City of Alamo tapped to run regional landfill

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The regional landfill to be shared by Lincoln and Otero counties will be operated as a department of the city of Alamogordo.

And strong commercial accounts should help to keep the cost of using the landfill down for member cities and counties.

The Otero Solid Waste Authority and the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, which represent eight separate towns and two county governments, sealed the future of the operation Thursday during a joint meeting in Ruidoso.

"We have agreed that the landfill will be operated as a division of Alamogordo city government, as a department," said attorney J. Robert Beauvais, who represents the Lincoln authority.

"The staff and budget estimate was approved tentatively and will be fine tuned by Alamogordo to be approved (by that city council).

"We felt it was important that the landfill be under public ownership and operation. We will not be dealing with any vendors in the operation of the landfill, but each entity can collect and transport as they desire."

Authority members also are looking at the feasibility of establishing transfer stations, possibly in Tularosa or Carrizozo. Consultant Dave Warren is examining the time and money factors.

"We would have the one compactor on Gavilan Canyon Road that would haul through Mesquero to the landfill," Beauvais said. "Garbage from Lincoln, Capitan, Carrizozo and Corona may have a transfer and probably a convenience station."

More good news for the boards from their engineering firm. The application for the landfill south of Alamogordo near Oro Grande was submitted a week before the deadline, according to a report from the Alamogordo city manager.

Public hearings probably will be scheduled in June and officials are aiming for a January opening.

The public auction of the land picked by the authorities is scheduled for June 19 on the steps of the Otero County courthouse. The section of land now is owned by the State Land Office, but is surrounded by Bureau of Land Management property. To bid on the section, $6,000 in earnest money must be put up and the land must be completely paid off in 30 days.

"There has been expression of interest from an out of state company and some other individuals," Beauvais said. "Right now, we don't expect any problems."

The two boards also executed interim financing of the project through a pledge of the environmental gross receipts tax (a percentage of the sales tax) generated in Alamogordo.

"We placed that with a local bank in Alamogordo for 3 1/2 percent interest," he said. "That will finance the development of the landfill through and probably past the time that we do the permanent financing revenue bond, which is going to be probably in September or October."

Unless something blows up, or someone is able to outbid us on the property, and we have some safeguards there we've already discussed with the land office, we do believe we will be open and operating by the time that the environmental department has dictated that Dog Canyon landfill now used by Otero County will be closed.

The second thing is that Holloman Air Force Base will be a major customer and is going to significantly assist the local government as a commercial user of the landfill. Holloman has said they definitely are going to use the landfill and they've given us some waste stream projections that are enormous right now, because there is so much construction going on. The more commercial garbage that we put in that landfill, the lower it's going to drive down the owners' cost. So that's very encouraging.

"There's been some expression of interest from the McGregor Range portion of Fort Bliss, which is in the area. There's still some discussions going on with the Mesquero Tribe. We are very confident that the commercial use of the landfill is going to drive down the price we have to charge ourselves significantly."

Jobs created in the new landfill department should be between 12-15, based on other landfill of comparable size, Beauvais said.

"They're not going to run it as an enterprise account like the water and utilities in Ruidoso," he said. "Other than charging us for the indirect cost of personnel payroll and this and that, it's going to be just a budgeted activity center. So they are not going to try to make money on the other members by charging some sort of a surcharge. They're basically going to come in and present a budget like it was a department of the city of Alamogordo and cost out to us just like they do all their other departments. They will charge as a certain cost for handling payroll. Those people will be the employees of the city of Alamogordo."

The agreement between the different cities and counties wouldn't have been possible without a great deal of trust, Beauvais said.

"I think we'll be extremely happy we're a 50 percent owner and a 50 percent customer," he said. "This landfill is projected to use right now has a life expectancy of 50 years, but there's a large amount of BLM land. Our long range plans, if it looks like it's just for waste, we have ways of expanding that thing."

EDC feels good about its finances

by KRISTIE SAATMANN

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County is optimistic about its financial picture for the coming year with the kick-off of a fundraising campaign this summer.

The group has budgeted $31,000 from the campaign, which is being directed by former board president Ronnie Paulger. For the past two years the group has relied on its own contributions from the Village of Ruidoso but hopes the campaign will increase the amount of funding from private sources.

Paulger informed the board at a meeting Thursday that he has contacted most of the team leaders who will be putting together their teams to begin contacting businesses in their industries. Leaders and team members will meet this week with Paulger and executive director Karen Kapp.

They will have information to answer questions the business people may have when they make a presentation to the EDC. Paul

LCMC prescribes recycling throughout hospital

Recycle isn't just a popular word at Lincoln County Medical Center, it's a way to work together, making the hospital as efficient as possible.

Mike Gray, director of plant services, along with his crew have developed many ways for all departments of the hospital to do their part to recycle and help the environment. A display on all the recycling projects is set up in the lobby of the hospital and will be up through the end of the week.

Gray, who is also president elect of the New Mexico Society for Hospital Engineering, said the hospital is probably leading the state in this effort, in part because of the county recycling program through the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

Recycling containers for aluminum and white paper are stationed around the hospital, but they also collect cardboard, glass, plastic and steel cans. Gray said by recycling it has reduced the waste flow by about 32 percent, which is about 28 tons a year.

The plant services department has also started a xeriscaping field, where there is little or no water use and little or no mowing necessary. Gray said they plant grasses and trees that are native to the area and need little maintenance.

The area is behind the hospital and provides a good spot for workers and visitors to get outside for awhile, he said.

The hospital also uses energy efficient lighting, which in some areas can reduce energy consumption by up to 80 percent. Gray said cooler burning lights also mean less energy needed for air-conditioning. They are currently looking for someone to take fluorescent lighting tubes to recycle, he said.

Whenever it is possible, they try to use environmentally safe chemicals, including wood stains made from plant oils and bee's wax. The sewer and vacuum line cleaners are also made of completely safe enzymes.

Gray said ozone depleting CFC's (chlorofluorocarbons) can now be recovered, recycled and reused. When it is possible they try to replace any refrigeration equipment with CFC free equipment.

A new recycling lawn mower produces its own fertilizer by chopping grass clippings into mulch. The grass clippings are also not taking up landfill space. Gray said it is also has a zero-turn radius which means less mowing time.

A sewer jetter uses high pressure water to clean sewer blockages, instead of chemicals, he said.

A composting bin is also available for all departments to contribute to and use from, Gray said. Departments have adapted areas around the hospital to cure for as parks and can use the compost to fertilize those areas.

Gray said the success of the program is based on all departments participating, and they have been doing great. He said he hopes their program will encourage other businesses and communities to do as much as they can to recycle.

Mike Gray, director of plant services at Lincoln County Medical Center, shows the variety of recycling methods and environmentally safe maintenance techniques they use at the hospital. The display will be up through the end of the week.

Chamber board welcomes 4 new members

by KRISTIE SAATMANN
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Starting in July, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce will have four new board directors and one re-elected director.

The results of an election earlier in April were announced at the board's monthly meeting Wednesday with current director Bob Dolgener regaining his position. New directors will be Glen Crane, Karen Morris, Scott Muhn and Bill Kennedy. The new directors will take over at the regular July meeting.

Along with the ballots for directors, the chamber also sent out surveys to the membership. Executive director Joan Bailey said she was pleased that they received more than 100 surveys back.

Although not all the results have been tabulated, Bailey told the directors about some of the general feelings the respondents had. Respondents said the chamber should be involved in advertising, promoting, relocation, promoting local businesses, transportation, economic development and beautification.

The buck stops with Bailey

Asked who a person would contact with a concern, most responded that they would contact Bailey or the chamber staff first. Most of the respondents have seen a tremendous increase in what the chamber does, but they would also like to see more board directors at chamber functions.

Director Ron Wicker said he would like to go to more events, such as the business after hours, but he, as well as a few other directors, got his invitation late for the last one.

President Paul Crown said maybe a call from the chamber staff on the afternoon of the event would help get more directors to the event. Bailey said they could call for meetings, business after hours and ribbon cuttings, too, if the board would like it.

They will begin by making reminder calls for these the afternoon before the event to see if it will help keep the directors informed.

Lincoln Days

Most of the respondents said they would only like to have one membership event a year, the annual banquet. This year's banquet will be June 18 and the group would like to begin a tradition of having it at the same time each year.

The theme for the banquet will be "Lincoln Days" and the board plans to have a band for a dance like last year. Bailey said about 200 people attended the event last year and she expects even more this year.

Board directors will make plans for the coming year during an afternoon retreat on Wednesday, May 12. The group will meet from noon to about 5 p.m. at the Innsbrook Club House to discuss what projects it will emphasize next year.

Although some directors questioned whether they would be able to get all the work done in one afternoon, current president Paul Crown said he thinks they can do it but if they don't they will have to commit to a time the next week when they can finalize it.

The group will finish the retreat off with a cook-out, which the spouses will also attend.

In the past the group has gone out of town to have its retreat, but directors usually just showed up one day for these, Crown said. Having it on a weekend in Ruidoso may have hurt the attendance even more, so they selected a week day.

Bailey said it is going to be a great event and will pull the board together for the coming year.

Art Festival and more

The chamber's Art Festival is moving along great, said Crown, who is the chairperson for the special event. They have sent out acceptance letters to about 130 artists who will participate in the event in July at the Civic Events Center.

The chamber usually has a hamburger stand at the event to raise money for its scholarship fund, but this year it will be earning funds in a different way. Each artist will be asked to donate an item for a silent auction during the event. Already 50 artists have agreed to donate items and these will be put on display during the event at the entrance to the Civic Events Center for people to bid on.

The circus company that came to town last fall is interested in coming again in October. The tentative date is October 7, which is also the weekend of the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium, but symposium officials told the chamber there would be no conflict in having the circus, too.

The chamber will contract with the circus and will get part of the proceeds for advance ticket sales and from the total sales.

Director and committee chairperson Jim Bassett said the Oktoberfest committee will have its first meeting next week to start plans for that event.

In her report, Bailey said she had made a presentation to the Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees at their last meeting as required when they approved funds to help pay for a part-time person for visitor inquiries. She said the group was extremely complimentary and supportive of what the chamber has been doing.

The chamber has four new members this month and no members have dropped. Bailey has also visited 15 businesses this past month in her attempt to talk to each chamber member this year.

Tourism Day

Bailey also informed the group that May 5 is National Tourism Day and the directors are encouraged to wear red to represent that. A special tourism program is planned for 12:30-1:30 p.m. at the Enchantment Inn on Highway 70.

The guest speakers for the event are Mike Pitol of the New Mexico Department of Tourism, Barbara Duff, mayor pro tem of Ruidoso and Dr. Jim Miller of Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso.

Special awards will be presented to individuals in the community who have been active in tourism promotion, hospitality and tourism services here.

The event is free, but people need to contact the chamber of commerce early to reserve a seat.

And more...

Crown encouraged directors to all help greet the Alamogordo Ambassadors at 8:30 a.m. Thursday to welcome to the area.

Jack Muhn, contract accountant for the chamber, said the chamber has had an $8,664 loss so far this year but by the end of the fiscal year it will be closer to $1,000 above or below budget. He said he is expecting another big dues billing to make up for the loss they experienced in the first three months of the year.

Although he didn't expect it to be a "rose garden," Muhn said the chamber won't have the shortfall it did last year when it suffered close to a $17,000 loss during that year.

Activity at the chamber has also been at a steady increase from last year, which was a bumper year. March was up 16 percent from 1992, while February was up 19 percent. January saw a 22 percent increase in total activity.

Director James Hobbs thanked the board directors who participated in the volunteer program he and director Clark Carpenter organized for the chamber. Volunteers from among the directors and general membership come in for a few hours a day to help the chamber staff in whatever way is needed, such as answering phone calls or mailing packets.

The program gives the volunteers a better understanding of how the chamber operates.

ger said. He invited all of the directors to attend the meeting to show support for the teams.

Paulger said the teams will hit some industries right away, but they plan to wait until into the summer to meet with others. He said many businesses will be more active in the summer and their attitudes will be more up-beat for this project.

Waiting won't put any financial constraints on the group either, because they had budgeted to collect the amount in the 1993-1994 fiscal year. Paulger said they have assessed an amount that each group should be able to collect and the total for the whole project is $41,000.

EDCLC only budgeted $31,000 for the project.

Major corporations in the area will be approached by Paulger and Kopp.

Both encouraged directors to give them any feedback on the project.

President Scott Shafer said with this project people can't say they don't know anything about the EDC because they will have the opportunity to talk to someone face-to-face about it.

A presentation to the Lincoln County Commission did pay off for the group, as it received $10,000 from the commission after two years without funding. Kopp said the EDC had requested $27,000 but were very pleased to receive the $10,000.

Kopp made the presentation along with board members Dr. Jim Miller and Gordon Ross during the county's budget session last week. She said she will be reporting to the commission about the EDCLC on a quarterly basis and thanked Commissioner Wilton Howell, who was present at the board meeting to represent the commission. She encouraged all directors to thank the commissioners for the support.

Shafer said the financial support of the commission will show prospects a cohesive effort for economic development.

"If we don't get any funds from the county it is hard to convince people they are behind us," he said.

Howell said he feels optimistic about the new start the two groups have gotten and about the coming year.

Kopp will also be asking for funds from the Village of Ruidoso during its budget hearings May 10-14. The group received about $40,000 from the village last year.

She said she would like any directors who are available to attend the hearing to offer support.

With more funds coming in than in past years, Kopp has been working on several projects to bring more business to the county. She said she has plans for two direct marketing campaigns, one in coupon redemption and a second in telemarketing.

Kopp estimates the cost to do both would be about $5,000 and they will be using a local business to prepare the material. In a direct marketing campaign the information on Lincoln County would go straight to the chief executive officer, she said.

Kopp has also met with a representative of southern hotels recently to discuss the possibility of a corporation building one near the Civic Events Center. She put the representative in contact with R.D. Hubbard, who has the contract to build a hotel there until July.

After several changes in a proposal to move to a new location in the Stroud Building, which was approved at the last board meeting, Kopp will look into other possible locations which will save the group some funds. The rent on the current office is increasing and the board was told it could get the smaller office for the same price it is currently paying, $360.

Kopp said with the cost of utilities and a common area maintenance charge the group will only be saving $140 by moving to the smaller office. The group has its own furniture and would only need two office rooms. She wants to be moved out of the current office by June 1.

In other business Kopp reported she has two prospects from a Southwest Public Service Business Quarter trip she recently made to California. She and J.J. Johnson of Roswell visited nine prospects to promote the whole Business Quarter area.

She has also been informed several businesses visited by other members of the quarter may want site proposals for a possible move to this area. Representatives of the Business Quarter cannot promote their communities specifically on prospect visits, but can be asked to provide information for businesses.

A new Business Quarter brochure has also been printed with the corrections the group had asked for including the designation of a college campus at Ruidoso and the addition of U.S. Highway 380 east of Carrizozo.

Also the group received a letter from chamber of commerce executive director Joan Bailey stating that she is resigning from the chamber's ex-officio spot on the board, but the chamber will select another person to fill that position.

The Dreamer

Dreamer remembers his father on his birthday

Birthday of our Father

This is being sent to you just before high noon on April 29 and will reach you on May 3, the birthday of our father.

Lynn Whippo Storm was born May 3, 1879, in Rochester, Pennsylvania, to Frances David Storm and the former Althea Ellen Reno. He is the great-grandson of Peter Storm who was a soldier in Washington's army when the British surrendered at Yorktown, Virginia, October 3, 1781.

When starting young, Lynn was brought by his parents to Denver, Colorado, where he attended grade school and East Denver High School, where he met his wife, the first-born daughter Catherine Kennedy. They were married in Denver May 30, 1906.

This marriage was blessed by six sons, three daughters, Daniel Agnew, Marcus, Kenneth, Joseph, Duffield and Lynn. Walter Storm, an infant son who was called Home by his mother, died.

Life as Mining Engineer

Before his marriage, Lynn attended Colorado School of Mines at Golden, Colorado. He graduated in the Class of 1902 as class president and also class poet.

This was fitting because although he was gifted in mathematics, engineering and science, he remained, in addition to all his talents, at heart a poet.

And although he rose to the top of his profession as petroleum geologist, he found time for writing.

As a mining engineer, mining geologist and government surveyor, he went twice to Alaska, first to Valdez and then to Juneau. Later he went to Mexico where he made surveys of mines and worked for a silver smelter.

A School Mate Turns the Tide

After he returned from Mexico, Lynn found himself one day in San Antonio, Texas, where he met one of his school mates from the Colorado School of Mines who said he had changed from mining to petroleum geology and advised father to do the same, that many of the School of Mines men had done the same.

Father soon became a geologist for the Sun Oil Company. When his brother, Jerome, heard this, he said, "That company is lucky. When they get Lynn, they get brains and they get honesty."

by
Daniel Agnew
Storm

Father worked for the Sun Oil Company 40 years until the age of 75 — 10 years past the retirement age.

The attitude of the company was, if Lynn wants to retire, he will have to come to us; we are not going to him.

And father's attitude was similar. If the company wants me to retire, they will have to come to me; I am not going to them.

Finally, shortly after his 75th birthday, he told the company, "I think I will retire and go to live with my son, Daniel, in New Mexico."

The company officials said, "Well, that's fine, Lynn, but you have a job here with us as long as you want it."

"A Long Hard Trip"

The life of a geologist was enjoyable to father because he liked the out-of-doors and loved to walk. The rougher the country, the better he liked it.

When he was not feeling just right, he would say, "What I need is a long, hard trip." Then he would take a long walk and return smiling and feeling fine.

Father was thankful for his rugged health and all the good fortune of his life.

"Be Content if You Can"

Father remembered his parents talking of an incident of his early life.

They were out at their farm near Denver talking of recent misfortunes — how a panic had taken their savings. They were at the table talking about their trouble and what they might do for the future.

Father, about age three, had been under the table, listening; and now he came up and said to his parents, "Be content if you can with the blessings you have."

At this they both burst out laughing; and right away, things did not seem so bad after all.

Father was reciting back some words that were read to him probably out of a book of Aesop's Fables.

Active Retirement

While in Alaska, Father had collected legends of the Copper River Indians to which he gave the title "The Winter has Grown Shorter," which was the statement made by the story teller at the end of the story.

He also wrote stories and poems and kept in touch with his school, contributing articles to Mines Magazine about improving the curriculum — teaching more English, for example.

A book about the Ice Age, "The Ice Comes and Goes," is among his works as well as articles about oil geology which are used at Universities.

Many Friends

Throughout his career, father made lasting friends among all sorts and conditions of men. His school mate, Frank Bowman, in an article about father in Mines Magazine, said, "Lynn Storm was universally admired and liked; no one was ever known to dislike him."

Father was active in Saint Anne's Chapel, Glencoe, and was often a delegate to the Diocese Convention; and he was a true Christian gentleman.

On this heavenly spring day with new life blessing the world everywhere, our father's spirit is very fondly near, visiting me on the approach of his birthday.

The April Shower

On the 27th, the weather spirits brought us a little shower, just to keep April in character and tell us not to give up. One of the great charms of rain after a dry spell is the wonderful pageant of aromas and fragrance and incense brought to you by the magic of the rain. You smell dry grass now moistened by the rain drops; the moisture brings you the flavor of the dry earth carried through the moist air; and every weed and rock and tree branch brings its own incense to you as you inhale the freshness of the rain drops on the dry mountain land.

And now today just in early afternoon, the sky is cloudy all around and there is the flavor of rain all through the mountain land.

Let us be truly grateful to our good Lord for all his blessings bestowed upon us.

Ginger & Red Rider ready to join your family

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A small, fox-faced Shetly mix named Ginger needs a secure yard with a high fence or an owner who would enjoy walking her on a leash.

The two-year-old, sweet-natured dog with radar-large ears, short to medium length coat and melt-your-heart eyes was brought to the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter two weeks ago by her previous owners.

They told shelter workers her only fault was escaping from their yard. They owned Ginger for three months.

Shelter manager Bob Huckins said he hasn't observed any other bad manners since she's been at the shelter.

"She doesn't make a lot of noise or fuss," he said. "She's been spayed and has her shots."

Ginger, a carry-under-the-arm size, is larger than a chihuahua but smaller than a Scottish terrier.

Also looking for new homes are two heeler mixes.

Red Rider's rich orange/red coat is frosted on the edges with white.

"He's a quiet dog and needs attention and a big area to run," Huckins said. "He came into the shelter as a stray and has been here more than a month."

"He's very affectionate, but has a nick on his head from an early encounter. He can be aggressive with other males and would do best in a home where he is the only dog or at least the only male dog."

Red Rider would have to be neutered under a new state law that requires all animals adopted or reclaimed from government or privately-run shelters to be sterilized.

The Village of Ruidoso also has a mandatory spay and neuter law. Society members believe the only humane way to control the out-of-control pet population is through restricting births, not through the destruction of healthy dogs. But until the day that goal is accomplished and all owners accept responsibility for their animals, dogs and cats will die prematurely and through no fault of their own.

A few cages down from Red Rider is Zowie, a picture perfect cattle dog with outstanding coloring and markings. This dog would be at home on a ranch or as a special friend in town with a fenced yard in which to play.

In the cattery are some exceptionally good looking felines including a black sister duo, a long hair Siamese who has been spayed, a handsome orange tabby and a delicate brown tiger strip with orange accents.

Formerly featured past pets and the sibling of a featured pup desperately need to find homes. If you've been thinking about acquiring a pet or adding one, stop by the shelter now and consider:

—Pinto, a spayed blue-eye, brown eye Labrador mix with a white coat and brown spots. She is affectionate, intelligent, well built and eager. She could be a great companion for long hikes and jogging.

—Adobe, a golden-colored shepherd mix who is one of the shelter workers' favorites. Shy, frightened and undernourished when she was brought in by a concerned resident who found her foraging for food, Adobe now is outgoing and loving. She is sponsored for her spaying by the same woman.

—Ballyhoo, a six-month-old, classic-looking Walker Hound with a sweet disposition and the attributes of her breed.

—Rusty, an attractive shepherd-retriever mix who would need to be in a home without other male dogs. Already neutered, he would be better with adults and calm surroundings.

—Skittles, a 10-month-old, black, terrier mix with whiskers, the only remaining sibling of Sienna. Sweet natured, with a medium build, Skittles would make a wonderful friend for a school-age child.

Several young shepherd mixes and a pure bred Chow, we well as several small dogs also are waiting for adoption.

"Miss Penny" promotes savings for children

When kids in New Mexico look to the skies, they're not surprised to see a bright pink hot air balloon in the shape of a piggy bank.

They know it as "Miss Penny," the magical mascot of United New Mexico Bank's kids savings club.

In the past year, the balloon has flown more than 100 flights in New Mexico, everywhere from Alamogordo, where the first atomic bomb was detonated, to Gallup, where the statewide bank has a branch that makes loans to sheep ranchers as well as retailers.

And the kids are paying attention.

Now in its second year, Miss Penny's Savings Club has more than 5,000 accounts with an average balance of $200. The largest concentration of accounts is in Albuquerque, where Miss Penny flies often — at the annual Kodak Albuquerque International Balloon Fiesta as well as during visits to elementary schools and children's museums.

"The program has met our expectations and added a lot of excitement to our banks," says Sandy Miller, vice president of community relations for United New Mexico Financial Corporation.

Miller, who is also the crew chief for the Miss Penny balloon, says that the accounts were designed to educate kids in the importance of savings and developing long-term relationships with children and their parents.

"We're a family-oriented bank, with 65 banks in 30 local communities throughout New Mexico, and we really do believe in the old fashioned virtue of thrift — even in today's consumption-oriented world," says Miller.

Ruidoso is one of those communities, with a United New Mexico Bank located on Sudderth Drive.

According to James McNeal, a Texas A&M professor who has studied the consumer behavior of children for over 25 years, the idea of savings is not a lost virtue among kids. In 1989 children saved $2.6 billion, or 30 percent, of the $8.6 billion they received in allowances and gifts. Children are now saving three times as much as they did in 1984, he says.

To encourage children to stash their cash at United New Mexico, the bank offers a series of awards including shoelaces, yo-yos, water bottles and fanny packs. There is no minimum balance for the Miss Penny accounts, no service charges and penalties for withdrawals.

Children are given a "savings thermometer" when they join the club, and face-to-face contact between bank personnel and its young customers is facilitated by a special Miss Penny staircase.

P&Z to hear six requests today

Applicants will play a tough hand during the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning (P&Z) meeting Monday. The planning department has recommended denial for four of the six applicants scheduled for review.

Jack Dunlap's request for a replat of Lots 7 and 8, Block 6, of Glen Grove Subdivision gets planner Clegatus Richard's blessing to cure an encroachment.

The village staff recommends denial for Edward Curtis Temple who wants to subdivide his Midtown property into two lots for the purpose of construction, an additional business in an area now vacant.

Temple is the owner of the Broken Drum, a T-shirt shop in mid-town.

Planner Richards said the commission should deny Temple the replat because it would violate the zoning code by reducing parking below the required level, six spaces to three spaces. Richards said any new development proposed for the vacant lot could not meet parking requirements.

John R. Brown seeks a replat in the John R. Brown tract located on Gavilan Canyon. Brown wants to subdivide about 10 acres, all in excess of an acre.

Richards requests approval of the replat by the commission, writing that Gavilan Canyon Road is paved and adequate to serve the tracts proposed. He said Brown was dedicating right of way for Gavilan Canyon Road.

Village staff is recommending denial for Douglas Brown's request for a side yard variance for Lot 8, Block 1, White Mountain Estates.

Brown is requesting the variance to allow a 225 feet by 26 feet garage addition on the south side of his house to within 3.5 feet of the side property line.

Richards said the garage would encroach into a utility easement and that there were several alternatives which would not require a variance.

Village staff recommends denial of a front yard variance requested by Stacy Gude of Ponderosa Heights.

Richards said the property had been improved without permits and the proposed 8 x 18-foot addition would provide a frontage setback of 7.5 feet. The proposed addition is for bathroom expansion and a closet area.

Richards said the original house expansion has made expansion difficult and that Gude has not addressed a hardship, since lot size and topography are not a limiting factor, and conditions for granting a variance have not been met.

The conditional use requested by Alex Adams and granted on December 21, 1992, has come under scrutiny by the planning staff.

Richards said that Adams had submitted plans for placement of a HUD II mobile home on Lot 20, Block 1, Forest Heights Subdivision.

In January, Adams gained commission approval for placement of a 12 x 20-foot storage shed.

Richards said Adams cleared trees from the site, graded and placed the storage shed, but not a residence on the property.

"It appears that Mr. Adams has not current plans to proceed with the development as approved," Richards wrote. "He may have, in fact, already accomplished his earlier, already (sic) intention of clearing trees and grading with no plan of immediate development."

On April 28, Richards said Adams indicated that he did not intend to place the HUD II residence on the property.

Richards recommended the planning commission review previous approvals and rescind those approvals if Adams does not provide a specific schedule for development acceptable to the commission.

Richard said he felt Adams should remove the storage building and restore landscaping if previously approved development is not to be accomplished.

Griffin honored, elected to office by Democrats

On April 24, Cece Griffin, chairperson of the Lincoln County Democrats, was elected regional vice chair for Congressional District 2.

Griffin also was honored at a luncheon in Albuquerque where she was presented with a campaign service award plaque.

The Lincoln County Democratic Party had just re-elected Griffin as county chair on April 15, while Fred Hansen was named vice chairman. Griffin also appointed Robert Goddard as treasurer and Brenda Walters as secretary.

Griffin and her husband, Charlie, live in Ruidoso.

The Lincoln County Democrats will meet next at 6 p.m. Thursday, May 13, at the Wortley Hotel in Lincoln.

Jail tops talks of commission

A discussion about the expansion of the Lincoln County Jail and the sheriff's department is toward the bottom of the agenda of the County Commission meeting Tuesday.

But that item, a review of the proposed modifications to the county sub-office, a discussion of State Highway 214 and Airport Road D-004 and the preliminary budget hearing are three of the issues most directly affecting county residents.

The commission will meet at 9 a.m. in the county courthouse in Carrizozo.

Public hearings on the agenda include a proposed ordinance amending the county's anti-littering law that would allow citations next to unoccupied dwellings; a proposed ordinance establishing a system of fees in reference to solid waste collection, including a late fee; and a proposed ordinance that would disband the county transportation board.

Commissioners have scheduled an executive session on personnel and pending litigation in the middle of their agenda.

Following that closed-to-the-public session, appointments will be made by commissioners of representatives to the county planning and zoning board.

The commission will consider the recommendations of the zoning board on several issues, including: —a request by Harry Leonhardt to vacate a fire escape easement in Deer Park Woods subdivision Unit 6.

—a request by Leo Villareal for a replat of lots 1,2,6,7,8,9,10 and 17 of Fox Run subdivision.

—a request by Robert Smith for a replat of Tract K of Eagle Creek subdivision and a replat of Lot 1, Block 1 of Pine Meadows subdivision.

—a request by Paul McClendon for a replat of Block B of Red Cedar subdivision.

Track team tries again at Lovington

Lightning and high winds assailed tracksters at the Lovington qualifying track meet on Saturday and after just a few events the meet was postponed until today.

Before officials called the meet, though, several Warriors managed to hit qualifying marks in their events. Sarah Dix will be going to state in the long jump and Jason Dix qualified in the 110 meter hurdles. Jody Randle also made the qualifying mark in the high jump but had already qualified at last week's meet.

Full results on the meet will be in Thursday's edition of The News.

With just one meet left before the district competition on Saturday in Las Cruces, coach Ronny Maskew said he is still a little concerned about Monica Martinez qualifying for state in the shot put and discus. Martinez won the state title last year in the discus but has had pulled muscles that have hampered her performance.

Maskew said they hope she will be well enough to hit the qualifying mark or place first or second in the district meet.

In team competition at the district contest, Maskew said Oñate and Silver will be the strongest teams in the girls division. He said the boys title, though, will be a lot tighter. Silver is strong, but Oñate and Socorro should also be able to collect a few points to make the title a toss up.

Jason Dix flies through air in perfect form as he competes in the long jump at the Ruidoso track meet recently. Dix has qualified for state competition in the long jump and in the hurdles. The team will participate in the Lovington meet today.

League bowlers finish season with awards

The Wednesday night mixed bowling league of ten teams and 40 bowlers concluded its year with an awards dinner on April 21 at the Texas Connection Cafe.

Jim McGarvey was also honored with the men's high average for the season with a 200, while Sharleen Conner captured the women's high average with a 181. McGarvey also received a special ABC award for his 712 scratch series.

Debbie Jacobson was the most improved woman bowler of the year with an 11.39 point increase. Curtis Temple improved by 12.5 points for the most improved title. Both received special awards from the WIBC and the ABC.

Other WIBC awards were received by Sharleen Conner for 657 scratch series, while Shelly McGarvey and Yelena Temple bowled 75 pins over their average in one game.

Martinez gets national award

The United States Achievement Academy announced that senior Monica Martinez has been named a United States National Award winner in physical education.

This award is a prestigious honor very few students can attain as the academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students. She was nominated for the national award by Jody Blanton, head volleyball coach and physical education teacher. Martinez will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

Martinez is the daughter of Manuel and Darlene Martinez. Her grandparents are Lucy Ortiz of Roswell and Manuelita Anaya of Roswell.

Quarterback Club set to meet

The Football Quarterback Club is getting back in action this spring with an organizational meeting.

The meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 13, at the Ruidoso High School Public Meeting Room. They will elect new officers and plan for a barbecue after spring football.

All high school and eighth grade parents, as well as all community members are invited to attend the meeting.

Soccer teams to end seasons

Two Lincoln County traveling soccer teams have kicked their way into the top tournaments for their age groups.

The under 15 years of age Road Warrior team has made it to the final eight in state and will play in the state cup May 15-16 at Las Cruces. This team is made up of eighth and ninth grade students and is coached by Roy Seay and Dean Hood.

The team will be competing against some of the best players in the state with all the other teams consisting of the all-star selections for their areas. They will be coming from Albuquerque, Las Cruces, Farmington as well as other cities to compete for the top honor in the state.

The under 14 group won the Lincoln and Otero County league division and will play in the Roadrunner Cup this weekend in Hobbs. The team of sixth and seventh graders has been doing well against competitors from Las Cruces, Hobbs and Roswell. They are coached by Raymond Harris.

The under 10 and under 12 teams have finished their seasons with two Ruidoso boys earning a spot on the All-Star teams in Roswell. Brent Buchhagen will be playing with the under 12 all-stars and Jimmy Stover will be on the under 14 all-star team.

Capitan to hire school head

The Capitan School Board has called a special meeting for 5 p.m., Tuesday, May 4, to consider hiring a new district superintendent. The board will meet in the school library. Four candidates, one woman and three men, recently were interviewed for the job, which David Lock has held for the past two years. Apparently, board members are ready to choose from among those applicants. About 25 persons applied for the position.

School bids flawed, recalled

The Ruidoso School Board convened a special meeting last Wednesday for an executive session on personnel and to recall bids on the new elementary school. The previous bids, which came in under budget to the delight of board members, were flawed and a complaint was filed by one of the contractors who was not the low bidder or the runner-up. The board will have to advertise for bids again. Members set the date to open the new bids for 2 p.m. Tuesday, May 11. No action was taken as a result of the executive session.

Green and not-so-green thumbs invited to clinic

The Lincoln County Extension Service is conducting a Home Vegetable Gardening clinic at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 6, in the county commissioners meeting room in the Courthouse in Carrizozo. George Dickerson, extension horticulture specialist, will discuss soil preparation and fertility, backyard composting, water management, major pest problems and management, specific vegetable production techniques, varieties and micro-climates in the garden.

P & Z welcomes visitors

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Department conducts its regular session today at 2 p.m. All P&Z meetings are open to the public and the commission has welcomed participation from any member of the audience, although they may not be on the agenda.

Project Graduation planned

Project Graduation planners will meet next at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 11, at the high school. The group of parents and others interested in keeping graduation night safe, are planning a big party that will include food, fun and plenty of valuable prizes. For more information or to offer prize donations, call Janis or Richard Loverin at 257-5111 or Judy Shaw at 258-4545.

Visit the fine arts festival

Ruidoso fine art students will present their finest efforts in music, drama and art Thursday.

The annual Fine Arts Festival program will be from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the Ruidoso High School dining hall, but the community is invited to come up as early as 6 p.m. to view art projects on display.

The festival will feature performances by the band, choir and drama departments at both the high school and middle school level.

The four levels of art students will provide a wide variety of two-dimensional art pieces for the audience to view. Those who attend will also have an opportunity to see murals the Art IV students painted in the foyer of the high school building.

The band is just coming off a spectacular performance at the district competition, which earned them the New Mexico Music Educators Sweepstakes Award, the highest award a high school band can earn. The group continues to grow and improve each year.

The chorus groups in the schools have also been improving with contest performances and special performances for area groups.

The drama students have had a great year as well and just finished their season with a production "Dirty Dealings in Dixie." The advanced drama students earned a superior rating with "Two Small Fries to Go" at the Eastern New Mexico University Drama Festival in Portales in February.

After these major accomplishments, all the fine arts students would like to finish off the year by giving the best performance for the community.

JACK & JUNE WILSON

Couple celebrates golden anniversary

Jack and June Wilson of Ruidoso were honored on their 50th anniversary by their daughters, Jacque and Cheryl of San Antonio, Texas, and Debbie of El Paso, Texas, who took them on a seven-day cruise to the Mexican Riviera.

Jack Wilson is retired from the United States Air Force and his wife of 50 years works at the Ruidoso Care Center.

The Wilsons were married April 3, 1943, at Shepard Field in Wichita Falls, Texas, and lived several places in the U.S. and in Scotland during Wilson's career in the Air Force.

While Wilson served as a CMSgt, Mrs. Wilson was a homemaker who, in addition to caring for her family, volunteered her time for charitable organizations.

The Wilsons have nine grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

YES meets to help youth

Community members interested in helping develop plans for programs to encourage youth in the area to succeed are invited to attend the Youth Empowered for Success meeting Tuesday.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Ruidoso High School library. Although the group began with an idea from the youth services providers in the community, it encourages all members of the community to attend the meeting to understand and support projects it hopes to accomplish.

At the group's last meeting in April, group members discussed potential solutions to challenges faced by youth today. The solutions were then ranked for likelihood of success and impact.

They will now discuss the highest ranked solutions and make plans to implement them. The top solutions the group came up with were develop a teen mentor program, encourage parent friendly schools, increase support of Renaissance Program, provide child development classes for parents and children and develop mediation skill training.

Images of Jesus

Showcases Imaginative Works of Art

For more than 20 centuries, many of the great religions of the world have strived, through art, music and literature, to capture the spirit of the man most commonly known in Western civilization as "Jesus." Images of Jesus, an hour-long documentary, explores the controversy, artistic achievement, and spiritual awakening surrounding the mystery of Jesus and their effects on artists throughout the world.

In Images of Jesus, more than 100 imaginative works of art — from paintings to sculptures to stone carvings created by both great masters and unknown artists — are captured in still prints by the late Lee Boltin, a world famous photographer, who traveled to Africa, the South Seas, and Asia on various anthropological expeditions to find images of Jesus in distant cultures.

Through the eye of his camera, Boltin records images from materials of every description: minerals and woods of every kind; ivory; gemstones and glass in endless combinations; paintings, sculpture, and art objects of every style, size, and color.

Images of Jesus visits the great cathedrals and churches of Europe where some of the most timeless works of art were commissioned by the great masters — Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, and Rembrandt.

The never-ending fascination with capturing the essence of Jesus did not exclude the giants of contemporary art. The works of Edward Munch, Salvador Dali, Paul Gauguin, and Pablo Picasso reveal Jesus as both a modern and medieval figure.

In Images of Jesus, the stunning array of art reveals how important the impact of religion, culture, and history has been on the portrayal of Christ. Each image is as different as the individual who created it. And, through these images, mankind sees itself.

Images of Jesus airs Tuesday, May 4th at 10:00 p.m. The program will repeat Sunday, May 9th at 6:00 a.m.

RESERVATION ROULETTE: INDIAN GAMING

Since the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act was passed by Congress in 1988, casinos have proliferated on Indian Reservations in fourteen states. In 1992, it is estimated that the Indian gaming industry revenues surpassed $6 billion, making it larger than the $5.7 billion Nevada gaming business. Casino profits are being invested in reservation infrastructure, including housing, schools, health care centers, and cultural facilities. This program examines the legal and political conditions which led to the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act and the response by Native Americans and Nevada gaming groups.

Reservation Roulette: Indian Gaming will be broadcast Monday, May 17th at 11:00 p.m.
