Driver dies in crash

A local man was fatally injured Saturday after he lost control of his speeding car and it smashed into several structures before rolling and landing upside down on Carrizo Canyon Road.

According to Ruidoso police reports, Thomas J. Lester, 25, and a passenger Frederick Blalock, 20, both of Mesalero, were traveling southbound on Carrizo Canyon Road at a high rate of speed when the 1984 gold Ford Lester was driving came out of a sweeping curve.

Apparently, Lester oversteered and applied the brakes, skidding 58 feet. At that time, the report states the car swerved sideways for another 129 feet before hitting a metal fence post on the drivers side of the car. The vehicle continued another 15 feet and impacted a second metal fence post and at the same time struck a concrete curb.

The car then turned over one time, slid into a second curb turning the vehicle upside down and coming to rest on its top.

On arrival at about 7:45 a.m., police found the two males trapped inside the vehicle. It was necessary for the Ruidoso Fire Department to mechanically extricate them.

Police said Lester was intoxicated and driving on a suspended license. Both Lester and Blalock were transported to the Lincoln County Medical Center by the Ruidoso EMS.

Lester was then taken by EMS to Eastern New Mexico Medical Center South in Roswell with extensive head injuries. He died shortly after arrival.

Blalock suffered severe lacerations to the right arm.

Police said the scene was decontaminated by the Ruidoso Fire Department due to the large amount of blood and oil.

Last Tuesday responding to a call about a lost camper, the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department found Kyle Gillespie (no age or address available), who apparently was suffering from hypothermia and was hallucinating, according to Sheriff James McSwane.

"He was with a group from El Paso and had been out about 20 hours," McSwane said. "He was told his friend was dead in the river."

"We searched the river, but later found his friend safe with the camping group. They were reunited prior to him being taken to the medical center in Ruidoso."

Dream comes true for boy who loves Billy

by DIANNE STALLINGS

He went home to Wisconsin as a Lincoln County Deputy, with a badge, a cowboy hat, a range slicker and the knowledge that he's gathered a bunch of new friends in New Mexico.

Jason Peterson, a fan of Billy the Kid who dreamed of riding over the same trails as the outlaw, was able to live that dream this past week. The trip became a reality compliments of the Make a Wish Foundations of Wisconsin and New Mexico, the Billy the Kid Outlaw Gang and many other people who donated food, clothing, material and lodging.

The 17-year-old Peterson was diagnosed six years ago as suffering a form of muscular dystrophy. While his mother, Diane Rusch, said doctors expected him to be confined to a wheelchair, Peterson still gets around on his own, sometimes with the help of his best friend, Ken Behrent.

at the Lamy Train Station.

He had little idea the itinerary and activities that Marilyn and Joe Bowling, founders of the non-profit, 3,500-member Outlaw Gang, had planned for him.

The couple was contacted in January by Diane Bunker-Thomas, who represents a 10-county area in Wisconsin as Wish Granting Director.

Make A Wish foundations across the nation are dedicated to helping children up to the age of 18 with terminal and life-threatening diseases, to live out their special dreams.

Bunker-Thomas asked for help and the Bowlings delivered big time.

Peterson and his group were greeted at the Lamy station south of Santa Fe by a posse of Gang members.

The next day, they toured the historic Grezalachowski Mercantile and home in Puerto de Luna south of Santa Rosa, where William Bonney enjoyed his last Christmas dinner in December 1880.

Arriving in Taiban later that day, Peterson became part of a reenactment of the gunfight and sur-

Village reaches out to annex Carrizo Lodge

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Annexation may be the best or the worst thing for many residents along Carrizo Road to Carrizo Lodge.

The question is, will that decision be left to the people or a handful of politicians and a developer?

The developer, James Porter of C-Net Corporation, is pressuring the Ruidoso Village Council to hurry the annexation and water line construction so that his condo rental season will not be interrupted.

The village council expressed no reason for a deadline other than to facilitate the developer. Some residents express a concern that municipal services currently are not being delivered and that the council should rethink its priorities to take care of those services before annexing any new territory.

The Ruidoso News learned that many home and condo owners who would be impacted are unaware of any impending attempts to annex, an action that would raise their property taxes and water rates.

Several condo owners were contacted by The News Friday. None had received a letter regarding the water line or annexation.

The developer has given an end of June deadline. Public hearings will be set, but the timing would give little chance for property owners to weigh all the information, even if they are provided all the information.

The annexation is being requested by Porter because C-Net and the Carrizo Home Owners Association need to correct a problem concerning well water with high mineral contents. A solution to their problem, according to Porter, is to install a 7,400-foot water line from the village to the Carrizo Lodge property.

The village already maintains sewer service to the property, although Carrizo Lodge owns the lines.

The annexation would include a contiguous piece of land from the village to the Carrizo Lodge property. The deal would include shared costs and village ownership of the sewer and water lines in exchange for utility credit (water and sewer) to the developer, an estimated $15,000.

The village council emphasized there would be no pockets in the property annexed from the village to Carrizo Lodge, thereby including many new residents along the mile and one quarter stretch of road.

As new residents, Carrizo condo owners, as well as homeowners on either side of Carrizo Canyon Road, will be entitled to new services requiring more taxpayer dollars.

Maintenance of Carrizo Road has been handled by the village through an agreement with the county, according to county road manager Bill Cupit. Snow removal and road repair could be moved to a higher priority by the Ruidoso street department.

Side roads off Carrizo Road currently are maintained by the county.

Porter said he now calls the sheriff's office with problems. If the property is annexed, that responsibility would become the Ruidoso Police Department's.

Police Chief Richard Swenor prefers four police officers on duty for the village, but often only two are available for village protection. The Carrizo annexation would spread police protection even thinner, unless there is a budget increase.

Today, the Ruidoso Fire Department will respond to emergencies along Carrizo Road to the lodge as a courtesy. With annexation, it becomes a duty.

Costly planning and zoning requirements also would apply, if the property was annexed. The council recently has turned down requests to add another building inspector.

In an attempt to save money, the village is considering not placing fireplugs along the water line because of associated costs ranging from $20,000 to $30,000. On a suggestion from Porter, village officials may wait until annexation and then, at a later date, install the fireplugs.

Porter said he hopes that the 7,400 feet of water line can be completed by June so his busy season would not be interrupted. He said if the project was not completed by that date, he may have to renegotiate.

If water lines were installed without annexation, the utility bill of a person outside the village limits would be twice that of a village resident, according to an ordinance passed last year.

The Carrizo property has five

Owners of Carrizo Lodge condominiums, say their well water is too high in mineral content which causes a discoloration and sulfur smell. They have sent a letter to the village council asking for annexation and to tie in with the village water supply.

Council moves public hearings to top of agenda

The new Ruidoso Village Council meeting format begins this Tuesday, with public hearings leading the agenda items to conserve time for visitors.

At 6:30 p.m. the council will hear the first public hearing regarding a transfer of ownership and location of a dispensers liquor license.

Miriam B. Kotkowsky has applied for the transfer to be used at the business known as Enchantment Inn Hotel and Screaming Eagle Lounge.

The second public hearing is a continuation of Resolution 93-6 concerning the operational policy at the Civic Events Center.

Regular agenda items that follow in order include:

—a presentation of an award to the Ruidoso Police Department.

—complaints concerning Two Rivers Park. Residents complain of drinking, loud parties and litter.

—a request for authorization to sell real property. The Library Board wants to sell a Mark condo in Upper Terrace with an estimated value of $18,000.

—an appeal of planning commission denial to rezone from C-2 to R-3. Planning and zoning had denied the rezoning request for over four acres of commercial property to multi-family off U.S. 70 and near Camelot Theatre. Jeffrey Smith of Columbus, Missouri, wants to construct an apartment complex.

—vacation of right of way approval for Lot 21B, Block 8, of Cree Meadows Country Club Subdivision. Planning commission recommends vacating Buckner Drive where it adjoins the George Davis property. Davis proposes to dedicate turnaround property in exchange.

—a change order, final, for Bradley Construction Inc. regarding construction on the Civic Events Center.

—final payment to Bradley Construction, Inc., for the Civic Events Center.

—bid awards for furniture and equipment for the Civic Events Center.

—bid awards for roof replacement for village hall and police courts building.

—scheduling public hearing of Ordinance 93-5, an ordinance establishing rules and regulations for Grindstone Lake.

—selection of lodging vendor to be audited.

Two vendors should be selected to be audited for the 1991-1992 fiscal year pursuant to the Lodgers Tax Act. The vendors names will be drawn from a box by lot. The audit is specified in the guidelines provided in Resolution 93-9.

—annual boards and commission appointments.

—Carrizo Lodge annexation and water line negotiations.

—Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County update.

Consent agenda items include: —an annual application for airport aid from the state for herbicide to control weeds adjacent to runways, taxiway and crash fire rescue building.

—a Chamber of Commerce request for approval of an advertising plan.

The monitored Retrievable Storage Advisory Committee will give a report.

Councilor J.D. James will speak on septic tank assessment fees.

Information items include: —boards and commission meeting reports.

—monthly departmental reports. —chamber of commerce notification of a request for funds to renew the contract with the village.

The council will retire into closed session following the regular meeting.

render of the Kid to Sheriff Pat Garrett at Stinking Springs east of Fort Sumner.

"Jason's friend, Ken, is more than just a pal," Mrs. Bowlin said. "He carried Jason on his back to the gunfight staging area. He was always there for support. He was absolutely terrific."

The gun battle was followed by a cook-out and sleep-out. Optional accommodations were available for the less hardy in the picturesque ranch house that is part of the Little House on the Prairie Bed and Breakfast operated by Gang members, Jenean and C.W. Grissom.

One of the most memorable moments for Peterson came the next day, Tuesday, when he stood on the gravesite of the Kid in Old Fort Sumner. He told the Bowlins that he felt a strong force, a free will that exhilarated him.

That afternoon in Roswell, Hubert Quintana of the Diamond A Cattle Company provided a demonstration of skills required to operate a ranch, such as roping and branding.

He also guided a visit to the Old Chisum Ranch southeast of Roswell.

A tour of historic Lincoln, where Billy once engineered a bloody jail break, rounded out the day. That night, the family stayed at the history-steeped Wortley Hotel in Lincoln.

After a black powder demonstration Wednesday, the group headed out to Capitan and the Smokey Bear Historical Park, then to the ghost town of White Oaks and on to Fort Stanton, a frontier fort later used as a tuberculosis center.

Thursday, Peterson stopped at the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs, where Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane swore him in as a deputy, and the Old Dowlin's Mill, where Bonney in the late 1870s hid in a barrel to avoid detection.

From there, the entourage left the supervision of the Bowlins and drove to Mesilla Valley outside of Las Cruces, where Billy spent a lot of time, some of it in jail. On Friday, they visited Silver City, the site of the Kid's boyhood home and his mother's grave. The last stop before heading back to the train in Lamy was Socorro, where Peterson had a chance to visit the university.

A basket of munchies was waiting for the family at the train station, compliments of the New Mexico Wish group.

"Scores of tourism officials came together to help make Jason's wish come true," Mrs. Bowlin said.

wells. One of the wells is commercial and it belongs to Porter's C-Net Corporation.

Porter said Carrizo's water is tested regularly and it is good drinking water, but high in mineral content.

Owners of the condos have complained about red water or black water smelling of sulfur.

Many condos are vacation homes. Porter cited the example of water heaters that may be left for weeks without use as a major cause of the problem.

He said the water was pure and safe, but many of the vacation homes do not get regular use.

"Once you let the hot water run for 10 minutes, everything is OK," Porter said. He said when the hot water first comes out of the tap, it smells like sulfur.

The new water line is expected to remedy this problem for Carrizo Lodge condos. Owners contacted by The News were highly supportive of the installation. However, those contacted said they were not aware of the new minimum village utility charge of $26.80 per month per unit that would be imposed. That charge contains water, garbage and sewer. Their information was limited, mainly from hearsay.

Porter said through quarterly fees, owners were already paying about $15 to $16 per month for sewer and garbage pickup. He said the village's $26.80 includes those charges. He said other costs (such as well repairs) defrayed with the new water line would make the additional cost to the home owners negligible.

In a letter dated Thursday, March 25, Porter wrote Mayor Victor Alonso that he wanted to renew and update recent proposals to annex.

"We are agreeable to purchasing the pipe and fittings as required by village specifications and can have them delivered within one week of council approval. The cost will be approximately $35,000 for 7,400 feet of the 8-inch pipe and gates and tees, of which C-Net and Carrizo Homeowners Association will pay the entire amount with the village of Ruidoso giving us credit toward future utility bills for all of the amount in excess of $20,000," Porter wrote.

Porter said he was hopeful ditch dirt and sand would be satisfactory for a base material, but if necessary, he would pay up to one half of the cost for base material up to a maximum of $8,000 with the village paying a like amount.

"The village will supply labor and equipment for complete installation of 7,400 feet of pipe, to be completed as soon as practical within the next two months," Porter wrote.

Village manager Wicker estimated the labor cost to be about $8,600.

"As discussed previously, because of the summer tourist season, it will be impractical to try to connect the Carrizo complex to the village water system when we have a large number of guests, therefore we feel the urgency in connecting as soon as possible. That is also the reason for our proposal to buy the pipe and if for any reason we are unable to connect before the summer season, then we prefer to withdraw our offers and re-negotiate at a later time."

Porter's remarks didn't indicate whether future negotiations would be higher or lower for the village.

Acknowledging that water rights, by ordinance, are to be deeded to the village on annexation, Porter amended a previous offer. He now requests an amount of $10,000 to $15,000 be credited to his operation's account for future water usage in exchange for title to the sewer line.

"This sewer line, which is about 6,500 feet long, was installed at village specifications with no cost to the village for labor or material and is adequate for the entire Carrizo Canyon sub-divisions," Porter wrote.

The sewer line, built in the early '80s, has been maintained by the village. Sewer costs in the village are $7.35. Outside the village limits, by ordinance, charges should be about twice that amount.

Garbage collections outside of the village limits cost $5.25 each month per unit. For units within the village limits, garbage costs are $6.30 collected for the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

Porter said he wrote a letter to all Carrizo condo homeowners.

"In regard to the Carrizo Condominium Homeowners Association, there has been no formal vote taken of the homeowners as of this date, however a letter has been previously sent to all owners stating the possibility of annexation and requested objections, but there were none," wrote Porter.

Condo owners contacted by The News as late as Friday, March 26, said they had not received such a letter.

Porter said he was sure that a large majority was in favor of annexation.

"I'm not sure we can make it official without a vote," he added. "At any rate, C-Net Resorts formally requests annexation of its 30-plus acres while the request from the Homeowners Association is informal at this moment."

There are three methods of annexing territory to a municipality: arbitration, the boundary commission and the petition method.

During the village council's special meeting on March 17, village manager Ron Wicker recommended that the owners of Carrizo Lodge petition the village council for annexation and that the village proceed with annexation of the property along Carrizo Canyon.

It would appear that the village would have to annex canyon property owners first in order for Carrizo Lodge's petition to be contiguous territory. If pockets of unannexed land are created, the territory can't be contiguous.

Carrizo Lodge's petition, after being signed by the owners of a majority of the number of acres in the contiguous territory, is to be submitted to the council with a map of the territory to be annexed and its relationship to the existing boundary of the municipality.

After this is presented to the village council, the council by ordinance (which requires an advertised public hearing) expresses its consent or rejection.

If the ordinance consents, a copy of the plat is filed with the county clerk. After the filing, the contiguous territory is part of the municipality.

Within 30 days after the filing of the copy of the ordinance with the county clerk, any person owning land within the territory annexed to the municipality may appeal to the district court questioning the validity of the annexation proceedings. If no appeal is made or if the court renders judgment in favor of the municipality, the annexation shall be deemed complete.

Regarding the property to be annexed between Carrizo Lodge and the village limits, the council did not determine whether it would follow the petition plan or one of the two other options.

According to the village planning and zoning office, no correspondence from the village has been sent at this time alerting the canyon property owners of the annexation possibility.

Minutes from that special March 17 council meeting indicate Carrizo Lodge officials had contacted their property owners and most were willing to be annexed.

New residents annexed into the village will become the beneficiaries of all Ruidoso services and they also will be taxed to pay for those services.

Lincoln County Tax Assessor's office collects all property taxes in the county and then disperses them to the proper taxing entities such as schools, hospital, state, county and then the municipality.

The 1992 tax rate for Ruidoso is $38.15 per thousand dollars. Outside Ruidoso, the tax rate is $23.14 per thousand.

The difference in the property tax rate, about $15, goes to Ruidoso.

A rough breakdown of percentages shows 3.5 percent of property taxes goes to the state (bond issues usually voted on during an election); 21.3 percent goes to the county; 39.3 percent goes to Ruidoso; 25.5 percent goes to the school district; health offices, hospital and college is about 10.2 percent.

The debt service of Ruidoso out of that $15 (bond issues that residents have approved) is $9.19 according to the Lincoln County Tax Assessor's office.

County hears from BLM officials

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Officials from the Bureau of Land Management are scheduled to attend a special meeting of the Lincoln County Commission on Thursday, April Fool's Day.

The 9 a.m. meeting at the county courthouse in Carrizozo will replace the commission's regular session, which would have convened the following Tuesday. It was called to ensure that whatever course the commission decides to pursue as a means of paying for indigent medical care, it is in place by an April 1 deadline.

In line with that decision, a public hearing is set for 9:15 a.m. on a proposed health care gross receipts tax to be used toward the state's Medicaid match for federal dollars on a 1-4 ratio.

The bureau (BLM) representatives will at the meeting to answer questions about the Resource Management Plan for the Roswell District that includes Lincoln County. The plan covers property proposed for acquisition and already acquired by the bureau along the Rio Bonito near the historic settlement of Lincoln.

One of the commission's early objections to the acquisition was that no specific plans had been developed for use of the land.

They also will be following up on a negotiation session with commissioners Stirling Spencer and Wilton Howell last Thursday in Santa Fe. The commissioners and county attorney Dan Bryant traveled north to try to work out a mutually satisfying settlement of the county's federal suit against the bureau.

The suit was filed after former Interior Secretary Manuel Lujan dismissed the commission's protest of a swap of 1,115 acres of the Rio Bonito private land in the county to the federal agency in exchange for 36,000 federal acres outside the county. Although BLM officials had agreed to several of the commission's conditions, the issue of land parity, a balance of public and private land ownership in the county, still was unsettled when the suit was filed in federal court.

The negotiating session Thursday was heavily attended by federal officials and their attorneys, as well as representatives of the Lincoln Valley Land Company, which owns the private land the bureau wants to acquire. However, the company and its principals already have been dropped from the suit and did not participate in full meeting, which lasted about three hours.

Spencer told The Ruidoso

News all he could say was that the two sides still are negotiating.

Howell said by Thursday's meeting, commissioners should know whether an agreement can be struck. With BLM officials at the meeting, any questions from the other members of the board can be posed directly to those representatives.

"I feel good," Howell said Sunday. "If it goes according to what I think will happen, the county will come out in good shape, probably because the previous commission took a tough stand on the issue."

Several other interesting items also are listed on the agenda, including:

—approval of an application through the office of Sheriff James McSwane for a DARE, Drug Abuse Resistance Education, grant.

—a request by the Glencoe-Palo Verde Fire Department for a loan to construct a fire substation.

—a request to advertise for a public hearing on an ordinance to impose a penalty clause for late payment of solid waste collection bills in unincorporated areas of the county. The action was suggested by Commissioner Bill Schwettmann, who is one of the county's representatives on the Solid Waste Authority.

Shotgun is quick to latch onto his rescuers

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

He's only 10 to 11 months old, but Shotgun has experienced some rough moments in his young life.

Fortunately for the shepherd/yellow labrador mix, his path crossed a couple of people who cared and have tried to ensure the rest of his life is happier and safer.

Shotgun was brought to the shelter after he was found dodging cars on a Ruidoso downtown street by Adrienne Ames, 16, the daughter of Dagmar and Tony Ames.

"She took him to the (Lincoln County Humane Society) shelter, but came home in tears, because she was afraid he would be put down," Dagmar Ames said. "We're a cat family, but her father took pity on her and we went back to the shelter and brought him home, hoping the owner could be found. He obviously had been well-taken care of by someone."

Adrienne decided to name the dog Shotgun, because when she first found him and opened the door of her car, he jumped straight inside and wouldn't budge, Mrs. Ames said.

"He loves to go for rides. He's very people-oriented," she said.

The family kept him several days before receiving a telephone call from shelter manager Randy Basch, who had been contacted about a lost dog matching Shotgun's description.

The family called the man and learned that he had found Shotgun wandering in the Alto Lakes area and was trying to find the owner. But his original owners apparently don't want him back, because they have not contacted the shelter or animal control.

Shotgun is back at the shelter in the hope that someone will give him a loving home. The Ames have paid for his neutering, the major cost associated with adoption. They have bought him a collar, leash and identification.

"He's great with kids," Ames said. "I think he would be a wonderful companion for someone with the time to play with him. He wants to be loved and to be with people."

A brother-sister Bernese Mountain Dog duo called Trekker and Tracker also still are available for adoption. They were featured in a story last week, but not pictured. The male has been neutered and the female has been spayed, which would indicate an owner who cares, but no one has contacted the shelter, Basch said. Their adoption costs will be less, because they already have been sterilized.

In the cattery next to the canine shelter, Chopsticks is looking for a patient and mature owner.

The Siamese mix is more than one year old. Shelter workers especially want to find her a home, because she has been abandoned too long and needs a caring person to give her attention.

Although the humane society acknowledges that some dogs brought to the shelter must be destroyed due to irresponsible pet owners who fail to sterilize their pets and allow them to run loose, Basch's philosophy has been sensitive to the life issue.

Under his management for the past five years, dogs and cats are destroyed only if they are ill or the shelter becomes crowded. If an animal is sponsored for sterilization or already is spayed or neutered, he will hold them indefinitely to give them a chance of finding new owners.

People interested in enhancing a particular animal's chances for adoption may sponsor them for sterilization or leave it up to Basch to apply the sponsorship when it can best be used.

Unfortunately, Basch recently submitted his resignation and the humane board is searching for someone with a similar approach to take his place.

The board rejects the idea of killing animals on a set schedule based on the date of arrival at the shelter. Members recognize that some animals are more adoptable and deserve an extended chance.

But when crowding threatens to compromise the health of the shelter population, the manager is compelled to make some tough choices. Often those destroyed first are the puppies and kittens, because the survival rate for young animals in a shelter is very low.

Basch has used foster homes, families willing to care for the young animals for about two weeks while protective shots take effect, to improve that rate. The stay in a home also tends to socialize the animals, making them happier, healthier and better candidates for adoption.

For more information about Shotgun, Trekker or Chopsticks, call Basch at 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon.

Shotgun, a shepherd/yellow labrador mix, won the hearts of the family that found him and is sponsored for the cost of his neutering, the major expense associated with adoption from the shelter. He's one of the lucky ones, who will be given more time and a better chance to find a new and loving owner. He's good with everyone from children to older adults and will need some area to exercise.

Economic Development Corporation reschedules another board meeting

Group plans to elect new officers April 8

In a continuing trend from last fiscal year, the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County had to postpone its meeting planned for Thursday.

The EDCLC had its annual meeting on March 11 and was planning to take care of February's business before that, but didn't get around to it. The board set the Thursday meeting to cover that business, plus items for the month of March.

The group was scheduled to elect new officers, to discuss a fundraising project and a direct marketing campaign as well as the regular items of minutes and financial statements for the previous two months.

Executive director Karen Kopp said she had contacted all the board members about the meeting, but several were going to a solid waste authority meeting in Tularosa and two others were out-of-town. Two others were not sure if they would be able to make it, and instead of letting directors come from out of town for a meeting when it was likely to lack a quorum, she decided to postpone it.

Kopp said she has rescheduled the meeting for 7 p.m. April 8 with the same items on the agenda. She said she has talked to all of the directors and they understand how important attending the next meeting will be.

The most important item for the group to accomplish will be to elect officers, which could provide the direction for the organization. Kopp has also gotten the information needed to start a direct marketing campaign, which would be less expensive for the group than advertising in a large newspaper or magazine, but she would need the approval of the board to go any further.

Ronnie Paulger, past president of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County, presents director Pat Huey of Capitan (left) a plaque for his four years on the board during the group's recent annual membership meeting. In that time Huey missed just two meetings, showing a major commitment of time and effort to the group. He will be replaced by George Schultz.

Also important for the organization is the fundraising campaign, which the group has been discussing for more than a year. Past president of the organization, Ronnie Paulger, had introduced the idea and had anticipated getting it off the ground by April of last year.

Kopp said to get the project going they have had meetings with people who will serve as team captains for a variety of industries in the community. These people will then organize a team that will meet with businesses within their industry to talk about the EDCLC.

Paulger and the group had wanted to get a long-term commitment from the community to establish a larger support from the private sector instead of almost complete reliance on the village of Ruidoso for funding.

Since the 1992 annual meeting of the organization in February 1992, the group has met with a quorum six times and twice the members discussed items, but did not have a quorum. It did not vote on officers last year until August 6, when the former president Paulger was re-elected.

The group did not meet or did not have a quorum in June, July, September, November and December.

The corporation is made up of representatives of each community in the county and several elected members. The current directors are John Van Tussenbroek, Richard Mound, Joan Bailey, Lee Griffin, Glen Crane, Scott Shafer, Jim Miller and two newly-elected members Frank Potter and George Schultz.

Frank Cummins represents Ruidoso, while Margie Morales sits in for Ruidoso Downs. Eileen Lovelace is the designated person for Carrizozo, and Gordon Ross represents Capitan. Daniel Luera is Corona's director.

The county commission has also recently named commissioner Wilton Howell to sit on the board, after choosing not to have a representative for more than a year. The organization did receive a mill levy from the county for about two years but the past commission decided the group's results were not substantial enough for the kind of funding it received from the county.

Gems and more

LaRue and Jack Mize, owners of the Blue Gem, settle into their new location at the Village Plaza. The hottest new items in the store are the animal eggs (left, front) which customers adore at Easter time or anytime. They have horses, pigs, cows and sheep and are going to have some new animals soon. Blue Gem still has its authentic Indian jewelry, gifts and dolls, while LaRue has created a colorful line of tuxedo shirts.

Scott Shafer (right), vice president of the group, thanks Ronnie Paulger for his service as president and as a member of the EDCLC since its beginning. Paulger went off the board in March but will still assist the group with its fundraising project. His position as a director on the board will be filled by Frank Potter. Photos by Rosalie Dunlap.

ENMU adds more services

Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso is attempting to establish an Adult Basic Education Center in Lincoln County to provide basic skills education, English as a second language, G.E.D. Citizenship and reading to the adult population.

In order to determine the need for this education in this region the university must have a high rate of return on a needs survey. School children in kindergarten through sixth grades will be taking home a needs survey this week.

If your child brings one home, ENMU-Ruidoso administrators ask that you fill it out and send it back to school promptly.

The Income Support Office, Senior Citizen Center in Ruidoso, the Lincoln County Probation and Parole office and Home Health are also participating in distributing this survey.

Surveys are available at post offices in Hondo, San Patricio and Lincoln. The surveys are written in both English and Spanish. If you do not receive a survey or know of someone in need of basic skills education, contact the ENMU office at 257-2120 or go by the office at 1400 Sudderth Drive.

Warrior's Legacy opens in Midtown

A new business, The Warrior's Legacy, has opened in the Village Plaza in Midtown Ruidoso and will offer the finest hand-made Native American creations.

The owner, Toby G. Christopher, was born May 9, 1934, at Wichita, Kansas. His Native American heritage comes from his mother, a full blood Choctaw from Idabel, Oklahoma.

Christopher's training in the arts and crafts came from his family and also from many years of study with the people of the various Plains tribes with whom he lived and associated during his early youth and adolescence.

His interest in the arts and crafts of the Plains people was stimulated by study and research that revealed that the old ways were vanishing rapidly.

Christopher began creating his own works as a part of research into the methods and materials utilized by the Plains people prior to 1850.

Interest in his crafts by others motivated an ever expanding variety of arts and crafts which now include stone and wood sculpture, oil and watercolor painting and lectures and workshops in addition to the old style artifacts in which he specializes.

Christopher has been featured in two week-long exhibitions at Allard's Gallery Picadilly, Fresno, California; a two artist, six-week exhibition at Clovis Community Bank, Prather, California; and many juried shows limited in scope to western and Native American art. He has received numerous first place awards in juried shows for individual pieces and also for overall presentation.

Christopher is currently represented by Allard's Gallery Picadilly in Fresno, Suma Sil Gallery, Cambria, California, and Columbine Arts, Shaver Lake, California.

In addition to traveling the powwow circuit on the west coast during the past five years, Christopher has presented lectures on Native American art to Ruidoso in November 1992 in order to find a more traditional way of life and to pursue his art. In February of 1993 he and his wife, Marian, who also creates items such as dresses, opened the small shop in Ruidoso, which features his work. The shop was called "The Warrior's Legacy," which is the title of one of his most popular pieces.

American culture in the local elementary schools in Fresno County, California, with emphasis on musical instruments (drums, flutes, whistles) and has prepared and presented workshops for school age Native American children through the Central Valley Indian Health Centers, in order to pass on to the children the arts and crafts of their ancestors.

Marian and Toby Christopher (middle) cut the ribbon for the opening of their store, The Warrior's Legacy, in the Village Plaza, during a welcoming ceremony provided by the Ruidoso Valley Greeters recently. The store is named after a large Native American piece Toby created and now displays in the business.

Survey will rate need for vocational-ed

Determining the interest in forming a regional vocational school associated with the college campus here is one of several goals of a new survey being sent out.

Dr. Jim Miller, Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso campus director, said questionnaires are now being sent out to four different groups in Lincoln and northern Otero County to help obtain data on the concept.

The surveys will be sent out to sophomores and juniors in the high schools, the students' parents, people in the education field including teachers and administrators and also to the business community.

All of the surveys will essentially be the same and will ask questions such as what vocational-technical programs should be continued, what new programs should be developed and what basic skills and vocational skills are most important.

The one major difference will be in the business survey, which will ask how many people it plans to employ in the next six months, 12 months and beyond.

The specific programs and classes are based on past survey information and state and national trends. Miller said vocational courses could allow people to train locally for jobs here or be able to relocate.

The South Central Mountain Resource Conservation and Development Council has also recently decided to participate in the program as part of its community development project, which includes education as one of its priorities.

Howard Shanks, council coordinator, and Bob Hemphill, who is also an instructor at the college, will be in charge of it.

The survey will also help the group find out what the current vocational training needs are for older high school students and what the vocational needs are for working adults.

The results will be distributed back to the schools and also be used by the college to apply for federal grant money to get a vocational center.

If people are interested in filling out the survey, they can come by the college office at 1400 Sudderth Drive to do so. Miller said the university will try to wrap-up the surveys by April 9.

Varsity golf team prepares for Oñate

The Ruidoso High School Golf Team competes in its second tournament of the year today as members tee off in the Oñate Invitational, at Las Cruces Country Club.

The Warriors are coming off an impressive debut last week in El Paso, where the boys team won their division against AAAAA schools. The boys will have juniors Jeffrey Chapman, Ryan Wall, Jimmy Varnadore and Matt Cantu at the controls as well as sophomore Scott Christensen.

The Lady Warriors will enter the tournament with seniors Michelle Morris and Robyn Hursh, juniors Danielle Morris and Jamie Sanchez, and freshman Kendra Eggleston will be making her first varsity start of the year.

The boys team will also enter a junior varsity squad consisting of Eric Stephens, Scott Stricklin, Victor Cocchiola, Daniel Espinosa and Byron Soules. Cocchiola and Stephens represented the varsity team last week, but the return of Cantu and the strong play of Christensen in the qualifying rounds left them on the second team.

The junior varsity team got its first action of the year Friday when members competed at the RISD JV Invitational at Spring River Golf Course, in Roswell. It was a disappointing debut for the JV squad that essentially lost no players and won six tournaments last year.

The first team shot a total of 377, which included individual scores of Matt Cantu, 87; Scott Christensen, 102; Scott Stricklin, 91; Byron Soules, 99 and Daniel Espinosa, 100.

The second team recorded scores of: Leaf Anderson, 108; Mark Russell, 104; Jackie Roe, 110; Bill Cash, 117; Cory Glover, 91 and Shaun Cobb with 122.

The Middle School Braves were the bright spot of the day with good first time scores from Alex Eckhart, 123; Nathan Pena, 115; Andy Friberg, 122; Steven Houghton, 113 and Rhett Hightower with 117.

Three girls played in Roswell for Warriors. Their scores included Kendra Eggleston, 110; Leigh Christensen, 135 and Nicole Coca, 140. Eggleston, who is a varsity player, missed last week's El Paso trip with an injury but has declared herself ready to go for the rest of the varsity schedule.

Warriors improve on individual track marks

With almost a full crew on board, the Warrior track team traveled to Las Cruces to compete in the Oñate Invitational on Saturday.

The boys team finished the cold and windy day with seventh place out of 14 teams, including Las Cruces High School and Mayfield, two 4A schools. The girls came in ninth out the same number of teams.

Coach Ronny Maskew said he was extremely pleased with how well the teams did. Even though a lot of the members didn't place, many of them had their personal best performances.

"I think they will really come through down the line," he said.

Although the meet didn't keep records of the junior varsity placings, Maskew said several of these competitors did the best they had ever done and should be able to help the team out as the season progresses.

In the boys varsity division senior Jeff Cox earned first place in the shot put with a throw of 43 feet, 5 1/2 inches. He also took fifth in the discus with a distance of 116-6.

Jason Dix was once again impressive in the 110 meter high hurdles and the long jump. Dix took fifth place in the hurdles with a time in the finals of 16.08 seconds, after a preliminary run of 16.7 seconds. He marked a jump of 20-4 in the long jump for third place.

Gilbert Kayitah finished the 3200 meter run in a time of 10:45.24 for third place, while teammate Faustino Miranda completed it in 11:02.39 for sixth place.

John Echols also earned fifth place in the pole vault with a height of 10-6.

A top performer for the Warrior boys, Jackie Lynn, twisted his ankle on Thursday and did not participate in the meet. Anthony Torres also had his arm in a cast so he could not compete. Both also run on relay teams.

Several young Warrior girls turned in great performances Saturday to help the team to its ninth place finish. Freshman Megan Kumler earned second place in the high jump with a height of 4-8. She also took sixth in the 100 meter hurdles in a time of 20.31 seconds.

Another freshman Lindsay Willard earned third place in the 100 meter hurdles with a time in the finals of 18.29 seconds, quite an improvement on the 18.9 seconds for the preliminary run.

Monica Martinez, the returning state champion in the discus, took third in the event with a distance of 103-5. She also earned a fourth place finish in the shot put with a 33-7 mark.

The Warriors won't quite be at full speed at their next meet, the Goddard Invitational, either. Many of the members will be taking the ACT test that morning, but may be able to compete in some events later in the day.

Ruidoso sales graduates fare well in west Texas

Nearly half of the 20 qualifiers for the rich West Texas Futurity and Futurity Consolation, the first Grade I futurity of the year, were purchased at the 1992 Ruidoso Quarter Horse Yearling Sales.

The sales are held annually in nearby Glencoe the week of the All American Futurity on Labor Day.

Robert and Sandra Erwin's Good N Gorgeous fared best of all the 1992 sales graduates, as she was the fastest qualifier in the $131,169 finals. The filly grabbed the early lead in the 330-yard dash, but could not hold off the fast-closing gelding Six Kix who won by a neck.

Good N Gorgeous is a chestnut filly by Dash For Cash out of the mare Miss Good Bird. Dash For Cash is perennially one of the world's leading quarter horse sires who has produced over one hundred stakes winners with progeny earnings of over $30 million. The filly was purchased by the Erwin's for $46,000 at the sales. The Texas-bred was consigned by Phillips Ranch.

Three other sales graduates started in the futurity finals. Its Kasual finished fifth, Coup De Main was seventh and Cash Winds was ninth.

Good Bye Norma Jean and First To Score, the respective first and third place finishers in the $16,527 Futurity Consolation, were both sold at the 1992 sales. Good Bye Norma Jean broke well from the #10 post and came on strongly in the final stages of the 330-yard race to post a half-length victory over Rona Marie.

The Texas-bred colt is a son of Ronas Ryon, winner of the 1986 All American Futurity and a career earner of $1.7 million. Good Bye Norma Jean is out of the mare Elise McKenna and was purchased for $20,000 by Lowell Neumayer and Billy Smith.

Phil Smith, Ken Weil, Zeb Smith, Virginia Tingley and Warrior Andy Friberg deadheaded with the team of Nathan Baudo, Bob Berry, Rick Worley, Bill Jones and Nathan Pena.

Three teams tied for fourth place with 68. The next scramble is set for next Sunday (April 4) at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. The entry fee is $25 per person (plus cart fees). Proceeds from these events cover the team's travel expenses and equipment.

Anyone interested in playing Sunday's scramble should call the Inn of the Mountain Gods Pro Shop at 257-5141.

Baseball organizers will meet

Ruidoso Little League baseball will have its annual organizational meeting, not sign-ups, at 6 p.m. today at the Ruidoso Public Library.

On the agenda to be discussed are T-ball, minor league, major league and senior league.

Warrior Maker

Warrior Zack Turner encourages Raul Davis on the bench press during the Warrior Maker, a program developed by football coach Mike Gaston to improve the Warriors' skills and attitude. The group of 60 athletes was working for a perfect day and achieved that on Thursday. Besides the reward of reaching that goal, several Warriors earned individual awards. Rex Comanche received greatest effort, while Jose Prieto was the most enthusiastic. Most Improved went to Freddy Sanchez and Billy Austin showed the best leadership.

Obituary

Thomas Javery Lester

Prayer service for Thomas Javery Lester, 25, of Mescalero will be at 6 p.m. today, Monday, at the Mescalero Reformed Church, where the funeral will also be at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Officiating will be the Reverend Bob Schut, minister of the church. Burial will follow at Mescalero Cemetery.

Lester died Sunday in Roswell. He was born May 7, 1967, in Los Angeles, California. He had lived in Mescalero all of his life and was a member of the Mescalero Reformed Church. He worked in construction for both buildings and roads.

He is survived by two daughters, Toaiva Lester and Christlyn Lester both of Mescalero; father, Baldwin Lester of Mescalero; mother, Edith Herrera of Albuquerque; three sisters, Jacqueline Lester, Adella Griffith and Brenda Lester all of Mescalero and grandmother, Neva Guitier of Mescalero.

Arrangements are under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

Trash partners agree on public landfill

Otero and Lincoln County solid waste authority representatives agreed Thursday that they want a public-owned and operated regional landfill.

Alamogordo city manager Bob Stockwell and his council will put together a proposal on the cost of forming a department to operate the landfill. Both solid waste boards would set the policies.

The landfill is to be situated just south of Alamogordo.

Financial adviser Kevin Power told the boards at the meeting in Tularosa that it appears interim financing will be available through a local bank in Alamogordo. Permanent financing will be secured by the sale of bonds pledging environmental gross receipts tax for repayment.

"We're still working on the legalities of ownership," said Lincoln County solid waste chairman Frank Warth, mayor of Capitan.

"We agree it will be 50-50, but it's clouded as to how to get the bonds on the market. We're working on that."

The bonds would cover the acquisition of land, the development of the landfill and cost of necessary equipment. The acquisition of any additional equipment would have to be arranged independently by the separate authorities, he said.

Warth said the two boards also agreed to pay Camp, Dresser & McKee $68,000 for the second phase of its contract with the group.

"That will take us through the permitting process," Warth said. The company plans to submit the application to the State Environment Department April 9.

Drilling 10 core holes and a 215-foot deep monitoring well will cost $38,000, Warth said. Another $7,000 will be needed for seismographic work to locate deposits of clay for the overfill.

"That makes it easier to close when the time comes," Warth said.

The first landfill burial "cell" will be part of a plot estimated to last 50 years, he said.

The only two board members from Lincoln not attending the meeting were County Commissioner Stirling Spencer, who was in Santa Fe and Corona representative Ernest Lueros.

Clarifications

The Ruidoso News printed incorrect information under the caption, "All spruced up" on page 8A in Thursday's edition.

The information that the "public was not invited" was incorrect.

Mayor Victor Alonso invited everyone during the March 9 village council meeting.

Ruidoso librarian Mary Lou Gooch wants the public to know that she is retiring from her job as library director.

In her letter to the council, Gooch submitted her resignation, but she told The News that she meant retirement.

Gooch, a 25-year village employee, used the word "resign" in her letter.

The Dreamer

Friends gather to remember county pioneer

Hattie Phillips

Services were held March 26 at the Angus Community Center for Mary Harriet Hendricks Phillips, beloved pioneer lady, affectionately known as "Hattie" who was called Home by Our Lord on March 22.

The Reverend Floyd Goodloe read the Twenty-third Psalm: "The Lord is my Shepherd, I shall not want..."

Also from the book of Ecclesiastes: "To everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under Heaven..."

Also from the Gospel according to Saint John: "For so God loved the world that He gave His only begotten son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life..."

"Jesus sayeth unto him, I am the way, the truth and the life..."

The Reverend Mr. Goodloe praised Hattie as a true Christian lady who lived her faith in her everyday life, by her many acts of great kindness and help in time of need.

Pall bearers were her grandsons, Honorary pall bearers were: Peg and Leota Pfingsten, Robert and Ernest McDaniel, Jimmy Herrera, Clark Pfingsten and all her friends in Lincoln.

Long-Time Resident of Lincoln

Mary Harriet Phillips was born in Cedar Hill, Texas, August 31, 1902, and had lived in the Lincoln area since 1919.

In 1921, she was married to Joel Edgar Phillips. She is survived by two daughters, Mary Lou Welsh and her husband, Sam, of Logan; and Ethel Lynn Warner and her husband, John, of Albuquerque; and two sons, Joe E. Phillips and his wife, Margaret, of Roswell; and Richard Phillips and his wife, Elissa, of Lincoln.

Also surviving are 16 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and four great-great-grandchildren.

Hattie was postmaster of Lincoln for many years and taught piano lessons. Her daughter, Ethel Lynn, is a musician. Hattie was a mem-

by Daniel Agnew Storm

ber of the "Round Table" Club, The Lincoln County Extension Club, The Lincoln County Historical Society and the Methodist Church.

The blessings that Hattie brought into our lives will remain with us always, and we rejoice that our dear friend has been welcomed into Heaven by our Lord.

The Blossom Parade Steps up the Pace

After having been slowed down by some cool nights and cloudy days, the early flowers and fruit blossoms are making up for lost time.

Up at what you might call "The Welcoming Gardens" up at the Junction, just under the hill below the Presbyterian Church, the forsythias are out in pure sunlight yellow, a flask of gold greeting your eyesight as you pass by. The forsythia is the first of the flowering bushes — a most welcoming sight year after year. This welcome garden brings you the favorite flowers of the year throughout the spring, summer and fall — one of many bright spots in Ruidoso through the year.

Down at Saint Anne's Chapel in Glencoe, the little flower garden planted by Nellie Ruth Jones is colorful with daffodils, crocus and other early spring flowers. And Wynema Tully's flower garden is bright with daffodils, tulips, forsythias and other flowers of early spring.

Down around San Patricio and Hondo, the peaches are in bloom with the apple blossoms barely beginning to swell. All the blooms are later than usual, a good omen for fruit.

A Special Day in Early Spring

On the twenty-fourth the world was bright under the warm sun shining down from a blue sky, and all in one day the blue bird meadow was green with new grass although the ground had been dry for a long time. The large apricot tree began bursting into full bloom and was musical with the humming of a great host of bees. The fragrance of the pink and white blooms reached you on the warm air so sweet and strong that it was like tasting the fruit itself. This year's fragrance is the strongest I can remember.

You wonder where the growing things get this great strength even in dry times — from somewhere in the good earth there is always strength, stored up and waiting, when called upon by the children of Mother Earth. All day there was a spring-time benediction all through the Vale.

The First Calf

Along in early January a favorite cow, Spot Eye, came into the house after having been gone for about seven months. On the twenty-second she came by letting me know she was soon going to have a calf.

Just under Storm Mountain there is a favorite spot we call "The Knoll." In late evening all the cows were gathered here, as if for something special. And sure enough, here was Spot Eye with a day-old calf drinking her milk.

On her first birthday the tiny heifer Jad traveled all the half-mile from near the house to the Knoll; and now as you approached, she looked at you, calm and trusting with the pride of life showing in her golden brown eyes.

At the sight of the first calf of the year, you hear the voice of God speaking to you; and a great sense of thankfulness is in your heart. I always kneel and say a prayer of thanks for the precious little new life that has entered the world.

And so the little calf brought a blessing into the special springtime day. Let us thank God for the new life of spring and the many wonders and blessing in our lives.

HAMBURGER KING

Dear Ruidoso,

As several of you have pointed out, I have not written an ad in several weeks. I have been busy selling Hamburger King. Now, selling this cafe is one of my most unfavorable things, but my doctor says that if I don't get out of here and off of my feet, I will probably wind up with a cork leg. Now that he has put it that way, I guess I will catch up on my fishing.

Any way, I have sold Hamburger King to a young man named Billy Martin. He and his family will be taking over in a few days. Billy is a fine young man. In fact, I could almost hate him. He is younger than I am, has more drive and energy than me, is better looking, and probably is a lot smarter. He will definitely be good for the business.

I will still be around for a while until Billy gets his feet on the ground, and he has promised that I can still come in and drink coffee. I wanted to write this letter to thank all of my friends and customers for their patronage and ask that you support Billy. I know you will like him. Meanwhile, if anyone is looking for me, I will be the bald-headed guy sitting up at Grindstone trying to teach John Howden and Steve Standridge how to catch trout.

Sincerely,
Cliff MacLean

Conferees study HIV issues here

Four sections of the National Aids Quilt were displayed last week at the 1993 Statewide HIV Symposium at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

The co-sponsors of the event included the Department of Health, New Mexico Aids Education and Training Center, Resources for Experimental Aids Therapies, Rural Aids Network and the National Medical Care Home Care.

Many workshops took place throughout the symposium, including a workshop by Martin Delaney, founding director of Project Inform and Charles Steinberg, founder of the annual Aids, Medicine and Miracles conference.

The workshop was designed for the HIV infected person and focused on the integration of complementary and alternative therapies with the traditional therapies in the whole-person treatment of HIV.

Edith Springer from the New Jersey Aids Education and Training Center presented a full-day workshop on Drug Use and Harm Reduction.

Other symposium highlights included estate planning, organizing rural communities on HIV healthcare, Native American perspectives on HIV, alternative resources for PWA/HIVs in rural communities, HIV and reproductive choice, suicide and euthanasia and laboratory markers and milestones.

Visitors and participants scan sections of the National Aids Quilt on display at the 1993 Statewide HIV Symposium held at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center. Quilts made by New Mexicans in honor of their loved ones also were on display.

2. Thank You

A very nice thing happened to my family a few weeks ago.

It started when my daughter July came down from Santa Fe to spend the weekend. She lost her hillfold, and we were sure she had dropped it in Wal-Mart's parking lot. We felt sure she wouldn't see it again.

A few days later a package arrived in Santa Fe containing the hillfold, and letter and picture of a 12 year old Mesalero girl, Jennevilyn Chea. The letter told Julie that Jennevilyn was a Christian and was returning the hillfold with God's love!

So often we hear and think the worst of young people. They all are sort of lumped together.

Jennevilyn is just one of many wonderful kids. She is living her faith, and how many of us can say that?

We want to publicly praise her for her honesty, faith and love and her parents for raising such a fine citizen.

Thank you, Jennevilyn. It meant a lot to Julie and her family.

Signed,
Jane Yowell

WE HAVE THE RIGHT ANSWER

Advertisers who want to place their print ads in a quality publication ask the question: "Is your circulation audited?" We're very proud to answer "Yes." We are a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations because we share ABC's belief that circulation audits are an essential assurance of value. ABC is the premier circulation auditing organization in the world, and has been since 1914. Each year, ABC auditors test and verify that our circulation figures are facts, not claims. An ABC audit is the sign of a sound investment for advertisers. Not all publications are audited, but they should be. Because when advertisers ask "Is your circulation audited?" there's only one answer. "Yes."

WE HAVE THE
 ANSWER

Advertisers who want to place their print ads in a quality publication ask the question: "Is your circulation audited?" We're very proud to answer "Yes."

We are a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations because we share ABC's belief that circulation audits are an essential assurance of value.

ABC is the premier circulation auditing organization in the world, and has been since 1914. Each year, ABC auditors test and verify that our circulation figures are facts, not claims. An ABC audit is the sign of a sound investment for advertisers.

Not all publications are audited, but they should be. Because when advertisers ask "Is your circulation audited?" there's only one answer.

"Yes."

PROGRESS

PUBLISHED BY:

The Ruidoso News

Progress is our most important product...

Remember when a national company used "progress is our most important product" as its slogan?

That manufacturer really had something, and it's even true for a busy little tourist area like Lincoln County.

Progress is important, and in the hustle and bustle of working hard, it's important to slow down now and then and take a reading on that progress.

That's what this special section is all about.

Our customers report that 1992 was a good year, and 1993 started off with a bang. Business is on the upswing and this is a good time to take a deep breath and pat ourselves on the back — just before the boom hits this summer.

Lincoln County has a population of 12,219, according to the last census. Within this county are five incorporated municipalities: Capitan, population 842; Carrizozo, the county seat with a population of 1,075; Corona, population 215; Ruidoso, population 4,600; and Ruidoso Downs with a population of 920.

Carrizozo is the county seat, home of the courthouse and headquarters for county elected officials, but it's in Ruidoso that the bulk of Lincoln County business is transacted.

Ruidoso is the largest village in Lincoln County, and is its business center. It's a village that continues to grow and evolve.

The village has suffered some ups and downs over the past five to 10 years, but this past year village leaders and citizens had good reason to celebrate with the opening of the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

It's the biggest, and we're thinking the best, such center between Dallas and Denver, and over the next few years will enhance the tourist economy by drawing meetings and conventions to the area.

A hotel is in the master plan for the resort area where the civic center and municipal golf course, The Links at Sierra Blanca, are located. So far, that hotel project is on hold, but this optimistic little village isn't giving up.

A performing arts center will soon be built in the Alto area. Philanthropists

A.N. and Jacqueline Spencer are developing the center as a donation to this area, and they're working with designers and architects now.

MainStreet Ruidoso, a public-private partnership, is the moving force behind a revitalization effort in Midtown Ruidoso.

Plans are under way for a streetscape that will include sidewalks, lighting and parking. MainStreet, in partnership with the Village of Ruidoso, also is working on a river walk project.

Ruidoso schools are on the move, with one building project starting right on the heels of the last as the school board and administration work to stay ahead of growing demands on school buildings. Ruidoso Municipal Schools voters continue to be supportive of bond issues that pay for these projects.

A new school is being added to move the sixth graders out of the Mid-school and cluster three elementary schools on the White Mountain property.

Eastern New Mexico University, Ruidoso Instructional Center, is in its second year in Ruidoso and already has beat its own projections and goals with 500 or so students enrolled for credit.

Besides giving locals the opportunity to further their education and earn college credits, the community college is contributing to the area in other ways.

An Adventures in Learning program offers recreational and information classes for non-credit, and the school also has several literacy projects under way.

Churches, clubs and service organizations make contributions, too, to this busy village.

And, while the business center may be in Ruidoso, the tourism center is much more spread out.

The Village of Ruidoso Downs is home to two of the biggest tourist attractions in Lincoln County.

Ruidoso Downs Race Track is the largest area employer during the racing season, from May through Labor Day each year.

The race track continues to invest in improvements and upgrades to ensure that the summer season is healthy.

The Sports Theater, just down the road from the racetrack, extends that season all year with simulcast wagering in a comfortable auditorium where spectators can watch races from all over the United States via satellite.

Racetrack owner R.D. Hubbard and his wife, Joan Dale, have developed the other major tourist attraction in Ruidoso Downs, the Museum of the Horse located in the old Chaparral Convention Center.

Already, the museum is drawing thousands of visitors a year to see the largest collection of horse-related items in the world.

A brand new enterprise, Artfest U.S.A., is coming to the Village of Ruidoso Downs this summer.

Long-time area residents Cindy and Pat Breedlove will present a series of art events at the old Fantasy Mountain amusement park property across U.S. Highway 70 from Ruidoso Downs Race Track. First up at Artfest U.S.A. will be the Bluegrass Festival.

Lincoln County's tourists mainly come by car, and most of them drive from Texas to enjoy the cool mountain climate. That trend had a devastating effect on the tourist economy when the Texas oil industry went bust.

But a recovery brought them all back, and the past two winter seasons have sweetened that recovery with great snows.

Ski Apache is at the center of the winter tourist season. Ski Apache, a Mescalero Apache Indian enterprise, and the ski industry combine to make up the largest pool of employment during the winter, from Thanksgiving through Easter, depending on the snow.

But tourism is a fact of life all over Lincoln County, as well as in Mescalero, the home of the top-ranked Inn of the Mountain Gods resort hotel.

Visitors flock to historic Lincoln, the old stomping grounds of Billy the Kids; Capitan, the home of Smokey Bear; and the Lincoln National Forest.

Although Mescalero is not in Lincoln County, it's such a close neighbor that its enterprises are a great boon to this area.

Among the newest enterprises at the busy Inn is the Apache Casino, with its room full of video gaming machines. Mescalero also operates Bingo of Mescalero on the reservation.

Golfers can play on five courses in Lincoln County — the Inn of the Mountain Gods, The Links at Sierra Blanca, Cree Meadows Golf Course, Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club and the Carrizozo Municipal Course.

When tourism and recreation suffered some years ago, Lincoln County leaders didn't just sit back and wait. Private business owners and operators formed partnerships with government agencies to turn things around.

The successful MainStreet Ruidoso is just one of those partnerships.

The Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County was formed to attract businesses to the area, with a primary goal of diversifying and enhancing the tourist economy.

Volunteers continue to work through the private corporation that has been funded for the most part through a county mill levy and membership.

EDCLC is directed by Karen Kopp, who was just hired this year; and she'll soon be joined by new officers when the recently elected board meets to select new officers.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce is also under new leadership, with Joan Bailey just ending her first year as director.

Bailey has spent her first year in contacting members, soliciting members and continuing the special events that are the lifeblood of this chamber.

The village has taken over some of the promotional tasks that once were delegated to the Chamber of Commerce. The Convention and Visitors Bureau is directed by Kathleen Michelena, who heads up the new Civic Events Center.

Businesses come and go, but the village retains a solid core of shops and enterprises that includes three malls and a handful of unique shopping centers.

Customers have a wide choice among grocery and convenience stores that provide the basics and staples for residents and visitors.

Real estate, a mainstay of the economy, is on the rise, with a core of successful offices and agents serving the needs of sellers, buyers and renters.

Full-service banking is easy to find in Lincoln County, as well as mortgage companies and savings and loans.

Car dealers, insurance companies, cleaners and laundries all are located conveniently for Lincoln County residents.

Art is another major industry, with Lincoln County nipping at the heels of Santa Fe.

Renowned artists of the caliber of Henriette Wyeth, Michael Hurd, Dave McGary and Luis Jimenez choose to live and work in Lincoln County.

The business and recreation community in this county include everything visitors and locals need, enhanced with art, fine dining and specialty shops that add to the quality of life.

Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso

Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso Instructional Center lives up to its slogan: More than you ever imagined...

It took years and several false starts, but Ruidoso now is home to a thriving, dynamic community college.

Enrollment, compared to the spring semester last year, has grown by 30.5 percent at ENMU-Ruidoso.

"Last year, the enrollment for the same semester was 389 and this year, we have registered 508 students for classes," said campus administrator Jim Miller.

In addition to the steady growth, Miller has seen some changes in the composition of the student body.

"This semester, 113 students are attending with some form of financial aid," he said. "We have 61 Native Americans, up 151 percent from a year ago."

College enrollment for spring 1993 also includes 95 Hispanic students, an increase of 39.7 percent, for a combined minority enrollment of 30.7 percent.

Residents from Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and Alto account for 66.5 percent of the enrollment.

"The rest of the county and northern Otero rounds out the total with 165 students," said Miller. Some ENMU-Ruidoso students travel from as far away as Corona. But, thanks to the age of technology, at least one student is able to stay in Corona and earn college credit by taking a class via computer.

The university education center employs 37 part-time faculty members, three full-time administrative staff members, one part-time clerk and three work-study aides.

Women comprise the major portion of the enrollment, 67.7 percent, with 344 registered this spring.

Computer courses continue to be the favorite, with heavy enrollment, but they are leveling off, Miller said. Spanish also is popular.

More full-time students also are attending the center, with more than a 170 percent increase in the category of students taking 12 hours or more in a semester.

The center will celebrate its first commencement exercise May 15 with two graduates who have completed their associate of science degree programs. Already the college has celebrated its first People's Law School graduation ceremony.

The university also has approved a master of arts degree to be offered in the fall semester that starts in August. The focus will be on education and school administration, including early childhood education and Headstart, not just kindergarten through 12th grade. The main university will send the faculty for that program.

"The university is taking a new direction," Dr. Miller said. "They're in the process of hiring a full-time teacher to travel the region and conduct classes, not stay in Portales. They are recognizing the fact that everybody can't drive to or live on campus. I expect to see more of this over the next few years."

Yes, ENMU-Ruidoso is more than this community ever imagined.

ENMU-Ruidoso administration office is located at 1400 Sudderth Drive. The telephone number is 257-2120.

MainStreet Ruidoso

MainStreet Ruidoso has ambitious plans for the coming year, but that is nothing out of the ordinary for the group that has been working hard for the past five years to accomplish its goals.

After several years of laboring to make it a reality, the group is excited to announce construction will begin the first of May on phase one of the streetscape improvement plan for the midtown area of Sudderth Drive.

The plan, which has received funding from state and federal sources, calls for widened sidewalks, handicap access, well-designated crosswalks, increased lighting and better signage.

Phase one will cover the main section of Midtown from Fern Street to Country Club Road. MainStreet is now working on earning funds from the state legislature and federal grants to continue engineering and construction of phases two and three, from Fern to Mechem Drive and from Country Club to Carter's Lane.

MainStreet is moving beyond the streetscape, though. All the planning for the new year will be based on two important projects, the completion of a market survey and a long-term strategic plan. Don Miller, MainStreet project director, said the results of the survey will help determine what course to take for a successful future.

The survey was sent out to businesses, local residents and visitors to find out what needs are not being met in the downtown area. The information will be compiled and analyzed this coming year and will be presented in a public forum to make everyone aware of what challenges face the community.

The strategic plan, which will also draw from information received in survey results, will help the group decide which direction it will go.

"If we don't know where we are going, we don't know what steps we need to take to get there," Miller said.

A long-range plan can help tie everything together and help solve the area's known concerns, such as parking, downtown maintenance and the development and completion of the River Trail. The group will be working with the village to solve these problems for the benefit of all involved.

Another project the group will be developing is business retention, recruitment and education programs. These programs could be developed based on the information found in the market survey. As far as retention, Miller said the survey will tell what additional goods and services are needed that a business could add as a compliment to a current inventory.

"We want to add to their ability to stay in business," he said.

The survey data can also point out needed goods and services that a new business may be interested in providing.

To help businesses on an educational basis, Miller said they would like to work together with an organization, such as the Small Business Development Center, to provide training for area business people. They may also draw on Miller's expertise in teaching in the retail profession on production preparation and the art of selling, which informs owners and managers on how to present merchandise and how to understand people and their buying habits.

The group recently hosted a technical service consultant from the National Main Street Center who reviewed the group's progress and questioned what its role is for the future. As board directors continue to answer that question they will be standing by the new slogan, "MainStreet, a Sense of Community and a Place of Public Celebration."

"Our role can be as big as we want to make it. Our job is to provide the chamber (of commerce) with something to promote and the EDC (Economic Development Corporation) with something to sell," he said.

Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce

For more than 50 years, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce has been at the forefront of progress in this historic area.

Today, and particularly in the past year, the chamber has continued to strive to increase the recognition of this Valley's great attributes throughout, not only the United States, but foreign lands as well.

Chamber leaders continue to spread the word on the area's major season attractions — horse racing and skiing. But, since additional activities are essential to this area's progress, the chamber leadership continues to feel that emphasis on special events is essential.

"We are endeavoring not only to continue the past traditions of excellence, but to enhance the appeal of special events in order to attract even more visitors to the surrounding ambiance," said chamber executive director Joan Bailey.

THE SUMMER ART FESTIVAL

For 22 years, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce has sponsored perhaps the most prestigious art festival in this part of the country, bringing artists from as far away as Minnesota, as well as showcasing extremely talented local citizenry.

"This year will be a milestone inasmuch as it will be the first year we will be able to protect the artistic displays and patrons from our summer showers by having all of the booths inside at the new Civic Events Center," says Bailey. "We are also hoping that the move from the outdoor area at the track will attract even more visitors than the 8,000 attendance last year."

Ruidoso Art Festival will still have a complete array of concessions with protected seating as in years past. The festival continues to grow and add to the progress of area communities.

ASPENFEST WEEKEND

The first weekend in October has traditionally been a weekend to welcome fall and visitors to the Ruidoso Valley mountains. This year, in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the "birth" of Smokey Bear, the theme for Aspenfest will be "Smokey and the Lincoln Forest."

As usual a grand parade, street vendors, arts and craft displays and chile cookoff will all be present to enhance lives of locals and entice neighbors from near and far to join in the fun.

OKTOBERFEST & CONNOISSEUR CLASSIC

The Oktoberfest and Connoisseur Classic celebrations were reinstituted by the chamber this past October and February, respectively, and will continue to be part of the traditional special event menus in the future.

Oktoberfest brings visitors to join in the traditional Bavarian fall festival of polkas, sausage and good fellowship, while Connoisseur Classic helps locals and guests get ready for the end of the lovely winter season with great wine and art from this part of the world.

It is certain these two events will grow in importance and stature and add to this area's reputation as the playground of the Southwest.

RUIDOSO PROGRESSES EVENTFULLY YEAR ROUND!

How about a short course in "current events" ... Your dedicated Chamber of Commerce recently adopted the advertising slogan Ruidoso, Seasoned Just Right to let everybody know just how nice it really is here all year long.

Over the years some bright people have been trying to reinforce this concept and came up these dynamite civic events. Their ideas went over Big! The phenomenal success of these events demonstrates just how many good things good people can accomplish by working together. So mark your calendars now!

A February weekend of indulgence in fine wines, gourmet food, fine art, music and dancing.

An annual summer event scheduled for July. The best artisans around showcase a wide range of media in this juried show.

ASPENFEST '93

The first weekend in October becomes a celebration of fall's glory. Includes a parade to arts and crafts, chile cookoff, and the list goes on.

Mid to late October...a veritable Bavarian bash! A whole weekend full of music, food and drink.

Bill Pippin Real Estate

Bill Pippin and his staff of experienced real estate agents are ready to serve customers at Bill Pippin Real Estate located at 1608 Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso.

Pippin, who has been in the real estate business for more than 30 years, is the owner and qualifying broker for the company. All of his experience is right in this area.

Pippin is joined by Dean Haynes, J.L. Wilson, Marge Woodul and Danny McGuire, and among them they combine more than 100 years of real estate experience.

Bill Pippin Real Estate is in the general real estate business and Pippin is proud of the fact that customers can stop in his office and find expert help in all areas of the real estate market.

"We deal in everything from lots to ranches and from cabins to castles," says Pippin.

Pippin is a director of the Board of Realtors and speaks with pride and enthusiasm about the state of the real estate industry in this area. MLS reported increases in sales and production at last December's awards banquet and the Pippin staff is pleased to be a part of that growth and success.

The company boasts a myriad of different listings in Lincoln County, including many that stir the imagination of anyone with a wish to own a primary or second home up in the mountains, down in the valley or out on the ranch land where Billy the Kid rode.

Pippin is proud of the professional Realtors who work in his office.

Dean Haynes has worked with the firm for more than five years, but was already in the real estate business in Hobbs before moving to this area. She and her husband have owned a home here for nearly 30 years.

Of course, they purchased that home from Pippin himself.

Marge Woodul has 16 year's experience in Ruidoso's real estate market. She has lived in the Ruidoso area for more than 20 years.

Danny McGuire, retired from the Air Force, was in the real estate business in Las Cruces before settling in Ruidoso.

J.L. Wilson has lived in the Ruidoso area for more than 11 years, but made a big career change when he switched from the mental health field to real estate. He is a horseman and has a special interest in listing and selling ranch land.

To list that castle or find the home of your dreams, call Bill Pippin Real Estate, 257-4228, or stop by the office at 1608 Sudderth Drive.

Sertoma

The Ruidoso Sertoma Club is small in numbers, but large in its efforts to assist citizens of Lincoln County.

Through the Charity Bingo Project, Ruidoso Sertoma can assist many charitable organizations and even individuals needing specific help.

The brightly lighted and comfortable Sertoma Bingo Hall is conveniently located at 2160 Highway 70 East in Ruidoso Downs. It's easy to find and there's plenty free parking.

Under the leadership of Robert Bat- tin, Roy Seay and A. D. Powers, the Sertoma Club and its Bingo operation have progressed from an idea into a reality.

Walter Merchant, a Sertoma mem- ber, is the game manager of the Bingo operation with high ideals of making the Sertoma Bingo Hall a home away from home for citizens of Lincoln county and visitors who come to Ruidoso.

New computerized equipment, six new monitors, new tables and chairs and non-smoking room, combined with the latest in associated supplies, were added last year to make the Sertoma Bingo Hall a pleasant experience for all.

Ruidoso Sertoma received a gam- bling license from the state on June 24, 1991, and initiated the Hall which is an exact duplicate of all other Sertoma Bingo Halls in New Mexico. Sertoma has 10 employees with a payroll of $4,500 a month which equates to a $36,000 a month impact on the local economy.

Organizing and operating a Bingo Hall doesn't just happen, and the many hours of hard work donated by Sertoma members is for one purpose — Service To Mankind — the Sertoma Club motto made real through its members.

Sertoma was founded April 11, 1912, in St. Louis, Missouri. Its founders were medical doctors concerned about the welfare of patients with speech and hearing difficulties. Even today, speech and hearing is the major charitable project of Sertoma clubs, with the Ruidoso club regularly helping people who need hearing aids, speech therapy and such.

Ruidoso Sertoma, chartered in 1979, regularly screens pre-school children and regular students every year through the schools, using a commercial van equipped with soundproof hearing test equipment.

Ruidoso Sertoma Club was the founder of Little League basketball and Lincoln County Youth Soccer. Other local projects include donations to Meal-Care, Home Health Services, scholar- ships and school and youth activities.

Since opening Sertoma Bingo last year, the club has been able to help many people, including a ferrier who was hurt and needed help getting started in another vocation. The club, using funds raised through charity Bingo, gave him money to help him train as a speech therapist. He intends to practice in Ruidoso.

The club also has provided a closed caption machine on a television for a girl who is deaf.

It takes money to provide the kind of Service To Mankind which Ruidoso Sertomans are dedicated to giving. That's where the Sertoma Bingo Hall fits in.

Officers of this year's Sertoma Club have continued this commitment for a long time. This year's officers are all charter members with at least five years membership in the club.

Sertoma is serving the community on all levels by providing a wholesome place to spend an evening, while help- ing out some people who may not be able to help themselves.

Cattle Baron

You can always count on Cattle Baron to consistently provide delicious food in a comfortable, relaxing atmosphere.

This should come as no surprise, considering they've been doing it for over 16 years.

The Ruidoso restaurant is one of five Cattle Baron restaurants serving southeastern New Mexico. The first opened in Portales in 1976, followed by restaurants in Hobbs, Roswell and Las Cruces.

"However, our Texas neighbors are in for a treat when Cattle Baron goes interstate and plans the opening of the sixth location in Lubbock this April," say the Wilsons who own and operate the successful chain.

While the decor is casually elegant, the bill of fare is reasonably priced making it a favorite dining destination to visiting skiers and race fans, and a wonderful dining out place for Ruidoso residents.

Cattle Baron restaurants revolve around the open grill where chefs busily prepare succulent dishes. While tender generous cuts of steak and prime rib have been a major contribution to the success of the chain.

The same quality approach applies to all of the taste tempting offerings, whether it be fresh fish, seafood, chicken, or combination platter all entrees include a trip to the salad bar featuring fresh vegetables and homemade salads, along with Cattle Baron's own freshly baked bread.

Be sure to save room for dessert. The Cattle Baron dessert tray will tempt even the strongest willed with choices of Bailey's Irish Creme pie, bourbon pecan pie, carrot cake and Kentucky pie just to name a few.

A frothy cappuccino or rich espresso is another delightful way to end your dining experience.

The lounge provides a comfortable place where you can sit back and unwind with old friends or enjoy a cocktail with new ones.

Cattle Baron would like to thank Ruidoso for its growth and prosperity.

Tinnie's

A distinctive expanse of windows framed by the Victorian white architecture of Tinnie's Silver Dollar Restaurant creates an inviting place to stop on U.S. Highway 70/380 and soak up some history while enjoying fine dining.

Originally a mercantile store, the Tinnie building was restored by Roswell oilman Robert O. Anderson and became part of a chain of restaurants at the Coe Ranch and in Cloudercroft.

In 1985, it was purchased by Cynthia and Lester Price of Roswell and the historic building received renewed attention and extensive renovation.

Maxine Francis, general manager, is extremely proud of the Silver Dollar's progress in recent years. With the help of her topnotch staff, she's looking forward to an outstanding season.

Besides delicious food, exquisitely prepared and served, the Silver Dollar presents a series of entertainment events.

Outdoor musicals on the veranda have drawn diners and music lovers from Roswell, Ruidoso and throughout the valley for the past two and a half years. The performances begin in May and run through August.

Guests also can plan on Mother's Day and Father's Day specials.

Tinnie's Silver Dollar is open year-round, serving dinner Wednesday through Sunday from 5 to 10 p.m. and lunch from 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

The restaurant and the picturesque veranda is available for weddings, private parties and for all occasions.

Century 21 Aspen Real Estate

Ruidoso's Century 21 Aspen Real Estate office holds the distinction of being the top producing Century 21 office in New Mexico.

The local office, owned and directed by James Paxton, is the only one in New Mexico honored with the Century 21 Centurion Award in 1992.

Those honors have been earned in a region that includes 22 offices in southern New Mexico and El Paso for 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1992.

"Our 20 agents had more than $15 million of our listings sold in 1993," said Paxton, who is proud of his firm's success on the home front as well as in the Century 21 region.

Century 21 Aspen Real Estate is located at 727 Mechem Drive in a rambling log house that has been converted into plenty of office space to accommodate the 24 agents and their support staff.

Paxton is the president and qualifying broker.

The office, in business here for 11 years, is open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. seven days a week. The telephone number is 257-9057.

Century 21 Aspen Real Estate is a conglomerate of seven companies that joined together under the golden banner of Century 21.

Service is a commitment at Century 21 Aspen Real Estate, and to provide the best service possible, the office is building an Alto field office. Construction was started with a March 8 groundbreaking.

"We are excited by the many opportunities the additional location will provide to expand our service to Alto and surrounding areas," said Paxton.

"In all operations we strive for professional real estate knowledge, and have a dedication to honesty, integrity and responsiveness to every customer we have the privilege of working with," he added.

The team effort is demonstrated by Century 21 Aspen Real Estate's consistent high percentage share of Multiple Listings Service listings in the Ruidoso area. That was at 37 percent last year.

And when the office closes, the teamwork continues for members of the Century 21 Aspen Real Estate's staff. They place a high priority on community service and Century 21 can be found pitching in wherever a worthwhile project is under way.

The office is a member of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County and the Ruidoso Board of Realtors. Agents take on leadership responsibilities in those organizations, as well as others.

Century 21 associates have logged thousands of volunteer hours working through civic and service organizations, the schools and churches. They're actively involved in the annual Casa Esperanza benefit sponsored by the Board of Realtors.

Century 21 Aspen Real Estate uses its team approach in providing full service to its clients. Besides listing and selling homes, the office offers property management with more than 100 residential properties to rent nightly, weekly or monthly.

If you come for a visit and find that you want to stay for a lifetime, stop by Century 21 where Aspen Development can provide custom plans and construction tailored to your personal budget and tastes.

Century 21 Aspen Real Estate wants to make it easy for you to move on up to the mountaintop. The agency offers a free Relocation Guide with everything you need to know about getting organized for a successful move.

First National Bank of Ruidoso

"We never forget it's your money."

That is the motto of First National Bank of Ruidoso. The bank was formed in 1985, and according to bank president Ronnie Paulger, it was a sound business decision for the board of directors to invest their money through the establishment of the bank.

The bank has continued to grow and expand since its formation. In 1989, a branch was added in the Upper Canyon.

Recently the bank received, for the third year in a row, a four-star rating from the Bauer Financial Report, Inc. The annual award is made to banks that are considered to be the safest and most credit worthy in the nation.

The bank president attributes its success to four factors, a quality staff dedicated to customer service, a conservative approach to banking, a philosophy toward the bank customers that is the basis of the bank's motto: "We never forget it's your money," and a community that supports the bank.

Paulger says a strong upward trend in the economy fueled by increased real estate activity and two good tourist seasons has helped Ruidoso's recovery.

The First National Bank of Ruidoso main office is located on Sudderth Drive in the Gateway area and the Upper Canyon Branch is at the entrance to the Upper Canyon. The main telephone number is 257-4033, and the branch number is 257-9031.

Ruidoso Hondo Valley Park Cemetery

Ruidoso Hondo Valley Memorial Park Cemetery is an endowment care cemetery, owned and operated by Stormy Edwards.

Knowing that someone will be there in the years to come to take care of a family burial plot can relieve the stress on those family members responsible for the care, says Edwards, who is proud to own and operate one of fewer than 20 in the state. It's the only such facility in Lincoln County.

Edwards said when people buy a plot in a regular cemetery, they sometimes think the city automatically cares for the grounds, but that is not always true. Usually there is a yearly charge, and you are never assured that they will care for the grounds properly. At the memorial park, though, there is perpetual care for each plot with no additional yearly charges.

Roads to the facility are also well maintained for easy access to the site.

The cemetery, approved and registered by the State of New Mexico, ensures that maintenance and care of the grounds, plantings and gravesites shall be done forever, said Edwards. This care is paid for through state-approved cemetery authority investments.

Edwards said that a large portion of the cost of each plot and all gifts and contributions go into a trust of perpetuity from which these investments are made. This special fund assures the family that years into the future the family plot will still be cared for.

"No longer is it necessary for family or friends to pay $50 to $100 a year for upkeep of their loved one's gravesites or to try to find the time to do it themselves," said Edwards.

"And no longer is it necessary to worry about the appearances of nearby sites or the grounds," he said.

Edwards said people can be certain of a permanent memorial cemetery, dedicated to preserving and enhancing the beauty and serenity of the countryside.

The memorial park, located just a few miles east of Ruidoso on U.S. Highway 70 on the Ruidoso River, is available to serve you or your family members.

He said the memorial park is designed to accommodate the needs of Lincoln County residents for years to come. Plots for individuals, families, infants and urn memorial are also available.

"The beauty of the cemetery is ensured by regular maintenance and care of the lawn and plantings, watered by a new sprinkler system and protected by secure water rights. A flower placement service is offered for those who wish an expression of remembrance on special days," said Edwards.

Edwards has engaged Tim Rich as sales manager to help your family through a difficult time or to assist you in prearrangement details.

Edwards and Rich invite everyone in the area to come and tour the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Memorial Park and see for themselves what this memorial park has to offer.

For more information, call 378-8118 or write to PO Box 880, Ruidoso.

Village of Ruidoso Civic Events Center

Ruidoso Civic Events Center is unique in the state of New Mexico, with only Albuquerque having a bigger facility.

Ruidoso's center, located at 111 Sierra Blanca Drive, right between The Links municipal golf course and Ruidoso Municipal Administration Center, is not only the biggest, but the best.

The center, operated by the Village of Ruidoso under the direction of director Kathleen Michelena, is a combination convention and community center.

The multi-million dollar building was planned and developed by village officials as a tool to enlarge the visitor base of the area while creating an opportunity for new events and enlarge existing events in Ruidoso's unique mountain atmosphere.

Tourism is Ruidoso's basic industry, and already Michelena and her assistant, Jeanene Taylor, have been able to attract a number of meetings and trade shows into the area. That brings visitors to the center and they dine out, stay in lodgings and shop in the village and surrounding area.

Michelena, who is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the center, also is the one who is spreading the word through advertising and stories.

Clubs and organizations already are taking advantage of the spacious carpeted meeting rooms, and trade shows and exhibitions are comfortable in the large, high-ceilinged exhibition area.

Although the kitchen isn't in place yet, Michelena has been able to help civic center users find ways around that by bringing in caterers from local restaurants for various parties and meetings.

Michelena provides monthly updates to the Village Council with lists of upcoming events at the busy center. That schedule includes an upcoming gun and knife show, village staff meetings, concerts, art festivals and even village elections.

The civic center was filled to capacity for the Ruidoso Valley Greeters Christmas Jubilee, and was the site this year for Connoisseur Classic events.

To schedule a meeting or special event, call Michelena or Taylor at 258-5445 or stop by the Ruidoso Civic Events Center and see for yourself.

Kentucky Fried Chicken

Kentucky Fried Chicken has always been finger lickin' good, but it has never been more popular than in Ruidoso's pilot KFC program.

It's simply the best bargain in Ruidoso.

All the famous chicken you can eat for $4.29 is packing residents and tourists into the small franchise dining area off Sudderth Drive near the "Y."

Just about as popular as the chicken are the cobblers. Huge platters of peach, cherry and blackberry cobblers disappear as fast as a breast, wing or thigh.

No artificially dyed red cherries or scant fruit here. These cobblers are loaded with fruit, fresh as farm picked yesterday and as hot as grandma used to serve. It may be years before you find another place that will sell this good of cobbler.

Hot dishes other than chicken, include hominy, green beans, corn, mashed potatoes and milk or brown gravy, okra, mixed greens, gizzards and livers.

Cold dishes include puddings, potato salad, three bean salad, that famous cole slaw, and bowls of fresh lettuce with all the stuff you like to put on salads.

Then there are the hot rolls and cold drinks with free refills.

That's just a sampling of a few dishes. In this case, there really is much, much more.

A word of caution, the earlier you can arrive to eat before noon, the better the chance for good seating. The good word has spread fast and the busy dinner hour has spread with the world.

On Mondays Senior Citizens can enjoy the buffet for only $3.29.

It's the same great menu in the evening for $5.29.

Owner Joe Farr owns five KFC stores - Alamogordo, Hobbs, Carlsbad, Clovis and Ruidoso. He has just recently introduced the popular buffet in Alamogordo.

"It's the best thing we've ever done for our business here," he said.

Farr is cautious about all of his new-found success and said he particularly is aware that a restaurant has to be concerned about off seasons.

"We will need to level out," he said.

"We always do real well, like many businesses in Ruidoso, in the summer and then feast or famine for the rest of the year. We just hope this will keep the locals coming in on a regular basis. We love the tourist seasons, but we realize we've got to make the Ruidoso residents happy first."

Fort Meigs Gallery

Fort Meigs Gallery, a rambling adobe treasure of antiques, art and nearly art, is growing at its location right off U.S. Highway 70 in San Patricio.

Artist, collector and gallery owner John Meigs has been at work on this project since opening Fort Meigs four years ago in May.

The mosaic of rooms that comprise the gallery was assembled on the 17-acre parcel by Meigs and his staff and friends, adobe by adobe. The style and the collections inside reflect Meigs diverse tastes, years of travel and association with talented figures.

Some of the work is by lesser-known artists, but Meigs promotes them with the same pride as paintings by the late Peter Hurd, his wife Henriette Wyeth and the other well-recognized artists.

Among the artwork are pieces by Meigs himself, paintings and photographs. He tried all mediums with the same enthusiasm that led him to collect examples of nearly every interesting object that caught his eye.

His fascination with antiques is no surprise since he spent many years restoring buildings in Mexico and in the picturesque community of Tinnie, and was curator for the Robert O. Anderson Indian Collection, set to be exhibited this year in Roswell.

His gallery seems to have gained an international reputation, Meigs said. He's pleased to welcome visitors from all over the world.

Being located across the road from the Hurd La Rinconada Gallery doesn't hurt either, he said.

Touring the Meigs gallery, guests may view a collections of 415 American graphics, an assortment of paintings, sketches, photographs, first editions, Mexican colonial artifacts, antiques and a 10X17-foot windmill.

Meigs always seems to be doing something that attracts attention. His new house resembles an Aztec temple and features 160-feet of stone wall.

From time-to-time, Meigs throws huge parties and invites the county.

When people have exhausted the viewing in the gallery, many enjoy a stroll down to the Rio Hondo and Meigs sprawling English garden which is often used as the backdrop for weddings and other special events.

LCMC

In a world where medical procedures, equipment and facilities are always evolving, Lincoln County Medical Center keeps up with healthcare changes.

Administrator Valerie Miller oversees the 24-hour facility, as well as the satellite clinics, and is proud to report that the hospital lives up to its slogan: "small-town hospital, big-city care."

That kind of individual caring, combined with the latest in medical technology and continuing education, haven't changed at Lincoln County Medical Center.

Change and progress are the norm in healthcare, and LCMC physicians keep up with technology to improve the quality of life for residents of this community.

Outpatient services include a 24-hour emergency room with a CT (Computer tomography) scanner. Inpatient and surgery services include general, orthopedic and plastic surgery.

Having the CAT scanner, as well as other high-tech equipment, means that patients can have tests done in their hometown where their physician eventually will treat the condition.

At LCMC, progress in the past few years is not only demonstrated by improved technology and added equipment and services, but also in many other areas that are not as obvious.

LCMC maintains its status as a high-quality community hospital with a staff of primary care and specialist physicians by a continuing recruitment program. If the community has a need for a medical professional in some area, then LCMC will look for the right person to provide that service.

Besides the resident staff, visiting specialists come to Ruidoso on a regular basis to see patients with cancer, hypertension, kidney diseases, cardiology and plastic surgery.

The LCMC facility, too, is comfortable for patients and their families. The hospital, on Sudderth Drive right past the "Y," was remodeled in 1989.

The waiting area includes the "Pink Shop," a coffee and lunchroom provided by the active Lincoln County Medical Center Auxiliary. The shop provides a place to relax and have a light breakfast, lunch or snack, and also makes money that is used to purchase needed equipment at the hospital.

Murray's Janitorial

R.J. and Mary Murray are cleaning up in and around Ruidoso, and they've been keeping things spruced up for a dozen years.

Murray's Janitorial Supply and Cleaning Service has its headquarters at 1600 Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso, but the bulk of its work is done in other businesses all over town.

The firm sells janitorial supplies and equipment at its Sudderth Drive store, but also provides complete cleaning service, and the Murrays say they "do floors, windows and even corners" when they clean your home or business.

"We don't cut corners, we clean them," say R.J. and Mary.

The Murrays use only the best, and that means they turn to Hillard Brand floorcare. They can fill all your paper needs, and if they don't have what you need in their shop, they'll order it for you.

These experienced professionals can handle cleaning jobs of any size. Whether you need them for a special clean-up or for a year-long contract — you know they will put their years of experience to work for you.

In a hurry? The Murrays may be able to help with that last-minute or emergency clean-up problem. Give them a call.

The shop is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The Murrays and their daughter and son-in-law, Helen and James, take pride in their work.

The Murray and their courteous personnel will gladly assist you in selecting the supplies and equipment that could prove the most practical and profitable for your particular business.

Parsons Mechanical

Carl Parsons began business in Ruidoso in 1984 as a branch office of Doc's Plumbing, Heating and Utility Co. of Farmington. The company is a large, commercial construction firm owned by his father-in-law, G.H. "Doc" Bolding.

With Doc looking at retirement, and his son there to take over, Carl decided to start his own business in Ruidoso. In April 1985, Parsons Mechanical Company opened for business.

"Times were really tough in Ruidoso in '85 and '86," says Parsons. "The West Texas economy was in a shambles and Ruidoso was beginning to look like a ghost town. More than once I asked myself if I had just gone completely crazy."

"But with the help of many friends and blessing from the Lord, the business began to thrive."

In 1987, the company moved into a shop at 1507 Sudderth Drive, becoming the only plumbing company in town that didn't work out of their garage or home. With a secretary to answer the telephone and two more plumbers and a helper, business was booming, remembers Parsons.

By August of 1989, the company had outgrown its first shop and moved to its present location in the old White's Auto building next door to the main post office.

Today Parsons Mechanical has eight employees and keeps four or five trucks running all the time.

"The move allowed us to begin building an inventory of parts and materials so that we can keep our commitment of service after the sale," says Parsons. "Most companies just look for cheap prices; we look for quality equipment that will deliver years of trouble-free service. Then we make a commitment to stock most functional parts for that equipment so our customers will not be left waiting for parts and service. We actually have a larger stock of repair parts than some of our suppliers do."

With the high cost of electricity in the area, Parsons Mechanical has helped many customers convert to natural or LP gas.

"We specialize in turn key installations, taking care of all the details, including all painting, and finish work through the use of quality sub contractors," says Parsons.

"We believe in 'no surprises' packages. People can be really shocked to find it can cost as much to refinish the house as I did to install the system! So we provide them with the total job at one price. Everyone is happier when they get the whole picture."

And isn't that what you expect?

EDCLC

The Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County (EDCLC) is a private, non-profit New Mexico corporation whose members are dedicated to creating dynamic and diversified year-round economy, while maintaining the quality of mountain living the residents and visitors already enjoy.

The goals of the present executive director, Karen Kopp are two-fold. One is to provide help for existing local business owners and managers by aiding them in finding markets for their products.

Another goal is to help firms in applying for monies from federal and state programs for training and expansion, in getting help to improve with business management skills.

Some examples of these activities involve two local firms. With one the EDCLC has put them in contact with a marketing firm that is exposing foreign markets to their products and the outlook is good that they may find sales in Japan, Scandinavia and Germany.

Another business needs help with training and expanding staff to be able to fulfill larger contracts. EDCLC is helping them to apply to federal and state programs for financial help.

Kopp was instrumental in getting the New Mexico Small Business Development Department to send their representative to Lincoln County, with office hours in the EDCLC office on Tuesdays. Their director for this territory is Gene Simmons, who is consulting with numerous local business persons on various business disciplines.

During the past months the EDCLC director continues to make contacts with prospect businesses looking to relocate or expand.

There was one firm who visited the county earlier this year and is interested in moving, but at the present time does not have the cash in hand to make the move. There is a recent contact who wants to move from California for a better quality of life and in a location near skiing. The EDCLC office will be pursuing this prospect.

The EDCLC is actively pursuing the location of a hotel to be built adjacent to the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

The continuation of these activities to benefit the entire community is dependent upon funding. We must broaden our financial resources and not be totally dependent on taxpayers money.

The plans are in place to begin a fund raising campaign throughout the next year.

The total impact to Lincoln County by past efforts of the EDCLC is $4,094,280.

"We want to continue and increase this economic impact," says Kopp.

FOCUS ON SUCCESS

Texas-New Mexico Power Company focuses on the success of the communities it serves. Through community involvement and a host of economic and educational programs, TNP helps Ruidoso set its sights on future prosperity.

To promote continued success, TNP is committed to providing a clean, reliable source of energy.

Texas-New Mexico Power Company.

Texas-New Mexico Power Company

For nearly 50 years, Texas-New Mexico Power Company has provided reliable power to its customers in Ruidoso.

In 1945, Texas-New Mexico Power, then Community Public Service, purchased the existing electric system in the village of Ruidoso. The purchase included a generating plant, land on Rio Ruidoso and a franchise.

From the beginning, Texas-New Mexico Power had two immediate goals for Ruidoso: to provide efficient operation and reliable power to its residents.

Texas-New Mexico Power was already experienced in meeting such goals at the time of its purchase. The company was incorporated in 1934 as Community Public Service.

In 1981, shareholders voted to change the name to Texas-New Mexico Power to better identify the company's business.

During its early years, the company was also involved in gas distribution and owned generating plants, ice plants, creameries, a bottling plant, a street railway and a motor bus business. Most of these operations were sold by the 1970s.

Since that time, Texas-New Mexico Power Company has remained concentrated on its goal to provide reliable electric service to the customers in its five divisions of operation.

The company also works to be an integral part of the communities in which it serves, making contributions and taking part in public service events and activities.

The company works closely with its customers by conducting energy management and safety programs.

The five divisions served by Texas-New Mexico Power Company are located along the Gulf Coast of Texas; in central Texas; in northeast Texas and the Texas Panhandle; in west Texas; and in south central and southwest New Mexico.

Texas-New Mexico Power serves more than 208,000 customers.

Texas-New Mexico Power is located on Mechem Drive, where the local staff works under the leadership of manager Jim Bassett.

Texas Connection

Hamburgers and chili to write home about are the trademark of the Texas Connection Cafe, located on U.S. Highway 70 in Ruidoso Downs.

Although the restaurant has taken on a new name and new owners, that trademark won't change, says Raymond Rice and Suzanne Richards.

Rice was one of the original owners of the restaurant under its previous name, the Texas Cafe. As the chef, he also helped establish its well-known reputation for a special flair.

Richards has spent time overseas and 13 years in Ruidoso. She knows what her customers like and how to prepare the food with sizzle.

"Extensive traveling and dining in the finest European and Middle East restaurants have given Suzanne all the background she needs to ensure the finest quality at the Texas Connection," Rice says.

Both owners are native Texans, bringing to the cafe solid home cooking, hospitality and service.

The twosome have streamlined the interior of the cafe, adding their own touches.

The extensive breakfast menu includes everything from the standard ham and eggs to pork chops and ribeye steak, pancakes, omelets and breakfast tacos. Prices start at $1.25 and go up to $5.95.

A list of hardy appetizers is offered at lunch and dinner, including stuffed jalapeños, homemade beer batter onion rings, fried cheese, steak fries and tamales.

Digging into the main meal, the cafe offers five Mexican dishes, five basic sandwiches and two huge regular hamburgers.

Twelve different selections are listed under house specialties, from a spicy hamburger steak with green chiles, onion and cheese to shrimp, pork chops, rib-eyes, fried chicken and liver and onion.

Customers with a daring streak can by-pass those selections and pick from the seven burgers on the Lone Star Burgers menu.

They may meet their fate with The Alamo, heaped with pickles, onion, jalapeños, Swiss cheese and mustard.

Or they may want to try the Lobo Burger piled high with pepperoni, green chile, grilled onion, tomato, lettuce and Swiss cheese. The Terlingua is served open-faced with Texas-style chili, cheese and onion.

Open from 6 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., The Texas Connection is easy to spot with its peaked roof across the street from Frank's Fruit Market.

Village of Ruidoso Downs

In the small town of Ruidoso Downs, neighbors aren't just the people that live on your block.

You'll find everybody in the community is a neighbor and friend, including the people at the police department or village hall as well as the many businesses you will frequent. These people greet you by name and always have a minute to spare to talk about the weather or whatever else you might have on your mind.

Village hall clerks or police department dispatchers will help you with just about any emergency you might have while you reside or visit in the Village of Ruidoso Downs. Both of these offices are now located in one building off U.S. Highway 70 by the village park.

A volunteer fire department is also at your call for a quick response to fires and emergencies. The village purchased a brand new fire truck recently to continue to protect its citizens.

The community has a population of 923 people governed by a mayor and board of trustees. The current mayor is Joe Hayhurst and trustees are Margie Morales, Ray Hayhurst, Charlotte Craig and Judy Miller. The village clerk is Learn Weihbrecht and J. Robert Beauvais serves as the village attorney.

The community has a great variety of lodging, dining and entertainment establishment, as well as service businesses, frequented by locals and visitors who love the taste of small town atmosphere.

Wherever you go while you are here, the Ruidoso Downs Race Track, the Museum of the Horse or just down the street for a cup of coffee and conversation, you are sure to see what makes this little community such a great place to visit or to live. The people are down-to-earth and know the value of a good friend, but they also know how to have fun.

Although the race track has been a major attraction to locals and visitors for years, Ruidoso Downs has many other exciting events to participate in throughout the year.

One event with a growing tradition is the annual All-American Arts and Crafts Fair on Labor Day weekend, sponsored by the Ruidoso Downs Ladies Auxiliary.

This year the fair will be at the village's new senior citizens center by the village hall, allowing some of the participants to set-up inside while the rest will be in a large tent.

The Texas Club

A Ruidoso tradition, The Texas Club, just got a new lease on life when Texans J.B. and Peggy Baker came to town.

The Texas Club Restaurant and Lounge, located at 212 Metz Drive, is almost an institution as the place to go for good food, fellowship and relaxation. The telephone number is 258-3098.

The bright new sign that welcomes guests in front of the spacious parking lot is only the beginning. The refurbishing and sprucing up extends into the kitchen, dining area and lounge.

The Bakers, who took over the Texas Club four months ago, bring their years of experience in the restaurant business to Ruidoso where J.B. says with confidence that he is serving the best steaks in town.

The Texas Club, open for lunch from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, for dinner from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, employs 20 people.

Occasionally the Texas Club serves fresh seafood imported from Corpus Christi, Texas.

"We have the most idyllic restaurant location in Ruidoso, overlooking the Innsbrook Village Lake and putting green with Sierra Blanca in the background," says J.B.

"We have a very popular cocktail lounge which is the after-work meeting place for many prominent Ruidoso persons," he adds.

Live entertainment and dancing, with no cover charge, are just two more reasons to stop in the Texas Club lounge.

Baker says new lunch, dinner and bar menus are being designed to go with the new look of the completely remodeled building.

"New food preparation techniques and service have been instituted," says Baker.

Stop in the Texas Club and meet new owners and new Ruidoso residents, J.B. and Peggy Baker.

The Gazebo

The Gazebo, the bright spot to shop in Midtown Ruidoso, has been a trendsetter for this village's progress.

The remodeled center won the Chamber of Commerce H'ne zhe ne award for beautification the year after it was redesigned.

Rhoten intends to continue combining entertainment with shopping (a concept she brought to the village), by presenting live bands, Indian dancers, modeling and other special events as she has in the past.

But, she is expanding that tradition. Inspired by her three lovely gazebos, she's inviting people to plan weddings, receptions and parties at the Gazebo. One couple already chose the Gazebo for their wedding, shoveling the snow off the top Gazebo to have the beautiful Sierra Blanca as a backdrop.

"The shops at The Gazebo are each unique, providing merchandise and service you can't find anywhere else.

The Ruidoso News

A walk through the pages of The Ruidoso News is like a trip down memory lane.

This community newspaper is still proud to present a living and evolving history of Ruidoso and the surrounding area. It's the one complete source for community and county news.

It was on May 17, 1946, that the brand new weekly first hit the stands in the little village of Ruidoso.

It was a bargain, even then.

In 1946, Cokes were just a nickel and so was a single copy of The Ruidoso News. A year's subscription was $2.50, the same price as a pair of khaki pants at the Tony Lama General Store.

That price was just between the cost of a lunch or dinner at the Noisy Water Lodge where a complete luncheon was $2 and dinner cost $3 to $3.50.

Those may have been the good old days, with Stetsons for 10 bucks and boots less than $20, but salaries were proportionately low. The village attorney made $50 in August 1946, and the village clerk, garbage collector and its one police officer were paid $175 each that month.

It was in 1946 that the Village of Ruidoso got into the garbage business, taking on collections for the village. That step was taken with great pride.

And, in 1992, with just as much pride, the Village of Ruidoso got out of the garbage business, selling off its collection system to the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

Lloyd P. Bloodworth was owner and publisher of the brand new community newspaper. Bloodworth and the owners and publishers who have followed him all have shared a commitment to local news. That's the hallmark of The Ruidoso News, where readers turn to find out what's happening in their town and to their neighbors.

That commitment remains the same today. The Ruidoso News is still a community paper in the finest tradition, covering area events and writing about people who live and work here — one-of-a-kind news that you don't read in the regional papers.

For years The News was a family-owned and operated paper, but when it joined the corporate world in November 1988, the new owners made a commitment to continue the long-term history of providing Lincoln County residents with local news. The newspaper has always been a forum for diverse views.

Ken and Walt Green sold their small chain of newspapers to Jack Kent Cooke as part of his new chain, Raljon Publishing. Cooke, owner of Cooke Media Group, also owns the Los Angeles Daily News, a 170,000 circulation daily, and the Washington Redskins. He had already purchased the Steamboat Pilot, a Raljon paper.

The Greens had purchased The Ruidoso News on October 13, 1975, from Al and Glo Lane. Their father, James Green, already owned and operated the Artesia Daily Press. They were a newspaper family whose members provided progressive leadership for their growing chain of papers.

In 1981, Walt Green became publisher of the Deming Headlight, a newspaper of the Green family had an interest in, and in 1982 Ken, Walt and Keith Green (Keith isn't related to Ken, Walt and James) purchased the Socorro Defensor Chieftain. The Greens purchased the Valencia County News Bulletin in April 1988, and Raljon acquired the entire group later that year.

Change and growth have been the norm for this newspaper, just as they have been for this tourist town.

Editors have come and gone, with many Ruidoso residents remembering editor Cale Dickey's caustic columns about village government.

Tim Palmer and Darrell Pehr followed Dickey, both covering the village beat before taking the reigns as editor. Al Stubbs, already retired from several New Mexico newspapers, was editor for a few months in 1988.

Publisher Green named Frankie Jarrell editor on Friday, February 10, 1989, and she has led the paper through a period that has included growing circulation numbers and the addition of a weekly publication, The Reporter.

Sammy Lopez was named publisher in November 29, 1989, and was later appointed regional manager of the Raljon group. Lopez, who makes his home in Ruidoso, also is publisher of the Deming Headlight.

Lopez named Jarrell general manager in November 1991, and the newspaper reorganized its entire office, adding a full-time artist to serve advertising customers with ideas and graphics.

Community news is a top priority for Lopez, too, who started his career at the Valencia County News in his hometown of Belen. He went on to work for the Taos newspaper and owned and operated a newspaper in Fort Sumner for several years.

Besides publishing The News each Monday and Thursday, and The County Reporter on Wednesday, The News has the contract to publish the Holloman Air Force Base Sunburst.

The News prints several other publications, including the Ruidoso High School Totem Post and Eastern New Mexico University at Ruidoso's schedule of classes.

Over the years, The Ruidoso News and its staff members have been consistent winners in the New Mexico Press Association's annual contests. Last year was no exception, and the winning tradition continues.

The News provides employment for 28 people, not counting the crew of young people who hit the streets to hawk newspapers each summer.

The Ruidoso News and its employees are proud to be a part of the progress of Ruidoso and Lincoln County.

The News has always been a big booster of Ruidoso and the tourist industry. Two major projects each year are the winter and summer visitors guide, each with circulations of around 50,000.

This winter and this summer, 10,000 copies of each season's visitors guide were inserted in a Spanish language newspaper in Mexico. After those insertions, this town recorded record numbers of visitors from South of the Border.

With circulation that varies a bit according to the season, The Ruidoso News distributes as many as 6,000 copies on busy weekends during the summer. Mail subscribers number more than 2,000, many of them Texans who just can't get enough of this land of enchantment.

The News is involved in the community, and supports charitable organizations in a variety of ways including a special section the last two years on Literacy, co-sponsoring with MainStreet Ruidoso the Community Update and sponsoring, with the Hubbard Foundation, a three-month Newspapers in Education project.

School classes and scouts visit The News for tours, and members of the staff visit the schools to cover events and to speak to classes.

Throughout the year The News publishes a series of special sections that includes a tax supplement, Easter on Parade, an opening edition to commemorate the horse racing season, the Ruidoso Art Festival section, All American Festival tabloid, Aspenfest tab and holiday gift guides to name just a few.

The newest project on the horizon at The News is a "Paint the Town Gold" project, co-sponsored by United New Mexico Bank.

In an effort to extend the golden foliage of aspen trees throughout the village, The News and United New Mexico Bank are offering aspen trees for sale at below wholesale costs.

Area residents will be able to order aspen trees at 10 for $5.

The Ruidoso News continues to present all the news as its mission to inform the community.

To make the most of the present, one has to look to the future and remember the past. A lot of that past is chronicled in The News. If you like memories, you'll love retracing history through the pages of The Ruidoso News.

All the old editions are available on microfilm at the Ruidoso Public Library. Stop in and view 46 years of history; remember the past while you plan for the future.

That's what this progress edition is all about.
