care into the Valley

Serving people in the entire area is the goal of Lincoln County Medical Center, and they have taken one step closer to that goal by reaching out to the Hondo Valley. Instead of the patients coming into Ruidoso for healthcare, Michael Carbuto, D.O., is staffing a healthcare clinic in Hondo each Friday morning. The project was to begin May 1. Hondo Valley residents can make an appointment to see Dr. Carbuto by calling his Ruidoso office. As a family practice physician, Carbuto will see patients of all ages for their primary healthcare needs. As use of the clinic increases, specialists from Ruidoso may also travel to the Hondo location on a rotating or as needed basis. "We really felt there was a population in the Hondo Valley lacking convenient services because of the location between Roswell and Ruidoso. Because we want to do our best to reach out to all residents of Lincoln County, we decided to open the new clinic," said Valerie Miller, administrator of Lincoln County Medical Center.

"I want to help provide access to care for the residents of the valley," said Carbuto, a former Ruidoso resident who left in 1981 for college and medical school. "Family medicine in a small community is special," he said. "You're not just treating patients, you're treating your neighbors." The clinic will be at the Hondo Valley Public School. To make an appointment at the Hondo Clinic, call Dr. Carbuto's office at 257-7075 or 257-7091.

TRANSMISSION OVERHEATING

It's trailer towing season again for millions of motorists...campers, boats, utility trailers... If you are among those who will be putting this added load on your car, truck or van, you should know the answer to this week's car care question: overheating is the most common cause of transmission failure. True or False.

True, says the car care council. Nine out of ten, to be more precise. An abnormal load on a vehicle may cause both the engine and transmission to overheat. Since the transmission fluid is cooled by the engine cooling system, it is very vulnerable. Hot engine oil and transmission fluid oxidizes, doubling the wear of both the engine and transmission.

The council recommends installation of an auxiliary cooler on the transmission if you intend to do much trailer towing. For added protection, you can put an extra cooler on the engine radiator, too.

Kelli Hughes holds Petunia as elementary principal Jerry Newsom puckers.

Pucker up for Petunia Pig

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

She has delicate pink coloring, liquid blue eyes and long eyelashes. With a red ribbon tied around her neck Monday, Petunia, a 10-week-old pig, was the most popular girl around.

Capitan school officials, Mayor Frank Warth and dozens of students ended up waiting in line just to give her a kiss.

For allowing herself to be bussed so often, Petunia helped the Capitan band collect money to offset the expense of its annual band trip.

Six officials had volunteered to kiss a pig to raise money for the trip. Jars were placed throughout the county. Direct contributions earmarked for favorites also were accepted.

When the money was totaled at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Warth had won.

Although those who dropped their money in his jar thought it was a match made in heaven, Warth seemed reluctant and the pig didn't appear too enthusiastic either.

A brief kiss to her snout was all Warth could muster. But second-place winner Jerry Newsom, principal of Capitan elementary, gave the crowd what it wanted.

Lifting Petunia to lip level, he delivered a solid show of affection to squeals from the students almost as loud as the squeals from the pig.

Contest coordinator Linda Bailey then offered to drag other volunteers to the waiting Petunia if anyone in the audience was willing to add a few coins to the trip.

The money started turning in as each official took his turn; Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane (who came in third place), high school principal Darrel Stierwalt and music director Dick Valenzuela.

Coach Pam Allen enjoyed her turn so much, she took over the microphone to drum up more business. Student after student came forward, willing to forego a big lunch to see their friends and teachers touch lips with Petunia.

One by one the victims marched to the stage.

"I think the pig is getting used to it," Allen cracked. "But I think her lips are getting chapped."

As the minutes ticked away, Allen warned, "It's just 60 seconds to pigdom" and took the last few orders.

Bailey and band booster cohort Ida McGrath were delighted.

Petunia, who was brought to the event by the Mark Hughes family, was a big hit. After the assembly as students filed back to their classrooms, Petunia didn't seem any worse for her strange human contact. She munched some food in her cage as Hughes and daughters, Kari and Keli, told her how wonderfully she behaved.

The band was scheduled to leave Wednesday, but has changed its destination from California and Disneyland to Dallas, Texas.

"Disneyland was wonderful and refunded all of our money," Bailey said. "They understood (it would be safer for the kids in Texas.)"

Board bags ag teacher Edwards

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

After a week of deliberation, the Capitan School Board Wednesday upheld the decision of School Supt. David Lock to dismiss agricultural teacher Joel Edwards.

The teacher, who has more than 20 years of experience, is accused of insubordination. Lock contended Edwards disobeyed a direct order to stop cutting meat in one of his agricultural-vocational courses.

Edwards said he will appeal the decision.

Last week, board members listened to 12 hours of testimony and closeted themselves for two hours before deciding to adjourn until Wednesday evening.

When they met at 5 p.m., board member Jack King, whose son was a key witness in the case, asked to be removed from acting as one of the decision-makers.

"I'd like to remove myself from this board in this matter due to my son's and my involvement," King said. "I feel it would be the best action for this board."

Stone agreed to grant King's request.

"I'm not saying I totally agree, but I will accept your decision."

While King took a seat in the audience, the board called a closed session. One hour later they emerged.

"I make a motion to support the recommendation of Supt. Lock for the discharge of Joel Edwards," said board member Ken Cox. The motion passed 4-0.

Stone presented Edwards with a document of discharge and told him he had five days to file a written appeal.

After the hearing, Edwards told The Ruidoso News that he will call for state arbitration in the case.

He has contended that ill feeling on the part of one or more board members due to situations involving their children led to his dismissal.

The alleged meat cutting incident took place in December, but wasn't the subject of complaints to Lock until after an incident involving the son of a board member and a local elected official.

"We'll be going to arbitration," Edwards said. "We had figured on this all along. My attorney has prepared all the paperwork and it will be filed within the five-day time period."

"We expected a bias decision here, so we're not surprised."

Stone said he was sad for the students who were taught by Edwards or involved in the case.

"The students suffer no matter what the situation may be when there is a personnel decision like this affecting a teacher," he said. "I feel the board first of all has the best interests of the students at heart. That's the first and only purpose for being on the board."

Around Town

Municipal clerks Jan Starnes and Deborah Cummins are being recognized this week along with thousands of others across the country.

National Municipal Clerk's week celebrates the role of clerk as communication link between citizens, the local government, administration departments and agencies of government at other levels.

Just in case no one noticed, there's plenty of space on Starnes and Cummins' desks for flowers.

Paul Crown, general manager of Lincoln Cable, is on the agenda of the Capitan Board of Trustees meeting Monday to discuss a rate increase proposal and the addition of more channels. The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. in village hall.

Friends of Smokey are looking for a few hundred good men or women to join the organization and help Capitan prepare for the Fiftieth Birthday celebration of the furry bruin in 1993-94.

For tax deductible donations of $10, contributors will receive a membership card, a license plate and a patch. For $25, a cap and poster will be added. For $50, they'll throw in a shirt and for $100, a jacket.

Special charter memberships will be available until July 4 for $75. Each person will receive a special limited edition "charter member" jacket.

Contributions may be sent to Friends of Smokey, P.O. Box 454, Capitan, NM 88316.

The public is invited to join the Friends for a succulent barbecue beef dinner at 6:30 p.m., Saturday, May 9 in the Capitan High School multi-purpose room.

Tickets are $5 in advance and may be purchased at Noisy Waters Artwear, the State Forestry Office, Smokey Bear State Park, the Capitan Chamber of Commerce and the Capitan branch of Ruidoso State Bank.

Tickets at the door will be $6. Capitan Future Homemakers of American (FHA) will cater the meal.

Artists of Lincoln County

Linda Miller

Part 13 in a series

Valley artist gets her inspiration from nature

Straightforward and forceful in personality, Linda Miller brings a delicate, old-master touch to her paintings.

"They're timeless," she said. "They could have been painted in any era."

Sequestered from the world that speeds by on nearby U.S. 70, Miller spends her days surrounded by her art and her pets in the San Patricio house that she designed and, in large part, constructed.

"This is where I want to live the rest of my life," Miller said. "Here I can keep my own pace and standards."

"Looking back, I may have changed how I got here, but I have an ideal life."

Born in Snyder, Texas, Miller came from pioneer stock.

"Each Miller branch had one really artistic member," she said. Her brother is a poet. Her mother was an innovative seamstress.

"As long as I can remember I always was interested in art," Miller said. "Mother encouraged me to do what I wanted. I always was drawing. My first grade teacher had mother come to school to see my work."

Her first formal training occurred in the summer of her fourteenth year when her great aunt brought her to Lincoln County to train with Katheryne Hale Travis.

"She usually didn't accept students younger than 16, but my aunt and I persuaded her to allow me to study at her studio," Miller said.

"She taught very good color theory."

One exercise was to paint only in two colors, accomplishing the variations with subtle tones and combination changes.

An instructor working for Travis was an excellent portrait artist and for the next three months, she tutored Miller.

"I started with oils, then worked pastels, dry paint and engraving," Miller said. "I drew all the time."

Her first subjects were still lifes.

"I can look at what I did then and some are the same things I'm doing now, like eggs and bird's nests," Miller said.

"I would climb up in trees and draw baby hawks while the mother was diving down at me," she said. "I've always been interested in birds."

"I think eggs and nests appeal because people usually don't see them as the subject matter of paintings."

Miller said her mother, who died when she was 27, always encouraged her in art.

"That's all I focused on and she knew that's what I wanted," she said. "I told her that I wanted to be a very good artist and I wanted to have thoroughbred horses."

Miller accomplished both. The famous jockey, Willie Shoemaker rode her mare because of Rainbows and Burt Bacharach bought it.

Her two-year-old colt Dream Catcher will run this racing season.

"I've always liked horses and chickens," Miller said. "In fact, paintings of chickens usually are some of my best sellers."

While Miller was attending a course in Dallas, an assistant school principal from Snyder saw some of her work and was struck by the similarity to well-known artist Henriette Wyeth. He showed Miller's work to the director of Texas Tech University museum.

"That was my real break," Miller said.

HURD AND WYETH

They gathered 10 or 15 of her paintings and drove to Hobbs to show the late Peter Hurd, the famous New Mexico artist who was participating in a show there and was married to Wyeth.

"We talked by his pickup," Miller said. "It was dusty. The sand was blowing."

"He looked at (the paintings) and liked them, but he said (Henriette) will never help you."

"That didn't stop Miller or her promoters."

"They put me on a bus with her and one of my paintings," Miller said. "Her only criticism was that my name was signed too large. She said if the painting is good, a person will walk up to read the name. If it's bad, you don't want them to be able to read it. I went home and reduced the size of my signature on my paintings."

The introduction broke the ice and Miller began driving up to San Patricio to have Wyeth critique her work.

"She was very demanding, but very inspirational," Miller said. "I'd come home fired up."

"I've always been my harshest critic. A painting may be good, but I always think it could be better. Henriette said it only gets harder. It never gets easier. Every painting is a struggle for a good painter."

In 1964, Miller had her first show at the Tech museum, the foreword for which was written by Hurd and Wyeth.

"My show sold out in 45 minutes and I was inundated with requests," Miller said. "But I pulled back. I'm shy."

Instead of taking advantages of the immediate commercial possibilities and concentrating on that local market, she chose to continue to study and hone her art in preparation for what she hoped would be a broader recognition someday.

Eight years later in 1972, while viewing a polo game, Robert O. Anderson invited her to stay at one of the houses on his Diamond A Ranch "because I liked art and horses."

Once in Hondo Valley, she eventually bought the land in San Patricio where she built her home and studio.

"The studio was designed after Henriette's studio, but I added two feet on each side and lined up the large window with the north light," Miller said. "I actually laid there one night with a friend lining up the poles for the foundation with the north star."

The studio, an intriguing collection of oddities and treasures arranged in perfect compositions, with an imposing cathedral-shaped window, large fireplace and natural wood floor, took three months to build. The house took five years.

"I've always been a visionary," Miller said. "I can see a house and rooms and how I want them to look and I never settle for second choice."

"I wanted everything the way I wanted. Fortunately, when I needed someone, they knocked on my door."

"There's a Chinese theory that if you are in tune with life, things will come to you that you need," Miller said.

APPROACH

"I don't plan a painting, it just happens," said Miller, relaxing in her studio. "I'm always striving to do my very best," she said. "When I was younger I would burn a painting because it was not up to my specifications."

"I've seen Henriette Wyeth and I have scraped off the canvas for her. "If I ever thought I had painted the perfect painting, I would stop."

Usually, her palette consists of only a few colors. While realistic, her style is not to create exact replicas of reality.

"You don't have to show people everything," Miller said. "They're not idiots. You can show one cherry complete and then you don't have to show each of the other cherries."

Miller said she paints or draws nearly everyday.

"When I was 24, I met Andrew Wyeth," Miller said. He saw two of her paintings and was favorably impressed, she said.

"He told me to draw everyday, that he did and that an artist needed to do it to become a good draftsman."

To paint, "something has to move me," Miller said. "I basically paint everything for myself."

"The person who buys one of my paintings gets the message it brings to me. I believe that every painting is meant for a particular person."

No two paintings start out the same, she said. "I don't have a formula."

One may have glazes, another underpainting. One may start with charcoal, another with a delicate pencil sketch.

"That's why I don't get tired," Miller said. "When I paint eggs, I want them so delicate they look like they could break on the canvas. I want to feel it."

"A lot of emotion goes into each painting and that has its reward."

One customer viewing a painting of ballet shoes commented, "I can smell the sweat."

That painting, "After the Ballet," had been commissioned by the Lubbock Arts Commission for a poster to promote its arts festival.

Miller wanted to personally deliver the painting to Mikhail Baryshnikov who was scheduled to appear in Lubbock.

She contacted a mutual friend, artist Julio Larraz, who said while the dancer would accept the painting, he probably would not allow any photographs.

"But backstage after the performance when I mentioned Julio's name, Baryshnikov said of course he would stop for a photograph and he did," Miller said.

Animals dominate much of Miller's work.

"I can take them and put them in a position and they stay in one place," Miller said. That includes her doves, sparrow, chickens, goats, rabbits, cat and dogs as well as the wild hummingbirds that flock to her home encouraged by 300 pounds of sugar last summer.

"The birds seem to put their nests where I'll find them," Miller said. "I climb a ladder at the river and sketch the hummingbird eggs and young birds as they progress."

"I could sell as many nests as I can paint."

Miller has built cabinets and shelves to hold the nests, eggs and other items she's collected over the years such as an exquisite 1900 elk skin Sioux ceremonial dress and a turn-of-the-century English rocking horse whose owner was touched by Miller's passion for the object and gave it to her.

The last four years, she has sold every painting before she was finished working on it, Miller said.

After working up pieces for three shows in 1985, she decided to sell exclusively out of her studio based on word-of-mouth, referrals and articles written about her.

"When you sell from a gallery, you don't receive the first-hand feedback," she said. "Here I get letters and people telling their friends. If you don't know where a painting goes, it's pretty thankless."

Customers from Texas and Colorado make regular pilgrimages to Miller's studio, and visitors from all over the world have stopped in to view her work, she said.

"If a person buys one, it's likely they eventually will end up owning two or three."

Editorial

Hooray for the Highway Department!

Just in case we haven't mentioned it, it's great to be getting a great new surface on Sudderth Drive, our main street. We've waited a long time, and it's surely worth dodging an orange cone or two to have a smooth safe street.

And while the work is under way, let's all slow down and drive safely.

Reporter's Round

The early bird checks out the chicks

"Get up, Dianne! It's 4 a.m. I don't want to be late."

No where in the country is Easter sunrise service more spectacular than the Red Rocks Amphitheatre outside of Denver, Colorado.

It seemed everyone was two hours early. The weatherman had predicted snow. Everybody came.

With a thermos of coffee, two cinnamon rolls and three blankets we joined the throng fastly filling the seats.

Located in the low mountains, this outdoor theatre was carved between two mammoth, monolithic red rocks several football fields in diameter and 10 stories high.

The Colorado Mormon Choral, rehearsing on the stage, warmed up the crowd with the rousing Battle Hymn of the Republic.

One of the featured songs on the program was the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

A ballet group practiced their routines bundled in heavy garments.

The theatre was built by President Franklin Delano Roosevelt's Work Progress Administration (WPA) in the late thirties. The post depression WPA was created for jobs. The theatre has more than a 10,000 capacity.

High above the stage, the jutting red rocks framed a spectacular scene, a far off ocean of lights that was Denver.

As dusk approached, banks of lights disappeared and through the early morning gray, the Kansas plains became visible beyond the city.

Finally, like a giant eyelid forced to open, a thin line of red squinted through the horizon. It was 6:17 a.m.

by Chuck Stallings
The Ruidoso News
Staff Writer

From total silence, strong rich voices began their slow soft march, a growing swell that would eventually reach a crescendo. But the ballet, a choreographed complement, was dwarfed by the magnitude of what Nature had to offer.

The experience of just being there became electric.

I'm not a religious man, but the moment was truly inspiring. It was a time when rich men and poor men could witness with equal strength, this thing we like to call "quality of life."

*****

Thoroughly immersed in the afterglow of this richly rewarding experience, I spotted these two chicks walking down the trail back to the parking lot.

One smiled at me, which I took as a sign that she wanted to jump my bones.

Men think like that sometimes. Women like to call it a male fantasy.

More often than not, it is a faulty signal. Kind of like when the telephone rings and you think it's going to be somebody who wants to do something good for you. But hope is part of living.

Anyhow, I decided to test the waters. "Nice day, isn't it?" It was my best shot. She smiled again... reinforcement.

"I can remember coming here a long time ago. We used to go up to Buffalo Bill's grave on Lookout Mountain and make out," I blurted.

"Doesn't everyone," she said.

Awwwwwwright!

In the distance, I could see Dianne standing by the car looking my way and holding the camera, binoculars, bag of donuts, three blankets and thermos. I figured she wanted me to open the door for her.

"What held you up? She asked.

"Some girl wanted to know where Buffalo Bill's grave was and I told her it was up on Lookout Mountain," I said driving away.

"Remember the great times we spent up there?" Dianne asked.

"Vaguely," I responded.

The line of cars allowed us to jerk along. My mind began to wander.

"You know, if William Frederick Cody had been named Frederick William, he would have been called Buffalo Fred. Doesn't have much of a ring, does it?" I asked.

Dianne said nothing.

"I think thoughts like that, you know."

"Yes you do," she said, pouring out a cup of coffee.

I know sarcasm when I hear it and I also knew what that cup of coffee would do to her within a few minutes.

The motel was 20 minutes away, and I wasn't going to pull over for anything.

LETTERS

It's sure good to be alive and getting well

TO THE EDITOR:

On April 10, I had an accident that easily could have taken my life, instead, today my recovery is going well because of the help and support of many people.

To start off, the Pro and National Ski Patrol of Ski Apache, the E.M.S., the emergency room, the doctors and staff of L.C.M.C. and all my friends that lent me their support.

A fund was started to help me and my family keep the bills in check. I want to thank everyone, especially the employees of Ski Apache, the patrons, Ski West and their employees for donating a days earnings and wages and, of course, the National Ski Patrol.

In the first couple hours there were a couple of people I would like to thank personally because they kept me safe, in my world of pain, Scott Ingram, Dove Boehm, and Fred Pavlovic.

I cannot tell everyone how much their love, help and support has affected me and my recovery.

Thanks for the letter

TO THE EDITOR:

Thank you for printing the letter from area mayors, etc. to president Bush regarding DOE and MRS waste feasibility study in and/or around the Apache reservation 70 miles west of Roswell.

I appreciate editors who take a stand! I cut the article (letter) out, signed my name to it and forwarded it to the president.

Communication+cooperation+control =results

Exhuming the long buried argument relating to the pros and cons of the use of study sessions by a member of the village council was on schedule and not unexpected. The motion to eliminate the use of study sessions by Councilor Jerry Shaw was supported by The News in a followup editorial. She was a favorite for the Council by The News in a recent election.

Fortunately, the motion to discontinue these sessions died for the want of a second to her motion.

Study sessions are an important function in municipal operations and are used widely over this state and elsewhere.

The history of council study sessions in Ruidoso, its birth and growth over the years, is quiet interesting. These sessions are, after all, an exercise in communication which, without, the task of governing is made more difficult.

Study sessions were introduced to the council in 1982 by the writer upon being elected to the Ruidoso Council. There were no objections, except by Mayor George White, and the sessions were approved by the council.

Study sessions were not only found to be productive in informing the council more thoroughly on matters to be discussed in regular council meetings but, in some instances, acted to shorten the time consumed in regular council meetings.

George White, mayor in 1982, had placed himself in an adversarial position in the Ruidoso Council and did not support the idea of study sessions, even though he had never attended such a meeting. As an ex-school administrator it is doubtful that study sessions were a part of his business experience. The performance of the mayor was materially affected by his failure to attend these meetings.

After Lloyd Davis Jr. became mayor in 1986 study sessions were continued for a short time, however, through his encouragement he led the council to reject the idea and study sessions were discontinued until Davis was

by
Al Junge Political Commentary

defeated in 1990.

Being an outspoken opponent of many of Davis' pet projects, it is possible that my adverse position had an effect on his decision to eliminate study sessions — one of my pet projects.

The election of Mayor Victor Alonso along with several new members of the council in 1990 resulted in study sessions being implemented once more.

Study sessions, thus far, have been found to be very productive, however, some precautions should be taken to ensure that the main purpose of these sessions is protected to see that rules covering these meetings are followed.

There are several types of meetings which are held by municipalities in addition to study sessions. Included are "Special Called Meetings" and "Workshops." Each of these meetings are called by a published notice and for the discussion of a defined subject(s).

Study sessions are designed to give the council members and the administration an opportunity to study an agenda and to discuss the pros and cons of the agenda before the regular council meeting. These meetings are advertised as part and parcel of the regular council meetings.

The problem in the study sessions arises, from time to time, when the chairman of the study session — who is the mayor — allows extraneous materials or comments to stray into the discussion of the agenda items often times far afield from the intended discussion.

Study session rules do not allow an obvious consensus or the taking of a vote in these meetings.

Often times local citizens attend these meetings as they are open to the public and they are allowed to voice their comments or complaints. These actions should be heard in regular council meetings. Using study sessions for this purpose is time consuming and detracts from the time spent in discussing the council agenda.

The key here is the chairman — the mayor or mayor pro-tem. It is up to the one who is the chair to see that the study sessions are conducted within the accepted guidelines. It is important that comments be guided by time allowances. It is a normal reaction that the mayor and council want everyone to feel that they are welcome at council meetings to talk on any subject for an extended length of time. This being possible, we will continue to face council meetings that will extend to four hours or more.

The News editorial points out the need for a closer supervision of study sessions and this should be accomplished without delay.

The recent attempt to eliminate study sessions is regrettable in that the attempt was made without any apparent prediscussion with members of the council. Surprises such as this request accomplish nothing even though there may be some merit to the proposal.

Communication at the Ruidoso Council is a must.

A council member desiring to make a change in the system does so within the system. To do otherwise only draws a "line in the sand" with the council further delaying the efforts that should be spent on more important objectives. Study sessions are approved by the Council and are published as a part of a planned council meeting which is held twice monthly.

Council members should attend these meetings or be held accountable to the mayor.

All American Festival features art contests

"It seems that the 1991 All American Festival just ended, but here it is time again to start planning the 1992 Festival," says coordinator Lara Johnson.

This, the third All American Festival, will begin August 14, and continue through September 17.

"As of this date, there are 19 events scheduled, but there is always room for more," says Johnson.

Anyone in an organization, school or church group interested in organizing an event, or businesses wishing to sponsor an event, are asked to contact Johnson at 378-4431.

Photography Event

"New Mexico Sky" is the theme for the 1992 All American Festival Photography Event. First National Bank of Ruidoso is sponsoring this event with one cash prize of $1,000. Herb Brunell is organizing the contest which is open to amateur and professional photographers.

To enter, photographers are asked to submit two unpublished black and white or color photographs. Entries must be 11 X 14 or 16 X 20 and may be mounted on artboard or foamboard.

The deadline for entry is August 18. Judging of the photographs shall be done by a panel selected by the All American Festival.

All photographs will be on display at the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs, August 20-September 5.

For more information or to obtain an entry form, contact Brunell at 257-2911 or Johnson, P.O. Box 449, Ruidoso Downs, NM 88346, 378-4431.

Novelist Cathy Palmer entertains, informs with stories

by TIM PALMER
Special to The News
 Can a romance novelist save the world through her books?
 Probably not, Catherine Palmer admits. But she can make people think about timely issues by incorporating them into her plots.
 Her last novel dealt with steroid use by athletes. The basis of her new book is elephant poaching.
 Former Ruidoso resident Palmer's fifth novel, "Weeping Grass," was released this month by Silhouette Intimate Moments. The title is taken from the Swahili proverb: "When elephants fight it is the grass that weeps."
 Catherine Palmer and her husband, Tim, lived in Ruidoso from 1981 to 1985. She taught language arts at Ruidoso Middle School and he was editor of The Ruidoso News. The Palmers have a son, Geoffrey, who is 6. They now make their home in Bolivar, Missouri.
 "We love Ruidoso and we try to get back when we can," Catherine said. She plans to visit the village this summer while traveling to promote an upcoming novel based on events in the Lincoln County War.

 Kenya is the setting for "Weeping Grass." The author, whose parents were missionaries, grew up in the East African nation. A 1990 visit to an elephant orphanage near Nairobi inspired the story of an elephant researcher who falls in love with the owner of a safari company. Baby elephants frequently are orphaned when ivory-hunting poachers slaughter their parents.
 "Weeping Grass" is Palmer's second book set in Kenya. The first was her published novel, "The Burning Plains," which came out in 1988. That book and her second novel—a seafaring adventure titled "The Wild Winds" which was published in 1990—are historical romances.
 Palmer made her debut in the contemporary romance field with "Land of Enchantment" in 1991. "Forbidden"—the steroids book—followed in the same year. Both were for Silhouette.

 "Weeping Grass" is the first of three titles due out from the author in 1992. Berkley will release "Outlaw Heart," a historical set during New Mexico's Lincoln County War, in July. It is a launch title for the new Wildflower line of romance novels set in the American West.
 "Red Hot," set on a Chile farm in New Mexico's Rio Grande Valley, is due out from Silhouette Intimate Moments in October. Palmer is currently hard at work on "Primrose," a Berkley Wildflower book scheduled for summer 1993 publication.
 Catherine lived in New Mexico for nine years before moving to Missouri in August of 1991 when her husband took a job at Southwest Baptist University, where the two had met 17 years before as undergraduates. She has a bachelor's degree in English from SBU and a master's in English from Baylor.
 The novelist says she loves the process of researching her history.

She has spent hours recently in front of a microfilm reader, going through an entire year's editions of the newspapers from the small town where "Primrose" is set.
 Palmer also enjoys the change of pace that writing the shorter contemporaries provides. And she appreciates the opportunity to enlighten readers on social problems while spinning the powerful love stories that romance readers love.
 Can a romance novel really make a difference?
 "Palmer thinks so."
 The mother of a high school athlete could read "Forbidden" and learn the symptoms of steroid use, she explains. "She could make sure her son or daughter knew how dangerous steroids are."
 Palmer hopes readers of "Weeping Grass" will be inspired to support a continued ban of the international ivory trade, perhaps by writing or calling their representatives in Congress.

Her son saw elephants in the wild two years ago in Kenya, when he was four. The author fears that unless the magnificent animals are protected, his children won't have the same opportunity.
 Catherine Palmer confesses to sometimes feeling like the heroine of a romance novel—or a fairy tale—herself. The 35-year-old schoolteacher-turned-novelist got her start when she won a writing contest and signed on with a literary agent.
 Nothing matches the thrill of opening a box from one of her publishers and holding a new book in her hands, Palmer confirms. With her international background, she is delighted that her novels have been translated into German and Portuguese and have been sold as far away as Australia and Malaysia.
 Her future plans?
 "Writing more books," she promises. "God gave me a talent for telling stories, and I'm truly thank-

Catherine Palmer, formerly of Ruidoso, unpacks a box filled with copies of her latest published novel.
 The writer enjoys hearing from readers. Her address is Rt. 3, Box 152, Bolivar, MO 65613.

'92 grads celebrate with party

Ruidoso High School graduates will be special guests at a big party on graduation night, Thursday, May 28.

The party, sponsored by parents, teachers and businesses in the area, will be drug and alcohol free.

The graduates will have a chance to listen to music, dance, play games and win donated cash and prizes.

Organizer Beth Sayner says that if every business in Ruidoso will donate just $10 toward the event, the Class of 1992 will have a great party and a safe night.

Call Sayner at 258-4244 to make a donation toward the Class of 1992's safe and sober party.

Daring camera bug brings home photo prizes

Skiing, senior sports, spinning helicopter blades and other sundry subjects spelled success for writer/photographer Yvonne Lanelli at the New Mexico Presswomen's Association Communications Contest this weekend in Taos.

The Ruidoso News published all the winning features and photos which earned the Alto freelancer statewide recognition.

"We're proud to publish work by an award-winning writer, especially this one," said Frankie Jarrell, editor and general manager of the News. "Yvonne has won state and national Presswomen awards before. Her good work was an important element in the state award that The News won for our winter visitor guide last year, too."

"It means a lot that Frankie's receptive to my story ideas," replied Lanelli. "I really appreciate her starting me on a freelance career several years ago." Lanelli contributes to publications in New Mexico,

Texas and Colorado.

Lanelli's photography entries won two awards. Earning third place among photo essays was a series of photos of the installation of Ski Apache Resort's new lift this summer. The installation used a helicopter to pour concrete and fly in towers.

"This was my favorite assignment," said the gutsy photographer. "To get these pictures I wore a hard hat and lay under the hovering helicopter. Judges commented on the unusual angles and composition, so the effort paid off."

A humorous photo of an Emergency Medical Technician from Corona demonstrating a new spinal immobilization device earned third place for feature photos.

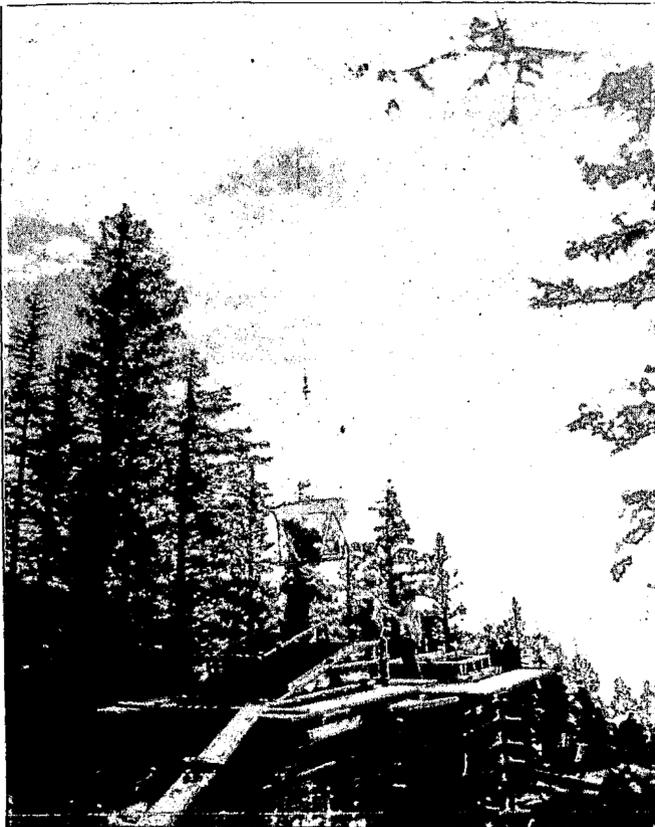

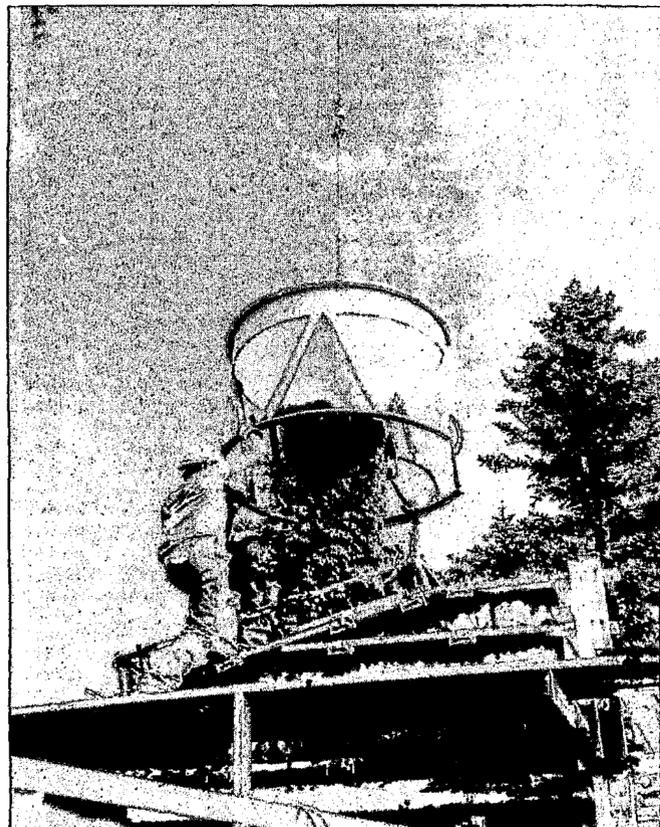

In the writing section for non-daily newspapers of more than 5,000 circulation, Lanelli's September article on elderberry picking won second place in the features category. A front page story in July of firefighters rescuing a dog from a cliff earned honorable mention in the news writing category.

In special articles on sports, Lanelli's entries took both second and third. Three ski racing articles—on the Hot Chocolate Cup, the Cross Your Heart Cup and the Businesspersons-Handicapped Ski Championship—placed second. A set of Senior Olympic stories came in third. This category was open to all newspapers regardless of size.

Shaula Cull of Starlite Montessori is close by as four-year-old Tucker Davis works in his square-foot garden.

Starlite Montessori kids dig in for nature studies

Starlite Montessori students are learning about gardening — one foot at a time.

Each child has their own square foot of gardening space that they've measured using a 12-inch ruler. Besides learning the concepts of measurements and size, the youngster have helped prepare an enriched garden environment, says teacher Shaula Cull.

She and her husband, Dick Cull, own and operate the school. They've also been digging in the dirt right along with their students while they've discussed seeds, temperatures and nature.

Each child has cared for their own square foot, preparing the soil and transplanting a vegetable plant.

The plots are marked off and decorated with individual names.

The Silver Lining

Episcopal community picnics in Lincoln

Special Services At Saint John's Church

Members of the Episcopal Church gathered from all over Lincoln County last Sunday for services at La Iglesia de San Juan Bautista (Church of John the Baptist) in Lincoln.

A picnic was held afterwards in the Lincoln Picnic grounds.

Lay reader Susan Penn read from the Acts of the Apostles, and read in the recitation of the thirty-third psalm:

"Rejoicing in the Lord, you righteous; it is a good thing for the just to sing praises.

Also from the Revelations of Saint John.

The Reverend Jan Davey read from the Gospel according to Saint John.

The Reverend Anna Gaddy in the Prayers of the People gave thanks for the birthday of Marjorie Hall.

Father John Penn in his sermon brought out that our mission as Christians is to bring the blessing of our Risen Lord to all the world so that we may become the kind of people God intends for us to be.

Father John also said a special prayer in observance of Soil and Water Stewardship Week.

Hymns were sung to the accompaniment of the organ by Jane Deyo, with the angel voices of the children's choir adding a special blessing to the services.

Otto Henry Temple

Services were held at First Baptist Church of Ruidoso Downs May 4 for Otto Henry Temple who was called home by our Lord on April 29.

The Reverend Mike Bush read the Twenty-Third Psalm: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want ..." Also the One Hundred and Third Psalm: "As a Father cares for his children, so does the Lord care for those who fear Him."

The Reverend Mr. Bush also read from the Gospel according to Saint John:

"I go to prepare a place for you, that where I am you may be also."

Delbert and Judy Posey and Dwight Swanner sang "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder," accompanied at the piano by Shala Bush.

Pall bearers were: Walter Carpenter, Shawn Rankin, Allen Temple, Steve Temple, Harry Carpenter, Lee Ward, O. Henry Temple,

by Dan Storm
The Ridge Runner

Daniel G. James, Benjamin Temple and Thomas Witt.

Otto and his family have been my friends for many years. He and I used to work together for Jake Harris years ago at the sawmill which used to be nearby where Frank's Fruit Market now stands.

Otto was a hard worker, and a man of great kindness, deeply devoted to his family. He was a Christian gentleman, and will always hold a fond spot in our hearts. We rejoice that our good friend is safe and happy with our Lord in Heaven.

A Wish Come True

Late in the evening of the 28, I was out among the lilac bushes, and went from the little apple trees over the white bridal wreath and the bed of purple iris.

And the thought came to me—"I have told folks about the lilacs and other blooms, and in this way tried to share them with others."

"And yet although I enjoy them by myself, I wish there were someone who could be here right now to inhale the fragrance and see the colors of these lilacs in their prime, and also in their best radiance in years.

Judy Wesch and her mother and father had come by and taken home a bouquet, a few days before.

Somehow that evening, on the 28, I had a special wish that someone could see all the flowering plants in the yard, especially the lilacs.

While I was dreaming like this, there came a white car up the road. And who could it be? Here were Glenn and Viola Hinkle from over Alto way.

Viola said: "We read about your lilacs, and had to come over and get a bouquet."

So we had a fine visit and they took home a large bunch of all the kinds of lilacs.

I was reminded of Shakespeare's words about mercy: "It is twice blest; it blesses him that gives and him that takes."

Flowers are the same and it was indeed a double blessing that they came to take home some lilacs.

Glenn and Viola celebrated their 66 wedding anniversary last Valentine's Day.

I am grateful for their true friendship through the years and especially for making my wish come true.

Let us thank God for friends, a beautiful spring, and all our other many blessings.

A Welcome Visitor

Toward evening on the third of May, a car came up the road to the house, and a gentleman stepped out saying that he felt he knew me from reading the Silver Lining and the Dreamer—that he had clipped them out of the paper for years.

This was Mr. Glenn Stone of Artesia, a retired optometrist who is a collector of History of the Southwest. He gave me a copy of the Artesia Daily Press in which there appeared a column entitled Piñon News, written by a resident of this picturesque little New Mexico village—Mrs. Basil Holcomb.

It is a delightful column full of the spirit of rural mountain neighbors bound together in fond friendship and neighborly good will.

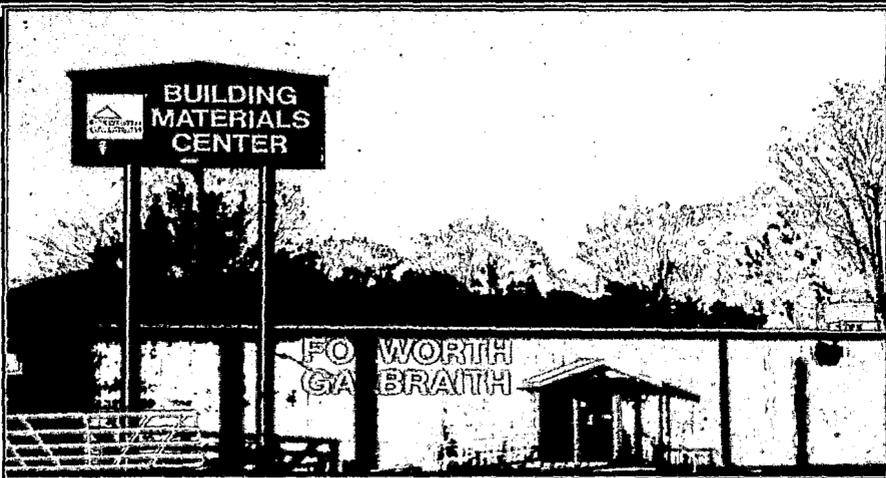

This neighborhood covered by Mrs. Holcomb's column is quite wide—extending from the historic village of Hope across the mountain to Cloudercroft, Mayhill and Alamogordo.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone have a home in Ruidoso and spend much of their time here. I was delighted to meet Mr. Stone and appreciate his journey over the rough road to pay me a visit. He said earlier in the year he had started over but turned back when he saw the deep mud puddle caused by heavy rains.

Two Days of Clouds

After two days of summer heat with the temperature up to 85, which found the cows lying under the shade of the cedars and piñons—here came a day of clouds on the third now another one on the fourth. From time to time the clouds drop light showers which add a freshness to the mountain air.

These cloudy days are perfect, coming in the beginning of the hot season off the year.

Foxworth-Galbraith in New Mexico

From the raiding grounds of Poncho Villa in Columbus and the childhood home of Billy the Kid in Silver City, to the pine trees of Cloudercroft and the desert sands of Orogrande, Foxworth-Galbraith Lumber Company has been operating lumber yards in New Mexico since the early years of this century.

We opened our first lumber yard in New Mexico in Columbus in 1916. Since then, over 20 lumber yards have been operated throughout the state in such places as Carrizozo, Duran, Montoya, Estancia, Lalande, Logan, Santa Rosa, Tularosa and Texico.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that on April 29, 1992, Wayne and Margaret Wallace, P.O. Box 758, Las Cruces, New Mexico 88004, filed application No. H-1950 into 0817 and H-1950 with the STATE ENGINEER for permit to change partial point of diversion from groundwater to surface water and purpose of use of 5,904 acre-feet per annum of groundwater presently permitted to be appropriated from shallow well No. H-1950 located in the SW1/4SW1/4SE1/4 of Section 15, Township 11 South, Range 14 East, N.M.P.M., for domestic use in a proposed subdivision in Pt. N1/2SW1/4NE1/4 of said Section 15. The subject application seeks to commence the diversion of 5,904 acre-feet per annum of surface waters from the Aventura Ditch, a tributary of the Rio Ruidoso, which has an existing point of diversion located in the SE1/4SW1/4NE1/4 of Section 21, Township 11 South, Range 14 East, N.M.P.M. The application also seeks to transfer the subject water rights from domestic purpose to the irrigation of 4.1 acres of land described as Pt. N1/2SW1/4SE1/4 of Section 15, Township 11 South, Range 14 East, N.M.P.M. This application is made to revert 5,904 acre-feet of water rights back to the original point of diversion and purpose of use as adjudicated. Permit No. 0817 into H-1950, issued by the State Engineer on June 5, 1985, transferred the subject water rights to their present configuration. Applicant requests that a duty of 3.2 acre-feet per acre as previously adjudicated for a total of 13.12 acre-feet per annum be reinstated on the 4.1 acres.

Applicant also requests that existing well No. H-1950 located in the SW1/4SW1/4SE1/4 of Section 15, Township 11 South, Range 14 East, be retained as a supplemental well.

Any person, firm or corporation or other entity objecting that the granting of the application will be detrimental to the objector's water right shall have standing to file objections or protest. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity objecting that the granting of the application will be contrary to the conservation of water within the state or detrimental to the public welfare of the state and showing that the objector will be substantially and specifically affected by the granting of the application shall have standing to file objections or protests. Provided, however, that the State of New Mexico or any of its branches, agencies, departments, boards, instrumentalities or institutions, and all political subdivisions of the state and their agencies, instrumentalities and institutions shall have standing to file objections or protests. The protest or objections shall be in writing and shall set forth all protestant's or objector's reasons why the application should not be approved and must be filed, in triplicate, with Eluid Martinez, State Engineer, 1900 W. Second St., Roswell, New Mexico 88201, within ten (10) days after the date of the last publication of this Notice.

Ruidoso Downs offers millions in big purses and promotions

Ruidoso Downs will offer racing fans and horsemen millions of dollars in purse money and promotional prizes when it opens for its 1992 summer season today (Thursday), May 7.

The 74-day season is highlighted by the Triple Crown Series for 2-year-old Quarter Horses — the $350,000 Grade I Kansas Futurity, $600,000 Grade I Rainbow Futurity, and $2.3 million Grade I All American Futurity.

Thoroughbreds will go head-to-head in the Norgor, Kachina and Ruidoso futurities, each estimated to offer a purse of about $100,000.

Opening week will consist of the qualifying trials for the 350-yard Kansas Futurity on Thursday and Friday.

Saturday's feature races are the $20,000-added Grade III Mr Jet Moore Stakes for 3-year-old and older Quarter Horses and the simulcast of the $700,000 Fimlico

Special for older Thoroughbreds racing 1 3/16 miles.

The week climaxes with the $12,500 Road Runner Handicap for 3-year-old New Mexico-bred Thoroughbreds racing 5 1/2 furlongs.

While the horses race for large purses, fans will also have a chance to win more than $1 million in cash and prizes. An array of new fan promotions are on tap this summer, highlighted by a $1 million Pick 10 June 27 and a Pick-up Truck and $100,000 cash giveaway for mailing list patrons May 23.

Ruidoso Downs has added several new and unique promotions geared toward creating fun, excitement and money for fans.

Entry for some of the promotions will be limited to those fans on the track's mailing list, which anyone can get on simply by calling or writing to Ruidoso Downs.

The $1 million Pick 10 is expected to create a lot of interest among casual fans as well as astute handicappers. The Saturday promotion involves picking the winners of 10 consecutive races, simulcast races excluded.

If more than one person picks all 10 winners, the $1 million will be split between those people.

Ruidoso Downs will offer both Quarter Horse and Thoroughbred racing Thursday through Sunday as well as Memorial Day, Monday, May 25, and Labor Day, Monday, September 7.

Gates open at 11 a.m. with the first race breaking from the starting gate at 1 p.m.

General admission is free with reserved seating available starting at $2.50 for an open air seat to $33 for a grandstand box with six seats. General parking is available at $3, preferred parking at $4 and valet parking at $5.

Welcome from Ruidoso Downs

Ruidoso Downs Racing, Inc.
HOME OF THE
ALL AMERICAN FUTURITY

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT...

Dear Racing Fans, Horsemen and Members of this Community:

I would like to take this opportunity to personally invite each and every one of you to visit Ruidoso Downs for our 45th season of racing from May 7 through September 7. We are looking forward to a great season and hope that you will be a part of it.

In addition, the Anne C. Stradling Museum of the Horse is having its grand opening this summer. I would also like to invite you to our Museum Community Open House on Wednesday May 20.

We continue to make improvements at the track with everything from landscaping to painting and hope that you will enjoy the enhancements. This year, most of the improvements have taken place in the barn area where the drainage underwent dramatic improvements. In addition, we have added more path and road railing for horsemen's safety and we have completely overhauled the racing surface. Again these changes and additions have been added for safety reasons as well as adding to the overall esthetics of the facility and contributing to your enjoyment.

In addition to some of the finest Thoroughbred racing in the Southwest and the world's best Quarter Horse racing, we are offering many promotions this year at Ruidoso Downs. Several of these promotions are tied to our mailing list. We would encourage anyone who is not currently on our mailing list to call us and we will add your name.

My partner Ed Allred and I remain committed not only to Ruidoso Downs but to the area as well. We have contributed literally millions of dollars to the economy here as evidenced by the rebuilding of Ruidoso Downs, the construction of the Links at Sierra Blanca and the opening of the Museum of the Horse. We are starting to see the economy improve here and believe it will continue.

As always, my number one priority is customer service. If there is ever something that you think will make your day more enjoyable, or anything that you think needs changing, please do not hesitate to talk to me or any of my staff. We are always willing to listen and make changes where feasible. Let me again invite you out to the track this summer and good luck at the races!

Yours Truly,

R. D. Hubbard

RACING 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Max Johnson takes the reins for first full season

Since purchasing New Mexico's Ruidoso Downs in 1988, the owners of the Lincoln County track have acquired several other pari-mutuel racing properties nationwide.

The acquisition of these properties have resulted in the promotion and relocation of several of Ruidoso Downs' top managers.

The majority owner of Ruidoso Downs is R.D. Hubbard, who also owns The Woodlands Racetrack in Kansas City, Kansas, and the Multnomah Greyhound Track in Portland, Oregon.

Hubbard is also the chairman of the board and chief operating officer of Hollywood Park racetrack in Los Angeles, California.

Today, Ruidoso Downs is moving forward under the direction of Max Johnson, who was appointed general manager in February.

Johnson, 39, replaced Rick Henson who is currently the general manager of The Woodlands.

"Max has done an outstanding job for Ruidoso Downs," said Bruce Rimbo, president of Hubbard Enterprises. "Over the years, he has blended in nicely with our team, an aspect which is often overlooked in analyzing an individual's job performance."

Before being appointed general manager, Johnson served as the track's comptroller, or financial manager, for five years.

"His business philosophies, ways of thinking, how he handles others, and his lifestyle are in-line with Mr. Hubbard's. He may lack long-time racetrack management experience, but he has adapted well and has a lot of talented people in Hubbard Enterprises to back him up."

A West Texas native, Johnson suffered no hesitation about leaving Texas when offered the position of track comptroller. Times were tough in the mid 1980s for the oil-rich state of Texas and Johnson and his family were ready for a change.

Prior to accepting Ruidoso Downs' offer, Johnson worked as a controller for an industrial hose distribution company and metal building manufacturer in Houston, Texas. He is a certified public accountant (CPA) and holds a degree in business from the University of Texas.

"I stumbled across this opportunity after answering a blind newspaper ad," Johnson reminisced while sitting behind his paper-laden desk at the track.

"I didn't think much more about it until they contacted me three weeks later. When I found out it was Ruidoso Downs I got excited, I wanted the job even before I interviewed for it!"

As a child, Johnson and his family spent many sublime summers among the tall pines of Ruidoso. His grandparents and parents have owned a cabin on the Rio Ruidoso River since 1970. His father has owned and raced Thoroughbreds at Ruidoso Downs.

"I've been coming to Ruidoso since I was five years old," he said with fond memories. "I had always wanted to live here, to raise my family here, but couldn't figure out how to make a living here."

Johnson felt so confident following his initial interview with track managers that he told his wife, Lara, to "pack our bags, we're moving to the mountains!"

Within three weeks, Johnson had been offered the job, moved, and was making a living in Ruidoso.

Today, Lara is also part of the Ruidoso team. In 1990, Lara was appointed coordinator of the All American Festival - a community-based festival which culminates with the $2 million All American Futurity for 2-year-old Quarter Horses.

During his six years at Ruidoso Downs, Johnson has seen, and survived, a lot of changes. When Johnson arrived, the track was owned by the financially troubled Ruidoso-Sunland Inc. It was later purchased by R.D. Hubbard and Ed Allred in 1988.

"R.D. Hubbard was just what this track needed," Johnson said. "It needed an individual that had the interest, commitment and money to bring the track back to prosperity - to take the reins and point us in the right direction."

Basically responsible for the track's financial accounting, Johnson was privy to many of the discussions and decisions made during Hubbard's multi-million dollar renovation of Ruidoso Downs. Little did he realize that he himself would someday be making such weighty decisions while also managing hundreds of employees.

Although the track has seen a marked increase in business during Hubbards' ownership, Ruidoso Downs' costly renovations have allowed for little profit. Johnson, however, is confident things will improve this year for Lincoln County's number one employer and tourist attraction.

"From all indications, I would have to say the economy is improving," said Johnson. "Most of the small businesses in our market area say they're doing better this year compared to last year. The upswing should have a positive impact on us."

Long a cool mountain playground for Oklahomans and Texans, Ruidoso Downs and the surrounding area suffered financially during the oil bust of the 1980s.

Johnson is, confident, however, that the buckling effects of the bust are behind Lincoln County and Ruidoso Downs.

"People are still cautious about the recession, but I think their attitudes are changing," he said.

With the 1992 season at hand, Johnson spends 10 to 12 hours a day, seven days a week at the track. Phone calls and staff meetings are unending. When not tied to the phone, Johnson can be found conferring with track superintendent John Baker about the consistency of the racing surface; discussing landscaping with track maintenance director Rick Baugh; or reviewing the quality and quantity of horses available for the races with racing secretary Norm Amundson.

"I am looking forward to the new challenges this position presents," Johnson said. "With new competition from Texas and Colorado for gambling dollars and available horses, as well as competition from other forms of gaming interest, the challenge should be quite interesting."

Ruidoso Downs: still going strong after 45 years

by HERB SECKLER

As Ruidoso Downs looks forward to its forty-sixth year of pari-mutuel racing it is worth a moment to look back at its humble origins.

In the mid 1930s there was an open meadow along the Rio Ruidoso which served as a popular picnic site where families gathered on Sunday afternoons. The meadow was located just east of Ruidoso and down an incline from Highway 70. One observer recalls that a prominent highway landmark was "a great big log cabin where some very refreshing cherry cider was sold."

It did not take long before some sporting folk marked off a rough race course to offer entertainment and competition. The "track" little more than a roadbed, rose some twelve feet above level from start to finish. In time, a four-stall starting gate was welded together and a rudimentary bleacher graced the site.

Although the facilities were primitive, there grew a great demand for match races. People brought their horses from far and near and they ran against each other for pretty good sums. Some match races may have been for a bag of oats, but there were also races where the bets ranged from $10,000 to $50,000. The stockmen and oilmen from Texas and Oklahoma, having discovered the unmatched climate of New Mexico's Eden brought with them their sporting spirit—and yes—their money.

There were several factors that provided the impetus to establishing a full-size race course at Ruidoso Downs (then called Hollywood Park). The Ruidoso area was a favored summer resort for Texans, Oklahomans, and New Mexicans and from early on Ruidoso was viewed as a wide open town.

Dice, poker, roulette and slot machines catered to the gambling spirit of the visitors. But about 1946 it became apparent to many of the business interests that the authorities who had long closed their eyes to these doings would soon be forced to a less accommodating posture. They saw it as vital to the village's economy that the revenues brought in by the vacationers be maintained.

When several of the town's people met to explore their options, they came to a consensus that a full-sized race track with pari-mutuel wagering was the answer to their concerns. Money was raised through the issuance of shares, and construction of the track went forward. One shareholder of that time remembered that the first attempt at laying out the track produced a rectangle of sorts with rounded corners. But by the time of its opening 10-day meet the rectangle did look more like an oval. A wooden grandstand with a canvas cover was in place and a Burroughs calculator was ready to handle pari-mutuel wagers.

From the inaugural meet in 1947, what might have developed at a slow steady pace received that shot in the arm — The All-American Futurity.

What the Kentucky Derby has been to Thoroughbred racing, the All-American Futurity has been to Quarter Horse racing and to Ruidoso Downs.

Although separated by almost a century in time, their origins, steady growth and prominence in their respective spheres are quite similar.

For the origins of the All-American Futurity one must go back to the fall of 1953 when a handful of horsemen gathered in Albuquerque. They had come primarily to seek racing dates for their respective areas of Carlsbad and Sunland Park. These men were old friends from match racing days and they figured that Elmer Hepler, a mutual friend and a member of the Racing Commission, would be of assistance.

Among the horsemen that showed was Gene Hensley, the new owner of Ruidoso Downs. Also present at the creation was Ray Reed, who came with song and guitar. Ray may well be the only one left to recall those historic days.

These Quarter Horse enthusiasts met for a drink at the Albuquerque Hilton Bar one evening and quite naturally began bragging about their respective mares. Legend has it that as the drinks flowed they talked of putting up their money and racing their mares in a winner-take-all competition.

As is so often the case, reality did not set in until the next morning when they awoke to the fact that all their mares were pregnant. And as Ray Reed recalled, "How can you run a bunch of pregnant mares?"

It was with that sobering breakfast that sober minds prevailed and the horsemen decided to run, two years hence, the foals that were in these mares.

As to their quest for racing dates for which these men had assembled, Sunland Park out-politicked Carlsbad. But more importantly for Ruidoso Downs, Gene Hensley, the owner of Ruidoso Downs promised to put up a certain amount of money if these men would run their unborn colts at his track. They agreed.

Fifteen horses were nominated but only five managed to make the race which was won by Segura Miguel out of the great mare, Stella Moore. That race was called "The Ruidoso Futurity."

From that rather inauspicious beginning came the first running of the All-American Futurity in 1959 with a purse of over $129,000. It was won by Galobar, owned by Hugh Huntley and trained by Newt Keck. On board Galobar was a twenty-two year old jockey named Cliff Lambert.

Today Cliff Lambert is one of the most respected and successful thoroughbred trainers in the southwest. Many years after his victory Cliff reflected, "Well, it was the biggest race in the country that year. But the race has grown so much. When I won it the guys who had horses had only one or two two-year-olds. Now some trainers have 20 or more in the trials."

Incidentally, the year of that first All-American Futurity a young trainer named Jack Brooks came to Ruidoso for the first time. Brooks' stable consisted of one thoroughbred and one quarter horse.

Many years later Jack Brooks, too, would look back on that 1959 Futurity.

"I watched Cliff Lambert win the All-American Futurity on Galobar and from that time on the All-American Futurity was my big deal. I pointed myself to win it. I think that is what goes through every trainer's mind. For anyone in the quarter horse business, winning the All-American Futurity is the main goal."

A few years back, Hollywood movie makers came to Ruidoso Downs to film "Casey's Shadow," a horse racing movie. In that movie, Walter Matthau, the main character (a trainer) mirrored Jack Brooks' own thoughts. His script read, "The All-American ain't the only horse race in the world. But you see, what you got there is a million dollar purse. And what we got here is a horse — a real winner."

Since 1947, Ruidoso Downs has undergone many changes. The lengths of the meet were extended and in 1960 the Kansas Futurity came to the Downs.

In 1964 with the addition of the Rainbow Futurity, the prestigious title of Triple Crown winner became a possibility, and in 1981 Special Effort became the first to wear that crown. In 1968 a thoroughbred stakes schedule came into being.

For the fan, the horseman, and yes, the horse, a banner year was 1986. The old 'five furlong bull ring' gave way to a 7 furlong major league race track. That completed a $6.5 million capital improvement project that had begun in 1983. But progress did not slow for long.

With the final days of the 1988 race meet a new beginning was undertaken. New ownership brought an influx of capital investment and a process of reinvigorating every aspect of Ruidoso Downs racing.

The theme from the front office was "A New Look."

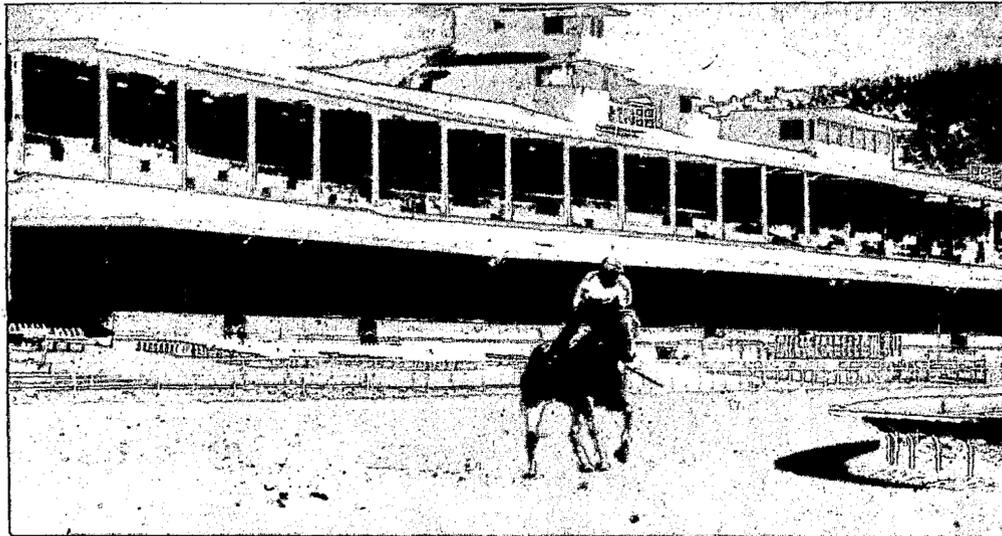

The new look went beyond paint. Every level of the grandstand, from main floor to rooftop was revamped. Concession stands, mutuel windows, dining areas, bars and restrooms were either torn down, rebuilt, moved, or removed. Along with a new tote board area was a well designed paddock area and a winners' circle where the ceremonies could be viewed by all the spectators.

Also, the "backside" saw many improvements. Barns were rebuilt, roads and drainage areas were repaired and anything that did not move received a coat of white and vapor blue paint.

For the Ruidoso Downs 1993 racing season a 74-day meet is on tap. The major highlights for Thoroughbreds include the $75,000 added Ruidoso Budweiser $100,000 Cup for older horses; the $100,000 estimated Norgor Futurity; the $100,000 estimated Kachina Stakes for 2-year old fillies and the $125,000 estimated Ruidoso Futurity.

For Quarter Horses the highlight of the season will of course be the 34th running of the $2.3 million All-American Futurity—the world's richest Quarter Horse race.

The author, Herb Seckler, 'distilled' the above article from his recent book, "Hoofbeats from the Downs." Seckler, who lives in Bent, New Mexico, also publishes a literary magazine, "Mountain Passages."

Ruidoso Downs Race Track has grown up in its first 45 years, with more and more purses. Improvements made at the track since it was purchased by R.D. Hubbard extend from the front door to the barns.

RACING 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Rich Kansas trials highlight opening day at the races

Highlighting Ruidoso Downs' 1992 opening program Thursday will be the qualifying trial races for the Grade I $215,428 Kansas Futurity for 2-year-old Quarter Horses.

Ruidoso Downs' 74-day summer season will offer Thoroughbred and Quarter Horse races Thursday through Sunday. Monday holiday programs are scheduled for Memorial Day May 25, and Labor Day September 7. The gates open at 11 a.m. daily and first post is 1 p.m.

The 16 trials for the Kansas Futurity will be contested Thursday and Friday with eight races of eight horses scheduled each day. Besides the eight trials, Thursday's card will include four simulcast races.

Friday's card will include four live Thoroughbred races.

The finals for the 350-yard Kansas Futurity, first leg of Ruidoso Downs' Quarter Horse Triple Crown, will be May 24.

Although the number of horses entered in the Kansas is down 40 percent compared to last year's race, the quality of the entrants is as strong as ever.

"The fact that there are fewer horses this year is not a reflection of the popularity of our race as much as it is a sign of the times," said Norm Amundson, Ruidoso Downs' racing secretary.

"The economic depression of the last few years prompted owners to breed fewer horses. Also, more race tracks have opened up, creating more opportunities for horses to race elsewhere."

At first glance, it appears Ruidoso Downs' leading Quarter Horse trainer Jack Brooks may once again dominate the Kansas races. Last year, Brooks won 10 of the Kansas Futurity trials, including seven consecutive winners the first day.

Five Brooks' trainees made it into the 1991 finals with Steppin For The Moon winning the race.

Brooks entered 21 horses in this year's Kansas, 10 Thursday and 11 Friday.

"I don't think I'll do what I did last year," Brooks said.

"At least not the first day. My best horses are running Friday."

Brooks believes his strongest contenders on Thursday's card are It Ain't No Bull, third in last month's Sun Country Futurity at Sunland Park, and Buzzword, who finished sixth in the West Texas Futurity.

"Whenever he races, It Ain't No Bull is right there and I expect him to run a good race," Brooks said. "I also feel pretty good about Buzzword's chances. He had a bad break in the West Texas, but still ran a decent race."

It Ain't No Bull will race from the seventh position in the seventh race. Buzzword will race from the sixth post in the fourth race. Brooks did not name a jockey on either horse at time of entry. It Ain't No Bull was bred, and is owned, by Don Moore of Del City, OK. Buzzword is owned by Ramich Farms of Topeka, Kansas.

Friday, Brooks will saddle what he considers to be his best shots to nab the winner's share of $75,399 — Mr. Eye Opener, winner of the Grade I West Texas Futurity, and Choculo, winner of the Grade I Sun Country.

Trainers attempting to contest Brook's domination of the Kansas Futurity include Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath who entered 17 horses; Don Farris who entered 13; and Nene Simmons entered 11.

"Most of Farris' horses are non-starters, but you can't overlook them," Amundson said. "His horses are all well bred and he usually has some scorpions in the bunch."

Another contender expected to give his competition a run for the money Thursday is Rocket On Over, trained by Ben Torres and owned by Becky Torres and Homer Garza of McIntosh, NM. Ben Torres won last year's All American Futurity with Royal Quick Dash.

Rocket On Over finished fourth in the West Texas Futurity and eighth in the Sun Country Futurity. The gelding will break from the second post in the third race.

First post for Thursday's card is 1 p.m.

I'd like to make you a very unusual offer ... if you will stay with me at The Lodge on any weekday night, I'll treat you and your guest to FREE greens fees at the spectacular Lodge Golf Course. With room tariffs ranging from only $49 to $165 (the Governor's Suite), you and a golfing companion will realize substantial savings during your stay.

I want you to experience our charming, antique-filled accommodations, generous and gracious hospitality, beautiful pool and spa facilities, extraordinary mountaintop setting and remarkable history (we are a New Mexico Historic Site). If you like, I'll even try to introduce you to our voluptuous red-haired, blue-eyed female spirit.

And I want you to enjoy the savory cuisine of Rebecca's, Southern New Mexico's finest restaurant and the only one with two graduate chefs from the Culinary Institute of America. Dine with a sunset view, fireside, in Rebecca's garden or poolside at The Lodge Beach Bar & Grill.

IN FACT, IF YOU CAN'T STAY WITH ME, I'LL GIVE YOU A TEN PERCENT (10%) DISCOUNT ON YOUR GREENS FEES IF YOU SIMPLY DINE AT REBECCA'S. All you have to do is mention this advertisement to your wait person.

Some no doubt will call these offers blatant bribes! They're right. We want you to experience some of the most delightful experiences in Southern, New Mexico, and if this is what it takes ... so be it. Thanks.

This offer is valid for Sunday through Thursday overnight stays and Sunday afternoon through Friday morning play on days adjacent to overnight stay. Each night's stay entitles each party in the room (two maximum) to a single complimentary greens fee. Carts are not included.

Dynamic duo head the '92 Kansas Futurity trials field

Grade I winners Mr Eye Opener and Choculo head a throng of 2-year-old Quarter Horses going postward in Friday's trial races for the Grade I (one) $215,428 Kansas Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

Today, 65 horses will contest the 350-yard distance of the Kansas trials, while 64 horses contested the sprint Thursday (May 7). The five fastest horses from each day earn a starting berth in the prestigious Kansas Futurity finals May 24, and a shot at the winner's purse of $75,399.

Friday's card, the second day of Ruidoso Downs' 1992 season, will host eight Kansas Futurity trials and four Thoroughbred races.

Ruidoso Downs' leading Quarter Horse trainer Jack Brooks will saddle 10 horses for Friday's trials including Mr Eye Opener and Choculo (pronounced CHALK-uh-oh).

Mr Eye Opener won the Grade I

There's no place like Ruidoso Downs for the world's fastest Quarter Horses

West Texas Futurity at Sunland Park last month while equaling the world record for 330-yards, 16.45 seconds. Choculo caught the attention of Sunland Park fans when he won the West Texas Futurity First Consolation. Choculo came back several weeks later to win the rich 350-yard Sun Country Futurity at Sunland Park.

Owned by James Armer of Norman, Oklahoma, Choculo has won three of his four life-time starts. Mr Eye Opener is two for two and is owned by Dale and Billie Smith of Tulsa, Oklahoma.

"They'll both be tough if everything goes right," Brooks said, "I think they both have about an equal chance of making it into the finals."

As a horse, Choculo is not much to look at. He's a mundane brown with no distinctive marking except a star on his forehead. The gelding resembles a blocky work horse more than a refined runner.

The gelding's owner, however, thinks he looks like a million dollars. The Smith's turned down an offer of $150,000 for the son of Jet Toro, then paid a late entry fee of $3,200 to start him in the Kansas.

The Kansas trials will be the first through eighth races. Choculo will break from the outside eight-post position in the second race.

Brooks did not name a rider for Choculo at time of entry. Mr Eye Opener and jockey Jacky Martin will start in the sixth race and break from the four post. All Kansas Futurity Horses will carry 120 pounds.

RACING 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Brooks anticipates a record year

If Trainer Jack Brooks keeps up the winning pace he ignited at Sunland Park earlier this spring, his summer at Ruidoso Downs could be a record one.

"It's been unbelievable," Brooks said while setting up his stable for the upcoming season at Ruidoso Downs. "I just kept winning races."

Although Brooks arrived at Sunland Park more than four months into the El Paso track's winter meeting, the training kinglypin made his presence known immediately.

The 56-year-old Brooks won 32 races worth more than $445,000, vaulting him into second place in the trainers' standing by the time he shipped for Ruidoso Downs April 19. One out of every four horses started by Brooks reigned victorious.

"That's the most races I've ever won at Sunland Park," said Brooks.

"I could have a record meet here at Ruidoso Downs if everything goes like it should."

Among Brooks' Sunland Park wins were the Grade I $176,000 West Texas Futurity with Mr Eye Opener, the Grade I $175,000 Sun Country Futurity with Choculo, and the Grade II $62,800 West Texas Derby with Special Task.

Brooks is the only trainer so far this year to win two Grade I Quarter Horse races.

While Brooks outlines his training successes with modesty, his 33-year-career has been anything but modest. He is Ruidoso Downs' all-time leading trainer in purses won and purses earned. He ranked second in the 1991 national Quarter Horse trainer standings in purses won. He is among the top three all-time leading Quarter Horse trainers having won 1,041 races worth almost $20 million for his horse owners (statistics available only since 1970).

He has teamed up with Jockey Jacky Martin to win a record five All American futurities and has trained 10 Champion Racing Quarter Horses including World Champions Merganser (1988) and Moon Lark (1989).

"I'm probably one of the luckier guys in this game," Brooks said with obvious relish. "I have never had a bad year at Ruidoso Downs. Things don't always go as well as I'd like them to, but I always manage to do better than average."

One glance at Brooks' Ruidoso Downs starting line-up backs up his claim of a promising season. Besides Mr Eye Opener and Choculo, Brooks has several other talented 2-year-olds including; Ain't No Bull, who finished second in the West Texas Futurity and third in the Sun Country Futurity; Mighty B Doll, who finished third in the West Texas Futurity and fourth in the Sun Country Futurity; and Elegant Dash, who has yet to start, but has already shown Brooks she has the potential to race with the best.

"I expect a promising summer from Choculo and Mr Eye Opener," said Brooks who hails from central Oklahoma. "Choculo is just as sound as can be for a 2-year-old and that's real good. When young horses run as hard as he does, it can be hard to keep them sound. Mr Eye Opener was rested a bit after the West Texas, but I tracked him this morning and he's going super."

When it comes to older Quarter Horses, Brooks' stable offers as much depth as his younger string.

"I have several good older horses like Special Legend to run in the Silver Cup and Gold Cup...he's won almost $200,000," said Brooks, who has 35 horses stabled at Ruidoso Downs and another 30 at Remington Park in Oklahoma City. "Steppin For The Moon is also training super. He won the Rainbow Futurity last year and was a qualifier in all of the futurities (Kansas, Rainbow and All American)."

Not to be overlooked is Special Task, who earlier this month set a new stakes record in winning the West Texas Derby, 19.24 seconds for 400 yards.

Brooks also has high hopes for Pullasix, who had the fastest time in the Kansas Futurity last year, and Vital Class, who ran second in the Kansas Futurity last year and won the 1991 All-American first consolation.

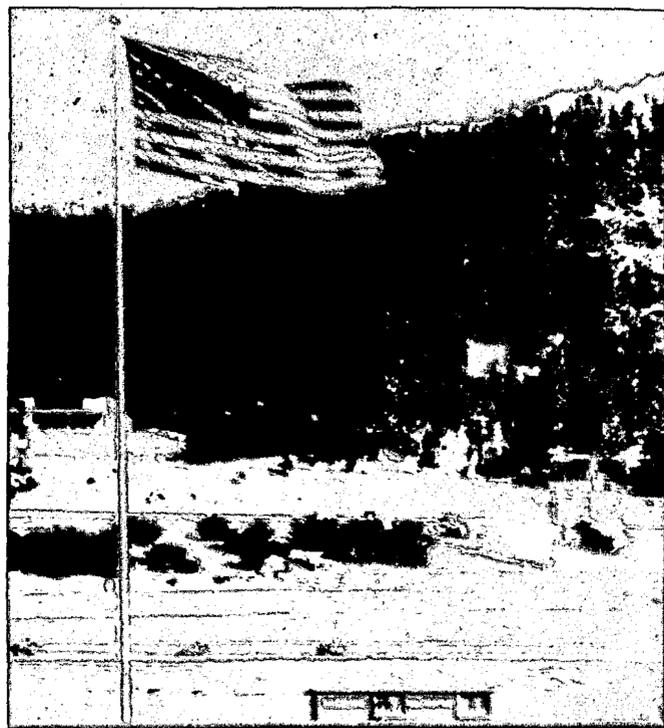

Brooks grew up in Blanchard, Oklahoma, but he and wife Wynona now call Edmond, Oklahoma, home. They also own a training center in Jones, Oklahoma, where Brooks annually breaks and trains as many as 100 horses in hopes of discovering potential champions.

Considering Brooks has won every rich and prestigious Quarter Horse race offered at Ruidoso Downs at least once, what can he look forward to this season?

"Winning the All American," claimed Brooks. "My goal since I first raced at Ruidoso Downs was to win the All American. I thought if I could just win it one time, I would be satisfied. But after I won it the first time, I wanted to win again and again. Now I'm looking for my sixth."

JACK BROOKS AND FRIEND

What a place to visit!

Ruidoso Downs Race Track is located in the Village of Ruidoso Downs in beautiful Lincoln County where the cool pines and the bright sunshine combine to form the perfect climate.

Picking the winners: strategies vary from common sense to the bizarre

Placing bets at Ruidoso Downs is fun and easy once you get the hang of it, but picking winners is a bit harder.

Professional handicappers each have their own different bits or pieces of information they compile to select their horses; some are common sense approaches, others a bit bizarre.

The one thing most successful handicappers have in common, however, is that they treat handicapping like any other job; they spend eight hours a day working at it; analyzing The Daily Racing Form, studying the bloodlines, watching races and race replays, attending morning workouts and even visiting owners, trainers and jockeys.

If you're a first-timer or occasional fan, don't expect to win every time you bet or you'll be disappointed. If you go with a light open attitude and with pocket money you can afford to lose while you experiment, a day at the races can be great fun.

Do you have a favorite color or number? Does a particular horse's name or prancing style strike your fancy? Then go for it! Bet your age, the ages of your children, your birthdate.

Bet the horse with the cutest jockey, the flashiest silks, the craziest name, the prettiest tail.

And don't forget to bet the gray! Another way to pick potential winners is to go with the flow: the morning-line favorite on your program or the shortest-priced horse on the tote board.

In North America, favorites win approximately one-third of the time.

Ah, so you don't trust your instincts or whims! How about trusting someone else's? There are several places you can find selections from "professional" handicappers plying their skills to the unskilled horse player.

Newspapers- Pick up a daily edition of the El Paso Times, El Paso Herald Post, the Roswell Daily Record or The Daily Racing Form and check out the sports sections for handicapper's selections and/or morning lines.

Tip Sheets These are daily selections sold by individuals claiming to be professional handicappers. Tip sheets are available at the track and generally available at surrounding quick marts and restaurants. Some are better than others, only experience can tell you which.

Because you have no idea as to the skill of the tip-sheet tout, tips sheets sold at the track may be a better choice. Ruidoso Downs' management wants you to return time and again and your more likely to return when your track experience is a winning one.

Handicapping Seminars - Are offered each weekend race day at Ruidoso Downs at 11:30 a.m. on the track side veranda on the east end of the grandstand. A track handicapper will discuss the basics of handicapping and go over the day's race card and why they like certain horses more than others.

If you really want some outside help, buy a program, newspaper and tip sheet, and go to the seminar, then compare choices and make your own.

Perhaps the greatest handicapping aid is The Daily Racing Form, often referred to as the "bible of the Horse Racing Industry."

This daily newspaper tabloid is a one-of-a-kind reference that profiles race records of each horse in each race on the day's program. Comparing one horse's past performance against other contenders in the race is one way to pick winners. Learning to read and analyze the 20 or so tidbits of information available on each horse offered in The Daily Racing Form, however, takes time and experience.

Daily Racing Forms may be purchased on track daily or at area stores and restaurants.

Ruidoso Downs' daily program also offers some comparable information supplied by The Daily Racing Form, but in an easier to read format for the unskilled horse player.

SUMMER 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Recreation is the name of the game

Sitting on a park bench enjoying the Rio Ruidoso and the wonders of nature might be all right for 15 minutes.

But to have real fun, you have to spend money.

Mountain horseback riding is a real kick and the Ruidoso area offers five private stables and thousands of different trails and scenery, including a view of Bonito Lake and Sierra Blanca.

Most stables offer rides from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and range in price from $7.50 to $8.50.

Ruidoso is one long carnival in the summer, especially with heavy Midtown traffic and two arcees on Sudderth.

Fun Tracksters is a top of the line go-cart track complete with overpass. This training ground on a miniature highway is designed to save the family car at a low cost. Tickets are $2.50 for about six minutes are about 20 laps.

Small carts are available for ages 3-9, and larger carts for 9 and up. An arcade is inside the waiting building. Call 257-7081.

Indoor bumper cars at the Y-Knot Park at the intersection of U.S. 70 and Sudderth Drive are popular vehicles for controlled madness.

Race cars whiz around outside and an indoor 18-hole carpet golf course cuts through a snack bar and video game room.

Top of the line miniature golf and a village favorite is Pan-O-Rama Mini Golf located on Eagle Drive on the banks of the Rio Ruidoso.

Pan-O-Rama is a walk through the forest and a miniature golf course. It's also a hangout for local teens.

Open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week, this town favorite costs $2.80 for adults, $2.50 for kids and seniors. Dogs are free. Call 257-7164.

Holiday Carpet Golf is located on Sudderth Drive, across from the Lincoln County Medical Center.

Holiday accomodates its customers from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. or until the people are all gone. A round costs $2.75 for adults and $2.50 for kids.

A step up from miniature golf is the Executive Golf Course at Rainbow Lake. This course features roughs and water hazards. A round of Exec Golf will cost $3.

Rainbow Lake Fun Park is located on Carrizo Canyon Road and is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Sunday through Thursday, and until midnight on Friday and Saturday.

Rainbow Lake is the area's largest young adult recreation area. Bumper boats, batting cages, an arcade, a trout lake and a restaurant are all on the premises.

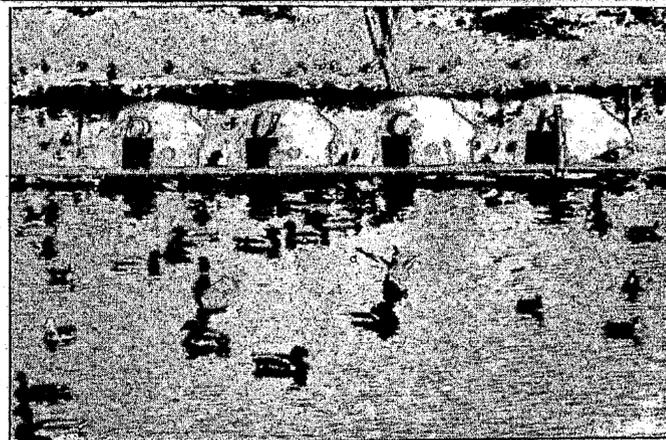

Two slo-pitch softball cages and one hardball cage help sharpen your skills. The hardball cage is not for wimps. Token for the batting cages are $1 and that buys you 18 swats.

For the privileged 40-inch or taller: people, bumper boats is a great way to cool off on a hot afternoon. A ride costs $2.50. Call Rainbow Lake at 257-9039.

The Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department has a full scale program of events for residents and visitors that includes swimming, softball, tennis and gymnastics. Call 257-7595.

The pool and tennis courts are located on Sudderth Drive right next to the Ruidoso Public Library.

Watch The Ruidoso News for information on softball tournaments at the Eagle Creek Sports Complex on Ski Run Road and Highway 48 on the way to Alto.

SUMMER 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Lincoln County is one big playground

If your idea of getting away is to hike across alpine valleys, to cook hamburgers over a grill at a pine-studded campground, to ride a horse along a mountain trail or to spend a lazy afternoon fishing, welcome to Lincoln County.

Rising out of the Tularosa Basin, the Sacramento Mountains offer a refuge from steaming temperatures in the summer and transform into a skier's delight in the winter.

Ruidoso is surrounded by outdoor recreational opportunities in the Lincoln National Forest, including the White Mountain Wilderness and the nearby Capitan Mountain Wilderness.

Activities may be tailored to an individual's physical condition. High ridges and peaceful meadows may be reached by hiking or horseback. Fishing lines can be cast into fast running streams or in nearby Lake Bonito, which is managed by the city of Alamogordo.

Camping overnight can be as simple as driving to a campground or throwdown area along one of the forest roads. For rugged adventure and backpacking, more than 200 miles of trails crisscross the remote White Mountain Wilderness and other mountain ranges in the Smokey Bear Ranger District.

More than 40 percent of the big game hunting in New Mexico occurs on the Lincoln in pursuit of deer, elk, bear and turkey. The same opportunity is available year-round for those who prefer to capture magnificent wildlife on film.

The forest is home to the red-tailed hawk, blue grouse, meadow quail, the hairy woodpecker and-steller jay as well as a temporary stop-over for migratory species such as the blue-throated hummingbird, Clark nutcracker and Townsend warbler.

CAMPING

In addition to numerous private campgrounds and recreational vehicle parks in the county, six campgrounds and one picnic area have been developed in the Lincoln National Forest within an hour and a half drive from Ruidoso. They are supervised by the Smokey Bear Ranger District, which is headquartered at 901 Mechem Drive and can provide waterproof maps of the wilderness area for $4. The maps also contain useful information about individual trails and national forest regulations.

Situated off U.S. 54 between Carrizozo and Alamogordo, Three Rivers Campground is the farthest from Ruidoso. Lying at the base of the White Mountain Wilderness, its lower elevation allows the campground to remain open year-round while others at higher elevations only are open during the summer season.

Visitors can connect to U.S. 54 by driving west from Ruidoso on State Highways 48 and 37 to Carrizozo and then turning south, or they can take U.S. 70 to Tularosa and head north.

The campground features six campsites. Trailers under 16 feet are permitted. Campers should bring their own drinking water, but restrooms are available. The maximum length of stay for all campgrounds is 14 days.

An interesting stop near the campground on Forest Road 579 is Three Rivers Petroglyphs Park managed by the Federal Bureau of Land Management.

After munching picnic snacks, visitors can climb a panoramic ridge etched with more than 5,000 figures and symbols left by the Jornada Mogollon people, descended from the nomadic tribesmen who inhabited southcentral New Mexico from 5,000 B.C. No one is sure why the Indians created the figures or what they mean, but the park presents a unique chance to sit among the ancients under the imposing gaze of Sierra Blanca.

Bring head cover during the summer, the sun can be a brutal opponent as the temperatures climb.

South Fork Campground, with 60 camping sites, is the largest of the six campgrounds in the district. Situated near Bonito Lake, it is the only one that requires a fee, $6 per vehicle, payable at the gate.

Drinking water and restrooms are available. Trailers under 30 feet are allowed.

South Fork currently is receiving a much needed face lift. Parking spots are being lengthened and leveled, restrooms are being reconstructed, interior roads are being paved and some sites and restrooms are being converted for wheelchair accessibility.

The forest service expects South Fork to reopen around the beginning of July. Call (505)257-4095 to check before planning a stop there.

South Fork may be reached from Ruidoso by taking State Highway 48 north to Highway 37, then turning on Forest Road 107 leading around Bonito Lake.

For a higher elevation and chiller evenings, Monjeau and Skyline campgrounds offer campers a taste of high altitude at 9,500 and 9,000 feet above sealevel (ASL), respectively. To reach those campgrounds, take Highway 48 north from Ruidoso to Ski Run Road. From there, follow the signs to Forest Road 117.

Skyline, about nine miles up the mountain from the turnoff, has 17 picnic tables and five fire rings with a central parking area. (Check with the district office about the level of fire hazard. During some especially dry times, fires may be prohibited at campgrounds, throwdown areas and backpacking sites.) Vault restrooms are available. Trailers under 16 feet are allowed if drivers can navigate the sometimes bumpy and rock-strewn road.

Monjeau, about one mile farther up, has four campsites and trailers under 16 feet are allowed. Campers should bring drinking and washing water. Vault type restrooms are available.

Once settled in at the campgrounds, visitors should venture a bit higher up the rocky road to Monjeau Lookout. The platform below the fire spotting tower affords an awesome view of the Sacramento and of the Capitans, a unique range of mountains that run east to west. The Capitans contain nearly 50 miles of wilderness trails.

Ladybugs also seem to favor the lookout area, congregating so thickly that at times, they blanket the rocky outcrops of the mountain.

Located just off Ski Run Road on the way to Ski Apache, Oak Grove Campground is situated at an elevation of 9,000 feet ASL.

Oak Grove has 29 campsites. Trailers of less than 16-feet are allowed. Campers should bring their own water, but restrooms are available.

If a picnic is what you're after, a large group pavilion and more than 20 scattered single tables are just a short drive from the middle of Ruidoso. The pavilion at Cedar Creek Picnic Area, available by reservation, sits just off Cedar Creek Road about a mile from the Smokey Bear District Ranger Station on Mechem Drive.

Opened officially from May through September, the picnic area is a favorite of year-round residents, who often stop on lunch breaks even in the middle of winter. Drinking water and restrooms are available, but overnight camping is not allowed.

However, just up the road from the picnic pavilion three large shelters have been constructed as part of the new Cedar Creek Group Campground.

They are handicap accessible with water and restrooms. The large shelters are separated by natural landscaping, creating privacy but also allowing interaction for groups that may use all three areas. Up to 250 people can be accommodated at one time.

Fire rings have been created and grills have been assembled for cooking. Parking places are sized for motor homes and trailers as well as cars.

Tents may be set up at random, but no trenching is allowed.

The group campsites may only be used by reservation. Contact the ranger station on Mechem or call (505) 257-4095.

Forest Ranger Sam Tobias said Memorial Day, the Fourth of July and Labor Day are the busiest times of the year at the campgrounds. He recommended checking well in advance with the ranger station to reserve the campgrounds on those holiday weekends.

People unfamiliar with Ruidoso also should check with rangers for camping information. The Smokey Bear Station is open from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on weekdays from Memorial Day through Labor Day. It is open on Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Maps of the Lincoln National Forest and its campgrounds are available at the station for $2.

HIKING

More than 300 miles of trails in the Lincoln National Forest give chances for hiking, horseback riding and motorcycling.

Many of the trails, as well as miles of old railroad grades, are used by cross-country skiers and snowmobilers in the winter.

About 83,000 acres of wilderness are available for users who wish to experience the ultimate in getting away from it all.

The White Mountain Wilderness and the newer Capitan Mountains Wilderness are located on the spines of rugged mountain ranges, and offer spectacular views to those willing and able to work for them. Travel in the wilderness is restricted to foot and horse traffic. No motorized vehicles or mountain bikes are allowed.

Nine major trails tread the ridges and valleys in the White Mountain Wilderness. They range from less than one mile to more than 21 miles. Some climb only a few hundred feet while others entail ascents of more than 3,000 feet. The top elevation, at Ice Springs, is about 11,000 feet ASL.

The Mills Trail, number 22, is a 4.7 mile long path that climbs 2,560 feet above Bonito Canyon to Monjeau Lookout. The trailhead, which marks the entrance to the route, is accessible from Forest Road 107.

The South Fork Trail, number 19, ascends 2,880 feet from South Fork Campground to Crest Trail. A stream near the six mile long trail invites hikers to stop and enjoy its cool waters. The trailhead is accessible by Forest Road 107 and 107C.

The Bonito Trail, number 36, and the Argentine Trail, number 39, both leave the Bonito-Argentine trailhead and break in different directions along mountain streams.

The Argentine Trail, the shorter of the two, goes 2.5 miles on a incline of 1,280 feet to Crest Trail. The Bonito travels 4.6 miles and gains 1,600 feet in elevation, also to the Crest. The two trails may be reached by Forest Road 107.

Crest Trail begins at two different sites and travels 21.7 miles through the width of the wilderness from Tanbark Canyon to Monjeau Lookout. Some of the most panoramic and scenic views in the wilderness can be found along its pathway. The two trailheads are accessible by either Forest Road 108 or Forest Road 117.

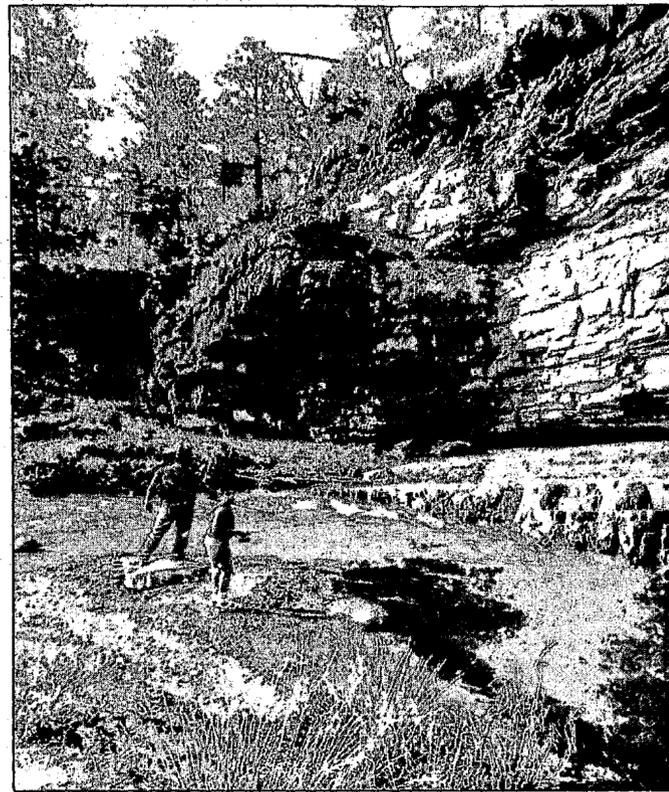

Nogal Trail, number 48, is relatively short at 1.2 miles and climbs 780 feet from Nogal Canyon to the Nogal/Tortolita Trail, number 54. The trailhead is accessible from Forest Roads 108 and 400.

The Three Rivers Trail, number 44, logs more feet in elevation than any other trail in the wilderness. It ascends 3,440 feet in 5.6 miles from the Three Rivers Campground to Crest Trail. The trailhead is accessible by U.S. 54 and Forest Road 579. Hikers should have an adequate water supply since no source of drinking water is available at the campground or on Crest Trail.

The shortest of the major routes is Scenic Trail, number 15, which leaves Ski Apache parking lot at a marked trailhead and goes less than one mile in its 300 foot ascent to Crest Trail.

In addition to the trails in the White Mountain Wilderness, 11 major trails wind through the Capitan Wilderness, three in the Patos Mountains, three in the Carrizo Mountains and Vera Cruz Mountains and three in the Jicarilla Mountains, all in the area around the small community of White Oaks.

More than half the trails in the Smokey Bear District are non-motorized. Off-road and off-trail travel is not permitted by vehicles in the Lincoln National Forest. The restriction is necessary to protect soil and water, vegetation and wildlife, Tobias said.

GONE FISHIN'

Vehicles must remain on roads and trails marked by numbered signs. These signs are located at intersections and other prominent places. Some closed roads and trails are barricaded or gated, but most are identified by the absence of a sign.

Open roads may be traveled by any vehicle. Motorized trails are open to hikers, horses and vehicles less than 40-inches wide, unless otherwise restricted. Vehicles may travel up to 300 feet from open roads to reach primitive camping sites, unless doing so would result in damage to the resource, Tobias said.

Travel maps showing what trails are motorized and those that are not, is available at the ranger station for $1 each. Backpackers and people interested in the more obscure trails in the White Mountain Wilderness need the $4 trail map on sale at the station.

For people seeking a milder form of exercise, the U.S. Forest Service's Fitness Trail at Cedar Creek is a perfect alternative.

Consisting of an outer loop of 1.3 miles and an inner loop of one-fourth of a mile, the trail covers seven dual-purpose exercise stations along a jogging path. Participants walk or jog between stations, complete the exercises and continue on until they've finished the course. Signs describe and illustrate each exercise.

Individuals progress at their own rate and do as few or as many repeats of the exercises as they wish.

RIDING

White Mountain Wilderness visitors may choose to use their own saddles and pack stock or those of an outfitter for a daytime or overnight trek into the wilderness. If properly managed, use of a horse can be a rewarding experience without harming the surrounding environment.

Pack animals and saddle stock are limited to 15 for any overnight party entering the wilderness. Proper planning and use of lightweight food and equipment can reduce the number of animals necessary for carrying supplies.

Horseback riding stables include: Cowboy Stables in Ruidoso Downs, Buddies on Gavilan Canyon Road, Grindstone Stables, Bonito Stables and the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

FISHING

While local fishing holes are not abundant, the search to find them usually is rewarded by an ample catch.

Bonito Creek, Bonito Lake, Eagle Creek, Alto Lake, Grindstone

Lake and the Rio Ruidoso all offer excellent trout fishing opportunities. They are stocked annually by the New Mexico Game and Fish with up to 2,000 rainbow trout measuring 10 1/2 inches in length.

Salmon eggs, power bait and worms are the most popular baits. Minnows are prohibited in trout water of the area.

All anglers over the age of 11 must have a current fishing license. A year-long license for residents of New Mexico is $8.50 and $14 with a trout validation.

Sportsmen may buy a trout-water validation at the same time they buy a fishing license. If a license is purchased without validation, and a person later decides to fish in trout water, a trout stamp must be obtained and will run $5.75 for residents and $7 for non-residents.

For non-residents, a year-long, warm waters species plus trout license runs $41.

Junior-senior and temporary licenses also are available. They are for youngsters 12-13 years old and for those anglers over 65. They cost $1.50 for warm waters and $4.50 with trout validation.

Temporary licenses are good for one and five days. A one-day license is $5.25 for warm waters and $8.50 with trout validation; five day licenses are $10.50 and $15, respectively.

Those fishermen who cast their lines in the Lincoln National Forest and surrounding Bureau of Land Management controlled water also will have to purchase a Wildlife Habitat Improvement Stamp.

The $5.25 stamp is required for Eagle Creek, Three Rivers, all waters within the White Mountain Wilderness, certain sections of Bonito Creek and all waters in the Capitan Mountains. It is not required to fish Bonito Lake, Alto Lake, Grindstone Lake or the Rio Ruidoso.

Money derived from the sale of the stamp will be used to complete habitat improvement projects to benefit all types of wildlife.

The state's daily fishing limit is eight.

Fines for fishing without a license may run from $50 to $500 and up to six months in jail.

Fishing opportunities also are available on the Mescalero Apache Reservation at Eagle Lake, Silver Lake, the upper Rio Ruidoso and Lake Mescalero.

Reservation fishing permits cover all seasons. The charge is $4 for all but Lake Mescalero, which is $8.

Those who don't want to work too hard for their fish can try Ootley's Trout Lake four miles east of the Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

PICTURE PERFECT

SUMMER 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Better golf around

Grandeur appreciated is to stop and smell the roses along the mountain fairways of Lincoln County's golf courses.

High and dry climate, temperature perfect summer days, challenge out of challenge on a variety of courses.

The Links

Ruidoso's newest golf course is the berm studded Links at Sierra Blanca, a dream or a nightmare, depending on how good your game is on that day.

The Links sports the best practice range in New Mexico, complete with beautifully maintained tee areas and sandtraps.

Skilled players with a downhill lie will be at an advantage.

Bring a camera in your bag. A picture perfect lake frames Sierra Blanca Mountains in the background.

If you walk away with a good score, you're not just an average golfer.

Check it out, 7,003 yards from the blues. This Jim Colbert course has a monster 581 yarder.

GOLFING LIKE A PRO

Rated 72 on this par 72, Michael Hicks is the golf pro. Economically priced with a variety of options, call 258-5330.

Cree Meadows

Cree Meadows Golf Course and Country Club is for the faint of heart. A forgiving course, excellent for walking and the most popular course in the area.

Cree's course is a respectable 6,786 yards long, rated a 67.9 and plays a par 71.

A not so kind and gentle 348-yard, par 4, eleventh hole is rated as the number one handicap hole on the course.

P.G.A. Professional Kent Beatty oversees the course and a full-line pro shop.

Beatty is always running fun-type tournaments so it would pay to call and see what he has cooking during the time of your visit.

For tee times, Beatty's number call 257-5815.

Cree Meadows Driving Range is located across from the country club and is open from daylight to dark. A large bucket of balls costs $3 and a small bucket $2.

The Lodge

For something really different, try an old Scottish tradition, a nine-hole course with double tees and double greens at The Lodge in Cloudercroft.

Golfers tee off the front nine from one set of tees to a green. The second time around is from a longer, different tee to a new flag with angles and trees that didn't come into play the first time around.

Starting at an elevation of 9,000 feet, the first hole drops over 200 feet in the first 251 yards. At the bottom of the first hill is a circular pond that cuts off a portion of the green.

Top rated hole on the course is a 4-par, 410-yard shot with nothing flat and flanked by tall timber.

The best part of playing at The Lodge is staying at The Lodge. A midweek spring and fall package lets you play golf free.

For reservations or tee times, call Marty Mills at 1-800-396-6343.

Alto Lakes

One of America's most scenic courses is the Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club.

This is a private course for members and their guests so make friends and feel privileged if you get to play Alto.

The 6,059-yards of pristine pleasure is rated 68.5 from the whites and plays to a tight par 71.

The magnificent 523-yard, par 5, fourteenth hole is rated the number one handicap hole.

These are tees and greens you've got to see to believe - a golf architect's dream.

chitects dream.

Alto has a superb women's golf club that is very active all year round. P.G.A. Professional Chuck Dunn is the course pro.

Inn of the Mountain Gods

The Inn of the Mountain Gods Golf Course is located adjacent to the hotel on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

The 6,416-yard course is open to the public and is rated at 70.1 from the whites.

The 514-yard, par 5, first hole is played as the number one handicap hole.

Carrizozo

Carrizozo Golf Course is a popular nine-hole course located on the outskirts of Carrizozo. It is open to the public and operated by Ted Turnbow.

Bingo is your sure bet for lots of fun

Bingo isn't just for grandmas and little kids anymore. It is a fun, exciting way to spend an evening while you're in the Ruidoso area and it helps the community in a variety of ways.

The Elks Lodge is open every Wednesday night for Bingo lovers of all ages. The kitchen opens at 6 p.m. so come have a bite to eat before settling in for the early bird game at 7 p.m. Everyone is also invited to come for the regular session which begins at 7:30 p.m.

Benefits from Elks Bingo go to provide scholarships and help crippled children. The Elks Lodge is located on Highway 70.

Ruidoso Sertoma Club Bingo is open five days a week, Thursday, Friday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday for a wonderful variety of games to play. The doors open at 6 p.m. with a 7 p.m. early bird blackout. Games featured in the regular session are blackout, straight Bingo, double postage stamp (four in two corners), big picture frame, crazy T and postage stamp in four corners.

Intermission games include U-Pick-Em, big number 7, blackout, block of nine, crazy L, large diamond or crazy kite. Cash prizes range between $50 and $150 with a jackpot of $450. Play pull tabs to win up to $250.

Sertoma Club has all new computerized equipment and six monitors. The new hall is comfortable, with separate smoking and non-smoking areas.

Try a 10-game mastercard for only $6 or one of the specials for only $1. Friday is an extra value day so you can get an extra three game strip per person.

Playing Bingo at the Sertoma

Club at 2160 Highway 70 East helps many people in the community, too. The club donates to Ruidoso MealCare, which delivers meals to the elderly and infirm, and to Home Health Services of Lincoln County to care for home bound patients. Sertoma also contributes to youth activities, such as little league baseball, football and basketball and Lincoln County Youth Soccer.

Sertoma also gives academic scholarships and supplements families who need life threatening medical services. They plan to contribute to school activities, such as the drama club, golf team, under-19 soccer teams and the Ruidoso High School Boosters.

Another major project for the group is to help people who need hearing tests, hearing aides and speech therapy.

Bingo is also the name of the game at Bingo of Mescalero, just a quarter of a mile past the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The big, well-lighted Bingo hall is open Wednesday through Sunday with the wednesday opening at 5 p.m. Early birds get their shot at 6:30 with the regular session starting at 7 p.m.

Bingo of Mescalero has four special admission packs; one for $12 with a chance at $100, another for $15 for $200 and the third for $18 and a $300 win. The fourth offers all three. Visitors have 15 different, exciting games to choose from as well as pull tabs.

Want to risk a little more for a bigger jackpot? Play Bingo on the computers.

If the spirit of Ruidoso has got you feeling lucky, try something different. Take a chance at Bingo.

The view

The Ruidoso area provides an ever-changing scenic view as the majestic Sierra Blanca peak is transformed from a wintry white mountain scene into a bright green spring scene. In between, visitors and locals get to see the towering mountain evolve through its many beautiful looks.

SUMMER 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Make Ruidoso your fun-stop shopping center this year

Just one look is all it will take to tell you Ruidoso is the place to shop this summer.

Whether you are here for a few days at the race track or for a few months of relaxation in the beauty of the cool pines, your visit wouldn't be complete without a walk down Sudderth Drive, the main fairway, to see all the unique shops and gift ideas Ruidoso has to offer.

The first stop you will want to make is at the top, Mountaintop Experience that is.

Located just east of the stop light at Sudderth and Mechem drive, you will find a wonderful variety of Victorian and country gifts handcrafted by area artists. They also have a beautiful selection of porcelain dolls, dried flowers and baskets. Mountaintop offers the best in Christian books and music and can order Bibles and other special literature.

Also on Sudderth Drive in Midtown is Texas Furr with clothing you can wear anywhere, and it is all one of a kind. Texas Furr items are 100 percent cotton and are washing machine and drier safe. The best part is the furr is made right here in Ruidoso.

Making a statement in style will be easy to do in Ruidoso if you stop at a new shop, Michelle's, located at 2601 Sudderth. The clothing ranges from weekday to weekend to evening wear for sizes three to 14.

Michelle's has something for every age group and especially the young at heart. Fun accessories such as purses, hats and socks will complete any outfit you pick out. They are open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

You will enjoy all the shops in the Village Plaza in Midtown, but a must stop is the brand new Faye's Jewelry and Gifts. Besides the obvious fine and fashionable jewelry, the shop also offers crystal, music boxes, brass items, lamps and wall decorations.

She also has collectible items, such as Hummels, a figurine many people love to have displayed in their homes. Faye's opens at 9:30 a.m. daily and is open in the afternoon on Sunday.

Another plaza visitors will enjoy is the Plaza Center at 1701 Sudderth Drive where El Mercado is located. El Mercado, a Mexican market, has a huge selection of all types of pottery, including Mexican and Italian. They also have a lot of Mexican decorative items and garden accessories, like bird baths, fountains and statues.

Take a stroll around the plaza and you'll see Plants Ruidoso, a green thumb's paradise. They have a complete selection of many types of bedding plants. Also available are house plants, perennials and hanging baskets. Plants Ruidoso has been in business 12 years and gets bigger and better with every year.

You're sure to find a treasure at the Treasure Box at 2312 Sudderth Drive. Open the door to the Box and you will see a neat selection of handcrafted original art and gifts to choose from. They are unique in that they don't carry the typical Southwestern pieces but have featured the work of local talents in all artistic areas. They have hand-carved wooden boxes, leather goods, "Nanny Bears," music boxes, quilts, pottery, baskets and paintings. One look will tell you there is even more to look for in this shop.

Another shopping area to stop at is the Le Claire's Mountain Village where you will find a fun variety of shops to browse through. You're sure to find some thing that will remind you of Ruidoso years down the road.

Sierra Mall on Mechem Drive behind the Furr's also has shops that will keep you busy as you hunt for a great buy in the clothing stores, shoe store and book store.

Take a break at the fine Mexican restaurant before heading off for the rest of your adventure in Ruidoso.

Sierra Mall combines the unique items found only in Ruidoso with the advantage of mall shopping.

Ruidoso is more than a place to stop and enjoy the scenic beauty; it's a place to shop for a special gift for a friend or for yourself.

ACTING LIKE A TREE HUGGER?

Community theater is alive & well

Ruidoso Little Theatre will present "Murder in the Magnolias" at 8 p.m. Friday through Sunday, May 8-10, 15-17, 22-24, at Carrizo Lodge, with a 2 p.m. matinee on May 16.

Directed by Sandy Knox and Cem McClellan, this comedy-spoof in three acts is a parody of characters and plots from almost every southern play imaginable. When Colonel Rance Chickenwing dies suddenly, he leaves the secret of his buried treasure for a household of demented relatives to discover. When another death occurs, left to solve the mystery are bowling ball juggler Bubba Kamrowski, delicate Blanche du Blank, the fractured personalities of Cousin Thornbird, movie queen Princess Lotta Kargo, and Amanda Chickenwing, whose botanical garden has man-eating honeysuckles vines. Throw in a wild voo-doo woman, an obtuse, obese sheriff, a menacing hurricane, and a suspicious state engineer, and you have some idea of the fun in this madcap murder mystery.

Ticket prices are $6 adults, $4 seniors and $2 for students under twelve.

COLORFUL DANCERS OF A PAST FIESTA

Hondo Fiesta unfolds May 15-16

Viva la fiesta! And thus begins a riot of color and exquisite hand-made costumes combined with singing and dancing to traditional Latino rhythms as the internationally known Hondo Fiesta Dancers present their 40th annual repertoire.

This year is doubly special in that Hondo's dancers will be celebrating not only their 40th anniversary, but the 500th Anniversary of the New World's discovery by their ancestors.

This year's theme is "La Fiesta del Nuevo Mundo" (Celebration of the New World). (The dramatic clash and exciting interchange of ideas and cultures will be represented during the program.

The dancers will be featured at 7 p.m. on Friday, May 15, and again at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 16, at the Hondo High School Gym.

Admission is $4 for adults, $2 for students.

A traditional Mexican dinner will be prepared and served by parents and school staff from 4:30-6:30 p.m. This special plate costs only $4.

To assure the best view reserve seat tickets are also available for $6 (meal not included in any of the tickets.) To order reserved seat tickets, call the school at 653-4411.

In a continuing effort to preserve their Hispanic heritage, more than 100 students from K-12 grades will be participating in this year's 40th performance. The program, which Fernin and Cirenita Montes began in 1948, has blossomed into a magnificent show drawing many people to the Hondo Valley each year.

Since that time, innumerable individuals, including former students, have worked together to keep the program alive and flourishing. Hondo graduates and former dancers Frank Herrera, Cecilia Gomez Sanchez and Porfiria Montoya Zinn are now dance instructors.

For additional information contact the school at 653-4411 or Lynda Sanchez at 653-4821.

Visit historic Lincoln

Quilters will be featured in Lincoln's "Celebration of Mothers" on Mother's Day weekend, May 9-10.

This traditional craft evolved out of the creativity of housewives and mothers performing the necessary tasks of providing blankets for their families.

Today quilts are universally admired and respected as an art form and have branched out to include clothing and wall-hangings.

Many examples will be on display in Lincoln's Old Community Church from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday. Admission is free.

Entries are being accepted until May 8 in two categories—coverlets and clothing. Contact Lincolnworks at 653-4693.

Viewers will have a chance to vote for their choice and there will be an award for the public's favorite quilt.

The Church is also hosting a Used Book Sale on Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. as well as an old-fashioned cake walk on the church grounds, accompanied by an ice cream social.

Across the street at Dr. Woods' Annex, another in Lincoln's Meets the Artist Series will also feature a quilter, J. Michelle Watts of Roswell. Watts' work was included in the Great American Quilter's Book in 1991. She won second place in the American Quilter's Society Fashion Show in Paducah, Kentucky in 1991 and has shown her work throughout the United States and in Belgium.

Ms. Watts, who specializes in original Southwestern designs in her work, will be on hand to talk to visitors and will have her own original quilts, wall-hangings and clothing available for sale.

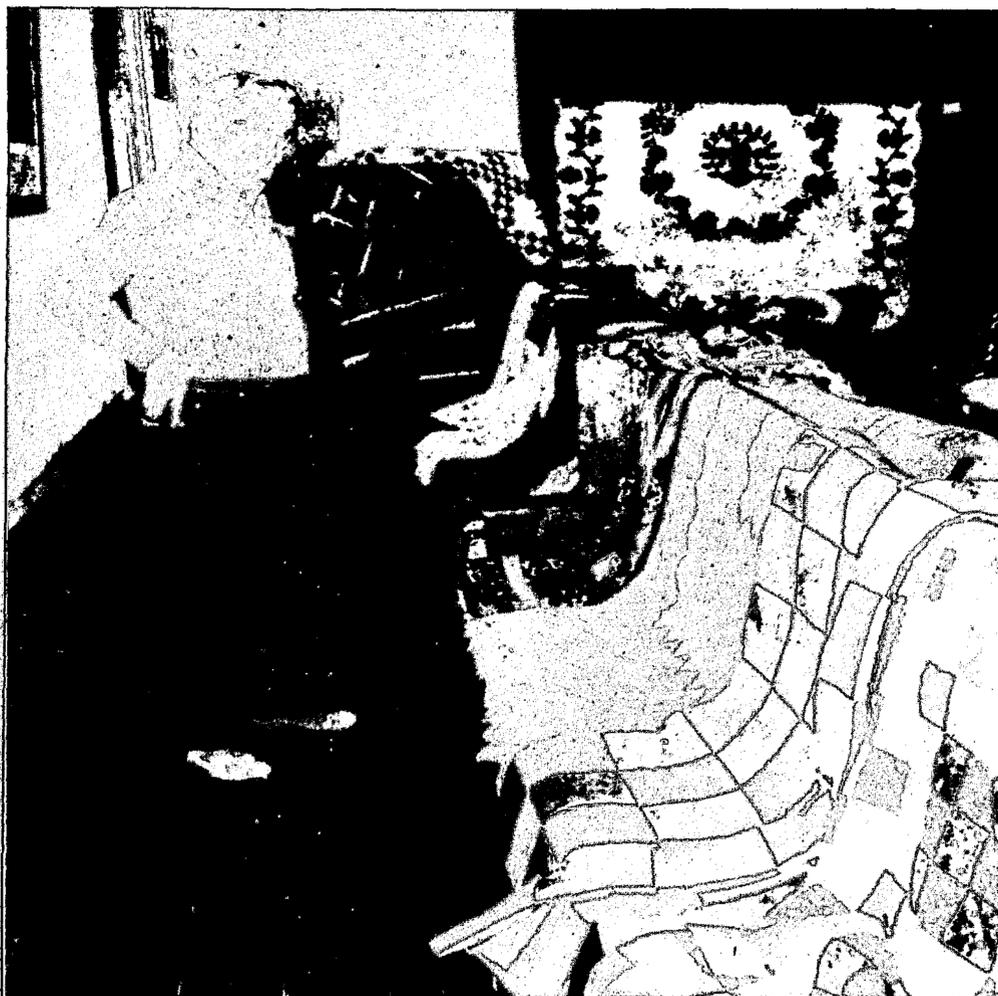

The show, sponsored by the Lincoln Hospitality Group, will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Mother's Day weekend coincides with Lincoln's celebration of Hispanic Heritage Day as part of Historic Preservation Week. To honor Lincoln's Hispanic past, the festive weekend will include free performances by the Ballet Folclorico de Albuquerque and the Hondo Fiesta Dancers Saturday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Colleen Salazar will give a program especially for children on Lincoln's early Hispanic traditions at 11 a.m. in the courtyard of the Lincoln County Historical Center.

All museums will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tickets are $4.50 for adults, children free.

Lincoln's shops and the Wortley Hotel will also be open.

QUILTS OF ALL KINDS

Wortley opens for the season

Friday, May 1, marked the annual reopening of Lincoln's historic Wortley Hotel. Giddings Brown and Karen Dickens Brown, both late of Cloudcroft, will be the new managers. They have recently relocated to Lincoln and are looking forward to a banner year.

Mr. Brown is a former general manager of the Lodge at Cloudcroft and had several years experience as the manager of the historic Gage Hotel in Marathon, Texas.

Mrs. Dickens-Brown, his wife, is the former manager of Rebecca's Restaurant at the Lodge.

Both managers expect to revamp the Wortley menu, while continuing the Wortley tradition of Victorian atmosphere and good food. The two most spacious of the hotel's eight rooms have now been converted into suites. As in the past, no telephones or televisions mar any room's period furnishings.

The restaurant and hotel operation in past years has been seasonal (May-September); the new managers have expressed every intention of operating for at least a 10-month season.

A well-attended reception was given at Tinnie's Silver Dollar Restaurant on Sunday, April 26 to introduce Giddings and Karen to the Lincoln community.

Everyone is invited to stop by the Wortley soon, meet both Giddings and Karen, and sample the cuisine and atmosphere.

For more information contact Robert L. Hart at 653-4025 or Giddings and Karen Brown at 653-4500.

Downs Muleskinners ride on June 13

One of the most fun events planned each year in Lincoln County is the Ruidoso Downs Muleskinner's annual trail ride. This year's scenic ride through Lincoln National Forest will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, June 13, at the old Parsons Hotel.

Register by June 3, by calling 378-8061, 257-5367 or 257-4292.

SUMMER 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Museum of the Horse will open on May 24

The Hubbard Museum will present the Anne C. Stradling Museum of the Horse this summer in Ruidoso Downs.

The Museum of the Horse, a multi-million dollar collection of more than 10,000 pieces related to the horse, is scheduled to open its doors with a grand gala on May 23.

The collection which illustrates the interactions between the horse and people through time, is to be housed near Ruidoso Downs Race Track in a newly renovated 40,000 square foot building.

Anne Stradling began collecting fine things related to the horse when she was six years old. Her home, the Schley family estate in Far Hills, New Jersey, became the showcase for much of her collection.

She continued to add to her remarkable collection throughout her life by acquiring pieces unique to her new surroundings.

The Museum of the Horse consists of thousands of artifacts from all over the world. There are horse brasses from England; fine paintings, drawings and bronzes by master artists; delicately carved figures of the horse from China; wagon and horse decorations in brass and silver from Germany; saddles from Mexico and China, and a Pony Express saddle with the original tree.

The Museum also boasts an extensive collection of Indian artifacts, pots and Kachina Dolls.

There are also a great number of horse drawn vehicles in the collection, including fine carriages, wagons, sleighs, a fire engine, and a 400-year-old Mexican ox cart. Anne Stradling carried with her many family heirlooms including gifts from the duPonts as well as Frederic Remington and Theodore Roosevelt. Remington and Roosevelt were both family friends as well as hunting companions of Anne's maternal grandfather, Colonel Archibald Rogers of Hyde Park, New York.

"We are excited about the tremendous opportunity that the Ruidoso area has in the Museum of the Horse" said Joan Dale Hubbard, whose Foundation provides financial support to the new museum.

"It represents a tremendous asset to the community and a marvelous educational and cultural opportunity to visitors to New Mexico."

The Museum of the Horse will be open to the public daily, from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. beginning May 24.

Call 378-4142 for more information.

A night of excitement is planned to officially open the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs.

The grand opening gala is open to the public and has been slated for Saturday night, May 23. Music, dancing, good food and a Parade of Breeds are all scheduled for the evening.

The Museum of the Horse will house in excess of 10,000 horse related items.

McGary bronzes bring history to life

A project of monumental size deserves artwork of the same proportions. The Museum of the Horse has acquired three life size bronzes from renowned Ruidoso artist, Dave McGary. The three monumental pieces will be on permanent display in the new Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs.

The three bronzes chosen, "Rain In The Face", "Iron That Walks" and "American Horse" are all representations of native Americans from bygone eras. Rain In The Face will be in place for the Museum's grand opening gala on May 23.

SUMMER 1992 BETTING ON A GREAT YEAR!

Lincoln County tour is well worth the trip

Lincoln County is rich in history and scenic beauty. To see it all will take some time and planning, but here are some of the areas you will not want to miss.

LINCOLN

A visit to Lincoln County without seeing the historic town of Lincoln is like visiting Washington D.C. without seeing the Capitol Building.

See the historic courthouse where Billy the Kid escaped from jail in a fiery gun battle. The historic center of the Lincoln Heritage Trust contains memorabilia and artifacts related to the history of the Lincoln County Wars.

The town has a walking tour and pleasant streets and parks to rest or picnic. Parking facilities are available at the Lincoln Heritage Trust Historic Center and at the old Lincoln County Courthouse museum.

Lincoln is along U.S. Route 380 about 10 miles west of U.S. Route 70.

CAPITAN
Twelve miles west of Lincoln is the community of Capitan, birthplace of Smokey the Bear.

Capitan is also home to the Smokey Bear Historic State Park and the Smokey Bear Museum, both providing information on the bear which became a national symbol for forest fire prevention.

Shops and restaurants are also available to visitors in Capitan.

One of the best times of the year to visit Capitan is during the Fourth of July when the Smokey Bear Stampede comes to town.

The four-day rodeo has bronc riding, bull riding, calf roping and barrel racing with competitors from local communities and from all around the state.

There is also the Smokey Bear Run, with a 10 kilometer run and a two-mile fun run. This event attracts runners from all over the nation.

Capitan is situated on U.S. Route 380 where State Road 48 and 246 meet.

PETROGLYPHS

safe for passenger cars.

THE MALPAIS

Just west of Carrizozo is the Malpais, an ancient lava flow that is being considered for the wilderness preservation system.

The best time of year to visit this area is anytime except mid-summer when surface temperatures can easily exceed 100 degrees.

A visit to the Valley of Fires State Park, now a Bureau of Land Management park, can provide a panoramic view of the Malpais and has picnic and camping facilities available.

Hiking on the lava flow is possible, but the terrain is extremely rugged and rough on your boots. Also, there is no surface water.

THREE RIVERS

About 25 miles south of Carrizozo down U.S. Route 54 is the turn-off for the Three Rivers Petroglyph Site.

Ancient petroglyphs, or rock art, can be seen at the site, situated in a vast plain on the west side of the White Mountain Wilderness.

Further along the road is the Three Rivers Campground which also has picnic facilities. There is no drinking water at either of these Forest Road 72 is a good road and sites, except after very severe rains is

WHITE OAKS/ANCHO

If you're interested in the Lincoln County Wars, your visit will not be complete without also seeing the old towns of White Oaks and Ancho.

Driving on U.S. 64 north of Carrizozo, you will shortly come to the junction of State Road 349. Follow this and you enter the foothills of the Jicarilla Mountains and will come to White Oaks, an old mining and cattle community with a rich and varied history.

A good time to visit White Oaks is the first weekend in August when the Pony Express Race is conducted.

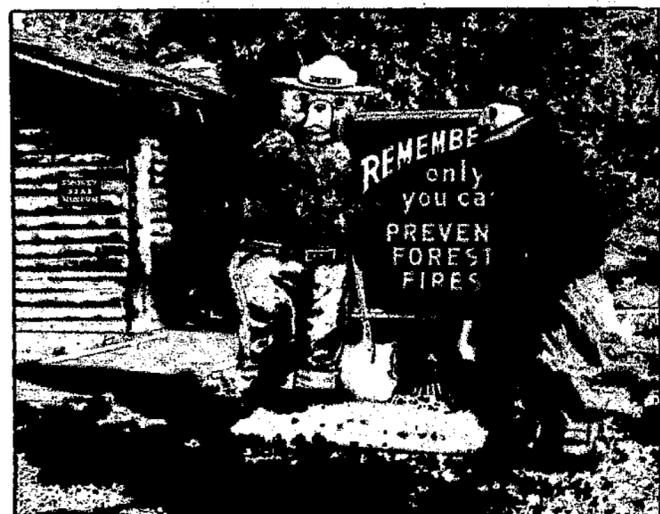

Riders from all over the state and some from Texas come to this event to ride a 32 mile course with a mail satchel, just as the pony express riders of old did.

During this event is the wildest rodeo you may ever see. As long as people enter, the events continue with some crazy ones as well, such as rescue races.

Continue on through town and follow Forest Road 72 to Ancho, another historic Ghost Town where you'll find My House of Old Things.

Along the way you pass the historic mining camp of Jicarilla. no drinking water at either of these Forest Road 72 is a good road and sites, except after very severe rains is

We're seasoned just right for fun

Although the focal point of summer entertainment in the Ruidoso area is Ruidoso Downs Racetrack, the area abounds with other leisure time activities and entertainment.

"Seasoned Just Right," the Ruidoso area offers such summer outdoor activities as golf, fishing, camping, horseback riding, hiking, hunting, bird watching, picnics, and sight seeing. Indoor activities include theaters, art gallery and museum meandering, health clubs and plenty of opportunities for shopping excursions and delectable dining.

Many special events and activities are also on tap for summer/fall 1992 including a Bluegrass Festival in June; the Mescalero Ceremonial Dances and Rodeo, the Smokey Bear Stampede, Ruidoso Annual Art Festival, and the Southwest Picker's Reunion Festival in July; All American Horse Sale, September 1-2; All American Festival August 25-September 3; the Lincoln County Annual Cowboy Symposium and the Lincoln County B-B-Q War in October.

With such an abundance of things to do in the Ruidoso area, it's only appropriate that the mountain resort be christened "The Playground of the Southwest."

Visitors to the area have their choice of more than 60 lodging establishments from which to choose - whether you enjoy the ruggedness of a mountain cabin or the luxurious amenities of a fine hotel.
