Flap over banners headed for court

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Banners, a constant flap with Ruidoso businessmen, are about to be tested in the court room.

Local businessman Rick Evans' banner reads, "Rocky Mountain Bike Rentals." It neatly hangs off of his porch about 30 yards away from the highway on Mechem.

Last Thursday an inspector from the village planning and zoning department told him his sign violated a village ordinance and he would have to take it down.

Evans said, no. He said the village has never shown consistency in enforcing the sign ordinance, and as a matter of principle he would rather be cited than to skirt the law, as he perceives the present system of dealing with the ordinance.

Evans' ticket, according to planning and zoning director Cleatus Richards, was the first citation handed out by the village.

Richards said the ordinance is a problem every year. He said the council created the ordinance because banners were out of control and hurt the aesthetic appearance of the community.

"We had special sales and grand openings. Banners would go up, but they never seem to come down," Richards said. He said banners became ragged and unsightly.

Richards said Evans' banner was very professional and suggested he frame it so it would be a legitimate sign.

"Our ordinance doesn't say a sign has to be wood. It can be a cloth material," Richards said. "As long as it's not a flopping banner."

But Evans said a permanent sign would put him over the allowable square foot for a sign. Evans also sells ski rentals and real estate and the dirt bike business is seasonal.

The banner ordinance, born out of anger, is a problem every year. Richards said Evans' banner was very professional and suggested he frame it so it would be a legitimate sign.

Ed Grimley finds a pot of gold Sunday

Ed Grimley held off a valiant challenge from Special Task to win Sunday's $351,000 Rainbow Derby at Ruidoso Downs.

Ed Grimley and jockey Kip Didericksen won the Grade I race by a neck while posting a time of 21.54 seconds for the 440 yards.

The rich Rainbow Derby is the second leg of the prestigious Triple Crown series for 3-year-old Quarter Horses.

He did everything right, said Jockey Kip Didericksen who flew in from California to ride the race.

"I made the lead a lot earlier than I expected to. I thought it would be a run away, but Special Task was really running at us on the end."

Trained by Jack Brooks, Special Task broke with a lead of 100 yards at the start of the race.

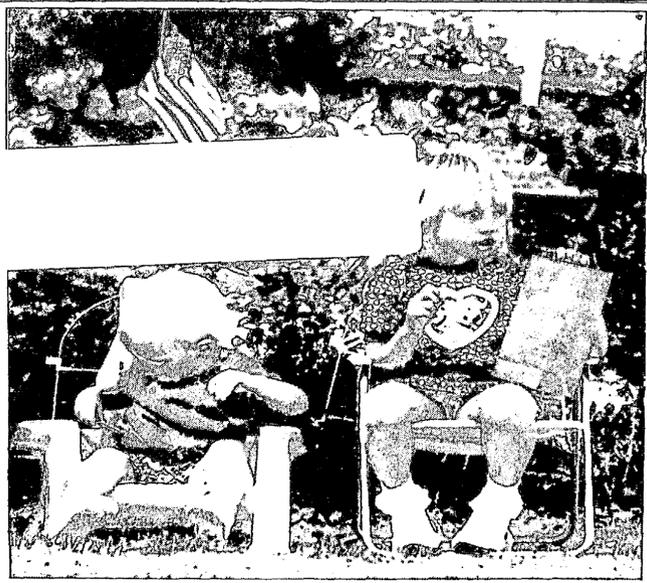

The grand break at the start sent Special Task to the lead, said jockey Kip Didericksen, who rode Special Task. "It was bad enough to catch up to the race. We got away about 100 yards but we were catching Ed Grimley every jump when we hit the wire."

Trained by Sleepy Gilbreath, Ed Grimley qualified for the Rainbow Derby with the ninth-fastest time. Special Task shipped in with the eighth-fastest time. Sixarin Secret, which posted the fastest time in the June 18 trials, appeared to be just out-run.

The win was worth $145,000 for owner Mitch DeGroot of Portales. Sent off as the 3-2 favorite, Ed Grimley paid $5 to win, $3 to place and $2.40 to show. Special Task paid $3.60 and $2.80 while Sixarin Secret paid $2.60.

Special Task, winner of last year's Ruidoso Futurity, finished eighth. Ed Grimley and jockey Kip Didericksen won the Rainbow Derby, but he did finish second in the $2 million All American Futurity. The son of a $1.5 million mare, Ed Grimley won the race named the American Quarter Horse Association's Champion 2 Year Old Gelding at 1991. The race is a stakes race of 11 races to earn a total of $150,000.

Ruidoso Downs Thursday at Ruidoso Downs with the first post at 1 p.m. Highlighting Thursday's 13 race program are three trials for the July 19 Kachina Stakes.

Crowds of holiday celebrators turned out Saturday in Capitan and Mesalero to applaud community parade participants and cheer on rodeo contestants who bounced atop bulls, roped and reeled in calves and carried on the tradition of the wild West.

Drug raid suspects line up to enter pleas

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A massive drug raid in January and a series of related arrests produced pleas of no contest and not much time behind bars last week for some of those hauled in by the White Mountain Drug Task Force.

District Attorney Bert Atkins provided a breakdown of the pleas entered before Twelfth Judicial District Judge Richard A. Parsons.

Pleading no contest were Lorn Czesznegi of Ruidoso to distribution of marijuana. He received a deferred sentence and 18 months probation.

Martin Baca of Tularosa, in combination with a case in Otero County, to two counts of distribution of marijuana. He was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary, one of those years for being a habitual offender.

Myron Morganstern of Ruidoso to possession of marijuana with intent to distribute. The judge deferred sentence and placed him on probation for 18 months.

Marsha Chavez of Ruidoso to attempted conspiracy to distribute marijuana. She received one year of probation with a deferred sentence.

Oscar Garcia to trafficking cocaine by distribution. He is to undergo diagnostic examination before sentencing.

Jay Goodman of Ruidoso to attempt to possess cocaine. The court deferred sentencing and placed Goodman on probation for one year.

Debbie Rogers to two counts of distribution of marijuana and to conspiracy to distribute marijuana. Her sentencing was deferred for a period of five years and she was placed on probation for 18 months.

Keith Kaufman to distribution of marijuana. He was given a deferred sentence for five years and placed on probation for five years.

Fred Gurule of Ruidoso to distribution of marijuana and to conspiracy to traffic cocaine. He was given a deferred sentence and placed on probation for three years.

Evett Nelson of Ruidoso to distribution of marijuana. His sentence was deferred and he was placed on probation for 18 months.

Jerry Chavez of Ruidoso to distribution of marijuana. His sentence was deferred and he was placed on probation for 18 months.

Kurt Richardson of Ruidoso to conspiracy to distribute methamphetamine and to conspiracy to distribute marijuana. He was given an 18-month suspended sentence and was placed on probation for three years.

Shawn Childress to two counts of distribution of marijuana. His sentencing was deferred and he was placed on probation for 18 months.

Thomas Mark Barnett to trafficking cocaine by distribution. He was given a deferred sentence and placed on probation for five years.

Angelia Tognazi to attempted distribution of marijuana. Her sentencing was deferred and she was placed on probation for one year.

Scott Richardson of Ruidoso to distribution of marijuana and to possession of drug paraphernalia. His sentencing was deferred and he was placed on probation for 18 months.

Todd Dentler of Ruidoso to two counts of distribution of marijuana. His sentencing was deferred and he was placed on probation for three years.

Leoncio Rodriguez of Ruidoso to distribution of marijuana. His sentencing was deferred and he was given five years on probation.

Sunday's low	48
Sunday's high	90
Low Monday morning	52
Monday's predicted high	near 90
Tuesday's low	lower 50s
Tuesday's high	near 90

According to Ruidoso meteorologist Bill Hostetter, the weather for today will be mostly sunny and warm with a chance of isolated afternoon thundershowers. For tonight it will be fair and cool. Tuesday will be fair to partly cloudy and warm with continued chance of afternoon thundershowers.

Precipitation probabilities are 10 percent today, 5 percent tonight and 10 percent Tuesday.

Precipitation totals for the year to date: 11.52 in. above or 3.50 in. below normal for the month to date. 0.17 inches or 0.47 below average.

Extended forecast Wednesday through Friday calls for continued chance of afternoon and evening thundershowers with temperatures above the seasonal low of 48 degrees and near the high of 81 degrees.

From the Almanac: Ruidoso's official maximum temperature of 90 degrees on Sunday was the warmest of the year so far.

Foresters and landowners wage war on weeds

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer
It's on the march and determined to invade every pasture and vacant lot in its path.

The musk thistle can grow over several feet in height and gives off a pleasant aroma, but it can wipe out native grasses and wildlife forage in a few seasons.

Each plant can produce in excess of 20,000 seeds and 90 percent may germinate in the first two years. Others can lie dormant for up to 10 years and then sprout.

Marlin Jenson, a ranger with the Smokey Bear District of the Lincoln National Forest, said he has seen the tall noxious weed appear along roadsides, in disturbed land and in healthy forest tracts.

"It comes from Eurasia and is relatively new in New Mexico," he said. "It's been here about five to six years and is spreading very rapidly. It has a lot of reproductive capacity.

"The rainy season probably gave it even more of a boost. It does extremely well in cool areas and that's associated with rain."

Jenson previously lived in Utah, which was experiencing a small infestation at the time.

"The area I was in was spending $2,000 annually to control them," he said. "But in Lincoln County, it appears to have moved in so rapidly, it has expanded to a point beyond real control."

He called on property owners to help in the effort by policing their land and digging out the plant by the roots.

"But it can't be left lying there because it probably has matured to the point that the seeds could eventually disperse from the fallen plant," Jenson said. The dislodged plants should be bagged and removed.

The best time to attack the plant, which is a member of the sunflower family, is when it is in its rosette stage the first year it appears. It stays low to the ground, has no flower and has wavy, hairy leaves with yellow spines along the leaf margins.

"The thistle is biannual and flowers every two years," Jenson said. "It appears as a rosette the first year and produces large (hairy) stalks with flowers the next, then dies."

Purplish-pink flowers appear from May to July and are from one to two inches in diameter, according to information from "Weeds of the West," a reference book assembled by six weed specialists connected to various state extension services and a herbarium manager with the University of Wyoming.

"I noticed they're getting a foothold in a lot of the national forest," Jenson said of the wandering thistle. "It's the type of problem that will require cooperation between the county, state, federal agencies, and the railroad to solve."

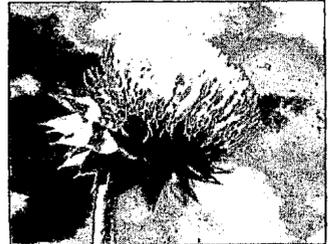

"The program to fight the weed in New Mexico is in its infancy while some of the other 11 Western states have strong noxious weed programs administered at the state level. In Utah, people were required to control them on their own land or the county could go in and control it for them, and then bill the owners."

The thistle can be killed with a herbicide, but the U.S. Forest Service won't move forward with such a program until an environmental analysis is performed, he said.

"What's most alarming to me is its capability of invading land in good condition, out-competing with the vegetation that occurs naturally," Jenson said. "It's a real threat and something that cattlemen should react to now. It could edge out the edible grasses and other plants. It can literally take over and diminish the value of the land."

Flap

of aesthetic considerations, appears to have developed a few quirks. The village differentiates between flopping banners with and without words.

"If you want to put a flag out front, as long as you're not advertising, and doesn't interfere with traffic, it's legal," Richards said.

Flags that reads "open" are marginal under the ordinance," Richards said. "I don't know that we could say they would have to come down. If it gives the name of the business, the product as described in the sign ordinance, then we can deal with it."

Banners without wording that are in the state right of way or attached to telephone poles also are illegal according to Richards.

He said the banner problem derived from a past carnival type atmosphere and that merchants were one of the main sources of complaints.

"We've been going through the whole country for about three weeks," Richards said.

He said most of the businesses have been cooperative, but Evans was the first to flatly refuse.

Richards said the department issues a verbal warning. If the person cited doesn't take action in 10 days, the department follows with a written warning. If no response, a citation follows.

According to Evans, the ordinance has been in effect for years without a citation. He was on the village council when the ordinance was drafted.

In past conversations with Richards regarding the ordinance, he said merchants will call the department on other merchants and that the situation sometimes escalates into a bunch of warnings.

"Like I told you, this is an annual proposition," Richards said. "Usually, in the ski season we go through this again."

Evans has said he didn't mind bringing down his banner if the ordinance's enforcement was consistent and everyone took down their banners.

"It's just a matter of principle," he insisted.

Richards was reminded that there are many illegal banners and portable signs that have been breaching the state right of way, or attached to telephone pole guide wires or hanging from a storefront. Some of these signs have been displayed for months without any citations.

"Well, I think we are getting a lot of the banners down," Richards said. "And we will be issuing more citations if these people are simply circumventing the law by taking it down until (inspector) Larry (Hill) leaves."

When it was pointed out the same banners turned in as illegal three weeks earlier were still flying, Richards responded.

"We'll continue to deal with it as we can."

"Larry is not a full time sign ordinance enforcer. He's got other duties. We don't have enough people to handle all of these items."

Ruidoso Downs man dies in gun accident

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A Ruidoso Downs man died Sunday morning after the gun he was handling apparently fired accidentally, fatally wounding him in the abdomen.

Danny Stevens, a local contractor in his early 40s, was taken to Lincoln County Medical Center where he was pronounced dead. His body was transported to Albuquerque for an autopsy.

Based on reports from local law enforcement agencies and family friends, Stevens was at his Rancho Ruidoso home with a companion.

The woman told authorities about 10:45 a.m. she heard Stevens scream, "Oh god." She then heard a shot and went into the next room where Stevens was lying on the ground.

He tried to raise himself, but fell back. The medical center was notified and an emergency medical team tried unsuccessfully to revive Stevens with CPR.

Officers speculated Stevens was cleaning a 357 magnum when the accident occurred.

He is survived by his wife, Karen, and his two children, Scott, a Ruidoso Middle School student; and Jennifer, a 1992 Ruidoso High graduate and past student council president.

Although exact details were not available at press time, a spokesman for LaGrone Funeral said a service will be conducted in Ruidoso, possibly as early as Tuesday. Another service will follow in Sweetwater, Texas, where Stevens will be buried.

Aesthetically out — the bike rental banner of Rick Evans' shop on Mechem is offensive according to village hall and is illegal. If it had no words, it would be legal, but no one would know he rented bikes. Evans claims an inconsistency in enforcement of the village's sign ordinance that he helped originally draft.

Firefighters respond to grass fire on High Mesa

by YVONNE LANELLI
Special to The News

A fire of unknown origin burned grass and brush in a vacant area south of High Mesa Unit III in Alto Village Wednesday evening.

No structures were involved and no one was injured in the mysterious blaze located in a 412-acre tract called Los Vistas, owned by Joe Featherstone of Roswell.

Laura Christensen of Sunrise Drive in High Mesa III noticed smoke billowing several hundred yards from their home and called the fire department.

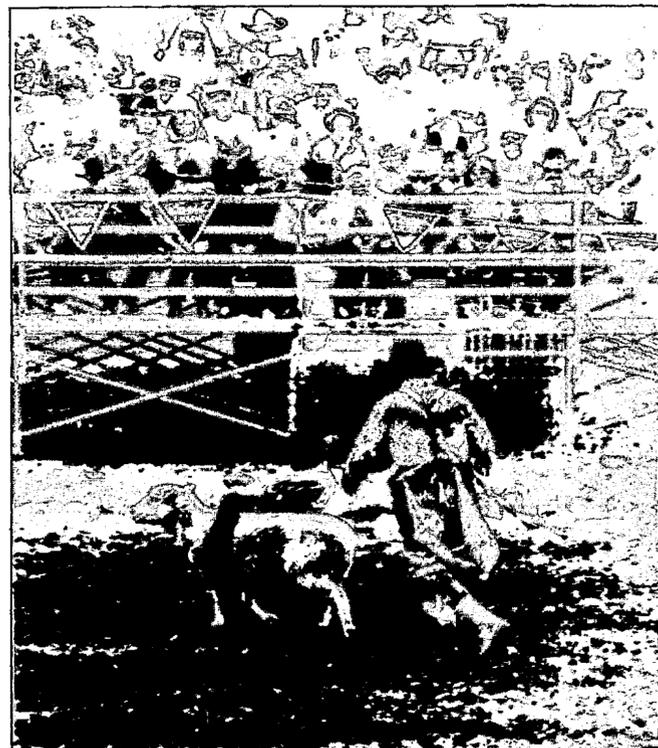

Her son Scott, 14, ran to the site but saw no one nearby. Access to the large vacant area is limited.

Bonito Volunteer Fire Department (BVFD) responded with three engines, a tanker, the ambulance and several personnel. US Forest Service personnel also assisted. They contained the fire within minutes.

"We were concerned about wind gusts," said Bob Palko, BVFD Captain. "That's one reason the fire spotted."

The wind-driven sparks followed an erratic patten that burned less than an acre as it crept northward from its point of origin, a dead fallen log.

Cause of the fire is under investigation by the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office.

County receives $56,189 forest receipts for year

Lincoln County is expected to receive $56,189 as its share of national forest receipts collected in the 1991-92 fiscal year.

Dale Robertson, chief of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Forest Service, recently announced that 43 states and Puerto Rico eventually will receive portions of an estimated $418-million as their total payments from national forest receipts for the year.

Interim payments detailed in a news release from the department will be drawn from $310-million collected to date. New Mexico's interim share is $1,904,493, an increase of 49 percent. Lincoln County's interim payment is $42,142.

The interim payment represent 75 percent of the estimated total amount each state will receive as its share of money collected during the year from the sale and use of a variety of national forest products and services.

The department pays any additional money it owes the states in December after determining actual receipts for the fiscal year ending September 30.

By law, the forest service pays 25 percent of the revenue it collected from timber sales, grazing, recreation, minerals and land uses to states in which national forest lands are located. The funds are used for schools and roads.

Last year, the states received total payments of more than $323-million.

The interim payments do not reflect revenues collected from the national grasslands, which are calculated on a calendar year basis. That money will be distributed to the states in the spring.

The largest interim payments will go to Oregon, $140-million; California, $52-million, Washington, $36-million and Idaho, $15-million.

28 youngsters enter the Kachina trials

The twenty-eight 2-year-old Thoroughbred fillies will go postward in Thursday's trials for the upcoming Kachina Stakes at Ruidoso Downs racetrack.

The six-furlong trials are carded as the sixth, eighth and 10th races. The first four finishers in each trial advance to the $25,000-added finals July 19. The Kachina attracted undefeated stakes winners May 24 Phoenix Futurity at Turf Paradise. Trained by Lynda Tanner, Miss L Attack has earned more than $60,000 from the two wins.

"I think Miss L Attack has a real good shot of making into the finals," said Tanner. "She had to overcome problems in both her starts, but still went on to win. In her trial for the Phoenix Futurity, the track was so muddy it was inhumane and she still won by five lengths. In the finals, she was almost knocked down leaving the gate, but got back up to win drawing away."

Pet of the week: Kahlua has a heart as big as she is

Cool blue crystal eyes mask a heart as warm as the waves of rust that color the coat of this cross between an Australian shepherd and a husky.

Dubbed Kahlua by workers at the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter for her smooth personality and even temperament, the 11-month-old female was brought to the shelter four weeks ago as a stray.

"She's very alert, has a sweet disposition and is extremely intelligent," said Randy Basch, manager of the shelter.

"She's very people oriented and good with kids, dogs, cats and pigs."

Kahlua will need to be spayed. Anyone wishing to sponsor her for the procedure may call Basch. Being sponsored greatly enhances a dog or cat's chances for adoption since it is the major cost.

Although they were not adopted after being featured recently in The Ruidoso News, Sugar and Spice have been singled out to be sponsored.

"Their story and their faces moved this person to want to help even though she could not adopt them herself," Basch said.

"I'd very much like to adopt out these two as a pair. They have such an obvious bond."

The two dogs came into the shelter together after being picked up for running loose. The owner is not interested in redeeming them.

Spice, a male, is very protective of Sugar. Last week, Sugar's paw became wedged between two dog houses and she began to panic, exciting the other dogs. One of larger dogs approached her seemingly ready to lash out.

"Spice got a hold of the other dog's tail and literally pulled him away from Sugar, then went up and sat by her while I freed her paw," Basch said. "They deserve to be together, if possible."

Spice is a reddish-colored

Airedale cross and Sugar is wire hair/Australian shepherd mix.

The cattery next door to the canine shelter is filling up with discarded mother cats and their kittens. Several easy-going tomcats and one particular endearing slightly cross-eyed male named Frosty have been waiting for new homes.

Cats are ideal pets for people with busy schedules or who travel. They're low maintenance friends.

SUMMER CAUTION

The warmer temperatures may be a welcomed by winter-weary residents of Lincoln County. But animals kept outside under the intense New Mexico sun need special care.

"Fresh water should be available at all times," Basch said. "It should be replaced during the day because in direct sunlight, water can heat up pretty fast."

Metal and aluminum get hot the quickest. A ceramic container is the best, keeping the water fresher and cooler.

To ensure the water pan stays upright, use an angle food cake pan and drive a wood stake in the center hole. Or bury a five gallon bucket two-thirds two-thirds to the top.

"An animal left outside should have plenty of shade and ventilation," Basch said. If it is tied, something the society does not endorse (a tied dog gives little protection since it can't move far, a fenced yard is better), owners should make sure there is shade as the sun moves across the sky during the day. Lean-to type doghouses are efficient for summer use."

Air holes can be drilled into regular enclosed dog houses to improve circulation. Avoid metal dog houses. For an extra summer dog treat, freeze bullion cubes.

For more information about Kahlua or any of the other dogs or cats, call Basch at 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon.

Obituary

Adonis Sanchez

Funeral mass for Adonis Sanchez, 73, of San Patricio was at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Jude's Catholic Church in San Patricio. Burial followed at St. Jude's Catholic Cemetery at San Patricio. Officiating was the Reverend Richard Catanach of the church.

Sanchez died Wednesday at Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso. He was born September 16, 1918, in San Patricio to Celia and Patricio Sanchez who both precede him in death. He had lived in the area all of his life. He had worked for the water department for the city of Roswell.

Survivors include son, Bobby Sanchez of Hondo; four brothers, Abe Sanchez of Alamogordo, Danny Sanchez and Melvin Sanchez, both of San Patricio and Pat Sanchez of San Jose, California; five sisters, Minnie Gallegos of Alamogordo, Sally Montoya of Fort Stanton, Preceilla Randolph of Dallas, Texas, Eva Kimbrell of Ruidoso Downs and Magdalena Montano of San Patricio.

Services were under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

The Dreamer

July brings sunshine, floods & family reunions

July's First Day

This is being sent to you just at sundown on July 1, and will reach you, after the Fourth of July, Monday, July 6. All day the west wind has been singing a full-voiced song of Summer, waving the boughs of the cedars, and chiming wind-harp harmonies through the river trees. Now and then the wind will come to a full stop in the Vale, and then from high on the hill top, you hear the wind chords playing through the mountain-top trees and cliffs, and echoing down to the valley.

All day the mountain fields have been glowing green in the bright sun under a cloudless blue sky. The bright emerald of summer radiates up into the very air, from the mountain fields and hillsides—like a soft airy mantle of green light.

Now the sun has gone down over the mountain to the northwest, and just at that moment the window, as if following a signal from the sun, suddenly is still. And the sounds softly through the pines and cedars. From the oaks and walnuts by the color-winding river comes the chirp of the robins telling the young in the nest that it is bed time. The musical sound of the mother cows calling the young calves, and the calf voices in answer are in evening chorus—a hymn of the mountain land at the shades of early night.

And so ends a serene and peaceful evening after a bright and sunny day of green pastures and songs of the wind.

A Heavenly Day
In Early July

And now just before high noon on July 2, you look out to the south and see the American flag floating in the sky of pure blue over the mountain clearly outlined in the soft green of the evergreens, with the bright emerald of the oak brush patches a little way below.

Mother Earth is preparing the mountain world for the glorious Fourth. The gentle west wind is singing hymn of thanks for a green and flowery summer, as Heaven moves closer to earth on this special day.

This is our Mother's birthday, and the flocks and birds so dear to her heart everywhere here in the Vale. Our mother's spirit is very fondly near me today, while she visits me from Heaven.

Many of the mid summer flowers are already in bloom, like the black eyes Susan, the golden primrose, the purple thistle, wild snap dragon, English buttercup, scotch blue bell, and blue wild iris, forget-me-not—and many other flowers of desert, foothills, plain and mountain. Folks from all over the world may find flower friends long familiar waiting to welcome them in the Land of the Piñon and Pine.

WE HAVE THE RIGHT ANSWER

Advertisers who want to place their print ads in a quality publication ask the question: "Is your circulation audited?"

"We're very proud to answer "Yes." We are a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations because we share ABC's belief that circulation audits are an essential assurance of value.

ABC is the premier circulation auditing organization in the world, and has been since 1914. Each year, ABC auditors test and verify that our circulation figures are facts, not claims. An ABC audit is the sign of a sound investment for advertisers.

Not all publications are audited, but they should be. Because when advertisers ask "Is your circulation audited?" there's only one answer.

"Yes."
