Deceptively devastates the field

Deceptively was so awesome winning Saturday's $230,000 Rainbow Futurity at Ruidoso Downs that racing fans gave the filly a thundering round of applause when she returned to the winner's circle.

The 1-5 favorite won the Grade I race by about 1-3/4 lengths despite being knocked sideways leaving the starting gate. Ridden by Jerry Yoakum, Deceptively traversed the 400 yards in 19.62 seconds to remain undefeated in five races.

"The eight horse hit us in the rear end and pushed us into the six horse," Yoakum said. "But she stayed sturdy on the front end and it wasn't two or three jumps after Part two of the village's sewage rate hike will take effect after the council passes Ordinance 92-16 Tuesday.

In a special meeting on June 15, Ordinance 92-15 was passed to increase the village's monthly charge $2 across the board for all minimum billings.

Councilor Ron Andrews, at that special meeting, objected to the increase on the minimum billing only and suggested that the volume users should share in the increase. He said minimum residential users were penalized the most.

Mayor Victor Alonso said that the increase in the minimum billings and increase in the volume usage was fair to all users.

After much discussion, Councilor J.D. James moved to increase the sewage rate across the board by $2. And after 4,000 gallons of water are used, another 60 cents (up from 50 cents) will be charged for each additional 1000 gallons of water used.

Village attorney David Thomsen said the 10 cents increase over the minimum billing had to be a separate ordinance since the original proposed ordinance advertised an increase in minimum monthly billing only.

After Ordinance 92-16 passes Tuesday, a normal residential sewage charge of $5.25 will jump to $7.35 with tax for the first 4,000 gallons of water used. If that customer uses 5,000 gallons, he will pay an extra 60 cents plus tax.

Village planning and zoning has four items on the council's regular agenda.

Architect Stan Cape, representing St. Eleanor Catholic Church, plans to add 35 standard parking spaces to the old Gateway Church of Christ recently purchased and will provide handicapped access to the existing building.

Planning and zoning director Charles Richards also recommends that drainage be evaluated, with the possibility of swales added to divert runoff.

Ruidoso State Bank will seek council approval to amend the commercial site development plans for renovation and reopening of the old KOR Campground on 5.6 acres of the 9.1 acre tract.

A condition of approval agreed to by the owner involves installation of a fire hydrant at the Glade Drive entrance to the RV park. A hydrant within the park is to be installed by the owner. A second hydrant proposed on Glade Drive will serve the RV park and the adjoining property owners.

Richards will recommend that the council approve cost sharing of the hydrant installation. The village to pay the cost of hydrant, valve and tapping saddle and the village to supply piping, fixtures and labor for installation. The cost to the village and owner to be approximately $1,100 each.

An outside recreational area also is a condition of the approval.

Councilor Ron Andrews will ask the council to drop conditions tied to annexation on his 5-acre tract across the street from White Mountain Meadows.

Andrews wants to drop the condition that states the R-1 property shall not be divided into more than five lots, none of which shall be less than one acre in size.

Richards will recommend that the council eliminate the clause that limits lot sizes.

Clark Carpenter will ask to replat Lot 7, Block 4, of Country Club Heights Subdivision. The lot is located at the corner of Hull Road and Rim Road.

All four proposed lots exceed frontage requirements with lot sizes listed as: 7A, 1.8 ac; 7B, 0.3 ac; 7C, 0.5 ac; and 7D, 0.4 ac.

Richards will recommend approval, subject to the placement of a hydrant prior to sale or provide

New postmaster sworn in Ruidoso has a new postmaster, Gordon Rowell, who has worked for the United States Postal Service for 34 years.

Rowell was sworn in at a ceremony at the post office on Tuesday and is now on duty. His last position was as an associate office coordinator in the Albuquerque Management Center, from which he audited local post offices. He is originally from Clovis and had lived in Roswell too, so Rowell said he is glad to be back to familiar surroundings.

More than 25 people had applied for the position after former postmaster Bob Chamberlain retired at the end of March. Mary Williamson, associate office coordinator of the Albuquerque management center, "It is been serving as the chief in charge for the past few months until Rowell was named, but she will return to her regular position now."

"I am real excited about being here and I know I will like it," Rowell said.

"If there is any thing we can help people with we will assist them and give them the service they deserve," he said.

Area postmasters and co-workers from Albuquerque were at the ceremony to help welcome him to his new job. Also at the swearing-in were his wife, Crystal, daughter, Terri Keck and granddaughters Crystal and Alexandria Keck. All are from Albuquerque.

lizard, an eagle or a grizzly bear, all made with the greatest detail. She has also begun stone carving these animals from alabaster, soapstone, limestone and marble.

Terry has spent his entire life observing, drawing and painting the landscape and wildlife of Texas. His artwork ranges from acrylic paintings to bronze sculptures. His artwork has been reproduced in Texas Bankers Record magazine, Texas Alcalde magazine, Texas Relay programs and Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine.

Together they have displayed their creations at the Southeastern Waterfowl Festival in Charleston, South Carolina, and the Eastern Waterfowl Festival in Easton, Maryland. They also have a bronze, "Still Serving, Texas State," on permanent display in the state capitol in commemoration of the sesquicentennial of the state.

Another team Matthew and Nancy Wyatt of Dillon, Colorado, will be displaying their wearable art at the Festival. They use vibrant colors and designs inspired by the art of Native Americans to create one-of-a-kind garments of high quality. Featured this year will be oversized light weight tops and denim jackets. The Wyatts use water based paints for a softer, more durable, vibrant and permanent product. By applying their original patterns to clothing they have created art that everyone can enjoy.

In 1991 the Wyatts attended shows at Sausalito, California; Tulsa, Oklahoma; Tempe, Arizona; Seattle, Washington; Carbondale, Colorado and Sun Valley, Idaho, among other fairs and festivals.

Robert Carver, a native of Kansas, has been drawing, painting and creating hand-made objects since his early childhood and many of these items will be on display at the Festival later this month. He has been an aircraft mechanic, aircraft supervisor, a technical writer and illustrator, which sent him down the right track to become an artist.

Visitors to the Festival can see these and various others for a combination that should please everyone.

Downs board faces full agenda

Ruidoso Downs board of trustees meet for a full agenda at 7 p.m. tonight (Monday) at the village hall.

The top item under general business is the adoption of the budget resolution to accept the final budget for 1992-1993 that has been approved by the state department of finance and administration (DFA). In May the board discussed a budget with expenses of $1,101,000 and revenues of $1,090,000 before submitting it to DFA. Both areas are down by about $200,000 from last year's budget.

Also to be approved by the board is an amendment to the ordinance concerning Ruidoso Downs Race Track. The proposed change is to charge $15 for the first 4,000 gallons and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons of water in excess of 4,000 gallons. It currently reads the "track will be charged a minimum charge of $500 up to five taps and 50,000 gallons," and 50 cents per 1,000 gallons over that amount. Also to be added to the ordinance is that the track will install the meters with two separate sewer meters at the track and Sports Theater.

Trustees will take a look at a joint powers agreement renewal on jail facilities at Ruidoso. Ruidoso Downs has no jail facilities and has had a contract with Ruidoso for the past year. The fee for each prisoner will be $25 for two to 12 hours of detention and $50 for 12 to 24 hours. No charge will be made for prisoners detained for less than two hours. Ruidoso is only allowed to hold prisoners in the facility for up to 72 hours.

The board is also expected to approve the placement of no parking signs on five streets that are considered hazardous.

Trustees also need to change a decision they made at an earlier meeting to allow angle parking near Pappy's Diner. Pappy Bell had requested the village move a fence back to allow customers to park in front of the village maintenance building near his business. The state highway department states angle parking here, by Highway 70, is not allowed because people would have to back out into the highway.

Other agenda items include review of test results on soil at the old village hall site, code enforcement request on horses and full-time employment approval for Diane Carpenter.

Viet Nam Vets sponsor family rally

The Viet Nam Vets War on Drugs will present a Family Values Rally at 7 p.m. Wednesday, July 15, at St. Eleanor's Catholic Church.

Speakers include co-authors of "Connecting: A Guide to Great Relationships," Marvin and Charline Sprouse, and former New Mexico State Basketball Star, Louis Jackson.

The program is free, and the presentation is for the whole family. The speakers will present usable ideas on how to maintain a sane family, and a loving, drug free home in the '90s, according to a news release.

Marvin Sprouse is the host of Connecting, a daily talk, phone in program on KOBE in Las Cruces. He served two tours in Viet Nam as a Airborne Ranger. Marvin is often compared to National Radio Personality, Rush Limbaugh, because of his direct, no nonsense style of communicating, according to the news release.

Charline Sprouse is the family therapist for the chemical dependency treatment program in a major New Mexico Hospital. She uses her 20 years experience as a mental health specialist to teach people how to begin immediately to empower their families.

Mrs. Sprouse's career in psychology began during the Vietnam era, when she, as an army psychologist helped counsel returning Vietnam veterans.

Louis Jackson has spoken to thousands of kids over the past three years, continues the release.

He tells a powerful story of how he lost a very successful life to cocaine, and regained it through a day-at-a-time program of recovery.

"Kids who changed the lives of a lot of kids who merely took the time to listen to his story," according to the release.

There is no charge for this program. Anyone wanting additional information is encouraged to contact the Viet Nam Vet War on Drugs at (505) 622-1097.

Daisy is ready and waiting for loving home

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Daisy, a spayed female American Staffordshire Bull Terrier who gets along well with other animals and children, searches the faces of visitors to the Lincoln County Humane Society Shelter.

A purebred with brindle markings, she is sure her new owner soon will walk past, stop and then take her home.

Her previous owner is ill and found it difficult to cope with Daisy's fear of thunder during the summer rainstorms and the other demands of caring for a dog.

"She is just an all-around neat dog," shelter manager Randy Basch said of Daisy. "She's housebroken, about 2 1/2 years old, is calm and not overly aggressive."

Basch hopes that there are several potential new owners who read about and are interested in adopting Daisy, because he has four other Staffordshire dogs at the shelter. Three are mixes.

With the usual crowded conditions this time of year, Basch is forced to make life and death decisions as he reaches the limits of kennel space. Because of their breed's history of abuse by people, Staffordshire terriers, also called pit bulls, are some of the most likely to be euthanized.

"I just hate to see the ones in here now put down," Basch said. "Besides Daisy, there's a purebred chocolate who's about five months old. One is spotted and probably came from a heeler or a German short-hair pointer. Another was a Labrador cross and the third has brindle markings.

"Those three are all about one year old and they came into the shelter as strays. They've been here from two to five weeks."

The Staffordshire terrier has five knicks against it from the start.

"There's still a lot of hysteria about pit bulls, which until they became a macho dog of choice for druggies and gangs were always considered good family pets," Basch said. "People who own them have a special responsibility. Those dogs with good dispositions are a direct result of the behavior of the owner."

Like many breeds, a mature pit bull can be aggressive with other animals and should be kept confined.

"But even that natural aggression can be overcome," Basch said. "Most attacks involving humans are on small children and infants. Dogs perceive toddlers as different than adult humans. They are just another animal that moves, smells and makes noises."

"No dog should be left alone with children and infants no matter what breed they are for the protection of the animal and the kids."

Parents should counsel their children on how to behave with unknown dogs, Basch said. They should be taught to ask whether it is all right to approach a confined dog and not to go up to dogs running at large.

If they spot a dog on the loose, children should not run. They should walk away slowly.

"Even a friendly dog could chase them if they run," Basch said.

A child growing up in a house with a dog also should be cautioned not to tease the animal with food, grab or otherwise surprise the dog in a way they might prompt an instinctive aggressive response.

Having a pet is a longterm commitment that goes beyond just sharing a few moments in the morning and when an owner comes home in the evening, Basch said.

Without being physically abusive, a responsible owner should set the acceptable parameters of behavior for the pet. Most of the time, the dog will be more content knowing the rules of the game as long as he receives his fair share of attention.

For more information about Daisy and her four fellow Staffordshires, or any of the other dogs and cats, call Basch at 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

A big kiss from Daisy awaits visitors to the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter.

Dave Anderson, a seasonal employee in the Parks and Recreation Department and Joe Zagone, a local Realtor are responsible for non-motorized boating on Grindstone

A number of considerations were outlined for the council to discuss before approving the recreational plan. However, none of the considerations appear to be large enough in scope to stop a few john boats from using the popular fishing area and the request is expected to pass.

Mary Maul will present an ap-

The council is expected to approve the final fiscal year 1992-93 budget presented by deputy manager Gary Jackson.

Bradley Construction Inc., re-

Two consent agenda items finishes the agenda. The first is an agreement 92-009 with the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County. The second is a state mandated infrastructure capital improvement plan.

The Dreamer

Weather Spirits bring sun and breezes

The Prime of Summer

This is being sent to you a little before came upon on July 9. In the morning the sun high up in a pageant of pink and gold, with a cool breeze out of the east. And now the clouds are breezing over Storm Mountain sending a cool breath down into the Vale.

The Weather Spirits have brought a sunny July, with brief afternoon and evening showers—just right to keep the mountain fields green bring on the mid summer flowers and help the fruit ripen.

As the Children of Mother Earth respond to the sunshine and the rain of this golden year, we can feel our own spirits rise in joy and our hearts beat high with the pride of joy of life. We are moving into the prime of glorious summer in the Mountain Land.

The Fruit Picture

Word comes from the San Patricio area of the Valley that there will be lots of apples of all kinds this year, that the apples are already half size.

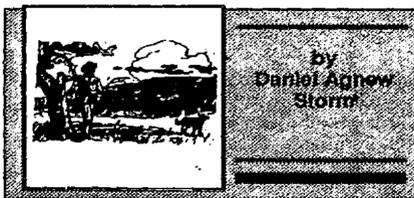

The apricots will be ready in one of two weeks, and the peaches in about a month.

Generally speaking, August is the peach month and September the month of the pear, and then October the Apple month.

However, here in the mountain country there is a great difference in the time of ripening of the fruit, starting from riverside and going on up to Ruidoso and the Upper Bonito. Also the various varieties of apples have their own schedules of ripening.

The summer apples like henry clay, early harvest, ripen several weeks before the fall and autumn apples.

Among the main varieties of apples, the

by Daniel Agnew
Storm

first to ripen are Jonathans, followed by golden and red delicious, the Winesaps, and then the Rome beauty.

In years past, there were 100 or so popular varieties of apples in the United States. These have now been reduced to around 20. The Encyclopedia Britannica says there are 30,000 kinds of apples all told, in the world.

The health qualities of apples are legendary, and the local apples are some of the best in the country. So be ready.

Little Calves In Green Pastures

The time of the arrival of the new calves in the world is a high point in the year; and hardly could you imagine a more wonderful year for calves and their mothers than this golden year. The calves, their bright red bodies and snow white faces are almost hidden from your sight as they lie in the tall green grass with their mothers close by. They have plenty of milk and tender new grass to make them the very picture of health and the spirit of the joy of life.

On June 4 came little Hill Top Darling along with her mother to the house. Then a favorite cow called Gentle Annie came in with a little bull, so full of life that he goes jumping and running with his half sister Hill Top Darling who looks after him.

Then on June 8 a young cow named Line Back Jr. came in with a tiny bright red and white heifer—her first calf. She was born very close to the Fourth of July, so her name is Fourth of July Girl, or Little Fourthie.

She is the darling of the two older calves, and she responds to all the love and attention by running from one to the other. Her mother is always close by and you can plainly see how she treasures ever so fondly her first born calf child. The sight of the calves and their mothers in green pastures inspires you to praise Our Lord for all his wondrous works.

Funeral Services For Dick Brewer

The annual Old Lincoln Days will be this year on the 7, 8, and 9 of August. Director of the pageant, the Last Escape of Billy the Kid, Dianne Shrecengost, has announced that the first practices will be the evening of July 22.

Meanwhile, at this writing, the historical highlight is planned for Saturday, July 11. At the grave of Dick Brewer and Buckshot Roberts, Dick Brewer will finally have his funeral service after more than 100 years.

Father John W. Penn will conduct the services, and also a prayer will be said for Buckshot Roberts. Both Brewer and Roberts were killed at the battle of Blazer's Hill; and the story has been handed down that they were buried in the same grave.

The Rain Moves In

"We take care of problems before you even know they're there!"

John Van Tussenbroek
Local Manager

You may not even know when your phone line goes dead. Because, if you're a GTE customer, chances are the line wasn't dead long enough for you to find out.

There are lots of reasons why your phone could suddenly go dead. It could be a frayed cable, or it could be a curious squirrel. Whatever it is, our 4-Tel® computer monitoring system immediately has identified the problem by remote control and, if necessary, has dispatched a GTE technician to the actual site of the break.

In other words, we're fixing the problem before it becomes a problem. And chances are, you'll never know your line was dead.

Our computer system doesn't wait for things to happen. By looking for potential problems before they happen, we can often repair them before you even become aware of them.

Because we know you value your telephone service by what you get. And that's why we at GTE are committed to making sure you get dial tone the first time you pick up the receiver and a ring each time someone tries to call you -- any time of the day or night.

You see, at GTE, it's not just communications we offer. We offer solutions. And just because there's a break in your phone line doesn't mean you have to hear about it.

THE HISTORY OF LINCOLN COUNTY HERE TO OPEN IT!

Rawhide Recollections set at Museum

The life and times of S. Omar Barker will be portrayed by Richard Bodner of Farmington at 7 p.m. Saturday, July 18, at the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs.

The presentation is part of a continuing series of programs for the community based on historical figures.

Named for the popular lakeside village which pioneered the form, a "Chautauqua" usually features a dramatic portrayal of an historical figure by a presenter who communicates directly with the audience to educate and entertain. In most Chautauqua programs, audience members have the chance for questions, discussion, and/or other active participation.

The Museum of the Horse is working with the New Mexico Endowment for the Humanities with grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities and the Historic Preservation Division of the Office of Cultural Affairs of the State of New Mexico. The Chautauqua series was initiated in the early 1980s and gradually expanded its offerings in response to popular interest. The project not only brings historical figures to life for New Mexican audiences, but helps draw attention to major cultural legacies and important issues in the humanities.

Bodner is a poet and sometimes wandering teacher whose work has been called a celebration of land and cultural diversity. A graduate of Harvard and the University of Nevada-Reno (where he was a student of The Ox-Bow Incident's Walter van Tilburg Clark), he is best known for bringing the enjoyment of "poetry theater" to general audiences. His own poetry has been published in India, China, and Japan as well as North America. In 1988 he received the "Pathway of Life Award" from the National Federation of State Poetry Societies.

He is an adopted "elder" of the Yuin tribe of Australia and caretaker of Running Dragon Ranch, a nature-education center in the mountains of northern New Mexico.

Growing out of Bodner's long interest in western American literature and love of S. Omar Barker's home region, "Rawhide Recollections" offers a unique perspective on New Mexico history and culture, the pioneer experience, western writing, cowboy humor, the importance of education. The performance highlights the role of the humanities along with other "stray topics that happen to get collected at roundup time."

In an informal western style, Rawhide Recollections has a sense of Barker's life unfolding in harmony with land, family, community and cultural heritage in step with New Mexican history. Assembled from many sources, including unpublished manuscripts and family anecdotes, the program sometimes includes excerpts from Barker's brother Elliott, his sister Grace Barker Wilson, his wife Elsa, Aldo Leopold, Omar Khayam and even some classic cowboy songs.

Rawhide Recollections is free to the public. Everyone is invited to attend.

that she opened up on the field and went on." Yoakum crossed the finish line without ever uncocking his whip. In fact, the 20-year-old Yoakum has never whipped the bay filly in any of her races.

The crowd of 5,750 cheered Deceptively past the finish line, but fell silent when Yoakum jumped off the filly instead of riding her back to the winners circle.

"It kinda gave me a scare when I saw him walking her back," said trainer Bruce Bell who trains the filly for Roger Knight Jr. of Madisonville, Texas. "Jerry said he got off because she was feeling a bit rubber legged and thought it was best to walk her back."

The winner's share of the purse was worth $94,900 for Knight. Deceptively paid $2.40 to win, $2.40 to place and $2.20 to show. Her payoff of $2.40 tied with the lowest win payoff in the 29-year history of the Rainbow Futurity.

World record holder for 330 yards, Mr Eye Opener, finished second and paid $3.80 and $2.80.

"My horse broke real good and another horse hit us in the rear but that doesn't matter," said Jockey Martin who had his choice on riding either Mr Eye Opener or Dash Through Traffic. "We were just a jump from catching Mr Eye Opener for second, but we weren't going to catch the winner."

The final order of finish after Dash Through Traffic was Time Bender, Mr Webster, Lady Gypsy, It Aint No Bull, Speed I Levi, Choculo and Miss Bunny Bul-lion.

The Rainbow Futurity is the second leg of the Triple Crown for 2-year-old Quarter Horses. Deceptively won the first leg, the Kansas Futurity May 24 while breaking a 19-year-old track record for 350 yards. The final leg, the $2 million
